Voter Turnout Not Expected To Break Records

From Staff and Wire Reports

Warmth and sunny skies were bringing voters to the 72 polling places in Seminole County today for the presidential preference primary.

But the turnout was not being seen by Seminole Elections Supervisor Sandy Goard as a record judging by the number of absentee ballots returned.

She said that a total of 534 absentee ballots were requested and most of them returned. However, more absentee ballots have been requested by voters in other elections. Absentee electors have until 7 p.m. today to return the ballots to be counted to the courthouse elections office.

Mrs. Goard has predicted a 42 percent turnout — 30,734 — of the county's 73,177 Democrats and Republicans eligible to cast ballots in the election.

A million-plus Florida voters will lead the nation today in polishing the image and adding to the delegate count of one of the five major candidates seeking the Democratic presidential nomination. Florida has the most delegates at stake — 84 — among the 10 other contests today. Pollsters are predicting Colorado Sen. Gary Hart will get the most votes, but former Vice President Walter Mondale will get the largest number of Florida delegates.

Jesse Jackson and Ohio Sen. John Glenn could wind up in a close race for third with George McGovern trailing far behind, fifth.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. EST, with the northwest Panhandle voting on Central Standard Time, an hour later than the rest of the state.

While forecasters called for a sunny, warm day, State Elections Director Dorothy Glisson predicted a 40 percent turnout of Florida's 3 million Democrats.

There also is a Republican primary with President Ronald Reagan as the only presidential candidate. Ms. Glisson forecast only a 25 percent response from Florida's 1.5 million Republicans.

Florida's three-part ballot is confusing to Democrat voters. The first part is the preference vote with the five main contenders listed along with three who have withdrawn — former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew and Sens. Alan Cranston and Ernest Hollings — and two unknowns, Richard Kay and Stephen Koczak.

The second and third parts of the ballot will elect 84 delegates and alternates.

Many of Askew's pledged delegate candidates have announced for Hart, but few voters will be able to identify them on the ballot.

Party leaders will meet in May to choose the remaining 59 of Florida's 133 convention delegates.

Polls Open Until 7 p.m.

The pollster said a heavy black turnout would help Mondale, and a light black turnout favors Hart.

Many of the rank-and-file blacks are likely to ignore what their leaders are saying and support Jesse Jackson, the first major black presidential candidate, Darden said.

Some polls have shown Glenn running fourth, and none have him running any higher than third.

Mondale and Hart are battling to project their differences into the minds of voters, but their shared liberal philosophy dampens the contrast between the two.

In the defense area, both support a nuclear freeze and would cancel the MX missile system and production of the B-1 bomber. Hart backs a reduction in nuclear warheads, while Mondale favors ratification of SALT II or a new test ban treaty.

Hart would hold growth in defense spending to 3 percent over five years, chopping $139 billion from Reagan administration proposals. Mondale has not set a specific spending ceiling, but says he favors sharp cuts.

To offset the rest of the federal deficit, Mondale would repeal income tax indexing and the final scheduled Reagan tax cut. Hart supports indexing, but delay scheduled 1985 start. He would cap the tax cut at a maximum of $750 per year.

Hart and Mondale both favor inclusion of the Equal Rights Amendment in the Constitution.

Paulucci To Tackle Road Woes

Jeno Paulucci, developer and entrepreneur, said he will seek solutions to Seminole County's road problems in a series of Washington meetings with Reagan Administration officials Wednesday and the remainder of the week.

Paulucci's particular concerns are speeding up the planned construction of a cloverleaf intersection at Lake Mary Boulevard and Interstate 4 and the possibilities of a new I-4 interchange at State Road 46A.

"I want them to come down here and see the traffic problems on state Road 436 and state Road 434 to know what may happen to Lake Mary Boulevard," Paulucci said.

Paulucci is developing a new community, Heathrow, off Lake Mary Boulevard, west of I-4. The ultimate population for Heathrow has been estimated at 10,000 or more.

Other developments are also in the planning stages in that area.

He said his efforts are geared toward having "state, county and federal people joining hands to prevent a bottleneck for the traveling public on Lake Mary Boulevard."

Paulucci said he has already met with county commissioners and county staff people on the county's needs as well as with Gov. Bob Graham, who has pledged his full support and with U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum and staff.

While in Washington, he will meet with U.S. Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Winter Park, and her staff on Thursday.

Paulucci has also scheduled meetings with Ray Barnhardt, federal highway administrator; James J. Howard, chairman of the committee on public works and transportation;

While in Washington, Paulucci will also seek to have proposed mass transportation brought into Seminole County rather than having it terminated in Orange as planned.

He said he is also meeting with state DOT district engineer, Bill Benedict of the DeLand office. —Donna Estes

Blacks' Suit May Wind Up In Appeals Court

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The lawsuit brought against the city of Sanford by five black residents demanding district instead of at-large elections for four of the five city commissioners may wind up in the federal appellate court even though a compromise had supposedly been reached on the district election issue.

Believing agreement had been reached between the blacks and Sanford officials, City Attorney Bill Colbert was nearly speechless Monday night when three of five city commissioners said they are unwilling to accept any ruling by federal judge Elizabeth Kovachevich unless it includes a provision permitting majority vote to decide city elections.

Commissioners Milton Smith, Eddie Keith and David Farr told Colbert to make it clear to Kovachevich that elections decided by plurality are totally unacceptable.

Colbert assured the three that the issue of plurality versus majority will be argued by both sides as persuasively as possible in the "fairness hearing" in district court on April 13.

"I am prepared to vigorously present the city side," Colbert said.

But he begged the commissioners not to take hard positions before Kovachevich has a chance to rule on the case.

And Mayor Lee P. Moore reminded his colleagues that one doesn't tell a federal judge what she must do.

The three said, however, that they are ready to appeal Kovachevich's decision to the

'We will not settle for less than plurality elections.'

DeLattibeaudiere

federal appeals court in Atlanta if it is not acceptable.

The plaintiffs in the lawsuit charged that Sanford's at-large city-wide election system excludes black representation and participation and minimizes and cancels out black voting strength in violation of the federal Voting Rights Act.

Plurality versus majority elections surfaced as an issue at a Feb. 13 city commission meeting when Alfred DeLattibeaudiere, one of the plaintiffs in the suit, threatened to scuttle the settlement unless the commission agreed to plurality elections.

"We will not settle for less than plurality elections," he told commissioners.

After the meeting, DeLattibeaudiere said he understood the city commission had bowed to the wishes of the plaintiffs for four commissioners to be elected within districts — two this year and two in 1986 — with the mayor elected at-large.

"But I want the one who gets the highest vote to be elected without any runoff," he said. "We followed your rules and now we want ours."

The commission had already agreed to the district boundaries worked out by city attorneys and the plaintiffs' lawyer, David Lipman, and locations of polling places in the four districts. Even so, commissioners told Colbert to stress to Kovachevich that they prefer majority elections.

Left for the judge to decide was the amount of attorney fees to be paid to Lipman by the city and the issue of plurality versus majority.

Under the plurality voting method, the candidate for an office receiving more votes than his opponents is elected. That contrasts with majority voting, used in Sanford and other Seminole municipalities except Lake Mary, which requires a candidate to receive at least 50 percent of the votes cast plus one to win. Such a system usually requires a runoff election to decide a race.

Despite DeLattibeaudiere's threat, the settlement appeared to be holding. Lipman even wrote Special Assistant City Attorney Ned Julian Jr. to assure him that the matter was settled.

Other plaintiffs in the lawsuit are E.N. Smith, Samuel Wright Jr., R. Fletcher McGann and Hannah Pinkney.

Pharmacy Bandit Escapes, But Car Stuck

A lone bandit robbed a Sanford pharmacy of an undisclosed amount of money and then tried to escape in the clerk's car.

It was the third such Sanford robbery in four days.

Kathy G. Callier, 27, of 316 Borada Road, Sanford, told police that at 4:31 p.m. Monday a man entered Dave's Pharmacy, 321 N. Magouline Ave., where she is a clerk and asked for cough syrup.

During the transaction, according to responding officer's report, the man told Miss Callier he didn't want to hurt her and to give him all of the money and her car keys.

She said the robber — who she thought had a gun under his shirt — then left the store, got in her 1982 Oldsmobile, and tried to escape but got the car stuck on curbing.

After the man abandoned the car his direction and mode of travel is not known, according to Miss Callier who said it is the second time she's been a victim in a robbery. She said the first time she was caught up in a robbery was several years ago in Orlando adding that she was too tired to elaborate on that event.

The suspect was described as a black man of medium build.

Tougher Animal Ordinance Readied

Concerned by reports of animal abuse in commercial kennels and lacking an adequate means to prevent it, Seminole County commissioners are considering putting some teeth in their animal control ordinance.

At its meeting tonight the commission is scheduled to review several changes in the ordinance, most of them dealing with commercial kennels.

One of the new provisions is aimed at preventing a kennel owner who has been convicted of, or pleaded guilty to, abuse or neglect charges from having an opportunity to repeat the violation.

The old statute provides for an offending kennel operator to have his operating license voided. A new clause would prevent him or her from getting another one for three years unless they can convince county animal control officials they have mended their ways.

The proposed ordinance also spells out rules on housing and caring for animals in commercial kennels.

Bedding must be clean and dry, water must always be available, and animals must be fed at least once a day, including Sundays and holidays. Dogs must be taken out of their cages and exercised at least three times a day, the ordinance says. Animals must also be separated by species, and cages must be large enough so that the animal can stand, turn and lie down flat.

"Nowhere in our ordinance was it spelled out what the rules were," said animal control official Bob McIntosh said. "Now I will have something specific to show kennel operators exactly how they must care for their animals."

'This won't change the situation, but it will give us more control... You're not going to stop cruelty with an ordinance.'

Kennel owners found in violation of the ordinance could be charged with a misdemeanor and subject to a sentence of 60 days in jail and a $500 fine.

The portion of the ordinance dubbed the "leash law," which makes it unlawful for any pet owner to allow his animal to run at large, would be lightened even further by a provision making it a violation for owners to let their pets "soil, defile, urinate, or defecate on any private or public property without the owner's expressed or implied consent."

Violators could have their pet impounded and be forced to pay $20 to get it back, plus $6 for a license if it doesn't already have one, and $5 for a rabies shot if needed.

"We wouldn't normally impound an animal for the first offense," McIntosh said. "We usually warn the owner, then give him a written citation. The third offense is when we take their animal."

The law currently states that dangerous animals (attack or guard dogs or such exotic creatures as lions) must be confined. Since such animals are usually kept outside, a proposed change in the ordinance calls for an enclosure with a fence or wall at least six feet high and an anti-climbing device such as an inwardly angled portion of fence atop the enclosure.

Also, if a dangerous animal is seized and destined to be executed, the owner must pay all impoundment and other fees six months in advance should he choose to appeal the order. Should he appeal process not take that long, any leftover money would be refunded within 30 days.

The proposed changes in the ordinance come partly in response to reports of abuse and neglect at area kennels, but they won't do much to correct the problem, McIntosh said.

"This won't change the situation, but it will give us more control," he said. "You're not going to stop cruelty with an ordinance."

McIntosh cited the case of Laurian Spankie, owner of Snow Hill Kennels on state Road 428 in Oviedo, who was convicted earlier this year of nine counts of cruelty to animals. Sentencing is set for March 19.

McIntosh and sheriff's deputies searched the kennel last August and found nine badly neglected animals. Two dogs and a kitten later died.

Then there was the case of an Osteen man and his wife who began serving an 18-month jail term a year ago after pleading guilty to 18 counts of animal cruelty.

PSC Staff Suggests 9.7% Hike For Southern Bell

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Public Service Commission staffers have recommended a $67.6 million interim rate increase for Southern Bell that would raise residential rates by a maximum of $1.18 per month. If the PSC agrees with the recommendation at its meeting March 20, residential rates for one-party service in Miami would increase from $12.20 to $13.38 per month. In sr exchanges, rates would rise by 83 cents.

The staff recommendation would result in a 9.7 percent increase in rates. Southern Bell had asked for a $92.5 million increase on both an interim and permanent basis.

Campaign '84 In Seminole County: who won, who lost, how many turned out to vote and what it all means to the political fortunes of those who competed in Super Tuesday balloting. We'll tell you in Wednesday's Herald.

NATION IN BRIEF

Church Elders Ignored Her Pleas For Privacy

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Scripture-quoting church elders who publicly accused a woman of fornication refused her resignation and ignored her pleas not to bring her name before the congregation, an attorney says.

Marian Guinn, who is suing Collinsville Church of Christ elders for $1.34 million, acknowledged having an affair, but refused the elders' demand she publicly repent.

Ms. Guinn, 36, of Tulsa, says that elders Ted Moody, Allen Cash and Ron Witten invaded her privacy. Intentionally inflicted emotional distress Oct. 4, 1981, when they accused her of committing fornication.

The case was scheduled to resume today with Ms. Guinn expected to testify.

Telephone Fraud Probed

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York Telephone Co. is investigating one of the largest telephone frauds ever — $170,000 worth of illegal long distance calls to two Westchester County families.

The telephone credit card numbers of both customers apparently were used by more than one person, phone company executives said Monday. The callers charged thousands of conversations to and from Europe, South America, Africa and the Far East. The 2,578-page bill for $109,504.86 charged to Jane Landenberger of Bedford, N.Y., was so large it was shipped to her by United Parcel Service.

A 505-page bill totalling $61,180.55 was sent to John and Connie Weinstock in Golden's Bridge, N.Y.

Phone company spokesman John Quinn said the fraud cases were two of the largest ever, but said there was "no indication" the cases were related.

Quinn said the fraudulent bills were part of an estimated $14 million in revenue New York Telephone loses each year to telephone cheats.

Prayer Test Votes Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate GOP leader Howard Baker will attempt to begin a series of test votes today to determine how much support exists for a constitutional amendment allowing organized prayer in public schools.

"It is my hope that there will be at least one vote and perhaps two," Baker said. "I am not certain that will happen."

Baker must have unanimous consent before the Senate can vote, and Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., was not saying whether he would assent. Weicker leads opposition to organized school prayer.

The second week of debate on the proposal began Monday with sporadic speeches in the Senate and a challenge from President Reagan, who cited a Gallup Poll last fall showing 81 percent of the public favor his constitutional amendment allowing prayers to be recited aloud in classrooms.

Grocery-Laden Truck, Cargo Damaged By Fire

A tractor-trailer loaded with groceries caught fire today in the westbound lane of Interstate 4 damaging the vehicle and destroying the cargo.

At 4:01 a.m., a Pantry Pride GMC tractor-trailer traveling from a store in Winter Haven to the Jacksonville branch caught fire at mile 118 between Exit 44 and the Lake Helen exit, a Florida Highway Patrol spokesman said.

The driver of the tractor and lone occupant, Harlie Lee Anthony, age unrecorded, of Jacksonville, was not injured.

According to the spokesman, the fire of unknown origin did $20,000 worth of damage to the tractor and its trailer. Added damage occurred when the bed of the trailer collapsed under the weight of the water used to put out the fire and spilled the ruined groceries onto the highway, according to the spokesman.

Value of the cargo is unknown.

Five Volusia County fire vehicles responded to the scene as well as the highway patrol and Volusia County Sheriff's deputies.

Cleanup crews were working at the scene as late as 8 a.m. today, according to the spokesman.

No citations were issued and there were no related accidents because of the fire, the FHP said.

THEFT ARREST

A man who allegedly stole a 100-foot hose from a truck parked at an apartment complex reportedly said he took the hose just to attract the attention of the victim, so he could ask the victim's roommate, his former employer, for his W-2 form, according to a sheriff's report.

The 23-year-old Sanford man was arrested at 1:21 p.m. Friday in the parking lot at Royal Arms, 548 Orange Drive, Altamonte Springs, after Judith L. Adams pointed him out to a sheriff's deputy as the person who allegedly removed the hose from her truck.

After the deputy reportedly found the $55 hose in the suspect's vehicle, the man allegedly said he took the hose because Charles R. Adams, 48, who lived with Ms. Adams, would not answer his door and give him his tax form, the report said.

Jeffery Arthur Pedico of 518 Mellonville Ave. is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond on a charge of burglary to a conveyance.

Chemical Warfare Probers In Tehran

LONDON (UPI) — Iran accused Iraq of launching a second chemical weapons attack in less than a week in intense fighting near the Iraqi port of Basra. Iraq said it crushed an Iranian offensive in the area, killing 1,157 troops.

Iran said Iraq used "chemical bombs" in a counterattack Monday to force Iran out of positions inside Iraq on oil-rich Majnoon Island, 40 miles north of Basra. Iraq's main port city.

The official Iraqi military statement released in Baghdad Monday did not mention Majnoon, but referred to fighting "east of Basra" and on a second front it did not identify.

It said 1,157 Iranian soldiers were killed and "a large number" were captured or wounded in 24 hours of fighting on the two fronts.

A 30-year-old Orlando man charged in the Seminole County rape and false imprisonment of a Rollins College student posted $8,000 bond and was released from jail.

The man was charged at 5:15 p.m. Monday in the March 6 sexual assault after sheriff's deputies traced him through his car license plate number, which the victim noted after the alleged attack.

Anthony Mark Bourlier, 25, of Orlando, reported that his wallet which contained $112 was stolen from a bench beside the swimming pool at Spring Landing's clubhouse, Longwood, at about 2 p.m. Saturday. Bourlier reported to the sheriff's department that he put his wallet on the bench before he cleaned the pool and when he returned to pick it up it was missing. He named several people who were at the pool at the time of the theft, the sheriff's report said.

A New Orleans man reported that $3,200 in traveler's checks, $200 cash, a suitcase and a $200 camera were taken from his car when it was parked at the Hitching Post Bar, state Road 419, Chuluota, between 4 and 7:15 p.m. Saturday. On Friday, Iraq launched a chemical attack on Iranian forces in the Majnoon area, wounding between 500 and 600 Iraqis, IRNA said.

"Nearly 1,700 Iraqis have so far fallen victims to Iraq use of chemical weapons, an act in blatant violation of international laws," IRNA said. It did not break down the 1,700 into deaths and injuries.

Iraq has repeatedly denied Iranian accusations about chemical weapons and on Sunday offered to cooperate with "any neutral group" that wished to investigate the charges.

Heavy fighting has raged for six days in the strategic Majnoon area, where Iran threatens the vital Iraqi highway connecting Basra to Baghdad.

Reagan Pushing For Aid To El Salvador

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, saying El Salvador must conduct its March 25 elections "in a climate of security," is pressing Congress to approve emergency aid for that country's army.

The president told Republican women at a White House luncheon Monday. "The Salvadorans are out of U.S. military aid because my original request was not fully funded by the Congress.

"Without these supplies and training support, El Salvador cannot hold secure elections or defend itself," Reagan said.

"We know that Cuban-supported guerrillas plan to disrupt these elections, just as they failed to do about two years ago when El Salvador held elections," the president said.

The El Salvador elections scheduled March 25 "must take place in a climate of security," he said.

The administration requests for economic and military assistance are in trouble in Congress, with some key members linking further aid to a dramatic improvement in the human rights situation in El Salvador.

As part of the stepped-up drive to win congressional approval for the emergency military aid, Reagan is scheduled to meet today with Thomas

Pickering, U.S. ambassador to El Salvador.

Last week, the Senate Appropriations Committee turned down an administration request for $21 million in covert aid for anti-Sandinista Nicaraguan forces based in Honduras. Unless Congress grants the request, the covert operation would have to end in June.

Last week, an attempt to slip through an emergency military aid package for Central America on an unrelated piece of legislation backfired, and the State Department withdrew the legislation and expressed regret for using the unorthodox method.

The Senate panel, which last week also delayed discussing the administration's request for $93 million in military aid for El Salvador, was to meet again today, but the session was later reset for Wednesday morning.

A spokesman for Sen. Bob Kasten, R-Wis., who offered the amendment on the topic, said Kasten still intended to propose the money again.

Congress cut in half the administration's original request of $100 million in aid for the current year. Congress later added $14 million.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Military Advisers On 'State Of Alert'

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — U.S. advisers in El Salvador are "on a heightened state of alert" with elections scheduled for this month and in some cases are allowed to carry small machine pistols, a U.S. embassy spokesman said.

Under new rules established last August but just publicized, advisers may carry machine pistols — automatic pistols similar in function to submachine guns — on a case-by-case basis, the spokesman said Monday. The previous regulations allowed advisers only to carry small pistols in the field.

He said none of the advisers was armed with automatic rifles.

Crucifix-Ban Rally

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Students called for a mass rally today to protest a Communist Party ban on the display of crucifixes in schools that threatened to provoke a major church-state conflict.

A top-level meeting of Catholic bishops was also scheduled today to decide how to handle the bitter conflict between students and communist officials.

Youth delegations from throughout Poland began gathering Monday at the town of Garwolin, 40 miles southeast of Warsaw, to protest the crucifix ban first imposed at a vocational school in the town of Mielno outside Warsaw a week ago amid angry protests.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Investigators Probe Scandinavian Sea Fire

PORT CANAVERAL (UPI) — National Transportation Safety Board officials say it will be at least six months before answers are gained from an investigation into a fire that raged for two days aboard a cruise ship.

Investigators boarded the cruise ship Scandinavian Sea on Monday, searching for clues into the fire that started at sea with 742 passengers aboard. There were no serious injuries.

The fire, which is believed to have been accidental, broke out while the ship was six miles offshore on a day-long entertainment and gambling excursion. It burned for 44 hours and gutted the front one-third of the 500-foot ship.

Company officials said they could not offer a damage estimate to the $30 million ship, which was built in 1970. But Today newspaper in Cocoa quoted an unidentified investigator saying repairs probably would cost "in the neighborhood of $6 million."

Company spokeswoman Jill DeChello said all cruises from Port Canaveral have been suspended until April 16.

Alvarez Trial Nears End

MIAMI (UPI) — A Hispanic policeman charged with manslaughter for shooting a black man may have been so shaken by the incident that he reported it in an inaccurate and incriminating manner, a criminologist testified.

Dr. George Kirkham, a Florida State University criminology professor and former police officer, said Monday he was sure from investigating Officer Luis Alvarez' shooting of Nevell Johnson Jr. that the officer's gun discharged accidentally.

The prosecution has sought to prove that the shooting of Johnson, 20, was accidental and that Alvarez, 24, was "grossly negligent." If convicted, he faces up to 15 years in prison.

Peace Talks Open; Violence Flares In Beirut

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Leaders of Lebanon's warring factions opened peace talks, as heavy fighting erupted in Beirut, and turned immediately from questions of government reform to the need for a cease-fire.

Bloody battles in the Lebanese capital cast an ominous note over the opening of the conference Monday, scheduled for its first full day today. At least 17 people died and 57 were wounded in fighting between rival Christian and Moslem factions.

Divisions between the groups in Switzerland also were evident, even among those who had united in recent months to drive the government of President Amin Gemayel to make concessions to Syria.

Beirut residents came under a heavy bombardment as Gemayel began the talks Monday with an appeal to end the "cycle of blood and tears" that has killed 100,000 people in nine years of civil war.

Former President Camille Chamoun, a hard-line Christian leader, angrily produced reports on shelling in Christian East Beirut and demanded action.

Lebanese leaders at the talks set up a five-man committee to attempt to halt the fighting, but combatants ignored an announcement of a cease-fire broadcast live to Lebanon from Lausanne by a government spokesman.

The committee, reflecting the chief divisions in Lebanon, included representatives of the Lebanese army, two members of the Christian militia, one each from the Druze militia and the Shiite Moslem militia.

The opening of the conference was delayed nearly eight hours to await the arrival of Syrian Vice President Abdel Halim Khaddam. A U.S. diplomatic representative was accorded no official status at the meeting. Khaddam arrived soon after the first session adjourned and immediately conferred with Lebanese Foreign Minister Elie Salem, a Saudi mediator and Gemayel.

Syria, which backs the anti-government rebels, forced Gemayel last week to cancel the peace accord he signed with Israel a year ago.

Gemayel praised Syrian President Hafez Assad, saying he was confident Assad "will lend all his influence to help Lebanon reach the stage of health and stability."

UF Poll Shows Amendment 1 Is Losing Support

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Overall support of Amendment 1 still leads opposition but potential voters seem to be changing their minds about the proposal to limit government revenues, a University of Florida poll says.

A February survey of 522 adults conducted by the university's Bureau of Economic and Business Research indicated 40 percent of all respondents were uncertain about the so-called citizen's choice amendment, while 32.8 percent favored it and 27.3 percent opposed it.

But of people who said they were familiar with Amendment 1, more than 46 percent were opposed to it, compared to only 39.5 percent who favored the measure. That was a reversal from January's survey, when 43 percent of people who said they understood Amendment 1 supported it and 37 percent were opposed.

The number of people who said they understood the amendment increased from 33 percent in January to 38 percent in February.

"This seems to show that opposition to the amendment increases as more people become familiar with it," survey director Dr. L.F. Dunn said.

But Dr. Dunn said the overall figure is the best indicator of how an actual vote would proceed.

The survey described Amendment 1 to respondents as the "citizen's choice on government revenue, which would limit all revenues which state and local governments can receive."

The survey showed the highest proportion of support for Amendment 1 came from people with high school educations or less, from whites and from families with annual incomes of $35,000 or more.

The greatest proportion of opposition to the amendment came from those with four or more years of college, from blacks and from families with incomes between $25,000 and $35,000.

Regionally, the strongest opposition to the amendment came from northwestern counties.

Dr. Dunn said the study's potential margin of error is plus or minus 3 percent.

Gunmen Rob Two Convenience Stores

Two Sanford quick-shop markets of the same company were robbed in separate incidents by lone gunmen.

The Lil' Champ store, 1920 S. French, was robbed Sunday morning at 3:34 by a gunman brandishing a short-barrel handgun while the Lil' Champ, at 301 French Ave., lost an undetermined amount of money Friday night at 8:30 to a man carrying a snub-nose .38-caliber pistol.

In the Sunday morning robbery, a man walked into the 1920 French Ave. store, fired one round at the back wall, and got away with about $100, according to clerk Kelly Ann Mitchell, of 1119 Locus Ave., Sanford.

While a shot was aimed at the back wall, no bullet was located.

The robber was described as a black male of medium build in his early 20s wearing a black hat, a black pull-over shirt with a wide silver stripe around the middle, according to a police officer's report.

Friday's robbery occurred before two clerks in the store.

Doris McCates, of 114 Laurel Drive, Sanford, and Rhonda J. McAfee, 2580 Ridgewood Ave., Sanford, told police a black man, about 5-foot 9-inches tall, weighing about 175 pounds, entered the store and told them he wanted all of the money in the registers and in the safe. After taking the cash, he left towards Third Street. He was wearing a black jacket, white shirt, red jogging pants, and tennis shoes.

Boy Charged With Killing Sleeping Dad

MIAMI (UPI) — A 14-year-old victim of child abuse waited for his father to fall asleep and then fatally shot him, police say.

Before the shooting early Monday, Clarence Carr Jr. wrote a note which said why he had killed his father. About 35 minutes later he took the .38 caliber revolver his father carried at a night security job and fired three shots at his head, killing him, police said.

"Evidently, he'd been planning to do it for a long time," homicide detective Bobby Meeks said. Clarence Carr Sr., 33, died in bed at the family's Northeast Miami apartment. His son was charged with first-degree murder.

Investigators said the young Carr told them his father had repeatedly beat him and his mother, Wilma, for years.

The youth said he took off his shoes so his father wouldn't hear him, put on earmuffs, picked up the gun, took it out of the case and walked into his father's room.

He told police he fired the first shot by accident. When his father woke up and lifted his head from a pillow the youth fired twice more, police said.

Meeks said the boy put the gun down and walked out of the house.

Committee Rejects Statewide Workfare

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — There's nothing wrong with making poor Floridians work to earn food stamps, but it's too early to tell if the idea would succeed across the state.

That's what a group of legislators decided Monday when they refused to spread an experimental workfare program from Jacksonville to the rest of the state. Instead, a House subcommittee voted to broaden the existing pilot program to cover all of Duval County.

The panel voted 8-2 for the limited proposal (HB 482), but workfare's chief legislative sponsor said he isn't giving up on the statewide idea.

"This is simply a program to require those people who are on welfare to work for their entitlement," Rep. Tom Woodruff, R-St. Petersburg, explained to a Health and Rehabilitative Services subcommittee.

The program would allow exemptions for people with valid reasons not to participate, such as mothers with youngsters at home, the ill and those who can't afford transportation to a proposed work site.

Woodruff's statewide proposal carried an appropriation of almost

$2 million, but a staff analysis projected actual state costs at more than $3 million. A federal grant would have provided an equal amount.

Opponents said the program would penalize children for the unwillingness of their parents to work. Eligible people who refuse to participate in the workfare would lose food stamp benefits for themselves and their families, including children.

"I feel very bad that those children may lose their food stamps. But I didn't make the decision not to work, the parent did," Woodruff said.

The Hispanics' Immigration Bill

Hispanics have been lacerated by the barbed wire of U.S. immigration law. They have lived in constant fear of being deported. They have been forced to make a legitimate complaint of cruelty to a labor board. They have been hunted like animals in an alien country that has benefited from their cheap labor. They have done decent work many Americans won't do and been called indecent names for doing it.

Yet Hispanic-American leaders fought every immigration reform bill presented to Congress in the past decade. And they won, perpetuating the twisted system of immigration law that entangles them.

In 1984, the Hispanics are taking an important step toward freeing themselves from their political bondage. For the first time, their leaders have put minds together to create an immigration reform bill of their own. Rep. Edward Roybal, D-Calif., is the chief sponsor of the Hispanic's bill. It is intended as an alternative to the Simpson-Mazzoli bill, which has been approved by the Senate and is before the House rules committee.

"Our thrust is enforcement and legalization," says a lawyer from a Hispanic group that helped draft the Roybal bill. "We aim to control the borders to prevent new people from coming and legalize the people who are already here."

Enforcement has two forms: beefing up the Department of Labor's monitoring of wage and hour laws, and increasing the effectiveness of the Border patrol. The bill would create a $10,000 civil fine for employers who violate Labor Department report-filing laws and put another 1,600 federal patrolmen on the border.

The Roybal bill has no provision to punish employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens, which is the key enforcement provision of the Simpson-Mazzoli bill. Hispanics have opposed employer sanctions on the grounds that they could lead to discrimination against people who "don't look American."

Roybal's proposal to legalize longtime illegal alien residents has the same eligibility date as the immigration reform bill sponsored by Rep. Romano Mazzoli, D-Ky., in the House. But Roybal would make proof of residence easier.

The Roybal bill also proposes a commission to study the forces that propel people to leave their impoverished villages and come to America. "If a person is fleeing from El Salvador, it doesn't matter if there's no job for him in the U.S.," says the lawyer. "He's going to come anyway."

Maybe so, but to predicate U.S. border enforcement on the eradication of poverty in the Third World is to open up our borders to waves of illegal immigration that would trigger a violent reaction against people who look foreign in this country.

The Roybal bill has false teeth. Increased labor law enforcement is sorely needed in many industries where exploitation and miserable working conditions are prevalent. But it would not halt the source of that exploitation, which is the powerlessness of illegal aliens to defend their human rights when they have no legal status in the country where they are working.

Roybal's reliance on increased Border Patrol manpower and effectiveness is another false solution. Sixteen hundred more border patrolmen strung out along the 1,933-mile border would no more be able to halt illegal immigration than a picket fence could hold back a flood. The militarized border that would be necessary to halt aliens physically from entering the United States would resemble the Berlin wall in reverse — an unacceptably harsh solution.

The Simpson-Mazzoli bill is the best hope to achieve a humane goal. It gives generous amnesty to people who have become residents of the United States. It administers penalties to employers who would exploit workers because of their illegal status. And through its H-2 program, monitored by the Department of Labor, it provides a way for foreigners to work in this country temporarily, with guaranteed wages and working conditions.

By legalizing those who are now illegal, the Simpson-Mazzoli bill offers Hispanics millions of potential voters. In America, political power is the best assurance of justice.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Remember, Comrade, people who are willing to destroy an efficient telephone system may not be playing with a full deck."

By Diane Petryk

Black eyes, split lips, fractured jaws and broken noses and collar bones are a few of the physical injuries commonly inflicted by battering husbands. Yet fear and ignorance can strike the abused wife harder than the blows of her spouse.

The real tragedy is that the wife often endures years of violence without getting help.

The National Institute of Mental Health is trying to change that for as many wives as it can reach. It has examined the motives of abuse, identified its recurring patterns and can suggest shelters and treatment programs for women in need of help. A run-down of facts can be obtained in its booklet, Plain Talk About Wife Abuse, available free from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 571M, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Wife abuse, or abuse of any woman involved in a close relationship with a man, is defined, the Institute says, as violence that results in injury or death. It is different from the normal conflicts that occur during the course of a marriage and it can occur within families at any socio-economic level.

The man who abuses his wife was likely abused as a child. He is often filled with anger and resentment at a world that has not fulfilled his expectations. He strikes at his wife because she is the only vent for his anger. If he were to strike his boss in anger he would lose his job, but he suffers no observable penalty if he strikes his spouse or companion.

Many women endure the physical violence of their husbands out of the mistaken notion it's a man's right to exert dominance of the household. And they believe it is their duty to stay with their mate.

Wife abuse often follows a predictable pattern — arguments, often for no reason other than tension, beatings, and then, husbands' promises not to repeat the action.

But it is repeated. With more intensity and frequency until it endangers the woman's life — because of the man's inability to resolve conflicts and deal with anger in an appropriate, acceptable way.

Many women stay with abusive husbands because they feel there is no alternative. They have no money of their own, they have children to support and they believe they cannot survive alone.

But there are alternatives.

According to Plain Talk About Wife Abuse, in a situation where a woman knows she will be attacked, she should get herself and her children out of the house and call police as soon as possible. She should hide money, car keys and important documents in a safe place to facilitate a quick escape.

But in the long run the abused woman must decide on a course of action that will remove her from the danger permanently. The woman must realize only she can secure freedom from the vicious cycle of attacks.

The first step is for her to admit she is abused. She must face the reality of her situation and believe in her right to life free from physical violence.

Friends and relatives can provide support and guidance for a battered woman who decides she will no longer tolerate abuse. For those alone, emergency shelters, women's organizations and community health centers are available for help.

While fear may have dictated her past, it doesn't have to determine her future. Assure the Institute.

French Doing Nicely

PARIS, France — The French nation is supposed to be experiencing severe economic dislocations, but one wouldn't know it in this prosperous capital city where high-rise office buildings are being constructed on a crash basis. France also has a socialist government, but the country has nothing of the indolent socialism that has almost paralyzed Britain for decades. The mercantile spirit of the French people is very strong. And if the French worry about their economic future, they most probably still have gold francs hidden in their mattresses as an insurance policy.

It's true, of course, that the Industrial North of France has severely deteriorated industries and growing unemployment. It's also true that French farmers are fat and happy with the subsidies they receive from the European Economic Community, and want more. Recently farmers in Brittany put logs on railway tracks as part of demonstrations in support of more subsidies. It's also true that industries nationalized by the Mitterand government are a severe burden on the country.

Nevertheless the healthy condition of the French nation is evidence that a strong people can overcome socialist ideology. The French are keenly sensitive to their economic interest, and they know that the Mitterand Socialist government has not been good for them. Unfortunately, Mr. Mitterand is in office for some time to come.

There's good reason to believe, however, that French conservatives will be returned to power next time. For one thing, there has been a flowering of conservative ideas among French intellectuals. As one French journalist told me, the example of President Reagan in America and Prime Minister Thatcher in Britain has inspired a conservative intellectual renaissance in France. In the space of a couple of years, many French intellectuals have come to be vitally interested in a market economy, whereas, for generations, French thinkers were committed to a belief in state control of the economy. Today faith in Marxism is in steep decline in France.

One of the most interesting features of French life today is the absence of a "peace" movement. There's no French equivalent of the radical "Greens" in West Germany or the unilateral disarmament movement in Britain, not even among the socialists. The French people are strong supporters of France's nuclear deterrent force.

One reason for this is that the French are as mindful of their strategic interest as they are of their economic interest. The French are keenly aware that nuclear-armed NATO forces in West Germany provide a strong buffer against the Soviet Union.

EPA Lax On Swimming Pool Danger

WASHINGTON — More than a million swimming pools throughout the United States contain a chemical that has been linked to kidney damage in several scientific studies.

This is no secret to top officials of the Environmental Protection Agency, which was warned of the danger five years ago. But they have yet to take any action.

The chemical is cyanuric acid. About 50 million pounds of the stuff are poured into residential and commercial swimming pools each year to make the chlorine in the water last longer.

My associate Indy Badhwar has obtained internal EPA documents that show the level of the chemical is as high as 200 parts per million in many swimming pools. It enters the body through swallowing the water or by absorption through the skin.

In April 1979, a memo from senior staff scientists to EPA Deputy Assistant Administrator Edwin L. Johnson urged him to take action on cyanuric acid.

JEFFREY HART

Mondale Lacks Charisma

The 1983-1984 Mondale campaign bears a striking resemblance to the campaign Richard Nixon ran for the presidency 16 years ago.

Both campaigns involved former vice presidents who, though perceived as experienced and competent, also lacked charisma and the ability to stir elemental feelings.

In 1968, Nixon was overshadowed in the charisma department by the recent memory of John Kennedy, and by the emergence of Ronald Reagan, who had been elected governor of California two years earlier.

Today, Mondale is shadowed by the flawed but exciting figure of Ted Kennedy, who can spend up the pulse and raise the blood pressure in ways far beyond Mondale's powers.

In 1967 and 1973, both of these former vice presidents used a law partnership and a law office to make a tidy sum of money and also as a place to organize a national campaign. And in both cases that campaign was a technical masterpiece.

Nixon's was the most professional campaign ever waged until then. By the time of the New Hampshire primary, Nixon was so powerful among Republican voters that he forced Michigan's George Romney out of the race altogether, and Nelson Rockefeller stepped out soon thereafter. Winning every primary, Nixon surmounted his last challenge in Miami in the form of a strong and prophetic bid from Reagan on his right.

Mondale's 1983-1984 organization is probably even better, and is certainly technologically more sophisticated even than Nixon's. At raising money, securing endorsements, organizing at the precinct level and getting out the Mondale vote, its capacities are awesome.

But then came New Hampshire, about which there is much to be said. What everyone has sensed about Mondale was demonstrated dramatically by Gary Hart, once he became the leading alternative to Mondale in the Iowa caucuses.

The commitment of the rank and file Democratic voter to Mondale is minimal. With all of his professionalism — and I do not denigrate professionalism for a moment — Mondale utterly fails to capture the popular imagination. The columnist George Will has recently praised Mondale for his "seriousness," and I suppose that is one word for his carefully prepared race, but both the voters and the party activists themselves require something more.

Among liberal Democratic activists I know, the prospect of a Mondale candidacy is something to be endured, a looming one-year bore.

It is not that his positions on the issues are unacceptable. Mondale has positioned himself precisely at the leftward center of today's Democratic Party, just as Nixon in 1968 positioned himself at the rightward center of the G.O.P. But Mondale's "positions" have something of the quality of a computer printout.

The remarkable thing is how little it took to dislodge Mondale's New Hampshire support. I am not discounting Gary Hart, who is attractive and intelligent, but he has been running on a shoestring and he does not differ all that much from Mondale on the issues. His "new ideas" theme is desperately thin in substance. What Hart provided in New Hampshire was a receptacle for a growing feeling that Walter Mondale's supposed "inviolability" was unacceptable.

If Glenn had been a real threat, paradoxically, Mondale's support might have held up better. But with Glenn's impotence, the protest could gather.

Mondale's big battalions are probably enough to carry him through the big nine-state primary day on March 13, the Democratic Phillippi. But Hart has now stepped in where Glenn failed to tread, and he has shown the essential shallowness of Mondale's support. Mondale may well go on to the nomination, and Democrats will indeed be mobilized for him against Reagan. But the essential voltage for a successful national campaign against a popular incumbent just does not seem to be there, and all the circuits of the AFL-CIO and the National Education Association and the others cannot provide it.

FARMING WORLD

Food Shortage Warnings

By Sonja Hillgren
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the midst of human tragedy caused by severe drought in Africa, there is a small sign of progress: Meteorologists have improved their ability to provide advance warning of food shortages caused by drought in the Third World.

Efforts by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations to monitor conditions in Africa and a U.S. government early warning system, which can be applied to the entire world, now provide information more quickly than before when drought threatens.

The current drought in Africa, called the worst in this century, is more severe than drought in the African Sahel during the 1970s, but on at least one score, the situation has improved.

This time, U.S. meteorologist Louis Steyaert said in an interview, there were "no surprises."

Early warning is important because it gives drought-devastated nations extra time to seek food aid or buy food from other nations on favorable economic terms and it gives the donor nations more time to respond.

Steyaert, who received the Commerce Department's highest award for developing the U.S. system, says the system can provide advance warning of three to six months before food shortages occur.

In the United States and most of the developed world, the government and private concerns monitor crops with statistical sampling, weather forecasting and reporting is sophisticated, and information on crops and weather is quickly disseminated. Any hint of drought is known immediately.

But data and communications are much less developed in the Third World.

Steyaert, a research meteorologist with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, developed a system to predict crop production in the Third World by measuring the impact of weather on crop yields rather than measuring actual crops.

He began working on the system in 1977 by monitoring weather conditions in Haiti.

His system uses tools such as rainfall estimates from ground stations throughout the world and satellite photographs estimating precipitation from cloud cover.

Satellite photographs are especially useful to improve accuracy of precipitation reports in areas where weather data is sparse or unreliable. Plans call for extensive refinement and expansion of the assessment tools.

Steyaert does not make actual crop predictions. He issues warnings if poor conditions are in the offing and measures impacts of drought.

— Rabbits that were rubbed with a cyanuric acid solution over 10 percent of their bodies developed kidney damage, "thus showing evidence of skin absorption and systemic toxicity."

One EPA scientist who investigated the industry's questionable testing pointed out that the chemical has been used in swimming pools for 20 years, so any toxic effects should have shown up by now.

But the National Academy of Sciences maintains that risks can be accurately assessed through studies of laboratory animals.

Footnote: EPA asked the industry to repeat its studies of cyanuric acid. An EPA official said most of the new short-term studies are complete and "there are no immediate concerns." An industry spokesman said that while cyanuric acid is poisonous when digested and is a severe eye irritant, nothing in the literature links it to kidney damage.

An EPA staff briefing paper suggested that the chemical industry's toxicity studies may have been fraudulent and, therefore, may have played down the danger. The document cited the following evidence:

— EPA audits showed that two studies of mice and rats were aborted after seven months "apparently due to excess mortality resulting from kidney failure." The results of these studies were not reported to the EPA.

— Pathologists were "misdirected" from the kidney to the liver in subsequent studies, despite the extensive kidney damage associated with cyanuric acid.

— EPA auditors found that the laboratory's selection of animals for the study of tissue changes "was not random, and in some instances selective choice was apparent."

— An independent review concluded that a significant number of pre-cancerous lesions were not reported by the industry studies.

Daniel Proves Point, Clutch Single In 8th Hangs Loss On Lyman

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Howell's Jimmy Daniel wants to be a hitter but he's got a small problem. He's a pitcher, and we all know pitchers make their living with their arms and not their bats.

But Daniel is persistent. He made Lake Howell coach Birto Benjamin offer he couldn't refuse. Daniel told his coach, "Just give me one chance and if I don't hit, you don't have to let me bat the rest of the season."

Daniel got his one chance Monday against Lyman — and maybe opened the door for several more. In his first batting appearance of the season, the tall junior lined a single into left field with the bases loaded in the bottom of the eighth inning to lift the Hawks past the Greyhounds, 5-4, in Five Star Conference baseball at Lake Howell.

The setback was Lyman's first of the year in conference play and dropped it into second place with a 3-1 mark. The 'Hounds are 7-5 overall. Lake Howell improved to 8-6 and 2-2. Lyman hosts Seminole at 7 p.m. Wednesday and Lake Howell goes to Lake Brantley for a 3 p.m. game.

Not only did Daniel contribute the key hit, but he also pitched out of a bases-loaded, two-out jam in the top of the eighth. After reliever Todd Minott fanned two batters to open the inning, he gave up a single to Byron Overstreet and walked Jimmy Odom and John Drinkwater.

Benjamin then summoned Daniel who had not pitched since Feb. 9 because of arm problems. As could be expected the 6-3½ righthander was a little rusty. He tossed three balls to Mike Henley before finding the plate with a strike. Henley then swung and missed before fouling off the 3-2 pitch. Daniel then got the Lyman catcher to pop up to second base for the third out.

His batting heroics came next. Senior Van Golmont rified his third single of the day to open the eighth against loser Derek Livernols. Vic Roberts then missed a bunt attempt and Henley tried to pick Golmont off first. The second baseman, however, couldn't handle his throw and Golmont went to second. Roberts then hit a deep drive to center and Golmont tagged and went to third.

Lyman coach Bob McCullough then intentionally walked the next two batters, setting up a force at each base and bringing up the ninth place hitter, Daniel. Livernols quickly got ahead 1-2, but Daniel then watched two balls go by to fill the count. On the 3-2 delivery, he lined a shot into short left field to chase home Golmont with the game-winner.

Lake Howell had looked as if it was in for an easy time when it erupted for three runs in the first. Jeff Poindexter walked and Lang crashed a home run to deep left field for a 2-0 lead. Scott Munson lined out, but Jay Robey walked and moved to second on a passed ball. Golmont then slapped a single to left field to score Robey.

Grayson Saves Win; Chapdelaine Loses Tough 1

Prep Baseball

DAYTONA BEACH — Lake Mary's Donald Grayson can still contribute — even if he is hitting an uncharacteristic .059. Slowed by a late start because of basketball, the 6-1 first baseman made things happen with his glove instead of his bat for the Rams Monday against Seabreeze.

With the tying run at second and two out in the seventh inning, Grayson made a brilliant diving stop on a hard hit one-hopper to his right and then scrambled to the bag to preserve a wild-and-wooly 17-16 Five Star Conference victory for Lake Mary over the Sand Crabs. "It was a great play," said Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle. "And believe me, they way Seabreeze was hitting, we needed it."

The victory keeps Lake Mary on top of the Five Star with a 4-0 record, and 9-3 overall. Apopka is 4-1-1 and Lyman is 3-1. It was the sixth straight win for the Rams who return to Daytona Beach Wednesday to play Mainland at 7:30. Tuttle said either Eric Hagen, who started Monday, or Barry Hysell would pitch.

Pitching — as Monday's final count would indicate — was not at a premium. Tuttle used three with ace Mike Schmit coming in in the sixth to pick up the save and nail down Greg Rue's first win. Hagen, who pitched a no-hitter in his last start, was roughed up for six runs in the second before giving way to Rue.

"Hagen was wild, that hurt him," said Tuttle. "I'm just glad we were swinging the bats."

Lake Mary pounded out 18 hits as freshmen flashes Ryan Lisle and Shane Letterio set the table all day. Lisle ripped two singles, a double and a triple for three runs batted in to raise his average to .396. Letterio, who has established himself at second base with the glove and

Creek's 6-Run Outburst Sinks Seminoles, 9-6

DAYTONA BEACH — Spruce Creek broke loose for six runs in the fourth inning to erase a 4-2 deficit and post a 9-6 victory over Seminole in Five Star Conference baseball Monday at City Island Park.

"It was a gift from the Lord," said Seminole coach Bobby Lundquist. "Our pitching was terrible, just terrible. We couldn't get anybody out."

As has been the case with the opposition was having trouble getting the Tribe out, too. Seminole laced 13 hits while piling up its six runs, but still left the bases loaded in both the fifth and sixth innings while losing for the fifth time in 11 games. Seminole, 2-2 in conference, goes to Lyman Wednesday for a 7:30 p.m. game. Lundquist said Brian Sheffield will probably pitch for Sanford against Lyman sophomore Byron Overstreet.

Spruce Creek, 5-7-1 and 2-2-1, jumped to a 2-0 lead before Seminole exploded for four runs in the third inning. Sheffield singled to left and Tony Cox beat out a bunt single down the third-base line. Ricky Kidd then hit a shot which the third baseman gloved but couldn't make a play on to load the bases.

Kevin Smith walked to force in one run and Brian Rogers stroked a single between short and third to chase home Cox and Kidd. When Rogers stole second, the catcher threw the ball into center field to score Dennis for a 4-0 lead.

Seminole wasted singles by Dennis, who stole his 22nd straight base, and Rogers in the fifth and then left William Wynn, Larry Thomas and Sheffield on after loading the bases with singles and no one out in the sixth.

The Tribe finally broke through in the seventh, but it was too little, too late. Rogers was hit by a pitch. James Hersey and Wynn followed with singles to load the bases. Thomas singled over shortstop for one run and Cox followed with a base hit one out later for the final tally.

"It was batting practice all day for us," said Lundquist. "We just couldn't stop them. (Starter) Hersey didn't have it and then Wynn couldn't get them out in the fourth when he came in. He pitched pretty well after that inning."

"All their bloop hits didn't help either. They must have had four of them drop in right field. They didn't hit a ball hard all day," he added.

Rogers led the Tribe at the plate with two singles and two RBI. Wynn, Thomas, Sheffield and Cox also had two hits. Cox, Thomas and Smith also drove in runs for the Tribe. — Sam Cook

A&T Coach Banks On History, Geography Tonight

United Press International
North Carolina A&T Coach Don Corbett figures his team has two things going for it in the NCAA Basketball Championships — history and geography.

The Aggies play in one of five preliminary games tonight that will be held at Philadelphia and Dayton, Ohio. The 53-team tournament climaxes with the NCCC Championship April 2.

Corbett knows the hot team has an edge in the tournament, regardless of record. That was the case with defending champion North Carolina State last year. North Carolina was the 1982 national champion, so Corbett wants to keep the title in the state for the third straight year.

"We're peaking at the right time, winning our last 10 games," he said. "It's really nice to be peaking going into the NCAA. Wasn't there another team in North Carolina that peaked about the same time last year?"

North Carolina A&T, winner of the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference, is in the tournament for the third straight year. The Aggies face Morehead (Ky.) State, and Houston Baptist meets Alcorn (Miss.) State in tonight's preliminary games at Dayton.

The triple-header at Philadelphia pits Northeastern against Long Island University, Richmond (Va.) against Rider (Lawrenceville, N.J.) and Princeton against the University of San Diego.

The first round begins March 15 and 16. The top four seeds in each region, consisting of the best teams from around the country, draw first-round byes and begin March 17 and 18.

North Carolina A&T, 22-6, is led by senior center Joe Blinton, the MEAC Player of the Year for the past three seasons who averages 21 points a game.

Ohio Valley Conference champion Morehead State, has had its best season in history, 24-5, and has won 17 of its last 18 games.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wayman Tisdale, Oklahoma's soft-shooting big man who has swept through the Plains and cut down scoring records by Wilt Chamberlain. Monday was named to United Press International's All-America team for the 1983-84 college basketball season.

The 6-foot-9, 240-pound sophomore has broken Big Eight scoring marks in his two years at Oklahoma and become the league's most dominant player since Chamberlain played at Kansas 25 years ago.

In a nationwide balloting of 238 sports writers and broadcasters, Tisdale was joined at forward by Sam Perkins of North Carolina. Michael Jordan of North Carolina and Chris Mullin of St. John's were at guard and Patrick Ewing of Georgetown was at center.

Voters were asked to name two guards, two forwards and a center. Jordan was named on 194 ballots. Tisdale received 138 votes, Perkins 125, Ewing 118 and Mullin 93.

It was the second straight year Jordan and Perkins were named to the All-America team. Perkins was the only senior on this year's squad.

The second team was guards Leon Wood of Fullerton State and Alvin Robertson of Arkansas, center Akcem Olajuwon of Houston and forwards Keith Lee of Memphis State and Michael Cage of San Diego State.

On the third team were guards Bruce Douglas of Illinois and Mark Price of Georgia Tech, center Melvin Turpin of Kentucky and forwards Devin Durrant of Brigham Young and Michael Young of Houston.

Tisdale, a native of Tulsa, Okla., averaged nearly 27 points and 10 rebounds a game in helping Oklahoma to its first Big Eight title since 1979. He ran up 810 points as a freshman and this year had 830. Tisdale also broke another conference record by Chamberlain this season, scoring 61 points against Texas-San Antonio.

General Hospital Tragedy Rivals Demise Of Raiders

Please, bear with me on this column. I'm in mourning. All I can say is, why her, why her? I'm talking about one of my favorite soap opera stars. General Hospital's Leslie Webber, better known as "Mom Leslie," who died in a car accident on Monday's show. It's the most tragic event in television since the cancellation of Hello Larry.....

A local tragedy, but not of the same magnitude, was Seminole Community College's loss to Valencia in the men's conference tournament. That ended the Junior College careers of SCC sophomores Jimmy Payton, Bernard Merthle, Delvin Everett, Jim Maher and Luis Phelps on a sour note. The Raiders recently released their "Accumulative Basketball Profile Summary," better known as stats, for the 1983-84 season.

Freshman swingman Linny Grace was SCC's leading scorer with a 14.1 average. Payton was next in line with a 13.8 average. Phelps averaged 12.1 point per game. Everett 9.6 and Merthle 8.8. The rebound leader was Phelps with a 6.7 average and Merthle pulled down 5.1 boards per game. The assist leader was Grace with a 3.9 average followed by Payton (3.2) and freshman guard Mike Tolbert (2.9)....

Turning to prep sports, there are three track events on tap today as Seminole's girls team hosts Lyman and DeLand and Lake Howell entertains Winter Park in a dual meet (both boys and girls). Another meet is the Novice Meet at Lake Brantley High (boys only). The Novice Meet is for those athletes who have yet to score a point for their team in a big meet this season.

The most impressive track performer this season so far has been Lyman's Schowonda Williams. She missed the first few meets of the season, but came back strong and is now on top in four categories in the Seminole County track honor roll. Williams has the best times in the 110 high and 330 intermediate hurdles, tied for the best in the 100 yard dash and is also in first in the long jump.

Anyone who follows Seminole County track might be wondering what happened to Trinity Prep's Adrienne Poltowicz, the top county performer in the mile and 880 run. I was beginning to wonder myself and hoped she hadn't reinjured her ankle. I was just informed, though, that Poltowicz was out of town on vacation the past two weeks....

In prep softball action today, Five Star Conference play starts as Seminole travels to Daytona Beach Mainland. Lake Mary hosts Apopka at Seminole Community College. Lyman hosts DeLand. Lake Howell hosts Spruce Creek and Lake Brantley is at Daytona Beach Seabreeze. All games are slated for 4 p.m....

Today is also known as "Super Tuesday." In politics and its almost as big as "Super Sunday" (the Super Bowl), although the position the candidates are striving for doesn't pay nearly as much as most second string quarterbacks make.

So, here are some predictions for today's Florida primary: Gary Hart (44%), Walter Mondale (40%), John Glenn (9%), Jesse Jackson (5%), George McGovern (2%).

Hillery Heads Talent-Rich All-County Team

Lake Mary's Laura Glass goes high in the air and fires a jump shot over a defender.

Herald Sports Writer

With as much talent as any area in the state, Seminole County basketball enjoyed a banner year in 1983-84 as three teams won 20 or more games. Although they were broken down into first, second and third teams, Seminole County's top 15 players could match up with the top five of most other counties.

The winningest team in the county, Sanford's Lady Seminoles, who won the Five Star Conference and were ranked eighth in the state during the regular season, also produced the county's top player as 6-2 senior center Dieldre Hillery was selected Player of the Year on the Evening Herald's 1983-84 All County Basketball team selected by the coaches and sports writers. Hillery received 138 out of a possible 140 points to earn top player honors. Seminole's Mona Benton took the honor last year.

Hillery, who said Sunday she will continue her basketball career as a Stetson Lady Hatter, was joined on the All County First Team by Lake Howell's Tammy Johnson (130 points), Lyman's Valerie Jackson (124), Lake Mary's Laura Glass (114) and Seminole's Benton (108).

Hillery was the most dominating inside player in the county as she averaged 16.2 points and a county-leading 15.0 rebounds per game. After being overlooked on the Orlando Sentinel's "Sweet 16" players list, Hillery proved her worth in a game against DeLand as she totally dominated DeLand's Brigitte Gordon, considered by many to be the top player in the state, scoring 28 points and ripping down 25 rebounds.

Johnson was one of the most versatile performers in the county as she was among the leaders in scoring, rebounding, assists and steals. The Lake Howell senior forward led the county in scoring with a 21.1 average and in steals with a 6.0 average. She also pulled down 7.4 rebounds per game and handed out 4.2 assists per game.

Jackson, who is leaning toward the University of Central Florida, was one of the best pure shooters to ever play in Seminole County and she ended a brilliant career at Lyman High by averaging 18.9 points per game, 9.0 rebounds, 3.7 assists and 2.6 steals. Jackson, a four-year starter, was also selected to represent Central Florida on the North Prep All Star team this summer.

Laura Glass, a 6-2 senior, along with twin sister Peggy, helped Lake Mary's Lady Rams to district titles at the 2A and 3A levels and a second place in the district at the 4A level this past season. Laura was consistent from the beginning of the season to the end as she averaged 13.1 points and 10.7 rebounds per game. The Glass Towers will continue their basketball careers on a full scholarship at the University of South Carolina.

Benton, a 5-8 junior guard, is another fine all around talent. She can shoot from the outside, penetrate inside and is also adept at running the offense and dishing out assists. Benton averaged 15.1 points, 6.1 assists and 3.7 rebounds per game.

The All County Second Team includes Lake Brantley's Michelle Brown (98 points), Lake Howell's Christy Scott (87), Lyman's Kim Goroum (86), Seminole's Maxine Campbell (83) and Lake Howell's Mary Johnson (78).

After a promising sophomore year, Brown continued to improve into one of the county's top players and she performed above and beyond the call of duty for the Lady Patriots in 1983-84 as a junior. After losing all of its height from a year ago, Brown, a 5-8 forward, was called on to take up a lot of the slack inside. She wound up leading the Patriots in scoring (15.0), rebounding (9.6), assists (5.2) and steals (5.6).

Scott missed the first few games of the season, but once she got in the groove, the 5-9 senior forward was a key player for Lake Howell's Lady Hawks. Scott averaged 7.7 points, 11.1 rebounds and 2.1 steals per game.

Goroum, a 5-4 point guard, much resembles Louisiana Tech's Kim Mulkey, one of the top point guards in major college women's basketball. The Lyman senior had a fine 1983-84 campaign as she averaged 11.1 points and 6.2 assists per game.

Campbell, a smooth lefthander, was a key ingredient in Seminole's Five Star Conference championship season. The 5-7 senior guard averaged 11.9 points, 3.9 assists and 3.8 steals per game.

For the second straight year Lake Howell guard Mary Johnson led the county in assists with a 6.8 average during the 83-84 season. The 5-7 senior also picked up in the scoring department as she averaged 13.4 points per game.

The All County Third Team consists of Lake Mary's Peggy Glass (75 points), Lake Brantley's Linda Nunez (60), Lake Mary's Lisa Gregory (47), Lake Mary's Andrea Fenning (41) and Lyman's Kim Forsyth and Lake Howell's Janene Brown (34 points apiece).

Peggy Glass started off a bit slow this past season, but she came on strong midway through the season to help the Lady Rams to another successful year as she averaged 10.0 points and 7.5 rebounds per game.

Nunez, a 6-5 point guard, was perhaps one of the best ballhandlers in the county. Nunez completed her senior year at Lake Brantley by averaging 13.9 points per game.

Gregory, Lake Mary's starting point guard for three years, controlled the tempo for the Lady Rams and provided stability throughout her career. She averaged 6.6 points and 5.2 assists this past season. Also one of Seminole County's top students academically, Gregory hopes to attend West Point.

Fenning, one of the most improved players in the county, stepped into the Rams' starting lineup and provided clutch outside shooting. The junior forward averaged 9.2 points per game in the 83-84 season.

Forsyth, only a sophomore, performed well inside and took up the slack when Kim Lemon was lost to grades. She averaged 11.3 points and 7.5 rebounds per game for Lyman's Lady Greyhounds in 1983-84.

Janene Brown was also one of the most improved players in 1983-84. The 6-3 senior center averaged 10.7 points and 11.8 rebounds per game.

bat (.320 average), rifled four base hits and drove in a run.

The Rams jumped to a 5-0 lead before Seabreeze erupted for a six-spot in the second. Lake Mary tacked on three more in the third before Schmit jacked a grand-slam homer to highlight a six-run fourth frame.

The blast — the Ram sophomore's third of the year — gave Lake Mary a 14-6 lead, but Seabreeze came back with three runs in the fourth and fifth and two more in the sixth to pull within 17-14.

Lake Mary's deciding runs came in the sixth when Letterio singled and Scott Underwood followed with a base hit to left which got past the left fielder allowing Letterio to scamper home. Underwood then scored on Ron Natherson's ground ball to first base.

Along with the freshmen hitting heroes, the Rams received three hits from Hysell, two singles and two ribbles from Underwood and two safeties from Rod Metz. Eight Sand Crab errors didn't hurt either.

Lake Brantley's Patriots also journeyed to Volusia County Monday, but with drastically different results. While the Rams and Crabs were swinging from the heels Monday, Brantley and DeLand were locked up in a tight pitching duel.

DeLand's Randy Rood outdueled the Patriots' Kenny Chapdelaine and came away with a 2-1 Five Star Conference victory at DeLand's Conrad Park.

"Kenny pitched another great game," said Lake Brantley coach Gary Smith about his sophomore righthander. "He used his curves and sliders effectively, but he just got up with his fastball a little bit that one inning."

The inning was the third when DeLand, 8-3 and 2-2, took a 2-0 edge on two singles and a bloop triple by Rood down the right-field line, which hit near the foul line and bounced crazily to the right to score both runs.

Pinckes, another talented sophomore, also had the defensive play of the night in the fourth when he dove to his left to stop a smash, straightened up and threw out the runner.

Sophomore Beams led the Patriots with a single and a double to lift his average over .500 for the year and take over the county leadership in that department.

Alter the rocky start, though, Livernols was tough. He struck out seven of the next 12 hitters and finished with eight strikeouts. He didn't give up a run until the sixth when John Canfield played Gomont with a base hit up the middle.

Lyman, meanwhile, scratched out a couple of runs in the third against Lake Howell starter Lang. Overstreet reached on an error and Odom walked. Before Drinkwater fanned, both runners moved up on a wild pitch. Henley followed with a fly ball to right to score Overstreet. Paul Alegre then ripped a single to right to chase home Odom and cut the lead to 3-2.

Lang, who fanned nine while going the first seven innings, was the victim of some shoddy fielding which sent the game into the extra inning.

In the seventh, Lang walked Odom but struck out Drinkwater and got Henley on a slow roller to first base. Alegre, however, scorched a liner to left for a double to score Odom and keep the Greyhounds alive. Livernols then hit a routine grounder to Golmont at third. His throw to first was a tad high, but Roberts couldn't handle it for an error which allowed Alegre to score the tying run.

Alegre led Lyman at the plate with a double and a single good for two RBI. Golmont had three singles and a walk for the Hawks and scored twice. Lang's home run was his third of the year and his county-leading 12th and 13th runs batted in.

Lake Brantley, 4-6 and 1-3, hosts Lake Howell Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. Smith said lefty Brad Dunn will be on the mound. Van Golmont will probably get the nod for Lake Howell.

In And Around Longwood

Sertoma Club Sponsors 'Freedom' Essay Contest

During the latter part of February, members of the Longwood Sertoma Club presented a special program on this country's national heritage to four area middle schools.

The program focused on the freedom enjoyed in this country, what it means to be an American, and to promote interest and understanding in the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

The "message of freedom" was carried to the fifth graders at the four schools by Sertoma members Chuck Fleischer, chairman of "Freedom Week," and committee members Carmine Bravo Rod Cable, and Dr. Bill Armstrong.

While speaking to the students on the freedom Americans have, the students were challenged to take part in an essay contest on "What Freedom Means To Me," stating their own personal views on freedom.

Following judging by the committee members, one winner will be chosen from each of the schools, with one overall winner in the essay contest. Winners from each school will receive a $25.00 Savings Account, and the overall winner a $50.00 Savings Bond. A special luncheon will be held for the winners, and awards given at that time.

The South Seminole Garden Club will meet on Monday, March 19, 1:00 p.m. at the Longwood Woman's Club building, 150 West Church St.

Special guest speaker will be Lee Ward from Poole & Fuller Nursery in Maitland. Lee will present a program titled "Something Interesting."

Chairman for the meeting will be Hazel Williamson, assisted by Betty Davis. All area residents are invited to attend.

Karen Warner

The Sabal Palm Garden Club met on March 7 at the Wekiva Presbyterian Church. Guest speaker was Ed Lachara from the Flower Mart in the Longwood Village Shopping Center.

Ed demonstrated the new and inexpensive garden look in flower arrangements, using little greenery and a few unusual flowers. His arrangements suggested the growth of flowers in a more natural setting, opposed to the more formal arranged look.

The Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club met on March 12 at the First Baptist Church of Sweetwater.

Bill Beck of the Springs Studio presented the art of flower arranging using the natural materials found in most back yards. Highlights of the meeting included Bill's sharing the differences between floral services such as FTD, and Teleflora.

Mr. Beck is a floral designer/consultant, and has had many years experience as a set designer for motion picture studios such as Paramount and United Artist.

Rock Lake Middle School's assistant principal Richard Rost has announced that three Rock Lake students have just received the Seminole Youth Sports Association Scholastic Award. Winners were Brent Gill, Rusty Swain, and Kathy Phillips.

Kristen Merkle, another student, received the "Most Outstanding Student" award from the Optimist Club.

School guidance counselor Joan Shalls has been elected as president of the Florida Personnel and Guidance Association, an organization which represents all Florida state counselors.

Social studies teacher, Barbara Foster, has been elected as president of the Seminole County Council for Social Studies, while Mrs. Elliott, another social studies teacher, has received the Outstanding Service Award from the Kiwanis Club. Congratulations to them all.

The Longwood Sertoma Club recently welcomed nine new members to the club. During their membership drive, the following new members were accepted: Bill Blackton, Jim Brown, Ray Kaye, Les Lacey, Don Noltee, Larry Palombi, Clifton Robertson, Frank Squillante, and Cecil Barkley. Welcome to the club!

The Longwood/Lake Mary Lioness Club has made plans for an old fashioned "Southern Ball" on March 17, at the Eustis Civic Center. Tickets are limited to the first 200 people.

The ball will include dining on southern favorites like black-eyed peas, sweet potatoes and ham, with a dance following. Lioness members are planning to dress in Southern Belle long flowing dresses and re-live the Old South.

The ball is being held in celebration of the first year anniversary of the district 35-0 for the club. Ticket cost for the evening is $10.00 per person. The ball starts at 7:00 p.m. For more information or tickets contact Lioness Regional Director Lois Workman at 831-2740 before 2:00 p.m. weekdays.

Reader's Problem Dries Up

DEAR ABBY: I think I can help "Dripping Wet in Pa..." who perspired so severely that she had embarrassing "rings" on her clothes that reached down to her waist.

I had the same problem and had to use two sets of dress shields at once, which weren't enough most of the time. At work I would make frequent trips to the restroom to stuff Kleenex under my arms!

I finally asked my doctor if he knew of anything to relieve excessive underarm perspiration, and he wrote a prescription for Drysol. Any pharmacist can make it up; the formula is in his pharmacist's book.

There are instructions to follow, and a warning: People who have a sensitivity or allergy to aluminum chloride shouldn't use it. Also, it shouldn't be used on recently broken, irritated, or shaven skin.

I hope this helps. For me it was a miracle that changed my life!

DRY AT LAST IN ARIZONA

DEAR DRY: I rarely recommend a product, but because so many readers wrote to praise Drysol, I feel compelled to do so. It's manufactured by Person and Covey Inc. in Glendale, Calif. 91201, and a doctor's prescription is required to obtain it.

DEAR ABBY: I know my husband loves me, but for some strange reason he seems to get pleasure out of scaring me.

One morning at 4 o'clock he suddenly threw his whole body on top of mine, awakening me out of a sound sleep. I was terrified, thinking I was being attacked. I screamed! He thought it was funny. He will often sneak up behind me and grab me, or surprise me with a loud, sudden noise.

What's with him? I've asked him to quit it, but he says I'm a poor sport because I can't take a joke. Abby, these so-called jokes scare the living daylight out of me, and he knows it. Am I in the wrong or is he?

STARTLED WIFE

DEAR WIFE: He is. His repeated "jokes" have not been coming from love — they are hostile acts, thinly disguised as childish pranks. If he continues playing this cruel game after you've asked him to quit, you qualify as an abused wife. Color him cruel, with a touch of yellow.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because you are responsible for this problem.

I am a newlywed widower, age 77, and my bride is 70. She is my second wife and I am her fifth husband. [The Lord released her from her first two and the judge released her from her last two.]

The problem is she cannot understand why I need to sleep alone. Tears and arguments follow when I try to leave her and go into another room to sleep.

That is not to say that we never share a bed. We do. But when it comes to sleeping, I must have my own bed. I am a very restless sleeper who changes positions often, and I feel inhibited from moving if I have to worry about disturbing a bedpartner.

I also snore. And when I tried to explain it to my bride, she said, "Dear Abby said, 'Snoring is the sweetest music this side of heaven. Ask any widow.'" Abby, did you really say that?

TROUBLED BRIDEGROOM

DEAR TROUBLED: I plead guilty as charged.

[Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.]

Bud and Florence Baker Can Take Care Of All Your Insurance Needs

Baker Agency Associated With O'Neil, Lee, & West

As a division of O'Neil, Lee and West Insurance Agency of Orlando, the Bud Baker Insurance Agency of 101-B W. First St., Sanford, can now offer more people more kinds of coverage.

A preferred risk agency since it opened in Sanford in 1980, the Baker Agency last year became an independent agency associated with O'Neil, Lee and West, one of the Orlando area's most well-established insurance agencies.

As a multi-line independent agent, Bud Baker can provide insurance coverage for any and everybody, not just those who qualify for preferred risk.

He can help his clients shop for the best deal for their particular needs from among the companies available through O'Neil, Lee, and West. These include such reputable companies as CNA, INA, The Travelers, Hartford, American States, Safeco, and Crum & Forster.

While association with a larger firm provides benefits for their clients, the Baker Agency is still basically a "mom and pop" agency as far as personalized service for their customers is concerned as the office is operated by Bud and his wife, Florence.

O'Neil, Lee, and West is a leader in agricultural insurance for farms and groves and also its expertise in commercial liability for all kinds of businesses, stores, and gas stations is available to the Bud Baker Agency.

In addition to car and liability insurance Baker offers homeowners, workman's compensation, bonds, life and health insurance with varied markets within the product line.

Bud still welcomes the non-drinker and other preferred risk clients and can offer them the best rates, but he can now write policies for those who qualify for standard and non-standard company coverage as well. "We try to fit clients into the category that will do the best job for them," explained Bud.

The agency is still heavily involved in working with churches and church-related groups in making sure they have the proper coverage.

Before you buy or renew insurance on your auto, home, business or mobile home, contact Bud Baker and compare coverage and cost. The office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call 322-0501 for a quote.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 14, 1984
Don't become discouraged if your big plans are subjected to a few snags this coming year. They'll survive the entanglements and work out well in the long run.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Significant objectives can be achieved today if you take the necessary steps. It will weigh heavily on your mind if you're able to do so — and don't. The areas in which you'll be the luckiest are revealed in your Astro-Graph year-ahead predictions for Pisces. To get yours, mail $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) When allowed to be yourself, your winning ways will prevail today. However, if forced to cater to others, you may not come off with equal sincerity.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's best that you and your mate do not air your disagreements in the presence of others today. It could embarrass everyone, including yourselves.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't impulsively enter into agreements today. Upon further study, you may see you made bum deals and will want to wriggle out.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're rather ingenuous today in figuring out ways to add to your resources, yet there's a possibility you might not know how to solidify your gains.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) All will work out well for you today in situations where you don't take yourself too seriously. When you lose the light-hearted approach, the tide may turn.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have what it takes to overcome challenging conditions today, provided you don't let your own negative thoughts defeat you.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There's a possibility a friend's folly could cost you money today. When operating in tandem, don't let your pal do anything erratic.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Conditions look promising today careerwise, but you must be careful not to step on the toes of others in order to achieve your aims.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have the ability to accurately judge the probable outcome of events today, yet you might ignore your insights and do something counterproductive.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Persons with whom you're involved in joint ventures today may lack your business acumen. Don't let them make any moves without first consulting you.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try to share today with friends whose love and warmth you enjoy. Avoid associating with cold, unemotional types, even if you think they can help you.

Oral Contraceptives Best For The Young

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have an 11-year-old daughter who has had regular monthly menstrual cycles for the last six months. This early age runs in the family. When I was 13 I became pregnant with her in junior high school. My daughter will be entering junior high school next year and I'd like to prevent her from having an early pregnancy.

She has seen several physicians, but I want your opinion. DEAR READER — I'm a little old-fashioned and think young people shouldn't engage in sex at such a tender age. There are a lot of emotional experiences involved. The pill can't possibly solve all those adjustments, even if it does prevent an unwanted pregnancy. Engaging in sex with another person should be delayed until people are emotionally and intellectually mature enough to know what they're doing. Physiological maturity may have little to do with emotional and intellectual maturity.

From a biological point of view, however, I think oral contraceptives are probably the best. There are too many problems with intrauterine devices and other temporary methods of birth control are not as reliable as oral contraceptives.

In light of new information on hormones, oral contraceptives really pose few dangers and even offer some pluses.

Young people should realize oral contraceptives don't protect against venereal disease or herpes.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 31 and a recent pap smear came back Class III. My gynecologist did a biopsy and told me I had classic condyloma. He told me he could freeze the cervix, do a cone biopsy or remove the cervix and uterus.

I decided to start with freezing. He told me this was unreliable, but if I wanted to keep my fertility I could start with this. My decision was not based on keeping my fertility, but on my desire to avoid major surgery if possible.

DEAR READER — Some people would call condylomas moist warts. When they're present on the cervix, the small flat area can't be differentiated from cancer without doing a biopsy. I presume from your letter that the biopsy revealed you had moist warts. These are caused by a common virus. They may develop during pregnancy because of increased secretions. The warm, moist environment seems to be conducive to their occurrence.

You probably made the right decision. Many gynecologists remove such lesions with freezing. The process is called cryosurgery and it's used to remove abnormal tissues with freezing rather than with cutting. Doctors who use this technique report a very high success rate. And if recurrences of the lesions occur, the treatment can be repeated, improving the success rate even more.

These moist warts are not cancerous.

don't look formidable. He checks their convention card to see that they play five-card majors. Then he follows with his higher spade to his partner's spade lead. South wins the trick, leads a heart and plays dummy's nine. Mike takes his 10 and wonders what is going on. South surely has only a four-card heart suit. Could South have mistaken the ace of diamonds for the ace of hearts? Possibly, so Mike leads back his second spade.

No such luck. South wins the spade, draws trumps (he did have only four hearts), cashes the good spades and his ace of clubs, and leads a second club. He fineses the jack to set up an unneeded discard of a diamond on dummy's club king, loses two diamonds and makes four-odd for a normal result.

Needless to say, Mike is upset. South made a horrible play in trumps, which didn't cost him, and then took that practice finesse in clubs.

A practice finesse is one taken just to see if fineses are working. It will cost a trick if it loses and will gain nothing if it wins.

We continue Mike Lawrence's saga of the Masters Pairs. This time he sits East and holds a really bad hand. Mike explains that there is nothing you can do with such hands except hope that your opponents will misbid or misplay. Anyway, he is encouraged by the fact that he doesn't know this pair and they
