Colorful Songs Will Highlight Annual Concert

The more than 200 voices of the Seminole High School Glee Club will be heard tomorrow night in their Annual Spring Concert at the high school auditorium.

Miss Ollie Reese Whittle will direct the entire program which includes 27 musical selections.

Accompanists will be Nancy Cash, Janice Luxen, and Tommy Wyatt.

The production will be costumed and staged in a garden setting.

Five solos, the Ninth Grade Chorus, a pantomime, the Mixed Ensemble, the Ninth Grade Girls' Chorus, Octette, Triple Trio, Glee Club, the Double Quartet, Glee Club, and the Mixed Glee Club will all be heard during the course of the evening's entertainment which will begin at 8 o'clock.

The concert opens with a group of four selections by the Ninth Grade Chorus which will include "They Call It America" by Grant, "This House" by Brahe, "Nightfall In Granada" by Brewster, and "We'll Go A Long Way Together" by Adea.

Phillip Byrd and Bobby Little will do a pantomime to a selected musical number.

The Mixed Ensemble will sing "Round the Corner" arranged by Simon.

The first solo to be heard in tomorrow night's Seminole High School Glee Club production will be by Wesley Dees as he sings "Glee Club Chorus" which includes "Mama Rosa's 'I Love Life'."

Two selections by the Ninth Grade Chorus, "Girls In A Garden" and "Voices of Spring" by Strauss.

The Octette appears next on the Friday night concert singing "Glee Club Chorus" which includes "Mama Rosa's 'I Love Life'."

Three solos follow with Bobbie Crutchfield singing the Rogers and Hart "With A Song In My Heart", Kenneth Ramsey and Dorothy "My Journey's End", and Phil Harrington singing Vovello's "Little Damsel".

The Double Quartette has selected two numbers for the concert, "Kentucky Babe" by Gilbert and "Whale of A Tale" by Hoffmann-Cimbel.

Kay Jenkins sings "Break O' Day" by Sanderson as his solo which is followed by the Triple

Board Announces Reclassification

Selective Service Local Board No. 28 announced that all registrants who are now classified I-C (Reserve) and I-C (Discharge) will be reclassified. The classification of I-C (Reserve) and I-C (Discharge) have been discontinued by the Selective Service System. These registrants will be reclassified by Local Board No. 28 after their file has been reviewed on the basis of current regulations. A new notice of classification will be mailed to each registrant as soon as this is accomplished.

Selective Service Board No. 28 covers Seminole County. Local Board Members are: E. C. Harper Sr., John Krider, and Joseph Leinhardt.

E. B. Carter, Clerk of Local Board No. 28, desires to remind those boys who have reached their 18th birthday, living in Seminole County, that they are required to register with Selective Service within five days after they have reached their 18th birthday. Eighteen year olds can register at Local Board No. 28, Meisch Building East First Street, in Sanford.

PLAYING POSSUM

TEMPLE, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. R. C. Nelson caught a mother possum and two young in her hen house, grabbed a club and beat them. She took the bodies to the city dump but as she was leaving noticed a sign saying $500 fine for dumping dead animals. She went back to pick up the animals but she didn't have to worry.

As she neared the spot she saw mama possum and two little ones walking away, apparently unhurt.

Trio singing Arlen's "Over The Rainbow".

There will be four selections by the Boys' Glee Club. They will sing Romberg's "Stouthearted Men" with Robert Reely as their student conductor, Hyde's "Hunter's Moon", "Ride The Charlot" arranged by Smith, and Williams' "Let There Be Music."

The Girls Glee Club will sing two numbers, "Dream Song" by Stringham and "Carmena" by Wilson.

Climaxing the concert will be five selections by the Mixed Glee Club. They will sing "One God" arranged by Ringwald, "A Legend" by Tschalkovsky, "You'll Never Walk Alone" by Rogers and Hammerstein, "Hail To Our Flag" by Teague, and their "Alma Mater".

There will be no admission charged for the concert but an offering will be taken.

Rotarians Enjoy Annual Boat Ride Yesterday Evening

The Sanford Rotary Club's annual spring boat ride yesterday afternoon and evening was thoroughly enjoyed by nearly 70 members of the club and their guests.

The pleasure-bound group embarked on Skipper "Gene" Rommilla's "Skyline" at 8 o'clock from the Sanford Boat Works and arrived at their destination some where on the bank of the St. John River in the vicinity of Mullet Lake Park just in time to partake of charcoal broiled steaks, sweet corn, salad, pickles and soft drinks furnished by the Food Committee headed by Al Lee and consisting of Ed Best, Orville Tuckton, Tom Brown, Karl Turner and about half of the guests.

A trail to the grounds for those who made the trip by car was actually easily followed and would have done credit to one of our pioneer trail-blazers of days gone by. One Rotarian and his guest missed the large sign designating the necessary turn into the gate bearing another sign, "Close The Gate" and wound up in Geneva, where he replenished his fuel supply and finally, after a delay arrived at the camp site just in time to devour three steak sandwiches, seven ears of corn and two bottles of "pop".

His guest, watching him slow the food away, settled for one sandwich, one ear of corn and a glass of water. He said that he had lost his appetite watching his host put the food away.

President Bill Bush expressed his thanks to the committee who had done such a fine job in staging the affair which took the steam of the regular Monday meeting of the club. The only criticism offered by some of the members was that the events didn't occur often enough.

Some of the fellows who had eaten too much again vowed that next time they would go easy on the chow, unless some Soda-mint or Bladodol or Pep-to-bismal was provided. But as one pick-nicker said, "Ir-regardless, 'twas one swell affair, even though the footing was a little precarious!"

"He's been gone 20 years," Whiteman said, "and he is just as much alive as though he were standing in Denver today. He did more than I'll ever do. When I'm gone, nothing much will be said about me. But my pop? He'll live forever."

Senator D. Stenstrom Appointed To Committee On Mediterranean Fly

Chief Presents Plans For Area Fire Protection

Fire Chief Mack N. Cleveland Sr. presented his plans for fire protection in the city and in the fringe areas before the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce at their noon luncheon meeting yesterday.

"Sanford has some old and obsolete equipment that needs replacing," Chief Cleveland told his young businessmen's audience, "and when we get our new, modern equipment we will need more manpower."

Explaining the need for additional manpower, the fire chief said that "one experienced man is equal to six inexperienced."

And then turning to the expansion program in his future plans for the Sanford Fire Department Cleveland explained "our town is growing and the time is nearing when we will need a substation."

He said in his explanation that he believed the central fire station should remain in the business section rather than move the main equipment nearer the actual center of the city. This, he said, was because of the tremendous investment in merchandise stocks and business property.

"We should consult with the Southeastern Underwriters before building a substation," the fire chief said. However, he explained, "I believe that they will agree that the new station should be located in the neighborhood of French Avenue and 14th Street."

Chief Cleveland said that the city had worked out a plan for fire protection in the fringe areas and in the county which he "hoped would be a success." However, he further explained the organization of the Seminole County Firemen's Association "which will lead to mutual agreements between the City of Sanford and other cities in the county."

In answer to questions from members of the Jaycees, Cleveland gave the date of purchase of each piece of equipment now in use at the local fire department. Trucks were bought in 1922, 1923, 1924, 1949 (aerial ladder) and in 1954, he said, "and all machines are pumps with a 750-gallon per minute capacity."

"In regards to equipment," he said, "we are a little behind other cities of Florida."

Cleveland praised his fire department though when he said "We have one of the outstanding records in the state bettered only by fire departments in Miami and Jacksonville."

Concluding his talk, Fire Chief Cleveland said "If you've never seen a big fire you can't realize why equipment and manpower is necessary."

Senator Douglas Stenstrom of Sanford was appointed yesterday to a special Senate Committee on the Mediterranean Fruit Fly.

President of the Senate, Turner Davis of Madison, appointed Stenstrom along with Senator Merrill Barber of Vero Beach who was named chairman of the group, Senator-elect Fred O. Dickinson of West Palm Beach, Senator L. K. Edwards of Irvin, and Senator J. C. Getzen of Bushnell.

The Special Senate Committee was named to investigate and recommend procedures for combating the Mediterranean Fruit Fly hazard at the next special regular session of the legislature.

First meeting of the group will be held next Wednesday in Vero Beach, Senator Stenstrom said yesterday.

In the meantime the Mediterranean fruit fly invasion has spread three-fourths of the way across Florida and already may have reached the west coast.

A state plant board spokesman said yesterday larvae of the fly, dreaded enemy of Florida's rich citrus crop, have been found in a small commercial fruit grove at Denaud in northwest Hendry county and the flies already may have reached Fort Myers.

Denaud is about 40 miles south of the big commercial citrus groves around Lake Placid.

First discovered in Miami, the flies have spread into the winter vegetable growing district around Lake Okechobee, into citrus and vegetable area south of Miami and are rapidly moving northward.

The discovery at Denaud means the road block system intended to confine the fly must be drastically altered. A plant board crew left here yesterday to study the intricate network of roads in that area and work out the most effective blockade system.

The spokesman said the fact that larvae were found at Denaud means that the adult flies may have advanced far beyond that point.

In Tallahassee, Gov. Collins indicated the further spread of the fruit fly would have no bearing on the date of an expected special session of the legislature.

"We are already assured federal funds in ample amounts will be made available so our full campaign can be adequately financed," Collins said.

W. Patterson Dies

DE BARY—William Patterson, of De Bary, died suddenly while on a business trip to New York. He is survived by his wife, Ness; a daughter, Mrs. Ernest Sigler of Red Hook, N. J.; sons William Jr. of Detroit and James A. of the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, a sister, Mrs. Forest Taylor of Rhinebeck, N. Y. and four grandchildren.

Florida's Outlook On Atom Energy Fuel Under Study

Florida's outlook for Atomic energy fuel in future generating plants has been under close study by representatives of the Florida Nuclear Power Group.

In a two-day conference at the Lynchburg, Va. facilities of the Babcock and Wilcox Company, representatives of Florida's three largest electric utilities inspected the new nuclear facilities plant, the first privately built major facility erected to manufacture and test nuclear fuel elements and related products for pacetime use. They also inspected the critical facility which will soon be in operation to determine the physical and engineering characteristics of a nuclear reactor by operation of a small size core.

They were also briefed by representatives of Babcock and Wilcox on the advantages and disadvantages of the various types of reactors now under construction or in the planning stage, and were brought up to date on recent developments.

The Florida utilities were represented by George Kinman, vice president of Florida Power & Light Company; W. J. Clapp, president of Florida Power Corporation; and W. C. MacInnes, president of Tampa Electric Company, who was named chairman of the Florida Nuclear Power Group.

The Florida utilities have joined with Babcock & Wilcox and All-Chalmers Manufacturing Company to develop and design a large atomic power plant to be constructed at a location in Florida convenient to the transmission system of the three utilities.

Babcock & Wilcox are designers and manufacturers of nuclear reactors and steam generating equipment, while All-Chalmers are participating on the design and manufacture of the generator and other electrical equipment.

Sine & Webster engineering corporation, who helped build the Oak Ridge Atomic Center, are consultants on the project and were also represented at the conference.

The group voted last night to purchase a hospital unit to be used in transporting magazines, candy, toilet articles, etc., to the various rooms.

Mrs. Epps reported to the auxiliary that Holley Motors had donated a station wagon to the hospital through the efforts of the auxiliary to purchase one.

A report of the treasurer, Mrs. T. E. Tucker, revealed a balance of $1,170.93. A barbecue given by the group netted a profit of $332.00; the Dog Track contributed $125.00; the Easter Ball given by Mebane, manager of the Mayfair Inn, realized $64.00; and the Pancake Day, sponsored by The Sanford Herald, netted $333.33.

Mrs. Epps called for a general meeting of all committee chairmen with Mrs. Harden acting as general chairman. Chairmen will be notified of the time and place.

1956 'Ovidian' Is Delivered

The 1956 "Ovidian", annual year book of the Ovidio High School, has been delivered. All of the 180 copies, according to Myron Willis, Business Manager for the Ovidian and Professor Paul Mikler, Ovidian sponsor, have been sold.

The general comment on this year's Ovidian is "It is by far the best year book we have ever published."

A full page color photograph of the entire student body at Ovidio High School and of the school building, was an added feature this year that made the added attraction was made Ovidian stand out.

possible through the cooperation of the publisher at no extra cost to the school or the purchasers of the annual yearbook.

Vets Are Urged To Attend Services

All War Veterans are urged to attend their respective Memorial Services, Sunday May 27, so says Frank Evans, Commander of Roosevelt Camp No. 13, Sanford, and who was a member of Company C, 1st Florida Volunteer Infantry from Orlando and Orange County, which was commanded by Capt. J. N. Bradshaw.

He, especially, invites all Gold Star Mothers, American Legion, Veterans of World War One, Disabled American Veterans, Fleet Reserve Association and their Auxiliaries.

Dr. J. Bernard Root, who is a member of the American Legion, will conduct Memorial Services at the Congregational Church, corner of Park Avenue and 24th Street, Sanford at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Weir Praises Auxiliary

Harry M. Weir, administrative director of Seminole Memorial Hospital, commended the Women's Auxiliary for the work that it has accomplished during the period from Feb. 1 to date, since the hospital has been opened, at a general meeting of the auxiliary held in the City Hall last night with Mrs. A. W. Epps presiding.

Stressing again the purpose of the auxiliary which is "interpretation of the hospital to the public," he urged those who are on duty to acquaint themselves with the functioning of the hospital routine and to "not only do your particular job but find out why and what makes it tick."

Mr. Weir's talk he answered numerous questions concerning the hospital and its connection with the auxiliary.

Mrs. M. L. Raborn Sr., chairman of the Hospitality Shop made an appeal for more workers on the hospitality committee to fill vacancies which will occur one who is interested in joining during the vacation period. Any the auxiliary is asked to please contact Mrs. Epps or Mrs. George Harden, membership chairman.

Mrs. Raborn reported that during the first three months period a total of 80 workers had contributed 1320 hours and the shop has shown a net profit of $171.53.

Mrs. R. N. Blackwelder, reception committee chairman, reported that 86 members had contributed 600 hours in April with a total of 2,102 hours and 10 minutes being contributed during the period Feb. 1 through April 30.

Mrs. Warren Adams, sewing committee chairman, appealed for volunteers to sew for the hospital. She also gave a report on the completion of the "family room".

Mrs. Robert S. Stone, who will serve as general chairman of the fall, "High Fever" which the auxiliary will present sometime in February 1957, outlined plans for the fall. Talent for the show will be drawn locally, stated Mrs. Stone.

The group voted last night to purchase a hospital unit to be used in transporting magazines, candy, toilet articles, etc., to the various rooms.

Mrs. Epps reported to the auxiliary that Holley Motors had donated a station wagon to the hospital through the efforts of the auxiliary to purchase one.

A report of the treasurer, Mrs. T. E. Tucker, revealed a balance of $1,170.93. A barbecue given by the group netted a profit of $332.00; the Dog Track contributed $125.00; the Easter Ball given by Mebane, manager of the Mayfair Inn, realized $64.00; and the Pancake Day, sponsored by The Sanford Herald, netted $333.33.

Mrs. Epps called for a general meeting of all committee chairmen with Mrs. Harden acting as general chairman. Chairmen will be notified of the time and place.

Allyson Lee, 11, Will Star Monday On Rotary Program

Since the organization of Rotary International over 80 years ago, the encouraging of boys and girls in youth activities of a worthy while nature has been one of the primary objectives of all Rotary Clubs.

Here in Sanford, the local club has, for many years, in many ways, endeavored to show its interest in the youth of the community. Among the cultural aspects are the many opportunities given young people to show their talent to an interested group of professional and business men at their regular weekly meetings.

For example, the meeting Monday noon at the Yacht Club will feature one of Florida's most talented young pianists, 11 year-old Allyson Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lee, in a recital that would do credit to pianists appearing in Town Hall or Carnegie Hall.

Little Miss Lee who is a student at Rollins College Conservatory, a pupil of Mrs. Katharine Carlo, has perfect pitch, plays all her numbers from memory, has an unusually large repertoire which includes everything from Bach to Beethoven and likes them all.

For the past two years, she has been the accompanist for the Grammar School Glee Club and solved in their recent TV appearance. She has received many favorable notices on her appearance and on a recent appearance at the local Rotary Club, was accorded an ovation.

Aside from her intense interest in music, Allyson is a normal, healthy, active little girl, unspoiled by the applause and publicity she has received.

Her program as planned for Monday's meeting will include: "La Papiillon" (The Butterfly); A Medley of well known Hymns; Chopin's "Fantasie Impromptu" and "Noia."

While at the Operations department, the students saw a simulated air-sea rescue demonstration with the HUP-2 helicopter.

2 Groups Visit Naval Air Station Tuesday Morning

Two groups of students from the Pinescrest and Sanford Elementary schools visited aboard Sanford Naval Air Station, Tuesday morning.

Twenty seven students from the second grade of Pinescrest, and 33 members of the fifth grade from Sanford Elementary, were shown the Fire and Crash Operations, and Aerology departments by Lieutenant Commander W. L. Barkley, USNR, Public Information Officer of Sanford Naval Air Station.

County Water Problems To Be Aired, Inventoried

Plans Are Set Up For H. Morris Day

Roland L. Walls Lauded For Work On U. S. Navy Ship

A crowd of enthusiastic friends met in the Seminole County Court House last night to plan an appropriate celebration to honor Herman Morris for his 30 years of service to the school children of Sanford and Seminole County.

John Kader, local Sanford businessman, was chairman for the meeting which took place at 8 p. m.

Kader announced today that as the Memorial Stadium is in use June 7, which was the planned date and place set, and that the date has been changed to June 5, Tuesday, all committees are asked to note the change.

The event, which has been named "Herman Morris Appreciation Day" will begin at 7:30 p. m. in the form of a Water Melon Cutting after which a barn dance will be held in the American Legion Fair Building.

"We want to get it across that everyone is invited" Kader said and especially every person and by Mr. Morris.

During the session, civic clubs and organizations including many of the Women's Clubs were represented. Those promising to help were Woman's Club, Pilot Club, BAPW Club, Garden Club and many others along with many interested citizens.

Mrs. John Schirard and Harold Kastner were put on the committee in charge of the watermelons while other committees included Bradley Odham, Mike Thomas and Jim Hunt, chairman, Bill Stappert, Art Harris, M. Wade Rucker, Irving Pryor, Bob Brown and Mrs. A. D. Rountree, finance; A. D. Rountree, high school band; Porter Lansing, John Schirard and Viola Williams Sr., Surprise Committee; Dick Aiken, Publicity; Senior High School P-T-A, Decorating; John Kader, City Cleanup; Bill Stemper, Jandy; Mike Thomas, Legion Building; Porter Lansing, Platform; Wallace Whitten, Forest Breckenridge and the Rev. David Carnette, Program; and the Rev. Class as Water Melon Servers.

It was explained that the event was planned because "through his leadership, Herman Morris has touched the lives of so many people of our community that we want to plan a program that will do justice to the fine and outstanding contributions that his years of service in our community so richly deserve."

Civilians Receive Commendations From Capt. Jackson

Two civilian employees of Sanford Naval Air Station received commendations from Captain R. W. Jackson, USN, Commanding Officer of Sanford Naval Air Station, recently.

Willard O. Stansell, Quartermaster, Public Works, and James J. Drum, both received commendations for the outstanding performance in completing the duties of their positions.

Also present at the ceremony which took place in Capt. Jackson's office, were CDR. H. C. Cole, USN, Executive Officer of NAS, Chief Carpenter H. W. Filby, USN, Assistant Public Works Officer of NAS, and John C. Brown, Civilian Personnel Officer of Sanford Naval Air Station.

While at the Operations department, the students saw a simulated air-sea rescue demonstration with the HUP-2 helicopter.

Weather

Partly cloudy with scattered showers and thunderstorms today and again Saturday afternoon; not quite so warm, high today 85-95.

June 9 Date Is Set

Water problems of Seminole County will be aired and inventoried at a public meeting in the Court House Sanford 2:00 p. m. Saturday, June 9th.

The session has been called by the county committee named by the Florida Water Resources Study Commission. It will deal with both conservation and use of water, as well as water problems that have been encountered or that may face agriculture, municipalities, industry, and recreational groups.

Bonner L. Carter and W. W. Linn have been named co-chairmen of the Seminole County Committee. All interested organizations and agencies, as well as individuals, are invited to participate in the discussions. Co-Chairmen Bonner L. Carter and W. W. Linn says the committee is especially anxious to have reports of water problems in which there is competition for, or conflict over, water use or water damage.

"The objective of the study is to secure all possible information on situations relating to water that have led, or may lead, to competition or conflict of interest, or that should be clarified by appropriate legislation," they said.

"We want to learn when and where there are either shortages or excesses of water, expansion of enterprise or establishments or uses which have resulted in inadequate quantities or impaired quality of local water supply, and time, place and nature of competition or conflict between water users because of either shortages, excesses or pollution," the chairman added.

The Florida Water Resources Study Commission was set up by the 1953 State Legislature and will report to the 1957 Legislature. David B. Smith is directing the commission study from headquarters in the Engineering and Industrial Building of the University of Florida campus in Gainesville. A volunteer committee to hear and inventory county problems has been set up in each county, thus giving everyone in Florida an opportunity to list their water problems with the Commission.

The Commission is composed of Byron E. Herlong, of Leesburg, Chairman; James A. Ball, Jr. of Belle Glade, Vice-Chairman; B. W. Holvenston, Jr. of Live Oak; Sen. Doyle E. Carlton, Jr. of Wauchula; Sen. H. B. Douglas of Ocala; Rep. Roy Burles of Lakeland; and Rep. Harry Westberry of Jacksonville.

Another Texan, veteran Henry Ransom, who plays only a few tournaments a year, was close behind.

January put together a 5-under-par 64 yesterday. The field of 153 was dominated by three who fell out in the wake of a subpar onslaught that saw regulation figures over the tight 6,216-yard Preston Hollow course slaughtered 33 times.

Ransom, the 35-year-old Bryan, Tex., rancher who still plays under the banner of St. Andrews, Ill., had a 65. Bunched at 65 were Mike Souchak, the big ex-Duke football star from Gresham, N. Y., who played in last year's Mayfair Inn tournament; Mario Gonzalez, the National Open champion of Brazil; and hulking Bud Holcher, Apple Valley, Calif.

Few of the big names and heralded favorites could stand the pace. Souchak was the only fellow among those rated strongest for top money to offer a severe threat. Mighty Mike summed the second nine in a blistering 5-under-par 30 in a grand effort to overtake January.

Ben Hogan, Fort Worth's great who was the pretournament favorite, ran into putting trouble and settled for a 1-over-par 71.

Representative To Visit Chamber

A representative of the Social Security Administration District Office in Orlando will be at the Chamber of Commerce Building in Sanford on Friday, June 1, Friday, June 8 and Friday, June 15, between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and noon.

This service is made available to those who wish to apply for Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits, social security account numbers, or obtain information about the Social Security program.

Reverend Greeted

De Bary — The Rev. and Mrs. Lee Heston are being welcomed by De Bary Episcopalians as they take up residence in Litch House for the summer.

Rev. Heston, locum tenens, will officiate at Trinity Sunday services in All Saints Episcopal church of Enterprise.

New Area Proposed For NY Giants Training Dormitory

Because of legal technicalities the City of Sanford cannot, at the present time, convey to the New York Giants the original proposed site for the new $200,000 Farm System Spring Training dormitory.

Sanford City Attorney William C. Hutchison, Jr., felt that the delay in overcoming the legal technicalities would delay the project too long for the use of the New York Giants Farm System in the coming year.

The City of Sanford has now submitted a new proposal whereby the old baseball site at the corner of Mellonville and Celery Avenue would be conveyed to the New York Giants for the proposed dormitory and administrative building.

The conveyance of this property, city officials say, would necessitate the building of a new baseball playing field immediately east of the dormitory and administrative building.

The City of Sanford feels confident that the New York Giants, headed by Horace Stoneham, will accept the new site inasmuch as additional space is available and would provide the New York Giants with additional room for future growth and expansion.

January May Play In December When PGA Open Is On

It looks as if January will be playing in December this year. More than likely, when the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open takes place this year, January will make his appearance for the event.

And it all came about this way in Dallas, Tex. Don January, a Texas freshman in professional golf, led the $20,000 Dallas Centennial Open into its second round today.

Another Texan, veteran Henry Ransom, who plays only a few tournaments a year, was close behind.

January put together a 5-under-par 64 yesterday. The field of 153 was dominated by three who fell out in the wake of a subpar onslaught that saw regulation figures over the tight 6,216-yard Preston Hollow course slaughtered 33 times.

Ransom, the 35-year-old Bryan, Tex., rancher who still plays under the banner of St. Andrews, Ill., had a 65. Bunched at 65 were Mike Souchak, the big ex-Duke football star from Gresham, N. Y., who played in last year's Mayfair Inn tournament; Mario Gonzalez, the National Open champion of Brazil; and hulking Bud Holcher, Apple Valley, Calif.

Few of the big names and heralded favorites could stand the pace. Souchak was the only fellow among those rated strongest for top money to offer a severe threat. Mighty Mike summed the second nine in a blistering 5-under-par 30 in a grand effort to overtake January.

Radio-TV Highlights

AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of Americans are looking forward to the television excitement involved in this political year. We loved 1952, which was the first year that the medium took most of us to the conventions.

But this is four years later. A lot more sets are around and when the viewers are much more accustomed to television trips around the world.

Maybe it was good enough four years ago to buy time on a network and set up a candidate or two before a camera for a set speech or to answer friendly, carefully framed questions. Maybe it was good enough because most of us were still excited about bringing our candidates into our own homes to perform and expound.

But if Monday night's widely heralded appearance of Sen. Estes Kefauver and Adlai E. Stevenson on an hour-long program can be considered as an hour d'œuvre for the political feast ahead of us this year, it's going to be a long, dull summer.

It does seem that the joint appearance of these two red-hot Democratic hopefuls might have provided more exciting fare.

We were treated, instead, to a very long hour of terribly polite, civilized and gentlemanly discussion. There was never an explosion of temper, nary a flash of wit to liven things up.

Of course, both Stevenson and Kefauver are devout members of the same political faith and hence are limited in the amount of fighting in which they can, in the name of party loyalty, engage.

Rather formally, they seemed anxious to expound their own ideas or get in a "me, too." Then there was much pulling in tandem in attacks on the opposition. It made of dull, plodding television.

Political campaigns need conflict and excitement to be stimulating. So, apparently does television. It is curious that two men like Kefauver and Stevenson, who made their reputations out of these two elements, could have come together to produce such a quantity of clichés on one hand and boredom on the other.

Georgia Boy Wants To Knock Hole In 'Pen' Wall

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A life-terminator at the state penitentiary here will get to fulfill the desire of many prison inmates—he'll be allowed to knock a hole through the penitentiary wall.

Identified only as "Georgia Boy," the lifer heard that the east wall of the penitentiary would be extended 250 feet this summer. He asked the superintendent, Frank Smyth, if that meant the old wall would be torn down. Told that it did, he replied:

"Will you mind if I tore open the first hole? I've been wanting to knock a hole in that wall for a long time."

Georgia Boy, with several guards standing by, will be able to satisfy that longing.

TV COLLEGE

CHICAGO (AP)—If you live within the viewing distance of Chicago, you can go to college in front of your television set this fall.

The Chicago public school system will present three or four college credit courses under a program financed by a $165,000 grant from the Ford Foundation.

Supt. of Schools Benjamin C. Willis said the program will enable a home viewer to get a two-year junior college education over a period of three years.

MOTHER NABS SON

FORT MADISON, Iowa (AP)—When Junior John Reynolds, 34, escaped from the state penitentiary he did not figure on his mother making the capture.

Prison officials said Mrs. Ethel Reynolds escorted her son back to the penitentiary 24 hours later. Reynolds had 23 days left to serve when he fled from a work detail. He now faces an additional five years for escape.

Spotlight On Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Found: A way to film an addiction story without incensing the censors.

The solution: The hero gets hooked up on cortisone. Dope addiction was taboo on the screen until Otto Preminger came along with his "Man With The Golden Arm." The picture was refused a seal of the Production Code Administration, Hollywood's self-censoring body, but did excellent business anyway.

Now 20th Century-Fox is filming "One in a Million," which is also about addiction but is experiencing no Jonhonston office troubles. The story is based on an actual case, as reported in the New Yorker.

James Mason plays a school teacher who is suffering from a rare arthritic condition that threatens to cripple him. His doctor prescribes cortisone. This was at a time when the drug was new and its effects not completely known.

"The doctor warns him to take only small amounts," Mason explains. "But the man is desperate. He cannot face life as an invalid."

So he goes on a cortisone binge. He indulges in many adventures to acquire the drug and to become deranged in the meantime.

He was asked how he thought the picture would affect the public's confidence in cortisone.

Mother Earth Is Gaining Weight Each, Every Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Mother Earth is gaining from 100 to 1,000 tons a day.

This added weight is a rain of dust from the millions of meteors that fall into our atmosphere. It's almost all pure weight gain for Earth loses only a negligible amount of its air out into space.

This means Earth is gaining as much as 355,000 tons a year or about 230 million tons since the time of Christ.

Weight or mass determines the attraction of gravity. Wouldn't a heavier Earth exert a stranger pull on the moon, pulling it closer to us, making tides higher, maybe even finally bringing the moon crashing into the earth?

Or couldn't our added weight send us wheeling at a farther distance from the sun, making

"I don't think it will have a bad effect," he replied. "The story takes place when the drug— it's actually a hormone—was new and relatively untried. The doctor warns the man to go easy."

Mason speaks with authority on the picture because he is not only its star but the producer as well. Stars often produce their own films independently; this is one of the rare instances in which a star has produced a picture for a major studio.

That doesn't change Earth's mass

Earth weighs 6,000,000,000,000,000,000 (6 with 21 zeroes), give or take a little.

So all the weight gain of 750 million tons in 2,000 years still is only a billionth of a fraction of one per cent of Earth's weight.

About like one new hair on a human head, or a gnat on an automobile windshield, says Dr. Donald H. Menzel of Harvard Observatory.

Every Citizen Should Be Proud Of Investment Made By NY Giants

Every citizen of Sanford and Seminole County should be proud of the investment the New York Giants are making in Sanford.

Before long, out of the mass of unimproved and vacant property, will rise a brand new building which will serve as the dormitory and administrative offices of the New York Giants Farm System.

It was a blow to Sanford when this nationally known baseball organization left Sanford several years ago.

And now, they have demonstrated the confidence in Sanford that many have tried to secure, the confidence that Sanford and Seminole County is the "one place" where their training base should be located.

Very few know that the New York Giants Farm System will release a quarter of a million dollars into the trade channels of this city during the six week training period here each spring.

Very few know that the New York Giants Farm System brings about 400 of the top quality young men of the nation here to train when Spring activities get under way.

It is the "true sportsman", the well developed young man, that is selected to become a member of the New York Giants organization, even as members of the team in Class "D" leagues.

On Mellonville Avenue, in the center of the baseball interests of the City and County, a huge, modern building will be erected at an enormous cost to the Giants. It will be their property, their building, their organization—unlike many similar organizations in various parts of Florida and the south.

The New York Giants is the first organization of its kind to step out and make their own investment in a community.

To Sanford will come hundreds of families, thousands of visitors, equally as many newsmen and writers, all spending thousands upon thousands of dollars in the retail trade channels of our city, all of them following the activities of the New York Giants Farm System.

For this, we are proud to have them join with us in making Sanford and Seminole County the metropolis of Central Florida.

On top of this, the same organization is further investing in an expansion program for their Mayfair Inn.

A 48-room addition is to be built as a year round hotel to adjoin their already nationally known Mayfair Inn. This too will be built this year at an undetermined cost to the New York Giants.

This fully air conditioned addition will bring an additional number of people to Sanford throughout the year, and serve to stabilize our hotel accommodations for visitors during any one month of the year.

Not only these facilities come to Sanford to bolster our growing economy, but in addition, a new club house at the Mayfair Inn Country Club is in the planning stage and already placed on the agenda of investments in Sanford.

These are economic factors that cannot be overlooked by a single citizen of the City or County. Bringing more people, better people, and an unestimated spending outlet to Sanford cannot be passed unnoted and without the praise of our citizens.

There is no greater organization of businessmen who know the South and its problems, who realize the advantages of Florida, who know a sound and stable investment when they see one, than the New York Giants.

One of the officials in commenting on Sanford said "We should have never left there."

Yet, among us are a few who would utter vicious and scurrilous remarks about them and their plans for the Sanford organization.

Possibly these gentlemen do not realize the necessity for growth and expansion. And it is also possible that these gentlemen have made no effort to find out for themselves what such an organization means to the community in which they live.

It is without a doubt one of the most shameful and disgraceful undercover campaigns ever attempted since uninformed gentlemen take it upon their shoulders to spread rumors that cannot be substantiated by fact or even by fiction.

Sanford cannot grow with hand-waving and shouting, nor can it grow with a dictator attempting to name the way expansion should grow and be established. It is the voice of the people that makes good communities and prosperous cities, not the shouting of "I will do this, or 'I' will do that.

The good people of Sanford should join hands and with one loud exclamation, praise the New York Giants and their wonderful organization for having the faith in our future growth, the faith in our sane and sound government, and the faith to bring their more than one million dollars to our community for investment.

We want the New York Giants, their Farm System Dormitory, their new Mayfair Inn Annex, their planned clubhouse, their PGA Tournament, and their hundreds of activities that mean more to Sanford than just buildings and people.

Take a closer look! Remember, Sanford is growing, withstanding the derogatory remarks that are made in the moments of untimely thinking.

Experts Can't Make Up Minds

By SAM BAWSON
NEW YORK—If the tug of war between economic forces today has you baffled, relax. The experts can't make up their minds which way it's going, either.

Government economists, purchasing agents for industry, analysts for financial houses appear agreed on one thing, however. By resuming the direction the economy is taking should be a lot clearer, at least.

The President's top economic adviser, Dr. Arthur Burns, notes "divergent movements" going on beneath the surface of generally good times. He finds a "cost-price squeeze" at work in farming, home building, and the auto and farm equipment industries.

Burns admits the possibility of new inflation coming, but thinks it isn't clear yet whether the industrial price hikes of late can be passed along to consumers. He believes it more likely that the pressure of rising wages on prices can be held down by increasing the output per unit of labor. And intense retail competition should ward off much of the inflation threat for the consumer.

More directly concerned with industrial prices, with new orders and with maintaining the most favorable level of inventories are the members of the National Assn. of Purchasing Agents. They report that the price spiral appears to be slowing up now.

But as for business in general they are less optimistic. A poll of members of the association leveled off even more this month. And they have to go back to early 1954 to find a time when so many kinds of businesses were reporting falling production and a slump in new orders.

With this background for their annual meeting in Cleveland, the purchasing agents appear to accept the finding of the economists addressing them that the chances for another broad upturn in the economy very soon aren't spectacular. They think a number of industries will have to work out their present difficulties first and how long that will take they just don't predict.

The National Federation of Financial Analysts Societies, meeting in Boston, heard the President's economic adviser warn that the present is a time of testing in the nation's markets and that "developments in prices, inventories and retail trade will bear careful watching in coming weeks and months."

If you could tell the experts what the consumers are going to do next, experting would be an easier job.

Home By Roadside, No Living Pleasure

BECKLEY, W.Va. (AP)—Ben Porterfield lives in a "house by the side of the road" and he's getting tired of motorists smashing into his front yard. Wednesday it happened for the 27th time.

Porterfield, who lives on a curve of Johnstown Road, built a fence of locust posts and wire to start with, but to no avail. Later he drove railroad rails into the ground, but they too fell before the onslaught. For his latest attempt he filled an old water tank with concrete, making an eight-foot barrier a foot in diameter and sunk halfway into the ground, like an iceberg.

It got the business yesterday when Stanley Hollingshead, 32, of Quinwood smashed through into the front yard. Porterfield, who does not see the humor in the situation, says he's going to sue the State Road Commission and the city because, he said, they had been promising to fix the curve.

Through May 7, 232,000 protected Florida timberland acres had burned over as compared to 345,000 during the same period last year.

American Indians Need Aid

By HAL BOYLE
CHEROKEE, N. C. (AP)—Should Uncle Sam include the American Indian under his program of aid to foreign nations?

Some members of the proud and diabetes-ridden Cherokee Nation think he should.

"Certainly we feel the need of some kind of a point Four program," said Walter Jackson, a Navy veteran and one of the 12 Tribal Council leaders of the Cherokees here.

"We need capital. If the federal government would provide us with the capital, we could create more industry. We could put more Indians in business. We could be independent again. And that's what we want to be."

The Cherokees were a proud and free nation centuries before the U. S. government put the portrait of an Indian on the other side of a buffalo nickel.

Most historians agree the Cherokees were more peaceful than warlike, better farmers than warriors. They lived in log cabins, tilled their own fields.

What happened to the Cherokees, of course, is about the saddest chronicle in American history.

At one time they ruled some 600,000 square miles ranging from Virginia into Alabama. They tried hard for peace.

"We made 80 separate treaties with the white man," said Jackson gravely. "We lived up to every treaty—and the white man broke every treaty."

Under the pressure of incoming settlers, the U. S. Army was ordered in 1838 to move them to a new home in the area that is now in Oklahoma. Some 18,000 Cherokees submitted, and started the 1,000-mile winter march. Some 4,000 died on this famous "Trail of Tears."

Some 900 Cherokees chose to hide out in the hills here. Thanks to the help of changing times—and their own hard-earned money—they now own a 35,000-acre reservation in the Great Smoky Mountains, which they bought themselves. They have grown to 3,500 members.

Most of them are Christian. There are 18 churches on the reservation—14 of them Baptist—and all but about a dozen of the oldest Cherokees speak English. The younger ones now usually go through high school.

The federal government maintains the schools and a 25-bed hospital. The Cherokee Historical Society in 1950 started producing "Unto These Hills," an outdoor summer drama which employs 350 Indians, has paid them a million dollars in salaries, this year hopes to draw its millionth customer.

Customers aren't all tourists either. North Carolina loves its Cherokees, wants to help them.

A Cherokee can't sell his land walked into the culvert, and, finding the other end blocked with rubble, refused to back out. Hooser coasted her out and found she had lost some 200 pounds during imprisonment.

Tribal Councilman Jackson, who served four years himself in the Pacific in World War II, is proud that most Cherokees in that conflict were volunteers rather than draftees. He is proud a Cherokee was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor for heroism in Korea.

"Our people are poor," he said. "If there is a millionaire Cherokee, he would have to be a relative in Oklahoma. There are none here."

The chief white man's gifts to the Cherokees—smallpox and tuberculosis—are no longer major scourges. But diabetes is.

"It afflicts 75 per cent of our people," Jackson said, and when I expressed doubt, he added "We are poor. We don't get to eat what we once did. The doctors tell us it is because we eat too much corn, potatoes and beans. But what else can we afford? These are things we can grow."

The eastern branch of the Cherokee Nation has one solid reason to ask more help from Uncle Sam than many foreign nations.

Some years ago the Cherokees borrowed $350,000 from the federal government to build a tourist

Here's Good Way To Lose Weight

CENTER, Ohio. (AP)—Farmer Wilbur Hooser's 600-pound halter was missing for three days. A search party finally found her in a roadway culvert near the Hooser farm. The halter had walked into the culvert, and, finding the other end blocked with rubble, refused to back out. Hooser coasted her out and found she had lost some 200 pounds during imprisonment.

ARNOLD BENNETT once visited George Bernard Shaw in his apartment overlooking the Thames Embankment in London and expressed surprise that not a single vase of flowers was in evidence. "I thought you were so fond of flowers," chided Bennett.
"I am," responded Shaw abruptly. "I'm very fond of children, too. But I don't put them in pots about the house."
George Gobel complained that he couldn't teach his prize boxer, Irving, not to chase automobiles. A noted dog expert assured Gobel, "Every boxer chases cars." "I know," said George, "but Irving catches them."
Alan Wilson heard a visitor ask a startlet, "Did you buy that babe wrap out of your earnings?" She gave a low chuckle—or was it a Pease of laughter!—and replied, "I owe it all to my Power of Positive Winking."

Buffet Supper Is Given 1956 Graduate, Miss E. Woodruff

Miss Elizabeth Woodruff, lovely June graduate of Seminole High School was honored with a buffet supper Wednesday night by Mrs. W. A. Kratzer and her two daughters, Eva Marie and Rose at their home on Park Ave. Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Harry Woodruff, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. H. E. Morris.

The rooms were opened en suite with a profusion of fresh cut garden flowers decorating the hall and rooms.

While the senior guests were assembling and awaiting the supper hour they enjoyed autographing and conversing over their new 1956 Salmagundis.

The group was then led into the dining room by the honoree where they were served a delicious turkey and ham buffet meal topped by strawberry short cake.

The buffet table was set with a center arrangement of red and white carnations flanked by burning red tapers. Also used were the white napkins personalized with the honoree's name in crimson lettering. The serving table also held a flower arrangement carrying out the class colors of crimson and white.

Assisting Mrs. Kratzer were Miss Eva Marie, and Rose Kratzer.

At the close of the supper the honoree was presented with a gift as a memento of the occasion.

Those attending with Miss Woodruff were Miss Mary Rose Speer, Miss Betty Ann Munson, Miss Mary Tanner, Miss Marty Cameron, Miss Harriett Redding, Miss Dottie Williams, Miss Nancy Richards.

Also Tommy Wyatt, Joe Davis, Kenneth Ramsey, Dick Worrell, Ernie Morris, Larry Burnette, John Clarke, Bobby McGill and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Morris.

Walt Disney Enjoying Life Inside Realm

ANAHEIM, Calif. —Walt Disney, who once labored over a mouse, can now move mountains. And he's having the time of his life.

Nobody ever had a realm like Disney's. His sprawling, landscaped land for the young and old, Disneyland, is now getting ready to celebrate its first anniversary, and Disney is supervising a million and a half dollars worth of improvements.

It's an experience to tag along after the movie wizard — you have to hustle to keep up with him — as he surveys the park. He started in front of the city hall of the Main Street circa 1890. Then away we go!

Disney strode straight through the lowering canals of Sleeping Beauty and into Fantasyland. He walked to a construction zone where a huge whale gaped menacingly.

"This will be the canal boats of the world ride," he explained. "The boats will be made to look like canal boats of different countries, and they'll start the ride by going through Monstro's mouth."

Then he climbed up a small hill and viewed what the canal boats will see. Craftsmen were meticulously creating miniature villages from Pinocchio, Alice in Wonderland, Three Little Pigs, Cinderella and other stories.

"Isn't that Dutch village too low to see from the boat?" Disney called to the supervisor. The man adjusted a platform to simulate the boat level. Disney sat on it and assured himself the village was high enough. "But raise that bridge or it'll be too much under the water," he added.

Pressing into Frontiersland, he explained the workings of the mine ride, which will take people through mines and canyons of the old west and then through a series of spectacular waterfalls. The new topography, which will also be used for the stage coach and mule trains, includes an unnatural natural bridge and numerous peaks.

"Let's get that mountain higher," Disney suggested to a foreman. "And broaden out that canyon."

Disney took a swing around the riverways of the world, along which the steamboat Mark Twain plies. He gazed proudly at the huge boulders that dotted the shore.

Disney paused and explained why he was making all the additions: "This is how I conceived the park at the beginning — a place that will constantly grow."

Ernie Morris, Parents Honor Senior Cast

Ernie Morris, assisted by his parents, entertained the Senior Class Play cast and their dates along with those who had any part in the production of the play "Three Cinderellas" which was presented at Seminole High School auditorium this past Friday night.

Immediately after the successful performance, the cast gathered at the Morris home where they were met at the door by Ernie and invited to the dining room where a delicious snack and smorgasbord of cold cuts and cheeses along with assorted crackers, celery crisps and sweets were served buffet style. Miss Margaret Davis presided at the punch bowl which was iced with a crimson colored drink.

The rooms of the Morris home were opened en suite and a profusion of old fashioned flowers with white palms were used throughout. The Round Up Room with its "Hanchy" atmosphere was a grand setting for the commenting over the happenings during the many rehearsals held and the final performance Friday evening.

The cast, their dates, and all the seniors that had part in producing this humorous play along with the sponsor and director, Mr. Dabbs called at the Morris home to enjoy this occasion with Ernie.

Those attending were Nancy Richards, Jimmy Owen, Richard Glenn, Pat Nicks, Rose Marie Paris, Phyllis Brewer, Dwanna Calvin, Bill Hexemer, Randall Lavender, Elizabeth Woodruff, Kenneth Ramsey, Larry Payton, Dick Worrell, Betty Ann Munson, Marty Cameron, Nancy Jarrell, Janice Kinlaw, Wiley Trammoss, Mary Esther Powell, Jim Hawkins, Bob Mitchell, Sara Jacobson, Bob Armstrong, Ernie, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Woodruff, George Dabbs, Miss Margaret Davis and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Morris.

A big help if you're trying to remove a little spilled candle wax from a table top is to hold an ice cube on the wax for a few seconds — but wipe up melted ice immediately so there won't be any water spots.

Former Resident Honored Tuesday In Hires Home

Mrs. August H. Hock Jr., Orlando and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hires of Sanford were feted with a Stark Shower Tuesday evening at the Hires home at W. 18th St. at 8 p. m.

The home was tastefully decorated with bouquets of yellow pink and white gladioli interspersed with maiden hair fern.

The coffee table was decorated with a replica of a stark surrounded by ferns and pink gladioli. Refreshments of coffee, nuts, pink and white mints along with tiny cakes covered with pink and blue frosting and topped with a miniature baby and umbrella were served to the guests by Mrs. G. Grady Harrelson assisted by Mrs. James Byrd of Orlando.

The guests were greeted in the reception hall by the mother of the honoree, Mrs. Hires, and assisted by Mrs. W. M. Colbert and little Miss Lola Hires.

The guests enjoyed games after which the honoree was presented with many lovely and useful gifts.

Those attending the event were Mrs. Milton Ferrell, Mrs. Robert Easterday, Mrs. G. W. Skipper, Mrs. J. B. Holly, Mrs. Lola Shoemaker, Mrs. W. M. Colbert, Mrs. W. I. Crabtree, Mrs. Joe Jarrell, Mrs. H. E. Mitchell, Mrs. W. C. Hires, Mrs. H. E. Hires and Letha Gray Hires, Mrs. Ruth Thorne of Seville, Mrs. Grady Harrelson, Mrs. James C. Byrd, Orlando, and the honored guest.

BOX JACKET SUIT of made-colored Worumba flannel, designed by Harry Fraustel, is worn with a brown and sand dotted silk surah blouse. Slightly-fitted, the jacket is tabbed on the sides at the hem.

Those sending gifts were Mrs. J. C. Hampton, Mrs. J. D. Carlton, Mrs. F. F. Baxley, Mrs. H. T. Hallman and Mrs. S. O. Byrd, Crescent City.

OTHER RHUBARB DESSERTS
Do try a rhubarb and strawberry pie if you want something luscious. For a 9-inch pie, we use 2 cups of rhubarb cut into 1/2-inch pieces and 2 cups of whole strawberries with 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and turn them into the pastry-lined pie plate. Then we dot the fruit mixture with 1 tablespoon of butter or margarine and top with lattice pastry strips. The pie is baked in a hot (425 degrees) oven for about 45 minutes or until the syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst. Prepare your flakiest pastry for this pie so it will be a true match to the filling.

And here's a dessert youngsters usually like: rhubarb sauce over sliced bananas.

Rhubarb conserve is delectable with toast and tea. If you choose a recipe that calls for rhubarb, oranges, sugar, raisins and walnuts, you'll have a particularly delectable combination.

Mickey Mantle Leads A. League In Hitting Part

By DAVID DILES
DETROIT (AP)—Mickey Mantle leads the American League in almost every hitting department, but he says what impresses him most is that he has played in every game.
 "I don't see any goals as far as hitting goes," said the New York Yankee center fielder. "But just once in my life, I'd like to be able to play in every game of the season. Then maybe I could do some of these other things people are always talking about."
 Not since Mickey came to the major leagues in 1951 as a 19-year-old sensation has he played in more than 147 games a season. And in many cases, his appearance was nothing more than a pinch-hit.
 "These things that other people talk about include breaking Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs, and winning the triple crown — batting, runs-batted-in and home runs. The free-swinging kid from Commerce, Okla., elects to leave that kind of talk to others.
 The performance shot his batting average up to .421, about 60 points ahead of his nearest rival. The home run was No. 17 five ahead of teammate Yogi Berra.

 Five straight defeats for leading Orlando have turned the Florida State League race into a wide open scramble between five clubs. Today, only 1 1/2 games stand between fifth place and the top.
 Sixth-place St. Petersburg shut out Orlando 7-0 last night behind the five-hit pitching of Gene Connors. The Saints scored six first inning runs featured by Bill Johnson's base-loaded double. The outburst chased At Brophy from the mound for his first defeat after seven straight victories.
 Gainesville defeated Daytona Beach 4-3 and leaped past Daytona and Cocoa into second place. Norman Frye struck out 17 men — three short of the league record — in picking up the decision. Bobby Dunn fanned 11 men pitching fifth-place West Palm Beach to a 4-1 victory over Cocoa. His mates collected all their runs in the sixth on a single by Dave Bristol, a double by Florid Fehrenback, four walks and a sacrifice fly.
 The Leesburg Braves, lately of the cellar, ran their winning streak to six games at the expense of Palatka, the new basement occupant, 11-1. Tom Gloriano drove in six of the Leesburg runs with a double, triple and single.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

He scored three times, giving him 29 — 10 ahead of Yankee Hank Bauer. He drove in three runs and leads Berra, who has 24 by 8. With 56 hits in 85 games, he is a dozen ahead of Detroit's Harvey Kuenn.

A Doctor in the Family

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

ON SUNDAY, when the family returned from church, Alan's bags stood ready in the downstairs hall, reminding the family of his trip to St. Louis. "I'm driving," he replied to an inquiry. "I'll leave as near two as I can get through here."

The doctor and his wife were dinner guests, so that the family protests were necessarily on a polite level. Linda, watching Alan, was glad that he was a man able to carry out the requirements of his profession without permitting interference from the older members of the family.

Alan was explaining to the doctor in detail beyond his usual custom why he especially wanted to attend the clinic in St. Louis. "I have always had a special interest in brain surgery," he confessed. "This clinic is particularly suited to that subject—some of the demonstrations are for the relief of bony pressure upon the brain. I happen to have a case like that in hospital—a young woman in her thirties. Some months ago, she was in a bad car accident, and suffered a skull injury which was diagnosed at the time as a crack and concussion.

"She seemed to recover in a normal fashion, though she was bed-ridden for some time because she also had a fractured pelvis, and other injuries. But she seemed to progress normally, until—oh, it's a matter of months in which her condition has deteriorated. Her reflexes and mental responses have steadily become weaker. Some doctors think there have been cranial hemorrhages; some think it is the result of severe shock and possible tissue injury at the time of the accident. It may be that she has been reduced to the place where she is completely dependent upon others for care.

"In the six weeks that I have had this case, I've decided that her condition may be due to a depressed skull fracture. At least, there is some sort of brain pressure. If I am correct, surgery would certainly relieve her, though sure is problematical. There may be excessive brain-tissue injury which would require the delicate neurosurgery which I shall see demonstrated tomorrow."

"Would you do the operation on your patient?" asked Mrs. Clark. "I'd do it if I were a brain surgeon and have it done."

"You're talking about Mrs. Blake, aren't you, Alan?" Jasper asked.

Alan laughed. "I mentioned no names."

"Don't need to. Couldn't be anyone else. The Captain comes to services, Reverend. Stationed at the fort."

"Yes, indeed! Captain Blake—but, my goodness, I didn't know he was married. Let alone—why, that's a most distressing thing, Dr. Thornton!"

Uncle Arthur leaned across the table toward Alan. "You can't mean that you plan to try that operation on Mrs. Blake!"

Alan's dark face plainly showed his impatience that the subject should be continued. "That was my idea," he looked at his watch. "Why, I've seen her..." cried Aunt Flora. "And Arthur's right, Alan. That woman would be much better off dead!"

Alan said nothing, coldly and definitely.

"I cannot conceal my surprise to learn that the Captain is married," confessed the doctor. "I'm afraid I've been guilty of a little wishful matchmaking—between him and Mrs. Giddens. It's a little game I indulge in, I'm afraid. Mrs. Clark says I anticipate the fee."

He laughed, his cheeks pink with innocent mischief.

"I hope you've not said anything!" chided his wife.

"Well, I hope not. Of course, I have been casting about in Mrs. Giddens' account ever since I first came to this Parish. And the Captain seems such a fine chap."

"He is," agreed Alan. "I'd like very much to help him."

"You won't do it by prolonging his wife's life," cried Aunt Flora. "Margaret is in love with Fred Blake—and if you—" She gulped. "His face sterner black, Alan looked again at his watch, pushed his chair away from the table.

"Don't let me disturb you," he urged the others. "But I said I'd pick Ernest up at two and I must be on my way. Father—you do what Linda tells you while I'm gone. Good-by, Ma'am." He bent over to brush his lips across Bertha's cheek. He said a general good-by and went out into the hall, Linda following him.

The family heard the front door close, car wheels in the drive—and Linda returned. "You may bring back a letter from Ernest, but she resumed her chair.

Aunt Flora evidently had appealed to the doctor for an opinion on Alan's moral obligation in the Blake affair. Mr. Clark was sidestepping the matter.

"I am sure it takes more than surgical skill to be a doctor. One must have the wisdom of Solomon to handle some of the decisions that arise."

"And the patience of Job," said Linda. "To handle his family."

Rupert Ernst had asked to accompany Alan to the clinic, and Alan had been reassured by the request. He would need Ernest's assistance should he decide to operate on Fern Blake; he supposed that was why Ernest wanted to go.

The two doctors checked in at a hotel near the medical center, registered for the clinic and received a buffet supper was scheduled and Ernest was anxious to attend it. "I suppose you know everyone," he said to Alan.

"Hardly, since the clinic takes in a half-dozen states."

"I meant the big men who will be here!"

Alan nodded. "Oh! Yes, I trained here, and I use the staff men for reference cases. All right, we'll go to your party and I'll introduce you around."

Alan was a hearty man, and he liked people. But he was not a man to disperse his interest. He had come to St. Louis to attend a clinic with a specific case on his mind, an important case. He could not sit around in the Loma Convention atmosphere of that first buffet supper as easily as did Rupert Ernst. Alan stood back and watched his assistant, amused at Ernest's happy-go-lucky, unbusinesslike transformation into just another of the boys, eating heartily, drinking, telling his own stories, laughing at those of the others.

Alan Thornton had no particular criticisms for the holiday attitude of the assembled doctors. They were busy men; they had made an effort to come for instruction in a difficult subject. But the trip was also in the nature of a vacation, an event rare enough in most doctors' lives. So tonight these men talked, drank and told stories, laughing mightily and uproariously. The next day they would—and did—attend the lectures and the demonstrations.

Alan kept his promise to Rupert Ernst; he introduced him to many of the doctors. After that first evening he seldom saw his assistant. Rupert was busy making contacts. Alan would glimpse him in one group of men, then in another, Ernest usually doing the talking.

"He hasn't waked up," commented Dr. Cahler, to the fact that the center of medical performance has shifted from Europe to America.

"I think he suspects it," drawled Alan. "But our own American mobs help to keep the European fantasy alive."

"In 1938 Hitler killed off all German scientific progress. By the end of the war..." The brain surgeon shrugged. He continued to gaze at Ernest. "You say he's your assistant?"

"A refugee, establishing his license. He's a good surgeon, and will be an asset to America if he ever acknowledges that even his European education can be added to."

"Doctors who don't grow are dead, eh?"

"You bet! Now in my hospital I have two such men. One is Ernest yonder, who is with us for a year. The other is a man named Cassidy—seventy years old, and I don't give him too many future years. Fifty years ago, he trained in Dublin. He had a fine education as things went in those days. Those men get along like two tomatoes on the same fence, and can't see that each blames the other for fault in his own makeup."

Cabler laughed. "Look, Thornton, he said earnestly, "why not abandon your back fence and come work with me? Here, you can't see that each blames the other for fault in his own makeup."

Alan's jaw set. "Don't tempt me, Doctor. It's what I've been saying I want."

"Be a lot easier than what you're doing."

"Taking what you want is always easier."

"You won't do it, then?"

'They Never Had It So Good' Down In Waxworks For Records

NEW YORK, (AP)—They never had it so good down at the waxworks.

The first evolved slowly after Edison started the whole thing in 1877. It lasted until the early 1920s when radio came along.

Despite television, the phonograph business keeps on stacking up new records—sales records.

Last year more than 200 million records, from Rachmaninoff to rock 'n' roll, passed over the turntable in the biggest season of the industry's 78 years.

And, says Hal Cook, Columbia's national sales director: "The golden age of the phonograph records."

And, says Hal Cook, Columbia's national sales director: "The golden age of the phonograph records."

holders $2.37 a share in 1955—a record for RCA-Victor admitted a "substantial rise."

London Records reported a "wonderful" year.

Nearly all companies are vague on specific details but the Record Industry Assn. of America says last year's retail sales rose more than 19 per cent to a 225 million dollar business—a statement confirmed by the U. S. Treasury Department.

John Griffin, president of RIAA, credits it to a combination of factors: general prosperity principally but also wider distribution of records.

Teen-agers constitute roughly half the customers for popular music.

Abner Levin, manager of New York's largest record store, says the record business has not begun to realize its potential. The factor standing in the way, women.

Levin says "Women in general don't go for phonographs or records, principally because the machines are not always beautiful pieces of furniture and records are an awkward shape to store without having special fittings made."

"We must convince the women folk that a phonograph is an essential part of the home and that music is a cultural necessity. Then we shall begin to do big business."

Are You Overbreathing?

By HERMAN M. BUNDISCH, M.D.

You may be overbreathing without even being aware of the real source of your trouble. Perhaps you will attribute your symptoms of dizziness or giddiness, numbness or pain to heart trouble, worry, anxiety or something else.

Heart trouble frequently is mistakenly blamed because overbreathing, or hyperventilation, sometimes occurs after exertion and frequently produces a pain in the left chest.

Carbon Dioxide

Breathing too deeply and too frequently doesn't mean you take in too much fresh air, but that you expel too much carbon dioxide. This disturbs the delicate chemical balance in your body.

If you are overbreathing, you'll probably breathe through your mouth. You'll moisten your dry lips with your tongue and your dry pharynx by swallowing. These actions can soon distend your stomach with air. And this in turn may cause a pain in the lower left chest.

A dull ache or gnawing pain in the upper left chest may also accompany overbreathing.

Natural Reflexes

Occasionally, a person may have hyperventilation by natural reflexes such as a rising to his feet in an effort to get more fresh air. This influence of the upright position, plus the abrupt increase in overbreathing brought on by panic, sometimes produces syncope which automatically halts the hyperventilation.

Conscious effort to breathe slowly and normally might help. In some cases, however, focusing attention on the mechanism of breathing only increases tension and overbreathing occurs despite efforts to stop it.

Upper Chest

Relief sometimes is obtained by splinting the chest with tape or a rib belt to prevent expansion of the upper chest. Such steps must not be taken, you realize, without the advice of your doctor.

Lessening tension and reducing some of your responsibilities, if possible, probably will help a great deal.

In some cases, extensive psychiatric analysis is needed.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

P. F.: Can kidney stones be dissolved without an operation?

Answer: In most instances, kidney stones can only be helped by surgery unless they pass by themselves.

However, good results have been obtained in some cases with the use of a new drug known as hyaurondase.

Continuous-Progress Plan Used In Appleton

APPLETON, Wis. (AP)—Do you remember, back in your grade school days, the student who was a wonder at figures but who needed a lot of help at composition?

And the classmate who received poor grades in everything but art, on music or woodworking?

Even then we knew that not everyone had the same talent, the same ability to learn. But there wasn't much we could do about it. The entire class waited until the teacher went over the same material for the straggler. The slower students felt humiliated at holding the others back, and the brighter ones felt frustrated at having to slow down.

In this east-central Wisconsin city of some 35,000 the public school system has gone farther than most in recognizing, and doing something about, the individual differences in children.

The continuous-progress plan has been in effect here since 1953 on an advancing scale until now the first five grades are operated under a program geared to the child's needs.

The continuous-progress plan recognizes that each child has his own rate of growth, according to Marta Sorenson, director of elementary education. The plan affords him opportunity to adjust to others mentally and socially. The graded structure assumes that the children develop at a common speed.

The continuous-progress system is more informal and flexible. It judges and rates the child in terms of how he performs in relation to his own ability rather than in respect to his classmates. School Sup. John P. Mann said, "There's no doubt in my mind that the experiment has been very successful. The results were very fine."

Diagnostic tests are given in the fall. Children are divided into small groups for different subjects so each may work at the level of his ability. The brighter child has opportunity to give free rein to his capability without having to wait for the others to catch up. And the slower student has more chance to find himself without the pressure of having to keep up with the others.

This means the teacher must have reasonably sized classes in order to observe and know each student well. Classes here range in size from 27 to 30. Miss Sorenson said. An instructor may spend a second year with the same group, and a student may devote another year to work on his own level.

This method has definite goals of accomplishment, Miss Sorenson said, and standardized tests show that students under the plan are making better progress in their studies.

Parents and teachers meet for discussions in the fall and spring. In the middle of the year each child is given a detailed progress report—more personal and analytical than the one used in the graded plan.

The majority of parents questioned in a survey last year expressed satisfaction with the experiment and the reporting methods used.

The continuous-progress plan involves more work for teachers because it demands more individual attention, but instructors here feel the extra effort is worthwhile.

As one teacher put it, "We feel our program has provided a happier learning atmosphere which has been conducive to better emotional, social, physical and intellectual growth. Having no fear of failure, each child is able to experience success within a flexible working group."

YOU CAN HAVE THAT EXTRA BATH in less space for less money than you think!

you a RESTAL Receptor Bath by AMERICAN-Standard Yours for only $8.78 Per Month

Because the compact Restal gives bathing convenience in shower stall space, you can have a complete extra bath under a stairway... in an alcove... or partition off a corner of a bedroom. The 12" high Restal fits neatly into a finished compartment approximately 36" x 36". It's made of durable, enameled cast iron and you can choose from six colors or white.

Three Cub Packs Recently Formed By De Bary Groups

The prevalent impression of De Bary as a retirement colony would be dispelled by a visit Wednesday night to the civic building where a most impressive ceremony was in progress...

C of C Members Vote On 6 Changes

Members of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce are voting on six changes in the by-laws of the organization with the deadline for mailing the ballots back to the Chamber of Commerce set for midnight Monday, May 28.

1956 Workshop Is To Be Held Soon In Tallahassee

Several Seminole County teachers and school coordinators will probably attend the 1956 Summer Workshop and School Health Conference to be held in Tallahassee during the month of June.

The entire program is sponsored jointly by the Health Education Department of Florida State University, the Florida State Department of Education, and the Florida State Board of Health.

Although the School Health Conference is but a three day event, it is provided for an opportunity for people in the field of education and health concerned with the school health program to meet for a shorter period of time to share experiences and to work on common problems.

The best way to keep hard plastic table tops and counters clean is by washing with plenty of soap or detergent suds.

Elaborate Rites Will Install Junior CofC Heads

Officers and Directors of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce will be installed to night in elaborate ceremonies to be held at the Elk's Club beginning at 7 o'clock.

The five officers and five directors will be installed by the State President of the Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce, Bob Wilson. Also attending the ceremony will be the Fourth District Director Larry Condit.

Put Yourself In The Home Buying Picture

HOW TO BUY A HOME:

The purchase of a home is the most important investment the average family will ever make. It represents a large sum of money, and it means a great deal to the happiness and well-being of the family.

Therefore, it is important that you select the right home. Among the factors which should be considered are the following:

LOCATION. Is it convenient to stores, schools, churches, transportation and other facilities?

PLAN. Is the home well-planned to meet your requirements? Does it have enough room, and large enough rooms?

VALUE. Do you know how much the home you are considering is really worth? Is the home well-built with latest modern features?

YOU'LL FIND A HOME WITH ALL THESE REQUIREMENTS AND MANY MORE, AT
