Evolution proposal passed

AUSTIN, Texas — The Board of Education opens hearings Friday on a first-time proposal in Texas to require that biology textbooks explain the theory of evolution.

Texas education officials, who for years have tipped around the controversial issue, have proposed that the board require the evolution discussion in biology books that will be used in Texas public schools beginning in the fall of 1991.

Scientists and evolution advocates applauded the proposal as a major reversal in Texas education policy, while fundamentalists, whose voices have weakened since defeating a similar proposal in 1984, say they will oppose the measure unless the board agrees to mandate equal time for "creation science."

'POW balloons' to be launched

HONG KONG — A 65-foot boat carrying U.S. activists left Hong Kong Friday to launch hundreds of helium balloons over Vietnam and Laos offering a $2.5 million reward for the safe return of an American war prisoner.

The group, led by former congressman William Hendon, said 600 of the 3-foot red, white and blue balloons would be released from an area of the South China Sea where they would land in Indochina about 36 hours later.

Other balloons would be floated ashore to reach coastal areas of Vietnam, he said.

"We are going as far as we need to but no further than necessary to get the winds we need to take the balloons to their target," said Hendon, a two-term Republican congressman from North Carolina.

He said the group had no intention of venturing near the Vietnam coast.

Bush budget: $1.16 trillion

WASHINGTON — President Bush handed Congress an agenda for action Thursday night and offered "to work day and night, if that's what it takes" to produce a budget to protect the environment, improve education and sweep drugs from the streets — all without raising taxes.

"The hand remains extended, the sleeves are rolled up. America is waiting and now we must produce," Bush said in his first speech to a joint meeting of Congress. "Together, we can build a better America."

Fleshing out the "kinder, gentler" rhetoric of his campaign, Bush went to Capitol Hill with a $1.16 trillion fiscal 1990 budget highlighted by a one-year freeze in real growth of military spending and a cut in the capital gains tax.

Court ruling favors city

Decision could establish guidelines for future annexation controversies

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — An appeals court yesterday upheld an annexation approved by the Sanford City Commission in 1985, establishing guidelines to end some contention between city and county governments.

The Fifth District Court of Appeals in Daytona made the decision just two weeks before Seminole County and Sanford commissioners will meet to discuss pending legal battles over annexation issues.

In 1985 the city annexed two parcels of land west of Sanford between State Roads 46 and 46A. Last year Seminole Circuit Court ruled that the parcels were not compact or substantially contiguous, as required by annexation statutes.

The court of appeals decided that the circuit court applied standards other than those provided in the statutes.

Florida statutes provide for annexation of only those parcels that are compact and those that do not extend in finger-like fashion into the county. These provisions are made to maintain distinct lines of jurisdiction for police and fire protection.

City attorney William Colbert said, "This decision is helpful. One of our problems is that laws are passed that don't define things. This is a See Ruling, Page 2A

Oviedo chief stands firm on officer firings

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

OVIDEO — A three-policeman panel that reviewed the firings of two Oviedo policemen has recommended to Police Chief Dennis Peterson that he take less severe action against the officers. Peterson said he will stand his ground and will not reinstate the officers.

Peterson, who on Wednesday received the findings of the panel after hearings in Oviedo, said Thursday the only way he will reduce the punishment is by allowing officers John Carson and Frank Baker to resign rather than be fired.

By resigning, the officers would not risk their certification to work as policemen in Florida. If they remain classified as fired, a state board will automatically review their certification status. Peterson said the officer can further appeal his decision to city officials, or they can sue in civil court to try to get their jobs back.

However, Peterson, who accused both men of lying to him and said that was a factor in their terminations, said he is not bound by the recommendations of the panel and he will not reinstate either of the officers, who were terminated in January in connection with unrelated incident.

The panel, comprised of Altamonte Springs Police Commander Ed Overman (chosen by Peterson), Orlando policeman Robert Parmenter (chosen by the fired officers), and Maitland Police Capt. Ed Doyle (chosen by the two other panel members), were unanimous in their decision that Baker should be suspended for 30 days without pay, but not fired. See Chief, Page 2A

New owner takes over troubled radio station

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County's only licensed radio station, WNSI-AM (1400), has a new owner.

Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler on Wednesday appointed William Masi as receiver of the financially-beleaguered station on Celery Avenue in Sanford.

Masi, president of Metro Orlando Broadcasters, Inc., foreclosed last month on a $279,543 debt owed him by station owners, River Country Broadcasting, Inc.

Leffler allowed the station to be set for auction on the Seminole County Courthouse steps March 14 to allow Masi to collect the awarded debt.

Attorneys for both Masi and possible buyers Joan and Bob Bennett said that the appointment of a receiver removes River Country President Walter J. Bowen as station owner, unless he pays the debt.

Bowen did not contest the foreclosure. He could not be reached for comment. He and the Bennetts originally agreed on a $417,000 sales price but the price later declined to an undisclosed amount. See Station, Page 2A

Lake Mary files suit against in-home businesses

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — The city has sued two residents for alleged violations of the city's home occupation ordinance.

A nuisance injunction has been filed in the Seminole Circuit Court against Jerry Hagood, 100 Pine Circle Drive, and Jo J. Gall, 299 Main Road, by City Attorney Ned N. Julian Jr.

Hagood's insurance business appeared on an insurance commission list under his home address; residents have complained that Gall allegedly operates a beauty salon out of her home, according to Julian.

Both businesses are in violation of the home occupation ordinance that states no businesses are allowed in a residential zone without a conditional use permit, according to Code Enforcement Officer Stan Welling.

Gall had asked for a conditional use but was denied by the city commission, and allegedly opened the business anyway, according to Julian.

"I'm totally unaware of the situation," Gall said this morning. Hagood could not be reached for comment.

Julian said court action is an alternative provision because the city in the past has been unable to obtain compliance through code enforcement. "The code enforcement process has not been very successful in dealing with these problems," Julian said Thursday.

He said that a daily fine could be imposed by the city for these violations but the state constitution and the state code enforcement law prevent placing a lien on the person's residence in order to collect the debt if the fine is unpaid.

However, if a person violates a court injunction, he faces a one-year jail sentence for contempt of court, officials said. "It's a penal thing," Julian said.

"We'll do whatever we can to move the issue forward. These (violations) aren't new things. Most of the time they get worked out," he said.

Governor announces blueprint for drug war

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Bob Martinez' blueprint for a drug-free Florida includes drug tests for new drivers license applicants and license revocations for professionals convicted of drug offenses.

In announcing his proposals on Thursday, the governor also said he would include almost $50 million in anti-drug funds in the 1989-90 budget proposal he will unveil next week. He called on lawmakers to repeal a criminal court proceeding that can lead to protracted, expensive delays, and proposed a summit meeting on expanding anti-drug activities by the military.

Martinez said his anti-drug initiative was intentionally designed to target casual drug users as well as dealers.

"We made it clear we don't accept recreational drug use, that they fuel crime by buying," he said. "We're saying we are against recreational use, and if you are contributing to the problem by being a buyer, then you need to pay the penalty as well."

A key part of his proposal, Martinez said, is proposed legislation that would require anyone seeking a Florida drivers license for the first time to provide evidence he had passed a certified drug test. Drivers renewing existing licenses would be exempt.

Any driver convicted of possession, sale or trafficking drugs should have his license suspended for two years unless he completes a rehabilitation program, Martinez said.

The governor said he did not believe requiring applicants to take a test — at costs of up to $30

See Drugs, Page 2A

WAR ON DRUGS

Governor Martinez' detailed proposals for fighting the drug wars in Florida include:

TESTS: Administering drug tests for new drivers license applicants and license revocations for professionals convicted of drug offenses.

BUDGET: Increasing the state's anti-drug efforts by $49.5 million next fiscal year. About $27.9 million of that would go to criminal justice programs, $13.5 million to treatment and $7.9 million to prevention.

COURTS: Repealing the "discovery" section of Florida criminal law, at a saving of about $35 million a year. Only a handful of other states still have discovery laws, which allow lawyers to postpone trials for months while they take depositions from anyone related to the case.

JUDGES: Prohibit judges from withholding adjudication of guilt in drug cases.

CCIB commander injured during chase

By BURAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Lt. Donald Eslinger, commander of the City County Investigative Bureau, suffered a deep cut to his head when a fleeing suspected cocaine dealer rammed into him head-to-head. The suspect, who was one of seven arrested by CCIB last night, was also injured.

Eslinger was treated at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs and the suspect, LeRoy Leon Fisher, 35, of 2109 W. 18th St., Sanford, was treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, before being jailed.

The incident occurred at Southwest Road and 18th Street, rural Sanford, at about 9:35 p.m., after Fisher and another man allegedly sold crack cocaine to an undercover CCIB agent.

They ran when they were being arrested for the sale. Fisher allegedly refused to stop and hit one agent in the head with his fists. He struggled with agents and then ran again.

He ran head-on into Eslinger's head and both were injured.

Fisher is charged with resisting arrest without violence, resisting arrest with violence and two counts of battery on a policeman.

Grievance hearing for officer scheduled

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — A grievance hearing involving a member of the Longwood police department is scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday at Longwood City Hall, 175 W. Warren Ave.

Bob Parmenter, president of the Central Florida Police Benevolent Association (PBA), said an allegation of improper force on a civilian has been made against Sergeant Don Knight, following an investigation by a police department representative.

Knight faces demotion depending on the outcome of the hearing. The PBA will present Knight's case.

The alleged incident took place at 12:04 a.m. Nov. 13 on Highway 17-92 and State Road 434 at the scene of a minor traffic accident, according to authorities. Two other police officers were at the scene in addition to Knight. A civilian complained to a lieutenant that Knight had pushed him in the chest and back during a confrontation, according to Parmenter.

An investigation ensued as a result of the complaint. Police Chief Greg Manning said that as a result of the official complaint filed by Lieutenant Jack Bisland, Knight may be demoted to patrol officer.

"The final decision will be made on Monday after the findings and recommendations. He would have been demoted had he not requested a grievance board," Manning said Wednesday.

The grievance hearing is the first step in Knight's process of appeal, according to Parmenter. The next step would be to appeal to the city administrator.

Helping resettle Soviet refugees

The Soviet Union is opening the doors of emigration. Soviet Jews, Armenians, Adventists and Baptists who have suffered persecution are pouring out of the Soviet Union as part of Mikhail Gorbachev's policy of glasnost.

This sudden opportunity to gain freedom is wonderful for them, but it is denied their Soviet brethren. Although the Soviet Union has signed international accords that guarantee the right of emigration, it has a policy of severely restricting the ability to leave. In the eyes of the state, emigration means betraying the motherland. All Soviet citizens must be given the right to leave their country, if they choose.

Between 30,000 and 40,000 Soviet Jews are expected to emigrate this year. Armenians may boost that number by many more thousands. Where will these Soviet refugees go?

Only 7 percent of the Soviet Jews choose to emigrate to Israel. About an equal percentage goes to Canada and Australia. Nearly all the rest of the Jewish, Armenian and Protestant emigrants have one dream: to come to America.

The United States, which opened the door to Russian emigrants in the late 19th century, should open its doors once again to these refugees fleeing from religious, cultural and ethnic persecution.

Sadly, the wait at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow for visas to enter the United States is now two years. Many Jews who leave the Soviet Union and want to come to America are being denied refugee status by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

They are granted permission to enter the United States as "parolees." The condition of parolees is a legal limbo. Parolees are permitted to work and live indefinitely in the United States. They receive no government aid for resettlement, which makes it difficult, but not impossible, to start a new life. Worst of all, parolees are forbidden the right to become naturalized American citizens.

Congress and President Bush must halt this practice of preventing stateless Jews to leave the Soviet Union only to remain stateless Jews in the United States. A new provision is needed to grant all Soviet emigres, whether Jewish, Armenian or Protestant, the ability to become naturalized American citizens.

Who will pay for the resettlement? The government, in this deficit-reduction era, is strapped for money. Cost of resettling 30,000 people in the United States is estimated by Jewish authorities at $140 million. At most, the U.S. government can be expected to pay $40 million.

Karl Zukerman, director of the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society, and other Jewish leaders are marshalling their energies to raise money privately to pay for most of the resettlement costs.

The State Department recently shifted 3,000 fully funded and 2,500 partially funded refugee slots from Southeast Asians to Soviet refugees. These slots are needed for Southeast Asian Refugees. The shift doesn't even begin to cope with the Soviet refugees.

Congress also should raise the ceiling on refugees to cope with this year's increased influx from the Soviet Union. Refugees from Southeast Asia and other parts of the world must not be denied refuge because of them.

Is Fidel Castro the real obstacle?

Completion of the Soviet withdrawal from Afghanistan and the coming inevitable collapse of Najibullah's communist regime there constitute a portentous milestone in the history of the 20th century. For the first time on a major scale, the once seemingly irresistible wave of imperialistic communism has faltered and ebbed.

What's more, this development is not some isolated fluke but part of a much larger pattern. In the Soviet Union itself, all pretense of confidence in Marxist economics has been abandoned in a desperate effort to keep the whole system from disintegrating. Political dissenters are far more vocal than they have ever dared to be before. Entire ethnic minorities in Estonia, Armenia and elsewhere are defying the central authorities. On the borders of the U.S.S.R., client states are in growing turmoil.

Looking farther abroad, it is impossible not to conclude that a major Soviet demarche is under way, involving the termination of a whole series of threatening or directly aggressive enterprises.

The agreed-upon withdrawal of Cuban troops from Angola is obviously just one aspect of an overall settlement in southern Africa, concerted between Reagan and Gorbachev last year and involving independence for Namibia in return for a reduction in Soviet pressures in the area.

Similarly, Vietnam's new willingness to withdraw its troops from Cambodia is clearly a product of Soviet pressure, and it helped pave the way for the friendlier relations between Moscow and Peking that now seem likely.

And we haven't even mentioned Gorbachev's announcement of unilateral Soviet reductions in its conventional forces arrayed against NATO.

In fact, on the entire globe there is only one area in which communism is not in strategic retreat, and that is in Central America. With the indispensable help of our Democratic Congress, Nicaragua's Sandinista regime managed to outlast Ronald Reagan and still holds sway in Managua. And now, as El Salvador's President Duarte sinks toward death (from liver cancer) and his government is weakened by leaderlessness and corruption, the communist-armed guerrillas in that country are stepping up their attacks.

What is the explanation? Is Gorbachev, while giving way on so many other fronts, deliberately increasing the pressure against the United States and its friends in Central America as some sort of bargaining chip?

Perhaps, but I doubt it. Don't forget that there is another communist power — Cuba — positioned between the Soviet Union and Nicaragua. And while the ultimate impulse behind the communist drive in Central America unquestionably originated in Moscow, the immediate stimulus to action, and even the proximate source of arms and supplies of all sorts, is Cuba.

If Gorbachev is indeed willing to ease the situation in Central America, it is essential for the United States to reaffirm its support for the Nicaraguan contras, and also give its full backing to the legitimate government of El Salvador, while Gorbachev pressures Castro. Fortunately the Bush administration seems ready to do exactly that — preparing to ask Congress for more humanitarian aid for the contras, and warning all Salvadoran extremists (through Vice President Quayle) to lay off.

There is only one area where Communism is not in strategic retreat, and that is in Central America.

"I SWEAR THAT THE TESTIMONY I AM ABOUT TO GIVE WILL SOON BE APPEARING AT A THEATER OR LECTURE HALL NEAR YOU..."

Do our watchdogs need watchdogs?

WASHINGTON — The inspector general at the Environmental Protection Agency is supposed to be a watchdog on waste. Instead, his employees describe him as a hog on travel.

Inspector General John Martin and his chief assistant, John Barden, spent thousands of dollars to attend a week-long conference in Hong Kong. Two months after they got back to Washington, D.C., Barden ordered the staff to curtail job-related trips; the travel budget was too low.

The staff investigators were understandably miffed. There is enough money for overseas junkets for the boss, but not enough to send the underlings across state lines for investigations.

The travel bug is as pervasive in Washington as a flu epidemic. There's something about a credit card and the open road that a bureaucrat can't resist. With President Bush pledged to cut the gargantuan budget deficit without raising taxes, travel will become an even more coveted commodity.

The solution is as clear as the stamp on your passport — eliminate junkets to conferences where sightseeing and parties are the real agenda. But you can watch for the bureaucracy to take the low road — preserving the junkets to Paris in April and eliminating the business trips to Duluth in February.

Martin and Barden told us professional conferences are a must. The Hong Kong conference in late 1987, where they were invited to speak, was for international experts in corruption. Barden also traveled to Toronto, Canada, for an international meeting of police chiefs.

What all this international hobnobbing has to do with waste in the EPA is a mystery to us, as well as to some of the grounded staffers. "We don't do anything that has international implications ... and we're not chiefs of police," one staffer told our associate Scott Sless.

The agency's mission is to make sure that the federal budget allocated to protect the environment goes for that and nothing else.

Martin is "doing the very thing that he's supposed to be a watchdog on," said one employee. "It seems to me it's setting the worst possible type of example. For the troops that can't go to Idaho and investigate some contract fraud, it can be a tough break."

Partial records available from the Hong Kong trip show that Barden alone claimed more than $3,400 in expenses. The two men took a vacation day, using their own money, to tour Tokyo while they were in the neighborhood. That is legal, but some members of Congress frown on piggybacking business trips with vacations because it makes the business look like thinly disguised pleasure.

EPA employees told us they are afraid to criticize the junkets openly for fear of reprisals. Martin said the agency has a grievance process and his employees are free to bring complaints to him.

The situation at EPA raises a troubling question: Who's watching the watchdogs? Do we need someone to make sure the inspector general isn't guilty of the abuses he is supposed to stop?

Martin and Barden are not the only continent hoppers among the inspectors general. The Hong Kong conference drew inspectors general from the Energy, Agriculture and State departments and the U.S. Government Printing Office.

The travel bug is as pervasive in Washington as a flu epidemic.

Sex in the twentysomething generation

BOSTON — The conversation began, as many of them do, with the following phrase: When we were your age...

The group around the dinner table were women, two generations of them. The topic was relationships and pretty soon we came to the edge of the generation gap.

When we were your age, a single woman couldn't get birth control.

When we were your age, abortion was illegal.

When we were your age, sex was a very risky business.

When we were your age, all of our friends were thinking about marriage.

The four younger women in their college garb of sweaters and pants leaned forward to listen. It was late and we had met them in the city for wine and pasta. But suddenly, it was as if these young women were in nursery school and we were the adults who came to tell them a story they'd never heard.

One of the older women wondered gently if this was what the experts meant by cultural illiteracy. Her guests were women born during the years just before and after Bobby Kennedy was shot. On a pop quiz, they couldn't identify Da Nang, or name a member of the Nixon Cabinet, or define "Clean for Gene." All they knew of pre-sexual-revolution America was what they had seen in "Dirty Dancing."

The other woman was sure her young dining companions had heard all this before, but it just hadn't registered. What is it they say about sex talks between adults and children? Answer what is asked, no more, no less. The young will find out what they need to know. In their twenties, these young finally needed to know about then and now. When we were their age.

But as the evening wore on from wine to coffee, it became apparent to both of the delegates from the older generation that we were talking from one vantage point and they were listening from another. We were telling tales from the bad old days. They were listening with nostalgia. We were sure that they had much more freedom than we'd had. They were not.

I have thought about this exchange more than once since that dinner. Thought about the new realities of these young lives. About the brief blip of freedom — for better and worse — that can be seen receding. About what it's like to be twentysomething.

We were denied access to birth control by the law. Their access is now limited by anxiety. The pill that eased so many minds of short-term worries about pregnancy now comes with a set of long-term worries about breast cancer.

Legal abortion assured women that their lives would not be changed irrevocably by a single accident or error, one act of passion or victimization. Now that too is at risk. In the morning paper, there is a pro-choice ad that says: "After 18 years of safety, time is running out."

Sex and safety do not come in the same package. What does it mean to be twentysomething in the AIDS era? What does fear do to sexuality? Some women find it easier to say no than to say "condoms." Others wake up the morning after wondering not if they are pregnant, but if they are infected.

As for young marriages, it is an article of faith among mothers that their daughters should start careers first rather than wake up, as we did, unskilled.

But the pressure on the women to plan their lives with split-second timing and an eye on the biological clock begins younger and younger. At twentysomething, they look ahead, as we did not, and see their thirtysomething sisters who are often stressed or lonely or in line at the fertility clinic.

From their vantage point, an early marriage may seem less like a risk than a shelter. Even in this age, they are the keepers of sexuality and fertility who feel many of these pressures more than the men in their lives.

Does this all sound too worrisome? If the quartet we dined with are any example, the younger generation of women is more self-confident, stronger, far more introspective than mine. They don't take much for granted. They don't live by a set program.

But it is not an easy time. Not at all. And sometimes I wonder how this generation, more pressured than you might imagine, will fill in the blanks as they tell their own children, "When I was your age..."

Others wake up the morning after wondering not if they are pregnant, but if they are infected.

Judge: Comatose woman has rights

NEW YORK — An appeals court Thursday upheld a decision granting a man guardianship of his pregnant, comatose wife, paving the way for an abortion, but the state's highest court stayed the ruling pending a quick review of arguments from anti-abortion activists.

In earlier granting guardianship to Martin Klein of Upper Brookville, N.Y., the Appellate Division ruled, "Ultimately the record confirms that these absolute strangers to the Klein family, whatever their motivation, have no place in the midst of this family tragedy," the panel said in its ruling.

Nancy Klein, 32, who is about 17 weeks pregnant, has been in a coma in North Shore University Hospital on Long Island since a Dec. 13 automobile accident. Her husband, Martin, 32, and her doctors contend that an abortion would significantly improve her chance of survival and perhaps save her life.

Her parents also support the husband's decision to seek the abortion.

On Tuesday state Justice Bernard McCaffrey granted Klein guardianship of his wife, empowering him to order an abortion on grounds that Nancy Klein has the same constitutional rights as a healthy woman.

Anti-abortion activist John Short immediately appealed the ruling and asked the appeals court to appoint him guardian for Nancy Klein and her fetus.

"I implore this court not to permit these strangers to delay my decision," Klein said.

Jury selected in captain's court-martial

SUBIC BAY NAVAL BASE, Philippines — A six-member jury was selected Friday in the court-martial of a U.S. Navy captain accused of failing to rescue a boatload of Vietnamese refugees, forcing them to resort to cannibalism.

Capt. Alex Ballan, 48, of Los Angeles, has pleaded innocent to the charges against him, said Capt. James Freyer, judge in the court-martial at the legal services office at Subic Bay Naval Base, 50 miles northwest of Manila.

Freyer, who said the court-martial would begin hearing testimony from witnesses on Monday, received documentary evidence from prosecutors Friday afternoon.

Earlier in the day, lawyers for Ballan and the prosecution screened members of the jury, pruning the number from eight to six Navy officers.

Ballan, looking grim in his white uniform, listened to the challenges to the jury members during the selection process, but did not speak and declined to answer questions from reporters.

LaRouche wants to face charges

BOSTON — Lawyers for Lyndon LaRouche are fighting federal prosecutors' attempts to have charges facing the political extremist in Boston dropped, saying LaRouche wants a chance to answer the accusations.

LaRouche, 66, a four-time fringe candidate for president, was convicted last month in Alexandria, Va., on tax and mail fraud charges. He was sentenced to a 15-year prison term on Jan. 27.

On that same date, federal prosecutors in Boston asked that an obstruction of justice charge facing LaRouche be dropped. In making the request, prosecutors cited the time and cost involved in bringing the case to trial.

Bush brings budget to Congress

United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Bush handed Congress an agenda for action Thursday night and offered "to work day and night, if that's what it takes" to produce a budget to protect the environment, improve education and sweep drugs from the streets — all without raising taxes.

"The hand remains extended, the sleeves are rolled up, America is waiting and now we must produce," Bush said in his first speech to a joint meeting of Congress. "Together, we can build a better America."

Fleshing out the "kinder, gentler" rhetoric of his campaign, Bush went to Capitol Hill with a $1.16 trillion fiscal 1990 budget highlighted by a one-year freeze in real growth of military spending and a cut in the capital gains tax.

By holding the Pentagon to just enough additional money to cover inflation, Bush said he could divert several billion dollars to domestic priorities without violating his "read my lips" vow of "no new taxes" and keep the deficit on a downward path required by law.

With a one-year cap on cost-of-living increases in federal retirement pay and a wide range of other programs held in check, he asserted the deficit can be reduced to $91.1 billion next year — and eliminated in 1993 — without raising taxes.

In a call for harmony and cooperation, he sought a smooth and fruitful start for his administration.

The reaction suggested the political honeymoon is not yet over, though difficult decisions — skirted in his speech and a companion 193-page budget document — lie ahead.

Democrats welcomed the contrast in substance if not style from Ronald Reagan, applauding the emphasis on domestic priorities even if still unconvinced.

Leftist Manley wins Jamaica election

United Press International

KINGSTON, Jamaica — Leftist leader Michael Manley urged his supporters to put campaign violence behind them and accept his landslide election win over conservative Prime Minister Edward Seaga with "dignity and humility."

In unofficial returns early Friday, state-run television reported that with 65 percent of the vote counted, Manley's People's National Party (PNP) had taken 36 seats in the 60-member Parliament, a controlling majority, to Labor's nine seats. Fifteen contests in Thursday's parliamentary elections were too close to call.

In the popular vote, the PNP led Labor 429,680 to 324,486, or 57 percent to 43 percent. Manley and Seaga, who both represent districts in the capital, were among those elected, the television reported.

Seaga conceded defeat shortly before 11 p.m. in front of 100 weeping supporters at Labor headquarters. "As far as we are concerned, the people have spoken and we abide by their decision," he said. "I congratulate them on their victory. We will hold our heads high as an opposition party."

Manley arrived at PNP headquarters in a white van and was mobbed by hundreds of supporters blocking the entrance to the one-story building. Speaking from a platform outside, he urged his cheering supporters to "take this victory with dignity and humility."

Brown set to tackle job of uniting party

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Democratic National Committee approached a significant milestone Friday with the election of Ron Brown as the first black to lead the party's hierarchy. One of the new chairman's first tasks will be instilling Democratic unity.

Brown, 47, a Washington lawyer with strong connections to the party's liberal wing, was assured the post in January when all other candidates dropped out of what had been predicted to be a bitter battle to succeed chairman Paul Kirk.

The election of Brown was to be ratified Friday at a meeting of the DNC, where he was expected to give a speech about the importance of all Democratic factions banding together.

Throughout the brief campaign for the job, much was made of Brown's connection to Jesse Jackson.

Stocks open lower

United Press International

NEW YORK — Prices opened sharply lower Friday in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fell 20.17 Thursday, was off 18.76 points to 2308.07 shortly after the market opened.

Declines outpaced advances 470-130 among the 910 issues crossing the NYSE tape. Early turnover amounted to about 10,500,000 shares.

Shortly before the market opened, the Labor

Department reported the year got off to a bad start for inflation as higher costs for food and energy sent wholesale prices up 1 percent in January.

The 1 percent seasonally adjusted increase for finished goods in January followed more moderate advances of 0.3 percent and 0.5 percent in November and December, the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

January was the worst month for wholesale inflation since April 1981, when the increase was 1.1 percent, the Bureau said.

Dollar slips overseas

United Press International

The dollar slipped against key currencies on major foreign money markets Friday. Gold was mostly lower.

In early trading in New York, the dollar was higher after the release of the Producer Price Index for January which showed a higher-than-expected rise of 1 percent in wholesale prices.

In Tokyo, the dollar dropped sharply against the yen in active trading, closing at 127.65 yen, down 1.74 yen from Thursday's close. It was the first time since Jan. 26 that the dollar slipped to the 127-yen level in Tokyo.

Dealers said the wave of dollar-selling began even before

President Bush's address to Congress and reflected pessimism over his plans to reduce the huge federal budget deficit.

Finance Minister Tatsuuro Mirayama said he welcomed the dollar's softening, adding that "the other Western nations were concerned over the high dollar rate but now it has been stabilized."

In London, the British pound began the day at $1.7735 compared with $1.7545 on Thursday.

Hodges, not Jordan, lifts Bulls

Michael Jordan is as dangerous a weapon as there is in the NBA, but Thursday night he did his best work acting as a decoy. Jordan scored 23 points, including 15 in the second half, to lead the Chicago Bulls to a 108-103 victory over the San Antonio Spurs. But it was a shot by Craig Hodges, who added a season-high 20 points, that sealed the victory.

Chicago held a 105-103 advantage with less than a minute remaining before Hodges connected on a three-pointer with 37 seconds left. San Antonio's Willie Anderson missed a 24-foot shot with 32 seconds remaining and Jordan grabbed the rebound, sealing the outcome.

Elsewhere in the NBA Thursday night, Charlotte edged Atlanta 110-108, Cleveland beat Indiana 108-99, Washington defeated New Jersey 110-103, Denver thrashed Miami 117-92, Dallas outlasted Utah 94-87, Phoenix upended the Los Angeles Clippers 120-117, Sacramento routed Golden State 142-117 and Houston nipped Portland 113-110.

Tabatha Gano, a freshman from Altamonte Springs, is off and running with the Rochester Institute of Technology (New York) women's indoor track team. Named Co-Female Athlete of the Week, Gano shattered school and fieldhouse records last weekend at the Roberts Wesleyan Invitational.

Competing in the triple jump, she won the event and set new marks with a leap of 33'2-3/4" (10.13 meters). It bettered her previous best of 31'4-3/4" (9.57 meters) two weeks ago, which broke the school mark of 30'11". Gano's winning jump is just one meter short of qualifying for the NCAA Division III championship.

In addition, Gano took second in the 50-meter hurdles with a time of 8.2 seconds, one of the fastest in the state this year. That time also establishes a new RIT record.

Sooners snap Tiger win streak

Missouri Coach Norm Stewart missed the game while in the hospital. Oklahoma Coach Billy Tubbs almost missed most of the game after he got in an official's doghouse.

Thursday night's game between No. 3 Missouri and the fifth-ranked Sooners not only provided the best potential matchup on a night in which 13 Top 20 teams were in action, but it also provided the best showdown.

Stacey King scored a three-point play with 55 seconds remaining, lifting the Sooners to a 112-105 victory and breaking Missouri's 11-game winning streak.

Philly win may fire up Oilers

The Edmonton Oilers are looking at their first regular-season victory in Philadelphia in more than seven years as a sign they are beginning to perform like the team that has won the Stanley Cup in four of the last five seasons.

Craig Simpson scored twice and Grant Fuhr stopped 37 shots Thursday as the Oilers posted a 3-1 victory over the Flyers to move ahead of the Los Angeles Kings into second place in the Smythe Division, Edmonton, which had not won at the Spectrum since Nov. 13, 1982, still trails division-leading Calgary by 22 points.

In other NHL games Thursday night, the New York Rangers trimmed Winnipeg 4-3, New Jersey jolted Detroit 6-3, Boston beat Los Angeles 4-1, Hartford clubbed Buffalo 5-2, Pittsburgh pounded Quebec 5-2, Calgary defeated St. Louis 5-3 and Minnesota edged Vancouver 3-2.

Lady 'Noles destroy Ram streak

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald correspondent

LAKE MARY — The Fighting Lady Seminoles of Seminole High School, behind the inside domination of Sheri Reddicks and Chincia Gilchrist, crushed cold-shooting Lake Mary 82-33 to end the Rams' 11-game win streak before 307 fans Thursday night.

The win advanced the No. 5-ranked Seminoles to 20-3 overall and 12-0 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. It was the last regular season game for the Seminoles, who are now off until the district tournament starting February 15 at Leesburg.

Reddicks scored 25 points and pulled down 13 rebounds (despite sitting out the last 11:22 of the game) and Gilchrist added 13 points and eight rebounds as Seminole dominated both ends of the floor.

All eight girls who played for Seminole scored and contributed well to the win. Adrian Hillsman had 10 points, 10 rebounds, and 10 assists. Aretha Riggins nine points and 12 assists, Koscia Kennon eight points and five assists, Mechelle Toombs seven points, Emily Anderson six points, and Liz Long four points and 12 rebounds.

"I thought the whole team played well," said Seminole coach John McNamara. "If they play that hard, I'll be happy. If we can play like that we could go a long way."

For Lake Mary, it was a humbling experience. "I think they could have thrown it between their legs and it would have gone in," said Lake Mary coach Anna Van Landingham. "They were throwing shots up from everywhere and it was going in and we could not make a layup."

"But I take all the blame. I put too much emphasis on the game and I think the pressure to try to win made us crumble. They played much better this time than when we played them before and we played much worse which leads to blowouts."

Lake Mary falls to 16-9 overall and 7-5 in the SAC. The Lady Rams were led by Anita Jackson with 12 points and Tara Jackson with 10. Lake Mary has one regular season game left before the districts start, hosting the Lady Buccaneers of Daytona Beach Mainland High School on Monday night. Junior varsity action starts at 6:30 with the varsity at 8:00 p.m.

Seminole jumped into an early 10-point lead, 17-7, after one quarter. Lake Mary stayed within hailing distance, trailing by 14, 33-19, at halftime.

But Seminole put the game away in the third quarter.

Titles up for grabs

Lady Rams, Hornets on the road

By TONY DeSORMIER
 Herald sports editor

In a year of firsts, the Lake Mary and Bishop Moore girls soccer teams are looking to add one more to their growing lists.

Tonight, both the Lady Rams of Lake Mary and the Lady Hornets of Bishop Moore will be looking to win the first sectional soccer crowns in their respective school's history.

"We've never even won our district before," said Bill Elasele, the Lake Mary coach. "The best we've ever done was runner-up in the district."

To get to this point, the Lady Rams finally grabbed the 4A-District 3 title with a 2-1 win over Lake Howell last Friday and the 4A-Region II crown with a 4-0 shutout of Winter Park on Tuesday.

This evening, Lake Mary travels to Orange Park to play for the Section I championship and a berth in the final four next weekend.

"Orange Park played Lyman the last game of the season and Lyman beat them 3-2," said Elasele of his team's opponent. "They (Orange Park) tied Lake Brantley earlier in the season."

"We're pretty healthy. I hope that continues."

For Bishop Moore, its first district and regional crowns come, not coincidentally, in the first year of the 3A classification for girls. Before the 1988-89 season, all the girls teams were lumped together in one class.

After scoring four goals in Oviedo's 12-1 win over Kissimmee Gateway on Tuesday, Tim Waisanen had two more in the Lions' 10-1 decision over Leesburg on Thursday night. Tonight, Oviedo hosts Bishop Moore in the finals of the 3A-District 7 tournament.

Lions romp into finals

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

OVIDO — Jeff DeRose netted four goals and assisted on two others with Tim Waisanen adding two more and an assist as Oviedo's Lions hammered Leesburg, 10-1, in district 3A-7 action before 301 fans at Oviedo High School.

Oviedo increased its record to 17-7-2, a new school record for wins in a season, and will return to action tonight at home against Bishop Moore. The Yellow Jackets completed their season with a 5-9-4 record.

"We're pumped, we had a real good effort tonight," Oviedo coach Dave Jekanoski said. "Again we were unselfish and when we play that way, it makes it fun for everybody and fun to watch."

It didn't take long for the Lions to prove who was the better team as Waisanen took the ball at the opening of the game, made a run down the center and sent a shot that rebounded off Leesburg keeper David Glover and to the feet of DeRose who ripped in the games initial goal just 42 seconds into the match to give the Lions a 1-0 lead.

Oviedo continued to keep the pressure on Glover and Derek Bates and Jeff Karson sent shots that were just off the frame. Then with 33:18 to play the Lions netted their second goal off a penalty kick.

Rob Mills carried the ball into the right side of the box where he was tripped to set up the PK. Alex Balauo then came on for the attempt and sent a shot under Glover to up the lead to 2-0.

Despite loss, Tribe gains respect

By TONY DeSORMIER
 Herald sports editor

ORLANDO — It didn't show by the final score, but the Seminole boys soccer team gave the Bishop Moore Hornets a major struggle Thursday night in the semifinals of the 3A-District 7 tournament.

The Hornets scored a goal just 26 seconds into the game, but the Seminoles came right back and played the host team even for the next 55 minutes. It wasn't until the final 25 minutes of the game that Bishop Moore was able put Seminole with three goals to win 4-0.

Bishop Moore, now 11-8-4, plays at Oviedo tonight at 7 p.m. for the 3A-7 championship.

"I'm very pleased," said Seminole coach Carlos Merlino after the Bishop Moore game. "We came a long way. It's been a very satisfying year."

"My goal when I came here four years ago was to be competitive. This year we were. I think we've earned a lot of respect."

Seminole came into Thursday night's game off of a somewhat surprising 4-1 win over Orlando-Edgewater in the first round of the tournament, surprising not that the Tribe won, but how handily.

"We had all the respect in the world for them," said Bishop Moore coach Bruce Saulpaugh of Seminole. "We played to 0-0 with Edgewater and they killed Edgewater."

Bishop Moore got the early break, though. Erik Bright scoring on an assist from Matt Harkins just 26 seconds into the match.

For the rest of the half and on into the early stages of the second, Seminole tested the Hornets mightily, creating as many, and better, scoring opportunities. But despite the pressure, the 'Noles couldn't put any goals away.

"We made a little switch tonight," said Merlino. "This is the widest field we've played on and it created some problems for us. We went to three forwards and were able to turn up the tempo a little bit."

Wrestlers take first step toward states

By CHUCK BURGESS

Tournament fever is hitting area wrestlers this weekend as competition for the 4A-District 4 and 3A-District 6 championship crowns are up for grabs.

The 4A-District 4 tournament will take place at the Lake Brantley High School gym starting at 10 a.m. on Saturday with the finals beginning at 8 p.m. 3A-District 6 will be held at Kissimmee-Gateway with the time schedule being the same as the 4A championships. The top four finishers in each weight class qualify for the regional championships next weekend.

The 4A-District 4 team title will not be much of a race with the five-time defending champion Lake Mary Rams the heavy favorites to add a sixth district trophy to their collection.

Lake Brantley's Patriots and Lake Howell Silver Hawks hope to vie for second place with a contingent of teams including Lyman, Mainland, DeLand, and Spruce Creek battling for the remaining spots.

Grapplers to watch are John White (Lake Howell), Greg Wyka (Lake Brantley), and a horde of Rams just ready to rumble. The Ram rompers will include the following matmen: Aaron Jordan, Justin Naumovitz, Ori Kantor, Chris Israel, Jose Carbia, Allen Lewis, Shane Stanley, and Dave Petrone.

In the 3A-District 6 championships, Seminole and Oviedo will chase after the Hornets of Bishop Moore for the team title with Wymore Career, Gateway, Osceola, Leesburg, Jones, St. Cloud, and Edgewater close behind.

Individually, there are a plethora of top notch athletes to keep the eyes peeled to. However, no one individual will win the tournament alone, it will take between five and six district champions to take the coveted title.

Bishop Moore, Seminole, and Oviedo are all well conditioned tournament teams and should make for an interesting confrontation in the finals.

For the wrecking crew of Seminole, names like Larry and Kevin Nathan, Julius Bennett, Troy Rollins, and Trent Schake send chills down opponents spines. Oviedo retaliates with names like Ken Schrupp, Kyle Larum, and Mike Kobia to their credit, but the likes of Bishop Moore and Leesburg forever loom in the dark just waiting for a grappling brawl.

Bishop Moore puts in Keith Bassett, Eric Greeno, Ron McKechnie, Dan Schroeder, Jake Nelson, and Steve Cumble on the mat in hopes of a district crown. However, the Yellow Jackets of Leesburg have a few slingers of their own with Joey Lyon, Dan Thomas, and Greg Meliot on the center mat. Gateway's hopes lie with Roy Dumars while Osceola's chances rest on the shoulders of Marvin and Tim Haven.

Some kidney stones are not dissolvable

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a uric acid stone 3/4 inch in diameter. I'm taking Uriced and allopurinol and drinking large amounts of water...

forces of the sound-shock would shatter the stone. After the procedure, the fragments could be removed by a device that is passed from the bladder up into the kidney.

this specialist can advise you about the best way to approach your problem.

(C)1989 NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

DEAR READER: Kidney stones are composed of various materials; uric acid crystals are one of the most common.

Your stone is quite large; so large, in fact, that I doubt it will ever disintegrate or shrink with the methods you describe.

However, it can form the focus for peralating urinary infection that can be very resistant to treatment.

You may need to have the stone removed surgically. In order to avoid an operation, you may want to consider the possibility of having the stone pulverized by sound waves.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

South was wise to restrain himself after his partner had opened the bidding. North's spades were not going to be helpful to him, and the play for game would be poor unless North was willing and able to raise three hearts to four.

clubs and cashed two high spades, on which he threw a club and a small diamond. What next?

The only danger is a 5-0 trump break with a possible trump promotion that would result in the loss of three trump tricks to go with the two diamond losers.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol YOUR BIRTHDAY February 11, 1989

Your greatest opportunities in the year ahead are likely to come from projects you already have under way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Find ways to express your ambitious urges today, but don't set objectives for yourself where it is sheer folly to try to make your reach exceed your grasp.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Avoid an acquaintance today who has a way of making you always feel obligated.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Business negotiations could be extremely tricky today, so don't be deceived by outward appearances. What looks good on the surface might be a facade that merely covers complications.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Any agreements you negotiate today must have parity for both parties involved.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you fall to do things methodically today, you are likely to have little to show for your efforts.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Subdue inclinations to take risks today on unfamiliar things.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Ideas that you believe in today might go over like lead balloons with key people whose support you require.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's incumbent upon you to have the final word in a matter that affects you financially.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your group involvements should work out rather pleasantly today, but you could have problems when you have to deal with others on a one-to-one basis.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Guard against tendencies today to do more than you can comfortably manage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If your budget is rather slim today, it's best to avoid activities your friends can afford but you can't.
