

Parents Give School Board A Lengthy Q. And A. Session

By Julia Stenstrom
Associate Editor

Usually when a delegation of parents appears before a Seminole County School Board meeting they're unanimous as to what they want the board to do.

This was not so last Thursday afternoon when some 20 parents of Southside Elementary School children appeared.

The group talked about three things:

They wanted to know why bus transportation to the school had been eliminated.

They wanted more protection for the pupils at street crossings.

Finally, they wanted to know why the opening hour of the school was changed to 8 a.m.

Here's how the discussion went:

Dr. A. W. Epps Jr., board member: "We had 1,448 courtesy riders. The law says we aren't supposed to have any. We were going to cut out all courtesy riders. But Herbert Kuse, our transportation supervisor, said we could still carry some in certain areas where buses were not transporting maximum loads."

Mrs. Wade Singletary: "How long have we had this transportation problem?"

Dr. Epps: "Ever since we've had transportation."

R. T. Milwee, schools superintendent: "There's a portation people from the state will make a survey in November and perhaps they can help us."

Parent: "If some courtesy riders were cut off why shouldn't they all be?"

Dr. Epps: "That was our original intention until we found we could have some children ride, particularly the little ones."

Question from parent: "Why can't we set up a fare system for children within the two-mile radius?"

Milwee: "That could be done, but it would take an act of the legislature."

Parent: "What about these traffic hazards? The only place my children can cross Sanford Avenue at a light is on First Street. I've found we don't have police at some crossings because just as school is taking in they're changing shifts. It's terrifying to see some children trying to cross Sanford Avenue with all the traffic in the area at that time."

Parent: "There's no sidewalks in my area and the kids are crossing peoples' yards. First thing you know they're going to chase them off. I'd like to know, in view of the taxes we pay, why we have no money for transportation?"

Board Chairman Dan Wright: "I ran for this office on a platform of eliminating deficit financing and we've made progress. But we've also had a population explosion and had to build new schools. We've gotten impact funds but not enough. We built a new school at Bear Lake and already it's too little."

Parent: "Why do you spend so much money on new libraries and cafeterias?"

Wright: "To keep them accredited. This is important if we expect funds from the state and federal government."

Parent: "I understand you bought eight new buses and stopped using four old ones. How much does it cost to operate a bus?"

Milwee: "About 30 cents a mile."

Parent: "Well, I feel that it's more important to get our youngsters to school than it is to have adult French classes at Lake Mary. What about that?"

Milwee: "We couldn't touch that money if we wanted to."

School Board attorney, Douglas Stenstrom: "That money must be used for that specific purpose because it comes from the state."

E. S. Douglass, director of Vocational Education: "These classes are self supporting and the funds cannot be transferred."

Mrs. Singletary: "Well, we need buses for the safety of our children."

Dr. Epps: "We realize Melonville is hazardous, so is Sanford Avenue and French Avenue. But what about the responsibility of the parents. Perhaps cutting out courtesy riders can bring about more parental responsibility."

Question from audience: "Will these four old buses run?"

Muse: "Yes, but they're way over 10 years old and we're not supposed to run buses that old. But, I'll admit we do have some that are."

Parent: "There's a bus parked at Southside every morning when school takes in. Why couldn't this bus be used?"

Muse: "This bus makes three runs each morning and the driver takes a brief break before making another run. It makes one run to Seminole High and two runs to Pinecrest. Every bus we have makes two or more runs each morning."

Question: "Why did the hours change?"

Milwee: "The school made that decision."

Mrs. Singletary: "But we've voted down changing school opening time every time it came before the PTO."

Milwee: "Some have said the children get more out of school by starting early."

Mrs. Singletary: "Not after they've walked two or more miles."

Mrs. Harley Nelson: "Personally, I want the 8 a.m. opening time."

Another mother: "I wouldn't complain if it weren't for the traffic. It's difficult enough in a car."

Mrs. Bob Williams: "We can get the children every-where else, why not to school. I think mothers can arrange car pools and they can also police the crossings."

Parent: "I have to go to work at 7:30 and I'll admit I worry about my children getting to school."

Another parent: "I don't like the time. I work, too. My children get home an hour and a half before I do."

Mrs. Beverly Brown: "I have five children and a husband to get off at the same time. It's almost too much."

A mother: "It's too dark in the winter. If the 8 a.m. hour continues my child will just go to school late."

Jerry Tate: "I'm not going to let my children walk on wet days."

James Holloway: "My wife and I have six children to get off to school. I'm a fireman by trade and I tell you that if there's ever a fire at that school at taking in or letting out time it'll be a mess."

Parent: "I believe the buses we have should be used for the little children."

Bill Pixler: "My complaint is that we need more policemen at the school crossings."

Dr. Epps: "We've said a lot, but we need sound ideas. If you parents can come up with the ideas and money we'll do anything we can to help."

Mrs. Singletary: "Let me inject this: I understand the City will not franchise a bus system. I checked with one mother who found that it would cost $19 a month to provide her child with cab service to and from school. And, I know one mother who sent her children to school only one day and then took them out of school. She doesn't have transportation and she is afraid for them to walk under the hazardous conditions we've been talking about."

John Evans, board member: "Well, we've tried to do the best thing. Perhaps we should wait until the survey team comes in November."

Mother: "Let me say this. I'm not interested in the buses. I wouldn't let my child ride one if we did have bus service in our area."

Question: "How can we get more money?"

Wright: "Three years ago we raised the millage and got jumped on. We raised it again this year and were reminded that we can't attract industry if taxes are too high. As far as I'm concerned, if we had the money I'd pick up all the kids. It ought to be pointed out that even though we're required to decide on many things, actually our area of decision is limited to about 10 per cent. We're ruled 90 per cent by the state and federal governments."

Mrs. Singletary: "Can we examine the books to find out if some funds can be cut here and there to come up with money for buses?"

Milwee: "Of the 67 counties in the state of Florida, Seminole spends less money on a per child basis for education than 65 other counties."

Wright: "Yes, and our children rank in the top 10 per cent of all the state's children on state given achievement tests of one sort or another."

Mrs. Singletary: "But something's got to be done for the safety of our children. The other day I saw 25 or 30 children trying to cross Sanford Avenue at 15th Street. I was terrified! I finally pulled my car into the middle of Sanford Avenue and stopped traffic to let these children cross."

Mrs. Williams: "Why can't we work out a Mothers' Patrol? What would it cost?"

Jim Birkenmyer, board member: "That's the answer to that problem. Let's contact Orange County and find out. I know this is very effective over there."

Wright: "Ladies and gentlemen, as you can see we don't have the answers. We'll dig into the transportation problem in November. We'll ask the Police Department to do something and we'll work on this crossing guard program."

Question from audience: "Before we go, why was it announced that this meeting had been postponed and then announced that it was on?"

Wright: "Because of the weather we decided to call it off until a later date. Then we learned that legally we couldn't call it off without public notice. So, we decided to hold it as planned."

Mrs. Singletary: "I can clear this up. Mr. (Walter) Tesque called me to let me and others know that the meeting would be held after a postponement had been announced."

Wright: "You sure picked a meeting to be late."

Wharton: "Have to make a living. Did I miss something?"

Wright: "You did!"

C Of C Directors Discuss Project Plans For Year

By Frances Wester

Plans to organize as a non profit organization were discussed at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce held Thursday night at the home of W. C. Hopkins on the Longwood Road.

Also discussed was the county budget approval for paving Lake Mary Boulevard and taking care of the drainage and pavement problem on Willbur Avenue.

Jim Jones was authorized to contact the Jaycees to find out what the status is on the house numbering project that was turned over to them.

Donald Jackson was chosen to represent Lake Mary at all of the meetings of the Orange-Seminole Joint Planning Committee at their invitation for a representative.

The Chamber also would like to have a representative on the Seminole County Airport committee that is pushing for an airport to be located East of Interstate 4, south of Lake Mary Boulevard and north of the proposed Belt-Line.

It was decided that the next general membership meeting, which will be held Oct. 1, will be a covered dish supper fellowship with only a short business session. "Cracker" Donaldson will be chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements and will contact the ladies for their help.

All residents of the community are urged to attend this meeting when they will have a chance to get acquainted. Donaldson reminds the people that as members of this civic body they have the chance to speak and let their wishes be known while individually they can do nothing.

Mrs. Marty Dankiefs, Girl Scout Leader, has contacted the Chamber offering the help of her troop on any civic project for the year, showing real community spirit — and the Board was honored with her request and wishes to thank her publicly.

Unemployment Compensation Pay Declines

TALLAHASSEE— State Industrial Commission Chairman Worley Brown today reported a drop of almost two million dollars in unemployment compensation payments to Florida jobless for the second quarter of 1964 compared to the same period a year ago.

Brown said payments for the second quarter in 1964 ending June 30 totaled $5,831,184 compared to $7,537,651 last year.

And Brown said that at mid summer all angles of the Florida employment situation reflected an expanding and growing economy compared to a year ago.

Jobs were up and unemployment was down.

June nonfarm employment at 1,482,500 was 68,700 above June 1963.

Meanwhile, unemployment at 84,000 in June was 22,600 below June a year ago.

Brown said the good conditions continued through the summer.

July nonfarm employment was 70,800 above a year ago at 1,463,200, while unemployment was 21,400 below July, 1963.

Unemployment compensation payments in July were better than $300,000 below July 1963.

Brown said all major industry divisions in the State registered declines in the total number of weeks for which unemployment compensation was paid during the quarter ending June 30.

Wholesale and retail trade was down 25.3 per cent from a year ago levels; construction, down 34.4 per cent; manufacturing, down 13.1 per cent; transportation - communication - public utilities, down 33.4 per cent; finance - insurance - real estate, down 20.2 per cent; and services, down 6 per cent.

Our apologies to Mr. Percy Mero whom we mistakenly called "the late" in Tuesday's Herald story on Miss Isabella Simon, who sold her old 1928 Chevy last week.

When we asked Miss (not Mrs.) Simon about Mr. Mero we understood her to say he was "gone now." He is gone, but only to New Smyrna, where he lives still hale and hearty.

We are indebted for these correct bits of information to Mrs. John Salisbury, who says each Christmas she and her family take Miss Isabella out to dinner.

She recalls also that when a young lady, Miss Isabella was "one of the prettiest girls you ever saw." But she never married, according to Mrs. Salisbury.

As we said in the original story, it's a little difficult to talk to Miss Simon and we evidently misunderstood her, or she misunderstood us.

City Commissioners Monday night waived the second reading of the ordinance to adopt the $1,291,863 fiscal budget and passed it. Don't blame them for that. It takes quite a long time to recite all that extensive legal terminology which is merely a matter of form, anyhow.

A tax equalization hearing on the tax assessment roll for the City of Sanford for 1964 was authorized for Monday night. Commissioners adjourned the regular meeting, called the tax equalization board to order, adjourned it and re-called the city commission meeting to order in about 30 seconds. Reason: there was no one present wanting to have their taxes equalized.

The Sanford Garden Club's request for a quit claim deed to clear their property at Sunland Estates for a building was approved by City Commissioners Monday, except for a utility easement across the property.

A pedestrian overpass across Hwy 17-92 at Sanford Junior High would cost from $50,000 to $55,000 city commissioners have been informed by Richey Green of the State Road Department. Guess that lets that out.

Pete Knowles and Commissioners Al Wilson, Sonny Rarob and Joe Baker now plan to attend the annual meeting of the Florida Municipal League in Jacksonville Oct. 25 to 27. Speakers scheduled are Sen. George Smathers and Drew Pearson. Commr. Jim Crapps says he can't tell what he'll be doing after hunting season opens - might be in Georgia.

Pete Knowles will attend the International City Manager's Assn. meeting in Chicago Sept. 27 to Oct. 1, where he will serve on the resolutions committee. Henry Tamm will run the city while he's gone.

Speaking to a large group of protesting property owners at the City Commission meeting Monday, Mayor Al Wilson said, "We just finished working on a $1,293,000 budget to spend your money. Where were you all then?"

Quirks in the news: All the street lights in the block in front of the City Hall were out Monday night. Mighty dark around there. Finance Director Henry Tamm blamed it on water seepage which he says shorts out the connections.

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers today gave up "non-crisis bargaining" and set a strike deadline for 10 a. m. Friday at the Ford Motor Co.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said union strategists reviewed negotiations "very carefully and with some reluctance concluded the dynamics of the situation required a strike deadline. We are giving notice of termination effective 10 a. m. Friday."

The current three-year contract between Ford and the UAW was under an open end extension and subject to termination by either side on 48 hours notice.

Reuther said that the union and company were apart in some economic areas—chiefly wage inequities—and contract matters such as production standards and working conditions.

He said the "areas have not yielded to non-crisis bargaining so we hope they will yield to crisis pressure."

Reuther said the notice was given today instead of Tuesday night "because it gives us a long night of bargaining when much can be done."

Reuther repeated that no matter how attractive the union's economic package might be at Ford, "we will insist that the work condition problem be dealt with."

Reuther had said when he Tuesday night that the UAW would return today and would announce its decision on whether it would set a strike deadline.

GOP Set To Welcome Thurman

ATLANTA (UPI) — Southern Republicans today hailed a report that Sen. Strom Thurmond, D.S.C., has decided to switch allegiance to the G.O.P. Democrats generally withheld comment until after Thurmond makes his stand public.

The South Carolina conservative was scheduled to make a television address through-out his state tonight. Thurmond's office in Washington said only the speech would deal with the presidential race, but other sources said Thurmond was bolting the Democratic Party.

"This is a very significant breakthrough in support of Senator Goldwater," said Virginia GOP Chairman Robert Corber. "It will encourage all conservatives to support Senator Goldwater, certainly."

It will encourage all conservatives to withhold support from President Johnson."

South Carolina Republican Chairman J. Drake Edens said he long had hoped that Thurmond would join the G.O.P. "He is a great conservative. He belongs to us," Edens said.

"I'm overjoyed to hear the news," said Roscoe Pickett, Georgia's GOP national committeeman. "I think it's a fine thing."

South Carolina Gov. Donald S. Russell said he would withhold comment until after Thurmond's telecast from Columbia, S. C.

Aides to Alabama Gov. George Wallace said he was "not available" for comment. Terse "no comments" also came from Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement.

Former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett also had "no comment," but Tennessee Democratic Chairman James Peeler said Thurmond's switch "won't have any effect on the Tennessee voters. I still think Johnson will carry the state."

Yancey A. McLeod, South Carolina democratic chairman, said he had "very definite feelings about the matter, but I will reserve a statement until I see or hear what Senator Thurmond actually says."

North Carolina's Republican Chairman, J. Herman Saxon, said Thurmond is showing "real good judgment. I have always thought very highly of Senator Thurmond and this proves I have been pretty right. He is a Jeffersonian Democrat and that's what Republicans really are."

LBJ Promises To Hold Lead In Space Field

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — President Johnson got a quick look at America's newest rocket projects Tuesday and vowed never to let the nation accept second place in the space race.

"We can't be second in space and first in the world," the President told engineers and technicians gathered in the blockhouse of the world's most powerful known rocket.

"As long as I am permitted to lead this country I will never accept a place second to any other nation in this field."

As the President spoke, scientists were completing a test countdown for the 100-foot Saturn-1 super rocket that is scheduled to orbit an unmanned Apollo moonship test model Friday. Johnson paid the surprise 20-minute visit to the Cape while returning to Washington from Miami Beach where he addressed labor convention.

Horne Given Pat On Back

TAMPA (UPI) — House Speaker Mallory Horne, who bolted the Democratic Party to back Barry Goldwater, got a pat on the back Tuesday from the Arizona senator.

The Republican presidential nominee praised Horne for "the rare display of political courage you have shown" in serving as co-chairman of a "Volunteers for Goldwater" organization.

Members of the Seminole Goldwater for President Club and other Seminole Republican groups formed a motorcade to the rally joining Florida from all over central Florida.

Goldwater was introduced by Congressman Ed Gurney and his talk was of necessity extemporaneous as rain washed the ink off his soggy notes.

He commented that he didn't mind the rain as it rained so seldom in Arizona that when it does people go out and stand in it.

He scotched rumors that Florida would lose her missile bases if he is elected adding that McNamara has closed more bases in three years than Eisenhower closed in eight.

He expressed his belief that we should do more research on the military possibilities of "near space" before trying to reach the moon and planets.

Many of the greeting signs Goldwater who accompanied were addressed to Peggy her husband. She was presented with a spray made from a newly developed variety of large, pale green orchids.

Before Goldwater's arrival gubernatorial Candidate Charles R. Holley and other local Republican candidates were introduced and given the opportunity to speak.

When Goldwater finished speaking, the crowd surged forward crushing each other in an effort to shake his hand. The first to have this honor was enterprising young Danny Bridge of Casselberry.

Mediators Try To Avert Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal mediators pressed efforts today to avert a threatened strike by six rail unions against most of the nation's railroads.

The National Mediation Board arranged meetings here in a drive for a settlement. Michael Fox, president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employees Department, said no strike date has been set by the six organizations.

members that we'll give the National Mediation Board 72 hours notice before a strike," Fox said in an interview.

"No notice has been given. We still hope to get an agreement." Fox and other union officials issued a strike warning last week to indicate their intention to trigger a walkout by 150,000 rail shop workers unless a settlement was reached.

Comptroller OKs Seminole Budget

By Julian Stenstrom Associate Editor

The comptroller's office of the State of Florida has put its stamp of approval on Seminole County's budget for the 1964-65 fiscal year.

The announcement was made this morning by County Clerk Arthur H. Beckwith Jr.

Beckwith said that the $2,007,325.67 budget was a record for this county even though it does not include 140 mills which are being levied for the hospital expansion project and the 20 mill for the operation of the Seminole County Health Department.

The 140 mills, Beckwith pointed out, will produce revenue for the hospital amounting to $289,570 and the 20 mill will produce for the health department a total of $11,410.

Hospital Administrator Robert Bessner this morning explained that of the $289,570 approximately $117,000 will be utilized to retire the county's $350,000 share of the cost of the plant's $1 million expansion program. The county's share will be paid in three equal installments over a period of three years and the balance of $209,570 for the total program will be provided by the Federal government's Hill Burton Act.

The $117,000 balance for retirement of bonded indebtedness and hospital administration.

The new budget will go into effect Oct. 1 and will regulate county expenditures until Sept. 30, 1965.

Areas To South Are Waterlogged

By Harry J. Johnson Managing Editor

Lake Monroe continues to rise — it hit the seven-foot mark at the foot of Park Avenue late last night — and flood waters have started the persistent erosion of the lake-front.

And, according to county officials, the lake will not crest for "at least two or three more days." Water to the south of Sanford, especially in the Lake Harney area, will feed into the St. Johns River, thus boosting the level here.

County Engineer William Bush reported this morning roadways to campsites and homes in the Lake Harney area are inundated and will remain so for the next few days.

He said an estimated 40 residences, with about two-thirds of them listed as campsites, are stranded by the flood water.

Bush also reported water is standing in many sections of Chuluota where lack of drainage facilities will not permit relief from the condition.

Bush said this is a continuing problem in the area and dates back to the original boom time when the homes were built.

The water is standing in streets and at intersections "and only the sun can take it away," he said.

Howell Creek and the Econ River will continue dumping flood water from the southeast portion of the county into the St. Johns River area and this in turn will push the Lake Monroe level up considerably, officials say.

County Road Supt. J. C. Lavender, in recalling the visit four years ago of hurricane Donna says he expects this year's trouble will be much less. He added, however, future rainfall could "scrap" this prediction.

In 1960 Donna dumped enough water into the lake to send it spilling over the banks and as far south as the city hall and courthouse, according to Lavender.

Thus, Sanford appears — barring immediate rains — to be emerging considerably better this time than four years ago.

Meanwhile, local officials are conferring in Jacksonville with Civil Defense Director H. W. Tarkington and others on the procedure to be followed in obtaining federal assistance to cope with the current problem.

Seminole is one of 27 counties which is conferring with CD officials, and representatives of the National Office of Emergency Planning and the Army Corps of Engineers to learn the method of obtaining aid.

ough water into the lake to send it spilling over the banks and as far south as the city hall and courthouse, according to Lavender.

THIS IS HOW the level gauge looked at Lake Monroe this morning and the measurement is expected to rise as the flood waters from Howell Creek and Econ River continue to dump St. Johns River and the overflow into the Lake Monroe. (Herald Photo)

Contract For Waterfront Study Signed

The marine engineering firm of Maurice H. Connell and Associates of Miami met with the approval of City Commissioners Monday, and the city fathers agreed to sign a contract with the firm for a preliminary engineering study on the proposed Sanford waterfront development.

Contract is expected to be signed on Sept. 28, and survey and engineering teams are expected to begin work about October 1st.

First requirement of the study is to determine the best site for the construction of the docks, marina and landfill areas. After this, test borings will be made at three spots in the lake. Later, if deemed necessary, an economic feasibility study may be made.

The initial cost of the preliminary survey was set at $7,140, with borings estimated at about $1,000 each. If the economic survey is made, it would boost the cost another $2,230, and soundings of the river bottom could add another $1,400. The later figures may be found unnecessary, depending on findings in the first phases of the study.

City Manager W. E. Knowles indicated that the present flood stage of the lake could be a fortunate asset to the study coming at this time, as it gives a reliable indication of a factor that must be taken into consideration in construction of the waterfront development facilities.

"Flood conditions such as we have now could create a definite problem if they were not taken into consideration in the planning stages," he noted.

Members of the city commission instructed Harold Wilde, who represented the engineering firm to make the study "as objective as possible."

"If your findings indicate that this waterfront development is a good idea, we want you to say so, but if it appears to be a bad idea, we want you to tell us as such," commissioners said.

Reports from the Connell firm are expected to be presented in 60 days.

Red Weapon Puzzles Western Diplomats

MOSCOW (UPI) — Western diplomats were puzzled today by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's warning that "our borders are sacred and inviolable and any attempt to change them by force means war."

There was speculation that the weapon was a cobalt bomb, which could produce fallout clouds that would kill all life on earth, or that Khrushchev was referring Tuesday to some other kind of weapon such as a death ray.

In Washington, informed sources said the United States has no evidence that the Soviets have developed any such sensational new weapon. They interpreted Khrushchev's claim as an attempt at intimidation, probably directed against Communist China.

Khrushchev coupled his remarks on the weapon with a denunciation of Communist Chinese claims on Soviet territory, warning that "our borders are sacred and inviolable and any attempt to change them by force means war."

Khrushchev announced the "monstrous new terrible weapon" almost casually during a Kremlin talk with 15 Japanese congressmen.

No mention of his claim was made in the Soviet press or radio, although newspapers in the rest of the world headlined the news.

Khrushchev spoke solemnly when he told the Japanese he had seen the weapon Monday at a military station. Western diplomats speculated that the station must be in the Moscow area because the premier was back in the capital Tuesday.

Altamonte Man Returns Home From Korea

By Julia Barlow
Glen Keola Humes, son of Lt. and Mrs. G. D. Humes, 134 Hataway Drive, Orienta Gardens, Altamonte Springs, has just returned home from Seoul, Korea, where he has been working in the Department of Supply for the Republic of Korea for two years after serving one year there in the U. S. Army and one year with the Korean Tourist Bureau.

While in the Army, Humes learned the Korean language and became enchanted with the country and its people. Traveling home by tramp freighter, he stopped over for two weeks in Japan and for one week in Taiwan, Free China.

He graduated from high school in Woodbury, N. J., where he was president of his senior class and honorary society and won a four-year year scholarship to Lafayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania. From there he graduated cum laude with the class of '57 after which he took one year of post graduate work at Union Theological Seminary in New York.

At present he is relaxing at home and becoming "re-Americanized" before appearing in Washington, D. C., next Monday for an interview in the State Department in regards to a foreign service appointment.

Dora Silenced 2,178 Phones

A total of 2,178 phones have been reported out due to Hurricane Dora, with all but 104 of them back in service Monday, local Bell Telephone Manager Robert Shedden told The Herald.

"The outages rose quite a bit from our previous figure of 1,800 due to water seepage," Shedden said. Edwin Hebert, foreman out of New Orleans and a crew of eight men, who have been working in Sanford during the past week were to move on Tuesday to Orlando. Shedden said that the out-of-town crew expressed themselves as "liking Sanford, and its people, who were very hospitable to us during our stay here."

New Recreation Facility Pushed

First steps in the authorization of an additional recreation facility for Sanford were taken at the meeting of City Commissioners Monday when a contract was ordered with Architect James M. Chapman for architectural design and supervision of the construction. Payment of the architectural fees incurred to this point were authorized, but no funds for the capital improvement which is expected to cost about $80,000, have been set aside. Site of the new recreational facility, which is to be along the lines of the present youth wing at the Civic Center, has not yet been selected, but there is a possibility that it will be placed on city-owned land adjacent to the Goldboro swimming pool.

Adams Blasts Voter Apathy

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Secretary of State Tom Adams took a crack at voter "apathy" in Florida Monday adding that failure to vote is no way to show disenchantment with public officials. Adams said that more than one million eligible Florida voters had not even bothered to register and that of slightly more than two million who are registered, a half million didn't go to the polls last election. The blue whale is the world's largest mammal.

Post Comes Out For Johnson

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Saturday Evening Post, traditionally a Republican periodical, in its current issue urges the American people to elect Lyndon B. Johnson to a full term as President. This endorsement is reported to be the first for a Democrat in the lifetime of the magazine, founded by Benjamin Franklin in 1772. In a page editorial mostly devoted to an attack of Sen. Barry Goldwater the magazine said, "a crushing defeat for Goldwater will drive the frantic saboteurs of the Republican Party back into the woodwork whence they came." The editorial said that Johnson would make a good president because he already is a good one.

Shiloh Choir Will Fete Anniversary

By Robert B. Thomas Jr.
 The Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church Choir will observe its Anniversary Sunday afternoon Sept. 20 at 8:30 p. m. Choirs from the following churches will participate in the musical extravaganza: New Bethel Baptist Church, Grand Chapel of Orlando, New Mount Calvary, New Salem, Morning Glory, Allen Chapel, First Shiloh Gospel Chorus and Youth Choir. The Celestial Gospel Singers of Jacksonville will be the featured guest artists. This promises to be an outstanding program. The public is invited to attend.

The newly organized Lily White Lodge 227 is having a Unity Day program Sunday, Sept. 27 at Morning Glory Baptist Church at 4 p. m. Rufus C. Brooks, principal of Eccleston Elementary School of Orlando, will deliver the main address. Ulysses Brooks, president.

Betty Jean Black, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Loyal Black, is attending school at Parham Institute in Detroit where she is studying to be a Laboratory Technician. She resides with her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Fred Devoes. Israel Black Jr. has returned to Paine College in Augusta where he will begin his senior year of matriculation.

Cassandra Sheppard, daughter of Mrs. Thelma R. Sheppard, has returned to Siena Heights College of Adrian, Michigan where she will enter her sophomore year. She is a 1963 graduate of Crooms.

Isaac (Tex) Jones motored to Waycross to attend the funeral of Dewey Wilkerson's mother. Jones is a friend and an associate of Wilkerson.

The Rev. and Mrs. N. A. Watson are vacationing on the Eastern Seaboard.

Pvt. Miller Sykes is on leave for a few days. He is a 1964 graduate of Crooms.

Curly Jackson of Brooklyn was in town recently to attend the funeral of his father.

The Rev. Harold B. Whiteburst flew to the National Baptist Church Convention of America, which convened in Los Angeles last week. He was one of the speakers at a Youth Convention, an auxiliary to the National. He was placed on the Executive Board of the National Baptist Convention.

Attorneys Willie George Allen and Alice Hastings have formed a law partnership in Fort Lauderdale. Both are graduates of Crooms High School. Allen is a graduate of the University of Florida's School of Law, and Hastings is a graduate of Florida A and M University's School of Law.

The Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC), which was initiated under the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt proved to be an asset to many of our men. The training they received improved them in many ways: physically, mentally, morally, built self-confidence, and motivated them into a state wherein they set up a goal for themselves.

Coleman (Candy Boy) Falson is a product of that former program. Now residing in Rochester, he has a family of which he is most proud, and owns his home. This man is constantly trying to improve himself. Incidentally, he was a fast balling righthanded pitcher for the CCC team which was located near DeLeon Springs. Candy had tremendous ability as a baseball player. As a United States Marine, he won many honors in baseball including trophies for the best batter. He had a good curve, a hopping fast ball, and excellent control. He could hit the long ball. I am sure many of you recall the game he pitched against the Indianapolis Clowns, which he lost by a score of 7 to 1 on two errors.

Many white patrons were in attendance that night, and they along with others were buzzing throughout the game over his brilliant performance. The writer had seen him (Candy) sharp on many occasions, but he was sharper that night than at any other time. (Just my opinion of course). He was a classic righthander or with beautiful form. I am sure that many others who were a part of that program gained a new perspective from some. Therefore, I believe such a program at this time would prove to be an asset to more of our young men.

JAMES Blackshear received a pin denoting the completion of his 40th year of continuous service with the Atlantic Coast Line. The pin, with a testimonial certificate from ACL President W. T. Rice, was presented recently to Blackshear by local ACL foreman, F. P. Dunn.

40-Year Pin Presented To ACL Worker

Back in 1923 James Blackshear left his native Georgia and came to Sanford. A year later Blackshear applied to the Atlantic Coast Line and was given a job as waterboy in the roundhouse at the Sanford yards.

Later Blackshear became a helper and in 1940 was made a stationary shop fireman. Since 1953 Blackshear has been a shop laborer and recently rounded out 40 years of service with the railroad company.

W. T. Rice, president of the Atlantic Coast Line, singled out Blackshear for his 40 years of unbroken service to the transportation firm. He called attention to Blackshear's loyalty to the company and his devotion to duty throughout the years.

A 40-year-pin, along with the testimonial certificate from Rice, was presented to Blackshear during ceremonies conducted by F. P. Dunn, general foreman for the ACL in Sanford.

Blackshear and his wife and daughter, Holly, reside at 1010 Jasmine Avenue, Sanford.

Veteran Guard May Miss Seminole's Lid-Lifter

Injured Knee Forces Clark To Sidelines

By David Higginbotham
Herald Sports Writer

Steve Clark, veteran Seminole guard, is not likely to be able to perform Friday night in Titusville when the SSJH grid team lifts the curtains on the 1964 football season.

Clark, a returning letterman and a senior, sustained a knee injury in a scrimmage session Tuesday afternoon during a Tribe workout.

Danny Tillis also received a slight ankle injury during the head-knocking session but he is expected to be able to perform Friday night at full speed. Tillis is a senior and last year handled the defensive safety position for one of Pigott's three units.

Defensively, coaches Jim McCoy and Dick Williams feel the squad is doing all right. "There's still room for improvement," says McCoy "but the boys are making progress and we hope to have them at the peak for Titusville."

The specialists have been working on their individual skills and are getting them polished.

Ronnie Hinson and Buddy Burton have been working on punts while Bill Kuykendall and Bernie Barbour have been sharpening their kick-offs and extra points. Another specialist, Joe Farless, is working on blocking punts. Farless is a senior and plays guard on offense and middle linebacker on defense. Sterl Weber and Frank Whigham are working on their punting.

The squad worked on extra points and it appears they will have no trouble in that department.

The Seminoles and the Terriers are nearly equal in average team weight. This should even the contest. Titusville's two biggest linemen are Vito Giarrusso, 216 and Charlie Griffin, 210, and their biggest backs are Charlie Huggins 187 and Glen Long 175. Seminole's "beef section" includes: David Noel 215, Dave Jarrell 210, Larry Watson 210, Earnie Steels 200, Dave Goller 196 and Farless 185. The Seminole's heavy backs are Lee Sparkman 215, Sonny Messer 195 and Burton 194.

SHS FULLBACK LEE SPARKMAN, weighing in at 215 pounds, will be the mainstay of Head Coach Jim Pigott's Seminole backfield this year. Sparkman, in his familiar No. 42 jersey, is expected to continue grinding out the power yardage for the Tribe when it opens the 1964 grid season Friday night at Titusville.

Dean Chance Stalls Yankee Pennant Bid

By Fred Down
UPI Sports Writer

It takes a dazzling performance to distract attention from that American League pennant race but that's the word for Dean Chance — DAZZLING.

A 23-year-old "baby" by big league standards and an 18-game loser only a year ago, the 6-foot, 3-inch, 200-pound Los Angeles Angel righthander is a cinch to win the Cy Young major league pitcher of the year award by acclamation. In some respects he can even be called "the pitcher of the lively ball era."

Because Chance's 1964 performance stamps him as a throwback to an almost forgotten era when pitchers dominated hitters like the seven-footers dominate modern basketball.

With a 1.49 earned run average, following his 7-0, two-hit victory over the New York Yankees Tuesday night, Chance is likely to surpass the lively-ball-ERA record of 1.64 set by Spud Chandler in 1943.

Chance turned in another of his patented overpowering jobs against the Yankees, whom he has beaten four times this season and against whom he has allowed just one earned run in his last 50 innings. Joe Adcock singled home Jimmy Piersall in the sixth inning to give Chance the only run he needed but the Angels rubbed it in with a burst of six in the ninth with Adcock's 21st homer and Willie Smith's three-run triple the big blows.

The loss prevented the Yankees from gaining ground on the Baltimore Orioles, who dropped a 2-1 decision to the Minnesota Twins but the Chicago White Sox moved to within one game of the lead when they beat the Detroit Tigers 3-2 in 10 innings. The Boston Red Sox downed the Kansas City Athletics 8-0 in the only other AL action.

Not many 155 pounders get the opportunity to play major college football these days. However, there's a report that Bobby Eter checked into the Georgia Bulldog camp recently and was considered "overweight" at 155. Of course, we should mention that Eter is a kicking specialist.

Remember last season when the Seminoles of Sanford High had various names for their offensive and defensive units—such as the Black Rams, etc. No names have been chosen this year, as yet, says Head Coach Jim Pigott. However, when they are, he avers, the boys will do the selecting themselves.

SHS Booster Club Prexy Roger Harris tells us that he'll have a good supply of the Seminole High megaphones on hand Friday night in front of the Tribe's stands in Titusville. If you're among the fans who didn't get yours last Friday during "Players Night" at Sanford Memorial Stadium you can get 'em at Titusville.

Ever wonder why a manager's hair turns gray? Between Aug. 6 and 25, the Houston Colts played seven games decided by one run. The Colts won all seven. Since then they've played seven games decided by one run and they've lost 'em all.

In addition to the opener with Sanford, the Titusville Terriers this season will tangle with Cocoa Beach, Cocoa, Lyman, Melbourne, Eau Gallie, Seabreeze of Daytona and Satellite Beach.

And speaking of Lyman, we're reminded that Les Lyle, former Greyhound fullback, is expected to be one of the big guns Friday night when Mainland High of Daytona opens its grid card against Jackson of Jacksonville at Daytona's Memorial Stadium. Lyle will be performing for the Buccaneers.

And here's your chance to have a lot of fun—even if you don't win anything. Be sure you participate in The Herald's pick-the-winner grid contest each week. Look for the contest rules and entry blanks elsewhere in today's Herald.

About Sports Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom

Telephone caller: "Do you think the Orioles will win the American League pennant?"

Answer: "Don't bet on the Yankees. And, by all means, don't bet against 'em."

A Distinguished Duffer's tournament will be held in December at Hollywood-by-the-Sea. Among the 92 persons invited are President Johnson and Senator Hubert Humphrey, Senator Barry Goldwater and Rep. William Miller, Dr. Jonas Salk, Lt. Gen. Chesty Puller (the Marine hero), Charles A. Lindbergh, Jimmy Durante, Dr. Wehrner von Braun, playwright Arthur Miller and Yogi Berra.

What a journey that would be if all accepted.

When the San Francisco 49ers were considering hiring Wilt Chamberlain to join the club as a pass receiver, Harland Svare—coach of the Los Angeles Rams—was asked what he would do about it. "I'd hire Bill Russell to defend him," said Svare.

By David Higginbotham

The Sanford Junior High Braves held a rugged workout Tuesday in preparation for their season opener Sept. 24 against the South Seminole Junior High Hurricanes.

Most of the time was spent working on fundamentals such as blocking, passing, and running plays smoothly.

Halfbacks: Brad Hollenworth—135, Don Robinson—130, Ronnie Westbrook—130, Tommy Day—126, Ph 111 p Smith—123, John May—144, Mett Morgan—133 and Mark Caolo—135.

Fullbacks: Eddie Broadway—163 and Fred Weber—150.

Guards: Barney Haedrick—165, Tom Jones—170, Skip Underwood—148, Wayne Fakas—160 and Gordon Meyers—140.

The United States Power Squads, largest private organization in the United States devoted to boating education and safety, reported its membership as of August 31, 1964, totaled 60,595. This compares to a total of 37,977, on August 31, 1963.

Johnny On The Spot Callison Leads Phillies Pace

By Fred Down
UPI Sports Writer

That's the tribute rival National League managers pay Johnny Callison and it sums up in a nutshell why the Philadelphia Phillies are driving hard once again to capture their first pennant since 1950.

The Phillies have won three straight games and it's no coincidence that the 25-year-old All-Star game hero is hitting like a guy who can virtually taste his share of the World Series melon.

Callison was Johnny-on-the-spot again Tuesday night when he singled home Richie Allen in the sixth inning to give the Phillies a 1-0 victory over the Houston Colts. Callison has gone 6-for-12 in the Phillies' current string of three straight wins but what's more significant is the fact that he has driven in four of the nine runs scored by the team.

Dennis Bennett tired after pitching six innings of three-hit ball and Jack Baldschun completed the shutout to earn Bennett his 12th win against 12 losses. The Colts threatened in the seventh and ninth innings but a misplaying squeeze play stopped them in the seventh and Baldschun struck out Joe Gaines with two on for the final out in the ninth.

The St. Louis Cardinals, continuing their gallant but forlorn pursuit of the Phillies, swept a doubleheader from the Milwaukee Braves 11-6 and 3-1, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Reds 6-1, the San Francisco Giants topped the New York Mets 3-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers scored a 5-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in other NL games.

4 Contenders To Seek Title

TORONTO (UPI) — The World Boxing Association told its four top-rated heavyweight contenders today to get ready to fight for the "vacant world championship" stripped from Cassius Clay.

President Mary L. McKenlie of the WBA sent the "get ready" telegrams to Ernie Terrell of Chicago, Cleveland Williams of Houston, ex-champion Floyd Patterson of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Doug Jones of New York.

That four-man elimination became the solution when the WBA vacated Clay's title Monday immediately after young Clay had signed at Boston with ex-champion Sonny Liston for a forbidden return title fight in the Boston Garden, Nov. 18.

'Canes Prep For Opener On Sept. 24

By Jim Beacham
Like everyone else Coach Jim Clark's South Seminole gridders have been inactive of late.

The recent hurricane has succeeded in putting its name-sock-football team out of business—for the time being anyway. However the Hurricanes from Casseberry have made up for lack of physical exercise with a lot of mental drills in the form of skull sessions. Clark and assistant Coach Dave Miller are working hard preparing the 'Canes for their home opener against the tough Sanford Junior High Braves Sept. 24.

Clark has yet to cut anyone from the squad, so as of now, there are 37 eighth and ninth grade boys wearing the red and white Hurricane colors. The first cut is expected to be made soon, however, and South Seminole will probably dress about 30 boys for the first game at Lyman Field.

Clark says that, going by the way they look now, the Hurricanes will probably be stronger defensively. But a lot of things can happen in two weeks and the situation could well change.

The South Seminole schedule hasn't been definitely set, but the 'Canes will play a six-game slate with two contests each against Sanford and St. Cloud and one meeting apiece with Oviedo and Tampa.

The following boys now comprise the grid squad in Casseberry:

Ends: Leonard Hollis, 5-9, 144; Dave Jackson, 5-10, 185; Delbert Egner, 5-10, 143; Alton Riebery, 5-10, 144; Mike Nickett, 6-1, 142 and Bob Olson, 6-1, 180.

Tackles: Bruce Stuart, 6-7 1/2, 170; David Rutenkroger, 5-10, 130; Greg Pfeiffer, 5-9, 181; Ken Krause, 6-0, 202; Greg Dranko, 5-11, 185; Bill McNeal, 6-11, 201; David Dreading, 5-11, 138; Chuck Bentley, 5-9, 170 and Pat Murphy, 5-11, 160.

Guards: Danny Peterson, 5-4, 181; Greg Bars, 5-7, 135; Jeff MacClead, 5-8, 143; Bob Mobley, 6-0, 135 and David Fulsang, 5-10, 145.

Centers: Larry Garner, 5-10, 180; Tom Hawkes, 5-10, 135; John Newell, 5-8, 120 and Robert Jaeger, 5-11, 176.

Quarterbacks: Jim Lucas, 5-7 1/2, 125; Mike Hargis, 5-10, 130 and Chuck Engle, 5-5, 110.

Fullbacks: Richard R. Wright, 5-9 1/2, 190; Ronnie Skeen, 5-11, 145 and Charles Money, 5-11, 164.

Halfbacks: Bill West, 5-6, 112; Dennis Garrett, 5-7, 132; Donnie Owens, 5-8, 116; Bob Mioducki, 5-9, 143; Johnny McDermott, 5-7, 123; Tom Butler, 5-7, 120 and Matt Hickok, 5-7, 125.

TWO OVIEDO HIGH VETERANS will serve as co-captains of this year's edition of the Lions football team when the 1964 season gets under way Friday night at John Courier Field in Oviedo. The Lion captains are quarterback Jim Courier (10) and fullback Ted Bellhorn (40). At 8 p.m. tomorrow night the Lions host Zephyrhills in the curtain raiser.

Oviedo Pushes Drill As Gametime Nears

By Marshall Lingo
Herald Sports Writer

The Oviedo Lions reacted to the announcement that their season would open a week earlier than anticipated by working that much harder Tuesday afternoon when Head Coach Arthur Scott and assistant Dick Prater put their charges through an extended drill in preparation for Friday night's tilt with Zephyrhills.

The Lions, originally slated to play a nine-game schedule, announced Tuesday that not only had Zephyrhills been added to the slate but also that it would be played this Friday night at John Courier Field.

Oviedo observers say that the eleven the Lions met Friday night should provide the Seminole County machine with plenty of opposition. But since the Lions have essentially the same eleven they fielded last season they are picked to grab the curtain raiser.

Scott has fairly well established his first eleven. Jim Courier, Oviedo's ace triple threat man who can run, pass and kick, will be at quarterback and Ted Bellhorn, an end last year, is firmly fixed at fullback this season.

Bruce Downen, a newcomer to Oviedo from Jacksonville, will handle the left halfback spot and Bill Mikler will return to his position at right half.

This season's first two guards are Jimmy Saucer and Wayne Jacobs. Billy Murphy and Tim Colbert have pretty well sewed up the tackle slots and Red Brooks — a fullback last season — has become a flanker, replacing Bellhorn. The other end will be Jimmy Reasley. At center will be Charlie Reasley.

BJ Goes West; Barry Raps 'Managed News'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson set out for the Far West today on a varied two-day series of visits to four states and one Canadian province.

The President's trip officially was described as non-political. The difference between the trip's being non-political or political, officially, is the difference between the U. S. government and the Democratic National Committee paying the tab. In this case, the government will pay the bill.

He will wind up Thursday in California, where 40 electoral votes will be at stake in November — the second highest of any state in the nation.

And Johnson, of course, also would like to win the smaller electoral prizes in the three other states—Montana, Washington and Oregon.

Yesterday Johnson flew to Miami for a "non-political" speech before the International Association of Machinists, a union which already had endorsed him. On his return the President paid a surprise visit to Cape Kennedy and inspected space facilities there. There was advance word that Johnson might break precedent on one leg of his trip by flying aboard the Royal Canadian Air Force Royal Starliner, a Lockheed L-1011, for safety and communications reasons. American presidents always have flown in U. S. Air Force planes.

Today, Johnson's travels were scheduled to take him to:

—Malstrom Air Force Base, at Great Falls, Mont., to join Pearson for a two-hour flight over the Columbia River Basin, possibly in Pearson's plane. Governors of six states in the area will accompany them.

—Vancouver, British Columbia, to begin a 20-mile motorcycle to the International Peace Arch at Blaine, Wash., on the U. S.-Canadian border. A ceremony there will mark proclamation of the Columbia River treaty between the two nations.

—Back to Vancouver, to board his Air Force transport for a 35-minute flight to Seattle, where he will speak at a dinner sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce and three area universities. He will remain overnight in Seattle.

Thursday, Johnson plans to fly to Portland, Ore., to address a breakfast sponsored by public and private power groups participating in an 11-state system tying together hydroelectric facilities of the Columbia and Colorado River basins.

From there, he will go to Sacramento to ride in a 70-block motorcycle from the airport to the California Capitol. He will make a speech from the Capitol steps, then attend a private lunch at the guest of Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

The September meeting of the Life Underwriters Association will be held at the Capri at noon Thursday. Speaker for the occasion will be the association's president, Don Tabor.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Republican presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater, calling for "straight talk" from the administration, accused President Johnson today of trying to manage the news about Communist Cuba.

In a prepared speech starting the second day of his four-day campaign in the South, Goldwater said the President had deleted certain statements on Cuba from the prepared text of his address to the International Machinists' Convention in Miami Tuesday.

The deleted statements said Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has failed to spread communism from Cuba and that the island posed no threat to U.S. security.

"Why the deletions? Why the statements in the first place?" Goldwater asked.

He said that communism has not spread from Cuba? Does he really believe that Communist Cuba poses no threat??

"There are all too many questions piling up at the door of the White House — questions about Viet Nam, questions about Bobby Baker . . . where he wound up a tour of North Carolina, Georgia and Florida Tuesday, hailing the doctrine of states' rights and appealing for Democratic votes.

He was enthusiastically welcomed by large crowds. An estimated 100,000 persons greeted him in Atlanta.

Delta Kappa Gamma Members Host Reception Tea Honoring Initiates At Boyd Coleman Home

Women educators, all smartly attired in fall creations, and wearing the latest in autumn chapeaux stop their fashionable hairdos, assembled at the gracious Park Avenue home of Mrs. Boyd Coleman for an elaborate reception tea last Sunday afternoon.

These lovely ladies are all school teachers and members of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honor society for women educators. The two chapters, Rho and Beta, were represented with members from five counties, Seminole, Orange, Lake, Volusia and Flagler. The purpose of the charming tea was to honor the four initiates, Ruth Dean, Rho, Eustis; Florence Settle, Rho, New Smyrna Beach; Catherine Wheelchel, Beta, Sanford and Betty Cook, Beta, Eustis.

Hostesses were the two Sanford chapters to the more than 120 members. Decorative arrangements depicting autumn scenes adorned the reception rooms, which were opened on suits. The serving table, covered in a handsome gold metallic cloth, was centered with a clever arrangement of colorful foliage, tinged with gold, combined with blossoms of brilliant crimson and bright orange. Elegant crystal candelabra held tall gold glowing tapers, with crystal compotes and trays offering an attractive assortment of dainty delicacies. Pouring from the antique silver service were Mrs. Wilma Morgan, past president of Rho; Mrs. Alicia Schmidt, past president of Beta, and Miss Mabel Chapman, Beta membership chairman.

So from 2 p. m. on last Sunday afternoon, the Delta Kappa Gamma educators were delighted at meeting once again in the refined atmosphere which the Sanford group of "school mamas" so capably provided.

DELTA KAPPA GAMMA, National Honor Society of women educators, recently honored the initiates with an elaborate tea at the Park Avenue home of Mrs. Boyd Coleman. With Mrs. Alicia Schmidt, past president of Beta Chapter, seated are from the left standing, Mrs. Coleman, Rho membership chairman; Miss Mabel Chapman, Beta membership chairman; Mrs. Wilma Morgan, Rho past president, and Mrs. Kattie Mae Taylor, present Rho president. Not pictured is Mrs. Anna Pascoe, present Beta president.

Mrs. Armstrong will depart this week for Portsmouth, Va., where she will visit with her daughter and family, Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. B. E. Crumpler, Benjie and Scott Neil. Sanford HD Club Enjoys Varied Constructive Meet

The Sanford Home Demonstration Club met recently at the County Agent's office on Highway 17-92, with Mrs. Roy Tillis serving as hostess, and Mrs. Eva Harkey giving the devotional program.

A most interesting program was presented including a commercial clothing demonstration by Mrs. E. R. Wood with the cooperation of Millaly's Fabric Shoppe. The new adjustable patterns were explained and demonstrated.

Mrs. V. G. Haasty, food chairman, discussed meatless meals, and the versatility of the 60 frozen vegetables and 83 cuts of meats in our markets. She further discussed "Canning Without Cans."

The new Year Books were distributed, and are most attractive with the extension club on the cover with the contents cleverly arranged for accessibility.

At a recent State Council meeting, a new name was discussed, and the adopted name is Florida Extension Home Makers Council and Home Makers Clubs.

Miss Myrtle Wilson gave an informative talk on "Food Additives," stressing they improve nutrient value, enhance flavor and increase palatability and wholesomeness of food. She also gave a report on the Citrus Institute, and suggested serving citrus rather than carbonated drinks.

4-H leaders are urgently needed for the many clubs now in the process of forming. So ladies, you are invited to volunteer your services. Following the meeting, Mrs. Tillis served a delicious citrus punch to the 11 members and four guests present.

Terry Towels Prove Versatile In Home Decor

HOUSTON (UPI) — Some Houston housewives are finding brightly patterned towels the answer to some summer entertaining problems.

Mrs. Robert Perry uses a bright terry towel in a paisley pattern for the patio table when the Perrys entertain at their poolside. Solid color guest towels make good picnic napkins, especially when a heavy-duty napkin is needed.

Mrs. John Owens uses large towels for decorative wall hangings, such as the bath towel on her son Scottie's wall showing a colorful lion. For her three sons' bunk beds, Mrs. Owens uses beautiful floral beach towels for bedspreads. The towels hardly show wrinkles and are easy to wash, she said.

Towels can also be used for cafe curtains in summer camps or bungalows, and for a sun shade at the beach — just tie the corners of an oversized beach towel and use dime-store curtain rods at each corner. The rods can be stuck easily into the sand for a portable, easily assembled shelter.

Mary Rowland Home From Flight To Memphis

By Mrs. Margaret Cooby
Mrs. C. E. (Mary) Rowell, R.N. flew back to her family at 41 North Devon, North Orlando, on the heels of Hurricane Dora after a week in Memphis, Tennessee. The personal pediatric nurse rushed to Memphis to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fests, when her father was hospitalized with a serious heart condition.

Mary returned late last Thursday (September 10) evening, fatigued and drawn, but pleased that her dad is responding nicely. Under happier circumstances, Mary's trip could have been a gay one as Memphis is her old hometown and she has an abundance of friends there.

Smalltown USA, Is Sanford In This Category?

Sanford's Lakeland development plan can well be the focal point of action that lifts the city out of the small town category. The county seat of Seminole county by many local citizens is thought to present only the problems of a typical small town.

Sanford may not be a "typical small town" — but then, perhaps, it may. The consideration of the matter raises the questions "What is a typical American small town? What conditions of living are found in it? What do its citizens cherish as the environment in which they want to live?"

Local residents might well make some comparisons with other communities throughout the nation, when at 10 p.m., Friday, Channel 2 TV presents "Smalltown, U. S. A."

In this captivating story that will be narrated by Freddie March five cities much like Sanford in size and interest are shown. Is living in Greenville, Maine, much different than enjoying life in Sanford (other than the weather, that is)? How does Heller, Ky., Cimarron, Kan., Bossier City, La., or even Bradenton, Fla. compare with your favorite home town as an ideal spot in which to meet friends, carry on business, relax — or contemplate the future, yours and that of your children?

Not unlike our First Street are the "main stems" of several of these American "small towns." Perhaps the "downtown problem" depicted in some of these other "minor metropolises" will be recognized in our own situation. And many a progressive citizen who has shown such stirring interest in our Lakeland Development program may be further stimulated by what goes on in the suburbia described by March and shown on the screens of those TV sets that will be tuned to Channel 2 on Friday at 10 p.m. He may see how our Sanford compares to what March describes as "Smalltown, U. S. A."

(Drop the editor a line about YOUR comparison, your likes and dislikes as a person who is interested in your own home town. — Ed.)

Schultz's Anger Knows No Bound

CHICAGO (UPI) — Adolph Schultz, 41, is his own worst enemy when he gets mad.

Police said Schultz, a railway worker, got mad Sunday night when he returned to his suburban home near Lake Zurich to find dinner was not ready. He told his wife, Dolores, 39, to get out of the house, and as she fled he fired at her with a .32 caliber revolver, police said.

He missed. And this made him madder.

Police said Schultz then picked up a .12 gauge shotgun, held the revolver in his left hand, and blasted the revolver to smithereens with the shotgun.

He also blew three fingers off his left hand.

Others Have Culture, Too

There is one export that will have no effect upon the balance of payments problem but which may return dividends to the nation for many years to come.

The resource is the most valuable one we have—our young men and women—and the consequence of their going abroad is more than the hoped-for strengthening of democracy and frustration of communism. It is a better understanding of our own culture as well as others, a widening of our whole national horizon.

The popular idea of the Peace Corps is the sending of young Americans (and a few older, too) overseas to help modernize "underdeveloped" countries. This is a misconception, according to one young man who served in the corps in the Philippines.

"The problem with this image," writes David Szanton, now a student at the University of Chicago, "is that most Americans tend to think of an 'underdeveloped' country as a 'tabula rasa,' a nearly blank slate, in which modern (American) institutions need only be introduced, and that good will, hard work and technical know-how will fast see it through to prosperity."

We forget, he says, that these countries are "underdeveloped" only in terms of our own specific form of economic organization. They have highly complex, if primitive, economic systems, as well as political, social, artistic and religious traditions often far older than our own.

"Such a community in which I worked," says David, "was an extremely complex aggregate of individuals, families and larger groupings, each with their own interest to protect and advance, highly sophisticated in motivation and behavior, together creating a culture unlike anything we had known in America."

Such a community is no "blank slate." In fact, if the volunteer is to be successful at all in helping these people with their problems, it is he who must be the blank slate. He must stand still, look and listen.

He must, says this young man who was there, be willing to say, "I know nothing. Tell me, teach me about your community."

Fireflies Fade Out

Scientists, often accused of chasing moonbeams, are chasing fireflies in earnest and finding them hard to find.

For years a chemical company in New Jersey has been buying live lighting bugs from youngsters (and some moonlighting adults) for 50 cents a hundred. An extract from the luminescent substance in the firefly's tail is used in certain medical researches.

As many as half a million of the bugs have been bought by the company in one year. Last year, however, the supply dropped drastically and so far this year there have been none at all—why, nobody knows.

There are plenty of fireflies in other parts of the country, but shipping is somewhat of a problem.

Things look dim in New Jersey.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One of America's continuing offshore concerns, the island commonwealth of Puerto Rico, is approaching a major crossroads.

Its uplifted economy, still rising in power, needs infusions not only of more capital but of political and management skills suitable to a growing complexity.

Burgeoning industry, fed for years by island tax advantages not enjoyed on the mainland, now requires better technical integration. Improved transportation facilities are a necessity, including some kind of mass transit for traffic besieged San Juan.

As one close observer of the Puerto Rican scene portrays it:

"Men who had no shoes to wear 25 years ago are now complaining about the difficulty of parking their new cars."

The impending change is also political. Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, the island's recognized leader since 1940, is retiring from office. Puerto Ricans have hardly begun to imagine what it will be like without this now favored figure sitting in the governor's house, La Fortaleza.

The governorship race this year will be fought principally between Secretary of State

Roberto Sanchez Vilella, anointed this summer by Munoz as his successor candidate in the Popular Democratic party, and Luis Ferré, choice of the Statehood Republicans.

Older are said to favor Sanchez strongly. He represents a party whose dominance appeared reconfirmed this spring by an unusually large registration advantage. And he is campaigning vigorously against a background of 16 years as intimate counselor and "chief of staff" to Munoz.

Statehood Republicans often argued that their prospects of victory would bound upward the moment Munoz left the picture. Yet in the battle against Sanchez they are cautious in their claims.

Few observers look for Sanchez to match the nearly 60 per cent of the total vote run up by Munoz in 1960. But should he come within three or four points of that it might prove a stiff blow to the Statehood Republicans and produce a party upheaval.

Munoz, unruffled by Republican and other charges that he has held the governorship beyond reasonable tenure, insists he would like to see a stronger party rivaling the Popular Democrats.

He believes the Republicans have been wrong to stake their whole case on the statehood issue. "It's their coat and their pants," he says.

Evidence grows that some Republican elements are, in fact, putting stress on such other issues as better education, housing, roads, and the nagging unemployment situation (the island unemployment rate is a consistent, painful 12 per cent.)

Interest in the statehood matter seems fairly low at the moment. The commission created by Congress to review the island's present commonwealth status with an eye to possible change is not likely to undertake serious inquiry until after the election.

But individuals close to Sanchez say that if he is victorious in November, he will give his prime attention to the economic and social problems of a bustling island which now is on the threshold of industrial maturity. His engineering training at Ohio State University is thought to equip him to deal with the new, technical complexities that go with growth—if he gets a crack at them.

As for statehood, Sanchez agrees with Munoz that it would bring economic disaster by destroying the island's federal tax advantages. The Republicans hotly disagree. The final test on this issue seems a long way off.

Helen Fuller Says Bobby Swims Upstream

WASHINGTON — Politicians have found a new way to get free publicity — leak to the press the results of "secret" opinion polls. Republican Senator Kenneth Keating of New York is currently using this device in his race for re-election against Robert F. Kennedy.

The editorial chiefs of influential papers have not taken the proffered bait that Kennedy's candidacy would improve the calibre of Congress by loosening the rigid rules of resistance for election to the Senate. Powerful newspapers have taken the position that Kennedy's move from Massachusetts to New York is designed less to advance the quality of Congress than to advance Robert F. Kennedy. They are endorsing Senator Keating.

Robert Kennedy had hoped, and still hopes no doubt, to fudge the "carpetbagger" issue by making other matters more important. A large and hard-hitting Kennedy organization is being put into every corner of New York state for that purpose. But, taking a leaf from the John F. Kennedy book, Robert is also meeting his possible crucial issue head on.

As JFK chose to speak out on the "Catholic in the White House" issue in Texas in 1960, RFK spoke out in his own defense in his acceptance speech to the New York Democratic convention. The Kennedy research team lost no time spreading around the historical justification for political mobility.

The background material they provide political writers points out that the first Senator from New York was Rufus King, a Massachusetts delegate to the Constitutional Convention — that Senator Daniel Webster of Massachusetts came from New Hampshire — that the present Senator from Minnesota, Hubert Humphrey was born in South Dakota — former Illinois Senator J. Hamilton Lewis was a Georgian — and former Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana grew up in Massachusetts.

Such arguments may or may not prove persuasive. Of more probable value to the Kennedy cause, however, is the large majority by which almost all the experienced political reporters expect President Johnson to poll over Senator Goldwater. The best hope of the younger Mr. Kennedy is that he can catch a ride on Lyndon Johnson's coattail in November.

lion more registered Democrats than Republicans in New York, and the Liberal Party, with 90,000 registered members, is on record for Kennedy.

Phil Newsom Says

Arabs Run Into Snags

When leaders of 13 Arab nations convened in a former Cairo palace of King Farouk for their second summit meeting of the year, to outsiders it could seem only a lesson in futility.

The futility sprang from two counts.

First, it was a meeting called to press for the expenditure of still uncounted millions of dollars on a project which came less from need than from determination to deprive Israel of the use of waters from the Jordan River.

Second, rather than serving as an expression of unity, the meeting at its outset demonstrated again some of the deep division separating the Arab states.

On the first count, a common omity for Israel remains the one really unifying factor for the Arab states. They thus bitterly oppose the $200 million system of canals, tunnels, pipes and reservoirs by which the Israelis are drawing Jordan River waters for irrigation of the arid Negev.

The Arab view is that an increasing thousands of new settlers into the Negev would strengthen Israel economically and increase the threat of Israeli expansionist aims.

The Arab plan to draw Jordan waters away from Israel consists of two parts.

The one would cut off Jordan headwaters in Lebanon and Syria before they reach Israel and also divert waters of the Yarmuk which flows from Jordan and dumps into the Jordan River below the Sea of Galilee.

The second phase of the plan would set up a military organization to meet an anticipated Israeli attack when the first phase began taking effect.

Western sources say that even if the Arabs succeed in putting their division plans into action, it will be years before there is any noticeable effect and doubt the likelihood of any early Israeli military reaction.

In any event, the Arabs have run into snags.

President Nasser of the United Arab Republic is pressing for some action before the end of this month as proof of Arab unity.

But Lebanon, a key to the plan's success, has been accused of dragging its feet in getting diversion plans under way.

Meanwhile, relations continue strained between Nasser's U.A.R. and the Baathist socialist regime controlling Syria. The Baathists object to Nasser leadership although agreeing with his aims for Arab unity.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Jackie saw her young psychology professor prefer the term "Educable mental retardate" for the simpler "Moron" to designate the highest level of the subnormal. But the great thing was planned mental testing prefer "Moron" and other simpler terms, for they didn't need to obfuscate the public with polysyllabic circumlocutions!

Case T-475: Jackie Q., aged 21, is the pert coed who is parroting the jargon of many young psychology professors.

She said my "worst offense" is admitting that you newspaper readers can be excellent practical psychologists!

For she added (still parroting her prof) that:

"The field is too complex to allow the man on the street to be a psychologist by observation."

But the chief method the cloistered psychology researcher can use is also "observation" and professors have no monopoly of that!

Alas, the modern young psych profs have tried to develop a complex lingo to de-fuddle laymen and thus make it appear that they alone can understand human nature.

To be explicit, Jackie (Mouthing per profs) objected to my using the standard classification of subnormals, namely, idiot, imbecile and moron. (See Chapter XIV in my 1964 Textbook at your local library.)

Instead, she demands that the right hand column below be employed to designate those who are below par in intelligence:

Idiot— Custodial mental retardate

Imbecile— Trainable mental retardate

Moron— Educable mental retardate

That word "Moron" was coined by Dr. H. H. Goddard, the psychologist who first translated the famous Binet Simon test into English.

And it is not only more efficient, for it contains only two syllables in contrast to the NINE syllables needed at the right.

But the usual college prof actually WANTS to pat himself on the back by employing polysyllabic circumlocutions to prevent you laymen from understanding.

For he has so little of actual merit to offer that he must obscure the feeble germ of an idea with excessive verbiage.

A recent high school principal told me he had attended an extension course in psychology at night, as he was working for his M. A. degree.

At the conclusion of the hour, this smart young high school principal told the professor: "Professor, your subject is too profound for people like me. Why, Sir, I didn't understand a word you said!"

The professor smiled in delight (apparently thinking he had succeeded in obfuscating his piousness ideas in polysyllabic circumlocutions).

An editor, sales manager or advertising expert would have flunked that prof.

For teaching is simply a form of salesmanship and if the salesman (teacher) can't talk the language of the customer, he merits an "F".

The fact our college profs often boast of a Ph. D. means little unless they can meanwhile put their ideas across and infuse idealistic teenagers with a keen desire for further scientific exploration.

But when I have suggested the use of the "Rating Scale for Good Teachers," as mentioned below, professors have usually protested bitterly.

They don't want to be rated by their students! They alibi that the pupils are not competent to rate good teaching. Malarky!

So send for my "Test for Good Teachers," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope plus 20c and apply it, whether to high school, college or Sunday School teachers.

For he has so little of actual merit to offer that he must obscure the feeble germ of an idea with excessive verbiage.

Letters

The Herald welcomes letters from its readers on public affairs. The writer may use a pen name provided the letter also carries the writer's true name and address. Letters of fewer than 200 words will be given preference. Letters addressed to others are acceptable provided they do not deal in personalities. Poetry is not published by The Herald.

Editor, Herald:

You all were so kind to me when I was down there and made copy for you often. I haven't time to write my many friends about my recent victory in politics. In the Primary last Tuesday I was nominated as representative to our State Legislature on the Democratic ticket.

This is tantamount to election so I can be happy about it. As of this moment it appears that N. H., Vermont, and Maine will also go Democratic Nov. 3.

I saw pictures of the sad Navy plane crash in Lake Monroe on TV and the results of Doris's anger.

Hello to all my friends in Sanford. I often browse thru my Florida press books and recall some mighty interesting and victorious events especially the saga of the neglected county home which your paper revealed and our Citizen's League attacked with all its might.

My regards to all of you, especially Mr. Glew whom I admired very much as I watched the continued growth and moderation of the Herald with his talent and vision.

Imbecile— Trainable mental retardate

Moron— Educable mental retardate

That word "Moron" was coined by Dr. H. H. Goddard, the psychologist who first translated the famous Binet Simon test into English.

And it is not only more efficient, for it contains only two syllables in contrast to the NINE syllables needed at the right.

But the usual college prof actually WANTS to pat himself on the back by employing polysyllabic circumlocutions to prevent you laymen from understanding.

For he has so little of actual merit to offer that he must obscure the feeble germ

Fifty years ago America's small towns were her strength and inspiration. Some have changed dramatically and some haven't changed. Tune in on this moving story of American life narrated by Fredric March. Produced by Project Twenty, producers of "The Real West," "The Tall American-Gary Cooper," "The Coming of Christ," and "Victory at Sea."

Horoscope Forecast

THURSDAY, SEPT. 17, 1964
GENERAL TENDENCIES:
 You are tempted to open present conditions and to seek new persons, new situations, new conditions and new outlets, but if you do so, you can lose out on that which you have carefully built up in the past. Make a point to show you are the one able to please and delight others by a stomach, friendly attitude.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)— Don't be fearful with other persons, since they believe you are getting ahead of their progress. Bear clear of the social in p. m. The unexpected may be more than you can stand.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)— Get on the good side of powerful individuals instead of antagonizing them and you get ahead. Don't be critical or too temper. See that your credit is good or you lose reputation.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)— Study well any new system that will give you a new lease on life, but don't take action on it until the morrow, when conditions are more favorable. Hear what new contact has to say.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)— Any important work that needs to be done should be handled quickly and well instead of procrastinating. Don't let upset co-worker disturb you. Show others that you are conscientious.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to October 23)— Don't permit that restless mate to deter you from achieving creative aims right now. Yours is the sign of the peace-maker, so be just that. Others will be grateful.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)— Matters are in rather a pretty state at home, but remain calm and don't show temper. Be pleasant and don't take any risks whatever. Maintain security at all cost.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)— Driving carefully is of great importance as well as thinking before you speak today. Curb temper or remarks could be unpleasant. Show true wisdom and grow.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)— Take no risks in spending money you can ill afford, whether for investments or recreation. Keeping within your budget is wisest. Save and be ahead of the game.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)— Being forceful with others or too friendly could get you into a peck of trouble right now. Delve into whatever is entertaining. Avoid that pesky social affair in p. m.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)— Getting rid of debris around you and handling important matters with wisdom and perspicacity is fine today. Don't be critical of others. Plan the future with true vision.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, there is apt to be a great deal of impulsiveness in this nature, so you must early teach to think before acting, and then the career can be slanted toward any of the trouble-shooting professions with fine hope of success. Running an employment bureau, social welfare organization, etc., is fine in this chart. Give a good, practical course of education. "The Stars Impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Carroll Righter's individual forecast for your sign for October is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1.00 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Sanford Herald, Box 1921, Hollywood 28, California.

SAFETY CONGRESS
 CHICAGO— The National Safety Council's annual Safety Congress, will be held Oct. 26 to 29, in Chicago. Oct. 27 will be devoted to recreational boating safety. Among the topics for discussion are: "Promoting Safe Loading of Small Boats;" "The Role of the Recreational Boating Division of the U. S. Coast Guard;" and "Safe Lighting of Small Boats."

Tommyes Recall 'Great War' And Its Action

By Tom A. Collins
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
LONDON (NEA) — Fifty years after the event, what does the average British soldier who fought in the trenches remember about World War I?

Does he recall the agony of Ypres (or "Wipers," as the British Tommy called it?), where hundreds of thousands of British and Germans were killed or maimed? The vast graveyard of the Somme? The tragedy of the Gallipoli landings?

Fifty thousand Britons who took part in World War I have written down their most vivid recollections of that conflict at the invitation of the British Broadcasting Corp. And, surprisingly enough, the mud and the blood figure very little in their souvenirs.

"The thing that I remember most," says BBC producer Tony Essex, "is the summer of 1916, which sticks in their mind as an idyllic time."

"The Germans were busy on the Eastern front, the summer was hot and sunny, and the French cafes were open. There were peasants working in the fields, and there was time to smoke and drink and write letters home."

"Long after they have forgotten the horrors, the veterans remember July 1916," Essex explains. "Many of the letters we have received tell about it."

The BBC producer, who was not born until 1925, is drawing upon these letters for "The Great War," a series of 26 programs which is Britain's most ambitious and most expensive television undertaking to date.

"The Great War" series has been screened in this country since last May, and eventually will be seen by 40 million viewers on the continent. It is due to be televised in the United States on a limited basis this fall.

In preparing the series, producer Essex has had access to the film archives of 30 different countries, including Russia and its satellites. But it is the filmed interviews with ordinary Britons who responded to the BBC's appeal that have yielded the most notable scoops.

For example, BBC was able to track down one of the two survivors of the cruiser HMS Indefatigable, which was torpedoed during the Battle of Jutland in May 1916, with a loss of more than 1,000 lives. This eyewitness, a sailor named Farmer, escaped because he had been sent up into the rigging to untangle some flags, and thus he was thrown clear when the cruiser was hit.

In the first-ever tank attack, which took place September 28, 1916, the BBC was able to trace and interview the commander of one tank, the driver of another (there were only four tanks involved) and an eyewitness who saw what took place.

In another remarkable coincidence, the BBC found the driver of the first tank to enter the French village of Fiers after the Germans had evacuated it. Clattering along the shell-pocked street, the driver asked his way of a British corporal. Quite independently, other researchers found this corporal.

"The only persons we have not been able to lay hands on," says Essex, "are the women who handed out white feathers to men in civilian clothes during the war. Whether they are ashamed of the part they played, I don't know, but not one of these women has responded to the special appeal we have made for them to come forward."

The BBC is proud that its series has stolen a march on American television by four months. A comparable U. S. series is still in the future.

It is also proud of the objectivity with which "The Great War" has been assembled. "We have tried to avoid giving a British viewpoint of the war," says Essex. "After all, the British contribution up to 1916 was small. It was the French who took the worst beating and suffered the greatest casualties."

School bells are ringing at Southside Elementary School in Sanford at 8:15 a. m. now instead of 8 a. m., according to information The Herald's Clock Winders have received from several sources.

Apparently the majority of members of a recent delegation appearing before a meeting of the Seminole County School Board were persuasive enough to cause school officials to change the hour.

While the delegation was not unanimous in its opinions as to the opening hour, the majority of them objected to school taking in at 8 a. m. because during the winter it would still be dark when some of the children would have to leave home to walk to school. Then, too, these same parents objected to the children having to do many streets which did not have sidewalks and crossings which were not guarded or were without traffic signals.

Mayor Al Wilson publicly paid a 25 cent parking fine Monday, in front of a crowd at the City Commission meeting, saying he wanted everyone to see it. The Mayor said a friend from out of town visiting him here got the ticket and dropped it on his desk telling him, "You're the Mayor - get it fixed."

"I want you all to see how I'm 'fixin' it," quipped the Mayor as he handed the quarter to Chief Roy Williams.

Incidentally, Mayor Wilson makes a very fine chaplain as he leads the invocation at the city commission meetings. He offers up some mighty fine prayers for guidance, (which apparently have little effect on the wrangling that follows.)

Couldn't blame the Zoning and Planning Commission of the city of Sanford if they throw up their hands and quit. They haven't been getting anywhere with their recommendations lately. These men work for free and spend a lot of time trying to work out problems to the best interests of everyone concerned. Commented one City Commissioner - "a man buys a piece of property and then acts in to tell everyone for blocks around what they can or can't do with their property."

Sidelight on an honest observation: At City Commission meeting Monday a motion was made by Commr. Jim Crapps, and a fierce discussion followed for about 20 minutes. Asked Jim of Earl Higginbotham, "Are you going to second my motion?" "No, cause I don't even know what I'm talking about now, and neither does anybody else in this room!" replied Higginbotham.

Question: Which is more to be feared? Mowers, plows and tractors or snakes, alligators and rats?

Mayor Launches City Registration Drive

Mayor A. L. Wilson of Sanford has proclaimed the next two weeks, until Oct. 3 as a "Drive For Registration" period urging all who are eligible to register to vote.

MAYOR A. L. WILSON

The Mayor's proclamation reads in part: "Whereas this is truly a crucial time in the life of our country and . . . it is necessary that all Americans appreciate fully their heritage of freedom and the necessity to rededicate themselves to the preservation of basic American principles. . . . It is important that all Americans make this particular time the occasion to exercise the privilege denied to all but free people and register to vote in the up-coming elections."

Mayor Wilson urged that all eligible to do so exercise that privilege as loyal conscientious citizens. Oct. 3rd is the last day to register before the books are closed, one month before the general elections on Nov. 3rd.

Altamonte Acts On Lot Rezoning

By Julian Stenstrom
 Associate Editor

The subject of spot zoning was booted around like the proverbial football at Wednesday night's meeting of the Altamonte Springs Town Council when it became the center of controversy on two rezoning applications - one for a professional building and the other for a nursery. Nevertheless, the Town Council voted to uphold the recommendation of the Zoning Board that several lots on busy Maitland Avenue be rezoned from R1A to R3 to permit the construction of the professional building to accommodate physicians, dentists, architects and other similar offices.

However, the Council tabled the question of permitting another parcel of property to be rezoned from R1AA to R3 to permit the operation of a children's day nursery.

In other action, County Commissioner James P. Avery, who was not present, was the subject of some criticism from residents of Altamonte Springs because he, as chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, reported that some 300 acres of Altamonte Springs land drained east and through Gee Creek into Lake Jessup.

The subject was brought to the attention of the Council by L. T. Bryan who suggested that Commissioner Avery, in whose district Altamonte Springs is situated, "Familiarize himself with Altamonte Springs' draining problems."

Bryan asked: "I'd like to know what 300 acres of Altamonte Springs drains to the east. I've lived here for 30 years and was once a member of this Council and I know of no area within the town's limits which drains eastwardly."

know, either." No further action was taken. Albert P. Benson appeared before the Council and asked for a letter of apology because a draining ditch was cut across his property without his authorization.

Swofford told Benson that as long as he had lived in Altamonte Springs this land has had a natural drainage ditch. "We had to open the ditch to permit draining of high water," Swofford told Benson and the Council, "and as long as I'm here representing the well-being of the people of this community I'm not about to apologize to anyone for authorizing the ditch to be cleaned out or a new one cut to prevent flooding."

The Council took the matter under advisement.

Baker Cites Experience, City Record

In announcing his candidacy for re-election to the Sanford City Commission, Joe Baker declared today that his decision was based on the conviction that the knowledge, understanding, and experience he has gained in the past six years in this office would be of continuing benefit to the taxpayers, particularly at this time.

Baker, a former mayor and lifelong resident of Sanford, stated that Sanford has made greater advancements in the past several years than at any other comparable period in its history. He explained that a recent revision of the city's long range fiscal program has made it financially feasible for the city to set up new programs of services and improvements with no increase in taxes.

"During my tenure of office," Baker continued, "we also have cooperated fully in

Accommodation Ruled Out For Restaurant

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) - A special three-judge federal panel ruled today the public accommodations section of the Civil Rights Act could not be made apply to a Birmingham restaurant that refused to serve Negroes. It was the first time a federal court has ruled the accommodations section did not apply to any particular business.

The suit brought by "Ollie's Bar Be Que" was not a class action and therefore the ruling could apply only to the one restaurant. Another special federal court earlier in Atlanta upheld the accommodations section as applied to a motel and a restaurant because the court felt they dealt heavily in interstate commerce.

Ollie's contended it was located far from any interstate road and did not cater to transients and therefore the restaurant should not be subject to the civil rights law. The restaurant, owned by Ollie McClung and his son, Ollie Jr., who are white, is located in a Negro neighborhood, but caters to white patrons, except for takeout orders.

The plane crashed last week shortly after takeoff from Sanford Naval Air Station. Two men aboard were killed. It was headed for Kansas to escape hurricane Dora. The plane is in about 12 feet of water. The Navy crew expects to fasten onto the aircraft sometime this afternoon and retrieve the huge plane later today.

"Gladys became better organized and intensified during the night and early morning hours," the Weather Bureau said. "Highest winds are near 125 mph near the center with hurricane-force winds (75

House Action Ups Total To $94 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The House Appropriations Committee today voted just under $1 billion in a final catchall supplemental money bill. It carries funds to crank up President Johnson's anti-poverty, food stamp and mass transit projects.

The appropriation bill will come up in the House Tuesday. It brings to about $94 billion the total funds appropriated by Congress this year. This is about $3.7 billion less than President Johnson requested.

However, much of the apparent saving represents book-keeping transactions that will not save any money. Many members viewed today's money bill as the most hopeful sign yet that the 86th Congress is about to grind to a halt. The final supplemental always is held up until leaders are reasonably sure nothing more will be needed.

The decision to move now with the bill lent support to earlier hints that Johnson's $1 billion Appalachian development program will not be brought to a vote in Congress this year.

Today's bill includes $13 million, as requested, to implement the new civil rights law. Most of the money will go for educational work. Enforcement funds also are provided. A Public Health Service request for $1.9 million to set up a "national clearing house for smoking and health" was turned down for the present. Also passed over "without prejudice" was a request for $5 million to get started on a survey for a new sea level inter-ocean canal.

The committee allowed $750 million of the $647 million sought to put the job corps and other features of the President's anti-poverty bill into operation. About 40,000 youngsters are to be enrolled initially for work and training on public projects reminiscent of the old Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

For food stamps for the needy, the committee allowed the full $60 million requested. With this money, the Agricultural Department will expand its present experimental program to 60 new areas and about 600,000 more needy people by June 30.

Participants will buy at a discount, depending on need, stamps that can be spent at face value at corner grocery stores. Only U. S.-produce foods can be bought. To assist cities in solving their mass transit problems the bill provides $75 million of the $225 million sought for grants and $2.5 million of the $35 million requested for loans. It also estimates $187,500 of the $375,000 estimated as needed for administration costs of the program.

Among other items in the bill was $150,000 to implement a new law tightening rules on securities sales by over-the-counter dealers.

Pain-Killing Drugs Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has begun an investigation into two pain killing drugs that are considered responsible for the death of at least 28 persons. The FDA appointed a special advisory committee to determine whether to take the drugs - amphetamine and diprone - off the market and whether to require that they be labeled with a special warning.
