TODAY

Next holiday

SANFORD — With Halloween over, the attention now turns to Thanksgiving. Seminole Volunteer Enterprises, Inc., sponsor of S.H.A.R.E., 2970 Orlando Drive, has announced a special Thanksgiving dinner package. The dinner will cost $14.50, and will consist of 8-10 pound turkey, stuffing mix, frozen vegetables, cranberry sauce, turkey gravy mix, corn bread mix and pumpkin pie.

The packages must be ordered by Nov. 7, and picked up Saturday, Nov. 23 at S.H.A.R.E. office on Orlando Drive.

Orders are payable when made, either in food stamps or cash. For additional information, phone 322-1520.

More holidays

SANFORD — Beyond Thanksgiving comes Christmas. The Ritz Community Theatre in Sanford, at First Street Gallery, 207 Magnolia Avenue, is now seeking persons to handle three roles in the upcoming production of Truman Capote's "A Christmas Memory."

Wanted is a young actor, age 10 to 13, a man (Truman Capote) age 20 to 30, and a woman as Sook, age 40 to 50s. The staged reading will open Nov. 29th.

Interested persons should contact Director Fred Rogers, at 32-8111.

Welcome reception

SANFORD - The members and staff of First Baptist Church invite the public to a "Welcome Reception" in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Wayne O. Harvey this Sunday from 9 until 4 p.m. in the foyer of the new sanctuary.

Fathering seminar

CASSELBERRY — An "Effective Father Seminar" will be held at St. Augustine Parish, 375 Sunset Drive, Casseberry this evening (Friday) from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. (light dinner provided) and Saturday, Nov. 2, from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. (breakfast and lunch provided).

Space is limited. There is a $10 donation which includes the meals.

For additional information phone 246-4867.

Paper crusade

Bahia Shrine Temple will be holding its 30th annual Benefit Paper Crusade Friday and Saturday, Nov. 8 and 9. Shriners from throughout the area will be distributing Bahia Temple Shrine News. Money from the sale is one of the fund raising events used in supporting 19 orthopedic hospitals, three burns institutes and other facilities.

Tobacco lawsuit

SANFORD — The first tobacco lawsuit filed in Central Florida was to be announced this morning on the steps of the Seminole County courthouse in Sanford.

Attorneys William Ogle and Mary Trotter scheduled a press conference to announce the filing of a lawsuit against Philip Morris, claiming damages for the wrongful death of Kathryn Righter, 46, of Orlando who died of lung cancer which the suit claims was caused by smoking "Benson & Hedges" and "Virginia Slims" cigarettes.

The suit says the woman began smoking at age 14. She was diagnosed as having lung cancer in the summer of 1994.

It was to be filed on behalf of her husband and daughter who are seeking, amongst other things, help in paying medical bills growing out of the smoke-related illness.

Attorney Trotter said the Righter family was struck with over $40,000 in unpaid medical bills not covered by insurance following her death.

SANFORD — Sunday at 1 p.m., at the Sanford Civic Center, the grand opening ceremonies will be held for the 22nd annual Golden Age Games in Sanford. Games will run throughout the week at various locations in the county, but mostly in Sanford.

According to one of the game officials, Lisa Jones, over 1,100 registrations have been accepted for individual events, with more expected before the games actually begin. Participants are coming from as far away as California in the west, Quebec, Canada in the north, and south Florida.

Several events are already closed for sign-ups. They include tennis, track and field, golf, softball, swimming and bowling. An additional 30 events however still have room for additional entries.

Feds may join high speed rail effort

By NICK PFENPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — If it will eventually be possible to ride a light rail route from Sanford to Orlando, how would one go further to Tampa or Miami? Plans for both transportation routes are continuing.

While studies and hearings continue in Central Florida to determine whether the light rail will follow Interstate-4 or the CSX railroad tracks, the routes for the high speed rail project south and west of Orlando appear to be decided.

In the latest move, Florida Transportation Secretary Ben Watts said the federal government may join in the effort.

The U.S. Department of Transportation and members of the Florida congressional delegation have indicated support for the project, suggesting that federal cash and loan guarantees may become available, Watts said.

The secretary has extended by two weeks a deadline for working out a financial package for the proposed $5 billion railway.

The state early this year awarded a franchise to Orlando-based Florida Overland eXpress to build and operate the 200 mph system, which would be completed by 2008.

The state is to provide $70 million a year to help finance it, with the remainder coming from FOX, revenue bonds and other sources, including federal funds.

Judge to revise injunction on abortion protests

By The Associated Press

SANFORD — A Florida judge will revise a permanent injunction that restricts protests around abortion clinics and the homes of clinic employees.

The U.S. Supreme Court upheld the major points of a 1993 injunction against abortion foes in Florida, including a 36-foot buffer zone around a clinic and a ban on loud noise and other protest tactics at workers' homes.

But the court rejected some sections of the permanent injunction issued by Circuit Judge Robert McGregor in Sanford. It directed the lower court to revise some of the language, including portions such as a 300-foot buffer zone around

Clinton leads heading into final weekend

By JOHN KING
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON — President Clinton was within reach of an Electoral College majority and a second term as the 1996 campaign entered the final weekend, but faced a tightening race across the South and Mountain West, according to a 50-state Associated Press survey.

Benefiting from leads in Pacific states and the industrial belt stretching from New Jersey to Illinois, Clinton was clearly leading in 25 states and the District of Columbia with a combined 314 electoral votes — 44 more than the 270 needed to win the White House, according to the AP review.

Republican nominee Bob Dole, however, could bank on fewer than a dozen states and 100 electoral votes. Ross Perot's support was approaching double digits in many states and costing Clinton a bit, but the Reform Party candidate was a distant third everywhere, according to the AP review of state-by-state polling data and interviews.

"I still talk personally to a lot of grudging voters," said Oregon pollster Tim Hibbita. "I see (Clinton's) margins here narrowing as he suffers some bleedout to Ross Perot and (Green Party candidate) Ralph Nader."

Republican pollster Ed Gosas said he still saw Clinton on track to win but predicted he would

Defending the president: The day assassins stalked Truman

By RUSS WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

On an unseasonably warm Nov. 1 afternoon in Washington D.C. 48 years ago, a White House policeman named Leslie Coffelt was killed and two others severely wounded defending the life of President Harry Truman. A three-minute gun fight broke out at the Blair House, across Pennsylvania Ave. from the White House. Twenty-seven shots were fired. The President and Mrs. Truman were inside Blair House taking naps before a ceremony at Arlington Cemetery. This is a collection of poetic reflections by Herald staff writer Russ White about the heroism by three long forgotten officers.

They are in the form of recollections by three people--A Fellow Officer, A Witness and The President.

A Fellow Officer

On cracked cement, splattered with crimson blood, I try to lift myself. If there is pain, I feel nothing. If there is sound, I hear nothing. Colors. I see colors. Like in a child's first kaleidoscope. I am child. I'm old. I'm dying. Somehow, I lift myself from the ground. I aim my revolver. God, forgive me that this is the last thing that I do.

Coffelt. Leslie Coffelt. This is how he died, not me. But it is me. I wake up in the middle of the night 10, 20, 30 years later, and it is me. Not Leslie Coffelt. Me. I'm the one who took three bullets that day. A price I knew I might someday pay.

POLICE BRIEFS

Convenience store robberies

Sanford police are investigating two robberies at convenience stores. The first occurred at approximately 10:30 Wednesday night. A person reportedly entered a store in the 1100 block of E. 28th Street and asked for change for a $30 bill. When the clerk opened the register, he reportedly grabbed an undetermined amount of money. The clerk is said to have grabbed three $10 bills from the robber's hand, but he managed to escape from the store with other money.

The second robbery occurred at approximately 1 a.m. Thursday. Police said two men entered the store in the 2300 block of W. First Street in Sanford, and one ran behind the counter, armed with what was described as a small silver revolver, and told the clerk this was a robbery.

Police said he then forced the female clerk to the floor and held the gun to the back of her head, demanding that she open the safe. When she said she could not, he asked about the cash register, and after opening it, took all the money contained in it.

The men then took both clerks' purses, several lottery tickets and some phone cards before running from the store. Police located the phone cards outside the convenience store and took them in as evidence.

The other clerk in the store at the time was said to have been in the freezer area and was unaware of the robbery.

While descriptions were listed on the incident reports of the persons involved in the two incidents, police had blocked them out and are withholding the information at the present time.

Drug arrests

Members of the Seminole County sheriff's office City/County Investigative Bureau (CCIB) and Sanford police QUAD-Squad made three arrests Wednesday in connection with reported drug activities.

Oscear T. Wilder, 29, of Altamonte Springs, was located by CCIB agents as the result of a stake out in the 1300 block of Merritt Street in Altamonte Springs. He was charged with sale/delivery of a controlled substance.

Anthony Jerome Robinson, 35, 2308 Alexander Avenue, Sanford, was arrested by CCIB agents at 18th Street and Southwest Road in Sanford. He was charged with sale/delivery of a controlled substance.

Sanford police QUAD-Squad officers arrested Albert Mike Lock, 46, of 1701 W. 13th Street, as the result of a drug investigation at 11th Street and Maple Avenue on Wednesday. He was charged with possession of drug paraphernalia.

Wrong ID

Elizabeth E. Edwards, 27, listed as homeless, was arrested by Sanford police Wednesday at a retail store in the 3600 block of Orlando Drive. Police were called regarding a suspicious customer, and found the woman at a checkout counter. When they asked for identification, officers said she produced a driver's license with a different name on it. Following further investigation, she was arrested on charges of unauthorized possession of a driver's license, resisting an officer without violence, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Retail theft

Dorabel R. Smith, 27, 1505 W. 25th Street, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Wednesday at a retail store in the 3600 block of Orlando Drive. Officers said she attempted to take $68.90 in merchandise from the store without paying. She was charged with retail theft.

Battery

Susan Schwartz Soika, 40, 754 Bingham Place, Lake Mary, was arrested by sheriff's deputies at her residence Wednesday after a reported altercation with her husband. She was charged with battery.

Planning for Goombay in Sanford

By MARVA HAWKINS
Herald Columnist

The Bahamas American and Goombay Festival Association of Central Florida Inc., is hosting its cultural festival on Lake Monroe in Sanford Dec. 6-8.

Representatives from the community churches, schools, clubs and all concerned and interested parties are invited to attend a planning meeting to complete plans for the first successful multi-cultural event.

This event will be in conjunction with the Seminole County Convention and Visitors Bureau.

The 30th Annual Sailfest is the largest inland Sailing Regatta in the United States. It attracts over 5,000 participants, fans and sailing celebrities to Sanford and Central Florida.

The Junkanoo and Goombay Festival will attract over 20,000 spectators from the Bahamas, South and Central Florida and the North East region. The official meeting will be held Sunday, Nov. 3, 4pm., at the Seminole County Public Library Central Branch, 215 North Oxford Road, Casselberry, (407) 339-4000. Directions to the library are as follows: take I-4 to Maitland East or I-7-92 or SR 436-East to Oxford Road. Turn left at Denny's restaurant

Stress takes toll on Simpson, jurors, others

By MONICA FLEMMAN
Associated Press Writer

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Just four days into testimony, tensions boiled over in the O.J. Simpson trial: Simpson exchanged harsh words with Ronald Goldman's father, and a stressed-out alternate juror was hospitalized and dismissed after viewing gruesome crime-scene photos shown for the first time.

Other jurors said they felt pressured by co-workers to talk about the case when they returned to their jobs on Wednesday, an off-day in the trial. The judge ordered jurors to stay away from their jobs for the rest of the trial.

Testimony was to resume today when lead defense lawyer Robert Baker completes his questioning of former Detective Tom Lange, one of two lead investigators in the criminal case. The next scheduled witness was Lange's former partner, Philip Vannatter. The problems arose Thursday during the civil trial's tensest testimony to date, in which Lange led jurors through a slide show of photos of the bloody bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and Goldman, the most graphic ever shown in the two Simpson trials. The defense then launched its most blistering cross-examination of any witness.

The former detective's testimony was marked not only by sharp exchanges between Baker and Lange, but between Baker and Judge Hiroshi Fujisaki. At one point, when Fujisaki suggested Baker's objections were trivial, Baker snapped, "I don't appreciate the court's comments."

The judge answered, "I make the calls and I stick by them." At day's end, after jurors were sent out of the courtroom, the arguing didn't stop. Fred Goldman, Ronald's father, bellowed to Simpson, "Don't give me any of your g----- dirty looks."

"I'm not looking at you. I was looking at your daughter, who was staring at me," Simpson responded, referring to Kim Goldman. "Your daughter, she plays her staring games."

Simpson was escorted away by his sister, brother-in-law and a sheriff's deputy.

Earlier, an alternate juror, a white man in his 40s, was dismissed after becoming ill while viewing the crime-scene photos. Court officials blamed his illness on a change in blood pressure medication and insisted there was no connection to the pictures.

But some jurors were visibly distressed by the graphic, close-up pictures of the victims, projected on a giant TV screen in a dimmed courtroom.

Two particularly gruesome photos of Ms. Simpson's body, shot from above and showing her head in pools of blood, were not shown to jurors in the criminal trial and seemed to take the greatest toll on those in the courtroom. One juror sat with her mouth agape, breathing hard. Another recoiled in her seat.

Simpson closed his eyes, breathed heavily and rocked back and forth in his chair after seeing one photo. Spectators gasped. For the rest of the trial, Fujisaki told jurors they should stay away from work.

Businesses add new jobs, unemployment rate holding steady

By MARTIN CRUTCHER
AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON — After a one-month pause, businesses resumed adding workers to their payrolls in October, helping to keep the unemployment rate steady at 5.2 percent, very close to a seven-year low.

The Labor Department reported today that payroll jobs climbed a strong 210,000 last month, led by the biggest increase in service sector jobs in five months. In September, payroll jobs had actually declined by 35,000.

Today's unemployment report was the last major economic indicator to be released before voters go to the polls next Tuesday.

In New York, meanwhile, the Conference Board reported that an index of future economic growth gained 0.1 percent in September, the smallest of eight consecutive advances and another indication that the economy may be slowing.

The small improvement in the index of Leading Economic Indicators follows a 0.3 percent increase in August and an identical 0.3 percent gain in July.

GOP presidential candidate Bob Dole on Wednesday had seized on a sharp slowdown in overall economic growth in the July-September quarter to warn that the economy is not performing as well as President Clinton claims and contend that a recession could well be looming.

However, the White House was certain to point to today's unemployment report as evidence of their claim that the economy is continuing to advance with strong employment growth and no inflation pressures.

Indeed, the government reported that workers' average hourly earnings, which are closely watched for any signs of wage pressures, showed no change at all in October.

This development was likely to cheer financial markets as further evidence of an absence of inflation. Many private economists believe that evidence of a moderation in economic activity will keep the Federal Reserve from raising interest rates through the rest of this year and perhaps well into 1987.

For October, the Labor Department reported that 119,000 jobs were created in service industries, the largest advance since May.

The strength was led by an increase of 62,000 jobs at retail stores, an increase of 36,000 in employment at recreation centers. Jobs at schools were up 21,000 while hospitals added 20,000 workers.

Manufacturing employment was up 6,000 in October but this increase followed a big decline of 59,000 jobs in September. Job losses continued in motor vehicles and electronic equipment but these losses were offset somewhat by gains in other industries. Industrial machinery recovered half of the jobs lost in September while employment in manufacturing rose by 6,000, reflecting a return of striking workers.

Employment in construction was up 10,000 in October, but this represented a slowdown from the first half of the year when monthly gains were averaging 39,000.

The 5.2 percent unemployment rate kept this politically important number near its seven-year low of 5.1 percent reached in August. Since late 1984, the jobless rate has been below 6 percent, a period of time not seen since the mid-1980s.

The misery index, the combination of the unemployment rate and inflation, is at its lowest level in 27 years, a fact President Clinton often cites as he seeks to make a good economy the centerpiece of his re-election effort.

Welcome, Golden Age Games

Got a few minutes this coming week? May we suggest how to use them. (In addition to voting Tuesday - polls will be open 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.)

Attend one or more of the Golden Age Games competitive events or entertainment events scheduled for this coming week in Sanford. You will truly enjoy watching, and hopefully, you will know some of the entrants and spend some time in cheering or applauding as the case may be.

Everyone of us wants a pat on the back from time to time. That's everyone from the smallest of our children to the oldest members of our families and nation.

It's like the old question - if a tree falls in the woods and no one hears it, will it make a noise? What about the Golden Age Games. If a person participates in an event and no one sees it, will the victory or participation have as much effect?

Whether you know someone or don't know anyone. Whether you are a resident or a visitor. Whether you are a youngster or along in years. You are not only welcome to watch every one of the events, but you are urged to do so.

The opening ceremonies take place at the Sanford Civic Center this Sunday at 1 p.m. Be there. Pick up a copy of the event listings while you are there, and visit the Senior Expo, which is open to everyone but is aimed at helping provide valuable information to the advanced generation.

Then check into the possibilities of other activities which don't require enrollment, such as the hobby and photography show (free and open to the public), a Name that Tune event at the Civic Center next Friday, Thursday night's talent show. Or how about the knitting contest at Sanford City Hall at 3 p.m. Thursday. That ought to keep you in stitches.

If you need information on events or how to sign up, phone Golden Age Games headquarters at 321-2838.

But whether you participate or not, be there and lend support. This is a case where a cheer goes a long way to brighten someone's life.

LETTER

Thank you

I just wanted to thank you for the editorial, "Take the Time to Learn Life-saving," appearing in the September 8 edition of The Sanford Herald.

The editorial thoughtfully urged readers and area residents to take CPR and water safety training in light of the recent near drowning of a young Sanford child.

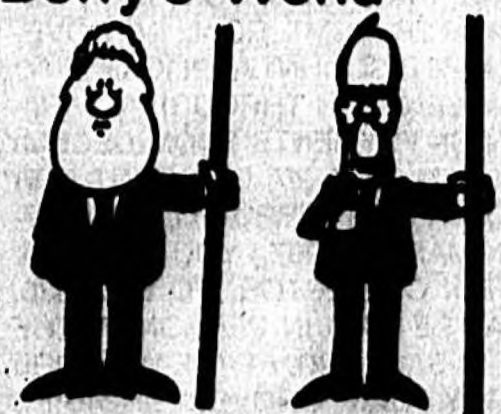

This case in point clearly demonstrates how lives are saved and injuries are reduced when people learn CPR and how to protect themselves and others around water.

Residential swimming pools are the most common place for drownings for all age groups, particularly children under the age of five years. It takes less than five minutes and under two inches of water for a child to drown. In as little as four hours, individuals can learn to protect their own lives and to possibly save the lives of others in such emergencies.

The American Red Cross has been providing CPR, first aid and water safety training across the nation for more than 80 years as part of the organization's mission of emergency prevention and preparedness.

Thank you again for reminding readers of the importance of CPR and water safety training!

TEN-FOOT POLES WITH WHICH TO NOT TOUCH CAMPAIGN FINANCE REFORM

ELLEN GOODMAN

A relevant piece of biography

BOSTON--In a season when politics has been fused with biography, it's not surprising that the Massachusetts Senate campaign now wears a tattoo: "The Battle of the Brahmins."

Reporters who come to the bay colony invariably frame the race as a contest between two members of the high Yankee caste. The term "blue blood" comes up with a regularity usually saved for tales of the House of Lords. So does "patrician."

On one side of this genealogical match is Democrat John Forbes Kerry, the 52-year-old, 6-foot-3-inch, lantern-jawed senator. On the other side is Republican William Floyd Weld, the 51-year-old, 6-foot-4-inch, carrot-topped governor.

Kerry is Yale, Skull and Bones, the descendant of John Winthrop. Weld is Harvard, Ivy Club, and Hasty Pudding, the son of a family that came over about 1630. Weld, as he says, "only the shirts on our backs. We sent the servants ahead with the luggage."

In short, all politics is pedigrees. A "50 Minutes" report focused with amusement on the two men's familiarity and civility. Newspaper accounts talk about their "gentleman's agreement" to put a spending cap on the race, as if only men of certain breeding could shake hands. A Vanity Fair reporter dining with Kerry sniffed that he took more than his share of morsels out of the pasta dish.

By now it seems as if the race for the United States Senate in Massachusetts is just another Harvard-Yale game where students of the Kerry-Weld generation expressed their deep abiding enmity by waving white handkerchiefs at each other.

Well, I understand the allure of these childhood stories, though this Yankee stereotyping would make ethnic groups file lawsuits. In recent days both the gentleman's agreement and the gloves have come off. But in the politics of biography and personality, it can seem that there is nothing more at stake than style. So in Massachusetts, a state that will vote for Clinton by a landslide, the Republican Weld has closed the gap on the grounds that he's "likable."

Nevertheless, in this race of genes and gentility, is it hopelessly retro to suggest that a senator be chosen by what he fights and votes for? Is it out of "style" to note that the differences between these men are greater than the similarities of their ancestry?

If you must have a relevant piece of bio, how about the ways they confronted the seminal event of their youth: Vietnam. Kerry fought in and then against the war. Weld was a bystander to both conflicts. Since then, for all of his adult life, Kerry has remained intense and serious. Weld, on the other hand, has been diffident and affable.

Bill Weld's reputation as a moderate is a matter of mathematics. To get to moderate you have to average out his liberal, even libertarian views on social issues--pre-choice, pre-gay rights--with his conservative views on economics--taxation is theft.

DONNA BRITT

Beauty in the oddest places

WASHINGTON--Beauty crops up in the saddest places.

It can assert itself on the steps of the Capitol Reflecting Pool, in a horseshoe made up of thousands of pairs of dead people's shoes. It can be found in walnut and brass plaques memorializing more than 2,000 homicide victims.

Or it can rest in a section of quilt beneath a tree, against which a man sits and sobs, barely noticed.

Beefy, tough-looking and wearing a black leather vest, Scott Swift so embodied the macho stereotype on this Sunday that the sight of him plopped on the ground, his wet face crumpled like tissue, could have seemed odd.

Not on the Mall near the U.S. Capitol, where several acres of fabric, an army of teddy bears and 40,000 names stitched onto rectangles made weeping a common sight. Pointing at the AIDS Memorial Quilt, whose panels seemed to stretch on forever, Swift explained, "I have a lot of friends out here."

Swift, 36, a student from Upstate New York, knew that seeing the panels of dead pals would hurt. But he found himself crying for those "you'll never meet, never know."

He paused. But for "the grace of God," he said, "I could be there."

I'd bet most people who saw the quilt in its most recent display thought, "It could have been my name"--or my child's or my brother's--spelled out beneath the autumn sun. Even some who secretly felt certain names "deserved" to be on the quilt because of their owners' lifestyles must have thought, "That could be me."

I mean, the quilt wouldn't let you doubt it.

If there could be a panel for Carolyn Holub-Berg, 32, who grinned prettily from stitched-on wedding pictures, or Krista Blake, 22, infected by an ex-boyfriend who never told her he was HIV-Positive, or 5-year-old "Riccardia," whose name was fashioned from a girlish bed sheet, I knew there could be one for anyone. If regular folks like D.C. landscaper Tony Jackson could be there alongside designer Perry Ellis, "Gunsmoke" actress Amanda Blake, "Charlotte of Fire" star Ian Charleson and elegant, eloquent Arthur Ashe--well, anybody could be.

All I could feel was devastation. And yet, the quilt was beautiful--and not just because of the wit and flair sewn into its panels.

I mean, the quilt wouldn't let you doubt it.

Just as flowers are coaxed to life by that which we flush away, loveliness often springs from the unthinkable--when people insist that it do so.

Grandmother of five LeVada Austin-Giesey, of Wilson, Mich., had no choice. When her son William, 23, was shot to death in 1997 during a robbery, Austin-Giesey told me recently, she was desperate to talk to anyone who'd understand. So was her daughter, Angela, then 18.

After doing some research, Austin-Giesey joined Parents of Murdered Children, a Cincinnati-based support group for murder victims' families and friends of which she is now national vice president. Austin-Giesey knew she'd done right after she created a satellite chapter for siblings and saw Angela emerge from its first meeting, saying, "Mom, I'm not crazy."

Certainly, it can feel like you're crazy when the horrendous happens and no one notices. Daily, we all hear about wars, grave diseases, murders. Daily, most of us push them from our awareness.

Austin-Giesey's son's death taught her that "people are afraid to talk about tragedies. They want to step back so they don't have to think about it. If they know about it, it becomes real. And it could happen to them, to their child."

To make people think, you have to make them feel, she says--feel how real, how human each victim was. Recently, protesters from Americans Against Gun Violence lined up 99,000 pairs of sneakers, boots, slippers, house slippers and baby shoes, many of which had been worn by people killed by guns.

Austin-Giesey's organization created the "Murder Wall ... Honoring Their Memories," a traveling tribute memorializing murdered loved ones hung with 18 plaques, each bearing 120 names. The names represent a fraction of the 28,000 Americans--one every 21 minutes--murdered each year, just as the AIDS quilt can't begin to encompass the 343,000 who've so far succumbed to the disease.

JOSEPH SPEAR

Thanks for blasting us, Bob

Do you realize that if the presidential campaign of 1998 had ended a couple of weeks before it actually did, the press in this country would be in a stupefying funk at this very moment?

Nay, I go further: We would be wallowing in a professional crisis. Week after week went by, and nobody accused us of screwing things up. Oh, there were some bores and hisses here and there, but they were muted things, almost insignificant -- a few ideologues and some think tanks that are paid to say bad things.

Then Bob Dole got desperate. He had bashed Hollywood. He had tried tax cuts. He had gotten nasty. Nothing worked. So then he got down to the final refuge of a floundering pol.

In Pensacola, Fla., he blasted the media, specifically the New York Times, for ignoring the sins of the Clinton crowd. Dole said: "Now we know the liberal media is (sic) not going to report all these things. They want him re-elected. They like it the way it is. But this country does not belong to the liberal media." And so forth and so on.

Then, in Houston, he did it again. "We're not going to let the media steal this election. We are going to win this election. The country belongs to the people."

Of course, much of what he said was not true, and I'll return to the matter of veracity in a moment. But who the heck cares? The point is, in this Internet, on-line, talk-show, cable-TV world, somebody finally noticed us. The point is, the tradition of scapegoating the press for political failures may not be thriving, but it is surviving.

I mean, this custom goes all the way back to the 18th century. President Washington "was much inflamed" and, wrote Secretary of State Thomas Jefferson, "got into one of those passions when he cannot command himself, ran on much on the personal abuse which had been bestowed on him."

It continued into the 19th century. "I don't think there ever was a time when newspaper lying was so general and so mean as at present," fumed Grover Cleveland.

It flourished in the 20th century. "I have never heard or seen such outrageous, vicious, distorted reporting in 37 years of public life," thundered Richard Nixon.

What Dole said, of course, is complete nonsense of a type that gets people inflamed but seldom results in votes. The bulk of the press is not "liberal." It may indeed be Democratic, but even so, it is moderate -- occupying the approximate spot on the spectrum where conservatives used to be before Newt & Co. moved the marker a few hundred yards to the right.

Was the press trying to "steal" the election for Bill Clinton? Heavens, no. Many of them can't stand Clinton. Oh, I know about that famous study earlier this year which disclosed that 89 percent of the Washington press voted for Clinton. My guess is, that's a misinterpretation of data. A full third of those pro-Clinton votes were actually anti-Bush votes.

Has the press been ignoring Clinton's trespasses?

Hardly. The New York Times, to use Dole's favorite whipping boy, broke the Whitewater story and has run numerous others that reflect negatively on Clinton. This is not to say, however, that the press hasn't ignored some mighty scandals.

When Dole started raising the "character" question, the New York Daily News ran a story about a lengthy affair he had been involved in during his first marriage.

Nay, I go further: We would be wallowing in a professional crisis.

The President. The President. Is he okay?
If alive, what must he be thinking?
These guys wanted him not me.
And they'll come again and again.
Must be on guard. Day and night.
A watch that never ends.
On us, the President of the United States, depends.

Leslie Coffelt was my good friend.
We took a trip back home to Indiana. We two.
I have a pair of shoes.
I hear the shots once more.
I see him drop near Blair House door.
Or is that me?

Birdsell, Downs and Davidson are there, too.
And the assassins.
Too damn many knowing what they do.
Nov. 1, 1963
Aboardly hot. 85 degrees in November.
Those lunatics.
What the hell were they thinking?
Leslie got the one, the other can rot in hell.
They can both rot in hell. They can both rot in hell.
I still see that one who lived--Collazo--see him in a prison cell. Miserable excuse for a human being. Not the least bit upset and what he did.
Oscar Collazo. Lunatic.
Grazel Torresola. The other one. Dead.
Leslie pumped lead in his head.
Leslie did that.
Or did it?

Donald Birdsell and Joe Downs.
A couple of real sweet guys.
They met the test well.
Especially Birdsell.
Blair House door was wide open,
Just a screen for those guys to get through.
Birdsell takes on in the knee.
But struggles toward the avenue.
Out to the trolley stop.
Away from Blair House.
Away from the president.
Courage.
Honor.
Respect.

Three minutes.
That was all.
Twenty-seven shots.
Two men dead.
Coffelt and Torresola.
One a hero.
The other a fool.

In dreams, it seems eternity.
Coffelt, Torresola.
and me.
You can't escape something like this
It stays with you
you think it has gone away,
you wake and know it's still there.
The bullets Coffelt took are in your chest and abdomen

In these to stay
Night and day
as long as I live.
Now, I'm down to my last sleep.
A White House Policeman.
I'm thinking about a friend, I hope to see again
I remember him.
I hope he remembers me...

Part 2 Witness to History

I was 40, maybe 50 yards away, walking toward the intersection at 18th street and the avenue
Sam as I did each day.
But something inside told me this day was different. You know how you get a sudden jolt or something.
A sense of danger. A sense of fear.
Then, I knew.
The first shots were loud, startling. Followed by rapid fire, so terrifying--like nothing I had ever known.
Someone threw me to the ground.
"Sorry.....Stay down. Stay down, cover your head."

Down I stayed.
Listening.
Shaking.
Praying.
It seemed forever.
Men shouted.
Women screamed.

"The president's been shot," I heard someone say.

My fists to the pavement, I pushed myself up.
The president?
Was he shot?
What now?

I knew exactly where I was.
Pennsylvania Avenue.
Blair House.
Where the president was staying.

"Everybody back.....move away...let us through."
Someone took my arm.
"Blind man, this way."
I see to this day,
Intruders with guns, trying to kill the President of the United States. Brave Policemen stopping them. One of those losing his life.
Two others badly wounded.
I am haunted by the grim replay.
The blind are not nightmare free:
It's then, we wish we couldn't see.

Part 3 The President

Coffelt.
He took the bullets meant for me.
Birdsell and Downs, too.
Men I hardly know.
Men who stood watch over me.

Arlington's filled with men lost at war.
And now we add one more.
A good husband. A good father.
Don't let me hear anyone call this guy just another cop.
This fellow had more courage than me.
Sure, the buck stops here, I'd say.
The bullets stopped in Coffelt.
That's why I'm still here.

Yes, I think about what happened that day.
The wife and I were up from a nap.
We heard the first shots.
The first one in view was Birdsell, on the avenue, blood spewing from his leg.
"Someone's shooting our policeman," she said.
So I looked out to see.
"Get back! Get back!" I heard from the street.

My heart pounded as if I were hit.
More shots.
What the hell is going on?
Then it was quiet. Too quiet.
Other officers came running from across the street from the White House.
Blood poured down Pennsylvania Avenue.
My blood, too.

"A president has to expect these things," I said.
Who the hell was I fooling.
I said Collazo and Torresola were "misguided fanatics, not really killers at heart."
Independentist
Puerto Ricans who hated the Yankees.
Preaching violent revolution.
They figured now is the time to kill the president of the United States.
At Blair House while the White House was under repair.
Blair House where but a few brave men stood watch.
Blair House where death would come unannounced.
And unwelcomed.

I had to go on that day.
Just as I did the day of the bomb.
A president has to expect these things. I told myself for reassurance.
They say I was calm.
That's the way I had to appear.
Not all ripped apart because a policeman had to take bullets in his heart and lie dead.
The president was wounded, too, that November day.
We all were.

In time my term in Washington was through.
Back to Missouri.
Retirement.
Books to write.
History to record.
I must pay respect to those officers.
Coffelt. Birdsell and Downs.
Give them their proper due.
If that be possible.
I pray their names be remembered.
I pray that mine will, too.

Ots. Leslie Coffelt died defending President Truman.

progress with FOX on some extremely complex financial negotiations," said Watts. "FOX really has stepped up and become a true partner with us on this project."

The exact location for the route from Sanford south to Orlando meanwhile, is still being discussed. Officials from LYNX and Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) are traveling throughout the area meeting with city commissions and interested organizations to seek information regarding their preferences for the route.

The Sanford City Commission, following a LYNX/FDOT presentation this past Monday, appeared to prefer the proposed route to be adjacent to the CSX railroad tracks.

In Lake Mary, with further discussion and presentations still to be made, it has been reported that the city would prefer the route be adjacent to I-4, rather than bring about heavy rail traffic through the historic residential area of the city.

In Longwood, the city commission has previously brought the matter up for discussion, and reportedly was leaning toward recommending the transportation route run adjacent to the CSX corridor, but no official preference has been made.

clinic workers' homes and a requirement that protesters stay 300 feet from people approaching the clinic.

Lawyers for abortion protesters and the Aware Woman Clinic in Melbourne met with Circuit Judge Newman Brock in Sanford on Wednesday to try to work out changes. McGregor has retired.

The clinic's attorney, Susan England, wanted Brock to bar protesters from swarming people on their way into the clinic and to impose a series of restrictions on protests at staff members' homes.

The attorney for Operation Rescue, Frederick Nelson, asked Brock to simply remove the portions rejected by the Supreme Court.

After the hearing, Brock said he would rule on the matter next month.

Business leaders pitch in for a good cause

Nadine Greenberg, joked with jailbird Chris Kallenberger, owner of SDM of Sanford, as he cheerfully turned himself into the prison at the Marina Hotel on Halloween and prepared him to raise money for MDA.

Community leaders go to jail to help MDA raise money

By VICKI BOGERTON
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Halloween is a day for fun and frivolity for children of all ages, though the world continues to be filled with important issues and serious problems.

Still, the people at the Muscular Dystrophy Association in Central Florida see no reason why the serious disease for which they are seeking a cure can't provide a little fun for the community while raising money for research and assistance for those with Muscular Dystrophy.

Stacey Sullivan, program coordinator for the Central Florida branch of the MDA said she was pleasantly surprised with the response of the Sanford community to the Halloween Day Lock Up to Benefit MDA fundraiser at the Marina Hotel in Sanford.

"It was wonderful," she said. "It was amazing to see how caring the Sanford community is."

Sullivan said there were nearly 150 Sanford area business and community leaders who allowed themselves to be taken into custody at the waterfront hotel.

"A whole lot of them came in in costume and were really into it," Sullivan said. "It was crazy, but that was great. It was wonderful."

The prisoners were treated well and given the finest accommodations while they worked the telephones to hit up friends and business associates for the money they would need to be able to get out of jail free.

Everyone was cooperative, Sullivan said, and there were no attempted escapes from the makeshift prison.

Once in custody the jailbirds were given the task of raising their own bail for the benefit of MDA.

They managed to raise nearly $20,000 for the association with their telephone calls.

Sullivan said the jailbirds this year raised more than they have in the past and she expects that next year when they repeat the popular fundraiser, they will be able to raise even more money.

"We were very, very pleased with the response from the Sanford community," Sullivan said. "We couldn't have asked for a more enthusiastic group. It was wonderful."

Nadine Greenberg, district director of MDA of Central Florida, took mugshots of the prisoners as they were booked into the facility. Randy Vickers, manager of the Chevron station at the corner of U.S. Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard in Sanford, was in no mood to mug for the shot.

Audrey Zeegers, marketing director of the Renaissance Retirement Community, and Carmelita Dacre, the community's executive director, were taken into custody and they plotted their fund-raising strategy before going to the phones.

Legal Notice

NOTICE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
Notice is hereby given that the City of Sanford, Florida will hold a Referendum Election throughout the City of Sanford on December 3, 1966, in accordance with Ordinance No. 3266, as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 3266
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA, AMENDING CHAPTER 282.10, LAWS OF FLORIDA, ACTS OF 1949, AS AMENDED, BEING THE CHARTER OF THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA; CREATING A REVISED CHARTER AS PROVIDED BY CHAPTER 188, FLORIDA STATUTES, PROVIDING FOR A REFERENDUM ON QUESTION OF APPROVAL OF REVISED CHARTER; SETTING REFERENDUM ELECTION ON DECEMBER 3, 1966; PROVIDING FOR FORM OF BALLOT; PROVIDING FILING REVISED CHARTER WITH FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF STATE; PROVIDING FOR CONFLICTS, SEVERABILITY AND EFFECTIVE DATE.
WHEREAS, the City Commission of the City of Sanford, Florida, may submit to the voters of the City, a revised Charter pursuant to Chapter 188, Florida Statutes; and
WHEREAS, the City Commission of the City of Sanford, Florida, pursuant to authority of the City Charter appointed a Charter Review Commission which Commission has reviewed the City Charter and submitted recommendations to the City Commission for revision of the Charter; and
WHEREAS, the City Commission finds it in the best interest of the City to revise the Charter of the City; and
WHEREAS, the City Commission desires to submit the revised Charter to the voters of the City for a referendum election to be held on December 3, 1966;
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA:

SECTION 1.1. CHARTER. Chapter 282.10, Laws of Florida, Acts of 1949, as amended, being the Charter of the City of Sanford, Florida, is hereby amended, subject to approval of the voters of the City of Sanford, to create the revised Charter of the City of Sanford, Florida, to read as follows:

ARTICLE I. POWERS OF THE CITY
SECTION 1.01. POWERS OF THE CITY.
The City of Sanford, Florida, shall have all powers possible for a city to have under the constitution and laws of this state as fully and completely as though they were specifically enumerated in this charter.

SECTION 1.02. GOVERNMENT.
The powers of the city under this charter shall be construed liberally in favor of the city, and the specific mention of particular powers in the charter shall not be construed as limiting in any way the general powers stated in this article.

SECTION 1.03. EXTENSION OF CORPORATE LIMITS.
The corporate limits of the City of Sanford, Florida, shall be those in effect on the date this Charter is ratified by the voters of the City of Sanford and said corporate limits may be amended by ordinance.

SECTION 1.04. AMENDMENT.
The territorial boundaries of the City of Sanford may be extended as provided by the laws of Florida.
ARTICLE II. CITY COMMISSION
SECTION 2.01. COMPOSITION, ELECTION, VARIATION AND TERM.

(a) City Commission. That there is hereby created a city commission of the City of Sanford, Florida to consist of five (5) members; four (4) commissioners and a mayor, who shall also be known as a commissioner, each of whom shall be elected for a term of four (4) years. The city commissioners holding office shall continue in office until their present terms of office expire and until their successors are elected and take office, unless vacancies therein otherwise occur.

(b) Qualification. Only qualified voters of the city shall be eligible to hold office of commissioner. No person shall run for more than one commission seat in an election and no person shall run for mayor and a commissioner seat in the same election.

(c) Elections. The regular municipal election shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in _____ of each year for the election of a mayor and city commissioner(s); at the same time the candidates for mayor receiving a majority of the votes cast in each group for commissioner receiving a majority of the votes cast in that group shall be elected. In case no candidate for mayor receives a majority of the votes cast for mayor in such election, a second election shall be held two (2) weeks following such election, at which election only the two (2) candidates for mayor receiving the highest vote in the first election shall be candidates, and the candidate for mayor receiving a majority of the votes cast in such group shall be elected. Write-in votes shall be allowed and counted only in the first election on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in _____ of each year. The names of unopposed candidates shall not appear on the general election ballot in accordance with the General Laws, State of Florida.

As determined by the voters on November 5, 1966, Referendum on Ordinance No. 3261.

Any matter which, by the terms of this charter may be submitted to the voters of the city at any special election may be submitted and voted upon at the election held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in _____ of each year.

As determined by the voters on November 5, 1966, Referendum on Ordinance No. 3261.

Any person who is a qualified voter in the City of Sanford, and otherwise qualified, may become a candidate for the office of mayor or city commissioner upon filing with the city clerk a written notice of his or her intention to become a candidate in accordance with Article VI, providing that his or her name be printed upon the ballot and depositing with such written notice a sum equal to five per cent (5%) of the then effective annual salary of the office he or she seeks as qualifying fee, said sum to be placed in the general fund of the City of Sanford and allocated toward the cost of city elections. The period within which a candidate may qualify as above stated shall begin _____ days prior to the election and shall terminate at 11:59 noon on the last regular working day for the city clerk's office _____ days in advance of the election date. Qualification can be effected only during normal working hours for the city clerk's office.

As determined by the voters on November 5, 1966, Referendum on Ordinance No. 3261.

SECTION 2.02. TERMS OF OFFICE.
The commission may determine the annual salary of commissioners by ordinance, but no ordinance increasing such salary shall become effective until the date of commencement of the terms of commissioners elected at the next regular election. Commissioners shall receive their expenses in the performance of their duties as officers.

SECTION 2.03. MAYOR.
The mayor shall be elected for a term of four years. The mayor shall be a member of the commission. In addition, he or she shall preside at meetings of the commission, shall be recognized as head of the city government for all ceremonial purposes, and shall be the chief executive officer of the city. He or she shall have the administrative duties. The mayor shall appoint from among the commissioners an acting mayor who shall serve 90 days during the temporary absence or disability of the mayor. If a vacancy occurs the office shall be filled for the remainder of the unexpired term in accordance with the procedure established in section 2.06 (c).

SECTION 2.04. GENERAL POWERS AND DUTIES.
All powers of the city shall be vested in the commission, except as otherwise provided by law or this charter, and the commission shall provide for the exercise thereof and for the performance of all duties and obligations imposed on the city by law.

SECTION 2.05. EMPLOYMENT.
(a) Employment authorized by law. Except where authorized by law, no commissioner shall hold any other city office of any kind during the term for which he or she was elected to the commission and no former commissioner shall hold any compensated appointive city office or employment or hold any City Board or committee position until one year after the expiration of the term for which he or she was elected to the commission.
(b) Appointment and removal. The mayor, the commission, or any of its members shall in any manner create the appointment or removal of any administrative officers or employees whom the city manager or any of his subordinates are empowered to appoint, but the commission may suggest his views and fully and freely discuss with the city manager anything pertaining to appointment and removal of such officers and employees.

(c) Interference with administration. Except for the purpose of inquiries and investigations under section 2.09, the mayor, the commission, or its members shall deal with the city officers and employees who are subject to the direction and supervision of the city manager solely through the city manager, and neither the commission nor its members shall have power to subpoena or employ, either publicly or privately.

SECTION 2.06. MUNICIPAL OFFICERS OR OFFICIALS.
(a) Resignation. The office of commissioner shall become vacant upon death, resignation, removal from office in any manner provided by law or forfeiture of office.
(b) Forfeiture of office. A commissioner shall forfeit office if the Commissioner:
(1) fails at any time during his or her term of office any qualification for the office prescribed by this charter; or by law;
(2) violates any express prohibition of this charter;
(3) is convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude;

(4) fails to attend three consecutive regular meetings of the commission without being excused by the commission.
(c) Time of vacancy. At the time a vacancy in the commission occurs, if there is less than six (6) months before the next regular city election, said vacancy in the commission shall be filled by the mayor with a person who shall hold office until the next regular city election. The person appointed shall hold office for the remainder of the unexpired term and shall be a qualified commissioner meeting all qualifications under law. At the time the vacancy occurs, if there is more than six (6) months before the next regular city election, a special election shall be held not more than thirty (30) days and not later than ninety (90) days following the occurrence of the vacancy and no temporary appointment shall be made by the commission.

SECTION 2.07. JUDICIAL OR QUASI-JUDICIAL.
The commission shall be the judge of the election and qualifications of its members and of the grounds for forfeiture of their office and for their removal. It shall have power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and require the production of evidence. A member charged with conduct constituting grounds for forfeiture of office shall be entitled to a public hearing on demand, and notice of such hearing shall be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the city at least one week in advance of the hearing. Decisions made by the commission under this section shall be subject to review by the courts.

SECTION 2.08. CITY CLERK.
The commission shall appoint, direct and supervise an officer of the city who shall have the title of city clerk. The city clerk shall give notice of commission meetings to its members and the public, keep the journal of its proceedings and perform such other duties as are required by this charter or by the commission.

SECTION 2.09. INVESTIGATION.
The commission may make investigations into the affairs of the city and the conduct of any city department, office or agency and for this purpose may subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, take testimony and require the production of evidence. Any person who fails or refuses to obey a lawful order issued in the exercise of these powers by the commission shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable to the extent provided by law.

SECTION 2.10. INDEPENDENT AUDIT.
The commission shall provide for an independent annual audit of all city accounts and may provide for more frequent audits as it deems necessary. Such audits shall be made as provided by General Acts, Laws of Florida.

SECTION 2.11. ORDINANCES AND RESOLUTIONS.
(a) Ordinance, emergency ordinance and resolutions. shall be adopted as provided by general law. The passing of any ordinance shall be "Be It Enacted by the People of the City of Sanford, Florida." All ordinances and resolutions passed by the city commission shall become effective ten days from date of passage, unless otherwise provided therein.
(b) Every ordinance or resolution upon its final passage shall be recorded and properly indexed in a record-book kept for that purpose and shall be authenticated by the signature of the presiding officer and stamp of the commission.

(c) Enactment. Within ten years after the adoption of this charter and thereafter every ten years thereafter, the commission shall provide for the preparation of a general codification of all city ordinances which have been specified by the commission for inclusion in the code. The general codification shall be adopted by the commission by ordinance and shall be published promptly in loose-leaf form, together with this charter and any amendments thereto. The completion shall be in form and filed officially with the Sanford City Code. Copies of the code shall be furnished to city officers and a copy kept on file at the office of the city clerk for public reference and made available for purchase by the public at a reasonable price fixed by the commission.

(d) Printing of ordinances and resolutions. The commission shall cause such ordinances and resolutions having the force and effect of law and such amendments thereto to be printed promptly following their adoption, and the printed ordinances, resolutions and charter amendments shall be distributed or sold to the public at reasonable prices to be fixed by the commission, following publication of the first Sanford City Code and at all times thereafter.

SECTION 2.12. CITY MANAGER.
The commission shall appoint a city manager for an indefinite term and fix the compensation. The manager shall be appointed solely on the basis of executive and administrative qualifications. He or she shall not be subject to removal by the commission at the time of appointment but shall reside inside the city while in office.

SECTION 2.13. REMOVAL.
The commission may remove the city manager from office in accordance with the following procedure:
(1) The commission shall adopt by affirmative vote of a majority of all its members a preliminary resolution which shall state the reasons for removal and may suggest and the city manager from duty for a period not to exceed 60 days. A copy of the resolution shall be delivered promptly to the city manager.
(2) Within five days after a copy of the resolution is delivered to the city manager, he or she may file with the commission a written reply for a public hearing. This hearing shall be held at a commission meeting not earlier than fifteen days, nor later than thirty days after the request is filed. The city manager may file with the commission a written reply not later than five days before the hearing.
(3) The commission may adopt a final resolution of removal, which shall be made effective immediately, by affirmative vote of a majority of all its members at any time after five days from the date when a copy of the preliminary resolution was delivered to the city manager if he or she has not requested a public hearing. The city manager shall continue to receive his or her salary until the effective date of a final resolution of removal. The action of the commission shall be subject to review by any court of appeal.

SECTION 2.14. ACTING CITY MANAGER.
By letter filed with the city clerk, the city manager shall designate, subject to approval of the commission, a qualified city administrative officer to exercise the powers and perform the duties of the city manager during temporary absence or disability. During such absence or disability, the commission may revoke such designation at any time and appoint another officer of the city to serve until the city manager shall return, or disability shall cease.

SECTION 2.15. POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE CITY MANAGER.
The city manager shall be the chief administrative officer of the city. The City Manager shall be responsible to the commission for the administration of all city affairs placed in his or her charge by or under this charter. The City Manager shall have the following powers and duties:
(1) To appoint and, when he or she deems it necessary for the good of the service, suspend or remove all city employees and appointive administrative officers as provided for by or under this charter, except as otherwise provided by law, this charter or personnel rules adopted pursuant to this charter. The City Manager may authorize any administrative officer who is subject to his or her direction and supervision to exercise these powers with respect to subordinates in that officer's department, office or agency;
(2) As determined by the voters on November 5, 1966, Referendum on Ordinance No. 3261.

(3) Direct and supervise the administration of all departments, offices and agencies of the city, except as provided by this charter or by law;
(4) Attend all commission meetings and shall have the right to take part in discussion but may not vote;
(5) See that all laws, provisions of this charter and acts of the commission, subject to enforcement by the City Manager or by officers subject to his or her direction and supervision, are faithfully executed;
(6) Prepare and submit the annual budget and capital program to the commission, on or before July 1 of each year;
(7) Submit to the commission and make available to the public a complete report on the financial and administrative activities of the city at the end of each fiscal year;
(8) Make such other reports as the commission may require concerning the operations of city departments, offices and agencies subject to the City Manager's direction and supervision;
(9) Keep the commission fully advised as to the financial condition and future needs of the city and make such recommendations to the commission concerning the affairs of the city as he or she deems desirable; and
(10) Perform such other duties as are specified in this charter or may be required by the commission.

ARTICLE III. ADMINISTRATIVE DEPARTMENTS.
SECTION 3.01. POLICE DEPARTMENT.
(a) Creation of department. The commission may establish city departments, offices, boards, commissions or committees or agencies in addition to those created by this charter and may prescribe the functions of all departments, offices, agencies, boards, commissions or committees, except that no functions assigned by this charter to a particular department, office, agency, board, commission or committee may be discontinued or, unless this charter specifically so provides, assigned to any other.
(b) Residence by City Manager. All departments, offices, agencies, boards, commissions or committees under the direction and supervision of the city manager shall be administered by an officer appointed by and subject to the direction and supervision of the city manager. With the consent of the commission, the city manager may serve as the head of one or more such departments, offices, agencies, boards, commissions or committees or may appoint one person as the head of two or more of them.

(c) Chief of Police. In addition to such other duties as may be required by the act (re-charter), by the laws and ordinances of the city or by the City Commission, the chief of police shall be responsible to the City Commission for the proper functioning of the police department. The chief of police and other police officers or policemen shall receive their compensation as provided by law fixed by the City Commission.

To be included in the Charter July 1 of each year on November 5, 1966, at the Referendum on Ordinance No. 3267 and to keep the City Commission as the party authorized to hire and supervise the Police Chief.

(d) Fire Department. There shall be a fire department, in creation of which, who shall be appointed by the City Commission from eligible lists to be furnished by the civil service board. The fire department shall have the control of the fire-fighting and transferring of all houses, subject to such rules and regulations as are prescribed by the City Commission and shall perform such other duties as are required by this act (re-charter), by the laws of the City or by the City Commission. The chief of the fire department and subordinates shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the City Commission.

To be included in the Charter July 1 of each year on November 5, 1966, at the Referendum on Ordinance No. 3267 and to keep the City Commission as the party authorized to hire and supervise the Fire Chief.

(e) Personnel System. All appointments and promotions of city officers and employees shall be made solely on the basis of merit and fitness demonstrated by examination or other evidence of competence.
(f) Personnel Director. There shall be a personnel director appointed by the city manager who shall administer the personnel system of the city.
(g) Personnel Rules. The personnel director shall prepare personnel rules with consulting counsel and/or other legal counsel as they relate to the function of personnel administration. In some cases, such rules shall be prepared in accordance with applicable law or to comply with some, overall personnel functioning. Such rules shall be prepared, reviewed, and approved by the City Manager, Civil Service Board, or City Commission as appropriate. Said personnel rules shall be published in the Personnel Manual.

SECTION 3.02. CITY ATTORNEY OR CITY ATTORNEY AT LAW.
The city commission shall appoint a city attorney who shall act as legal advisor to the municipality and its officers in matters relating to their official duties. Upon request, the city attorney shall furnish the city commission, the city manager, or through the city manager the head of any department, office or agency, on any question of law relating to their respective duties. The city attorney shall perform such other duties as the city commission may require.

SECTION 3.03. CITY ATTORNEY CHALLENGED.
The city attorney shall be a lawyer of experience and authorized to practice law in all the courts of the state. The city attorney compensation shall be fixed by the city commission.

SECTION 3.04. SPECIAL LEGAL COUNSEL.
Such special legal counsel, consultants and consulting firms as may be authorized by the city commission, may be employed by the city shall be appointed or placed under contract by the city commission. Said appointment or contract shall be approved by the commission.

ARTICLE IV. ANNUAL REFERENDUM
SECTION 4.01. DATE OF THE CITY CLERK'S BALLOT.
The annual election of the city clerk shall be on the first day of October and on the last day of _____ of each year.

SECTION 4.02. BUDGET AND CAPITAL PROGRAM.
On or before the 1st day of July of each year, the city manager shall submit to the commission a budget for the ensuing fiscal year and an accompanying report.

SECTION 4.03. BUDGET HEARING.
The city manager's message shall contain the budget both in fiscal terms and in terms of the work program. It shall contain the proposed financial policies of the city for the ensuing fiscal year and describe the important features of the budget; indicate any major changes from the current year; financial policies, expenditures, and revenues together with the reasons for such changes; summarize the city's debt position, and discuss such other material as the city manager deems desirable.

SECTION 4.04. BUDGET.
The budget shall provide a complete financial plan of all city funds and activities for the ensuing fiscal year. It shall comply with the laws of the state, and shall be in accordance with the city manager's message, or the commission may require it. In organizing the budget, the city manager shall utilize the most feasible combination of expenditures classification by fund, appropriation unit program, purpose or activity, and object. The budget shall begin with a clear general summary of all revenues which shall show in detail all estimated income, including the city manager's property tax levy, and all proposed expenditures, including debt service, for the ensuing fiscal year; and shall be so arranged as to show comparative figures for actual and estimated income and expenditures of the preceding fiscal year. The budget shall include a clear general summary of all revenues and expenditures for the preceding fiscal year.
(1) Proposed capital expenditures during the ensuing fiscal year, detailed by office, department and agency, or items of their respective work programs, and the method of financing such expenditures;
(2) Proposed capital expenditures during the ensuing fiscal year.

Saudis are holding truck bomber, newspaper reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A man believed to have driven the explosive-laden truck that destroyed part of a housing complex in Dhahran last June, killing 19 Americans, is being held by Saudi officials. The Washington Post reported today.

The man is among 40 Saudis whose names have been listed by Saudi officials as being involved in the truck bombing, according to the newspaper, quoting sources that did not name.

The newspaper quoted sources as saying that the investigation inside Saudi Arabia had been completed, but that there was evidence as well that implicates both Iran and Syria.

But in the Saudi capital of Riyadh, Saudi security sources said today the investigation into the June 26 bombing is still under way and authorities are questioning dozens of detainees.

Many of the suspects had connections to Iran, said the sources, with some on condition of anonymity. They did not elaborate.

Earlier this week, FBI officials decided to pull out the last of the agents sent to Saudi Arabia to help with the bombing investigation, a U.S. law enforcement official who requested anonymity, disclosed today.

The decision to withdraw was made by FBI Director Louis Freeh, who had become frustrated in his efforts to persuade Saudi officials to let the agents participate fully in the investigation, the official said.

Despite two trips by Freeh to the kingdom to appeal to top Saudi officials, FBI agents in Riyadh were never allowed to interrogate any suspects in the case and did not have full access to the Saudis information, this official said.

Immediately after the bombing more than 70 FBI agents were sent to help, the largest contingent ever sent abroad on one investigation, but by September their number had dwindled to a handful.

"The U.S. has not completed its investigation and has not drawn any conclusions," said a U.S. official in Washington when asked about the newspaper report.

The official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said he was not aware of any notification to the United States of the arrests by the Saudis.

Saudi security sources, speaking on the condition they not be identified, told The Associated Press earlier this week that dozens of detainees, including some with connections to Iran, were being questioned in connection with the June 26 bombing.

Last month, Saudi security sources said 40 Saudis were among an unspecified number of people in custody for questioning in connection with the attack on the U.S. military housing complex in Al-Khobar near Dhahran.

The Post reported that Saudi investigators have traced the attack to a broad conspiracy that the Saudis are convinced were backed by the government of Iran.

The report quotes the sources as saying that the Saudi government has obtained confessions from some of those arrested as well as other evidence that implicates Iran as an instigator and sponsor of the attack with Syria having had advanced knowledge.

But the newspaper said several U.S. officials involved in the investigation have yet to reach any conclusions about who was behind the attack.

A year ago, another terrorist attack — a car bombing at a U.S. military facility in Riyadh — killed five Americans and two Indians. The Saudis obtained confession from four Saudis in connection to that bombing and the men were beheaded before U.S. officials could question them.

Election

again fall short of 50 percent, because of Perot and Nader.

"I can beat one candidate. I can't beat two. So don't vote for Ross Perot," Dole said Thursday in a blunt effort to stop any Perot gains.

As Dole sought a dramatic comeback, and Clinton bid for an Electoral College landslide, the key in the closing days was a dozen tossup states in which neither candidate could claim a comfortable lead.

This group included several traditional Republican strongholds that have eluded Dole throughout the fall: Florida, Arizona, Indiana, Virginia and South Dakota. Other battlegrounds included Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Nevada, Montana and Colorado.

Republicans put Louisiana on this list, too, though Democrats said Clinton's lead is comfortable there and nationally. "I cannot remember approaching Election Day with a map that has been so positive and so truly national for a Democratic presidential campaign," said Clinton deputy campaign manager Ann Lewis.

Dole's longshot comeback formula included a promise to campaign virtually non-stop from today through Tuesday. "I will give it all I've got — 98 hours," Dole said of an itinerary that included 14 states and could grow.

But his task was gargantuan. Dole's formula for getting to 270 electoral votes was dependent on winning virtually all of the tossups. But even if he won them all, Dole would still fall short. To get there, aides said Dole would either have to defeat Clinton in California or in three Midwest battlegrounds: Ohio, Michigan and Missouri. Clinton held sizeable leads in each state.

There was fresh evidence Thursday that Dole's California strategy was failing. Although the GOP nominee spent four days in the state in the past week, a new Field Poll found

Clinton stretching his lead from 10 to 15 points — and more respondents viewed Dole unfavorably than favorably. "Coming here during the last few weeks has apparently only reinforced the negative impression voters have of him," pollster Mervin Field said.

Several state Republican officials said they had noticed a disturbing trend: a drop in Dole's poll numbers after he campaigned in their states.

There was evidence in states where Dole trailed badly that GOP officials were worried about the impact farther down the ballot.

In Illinois, for example, Gov. Jim Edgar went on the air this week in ads urging voters to keep the legislature in Republican hands in New York, where Clinton has a huge lead. Republicans also worried about legislative races. "There's not a tremendous amount of enthusiasm unfortunately on our side," said New York GOP Chairman William Powers.

chairman of the games this year.

Lewis, a native of Watertown, N.Y., was born in 1915. After serving with the CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps) he joined the U.S. Navy during World War II.

In 1952, he rejoined the army in a Civil Service position and remained in that post until his retirement in 1978.

Just three days after his retirement, Colin and his wife Peggy headed for Sanford where they purchased a home.

He is presently president of the Knights of Columbus, vice president of the Over-50 Club, member of American Legion, Elks Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Association of Retired Persons. He has also been a member of the Golden Age Games Executive Committee for many years.

Also being honored posthumously this year will be Helen Kaminsky, who passed away in August at the age of 82. She was a 22-year member of the Golden Age Executive Committee and a member of the Over-50 Club.

Co-chairmen for this year's games, same as last year, are Lois A. Jones, Kimberly Soanowski, Roni Mott and Yvette Hartefeld, all with the Sanford Recreation Department. Jones is a supervisor and this will be the eighth Golden Age Games she has worked with, and her third as co-chairman.

In addition to the opening ceremonies Sunday at the Civic Center, there will also be a Senior Expo at the Civic Center from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m., open to persons of all ages.

While it requires an age of 55 to become a participant in the games, all persons are urged to be on hand to watch the games and enjoy the various special events including the highly popular talent show at the Civic Center on Thursday, Nov. 7.

For additional information on Golden Age Games, contact games headquarters at the Sanford Senior Center, 321-2838.

Section 2.01. The city manager shall prepare and submit to the commission a five-year capital program on or before July 1 of each year.

(b) A clear general summary of its contents.

(c) A list of all capital improvements which are proposed to be undertaken during the five fiscal years next ensuing, with appropriate descriptive information, as to the necessity for such improvements.

(d) Such estimates, method of financing and recommended time schedule for each such improvement.

(e) The estimated annual cost of operating and maintaining the facilities to be constructed or acquired.

The above information may be revised and extended each year with regard to capital improvements still pending or in process of construction or acquisition.

(f) Status and progress. The commission shall publish in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the city a notice stating:

(1) The times and places where copies of the capital program are available for inspection by the public; and

(2) The time and place, not less than two weeks after such publication, for a public hearing on the capital program.

(g) Adoption. The commission shall adopt the capital program with or without amendment after the public hearing.

Section 2.02. The budget and the capital program as adopted shall be public records and a copy shall be made available to the public for reference at the office of the city clerk.

Section 2.03. Amendments After Adoption.

(a) Supplemental appropriations. If, during the fiscal year, the city manager certifies that there are available for appropriation revenues in excess of those estimated in the budget, the commission may make supplemental appropriations for the year up to the amount of such excess.

(b) Emergency appropriations. To meet a public emergency affecting life, health, property or the public peace, the commission may make emergency appropriations. Such appropriations may be made by emergency ordinance in accordance with provisions of section 2.11. To the extent that there are no available unappropriated revenues to meet such appropriations, the commission may, by such emergency ordinance, authorize the issuance of emergency notes, which may be removed from time to time, but the emergency notes and receipts of any fiscal year shall be paid not later than the last day of the fiscal year next ensuing that in which they were issued.

(c) Issuance of bonds. If, at any time during the fiscal year, it appears probable to the city manager that the revenues available will be insufficient to meet the amount appropriated, he or she shall report to the commission without delay, indicating the estimated amount of the deficit, any remedial action taken and recommendations as to any other steps to be taken to meet the obligations of the city. The commission shall, as it deems necessary to prevent or minimize any deficit for that purpose, it may, by ordinance, reduce one or more appropriations:

(1) Transfer of appropriations. At any time the city manager may request that the commission approve transfer of budgeted funds within, and/or between departments, offices, or agencies. Such request shall be supported by written justification for the transfer. Appropriations may be reduced or transferred, and no appropriation may be reduced below any amount required by law to be appropriated or by more than the amount of the unencumbered balance thereof. The supplemental and emergency appropriations and reduction of the appropriations authorized by this section may be made effective immediately upon adoption. Any amount remaining in the original appropriation shall revert to the general fund for the regular operating budget of the city.

Section 2.04. Limit of Appropriations.

Every appropriation, except an appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure, shall lapse at the close of the fiscal year to the extent that it has not been expended or encumbered. An appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure shall be available in force until the purpose for which it was made has been accomplished or abandoned; the purpose of any such appropriation shall be deemed abandoned if three years pass without any disbursement from or encumbrance of the appropriation and may be transferred to the general fund.

Section 2.05. Administration of All Funds.

The city manager, each department, office or agency shall submit work programs for the ensuing fiscal year showing the requested amounts of its appropriations by periods within the year. The city manager shall review and authorize such amounts with or without revision as early as possible in the fiscal year. The city manager may revise such amounts during the year if he or she deems it desirable and shall review them in accord with any supplemental appropriations and/or transferred appropriations made pursuant to section 2.03.

(d) Disbursements and encumbrances. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(e) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(f) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(g) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(h) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(i) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(j) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(k) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(l) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(m) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(n) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(o) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(p) Disbursement of funds. (f) Status and progress. The commission shall publish in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the city a notice stating:

(1) The times and places where copies of the capital program are available for inspection by the public; and

(2) The time and place, not less than two weeks after such publication, for a public hearing on the capital program.

(g) Adoption. The commission shall adopt the capital program with or without amendment after the public hearing.

Section 2.07. Amendments After Adoption.

(a) Supplemental appropriations. If, during the fiscal year, the city manager certifies that there are available for appropriation revenues in excess of those estimated in the budget, the commission may make supplemental appropriations for the year up to the amount of such excess.

(b) Emergency appropriations. To meet a public emergency affecting life, health, property or the public peace, the commission may make emergency appropriations. Such appropriations may be made by emergency ordinance in accordance with provisions of section 2.11. To the extent that there are no available unappropriated revenues to meet such appropriations, the commission may, by such emergency ordinance, authorize the issuance of emergency notes, which may be removed from time to time, but the emergency notes and receipts of any fiscal year shall be paid not later than the last day of the fiscal year next ensuing that in which they were issued.

(c) Issuance of bonds. If, at any time during the fiscal year, it appears probable to the city manager that the revenues available will be insufficient to meet the amount appropriated, he or she shall report to the commission without delay, indicating the estimated amount of the deficit, any remedial action taken and recommendations as to any other steps to be taken to meet the obligations of the city. The commission shall, as it deems necessary to prevent or minimize any deficit for that purpose, it may, by ordinance, reduce one or more appropriations:

(1) Transfer of appropriations. At any time the city manager may request that the commission approve transfer of budgeted funds within, and/or between departments, offices, or agencies. Such request shall be supported by written justification for the transfer. Appropriations may be reduced or transferred, and no appropriation may be reduced below any amount required by law to be appropriated or by more than the amount of the unencumbered balance thereof. The supplemental and emergency appropriations and reduction of the appropriations authorized by this section may be made effective immediately upon adoption. Any amount remaining in the original appropriation shall revert to the general fund for the regular operating budget of the city.

Section 2.08. Limit of Appropriations.

Every appropriation, except an appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure, shall lapse at the close of the fiscal year to the extent that it has not been expended or encumbered. An appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure shall be available in force until the purpose for which it was made has been accomplished or abandoned; the purpose of any such appropriation shall be deemed abandoned if three years pass without any disbursement from or encumbrance of the appropriation and may be transferred to the general fund.

Section 2.09. Administration of All Funds.

The city manager, each department, office or agency shall submit work programs for the ensuing fiscal year showing the requested amounts of its appropriations by periods within the year. The city manager shall review and authorize such amounts with or without revision as early as possible in the fiscal year. The city manager may revise such amounts during the year if he or she deems it desirable and shall review them in accord with any supplemental appropriations and/or transferred appropriations made pursuant to section 2.03.

(d) Disbursements and encumbrances. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(e) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(f) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(g) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(h) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(i) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

(j) Disbursement of funds. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred except by check or appropriation except in accordance with the appropriations duly made and unless the city manager or his or her designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such appropriation or appropriation for a specified major capital expenditure or an appropriation to cover the check or make the payment, as the case may be, and that the check or payment is for the purpose and in accordance with the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment or note made thereon shall be null and void and the city manager or his or her designee shall be held liable for the amount of the check or payment or note.

Cleared bomb suspect faces high hurdles in lawsuits

By ROBERT CARRELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — After enduring what he called an 88-day nightmare of intense FBI and news-media scrutiny, Richard Jewell is waking up to a harsh reality: Some harms have no legal remedies.

Jewell is no longer a suspect in the FBI's investigation of the Olympic bombing in Atlanta, and his lawyers are considering suing the bureau and some news organizations that reported he was under agents' scrutiny.

But legal experts say winning such lawsuits will not be easy. "It's unfortunate these things happen, but there's not recourse for every injury," said Timothy Dyl, a Washington lawyer who represents news media clients. "It's going to be very difficult for Mr. Jewell to recover, either from the FBI or the news media."

In any action against the news media, Jewell certainly would be able to prove he was portrayed as the chief suspect in a probe of the July 27 bombing that killed two and injured 111 people.

Jewell's problem is that anonymous law enforcement sources were leaking information about him to news reporters. Unless he can prove news organizations strayed from what they were told, what was published would not amount to libel.

Because Jewell was first hailed as a hero, he probably would have to pursue any libel lawsuit as a "public figure" — someone who faces a stiffer standard of proof.

Public officials and public figures who sue the news media for libel must prove the allegedly libelous statements were false and were made with "actual malice" — knowledge or reckless disregard of falsity. Private citizens must prove only that the statements were false and made negligently.

Jane Kirtley of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press said the higher standard Jewell faces makes unlikely his chances of winning a libel suit. Could Jewell successfully pursue claims against news media defendants for invasion of privacy or intentional infliction of emotional distress?

Those areas of the law are less clear than libel, and Kirtley acknowledges "the increasing willingness of courts to look sympathetically at such claims" when news organizations are sued.

But libel-law expert Bruce Sanford, who represents newspapers, said Jewell's grievance amounts to a complaint that news organizations did their job.

"To a large extent, he is scapegoating the news media," Sanford said. "This was an irrefutable news story for the media to report. They'd be crazy not to."

If Jewell sues the FBI, his best claim likely would be tied to the agency's search of his home and confiscation of his property.

A 1971 Supreme Court decision allows private citizens to sue federal agents for alleged violations of the Fourth Amendment protection against unreasonable searches and seizures.

Jewell would have to prove that the FBI lacked "probable cause" to believe he had been engaged in any crime when it sought and obtained court warrants to search his apartment, car and a storage unit.

A federal judge has released copies of the affidavits FBI agents submitted when seeking the warrants, but many sentences and paragraphs were blacked out.

"What's left doesn't present a particularly strong case for probable cause," said Kathryn Urbonya, a Georgia State University law professor. But Urbonya said the blacked-out material makes it hard to tell for sure.

Jewell's lawyers contend that the affidavits are full of lies. Even if that were the case, misrepresentations would be relevant only if FBI agents knew their informants were lying or recklessly disregarded the truth.

Because federal officials enjoy what the courts call "qualified immunity," Jewell might not win a lawsuit against the FBI even if he proved the searches and seizures occurred without probable cause.

He also would have to prove that FBI agents could not possibly have believed the searches were justified. If a court concluded a "reasonable mistake" had occurred, Jewell's Fourth Amendment claim would fail.

Child-resistant medicine caps do save lives. Annual death rates of children under 12 who've taken and swallowed drugs by mistake has dropped by 40 percent since 1974. Expected sales more than triple with caps easier for adults — but not children — to open.

Taking aspirin or other nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs at intervals of three times a week may cut the risk of breast cancer by a third, on data from study found. Doctors suggest the drugs work by blocking the formation of prostaglandins.

These names are listed as likely to trigger cases to have tested with adverse health effects, and being late and not adequately reduce the risk for them. Studies are reported in The Journal of the American Medical Association.

Huang controversy

WASHINGTON — John Huang, the Democratic fund-raiser at the center of the rising controversy over foreign political donations, visited the White House at least 65 times this year, often for hours at a time, Secret Service logs show.

Republicans have made Huang's fund-raising role a campaign issue and want Congress to investigate what they call improper and possibly illegal contributions to the Democratic Party. Huang is aligned with the Riady, a wealthy Indonesian banking family. Riady family members and their associates have contributed heavily to Clinton's re-election campaign.

Huang, who raised an estimated $4 million to $5 million from Asian Americans this year, was relieved of his fund-raising duties by the DNC on Oct. 18, although he remains on the party's payroll.

The Secret Service records show Huang's last visit to the White House was for about two hours on Oct. 3, less than a week after the Los Angeles Times reported he solicited a $250,000 campaign donation from a South Korean company. The donation subsequently was returned.

Full of promise

WASHINGTON — Bill Clinton swept into Washington full of promise and promises, the bearer of hope to a nation hungry for change, and pledged to forge a government of "bold, persistent experimentation."

Four years later, he stands before a more content, less volatile electorate to request more time. The experiment, more persistent than bold, produced mixed results.

It is actually a tale of two records, divided clearly by the 1994 elections, in which Americans repudiated Clinton and handed control of Congress to Republicans.

Clinton's first two years in office were a whirlwind of government activism, staff turmoil, youthful arrogance and personal tragedy. The second two years were more deliberate as he shifted step-by-step to the political center, growing more comfortable and mature in office.

Moving in to stop crime

CHICAGO — An eight-hour shift wasn't enough for two police officers who patrol one of the city's most crime-ridden housing projects. So they moved in.

Residents say it's already quieter and drug dealers have moved away from the 16-story building with shattered windows and graffiti-covered walls — and Jimmy Boyd and David Hickman arrived just two weeks ago.

Boyd and Hickman, who live rent-free in a police substation on the first floor of a high-rise in the ABLA Homes, are working round-the-clock to protect residents they now call neighbors.

The officers, both bachelors, moved into their own specially renovated apartments with iron window guards, bulletproof glass and a heavy metal security door. Their new homes have two bedrooms, but are apart within the police substation's white cinder-block walls.

Genocide trial postponed

ARUSHA, Tanzania — The first trial in the 1994 Rwandan genocide in which at least 500,000 people were killed was postponed today when the defendant dismissed his attorney.

The legal maneuver by Jean Paul Akayesu caught the three-judge panel at the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda by surprise, especially when his new attorney asked for a six-month postponement to become familiar with the case.

The presiding judge, Laity Kama of Senegal, agreed to the request and rescheduled the trial for Jan. 9, a 2 1/2-month postponement.

The trial had already been postponed once, on Sept. 27, to grant the defense more time.

Akayesu, the 43-year-old former mayor of a village in Rwanda, is accused of abetting the massacre of some 2,000 Tutsis in his Taba settlement.

Military raises cigarette prices to discourage smoking

By The Associated Press

BOLLING AIR FORCE BASE — The price of cigarettes sold at supermarkets on military bases is rising by 64 per carton today as the Pentagon tries to discourage soldiers from smoking.

"I think it will work, too," smoker Eva Hamilton said Thursday as she stocked up on cigarettes at the commissary at this air base in Washington D.C. "I won't be able to smoke as much — can't afford it."

The cartons of cigarettes, rising almost 35 percent from $11.50 to about $15.50, will still be cheaper than the $17.50 common at private grocery stores.

The Defense Department is imposing the increase despite opposition from a congressional panel, which contends the Pentagon does not have the power to make such a change without its approval.

Base exchanges — military-run department stores — will have the same higher cigarette prices even though they are separate from the commissaries, which sell only food, tobacco products and magazines. Base exchange prices generally are similar to those of private stores except that there is no tax.

Both systems, financed largely by the federal government, are part of the compensation package for millions of military personnel and their families.

But tobacco products are the only items deemed health hazards by the surgeon general that are sold at reduced commissary prices, said Pentagon spokeswoman Deborah Beuch. "In a roundabout way, we're asking taxpayers to subsidize tobacco products and pay for the health problems that occur from smoking or other kinds of tobacco use," Beuch said in an interview. "It's kind of hitting the public with a double whammy."

She acknowledged that the 64 per carton increase — which works out to just 40 cents per pack — may not prompt many smokers to quit. However, she said, the Pentagon does not want to abet the smoking habit with the extra incentive of cheap cigarettes.

This marks a change in policy for the Pentagon. For about a century ending in the early 1970s, the military had included a "tobacco ration" in package meals soldiers received in the field, said commissary historian Pete Skirbunt. Now such soldiers can buy cigarettes at temporary markets the military sets up.

The Defense Department pursued the price increase even after members of the powerful House National Security Committee requested a delay so it could be reviewed by a subcommittee on military morale, welfare and recreation.

A Sept. 27 letter signed by all 12 subcommittee members — Republicans and Democrats — contended the increase violated federal pricing rules — because commissaries must sell products at the "lowest practical price" — and could lead to higher costs for other commissary products.

Seven of those lawmakers are from tobacco-growing states. But members of the tobacco industry and the subcommittee said the issue is not tobacco but rules.

Magic set roster

ORLANDO — The Orlando Magic waived LeRon Ellis and placed first-round draft pick Brian Evans and two others on the injured list Thursday to trim the team's roster to the NBA season-opening limit of 15 players. The 6-foot-11 Ellis had been competing for a backup spot at forward and center. Evans missed all of training camp after undergoing shoulder surgery this summer. He was joined on the injured list by Jon Koncak, who had surgery last month to remove torn cartilage and bone spurs from his left knee, and second-round draft pick Amal McCaskill (patella tendinitis, right knee).

U.S.A. Soccer Clinic/Tryout

SANFORD — United Soccer Academy is dedicated to helping youth soccer players develop the confidence and ability to pursue their soccer dreams, as well as focusing on developing a well-rounded player through international soccer travel and competition. United Soccer Academy looks for players that possess soccer ability, a high degree of character, and a desire to represent the United States as part of this unique player development program. United Soccer Academy offers programs during the winter, spring and summer. Players have the chance to travel and compete in Italy, Denmark and Sweden. United Soccer Academy will be holding a clinic/tryout at Lake Sylvan Park for players, male and female, between the ages of 11 and 18 interested in international soccer travel and competition. The clinic/tryout will be held on Saturday, November 2 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Players are asked to bring their own soccer ball and water. For more information, contact United Soccer Academy at 1-800-656-5499.

Rodriguez baseball's best

NEW YORK — Seattle's Alex Rodriguez, who became the top hitter in the majors at age 21, was voted Associated Press major league player of the year. Rodriguez hit .356 with 36 home runs and 123 RBIs in his first full season, setting modern-day marks for shortstops in hits (316), extra-base hits (91) and runs scored (141). Rodriguez received 108 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. San Diego third baseman Ken Caminiti was second with 19 votes, and Atlanta pitcher John Smoltz third with nine in balloting completed before the playoffs. Rodriguez had the highest average by an AL right-handed batting champion since Joe DiMaggio in 1955, and became the first AL shortstop to win the batting title since Lou Boudreau in 1944. He had a major league-leading 54 doubles, and three grand slams, tied for most. He finished with a .691 slugging percentage, highest ever by a shortstop.

Seminole girls claim 5A-Dist. 6 net trophy

By KELLY WOODEN
 Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The cheerleaders reflected the feelings of everyone. "We're really proud of them. They've come a long way."

These words were uttered by one of two non-official male cheerleaders just moments before the championship match of the 5A-District 6 Girls' Volleyball Tournament began Thursday night at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

Ryan Vinson was speaking about the Cinderella story of Seminole High.

They had a lot to be proud of. Last night, the Tribe pounded the Satellite Scorpions in two straight games, 15-9, 15-3, to move into a berth in the Subregionals of the state tournament next Tuesday. The local squad will host the runner-up from District 5 at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

On Wednesday, in the semi-finals, Seminole coach Beth Corso described their play as ugly. That was not the case last night.

"We just decided that we wanted this," senior Harmon Rosier said. "So we regrouped, pulled together, and stepped up our playing."

The Tribe raced to a 5-0 lead before losing serve in the first game, then increased the lead to 9-0 as soon serve was regained.

The ugliness from the night before gave way to beautifully executed serves and spikes. Each girl on the court was determined. The Scorpions were making mistakes and the Noles were capitalizing.

Until the score reached 14-3. Then 14-4. Then 14-5.

It seemed that the demons from the previous night had reappeared. The Tribe allowed the score to reach 14-9 before closing it out.

The Scorpions were unable to prevent the same punishment in the second game and soon found themselves at the low end of a 13-3 score. They allowed a few service points to slip away before ending the game with a score of 15-3.

"We walk softly and carry a big stick," Sabrina Sapp said after the game. "We've worked hard and it has paid off. You have to fight if you want to reach your goal. We can't let this victory slip us from attaining the next one. We have to get past this and focus on the work we need to do to get ready for next week."

Corso took a moment to enjoy her team's success.

"We played Satellite at the beginning of the season and they watched us play last night," Corso said. "The good thing about that is that they did not see the Noles play either time. They saw them play tonight. The Scorpions are a good team but they (Seminole) rose to the occasion."

There was not a superstar of the evening or a player of the game. This team won together, the way they have all year. Mistakes were few, serves were powerful, and spikes were devastating thanks to flawless sets.

"These girls won together," Corso stated. "And not just the seven who played on the court. It took all 10 of them to get this far."

As far as they've come, these Tribe girls are looking to go further. If they continue to pull together and play like they have all year, they have a good shot.

Lake Mary's Stephanie Dale (No. 12) tries to rip a spike over a pair of Lake Howell blockers during the Rams' opening game of the Class 6A-District 4 Tour-namment at Lake Mary High School. Lake Mary defeated both the Silver Hawks and Lake Brantley to win the district title and a Subregional berth Thursday night.

Rams edge Pats for 6A-4 crown

By JEFF BERLINGS

LAKE MARY — It was the match that wouldn't end.

Lake Mary went into Thursday's 6A-District 4 Girls' Volleyball Tournament as the top seed, hoping for an easy walk to the title. Things should have looked pretty easy after Lake Brantley pulled off a major upset over defending champion Oviedo to wipe out the major roadblock on the Rams' way to the title.

Before the Rams could celebrate, however, they had to meet a Lake Howell team that was happy to just be invited to the party.

Then the game started and it was the Rams who looked to be the Not-Ready-For-Prime-Time-Players. Lake Howell raced out to a huge lead that had Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry not too happy.

Fortunately for the Rams, Debbie Duber and Sarah McWeeney had big nights and pulled Lake Mary back into the game. Eventually the Rams tied it at 13 and battled for two more points to close out the win.

A block by Angi Woodall gave Lake Mary a 9-4 lead in game two, the Silver Hawks clawed back, cutting the score to 12-9 but that was it as Lake Mary ran off three straight points, ending the match by watching a Lake Howell serve float harmlessly out of bounds.

After allowing for a rest period for the Rams, it was time to face Lake Brantley in the finale. The scoreboard

CLASS 6A-DISTRICT 4 GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL TOURNAMENT

Game 1 — Lake Howell del. Lyman, 15-15, 15-14
 Game 2 — Lake Brantley del. Oviedo, 15-15, 15-10
 Game 3 — Lake Mary del. Lake Howell, 15-15, 15-9
 Championship — Lake Mary del. Lake Brantley, 15-14, 15-1 operator didn't get too tired in this one as neither team had much success scoring off their serves.

Lake Mary jumped to a 6-1 lead before Lake Brantley got on a roll and took their own 8-6 lead. They held at least part of the lead and had game point at 14-12.

Lake Mary fought back. Debbie Duber slammed home a winner to make it 14-13, then, two points later, Duber made a block to give the Rams game point at 15-14.

Now it was the Patriots' turn. They scored two straight points to earn their second game point, but Woodall slammed home a winner to knot it at 16. Finally, behind Jeannie Mans' serve, the Rams closed it out, 15-16 to take the first game.

As 9:30 p.m. neared, five hours after the first serve of the evening, the Rams showed why they entered as the top seed. It was 10-3 quickly and, despite a scare that cut it to 12-9, Lake Mary ended it on a McWeeney block.

Finally, everyone could go home.

Lake Mary will host Ocala-Forest and Lake Brantley will go to DeLand in the Subregionals on Tuesday. DeLand beat Forest 15-13, 15-13 for the District 3 title.

Leaders coast in Chase softball

By SEAN SMITH

SANFORD — The top three teams in the Sanford Recreation Department Men's Fall Thursday Night Slowpitch Softball League met little resistance at Chase Park as the league started the second half of the schedule.

Ken Rummel Chevrolet took a 7-0 lead after three innings of the opening game only to see McConnell Towing come roaring back with six runs in the top of the fourth inning. The big inning was just a momentary bump in the road for Ken Rummel Chevrolet as the third place squad scored eight runs in the sixth inning to close out a 16-7 triumph.

League co-leader Frat House then put a hurting on Cactus Bob's in the second game, scoring at least three runs in each of the four innings in which it batted in a 21-3 whipping of Cactus Bob's.

The late game saw the other league co-leader, Franklin Bail Bonds, also cruise as it scored seven runs in the second inning to erase a 2-1 deficit and went on to club the Hit Men 12-3.

Franklin Bail Bonds and Frat House are both 5-1, while Ken Rummel Chevrolet is 4-2. Trailing are Cactus Bob's and McConnell Towing (both 2-4) and the Hit Men (0-5).

Next week, the Hit Men take on Cactus Bob's at 8:30 p.m.; Ken Rummel Chevrolet challenges

Lippincott publishes book; French finalist for stamp

Robin Lippincott has just published his first book, a collection of short stories entitled The Real, True Angel. The son of Robert and Marcia Lippincott of Lake Mary, Robin, who has lived in Boston since 1975, is a graduate of Bemis College Community College, Florida State University and the master of Fine Arts program at Vermont College.

Robin's fiction, essays and book reviews have been published in The New York Times Book Review, The Literary Review, The Bloomington Review, Provincetown Arts and many other journals. Robin has also recently completed a novel, Mr. Dalloway, for which his agent is currently seeking a publisher. An excerpt from the novel will appear this fall in The American Voice.

Robin will be reading from his book this fall in Cambridge, Mass., at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; at the DNA Gallery in Provincetown, Mass.; and at the Abbey Bookshop in Paris, France.

Anyone interested in purchasing a copy of The Real, True Angel should contact Fleur-de-lis Press/The Louisville Review, The University of Louisville, 313 D Stingham Humanities, Louisville, Ky., 40292. The cost is $12.

Ed French, retired Disney World artist, placed sixth in the 1980 U.S. Fish and Wildlife Federal Duck Stamp Contest. Ed was called about noon on Thursday, Oct. 17 by a Wildlife official and told his entry was in the tenth round and advised him to stay by the phone. Later, he was congratulated and told his entry of a Canada Goose in a Boquer del Apache National Wildlife Refuge, N. M. setting had placed sixth.

Each year hundreds of artists enter this prestigious contest. This year, there were reportedly more than 800 finalists alone.

Ed grew up in the Denver, Colo. area and graduated from Littleton High in 1968. He has been a commercial illustrator for 35 years; 15 years as a "missionary artist," and 18 years as a senior artist at Disney World. He currently lives in a motorhome and paints in his mobile studio, outdoors, and researches for his nature art. He paints in various media and techniques.

He currently resides in Lake Mary, but plans to move near Colorado Springs.

Don't neglect paying bills

As the holidays approach it is important not to get behind on paying your bills!

It is important to pay your bills when they are due. Paying late will hurt your credit rating. If you are slow in paying your bills, credit will cost more. Also, credit will be harder to get.

Always mail a payment early enough for the creditor to get it by the due date. The due date is printed on your bill. By law a payment must be recorded when it is received. If a bill has been mailed, but not received by the due date, it is late.

Read your contract carefully to learn what will happen if a payment is late or not made. You may have to pay a late fee. The amount of the late fee depends on the credit agreement and the kind of credit used. Many credit cards charge $10 or $20 for a late fee. For some other types of credit the charge may be more. For example, for a late house payment, you may be charged $50. Your credit contact must tell you if a late fee will be charged and how much it will be.

CONSUMER FOCUS

With some credit contacts the total unpaid balance of the debt comes due. For example: suppose you miss a car payment. You might have to pay the total amount you still owe or the car will be repossessed.

With credit cards, interest is added for the period of non-payment. Some credit cards also add interest from the date purchases were posted during the previous month. You lose the grace period on purchases made during the month.

With credit cards, you receive a periodic (monthly) bill. The bill lists all purchases and payments. You may pay the total amount of the bill. Or, you can pay a stated-minimum amount. If possible pay the total amount.

If you can't pay it all, be sure to pay the minimum amount. The quicker you pay, the less interest you will have to pay.

The total amount of your monthly credit card bill depends on how much you have charged. The amount due is different each month. The minimum payment is a percentage of the unpaid balance.

Retail installment contracts are used to buy things and pay for them over a stated time (example: one year). The payment is the same amount each month. You usually are given a "payment book" and do not get a bill each month. You must take a receipt out of the book each month and send it along with your payment to the creditor.

The credit reporting agency keeps a record of who you owe and how much. It also keeps a record of how prompt you are paying. When you apply for credit the creditor will check your record. If you pay your bills promptly you will be able to get the credit you need. If you are slow to pay, you may have trouble getting credit!

Gaffes a chance to laugh at lawyers

DEAR READERS: And you thought there was nothing funny about the law. David Broome of Phoenix sent me something that may change your mind. These are questions (taken from official U.S. court records) lawyers have put to people on the stand:

Question: Was that the same nose you broke as a child?

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Q: Now, doctor, isn't it true that when a person dies in his sleep, in most cases he just passes quietly away and doesn't know anything about it until the next morning?

Q: What happened then?
A: He told me, he says, "I have to kill you because you can identify me."

Q: Did he kill you?
Q: Was it you or your brother that was killed in the war?
Q: The youngest son, the 20-year-old, how old is he?

Q: Were you alone or by yourself?

Q: How long have you been a French Canadian?

Q: Do you have any children or anything of that kind?

Q: I show you Exhibit 3 and ask you if you recognize that picture.

A: That's me.

Q: Were you present when that picture was taken?

Q: Were you present in court this morning when you were sworn in?

Q: Now, Mrs. Johnson, how was your first marriage terminated?

A: By death.

Q: And by whose death was it terminated?

Q: Do you know how far pregnant you are now?

A: I'll be three months on Nov. 8.

Q: Apparently then, the date of conception was Aug. 8?

A: Yes.

Q: What were you doing at that time?

Q: Mrs. Jones, do you believe you are emotionally stable?

A: I used to be.

Q: How many times have you committed suicide?

Q: So you were gone until you returned?

Q: She had three children, right?

A: Yes.

Q: How many were boys?

A: None.

Q: Were there girls?

Q: Do you recall approximately the time that you examined the body of Mr. Edington at the Rice Chapel?

A: It was in the evening. The autopsy started about 6:30 p.m.

Q: And Mr. Edington was dead at the time, is that correct?

Child concerned over her parents love-hate attitude

Dear Mary,

Something is very wrong at my house, and I hate it but don't know how to make it better. My mom and dad some-times act like they love me and want to do the right things, then other times (maybe just a little while later) they act like they hate me and say they don't care what I do as long as I stay out of their way. They never used to be like that--especially my dad.

FAMILY COUNSELOR

MARY BALK

Dear Hurting,

I've got a feeling there's a lot going on at your house that you don't know about. But, regardless, you can't make your parents act right and accept their responsibilities no matter how good you try to act or what you say to them. You have to get an adult to help you. If you have a relative (aunt, grand-ma, etc.) talk to them about what's going on. If that doesn't work, you have to find another adult--church friend, neighbor, school counselor--keep talking to people until you find some support.

It's important for you to remember that nothing you have done is causing your parents to act this way. You can't make them stop. Just keep doing the best you can in your school work while you're searching for adult help in dealing with your problem at home. Let me know how things are going.

(Mary Balk is a Certified Addiction Prevention Professional and a counselor at Oviedo High School. Contact her at 328-1842, Ex. 218.

Donations needed

LONGWOOD — ACCEPT Pregnancy Center, Milwee Street, desperately needs maternity, baby and toddler clothing, beds, swings and other baby items for clients visiting the center. ACCEPT offers free pregnancy testing and information to women of all ages.

In addition to baby items the center will come to your home and pick-up any unwanted items for its thrift store. Proceeds from the store assists with the operation of the facility.

For pick-up or additional information call the office at 339-1544.

Concert at St. Peter's on Friday Celebrant Singers return to Lake Mary

From Staff Reports

LAKE MARY — As far back as January of this year, Father Beverly Borge and the Vestry at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Lake Mary have been planning for the return of The Celebrant Singers.

"They were with us two years ago, and for those of you who were able to see and hear them, you reported that you were blessed," said Meg Newman, one of the concert organizers and a member of St. Peter's.

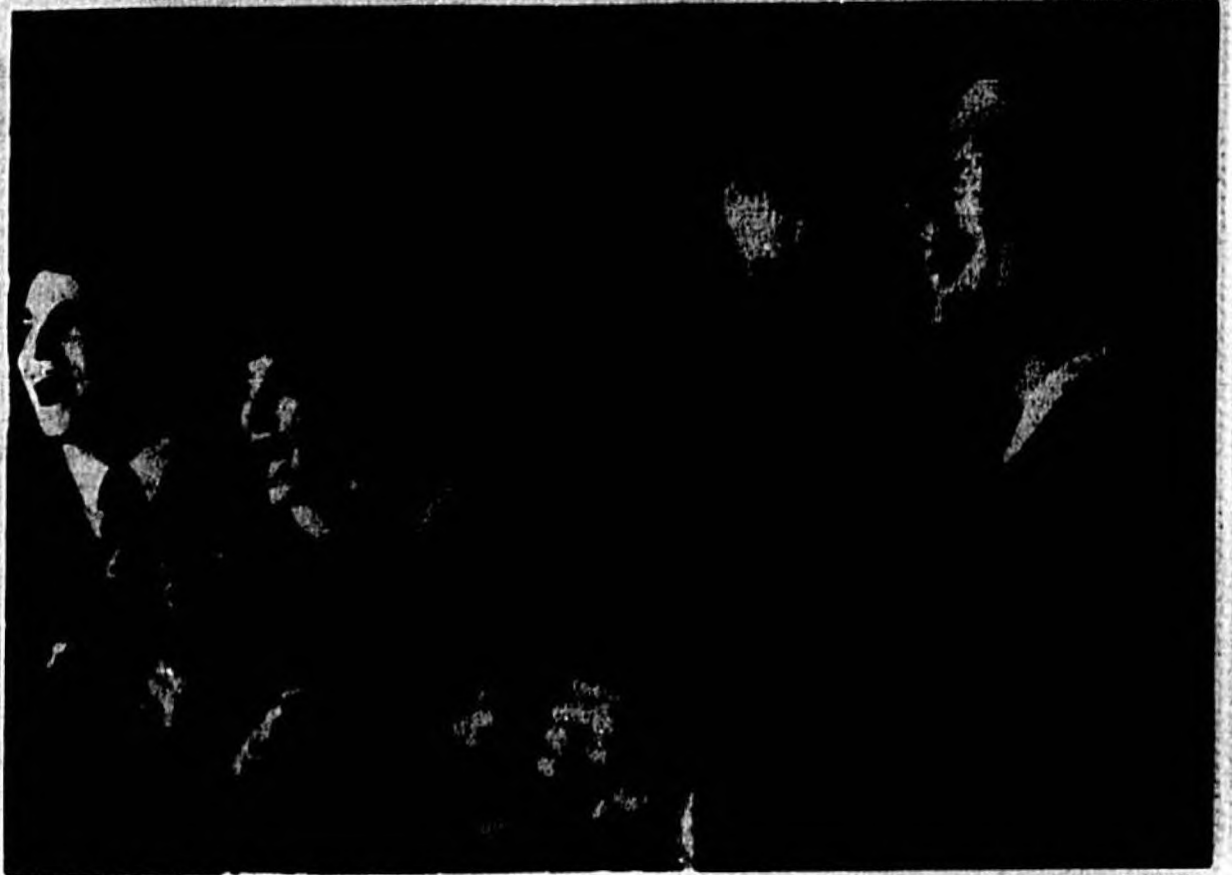

The Celebrant Singers, a Christian group of about 25 people will be singing and sharing their personal testimony at the church on Friday, Nov. 1, at 7:30 p.m. The concert is free and open to the general public.

It was in Poland in 1975, while ministering in that country's largest Catholic cathedral, that Jon Stembowski heard the call to God in a new way.

In response to His call, Jon and his wife, Renelle, founded the Celebrant Singers. Since 1977, the group has shared the love of Christ in all 50 states and 23 countries worldwide.

Their music is powerful, worshipful and inspirational. Featuring praise songs and worship choruses, liturgical music and gospel songs, beautiful hymn stylings and magnificent orchestration, these Spirit-filled singers will lift your heart.

Today, there are multiple

The Celebrant Singers, founded by Jon Stembowski, will be in concert at St. Peter's.

teams of Celebrants engaged in this dynamic apostolate. While Stembowski (who maintains a full travel schedule) is ministering with one team, his associate directors provide leadership for the others.

Don't miss this service. The finest music, genuine personal testimony, sharing from the word and the presence of the Lord, all combine to make this concert an experience you'll never forget.

St. Peter's Episcopal Church is located on Rinehart Road, adjacent to the Mid-Florida Regional Postal Distribution Center. For more information, call the church office at 444-LORD.

God's guidelines for a rich and full life

SANFORD — My life has been crazy lately. Between working, housework, caring for children, our involvement with our church and other organizations I feel mentally and physically exhausted. Many reading this column can probably relate.

But, the most dreaded feat of all paying the bills. That gets a little rough when there's not enough money to go around.

I heard a program the other day of a Christian station that brought much of this into perspective. They commented that God never promised us happiness.

What he did promise was that he would be there for us always. He wants us to concentrate on our relationship with him and not so much the results of our prayers and requests.

How profound. All this time I had lifted my bills to Him and pleaded for more money to pay them and what he has been teaching me is trust, faith, patience and to lean on Him more.

I have totally missed the point. Relationship, not results. I keep reminding myself.

God's Guidelines for a Rich and Full Life

1. Learn to be joyful, to smile much and to laugh often.
2. Learn to appreciate the friendship of others.
3. Express appreciation and give praise to others often.
4. You must be willing to die for what you live for.
5. Learn from what most people consider to be failures.
6. Receive to be sensitive and caring for all, especially for the young and the aged.

7. Do not equate money with success.

8. Accept your limitations. No one has everything.

9. Feed your mind that which will build and strengthen you.

10. Count your blessings. They are more than you think.

11. Have faith in the Eternal God and His promises in Jesus Christ.

Is artificial sweetener a no-no?

DEAR DR. GOTT: Some friends and I have begun a diet program that doesn't allow sugar. We eat sugar-free candy, cookies, etc. regularly and wonder if people can get too much artificial sweetener in their systems. Would it be better to eat natural sugar, rather than overload on artificial sweeteners?

DEAR READER: Sugar is not a nutritional necessity. Complex carbohydrates — such as bread, pasta, potatoes, and rice — can easily supply dietary needs; refined sugar is, in large part, a reflection of the American sweet tooth.

Because sugar supplies "empty" calories, people who diet should avoid it. By substituting non-caloric, artificial sweeteners (NutraSweet and others), such people can significantly reduce their intake of calories, with resulting weight loss.

As I have written before, artificial sweeteners should only be consumed in moderation. For example, these products are appropriate for the morning coffee or tea and in snacks or modest portions of desserts. It is probably not healthful to wash down a box of sugar-free cookies with a six-pack of diet soda, day in and day out.

To answer your question specifically, you'll do better avoiding natural sugar, but take it easy on the substitute.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My neighbor says shingles are contagious. Two dermatologists disagree. Who is correct?

DEAR READER: Shingles are caused by a type of herpes virus that affects the nerves in the skin, leading to crops of painful blisters that break out on one side of the body. After about 10 days, the blisters burst, crust over and disappear.

The question of contagion depends on this cycle. As long as blisters are appearing, the shingles are considered to be active — and contagious by direct contact. This is the reason that experts forbid patients with active shingles from any contact with pregnant women, newborns or patients with immune deficiencies.

However, once the blisters have stopped appearing, the disease is not contagious.

The most dreaded complication of the infection is post-herpetic neuralgia, a type of chronic pain that permanently affects about 10 percent of patients. This is why anti-viral therapy, with prescription drugs such as Famvir in pill form, is so vital. Early treatment (at the first sign of infection) may not only ameliorate the severity of the shingles, but may prevent the neuralgia.

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What would cause a sudden elevation in blood pressure? At 73, my reading has been around 114/74. Suddenly, it's changed to 180/105. My doctor put me on medication for control, but I want to know what has caused the increase since I've had no change in diet and no stress in my life.

DEAR READER: A sudden and unexplained increase in blood pressure is always a "red flag" to physicians. This could reflect a problem with kidney function or some other physical abnormality that should be addressed. For example, a "silent" (non-painful) kidney stone could elevate your blood pressure.

In your case, your doctor should closely monitor your blood pressure without increasing the dose of medication. If the blood pressure remains high for a week or two, you need special X-rays and blood tests to discover the cause, which — if corrected — will allow your blood pressure to return to normal.

Still something to learn

By Phillip Alder

A reasonable approach to life is: A day without learning something new is a day wasted.

At the bridge table, although experts don't learn something new every time they play, occasionally positions crop up that they haven't met before.

There were lots of good plays at the European Junior Championship, but as one would expect, there were also some inexperienced efforts. In this deal, senior players would really kick themselves if they made the same error that two Easts produced in Cardiff.

How should the play go in three no-trump after West leads his fourth-highest spade?

Both declarers, desperate for tricks, called for dummy's spade queen. Now came a low heart to the king.

At the first table, South switched to diamonds, driving out West's ace. A moment later South played a heart to dummy's 10 and finished with 11 tricks: two spades, four hearts, three diamonds and two clubs.

At the other table, South snatched the diamond 10 past West at trick three. Then he played a heart to dummy's 10 for nine tricks: two spades, four hearts, one diamond and two clubs.

Fair enough, except that East should rush in with the heart ace at trick two. From the Rule of Eleven, East knows that South has only one spade higher than the eight. Also, as East holds the heart nine, declarer cannot have a two-way guess for the heart jack. Then East returns his remaining spade, establishing West's suit while West still has the diamond ace as an entry. This kills the contract. Watch for the entry-preserving second-hand-high play.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You should not discuss your exciting plans with negative thinkers today. Instead, talk to individuals whose suggestions will add pizzazz to your ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Joint endeavors look promising today, but neither you nor your associates should have unrealistic expectations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) If you are cooperative today, you will be more productive, especially in one-on-one situations. Treat others as you would like to be treated.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Today an associate might try to take credit for something you did. Step out of his shadow, so that the boss can see the real star.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today, you might have to compete against someone who always strives to upstage others. However, she will not steal your spotlight today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not let self-doubt prevent you from visualizing success today. Everything should work out to your satisfaction if you have the can-do spirit.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You will be a welcome addition at a social gathering today. However, you must make sure to include a sensitive friend who wants to tag along.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The probability of personal gain looks more encouraging than usual today. You might not get everything you hoped for, but you will profit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today will not be devoid of frustration. However, if you keep your cool, you can overcome any obstacles that bar your path to success.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You enjoy lending a hand to people who need help, and today two people who can't manage something on their own might lean on you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Before attempting a new endeavor today, think through all of the consequences in advance. This will help you to get off to a good start.
