Code enforcement crackdown

SANFORD — The City of Sanford will be stepping up its code enforcement beginning this month. Weekend checks will be made in addition to regularly scheduled inspections.

According to Building Official Gary Winn, "We have found that many people are violating our city codes regarding such matters as illegal yard sales, illegal peddlers and some real estate signs over the weekend."

Winn said he and a code inspector, Linda Gentry, will begin checking for violations on Saturdays and Sundays several times each month.

"People are allowed to have two yard sales per year without having to obtain a permit," Winn said, "but there are some people who are apparently trying to make a livelihood out of it and hold them almost every weekend."

"We also have some signs going up only on weekends leading to some houses offered for sale," he added, "and this is also prohibited without prior approval."

Other areas where Winn and Gentry will be investigating are weekend construction work being done without building permits. This includes putting on a new roof, adding a room or enclosing a carport," he said.

Flu shots available

SANFORD — The Seminole County Health Department is now offering flu shots, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. at 400 W. Airport Blvd. The cost is $8, or may be obtained through Medicare, Part B. For information or an appointment, phone 322-2724, ext. 3291 or ext. 3219. The flu shots are also being offered at the Casselberry office, 182 Wilshire Plaza Blvd., Suite 126. For an appointment at the Casselberry office phone 331-4020.

Paint job for Boys-Girls Club

SANFORD — AT&T and NCR are undertaking a repainting project at the Sanford Boys & Girls Club at 919 Perkinson Avenue. Professional painters have already been hired to pressure clean and paint the exterior of the building. The next project will be Saturday, Oct. 9, when a crew will paint the upper level of the gymnasium's interior.

On Saturday, Oct. 16, about 30 volunteers from AT&T/NCR and the Sanford community will paint the remaining interior. Volunteers are urged to be on hand beginning at 9 a.m.

Rotary plans country event

SANFORD — The Rotary Club of Sanford Breakfast will hold its annual Charity Country & Western dance and barbecue, scheduled for Oct. 16.

Profits from the event will be used to finance the many projects undertaken by the club.

The dance and barbecue will be held at the Sanford Civic Center, Sat. Oct. 16, beginning at 4:30 p.m. Tickets, $15 per person, may be obtained from members of the Rotary Breakfast club.

Softball debate settled?

Law gives girls better shot at scholarships

By TONY DeSORMIER
Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — It appears that confusion is in the eye of the beholder.

Take, for instance, the ongoing debate on whether or not Seminole County high schools will be playing fastpitch softball in the spring.

While the debate of the merits of slowpitch softball for girls vs. fastpitch has been going on statewide for nearly a decade, it escalated this summer when Governor Lawton Chiles signed into law a gender equity bill.

In effect, the new statute mandates that public high schools must offer fastpitch softball because that is the form of the sport state universities and colleges play and for which they offer scholarships. The rationale is that by playing the fastpitch game in high school, girls around the state would be better prepared to compete for scholarships.

Not surprisingly, the law created more questions than it answered. When asked what the status of the situation was this week, athletic directors at two high schools gave answers that were the verbal equivalent of shrugged shoulders, while a third apologetically said that he wasn't "authorized" to discuss it.

Yet, according to Dr. Tom Marcy, executive director of high school education for the Seminole County School District, there is no confusion. In fact, he sent a memo to the six county high school principals two weeks ago outlining the school board's position.

"If schools have a softball team, it will be fastpitch," said Dr. Marcy during a telephone conversation Friday afternoon. "If sufficient interest is shown and the resources are available."

SANFORD — The fragrance of small wood campfires perfumed the air at the Seminole County History Museum Saturday as craft lovers and history buffs came together at the eighth annual Pioneer Days 'N Ways and Crafts Festival. The festival continues today.

Festival chairman Joanne Lucas was busy arranging items for judging Saturday morning.

"We hope to have the results by 3 p.m.," Lucas commented. "The judges are visiting each of the artist's booths for at least 30 seconds."

The visits will help give the judges an overall view of the artists' work. Lucas said in the past, some artists complained the judges did not even stop in their booths.

"I told the judges, they weren't going to judge at the Lake Mary Heathrow festival unless they visited each booth," she said with a smile, noting this year's judges Dennison W. Griffith and Randall A. Hayes are "wonderful."

The sunny day and pleasant temperatures added to the enjoyment of the festival. Art ranging from prints, watercolors and oils to jewelry and quilts were on display and sale.

Some early-bird festival goers arrived before the 9 a.m. opening and were admitted. Although festival officials did not have any estimate of the Saturday crowd, Lucas said, attendance may be the best in the seven year history of the event.

Joe and Ellen Elliott of Green Cove Springs were exhibiting hand carved, painted ducks for the first time. Joe takes care of carving and painting while his wife adds the delicate feathering detailing.

Quilting enthusiasts admired the work of Nancy Wischart, DeBarry who was exhibiting the quilts in the textile category.

Keeping county government simple

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Members of Seminole County's Charter Review Commission met Thursday to outline a broad scope of issues to consider during the next nine months, including single-member county commission districts and the county's relationship with the cities.

The commission, created by the county's first charter in 1989, must review the voter approved county constitution and propose any changes to voters. County commissioners must place their proposals on the general election ballot in November 1994 without alteration.

Thursday, the commission met for the first time and elected former county commissioner Fred Streetman their chairman and county adjustment board chairman Ben Tucker vice chairman, both unopposed.

In a free-form discussion of topics, members listed review topics affecting the structure, operations and policies of county government.

Does Sanford have a port?

Had a recent visitor from out of town impressed with what he saw at the Holiday Marina. We drove out to the Sanford Boat Works and he was impressed with the number of vessels moored out there. I was a bit surprised, too. So we drove out to the Port of Sanford.

"I didn't know Sanford had a port," opined my guest. I responded by saying, "We do and we don't." He remarked, "Julian, SANFORD — Confusion over a commission vote regarding Civil Service Board qualifications Monday prompted City Manager Bill Simmons to clarify commissioners' actions.

Although it appeared the ordinance for requirements to serve on the board was tabled, the final vote was to approve an ordinance on first reading.

Simmons said the actual vote was slightly confusing, and studied tape recordings of the meeting before determining that the vote had indeed been in favor of passing the ordinance on first reading.

City Attorney Bill Colbert had presented two separate ordinances for consideration by the com-the Civil War, as soldiers representing the North and South re-enacted the Battle of Celery City. Another battle is scheduled this afternoon.

Demonstrators also showed how utensils such as wooden spoons were made.

"Tomoka Joe" Isaacs, a ranger at Tomoka State Park and ranger Warren Poplin explained some of the history of indigo dye including the process in making it and how the term "Royal Blue" came to be.

The indigo plant was introduced to Florida from India by the British in the 1700s. To make dye, the leaves were fermented in urine creating a yellow green color. When the liquid was heated, cotton fibers were dipped into the dye. Although the cotton appeared greenish yellow, a chemical reaction occurred when oxygen hit it, turning it blue. Deeper hues were obtained by drying and repeating the dyeing process, Isaacs said. Today, a chemical replaces the urine in the dye-making process. "To make the health department happy," Isaacs added.

A group of Boy Scouts from a Sanford-Paola troop #529 demonstrated Indian beadwork and Indian life. Troop leader Joanne Peagler's tepee gave festival goers a first hand look at the life of the Plains Indians. Her son, David, recently became an Eagle Scout. David was busy threading tiny colored beads onto a thread to make a necklace.

Another group of young men performed Tolako Indian Dances.

Several of the Civil War re-enactors described their hobby as "very addictive."

A St. Petersburg resident portrays Blair Brown, a Confederate spy. Although she works for a gas company during the week, on the weekends she becomes her Civil War character. She would identify herself only as Brown, keeping in character. Her husband, Steve, is a member of the Seventh Florida Company K Infantry group, known as the Butternut Brigade which fought with a Tennessee regiment. They were known as the Butternut Brigade because of the color of their wool uniforms.

"This is a very family-oriented activity," Brown said of the Civil War re-enactors, with children joining their parents dressing in period costumes. "When we are sitting around the campfires," Brown said, "people are talking about how the day's battle went. Not once have I ever heard someone say, 'Hey, how about those Bucks!' The couple became re-enactors about a year ago.

The Civil War re-enactors come from all walks of life. Some of the ones on hand this weekend at the Five Points Complex are bio-medical engineers, a marine biologist, and a candy broker.

Two charged in retail theft

Sanford police arrested Cheryl Ann Jackson, 28, 2360 Broadway, Sanford, and Teretha Marie Jones, 23, 2230 Church Street, Sanford, in connection with a theft Thursday at a store in the 3600 block of S. Orlando Drive. Police said Jackson reportedly attempted to remove some clothing from the store without paying. The arrest report said she had been previously issued a trespass warning following a theft in 1989, prohibiting her from being in the store. Jackson was charged with retail theft and trespassing after warning. Jones, who police reports indicate was assisting Jackson, was also arrested and charged with retail theft.

One charged in retail theft

Judy Jametta Cain, 33, 152 Bethune Circle, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Thursday at Country Club Road and Old Lake Mary Road. The arrest report said Cain had taken the price tag off a $10 purse, stuffed an $8 shirt into it, and attempted to leave a store in the 1700 block of W. Airport Blvd., without paying. Officers said she dropped the purse as she fled from the store, pursued by a security officer. She has been charged with retail theft.

Paintings pilfered

A man in the 700 block of Creekwater Terrace, told deputies he saw three male juveniles remove two canvases from his vehicle Thursday. He said the canvases contained six paintings, including two autographed by Byron Nelson, one autographed by Sam Snead, one by Arnold Palmer, and two others with a total value of $1,500.

Extradition

Sheriff's deputies report Jonathan Allen Jobe, 33, presently of Dallas, Texas, was extradited back to Seminole County from Dallas Thursday. Jobe, a former Sanford resident, had been wanted in connection with an incident reported on July 7, 1992 in Sanford. An outstanding warrant against Jobe had been issued for violation of parole on convictions of false imprisonment, aggravated battery, aggravated assault, and resisting arrest without violence. Another warrant, also served, is for violation of parole on convictions of aggravated assault and resisting without violence.

Warrants served

• Keith Leonard Myers, 20, 1506 W. 17th Street, was arrested Thursday by sheriff's deputies. He was wanted on a capias for resisting an officer with violence.

• Louise Sabrina Hicks, 23, of Altamonte Springs, and Thad Brown, 29, of 1307 W. 14th Street, were both arrested by Sanford police at Brown's residence Thursday, following a confrontation. Each was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Crimes reported to authorities

• Sheriff's deputies are investigating a reported burglary and car theft Thursday. Deputies said someone entered a house in the 200 block of Tollgate Trail, Longwood, stole $25 in cash and car keys, while the resident slept in her bed, unaware of the incident. They said the burglar then exited the house, and stole the woman's 1990 red Pontiac. The incident report did not list a license number.

• Over $160 in items including a radar detector and racquet ball racquet, were reported stolen Thursday from a pickup truck parked on McIntosh Point, at the Midway Commerce Center.

Civil Service Board: Reduce conflicts

The Sanford City Commission is restructuring qualifications for membership on the Civil Service Board. The intent is to avoid placing any member in a position of having a conflict of interest, or being accused of such.

The Civil Service Board is comprised of five members. Two are elected by city employees. Two are appointed by the City Commission. Each of these serve for a two year term. The fifth member is selected by the other four, and serves for a one year term.

At the present time, the only qualifications are that members be residents of the city, have different vocations, and not be presently employed by the city.

Suggested changes would add that membership be prohibited for any relative, (through blood relationship, marriage or adoption), of a person presently employed by the city.

While the commission has approved the first reading of an ordinance regarding the relationship prohibitions, one additional matter has been suggested. It would prohibit retired city employees from serving on the board.

The point of the recommended changes is to keep the board operating in the best manner. This is not to say that any previous decisions by board members have been based on partiality. Rather, it is to ensure city employees the board will maintain evenly based judgments.

One of the present members of the board and at least two of those who were involved in the recent board election process, are related to present city employees.

Bill Horn, who won the election, was also a retired city employee, having left his position with Building Maintenance in July, 1990.

The commission will hold the second and final reading of the new ordinance on Oct. 11. We recommend approval.

If the restrictions against former retirees is added however, we believe this should be done only with a time specification. Requiring that a year or two should have passed between retirement and board membership would be a fair decision.

The restrictions regarding relationships may have a tendency to reduce the number of persons who may be considered as prospective Civil Service Board members. However, it will serve as assurance for all city employees that fair judgments and decisions will be made by reducing the possibility of a conflict of interest.

Heartfelt thanks

With the passing of Seminole County Commissioner Robert J. Sturm, another page in our lives is now turned. Bob's last days were marked by agony and each of us at Bob's side felt his pain in our hearts. Tears flowed freely.

The outward show of respect for Bob has brought comfort and pride to his closest friends and family that will last our lifetime. On the way to St. Augustine's Church, cars and trucks coming in the opposite direction of the funeral procession pulled to the side of the road or just stopped in the middle of the street. One elderly gentleman stood at attention on the side of the road with his hat folded across his heart. Never have I seen such a public display of honor....Thank you, Seminole County. The outpouring of help for Bob and his family by his fellow county employees and business acquaintances was amazing. And Central Florida's media could not have been more thoughtful and respectful about this long-term commissioner. The many articles and published photos about Bob and his career made us all the more proud. Thank you.

That each of us should come to the end of our days here on earth with just a fraction of the genuine love and respect that Bob Sturm enjoyed would surely be to consider our short time having been well worth living. To the good citizens of Seminole County and to Bob's friends throughout central Florida, we extend our heartfelt appreciation and affection for their unprecedented show of honor and respect for Robert J. Sturm.

Plan could help city's appearance

Sanford is a very special place to me. When I returned almost ten and one half years ago, I did so with great enthusiasm. The giant century-old oaks that grace my property were etched in my memory, dating from childhood.

In 1908, my paternal grandparents, Richard and Maggie McPherson, bought the land where I now live. My grandfather was a postman; one of his responsibilities was to meet the train and receive the mail. Many, many times I traveled from Bartow to Sanford. My grandfather would meet me and the mail. The pleasure of a train ride and my grandfather meeting me is something I will always treasure. Consequently, Sanford holds many warm memories for me.

Sanford has many positive attributes. Lake Monroe and the lakefront are naturally beautiful. The Henry Sanford Museum, located on First Street where Pine Avenue deadends is being renovated. Ceremonies have been held for the mall, which may be the largest in the state, according to news reports.

There is, however, a dichotomy in Sanford. With the beauty of the lakefront, with the renovation of the Henry Sanford Museum and the bright prospect of a mall, small seemingly inconsequential problems are not being addressed by the city commissioners.

My home is three blocks from the Henry

SEMINOLE OPINION

LURLENE SWEETING

Sanford Museum and a jungle is in the process of developing in the vacant lots adjacent to my property. I have for over nine years been placed in the position of having to complain to City Hall to have the lots cut.

Earlier this year I contacted the chief executive officer of the bank that owns the land. I also contacted the mayor. The mayor gave me the name of a city employee to contact when the lots need cutting. This means I wait until the lots become unsightly, complain, and a month to six weeks later they are cut. It would appear that the city could develop policies and procedures that would discourage jungle growth in the city. The current city policy results in the lots being unsightly at least three quarters of the year.

I am really weary of complaining and have decided that if the lots are never cut again, I will not complain.

I don't believe that Mayor Betty Smith and the other city commissioners are not interested in improving Sanford's appearance. What is being suggested is a review of policies and procedures to be of more assistance to citizens.

As a matter of fact, when the mayor was first elected she resurrected the Scenic Improvement Board. Sarah Jacobson served as the chairman, Judy Wimbish, the vice president, Ruth Lee and Juany Mercer were in charge of monitoring sites that needed attention. I also served on the SIB. A Master Plan for the beautification of Sanford was developed and multiple aspects of the plan have been implemented.

However, one of the basic problems that existed then and continues to exist is the need to help our city become well groomed. One possibility would be to develop a schedule of routinely cutting vacant lots and billing the owners for the upkeep. An independent contractor might be hired by the city and the monies realized from billing owners of vacant lots be utilized to pay the contractors.

It is embarrassing when people visit me from in-state and out of state and see the jungle next door. Nevertheless, there will be no more complaints.

Will health plan cover abortion?

BOSTON — Maybe we should call it a pre-existing condition. Being female that is.

After all, we've been promised that people with other pre-existing conditions, things like diabetes or asthma won't be excluded from the new health plan. Maybe if females, or at least fertility, were a pre-existing condition, we could be assured of coverage for the whole range of reproductive care, including abortion.

As things are, it's looking a bit dicey. Even before the president's speech, health guru Ira Magaziner said they were prepared to accept a plan without abortion coverage. It took a spine-shivering visit from the Congressional Women's Caucus and a pre-emptive press conference by pro-choice leaders, to get the administration back on track.

The party line now is that the plan will cover pregnancy-related care and that includes abortion. But when the heat is on, there is the distinct smell of waffles in the air.

There isn't a person in the Congress, or in the country, who doesn't know that this is going to be a major, knock-down, drag-out fight. But there is a belief that when pro-life push comes to pro-choice shove, the president's supporters are the ones who will compromise. Again.

We are already in a state of compromise. The end result of the abortion wars has been a two-tiered reproductive health care system. One for the poor, one for the rest. One that is public and the other private.

Today a woman can get a safe, legal abortion as long as she pays for it herself or with her insurance. She virtually can't get an abortion with federal money.

About 90 percent of private health care plans cover abortion for any reason, but the federal government only pays for it in the case of rape, incest, or the life of the mother. We have made a compromise by compromising the poor.

We're still doing it. Last session, the Congress lifted one ban so that federal employees could pay for abortion coverage in their private plans. Then on Tuesday (Sept. 28), the Senate voted to retain another ban withholding money on all but a handful of Medicaid abortions.

The new health care plan, however is supposed to eliminate two-tier systems. It's supposed to do away with what Hillary Clinton called at the hearings this week, "the inequities and the inconsistencies of a health care system." We'll all get one basic, comprehensive package.

The question now is whether that package will look like Medicaid or like, say, Aetna. Whether poor women will gain abortion coverage or women with insurance will lose their coverage. The answer will be determined by some tough politics.

In the last election, pro-choice voters gave a lot and gained a lot. They gained a president, an attorney general, and a Supreme Court justice who all believe that abortion should remain legal.

But there has not been a victory parade. Doctors have been shot and murdered, clinics burned, patients assaulted. There is no federal law yet to protect clinics. The attention has turned from keeping abortion legal to keeping it available.

If access is the issue at clinics, it's also the issue in the health care debate. Operation Rescue is one barrier; money is another. One out of every five women has an abortion in her lifetime. Health care policy should reduce abortion by promoting contraception, not by taken abortion out of the coverage.

The current debate is going to set policy about women's health for a long, long time. The president's pro-choice supporters don't want to be spoilers but they also don't want to be losers.

As Pamela Maraldo, head of Planned Parenthood, says, "We are acutely aware that the squeaky wheel gets oiled. For too long women's health has been sacrificed. We will not be sweet and nice and roll over."

So this is where we are in the debate. We're on our way to discarding a two-tier health care system. One for the poor, one for the rest. We're on our way to eliminating the two-tier reproductive health care system. One public, one private. We have to do this by extending coverage to all women, not by eliminating it.

Remember all those pro-choice voters? They didn't send this administration to Washington to see their own choices diminished.

In this debate, political clout is also a pre-existing condition.

But when the heat is on, there is the distinct smell of waffles in the air.

Peace on horizon for Mozambique

WASHINGTON — The most horrendous pogrom since the infamous "killing fields" of Cambodia is drawing to a close almost unnoticed in a now-quiet corner of Africa.

If the 18-year war in Mozambique is truly over as a result of an internationally brokered peace and the presence of United Nations troops, it should provide infinitely greater hopes for ending dozens of other ethnic conflicts around the globe.

It would also give a real push to President Clinton's foreign policy pillar, reiterated last Monday in New York, of dependence on the U.N.'s peace-keeping efforts in the future.

Mozambique is a nation of about 16 million people in southern Africa. It has an incredible wealth of untapped resources, so the country has lain virtually undeveloped since winning independence from Portugal in 1975.

Mozambique has known little peace since gaining independence. That's because a ragtag band of rebel thugs, known as Renamo, waged a war against the populace and the nominally Marxist government. Their tactics were incredibly brutal, with tortures and deaths that defy imagination.

"We are speaking here of hundreds of thousands of people who have been killed and kidnapped. We are not speaking about small numbers," said Joaquim Chissano, the normally dry Mozambiquan president, in a recent interview with our associates Dale Van Atta and Ed Henry.

In fact, U.S. intelligence estimates figure more than 1 million Mozambiquans died during this rebel war, the vast majority at the hands of Renamo. The intelligence reports include among the war dead many who died of starvation or exhaustion when they were fleeing persecution.

Renamo was originally created by the white Rhodesian government's Central Intelligence Organization to destabilize its newly independent neighbor in the mid-1970s. Portuguese malcontents and government defectors also buttressed the rebels.

But the conversion of white Rhodesia into a black-run Zimbabwe nearly ended Renamo's run — until the white South African military intelligence group picked up the slack, funded and armed Renamo and gave them marching orders. A 1984 accord between South Africa and Mozambique was supposed to have ended support for the rebels, but captured documents show clear South African support throughout the 1980s.

While U.S. aid brought Mozambique firmly into the western sphere during the 1980s, the increasingly desperate Renamo resorted to mutilations, massacres, and, in dozens of instances, cannibalism. Their "trademark" became using machetes and bayonets to chop off the noses, ears and breasts of civilians who wouldn't join them. They slaughtered so many civilians that the government stopped using the word "massacre" to describe an incident unless at least 50 people were killed at one time.

With this recent history, the peace accord brokered last year in Italy between Chissano and rebel leaders calls for a cease-fire to be monitored by U.N. troops, for a military made up of both rebel and government troops and new democratic elections next year.

Banking on a brighter future, the Clinton administration is extending $120 million in economic and humanitarian aid to help Mozambique, and is paying one-third the cost of 7,000 U.N. troops in the country. The prime question now is whether the returning refugees and population of Mozambique can be convinced to follow Chissano's shining example.

Mozambique has known little peace since gaining independence.

 then the schools may also field a slowpitch softball team.
 "That's based on the legal opinion presented to the Florida High School Activities Association (by Syd McKenzie, General Counsel for the Florida Department of Education)."

Dr. Marcy said that the situation has been the subject of discussion in principals' meetings and there was talk that the FHSAA may want to challenge the legal opinion and secure an "either/or" position for its member high schools, affording them the right to choose between fastpitch and slowpitch.

Before issuing his memorandum on Sept. 17, Dr. Marcy conferred with Seminole County School Board attorney Ned Julian.

"Our position is consistent with that of the FHSAA," said Dr. Marcy. "While greater interest may exist in another sport such as slowpitch softball that may justify also sponsoring that sport if the district chooses, it does not excuse the district from offering the scholarship sport."

In this case, the scholarship sport is fastpitch softball.

"The change (to fastpitch) addresses the equity issue as it relates to scholarship opportunities," said Dr. Marcy. "We're offering fastpitch with the idea that that's the sport and there's not another option. For example, we don't discuss whether or not we're going to play touch or tackle football."

Much of the confusion seems to center over the use of word "offer." For example, many courses are offered by schools but don't make the schedule because of lack of interest. How obligated are Seminole County schools to offering fastpitch softball and fielding a team?

According to Dr. Marcy, very. "The word 'offer' is used in the sense of providing the sport and fielding a team," Dr. Marcy said firmly. "The schools will play fastpitch softball. If the interest exists and the resources are there, then they can field a slowpitch team as well."

Dr. Marcy, who has been through this transition before when he was the principal at St. Cloud High School, said that the "reticence" being exhibited is natural any time change is imminent.

"There has been a lot of reticence, but more and more school districts around the state are moving to fastpitch," said Dr. Marcy, who has been with the Seminole County School District for 10 months. "We're just getting in step with that movement."

"When I was the principal at St. Cloud, we made the change to fastpitch. The girls can play the game. It's a very interesting sport and a competitive game. Like any other change, until the change is made, there is some hesitation. But once the transition is made, the girls will have an equally fine experience."

Dr. Marcy said that part of the resistance to change is the comfort that people have with the status quo.

"I know the level of comfort people have with slowpitch," said Dr. Marcy. "The schools in Seminole County have been very successful in slowpitch softball and there's a high level of participation. But I don't believe that will change once the move is made to fastpitch."

While Dr. Marcy said that it was his position that no Seminole County high school will field a slowpitch softball team without fielding a fastpitch team, he did say that he could see schools offering both, especially in light of the fact that the athletic departments at county schools are self-supporting.

"If they have the interest and the resources to support a slowpitch team and play a viable schedule, there's nothing prohibiting from doing so," said Dr. Marcy. "The question is, can they afford to do that?"

Charter

 Charter commissioner John Howell, a lawyer who served on the committee that drafted the first charter in 1988, described the first charter as a "KISS," keep-it-simple-stupid embodiment of the existing county structure.

Streetman added the commission had the option of recommending no change as well.

"KISS is not necessarily a bad idea," said Streetman. "I think the first question should be how is it working?"

But charter commissioners decided to move ahead with a detailed examination of the county form of government, starting Oct. 14 with the county commission.

They will review the three forms of county government, including the current, strong county manager form, the elected "county mayor" form and the strong commission form with commissioners empowered with more executive responsibilities.

Charter commissioners will also review the number of commissioners, whether they should be elected solely from their own district, their salaries and terms, and partisan elections.

Future topics will include "sunsetting" terms for county programs and senior officials, whether the county attorney should continue to serve the county manager instead of the commission, county finances, voter approval for debt, and even the make-up of future Charter Review Commissions which will be reorganized every six years.

Howell asked County Attorney Bob McMillan to determine whether the charter commission could make proposals for the schools to clarify their responsibilities.

Tucker asked for a review of the county's "hands off" policy towards cities. The charter allows the county to adopt countywide ordinances unless cities opt out. Tucker said commissioners could consider the merits on consolidating land use decisions as is done in Broward County.

Vote

mission. The only difference was the inclusion in the second ordinance, of restrictions against allowing membership on the board by former city employees who had since retired.

The Civil Service Board is governed under city ordinance. Any changes require a new ordinance to be passed by the commission on an extraordinary vote, that is, at least approval by four commissioners.

Commissioner Lon Howell was not in attendance at the meeting.

In presenting the ordinance, Colbert read only the first one, but explained the difference regarding retirees, contained in the second one.

Just prior to the vote, Mayor Bettye Smith reminded the commissioners that they may wish to table the decision until Howell would be available.

"I'll move on the ordinance as read," said Commissioner Whitely Eckstein. Commissioner Bob Thomas seconded the motion and the measure passed unanimously.

Mayor Smith commented, "I told the commissioners that if Commissioner Howell or any of them wanted to make changes, they could do so before the second reading."

The ordinance as read and approved Monday night, will prohibit any relative, by blood, marriage or adoption, from serving on the Civil Service Board for the city.

One position is presently open. Recently appointed member William A. Horn, who retired in 1990 from employment with the city, resigned at his first meeting, on Sept. 15, out of protest. Horn had complained that the city attorney was asked to draft an ordinance which would prevent him from being re-elected. His term would have expired on June 30, 1994.

The second reading is scheduled for the next commission meeting, Oct. 11. If the ordinance is approved without any changes, there would be no restrictions against appointing a retired city employee to the board.

Homecoming '93

The Homecoming season is getting ready to kick off in Seminole County.

Students are picking out gowns and tuxedos. Young ladies are secretly hoping to become the Homecoming Queen and young men hope to represent their school as the Homecoming King.

In garages around the area floats for upcoming parades are just beginning to move off the drawing board and to take shape.

And the football teams are looking ahead to that all-important game.

The events are sponsored by the schools, but often the communities are involved as well.

In Sanford, Seminole High's

annual parade marches down First Street and culminates in a pep rally in the heart of the business district.

In Lake Mary, the street to the north of the school is closed down and residents come out to cheer the students' efforts.

This year, County Road 427 between Milwee Middle School and Lyman High School will be shut down for their first parade.

The celebrations will be as follows: Lyman High Oct. 14-15; Lake Mary High Oct. 21-22; Seminole High Nov. 4-5; Lake Howell High Oct. 14-15; Lake Brantley High Nov. 4-5; and Oviedo High Nov. 4-5.

Program adds up for EH students

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Debbie White's classroom is a bit atypical.

Students, all of whom have been diagnosed as Emotionally Handicapped (EH), are excited about learning math.

"These are not students who are usually excited about anything that has to do with school," she said.

The students, who regularly tend to ignore assignments, rules and manners, are making an effort to keep their hands to themselves, their mouths closed and their minds on their work.

After all, there is a trip around the world at stake here.

No, the school district isn't financing trips abroad for students who have improved behavior.

White's Math Around the Hemispheres program encourages the students to do their math work by offering them the incentive of being able to occasionally take a break from their math work to study other cultures and learn some words and phrases in a foreign language.

"The kids just love this," White said. "I've never seen such a turnaround."

Financed by a grant from the Seminole County Public Schools Foundation (formerly FACTS), the program awards "money" to students for such behaviors problems attempted and for good behavior. They can use the "money" which they deposit in a "checking account" to purchase items in the class store or time in the Neutral Zone and things like that.

"Bonjour, madamotselle," said one young man in greeting to a visitor.

White explained that a few dollars would be credited to his account for using a French phrase.

Another young man told White that he had attempted about 50 math problems this school year. While that may sound like a small amount, White asked him he had attempted all of last year.

"None," he said, eyes downturned. "Well...maybe one."

White said she received a note from the mother of one student who had not done any homework assignment for several years.

"She said that he sat down with her last night and tried to do his homework," she said. "That was great."

The students say they love the opportunity to learn.

"Don't tell her this," another boy whispered, pointing at White. "I like doing math."

Top scholars lauded

Four Seminole County students were named semi-finalists in the 1993 National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students.

The students were selected after scoring in the top percentage groups of African-American students who took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) and expressed an interest in being considered for scholarships.

They are all seniors in high school.

The semi-finalists are:
•Nick Saint-Victor of Lake Mary High School in Lake Mary. He plans to study prelaw in college and then pursue a career in business management.

•Melanie D. Flanders of Lyman High School in Longwood. She plans to study premedicine in college and to become a physician.

•David L. Robinson of Lyman High School in Longwood. He plans to study the health and medical professions when he attends college. He is planning a career along those same lines.

•Francine M. Fraser of Lake Howell High School in Winter Park. She plans to study premedicine in college and to become a physician.

Student clubs seek members

LAKE MARY — School is off to a great start and students are busily preparing for Homecoming, which is coming up on Oct. 22.

Lakeview plans a super silver 25th anniversary shows community loyalty

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — It has been 25 years since Lakeview Middle School first opened its doors to students in Sanford.

A quarter of a century of sixth, seventh and eighth graders have passed through the portals of that school.

Principal Jim Shupe said that the children and even some grandchildren of former students have attended the school.

"It's amazing," he said. "They keep coming back to visit and then the next generation comes back."

Shupe, who has been at the school for two years, marvels at the loyalty of the parents and students to the school.

"They're wonderful," he said. Parents and friends of the school are planning a big celebration for the school's silver anniversary.

They are looking for anyone who presently attends or who has ever attended the school to come and celebrate with them on Saturday, Oct. 16.

There will be a three-hour celebration on that day that includes the presentation of a plaque, performances by the school band and orchestra and speeches by many district and school dignitaries.

"We're all very excited about the celebration for the school," said David Hall, who heads the school's School Advisory Committee (SAC) and volunteers many hours at the school each week. "I think this should be a community-wide celebration."

The school draws much of its student population from some of Sanford's lower socio-economic areas. As a result, there are addition problems at the school which might not exist at some other middle schools.

"But it is because the community is backing us up that we are going to be able to make some changes for the better," Shupe said.

There have been changes in the school rules, in the look of the school and in the locations of classrooms, Shupe said.

"The only thing that has not changed is the loyalty of the people in the community to Lakeview," he said.

Hall said he is very pleased with the school's history of loyalty and believes that the changes that have come over the school since Shupe assumed the helm will make it an even stronger part of the community.

"That's the strength of this school," he said.

Some of the little ones in Fran Rivera's first grade class at Pine Crest Elementary School presented their teacher with a hand-decorated designer original skirt. Covered with pictures that were based on stories they had read about big bears and little bears and the people who play with them, the skirt is a testament to their love of reading and their creativity. While her skirt may not be the envy of fashion-conscious clothes horses around Seminole County, it is sure to be a treasure to a first grade teacher who has a group of loving students.

Immunize tots against hepatitis

By Dr. Brenda Baracka
Special to the Herald

In these times when the public eye is so focused on cost-efficient medicine, the ability to prevent yet another devastating and costly disease is easily within our reach.

Recently the American Academy of Pediatrics has issued a statement recommending that all infants be immunized against Hepatitis B as a part of a comprehensive strategy to eliminate Hepatitis B virus (HBV) transmission in the United States.

Between 100,000 and 300,000 people are infected with HBV every year. HBV infection can occur in several ways.

Approximately four percent of the cases occur in infants whose mothers are actively shedding the virus and another four percent occur in childhood.

Contracting the infection in childhood can be especially dangerous because these infections are more likely to be asymptomatic and thus go undetected. Additionally, they are more likely to advance to the chronic, active form of the disease which has a longer period of infectivity and often progresses to liver cirrhosis and liver cancer.

Finally, because HBV is usually transmitted sexually or by percutaneous or

Parents must be made aware that they can not control their children's future high risk behaviors.

-Dr. Brenda Baracka

To be fully protected against HBV infection, an individual must receive three doses of the hepatitis B vaccine.

Ideally the first dose will be given shortly after birth, the second at one to two months of age and the third at 6 to 18 months of age. However, children and adolescents of any age are eligible for the three dose series.

This three dose series will induce adequate protection in greater than 95 percent of infants and children.

Furthermore the vaccine is very safe, with the most commonly reported side effect only being soreness at the site of injection.

At present, the medical field can not offer very effective treatment for chronic hepatitis B.

However, the hepatitis B vaccine does offer the ability to prevent it.

Parents must be made aware that they can not control their children's future high risk behaviors. Immunizing children against HBV is just one more part of a lifelong insurance policy to give children the maximum protection against future hazards.

Brenda Baracka, M.D. is a pediatrician who practices in Sanford and DeBary.

Excercise may help prevent osteoporosis

By The Associated Press

GAINESVILLE — Aerobic exercise may help prevent osteoporosis in women entering post-menopausal years, a team of University of Florida researchers says.

The results of a one-year study show that regular aerobic exercise during the years immediately following menopause can greatly reduce the rate at which bone mineral loss (thinning) occurs in women, said Daniel Martin, the study's co-author and an associate professor of physical therapy at UF's College of Health Related Professions.

The findings were reported in a recent issue of the Journal of Bone and Mineral Research.

"We found that in the immediate five to six years after menopause, women who exercised regularly cut their bone mineral loss by 50 percent when compared to a group of women who did not exercise," Martin said. "It is during this five- to six-year period that women experience significant bone loss, placing them at risk for developing osteoporosis later in life."

Osteoporosis, a brittle-bone disease, is responsible for more than 1.5 million bone fractures annually, according to the National Osteoporosis Foundation.

Martin and Dr. Morris Nadelvitz, an obstetrician and gynecologist in Gainesville, designed the study, which used 55 healthy post-menopausal women. Some were assigned to exercise groups, others to a control group that did no exercise.

Martin said more extensive studies are needed to examine the effects of exercise on bone strength.

think you'll find it very interesting.

In 1961, the "old" Seminole County Chamber of Commerce (now the Sanford Chamber) created a port committee. Local druggist Francis Roumillat was named chairman. The committee obtained funds and hired a well known South Carolina engineering firm - Lockwood & Green - to conduct a feasibility study. It had a great track record, especially for obtaining federal grants.

Lockwood & Green made a preliminary report, according to the Dec. 22, 1963 edition of the Herald. It was certain it would recommend the port be built when it made its final report. The preliminary report also indicated from 200,000 to 400,000 tons of cargo could be generated to go through the proposed facility each year.

The final report was presented by Lockwood & Green to the port committee February 4, 1964, at a Mayfair Inn dinner meeting. Also present were other chamber leaders, legislators and officials of the city of Sanford and Seminole County. The meeting was reported in the Herald's February 5 edition.

With Lockwood & Green's report in hand, Roumillat and his chamber committee arranged for Seminole County commissioners to tour ports in Jacksonville and Brunswick. Afterward, the county gave the committee its blessings. The local legislative delegation, Senator Mack Cleveland plus Representatives Joe Davis and Gordon Fredericks, pushed an enabling act through the Legislature that created a port authority. Democratic Governor Haydon Burns appointed the initial members.

They were Roumillat, Andy Carraway, John Fitzpatrick, Byron Kimball, Carl Schilke, B.F. Wheeler and James Colbert. Roumillat was named chairman. Fredericks was appointed attorney for the board. The authority's first effort was to obtain funds for the port's construction. It borrowed $900,000 from HUD, plans and specs, prepared by Lockwood & Green, went out to bid. The lowest came in at $1.2 million. More money was needed. Roumillat contacted the Economic Development Administration. EDA officials told Roumillat to list everything the Authority would need and make an official request. Roumillat took a request for $600,000 to Atlanta. But EDA would not approve it because it did not think the amount was enough. Roumillat then asked for and got a grant of $845,000.

The land was bought. The port was built.

Meanwhile, for the first time in a hundred years, a Republican governor moved into the capitol's top office. The first thing to hit the port's fan was Claude Kirk's one new appointment after another to the board. Roumillat resigned as chairman. Some members made an effort to name Roumillat port administrator but authority members selected out of nowhere, Jim Ryan. The port was opened and dedicated. But under Ryan the authority tried, and made - not a port - but an industrial park out of the facility. To my knowledge Ryan never made the first effort to generate cargo through the port. Why?

When Lockwood & Green made its final report it said it had contacted over 800 firms in 22 central and southern Florida counties that indicated they could and would use the port. Ryan never knocked on the door of a single one of these would-be shippers because he convinced himself that the authority was built on the premise the cross state barge canal from Yanketown to Palatka would become a reality.

However, in its final report, Lockwood & Green specifically stated its recommendation was "not" - and, I repeat, "not," based on the cross state canal being built. The tonnages it estimated were estimated on traffic to and from Sanford and points north on the Atlantic Intra-Coastal Waterway to New Jersey.

Wondering why no traffic was being handled by the port, Chamber Manager John Krider and I one day went to Orlando. We called on Red McGee, head of United Fruit Growers. He was shocked to learn the port had been built and opened. Immediately he arranged for us to meet with the head of the Florida Growers & Shippers League. He, too, said nobody had called on him.

In fact, Krider and I were floored when we learned that it just one-half of all the canned Florida citrus and citrus juice to go from Florida to New Jersey each year were to be shipped through the Port of Sanford, the facility couldn't handle it if it operated 24 hours a day. Why New Jersey? That's where the waterway terminates. But the ports there serve New York state and all of New England.

With this information I appeared before the Seminole County commission that year when it was considering the port authority's proposed budget. I asked the commission to add enough funds to hire a traffic solicitor. Ryan, however, told the commission the port didn't need a solicitor because construction of the cross state barge canal had been halted. Krider had a letter from Martin Anderson, erstwhile editor and publisher of The Orlando Sentinel. He said that if the port were built he could save about $200,000 a year on freight rates alone for shipping newsprint between Jacksonville and Sanford by water instead of rail. He even suggested he might construct a warehouse at the port and transport his newsprint daily to the Sentinel's Orlando pressrooms. Krider and I found out nobody had contacted the Sentinel.

Could an engineering firm such as Lockwood & Green with its A-1 track record be so wrong? I'll be the first to admit I've got a pretty good memory although I'm not blessed with a lot of smarts. But I know Lockwood & Green wasn't that far off base and what the Authority needed was someone to solicit traffic. I also know that if someone like Lockwood & Green told me there were some 800 firms out there that indicated they would use the port I would have knocked on doors until there was no skin left on my knuckles.

Ryan later resigned and went to Arabia. A fine young man, Dennis Dolgner, replaced Ryan. A brief drive through the port today will convince anybody that Dolgner deserves a tremendous amount of credit for making what was supposed to be a port into a highly successful industrial park.

Since the port was built I can recall but one barge ever docking at the Port of Sanford. It was loaded with huge steel beams destined for Fort Lauderdale.

So we're back where we started. Does Sanford have a port? I'll stick with my answer: "Yes and no." If you haven't been to the Port of Sanford lately, you'll really be surprised.

There's now a first class restaurant out there. But, I'm told if you go out there for a meal, don't be surprised if you can't find a place to park.

Knights rally to beat Yale

ORLANDO — David Rhodes recovered a fumble and lunged into the end zone with 42 seconds left as UCF topped Yale 42-28.

Richard Blake's 42-yard interception return for a touchdown with two seconds left in the game accounted for the final total.

Central Florida (3-1) trailed 28-27 with just over four minutes left in the game, but reached the Yale 13 with less than a minute to play. Fullback Gerod Davis burst up the middle for 10 yards, but fumbled as he was hit.

The ball popped up in the air and Rhodes snatched it and dove for the end zone with three men hanging from his back and scored.

That touchdown completed a fourth-quarter rally by UCF, which trailed 28-21 after Yale (0-3) scored 17 straight points in the second half.

AROUND THE STATE

FSU wrecks Wreck

TALLAHASSEE — Charlie Ward threw four touchdown passes and freshman Warrick Dunn scored three as top-ranked Florida State shook off a sluggish start Saturday and defeated Georgia Tech 51-0 to set up next weekend's showdown against Miami.

Florida State's defense, which has given up just 14 points, registered its third shutout, allowing just 110 yards and nine first downs.

Ward threw two touchdown passes in the final three minutes of the half to help FSU (5-0, 4-0 Atlantic Coast Conference) to a 16-0 lead.

Former Lake Howell star Marquette Smith went 8 yards for a TD in the final minute.

Ward, who sat out the final period for the fourth time season, was 21-of-28 for 222 yards and ran for 36.

Tech (1-3, 0-3) spent most of the day in its own territory, crossing midfield just once in the second half.

Record setting day for Gators

GAINESVILLE — Danny Wuerffel threw for a school-record 449 yards and Jack Jackson returned a kickoff 100 yards to put fifth-ranked Florida ahead to stay Saturday in a 38-24 victory over Mississippi State.

Wuerffel completed 27 of 41 passes in his second college start and found his favorite target, Chris Doering, 12 times for 199 yards and three touchdowns. The Gators improved to 4-0, 3-0 in the Southeastern Conference.

The performance, which helped Florida extend the nation's second-longest home winning streak to a school-record 21 games, overshadowed an impressive passing day for Mississippi State's Todd Jordan.

The Bulldogs' quarterback finished with 24 completions in 44 attempts for 416 yards and two TDs. However, Mississippi State (1-3, 0-2) didn't rebound from a sequence in which the lead changed hands three times in 55 seconds midway through the third quarter.

AROUND THE NATION

Howard knocks off FAMU

WASHINGTON — Jay Walker threw for two touchdowns and Rupert Grant ran for two more to lead Howard University to a 32-13 victory over Florida A&M on Saturday.

Tensions were high as Howard (4-0, 1-0) and Florida A&M (3-1, 0-1) opened Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference play, accumulating 18 penalties for 182 total penalty yards and one player ejection each in the first half.

Howard quarterback Jay Walker finished with 24 completions on 35 attempts for 363 yards, setting a new Howard passing record.

NL West still all even

LOS ANGELES — One day left in the regular season, and the San Francisco Giants and Atlanta Braves are still all even in the NL West.

The Giants withstood another day of pressure, holding off Los Angeles 5-3 for their 103rd win.

And in Atlanta, Greg Maddux won his 20th game as the Braves set a franchise record with their 103rd victory, and improved to 12-0 against Colorado, in beating the Rockies 10-1.

Today, rookie Salomon Torres (3-4) will be making just his eighth big league start when he pitches for the Giants against Kevin Gross (12-13). Lantigua's kick caps Silver Hawk comeback

By TONY DESORMIER
 Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Carlos Lantigua, Jason Skipper, Kelvin Chisolm, and Maurice Smith created a place for themselves in the storied history of Lake Howell High School football with their performances in the Silver Hawks' 13-10 win over the Lake Mary Rams Friday night.

Remarkable individual efforts by Skipper, Chisolm, and Smith helped Lake Howell rally from a 10-3 deficit to tie the score at 10-10 and gave Lantigua a chance to win the game with his 40-yard field goal as time expired.

"It was a tough game," said Lake Howell coach Mike Biseglia. "The kids showed a lot of persistence. We were backed up on the 1-yard line and they came through."

The sequence of Silver Hawk heroics began when Allen Holiday recovered a Lake Mary fumble at midfield late in the third quarter. Then it was Chisolm's turn, breaking a half-dozen tackles during a 23-yard run, then scoring two plays later on a 22-yard dash.

Lantigua's kick on the extra point tied the score at 10-10 with 1:09 left in the third quarter.

Lake Mary came up with the next big play, Terrance Jenkins recovering a fumble by Smith at the Lake Howell 43-yard line. But the Silver Hawk defense rose to the occasion, forcing the Rams to punt after a run for no gain and two incomplete passes.

Kevin Henkel seemingly turned the stunted drive into a Lake Mary positive, pinning Lake Howell back on its own 1-yard line with a beautiful 42-yard punt.

Then it was time for Smith and Skipper to take center stage, combining for 56 yards during a 16-play drive that set up Lantigua's game-winning kick.

Chisolm got the Silver Hawks out of the shadow of their own goalposts with a 9-yard run. Two plays and a illegal procedure penalty later, Smith hit Skipper for a 20-yard gain on a third-and-12 situation from the Lake Howell 10-yard line.

Five running plays netted eight yards and put the Silver Hawks in another third-and-12 hole, this time from their 38. Again, Smith went to Skipper, hitting him with a 27-yard pass between two Lake Mary defenders.

"On the two passes I dropped earlier in the game, I stayed back and waited for the ball," said Skipper. "On the last two passes, I wasn't going to let that happen again and went for the ball."

Skipper recounted that he was the primary receiver on the first catch but was a secondary target on the second catch.

"On the first one, I knew the play was coming to me and that I had to make the catch," he said. "I thought out every step of the play and made sure my hands were good and dry."

"On the second play, there were three receivers, one short, one in the middle, and me going deep. I turned

Eagles pass by 'Hounds

By ROGER HARNACK
 Herald Correspondent

LONGWOOD — Lyman High School's strategy in their non-district football clash with the visiting Edgewater Eagles Friday night was to take the rushing game away from Edgewater and make the Eagles throw the ball.

As good as it sounded, it didn't work well for the Greyhounds as the Edgewater Eagles posted a 27-7 victory.

"We came into the game with the game plan of shutting down their rushing ability and force them to pass, but they passed a lot better than we expected," said Lyman coach Larry Baker.

That summed up the game, as the Eagle passing attack accounted for all of Edgewater's points.

The Eagles struck early on a 32-yard touchdown pass from Caesar Campana to Maurice Davis only 3:06 into the game. Lyman's defense continued to focus on the rushing attack, but Campana struck again with a 10-yard pass to William Brazzary early in the second quarter.

Edgewater picked up where it left off in the second half as Campana struck again on the Eagles' first possession of the third quarter, this time connecting with Davis, the game's top receiver, for 28 yards and another six points.

Trailing 20-0 after three quarters of play, Lyman's offense seemed to finally come alive. The Greyhounds took the ball at the Eagle 48-yard line and began moving down field on a combination option and passing attack. The drive was capped by SANFORD — Before the season, Seminole High School coach Ernest McPherson predicted it would take around three weeks for his team to come together.

So far, he's right on the money. The Tribe showed little ill effects from having had last week off as the local squad knocked off Orange County power Winter Park 23-16 Friday night at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium in a game that was not nearly as close as the score would indicate.

"I hold by my prediction," said McPherson. "I figured it would take three to four weeks for us to come together as a team and I think we are ready to start showing people how good we are."

"I'm proud of how hard the team worked all week. They were ready to play. The week off did us a lot of good."

Seminole improved to 3-1 with the win and will open 4A-District 6 play next Friday with a 7:30 p.m. game at St. Cloud. Winter Park fell to 2-3.

Seminole completely shut down a potent Wildcats running game, forcing Winter Park coach Larry Gergley to go to a passing game.

"We did not expect them to throw the ball that much," said McPherson. "We saw them on film and in person last week, so Coach (Bill) Berry (defensive coordinator), Coach (Roland) James (defensive backs) and Coach (Bill) Coughell (linebackers) had the defense ready for the run."

Lake Brantley, Oviedo scrap for 5A-4 victories

Pats escape Spruce Creek

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Brantley jumped to an early 21-0 lead, then hung on until momentum's breeze returned in the fourth quarter and scored another 10 unanswered points to defeat scrappy Spruce Creek (1-3) 31-14 Friday night at Tom Story Field in a 5A-District 4 contest.

"We played well in the first half," said Lake Brantley head coach Fred Almon. "But sometimes the attention level just drops. I was worried to death about this one. We were sputtering, and they played us tough. I think Spruce Creek has lost its last game."

With the win, Lake Brantley (3-1 overall) remains the only undefeated team in the 5A-4 race at 3-0. The Patriots will host Oviedo in another important district contest next Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The Patriots dominated the opening quarter, marching down field at will to score twice while allowing only 21 yards. Keith Walsh's sack and a bad punt set up the first Patriot strike. Three plays later, Jeff Butler pounded four yards into the end zone. Cory Ruth dashed seven yards for the second score, capping a 54-yard drive.

Lions trounce ex-champions

OVIEDO — Strong defense combined with a solid rushing game is a tough combination to beat in football.

On Friday night, the Oviedo Lions utilized that formula in a 28-14 trouncing of the defending 5-A District 4 champion Mainland Buccaneers at Oviedo's John Courier Field.

The win ends a two-game losing streak for the Lions while extending Mainland's losing streak to 4 games.

"We're not real big, but we're quick," Oviedo coach Jack Blanton said. "We told our guys before the game, 'Look, we've got to come together sooner or later.' I think we finally came together tonight. They played like they should be playing, they really played hard."

The Buccaneers broke the scoreless tie with an eight-yard run by Terry Thomas that was set up by a 32-yard punt return from T.T. Toller. Mike Erthal added the extra point to give Mainland a 7-0 lead with 6:05 left in the first quarter.

Oviedo answered on its next drive, Antjuan Battle capping the drive with the first of his three touchdowns, a two-yard run. Kellan Eslich added the extra point tying

Playtime Darts' leagues head into playoffs

Special to the Herald

SANFORD — To the very end, the Playtime Darts League displayed a parity throughout its ranks.

After 13 weeks, only one of the five leagues was decided by more than three wins, with one league champion being determined in a playoff and two other leagues had just one victory separating the top two teams.

With the regular season in the books, the top four teams from each league advance to the playoffs this week. The Ladies League will shoot on Monday, Oct. 4, the Men's A and B Leagues on Tuesday, October 5, and the Mixed A & B Leagues on Wednesday, Oct. 6.

The closest finish was in the Mixed B League, where the Sir Walter's Bushwhackers bested Lake Mary Pub's Family Feud and league MVP Ginger Amberg in a playoff.

Also making the playoffs were Mom's Muggers from M.T. Muggs (99 wins) and Ace of Aces from Bamboo Cafe, led by men's MVP Tim O'Connell, (98 wins).

League MVP JeLynn Moreland led Good Answer from Lake Mary Pub to the widest margin of victory, besting Lake Mary Pub's Maimed Barbies 120-111 for the Ladies League title.

The other playoff qualifiers were M.T. Muggs' Mugg Shots (104 wins) and Uncle Nick's Nieces (99 wins).

MVP Bob Crowe led The Family from Bamboo Cafe to the Men's A League crown by the slimmest of margins, 109-108, over Sir Walter's Team No. 8.
The Eliminators from Bamboo Cafe finished a very respectable third (105 wins) while Rich's Team from Bamboo Cafe (92 wins) took fourth.

The Men's B League was also decided by just one win, with MVP Rich Moreland leading the Bamboozers from Bamboo Cafe to the title by a 113-112 margin over The Alternates from Sir Walter. The Pub Founders from Lake Mary Pub took third (91 wins) and the River Rats from Whiskey River (79 wins) were fourth.

Women's MVP Kristin Meeks paced the Bamboo Bullets from Bamboo Cafe to a 127-124 win in the Mixed A League over Uncle Nick's Ron's Kids and men's MVP Rich Moreland.

The Under Team from Bamboo Cafe won a playoff for third place with Isn't That Nice from Lake Mary Pub after both teams finished the season with 91 wins.

Autumn usually brings some intense angling

Fall is finally here. Anglers across the state can look forward to some of the year's best fishing.

On the freshwater scene, bass will become more active as they feed heavily with the approach of winter and spring spawning activities. The Puzzle Lake area will be especially hot if the water is in the banks.

A little further south, Lakes Winder and Poinsett offer lunker bass action away from the maddening crowds.

Saltwater fish will be in a feeding frenzy with the migration of huge schools of mullet and other baitfish. Cobia, king mackerel, tarpon, sharks, snook, jack crevalle, and bluefish will all be crashing into these vast swarms of bait as the schools slowly migrate south. Fast action will be taking place out of Ponce Inlet, Port Canaveral, and Sebastian Inlet.

Further offshore, big grouper and snapper will be moving inshore for the winter months. Wrecks and reefs will be holding good numbers of these tasty bottom fish through late spring.

Action with wahoo and king mackerel will peak in several weeks, and sailfish will get hotter right on through the winter months. December and January are prime months for sailfish out of Ft. Pierce Inlet.

Inshore, expect great fishing with redfish and trout in the Banana and Indian rivers near Merritt Island. These fish will be moving up on the flats in good numbers to feed on big schools of finger mullet. Look for grass flats in 3-5 feet of water with scattered sandy spots for the best action. Mosquito Lagoon will also be a hot spot.

One of my favorite things about fall fishing is the lack of boats on the water. Many anglers are in the woods hunting, while others apparently park their boats until the following summer. Let's keep this fall bonanza a secret so we can all enjoy some fantastic fishing.

SHUPE'S SCOOP
Plan your fall fishing trips around the cold fronts. The best fishing occurs immediately before or following a front. The high winds and sudden temperature drops of a cold front combine to make for poor fishing conditions.

FISHING FORECAST
Bass fishing will improve dramatically with each passing day. Expect good action in the river where the water is in the banks. Fish sand bars, slough mouths, and areas of running water that will be holding fish. Shiners will soon take over as the top bait with the approach of colder weather.

Sebastian Inlet has featured steady action with snook, and redfish. A few tarpon, flounder, ladyfish, and jack crevalle are also present in good numbers. Large live shrimp or finger mullet are hard to beat in the daytime when fish seem less inclined to strike lures. At night, most anglers prefer one-ounce jigs and swimming minnow type lures such as Rebels or Rapalas.

Captain Jack at Next Camanaval has little to report in the way of offshore action due to high seas from the last cold front. Before the blow, some good wahoo action was taking place at the 20 mile weather buoy. Dolphin are few and far between, while king mackerel action is also spotty.

Seminoles

The Tribe got its running game going early Friday night as junior tailback Robert Ruffin gained 42 yards on four carries on the opening series. And while that drive did not net any points, it showed the Seminole was going to be able to run the ball.

Seminole got on the board with 1:04 left in the opening period when Andre Rawlings took a punt at his own 45, cut to the right sideline, got a devastating block on the Winter Park punter from Terrence McMillan and raced 55 yards into the end zone. Jason Walraven added the extra point.

Seminole increased its lead to 16-0 over a two-minute period of the second quarter. Torean Foster took a pitch and ran 60 yards to pay dirt with 8:17 left before intermission and, after the Wildcats fumbled the ensuing kickoff, Walraven belted a 40-yard field goal with 0:13 remaining.

The Tribe looked like it would put the game away late in the third period as they took over possession at the Winter Park 35 after an interception by Alton Jenkins and moved the ball down to the five on four carries by Ruffin. But Ruffin fumbled on the next play and the Wildcats recovered.

The Wildcats then went 84 yards on eight plays — including passing plays of 12, 29 and 43 yards — before scoring on a 9-yard run by Gerard Clark. A two-point conversion pass from Boone Fleming to Jon Burdge made the score 16-8 with 10:54 left in the game.

Seminole pushed the lead to 23-8 with 6:57 left in the game as Ruffin took a handoff, broke a tackle, and ran 87 yards into the end zone. Walraven added the extra point.

"Our game plan was to get the ball to Ruffin," said McPherson. "I told coach (Don) Carter late in the game that we had to get the

The Wildcats' final score came on an 80-yard drive that was capped by a halfback option 30-yard touchdown pass from Cornelius Allen to Jay Howard. The Fleming to Burdge combination again hooked up for the two-point conversion to make the score 23-16 with 3:36 remaining on the clock.

The Tribe locked up the game when Ruffin recovered the ensuing onside kickoff.

Ruffin had a monster night, rushing 16 times for 183 yards and 3 touchdowns, the highest yardage by a Seminole since 1983. He led the team with 276 yards on 33 carries. The defense bent a little, allowing 254 yards passing, but it held the Wildcats to only 75 yards rushing on 28 tries.

to my friend Rico (Lake Howell tight end Fred McCloud) and said, "They're going to jump all over me after that catch, so this play is all you." I didn't expect the play to come to me again."

But it did and Skipper came up with the catch, putting the Silver Hawks on the Lake Mary 35-yard line, just on the verge of Lantigua's range.

"We were thinking that we had to get to 30 or 25-yard line to give Carlos a good shot at the field goal," said Smith. "That's why we went for it on fourth down."

It was a tough call. Faced with fourth and 9 from the Lake Mary 34, the Silver Hawks called time out, then decided to go for it rather than let Lantigua attempt what would have been a 51-yarder. "That would have paid off," as Smith rolled out to his right, then sprinted 11 yards for the first down.

Chisolm carried the ball one more time, running the clock down to 4 seconds and leaving the ball in the middle of the field.

But before Lantigua knocked through the game-winner, there was one more subtle but critically important play to be made for the Silver Hawks, Brad Butterfield snaring a high snap and giving Lantigua a perfect placement.

"I saw the high snap and heated for a minute," said Lantigua. "But Brad made a great play and got the ball down. It was easy after that."

While it was the first time he had ever been in a situation like that, Lantigua said he had plenty of time to prepare mentally.

"I figured that we had to get to the 35-yard line for me to have a shot," Lantigua said. "When Jason caught the second pass, I knew I had a shot at making it."

Not only was the win the second in a row for the Silver Hawks, evening their mark at 2-2, it improves their 5A-District 4 record to 2-1, good for second in the district race.

For the struggling Rams (0-5 overall and 0-4 in the district), it was the second week in a row where they lost a game at home after leading at halftime.

Lake Howell took a 3-0 lead on Lantigua's 37-yard field goal late in the first quarter. Lake Mary came back to take a 10-3 lead by halftime, Derrell Jackson hitting twin brother Terrell Jackson with a 12-yard touchdown pass and Henkel kicking a 45-yard field goal.

Next week, Lake Howell travels to Port Orange to play Spruce Creek in another 5A-District 4 clash. Lake Mary, which is idle next week, visits Lyman on Friday, Oct. 15.

Patriots

The Patriots scored again as soon as they got the ball in the second quarter. This time, quarterback Jeff Shaw sprinted 48 yards on just the second play of the possession. But the momentum soon turned.

When Spruce Creek's defense recovered a fumbled option, the Hawks' offense gained new life. Quarterback Tracey Holmes completed the ensuing eight-play, 27-yard drive with a three-yard loss to Joey LaFond. The two-point conversion made it 21-8.

The Hawks scored again on their first possession of the third quarter, Holmes completing a 14-yard pass to Bob Harris, who had also recovered a fumble earlier in the game while on defense. The attempted two-point conversion failed, leaving Spruce Creek behind by a touchdown.

In the meantime, Lake Brantley's offense struggled. Spruce Creek was able to contain fullback Jeff Butler, who finished with 76 yards rushing, so Almon was "trying to get the passing game going on the outside." But due to good coverage, pressure, and a myriad of Patriot mistakes, that didn't work either.

Shaw completed only 2-of-8 passes, although he did run for the score at seven with 3:20 left in the first quarter.

Mainland scored for the last time on its next drive when Andrea Brooks caught a 29-yard pass from Joe Giddens. Erthal's extra point gave the Buccaneers a 14-7 lead with 1:40 left in the first quarter.

But that would be the last time the Buccaneers would score as the Oviedo defense shut down the Mainland offense for the rest of the game, holding the visitors to one first down in the second half and four overall. Giddens was sacked six times for 58 yards, five of the sacks coming in the second half.

Battle and Shawn Sams added touchdowns in the second quarter on runs of one and seven yards, respectively, and Kalich kicked both extra points to give the Lions a 21-14 halftime lead.

Oviedo finished the scoring when Battle scampered in from two yards out with 3:23 left in the third quarter. Kalich's extra point was good and the Lions led 28-14.

Penney shopping makes sense

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

Editor's note: This is the fourth in a series profiling the Seminole Towne Center Mall anchor stores.

SANFORD — In 1902, J.C. Penney opened his first retail store in the small mining town of Kemmerer, in the hills of southwestern Wyoming. In 1895, Penney will open one of its most modern stores, in the city of Sanford.

The new J.C. Penney store is planned as one of the six anchor stores at the mall, scheduled to open in September, 1996.

According to initial plans supplied by Melvin Simon and Associates, developers of the mall, the Penney store was to have occupied 146,836 square feet of space, in a two-level store.

Since the first plans were approved, Simon has requested additional space, with the expectation that some of the stores will be larger than originally intended.

At this time, it is not known if Penney plans to be larger than the original plans.

The success of the Penney stores has not come about easily. As is the case with many long-time operations, it took years of hard work and struggling before customers.

James Cash Penney was born on Sept. 16, 1875 on a small farm near Hamilton, Mo. His father was a farmer, and an "old school" Baptist minister, who farmed on weekdays to provide for his family, and preached on Sunday without pay.

When Penney was eight, his father decreed that he must earn his own money to buy clothes, not so much out of necessity, but to teach his son the value of money and self-reliance. His first ventures were to raise pigs, horses and watermelons.

Two years after graduating from high school, Penney began working for the leading merchant in Hamilton, J.M.

Hale. He was hired as an extra in February 1895 at a salary of $25. The pay was not per week, rather it was for the entire remaining 10 months of that year.

Penney impressed his boss, and he was paid $200 in 1896, again, for the entire year.

Eventually, his health deteriorated from overwork and his doctor advised him to move to Colorado and stay out of the routines of storekeeping.

Unable to refrain from retailing, he soon was back in business in Denver, and through saving every cent, he was able to purchase a butcher shop in Longmont, Colo. several years later. The business failed when Penney refused to bribe a hotel chef with a bottle of wine each week, in exchange for business.

At the age of 26, with only $500, he borrowed $1,500 and became a partner in a large store near Evanston.

By 1909 the business began operating as a chain, and at the end of 1912, there were 34 stores with sales in excess of $2 million.

The latest estimate is that the company operates in 1,300 locations in every state in the union and in Puerto Rico. The overall operation has approximately 180,000 employees.

In 1991, through the company's stores and catalog operations, its retail sales reached $18.2 billion, and total company revenues were nearly $17.3 billion.

Although fully stocked with apparel for men, women and children, company figures indicate women account for over 70 percent of the apparel purchases.

For the new mall location in Sanford, Penney has indicated one of its most important strategic goals is to provide "a contemporary and fashion-forward environment, characterized by an exciting shopping atmosphere and outstanding customer service."

LAKE MARY — Siemens Stomberg-Carlson has been honored with a 1993 Governor's Business Leadership Award. The honor recognizes outstanding economic and civic contributions made by Florida businesses.

The award criteria include leadership in current business issues and corporate citizenship. It measures achievements supporting a company's efforts in recycling, quality improvement, drug-free workplaces, and creating a better work environment.

"As a corporate citizen in this area, said Joseph Vaccaro, director of human resources, "our employees have always been active and enthusiastic supporters of the local community."

He added, "This award honors their hard work. Siemens Stomberg-Carlson is proud to accept this award on behalf of its employees."

Among specific recognitions cited for the company were the worker apprenticeship program, a recycling program which won Seminole County's "Waste Watcher Award," establishment of a drug-free workplace police, and memberships in state and local Chambers of Commerce.

It was also commended for fund raising activities that have produced in excess of $200,000 annually for charity and community events. In addition, company employees in Lake Mary contribute about 10,000 hours of volunteer work each year.

Siemens Stomberg-Carlson was one of four companies honored at the Sept. 21 Industry Appreciation Luncheon in Orlando, sponsored by the Economic Development Commission of Mid-Florida, (EDC).

Others included AT&T in Orange County, Cherry Lake Farms in Lake County, and McLane/Suncoast in Osceola County.

Each of the four is also listed in the 1993 Orlando Metro 100 list, which consists of for-profit, public and private companies in the four county area. The rankings are based on a weighted formula using sales figures and employee counts.

Information in compiling the judgements are gathered through surveys sent to 700 area companies, from Dun & Bradstreet as well as by personal contacts.

Jack Eckerd, retired founder, chairman and president of the Jack Eckerd Corporation, and co-founder of CorVal, a company dedicated to enhancing business profitability through emphasis on corporate values, was the keynote speaker during the awards luncheon.

Clubwomen put on the Ritz

Springfield leads Kiwanis; Bill heads cancer society

When members of the Sanford Woman's Club decide to put on the Ritz, they don't mess around. And the membership coffee the board hosted last Saturday was proof positive that elegance still prevails in the eyes of these dedicated clubwomen.

Annually, the board entertains the membership and prospective members in September before the busy season begins in October. As second vice president, Ann Brisson was chairman of the colorful event. Assisting in decorating were Fran Morton, Libby Prevatt and Mary Childers who carried out a gold and white color scheme to provide a tasteful and charming ambience.

On Friday before the event, Jeanette Padgett, Mayor Bettye Smith and Ann set up the tables with white cloths enhanced with gold accents. A variety of gold ornaments was featured throughout and a gold coffee service offered coffee.

Board members prepared a wide variety of tasty tidbits which presented a picturesque dimension to the large table, covered in gold and white. Pouring the coffee and fruit punch were past presidents, Charlotte Smith, Marty Colegrove, Hazel Cash, Bettye Smith, Ann Brisson and Jean Metts.

The club will hold the regular business and luncheon meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 6, at 11 a.m., followed by guest speaker, Seminole County Sheriff Don Ealinger.

Friends reunite

Eve and Gene Rogero have returned from what she says was a "one in a million trip." For a long, long time, Eve had been planning to visit her hometown, Masontown, Pa., to reunite with three "girls" with whom she graduated from high school there. None of the friends had seen each other in 51 years, so it was a hot time in the old town that day.

The trio plus two husbands (two of the women are widows) walked around the town and bought Cokes at the same drug store of 51 years ago. The friends had lunch at a restaurant that covers the block where they used to play softball and other games.

The women spent the day reminiscing the events of yesteryear and catching up on old times — a nostalgic trip down Memory Lane. "It was special," Eve said.

After the glorious reunion, the Rogeros visited her aunt and several cousins nearby before going to Atlantic City, N.J. for a few days and then heading out before heading out on a leisurely trip home.

Eve will never forget the excitement of the reunion. She doesn't even want to.

Another Smith girl

Mayor Bettye Smith and her husband, Dr. Robert J. Smith, waited about 40 years to get that "little girl" they always wanted — little Chelsea Nicole, 3½, daughter of their son, Cary, and his wife, Teri.

The Smiths had three sons and Bettye said she always wanted a girl. Just recently, Teri delivered another baby to the Smith family — a beautiful granddaughter, Mekaley Paige. Now, they have two little girls.

But that's not all. The Smiths' middle son, Robert and his wife, Deborah, both attorneys in Washington, D.C., and both 38 years old, are expecting a little Christmas angel on Dec. 24. You guessed it — another girl.

So far, nobody is complaining about all those Smith girls. In fact, the entire clan is ecstatic.

Robert and Deborah make their home in Silver Spring, Md. He is employed as an attorney by the Navy Department and Deborah is employed as attorney for the Justice Department.

Washington trip

Mary and Lewis Childers railroaded their way to Washington, D.C. via Auto-train. They took in all the sights of Washington where they had a wonderful time.

As of this writing, Mona called

Jean Melts, president of the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc., and Charlotte Smith attended the Fall Board Meeting of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs held at the Omni in Jacksonville. They attended several workshops and came home with numerous ideas for a

Etiquette class

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 22, there was a children's etiquette class held at the Country Club at Heathrow for children aged 10 to 14 years old. The class was under the direction of Trena Lackey from "Pretty as a Picture"/Manners for Young Men. Trena Lackey gave an introduction on table manners and explained that it's "not rules that just parents made up."

She asked the group which was limited to 12 children, about experiences they had and what might bother them about another person's manners. Some indicated that they thought some "kids at school were gross when they ate and they didn't like to sit next to them." They said, "they chewed loud, or with their mouths open, and you could see the yukky food." So Lackey explained that they too had rules and it wasn't just the parents who had rules.

The place settings at the table numbered nine pieces of flatware and it was explained how to set them out and what each was used for at the proper time. Formal place settings were discussed and this was an actual enactment of a formal dinner party with a five-course meal of a shrimp appetizer, soup, salad, a main course of chicken breast and beef, vegetables, placement of the bread and butter dish, placement of the napkins and the role of the host at the table. That a dinner party was socializing with peers, conversation, enjoying one's self, and table manners. Part of table manners was taking turns and listening.

Anderson Tallent was selected to play host and Lindsey Zerivitz was selected to play the guest of honor. The other children in attendance were Drew Horowitz, Brad Zerivitz, Gideon and Eli Alper, Becky Kuchar, Stuart Barks, Geoff MacLay and Scarlett Rosier. There was a wrap-up and review after the dinner.

Birth of Down syndrome baby is not end of road

DEAR ABBY: A young couple I know would be greatly comforted by a letter you once ran titled "Welcome to Holland." God bless you, Abby.

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

LANE, MISSOURI CITY, TEXAS
DEAR LOIS:subject of that essay was the reaction of a parent whose child was born with Down syndrome. I published it to highlight National Down Syndrome Awareness Month, which is the month of October. I dedicate it to the parents and grandparents of babies born everywhere with various disabilities:

"Welcome to Holland" by Emily Pearl Kingsley
"I am often asked to describe the experience of raising a child with a disability — to try to help people who have not shared that unique experience to understand it, to imagine how it would feel. It's like this...

baby, it's like planning a fabulous vacation trip — to Italy. You buy a bunch of guidebooks and make your wonderful plans. The Coliseum. The Michelangelo David. The gondolas in Venice. You may learn some handy phrases in Italian. It's all very exciting.

"After months of eager anticipation, the day finally arrives. You pack your bags and off you go. Several hours later, the plane lands. The flight attendant comes and says, "Welcome to Holland."

"Holland?" you say. "What do you mean, Holland? I signed up for Italy! I'm supposed to be in Italy. All my life I've dreamed of going to Italy."

"But there's been a change in the flight plan. They've landed in Holland and there you must stay."

"The important thing is that they haven't taken you to a horrible, disgusting filthy place, full of pretentious, famine and disease. It's just a different place."

"So you must go out and buy new guidebooks. And you must learn a whole new language. And you will meet a whole new group of people you would never have met."

"It's just a different place. It's slower-paced than Italy, less flashy than Italy. But after you've been there for a while and you catch your breath, you look around, and you begin to notice that Holland has windmills.
