Commission OKs soup settlement

Plaintiffs now say agreement is no longer acceptable

By Bill Korme
Staff Writer

SANFORD — The legal battles continue regarding the operation of a soup kitchen in downtown Sanford.

The Sanford City Commission on Monday approved a mediation settlement between Seminole Volunteer Enterprises and historic district residents who filed a lawsuit aimed at stopping a downtown soup kitchen from operating. The settlement is now subject to court approval.

However, the seven historic district plaintiffs are filing a contempt of court complaint against the city, saying that the settlement should have been approved two weeks ago or not at all. The plaintiffs said they will no longer accept the settlement.

"At this point in time, as a result of the protracted legal issues we've had to go through, we are no longer willing to go with the agreement," said Linda Kuhn, whose husband Robert Kuhn is among the plaintiffs.

Clifford Gorenflo, an attorney representing the plaintiffs, will file a motion of contempt in the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit Court today, according to lead plaintiff Joe DeSantis.

"We are tired of the political games some commissioners are playing with this issue," said DeSantis. "They could have accepted this two weeks ago. Once again, it's known issues."

DeSantis also said that the plaintiffs felt they were pressured into the March 30 mediation settlement by the city.

The motion of contempt charges that by approving the mediation settlement on Monday, the city has altered a development order passed Nov. 2, which allowed Seminole Volunteer Enterprises to serve meals despite a lack of parking spaces. The plaintiffs' suit is seeking an injunction against the development order.

On April 11, Circuit Judge Thomas

City may create monument to honor veterans

By Bill Korme
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sanford may create a monument honoring war veterans at Memorial Park.

A date for construction of the monument has not been set, although Sanford Mayor Larry Dale said he hopes a monument could be in place at Memorial Park on the water-front this summer.

"I think that would be an appropriate place," Dale said. "This is why we set the park aside. I think we will have a bronze soldier on a solid granite base."

The City Commission on Monday discussed the possibility of contracting a company to build a monument honoring war veterans. Several companies have given the city cost estimates regarding the construction of a monument.

The estimates for a six-foot bronze soldier range from $40,000 to $50,000, depending upon the details requested in the project.

Other generic art pieces can be created to honor all veterans if the City Commission does not wish to designate a specific war or branch of service. Marble monuments are available, however, all vendors said that marble is a porous stone

'Into God's loving care'

Rev. Reuscher's message of victory and hope

By Bill Korme

Weekend it was for the Rev. E.A. Reuscher, a thoughtful and soulful man who celebrated the Resurrection of Christ with his Lutheran congregation while wrestling with the tragic death of a beloved parishioner, A.A. "Mac" McClanahan.

On Sunday, Reuscher delivered the traditional victory message of Easter — that he who believes in Christ will never die.

On Monday, Reuscher needed to affirm the Easter message with those who came to give their last respects to Sanford Commissioner, servant and statesman, McClanahan.

"There's an old saying that goes, 'There are some things in life that are worse than death,'" Reuscher said. "I believe 'Mac' experienced some of that in the last weeks of his life. And many people did try to help him deal with his pain, but did not have it in their power to do so."

The pastor said he knew for 30 years. Yes, he was one of those who had spoken to "Mac" in the last days and hours of his life.

"As so many others had tried to do, I tried, also," the Rev. Reuscher said after the service for McClanahan, who took his own life at 74. The last hours were horrendous to everyone who cared but could not help — family, friends and the loving pastor.

"We now commit 'Mac' into God's loving care," Pastor

Reuscher said Monday. "Death does not have the last word. We believe that the Word Incarnate has the final word — a word of victory and hope."

Rev. Reuscher reminded those at the funeral service that the first item on the agenda of the early church was to proclaim the Resurrection of God's Son.

"Up and down the Mediterranean world they went — not with a Bible under their arms — but with the message of the Risen Savior in their hearts and on their lips: Jesus Christ is alive."

Neighborhood groups begin watching out for crime

By Bill Korme

Staff Writer

SANFORD — Louie and Andrea Fine almost moved away from Sanford because they were tired of dealing with crime.

Four times in the last three years, the Fines dealt with theft. A riding lawnmower and a generator have been stolen. That is changing, however. The Fines are among a group of about 30 neighbors who are working with police to form a Neighborhood Watch group.

Their neighborhood consists of a one-mile radius from the intersection of Mellonville Avenue and 20th Street. The Fines live on Mellonville Avenue.

"It's exciting to be a part of something like this," Andrea Fine said. "A lot of neighbors are interested, and that's important. The police can't do it by themselves."

The Fines addressed the Sanford City Commission last month regarding crime. Since then, their Mellonville Avenue home has hosted two neighborhood meetings, attended by about 30 neighbors, City Commissioner Brady Lessard and Police Chief Brian Tooley.

They hope to have an active Neighborhood Watch within four weeks.

"Many people in the neighborhood are committed to working with us, and we're working with them," Tooley said. "The Citizen Patrols are going to become active in the area, and we welcome that."

Meanwhile, Tooley plans to decrease crime in the city through increased cooperation with the community, including enhanced Neighborhood Watch programs.

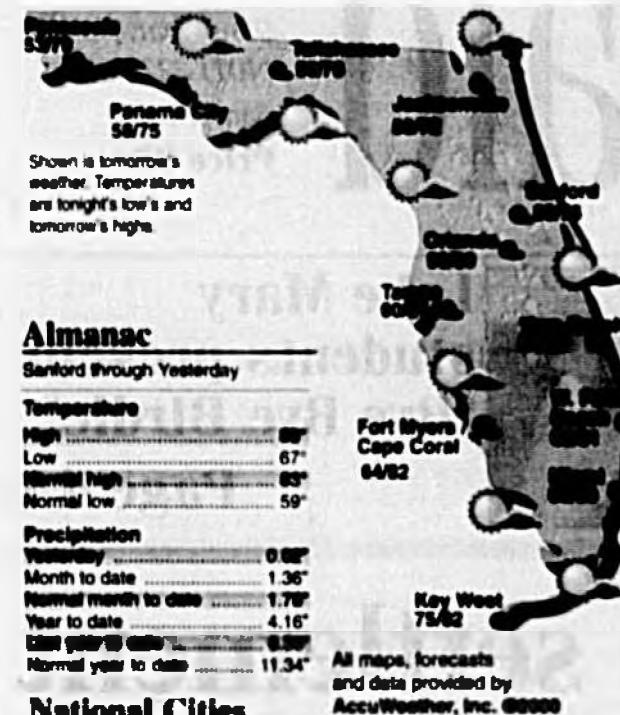

"I'd like to see all the Neighborhood Watches revitalized and get as much community involvement as possible," Tooley said.

Since speaking with Tooley about their concerns, Andrea

Research into drug prevention brings Spanish delegation to Seminole County

By Bill Kornis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — A delegation from Spain visited Seminole and Orange counties last week to learn about drug prevention and enforcement programs in the area.

The U.S. Department of State recommended that the delegation visit the two counties on a fact-finding mission because Seminole and Orange are on the cutting edge of innovative drug treatment and prevention programs, officials said.

In addition, investigators also discussed drug enforcement tactics of special units assigned to combat the drug trade.

"They are very interested in what we are doing with drug abuse and alcohol abuse," said Seminole County Sheriff Don Eddings. "So, we are showing them our programs."

Topics discussed with the delegation include initiatives to reduce juvenile drug use, how non-profit organizations organize to combat drug use,

The members were part of a panel appointed by the Government of Spain. They visited Washington, D.C., and Central Florida to learn about the latest trends in treatment, rehabilitation, prevention and educational programs at the federal, state and local levels.

Spain is struggling to deal with HIV-infected drug users.

Adolescents are becoming a target population for drug use.

Presentations were also made regarding juvenile crime, enforcement and intervention, and undercover operations conducted by the City-County Investigative Bureau.

Meanwhile, in Orange County, the delegation visited programs operated through the Center for Drug Free Living, the Orange County Sheriff's Office, and the school district.

Demonstration Gardens used as tools for teaching students

Teaching gardening to kids is always an interesting subject for all who believe that gardening can be a tool to teach students about the relationships between the environment and ourselves. For this purpose, the Seminole County Master Gardener volunteers developed the idea of a series of gardens that we call Demonstration Gardens that can be used as laboratories to teach students about plants and the environment.

The gardens are located in the back of the Student Museum.

Who Sponsors The Gardens?
The Demonstration Gardens is a cooperative project of the Seminole County Extension Office's Master Gardener Volunteers Program and the University of Florida working together with the School Board of Seminole County.

What are Demonstration Gardens?
The term Demonstration Gardens is used to designate several different areas that teach about a particular subject but integrated in a general garden environment. For instance, the Pioneer Garden consists of food and other crops used by early settlers of Florida in their gardens. The plants were used to provide food and materials used for daily living.

The Wildflower Garden shows the cycles of seeding, growing, blooming, decline and renewal over the seasons.

There is a Butterfly Garden that is used to observe the role butterflies play in our environment and the butterflies that feed on How Many Students Visit The Museum And Gardens?

During the period from August 1998 to March 1999, nearly 3,000 students experienced many aspects of the gardens. It is estimated that more than 5,000 students visit the museum and gardens every year.

Students visiting the museum and gardens are primarily from the fourth grade, but upper grades also visit the museum and middle and high school students also visit the museum for specific projects.

The Student Museum

The museum is a teaching laboratory with six exhibit rooms for the social studies providing hands-on activities. It has a typical turn of the century classroom, a geography room, a pioneer and early inhabitants rooms and a series of photographs showing the changes of the city of Sanford.

A school visit includes a guided walk through the Demonstration Gardens to learn about growing food, plants, bugs, habitats, and our relationship with plants.

Visiting The Museum
The museum is located at 250 W. County Home Road, Sanford, FL 32773 or phone 407-885-5554. Al Ferrer, County Extension Service, is the contact person for the demonstration gardens.

DEAR ABBY: Would you be willing to inform your readers of the publication of a book of importance to everyone of us? Jessica Mitford's "The American Way of Death Revisited." This book, a revised edition of a 1963 version, does a tremendous service in informing Americans about the practices of the funeral industry into whose hands we all must ultimately fall. It describes in detail the means employed by that industry to separate us from our money just at a point when, through the sorrow and confusion attendant upon a death in the family, we are least prepared to think clearly.

Mitford's book—which is eminently readable—is available in a paperback edition for just $14.

Every family should have access to it. Every minister should read and act upon it. Every retirement home, church and synagogue library should keep a copy available to loan out to its members.

Preplanning (but not prepaying) for funeral needs, based on the sort of information Ms. Mitford presents, is something every American family should do as soon as possible.

JOHN B. GABLE,

DUBLIN, OHIO

DEAR JOE: When Jessica Mitford's book, "The American Way of Death," was first printed in 1963, it was a bombshell—and remained on the best-seller list for a year. Before it was printed, many grieving families would plunge themselves into debt to pay for lavish funerals they could ill afford because they felt that the amount of money that was spent on their final farewell was an indication of how much they loved the deceased.

How absurd! After that book was published, Americans realized they could pay tribute to their loved ones and bury them with low-cost, dignified funerals without experiencing guilt or embarrassment.

Readers looking for a simple and inexpensive funeral should write to the Funeral Consumer's Alliance, P.O. Box 10, Hinesburg, VT 05461. The alliance has been a reliable resource for many years, and I'm pleased to recommend them.

For everything you need to know about wedding planning, order "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope plus check or money order for $195 ($4.50 in Canada) to Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 417, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0417. (Postage is included.)

and susceptible to the elements.
They recommended granite over marble.

The city may seek to fund the project through private donations. In Orlando, the Veterans of the Battle of the Bulge committee was formed to spearhead a war memorial project and raised all the funds to purchase the statue. The city assisted with landscaping, lights, irrigation and the installation of fundraising bricks that were sold.

"If the Commission decides to seek private funding, the time frame for when the memorial could be built would depend upon how quickly the community mobilizes," said Sanford City Manager Tony VanDerworp.

Sanford resident Nell Snow has long been asking the City Commission to approve building a memorial in honor of WWII veterans. She said that while she is pleased by the plans to build a monument, but she would like to see the memorial be placed at Ft. Mellon Park.

"My proposal was just World War II because that was the defining moment for the US and the world," Snow said. "You could also have a plaque for each of the other wars, with a list of the names for those who died."

City Commissioner Whitey Eckstein said that the wars fought in Vietnam and Korea should be included in a monument which honors WWII service.

"We have a history that is ongoing and Vietnam is part of that history," Eckstein said. "The real history of Sanford is not just World War II."

Mayor Dale said that he favors a war memorial with a bronze soldier which does not specify a branch of service or the war being fought.

"I'm all for a war veterans monument," Dale said. "I'm not sure that we should get carried away over what war they fought in. They were brave, no matter what war they fought in."

Meanwhile, in a separate project, a vintage World War II era plane and a plaque may be placed at the Orlando Sanford Airport in a memorial to the airport's heritage as a Naval Training Station.

From 1942 through 1967, the airport served as a U.S. Naval Training Station. The proposed memorial will honor those who lost their lives during training exercises at the base, and others who died while fighting foreign wars.

Officials estimate that the cost of acquiring an airplane and shipping it to the airport could be about $100,000.

Settlement

Freeman issued a 90-day temporary injunction prohibiting the city from altering the Nov. 2 development order.

The mediation settlement, agreed to by the plaintiffs and Seminole Volunteer Enterprises on March 30, limited the number of persons fed on site meals at SVE to 50 per day. Meals could only be served Monday, Tuesday and Friday from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Previously, meals were served three times per week for up to 100 people at a time, without time limits.

The City Commission on April 10 failed to approve the settlement. The motion to approve by Commissioner Whitey Eckstein failed to pass without a second.

This time, the motion to accept the settlement passed 3-1, with Brady Lessard in opposition. Lessard represents the historic district, and has consistently opposed the development order passed Nov. 2.

Commissioner Velma Williams said she had always favored the mediation settlement, although she did not second the motion on April 10. She was concerned that the matter would wind up in a 2-2 tie on April 10 with Mayor Larry Dale and Lessard in opposition.

Dale said that although he would have voted in opposition on April 10, he now approved of the settlement because he believes it is time for the matter to be resolved. However, he said he still thinks the Nov. 2 development order should not have been approved.

"I find myself now feeling truly perplexed because I thought there was an agreement reached that day (March 30)," Dale said. "There comes a time when we have to move on."

In addition, Dale said that his thoughts were on the late City Commissioner A.A. "Mac" McClanahan, whose burial services were held earlier Monday.

McClanahan was a strong supporter of the soup kitchen being allowed to operate. He also had said he favored the mediation settlement, although he was unable to attend the April 10 meeting because of poor health.

"Were he here tonight, we all know that this would pass," Dale said. "I think it's time to heal and to move on."

Meanwhile, Jean Metts, director of Seminole Volunteer Enterprises, said she is anxious to resume serving meals. The non-profit agency operates a meal program and food pantry at 407 W. 4th Street.

No meals have been served since a temporary injunction was issued by the Circuit Court in March, pending mediation. The food pantry continued to operate.

"I'll be glad to start serving people again," Metts said. "I think it's time to move on, and I admire (Dale) for saying that."

The city will still enforce a temporary injunction granted on April 11 by Judge Freeman, prohibiting Seminole Volunteer Enterprises from serving meals, said City Attorney William Colbert.

"The mediation settlement does not effect the temporary injunction," Colbert said.

SVE distributes commodities Wednesday

Seminole Volunteer Enterprises, Inc. and the Department of Agriculture will distribute USDA food commodities Wednesday, April 26, from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. at 407 West Fourth Street in Sanford.

This program is available to anyone who meets the rules for acceptance and participation which are the same for everyone without regard to race, national origin, age, sex or handicap. Eligibility will be based on total household income not in excess of the state established maximum percentage of the poverty line for the appropriate household size.

Items to be distributed include canned apricots, egg noodles, peanut butter, canned pork and canned vegetable soup.

FWC approves new rules for hunters in 2000

TALLAHASSEE - The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) approved new rules for hunters during its three-day meeting in Tallahassee.

The FWC established harvest units for this year's public water's alligator harvest and deleted wild hogs from the list of game animals on the Blackwater WMA.

The measure legalizes hog hunting during small game season, as well as during general gun, archery, muzzleloader and archery/muzzleloader seasons on the area.

Regarding other wildlife issues, Commissioners passed a new rule to clarify the definition of a bow to prohibit the use of devices, during archery season, which mechanically hold the bowstring in the drawn and ready-to-release position.

The new rule does not prohibit mechanical release devices which require the hunter to rely on his own strength to draw and hold the bowstring.

Another new rule provides for new caging requirements, buffer zone requirements

and space requirements for facilities which obtain permits to keep certain dangerous animals in captivity after July 1.

The FWC passed a rule to establish a recreational use permit fee of $140 per year and establish a quota of 325 permits for Champion

International WMA and established a $98 permit

fee and quota of 600 permits for the new Flint Rock

WMA.

Also, Commissioners

revised rules for special-opportunity hunts and general regulations and quotas

for wildlife management areas.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

It seems awfully early to begin thinking about hunting season, but it is just around the corner in the low country of South Carolina with an August 15 start-up date.

FISHING FORECAST

Sebastian Inlet has good catch-and-release snook action with fish to over 20 pounds, as well as trout, redfish, and a few flounder. Large live shrimp or finger mullet are the top baits.

River action is still good for bass from 1-5 pounds. The stretch from Puzzle Lake south to Hatbill Park is really hot due to extremely low water levels. All bass are in the main river channel, where they will readily hit small Rapalas. Bream

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - The No. 1 seeded Lake Brantley boys used a swarming second half defense to shut down a talented Flagler-Palm Coast squad from Bunnell and came away with the Florida Conference District 4 Lacrosse championship Saturday at Tom Story Field.

The Patriot Defense held the Bulldogs to two second half goals and only nine shots on goal.

The Lake Brantley defense was led by Seminole Athletic Conference and Regional all-star senior Shaun LeBlanc; Senior John Kenna, whose coverage held Flagler-Palm Coast star Brian Kaznocha to no goals during the entire contest; and Junior Blake Anderson, who was relentless in take-away checks and cleared the ball up the field to the waiting and hungry Patriots attackmen.

Senior all-star and All-American candidate Shawn Quinn pumped in four goals and had one assist for Lake Brantley, which brings his season totals to 72 goals and 40 assists for 112 points.

His partner on attack, senior all-star Seth Ate, contributed three goals, while Paktin, Schlagheck and Favero chipped in with one goal each.

Senior goalie Brian Hummel made nine saves on 15 shots on goal for the Patriots.

Cantanno led the Bulldogs (9-5) with three goals, while Logan scored twice and Raby once.

Lake Brantley's season record now stands at 15-2 and it will face the winner of tonight's (Tuesday) District 3 final between No. 3 seeded Oviedo and No. 4 seeded Winter Springs on Thursday in the Regionals.

The Lions and Bears will meet at Winter Springs High School starting at 7 p.m.

The No. 1 seeded Lake Howell girls also wrapped up the District 3 Championship, surviving a 13-12 overtime battle with No. 2 seeded Winter Springs at Richard L. Evans Field.

Novello poured in seven goals for the Silver Hawks, with Farb helping out with three scores. Reeves, High and Durnam found the back of the goal once each for Lake Howell.

The Silver Hawks will take on the winner of tonight's District 3 championship between No. 1 Lake Brantley and No. 3 Flagler-Palm Coast from Bunnell in the Regionals on Thursday.

The Patriots and Bulldogs square off at Tom Story Field beginning at 7 p.m.

In other district championships from Saturday, the Winter Park Wildcats (12-3) upset top-seeded Bishop Moore (13-4), 10-5, to win the Boys' District 2 crown and will face the District 1 winner in the regionals.

Cypress Creek was to meet the winner of a Colonial-West Orange match-up for the District 1 title.

Winter Park's girls also won the District 2 championship, outscoring Bishop Moore, 10-5, to earn a regional spot opposite the District 1 champion.

Boone was to face the winner of the Sebastian River and West Orange for that district crown.

The district winners will all advance to regional play on Thursday (April 27th) and Friday (April 28th) with the Regional Champions advancing to the State Championship Game opposite the South Regional winners at Disney's Wide World of Sports complex on Saturday, May 13th.
