Industrial Survey Of City To Be Made

Herlong To Address Inter-Club Luncheon

Plans for the appearance of Congressman A. S. (Syd) Herlong Jr., originally scheduled for an address before the Sanford Rotary Club on Monday, Oct. 22, have been changed to include members of every civic and service club in the city.

The large inter-club luncheon will be held at noon at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church Parish House and will be attended by groups from the following organizations who have already accepted Rotary's invitation to join in hearing the congressman from the Fifth Congressional District: the Pilot Club, the Business and Professional Women's Club, Lions, Kiwanis and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In order that the serving of the meal to be prepared by Mrs. Roberta Gatchel may be expedited, the committee in charge of the event asks that reservations be made through the regular club channels by noon Friday, Oct. 19. The luncheon fee will be the same as charged by the respective clubs.

It is anticipated that one of the largest crowds yet seen in Sanford will hear the Congressman tell of the recent accomplishments of the Congress.

Cong. A. S. (Syd) Herlong Jr.

Drugs, Surgery Are Forming New Team For Cancer Cure

SAN FRANCISCO—Drugs and surgery are forming a new team in hopes of winning more cures of cancers.

Anticancer drugs are given when a cancer is removed in operations. The aim is safer killing of cancer cells which might become seeds for regrowth.

This new technique was described Tuesday to the American College of Surgeons by Doctor Gerald O. McDonald, Ernest P. Cruz and Warren H. Cole, University of Illinois College of Medicine, Chicago.

When a cancer is removed, there might still be microscopic—and completely invisible—cancer cells remaining. Or some malignant cells might escape into the bloodstream and wander off to fire up new cancers elsewhere.

To hit at this possibility, the surgeons spread anticancer drugs right in the wound during surgery. Then for three successive days anticancer drugs are given by vein. Three months later, anticancer drugs are given again, aimed at killing any such cancer seeds.

Some 45 patients since June have had this two-pronged treatment for cancers of the breast, stomach and colon, the surgeons said. Whether it actually does produce better results will take several years to determine.

The anticancer drugs used to date are nitrogen mustards, relatives of wartime poison gas. Others may be used.

Local Residential Appraisers Will Attend Session

Residential appraisers from Sanford are expected to attend a regular meeting of the Society of Residential Appraisers, Central Florida Chapter No. 100 which will be held on Thursday, Oct. 11, at Markham's in Eola Plaza, Orlando, at 7 p. m.

James G. Hackett, secretary of the organization said today that Horace A. Newman, president of the group stated that "the meeting will be started promptly at 7 o'clock and will be adjourned at 9 o'clock."

Yogi Berra Stars In Record-Breaking Home Run Assault

BROOKLYN—The New York Yankees overwhelmed the Dodgers and Don Newcombe with a record-breaking home run assault today and won the World Series, four games to two, with a 9-0 victory.

Yogi Berra hit two homers and Bill Skowron smashed a grand slam homer to back up superb 3-hit pitching by 21-year-old Johnny Kucks.

Bostwick To Conduct Area Study

An Industrial Survey will be made of Sanford in the near future, according to H. H. Coleman, District Manager of the Florida Power and Light Company who made the announcement this morning.

W. M. Bostwick, head of Bostwick, Inc. of Daytona Beach, an industrial engineering firm, will make the survey, said Coleman.

The first Industrial Survey for the Sanford area was made by Bostwick in 1950 and plans have been recently made to bring the old survey up-to-date.

Bostwick will be in Sanford tomorrow to meet with John Krider, Manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and his committee, to complete plans for the survey which is expected to get underway immediately.

Coleman, whose company is financing the survey, said that the first survey provided much material to project into the future but Sanford "has already exceeded the original estimates projected in the 1950 Industrial Survey."

Krider, in Tallahassee meeting with the Florida Development Commission today to determine the status of Central Florida's picture, could not be reached for comment.

With added interest being focused in the Sanford and Seminole County efforts to obtain industry for this area, it is expected that the Industrial Survey will provide material for suggestions into the future.

It is expected that Clifford McKibbin, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, will meet with Bostwick relative to planning the Industrial Survey for this area.

Robbins Winner In Marksman Class Of Rifle Contest

CAMP PERRY, Ohio.—Marine Sgt. Kenneth W. Robbins Jr., fired 698 points, with 41 "V"s, five, out of a possible 650 to win first place in the marksman class in the 1956 Open Rifle Championship Match here recently.

Using the National Rifle Association match rifle (bolt), the sergeant was competing with over 2,000 of the top civilian and service shooters of the nation, who have assembled here for the National Rifle and Pistol Matches—established by an act of Congress in 1933.

Robbins will receive an N. R. A. sterling silver award for his proficiency. He enlisted in the Marine Corps three years ago; began competitive shooting last March.

Competing in the Eastern Division and Regional Matches earlier this year, Robbins fired accurately to take four individual awards. He has never fired here in the "world series" of rifle shooting until this year.

Stationed at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C., with Marine Transport Squadron 153, the sergeant is a member of the Second Marine Aircraft Wing rifle and pistol team.

He is the son of Kenneth W. Robbins Sr., of Palatka and formerly of Sanford.

County's Growth Rapid

The population of Seminole County is growing at the rate of 41 per month, according to the seven-month statistical analysis released by the Florida State Board of Health.

In the January-July report, the State Board of Health listed deaths in Seminole County, including infant deaths, as 539. However, in the seven-month period there were 536 births, in the breakdown, births were listed as 373 white and 263 colored.

The 239 death total was analyzed in the report as 113 white deaths, 105 colored deaths, eight white infant deaths and 12 colored infant deaths.

According to the tabulation, just released, there were 120 divorces and annulments in Seminole County in the January-July report which were offset by 202 marriages.

In the Seminole County deaths, reported in the Florida State Board of Health's release, 71 deaths were a result of heart disease, 71 from cancer, 74 from cerebral vascular disease, 14 from miscellaneous accidents, eight from chronic nephritis, seven from influenza and pneumonia, and four from motor vehicle accidents. The report lists only two from diabetes, one from syphilis, one from maternal death and one from anemia.

The seven cerebral vascular disease deaths are reported to include vascular lesions affecting the central nervous system. In another column of the tabulation seven deaths were attributed to "all other C. V. R. disease."

There were no deaths reported from typhoid fever. However, the statistical report stated that "the number of reported cases of typhoid fever in Florida has diminished from 495 in 1919 to 36 in 1955."

"The vast improvement in our standard of living," states the State Board of Health report, "during this century is largely responsible for the decrease in incidence of this former infant disease."

Rattlesnake Killed In Lake Mary Area

A six-foot diamond back rattlesnake was killed in Lake Mary recently when it attempted to kill a pet cat.

Mrs. Bess Armbruster reported that a terrific noise was heard and on investigation found that the rattler was attempting to kill their cat. The snake had already killed a kitten before trying to corner the older feline.

Mrs. Armbruster went after the diamond back rattlesnake later found had eight rattlers, with a garden shovel.

Eat Some Fresh Fruit At Least Twice Daily

By MERRAN H. SANDICH, M.D.

FRESH fruits should be a definite part of your daily diet. You should eat at least two servings of them each day. Expectant mothers and nursing mothers should eat even more.

Fresh fruits, especially the citrus variety, contain valuable amounts of vitamin C, or ascorbic acid. And vitamin C is essential to keep you healthy.

Sound Teeth

It's necessary for sound teeth and bones; it helps keep gum tissue firm; helps prevent irritability; strengthens the walls of the small blood vessels; protects the body from scurvy and certain painful conditions in the limbs and joints.

All citrus fruits (such as lemons, oranges and grapefruit) are excellent sources of vitamin C. Weight for weight, the citrus fruits are of equal value in this respect.

Vegetable Sources

Two vegetables—green peppers and potatoes in jackets—also are fairly good sources of vitamin C. Since cooking destroys some of the vitamins, I suggest you eat raw fruit frequently. And if you eat the fruit whole, you'll lose less vitamin C than if you make it into a juice.

Some vitamin C also may be lost through storing fruit in the refrigerator, the pantry or in the market; by home canning with the open kettle method, and in some drying processes.

Canned Products

Commercially canned citrus and tomato products, however, retain their vitamin C content very well. If you don't want to go to the bother of squeezing your own oranges, lemons and the like, these canned products will do very well.

Handle fruits gently whether they are soft or firm. Bruising them, remember, permits rot to set in.

Dried Fruits

Let me add one word about dried fruits. While many homemakers seldom give them to their families, dried fruits (such as figs, dates, prunes, raisins and apricots) are rich in iron. You probably should have them more frequently than you do.

Try them with cereal dishes. I think you'll find they add flavor and sweetness as well as extra nourishment.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

W. E.: I use a sun lamp daily. Can any harm come from it?

Answer: It is doubtful that any harm can occur from short daily exposures to such a lamp. However, excessive exposure to the lamp can cause chronic skin disorders.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Thelma Burgess, 32, is accused of being an accessory in helping the youths allegedly plot her husband's slaying.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By JOSEPH WHITNEY

Do some people enjoy grief?

Answer: Sometimes people use grief as a substitute for some more disturbing emotional state. A widow who harbors an unconscious hatred for her late husband may find a source of inner satisfaction in prolonged grieving. It eases the long-buried feelings of guilt which plagued her when her husband was alive. She holds on to it because she finds it less disagreeable than the feelings she would suffer if she permitted herself to start life all over again.

Is friendly advice ever helpful?

Answer: It usually is if you request it, and the friend takes time to give your problem some thought. A friend who has nothing

Political Mills Are Grinding

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Political mills grind fast these days, pouring forth speeches pointing with pride of viewing with alarm, cranking out catchy slogans, organizing partisan and nonpartisan committees for or against any given platform, policy or candidate.

But other factories are in high gear too, manufacturing rumors, lies, and other great mischief to be used in the important business of vote catching during the next couple of months. These factories are so well hidden it would be most extra ordinary if any of their products — to be used in whispers — could ever be traced back to the source.

Our candidates and their partisan helpers denounce whispering campaigns furiously and vigorously. Both major political parties are pledged to keep their electioneering on a high level without indulging as they say, "in personalities."

Despite the vigorous pronouncements, the whispering campaign is still amongst us as it has been since George Washington was a victim in the first days of the republic.

"Give me another 10 days," says rumor expert David J. Jacobson, "and I can give you the pattern of the 1956 rumor mongering. I can almost give it to you now. And of course we'll have it. Rumor is a tool of politics which is as strong as the ballot."

Jacobson is a public relations man. Eight years ago after several years of intensive research he wrote a book, "The Affairs of Dame Rumor."

Political whispering campaigns, says Jacobson, may be broken into five subject categories:

1. Character and morals
2. Health
3. Allegations of favoritism
4. Dishonesty and chicanery
5. Religious and racial rumors.

"The presidential whispering campaign began with George Washington's candidacy," said Jacobson "and has since been developed into a fine science. Almost without exception, it has turned every presidential election in to a Roman holiday of slimy rumor attacks and sly counterattacks against the candidates. For when the people of the republic decide upon their president, public decide upon their president, influenced by personalities which in some cases have been sensationally distorted."

Geo. Washington, for instance, was not only accused spongy of stealing land from a fellow Virginian but his morals were the subject of comment by faceless villagers.

Thomas Jefferson's opponents not only hissed fabrications of debauchery but passed the word that he was an antichrist and a drunkard. Since then the alcoholic lie has been kicked around through generations of candidates, including John Adams, Van Buren, Polk, Lincoln, Cleveland, Harding and both Roosevelts.

The rumor was abroad during both of Lincoln's campaigns that he was an illegitimate child — a falsehood which was not finally nailed down until 30 years ago. Andrew Jackson not only suffered vilification because of his illegal marriage to Rachel Roberts 37 years before they were married before her divorce from her former husband was final but, running for office after her death, fought rumors concerning his own ancestry and whispers about his involvement with the wife of one of his cabinet ministers.

Franklin Roosevelt was probably the victim of as many phony health rumors as any presidential candidate. They started in 1932 and continued unabated for 15 years to his death, when the rumor mongers could finally say, "I told you so."

There were stories about Woodrow Wilson's health. And that advocacy of clean living and the outdoor life, Theodore Roosevelt, was libeled in campaign years as a drunkard and a drug addict.

Preying on racial and religious fears by rumor have swung at least two elections, Jacobson's research indicates. The colored blood story, used against William Henry Harrison, swung the vote to Martin van Buren, Jacobson says. And a New York clergyman's phrase tacking "rum, Romanism and rebellion" on the opposition party turned the election tide from James G. Blaine to Grover Cleveland — the same one accused of beating his wife.

Religious and racial rumors are a two edged sword. Jacobson predicts that before the 1956 campaign is over, they will be used again against all four top candidates but carefully varied depending on what section of the country they are used in. "You'll see," he predicted, "they will all be whispered to be pro-segregation and anti-segregation; pro-Catholic; pro-Jewish and anti-Semitic."

Fleming: No 'Excuse For Not Beating Bolles'

Notes In Passing

The Sanford Seminoles offense that seemed to have found itself in the last half of the Apopka game last Friday night had another kink tossed into its machinery when the doctor's report on Bob Johnson's finger injury stated that it was broken. Cecil Erickson was called up from the JV's to fill his place.

"We're working hard with intensive offensive scrimmages in an attempt to get a first half ball club," Bill Fleming said today. "We plan to emphasize offense for the rest of the week," he added.

Again this week the Seminoles will face a twice defeated team on the rebound and eager for a win. But this is also the case with Bolles. The two teams, rated to be evenly matched, will both be giving out with all energy in an attempt to get into the win column before the season progresses any further.

Rainy weather may cut down attendance at rallies and it may cancel motorcades, but remember that the sunny days come, and the motorcade banners are stored for that day. It's still not too late to climb on the bandwagon headed for a better, more progressive Sanford.

Sanford football fans have a full weekend on their hands this week. On Friday night the Seminoles play Bolles Military Academy of Jacksonville in the Kiwanis benefit game. The Kiwanis, as you probably know, have a very human fund underway for underprivileged children. Your attendance will mean more milk, clothing, and other necessities for some under privileged child.

On Saturday night Crooms Academy will play host to the power of Florida's colored high school football. Northwestern, the largest colored high school in Miami, is one of the many tremendous schools Crooms has gone into competition with. Most people will remember the school by its former name of Dossy High. There are 1700 students in grades 10-12 at the school as compared with the little over 700 students attending Crooms Academy and comprising grades 7-12. Crooms Academy's successful bid to become a member of the Big 9, North Conference is a tribute to Sanford.

The County School Board will meet Thursday, and action on the recommendation by the Chiefs Club that the Board request the lifting of the Stadium tax by the City Commissioners for Seminole High football games is anticipated. This issue is by no means dead.

Crooms Plays Host To Northwestern Saturday Night

Northwestern High of Miami, the top rated team in the Big 9 Conference and Florida high school colored football, will invade Sanford Saturday night and will be opposed by the aggressive Crooms Academy Panthers in Memorial Stadium.

Northwestern is noted for the unorthodox yet successful use of a nine man defensive formation. They go into this formation, principally used for a goal line stand, at any part of the field. To go into a formation such as this, one so vulnerable to a passing attack, requires great skill and football sense to be successful. Northwestern has been successful.

Northwestern has one of the deadliest passing offenses in the state. "They're great to see in action, but a terrific headache to try to stop," head mentor Joe Fair said. "But we're working hard on an effective pass defense, and we hope to be able to contain them." A surprise pass last Friday in Jacksonville accounted for the lone touchdown against the Panthers in the game.

"We plan on chilling their defense," Fair said. "When they try their nine man line on us we're going to pass them ragged, then when we get them into a five or six man line we're going to do the same thing on the ground."

Fair summed up his weaknesses during last week's game thus: "We played a wonderful game considering the tremendous odds against us. But we want to forget the odds and beat some of those big-name schools. To do this we'll have to tackle harder than we have, be sharper on our pass defense, continue to develop

Car Dealer Prices Autos 'By Pound'

One of the most unusual used car promotions to hit Sanford is now in progress at Seminole County Motors, local Dodge-Plymouth dealer.

If you see some hefty people in the vicinity of Seminole County Motors, there's nothing to be alarmed about.

Chances are they're customers taking advantage of a unique used car selling promotion. For a limited time, Seminole County Motors is allowing customers to deduct one dollar for every pound they weigh from the special "sale" cars on display.

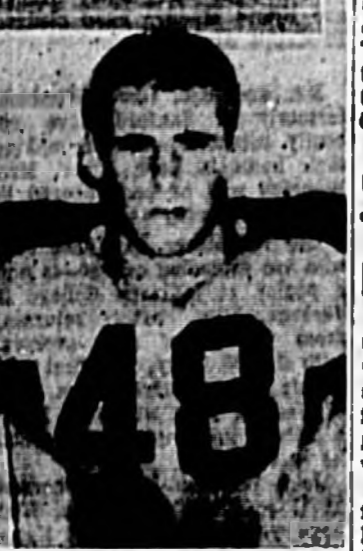

Arthur Pleva at Seminole County Motors, reports this is the "heaviest" used car sale they've ever held.

Eddie Barbour, the Junior half back that loves to tackle better than tending the pigskin, is also becoming a prominent figure in the Seminoles defensive line. Barbour played an outstanding defensive game against Apopka, and the speedy lightweight's aggression has rounded out the consistent gains around and inside the end.

"The one thing that satisfied us during the Apopka game," Fleming said of his mentoring staff, "was the way the defensive line found itself in the second half and completely killed the Apopka attack."

Fleming attributed much of the poor performance of the first half to insecurity. "Those boys went on the field unsure of themselves. The Cocoa game had really shaken them. They didn't know whether they were any good or not. As the game progressed, they became aware of their capabilities and played good ball." Then he added, "I don't really think they have found themselves, and there will be no excuse for not beating Bolles."

Brantley "Choo-Choo" Schirrad, the Seminole freight train that carried most of the mail for the Seminoles last week is shaping into the sparkplug for the Sanford eleven. His enthusiasm, drive, and determination has an opportunity to be a sparkling example from impetus for the Friday night fray.

Backing up Schirrad is Johnny Williams, perhaps the most improved player this far in the season. While many of the men counted on to be key figures for the Seminoles have failed to materialize, Williams has come into prominence in the last three weeks. His pass receiving has been around the 30 per cent mark in this week's workouts, and he was an 82 yards "drive" before trying to find his directions after he snared an aerial, he will become one of the outstanding leaders in a good passing offense, and keep the outstanding spirit that the team now has."

The Crooms Academy Panthers have a tremendous job ahead of them as they prepare to take on their second tremendous school in a row. "This game won't be a runaway for Northwestern," coach Fair said, "and if we push across the first score we may be able to upset them."

Injury Riddled Lyman Greyhounds Are On Rebound

It was one for one yesterday for Lyman as one more player watched from the injury bench and another returned to the battle. Bob McLeod was sidelined with a back strain to join two other starters, Lamar "Mossey" Helms with a broken leg, and Harold Stone with an injured knee, on the mourners bench.

After falling before Mid-Lakes Conference title contending Tavares last Friday night 23-8, the Greyhounds are making a bid to get back into the win column come Saturday night when they play host to Edgewater J. V. at the Lyman playing field in Longwood.

"The Greyhounds, numbering about 20 at this stage of the season, will face more than twice that many players when the baby Eagles go to Longwood."

Returning to the scene of battle for the first time since pre-season practices is Ronnie Gossett, 160 pound senior from Alabama that ran into 253 pound Pete Van Horn early in the year and consequently was sidelined with a broken jaw. Gossett is normally an end, but he will be alternating in the backfield from now on, trying to plug up the hole in the backfield that was wide when the fullback spot was completely vacated by Helms and Stone.

"We're pulling our hair out trying to field a smooth running team," assistant coach Bill Proctor said, "and this constant reshuffling is hard on the boys. They no sooner get used to one position before necessity forces their being moved to another."

Head mentor Jim Payne pointed out that spectator-wise there would be added features this Saturday night. More bleachers have been added to accommodate the constantly enlarging attendance, and the Oviedo band is scheduled to be on hand to provide additional entertainment at the half.

"This is a tougher game than it looks like," Payne said. "This Edgewater team has both quantity and quality, and they'll be no pushover. But we're not planning to take a back seat, either," he added.

Cockroaches Are Reproducing Fast In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Los Angeles, third in population of humans, is 12th when it comes to cockroaches, according to Dr. Harlan R. Shuyler, an entomologist.

But due to weather conditions here cockroaches have been reproducing rapidly and the population is on the increase, said Dr. Shuyler, executive director of the Home Control Bureau.

New York, Philadelphia, Kansas City, Mo., Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas, Washington, Indianapolis, New Orleans, Minneapolis and Boston - in that order - have a bigger roach population than Los Angeles, he said.

Dr. Shuyler did not disclose how he conducted his cockroach census.

Chiefs Club Takes On Junior High School Football Project

Last night in City Hall the Seminole Chiefs Club took on the project of sponsoring a program of junior high school football in what Bill Fleming termed "The greatest single thing that could be done for the city's entire athletic program." Chiefs Club president John Schirrad Jr., appointed W. Tyre as chairman of the Junior High Football Project which was lauded the best thing that could happen to the Chiefs Club and the realization of its purpose.

Speaking before the group Seminole High School Athletic Director Fred Ganas said, "If we are to continue competing with other teams, it is imperative that we have a Junior High school program." Then he added, "You can't build a building without a foundation."

Chief president Schirrad quickly answered, "If this is the greatest need of high school athletics at this time, you may be sure that it will receive the greatest consideration from this body."

Enthusiastic discussion from the floor followed, topped by an inspired statement from Tyre. "I am very anxious to see the Chiefs Club succeed, and I think we should begin immediate action toward getting this thing concretely progressing within the next few days," he concluded.

After Tyre's appointment to the committee chairmanship discussion took place concerning the sponsors for the teams. The plans will be considered by the committee. One will be for individual businesses to sponsor each team; the other that many businesses have the opportunity to contribute to the outfitting fund and purchasing of the uniforms and other paraphernalia to be handled through the Chiefs Club.

It is estimated that each team will cost $300 to outfit. The round-robin league will include either four or five teams to begin with; three or four at Junior High and one at Pincrest. These teams will play among themselves and could feature a double header on the weekend.

Chairman Tyre stated that no definite plan of action would be in order until he could spend a few days investigating the proper channels and procedure to be used. "I will select my committee members this week," he said, "and we'll proceed rapidly from there."

Other points of interest in the Chiefs Club meeting included showing of the film taken at the Cocoa-Seminole game, a talk by Bill Fleming on the progress of this year's edition of the Sanford Seminoles, a report on the amazing attendance of the opening game by Fred Ganas, a discussion on the reserve seating arrangement for the home games, a setting of a regular meeting date for the club, opening membership to women, and a discussion on the insignia adopted by the club.

"There will be no excuse for us not winning Friday night," Fleming told the group about the Kiwanis benefit game against Bolles Military Academy of Jacksonville to take place at Memorial Stadium. "The team is approximately in our class, and we expect to win," he said. "We are sadly lacking in speed in the backfield," he told the group. "We have faced, and will continue to face, teams that have four or more backs that are faster than our fastest man. The successful experiment with the heavy backfield was designed to compensate for this by the addition of power."

Ganas told the group that the season opener against Cocoa was the biggest that he ever remembered. "We made more profit off this game than we previously grossed off other season openers," he said. Last year's season opener grossed $1,670, and this year the gross was $1,338.73. There was an expense of $428.43 for the game, leaving a profit of $1,333.30.

During the discussion of the reserved seats Schirrad said, "It has not been the intention of this club to monopolize more seats than is necessary for the Chiefs Club. The estimated number of members was greater than actually for the last game, and even though the entire reserved section was a privilege granted to this organization by the high school athletic association, we are opening the bottom five rows of the section to the general public."

The Chiefs Club adopted as an insignia an arm-band with an Indian head in the center and trimmed with club identification lettering. This arm-band will be worn by the Chiefs Club members at all games.

The schedule for the future regular meeting of the club was set as the second and fourth Tuesday of every month during football season, and every fourth Tuesday of the month at all other times.

Air Force Reveals New Jet Fighter

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—The Air Force Sunday took the wraps off the new F102A jet fighter interceptor, making its first public flight demonstration before an audience of 5,500.

The delta-winged F102A, "primarily a guided missile platform," was a star of an aerial firepower show at this air proving ground, operational planes, including the B47 medium and B-52 international bombers, also performed.

The demonstration was attended by invited military, business, professional and political leaders and military observers from Great Britain, Canada and South America.

Shown on the ground was the needle-nosed F101A Starfighter, which is believed possibly capable of twice the speed of sound—700 miles an hour at sea level.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, who attended the demonstration, said:

the Starfighter is "the most advanced plane of its type ever developed."

The F104 looks like a tapered stovepipe with a blister for the pilot and razor sharp wings that measure only 7 1/2 feet from tip to fuselage. It is 64 feet, nine inches long.

The Starfighter being cold weather tests in Eglin's climatic hanger today.

The F102A, built by Convair, is designed for interceptions at altitudes of more than 50,000 feet. It was joined in rocket and gunnery demonstrations two other supersonic fighters, the F100 Super Sabre and the new F101 Voodoo.

The Voodoo made its first public appearance at another firepower demonstration here earlier this year.

Along with these planes with which America will fight the battles of the future, if they come, the Air Force put on display the first line planes with which it would go into action tomorrow.

The B47 and B52 simulated atom drops. Super Sabres demonstrated the latest techniques of low bombing, designed to permit the plane to put greater distance between it and the site of the bomb burst.

Other jet fighters fired rockets at a mock factory and dropped napalm bombs on simulated gun emplacements.

Court Appointment Endorses Ideas Of Smathers' Bill

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's appointment of William Joseph Brennan Jr. to the Supreme Court is a "direct endorsement" of the principles stated in a bill proposed by Senator George Smathers (D-Fla.) providing qualifications for Supreme Court appointees.

The Smathers bill requires that all high court appointees have five years of "judicial service" on either a lower federal court or the high court of a state. President Eisenhower said he examined records of such judges before announcing Brennan's appointment in an effort to choose the "best qualified" for the job.

"The Supreme Court should be the finest collection of trained and experienced jurists which can be assembled," Smathers said. Justices should not be drawn from the ranks of "politicians, poseurs or friends of the influential" he continued.

Smathers feels that providing judicial qualifications for such appointments would eliminate the possibility of a political satisfying a political obligation with a Supreme Court appointment.

"There are many fine men who have proven themselves in lower courts that have been overlooked because of political experience," Smathers stated. He acknowledged there had been some great Supreme Court judges without previous experience on the bench, but he said they were the exceptions.

Under the five-year experience requirement in Smathers' bill, the only member of the existing Supreme Court that would qualify is retiring Associate Justice Sherman Minton.

Smathers' bill was introduced during the last Congressional Session and referred to the Judiciary Committee. He will introduce it again, during the next Session and feels "confident that it will receive favorable consideration."

'Sir Lancelot' Best Of Filmed Half Hour Shows

BY CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—The best half hour filmed series of action and romance in this new television season has made its debut on NBC-TV. It is "Sir Lancelot" which concerns the knights of King Arthur's Roundtable many centuries ago.

Doubtless designed primarily for younger viewers, "Sir Lancelot" actually appeals to anyone of any age who enjoys watching heroic action. Filmed in England, this program unfolds a magnificent pageant of knights and castles, of jousting and broadsword. The producers appear to have spared no effort in recapturing the authentic details of the days of chivalry.

The worst new comedy situation series of the season follows "Sir Lancelot" on NBC-TV. It is "Stanley," a disaster which has crashed around the portly person of Buddy Hackett.

Though Hackett is a resilient soul, it's questionable whether he'll be able to extricate himself from the ruins.

In the opening show, Hackett played a newsstand dealer who was trying to obtain opera tickets for a bum. The contrived situation split wide open at the seams. How it all turned out was a matter of indifference to this department, which switched to other channels.

"Studio One" on CBS-TV played a good idea fancy on its first program of the new season in the story of a collector of Lincolnia who decided to burn an original of the Gettysburg Address. If played straight in its natural dramatic development, the drama, "A Special Announcement," might have been more interesting.

As the wealthy collector, Bob Cummings gave a convincing performance which showed he has assets other than light comedy. In its breathless desire to withhold the reason why Cummings was going to burn the precious document, the drama went into a long series of flash-backs. The obvious reason—that the collector wished to bring attention to the spirit of the document by burning it—seemed apparent from the beginning. So why didn't they play the story line straight and let its natural dramatic values carry it?

Star Says Farewell To Her Miss Brooks

HOLLYWOOD — With a mixture of joy and regret, Eve Aron says farewell to her Miss Brooks.

After four successful seasons, "Our Miss Brooks" has faded from the Friday night programing. She is coming back on reruns, appearing five times weekly on CBS-TV daytimes.

Eve is shedding no tears over the passing of her school teacher character.

"After four years, I've had it," she sighed on one of her frequent trips into town from her Hidden Valley ranch. "I think we ought about as far as we could go with the show—perhaps even a little farther."

"I might have been more enthusiastic about going on if we hadn't had such a hassle last season. It was a mess. First of all, they started to change the format. I argued against it, but they went ahead anyway."

"Much of the time we didn't know what we were doing. The casting didn't work out right. We lost our writer, Al Lewis, because of an argument with another writer."

She admitted she did have some regrets about leaving the show. "I grew rather fond of Miss Brooks," she reflected. "After all, she has been very good to me."

Eve will be able to keep her ranch in chickens for a long time since she'll be collecting on the reruns of the show. But she won't remain idle.

"I'm still under exclusive contract to CBS," she said. "I have three months to come up with the pilot film for a new series. It's

Stevenson Backers Organize National Business Council

SEATTLE (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson announced today the formation of a 50-member National Business Council of "well-known leaders in business and finance" who are supporting his bid for the presidency.

The Democratic nominee said the step is in line with his view that "it is well for both parties to be as inclusive as possible—to try to speak for the best interests of all groups and thus for all the people." Through it, he expressed the hope, his views can be made known on the "respective roles and mutual interests of business and government."

In addition, he said, "I believe the Democratic party and its future administration will reflect a balanced representation of the interests of all groups."

The announcement came shortly after he had denounced the Eisenhower administration as a big business administration "narrowly representative of a limited interest."

The denunciation came as he told a wildly cheering Seattle audience last night that the United States government should represent "the interests of all the people and of no narrower group."

Without naming Eisenhower, Stevenson said the nation's future, in this age of social revolt and communism and nuclear power, "will be met only by an administration—by a president, an executive, who assumes the full responsibilities of his elected office."

"Undue delegation of responsibility . . . diminishes the office of the presidency," he said.

An estimated 6,000 persons turned out to hear Stevenson at Seattle's Civic Auditorium.

Stevenson announced today that honorary co-chairmen of his National Business Council for Stevenson are William L. Clayton of Houston and Joseph P. Kennedy of New York.

New hospital was built. The club has continued with its plan and to that end furnished a $100 bed for the new hospital room. The club has pledged the sum of $500 to the Seminole Memorial Hospital, to be used within a three year period.

Through the local club's "Milk Fund" several hundred under privileged families in Seminole County have been furnished with fresh or canned milk on a monthly basis. Each year a Seminole High School student is sponsored to Girls State in Tallahassee; the club assists in all major drives and for a number of years spearheaded the "Mother's March on Polio" drive. Members actively participate in the Cancer Crusade for funds, the Salvation Army Kettles and in addition contribute regularly to the Boy Scouts, Red Cross, F. H. Association, and USO, furnishing two busloads two nights monthly year round at the USO Center.

The Pilot Club sponsored the organization of the Mental Health Society for Seminole County and Mrs. B. E. Chapman has served as publicity chairman for organizational purposes. The club shared in the "Share the Surplus Fund" and has sent sheets, pillow cases and other articles to the Baptist hospitals in Africa.

The "Code of Ethics" was read by Mrs. Chapman and songs were sung to piano accompaniment by Mrs. D. K. McNab.

Mrs. Sue Stevenson presided over a short business meeting following the program at which time it was decided that members would bring gifts to the Oct. 23 meeting to be wrapped for the "Christmas on the High Seas" project of the American Red Cross. Plans were also made for several members to attend the luncheon meeting on Oct. 22 at which Congressman Syd Herlong will speak.

Mrs. David Gatchel was welcomed into the club as a new member. An interesting account of the Fall Council meeting of District Four, P. I. which was held at the George Washington Hotel in West Palm Beach last month was given by Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. McNab, delegates.

ONE DAY STRIKE ENDS
TAMPA (AP)—Production at two Tampa breweries was in full swing again today after a one day strike of 160 employees.

W. E. Watson, president of Southern Brewery, said the employees received a 12 1/2 cent an hour pay raise now, 10 cents a year from now, two more paid holidays a year and a form of guaranteed annual wage. The same contract was signed by the Tampa Florida Brewery.

COMMISSIONER NAMED
TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Elliott Moore has been named to the Hillsborough County Commission from District 1 by Gov. Collins to fill the vacancy left by Nick Nuccio who has become mayor of Tampa.

'Knowledge First Step To Action' Confab Keynote

"Knowledge is the first step to action" is an old proverb. More recently, it's the keynote of central Florida's district conference on handicapped children, to be held in Tampa October 11-12, at the Tampa Terrace Hotel.

According to Roy Holler of Sanford, who is Vice-chairman of county Children's Committee, the Tampa meeting is the first ever planned specially for the area. Discussions by experts from state agencies, private organizations, and national foundations will center on what services are available for handicapped children in central Florida counties, and what local groups can do to improve these services. In short, knowledge about what is now being done is the starting-point for improvement and expansion to keep up with growing population.

The picture in central Florida includes both big and little counties. State, private, national, and civic organizations cooperate in providing services—but often make gaps. The purpose of the Tampa meeting, according to Holler, is to increase understanding of problems, and ways to deal with them.

"Parents, teachers, civic and community organizations and professional people will all find something of value here to take home," he said. There is no registration fee for attending the conference.

Many counties in central Florida can't provide "big county" services for children, he said. One solution might be to combine efforts on an inter-county basis.

It's all for a very practical reason. Unless helped, handicapped children grow up to be handicapped adults: tax consumers, not tax-payers. Even ignoring the human side, it's cheaper to help as many as possible grow up to be producing members of society.

Advisory Group Puts Finishing Touch On Articles

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Constitution drafters applied a finishing polish today to the much amended article dealing with the executive branch of the government and began cleaning up other loose ends from their laborious sessions here.

The Constitution Advisory Commission has only one complete article left to get on of the 20 it started with 10 days ago, but this one deals with the broad and controversial field of home rule for cities and counties.

There is much work to be done, however, in shaping up some phases of other articles which the commission passed over because it could find no immediate answer or because it needed more information.

At the top of the list of unfinished business is legislation on apportionment. The commission had expected to take up this subject yesterday but passed on instead to less provocative articles dealing with taxation and education. A provision requiring separation of the races in public schools was written into the new Constitution in exactly the same form it is in the present charter.

There were some demands at public hearings to take out the section on the ground it was contrary to the U. S. Supreme Court desegregation ruling. But Circuit Judge Hugh Taylor of Quincy remarked: "If you want to give our work the kiss of death just take this out."

A proposed state board of education which would be half elected and half appointed was voted down but the commission deferred a decision on composition of the board until it could hear recommendations of Thomas D. Bailey, state school superintendent.

In its preliminary discussions members appeared split over proposals for a board composed of the governor and all seven Cabinet officers, and one composed of eight laymen appointed by the governor.

Water Levels Are Higher Last Month

Water levels in Florida lakes and streams were generally higher in September than August but continued below normal in the southern part of the state, the U. S. geological survey reported. Stages of the St. Johns River, Lakes Orange and Butler showed increases of 0.1 to 2.0 feet, with Lake Weir showing a decline of 0.3 foot.

These lakes ranged from 1.4 to 7.2 feet below normal. Heavy rains from hurricanes flooded increased stream flow in West Florida and elsewhere in the state, seasonal showers kept

MAN SHOT; MISTAKEN FOR TURKEY PUNTA GORDA

Getting shot by mistake for a turkey has proved worth $7,300 to a Miami bottled gas distributor.

A Charlotte County jury awarded that sum last night to Ray Clement, who was hit in the back of the neck by a load of birdshot while hunting in a swamp near here.

The defendant, Douglas Parker, Fort Myers book store owner, admitted he shot Clement but maintained Clement's head, decked in a red trimmed hunting cap, bore a great resemblance to that bird.

Fever Continues Oviedo Fix-Up

By MARIAN JONES
OVIEDO—The remodeling and cleaning-up fever is still spreading in Oviedo. Charles T. Niblack has repainted his store building, until recently occupied by Bob Ragdale, who has bought out Bob Bennett's Radio and TV Service in Sanford.

Domer D. Daniell has cleaned up the old hotel site. One of his helpers pointed this fact out to me the other day, as I had recently written of the deplorable condition of the lot. Grady for Mr. Daniell, who has also cleaned up around most of his other property until they are barely recognizable.

If he will now extend the good work to include the lot next to the home of Mrs. Hettie P. Ragdale, we will take our hats off to him. This lot, being on the main street, Broadway, is an eye-sore not only to the surrounding property owners but to those passing through.

Take a look in the Oviedo Drug Store. The gals behind the fountain are very sporty these days, displaying small green and white aprons and dainty caps to match. These with their white dacron or nylon uniforms are quite the trick.

We understand that Ben Ward Jr. and his pretty wife, Colleen, are going to be Oviedo residents—building a lovely new home in their grove adjacent to the L. A. Hardy home. We are so glad to have this nice young couple with us.

Douglas Jackson has recently built four new homes south of town and has sold them and is planning on building more. Keep up the good work, Doug.

We cannot leave out our new beauty parlor, owned and operated by Mrs. A. M. (Lois) Jones. Many speculations were afloat while the addition to the Jones home was underway. It is lovely, resembles a duplex. It is situated on the Sanford Highway, just inside the city limits.

A visit to Lois' Shop reveals what we knew we would find. Anything Lois has anything to do with is just about tops. The shop is equipped with modern furnishings. Ladies can relax with ease now while being "prettied up". Chairs you can lean back in and prop your feet up. And best of all—it is air conditioned. Husbands, don't expect too much from the little wife now. She may have to visit the beauty parlor more often.

DYNAMITE SHIPMENTS HALTED
TAMPA (AP)—Mayor Nick Nuccio has ordered a halt to dynamite shipments through Tampa as too dangerous.

It was reported recently that more dynamite is shipped from Tampa than from any other port in the United States. Most of it goes to South America for mining and oil well operations.
