In addition there are civilians who own homes.

"We estimate that there are at least 1,000 homes owned by Navy people in the Seminole County community," said Krider.

Both Senators and Congressmen want to bat for us," commented John Krider as he explained that since the location of the base was not between two points in Florida but was only an expansion of present facilities they would be behind us.

Krider told the meeting last night that "Oceola is out."

"I believe that the main thing we found out was that the whole picture boils down to one thing: Oceola is in fifth or sixth place. Then the question was 'What to do?' and the answer was—expand the present base and not take a 10 to one chance in a fight for Oceola because the expansion of the Sanford Naval Air Station would have the support of everybody," he said.

"We have something we can give our teeth into," he said. Then the Chamber of Commerce Manager outlined the "things we must do."

- 1) Get additional money to carry the program on.
- 2) Look into the additional land acquisition.
- 3) Secure resolutions from all official bodies, civic clubs, and groups stating that Sanford wants the Sanford Naval Air Station with its additional noise, wants the Sanford Naval Air land acquisition, and other unattractive features.

Krider stated, in the concluding remarks of his report that "We have an Armed Forces Committee, headed by Andrew Carnegie, with a program which I believe will 'nail down the Naval Air Station'."

Bradley Odham praised John Krider and said "We're extremely fortunate in having him as Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. He's doing a terrific job. He is capable as any of us in the county."

Calling for more funds to complete all of the details necessary to submit the Sanford Story to the Secretary of the Navy, Odham said "We weren't selfish and the basis of survival—but the defense of our country must be put before all else. We're not only fighting for the base but for the money to make it an adequate base."

"I think this looks good," said Odham if we sell our advantages. We have the best living in the world."

Again praising Krider, Odham said "You've got it in good hands."

Henry Balch, reporting to the group last night said "I went along as a part of the community that is just as interested in the payoff as you are."

"One of the most important things to be recognized," said Balch, "is the Navy consciousness of good relations with the community."

Krider, speaking again pointed out that the Navy has an $11,000,000 payroll here at Sanford. "If we continue to pull together we will be able to accomplish our purpose. What is good for Sanford is good for everybody. We must drop our barriers and fight for the thing that is good for us."

"I believe we should pull all the stoppers," said Krider. Odham said "I feel that if we do the job we will get the base."

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners unanimously approved a resolution requested by the delegation. The Board instructed the City Attorney, William C. Hutchison, to prepare in accordance with the points brought out.

Red Cross Readies Self For Tornado

A. B. Peterson Jr., Disaster Chairman of the Seminole County Chapter, American Red Cross, was on the job shortly after 2 p.m. Monday when the reported tornado hit Clermont and Montverde and was blowing in Winter Garden.

When the disturbance was at the edge of the County and seemed to be pointing northeast toward Sanford, Peterson and his sub-chairman made strenuous efforts to learn more about it. The planes at the Sanford Naval Air Base had reportedly been grounded.

Fortunately the disturbance blew itself out, the community was saved the calamity and Red Cross officials did not need to alarm the public.

Dirt Gardeners' Circle To Visit Experiment Station

A visit to the Central Florida Experiment Station on Celery Ave. will be made by the Dirt Gardeners' Circle of the Sanford Garden Club on Friday, March 8.

The members will meet at the home of Mrs. M. L. Cullen, 208 S. Elliott Ave. at 10 a.m. After a brief business meeting they will proceed to the Experiment Station where Dr. R. W. Ruprecht will explain the functions of the Station and the services available which are of special interest to gardeners.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. M. L. Cullen, Mrs. R. F. Robinson, Mrs. H. N. Sayer, and Mrs. E. D. Rinehart.

Rawls Appointed Company's Field Representative

John W. Siles, General Agent in Orlando for The Volunteer Life Insurance Company, announced the appointment of Hardy W. Rawls Jr., as field representative for the Volunteer in the Sanford area.

Rawls, a native of Ocala, was educated in the public schools of Florida. He joined the Navy in 1933 and served 22 years in Naval Aviation. He was discharged with the rank of Chief Petty Officer.

Rawls is a member of the Masons, Elks, Lions and Shrine clubs. He also is a member of the Peace Officers Association. His church affiliation is Methodist.

The Rawls have three children. At present they reside at 2011 Grandview Ave. Sanford.

New Orleans In 2nd Day Of Mardi Gras Celebration

NEW ORLEANS — A half million tourists joined thousands of New Orleans Mardi Gras revelers today for a fling of "Fat Tuesday" merrymaking before the start of Lenten repentance.

The biggest attractions of this final day of funmaking will be hours of parading through Canal Street, the nation's widest, which traditionally becomes so gay that frecklers dance on the pavement. Rex, King of Mis-Rule, will lead the first of four huge parades. Following Rex and his 20 floats depicting Biblical scenes, King Zulu will ride with his band of merry Negroes.

Zulu this year is William Boyking, a teetotaler who said he wanted more decorum in this traditionally rowdiest of all the parades.

WHAT'S $2 MILLION HOLLYWOOD — Producer Michael Todd told an informal press conference that he'd prefer to make less money on "Around the World in 80 Days," if that would mean more persons could see it.

"I'd rather make $17 million and have everybody see it than make $19 million and not have everybody see it," he said. "Besides, what could I buy with that $2 million anyway?"

size of Florida cities was unexpected.

Streets were planned under a speculative influence, said Barry, for a quick property turnover with the result that there are numerous dead ends, jogs, circles and other traffic headaches. Most cities, explained the traffic engineer, have outgrown their streets.

In naming the alternatives, to alleviate the traffic tangles and smooth flow of present day travel there must necessarily be new construction.

However, the new construction would be planned through the use of expressways, street widening and off-street parking facilities. These, he said, should be planned in conjunction with making use of existing facilities.

A flexible traffic control, too, with realistic speed controls, traffic actuated signals, and the extended use of "Yield right of way" signs should be utilized.

To carry out these plans, he said, there should be parking removal if justified, one way streets, and an overall thoroughfare plan.

In the final phase of his study the Alternatives of a Traffic Planner, Barry explained how the alternatives can be promulgated.

Through the use of comprehensive studies of both traffic and the community, he commented, as he set forth four examples.

These he named as: population and registration trends, volume studies, origin and destination studies, and a street inventory.

Dr. Charles L. Persons, president, the invocation was offered by the Rev. Lucian Scott and the visiting Rotarians and guests were introduced by Sgt.-at-arms Dr. Phil Westgate.

Annual Check-Up Helps To Combat Tuberculosis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

YOU may feel perfectly well—and yet be ill with tuberculosis. For, unfortunately, in the early stages of TB—the time when the disease can most easily be cured—there usually are no symptoms to warn you of your peril.

Eventually signs do appear, but often not until the disease has reached the advanced stage. Such symptoms may include loss of appetite, loss of weight, excessive fatigue, frequent colds, fever, chronic coughing, night sweats, indigestion and spitting up of blood.

Any one or all of these symptoms might be present, yet they do not necessarily mean that you have TB. They do, however, mean that you should have a thorough physical check-up.

Even when you feel perfectly healthy, an annual examination is advisable. In addition to a thorough physical, I suggest your examination include:

- 1—A tuberculin test which can show whether TB germs are present in your body.
- 2—A chest X-ray which can show whether TB germs have done any damage.

3—Laboratory tests to find out if TB germs are growing and escaping from the body.

I urge all of you over the age of 15 to have a chest X-ray taken annually. This is especially advisable if your tuberculin test proves positive.

Watch Children While children between the ages of 5 and 15 are less likely to have active TB than are adults, they should have an annual check-up, too.

Of course, if you have been exposed to the disease, you should have examinations more frequently than once a year.

We can cure the vast majority of cases of TB. But you've got to help us help you.

QUESTION AND ANSWER F. K.: What causes ulcers? Answer: There is no definite proof as to what causes ulcers. Some believe they result from increased production of acids by the glands of the stomach; others think they are due to a blood vessel disturbance; still others believe they may be caused by some form of nerve disturbance.

1,470th Annual
Lenten Season
Opens Today

WASHINGTON — Ash Wednesday services in Catholic and Protestant churches today summoned Christians to the 1,470th annual observance of the holy season of Lent.

Lent has occupied its present place on the church calendar—the 40 weekdays and six Sundays preceding Easter—since 487 A.D. In that year, Pope Felix II formalized a custom that had been growing in Christian communities since the 2nd Century of setting aside a special period of solemn preparation for Easter.

Roman Catholics, Episcopalians and Lutherans always have placed heavy emphasis on Lent. In recent years, a growing body of Methodists, Presbyterians and other Protestants have participated in Lenten programs.

Lent traditionally recalls to Christians the 40 days of fasting and prayer that Jesus spent in the wilderness to prepare for His ministry.

Modern observances vary considerably from one Christian faith to another.

Man Commended For Observance, Prompt Action

Samuel H. Gay Jr., civilian member of the Sanford Naval Air Station Crash and Fire Division has been awarded a letter of commendation by Captain Robert W. Jackson, Commanding Officer of SNAS, for his keen attention to duty and prompt action whereby an aircraft accident aboard the station was very probably prevented.

The letter of commendation read in part: "On 24th January 1957, while an A-1 aircraft was preparing for takeoff, you attracted the attention of the crew to some discrepancy of the right main wheel of the aircraft. Upon investigation one wheel was found to have broken a bearing. Had the crew attempted to fly the aircraft in this condition, a serious accident would very probably have ensued.

It is with pleasure and gratitude that I commend you for your observance and prompt action. You may be justifiably proud of your contribution to the United States Navy."

Gay is a veteran of World War Two, and was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds sustained while serving with the Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay and their three children reside at 310 Grenola Ave., Winter Park.

Riding Club Will Meet Tomorrow

The Dusty Boots Riding Club will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Sanford Farmers' Auction Market just off Highway 17-92.

Announcement of the important session was made today by officials of the organization.

Resolutions approving the expansion of the Sanford Naval Air Station are beginning to take shape with the Board of Seminole County Commissioners and the First Christian Church of Sanford taking the lead.

Yesterday, the Board of County Commissioners presented its resolution, prepared by County Attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr., for approval.

The resolution met unanimous approval of the board.

Pointed out in the resolution was "The Board of County Commissioners recognize the need for the continued existence and expansion . . . is fully aware that there will be more noise . . . and that it would be necessary to acquire property to the east and west of the existing facility."

Yesterday, the official board of the First Christian Church approved a resolution supporting the expansion, with additional noise, of the Sanford Naval Air Station. The action by the church board was made public today by Clyde E. Feathers, Chairman of the Board.

Leater Tharp, George W. Morgan, and Pastor Perry L. Stone will draw up the resolution for signatures.

John Krider, Manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, hearing of the resolutions by the First Christian Church Board said "That is wonderful."

And he added, "More of our Sanford churches, adding their resolutions to those of civic organizations and official bodies, would have much weight if they are included in the brochure of resolutions we plan to send to Washington."

The Sanford Kiwanis Club approved its resolution at its luncheon meeting today.

Krider, this morning, said that (Continued on Page 10)

Committee Meet

A meeting of the Seminole County Children's Committee has been called for Tuesday, March 12, at the School Administration Building on Commercial Ave.

The session will get underway at 4 p.m. and all members are urged to be present.

Though the sponsorship of the Friendship Circle, Max Stephens, president, the church acquired a new Print-O-Matic duplicator which is electrically driven and fully automatic.

The board also approved plans presented by the property committee, Chandler Vail, chairman, to amend with cypress the rear of the sanctuary channel to match the ceiling.

Israel Starts Troop Withdrawal Today

UNEF Awaits Orders

Israel began withdrawing from the Gaza region in the wake of a series of ambush attacks on Israeli forces there during the night. One Israeli soldier was killed and two wounded. An Arab resident of Gaza also was killed.

A strict curfew was clamped on the Gaza region in the wake of a series of ambush attacks on Israeli forces there during the night. One Israeli soldier was killed and two wounded. An Arab resident of Gaza also was killed.

An official report in Jerusalem said the Gaza Strip would be evacuated of Israeli military and civilian administrators tonight.

U.N. Troops Await Orders

Troops of the United Nations Emergency Force were at the border of the Gaza Strip, waiting to take over from the Israelis. Long convoys carrying Indian, Swedish and Colombian units moved to the frontier throughout the day.

At Sharm el Sheikh the evacuation was to all intents and purposes completed, equipment having been loaded aboard two ships and a flight of cargo planes. The actual departure from this control site on the Gulf of Aqaba was a mere formality.

The Arab world fell in line with peaceful moves as Israeli forces left the last segments of Egyptian territory taken during the invasion of last October.

In Damascus, the Syrian government gave permission for re-entrance of the vital oil pipelines which were blown up during the Anglo-French attack on Egypt.

Canal Work Expected

The next step apparently will be an okay by Egypt for a U.N. salvage force to complete clearance of the Suez Canal. Egypt had delayed reopening the vital waterway until Israel completed its pullout.

Court Refuses To Review Dispute Over Harness Track

TALLAHASSEE — The Supreme Court refused today to review a dispute over location of a harness racing track near a dog track in Seminole County until it is first settled in Leon Circuit Court.

Attorneys for the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club asked the court to clarify a 1947 law prohibiting location of one race track within 100 miles of another. The proposed harness track, approved by Seminole County voters last November, would be about three miles from the dog track.

Miami Attorney Carl T. Hoffman said a 1963 decision by Justice H. K. Roberts failed to clear up the question of whether the law applied only to identical racing facilities or would also prevent a horse track from locating within 100 miles of a dog track.

Dog track attorneys brought suit in Leon Circuit Court, naming the Racing Commission as one defendant since the commission had issued a permit to the harness track. The Supreme Court indicated at oral arguments Feb. 25 that the only matter it felt it could consider at this time was whether the election was actually held and "that question is now moot."

ICR Official Says South's Industrial Development Great

"Industrial development in the South shows strength and growth potential unequalled in its history," said Robert A. Trevillion of Chicago, vice-president in charge of traffic for the Illinois Central Railroad. Trevillion is visiting the railroad's sales and service offices in Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Tennessee. During his month-long trip he will also visit with business and industrial leaders in this area to appraise business outlook for future months of 1957. With the Illinois Central traffic executive in Sanford yesterday were P. A. Webb Jr., Assistant Freight Traffic Manager, Birmingham, and D. W. Wollen, Commercial Agent, Orlando.

Trevillion said national industrial expansion during 1954 should prove to be nearly $35 billion, up about $4 billion from 1953. He said the South shared in this expansion to the extent of $10 billion. The Illinois Central traffic officer said it has been predicted that by 1965 the South will have about 30 per cent of the country's manufacturing facilities, which will mean the addition of 10,000 new plants during the next ten years.

Citing facts concerning manufacturing growth in the South, Trevillion said:

"The South has increased its share of the country's manufacturing facilities from 9 per cent in 1900 to 22 per cent today. World (Continued on Page Ten)

CHAPTER 13

HASTILY withdrew into the chest when I saw Mr. Bell and Miss Webb kissing. I tried to make myself as comfortable as possible. It looked as though I might be here for some time. It was all right for them. You can live on love. But me, I was without food or water.

"Darling," I heard Leone gasp, "it's so horrible, happening now, now when everything was going to be so perfect for us."

"I know, my dear," Bell cooed. "I know."

"Can't we go through with it anyhow, just the way we planned, no matter what happens? No one need find out."

"But they would find out, my angel. The papers would get hold of it. Those infernal communists."

"What if they did? I wouldn't care."

"But how would it look, Leone, this sort of appearance. This ghastly business about Anita, my school involved. And you and I running off to be married in the middle of it all. It would seem so very callous."

"Yes, of course you're right, Oliver. As usual. But can't you come home with me? Now, I mean. My lovely apartment's there, waiting for us."

"Please," Bell pleaded, "please, Leone. We mustn't risk my gossip. His voice turned playfully, coyly severe. "And I must say, your behavior just now during business hours... really, Miss Webb!"

"No sorry, Mr. Bell," Leone was smacking her own efficiency. "We won't let it happen again, will we? Well, just once more. Now, for instance."

"Darling..."

After a long moment and some small murmurs, I heard a click and then the sound of a door opening and closing. I opened my door and shot through the darkened conference room. I got my gloves, hat, coat and purse out of my locker. I had a few things, which might or might not mean anything, to report to Steve.

The elevator was so crowded that when its operator explored his passengers to face the front it was all I could do to obey. Then I realized I hadn't. My nose was practically flattened against the back of a young man's neck. As I pulled back my head and my eyes focused, that neck, the ears above it, the set of the shoulders beneath it seemed familiar. I tried to place them. I was trapped too tightly in the now descending car to edge around for a look at the face, so I had to be content to work with what I could see.

Immediately, I eliminated Mr. Bell. Ear-wise, this couldn't be he. Besides, Bell was taller, older. Then I eliminated Bob Spencer. Neck-wise, Bob was taller, shoulder-wise, too. This young man had an athletic cast to him... and then I had it.

This was the young man whose voice I had heard in Studio J, next heard making a phony excuse to a policeman for his presence at 11 Rhinebeck Place.

This was a young man I wanted to know more about.

It soon developed that this was a young man in a hurry. Almost before I knew it I was chasing after him through the chilly December night...

...up Madison Avenue, down into an independent Subway Station, onto an R train bound for Long Island. My maneuvering to keep out of his sight proved unnecessary. He was slouched down in his seat. His hat was pushed so far back off his juvenile, clean-cut face that his crew cut was showing. He was scowling at the floor as though he disapproved of it. He was so engrossed in his own troubles that I could have sat on his lap without his noticing it.

We had a nice, long subway ride together.

He almost missed his stop; he came to just in time. I was lucky to get out between the closing doors. We were in New Gardens. I wondered, nervously, what in the world we were doing in New Gardens.

He walked rapidly through a business district. I stayed across the street from him. In the middle of the last block of stores, before the terrain went purely residential, was a still lighted stationery-tobacco type shop. He disappeared into it, leaving me with my mouth open, gasping for air. I hesitated gratefully against a hobby shop window and waited.

Five minutes later he was still in there. The store had no side exits that he might have used. I was sure that he hadn't known I was following him, so he wouldn't have asked to use the store's rear exit to elude me. I decided I had better investigate.

I crossed the street, eased up to the glass door and saw immediately that, except for the chubby, youngish woman behind the counter, the store was empty. My man had gone.

I went into the store. There was a phone booth in the corner; there was no one in it.

"Yes, miss?" The lady's voice was sweet as sugar. "Can I help you?"

"I saw a young fellow come in here a few minutes ago. I thought I recognized him."

"You mean Jack Walston? He's the last person came in."

"Yes, Jack Walston! I haven't seen him for years."

"Not for years, huh? Where'd you know Jack?"

"We... we went to school together."

"Really?" The lady was so pleased it made me wish Jack and I had gone to school together. "Grade or high?"

"Grade."

"Grade?"

Value Of Florida Citrus, Agriculture Products Soars

ORLANDO —The value of Florida citrus and agricultural products soared to a record-smashing $490,823,000 last year—an increase of 38 million.

Citrus production led the way with nearly half the total value of the crops at $211,621,000. This was a whopping increase of $48,363,000 over 1935.

Vegetable growers produced the greatest tonnage in history—nearly 2,650,000 tons—but income fell about 4 million to 181 million.

The impressive production growth was announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture Marketing service in its 1936 Florida crop summary.

The report said the output of "food, feed and fiber" reached a new record of 8,800,000 tons.

The state's 37 principal crops were grown on 2,354,000 acres last year, an average increase of 33,000 over the previous year.

The orange crop was the biggest individual money-maker, bringing in $200,375,000. Grapefruit totaled $23,868,000; tangerines $10,170,000 and other citrus $1,308,000.

Among the vegetables, tomatoes were well out in front in valuation at $35,600,000 followed by potatoes at $24,700,000. The bean crop was valued at $18,000,000, watermelons at $18,000,000 and sweet corn at $13,800,000.

Field crop valuation last year totaled about $62,200,000, a $2,700,000 drop from 1935. In dollar value, tobacco topped the field crops at $20,800,000.

Docks, Terminals Project Is Important To County's Growth

The year 1957 is still young—only 64 days old!

What will this brand new year have in store for Sanford during its 1957 career?

An expanded Naval Air Station? New industry?

An assortment of commercial establishments?

The Capital Improvement program including the Sanford Civic Center and a new fire house?

And the proposed Docks and Terminals?

How wonderful it is to live in Sanford—the most progressive spot in the entire nation at the moment—just wrapped up in the most friendly community in the world.

All of these things can become realities before the last whistle, the last horn blows marking the old year out on December 31st.

If one wanted to be pessimistic—one or two of the projects could be ruled out—maybe! But who wants to be pessimistic?

Everyone is filled with enthusiasm—there is a feeling of optimism circulating now—and the general attitude is "let's put our noses to the grindstone and get something done now!"

The same feeling of optimism is being felt in other parts of the country, especially where Docks and Terminals projects are being constructed... or where they have been completed.

Actually the general improvement of the nation's river terminal situation during the past year was revolutionary, according to a national organization which keeps tabs on the trend toward water freight traffic.

Frankly, it was the greatest progress in the construction, improvement, enlargement and modernization of river ports, harbors, terminals and docks.

Commercial use of the nation's 28,996 miles of inland waterways is no longer restricted and circumscribed by a lack of river terminals, ports and harbors.

One can readily see what is being missed here at Sanford without the proposed Docks and Terminals project.

The United States now has 152 ports with more than one million tons of water-borne commerce. There are 260 with more than 100,000 tons. The freight traffic on eighty-six inland waterways exceeds one million tons. And, believe it or not, the total ton-mileage of freighting on the inland waterways passed the one hundred billion mark in 1956.

This makes good reading too for Sanford and Seminole county citizens: Fourteen hundred waterside sites were picked during the last three years for new industries in the million-dollar category. With some exceptions these new plants have built barge docks to handle their fuel, raw materials and products. Hundreds of smaller satellite plants have been built around these major industries for the fabrication of their products or to provide services essential to the operations of the major plants.

A list of docks and terminals for river-rail-truck freight services, received yesterday, takes four typewritten pages so vast is the expansion of this most important project to the nation.

Here at Sanford, the economy must be supplemented.

In order to furnish Central Florida with the complete services that it justly deserves Sanford will grow and prosper with the establishment of the proposed docks and terminals.

Evidence, from careful study and survey, reveals that Sanford will become the Wholesale Distribution Center for Florida—and such is the title which appears on the front-spread of the survey which is to be reviewed at next Monday night's meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

There can be no growth without first an investment—there can be no progress without first a goodly amount of work. Certainly, those of us who will undoubtedly profit from the complete project in terms of satisfaction for a job well done, will be called upon to make an investment and do some work toward making the docks and terminals project a reality and a success.

With the unity of purpose now prevailing in Sanford and Seminole County there is no indication that the project will not be completed or that it will not be successful. In reverse—all indications point toward accomplishment.

This is an "All Hands" project—as it might be referred to in the Navy.

While we're working and supporting one of our city's most important projects and economic necessities—let's put our other shoulder under another project of great importance and level the load.

We've all heard the quip "kill two birds with one stone"—this time let's complete two projects with one big gigantic effort.

Stock Swindle Increase

There has been a marked increase in the number of people—and especially people of modest means and income—who are investing a part of their savings in stocks. These people, in other words, are buying a direct personal interest in the capitalist system, and that is all to the good.

What is definitely bad, however, is an upsurge in stock swindles, which are designed to rob the gullible, the greedy and the unwary of their money and which often succeed to the tune of many millions of dollars.

A prominent business and financial columnist writes, "A new wave of stock swindles is sweeping the land." She adds that before has the Securities and Exchange Commission "had to deal with such widespread fraud, deceit and manipulation in the sale of securities as now."

The reputable brokerage houses and stock exchanges, no less than the SEC and other government agencies, are doing everything possible to rid the securities business of the crooks. But they can't succeed fully unless they have the help of an informed and intelligent investing public. That means a public which turns a deaf ear to high-powered sales pitches, tips and rumors—and a public which deals with established dealers only and investigates before it buys. The basic point it covered by the columnist in these words: "Use your head. If and when you buy securities, know why you're buying, what you're buying, and from and through whom you're buying."

Farmers' Spendable Income Rises In '56

WASHINGTON, Pa.—The Agriculture Department says that farmers' spendable income in 1956 rose to an estimated $11,836,000, 600-$900 million more than in 1955.

But because of a slightly rising farm population, the spendable income of each man, woman, and child from farm sources averaged $590-$7 less than in 1955.

Spendable income, technically realized net income, is the amount available for spending after the farmer has paid all his production expenses. It does not include any adjustment for the value of changes in crop and livestock inventories.

Soil bank and wool incentive program payments accounted for about 300 million of the increase in realized net income. The remaining 200 million reflected increased cash receipts from farm marketings which were only partly offset by higher production expenses.

There was a net liquidation of about 250 million of inventories in livestock and crops, especially cattle. In 1955, there was a net accumulation of 340 million in inventories.

Net income of farm operators after adjustment for inventory change was 11.6 billion in 1956 compared with 11.7 billion in 1955.

The 1956 realized net income of 11.8 billion in terms of buying power was only 3 per cent above 1955 because last year's dollar was worth only about 99 cents in terms of the 1955 dollar. This decline in the value of farm dollars reflected the fact that prices of non-agricultural goods and services increased more than farm prices last year.

In its final report on 1956 farm income, the department said the total income of the farm population amounted to 19.8 billion, one per cent above 1955. This included 11.8 billion after adjustment for inventory change, 1.7 billion in farm wages, and 6.3 billion of income from non-farm sources.

Using the total income from both farm and non-farm sources as a base, the per capita income of the farm population was $89, up one per cent from the $81 average of 1955.

Three-fourths of the increase in government payments 243 million was attributable to initial payments, beginning in September under the soil bank.

These payments were mostly sizable amounts for wheat and for corn, but they also included cotton and smaller amounts for tobacco, rice and peanuts. About 54 million of the total increase represented the first annual incentive wool payments, beginning in July.

The realized net income per farm in 1956 was $2,415, compared with $2,364 in 1955.

A "SHATTERING" STOP
RICHMOND, Ind. — Police were "shattered" Monday when they had to close U. S. Highway 40 for a hour and sweep up a mess. A truck driver following a car had to jam on his brakes when the car came to a sudden halt. The truck was carrying eight panes of glass, each nine feet square and a half inch thick.

HARTFORD, Conn. — State Rep. Henry Fenne of Westport drove 70 miles to the legislature here in a jeep equipped with a plow during a heavy snowstorm.

SET EXAMPLE
SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Police Chief Elmer Jansen took off 12 pounds by dieting before he ordered a crackdown on his overweight police force.

STREET NAMES SCORED
WILTON, Conn. — The Wilton Historical Society objected strongly to a Town Planning Commission proposal to name two new streets "Pink Cloud Lane" and "Thistle Lane." The society referred to the first as "silly" and said the other was a "most pernicious weed."

UNCONQUERED SOUND BARRIER

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay

Sometimes it pays to be unconventional.

LI. Col. Wade Cameron (Ret.) U. S. Air Force tried it and it paid off splendidly. On retiring from the armed services, Col. Cameron wanted to find employment.

Most folks would have been satisfied to run a conventional advertisement in the situation wanted column of the newspaper, but the colonel decided to try something different as a means of attracting the attention of executives.

He ran an advertisement in the Tampa Tribune that read as follows:

"Win a Lifetime Employment Contract for Executives Only! First prize: An intelligent, personable, retired Air Force LI. Colonel, 40, married, GUARANTEED to meet and perform the highest requirements of your organization.

This contest is open to ALL executives. To qualify you need only to have a bona fide opening and be able to answer 'yes' to the following questions:

1. Do I need a mature man, one who learns quickly, adapts easily, capable of fitting into a responsible position in my organization?

2. Must this man be alert, exercise sound judgment, possess good common sense?

3. Is this position one that requires enthusiasm and the ability to create it; does it present a challenge, offer a future?"

Applicants were asked to send entries to a box number care of the Tribune.

Not very long after the ad appeared things began to happen. He received a check from the READER'S DIGEST for permission to reprint his ad in the January issue of this popular publication.

Then he received a lot of mail including just about every kind of a job offer, ranging from farm hand to house-to-house salesman as well as an invitation to become administrative assistant to the president of a substantial firm.

Despite the clear wording, two men, both college graduates, read it as an advertisement for help and applied for jobs. Four letter writers, including a class taking a business course at Fresno State College in Fresno Calif., inquired as to the results he received.

An 87-year-old woman in Washington, Pa. appealed to him to quit trying to make money and join her in a fight against tobacco. A Deepwater, Mo. farmer rather poetically described the joys of farming and offered him a job on the farm.

A native of Caluso, Torino, wrote from Italy believing the ad was one seeking men. From Wahoo, Neb. came an offer of construction work and a Petersburg, Va. attorney proposed the colonel take on the display and promotion of an exhibit of Civil War materials.

An outright offer of a post as his administrative assistant came from the president of a firm.

However before the flood of replies came the colonel had found his own job manufacturing floor covering which it is claimed will wear 16 months without renewing. The plastic covering is made by the Chem-Oil Corporation in Miami.

Florida's Underwater Miracle

NEW YORK — What hath Florida wrought now?

An underwater miracle, that's what it hath. "The lure of the deep" was only a phrase before. Now it means something.

Florida, you may recall, is the place where a real estate man is undertaking to air-condition the outdoors—by putting big air-conditioning units in the palm trees of a three-acre plot.

It is the place that has manicured and face-lifted and clothed a lot of swampland and other ugly and many acreage into choral-line comeliness.

Beauty Under Water

Having thus taken care of land air, it naturally has moved into the business of improving the fin-ny deep. What it is doing underwater is perhaps characteristic.

Something old has been added. Sex. This is cold sex, but it is permanent.

The idea, majestic in its simplicity, is this: Put Sophia Loren forever underwater in your swimming pool. In sculptured mermaid form, of course. Miss Loren is an Italian movie actress who is heavenly endowed even without the addition of a mermaid's tail.

The noble notion of having her in the swim with you popped out of the brain of Col. Terrell J. Murrell, a builder of cooperative apartment skyscrapers. It is a notion that takes some money as well as some doing.

Marble Mermaids

Colonel Murrell has commissioned an Italian sculptor, Franco Mosti Echevarria, to sculpt three lifelike marble mermaids, modeled after Miss Loren, to haunt the depths of just one private swimming pool. This pool is to go with his latest luxury apartment project, in Fort Lauderdale.

He conceived the marble mermaid idea while a military commander in World War II in Italy, where, it says, here in the blue I'm reading "he acquired a taste for Italian statuary."

He believes the resident owners of his building will be "people who appreciate the aesthetic and humorous aspects of the figures." They'll also be people who are quietly beamed. To give you an idea what kind of joint this is, you may have your choice of two penthouse suites for only $250,000.

TB Is Still A Threat

By NEWMAN R. RUBINSON, M.D.

YOU DON'T hear much about tuberculosis any more. Get into a discussion with anyone about the disease and they're likely to respond:

"TB? Why that's all licked. Look how the death rate has dropped. It's no problem any more."

Well, let's look at the record. It's true, fortunately, that we have cut the TB death rate by 90 percent in the last half century.

Still A Threat

But it's also true that tuberculosis still strikes one American every five minutes; that nearly 60,000,000 Americans are infected with TB germs right now, and that about 400,000 of them have active cases.

At least 1,200,000 of these TB victims need medical care or medical supervision for either active or inactive cases. And 400,000 of them probably don't even know they have the disease.

With so many persons capable of spreading the infection, I think you'll agree that tuberculosis still presents quite a sizable problem.

Likely Victims

Who is likely to become a victim of TB?

Anytime, anywhere. It can kill at all ages.

Recently, however, we have observed that TB is becoming more a disease of older persons. More new cases and more deaths occur in middle life and old age than in the younger years.

Men appear to be more vulnerable since TB attacks about twice as many men as women. Especially hard hit by the disease are Negroes, Americans of Spanish descent and American Indians.

You give the germ a better chance to gain a foothold if you are in poor general health. An inadequate diet, frequent exposure to infections, poor housing—these are among the numerous health and social problems which help lower the body's resistance.

Yet, even if you're in good health, you've got to protect yourself from the ever present danger of tuberculosis.

To be sure, see your doctor.

Dallas Eagles Start Preliminary Practice, Workouts Yesterday

The Dallas Eagles took yesterday's threatening weather philosophically as the entire team announced arrival and began working out in preliminary practice.

The infield catching and outfield roster was said last night to have been completed and some 15 members of the Class AA Texas League team prepared to take part in accelerated training beginning this morning.

Catching Staff
Leonard Jackson

R-R; age 23; 6'2"; 200 pounds; from Carleton, N. C.; married. Participated in baseball, basketball and football in high school. Earned 11 letters in baseball, state baseball and basketball. Signed first professional contract in June, 1952, with Topeka, Kan. Hobbies are golf and cross-word puzzles. Drafted by Dallas from Macon in Dec. 1954. Was originally signed by Chicago Cubs for a large bonus. Second-string catcher in 1955 for Dallas; last year went to Johnston for opportunity to work regularly.

Roger M. McCordell

R-R; age 24; 6'0"; 210 pounds; from Rising Sun, Md.; single. Attended Boston University and was captain of the baseball team for two years at West Nottingham Prep School. Signed first professional contract in 1950 with Milwaukee Brewers. Was a member of the pennant winning Jacksonville, Fla. club in 1953. Is a furniture refinisher in the off season. Hobby is music and he plays a trumpet. Drafted from Jacksonville in Dec. 1954, where he saw action last year.

Raymond L. Murray

R-R; age 37; 6'3"; 204 pounds; from Ft. Worth, Tex.; married and has one son. Outstanding catcher for Oklahoma City in 1948 through 1949, then was rewarded with chance with Cleveland in 1950. Traded to Philadelphia Athletics in 1951 as part of three-club deal with Chicago White Sox; sold in 1954 to Baltimore. Purchased by Dallas in 1955. Hobbies are hunting, fishing and golf. Always one of the most popular players in all cities of the League. Suffered a broken thumb in Aug. 1955, and missed the balance of the season. Voted Texas League "Player of Year" in 1955 despite injury. Purchased by New York Giants at end of 1955 season. Suffered injured knee, but went to spring training with Giants in 1956. He re-injured the knee by stepping on a catcher's mask. Had an operation and then returned to Dallas in May, 1956, however, he stayed out of action until after the All-Star game. During the winter months he has been exercising the knee by sitting exercises, then lifting weights attached to feet.

Infield Staff
Melvin Collins

R-R; age 24; 5'10"; 168 pounds; from Danville, Va.; married and has one daughter. Attended school in Danville, Va., and earned two letters in basketball, three in baseball, and Most Valuable Player in 1950. Signed first professional contract in April, 1951, with Franklin, Va. Set league record for double plays at shortstop with 105 in 1955. Is a construction worker in the winter. Hobbies are hunting and fishing. Purchased from Danville, Va., Sept. 1955. Had his best season of his career last season in Class A ball with Johnston, Pa.

Ramon Conde

R-R; age 22; 5'8"; 165 pounds; from Juana Diaz, Puerto Rico; married and has one child. Attended school in Puerto Rico and participated in sports. Has played three seasons of winter ball in Puerto Rico. Signed first professional contract with Sioux City in the Giant chain in 1954. Good fielder and he has good power. Has had three great years in Class A competition. He saw action last year in Johnston, Pa.

Alex Cosmides

R-R; age 27; 5'7"; 160 pounds; from Norfolk, Va.; married and has one son. Signed first professional contract in fall of 1950 with the Chicago White Sox. Lettered three years in baseball in school and was captain one year. Attended Illinois Wesleyan Univ. Proved to be the real spark-plug of the Dallas infield last year and is expected to be key man again this season. In 1955, he set a new Texas League record for second baseman with the most consecutive games without an error (66), with 211 total chances, another record. In winter baseball the past season, he hit .354 for Cullacian, Mexico of the Mexican Pacific Coast League.

Edward Horvick

R-R; age 26; 6'2"; 212 pounds; from Rural Ridge, Pa.; single. Earned four letters in baseball and voted "Most Valuable Player" and on All-Star team while in high school. Signed first professional contract with Mayfield, Ken. in 1954. Operated a service station in the off season. Saw action last year with St. Cloud, Minn.

Willie Lee McCovey

First base; L-L; age 19; 6'4"; 190 pounds; from Mobile, Ala.; single. Voted on all-city basketball teams two years in high school. Signed first professional contract in March, 1955, with Sandersville, Ga. Hobbies are reading and movie. Purchased in Sept. 1956, from Danville, where he saw action last year.

Alan Bynum Miller

R-R; age 25; 5'11"; 180 pounds; from Oklahoma City, Okla.; married and has one son. Participated in baseball, football and basketball while in high school, and was selected for the Oklahoma All-State baseball team at Tulsa University. Signed first professional contract in 1951 with Columbus, Works for Wilson and Co. meat packers in the off season. Hobbies are hunting and fishing. He did not play ball last year.

Antonio Taylor

R-R; age 21; 5'9"; 170 pounds; from Matanzas, Cuba; single. Signed first professional contract with Texas City in 1954. Plays winter baseball. Hobby is music. Purchased from Johnston in Sept. 1954. Played for Sally Parker at Danville, Va. last season.

Mickey Sullivan

Outfielder and infielder; R-R; age 25; 5'11"; 185 pounds; from Houston, Tex.; single. Signed by Dallas for sizeable bonus after graduating from Baylor, where he was All-Southwest Conference for three years. On Collegiate All-American team in 1953 and 1954. SWC batting average for three years: .358, .400, .519. Lettered two years at Baylor Univ. in football. Played high school football, baseball and basketball at Sam Houston High School in Houston. Has served as Eagle utility man for last two seasons. Played four positions last year—outfield, first, second and third base.

Outfielding Staff
Wiley Moore

R-R; age 27; 5'11"; 185 pounds; from Muleshoe, Tex.; married and has two children. Outstanding in football, baseball and track at Muleshoe High. Awarded four letters in both football and basketball. Has a great arm, and cuts down many runners on the base paths. Rated one of the greatest defensive outfielders in Dallas history—and lived up to the reputation last season. Led Texas League in 1956, in games played 156; putouts, 327; fowest errors, 7 in 155 games; chances, 335; and average, .980. Played in more games last year than any sixth year with Dallas. Batting average with Dallas for the last five seasons shows a steady, consistent improvement with the bat.

Joe Moran

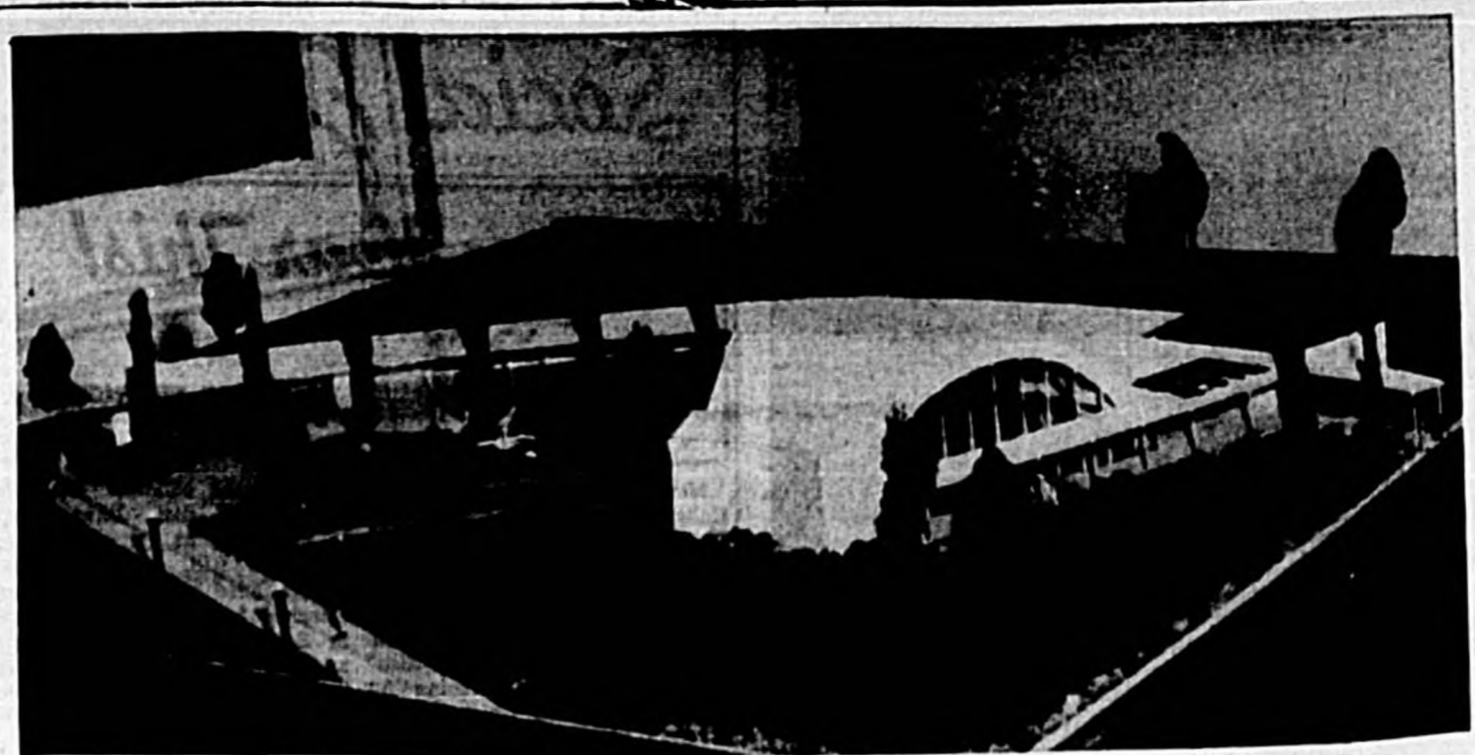

L-R; age 22; 5'10"; 180 pounds; from Omaha, Neb.; married. Attended school in Omaha and Omaha Univ. Was captain of the baseball team in high school and lettered one year in college baseball. Signed first professional contract in 1953 with Shawnee, Okla. Was scouted while playing American Legion Baseball and led that league in hitting for two years. Works for Wilson and company in the off season. Purchased from Sioux City in Sept., 1955.

Bobby Prescott

R-R; age 26; 5'11"; 175 pounds; from Paraiso, Canal Zone; single. Graduated from Arts and Crafts College of Panama City. Signed first professional contract with Denver in 1952. Plays winter ball in 1956. Hobby is table tennis. Drafted from Williamsport Club in 1953. Broke his ankle early in 1956 in Tulsa; was out until August, would have been regular outfielder. Played winter ball and it is hoped the off-season play has brought his ankle around for this year.

Bob Smith

R-R; age 25; 6'2"; 203 pounds; from Nashville, Tenn.; married. Has a BS degree from Vanderbilt Univ. Signed first professional contract in 1954 with Giants and R-R; age 27; 6'0"; 175 pounds; from Los Angeles, Calif. Fast, skillful outfielder. Acquired by Giant organization in a trade with the White Sox in the fall of 1955. His play with Memphis in 1955 attracted attention of Giant scout Tom Sheehan who described him as an "Eino Slaughter type player," the service in 1953 and 1954. Very fast, fine arm. get past recreation. But it did bring about a spirited discussion that took in contributions from every side and every angle of the recreation problem.

Teachers, ministers, social workers, parents, and students participated in the discussion that revealed that young people want someplace to go, something to do—and not the same old thing over and over again.

What is your answer? Some said that the problem was a basic one to the home; the parents were trying to shove their home responsibilities off on the city. Others said that the parents should work more closely with the children, should broaden their interests, should include a more completely rounded home life.

Others confessed that the need was present and something must be done about it—children must be guided, directed, and, above all, kept busy learning, doing, and through this, appreciating new and better things.

One high school student, who was not on the panel but had just come to watch, pinpointed the problem. "We need something to give us spirit," he said. His emotionally charged delivery brought a round of applause from the entire P.T.A. body in attendance.

It seems generally recognized that Sanford needs something something besides talk. It also seems recognized that whatever Sanford needs it must be extensive, long range, and, above all, supervised.

Take a poll on any group of representative teenagers; that want some place to go and something to do. Their problem is that nobody understands them. Is it all a farce? Is actually what's needed a revival of traditional education and home life?

Why does Sanford have a losing attitude? Or does it? And if so, why? And what is to be done about it?

The discipline problem in Sanford and Seminole County is very small. Generally the young people are clean, honest people raised from the good soil of Florida's rich farm belt. Good homes and good families predominate.

What, then, is the answer? Or, rather, what is the problem?

An old adage that has been largely proven true throughout this great democracy of ours is: "As goes the young people, so goes the community."

Some say that the teachers need more money. That would attract good leaders to the profession and keep the good ones in the school system. Without doubt the good of the young people, students of life, if you please, need, deserve, are entitled to the best for them. What is the best?

We sincerely want to know.

Chamberlain, Forte Are No. 1 Choice On 1957 UP Team

By NORMAN MILLER

NEW YORK — Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and Chet Forte of Columbia, the tallest and smallest of the nation's college basketball stars, were the outstanding choices today on the 1957 United Press All-America team.

The three other players honored in a nationwide poll of 281 sports writers and radio and television broadcasters were Lennie Rosenbluth of North Carolina's top-ranked Tar Heels; Grady Wallace of South Carolina, the major college scoring leader; and "Hot Rod" Hundley of West Virginia.

Chamberlain, the celebrated 7-foot basketball center, is the second sophomore ever to win a place on the United Press first All-America team. Tom Gola of LaSalle was so honored in 1953. The four other players are seniors and Rosenbluth and Hundley moved up from last season's second team.

The first of these is the Masters, April 4-7, and after that the most coveted championships will be the U. S. Open, the PGA and the world at Chicago.

Heroes In Masters

There will be a host of the old heroes in the Masters. Tommy Armour, Billy Burke, Ed Dudley, Ralph Guldahl, Lawson Little, Tony Manero, Byron Nelson, Johnny Revolta, Paul Runyan, Gene Sarazen, Denny Shute, and Craig Wood.

None of these probably has the ghost of a chance to win. But you can't say that about such stillwilling warhorses as Demaret, the 45-year-old Snead and Hogan, who is 43 going on 44.

"If you have the desire and you get your game in shape, you always have a chance," explains Snead.

Demaret's game, as the youngsters will tell you, is red hot. With Hogan and Snead, it's merely a matter of practice. The old guard unquestionably is still in business.

IT'S LIKE TWO ENGINES IN ONE!

Announcing OLDSMOBILE'S NEW J2 ROCKET!

It's the most exciting engine development since the first Rocket was launched! Engineers have dreamed for years of an engine that combined exceptional horsepower and torque potential with outstanding fuel economy in normal operation. And today, Olds has it in the new J2 Rocket! You'll find it's like two engines under the hood!

In your day-to-day driving, you enjoy the smooth, alert action of the Rocket—with the fuel economy of dual carburetion and a 10-to-1 compression ratio. But to meet the exceptional driving situation, just open the accelerator beyond the 3/4 point and two additional carburetors automatically jet into action. There's an instant boost in torque and power. You'll appreciate the immediate response as another Olds contribution to your pleasure and safety at the wheel!

TRIPLE-ACTION RESERVE POWER!
Simply nudge the accelerator beyond the 3/4 mark and you "roll out the reserve." The J2 Rocket then operates on three dual carburetors. J2 is available now at a modest extra cost. Try it!

Conring The News

BY VIRGINIA CONN

This is the kind of day when I wish I were a columnist who wrote "spares" to be thrown as fillers during ill health. The virus has trapped me and every one else in town, and I'm feeling mighty low. So this will be short if not sweet.

The Vah-9 luncheon at Ronnie's in Orlando was colorful, and not only from the hibiscus and fern that centered the table cloth of yellow. Fruit salad was the main course, and flowers weren't even needed the plates were so gay. Unfortunately it was too much for everyone, except the two smarties who got away with shrimp. Since Ruth Barron was a hostess with me,

I feel qualified to state my opinions. But it was fun, and everyone had plenty to eat. Guests were Pat Todd and Dodge King, formerly of nine, Mrs. Ross, with her daughter-in-law, Shirley, Betty Hazlett, Dornell Killiney, Betty McBranie, Mary Carman, Toni Waters, Fran Murray, Betty Day, Pauline Byus, Muriel Gildwell, and her guest Claire Summerhayes, Skip Horrell, Mary Nelson, Marcia Cousins, Lola Grander, Mary Jane McCarthy, Betty Hillner, Bobbie Thompson and Millie Thomas. Mary Nelson was selected to be the model for the Officer's Wives Club fashion show this month. And if you will forgive me, I must depart.

BIG DEAL AT STETSON

Six attractive Stetson girls were chosen this week as candidates for the ROTC "Military Queen" to be selected at the annual Military Ball Mar. 16. The girls will be participants in the university's colorful "Military Week" which will get under way Mar. 11 and close with the Ball. Each contestant represents a unit of the ROTC cadet battalion. "Military Week" will be the social highlight of the spring semester at Stetson. Fraternities will hold open houses throughout the week and invitations to attend all festivities have been sent to prominent DeLand citizens.

Activities will begin with a full dress parade March 11 honoring the City of DeLand, and the Stetson campus community. On Mar. 13, the ROTC headquarters will have an "open house" for the exhibition of training facilities and weapons. A ROTC summer camp movie will be shown on March 14 and the annual Military Edition of the Stetson Reporter will make its appearance on Mar. 15 in celebration of the week. The seventh annual Military Ball, featuring a St. Patrick's Day theme, will end activities on Mar. 16.

NAMES IN THE NEWS
A mighty excited girl this week is SANDRA MONFORTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Monforton, who has just been selected as May Queen of 1957 at Virginia Intermont Junior College in Bristol, Virginia. Sixteen girls were candidates for this honor.

An entire week of May Day festivities will begin the last week of May with activities taking place in a beautiful natural hillside theatre on the Virginia Intermont campus.

Also taking part in these festivities over which her sister will reign as queen will be SONJA MONFORTON. Mr. and Mrs. Monforton plan to travel up for this, one of the big events of the year.

But this isn't all the news about these girls—during Religious Focus Week, the Drama Department of Virginia Intermont presented a tableau representing famous paintings of women in the Bible. Selected as Mary and Martha were SANDRA AND SONJA MONFORTON.

The tableau was presented at a special request—the last time it had been featured was in 1947. Religious Focus Week at Virginia Intermont is one of the outstanding features of the college year and is attended by many from surrounding areas.

Aren't we proud to know people with such outstanding activities as these girls? Congratulations!

Here is an excerpt from the sports page of the Stetson Reporter that is of interest: "In an interquart baseball game Saturday several freshmen made a fine bid for a starting berth. Dick Saltick, backhome of the mound staff, displayed fine form along with sophomore J. L. Tyra an Freshman JIM HAWKINS. Both Tyra and HAWKINS show good potential and should prove worthy additions to the team." Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hawkins of Lake Monroe. We'll be rooting for you from the first game on Mar. 13, Jim!

Home this weekend for the first time since entering Uoff this spring was WAYNE MCCOY son of Mr. and Mrs. Evans McCoy.

Final Plans Made For Smorgasbord Supper March 16

BY GRACE THURSTON

The Ethel Root Circle of the Congregational Christian Church met Monday evening in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Mrs. Ralph Lossing, president, opened the meeting after which Mrs. Mary Schmah read the devotional in the absence of Mrs. Lucille Robinson.

Secretary and treasurer reports were read and accepted. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Herbert Thurston and Mrs. Harold Herbst, chairman of the Smorgasbord committee, to complete plans for the supper.

Tickets are on sale now and may be obtained from any church member. The public is invited to attend. The ladies promised a tempting menu with lots of authentic Swedish dishes. March 16 is the date with serving to start at 5 p.m., and continuing through 7:30 o'clock.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the group was served coffee and doughnuts.

Have you read "The Philadelphia" by Richard Powell? I wrote about it in an earlier column. (About the Philadelphia lawyer and sociable who had to fight the worst law firms in the city on their own grounds.) There is a sensational murder trial with all the trimmings. Wonderful reading.

"Bitter Victory," by Rene Hardy is the story of a British commando unit on a desperate journey on foot across the African desert. Captain Brand, unsure of himself in command, and Lieutenant Leith, whose previous relationship with Hardy's wife gave rise to jealousy and suspicion, are driven, under the tormenting pressures of the long, waterless march, to a personal war of nerves in which one or the other must be destroyed.

"Bellam" by Andre Soubiran (the Doctors and the Healing path) tells of the world of the insane, and of a man who to escape prison ventured to live as an inmate in one of the world's great insane asylums. There, for a time, Jean Lacombe vivas clinically the life of the doctors, the attendants, and the inmates. But as his release is postponed, there is growing anxiety about his own fate. His fears and hopes are profound, and he gradually declines to the brute level of the other inmates, and madness seems about to engulf him in spite of himself. But the arrival of a new doctor, young and dedicated, offers a note of hope.

"Home Before Dark," by Eileen Bassing is another story about an insane asylum. A dramatic story that begins where the "Snake Pit" ended. Charlotte Brown, returning to her Maine home after two years in a mental asylum, has to face the problems posed by her ambitious college professor husband, her step-mother, and step-sister, and another faculty member who rents a room in their house.

JOIE GABOR momentarily takes a back seat at her own wedding as the groom, Edmund de Sigethy, succumbs in New York to the charm of his brand-new step-daughters, Zsa Zsa (left) and Magda Gabor. The third glamorous sister, Eva, was in Hollywood and could not be present. The girls' mother, who met de Sigethy only six weeks before at a party she gave for Hungarian refugees, wore a gown of green satin and a pink rose hat for her third marriage. The wedding chalked up an even dozen in which a Gabor has figured.

Literary Guild selection for March is "Scape Goat" by Daphne DuMaurier. An exciting tale of mystery and suspense. A Freshman, Jean, and an Englishman, John, meet by chance in France. They are doubles, identical to the eye in all respects, and Jean tricks John into taking his place in the chateau over which he presides. Now begins a double excitement, will John escape detection by Jean? Large and strangely assorted family and mistresses; and what is the mystery of the chateau that dominates the lives of those who live in it? This is DuMaurier at one of her best.

April Literary Guild selection, "Birthright" by Lettie Rogers, and "For Mary Anne Holey" by Evelyn Anthony.

Do you know "The Anguish Language?" Try it (by Howard Chace) and see if you do. It's funny, but it will try your patience, too. For instance, "Little Rat Redding Hut" Arthur Gaskoy read that one on TV but the rest of the book is just as confusing.

Remember "The Human Comedy," by Honore de Balzac? The series is being revised and re-translated into easier reading. They will be published one a month. This month we have "Bachelor's House" Readers' choice of current books still carries "Don't Go Near The Water" in first place and "Compulsion" in second.

Here is one you will want to read: "The Day Christ Died" by Jim Bishop. An hour by hour account of the most dramatic day in the history of the world. The book is a Literary Guild selection for this summer, but it's such a wonderful piece of literature that I'm ordering another copy.

Army Reservists Get Questionnaires

HEADQUARTERS UNITED STATES ARMY MILITARY DISTRICT, FLORIDA, Jacksonville, —Keeping the Army Reserve up to date and in shape to defend the nation in time of emergency is an unending task. And the Army is continuously screening all reservists to provide a Ready Reserve composed of men and women who meet required military qualifications.

To successfully accomplish this screening process, a U.S. Army Reserve Qualification and Availability Questionnaire is mailed to each reservist. Headquarters Third United States Army will supply questionnaires to reservists in this Army Area during the anniversary month of his retirement year.

Information on the questionnaire will determine whether the reservist should be retained in the Ready Reserve, transferred to the Standby or Retired Reserve, or discharged prior to the normal expiration of his military service obligation.

Completion of the questionnaire during unit meetings and drills is authorized and encouraged.

Lt. Col. Peter Grahn, Sub-District Commander, pointed out that failure to complete and return the annual questionnaire could result in inconvenience to individual reservists. They may be retained in the Ready Reserve or even order to active duty without consideration of disqualifying conditions.

All Army Reservists are in the Ready Reserve, the Standby Reserve or the Retired Reserve.

Ready Reservists may be ordered to active duty involuntarily

FOR HIS KEEN ATTENTION to duty and prompt action whereby an aircraft accident aboard the NAS Sanford was very probably prevented, Samuel H. Gay Jr., receives a letter of commendation from Capt. Robert W. Jackson, CO of NAS Sanford. (Official Photo, U. S. Navy)

In time of war or national emergency. They may receive pay and promotion through Reserve programs, and may qualify for retirement benefits.

Any Ready Reservists not on active duty may request to be removed from the Ready Reserve under provisions of current directives: No removals are made in time of war or national emergency.

Standby Reservists also may be ordered to active duty in time of war or national emergency. But no Standby Reservist may be ordered to active duty until the Director of Selective Service has determined that he is available for active duty.

Retired Reservists are those who are qualified for discharge but desire retention in a Reserve status and qualify by virtue of long and faithful service.

Brilliant Child May Be Handicapped

By LOUIS CASREIS

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON 4P — Brilliant

child often makes lower grades in school than one of average intelligence, an educator said today.

Mrs. Agnes Ingalls O'Neill, a nationally-known authority on the education of gifted children, said an IQ of 130 can be a "serious handicap" in a classroom where a busy teacher is aiming lessons at the great majority of students with IQs ranging from 100 to 110.

If one of the rare prodigies with an IQ close to 150 lands in such a classroom, she said in an interview, "he is very likely to be branded a disciplinary problem and a slow learner."

Mrs. O'Neill is director of Georgetown Day School, a private institution here that offers special training for unusually bright students. Her files are packed with case histories of children who once were regarded as lazy or backward, but who turned out to be far above average in ability.

Wiss Degree at 11

A typical case was the daughter of a high government official of the New Deal era. Her famous parents were horrified when her first grade teacher declared that "this child will never learn to read."

By the end of one year at Georgetown, the little girl was reading fifth grade books. Last year, she got her M.A. degree from the University of Chicago at the age of 17.

Mrs. O'Neill said there are three main reasons why a brilliant child is apt to have a lot of trouble in the ordinary school.

1. "He's bored. The challenge is so inadequate to his real ability that he won't even do the 'easy' work he is given."

2. Frustration of his "instinctive need to grow" makes him tense and nervous. Unable to release his pent-up stream in intellectual channels he takes it out in classroom misconduct.

3. He is usually "rejected" by fellow students who sense that he is "different." Sometimes he is also rejected by teachers and parents who unconsciously are jealous of him. This hostile atmosphere makes it difficult for him to adjust to school discipline.

Detecting Genius

How can parents detect exceptional intelligence in a child, and protect him from unfortunate consequences?

"Most experts say that gifted children walk early and talk early, but this is not an altogether reliable sign," said Mrs. O'Neill. "Some of the most brilliant children I've known didn't say a word until they were two years old. Then they began talking in sentences."

Other preschool symptoms of a high intelligence level are a large vocabulary, unusually good memory, a longer "attention span" than other children of the same age, strong curiosity, persistence in tackling a difficult task, and displays of "intuition."

"If you see these early hallmarks of genius in your child," said Mrs. O'Neill, "remember that parental pride may be coloring your judgement. Have him tested by a good psychological clinic."

Gracie Allen gave a very clear picture of her home life to her friend Edie Goetz. "My husband George just dotes on home cooking," explained Gracie, "so we invariably go to restaurants that specialize in it."

Paul Hartman rises to his quire. "What do elks have that no other animals enjoy?" I thought everybody knew that. Parades, of course.

Arthur S. Eisenhower, 70, one of the President's three brothers checks some messages as he arrives in Baltimore to enter the Wilmer Clinic of the Johns Hopkins Hospital for treatment of an eye condition. He is a Kansas City bank official. (International)

County Commission OKs Five Plats For Subdivisions

Five plats for subdivisions were approved by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

Plats include building lots for 261 homes all located in the southern section of the county. Approved were plats for Palm Park to be located on Yvonne Lake with 44 building lots; Boat Lake Terrace at the location of the San Onofre Club on 17-02 with 13 building lots; Quail Pond Heights in Casselberry with 22 building lots; Lake Brantley Isles with 76 building lots to be located on the west side of Lake Brantley in Southwest Seminole and Orlando Terrace with 63 building lots.

Symphony To Be In Concert Series

The world famed Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Eugene Ormandy will make its first appearance in Florida in 15 years on the 1953 concert series to be presented by the Central Florida Civic Music Association.

"Ranked as the finest symphony in America today, the Philadelphia will appear in only three Florida cities next season, and it is indeed an honor that this great organization has chosen Orlando for one of its appearances," Earnest Willard, Civic Music president announced today. The Philadelphia Orchestra was the first musical organization chosen to represent the United States in Europe following the war, and was sent behind the Iron Curtain by our government as an ambassador of goodwill, and as the finest example of our cultural achievements.

In addition to the orchestra, an internationally known Ballet Company, plus stars of the Metropolitan Opera and the concert stage will be included on the series.

Admission to all Civic Music concerts, which are held in the Orlando Municipal Auditorium, is by membership card only. Since Civic Music is a local, non-profit organization, no single tickets will be sold for individual performances. New members are now being accepted for next season at a membership fee of $7.50, which admits the member to all concerts.

Sanford residents wishing to take advantage of this great entertainment bargain may obtain more information by contacting Dr. R. W. Rupprecht, who is in charge of memberships for this area.

War II construction in the South by government and private industry amounting to $4.5 billion doubled plant capacity in this region. Following the war, a new multi-million dollar plant was constructed each day for a period of three years. At present there are nearly 34,000 manufacturing plants in the South with 22,000 having been located since 1939. Industrial output has increased from $11 billion to more than $62 billion in the last 18 years.

"A prime attraction for industry in the South is the large reservoir of manpower which is susceptible to training for a variety of complex manufacturing operations. Manpower, too, are an attraction. Per capita income in the South has increased 230 per cent since 1939—64 per cent above the national average. As producer of 35 per cent of the nation's agricultural products, 32 per cent of the lumber, 25 per cent of pulp and paper production, 36 per cent of the minerals, 23 per cent of the coal, and about 15 per cent of the petroleum and natural gas, the South is an excellent resource area. Water is another advantage when the South has to offer, having the nation's greatest undeveloped water resources.

"The South is blessed with excellent transportation which is a major consideration in the location of any industry. More than 50 per cent of the country's salt water coastline serves the South. In the four states which I am visiting, nearly 19,000 miles of railroad lines contribute greatly to the transportation needs of these states. These 19,000 miles of line are a part of the national rail network of 225,000 miles connecting every state, every city and thousands of villages and towns throughout America. This network of steel opens to southern industry all of the national markets, and through rail service at port cities, all of the markets of the world.

"The officer in charge of the department dealing with the sales, service and pricing for the Illinois Central, I am very conscious of the fact that industrial development in this region must rest on a sound transportation base. My experience with freight rates has taught me the importance of pricing service at a rate which will earn a fair return for the railroad, attract customers for railroad service and attract new industry. The Illinois Central, as a member of virtually every rate association in America, has been able to contribute greatly in establishing rates which help to make the products of southern industry competitive with products of other industry throughout the country.

"To help all who look to us for transportation in this area the Illinois Central maintains sales and service offices at Birmingham, Ala.; Jacksonville, Orlando, Tampa and Miami, Fla.; Macon and Atlanta, Ga.; and Nashville, Tenn. More than 100 such offices are maintained throughout the United States, Canada, Cuba and Mexico."

he is "preparing the material and plans for the Sanford Story which will include surveys, detail, feasibility studies and other technical data for the Navy's approval."

In the meantime, the subject of general conversation among Sanford citizens at gatherings throughout the area is slanted toward the approval of the expansion proposed for the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Organizations and groups are urged, said Krider this morning, to send their resolutions to his office for forwarding to the Secretary of the Navy and the Congressional delegation in a complete brochure containing the "voice of the people."

Plans are well underway for the gigantic end-of-the-month Navy Appreciation Day under the auspices of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce. The proposed March 30 celebration to climax with a gigantic fish fry and street dance is gaining in support throughout the city.

Picked Wrong Car
DENVER 3P—Eleven-year-old Richard Jackson faced with a whipping for naughtiness, decided to hitch-hike to New York. Four miles out Smith Road, with 50 cents in his pocket and a 60-pound knapsack on his back, he gratefully accepted a ride from motorist Gordon Dolliver. Dolliver drove him to the Denver County Jail, where Dolliver is warden, and called the worried Jackson parents.

IN THE DARK
CORRY, Pa.—It someday soon might be a little difficult to find your way home at night in this central Pennsylvania community. The town council is considering resurfacing traditionally cement sidewalks with black asphalt.

"RIDGEMAN'S" JEEP Club members of San Diego, Calif., demonstrate how they could rescue and transport victims trapped under debris of buildings shattered by war or earthquake. The four-wheel-drive vehicle is the only one of its kind known to have joined local civil defense in a group as a rescue outfit. In addition to their regular civil defense rescue classes, the 60 club members conduct runs into nearby desert and mountain country to practice search and rescue of plane crash victims, lost tourists and other emergencies. (San Diego County Civil Defense Photos)

THEIR POSE MAY RECALL the historic two Jima flag-raising incident, but the scene is the Sanford atomic plant at Richland, Wash., and the men are General Electric Company technicians who created their odd-looking equipment for taking pictures inside underground storage tanks for radioactive waste. The device they are raising is a steel "fish pole" on which is mounted a camera that can get photos in a tank that has only a nine-inch entrance. The disc serves to block escape of radiation while pictures are being made. (International)

SHOWN IN FLIGHT over Bethpage, N.Y., is the WF-2, new early warning aircraft, developed for Navy carrier service. The large saucer-like radome houses long-range antennas, for the modified version of the TF-trader will provide information to the fleet concerning impending air or sea attacks. At bottom, the U.S. Navy's second atomic powered submarine, USS Scorpion, plunges through the sea on a trial run off New London, Conn., coast. (International)

What Can Doctor Do If X-Ray Reveals TB?

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SUPPOSE a tuberculin test or a chest X-ray indicates you have tuberculosis. What can you do? With you in the hospital since there is less chance they will find it, let me assure you that most cases of TB can be cured provided treatment is begun in time.

Through the use of various drugs we can usually bring the germs under control. In some cases, surgery is necessary. By operating we can remove damaged parts of the body or collapse a lung to make it heal more quickly.

Two other things also are very important in treating tuberculosis. Victims must rest in bed at least during the early stages of the treatment. And a properly prepared, balanced, wholesome diet is essential, too.

It tends to reason of course that you will get better treatment and better care in a hospital. But in case you plan to argue that you might be better off at home, let me point out the advantages of going to a hospital for treatment of TB.

First, a hospital furnishes the most up-to-date medical, surgical and nursing care. Certain types of treatment can be given nowhere else.

Your family and friends are better protected from the disease. What can you do with you in the hospital since there is less chance they will catch it. Hospital personnel can show you how to take care of yourself after leaving and can help you prepare for your return to your family and job.

Frequent Examinations Once you leave the hospital, the doctors will examine you frequently to determine whether all evidence of active TB has vanished. If it has, you can safely go back to work and mingle with others without any danger of infecting them.

Periodic examinations are necessary to make sure that there are no recurrences of the disease. The most dangerous sources of tuberculosis are not ex-patients, but patients who don't follow doctors' orders and those who have the disease but don't know it.

QUESTION AND ANSWER E. A.: Should one force a child to eat? Answer: It is not advisable. If the child is continuously forced to eat, he will develop a dislike for the foods offered and the eating problem will become worse.

JOCKEY Johnny Longden, 47, receives a kiss from his wife, Hazel, after winning the 5,000th race of his career aboard Bente in the fourth race at Santa Anita Park, Arcadia, Calif. Longden had previously announced that as long as he could "still do justice" to his mounts, he would keep riding. He surpassed the former world record of 4,871 winners by Sir Gordon Richards.

Vocational Guidance Forms Integral Part Of School System

The Diversified Cooperative Training program Director, Louis J. Girard, explained the Vocational Guidance program to members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club. Vocational Guidance, he said, has formed an integral part of the school system beginning with the elementary grades.

Vocational Guidance, said Girard, is described by the National Education Association as being the "choosing of an occupation — preparing for it — to assist the student in making a decision for the future."

Girard then word-pictured the financial loss until the rain stops long enough for us to make a complete survey, he said. "But there is evidence of considerable damage now."

and the stage of imitation." Vocational guidance in the elementary grades allows the teacher to ask more questions of a naturally curious child and in the program such materials as pictures and magazines are used. In the higher elementary education studies are developed around industry, both new and old, and the jobs that are available in them he explained.

"At this early date is the time for decision — to choose between white collar and, as we call it, blue collar jobs," the DCT coordinator explained.

Junior High School stages present a period when time is the element, he said, time to associate the child with something of value. "And the key in a continuous development," he commented.

It is in Senior High School that students begin their orientation trips, and are guided in what they can take and study and, reasons why certain subjects should be studied, said Girard. "The Kiwanis Club has done much work in this field," said Girard, "by upholding the dignity and value of skill trades among the professions."

Some schools have full time counselors, others part time, and some schools have none, said Girard as he urged parents not to press for a final decision from their youngsters who are considering a trade or profession. "Let them choose subjects within reason, and advise them, don't press," he said.

The DCT Program, said Girard, has benefited the youth choosing a profession or trade, by gathering materials supporting each occupation and uses it in his or her progress — interview and test young people going into an occupation.

"If we can encourage, in the DCT Program, one or two more to continue to college the DCT feels that it has done its job," said Girard.

"One of the biggest organized theft rings in Seminole County," said Constable Slim Galloway, was broken up yesterday with the arrest of four men and one juvenile.

Deputy Sheriff H. S. Smart, investigating a breaking and entering case which occurred on Feb. 11 at a curb market on French Ave. and Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway, investigating theft of blankets, quilts and pillows from sleeping cabs of trucks at Hall Brothers Trucking Co. on Feb. 15, combined their efforts when information centered on the same person.

Even though working on different cases, the two law enforcement officers ended up placing charges against the same group of men.

Deputy Sheriff Smart said that wheels, tires, tubes, truck tires, and batteries were stolen, along with outboard motors, a boat, food, clothing, and gasoline.

"We haven't been able to recover everything stolen," said Smart, "but we are not through with the investigation."

Galloway stated that the ring has been active here since the first of the year. The thefts include newspaper racks and coin containers which have been placed along the streets. "We will see a great decrease in stealing," said Galloway as the arrest of the group was announced.

Those in custody include Lloyd Pitts, 29, of Mims, N. Y.; Howard Burritt, 19, of Mims, N. Y.; Cecil Presley, 20, of Lake (Continued on Page 3)

Airliner Makes Emergency Landing With 65 Aboard

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. — An American Airlines DC7 with 65 persons aboard made an emergency landing at the Grand Junction Airport Wednesday because of engine trouble.

The landing was made without incident. Another DC7 was flown to Grand Junction from Los Angeles to take the 60 passengers and five crewmen the rest of the way on what had been scheduled as a Los Angeles-to-Chicago non-stop flight.

The passengers included Barney Russ, former lightweight boxing champion who had been in Hollywood while a film of his life was being made, and Leo Duercher, former manager of the New York Giants who was en route to Canada for a vacation.

The passengers included T/Sgt. and Mrs. Charles W. Heitman passed away Tuesday afternoon at the Seminole Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

Linda Lellani Heitman, 10 months old, was born Aug. 18, 1956 in Mineral Wells, Tex., and the family had lived in Sanford since last July. The Heitmans and their daughter attended the All Souls Catholic Church here.

Mr. Heitman who is stationed in Iceland, was flown here by the Army last night. Mrs. Heitman is the vice president of the Enlisted Men's Wives Club of the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Survivors other than her parents include two brothers, Dale and Edward Heitman, Sanford. Graveside services will be held at 10 a. m. Friday at the All Souls Catholic Cemetery with Father Richard Lyons officiating.

Relieve Inflationary Pressures

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said today it might be necessary to slow up federal spending on some projects in order to relieve inflationary pressures.

In his first news conference since Feb. 6, Mr. Eisenhower said he has ordered an intensive review of the budget to determine whether spending for certain projects could be slowed down to achieve a budget cut for fiscal 1958.

He did not identify the projects. His budget for fiscal 1958 calls for spending 71.8 billion dollars.

Mr. Eisenhower said he did not anticipate being able to make any substantial cut which would cause material reduction of federal services or in any way affect the defense and national security of the nation.

Trouble in Hearing

Coughing repeatedly, he told reporters in his first meeting with them in a month that he was suffering today from a temporary difficulty with his hearing.

Frequently during the conference he asked reporters to speak louder and more distinctly.

He said that, in view of the Middle East situation and the absence from the country of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, it would be awkward for him to go to Arizona now in an effort to heal his cough and cold.

Other news highlights:

He does not think there can be any substantial cuts in foreign aid. His budget for fiscal 1958 calls for 4.4 billion dollars.

He confirmed that he told King Saud of Saudi Arabia recently that Israel is here to stay as a nation. He said he has been consistent for years in his position that Israel is a historical fact and its problems must be dealt with like those of any other nation.

He said the United States is prepared to use the Gulf of Aqaba and its gateway, the straits of Tiran, as an open international waterway.

He said the Middle East outlook is brighter, but there are still (Continued on Page 3)

Hubbell Is Made Honorary Member Of Kiwanis Club

Carl Hubbell, Director of the New York Giants Farm System, received a standing ovation at the Sanford Kiwanis Club when he was introduced by Ed Lane.

The Baseball Hall of Fame was made an honorary member of the Sanford Kiwanis Club when Edwin Rhinholser, club president, told him "We're happy to have the New York Giants with us for what they have added to our community."

Hubbell, acknowledging the honorary membership in the local Kiwanis Club said "The way the citizens of Sanford have accepted us and because of the wonderful response to our being here, we have decided that all of the exhibition games we play here will be open to the public and free."

"You will see some good baseball games here," Hubbell told the Kiwanis Club members, "and we invite all of you to come out to see them."

Other visitors introduced at yesterday's Kiwanis Club meeting included St. Claire Cameron, a member of the Fayetteville, Ga. Kiwanis Club, W. J. Wilson, father of the immediate past president of the Sanford Kiwanis Club A. L. Wilson, and Ens. Freddie Wilson, his son.

Two visiting Key Club members were also introduced, Barry St. John and Wally Pope. The two young men urged Kiwanians to support a car wash next Saturday because "We need the money."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — The United States will have to import food by the year 2,000 A. D. if its population continues to increase at the present rate, says Dr. Herman T. Speth University of California food-population specialist.

He said the United States is prepared to use the Gulf of Aqaba and its gateway, the straits of Tiran, as an open international waterway.

Pinecrest In School Design Contest

It was announced today by John A. Burton IV, A.I.A., local architect, that his firm is entering the Pinecrest School in a national competition for school house design.

The competition is conducted by The School Executive Magazine which is a national publication, distributed generally to all schools and school board administration. The program is planned to encourage better design of educational buildings and is open to any architectural firm in the United States or Canada, which has constructed a school or college building in whole or in part in 1956. While the bulk of competition on Pinecrest School was done during the previous year, the final completion date was February, 1956, thus making this school eligible for this competition.

Burton says that the materials submitted to the competition consist of two hardboard mounts on which they have shown the plot plan of the school, the floor plan, drawings of elevations and section through the building, a picture of the rendering of the over-all plant, along with four large photographs of the exterior and four large photographs of the interior, which were taken specifically for this purpose.

In entering Pinecrest School in the competition, Burton states "we have placed heavy emphasis upon the warmth of atmosphere, which is felt to be the most outstanding feature of the school plant and which is created mainly by the large amount of planting adjacent to buildings."

Burton says the extensive planting areas were planned with some amount of apprehension on their part as to just how well the areas

thus provided would be utilized and maintained; however, he feels "the Pinecrest P.T.A. has done a remarkably good job in planting these areas and the students are apparently taking a great deal of interest in maintaining them in first class condition." It is felt he says, that this large amount of greenery has a very pleasing psychological effect on the child's feeling toward his school plant.

This competition is being conducted under the auspices of the American Institute of Architects Committee on Competitions and will be judged by a panel of five judges, including three architects and two educationalists.

Plaques will be awarded to the winning firms and firms receiving honorable mention or special feature citations will be awarded appropriate scrolls therefor.

Burton says the extensive planting areas were planned with some amount of apprehension on their part as to just how well the areas

Survey For New Post Office Site Stated This Spring

A survey of the Sanford area looking toward the selection of a new site and the construction of a new Post Office Building will be made, according to a letter received yesterday by Chamber of Commerce Manager John Kridler from the office of the Assistant Commissioner for Planning of federal buildings.

William A. Schmidt, the Assistant Commissioner of Planning, said in his letter "A field survey covering the Federal space requirements at Sanford has been requested."

However, Schmidt pointed out in his letter, that "such surveys are normally scheduled on the basis of relative urgency and work load limitation."

"We do not anticipate the accomplishment of the survey until sometime in the spring," he said.

The survey, which is expected to be undertaken possibly in April or May of this year, originated through a resolution approved by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners and forwarded to the Commission for Planning Federal Buildings on Jan. 28, with an accompanying letter from the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

The request for the survey included the possible construction of a Post Office in a less congested area and to include offices for the various and many Federal Agencies which maintain separate offices in Sanford.

Schmidt, assured Manager John Kridler of the Chamber of Commerce that the matter "will receive appropriate attention at the earliest practicable date."

Navy Picture Looking Better

The brochure of resolutions from governing bodies of Seminole County and from civic and church organizations, are continuing to be approved and forwarded to Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Manager to be included in "The Sanford Story" which will be presented to Naval officials and the Congressional Delegation in about two weeks in an effort to retain the Sanford Naval Air Station here.

Already received in the Chamber of Commerce office are resolutions from the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners, the Town of Casselberry, the Town of Altamonte Springs and the Sanford Kiwanis Club.

Other organizations who are preparing resolutions include the First Christian Church, the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Sanford Women's Club, and the Sanford Lions Club.

At least 12 other resolutions are being prepared for presentation and approval of club and organization membership and will be announced as soon as they are approved.

In the meantime, the fund to support the effort to retain the Naval Air Station in Seminole County is growing. Received this (Continued on Page 3)

Dade County Crops Suffer Considerable Damage From Rain

MIAMI — South Florida farmers put their faith in the weatherman's promise of a halt in the rain today, but the unseasonable downpours of the past two weeks already had taken a high toll.

Dade County agricultural agent John D. Campbell said the heavy rainfall since Feb. 19 had done "considerable" damage to tomatoes, strawberries, beans, potatoes and sweet corn.

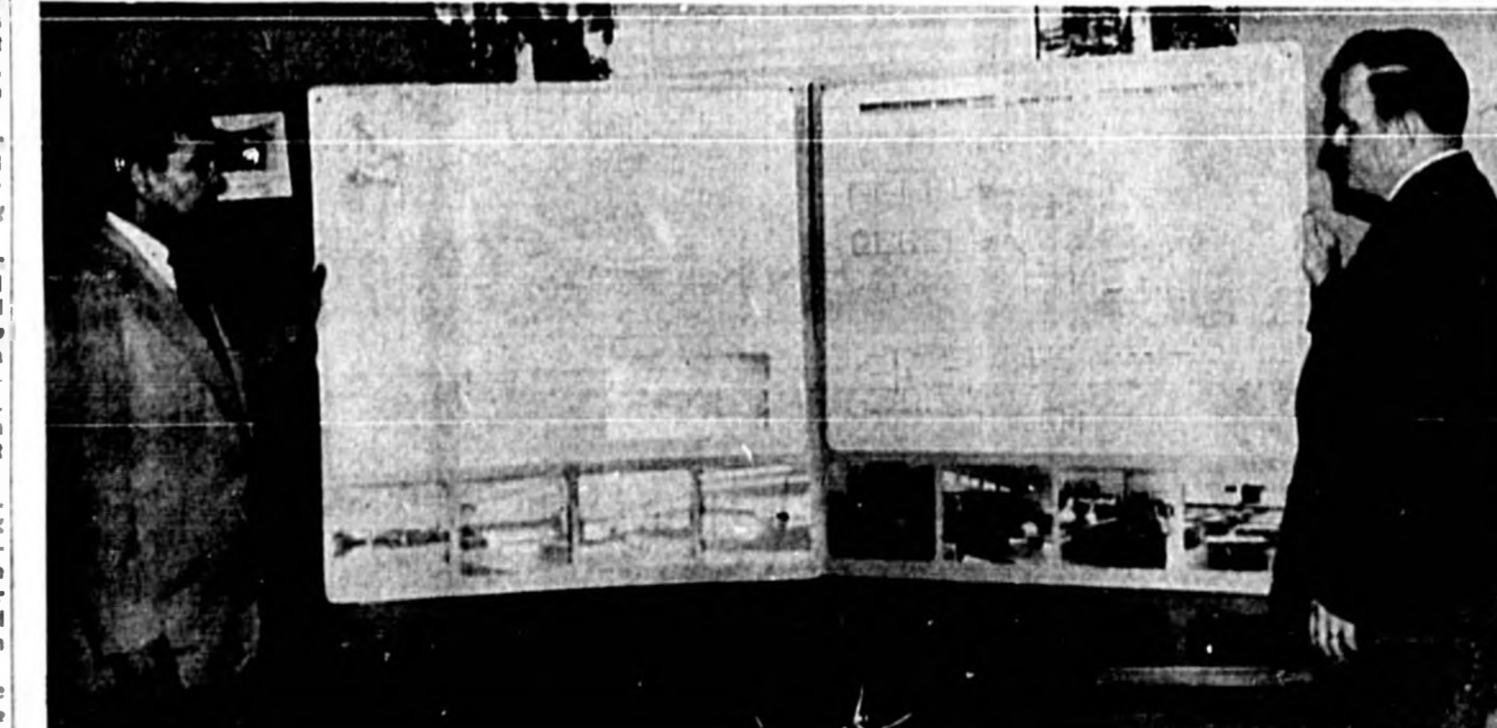

The downpours also had done extensive damage to the new Sunshine State Parkway on the section between Fort Pierce and Stuart. There were several stretches marked with potholes and cracking pavement. Gullies in gravel road shoulders came right up to the pavement in many places.

Campbell reported that Wednesday's 14 inches of rain in Dade County, coupled with previous downpours, may cause some fields to be a "total loss." More than seven inches of rain was recorded in the county since Feb. 15.

"It will be hard to estimate the financial loss until the rain stops long enough for us to make a complete survey," he said. "But there is evidence of considerable damage now."
