Classified Advertising Managers Note: Because we are seeing real estate copy which appears to be questionable as regards compliance with the federal Truth in Lending Act, we offer the following, which has been prepared by the Federal Trade Commission as a guideline for real estate advertisers.

TRUTH IN LENDING AND THE ADVERTISING OF REAL ESTATE CREDIT

I. GENERAL RULES

The advertising provisions of Regulation Z (228.10) apply to any advertisement that is intended to promote an extension of consumer credit (that is, credit offered to a natural person in which the money, property or service is primarily for personal, family, household or agricultural purposes and which involves a finance charge or fee, by agreement, payable in more than four installments).

II. ADVERTISING OF REAL ESTATE CREDIT

Advertisements of assumptions generally involve the use of the annual percentage rate that does not trigger the full disclosure required in 228.10 (d) (2) — the rate of finance charge. In order to comply, the advertiser may state the rate and nothing else, but it must be expressed as an "Annual Percentage Rate" using that term.

III. ADVERTISING OF REAL ESTATE CREDIT

The term "advertisement" itself is quite broad and covers all forms of advertising, including display signs in store windows. For example, multiple listing cards, if displayed in a public place, would constitute an "advertisement."

Liability for compliance with the advertising provisions of Regulation Z extends beyond that of the advertiser or manager of consumer credit. Once it is determined that an advertisement is consumer credit transaction the provisions of 228.10 apply to any advertiser, regardless of his role in the transaction.

Local Youngster Attempts Suicide

A Sanford youth yesterday attempted suicide by cutting himself on the left wrist with a pen knife while sitting on an automobile at the Royal Castle Drive-In Restaurant on Orlando Drive.

The youth, according to police reports had also taken a bottle of pills and slashed himself after a family disagreement. Under the influence of the pills, the 19-year-old was removed from the drive-in to Seminole Memorial Hospital where his stomach was pumped out by a physician, who also dressed the torn arm.

The doctor tried without success to have the youth placed in Florida Children and Hospital's mental ward, but was told by hospital psychiatrist there was no room for him.

The doctor then attempted to have the "sick" boy kept in Seminole Memorial Hospital, but was told by a nurse there was no place to keep him, since he would have to be observed at all time to prevent further suicide efforts.

Finally the boy's step-father signed out the confused boy and took him home.

In a county report, Brenda Kay Strobel, 2001 Palmetto Avenue, an adult was arrested by Deputy Larry Chester on a warrant brought by the guardian of twin 17-year-old boys.

The woman is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor in that she is alleged to have given alcoholic beverages to the youths. She was released after posting $500 bond.

Who said that he didn't know where Seminole County was? As a matter of fact, Congressman Bill Cramer was conspicuous by his absence. However, he'll be here in Seminole County this Monday to open his campaign headquarters in Fern Park.

Whoops... well, he almost made it on that date. Now we're still in California's on that date—getting an endorsement from Governor Reagan.

Have you felt the "poles" from the little man in the street yet on how he's fixing to cast his ballot? You know, who he's NOT going to vote for, etc.?

Look for a whole basketful of surprises... if they actually pull the lever the way they're talking right now. Of course there isn't a few days left prior to the primaries.

Oh, by the way... remember, in yesterday's Click we made mention of the fact that the hippies had been forced to move from their former operating area in the south end of the county, due to the exposure of the news media, no doubt... well, thanks to you alert readers, we now know their new address (of course).

Our gal friend Abigail Van Buren — "Dear Abby" had some important points on this subject in her column yesterday. In reply to a request from a reader for Abby to list those things a person stands to lose for possession of marijuana, she lists:

"DEAR SIXTEEN: He stands to lose: The right to vote. The right to own a gun. The right to run for public office. The right to become a licensed doctor, dentist, C. P. A., attorney, architect, realtor, private detective, pharmacist, school teacher, barber, or any of a number of career job opportunities.

He may be forbidden the opportunity to work for the city, state or federal government. He cannot be admitted to West Point, Annapolis or Air Force Academy. He would be permitted to enlist in the military service, but would not have a choice of service.

Not to mention the loss of approval of family, friends, potential friends and society at large.

Parents Protest School Planning

Parents, lots of them from all over the county, filled every available space at last night's Seminole County School Board meeting.

They came to peacefully protest by word-of-mouth, the board's departure from the freedom of choice school placement plan in favor of a zone-plan arrangement that removed the black racial identification from all but one county school.

The board's proposal, which has since been accepted by the Justice Department, instigator of a court suit against the board to rid the county of the "choice" plan, and Monday night by U. S. District Judge George Young without a hearing, pairs Sanford's Pinercrest and Goldboro

Elementary Schools and establishes attendance zones around Rosewood Elementary at Altamonte and Jackson Heights at Oviedo.

Pinercrest parents living adjacent to their school for years are under the approved plan, prohibited from sending children to the nearest and choice school. If that child is above third grade.

The board will have Pinercrest fourth and fifth graders into the former all-black neighborhood Goldboro facility and is busing black first, second and third graders back to Pinercrest. There is no fourth and fifth grade now at Pinercrest and no first, second or third grade at Goldboro.

Parents last night wanted more information on just where the zoning lines as they affect the South Seminole Schools are drawn, but according to Andrew Bracken, administrative aide, and Supt. John Angel, it will be approximately two weeks before the information is completed.

Angel said all county school parents would receive a letter and map from his office designating what areas would be affected and the school their child is to attend when the new term opens Aug. 31.

Unicameral Legislature On Legal Sandbar

Ruling of the State Supreme Court which required approval of a petition being circulated and signed by the people of Florida to allow a referendum on the one-house legislature proposal has exposed a flaw in the new constitution which goes far beyond the simple issue of a unicameral legislature.

The issue of a one-house legislature, which we have and do endorse, may now be lost in the fuss and fury of the election campaigns. It is an issue that does not lend itself to any popular appeal by legislators who are seeking votes.

For a unicameral legislature is a move that has been defeated across the nation when submitted to state legislatures. How many legislators anywhere will support a move to cut their membership?

How many will look at the proposal with eyes focused on the good of the state as a whole while the consequent saving in expenses and a much clearer view of each legislator's actions, unforged by the referral to a conference route, now so prevalent?

How It Truly Is!

With newspapers continuing to get some rather harsh scrutiny by critics who range as high as the Man in the White House, one welcome result has been the self-analysis of editors and publishers of their own policies and purposes.

Rarely a month goes by when we do not read about such a development. Last June, for instance, Henry Lee Weathers, publisher of the Shelby, N.C., Daily Star made the following statement which is right along the line of our own convictions:

"Founded on solid principles this newspaper is dedicated to the following policies. 'We' - we mean the news in a fair and factual manner to see that justice and equality are administered by all groups involved in public trust.

"To record the day-by-day history of this community and area.

"To set a goal of promoting the best, in our judgment, in religion, agriculture, industry, culture and progress.

"To be a leader in the community in things that are right, just and progressive.

"To always fight for freedom of the press, yet realizing this is not a special privilege given to newspapers but that it is the right of all people to know the truth. Newspapers are the trustees of the right to truth, and the Star is dedicated to its responsibility of defending the people's right to know. We shall be praised, we shall be criticized, but we shall promote what we honestly think is to the best of interest of this community, our state, and country.

"To cooperate with all groups and officials, with chambers of commerce and all responsible groups in the promotion and uplifting of our community and its standard of living.

GOP Wooing Labor Vote

By BRUCE HOSSAT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is keenly aware that big chunks of U.S. labor are up for political grabs. Yet neither he nor the Republican party manages to do very much about drawing these people into his still severely limited basic voting constituency.

Quite properly, the political specialists see a million of American workers today as "free-floating voters" who no longer have the kind of firm allegiance to the Democratic party that has been traditional since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Until fairly recently, only a few key Democrats (like National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien) have appeared to grasp that it is happening. Now, with the exception of some rather ardent liberal types like the laughable John Kenneth Galbraith, the older party, it is waking up.

By now, with a host of illuclor worker studies and reports, everybody knows what is going on. The public and the blacks as threatening; they detest studies who disrupt colleges they themselves never got to but was their own city to attend; they are hanging on to the lower rungs of affluence by the weakest of grips.

Nixon, wanting a real majority for himself and his party, never forgets the stark fact that his support was frozen in 1968 at a barely triumphant 43 per cent.

The natural place, the easiest place, for him to turn for help is to the labor vote. His own conviction on this is the reason the stable delegation of "hard hat" workers made it to the White House for a meeting with him in late spring. Since some hard hats had blooded some young folk in Wall Street not long before, there was bitter opposition from certain Nixon advisers who argued that he would seem to be endorsing their violence if the meeting came off.

Some thoughtful Republicans of influence believe their party does not have the faintest idea how to woo working families. Across the nation, they say, far too many party gatherings look like assemblies of well-heeled country club types. Says one source:

"We don't have people who know how to roll up their sleeves, sit down with workers and drink beer with them. . . . Do you ever see a steelworker's daughter at one of our affairs?"

These sources say too many Democrats are "not yet well begun." They say the party's particular moves toward reform and its special appeal to the young and the blacks are likely to drive more and more workers out of the fold. Obviously, though, turning them Republicans is a hard job not yet well begun.

The so-called ethnic groups, who cut a thick swath through the U.S. labor force, are especially suspicious of business and may be wooing for a long time what kind of deal it can make with their ancient enemies.

This same Republican group that his party must argue much more than it has to place candidates of Italian, East European and Puerto Rican heritage on its slates—as a first step toward true accommodation.

Yet these GOP figures do not underestimate their opportunity. They think the workers' moorings in the Democratic party are shattered for good, even though millions returned to Hubert Humphrey in 1968 from George Wallace, the easy but temporary repository of their grievances.

With unemployment high and other economic indicators poor, Republicans realize that many workers may once again go Democratic this fall. But, again, they insist the attachment is no longer enduring.

They say the party's particular moves toward reform and its special appeal to the young and the blacks are likely to drive more and more workers out of the fold. Obviously, though, turning them Republicans is a hard job not yet well begun.

Rhodes Seeking Impartial Report

By JOANNE OMANG
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — The youngest member of the Presidential Commission on Student Unrest has a commission of his own to keep the investigation honest.

Joseph Rhodes Jr., a junior fellow at Harvard University, has gathered around him a team of young investigators to go to campus trouble spots and do his homework.

Shortly after President Nixon named the commission, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew suggested Rhodes be removed for making statements Agnew said should be kept out of an impartial investigation.

He said four members of his team compiled a 30-page report on Lawrence, Kan., where two students were shot last month, in six days. Rhodes submitted it July 29 and as a result the commission decided to go to Lawrence.

Rhodes task force, which jokingly calls itself "the Rhodes seminar," has submitted reports on Kent State University, Ohio; Jackson State College, Miss.; University of New Mexico Los Alamos, Calif.; and Lawrence, Kan. It also has provided him with a position paper on "retrogression" and with background on 11 witnesses who testified before the commission.

"We have to be absolutely honest in telling the President what anything he does will cost him in terms of public response," Rhodes said. "And he has to listen; it's a political reality. The student unrest, we're finding, is much broader than anyone begins to suspect. And students are the nation, the future."

However, combinations or associations of the above descriptions may now and then answer popular ends, and they are likely, in the course of time and things, to become potent engines, by which cunning, ambitious, and unprincipled men will be enabled to subvert the Power of the People, and to usurp for themselves the reins of Government; destroying afterwards the very engines, which have lifted them to unjust dominion.

Towards the preservation of your Government, and the permanency of your present happy state, it is requisite, not only that you steadily discountenance irregular oppositions to its acknowledged authority, but also that you resist with care the spirit of innovation upon its structure.

"As citizens, people can see that their material possessions have been purchased at a high cost in environmental pollution—dirty air, dirty water, ugly landscapes.

"Modern industrial society is based on the assumption that it is both possible and desirable to go on forever providing more and more goods for more and more people. Today, that assumption is being seriously challenged.

In Ford's opinion, corporatism could better serve society if their management would stop thinking of social service and profit as separate and competing aims. In other words, new public values should be viewed as opportunities to make a profit by serving new demands.

And when the market place can't automatically translate public needs to market demand, he says, government intervention should be looked upon as a necessary function.

Right Of The People To Change

Editor, Herald:

I believe that in the present days when we are reading in the newspapers of so much confusion and dissent in regards to the attitudes and opinions from our Supreme Court and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare of our Government the following words are in order and should be reprinted as a reminder to all of the American people of the fundamental principles upon which our Nation was created.

"The basis of our political systems is the right of the people to make and to alter their Constitutions of Government. . . . But the Constitution, which any time exists, till changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole People, is scarcely obligatory upon all. . . . It is the duty of the people to establish Government pre-emptively of every individual to obey the established Government."

All obstructions to the execution of the Laws, all combinations and associations, under whatever plausible character, with the real design to direct, control, counsel, seduce, or obstruct the regular deliberation and action of the constituted authorities, are destructive of the fundamental principle, and of fatal tendency.

Washington Window:

Nixon's Screened Newspaper

By EUGENE V. RUSHER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: Perhaps the world's most exclusive newspaper is an underground sheet published six times a week in a Washington basement. Its editor is a 29-year-old former high school teacher. Its publisher, two years older and a dropout from conventional journalism, personally delivers it each morning to its top subscriber.

It is, according to White House aides, the chief source of news for President Nixon. Entitled simply "President's Daily News Summary," it is placed on Nixon's desk each morning by Patrick Buchanan, a former editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat who now is a speechwriter for the president.

Each day it contains condensed versions of UPI and AP dispatches on national and international developments, a digest of editorial columns gleaned from about 25 newspapers, a report on the television news shows of the three major networks and a written summary of how stories are played in the seven or eight major eastern dailies that appear in Washington each morning.

Once a week it contains a packet of editorial cartoons and on Wednesdays it has a special supplement of about 25 pages gleaned from some 30-odd magazines but most heavily from Time, Newsweek and U.S. News and World Report.

Occasionally it will contain reports from the foreign press. It regularly averages about once a week, it contains supplements analyzing in detail how a particular event is treated in newspapers, magazines and on TV.

According to his aides, Nixon seldom watches television news shows. Three Washington and three New York papers are delivered to him every day, along with the Baltimore Sun, the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Los Angeles Times, the Wall Street Journal, the Christian Science Monitor and the Chicago Tribune, but he has no time to read them.

Sometimes he scans them, his aides say, concentrating mostly on the sports pages. The "President's News Summary" carries on sports reports. Most Allen, who taught political science in high school in Madison, Wis., before joining the Nixon campaign staff in November, is the editor. Leslie Arbib, 25, of Houston, Tex., and Ken Smith, 21, a student at American University, are his staff.

They still don't talk in present detail about the newspaper that has become a must-read for Nixon each day. But a check of a chart in their office shows there are none from Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, New Mexico, Arkansas, New Carolina, West Virginia, Maine, Vermont or Delaware.

Helen Fuller Says:

Dr. Berman Will Now Ask Phoebe

WASHINGTON — Never underestimate the power of embattled, crusading women—especially in politics.

It is equally true that only the most knowing politicians, masters of the delicate touch, have a chance in a contest with an impassioned fighter of the weaker sex.

The most recent example of a strong female running for cover is one of the nation's most distinguished surgeons, lately turned disgraced politician.

Dr. Edgar Berman of Baltimore and Johns Hopkins Hospital, internationally known for his pioneer work in heart transplant surgery, has tangled with women members of Congress and militant leaders of the new Women's Liberation Movement.

All things being equal, I would still rather have equal, I would still rather have equal, I would still rather have equal, I would still rather have equal.

As an amateur in the gentle art of getting votes, Berman did not dream what he was doing in Democratic standing with women voters when he spoke out so freely.

Prospects of at least an uneasy peace in the Middle East and a cooler Cambodian situation should encourage consumers who disposable income has been rising to save less and buy more of every thing in the months ahead, Spear and Stacks believes. Although rozier corporate earnings are unlikely before next year, the current stock market offers many attractive buying opportunities, according to Fund Research & Management. Corporations Compared To Society

By JACK SHOLL
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — One of the bigger questions corporations are asking themselves these days is what responsibility does big business have to society.

The question has taken on a sense of urgency as students, consumers, employees, shareholders and government agencies have increased their demands on business to play a greater role in curing society's ills and improving the quality of the environment.

It is not surprising, then, to find Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co. and one of the nation's leading industrialists, pondering the question in a new book, "The Human Environment and Business." A collection of three speeches he delivered last year at Vanderbilt, Harvard and Yale universities, it was published Tuesday.

For Ford, the times are revolutionary. He says business is not simply where business has done enough to improve the quality of society. Rather, it is whether business will be able to deliver last year at Vanderbilt, Harvard and Yale universities, it was published Tuesday.

As an employer, people are wondering if they have given up too much of their time, their money, their energy and their freedom to make a profit. "As employees, people are wondering if they have given up too much of their time, their money, their energy and their freedom to make a profit."

"As consumers, people are realizing that affluence can be a burden. Their cars and appliances break down, their plumbing leaks, their lawns get weedy, and getting things fixed is troublesome, expensive or even impossible."

"These are the companies that will earn the highest profits for their stockholders by discharging their highest responsibilities to the society."

Strikes And Spares

BY JOHN A. SPOLSKI

There are 30 different types of leagues already planned for the coming fall bowling season; too many to say you appreciate to try to hemite them for your choosing in this column.

However, there is a huge board posted directly behind the counter at the lanes which gives a breakdown on a day-to-day basis, as well as the different times of the day at which times they're scheduled to bowl.

So, if you have any idea at all of howling this fall, I'd recommend you make your choice right now, while the selections are good.

In September, we'll have more people bowling in more leagues than at any time since we opened Jet Lanes 10 years ago.

A perfect example is the Seminole Junior College bowling classes, which started with only one class per week three years ago and now are up to five per week.

The Seminole Memorial Hospital Mixed League, which bowls on Fridays at 7 p.m. was originally posted to field 5 teams; however, this was increased to 10 tournaments for the new season.

Remember, all of the leagues will be holding organizational meetings the third week of this month . . . and will officially start their fall seasons the first week in September.

Speaking Of The Hospital League

Some of those who did better than average last Friday were Bill Morris 174, Jill Aycock 185, Virg Dean 177, Bob Myers 186/228. And we'd better clear-up a story making the rounds even since we featured those cute nurses and their new uniforms on the front page of The Herald last Friday.

No, No, No . . . It is not true that they will be "howling uniform of the day" for the fall set. (They are eye-opening, though, eh?)

FRIDAY EVENING Junior-Adult League has been keeping 'em in the middle of the lanes, and having a lot of fun, too.

Young John MacGregor was consistent with a 181 and a 186, Bob Crawford 167, Vicki Lind her dad Rod MacGregor in the first game with 186, and we'd better not call the second game (for fear of losing her Dad as a pal . . .) while the action on lanes 5 and 6 had the Wildcorg going against Ricky Payne with all three of them doing well. Terry at 165, his dad George up to 184 while Payne finishing with a 184 also.

Congratulations to Hal Cumee for winning the Bowler of the Week two weeks ago as he went 20 points over his current average.

As a matter of fact, all of the others who were vying for the honors rolled well, too, but it was just one of those nights when one was a little better than the rest. . . Dan Dougherty, Ollie and Bill Yelme, Hank and Polly Price.

Young And Dan 'Hook It Up'

A tip-of-war developed in the Deltona Pin Busters League match between the De Gooders and the Hopefuls as Dan Burton and Russ McCain were striking almost every other frame.

Burton was just a little bit more consistent with a 342 series and games of 172, 182 and 187 while McCain's 328 set carried games which got progressively better — 152, 172 and 212.

Recognizing some of the others . . . George Mikko 170, Ole Olsen 177, Bill Kerkelack 179/212, Helen Lentz 180, Helen Moody 182, Madeline Perrault 186, 167, and a 65, Harold Guffel 60 and Ott Grammann 163.

Remembering some of the others . . . George Mikko 170, Ole Olsen 177, Bill Kerkelack 179/212, Helen Lentz 180, Helen Moody 182, Madeline Perrault 186, 167, and a 65, Harold Guffel 60 and Ott Grammann 163.

Speaking as we were of our friends from Deltona, a number of them also bowled here at the lanes each Sunday evening and they did themselves proud, too. Herman Lorenz proved to his wife that he too can find that one-three pocket as he rolled a 320 series with games of 208 and a 181. Some of the other "notables" were Dorothy Burton 174 and 187, Bob Jerse 181, Chris Jerge who almost had a triple strike of 146, 163 and 163.

The Graser family — Karl with a 175 and 178 and Jackie with a 187 led their team in competition with the Long's and the Westray's in their match.

Free Bowling Lessons

This is the only sport, to our knowledge, where free instructions are offered to those seeking same. We're referring to the weekly lessons on Saturdays at 10:30 a.m.

There's nothing more frustrating than to take a game, but score poorly due to the lack of proper directions or developing bad habits and no one around to help straighten 'em out.

And there's nothing that other group of bowlers who were steadily improving, and then for some strange reason went into a tailspin. Our guarantee is that we won't make star bowlers out of you, but we will teach you the difference of right and wrong. Thereafter as you're bowling, you'll be able to improve by your own.

You'd be surprised at all of the men and women who are popping in to the lanes . . . some with balls to be re-plugged, others with brand new torpedoes . . . and of course, all of 'em with ideas that this is going to be the season when they literally exploded those pins from the pin-decks . . . not to mention how high they expect those averages to climb.

We just can't give enough credit to Seminole Junior College and to Seminole High School . . . they're the ones responsible for all those new bowlers showing-up at Jet Lanes.

Seriously, it looks like we'll have more people who have not only bowled, but a league before, making the lanes this season. And you know that all of those leagues will hold their organizational meetings in two more weeks. That's not a mistake — two more weeks, and then away we go.

Midnight bowling continues to fill all of the lanes each Friday and Saturday evening . . . and the prize money grows bigger and bigger each week.

Seminole Plays Tonight

Tampa Nine Blanks Ft. Lauderdale, 10-0

When two undefeated teams meet, something has to give. That will be the case tonight at 8:30 p.m. when the South Palmetto all-stars of Tampa take on the Seminole County all-stars in the final round of the winners bracket competition in the Southeastern Regional Colt League tournament being played at Cooper Field.

The 9:30 tilt pits Ft. Lauderdale against Gadsden, Alabama. South Palmetto displayed their pitching and hitting prowess last night as they bombed Ft. Lauderdale 10-0, Jay Kahl, Steve Wyatt and John Deary combined to one-hit the Ft. Lauderdale nine.

South Palmetto jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the bottom of the second inning on just one hit. Then they used 10 batters to the plate in the fourth inning, exploiting for six runs on four hits and held a comfortable 9-0 lead.

It was not until the top of the sixth inning that Ft. Lauderdale collected their first hit to assure the win.

Roger Smith was the winning hurler, allowing only four hits as he went the distance. Smith also led the team at the plate with three straight hits, before being intentionally walked his fourth time up.

John Colter had two hits for the winners and Coler, Evan Edge and Craig Marble had two RBIs each.

The tournament is scheduled to run through Friday at Cooper Field, located on State Road 418 near Five Points. The winner will advance to the next level of competition to be staged in Houston, Texas.

Not Really A Favorite

TALLADEGA, Ala. — "I don't really consider myself as one of the pre-race favorites in the Talladega 500 on Aug. 23. I surely don't consider myself one of the also-ran either," said James Hyton, top independent racer from Indiana, S.C.

The only thing Hyton has done this year was to finish in the top 10 in the 500 race. He has entered on 25 occasions.

He is currently the leader in the NASCAR Grand National point race. With a well finish at Talladega he could well better his bid for the coveted title. This is something few independent drivers expect to accomplish.

"Money is one thing and points are another," Hyton remarked. "To be really successful you have to have both. I don't think anyone realizes the 'fringe' benefits of being a national champ . . . especially in the Grand National Division. I'll just run as hard as I can, as long as I can and hope for the best," Hyton concluded.

Hyton has entered the second annual Talladega 500 with a potent 1969 Ford sponsored by Mullin's Ford company.

With more than $100,000 on the line all of NASCAR's top competitors are slated to compete.

Qualifying runs to determine the front starting positions will get underway on Thursday, Aug. 20.

Foreman Drops Chuvale With Third Round TKO

BY WILLIAM VERIGAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—George Foreman believes that anything Frazier can do, he can do better. Tuesday night in Madison Square Garden the 21-year-old contender attempted to prove it by battering George Chuvale into a bloody third-round technical knockout.

It was the second time that Chuvale has not finished a fight. The only other man to accomplish that was Frazier. In four rounds on his way to the heavyweight title.

"I'm bigger than Frazier," Foreman said. "I had a hit harder, I had more experience. I know I can become a journeyman, I know every part of the job."

Chuvale, 32, was battered from the opening round by the unbeaten heavyweight from the Bahamas. Chuvale, 245, had been knocked out by Foreman in a 12-round fight. Foreman proved he could handle himself against a corner turnbuckle, Chuvale cringed under a rain of punches and retreated across the ring with Foreman in pursuit, continuing to land punches.

Chuvale's wife Lynne ran to the corner screaming "Stop it, stop it," as her husband tried to turn his back on the 215-pound Foreman to block some of the punches. Blood poured from the Toronto fighter's mouth, but he protested to referee Arthur Mercante at the end—1-41 into the round.

It was the 16th defeat against the 24-year-old Chuvale, who weighed 214½, but he upheld his proudest record of never having been knocked off his feet.

"I have definitely not quit fighting," Chuvale, in tears, said through bloody lips later.

"I'll come home now and think for a long time."

The beating Chuvale took earned him $50,000 while Foreman got only $15,000, but Foreman proved he could handle himself against a corner turnbuckle, Chuvale

PROSPECTS — Whomps, and here are the Chiefs, champions of super-world. Yet they might be have only second, or even third best, in all AFL.

Joe Ewing, who played his college ball, so the fans don't even mind his long hair.

No matter that the Orioles had to bat and throw the opposite way they are used to, or that the women base umpires fudged a bit. The men were just out-classed in more ways than one.

The wives started out wisely, giving "plant umpire" Bobby Grich a standing ovation when he was introduced. Grich is the only bachelor on the Orioles team, making the cheer doubly intriguing.

Evelyn Blair scored one run for the winners on a close play and explained her failure to slide with "I didn't want to get my slacks dirty." Can't argue with that, unless husband Paul Blair is now assigned to laundry duty.

"Anyway," added Mary Ann Johnson, "Evelyn hasn't emptied her suitcase since the last time she was out here. I'm suspiciously like something Dave Johnson might have said about his dress clothing."

Jeannie McCallaly, showing that she also listens carefully at home to husband Dave, came off the mound after pitching in three batters and mused, "That's hard work." She vowed, however, not to take her game troubles home.

Brooks Robinson was booed for the first time ever in Baltimore when he made the mistake of catching a pop fly. Connie Robinson drew cheers, however, when she emulated Brooks and tossed out Terry Crowley after scoping up his bunt.

The husbands were braver with their own spouses, with pitcher Pete Richert brushing back wife Adele—before being charged with using a "great ball"—and Andy Echeberren tackling wife Angie while awaiting a throw to apply the tag.

KICKING — Very important element in Jim Stoen's good for three. Jerral Wilson is fine punter. Rating—A.

PREDICTION — Second in Western Division, same as last year. But with play-off system in '69, that doesn't rule out Chiefs. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

When 'Dust' Clears Away Cardinals Have Victory

BY STU CUMEN
UPI Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals did not mind Grant Jackson's version of the dust. Jackson, a pitcher for the Philadelphia Phils, was slated to work against the Cards

Tuesday night but he got into the game in the seventh inning as a pinch runner for Rick Joseph, who had singled with one out. Tony Taylor followed with a single and Jackson raced to third. He beat the throw with a neat slide but without calling time he walked off the base to closest live come to himself and Mike Shannon tagged him out.

Taylor took second on the play but St. Louis reliever Chuck Taylor replaced Jerry Reuss and got the third out to preserve the Cardinals' 3-2 victory, their sixth triumph in a row.

"I've never seen that in all the years I've been managing," said Frank Lucchesi, the skipper of the Phils. "Never anything like it. This is a blow closest I've come to blowing my stack in the clubhouse."

Carl Taylor ripped his fifth homer for the Cards and scored the deciding run on Richie Allen's triple.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh beat Montreal, 4-2. New York shot out to Chicago, 4-0. Cincinnati whipped San Diego, 12-1. San Francisco downed Los Angeles, 11-4 and Atlanta topped Houston, 6-1.

Bob Robertson drew in three runs with a two-run homer and a single to help Pittsburgh down Montreal and keep the second place New York in the East Division. Bob Veale raised his record to 7-12 with a six-hitter.

Frank Robinson said after the game, "Wait 'til next year."

Wives Defeat Red Hot Orioles

BY GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles may be headed for an American League championship but they don't scare their wives.

Striking a blow for women's liberation, or at least to establish superiority at home, the Orioles wives thrashed their husbands 13-1 in a softball game Tuesday night.

The two women traveled by boat to Tangier, Africa. They were taken of the Rock of Gibraltar, the highest peak in Africa where the Atlantic Ocean and the Mediterranean Sea meet. They toured the sites of interest in the cities of Seville and Barcelona.

Mrs. Alexander reported that she was very happy that she was befriended Tony Moran, an entertainer at Club El Mariscal, because he was the only person she had met who could speak the English language and that her stay in Spain was most enjoyable and educational.

The Herndons Entertain At Foreign Food Fest

A social introduction to international cuisines and culture took place on Wednesday, July 23, when Mr. and Mrs. Richard Herndon entertained Mr. Herndon's students from Rollins College and their spouses at their home, "Matsumi" (Pine View), in Loch Arbor, Sanford.

The guests were presented a syllabus containing the course, "International Gorging," the texts: food from various countries such as Austria, Spain, Mexico, Korea, and Japan, and requirements for credit such as successfully completing contests on significant world leaders and events, serving and eating the foods prepared in traditional native containers by Mrs. Herndon.

The Rollins guests are enrolled in Mr. Herndon's class, "Contemporary Foreign Relations Problems," in The Central Florida School for Continuing Studies under the direction of Dr. Daniel F. Riva.

The students include both persons working toward degrees as well as others concerned with today's world situation. Among them are veterans of three wars, teachers, engineers, business men, and housewives.

Mr. Herndon retired from the United States Foreign Service in November, and Mrs. Herndon and he have established permanent residence in Sanford.

Expert Feels Girls Should Be Encouraged To Achieve

By MARY ANN SEAWELL
Palo Alto Times Writer

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — "We shouldn't give children the impression that women's only role is to be mommies. Little girls should be encouraged to achieve just as boys are," says Anne Erlich, wife of noted biologist Paul Erlich for whom womanhood has been a means not a hindrance to self-realization.

Mrs. Erlich is a biology research assistant at Stanford University where her husband teaches. She helped him with his best-selling book, "The Population Bomb," and with more than 70 scientific articles and research papers. She is co-author of his recent book, "Population and the Environment," and she illustrated another of her husband's books, "How To Know the Butterfly."

The mother of a 14-year-old daughter, Lisa, Mrs. Erlich agrees with the goals of the women's liberation movement, but opposed militant tactics.

"I don't think that women who behave like witches win much sympathy from men or women," she says.

She thinks many women feel defensive in discussions of the population explosion. "They feel we are taking away their one and only accomplishment."

But, as her own experience has shown, women can achieve without producing large families.

Stuebenville Leads Pollution Poll

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
WASHINGTON (AP) — The small Ohio community of Stuebenville and metropolitan New York City have one thing in common: the federal government says each leads the nation in a category of air pollution.

Tentative 1970 pollution ratings show Stuebenville has the dirtiest air-clogged with dust, smoke, soot and the like—while New York's air is worst in content of sulfur.

However, the National Air Pollution Control Administration—NAPCA—can't say yet on it did three years ago—which metropolitan areas are most plagued by air pollution in all its forms.

The reason is that 1970 statistics are not ready on the hydrocarbons, nitrogen oxides and carbon monoxide that pour from motor vehicles.

Reaction to the report came quickly from the metropolitan New York area named.

Stuebenville Mayor Andrew W. Miller said much of the pollution in his area comes from plants in West Virginia.

"Two West Virginia metropolitan areas—Huntington and Charleston—were high on the list and Carl G. Beard II, director of the state Air Pollution Control Commission, commented, "We are trying to ascertain as quickly as possible the source of the contamination."

And in Syracuse, N.Y., which led for No. 5 on the particulate list, the county public health engineer said, "It can't be true, probably 20 others are dirtier."

The NAPCA working report says nationwide particulate levels—visibly dirty air—gradually have declined in the past decade. But the sulfur oxide load is expected to increase by three million tons this year to a total of 32 million tons.

"National average levels of ambient urban air concentrations for both particulates and sulfur oxides are close to levels that have been observed to have an adverse effect on our environment," the document says.

Particulates collect on windows and homes and coat the exterior of cars. Sulfur oxides form corrosive acids in the air and attack clothes, concrete statues and building exteriors, and dull paint.

The burning of coal and fuel oil is all the major source of particulates and sulfur oxides.

Two Year 'Grape Strike' Is Victory

DELANO, Calif. (UPI)—For five bitter years, the Spanish word "huelga"—strike—was the rallying cry of Cesar Chavez' farm workers union.

In the end, however, it was not a massive strike, but a boycott conducted with Chavez' aid for the dramatic that brought the California grape industry to the bargaining table.

While the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (UFWOC) always referred to the struggle as the grape strike, it was not a strike in the traditional sense.

There were some walkouts at various farms but the figures were disputed. And certainly, it was not a massive strike which last week persuaded 25 growers producing about half of the California table grape crop to sign union contracts.

The agreement, plus other factors, brought the strike to a halt.

The UFWOC's ability to enlist outside help—in part from the AFL-CIO affiliation and in part due to sympathy generated by his nonviolent approach—was an important lever the growers underestimated.

In 1965 the union, then called the National Farm Workers Association, joined another small union, the Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee (AWOC), in a strike against two of California's largest growers, Di Giorgio Corp. and the Schenley Corp.

Chavez staged a dramatic 30-mile march from Delano to Sacramento to emphasize the plight of the farm worker.

When the march ended on Easter Sunday of 1966, Schenley agreed to a settlement.

Peanut-Butter Penuche Is Bound To Please

PEANUT-BUTTER PENUCHE — This delicious fudge wins applause from both youngsters and oldersters.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

When the kids around your house beg you to make candy and you would like to try a new recipe that will beguile them, consider running up a batch of Peanut-Butter Penuche.

This fudge is bound to please because it's a combination of two favorite flavors — peanut butter and brown sugar. We made it for our 10-year-old nephew and five-year-old niece, but the grownups ate as much of it as the youngsters did. A friend of ours who is an old hand at candymaking developed this recipe. We think you'll like her directions about turning the candy mixture into a pan; this is a crucial point — if you want good-looking fudge that has a smooth top — but unfortunately most recipes for penuche omit it.

PEANUT-BUTTER PENUCHE
2 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
Butter the bottom and sides of a square cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches.)
In a heavy straight-sided 4-quart saucepan, stir together the sugars, milk, corn syrup and salt. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sugars dissolve and mixture boils.
Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until temperature reaches 236 degrees on a candy thermometer, or until a small amount of mixture, dropped into ice-cold water, forms a soft ball that flattens on removal from water. Remove from heat.
Add peanut butter, but do not stir it in. Cool mixture until temperature on candy thermometer drops to 118 degrees. (This may take as long as an hour.) Add vanilla.
Beat mixture until it thickens and turns lighter in color — 2 to 3 minutes. While it can still flow from saucepan and before it loses its gloss, pour it into the prepared pan. (It is better to turn it into the pan too soon than too late. If too soon, continue stirring the mixture in the pan. If too late, it won't flow from saucepan.)
Cool penuche. With a small metal spatula loosen edges; turn out on a cutting board; turn right side up. Cut into squares.
Makes 64 (1-inch) squares—2 pounds.

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — France exploded another nuclear device at its South Sea island testing grounds Sunday in a test delayed twice by bad weather.

Atmospheric explosions over the lagoon of Fangatafa was one in a series that began in May and is scheduled to end in September. For the first time in the memory of veteran observers, the military communique did not give the strength of the explosion.

A Gourmet's Delight Is Strawberry Soup

One of the best of recent regional cookbooks is called "Gourmets and Groundhogs" and its author is Elaine Light. Elaine loves to putter in the kitchen and she has studied cooking. She took courses with Diane Lanza, attended Gordon Bleu demonstrations in Paris and has been an inveterate culinary traveler—enjoying everything from street-stand smorgasbord in Denmark to Sacher Torte in Vienna. And when traveling Elaine finds an outstanding dish, she's likely to try to duplicate it at home.

Elaine does her best cooking in the evening. She says she often cooks until three in the morning and then gets up in the morning and then gets up at noon to finish up. "I'm a Matutiphobe," she adds, "a morning hater." Elaine, a former newspaper woman, who worked happily as a night editor, has never gotten over her love of the evening.

Because she lives in Penu-laway, Pa., where her husband is president of the Penux-tawney Groundhog Club, Elaine called her cookbook "Gourmets and Groundhogs." The groundhog is the furry brown animal credited with legendary powers as a weather prophet. As groundhog devotees know, if the Penux-tawney Groundhog sees his shadow on February 2, it means six more weeks of winter weather. If there is no shadow, spring is here.

One of the best recipes in Elaine's book is for Strawberry Soup. Tried in our kitchen, we found it an utter delight. So here's our adaptation of Elaine's recipe.

STRAWBERRY SOUP
2 quarts strawberries
1 cup sugar
2 cups water
Grated rind of 1 orange
Sour cream
Juice of 1 lemon, about 3 table-spoons
2 cups Rhine or Mosel wine
Wash, hull and drain strawberries. Turn into an electric blender and liquidize; force through a fine-mesh strainer to remove tiny seeds; chill.

In a 1-quart saucepan over low heat stir together the sugar and water until sugar dissolves; boil gently long enough to form a thin syrup—about 10 minutes; chill.

Well ahead of serving time, in a large mixing bowl or other container, stir together the chilled strawberry puree, chilled syrup, grated orange and lemon rind, lemon juice and wine. Chill until ready to serve.

Stir well and ladle into chilled cups or bowls; add a generous spoonful of sour cream to each serving. Discourage eaters from mixing strawberry soup and sour cream; soup tastes its best when a little of the cream is taken with each mouthful of soup.

Makes 10 servings.

French A-Test
PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — France exploded another nuclear device at its South Sea island testing grounds Sunday in a test delayed twice by bad weather.

Atmospheric explosions over the lagoon of Pangatua, was one in a series that began in May and is scheduled to end in September. For the first time in the memory of veteran observers, the military communication did not give the strength of the explosion.

Want ad readers are actively seeking items and services they need and want.

Mrs. R. E. Kuntz, Box 732, Sanford and the following ad readers:

Mrs. Perry Hender, 732 W. 1st St., Sanford advertised her dog with an ad that read like this:

Past posside and Boston terrier puppy $15,000-0000.

Mrs. Hender told us that she received 3 calls the first day ad ran. She sold her puppy and was quite pleased with such quick response.

Beth Wilson, 132 Mayfield Circle needed a canopy tent, as she ran an ad that said this:

Will trade beautiful gold ornate framed mirror, 31 1/2" x 45 1/2" for twin size canopy without springs or mattress, or small sofa bed. 000-0000.

Mrs. Wilson was able to make the trade she desired and was very happy with the results of her ad.

More Nutritional Quality
By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Expert

To survive, the world must have more and more food of nutritional quality. Only with the help of food scientists and food technologists can we hope to feed our expanding world population.

"Food technologists are scientifically trained experts who stand midway between harvesting and consumption, between agronomy and nutrition. They know genetics, microbiology, chemistry, nutrition and are familiar with engineering. Their job is to work with products, to expand yield or create new types of food," explains Richard L. Hall, Harvard Ph.D. in chemistry and chairman of the Third International Congress of Food Science and Technology to be held in Washington, D.C., Aug. 9-14.

"This is a vast order but on it depends the survival of mankind," Dr. Hall adds. The daily death toll from malnutrition is staggering. However, by the year 2000 the world population will be doubled, around eight billion people.

"Therefore, we must both effectively restrain population growth and simultaneously increase our food supply," he comments.

This Nebraska-born scientist and corporate vice-president in charge of research and development of McCormick & Co. of Baltimore, is interested in efforts to create greater yield from familiar animals. "Double-muscling" beef is one example. "Cattle are not efficient users of their food. They convert only one-ninth of their feed into muscle protein. Which is why only select countries can afford to raise them in quantity. To increase returns, scientists are developing 'double muscle' in cattle. Through knowledge of inherited characteristics and genetics, we are learning how to develop more muscle (edible lean meat) on the steer, thereby getting more protein yield per pound of feed," he explains.

Poultry is another example. They are far more efficient, turning one-third of food into muscle protein.

"Chickens convert feed into protein better than any other animal. So the technologists believe that by adding frozen fish concentrate to the feed (fish protein being one of the cheapest forms of protein available), they can get higher protein yield in a more usual and familiar form," he says.

The 2,000 food scientists, government and industry people and educators from 50 countries meeting in Washington have other problems to solve, too.

One is the modification of wheat, corn and rice, basic foods in many countries, to yield greater amounts of protein with high nutritional value, the life element in food.

"But remember, these new forms of grain must be eaten. How does it taste to the people who need it? Always the technologists must create new forms of familiar foods or foods from a totally new source that appeal to traditional eating habits. Otherwise, the improved food, although nutritionally improved, will be left uneaten, even by starving people. That is something hard for Americans to realize. The fact that we may like it doesn't mean other people in the world will like it," Hall warns, adding:

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The bridge path along tree-lined Southern Parkway has been a sore spot with residents for more than 18 years in this Kentucky Derby city.

Those opposing the more than mile-long path that connects with paths in the 40-acre tree-park have lodged complaints of flies, dust, nuisance and property damage.

Delicately Flavored Dessert

The mother of a friend of mine has contributed her wonderfully refreshing recipe for ice cream cake. Served with cold coffee, this delicately flavored dessert is fine party fare.

To prepare the cold coffee use 3 cups water and 1/2 cup ground coffee and brew according to the method for your particular coffeemaker. The coffee will be extra-strong. Fill tall glasses with ice cube and pour the freshly brewed coffee over the ice, filling the glasses. Pour cream and superfine granulated sugar. This makes enough for 4 servings; increase measurements for more servings.

CONNIE'S ICE CREAM CAKE
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons cold water
1 cup sugar (each 10 oz.) frozen raspberries in syrup (thawed) or sugar-free raspberries
Separate eggs putting yolks in a medium mixing bowl and whites in a large mixing bowl.
At high speed of electric mixer beat yolks until thickened and lemon color; beat in lemon juice and water. Beat in 1/2 cup of the sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time; if necessary, continue beating until very thick and a pale yellow color. Beat in lemon rind. Gently beat in flour, 2 tablespoons at a time, until blended.

With clean beater, beat egg whites with cream of tartar and salt, until stiff peaks form, when beater slowly withdrawn. Beat in the remaining 1/2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time; if necessary, continue form when beater is slowly withdrawn.

Add half the beaten egg whites to flour mixture and fold in gently but thoroughly. Add to remaining whites and fold in gently but thoroughly—there should be no white of white.

Turn into an ungreased 9-inch angel-food cake pan (with removable bottom). Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—about 45 minutes. Invert pan on wire rack or stand on legs if pan has them) until cool—1 to 2 hours. With a metal spatula, loosen cake from sides of pan and around tube. Turn out of pan; if pan has removable bottom, loosen cake from bottom. Turn cake upside down on a cutting board.

With a long serrated knife, slice cake into 3 crosswise layers. Sprinkle about 1 tablespoon rum on cut side of each layer. Place bottom layer on a round or square of plastic-covered cardboard. Spoon half of the slightly softened vanilla ice cream onto bottom layer of cake and top with 2nd layer. Spoon remaining ice cream on 2nd layer and top with 2nd layer.

Wrap cake in plastic wrap. Place in a jumbo-size plastic bag, secure bag and freeze.

About 15 minutes before serving, remove cake from freezer and let stand at room temperature or in refrigerator. Top with small scoops of raspberry sherbet and garnish with some of the raspberries. Add rum to taste to remaining raspberries and serve with the cake as a help-yourself topping.

Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Variation: Use all coffee ice cream instead of the vanilla ice cream and raspberry sherbet; sprinkle cake with cognac instead of rum; serve with peach or (thawed frozen or sugared fresh) laced with cognac.

SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPER
A variation of the classic Welsh Barabli.
Cheddar Pippin with Toasted English Muffins and Tomatoes
Tossed Green Salad
Fresh Peaches in Rose Wine
CHEDDAR PIPPIN
1/2 teaspoon butter
1 1/2 pounds natural aged cheddar cheese, grated (about 6 cups)
1/2 cup (about) beer, at room temperature
3/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon paprika
4 English muffins, split and toasted
2 tomatoes, each cut in 4 thick slices
Salt and pepper
Melt butter and tip pan to coat bottom so cheese won't stick. Add cheddar and as it begins to melt, gradually add beer; stir constantly with a wooden spoon. Add seasonings and continue to stir until cheese mixture "follows the spoon around the pan." If too thick, gradually add more beer. (Measure beer after foam has subsided.) Place 2 toasted muffin halves in each of 4 broiler-proof ramekins; top each muffin half with a tomato slice, sprinkle tomato with salt and pepper. Pour cheese sauce over tomato. Broil 4 inches from heat until just bubbly and hot—2 to 3 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Icy Food Treats

WED. FOOD (NEXT WEEK)
By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Fresh fruit or fruit juices, plus milk, whiff into a nutritious and refreshing treat for youngsters. Too often in-between meal snacks and drinks do nothing more than fill empty stomachs. Too few provide needed vitamins, minerals and calories for one-things energy needs of a growing child.

Icy treats that can be made in advance and kept refrigerated help busy mothers and thirsty youngsters into better eating. Many goodies are blender items.

When using a blender and ice, play it safe and crack ice before it goes into the container. Whole cubes can damage both the container and the blades. Also, always put one cup of liquid in the container when crushing ice or using ice in a blender. Another trick is to stop the motor and use a rubber spatula to push ice into position if it is not moving into the blades.

Place 4 cups of cracked ice and 2 cups of cold water in blender container. Cover and press start button, about one minute. Pour ice into slow, and let it drain a few minutes. Pile ice in paper cups and drizzle with topping. Makes 4 cones.

Place a partially thawed package of prepackaged frozen fruit in blender container. Blend, press liquify button and blend until smooth. Makes 4 servings.

Put all ingredients in blender container. Cover, press liquify button and blend. Pour into tall glasses. Top with a swirl of whipped cream and garnish with a whole strawberry. Makes 2 servings.

Elusive Burglar Escapes Police

An elusive thief caught in the act of stealing a television set after first smashing a glass window at the Sanford Firestone Store, 691 W. First Street, early today, managed to escape, but police forced him to leave his prize.

According to police reports, a male using a large concrete block broke the plate glass display window at the tire store and took a portable TV at 3 a.m. today.

The burglary was witnessed by a neighbor living in the area of the store, who called police.

Authorities arrived seconds later and Sgt. Richard Nooney, Patrolmen Robert Bernosky and John Petrovic quickly surrounded the store. Sgt. Nooney observed a man dropping a TV set and escaping into the wooded area at Third Street and Cedar Avenue. Efforts to locate the thief were unsuccessful, but the store's property was recovered intact. Detective Roy Williams said today fingerprints had been removed from the TV set.

In another city report relayed from county authorities, a compact car containing two "clean cut" nude males was observed in the Sunland Estates area last night.

According to the report, the undressed young men attempted to enter two Sunland girls into their car, but left the area when the girls refused.

A subsequent call by the girls alerted police and county authorities and the car was found by Lt. W. W. Smith at the Royal Castle Drive-In restaurant.

Police records disclosed the two juveniles were apprehended by police, but no arrests were made after the charges were dropped. Police reports state the complainant left the sheriff's office in such a hurry that a name was not obtained.

Court Action Coming Who's At Fault... City Or Harbour?

City Attorney William Hutchison told The Herald today that Sanford would file for declaratory relief in the city. Monroe Harbours Inc., hassle over who is responsible for replacing 100 sunken or damaged concrete floating docks at the municipally-owned marina. If the lessee (Monroe Harbours Inc.) did not do it first.

The city attorney said the court action would be filed in order to determine who is responsible under the lease to make repairs to the west side of the marina dock area, where nine months ago the piers started sinking.

Hutchison said there would be no efforts to terminate the lease of the city-financed facility to Monroe Harbours Inc., but only to determine who is liable to make repairs according to the lease arrangement.

Monroe Harbours Inc., in a prepared news release yesterday by Harold Slama, lessee, official, outlined his firm's contention that Sanford was responsible under the lease since the lease contained an agreement whereby the city would be liable until 1977 for making repairs to all floating docks.

Hutchison said he was unable to take any actions until the next city commission meeting Aug. 10, at which time the commission will consider the situation that arose after talks between the two sides reached an impasse over restoration of the damaged docks.

Hutchison said the lessee wanted the city to get the loan since a municipality can borrow money at less interest than a business firm, but the lessee had indicated it would be responsible for repayment of the loan.

Hutchison said the talks between city and the lessee reached an impasse because city wanted Ashland Oil Company, which owns 80 per cent of Monroe Harbours and Co. to be liable for the loan repayment, instead of Monroe Harbours, Inc.

City Commission has contended that the lessee was responsible for the docks sinking because of poor maintenance procedure and Monroe Harbours Inc., has blamed the city for failure to construct a break-water over the west marina to offset the heavy wave actions.

A HEAVY DELUGE in the Sanford area yesterday flooded a number of the streets, creating miniature bathing and splashing areas for youngsters.

Commission Directs Its Efforts To State Cabinet

The Sanford Industrial Commission (SIC) meeting today was concerned mostly with the acquisition of the State Police Academy for the Sanford Airport.

David Kelley, SIC director, gave a report on the State Cabinet meeting Tuesday at Tallahassee where a presentation was made by city and county officials attempting to persuade the high state body to lease a million dollar airport barracks building for the state training school.

The cabinet will delay for 30 days the site selection, and SIC officials plan to use that time in preparing more selling aids to influence the decision favorably in Sanford.

Kelley suggested having Sheriff John Polk, the instigator of the effort to locate the academy at Sanford, appear as a "Minute Memo" on Orlando television making appeals for area help in getting the cabinet to elect Sanford.

John Fitzpatrick, SIC member, noting that state officials had expressed an interest in purchasing an airport site rather than leasing, opined it would be well to have this information relative to purchasing ready for the formal city presentation at next state meeting.

W. E. Knowles, SIC member, said he would check with General Services Administration (GSA) and Federal Aviation (Continued on Page 8A Col. 4)
