Incumbents hold commission

By Dan Ping Herald Editor

SANFORD — The complexion of the Seminole County Commission remained unchanged following Tuesday's vote with incumbents Dick Van Der Weide, Grant Maloy and Daryl McLain earning comfortable re-election victories.

District 5 Incumbent McLain (R) cruised to victory, earning 73,470 or 58.74 percent of the vote. That was enough to beat Democratic challenger Dean Ray, who earned 41,555 or 33.22 percent of the vote. Libertarian Franklin Perez received 6,321 votes or 5.05 percent, while No Party candidate David Albert received 3,731 or 2.98 percent of the vote.

In the District 1 battle that became increasingly ugly down the final two weeks of the campaign, Republican Grant Maloy fended off the challenge of Seminole County absentee voters line up outside the Supervisor of Elections Office in downtown Sanford. Voter turn out was high, with voters facing long lines during peak voting hours. Seventy-two percent of the county's 190,704 registered voters cast ballots. That's 137,350 votes cast. Supervisor of Elections Maryanne Morse had predicted a 72 percent turnout.

Andrew Van Gaale, a Democrat who had hoped to pick up a substantial crossover vote from Republicans. Maloy earned 54.07 percent of the vote, receiving 68,514 votes, while Van Gaale picked up 41.61 percent of the vote, or 52,724 votes.

Libertarian James Coakley picked up 5,468 votes for 4.32 percent in the District 1 race.

Former commission Win Adams, running with no party affiliation, was soundly defeated in his attempt to recapture a commission seat against Dick Van Der Weide. Adams, who finished with 19,448 votes (16 percent), barely outpolled Libertarian Zea Procter Maloy, who received 18,196 votes or 14.97 percent. Van Der Weide finished with 83,929 votes, or 69.04 percent.

In other county races, Seminole County Clerk of the Court Maryanne Morse became the first candidate to receive more than 100,000 votes in a Seminole County race. Morse received 100,978 votes, an 81 percent landslide over Libertarian Steve Snipper, who received 23,401 votes.

Eslinger wins big

By Joe DeSantis Staff Writer

SANFORD — Incumbent Don Eslinger swept to an impressive victory Tuesday night in the Seminole County Sheriff's race.

Voters approved of his nine year performance as Seminole County's top cop by reelecting the Republican by nearly a 70-30 percent margin over non-party affiliate candidate Richard Beary.

Eslinger collected a total of 69.92 percent (90,262) votes to Beary's 30.08 percent (38,833) votes.

The former Lake Mary police chief, brother of Orange County

Sheriff Kevin Beary, resigned his Lake Mary position to challenge Eslinger.

Unlike many Seminole County races, both candidates, well respected within law enforcement officials ran a high level, issues oriented campaign. While Beary ran on a platform of being a "Cops cop," Eslinger focused his campaign on improvements and innovation in the Sheriff's department, including the incorporation of technology in crime fighting techniques that helped reduce deputy response times while cutting crime rates county-wide despite steady increases in population.

Voters OK rails and trails

By Joe DeSantis Staff Writer

SANFORD — With all of the county's 133 precincts counted, voters in Seminole County supported a $25 million bond referendum for trails and greenspace preservation as well as giving the thumbs up to development of a high speed rail system that would link the state's five largest urban areas.

By a margin of 57.99 percent (72,907) votes to 42.01 percent (52,814) votes, electors approved a 10-year bond issue in the amount of $25 million to expand the Natural Lands Program. Under the program a total of 23 schools will be connected the surrounding neighborhoods and 34 parks will be developed.

More than 30 miles of unpaved trails will be developed for hiking and horseback riding. Seminole County households will kick in an estimated $10-15 per year for the next 10 years to fund the program.

Local voters likewise gave their approval to a controversial Constitutional Amendment calling for the development of a high speed monorail by 2003.

They approved the amendment 59.01 percent (75,933) votes to 40.99 percent (52,741) votes.

Many municipalities and local governmental bodies formally opposed the measure, claiming funding for the high speed rail project would divert millions and millions for road and bridge improvement projects around the state.

Students learn dangers of drunk driving

By Michelle Jeria Managing Editor

SANFORD — After causing a few crashes and hitting several pedestrians Monday, Seminole High School students learned the realities of drinking and driving without consuming a drop of alcohol.

The sobering experience was part of the Neon Drunk Driving Simulator National High School Tour, which allowed students and community members to experience firsthand the dangers of impaired driving. The simulator uses a modified vehicle with an on-board computer programmed to delay the car's steering and braking response time, creating the slowed physical and mental response abilities of a driver under the influence of alcohol.

"It does seem real," Sanford Police Officer William Stead said. "You have no control over the vehicle. You can't stop, and you can't turn the wheel."

Monday's participants made two laps around the course — with the second lap programmed to impair the driver. Officer Stead faired about the same as many other drivers

Pulitzer winner to speak at chamber meeting

By Joe DeSantis Staff Writer

SANFORD — Pulitzer Prize nominee Patrick Smith will be the featured guest speaker at the Sanford/Seminole Chamber of Commerce Thursday, Nov. 16. The Florida Artists Hall of Fame inductee's presentation will begin at 7 p.m.

The prolific Florida-based writer is perhaps best noted for his 1984 penmanship of "A Land Remembered," chronicling the life and travels of early Florida settlers and their battle for survival and adaptation among mosquitoes, swamps, and alligators.

"A Land Remembered" is the kind of book that's hard to put down once you pick it up," said Karen Jacobs, Museum Specialist for the Seminole County Museum, who along with the Sanford Museum is sponsoring Smith's presentation.

"He's a dynamic speaker who tells old stories of Florida and his travels."

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Time wounds all heals

Yes, I know, I've said it backwards. It's supposed to be "Time heals all wounds." In the case of election campaigning, both apply. But now, election is over. We know who won, and it's time to get back to our everyday lives.

During the past months, even the past year, people competing in the campaigns have been accusing their opponents of

..... being practically everything. In effect, calling them a heal. With the concept that the people who sought election were, (regardless of what was said) basically honest and meant well, we hope their creditability and characters weren't wounded to the point where they are now severely damaged.

Now that we have passed the "time wounds all heals" era, it should be the goal to "heal all wounds." There were many people who lost elections who will still be valuable serving in other government positions. Not only would we have highly qualified people, but with a differing of opinions, it could mean a broader outlook on government operation.

Take the matter of Social Security discussed at length in the presidential campaign. Each of the candidates had ideas on how to handle it. Are we to say only one was right?

Perhaps looking at all concepts is the best way to approach the resolution of the matter. Seniors don't want their Social Security reduced and younger folks don't want to face the government running out of money for them when it's time for them to begin drawing their allotments.

During campaigning, both candidates came forth with good ideas. In resolving this problem, and hundreds of others, from the presidency down to local governments, we suggest all ideas be taken into consideration.

As of today, it's going to be a better time, at least until the next election season. We will no longer have candidates objecting to everything their opponent says. Accusations and insinuations will stop.

And hopefully, those political signs which have blighted our landscape, will disappear.

As already said, the election is now over. For everyone who won, local as well as national, it's time to get off that campaign trail and back to work. It's time to heal all wounds and return to the operation of our governments as best as they can.

That's why we elected them.

Go straight to jail

Jodi Katz, program coordinator for Central Florida/Orlando Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA), locks up Paula Moffitt, manager of Sanford's Woity's, during the MDA lock-up fund-raising event held in Seminole County. Individuals who were locked up had to raise bail money to get out of jail. Every $450 raised will help send a kid to MDA summer camp for a week.

Coming out of the closet

I'm having a problem with my closet these days. It's full of clothes that I never wear. I spent an hour or so looking at the situation, trying to figure out what went wrong, and it seems to be a combination of factors.

First of all, there are the clothes that my wife has bought for me. These tend to be at the stylish, suave, Euro-dork end of the spectrum and are always bought when she's been to a movie or read a romance novel and has forgotten what I look like.

Then there are the clothes that I bought while shopping with my wife. These purchases are always made in a hurry, without trying anything on, and for the sole purpose of satisfying her and getting out of the store as quickly as possible.

Then we have a small group of clothes that actually fit me but I refuse to wear because they're made for a much fatter, older man.

That leaves us with the clothes that I actually do wear, and they're all at least 10 years old. They tend to be a little tight, and I have to suck my stomach in so hard that I sometimes get back spasms. But I hate to throw them out because guys like me prefer a wardrobe that's been lived in.

So instead, I have a plan. All I need to do is meet a guy my age who's my height but 10 pounds heavier than me. I'll throw out everything I have now and buy all of his old clothes.

Cars of the Future

I'm looking to buy a new car in the near future, and it's turning into a real life moment for me. I've started to realize that since they're making cars that last 10 years, I won't need a whole lot more of them.

That means that I'd better make sure I get a car that I feel good about. I don't want to end my days in a Yugo. No, I'm thinking I'd better get that sports car I've always wanted. The clock is ticking here. So I went looking at Corvettes and Vipers, that kind of thing. I noticed the salesman trying to look away as I struggled for a full five minutes to get into the vehicle. But that was like an eyeblink compared to the time it took me to get out.

And while I was in there, about three inches off the ground in the prone position, I didn't look like a macho racer at the Indy 500. I looked like an old guy on a stretcher. People would think I was driving my grandson's car. And on the self-preservation level, bad things happen when reflexes like mine are going 150 miles an hour.

I'm calling the salesman today and ordering a small gutless sedan with plastic doors and airbags. Please don't say "You are what you drive."

When Not To Say

- What You Are Thinking:
  - While the policeman is writing out the ticket
  - When your Minister asks if you know any good jokes
  - While you're at your in-laws' house sitting at the dining room table staring at the contents of your dinner plate
  - When the boss asks how you like his haircut
  - When your wife says, "What's your problem?"

Quote of the Day: "If you smile at everyone you meet, they will eventually suspect you of something"

Battered woman found
Sanford police are investigating the cause of an apparent beating of a woman, found in a vacant, boarded-up apartment in Lake Monroe Terrace, near 3rd Street and Olive Avenue in Sanford early Saturday afternoon. Police spokesman Cleo Cohen said the juveniles heard a woman moaning from the apartment and contacted police. When they arrived they said she was suffering from a severe battering to the head. She is a white female, between 20 and 25 years of age. The woman was transported to Orlando Regional Medical Center where her condition is listed as critical. Officers have been unable to interview her, and while they have a tentative identity, information is being withheld at this time. Anyone with knowledge of this case is asked to phone Sanford police.

I-4 fatality
On Nov. 5, at approximately 1:22 a.m., Altamonte Springs police were called to Interstate-4 near the Central Parkway overpass. According to police, a male and female were traveling east on I-4 in a white van. As the vehicle approached the Central Parkway overpass, the female, identified as Tina Michelle Fairless, 28, of Paisley, opened the passenger door and jumped out while the vehicle was in motion. She was pronounced dead at the scene. Police believe the woman was struck by another vehicle after leaving the van. The name of the driver is being withheld pending a continued investigation. Anyone with information regarding this incident is asked to contact Altamonte Springs police officer Carbanaro at 407-339-2441.

Gun theft
A residential burglary was reported Monday in the 1800 block of Holly Avenue in Sanford. Sanford police said items taken were firearms, including a 30-30, 32 special, two 12-gauge shotguns, a 357 Magnum, a mini-14, a 5-caliber flintlock, a Ruger 22, a 45-caliber cap and ball, and two compound bows, with a total estimated value of $1,725.

Safe entered
A restaurant in the 1500 block of French Avenue in Sanford was reported burglarized Saturday.

Police said an estimated $1,719 in cash was found missing from the cash register.

Domestic cases

Katrina Marie Lowery, 27 and Frederick Andre Jones, 19, were both arrested by Sanford police Friday following an altercation at their residence in the 900 block of Cedar Creek Circle in Sanford. Lowery was charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon (baseball bat) and battery. Jones was charged with battery.

Michael A. Hepler, 36 of Deltona, was arrested Saturday following an altercation with his wife in the parking lot of Central Florida Regional Hospital. He was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Donald M. Bass of Geneva was arrested Saturday as the result of a fight with his wife in the 3700 block of Oglando Drive in Sanford. He was charged with battery (following two previous convictions).

Steven Melendez, 19, of Sanford Landings Drive was arrested at his residence Friday following a dispute with his brother. He was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Jeremy Joseph Taylor, 25, of Palm Place, Sanford, and his brother, Jason A. Taylor, 28, were arrested following a dispute Saturday at their residence. Each was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Accident

Jeremy Lester Stone, 25, of Deltona was reportedly involved in an auto collision Friday at the intersection of 25th Street and French Avenue in Sanford. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol/drugs (DUI), two counts of DUI with property damage, DUI with injury, and reckless driving.

Veterans Day parade scheduled for Sanford

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County veterans will highlight the observance of Veterans Day with their annual Sanford parade, scheduled for Saturday morning, Nov. 11.

United States Air Force (Ret.) Col. Charles Gibson is scheduled to be the keynote speaker at Veterans Park following a parade on Seminole Boulevard.

Marching units will gather at Fort Mellon Park at 10:40 a.m. then proceed west on Seminole Boulevard, arriving at Veterans Park at approximately 11 a.m. The parade will include representative participants from the National Guard, the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, local police and firefighting units from around the county, ROTC units from local high schools, Scouting organizations, the Over the Hills Veterans Band from American Legion Post No. 53 as well as color guards from various local veterans groups.

Andrew Bolton, president of the Seminole County Area Veterans Advisory Commission, serves as chairman of the parade event, and the lead organization for the parade is Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 101208.

Higher education institutions form Central Florida group

From staff reports

In a first for Central Florida, 25 regionally accredited colleges and universities have joined together to form a cooperative association, the Central Florida Higher Education Alliance (CFHEA).

The non-profit association's mission is to promote awareness of continuing educational opportunities in Central Florida.

Among local colleges and universities involved in the organization are Seminole Community College in Sanford, the University of Central Florida, Rollins College in Winter Park and Stetson University in Deland.

Jim Tischler, CFHEA president and center director of Keller Graduate School of Management in Orlando said that by working together, the member organizations can more effectively communicate with the local professional community.

"The old saying is that there is strength in numbers and that holds true with this association," Tischler said. "By cooperating on education fairs and other projects, we can access more area employers and get our message across to the potential higher education students in Central Florida."

CFHEA members have already joined together to conduct 33 education fairs over the past eight months.

For additional information on the organization, phone Jim Tischler at 407-659-0910.

Fostering girl power

Seven years ago, San Francisco think-tank founder A. Lawrence Chickering was leading a group to Peru to study the country's economy. In the group was the deputy director of the Grameen Bank, the innovative Bangladesh organization that makes small loans to impoverished people who want to start their own businesses.

Joan Ryan

The man said the bank switched from loaning mostly to men to loaning mostly to women. "When men were given a chance, they started dreaming about themselves," the man told Chickering. "When women got a chance, they started dreaming about their family and community."

A year later, Chickering came across a research paper written by Yale economics Professor T. Paul Schultz. It argued that developing nations ought to spend more money educating girls than educating boys because it produced a higher rate of return: Birthrates drop, infant mortality drops, maternal mortality drops, overall health increases, the incidence of AIDS drops, more women enter the workforce, wages increase 10 percent to 20 percent for each additional year of school, educated mothers are more likely to have educated children — all of which contribute to a stronger economy.

One study showed that if female enrollment rates been doubled in a sample of developing nations in 1975, 4 million childhood deaths and 30 million births could have been prevented. Chickering, a libertarian-conservative who founded the International Center for Economic Growth, found that others were reaching the same conclusions Schultz had. The chief economist of the World Bank proposed at an international seminar that the organization's education loans contain explicit support for female education. The managing director of the International Monetary Fund echoed the World Bank's view: "Of all the bankers and economists brought in to advise the IMF on closing the gap between rich and poor nations, all of them said one thing, 'Educate girls.'"

In truth, some of the benefits of educating girls have been known for years. Researchers have seen the correlation of education to fertility rates for 50 years. What is new is evidence of the dramatic economic impact. "It makes so much sense (to educate girls) that people treat it as if it's self-evident," Schultz said from his Yale office, "but it requires thought and energy to put it into action."

Chickering took up the challenge. So he teamed up last year with liberal-leaning entrepreneur Alvin Duskin to create Educate Girls Globally, the first international organization devoted solely to promoting girls' education in developing countries. It partners with and finances existing organizations, operating much like a venture capital company does.

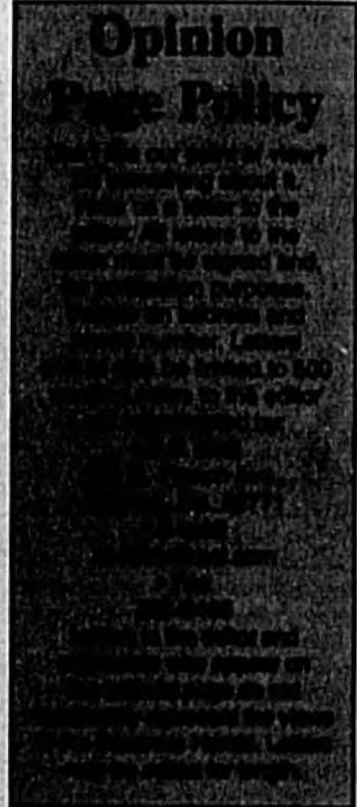

"I personally have never been so excited about anything," Chickering said. His goal is nothing less than transforming entire societies.

EGG launched its first programs in Pakistan, where EGG is helping to develop a scholarship program for 1 million girls in the province of Punjab. It is also replicating a program run by UNICEF in Egypt that broke down cultural barriers hindering girls' education. It also is working in India and South America and developing plans for other countries.

Perhaps governments haven't embraced educating girls as an economic solution because the payoff is slow. It's easier to deliver condoms and lectures. But the World Bank's chief economist reminded his seminar audience of a story President John Kennedy used to tell of a man who asked his gardener how long it would take for a certain seed to grow into a tree.

"One hundred years," the gardener replied. "Then plant the seed this morning," the man said. "There is no time to waste."

Dale responds to letter from United Way

Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to Brian T. Quail from Sanford Mayor Larry Dale.

To Brian T. Quail, President and CEO
Heart of Florida United Way

Dear Mr. Quail; Thank you for your letter of Nov. 1, 2000 regarding my decision not to conduct a United Way campaign out of City Hall. I am certainly aware that United Way funding has been used to help many people in the Central Florida area, and I share with you the concern that these programs continue to help change the lives of Seminole County residents.

We seem to have a difference of opinion about who's putting these people in jeopardy of not receiving your funds. As far as I've been able to discern, there are approximately 1,400 United Way agencies in this country; however, only a dozen or so have taken the position of your agency that homosexuality is an item worthy of non-discrimination in such volunteer programs as the Boy Scouts of America. As you know, the United States Supreme Court has ruled that the Boy Scouts may continue with the national policy that it has had in effect for many, many years. It is your stumbling effort to force them to change their national policy and thus discriminate yourselves against the Boy Scouts that has placed the other programs you support in jeopardy.

I think you have made a huge mistake in misreading this community's commitment to the principles of the Boy Scouts of America. If the people in Central Florida are forced to choose between the Boy Scouts and the United Way, then the United Way is the big loser. If the United Way really cares about the support of the 78 programs you mention in your letter, then you should seriously reconsider your discriminatory stance against the Boy Scouts of America. As a result of the decision I made which you ask me to reconsider, I have received hundreds of calls and letters thanking me for the stand I took and I've received not one condemning my actions. As you know, my decision made the radio network throughout this country and I can tell you public opinion is overwhelmingly in support of the Boy Scouts of America.

I ask that you please review the information in this letter and reconsider your decision to discriminate against the Boy Scouts of America, or you will find you have made a grave and fatal error in judging the heart of Florida community.

Please contact me if you have any questions. Thank you for your attention.

Yours Truly,
Larry Dale, Mayor
City of Sanford

Families in emergency situations with no other hope, single mothers who have children to support, working parents who have lost everything to a fire, children who have elderly parents to help - people just like the residents of the City of Sanford. In Seminole County, United Way dollars support 7 programs that helped to change the lives of 41,490 people last year. Many of those people are residents of your city.

We are the largest funder of health and human service agencies in Central Florida and the community's safety net depends on the dollars we raise. And we depend on your support.

While we may have a difference of opinion about our recently adopted non-discrimination policy, I am sure we can all agree upon the necessity of helping our neighbors during times of crisis. Please contact me if you have any questions. Thank you for your attention.

Education Week to rally support for quality public education.

The theme of this year's celebration "Children - Schools - Parents: Helping Students Achieve," reflects our combined commitment to get all students to learn and succeed. The interaction between children, parents and teachers cannot be underplayed. If the partnership between teacher and parent is strong, the child's chances of success skyrocket.

Today's teachers do more than teach basic skills. They nurture and inspire children. They help students learn essential skills not always measured in testing, such as critical thinking, conflict resolution, cooperation and problem solving. These are skills to help each student through life.

Visit your nearest public school during American Education Week and see today's educators in action. But remember that public education is a public enterprise. Parents, businesses, churches, civic groups, retirees - everyone can lend a hand. It doesn't matter whether you have children of your own in school. Your time and talents are needed.

American Education Week is also a perfect time to say "thank you" to those special teachers your children currently have or previously had. Or, you might even send your appreciation to special educators you remember from your own school days.

A little gesture can go a long way

Sandra Robinson,
Chairman, Seminole County School Board
Dr. Paul J. Hagerty,
Superintendent, Seminole County Public Schools.
Dr. Jeff Siskind, President,
Seminole Education Association.

Quail asks Dale to reconsider recent decision

To Mayor Larry Dale
City of Sanford

Mayor Dale, This letter is a follow up to our telephone conversation regarding this year's United Way campaign. I ask that you please review the information in this letter and reconsider your decision not to conduct a United Way campaign among employees of the City of Sanford.

More than 180 health and human service programs in the Orange, Osceola and Seminole county area use United Way funding to help people in need.

School officials give support to Education Week

To the editor: Nov. 12 - 18 will mark the 79th annual observance of American Education Week - a time for saluting our public schools and the relationships between teachers, students and parents.

This year's celebration is part of a long tradition that began back in 1921. Distressed that 25 percent of draftees in World War I were illiterate, and that schooling for most youngsters ended at eighth grade, the National Education Association and American Legion created American Art Zielinski asks people what they think ...

It's that time of year when the sports fanatic has plenty of action to quench his or her thirst for football or basketball. Seminole Community College kicked off its men's and women's basketball season along with the Orlando Magic. Since the Magic is the only professional team in town, our question today is: "Do you think the Orlando Magic will have a better season than last year?"

The Orlando Magic should win 60 games this year. They look strong and they have good talent — they just have to mesh.
Tom Rieger,
Sanford

They'll definitely do better this year. The players play the same style of basketball which will make them competitive in their league.
Shannon Smith,
Sanford

They looked bad in the first quarter of the season opener, but played like a team for the rest of the game.
Jimmy Funderburk,
Apopka

Definitely. With Tracy McGrady — and Grant Hill becoming healthy, they will pull together. Doc Rivers is an excellent coach.
Rich Waybright,
Sanford

I think they will definitely do better. I was very disappointed with them last year. I'm really happy with Grant Hill still being on the team.

Dangers

know what happens if they allow themselves to be in a situation of DUI — as a driver or a passenger."

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration statistics indicate motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death for 15- to 20-year-olds. In 1998, 3,427 drivers in the same age group were killed, and an additional 348,000 were injured in motor vehicle crashes.

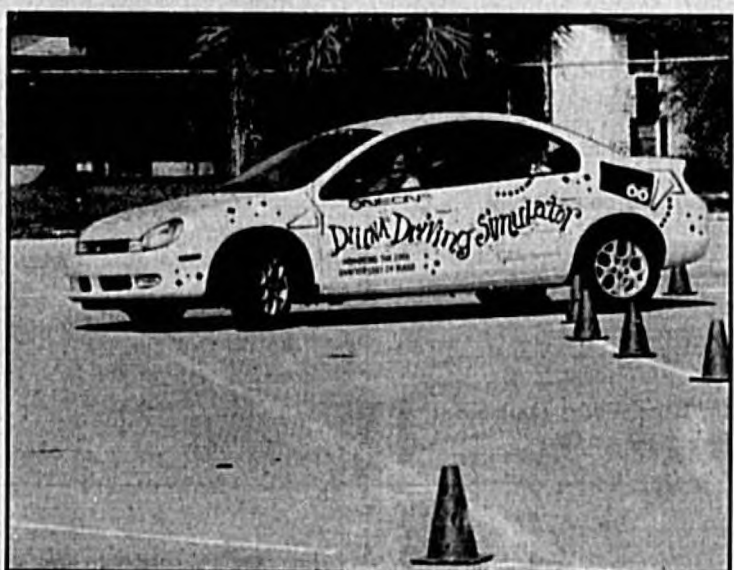

About three in every 10 Americans will be involved in an alcohol-related crash at some time in their lives.

The Neon Drunk Driving Simulator program, which is based out of Detroit, Mich., is currently in the middle of a 12-week tour. Crew Chief Jerry Barnhart said. The simulator was introduced in 1988 and has visited more than 1,000 high schools with more than 950,000 participants during the past 12 years.

"The purpose of this program is to show what happens when the students drink and drive," Barnhart said. "Hopefully, the simulator will educate the youth on the dangers of drinking and driving."

The operation of the simulator is relatively simple. The instructor enters the driver's weight into the computer, followed by a hypothetical number of drinks between one and 12 — one drink equals one ounce of 86 proof alcohol. The computer processes the information and automatically sets the timing delay on the car's braking and steering.

The driver attempts to negotiate the figure-eight course without hitting any orange pylon cones. Pop-up silhouette figures representing pedestrians are also planted in the driver's path.

According to Barnhart, under zero blood-alcohol level conditions, the driver should have no problems negotiating the course and has ample time to stop without hitting the pedestrians. However, after entering the number of drinks, it becomes increasingly difficult to avoid them.

Although the simulator demonstrates what can happen while drinking and driving, safety is the No. 1 factor for the instructors. The vehicles usually remain unscathed, and the orange pylon cones are the only items that experience any type of injury.

"Nothing serious has ever happened in my 12 years with the program," Barnhart said. "In fact, many times I have to tell the students to go faster because they are afraid to hit a cone and embarrass themselves."

The car is never operated without an instructor in the passenger seat, he said. If the instructor presses any key on the computer during operation, the program will shut down and the car will resume normal driving abilities. The vehicle also has an independent break pedal that is accessible to the instructor.

When Seminole High School junior Jordan Wilder got into the simulator Monday, Barnhart told him he was on his way to a party and had already consumed five alcoholic beverages. Wilder's blood alcohol level was .09 over the legal limit.

During his second lap, the junior hit several orange pylons and one pedestrian.

"When I went into the first curve, I didn't think anything was different," Wilder said. "But, when I turned the steering wheel, the car didn't turn. When I hit the brakes, there was no reaction."

"I don't drink and drive, and if this is the way your mind works when you do, I'm never going to drink and drive."

Lovestrand, Miller retain seats on Longwood board

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Incumbent city commissioners Paul Lovestrand and Steve Miller earned new terms on Longwood's City Commission Tuesday, narrowly defeating challengers Craig Van Hooven and George McKenzie.

Lovestrand, who also serves as the city's mayor, fought off Van Hooven for the second time in as many elections in the District 5 race.

In District 3 Miller held off a strong effort by political newcomer George McKenzie.

Miller held on to his District 3 seat by less than 100 votes.

With all Longwood precincts reporting, he collected 50.87 percent (2,140) votes to McKenzie's 49.13 percent (2,067) votes.

The incumbents ran on platforms of fiscal conservatism and advancing progress with the city's infrastructure, particularly road paving and sewer line projects.

Van Hooven attempted to unseat Lovestrand on a campaign platform of more citizen involvement, pursuit of Community Development Block Grant monies to offset paving assessments, and redevelopment of Longwood neighborhoods. McKenzie's campaign focus was to improve the city's image by development of the Historic District and speeding up infrastructure programs.

Lovestrand and Miller ran on platforms to improve salaries for public safety workers and development of the city's business corridors on SR 427 and 434.

The victory marks the third city commission term for Lovestrand and the second for Miller and solidifies the complexion of Longwood's city commission for at least two years with fellow board members Butch Bundy, John Maingot, and Dan Alexander entering the second year of their respective three year terms.

Smith has a distinguished publishing career. He received his first Pulitzer nomination in 1973 for "Forever Island," a selection of the Reader's Digest Condensed Book Club. In 1978 he was nominated again for "Angel City," which was turned into a CBS Movie of the Week film. His third nomination came in 1984 for "A Land Remembered" chosen as the Editor's choice selection for the New York Times Book Review. Negotiations are being conducted currently to transform the literary work into an eight-hour mini-series. Last year Smith was inducted into the Florida Artists Hall of Fame and is scheduled to release his latest book, "Last Ride" later this year.

Smith, a native of Mississippi, holds B.A. and M.A. degrees in English from the University of Mississippi. Prior to moving to Florida in 1966, he served as director of Public Information for the University of Mississippi. Between 1966 and 1988 he served as director of college relations for Brevard Community College in Cocoa.

In 1990, Florida PBS-TV released a documentary, "Visions of Nature-Patrick Smith's Florida," which portrayed his work as a writer. A decade ago he received the University of Mississippi's Distinguished Alumni Award and was inducted into the university's Alumni Hall of Fame.

Smith has also made lecture tours in Russia and Middle Asia and in 1986 was the keynote speaker for a 57-nation International Writers Meeting held in Sofia, Bulgaria.

The author of numerous short stories, essays, and articles, Smith resides with his wife Iris on Merritt Island.

His presentation at the Chamber, located at 400 East 1st Street, is free and open to the public. Additional information about the event is available by contacting the Museum of Seminole County History at (407) 321-2489 or the Sanford Museum at (407) 302-1000.

Student posters promote drug-free world

From Staff Reports

State Attorney Norm Wolfinger and Publix Super Markets have announced a coloring contest for kindergarten through fourth grade students in Seminole and Brevard Counties.

The event is in connection with Red Ribbon Week and is being called "Picture a Drug-Free World."

Students from 123 schools in the two counties are to participate. Bags will be available at Publix markets beginning Wednesday, Oct. 25. The project encourages students and teachers to exercise creative thinking centered on classroom discussion and art expression as they compare and evaluate the consequences of drug abuse with the benefits of choosing a healthy lifestyle.

Students with the Publix paper grocery bags are asked to color a picture, theme or message that conveys the dangers of drug abuse or the benefits of choosing a drug-free lifestyle. The hand-decorated bags will then be collected and returned to the Publix Super Markets where they are used to bag groceries for shoppers.

This year, approximately 80,000 bags will be used in the two counties.

For additional information on the competition, phone Kathy King in Brevard County at 321-617-7555 or Christine Mouton in Seminole County at 407-265-2088.

Longwood resident lends a hand with Red Cross in South Florida

From Staff Reports

Robert Meridith, a Longwood resident and Red Cross volunteer, recently returned from volunteering his time in South Florida where he spent two weeks helping feed victims of recent flooding.

Meridith, a volunteer for over three years, left the Orlando area on Oct. 5, driving the local Red Cross Emergency Response Vehicle (ERV) down to the South Florida area to assist in the disaster relief operation. It was estimated that over 18 inches of rain fell over South Florida and flooded homes, businesses and turned jam-packed streets into rivers and leaving thousands without power.

Meridith spent much of his time serving lunch and dinner out of the ERV in the Sweetwater and Cutler community, serving between 300-400 meals at a time. "Helping those that were effected by the heavy rains was really worthwhile. Everyone was thankful for the Red Cross services," said Meridith.

The mass effort to provide immediate and long-term relief and assistance to victims of the recent South Florida flooding is expected to cost in excess of $3 million. Red Cross workers were on the scene assessing the damages and providing critical recovery services families, including food and supplies; sheltering; crisis counseling; financial assistance for basic necessities like clothing, medicines, groceries and household items and repairs.

It is estimated that over 8,800 families were effected. Over 254,000 meals were served, over 10,000 comfort and clean-up kits were distributed and over 2,000 volunteers assisted in the disaster relief operation.

Meridith is a member of the Red Cross Disaster Human Resource System where he can be sent to disasters nationwide at a moment's notice for up to three weeks. Last year, he spent time down in the South Florida area after Hurricane Irene swept through the area. He is also a shuttle driver. Meridith's wife Isabel is also a Red Cross volunteer.

For more information on volunteering with the Red Cross or other Red Cross services, contact the American Red Cross Seminole Service Center in Longwood at 407-332-8200, or the Red Cross in your county.

Congress sets aside $7.8 billion to restore Everglades

From Staff Reports

The final approval Nov. 3 of Everglades Restoration funding by the United States House of Representatives sets into motion the largest environmental restoration project in U.S. history.

The 36-year, $7.8 billion effort to restore Florida's River of Grass passed with an overwhelming bipartisan vote.

"The Nature Conservancy is extremely pleased that Congress has approved this very large investment to fund Everglades restoration," said Robert Bendick Jr., the Conservancy's Florida Chapter director.

"We are grateful to Florida's congressional delegation for carrying the Everglades legislation forward to passage and to all the senators and congressional representatives who supported this endeavor. We commend Governor Jeb Bush and the staff to the Department of Environmental Protection for their creativity and persistence in establishing the state's Everglades funding strategy and for using that state commitment as the foundation to secure federal matching funds. We also thank the Department of the Interior and the Army Corp of Engineers for their good work in helping to develop the Comprehensive Everglades Restoration Plan. This is a great day for America's Everglades and for conservation of Florida's exceptional natural resources. Passage of this legislation is a shining example of our country's growing determination to restore past damage to our irreplaceable natural systems."

Doctor shouldn't have dismissed complaint

DEAR DR. GOTT: For the past two weeks, my urine has been darkening. It is now orange. I asked my doctor if this is related to my back pain. He said no. I am 83. What is your opinion?

Dr. Gott

DEAR READER: I think that your doctor stubbed his toe by dismissing your complaints so lightly.

Ordinarily, urine is yellow because it contains a pigment called urochrome. When the urine is dilute, it has a yellow tinge. When the urine is concentrated, the color darkens to amber. Thus, the consumption of fluids affects the color of urine.

Along with urochrome, other pigments can be excreted by the kidneys. For example, when the flow of bile (from the liver or gallbladder to the intestine) is interrupted, bile pigments build up in the bloodstream and, along with causing jaundice (a yellow tint to the skin and eyes), are excreted in the urine, making the urine darken appreciably. Initially, it may be orange; this can progress to a brownish tinge as more bile pigments are filtered by the kidneys from the blood. Consequently, orange urine is often the first sign of bile-blockage. This should have alerted your physician to check your liver and gallbladder with blood tests and ultrasound.

Furthermore, the presence of back pain is consistent with gallstones. Although such discomfort is ordinarily confined to the upper right abdomen, gallstone pain can occasionally cause backache.

In summary, I'm concerned that your symptoms could possibly reflect a problem in your liver or gallbladder. Your doctor should address this issue aggressively with testing.

If he won't, seek the services of another physician who will take your symptoms more seriously.

South American native perfect for Spring

The Amaryllis is a spring flowering bulb that produces large lily or bell-shaped flowers, which may be red, pink, crimson, or white, often striped, mottled or blended with shades of these colors.

The plant is native of South America and South Africa. Amaryllis is used in beds or borders around home grounds as well as for individual specimens.

Culture

Amaryllis prefer a location with partial shade and good, well drained soil. Before planting, the ground should be prepared with 1 1/2 pounds of 6-6-6 per 100 square feet.

Established plantings may be fertilized two or three times a year with 1 lb. of 6-6-6 per 100 square feet. Unlike some other bulbs, Amaryllis do not need to be dug up each year.

Digging may be helpful, however, since offsets can be separated and replanted elsewhere and diseased bulbs can be removed and destroyed.

Flowering

Bulbs of Amaryllis should be planted so that they will bloom in the spring. Planting over a period from November to February will insure a succession of blooms from March to May.

Four flowers are usually borne on a spike. A pair of the flowers will open up first with the remaining pair opening a few days later, thus providing a bloom period from 10 to 14 days.

Amaryllis can be forced to bloom in six to eight weeks in your home at any time of the year. To accomplish that, the bulbs should be planted with one-half to two-thirds of the bulb above the soil level to induce early flowering.

Gardeners who try Amaryllis sometimes run into a problem with the plants failing to bloom. The lack of flowers can be caused by several factors, such as prolonged drying of the bulbs, digging the bulbs before they are mature, too much shade, or too high levels of nitrogen in the soil.

Asexual propagation

It is relatively easy to propagate Amaryllis by cuttings or offsets. Cuttings and offsets will produce plants that are identical to the mother plant. Offsets are produced naturally by the plant and may be dug up each year after the plants have died down. These offsets should be placed in a bed by themselves, since it will generally take two or three years before they attain flowering size.

When the plants are dug, cut off the leaves about 1 1/2 inches above the top of the bulb and cut back the roots to within two inches from the bulb.

Plants can be produced from bulb pieces, as many as 60 pieces may be cut from one bulb, as long as each piece has a portion of the stem tissue or basal plate of the bulb attached to the scales. Bulbs cut immediately after flowering in the spring usually yields poor propagating materials.

Full-grown plants should be used for propagation, cuttings made from July to November usually produce the best plants.

Sexual propagation

The seed pods develop within four to five weeks after pollination and should be picked as soon as they turn yellow and start to break open. The seed is then removed from the pod, allowed to dry for a few days and then planted in flats of a well-drained soil. The young plants should be grown in increasingly higher light levels until they are receiving full sunlight. Plants should be ready for planting out in the garden in about one year.

Pests And Diseases

Amaryllis rarely have serious pests or disease problems. Grasshoppers, particularly the Eastern Lubber Grasshopper, can occasionally produce some damage on this plant.

Another insect pest is the Spanish moth caterpillar, which can cause some damage by chewing on the leaves and stems. This black caterpillar with white markings also feeds on Crinum lily.

The disease known as "red-blotch" or "leaf scorch" occurs commonly on Amaryllis. The fungus produces red spots on the leaves, flowers, stems and petals.

Dark reddish brown spots may appear on the bulbs and produce large rotted areas. Badly infected bulbs should be destroyed. Copper fungicides are recommended to control this disease.

Amaryllis can be infected with a virus disease called mosaic that causes yellow mottling and red streaking on the leaves. There is no control for this disease, affected plants should be removed from the field and destroyed.

Helen Stairs Theatre to host 'Pirates of Penzance' during Sanford Heritage Festival

By Nick Pfeiffauf
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Pirates will be invading the stage of the Helen Stairs Theatre in downtown Sanford on Saturday, Nov. 11, as the Central Florida Lyric Opera presents "Pirates of Penzance", one of the most musical and hilarious Gilbert and Sullivan comedy operettas ever staged.

The pirates have their share of difficulties in ever completing any raid. They are also lonely when they arrive at a port where there are a number of eligible and beautiful daughters of a retired Major General. But, to tell you more would spoil the plot and possibly give away some of the funniest material ever put in a presentation of this type.

Millicent Barimo, President of the Board of Directors of Central Florida Lyric Opera is extremely excited about appearing in Sanford. "In fact," she said, "we have an agreement where we'll be presenting programs for a long time to come." For example, next January they will present the opera La Boheme, and in March, the Elixir of Love.

But right now, the focus is on the Pirates of Penzance. The company has all professionally trained voices, and all are members of the Residential Artists' Program.

While there are many presentations throughout the state by this company, the two lead rolls in the Pirates are held by Fernando Varela and Julie Ruth, both of the Longwood/Lake Mary area.

In addition to the performances, musicians from the Orlando Philharmonic will be on hand.

Tickets for the Pirates of Penzance are $20 for regular admission, or $15 for students and seniors. Tickets are available for all performances, including the two next year, for $45.

Sanford Heritage Festival-goers with arm bands will receive a discount to the Pirates of Penzance. For reservations, phone 407-321-8111.

The Pirates of Penzance performance is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 11.

Sweet Harmony celebrates 17 years

Sweet Harmony Chapter No. 388, Order of Eastern Star International Free and Accepted Modern Masons, a chapter of dedicated Christian women, have been together for 17 years. Their devotion and commitment to serve their community and fellow man has shown throughout these years. Worthy Matron Eartha Melton, who leads the organization has led the chapter of Sweet Harmony with integrity, honesty, diligence and respect for each member.

We salute Sweet Harmony Chapter No. 388 for their accomplishments, for the untiring services rendered to those in need in this Sanford community.

Melton often reminds the Chapter that what you achieve or fail to achieve in a lifetime is directly related to what you do or fail to do.

The 17th celebration began with the banquet, which is held yearly at the Sanford Civic Center. Master of Ceremonies was Pastor Matthew Jackson of the Clearwater Baptist Church.

Helping to make a spirit-filled celebration was Pastor Leonard J. Wilson of St. Matthews Baptist Church. Welcome and greetings were given by city commissioner and Sweet Harmony member, Dr. Velma H. Williams.

Sweet Harmony Chapter No. 388, Order of Eastern Star International Free and Accepted Modern Masons

The history of the chapter was given by Sylvia Bodison, chapter member.

Musical renditions were rendered by the "Lighthouse Gospel Singers" and a guest soloist, of Sanford. Other guest singers were Sweet Harmony Chorale of Daytona Beach, the Singing Angels of DeLand.

Guest artist was Robert Hayes who gave his mime dance rendition to the song, "I can Fly".

After a spirit-filled evening the more 200 guests enjoyed a delicious dinner.

The continued celebration of the anniversary included the church fellowship service, held Sunday afternoon at New Mount Calvary Baptist Church where the Rev. Ricky Scott is pastor.

The service of praise and worship theme was "Christian Women with a Vision Working for a Breakthrough." Speaker for the occasion was the Rev. Billy Jackson, pastor of Rockhill Baptist Church, Oviedo.

The message of faith, love, sharing, caring and giving was the link to the motto of this group.

To love, to give, to show someone you care. That's what living is all about.

Special thanks to the guest chapters who were present throughout the two-day celebration. They were Zethel Surrency Worthy Matron and the Miami Chapter, Mt. Dora Chapter, Daytona Chapter and Orlando Chapter. Thanks to all of the 17th Anniversary Committee members, Beatrice Duncan, Clara Davis, Richadean Vaughn, Sylvia Bodison, Lula Cummings, Mildred Cooks, Pearlle Ford and Arthur H. Scott.

The Agricultural and Labor Program, Inc. Northern Region Advisory Council invites the cooperate members and community to attend their annual meeting, Sat. Nov. 11 at 11 a.m. The theme is "Strengthening Community Partnership for Families and Children in the 21st Century." The annual meeting will be held at the Hal Marston Center, 3933 Country Club Road, off John Young Parkway, Orlando.

Outdated mailing lists add insult to injury of son's loss

DEAR ABBY: I need to vent my frustration over two ludicrous and painful incidents that have occurred since my 21-year-old son, "John," passed away from cancer in 1994.

The oncology doctor who treated John and signed his death certificate moved to a new office in 1996. His staff then sent a "new address" notice — addressed to our son.

I can top that. This week, we received a "relocation" notice from the mortuary that handled John's funeral. This, too, was addressed to John!

I can handle the music and video club mailings addressed to my son, even though I've written them numerous times informing them of John's death, but I never felt I needed to ask an oncology doctor or mortuary to remove my son's name from their list. Don't mailing lists ever get updated or destroyed? JOHN'S MOTHER IN ALBUQUERQUE

DEAR MOM: You have my sympathy for your painful predicament. Although we know that no one lives forever — immortality may indeed exist on hard-drives and computer discs.

Although mailing lists should be updated yearly, it's a task that often gets put on the back burner because of work overload. If you receive any more of these mailings, just toss them.

DEAR ABBY: What's the deal with women today? Why are we so neurotic and insecure when it comes to men?

I am a woman who happens to have many male friends. When one of them gets a girlfriend, she will watch me like a hawk and become angry if I say or do the "wrong" thing around him.

When one of my female friends gets a boyfriend, she'll drop "subtle" hints to me to stay away from her man and focus on my own relationships.

Abby, I am in no way a slut or a man-stealer, nor do I act, dress or give the impression that I am. None of the men I know perceives me this way, either. So I return to my original question: What's the deal with women today?

STAMP OUT PARANOIA, PALMDALE, CALIF.

DEAR STAMP OUT: Jealousy and insecurity are one-size-fits-all clothes — and they are worn by both men and women. They are flattering on neither, but they've been around since we were cave dwellers. And I agree, their place is on the rag pile.

For everything you need to know about wedding planning, order "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447.

“We’re going (back) to Disney World”

By Dean Smith
 Sports Editor

WINTER SPRINGS — The Winter Springs girls volleyball team proved that it doesn't matter how many times you win, it's when you win that counts. DeLand came into Saturday's Class 6A-Region 1 Tournament with a 24-2 record and two wins in three matchups with the host Bears, including the last two times they had played.

After taking care of business in the semifinals the two Central Florida powerhouses faced up the sneakers for a winner-take-all fourth battle this season. But unlike the district final last week at DeLand, this one belonged to the home-standing Bears, who waited past the Bulldogs in straight games, 15-6 and 15-12.

With the victory Winter Springs improved to 26-7 on the season and earned a spot in this Thursday's FHSAA State Semifinals at Disney's Wide World of Sports Complex.

The Bears will also get the opportunity to avenge last year's Championship Match loss to Olympic Heights.

The four-time defending state champions from Boca Raton also rolled to another state bid, struggling past South Plantation, 15-13 and 15-7, then ripping Cooper City, 15-7 and 15-4, to improve to 31-1 on the season.

The Lions and Bears will play the 8:30 p.m. semifinal on Thursday following the 7 p.m. matchup between Plant City-Durant (21-5) and Miami-Sunset (29-3).

Thursday's winners will meet in the State Championship Match at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday at Disney.

Patriots playoff bound

Demateis, Dryden star as Brantley romps past DeLand

By Dean Smith
 Sports Editor

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Friday night was not a good night for Volusia County football teams to venture into Seminole County.

Senior's Josh Demateis and Corey Dryden scored three touchdowns each as Lake Brantley rolled to a 42-0 lead before settling for a 42-14 playoff DeLand in a Class 6A-District 2 game at Tom Story Field.

At Lake Howell's Richard L. Evans Field, sophomore running back John Williams scored five touchdowns and two 2-point conversions, including the game-winner with four minutes to play, as the host Silver Hawks celebrated Homecoming by holding off the Pine Ridge Panthers, 43-42, in a Class 5A-District 4 contest.

Demateis, a fullback, scored on runs of one- and 12-yards as the Patriots took a 14-0 lead and then added Lake Brantley's final score on a 17-yard run late in the third period.

Lake Mary running back Reggie Campbell (with ball above) carried the ball 14 times for 314 yards to surpass the 1,000-yard mark this season during the Rams' 34-28 Senior Night victory over Lyman Friday evening.

In between Dryden, a 6-foot-4 wide receiver, caught touchdown passes of 15-, 41- and 38-yards from senior quarterback Taylor Ramsaur.

The Ramsaur to Dryden connection was strong all night as the duo hooked up six times for 170 yards. Demateis carried the ball 16 times for 116 yards as the Patriots racked up 440 yards of total offense.

Senior placekicker Corey Kalish was perfect, hitting all six of his extra point tries in what was probably his final game at Tom Story Field.

With the victory, Lake Brantley improved to 7-2 overall and, more importantly, 4-2 in district play, giving the Patriots the runner-up spot in

County schools dominate in cross country districts

By Dean Smith
 Sports Editor

DeLAND — The Seminole Athletic Conference will be more than well represented when the Regional Meets are held this Saturday in Lake City and Winter Haven.

As it has done all season, the Lyman High School boys team dominated the field as it coasted to the Class 4A-District 2 Championship at Sebring Sports Complex in DeLand this past Saturday.

Senior Doug Brown and junior Kevin Cook again went 1-2 in the race, with senior Fred Finke coming home fourth as the Greyhounds easily coasted past St. Augustine Nease, 39-0-83.

Also qualifying for the regional meet were Winter Springs, Oviedo, Lake Brantley and Lake Mary, which finished third through sixth.

Lake Howell just missed qualifying with a seventh place finish, but sophomore Omar Morales did earn a spot by finishing fifth. The top 15 finishers

Raiders remain undefeated

By Dean Smith
 Sports Editor

SANFORD — Saturday night proved to be a good one for the Seminole Community College basketball program as both the men and women improved to 2-0 with impressive victories.

The men of coach Stan Cormartie never trailed as they recorded a 69-55 victory over Hillsborough Community College from Tampa at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center.

The women of coach Ken Patrick did not have it so easy, as they had to overcome a nine-point halftime deficit and the loss of four players to fouls, but still rallied for a 79-68 victory over Tallahassee Community College in the State Capital to also improve to 2-0.

Both teams will spend this week on the road, as the women traveled to St. Petersburg to face the Spartans on Tuesday and will then head to Pensacola Junior College for an 8 p.m. game on Friday against the host Pirates and then taking on Okaloosa-Walton Community College from Ft. Walton Beach at 6 p.m. on Saturday.

The men will be idle until Friday when they head to South Florida to take on Broward Community College at its Davie Campus on Friday at 7:30 p.m. and then face Miami-Dade Community College on Saturday at 4 p.m.

Both teams will return home next Tuesday for a doubleheader with ABAC (Abraham-Baldwin Agricultural College) from Tifton, Ga. The women, who will be playing their first home game of the season, will open the 'deuce' at 6 p.m., followed by the men at 8 p.m. As always, all home games are free to the public.

Che Morgan, a 6-foot-10 freshman from Travelers Rest, South Carolina, had a big game for the Raider men, scoring nine of his team-high 14 points in the second half and dominating the backboards.

SCC, which only led 32-30 at halftime after allowing the Hawks a late rally, also had sophomores Walter Green and Matt Story in double figures with 13 points each, as well as Apopka sophomore Chris Calderon with 11. Richard Toussaint led Hillsborough (0-1) with a game-high 18 points.

Jennifer Knox scored 10 of her 13 points in the first half as TCC took a commanding, 36-27, halftime lead over the SCC women.

But the Raiders rallied behind the play of freshmen Narumol Berggren (Stockholm, Sweden), Yolanda Johnson (Braddock, Pa.) and Gabrielle Blankenfeld (Naperville, Ill.) and sophomore Sheketa "Kiki" Kindred (Douglasville, Ga.), outscoring the Eagles 57-32 in the second half.

Berggren and Johnson (eight rebounds) both scored 18 points, while Kindred, who also had seven rebounds chipped in with 13 and Blankenfeld 10. Freshman Erin Bradshaw added nine points and sophomore Sue Gyarfas had eight points and nine rebounds for SCC.

Blake burns 49ers

Sanford's Jeff Blake threw three touchdown passes as the New Orleans Saints look a 28-0 lead at halftime and a 31-0 lead in the third quarter in a 31-15 romp over the San Francisco 49ers at the Louisiana SuperDome on Sunday. Blake was 20-for-28 for 275 yards and also carried the ball six times for 23 yards as the Saints improved to 6-3 on the season.
