Solon Frowns On District Change

Exception to the stand of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's request to "divorce" Seminole and Orange Counties as a joint legislative district, is voiced by State Rep. Walter Sims R-Orlando) in a letter to the Chamber. The Chamber's legislative and national affairs committee forwarded to Sims a arequest that "Seminole County be made a separate legislative district based on the official 1970 census count of 83,692. It is felt that Seminole is entitled to a separate legislative district with a full time representative.

The committee continued it would rather that Seminole be associated with Brevard, Lake or Volusia County, if necessary, rather than Orange

Sims responded he is "uncertain as to whether your intent was to resign from the district or divorce

the delegation."

Sims' letter to the committee continues: "The request, as you have outlined it, must be interpreted as an expression of dissatisfaction with the present legislative delegation, for which I am deeply saddened. It is and has been my policy to represent Seminole as well as Orange County. My personal mail and other requests from Seminole are proportionately as great as from Orange, and it is my policy to never neglect anyone. In addition, $1,200 of the $5,000 I contributed from my legislator's salary last year went to Sanford organizations...

School Busing Powderkeg

MIAMI (AP) - Two of the state's leading politicians, Democratic Gov. Reubin Askew and Republican Sen. Edward Gurney, made living room appeals on opposite sides of the powderkeg busing issue in a statewide television program

Busing is a necessary expedient "until such a time when housing patterns change," said

"It's tyranny," said Gurney in criticizing federal court decisions for "trying to use our children as cattle."

Both men appeared on Miami television station WPLG's "Scene 72" program. Gurney answered an aide's questions in the first taped 15-minute segment and Askew delivered his Gurney charged that politicians favoring busing were raising "a red herring" by implying that some persons supporting an anti-busing amendment on Tuesday's primary ballot are racially motivated.

"They're trying to shame people into voting against the straw poll," said the Winter Park Republican. "It doesn't have anything to do with Gurney urged Floridians to vote "yes" on Tuesday's straw poll calling for a constitutional amendment banning school busing to achieve a racial balance.

issue now and forever."

Busing, said Gurney, has not resulted in improved quality of education. To the contrary, he said, there has been "a great deal of evidence" showing that busing has caused heightened racial tension on school campuses.

Florida's senior senator said there had been increased incidents of violence on public school campuses integrated by massive busing, adding, "some schools have had to employ security

Gurney also said court-ordered busing was draining school systems of vitally needed revenue and could "mount up to a multi-billion dollar proposition in the course of time."

More Than A Presidential Primary

Florida's first venture as a reliable political barometer in a presidential election in terms of determining the choice of registered voters (by parties) through a preferential primary takes place tomorrow.

A political barometer of sorts, it will be. Reliable, it may not. Several conditions within both the Democratic and the Republican parties make these comments valid.

Take a look at the Democrats. This race with 10 entries sporting varied philosophies and records is quite obviously made of questionable importance if viewed solely on the national importance of the winner.

For quite sectional and emotional reasons the fiery Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama is conceded by almost every analyst to be the one who will get the most Democratic votes.

If this does not quite demolish the barometer importance of the voting, then there is a logical conclusion that the Florida primary will be accepted as of extreme importance when the strategy of the primaries during the next thace months is planned.

Vieing for the second spot are two die-hard Democrats who have never been tempted by third-party yearnings. One is Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the hard-pressed front-runner after the New Hampshire primaries. The other is Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, who has presented a new HHH to the voters of Florida attractive enough to encourage visions of another chance to confront Richard M. Nixon in

Bosom Friend, Indeed

Washing machines "busted" the market for washboards, but the instrument that once was a bosom friend for women may stage a comeback.

A Californian has written National Washboard Co. that the firm should be advertising "Increase Your Bustline with a Washboard." He said his wife had a 32B bust size a few years ago and now has 34C with the same measurements elsewhere and no weight increase. He credits it all to the use of a washboard.

She could have done the same with tennis or a punching bag, but most women - like most men - are allergic to strenuous exercise. We don't think laundries need to panic over his latest revelation. - Dallas (Tex.) Morning News.

the November show-down.

Floridians have been given the opportunity to listen to the very impressive arguments of Senators George McGovern, Henry (Scoop) Jackson, Vance Hartke, Mayor John Lindsay, and Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm. In fact the trails of the Democratic hopefuls have so criss-crossed the state that few, if any, areas have not been visited and wooed. Political hatchets were aimed at the Nixon administration with the edge somewhat dulled as the man in the White House has changed traditional GOP policy so that it appears to be cutting along the same trails that were blazed by his Democratic predecessors.

An incumbent president with all the inherent power, support and publicity which the office alone assures, coupled with a professional politician's skill (the China trip while primaries were taking place) makes the defeat of the Californian's drive for re-nomination as near a sure thing as possible.

Yet, and this is the situation which encourages the leading Democrats to fight for the top spot on their party's tickets, this predominance within his party could change and

It was, therefore, a pleasant affair when the conservative Republican Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, dropped in for a frank conversation. His dismay at the reversal of traditional Republican policies by Mr. Nixon and failure to maintain his '68 campaign pledges, pricked him into this Don Quixote challenge.

Thus the Republicans as well as the Democrats will have a choice to mark up their preferences for presidential nominee. Democrats, however, have multiple choices which will have to be thinned down to one: Who is best qualified to beat Nixon?

Peking's Goal Is Still The Same

President Nixon's designation of the last week in February as "the week that changed the world" is no doubt accurate. So was his warning that he did not expect his visit to settle the profound differences separating Red China and

But coverage of his journey by the mass media was so drenched in optimism that it will be easy for some Americans whose sincere and passionate desire for peace sometimes beclouds their critical judgment to expect great things to come from the visit. And the members of the Communist Party USA, their fellow travelers, and the motley assemblage of the New Left will find it much easier to peddle their line that it is not only possible but desirable to treat the Communists as though they were our kind of people. The world has indeed been changed, but whether for Nothing in the U.S. - China communique indicates that Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai have moved one millimeter from their adamant insistence that the United States get out of Asia in toto, without leaving any residual force to oppose Communist takeover of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. The Red Chinese leaders relterate their full support of "the peoples of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia in their efforts for the attainment of their goals," thereby reemphasizing the well-known fact that in Communist eyes the non-Communist men, women and children in Laos, Cambodia, South Vietnam or anywhere else, are not people and have no right to seek to retain their

Chou and Company firmly support the North Korean demand for the "peaceful" unification of Korea and for the abolition of the United Nations Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea. They insist that Japan must not rearm and develop any capability to defend itself. And, of course, the United States, they aver, must get

It is hard to laugh off the Nationalist Chinese Foreign Ministry's declaration that "the effects of President Nixon's visit are diametrically opposite to what we expected, and the countries in the Asian and Pacific area will be among the first ones to suffer from its aftermath ... These countries should not entertain the slighest Achusion of coexisting percefully with the Chinese Communists." This somewhat emblittered attitude is understandable enough, considering that the communique's sections of Taiwan are widely regarded, in Europe and e. "where, as "the final knockout blow for Nationalist China. Nor does Japan seem particularly happy about the outcome. It appears that any U.S. progress made toward friendship with Red China was at the cost of impaired relations with some of our hitherto close associates. All of which raises the question: How can we "normalize" relations with a regime whose entire philosophy is, according to our standards, abnormal? Mr. Nixon says frankly that there is no magic formula by which this can be done; the object, he said, is "to talk about differences rather than fight about them." The catch to this of course, is that talking with the Communists never has been and never will be any bar to their resorting to military action. The Chinese Communists firmly believe in the basic tenets of the Marx-Engels Communist Manifesto of 1848 as later modified by Lenin. They believe in the historical inevitability of worldwide revolution which will lead to the dictatorship of the proletariat by overthrowing all bourgeois governments and destroying capitalism. They share Lenin's scorn and hotred for any Socialists who believe that communism can be achieved, worldwide, through legislation and peaceful means; they believe, with Lesin, the town got states must be shottered as a court of the historic process.

They believe that what Lenin thought of as socialism state ownership of all property and control of all production - must precede communism; and that the "dictatorship of the proletariat" is simply unlimited power based on force and not on law. The Chinese Communist philosophy that all political power flows out of the barrel of a gun simply echoes Lenin's 1916 definition: "Dictatorship is state power based directly on violence ... and violence means neither a fist nor a club, but truops."

If we are to be realistic, we must face the fact that the Red Chinese leadership cannot move significantly toward President Nixon's stated goal of "peace in our time" and remain true to the tenets of communism.

Sen. Edmund Muskie has the best organizational muscle in the March 14 Florida presidential primary, but Sen. Habert Humphrey has himself. And that makes them a pretty close match for what is expected to be runner-up spot behind leading Gov. George Wallace. Muskie's highly professional managers are applying their skills in what is probably the most efficient voter canvass this state has ever seen. In a state unaccustomed to political combat on this level, it isn't easy. Says one

Trying to organize Florida for a primary campaign is like putting your hand in a bowl of mashed potatoes." The systematic checks so far in Miami and other key cities provide strong indications of wide support for Muskie, though only one or two analysts are bold enough to suggest he might wrest first place from Wallace.

Muskie aides think their man has the prospect of winning national convention delegates in from three to six of Florida's 12 congressional districts. But Wallace, expected to take around 30 per cent of the total Democratic vote, is considered a good bet to win nine of 12 districts, and the only man with a chance to win them all. When Muskie people get a favorable response from a Florida voter in their telephone canvass, out goes a letter from the senator in which he says "Your vote and your

Neither Muskie nor Humphrey is setting Florida afire with stirring campaign speeches. Wonderful World Of Sports

The following letter to the editor was written by Al Gielow, a cousin of Herald Publisher Walter Gielow. He sent it to us because "I would like to see you print this article as it will have a tendency to help the youth through this ruffled world teday. I don't know how the juvenile delinquency is around your community but it is getting critical around mine and others are having the same problem. There is only one way we can retard it to some extent and that is by occupying their idle time during the summer vacation. You will seldom find a youth that belongs to any sports activity, Boy Scouts or any other helpful project become a delinquent. And always remember...you can't drive a nail with a sponge no matter Sports Editor, Herald:

On the passing of each day we read the dire happenings in our country which causes great concern among our people. We read in the Anvil Chorus letters from writers who give suggestions and opinions and occassionally, disagree about

In return, I am looking at the brighter side of life, where I am certain that we all will agree: The Wonderful World of Sports. What is the American world of sports? It's a mixture of many things- baseball bats and bamboo fishing poles,

It's the roar of the crowd and the hush of the anticipation. It's tension that builds to a teriffic climax and relaxation that makes you young again. It's a small-town sandlot and a collossal stadium. It's the quiet open space of the field, stream and woods where Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts become talented and strong through the efforts of their scoutmasters It's the familiar sound of the football hitting the frozen turf with all its colorful setting - and the clattering companionship of a bowling alley. The ever popular game of basketball and the vast leaders who drive the spectators in a frenzy while

It has nothing to do with age or creed or class or race. It is owned by no one and belongs to everyone. It's the people who play and the people who watch, youngsters who learn and teachers who coach, people who write about it and people who read about it.

encouraging them on to victory.

It's the healthiest, happiest, most wonderful slice of America, and it belongs to you and me, to your kids and mine. Yes, this is the truly wonderful world of sports - the way you live it, the way you love it! With all this wealth of sports, recreation and facilities, if carried out in a successfu manner, we will build a stronger America and the leader of all nations.

Fronton, Tracks Expand

It looks like this is a good year for expansion at area paramutuel wagering establishments. The jai-alai frontons and dog tracks in both Seminole County and Datyona Beach have looked toward expansion. Certainly the increase in tourists, brought about by Walt Disney World, has had something to do with this. Last summer the Orlando-Seminole Jai-Alai Fronton expanded wagering facilities and added rooms for telewager girls and other mutuels operations. Now the Fern Park fronton is doing something about expanding the seating capacity. A balcony is being added and will be ready to go when the gates open again in October. The Daytona Beach Jai-Alai Fronton has new construction underway. Like last year's work at the Orlando-Seminole Fronton, no new seats will be added, but more convenient betting facilities and concessions areas will be added.

Construction has already started at the Daytona Beach

Kennel Club, where they're adding 1,000 seats which will be ready to go when the track opens June 1. The Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club also has expansion in the upcoming plans. Some of the old grandstands will be torn down and new modern facilpties put up in their place. The track will get some addition seats, but more importantly, the track will get a face-lifting.

The jai-alai fronton and dog track both bring a large number of people to our county during their seasons. With the interstate highway systems in this state, people think nothing of traveling across the state for a night of jal-alai or dog

Dancy Paces Southern Nine

Bill Dancy, a standout for the Seminoie Junior College Raiders, looks like he's going to pick up right where he left off as he is now playing for the Florida Southern Mocs. Dancy lashed out thrue hits as he paced the Mocs to a 11-0 win over Rollins in baseball actions Saturday. . The Mocs are the defending college division national champions. Coach Jay Bergman has sent several of his players on the four-year schools and I'm sure will be reading about a lot of them as the 1972 base ball season moves into full swing. And now Bergman has some help, in the form of assistant coach Floyd Perry. It's a top-notch coaching staff and early indications point to a top-notchteam this season. .

Local fans don't know what they're missing if they don't visit the Raiders for at least one home game at the Seminole Little League Park on SR 419 near Five Points. I'm sure if you come out once you'll be back for more. Try it, YOU'LL

POLLY'S POINTERS There Are Many Uses

For Empty Tissue Boxes By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY-I want to tell Julie I use empty facial tissue boxes that have a top opening. I cut the top, leaving only a quarter-inch of it to keep the sides firm, and use one for storing plasti: lids from small containers which stand on end and are easily available. I also use such boxes for storing packages of dry soup, spaghetti, gravy mixes and the powder to make a popular beverage that the children love. My daughter uses the ones with both top and side openings to store curlers and such things and stacks the pretty boxes on her dresser .- MRS. H. M.

Polly's Problem management DEAR POLLY-A seam in our son's inflatable "punch me" toy has come apart in one place. We have tried patching it with plastic tape but this does not hold. Has any reader successfully patched the seam of a similar toy?-MRS. M. G.

DEAR POLLY-I want to tell Julie I find daily uses for empty tissue boxes but one of my favorites is to use one for pills as they arrive and next to it another for receipted bilis. When the end of the year comes and all bills are paid, the year is marked on the box and it is stored on a shell where they are sailed for seven years. I put a new box in the drawer for the new year. The National Report on What's Happening

Strikes Sour Note

By ERNESTINE GUGLIELMO

WHERE HAS ALL THE MONEY GONE?-The applause and appreciation that surrounded the Concert for Bangladesh has subsided. It has been replaced by cynical gossip, rumors of deceit and suspicions of fraud. The suspicions began with the album's delayed release because of hassles between Allen Klein and Capitol Records. Now it's a question of where all the money has gone.

BANGLADESH: Starr, Harrison, Dylan, Russell.

A recent article in New York Magazine voiced all the doubts that many of Klein's critics have thought but not said. The article made a breakdown of the money from the album, which retailed for $12.98. With all the technical production costs, $5 per album actually went to UNICEF for the Bangladesh children. The New York article claimed that $1.14 per album was unaccounted for -a considerable sum since they estimated sales at three million albums.

Allen Klein wasted no time in refuting the accusations le took out full-page ads in the trade magazines, giving his own cost breakdown. Not only wasn't there any extra money, but Klein had Apple working at a loss.

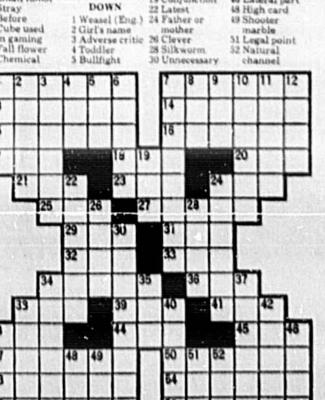

Klein claimed the article was "false and defamatory and filed suit against the magazine for $150 million. He also publicly announced that "any money derived from the suit" would be given to UNICEF for refugee Bangla-

MORE '50s STUFF-Latest news about the nostalgic '50s is that now you can look the part. The hottest thing for young fashions are styles right out of the James Dean era. Watch for the studded leather jackets, tight pants, purple shirts-with matching socks, of course. And for the girls, flared skirts with pink poodles appliqued on the side or, for a more casual look, tight pants with high-heeled shoes.

BANNED AND BURNED-An item in this column about "the little red school book" perturbed a young man from China Lake, Calif., who prefers to remain anonymous. He wrote a letter telling us how upset he was. The outraged young man said he didn't understand how I could encourage "such trash as this book" and that he felt it should "be condemned and burned." He didn't read the book, but he enclosed a reprint of the "Voice of Americanism Broadcast," which considers "the little red school book" a "dangerous new book." I didn't agree with either, but I promise not to ban or burn them.

TOO MUCH PERSUASION-After young people worked to hard for the responsibilities of mature citizens, now they're being treated like kids again. Young people have been educated, urged, begged and bribed into voting. There seems to be something demeaning
