Coaches Discuss Extra Point Rule

NEW YORK (UPI)—College football coaches are split on the excitement value of the new extra-point rule but in the battle for patronage against the wide-open pro game, they see a return to free substitution and goal posts on the goal line.

Free substitution, as the platoon system, was chopped down on the theory it would reduce the effectiveness of the football factories loaded with manpower. But, as it developed, the smaller schools were hurt more than the major powers.

The rules were eased this year to permit any player to return once in each quarter—instead of merely permitting the return of starting players.

"But some small conferences have made their own rules, permitting free substitution," says Lou Little, "and we will go back to it soon for everybody without a shadow of doubt."

Doesn't like it.

As for the extra-point rule giving one point for a kicked conversion and two points for a run or pass conversion, Huff Dornell, who succeeded Little at Columbia, calls it "a ridiculous rule."

"I don't see where it adds any excitement," he claims. "You still merely have the old question of 'did he make it or not?'"

Bob Taggart, the former Miami center now head coach at Connecticut, can't see all the concern over the extra point.

"We scored six touchdowns last week," he explained. "We kicked one point. We were successful running for two others in five plays. That totals up to five points. That's a good average even if we had tried six kicks."

More Field Goals

Harry Wright, known as "The Horse" in his Notre Dame days and now coach at Kings Point, is one of those who feels the new conversion rule does add excitement for the fans.

"It's also going to put the foot back into football," he analyzed. "Meaning they'll have to bring the goal posts back up to the goal line to give you an added incentive for field goals."

Wright's theory is the field goal becomes a weapon to offset the unbalanced extra-point payoff.

"I know we'll go for the field goal."

goal as quickly as we can," he explained. "If we get down to within 15 yards and it doesn't look as if we can score, we want those three points. Then, if we do score, the heat is off the question of whether we go for one or two on the conversion."

Elsewhere around the circuit, the Baltimore Colts, paced by the pin-point passing of Johnny Unitas, upped the defending world champion Detroit Lions, 28-15; Frank Gifford and Alce Webster scored five touchdowns between them to lead the New York Giants to an easy 31-7 win over the Philadelphia Cardinals. THEY WAITED, IN VAIN—Avid Seminole High gridiron supporters flocked to the sidelines around the goal line Friday night when the Sanford team got as far as the one-yard line. These and other Seminole fans were urging the team on. A five-yard penalty chilled the scoring threat, killed two plays later when a pass was batted down at the goal. (Herald Staff Photo)

Double Talk Of Coaches In Need Of Translation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Quotes you may hear this fall...

"You have a good, scrappy team." (A 52-0 winner congratulating the loser.)

"No, they didn't show us anything we didn't expect." (Coach whose team has just been clobbered by an opponent using two new formations, seven new plays and an unorthodox defense.)

"I know they haven't won a game all year but our scouts say they're dangerous and overdue." (Coach trying to drum up advance sales for an overmatch.)

"No, that wasn't a play I called from the bench." (Coach who sent in a play that lost 23 yards.)

"The muddy field hurt our offense." (Losing coach whose opponents apparently played the same game on a dry field.)

"This is a rough game and my kids just played hard." (Coach whose team has been accused of dirty football.)

"My kids played clean and I wish I could say the same for the other team." (Coach whose kids weren't caught at it.)

"I held him out because I didn't want to risk further injury to a fine lad." (Coach whose star player couldn't have walked across a room.)

"The officiating was excellent." (Winning coach.)

"The officiating was lousy." (Losing coach.)

"I expect a real tough game out there Saturday." (Coach whose team is a 35-point favorite.)

"We'll be in there trying all the way and anything can happen because my kids will be in there trying all the way, and I'm not conceding anything because we'll be in there trying." (Coach whose team is a 25-point underdog.)

"I just hope we can field 11 men." (Coach trying to establish an advance alibi just in case.)

"A key block here, a missed tackle there, and we could have won." (Coach whose team has just lost 45-0.)

"Injuries ruined us." (Coach whose team was picked to win a title and wound up with a 2-8 record.)

"The kids did their best but the coaches made too many mistakes." (Coach who will be awarded a medal the day he says it.)

'Educated Toes' Produce Wins For Browns, 49ers

By JOE VARGAS

No matter how you look at it, the kick is the thing in pro football.

Lou Groza and Gordie Soltau, two of the better booters in the game, put their educated toes to work when they were needed most Sunday as the National Football League teams opened the 1954 season.

Groza, called "The Toe" because of his uncaring cannyness through 13 previous pro campaigns, booted a four-yard "chippy" with only 23 seconds left in the game to provide the Cleveland Browns with an uphill 20-7 victory over the Los Angeles Rams before the day's biggest crowd, 69,995, in L. A.'s Memorial Coliseum.

Soltau, whose kicking prowess through the years has led the San Francisco Forty-Niners to many victories, did a little better although he had a little more time. With the score tied at 20-20, Soltau sailed a 22-yarder over the crossbar with a little less than three minutes remaining to provide the Forty-Niners with a 23-20 win over the Pittsburgh Steelers before the day's second largest crowd, 51,856, in Kerner Stadium.

Three times as the "Big Boy Bears" owned the Green Bay Packers, 34-20, and the Washington Redskins rallied in the final period to down the Philadelphia Eagles, 24-14.

The 1954 season may wind up being the NFL's most successful—attendance-wise, that is.

The league, which has set six straight attendance marks, drew a total of 281,152 fans in six games Sunday, or an average of 43,525 per game. At that rate, and with close division races, it wouldn't take many more fans to beat the 1957 record of 2,863,318.

At Baltimore, the Colts and Lions drew a crowd of 49,377 at Memorial Stadium while at Philadelphia's Franklin Field, the Eagles' new home park, a crowd of 36,853 turned out. The Bears and Packers drew 31,150 at Milwaukee.

The smallest crowd of the day 21,922, turned out for the Giants Cardinals game at Buffalo in the NFL's first opener on a neutral field.

Williams, Ashburn Win Bat Crowns

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

Ted Williams in a walkover and Richie Ashburn in a tight to the field — that's the story of Sunday's grand windups of two of the most exciting tight ball games in big league history.

Williams, the Boston Red Sox 40-year-old super star, was off to one of the slowest starts of his career, wading up with his sixth American League title while Ashburn, the Philadelphia Phillies' spray-balling center fielder, waded off with his second National League crown.

Williams, trying to break the club's 27-year wait for a second title, went 2-for-4, as he finished at 328 and 54 at out league-wide Pete Runnels, 3, who went 10-for-4 Sunday in a 3-for-9 in his last four games to close at 322. Williams' total of 328 points was the first in four games with the 8-runners started Sunday, went 4-for-11 during the week end, recited his magnificent last day 7-for-9, that boosted him to 408 in 1941.

Ashburn, who won his first N.L. title in 1955 with a .328 mark, had three singles in four tries as the Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-4, 10 innings to finish at 350. San Francisco's Willie Mays, starting his career at about the time Ashburn's season was over, needed a 5-for-4 day to beat Richie.

The great San Francisco center fielder gave it all he had with a 3-for-5 day against the Cardinals but that was only good enough for 347. The Giants beat the Cardinals 7-2.

Don Larsen and Tom Sturdivant, two World Series question marks, pitched the New York Yankees to 7-0 and 6-3 victories over the Baltimore Orioles, the Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers, 4-2 and the Chicago White Sox downed the Kansas City Athletics, 11-4 in other A.L. windups. The Cincinnati Reds beat the Milwaukee Braves, 4-0, in the other N.L. finale. Chicago and Los Angeles were idle.

Hurlers Improve, Casey Confident

By MILTON MICHMAN
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)

Casey Stengel, supremely confident now that his Yankee pitching staff is "in tip-top shape again," will name southpaw Whitley Ford today as his starter for Wednesday's World Series opener against the Braves.

Stengel practically upped his mitt Sunday night as to his first game nominee when he said, "Ford has been our very best lately and that's all I'm gonna say for now."

On the verge of his ninth World Series, however, Casey had plenty to say about the rest of his staff. He was especially impressed with Don Larsen and Tom Sturdivant, who were credited with the Yankees' 7-0 and 6-3 doubleheader sweep over the Orioles in the season finale.

"Larsen convinced me he can do anything," Stengel declared after the big right-hander gave up only one hit and one walk while striking out four during his five-inning stint in the opener.

Larsen looked so good, as a matter of fact, that a number of his Yankee teammates felt he may have pitched himself right into a starting assignment for the second Series game.

Sturdivant wasn't quite as effective in the nightcap — he yielded two runs and six hits in six innings but Stengel was satisfied.

"We asked Sturdivant to mix up his pitches purposely so we could see 'em all," Stengel said "and I liked what I saw. Mixed 'em very much."

Larsen and Sturdivant, who were out with injuries the second half of the season, officially were certified as World Series eligibles Sunday. Murry Dickson also was named, while Virgil Trucks was dropped from the list.

Stengel not only was pleased with the work of Larsen and Sturdivant Sunday but also with the fine relief appearances of Ryne Duren and Bobby Shantz. Duren struck out four batters in two innings during the opener and Shantz pitched a pair of hitless frames in the nightcap.

"They both come through fine," Casey beamed. "Remember not so long ago when our pitching staff was shot? Well, I'll stick 'em up with any there is now."

Player Of The Day

—TED WILLIAMS—

Love him or hate him, you're not to admit Ted Williams has the ability to capture the imagination of the sports world.

The 40-year-old Red Sox star did it again this week end as he batted from behind to win his sixth American League batting title with a .328 mark. He went into the final four game series with the Senators trailing teammate Pete Runnels by four points.

Ted went 1-for-11 in the grand window, including 1-for-4 Sunday while Runnels went only 3-for-10 on the week end and 0-for-4 Sunday to finish six points behind Williams.

Won't Give Inch, Nationalists Say

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Nationalist China said today it would defend "every inch" of its territory but would await a revolt against the Chinese Communists before invading the mainland.

"We are realistic," Chinese Ambassador Tsiung Tsiung told the United Nations General Assembly. "We love peace as much as anybody else. We have our fund of common sense."

"It is not our thought that the 30 million people on Taiwan

U. S. Would Urge Troop Withdrawal After Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles indicated today the United States would urge withdrawal of large Chinese Nationalist forces from Quemoy and Matsu if a dependable cease-fire agreement can be reached.

"Dulles' remarks on the offshore islands were made in a news conference at which he also said:

"He would be willing to meet with Red Premier Chou En-lai if there were reason to think it would help settle the Formosa crisis. He doubted the wisdom of such a meeting at this time."

He saw improvement in the Formosa situation over the past two weeks and believed there was less likelihood of war.

He did not believe the Nationalist Chinese would ever be able to return to the mainland under their own steam, as he put it, but he would not rule out the possibility that they might eventually get there as a result of a Hungarian-type revolution in China.

The United States will consider taking the Formosa crisis to the United Nations if the ambassadorial talks in Warsaw tend to break down or if military activity in the area is increased.

Dulles was asked whether it would be sound to work out some withdrawal of the Nationalist forces on Quemoy and Matsu since the United States did not believe the buildup had been particularly wise in the first place.

He replied that this would depend on the circumstances. A withdrawal as a retreat under fire, he said, would not be desirable because of the impact it would have on other countries.

Formosa Successes 'Strengthen' U. S.

WARSAW (UPI)—Recent Nationalist successes in the Formosa Strait have strengthened the hand of U. S. Ambassador Joseph Beam in his cease fire talks with Chinese Communist Ambassador Wang Hsiangnan, observers said today.

There even was Western speculation the Communists' strong stand against the U. S. proposal for a cease fire might be cracking under the combined effect of the Quemoy blockade running and the Nationalist air victories with U. S. Sidewinder air-to-air missiles.

But there was a lack of genuine optimism among Western diplomats, who feared the Sino-American talks might be drifting into the stalemate that marked talks in Geneva between U. S. and Communist representatives.

The U. S. Embassy announced today Wang Beam meeting was being postponed for four hours from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. It referred to the "7th meeting" of the ambassadors, tying the Warsaw talks with the 53 sessions between Wang and U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson in Geneva.

The four-hour delay presumably was to let one ambassador or the other seek further instructions from his home government.

Power Off 2 Hours In Orlando Today

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—A major power failure knocked out electricity throughout Orlando and parts of Winter Park for more than two hours today, causing a traffic snarl, forcing temporary layoffs of several thousand workers and interrupting voting.

The failure struck at 8:47 a. m. during the morning traffic rush, and cars piled up for block after block when the traffic lights went out. Parking "meter maids" were called out to help direct traffic in downtown areas.

The big Martin Aircraft plant took more than 4,000 workers to take the morning off until electricity was restored. Voting machines were temporarily idled, but later switched to manual control for a runoff Democratic primary.

Syd Johnston, director of public relations for the Orlando Utilities Commission, said the failure was caused by a "break switch failure in the main plant substation."

The Civil Air Patrol and Air Force at McCoy Air Force Base rushed emergency power units to hospitals in Winter Park and Orlando. Hospital sources said the failure came while several operations were in progress. Some surgery had to be continued by flashlight.

Baby Suffocated; 10th '58 Victim

A five-month-old Longwood baby, reported as dying in Seminole Memorial Hospital Saturday, was a victim of suffocation, the Seminole County coroner said today.

William Brantley Davies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davies, smothered to death when he became wedged between his mattress and the wall, Coroner Hugh Duncan, said in an official report.

Duncan said the Davies infant was the 10th suffocation victim in Seminole County this year. He called the case "alarming" and said that this county had only one case in "three previous years combined."

According to the official report, the Davies baby became wedged between the wall and the mattress while Mrs. Davies was hanging out clothes Saturday. Duncan said the side of the baby's head next to the wall had been lowered and that the child had rolled against the wall.

He said Mrs. Davies believed her son to be asleep, but found him to be dead when she finished her washing. The child was carried to the hospital here, but efforts to revive him were unsuccessful.

Duncan said the 10 cases of suffocation in the county since Jan. 15 were the result, to a great degree, of infants becoming entangled in bed coverings. In some cases, he added, the victims had been found under pillows.

In the Davies case, Duncan said the child's nose and mouth had become wedged against the mattress, cutting off his breathing. The child was unable to turn his head because of the position against the wall, he added.

"The 10 deaths in this county should serve as a warning to parents to exercise more caution," Duncan said. "This is a heart-breaking experience. If children are covered in the bed, it should be tucked firmly to prevent such accidents. Pillows should not be used."

Birds Halt Subway

NEW YORK (UPI)—Subway service was for the birds Monday. Thousands of tree swallows, heading south, stopped off at subway tracks in Queens, causing trains to be late.

The big howlers were delivered by U. S. Navy jets and were brought from Oklahoma because the Nationalist's smaller and less accurate 105 and 155 millimeter artillery was no match for the radar-controlled Red artillery, but there were no American casualties.

The eight-inchers scored one of their first Quemoy victories on Sept. 26 when they blew up a Communist ammunition dump atop one of the narrow necks of water separating the Quemoy Island complex from Red territory.

Pilots Here Today As Plans Changed

The big "welcome home" ceremonies planned tomorrow opening by seated pilots have been called off. The Navy crews arrived this afternoon.

Local NAS pilots who had been aboard the USS Saratoga for the past nine months were scheduled to arrive tomorrow at 1 p. m. A change in plans brought them home at 2 p. m. today.

Ceremonies which could be rescheduled were held at the base this afternoon.

Those arriving in Mayport on the Saratoga are expected about 6:30 p. m. tomorrow. They will be met by police escort at the city limits and taken to their barracks.

Legal Experts Predicting Desegregation Speed-Up

Hillsborough Told To Desegregate Or Face Court Action

TAMPA (UPI)—The local branch of the NAACP warned today unless the Hillsborough County School Board takes steps toward ending segregation in public schools, it would initiate court action.

The NAACP took the stand in a letter to County Schools Supt. J. Crockett Farrell. The letter was signed by James Johnson, secretary of the Tampa branch of the Negro organization.

Johnson's letter said that the NAACP had received complaints from the Negroes seeking school integration and that the NAACP had passed on the complaints to the county school board.

"As of this date," the letter said, "the Hillsborough County School Board has made no effort to comply with the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court and its interpretation of the U. S. Constitution."

If the board does not initiate steps to integrate the schools, the letter said, the NAACP will "seek other means of ending the racial discrimination that does exist in the Hillsborough County school system."

The NAACP said it does not "go around looking for plaintiffs" and does not try to "stir up litigation." But it warned that school officials begin action, it would have to come to the aid of those Negroes who have complained.

U. S. Government Closes Embattled Central High

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—The U. S. government today closed Little Rock's four high schools, closed since Sept. 2 in the integration controversy, at 8 a. m. today.

But the U. S. 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals intervened Monday and ordered the school board not to transfer the buildings to the corporation.

Raney did not finally announce until this morning that the schools would not open as planned. The reopened Little Rock School Board announced it Monday night.

"Through the concerted efforts of the government of the United States and the N. A. A. C. P., the Little Rock Private School Corp. has now been enjoined and prohibited from operating Central High, Hill High, Technical High and Horace Mann High," Raney read from a prepared statement.

"The closing of our senior high schools is now the full responsibility of the federal government and the N. A. A. C. P. It is quite evident that they are ready to sacrifice the educational opportunities for 4,000 students to satisfy their consuming desire to mix the races in our school, public or private."

He read the statement in his office and also in front of Central, where it was raining briskly. About a dozen students listened. As soon as he finished, they all ran for cover from the weather.

Mixed Schools, Or No Schools At All, Southerners Told

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Top administration legal experts said today the Supreme Court's strong integration stand should hasten school desegregation in the South by knocking out many legal delaying moves.

There was no attempt to minimize the long uphill road desegregation still faces in many southern states, nor the bitter resistance that will be put up by many southern officials and private citizens.

Schools that are not integrated now will not necessarily be integrated in a day, a week or even by next year.

But a high-ranking Justice Department official told United Press International, the court's stern pronouncement serves as notice on segregation backers that all efforts, direct or indirect, to nullify the tribunal's desegregation edict will wind up in the legal waste basket.

Schemes Won't Work

He said the court now has made it crystal clear to southern states their ultimate choice is between integrated public schools or no schools with any kind of public support — financial or otherwise.

The only remaining alternative, he said, would be truly private schools and these, he said, would mean education only for the rich.

"We've passed that stage in this country," said the official, who asked he not be quoted by name. The main effect of Monday's opinion, in the eyes of government lawyers, was to knock out all or almost all laws passed by southern states in efforts to doge school integration.

Legal experts said just about the only recourse left open to southern states seeking to avert integration now is to abolish their public school systems altogether.

Race Riots Flare Among Teen-Agers At Jersey Games

PATERSON, N. J. (UPI)—Race riots involving 50 to 100 teen-agers and adults broke out twice at a high school football game Monday.

The violence, at first stopped by a football coach, erupted again on the playing field of the Hauerle Stadium near Paterson. Eastside High School, resulting in the hospitalization of a policeman and the arrest of three Negro youths.

The riot was the second flare-up of racial tension in three days at New Jersey high school football games.

The brawl first broke out between a group of white boys and some Negro youths during the third quarter of the Eastside-Kearny game, police said. Eastside Coach Art Jocher managed to subdue the fighters, and the game resumed.

Twenty-five policemen announced to the scene at the field. Signs of violence started parading the playing field and the bleachers. A 16-year-old Negro, whose name was not disclosed, allegedly yelled an insult at one of the policemen.

While the officer was talking with the youth, he was struck by a stone thrown by a Negro youth and the riot broke out again.

The other recent conflict occurred Friday night in Atlantic City, when a local high school team met Emer High of Union City. The fight broke out between white and Negro students in the grandstands between the halves.

That scrap was broken up, but after the game, gangs of students engaged in fights throughout the stadium area.

Low Vote Expected In Florida Today

MIAMI (UPI)—Florida voters went to the polls today in a second primary with the political spotlight on local elections and a bitter fight for the remaining seat on the state Railroad and Public Utilities Commission.

In the only statewide election, incumbent Jerry Carter, the self-styled "cheap politician," faces challenger Jim Blanton of St. Augustine.

Secretary of State R. A. Gray predicted a small turnout of less than 500,000, not even one third of the total registration of 1,600,000.

Carter led Blanton by 100,000 votes in the first primary Sept. 9, when two other candidates were eliminated. One of the defeated by the Seminole Bowlers Club for the convenience of football fans who wish to attend the Sanford-Seminole-Fort Myers High School football game, Oct. 17.

Round trip fare for the football special is $6.25. The train will be loaded on a siding at French Ave. and Sixth Street in Sanford. A receipt from the Seminole High School office will entitle persons to passage. Interested persons may call PA 2-4352.

Friday Deadline For Grid Special

Andrew Bracken, principal of Seminole High School, today said the deadline for reservations of the special football train to Fort Myers has been set for Friday.

Bracken said that 325 reservations must be paid for on that date so that the train may be chartered. The train trip is being sponsored by the Seminole Bowlers Club for the convenience of football fans who wish to attend the Sanford-Seminole-Fort Myers High School football game, Oct. 17.

Big Guns Delivered By J. S. Marines

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—United States Marines landed on Quemoy with eight-inch howitzers and turned them over to Nationalist Chinese artillerymen, according to sources in Taipei said today.

The sources said the Marines landed the self-propelled eight-inchers at night about 10 days ago and set them in position where Nationalist gunners could rely to fire artillery that has pounded the quomoy since Aug. 23.

Drady Accurate

The American-supplied weapons, described as deadly accurate and with a range sufficient to hit any of the Communist gun emplacements shelling Quemoy, were installed during a barrage by the radar-controlled Red artillery, but there were no American casualties.

The big howitzers were delivered by U. S. Navy jets and were brought from Oklahoma because the Nationalist's smaller and less accurate 105 and 155 millimeter artillery was no match for the radar-controlled Red artillery, but there were no American casualties.

Navy Hunts Plane Off Florida Keys

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—The Navy searched today for a missing "submarine hunter" plane with 10 men aboard, feared to have crashed in the sea off the Florida Keys.

Cmdr James J. Rumford, operations officer at Key West Naval Air Station, said there had been no word from the long overdue plane since 3:30 p. m. Oct. 1, Monday.

The plane was due to return from a routine training flight at 6:30 p. m. Rumford said it had only enough fuel to last two and one-half hours after that time.

Navy officers said the plane was a P-2V, a two-engine craft sent only the day before. It was to have started its training in anti-submarine warfare today.

The names and ranks of the 10 men aboard the plane were withheld pending the outcome of the search. Rumford said all were veteran fliers and well trained.

Con Tries To 'Beat Rock,' Guards Prowl Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Sixty houses on the southeast side of the island.

The search had been going on for about an hour when a sharp-eyed crewman of a Coast Guard patrol boat spotted Johnson.

He was standing just offshore, up to his waist in the chill waters on the west side of the island. Through chattering teeth, he said: "We made a good try and it just didn't work."

Sorry He tried

Blue with cold, he was hustled to the warden's office. When he came face to face with Latimer, Johnson said:

"Sorry I let you down. I wish I hadn't done it."

Latimer gave him a stern glance but said nothing.

The search continued for Baygett. The guards were matched in pairs to search the caves and rocky recesses along the island shores. One guard in each team carried a carbine or revolver to cover the second man, who walked ahead unarmed. This was to prevent the missing man from jumping an armed guard and jabbing a gun.

Home Society Sets Luncheon Oct. 7

The Children's Home Society of Florida will hold a get acquainted luncheon Oct. 7 at 12:15 p. m. at Jim Spencer's Restaurant here.

Members of the sponsoring committee and directors of the Society in Seminole County will be present. The organization is one of the participating agencies in the Seminole County United Fund. Local citizens invited to attend the luncheon will have an opportunity to become acquainted with the services of the Society in Seminole County and other counties in Florida.

Holland Chase and Roy Heller are Seminole County directors on the State Board.

Two More Qualify For City Election

Two more candidates today qualified for the Sanford City Commission post to be filled in the Nov. 4 election.

Filing papers this morning were Willie Kirtley, who is associated with his father, F. H. Kirtley, in K&W Fruit Co., and Roger Harris, a school teacher.

Five other candidates previously qualified for the seat now held by David Gatchell, recently elected to the County Commission.

Odors Sail Into Kitchen, 'Backyard Chef' In Court

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two neighbors were at odds today over the odorous effects of outdoor barbecue cookery — a situation fraught with implications for all of suburbia.

Walter Johnson of nearby Marlow Heights, Md., swore out a warrant against Anthony J. Vasco, charging him with "jeopardizing the life and health" of Johnson with the odors from a portable barbecue grill.

Johnson was incensed by the smells wafted to his nostrils by Vasco's backyard "chefery." The Johnsons and Vascos live closely in "connected" semi-detached houses on a plot of ground 10 feet wide and 10 feet deep.

Johnson is an Internal Revenue Service agent and Vasco is a cataloging supervisor with the office of the secretary of defense.

Johnson and his wife obtained Monday that Vasco was a "public nuisance" who torments them by cooking food with exotic, but smelly, seasoning on the grill in his patio.

The wind, they said, blows the fumes to the Johnson kitchen through their back door — upsetting their own efforts to eat.

"Sometimes the Vascos have three or four or two and have been going at once out there," Johnson said.

Mrs. Vasco offered her husband's culinary alibi, saying he cooks only the normal grill-type food such as steaks, chops, hamburger and hot dogs. She denies any attempt was made to smoke out the Johnsons.

The Vascos were called into court to post $30 cash on a $500 bond pending a hearing in Hyattsville, Md., Police Court Oct. 8.

Women State Home Dreams In Contest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It takes more than a heap of living to make a house a home.

The ladies all seem to agree on one thing, the more built-in, the better. The "family room" has become a "must" with a fireplace, hi fi, TV, bookshelves and card tables.

The National Association of Homebuilders solicited their views in an essay contest and it got back some dreamy responses. The winners, nearly 100 will at last have their wish.

Cabinets, Shelves, Counters, Mrs. Claire Bouton, Birmingham, Ala. essay winner, said she would like to have "low cabinets, transparent shelves, lighted counters, a dishwasher, disposal, transfer bins with measuring handles, a self-defrosting refrigerator and a low luminous toilet" for her youngsters.

Standing in the receiving line were Reverend and Mrs. Pilley and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knight, clerk of the session. Mrs. A. E. Kemp and Mrs. Morris Steiner, sent the guest book and the Reverend and Mrs. J. M. Thompson received guests at the door. Others assisting were Mrs. Arthur Alving, Mrs. Bill Cook, Adelle Alving, Judie Tomble, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Anderson, H. M. Gilson and Mrs. James Barham.

Mrs. Dorothy Ventreuil of Rochester, Minn. wants a V-type of kitchen "for greater compactness and minimum amount of steps." A counter-top built-in stove and an oven with a rotisserie. She may have in light it out at the convention with Mrs. Margaret A. Kotak of Sacramento, Calif. who save a U shaped kitchen is ideal to cut the traffic.

Guests called during the afternoon to wish the Pilley success.

Mrs. Violet Cingulgrano of Metairie, La., seemed to be speaking for all the housewives when she made a pitch for a big kitchen to be used as a gathering place for the clan.

Longwood Planning 'Our Town' Analysis

The Longwood Chamber of Commerce has chosen a most appropriate topic for its next meeting, scheduled for Oct. 9.

Subject for discussion when the group meets in City Park will be "Our Town."

According to advance notice about the meeting, the main object of a panel discussion will be to acquaint various local organizations with common problems and how cooperation can solve these problems. New residents will have an opportunity to hear about the progress of Longwood.

Officials said that the meeting would be a self-analysis, made by officials of all civic groups and the Longwood Town Council. The idea is to stimulate community leaders to seek new industry, improve schools, provide better playgrounds and, in general, improve the community.

This type of meeting is needed in most communities today. Due to the modern pace of living, too few people take an active interest in government. This is not the fault, entirely, of people, although many, many more could participate. Often officials conduct business on a day-to-day basis, making it impossible for many to participate.

The Longwood Chamber of Commerce is bringing together the president of the Civic League, the president of the Home Demonstration Club, chairman of the Town Council, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, president of the Citizens League and the president of the Longwood Area Chamber of Commerce. This will be the panel.

If this group has the success the Citizens League enjoyed in City Park recently at a political meeting, Longwood might consider moving all of its town and civic meetings to the park. It was at the political rally that Longwood citizens began to get together and work toward coordination of all groups interested in the betterment of Longwood.

Welcome Home, Navy

The principal detachment from the Sanford Naval Air Station recently deployed in the Mediterranean was scheduled to arrive today. To you who are returning, and to those who arrived last week, welcome home.

These men were sent to the Mediterranean when strife broke out in Lebanon. Their duties were to "watch and wait." Fortunately, the services for which they are known best were not needed.

Some from Sanford who went to the Mediterranean are not coming home just yet. They have been deployed to the Formosa Straits. Again, Sanford's "Savage Sons" are on a stand-by basis.

We hope that they, too, soon will be returning to the local air station. Again, we say "Welcome Home."

Lady Fights For Bus

We like the spirit of the little old lady in Genoa, Ill., who wants to keep her Greyhound Bus service, no matter the cost.

To the more callous, Mrs. Holtman might appear "stiff" to offer $5,000 and a deed to her farm in an effort to keep the bus running past her door.

With this money, Mrs. Holtman could buy a car and hire a chauffeur. Or, she could accept the offers of some who would move into her farm home and do the driving for her.

Mrs. Holtman, a widow, said the bus is more than just a means of transportation. It is a thing of beauty, a "silver streak" which has become an important part of her daily life.

This is more important in her life than money. As Mrs. Holtman said, she doesn't have too many years remaining. She would like to retain her bus because it is a sentimental attachment and it breaks the monotony twice-a-day.

LEST OLD ACQUAINTANCE BE FORGOT

Washington See-Saw

FACE THE TRUTH—Is there something wrong with America? If so, what is it? Where does the fault lie? Why do we find ourselves with so many overwhelming problems—domestic and foreign?

Senator George Smathers tried to put his finger on the trouble recently in a speech in Pickens, S. C. It is a speech that every thinking American should read. In it he calls all of us to task for failing to carry on the great American tradition of self-reliance.

Scene of his talk was a picnic given in honor of Bobby Baker, of Pickens, Baker, 29 years old, is secretary of Senate Majority. He is Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson's right hand man. He was named not long ago by Esquire Magazine as one of the outstanding young men in America. Senator Smathers was guest speaker at the picnic and after pointing out how Baker had worked his way up to this top position, he went on to decry the lack of this kind of ambition among so many Americans today.

Among other things, Senator Smathers said: "Americans are seeking security more than we are seeking strength. We must face up to the fact our nation is the leader of the free world. Our people have tried to close their eyes to the harsh realities of our foreign and domestic problems."

"Today we all want more money, more leisure, more security. We would like to have much less trouble, much less work and much less responsibility. For the past half-century we have been practicing a kind of self-hypnosis. We've wanted to believe that we could fulfill all our obligations and all our commitments, without sacrificing an ounce of comfort. Worst of all, the government has been an instrument of the people in all of this."

"We wanted a perfect defense. But we wanted it cheaply. And so, in line with our desires, the administration devised the policy of 'more bang for a buck'—that is to say, the policy of 'massive retaliation'—that is to say, the policy of not war but total war."

Senator Smathers said that while we were stockpiling H-bombs, and "putting chrome on our cars," the Russians went all out and built ballistic missiles and took the lead away from us.

"We have had a foreign policy," he said, "based on money and the foreign policy has not worked. As individuals we shrank from the task of giving much thought of expressing much concern over our nation's foreign program, and justified the action by saying 'look at all the money we are putting out.' Suddenly we are waking to the stark fact that this financial sacrifice is not enough."

"On all sides and on every front we are being challenged by the Soviet Union. And the hard truth is that we are not meeting the challenge. We have lost some of the thrust that carried us from sea to sea. We have lost the spirit of adventure and self-reliance."

"More and more of us are content to be faces in the crowd or behind the desk in the air conditioned office of some corporate giant."

"We're obsessed with the easy life and a dollar down and a dollar a week. We lust after the big money on TV quiz shows. We're dazzled by the glitter in the show-room window. Our country can be saved by our own individual acts or it can be lost by an unwillingness to make sacrifices. I think we are on the threshold of either real greatness or a start toward complete failure as a nation, and I don't think we have a lot of time to determine which way we are going."

Jet Trainer So Realistic United Pilots Become Ill

DENVER (UPI)—United Airlines has begun training pilots for jet operations with a million dollar simulator so realistic it can make occupants sick.

The 26-ton training aid, built by Link Aviation, Inc., Birmingham, N.Y., duplicates the cockpit of the giant Douglas DC-8 jetliner which United will put into scheduled service in the fall of 1959.

But it does more than merely duplicate controls and instruments.

Its motion is so real that a technician testing it recently became sick.

And it is the first simulator to provide crews with a visual view of an airport runway. Its predecessors operate purely on instruments, limiting the "flight" to no longer than 200 feet.

Link achieved this visual gimmick by hooking the simulator cockpit to a closed circuit television camera. The camera, in a separate building, is mounted on a long rail. The "runway" is actually a panoramic painting on a wall adjacent to the track. The camera moves back and forth from the wall as the simulator climbs and descends. It moves down the wall as the simulator takes off or lands. The picture on the screen picks up as it moves down the track is flashed back to a screen in front of the simulator cockpit.

Reporter Took Flight

This reporter sat in the cockpit's seat of the simulator during a demonstration "flight." He watched the runway slip by, slowly at first and then faster as the DC-8 hit takeoff speed of 120 knots (the camera is geared to move at what would be the actual landing and take off speeds of a real DC-8). As the pilot hauled back on the controls, the runway fell off below. Ahead was a mountain range in painting on the wall at the end of the track. As the simulator cleared the range, the picture went black.

"We're now in a theoretical overcast," the training instructor explained. "When we come back into our approach pattern, we'll have the overcast and you'll see the terrain leading to the runway."

He banked and started his approach. In front of the cockpit ap-

The drums will beat this week for the Chamber of Commerce membership drive. Between the golden voice of Clifford McKibbin and the infectious laugh of Mack Cleveland, donations should pour into the fund.

Not too many years ago, many of us considered a Chamber of Commerce an information booth where new residents found places to live and learned about the area. They sent out folders and spent hours stuffing envelopes.

These are still done, although the Jaycees have the information booth. The chamber is the hub of activity in most counties. All year long this organization promotes the home front.

In Seminole County during the past year, the Chamber worked and secured and appropriation for the Naval Air Station. The year before it won the battle just to keep the station here.

New industry was located in Sanford through Chamber efforts and cooperation. This takes fast talking, entertainment, transportation and a lot of time. But last year five companies picked our county.

The list is long and varied as far as the Sanford-Titusville Canal is concerned. But opposition is weakening, because the local Chamber of Commerce has presented the case in such a forceful manner.

Alignment of the new interstate highway was changed to benefit Seminole County property owners. The widening and building of old and new roads was supported in regular meetings. This will even-

LAKE MARY—Kathy Rugenstein was the "birthday girl" at Happy Morning Kindergarten last week. Her mother served ice cream and cake (decorated with tiny dancing dollars) to Kathy's playmates. She was assisted in serving by Kathy's little sister Betsy.

Mrs. A. Toro and son Jimmy Brooks of Jacksonville are visiting her brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Burke for a few days. Also a guest at the Burke home recently was her sister Mrs. A. Faulk. Last week the Burkes entertained at dinner. Other guests were Mrs. Della Campbell, Waycross, Mrs. Russell Haron and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wides and son Jerry of Sanford. Over the weekend Mrs. H. Bullard and Mrs. Frank Minshew accompanied Mrs. Pavik back to Atlanta.

The St. High Westminster Fellowship of the Community Presbyterian Church held the initial get-together recently. The group, their leaders and the Rev. John Piley spent Sunday afternoon at New Smyrna. The W. F. of the Lake Mary and Upsala joined in the activities of this first of many such outings. The Rev. Piley said everyone had a wonderful time and from the reports of the 29 teenagers that attended, the trip was a success. This group meets each Sunday evening in the Church at 7:30 for the W. F. meeting.

The Jr. Class of the Community Presbyterian Sunday School held an outing Saturday at Sanlando. This Junior High group will meet at the church each Sunday evening at 6:30 for Westminster Fellowship.

The Jr. Choir for boys and girls from the fifth grade and up are meeting each Tuesday afternoon at 4:15 at the church.

Had a nice visit this week with Mrs. Bill Faulk, General Chairman of the Pink Ladies Card Party. To be held in the Sanford Civic Center October 18. The hours in the afternoon will be 1:30 and the evening, 8:12. Mrs. Faulk has so much enthusiasm it is easy for some of it to rub off on you. The ladies are striving to buy 2 children's and one adult wheel chair for the hospital.

Reservations must be made in advance. Lake Mary area people may call Mrs. Faulk at FA 24294.

The Executive Board of the PWK has changed its meeting date from the first Tuesday of each month to the first Wednesday.

The local P. T. A. had nine at the recent school of instruction in Sanford. Those who attended learned many worthwhile things to bring back to the group. In this group were Mrs. Maxine Hopkins, Mrs. Cliff Nelson, Mrs. Otis Sjoblom, Mrs. Ted Brooklyn, Mrs. Roland Goble, Mrs. M. Donaldson, Mrs. John Leach, Mrs. Fay Roberts and Mrs. Don Coleman.

Saturday our son Craig celebrated his seventh birthday. He invited all the boys in his second grade room and his cousins for a space party. The kindergarten room was decorated with blue star paper. Space snacks were served in flying saucers. The cake was topped with a satellite and four space men. Friday afternoon Mrs. Rust line, second grade teacher, helped Craig serve cake to classmates during the milk break. All in all Craig thought he had a "pretty swell" birthday.

Spahn Faces Ford In Opener

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The two best lefthanded pitchers in baseball were matched for a World Series renewal Wednesday with the "country hick" Milwaukee Braves out to prove their victory over the "city slicker" New York Yankees last year was no one-shot wonder.

There was plenty of joy in "Bushtville" when the word came from manager Fred Hanev of the Braves that he would lead off with his 22-year-old pitcher, Warren Spahn, the only southpaw who has won 29 games nine seasons.

He'll face the "Ice Man" of the Yankees, Whitey Ford, when the two major league pennant winners square up at 1 p. m. e.s.t. Wednesday in this baseball madmen's way it was last year, too, and although Ford won, 3-1, the Braves came back to win the series in seven games.

This time the Braves and their fans, who don't regard the Yankees as highly as they did last year, figure "Spahn" will do the trick. If he doesn't, there's always Lew Burdette, who beat the Yankees three times in 1957 and who was chosen by Hanev to start the second game on Thursday.

There was ample evidence the "Country boys" no longer feared the proud and mighty Yankees. The Braves and their followers laughed at the odds which made the New Yorkers 13-10 favorites to win the Series.

But they weren't laughing at that "Bushtville" label any more. "We're on top now. Let them knock us down, if they can," was the way shortstop Johnny Logan summed up the sentiment.

Little Nervous, Whitey Admits

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Big and small alike, they will get "a few butterflies in their belly" for that first World Series game, insists Whitey Ford, who is primed to pitch in his 10th Series contest Wednesday.

"Right now, I'm not the least bit nervous," grinned the veteran Yankee lefthander. "But I know I'll be a little on edge when I wake up tomorrow."

If a cool customer like Ford admits to being caught in the Series excitement, it's a cinch other less seasoned performers must feel the tension, too.

"You never really get to be an old-hand at playing in the World Series," Ford commented, "no matter how many of them you've had. There's something special about the general atmosphere, the crowd and the prize at stake."

Ford has pitched 81 2/3 innings of World Series competition—more than anyone else on either the Yankees or Braves' staff. He has won five Series games and lost three and owns an earned run average of 2.48.

Sidelined during most of August and part of September because of arm trouble, Ford says he's in excellent shape now.

In his last start—against the Baltimore Orioles last Friday—he struck out six, gave up only one hit and didn't walk a man in six innings.

"My control was as good in that game as it was all year," he said. "I've been faster and there were days when I had a better curve ball, but on the whole I was well satisfied. If I pitch that well tomorrow, I'll have no complaints."

Hemus, Smith Get Managerial Posts

UPI Press International

Major Smith and infielder Solly Hemus, teammates at Philadelphia this year, will be directing squads from opposite dugouts in the 1959 National League race.

Smith, hired as manager of the Phillies in July, regained his major league membership late Monday when he signed a one-year contract as boss-man of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Hemus, who played under Smith during the first half of the 1958 season, accepted the stewardship of the St. Louis Cardinals hours earlier and will launch the 1959 season as the majors' only player-manager.

In another major league development, the Kansas City Athletics signed manager Harry Wright for the 1959 season at a "reasonable" increase in salary.

Lost in the shuffle were Jimmy Dykes and Stan Hack. Dykes succeeded Birdie Tebbets as the Redlegs' pilot in early August and batted them from last to fourth place. Hack replaced Fred Hutchinson as manager of the Cardinals with less than two weeks of the season remaining.

Lyman Stages Rally To Gain 7-7 Draw

HASTINGS—Lyman High full-back Keith Tennant split the night with a perfect placement here Friday night to give the Greyhounds a 7-7 tie with favored Hastings.

Moments before Tennant's kick, quarterback Mike Brown poked over from one yard to clinch a 55-yard march to three plays.

Trailing Hastings by seven points in the last six minutes of play, Brown got the Greyhounds moving with a 19-yard pass to end Bob Everidge. He then ran 25 yards to the one before he was caught from behind. Brown put the Greyhounds into the scoring column on the next play.

Hastings scored its 14 on a 30-yard pass play, Parker to Bartell. The seventh point came on a two-yard plunge by Bartell.

Mays Has Chance At MVP Award

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants opened and closed the 1958 season at about the same dazzling pace, and even though he didn't win the National League batting title he may wind up with the circuit's most valuable player award.

Willie batted .345 at a .402 clip during May and wound up in a tie with Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals for the first N.L. player of the month award. After a summer-long slump, Mays lapped away at an even hotter .445 pace in September to win the season's last monthly award.

The closing bats, gave the versatile Giants' center fielder a season batting mark of .341, but he lost out in the batting race to Philadelphia Phillies center fielder Richie Ashburn, who finished with a .350 average. However, Mays out-hit Ashburn by 59 points in September, collecting 43 hits in 99 at bats.

As a result, he won the September award by a wide margin in the poll of 27 sports writers and broadcasters who cover the National League clubs regularly.

Mays received 19 votes, while Bob Friend of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who won five games during the month without a loss, got six and Ashburn tied with Jerry Lyon of the Cincinnati Redlegs and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs with three each.

Yankees Buy Five

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees have purchased pitchers Ed Dick, Jim Broustad and Pudge Serritt and shortstop Cleto Poyer from Richmond of the International League and pitcher John Gabeler from Denver of the American Association.

Title Was Accurate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Y. A. Title, San Francisco Forty-Niner quarterback who was voted "pro football player" of 1957 in the annual United Press International poll, began the 1958 season with 1,405 completions in 2,553 pass attempts for 18,139 yards and 122 touchdowns in 10 campaigns.

Sooners Top Grid Poll; Spartans In Second Spot

NEW YORK (UPI) Oklahoma's prairie powerhouse, shooting for its third national college football championship within four seasons, took over the No. 1 spot in the United Press International ratings today with Michigan State second.

Ohio State's defending national champions, last week's leaders, dropped to third and Auburn was fourth in a close vote. Only 64 points separated the top four teams in the balloting by the 35 outstanding coaches who comprise the UPI rating board.

Army, Notre Dame, Wisconsin, Iowa, Pittsburgh and Mississippi rounded out the top 10 in that order. The select group thus included four Big Ten teams.

Oklahoma, which displayed a new "pro-type" offense in its impressive 47-14 season-opening victory over West Virginia, was the No. 1 choice of 13 coaches. Michigan State attracted five first-place votes, Ohio State had six, Auburn, three, Army four, while one each went to Notre Dame, Iowa, Oregon and Wake Forest. Oregon and Wake Forest were tied for the No. 19 ranking.

In points—distributed on a 100-87.5-43.2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th place—Oklahoma had 290, Michigan State 248, Ohio State 243 and Auburn 228. Army beat out Notre Dame for the No. 3 rating, 166 points to 157; Wisconsin was seventh with 118 points.

In other leading games next week end, Michigan State takes in 15th-ranked Michigan; Notre Dame meets 11th-ranked Southern Methodist; Ohio State plays Washington (tied for 23rd place) and Army meets Penn State.

Purdue headed this week's second 25 group, followed by Navy, Clemson and Mississippi State. Michigan and Texas were tied for 15th place; Southern Methodist and Louisiana State tied for 17th; and Oregon, Southern California and Wake Forest tied for 19th.

Baylor, Washington, College of Pacific, Houston, Colorado, Kentucky, Texas Christian, Pac. State and Syracuse were others among the 30 teams which received votes this week.

Sugar Ray Loses Bout, As Manager

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sugar Ray Robinson protested slugging Jose Torres' latest victory today, but Cos D'Amato proclaimed the young Puerto Rican middleweight "a potential champion."

Torres, 22, registered his sixth straight professional triumph Monday night on a fifth-round technical knockout over Otis Woodard of New York before a near-sellout crowd of 3,216 at St. Nicholas Arena.

Middleweight champion Robinson was in Woodard's corner. D'Amato, manager of heavy-weight champion Floyd Patterson and young Torres, was at the ringside. Torres and Woodard each weighed 160 pounds.

Dr. Samuel Sweetik examined Woodard in his corner before the bell could ring to start the sixth round. The doctor asked referee Patsy Della to stop the bout because Woodard "can't know where he is. He can't answer my questions. He's befuddled."

Sugar Ray protested angrily to the doctor in the ring: "He's all right! He's all right! Let him fight!"

Enos Slaughter Whipped Illness To Gain Stardom

NEW YORK (UPI)—The young man was in agony. There were abscesses under his arms which made it torture to swing a bat or throw a ball. Chills and fever racked his body.

Six weeks earlier, while rabbit hunting with his father, they had been scratched by a bear. They got their rabbits and tularemia-rabbit fever.

Eleven days later his father was dead and doctors advised him to forget all about baseball.

But the young man had a poor rookie season the year before and, hiding his sickness, he reported less than a month later to the spring training camp of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The All-Out Try

That was in 1939. And nobody knew until years later how Enos (Country) Slaughter conquered a serious sickness as well as the sophomore jinx as he batted a resounding .320 and led the league in doubles.

That's the same Country Slaughter who three years after that harrowing spring led the Cardinals into one World Series and in 1946 wrapped up another for them by romping all the way home from first base on a single.

The same Country Slaughter—now 42 and still giving it that all-out try—who will be one of the New York Yankees' bench weapons when they go into the World Series against the Milwaukee Braves tomorrow.

For generations, people have depended on pharmacists to supply them with medicines and health-aids, or required knowledge of objects against improper use.

Unfortunately, a desire for greater profits is influencing supermarkets, variety stores, and even door-to-door salesmen to sell medicines and health-aids, spite their lack of knowledge.

Since the prices we armacists charge are the same, your choice to cure all medicines and health-aids from us is safe. Without that business, which helps reduce overhead costs, all drug stores would have to increase prescription prices.

Yanks Have Edge In Bench Strength

NEW YORK (UPI)—Manager Casey Stengel's stronger bench and the versatility of several of his players give the New York Yankees a definite edge over the Milwaukee Braves for the World Series.

Baseball men generally agree there is not a defensive weakness in the Yankee lineup. Although the Braves' defense is rated "good," it does not measure up to the Yankees', especially at first base and in the two outfield spots where Bill Bruton and Wes Covington are playing on gimpy knees.

The one position where Milwaukee may be rated stronger is at shortstop, where the experienced Johnny Logan must get the call over young Tony Kubek, but even there the difference is not too big.

Advantage Important

It is on the bench and in the matter of versatility of certain key players where the Yankees maintain a decided advantage.

And this is especially important to Stengel for his pinch-hitting strategy and lineup manipulations. Gil McDougald, for example, has played second, third and short within recent seasons and was rated by rival managers as the best defensive player in the American League at each position. Eifon Howard plays outfield and catcher; so did Yogi Berra this season; Kubek is at home in the infield and outfield; and Bobby Richardson can play second base and third.

The remarkable thing about it is that Stengel can make these fielding switches without hurting his defense the least bit.

Has Big Edge

In evaluating the rival outfields, right fielders Hank Bauer and Hank Aaron are rated about even. Mickey Mantle has a big edge, particularly in throwing, over Bill Bruton, who is not as fast as he was before an off-season knee operation. And in left, steady Norm Siebern can cover more ground in expansive Yankee Stadium than Covington, whose ailing knees must be operated on after the season ends.

The Yankee supremacy is just as clear-cut in the infield. Conceding Logan over Kubek at short, New York must be favored at the three other starting positions—if Joe Adcock is the Milwaukee first baseman, Bill Skowron, although he won't make anyone forget Hal Chase, is far more agile than Adcock. However, Frank Torre, the Braves' reserve first baseman, is the best "glove man" of the three.

Better Bench Strength

At third, Andy Carey is steadier defensively than Ed Matthews. Red Schoendienst at second is an "old pro" who knows how to play the hitters, but he has been hobbled by injuries this season and does not have as strong a throwing arm from deep positions as does McDougald.

Behind the plate, there is not much to choose defensively among Berra, Howard and Del Crandall. The most highly-regarded receiver in the Series dugouts will be 35-year-old Iel Rice, who is not likely to see much action.

When it comes down to a comparison of bench strength, the Yankees' Howard, Jerry Lumpe, Richardson, Enos Slaughter and Mary Thoreberry are given a big edge over Torre, Felix Mantilla, Andy Pafko, Casey Wise and Harry Hanebrink.

Lary Sets Record Against 'Bombers'

DETROIT (UPI)—Frank Lary, a guitar-picking rebel from Alabama, has beaten the greatest pitchers of the last half century by beating the New York Yankees seven times in one season.

To make the feat even more amazing, Lary did it against a Yankee club that won the pennant running away. Ed Walsh is the last known pitcher to have beaten the Yanks more than seven times in one season—against the 1908 team, which finished eighth.

Lary may be the American League's biggest puzzle. An ordinary pitcher as far as win-loss records against the job, six times against the Yankees since coming into the league in 1935.

If it weren't for the Yankees, Lary's career record wouldn't be the 400 mark. Excluding his record against the champions, Lary has won 46 and lost 53.

Off the field Lary is a quiet, unassuming Alabamian. But when he's on the mound he's like Stone-wall Jackson. Jack Tighe, ex-Tiger manager, once said he's the "ruttiest" pitcher in the league.

The oldest orphanage still existing in the United States is Bethesda near Savannah, Ga. It was opened in 1740.

Snuffy Stirnweiss, Solid Player To Very Last Tilt

NEW YORK (UPI)—This was just weeks ago at the Old Timers Day in Yankee Stadium and the short, stocky man stood around among the celebrities like an interloper.

Photographers scurried around snapping pictures and they looked right through him. They were after "names" like Ty Cobb, Rogers Hornsby, Bill Terry, Tris Speaker, Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller.

But when the old Yankee and the Red Sox of a decade ago caricatured through a two-inning exhibition game, it was the bubble-headed George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss who stole the show with a fielding play right out of the past.

It was his last time on a ball field. For Stirnweiss was among those killed recently when a commuter train plunged into Newark Bay. Yet it's nice to remember that last August the "quiet man" made his place in the sun—just as he had done so often before.

Could Play Anywhere

Snuffy will not be remembered as a great ball player. A brilliant fielder, he accomplished his finest feats during the war-time era. Still, Joe McCarthy summed it up one spring when he was asked whether Stirnweiss could handle third base.

"He can play it with his legs crossed," McCarthy said snuffily. "It's can play anywhere because he's a ball player."

Fanny May Gives Economy Big Lift

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Although officially dead, the government's anti-recession mortgage purchase program is expected to continue giving the economy a lift and to ease borrowing for home buyers.

With the billion dollars voted by Congress last spring paid out or tied up in purchase commitments, the Federal National Mortgage Association (Fanny May) announced the program had been terminated.

But, Fanny May officials said, although no more purchase commitments can be issued to lenders, the program is in one sense very much alive in that:

—Construction on many of the houses it helped finance will be completed, or in some cases even started. Home building means jobs, materials, furniture, appliances, new retail stores and community facilities. All are plus factors on the economic balance sheet.

—Easing of credit

—Fanny May will be pumping nearly all of the billion dollars into the mortgage money market in the next 12 months as the new houses are completed and the mortgages are delivered to Fanny May. The money may not make payment until the house is completed and occupied.

—This infusion of government money, officials say, should ease credit or at least alleviate any tightening.

—In short, the program should continue to spark business and make borrowing by home buyers

—The National League of Insured Savings Associations, said in a Chicago speech that the program was "unnecessary government intervention in the housing field."

But, when questioned by United Press International at his Washington office, Morrison conceded the program had exerted "a large influence" in recent months.

He doubted, however, that actual payments by Fanny May, at purchase contracts are consummated, would much affect the availability of mortgage money.

"Some of the mortgages will end up in the private market," Morrison said. He added that in many other cases it is the purchase commitment, not the actual payment, that weighs most heavily.

Investors Mutual Declares Dividend

MINNEAPOLIS.—The board of directors of Investors Mutual, Inc., largest mutual fund affiliate managed by Investors Diversified Services, Inc., has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 9 1/2 cents per share derived exclusively from investment income, the same amount as was paid at the end of the fund's fourth quarter last year.

A distribution of 12 1/2 cents per share representing realized security profits also was declared, an increase of 4 1/2 cents per share over the like distribution of 7 3/4 cents made at the close of the same period a year ago.

A total of 21 3/4 cents per share is payable Oct. 9 to Investors Mutual shareholders of record Sept. 29, 1958.

This is the 72nd consecutive quarterly dividend paid by the fund.

Folsom Spares Life Of Negro Burglar

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Gov. James E. Folsom today commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence given a Negro for robbing a white widow of $195 in a burglary at night, a capital crime in this state.

Jimmy Wilson, 35, was sentenced to die in the electric chair Oct. 24. He was convicted of taking $195 from Mrs. Estelle Barker during a nighttime robbery at her Marion, Ala., home in July 1957. Trial testimony said Wilson attempted to rape the elderly woman but Wilson denied it.

Wilson, who has a criminal record dating back to 1929, was convicted of taking two 50-cent pieces, three quarters and 20 pennies from the woman.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has been one of the thousands sending inquiries to Folsom about the case. Dulles wrote that "United States diplomatic missions in a number of countries have reported considerable reaction to the case."

De Gaulle To Meet Cabinet; Planning Anti-Terror Drive

By JOSEPH W. CRIGG
United Press International

PARIS (UPI)—Premier Charles de Gaulle, confirmed by Sunday's referendum as the undisputed master of France, summoned his cabinet today to lay the foundations of the Fifth Republic and to map stern measures against Algerian terrorism in France.

The government was expected to begin work at once on the law which will govern the election of the new republic's first parliament. It was expected to start the proportional representation system of voting, which gave voter parties so much influence on the Fourth Republic.

Plans for other sweeping reforms also seemed certain to be discussed at today's cabinet meeting.

De Gaulle must devise means of dealing with pressing problems left over from the Fourth Republic, notably the guerrilla war in Algeria and the Arab terror campaign in France.

He will spend Thursday and Friday in Algeria discussing details of a "new deal" program he plans to offer Arab residents as a means of ending the war.

Algeria's 97 per cent vote for the new constitution—larger even than the four-to-one majority that supported De Gaulle in France proper—appeared to indicate good prospects for success.

At home, the cabinet was believed to be considering a drastic crackdown on Acadia, held responsible for the current campaign of sabotage and murder.

House Of Dior's Future Is Riding With De Gaulle

By ROBERT AHER
United Press International

PARIS (UPI)—The future of the great Dior fashion house may well be linked with Gen. Charles de Gaulle's efforts to end the four-year-old war in Algeria.

Officials of the fashion company admitted today that 22-year-old Yves Saint Laurent, the boy wonder who replaced the late Christian Dior, is in danger of being drafted.

"We won't want to face the idea that Saint Laurent might have to go as a draftee, and that for the second time in a year we would have to solve the problem of creating a brand new collection," a Dior official said.

Saint Laurent, a Frenchman born in Ann, Algeria, had a nominal draft deferment as a student when his class was called up two years ago.

But now he is the top designer of the Dior concern.

"We just hope his draft deferment will not be cancelled," the official said, "and that he will be able to produce another fine spring show next February."

St. Laurent now is in America. Dior announced a billion francs ($11,900,000) business last year and is hoping to do better this year.

Saint Laurent is a shy, slim, dark haired young man, who wears glasses and blushes if you ask him a question.

A unique example in the history of fashion, he never really studied for the job.

He drew sketches for fun. They were shown to the late Christian Dior, who hired the boy as an assistant. When Dior died last October, Saint Laurent took over and was a great success.

"Would Mr. Saint Laurent like to wear fatigues and go fighting the rebels in the Algerian mountains?" an official was asked.

"Of course Saint Laurent would do his duty as any Frenchman," the official said, "but maybe General De Gaulle will have ended the Algerian war before his time comes up."

Mao's Prestige In Red World Soars

LONDON (UPI)—Mao Tse-tung's position as a foremost spokesman of Communist ideology appears to have soared since November, 1957, when world Communist chiefs gathered in Moscow to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

This was the meeting that issued the manifesto outlawing "revisionism."

At the time, attention was focused on the meeting largely because of Yugoslavia's refusal to sign, along with the other Communist countries.

But, as Yugoslavia herself was to learn a few months later, the decisions taken at Moscow were of the most fundamental importance. And, as one Eastern European source put it, Mao played the leading role in getting them approved.

Gained in Prestige

"It was not so much that Mao spoke to the meeting as that he lectured the others on the question of ideology," he said. "His prestige was already on the rise, but it increased enormously at the Moscow meeting."

Last spring only a few months afterwards, Yugoslavia felt the full effects of the new resolution against "revisionism." Russia was a leader in criticizing the draft program prepared by the Yugoslavs for their own Communist Party congress.

But when criticism was shifted to violent attack, when Yugoslavia was again denounced in terms reminiscent of the great Cominform split of 1948, it took Communist China that was the lead.

Mao Calls The Turn

On May 5, the Peoples Daily of Peking broke out with a blistering attack on Tito's brand of Communism and concluded that the Cominform had been "basically correct" in expelling Yugoslavia in 1948. It was only on the following day that Peking joined the attack in Moscow, not with an assault of its own but by pointing to the text of the Peoples Daily article.

Tito, the man with whom Khrushchev made peace in 1956 with apologies and confessions of error, was once more beyond the pale. This time the most telling blow had been delivered not from Moscow but from Peking.

Last month came the secret meeting in Peking between Khrushchev and Mao. Subsequent events tend to confirm the belief Mao persuaded if not forced Khrushchev to abandon his projected summit meeting and virtually won a blank check for Russian support in the Far East.

Pays Lip Service

This was the apparent background against which Mao unleashed the off-shore islands crisis in the Formosa Strait.

Officially, Mao continues to pay lip service to Soviet leadership while Khrushchev stresses the brother solidarity of the two nations. But Eastern European sources, who geographically are closer to Moscow than Peking, say that today it is Mao who is accepted everywhere as the top authority on Communist ideology.

The immediate question is: Why, in view of China's continued dependence on Russia for economic and military support, can the exercise such apparent pre-eminence on the Kremlin?

These sources reply that the economic equality has been offset by a series of political and personal factors. They cite as especially important Moscow's loss of prestige by the zig-zagging of policy in the post-Stalin struggle for power.

Hire Handicapped, Employers Urged

Fluding jobs for handicapped workers is the objective of the annual observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, Oct. 5-11, according to Danny Hahn, manager of the local Florida State Employment Service office.

Emphasizing the policy of the Employment Service in sending only well-qualified applicants to a job, Hahn said that any handicapped worker referred to an employer will be just as well qualified for the job as an unimpaired worker.

Applicants with some degree of handicap include many veterans, Hahn added. He urged all employers to survey their present job requirements in order to find openings for handicapped persons. Physically disabled persons not now working, but who are interested in working, should register with the Employment Service office, where their qualifications for work can be evaluated.

"When properly placed, disabled workers are enthusiastic, hard working, and satisfactory employees," Hahn said. "Their accident record is low, their productive record high."

Employers with job openings should get in touch with the Employment Service at 110 West Second St. or phone FA 2-3122. Handicapped workers seeking employment should contact the same office.

Nuclear Test Shot Shakes Yucca Flat

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (UPI)—Scientists of the Atomic Energy Commission fired the second of their 1958 fall test shots Monday, a firecracker-type nuclear device that shook the desert and sent a rumbling shock wave over observers huddled in its path.

The shot, suspended from a balloon 1,500 feet over Yucca Flat, ranged with a force of about 10,000 tons of TNT. The shock was measured at "more than usual" because of cloud conditions and was followed by prolonged rumbling.

It was heard 150 miles west of the Nevada test site, but apparently was not audible at other observation points. Official blast pressure was reported as 10 millibars.

The fireball had an hour-glass shape, typical of balloon shots. Newsmen were evacuated from the site 10 minutes afterwards as the mushroom cloud floated south toward New Moh. At the control point, observers were ordered to remain indoors about 30 minutes while others at nearby Camp

Mercury were advised to keep covered for at least an hour during the cloud's passage.

TAMPA (UPI)—Steel production has begun at Tampa — the first in Florida.

The Florida Electric Steel Division of the Florida Steel Corp. poured the first ingot Monday. The plant will get into full operation in November.

Most of the production will go to the parent corporation for fabricated steel. The mill can pour up to 15 tons of molten steel at a time, the basic raw material being scrap steel with purifying chemicals added.

Unlikely Presley, Terry Dene Says 'No Army For Me'

LONDON (UPI)—British rock 'n' roll star Terry Dene has received his army call-up papers.

But unlike Elvis Presley, Terry doesn't intend to go peacefully.

An Empire News reporter quoted Terry Sunday as saying: "They haven't nabbed me yet."

"I can't stand being shouted at—never could since I was a kid. I ran away from school when the teachers hawled me out and I may do the same again," he said.

Dene went on: "Look, mate, I'm sick I'm an nerves. If I go into the army I'd feel like a trapped animal."

"And I reckon that everybody should be free in this life. If after six weeks I know the army isn't for me then I'll come home."

"Maybe they think I'll be good for recruiting. Maybe they'll put me on a poster," the paper quoted Dene as saying.

"Look what a lift the American army is getting because Elvis Presley has joined up."

Tire Firm Denies Scattering Nails

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI)—Truck driver Donald Matthews was a bit peeved Monday when he picked up 25 punctures in two of his tires right outside a tire factory.

Factory representatives, looking at hundreds of nails scattered all over the road, denied they were trying to drum up business.

A sack of nails had fallen from a truck as it turned into the factory gate, they said. They gave Matthews two new tires and fixed punctures on three other cars which came along before the nails could be swept up.

Red Radio Claims Plane Shot Down

LONDON (UPI)—Radio Peiping claimed tonight that Chinese Communist anti-aircraft guns shot down a Nationalist transport plane today near Quemoy.

The Communist broadcast said the plane was hit over Changhai in the Amoy area, opposite Quemoy, and plunged into the sea five miles to the southeast.

The broadcast made no mention of survivors among the plane's crew.
