A motorist who left a bar and drove the wrong way onto U.S. Highway 17-92 Saturday night struck and killed a Sanford motorcyclist.

The driver was initially charged with driving under the influence and other charges may be brought. According to the Florida Highway Patrol, Patrick A. Stephen, 25, of 2404 Myrtle Ave., was northbound on U.S. Highway 17-92 at about 11:15 p.m. when his motorcycle was hit by a car head-on. The car was traveling south in a northbound lane two-tenths of a mile south of Airport Boulevard.

Stephen was pronounced dead at the scene.

After five years of research into blind mosquitoes at Sanford, the program is coming to an end.

Dr. John Darby, head of the University of Florida's Agriculure Reascarch and Education Center in Sanford, said today the Legislature will not fund the research program any further.

But, additional research may not be necessary. "We have found some simple solutions to at least part of the midge problem." he said. And either the city or county government will most likely have to implement some type of solutions quickly. Dr. Arshad All, who has been conducting the research at the center at 2700 E. Celery Ave., is predicting, from his knowledge of the blind mosquito cycle, that the insect "will swoop" into the Saaford downtown in hordes next summer. Darby said. At about the same time Ali will be leaving the area.

All said today that among the simple and relatively inexpensive ways of to control the midge are: • Dim lights along the lakefront and at businesses near Darby said the research is being phased out because the Legislature did not include funding for the work as a line item in the budget.

Owens said he was angered that the driver of the car that hit Stephen's motorcycle "can get out with just $500 bond. This is a serious malfunction of the judicial system."

But a Seminole County jail spokesperson said the $500 bond Albritton posted is just the standard bond set for persons charged with driving under the influence. If other charges are brought, Albritten may have additional bond to meet.

Stephen, who was a member of the choir at First Baptist Church in Sanford, had previously worked for Custom Installations of Lake Mary and Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory In Port Charlotte.

expected to decide today whether they want to pay $50,000 for maintenance dredging in the west basin of Lake Monroe.

But City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles, in a written report to the commission, says the Monroe Marina functions do not generate enough revenue to support further municipal funds being invested.

In fact, he says, the combined marina-motel operation is not generating sufficient revenue to defray even the interest costs.

Commissioners are scheduled to discuss the issue at 7 p.m. In city hall, 300 N. Park Ave.

In addition to the dredging costs. Knowles says the city would have to provide an area to hold the 10,000 cubic yards of dirt to be removed from the lake and ultimately dispose of the soil in some fashion.

Knowles is also seeking an answer to the question of whether the commission wants to undertake a solution to beach crosion at the marina, estimated to cost another $107,000.

In a written report to the commission. Knowles noted that dredging in the cast basin is expected to be completed by Sept.

It's Not Over Yet

Sanford city commissioners are 15. The commission earlier agreed that the city would reimburse Charles Volk, marina operator, for the $67,000 cost by waiving the lease fee for the property at the rate of $10,000 per year.

The original plan was to create "spoil dikes" (dikes containing soil removed from the floor of the lake during dredging) on the existing beach areas with the city shaping the beach and removing the excess spoil to its trash landfill on Art Lane. A small section at the northeast corner of the paved parking lot was to be used in the original plan for temporary storage of the spoll.

However, while Knowles was away on vacation in late July, the plans were changed at the request of the state Department of Environmental Regulation and the entire north area of the parking lot was diked for use as the spoil area.

"The city now has the entire spoll material to move." Knowles said, in addition to backfilling and reshaping the beach plus restoring the prived area.

From a dollars and cents viewpoint. Knowles says the marina cost $1.05 million funded through a bond issue in 1965. -Donna Estes

Stone, Salvadoran Rebels To Meet 'In Few Days'

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) - U.S. Special Envoy Richard Stone will return to Central America soon for a new round of talks which are likely to include discussions with leaders of El Salvador's leftist rebels, a White House spokesman says.

In California, where President Reagan is vacationing, deputy press secretary Larry Speakes told reporters Sunday that Stone will travel to Central America "in the next several days" and certainly by the end of the month.

Speakes said, "It is our hope that he will again meet with the opposition leaders in El Salvador in order to facilitate discussion among all parties on El Salvador."

The Washington Post, quoting a U.S. spokesman for Salvadoran rebels, said Sunday rebel leaders would meet with Stone "in the next few days" and that the rebels have signed a preliminary agreement for formal talks with the Salvadoran government's National Peace Commission.

Boston Blackout Over

BOSTON (UPI) - Boston Edison restored electricity today to most of the 5,500 customers in the fashionable Back Bay section that was blacked out overnight because of a ruptured water main.

Boston Edison spokesman Mike Monahan said power came back to most of the 20-square block area shortly after 5 a.m., but could not estimate when the rest of the area would have service.

The outage Sunday night briefly stopped subways, set off burglar alarms and trapped a handful of people in elevators. Firefighters quickly freed people trapped in an elevator at the Howard Johnson's hotel in Park Square. Water service also was cut to some residents of the 15-to-20 block area.

The water main ruptured at 7:25 p.m., sending torrents of water into basements and manholes housing electrical vaults. Fire officials asked Boston Edison to cut power to the area as a precaution because of the potential for fires and explosions if the gushing water from the Boylston Street main made contact with electrical wires.

Filipinos Mourn Slain Political Leader

MANILA. Philippines (UPI) -Thousands of stunned Filipinos turned out today to mourn popular opposition leader Benigno Aquino, assassinated as he returned from self-extle to political battle. Security forces kept a low profile and the country was reported calm.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos, whose 18-year regime faced its chief political threat from Aquino, called the slaying "outrageous" and police pledged a full investigation.

Opposition leaders, some hinting at charges of official complicity in the slaying, called a news conference for late afternoon at Aquino's residence.

There was no immediate indication of the political consequences of Aquino's murder in the Southeast Asian nation, a major U.S. ally that President Reagan plans to visit in November.

Aquino., 50., a former senator, was killed minutes after his triumphant return Sunday following nearly three years of self-exile in the United States despite facing a jail term on subversion charges.

He had been arrested after Marcos imposed martial law in 1972 but allowed to leave the country to be treated for a heart condition.

As security police whisked him off a jetliner, down a flight of stairs and onto felled Aquino with a single shot to the back of the head from a .357 Magnum revolver.

The gunman, who apparently penetrated heavy airport security by masquerading as a maintenance worker, explained.

was shot down in a hall of gunfire from security troops.

At dawn today, thousands of mourners gathered at the Aquino family home in Quezon City, on the outskirts of Manila. to pay last respects.

Aquino's mother, Aurora, ordered her son's body, still dressed in the bloodstained, cream-colored clothes he was slain in, displayed in a simple open casket in the living room.

A neatly stitched bullet exit hole was the tarmae, officials said, a lone gunman clearly visible on Aquino's chin and his face was swollen. Both cyclids were blackened.

> "I want the world to see what they have done to my son," Mrs. Aquino

Filipinos gathered on streetcorners and in coffee shops to read newspaper accounts of the slaying, but there was little evidence of the "precautionary measures" ordered by Marcos to maintain "normalcy and order" and the sprawling capital of 7 million was reported calm.

Metropolitan Police Chief Maj. Gen. Prospero Olivas said he would "leave no stone unturned" in his investigation of the shooting in the heavily-guarded, off-limits section of the airport after Aquino's plane landed on a China Airlines flight from Taiwan.

There were no details on the assailant. whose body was brought to a National Bureau of Investigation laboratory for tests.

In addition, Knowles has reminded DER that a soon to be released report from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency shows in effect that effluent from the city's Poplar Avenue sewer plant will not harm fish considered sensitive because none of these sensitive fish exist in the lake.

Knowles is insisting that 97 percent of Lake Monroe's pollution, and he uses state documents to back up the contention, comes from storm water drainage and farmland drainage and not sewer plants, least of all Sanford's sewer plant.

Under this method the city would have to acquire a large, high and dry tract of land and pump effluent to the site. The usual method then is to spray the effluent over the land. The city manager said it is not even known if such a site is available near Sanford at any cost.

Knowles has estimated "conservatively" that the cost of acquiring the land, modifying the sewer plant and providing the sewer lines. and pumping apparatus would cost $9 million to $11 million. Officials of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, which represents 100,000 workers, and the Telecommunications International Union, which represents 50,000, signed with AT&T earlier Sunday.

Watts estimated there are $3 billion worth of improvements in the contract. He said the pact would raise the current average hourly base wage of $12.33 to $14.33.

'It's an excellent contract," AT&T spokesman Charles Dynes said. "It's good for the company, it's good for the workers and it's good for the customers." Watts said the pact provides improved employment security for the workers, one of the worries that led to the walkout.

Watts said with the settlement "we have broken real ground in protecting our members from dislocations due to change in technology and in the structure of the industry," he said.
He said the proposal calls for a training and retraining program funded by the company, improvement in existing supplemental income protection plan and reassignment pay protection.

Union employees walked off the job when their contract expired August 7. Supervisors have kept the nationwide Bell System operating.

The proposed contract provides for a 5.5 percent wage increase for the first year for all CWA members at top rates, roughly 90 percent of its work force.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Solidarity Threatens Work Slowdowns

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) - Lech Walesa said his banned Solidarity union will begin nationwide work slowdowns this week and warned that any disturbances will be blamed on Poland's Communist regime.

Walesa, on the offensive after a round of propaganda attacks ridiculing him in the state-run press, sharply criticized the government Sunday for ignoring the anniversary of Poland's shipyard strikes of 1980.

He said Solidarity still is demanding talks with Communist officials about the government's promise three years ago that free trade unions would be allowed to operate in the country.

Government news media repeatedly have denounced Walesa for supporting continued Western trade sanctions against Poland until the regime proves it has not replaced martial law with a set of equally harsh restrictions.

NDJAMENA, Chad (UPI) - France, responding to Libyan moves, boosted its military commitment to Chad today by sending more paratroopers and equipment into the African country.

A Transall airplane equipped with hospital facilities also was en route to Ndjamena, capital of the battle-scarred former French colony in north-central Africa, informed military sources said in Paris.

On Sunday, 10 French Air Force warplanes six Jaguar strike jets and four Mach-2 Mirage fighter-bombers - landed in the capital in a dramatic show of French airpower in Africa unprecedented since the end of the Algerian war for independence two decades ago.

Throw Support To Glenn, Mondale

Panhandle Democrats Ignoring Askew

United Press International

Florida Panhandle Democrats, angry at Reubin Askew for ignoring them when he was the govenor, are supporting former vice president Walter Mondale and Sen. John Glenn in their bids for the presidential nomination, political leaders said.

"I don't think he has any support in West Florida," said Bay County Democratic chairman Byron Biddle, "He wasn't popular in his second term as governor. He didn't carry the Panhandlc.'

In Bay County, the 14 elected delegates to the Florida Democratic Convention are supporting Glenn and Mondale over Askew, he said. Union members and minority delegates prefer Mondale while conservatives support Glenn, said Biddle.

"They (conservatives) feel Glenn is the only candidate that can overturn the Democratic voters who went for Reagan last time," Biddle said.

Askew's support of a pardon for Freddie Pitts and Wilbert Lee helped turn people against the former governor. Biddle said.

West Florida, in general, is behind the times as far as minority representation goes. That's one reason the pardon was so offensive to the population here."

Askew and three other Cabinet members voted to pardon Plits and Lee in 1975. The two black men had spent 12 years in prison for allegedly killing two whites at a Port St. Joe gas station in 1963

The two recanted confessions and another man, arrested in Fort Lauderdale in a similar slaying, admitted he committed the killings

Biddle said Askew's failure to appoint Panhandle residents and the failure to complete Interstate 10 during his term also hurt the former governor.

Askew supporters, however, disputed the claim.

"There are some people who remember his stands on issues and disagreed with him," Askew spokesman Damon Pride said. "We haven't heard much of that."

Many Panhandle Democrats feel Askew has spent too much time courting liberal south Floridians, said Bill "That hurt him." he said. "I think Rosasco, Democratic chairman for Santa Rosa County, where all nine elected delegates support Glenn.

Evening Herald, Sunford, FL

"The real reason (for the lack of support) is he has never maintained a broad profile within the Panhandle. He has relied on a few people. That does not make a popular politician." he said. "Reubin has failed continually to recognize the Democratic organizations and their influence... up to a month ago.

"He's suddenly realized those are the people who are going to vote for him in the straw poll."

Askew also failed to win support in Okaloosa County, where 14 delegates are split between Glenn and Mondale.

A poor showing in the straw poll at the state convention Oct. 23 and Oct. 24 at the Diplomat Hotel in Hollywood could cripple Askew's credibility as a candidate, political observers said.

So far. Askew has more supporters than Glenn and Mondale among delegates elected to the convention, spokesman Jim Bacchus said. Mondale has won support in Broward and Duval counties, where union leaders opposed Askew, he said.

Reagan's Alternative To The ERA 'A Sham'

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Reagan Sunday's Washington Post with the adminstration, already struggling with a "gender gap" problem, now is facing an official in its highly touted program to crase sexually discriminatory laws who calls the whole thing "a sham."

Barbara Honegger says the administration is mercly doing the "minimum possible" to rectify laws incorporating discrimination on the basis of gender.

Stunned by the criticism, spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters in California where the president is vacationing that Reagan is "proud of his record" in appointing women to top federal jobs - more, he claims, than any make recommendations." of his predecessors.

words: "Frankly, my dear, I don't think Ronald Reagan gives a damn."

Ms. Honegger, director of the Attorney General's Gender Discrimination Agency Review project, complained her project, Reagan's alternative to passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, has "turned out to be a sham.'

Ms. Honegger said her project is relegated only to listing troublesome laws and has been told she has no authority to suggest changes.

"He has reneged on his commitment," she wrote.

But Speakes said her job "isn't to

In addition to noting Reagan's ap-Ms. Honegger ended her column in pointments of women, Speakes claimed White House credit for gender changes in 100 laws proposed by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan. But Ms. Honegger said those are "non-con" overslal" laws that "won't make a major difference if they're changed anyway."

Asked if there would be reprisals against Ms. Honegger. Speakes would only say, "She's still there.

Appearing on NBC News after Speakes comments were made, Ms. Honegger said the White House has recieved 114 statutes that her office suggested be changed, "and not a single one in the list" has been altered.

"There is no committment there," she said. " We're just not talking about priority 25, we're talking about priority in the gutter."

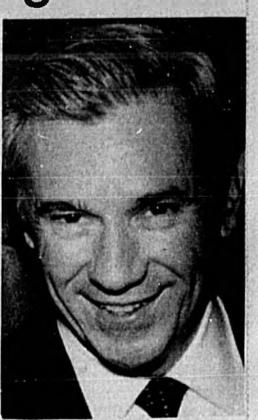

Justice Department spokesman Tom DeCair called Ms. Honegger "a disgruntled job sceker" who exaggerated her role in the administration's program to change sex-blased laws.

And Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler, one of three women in President Reagan's Cabinet. said Reagan's problems with women are due to misperceptions.

Ms. Honegger's charges come at a time when Reagan is trying to improve his standing with women. Polls show women are much more critical than men of the president's policies, a difference known as the "gender gap." Advisers fear it could cause Reagan problems if he seeks re-election.

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Annual auto inspections are not dead in Florida, a state legislator vows.

Rep. Betty Easley, claiming regular auto inspections can help save lives, said she's determined to resurrect them in Florida.

Florida started inspections in 1967, but the program was abolished in 1981 by a strong opposition led by Gov. Bob Graham.

Ms. Easley, a Largo Republican, was rebuffed in herefforts during the 1983 legislative session to restart state inspections. But she said she is not deterred.

'I may not be able to pass it as long as Bob Graham is governor." said Ms. Easley. "I recognize that. But he didn't get it repealed overnight either. I'll wait. I'm willing to fight it for another year."

With overwhelming support, Graham led the repeal of motor vehicle inspections in September 1981. He said many residents were unhappy with long lines at most inspection stations.

This year, Graham teamed with House Speaker Lee Moffitt, D-Tampa, to squelch Ms. Easley's bill.

But Ms. Easley said she is considering adding air pollution control standards to the inspections in hopes of getting more support for her proposal.

'We're trying to come up with a program that people can support, because the auto inspections save lives, there's no question about that," she said.

But a spokesman for Graham said state reports show that less than two percent of the accidents in Florida in 1980 were caused by defective automobiles. "The governor does not want to have the inspections reinstated," said Steve Hull, a Graham press aide, "He feels that's an ineffective way to prevent accidents and deaths on the highway."

But Ms. Easley has gained support from the Florida Automotive Service Councils, an organization of owners and managers of auto repair shops.

Bob Harris, the group's executive director, said the average age of vehicles in Florida is seven years and "the need for a simple safety check is greater than ever.

"There are many cars on the road about to break down," Harris said. "There's no question about that. Used to a motorist could get the problem caught early when he had his car inspected and have it corrected at minimal cost. But now it's not being caught until it's too late and you're talking about major repair work...or

When inspections were repealed in 1981, the program was costing the state $19 million a year. Each vehicle owner was charged $3 a year for the inspections.

It's Great To Be 80 For Sarah Easterby

moments for laughter, fun and love to spring allve whenever Sarah Warren Easterby enters a room, according to Geri D. Parker.

But on the occasion of her 80th birthday, it was Sarah's turn to be on the receiving end.

Evident to all who know her. Mrs. Parker says," Sarah just loves people." Her life, indeed, truly reflects just that, she adds.

The entire family, including nicces, nephews, great nieces, great nephews and all their families gathered together on Aug. 20 to surprise and honor "Sazzy" and to celebrate the hallmark of this day. It was a very special time for a lady whose uppermost concern in life has always been her family. Most people "weather" the years gracefully. Sarah has done even better, for she remains "forver fun and young at heart," Mrs. Parker said...

Planned since March, the party was hosted by Sarah's niece and nephew-in-law, Julia and Wally Dietrichs.

It never takes more than a few Adelaide Moses, another niece and her three eldest great nieces and their husbands: Dede and Chuck Daly, Barbara and Tim Machnik, and Geri and Bill Parker. Careful attention was devoted to the strategy necessary to insure that Sarah arrived at her party on time. and unsuspecting, as she is quite often off visiting her friends, always "ready to go" anytime.

> The finishing touches were added to the Dietrichs' residence, everyone positioned in a special place for the big moment, cameras readled to capture the expected reaction and all the fun began. So that Sarah could treasure the fun, she was presented with a photograph album. destined to be literally filled with all the memories of the occasion.

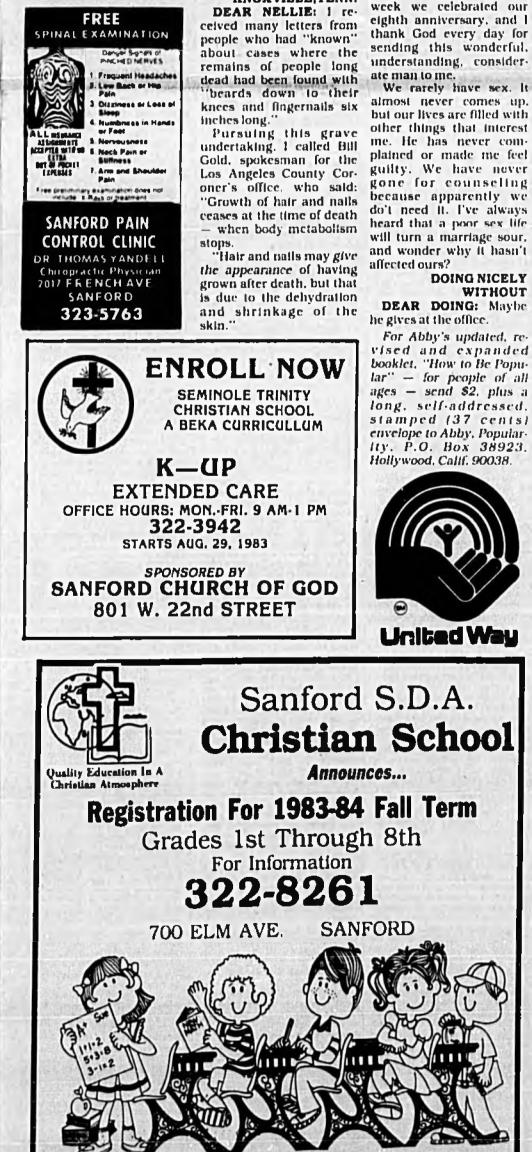

> With over fifty family members gathering to share the occasion with Sarah. she'll certainly have quite a variety of photos to spice those memories.

> Sarah has always been the life of any party, Mrs. Parker says, but this party celebrated her lovely 80 years of life, a life of giving and caring.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB have always heard that the male determines the sex of the child but I am wondering if that is always

I am the mother of four healthy boys and I love them all but I have always wanted a daughter. I have a slight to moderate hormone imbalance, too much male hormone. I have noticed through the years that any other woman who also displays symptoms of having a hormone imbalance usually has all male children. It seems to be true too often to be just a coincidence. Is there anything to that theory? DEAR READER - We have two chromosomes that determine our sex. A female has two X chromosomes (XX) and a male has one X and one Y chromosome (XY). One chromosome comes from the mother and the other from the father. A woman always produces X chromosomes, that is her ova all carry one X chromosome.

When the cell splitting occurs to form sperm cells. some sperm cells will get the father's X chromosome and others his Y chromosome. If a Y sperm cell unites with the X carrying ovum it will produce an XY child or male. If an X sperm unites with the X carrying ovum it will produce an XX child or female.

There is no evidence that a woman's hormone balance has anything to do with it. If a man is prone to producing lots of Y sperm cells he is more likely to produce males but if he is more prone to produce X sperm he will father females.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

Oswald: "In 1934 the Eastern Pairs was fully as prestigious an event as any National. Here we see the late Dave Bruce (Life Master No. 1 and the greatest match point player of that day) getting one of his many top scores on his way to topping the field in each one of the five sessions."

Jim: "You were his bid three no-trump. I knew he had heart strength, a duplication of values across from my singleton. Hence my conservatism." Jim: "I take it that Dave won the heart and led a low club to dummy at trick two."

Oswald; "He most certainly did just that. He gives up a trick if clubs split 2-2, breaks even if they are 3-1 and scores his top if East happens to hold all four. He had reasoned that one large part of the field would be in six clubs. The small slam makes against a 2-2 split. If the clubs split 3-1 or 4-0, three no-trump making four twhich he was sure of on his play) would outscore any five-club contracts."

Jim: "Did anyone else try that club safety play?" Oswald: "No one clsc did, so that all other game bidders went down one in three no-trump or five clubs and down two in the club slam."

We Need Facts On Hunger Issue

Toleration of hunger is shameful in a nation that produces far more food than it consumes. But whether or not new programs are needed to feed the poor is another question. Any new "War on Hunger" should be based on generally accepted statistical data. Andecdotal reports and personal impressions of conditions in the nation's inner citics will not suffice.

At a time when national policy has said we must determine the extent of hunger in America, there is a deplorable lack of statistical data available to give us the answers.

Lines at rescue missions are indeed longer and food stamp outlays have been increased.

Obviously the increase in the number of Americans seeking public and private welfare assistance is due in large part to the nation's economic problems. But these numbers do not necessarily tell us how many might be suffering from lack of food. It might be evidence that the safety net is working - that government assistance and private charity are combining to prevent acute hunger from intensifying the problems of the poor.

Moreover, requests for assistance ought to begin a dramatic decline as a strong economic recovery. continues to generate additional jobs.

President Reagan is justifiably concerned about the reports of hunger. Considering that the government operates extensive food assistance programs, he is equally justified in expressing puzzlement about how widespread hunger could occur.

The government spends more than $18.6 billion a year to help feed millions of Americans. Some 2.5 million benefit from a $12 billion food stamp program. And, the assistance is not limited to persons living in poverty. Food stamps are available to those with incomes as high as 30 percent above the official poverty level.

Some recipients, however, are unable to make the best use of their monthly food stamp allotments. Providers of food assistance report numerous beneficiaries lack rudimentary management skills and knowledge of nutrition. Consequently, some run out of food stamps before the end of the month.

Morever, a sudden emergency can demolish the resources of the poor. An unexpected bill could deplete money that had been intended for food.

Three Seminole County teachers have been selected by the Florida Council for the Social Studies as teachers of the year.

Nelda Kay Buckner, of 121 Lake Minnle Drive in Sanford, a teacher at Lyman High School; Leslie A. Blau, 1152 Grove St. Mattland, a teacher at Casselberry Elementary School and Serena P. Fisher, 850 Leropard Trailo. Winter Springs, a teacher at Jackson Heights Elementary School, have been selected, according to James Filiott, consultant/coordinator of social Judies for the Seminole County School District.

Elliolt said the women were chosen for the honor because of their positive. professional attitude toward teaching.

The teachers will be honored at a luncheon Oct. 15 at the 1983 Florida Council for Social Studies convention at Florida International University in Miami.

The Seminole County Public Library System will have an amnesty period on library users with overdue books from Aug. 29 to Sept. 9.

The public is urged to return overdue library materials with no fines and no questions asked. Returning the materials will give the library a chance to update records and save money in book replacement costs, plus, offer other library users a chance to use the materials.

Hours at the Casselberry branch are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday and friday. At the Sanford branch, library hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Registration for Seminole County's MIgrant Early Childhood Program will take place Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon at Midway, Goldsboro and Lawton elementary schools.

Participation in the program is on a first-come, first-served basis and eligible only to children of migrant farm workers and fishermen. Children must have the complete battery of childhood immunizations to participate.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN It's A Human Tragedy

Until the recent outbreak of fighting in Chad and the coup in Upper Volta. Africa had almost ceased to receive attention in the world press.

Before the Libyans decided to intervene in West Africa, events on the continent were not of a dramatic character. The gradual deterioration in a number of African states does not make for high drama. This is what's been happening. A quarter century after the first African countries gained their independence, the nations of sub-Saharan Africa are in deep trouble. Ghana, which began its national existence with a healthy bank balance. is poverty-stricken. Nigeria, the most populous country on the continent, was awash with money during the oil boom. but lower oil prices have struck a heavy blow at Nigerian prosperity. Zimbabwe, the former Rhodesia, has become a typical African dictatorial state. It was in the news recently when the Times of London reported that a European officer in the Zimbabwe Air Force had been subjected to electric shock torture. Rhodesia, which was so prosperous before and during the government of lan Smith, is now a land of tribal strife, economic collapse, and merciless oppression by the government's special North Korean-trained brigade.

So many erroneous and hurtful things have been written about Africa since the 1950s. The "winds of change," which former British Prime Minister Macmillan referred to years ago, have had a devastating effect on the continent. Orderly, modern government is gone except in the Republic of South Africa, which every liberal and leftist in America and Europe is eager to bring down. If that were to happen, the industrial bastion of South Africa undoubtedly would go the way of other African countries, lapsing into a bloody dictatorship of a Marxist type. The West would be cut off from essential minerals.

WASHINGTON WORLD A New Wheel To Spin

By Arnold Sawislak WASHINGTON (UPI) - With the exception of "waste, fraud and abuse' and its own red tape, it is hard to think of a subject that has been studied more often by the government than hunger.

So when President Reagan announced recently he had appointed a new commission to study hunger in the United States, it came like a breath of used air for anyone who has been watching Washington for any length of time.

Starting with John Kennedy, almost every president has ordered up studies of hunger, poverty, welfare dependency or some other problem that amounts to the same thing under another name.

(The different labels affixed to these studies is similar to another Washington practice: trying to mute criticism of foreign aid by changing the name of the program or the agency that doles out the money.)

In any case, all of those commissions. committees and task forces eventually reached conclusions, the White House usually announced that the problem was being addressed, and in a few cases even declared it was on the way to solution.

If all goes as expected, the new group eventually will report to the president, and the same old procedure will ensue.

At this point, it may be asked, to mix a couple of metaphors, whether the administration is not just inventing a new wheel to spin.

The answer is "no" if the political justification for all these studies of the same general subject is understood.

To begin, the government is not as dumb as it sometimes seems. Almost surely, it already knows how much hunger exists in the United States. With a couple of telephone calls to the Agriculture and the Health and Human Services departments, the president should be able to get a pretty good picture of the situation along with a list of possible solutions.

WASHINGTON (NEA) - A recent California Supreme Court ruling could have a profound effect on the way in which that state conducts its elections.

A five-member majority held that the constitutional guarantee of a secret ballot was not violated by absentee voting or by all-mail elections - although the justices did note that voting by mall might carry a greater risk of vote fraud.

California provides for mail balloting in some circumstances - primarily in special service districts and smaller charter cities - and there have been more than 270 such contests since 1978. However, the ruling's major effect might be on the use of absentee ballots in statewide contests.

Republicans waged a major absen-

Dec. 13 election into "the political fight of the generation." They're also still threatening to hold the party's primary at the same time in order to ensure a huge Democratic voter turnout. That decision will walt for the outcome of a court test challenging Deukmejian's election call.

If the California primary is held in December, it will throw the whole Democratic primary process on its ear.

IT LOOKS as if the next generation of Kennedys may be ready to enter the political scene.

Reports from Massachusetts say that Joseph Kennedy, Robert Kennedy's eldest son, has moved out of the family compound in Hyannis and has established a residence in Cohasset. Cohasset just happens to be in the congressional district now represented by Democratic Rep. Gerry Studds, who is in trouble with his constituents over his admission that he had sexual relations with a 16-year-old male page. Most observers say that young Kennedy's move means that he will challenge Studds in next year's Democratic primary. So far, there has been no comment from Kennedy or from anyone in his family. Joe has been one of the most political of the many Kennedy sons. Most recently, he helped run Sen. Ted Kennedy's Senate re-election campaign. It has been widely thought that Joe was waiting to pick his spot before entering elective politics, and Studds's problems apparently have given him the right opening. JOHN GLENN has announced that he will opt out of the straw-poll contests that will be conducted in various states. in the coming months. He says the straw polls are a waste of time and campaign resources, so he will instead concentrate on winning delegates to the Democratic convention. Glenn says this doesn't mean he won't campaign in states where straw polls are being conducted, or that he won't appear at conventions or gatherings where polls are part of the proceedings. Rather, he says, he won't add extra staff to concentrate on making a good showing in these polls, nor will he directly spend money on them for such things as hotel rooms.

At the same time Mr. Reagan has ordered a study on the extent and cause of hunger in the United States, some members of the administration have given his critics reason to question his credibility.

Agriculture Department budget cutters had to make an embarrassing retreat when a Congressional study found they had falsely claimed that a $1 billion decrease in food stamp spending would be due entirely to management effciencies.

The revelation that nearly half the decrease would come from assistance reductions has provided fresh ammunition to those who accuse Mr. Reagan of lacking compassion for the poor. The Agriculture Department misstatements in this matter also will make it more difficult to cut spending and reduce the huge federal deficits.

Emotional claims about the extent of hunger and phony reasons for spending reductions neither feed the poor nor lead to judicious budget cuts. It is time to end the rhetoric and determine the facts required to make intelligent policy decisions about food assistance.

"Your sign says 'Shoes and Jackets Required," right?"

But information isn't always what presidents want from study commissions.

First, they want to demonstrate concern with a problem that affects voters. In this case, the sympathetic well-fed as well as the hungry. There is nothing like appointment of a blue-ribbon, nonpartisan, distinguished panel of experts to show that the president is aware of a problem.

Secondly, they usually try to pick commission members who will arrive at what political scientists call "political truth" - conclusions that coincide with the president's views on the subject. In these cases, one of the principal purposes of the commission is that it provide an "Impartial" outside source for the recommendations the president wants

The report, by the way, need not say the administration is doing a good job or the best one that can be done on the problem. It can call for a radical new departure, if that is what the president has decided is needed.

Finally, a study commission insulates the president from the initial reaction to its recommendations just in case its proposals outrage the public.

tee-ballot campaign in 1982, obtaining several hundred thousand absentee ballots for registered Republicans and running what amounted to a "vote Republican by mail" campaign.

In the end, almost 7 percent of all votes cast statewide were absentee ballots by mail - and it paid off for the GOP: Although Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley won more votes at the polls, Republican George Deukmeilan won the governorship on the strength of a 113,000-vote majority in absentee ballots, most of them filed by mati.

Many observers believe that mail-in ballots may become the swing vote in future California elections. In 1984, both parties probably will spend much less time on traditional get-out-the-vote efforts and much more time - and money - on mall-in-the-votes campaigns.

ANOTHER CALIFORNIA development will have a major effect on the 1984 election: State Democrats have unveiled a $5 million-plus campaign to defeat a GOP-sponsored initiative that would invalidate California's current set of congressional and legislative districts.

Republican Gov. Deukmejian has called a special election for Dec. 13 in an attempt to get a majority of California voters to throw out the present district setup, which strongly favors Democrats. It was pushed through the Democratin-controlled legislature and signed into law in the final hours of Democratic Gov. Jerry Brown's administration.

Feds Intent On Hiding Abscam Story

WASHINGTON - New evidence keeps bubbling to the surface of the Abscam cesspool, and Justice Department officials keep trying to submerge it.

The story needs to be told from the beginning: It started in 1978 with the employment of Mel Weinberg, a convicted con man, to lure some sleazy politicians into an FBI net. While he was on the FBI payroll, he continued his misbegotten ways and engaged in chicaneries of unbelievable magnitude and pettiness.

The FBI agents who were supposed to control Weinberg were drawn into his machinations. They found it expedient to cover up for him. Then the FBI covered up for its agents, and the Justice Department laid a web of concealment over the whole Abscam operation.

But two federal prosecutors assigned to the case, Edward Plaza and Robert Weir, refused to join in the cover-up. They reported to their superiors in 1980 that Weinberg was out of FBI control, that he had perjured himself before grand juries and that he may even have siphoned off some of the bribe money intended for Abseam targets. By this time, the unhappy superiors had ventured so far out on a limb with Weinberg that they couldn't saw it off without risking their own careers. So instead of cracking down on the incorrigible Weinberg, they retaliated against the two whistleblowers.

I publicized what had happened to Plaza and Weir, who were then summoned before a House Judiciary subcommittee in June 1982. They not only repeated their allegations under oath, but Plaza challenged Congress to cite him for perjury if he had lied.

The Justice Department's internal ethics unit, the Office of Professional Responsibility, conducted its own independent investigation. The conclusion was that Plaza and Weir were right and had been unjustly harassed.

Later the chief of the ethics unit, Michael Shaheen, was questioned by House investigators. A staff summary, reviewed by my associate indy Badhwar, reports what Shaheen told them:

- After the two prosecutors complained of Weinberg's criminal merican liberals have learned nothing from the deterioration of Africa. In July, the dean of the Graduate School of International Studies at the University of Denver, James H. Mittelman, was back at the old liberal stand, urging in a New York Times op-ed page article that the United States "Be Fair To Mozambique." That's the Marxist People's Republic of Mozambique. He urged: "lifting the congressional ban on development aid." The United States needs to send money to Mozambique the way it needs another recession.

The Reagan administration is entitled to high marks for its quiet approach to African problems, which seems based on an understanding that American political interference won't solve problems. The only area where the administration has been somewhat unwise is in going along with the U.N. notion that Namibia ought to be an independent country. If that territory, formerly Southwest Africa were to gain independence, it would be dominated by the terrorist SWAPO organization and dependent on foreign ald. The U.S. shouldn't do anything to promote an "independence" that would lead to another Marxist state in Africa.

- Shaheen characterized the Nathan Charles Renfrew fired off a blunt memo memo as "libelous and slanderous" in to the ethics unit. The memo made "an its attacks on the two whistleblowers absolute and categorical finding of and "not an accurate analysis." misconduct" against the whistleblowers Shaheen concluded it was "our finding that Plaza and Weir were not guilty of and asked the unit to recommend any improper conduct."

- Shaheen concluded that the Justice Department's position was a "twisted analysis," adding tersely: "Plaza and Weir obviously felt they had been given the shaft and we agree with them."

- The problem. Shaheen told House investigators, was that the Justice Department "had consistently failed to see to it that persons without a conflict of interest investigated complaints about FBI and (Justice) misconduct during Abscam."

This is not the end of the cover-up. The Justice Department refused to release the Shaheen report to the House Judiciary subcommittee, though it has been commissioned by Congress to investigate the department's handling of the Abscam case.

Then a reference to the briefing that Shaheen gave House investigators. summarized above, was mysteriously deleted from the public record.

Altamonte Juniors Settle For 2nd

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

TAYLOR, Mich. - Communication be-tween the Altamonte Junior League All-Stars and Manati. Puerto Rico usually consisted of several "no-comprendos" during two classic battles at Sam Pizzo Field in the Little League Junior World Series.

The Altamonte 13-year olds, however, did not need a translator when the Puerto Ricans spoke with their aluminum bats. The two word message was loud, clear and to the point.

Grand slam.

For the second time in two meetings, Manati used a bases-loaded homer to dash any hopes Altamonte had of bringing home a World Series title along with their United States title which it acheived after beating Northridge, Calif. on Friday.

Saturday's slammer - ninth place hitter Marcos Lopez - was the least likely of the Manati team to pull of the feat. The determined second baseman had been benched by a 102-degree temperature for the first two games of the tourney.

In the fourth inning of the championship game, neverthless, Lopez looked like a recent graduate of a Jane Fonda fitness course. Picking on an 0-2 Anthony Laszaic curve ball, Lopez popped it over the left field fence with two outs to give Manati all the runs it would need in a 4-2 victory over Altamonte as Manati claimed the Wolrd Series title.

"I hung it about this high," said Lasziac gesturing around eye level. "But somehowe he tomahawked it."

It was the second grand slam heartbreak for Laszaic in three days. On Thursday, Efrain Vazquez slugged a bases-loaded round tripper in the bottom of the seventh off Laszaic to give Manati a dramatic 12-11 victory.

"It came down to one pitch in two ballgames," said manager Frank Messina. "One was a high fastball and one was a hanging curve. I don't know how the guy hit it, he just flailed away."

Manati finished the tournament with a perfect 3-0 record to go with its first 13-year old World Series championship. Puerto Rico succeeded Florida's Belmont Heights as the tourney champion. Ohio won the title in the tournament's first year, 1981. Altamonte would have had to beat Manati twice on Saturday to win the title.

While the grand slam will know doubt etch a spot in Aliamonte's memory bank, pitching wasn't the Juniors' problem Saturday. Rigthander Javier Franco limited a usually hard-hitting Altamonte to just four singles. More importantly, some shoddy baserunning and two Manatl errors.

Altamotne took a 1-0 lead in the first but a couple of baserunning blunders kept the Juniors from a big inning. Scott Stiles led off with a walk and went to second on a passed ball. Eric Martinez followed with a one-hopper off the center field fence but Stilles, unsure on whether the ball would be caught, could only get as far as third.

Martinez then broke for second on the first pitch, but when catcher Luis Medina threw through, Lopez put the tag on Martinez who was late going into his slide. Stiles, meanwhile, stuck to third.

Randy Green then walked and also took off for second. Medina again got the ball to second to nail Green, but Stiles slipped home on the throw for a 1-0 lead.

In essence, the Juniors gave up two outs for one run. Which hurt a little more when red hot Chris Brock slapped a curve ball into right field for a single. Ernest Martinez, who powered a grand slam against Manati Thursday, grounded out to end the threat.

"That could have been a big inning." said coach Terry Hagen. "But that catcher (Medina) made two good throws and we didn't run too well."

Altamonte increased its lead to 2-0 in the fourth, but again it could have been more. Laszaic slapped a single to right and moved to second on a wild pick off attempt. Matt Messina followed with a liner that shortstop Jose Valentin snared and tossed to Lopez for a double play.

Franco then lost his control, walking Jeff Airport Sunday at 11:30.

Hagen, who was replaced by Matt Lange, and Jim Waring. A passed ball moved both runners ahead and Stiles then walked to load the bases

Eric Martinez grounded weakly to the right side, but Lopez couldn't pick up the ball as Lange scooted home for a 2-0 lead. Franco then tossed two straight balls to Green, but the hard-hitting catcher swung at the third pitch and popped out to Medina in foul terrirloy.

The 2-0 lead still looked adequate until the fateful fourth. Medina singled off the tip of Laszaic's glove to start the inning, but Franco popped out to Waring at second. Vazquez then lined a single to center on which Brock just missed forcing Medina at second. Eddle Marrero then popped out to first base and, with two outs. Laszaic was facing the number eight and nine hitters in the lincup.

The righthander then walked Jesus Maldonado on four pitches to bring up Lopez. Laszaic slipped two strikes by Lopez with fastballs, then let fly with a curve ball which was supposed to break over the inside corner.

The ball hung up, however, and Lopez took a wild swing at the high-inside pitch and deposited it over the left field fence, much to the delight of the Manati faithful.

The four runners leaped around the bases and danced into home plate with a 4-2 lead. 'We didn't go completely dead." said Hagen about the blast. "But it did take us down a notch or two."

Altamonte came back in the fifth to load the bases on two walks and a single by Lange. But pinch hitter Zac Maddox took a called third strike for the third out.

In the sixth, Eric Martinez walked with one out, but Green hit into a force play and Brock flied out to center field.

Altamonte went down 1-2-3 in the seventh. "We had plenty of chances to score," said Hagen. "But we just didn't get it done."

TOURNAMENT TIDBITS - The whole tournament committee, headed by Ken St. Clair, did a fantastic job. The final cerimony after Saturday's game was exceptionally well done. St. Clair called each team to the field, player by player, and read an informative feature on the teams' accomplishments and how they finished in the tournament. Puerto Rico then took a victory lap with the banner to conclude the cerimony.

Tournament officials continued to be amazed with Altamonte's fan support. "Don't 4-2. these people ever work?" asked one official. Not when its World Series time.

Altamonte was greeted by a zealous crowd upon their arrival at Orlando International

Matt Messina (20) is blocked off the plate beautifally by West Madison, Wisconsin catcher Scott Anderson. Messina and his Altamonte teammates settled for a second place finish at the Little League Junior World Series in Taylor, Mich. after losing Saturday to the champions, Manati, Puerto Rico, CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) - The United States proved to be almost as powerful on the water as in it Sunday at the Pan American Games.

setting a world record of 55.19 seconds in the 100-meter backstroke, the U.S. swimming team won five gold medals and the rowing team, sparked by a group of former lvy Leaguers, picked up four in leading an American onslaught.

With a heavy rain falling on the United Nations Park pool, Carey did the first 50 meters in 26.54 and finished well ahead of the field. Dave Bottom of Danville, Calif., took the silver medal in 56.90 and Mike West of Canada won the bronze in 57.20.

Another Pan Am record was set by Tiffany Cohen of Mission Viejo, Calif., in the women's 800-meter freestyle. Cohen won in 8:35.42, improving Kim Linchan's 1979 record by more than four seconds. Teammate Marybeth Linzmeier of Mission Viejo was second in 8:41.26 and Julie Daigneault of Canada was third in 8:59.82.

Tracy Caulkins of Nashville, Tenn., just missed her Pan Am record by 0.11 when she won the 200-meter individual medley in 2:16.22.

The U.S. squad added its fifth gold medal of the day by winning the women's 4 X 100 freestyle relay in 4:12.99, breaking the mark of 4:13.14 set by the 1979 team.

Things went almost as well at La Mariposa, site of the rowing competition. as they did at United Nations Park pool.

Lions Lose Key Players; Cards Darkhorse

By Murray Olderman NEA Sports Editor

The Detroit Lions have perfected the knack of just falling short, though they made it to playoffs last year, briefly, as only team with losing record. However, they don't look like a team on the upgrade after losing Bubba Baker and a few others. There slump down the stretch of '82 was no accident.

OFFENSE

Passing - Monte Clark has made his decision on the starting quarterback. It's Eric Hipple, who made a brillian debut as starter in '81, then played tag with Gary Danielson (who now wants to be traded) in '82. Receiver Leonard Thompson gives Hipple one solid target, but they need more.

Running - Clark finally has the backfield he has sought since taking over Lions. James Jones, rookie from Florida, is a natural fullback to pair with Billy Sims.

Pro Football

Blocking - Only one top-caliber lineman, tackle Keith Dorney, Rookles Steve Mott, Rich Strenger will have chance to step in and start. Blocking situation at guard is acute enough to consider moving one of the spare centers. DEFENSE

Line - Big gap left in line as leading pass rusher Al "Bubba" Baker was traded to St. Louis and Dave Pureifory retired. Picked up pair of veterans, Mike Dawson from St. Louis and Mike Fanning from L.A.

Linebacking - Heady Stan White, who defected to USFL, will be missed. Top pick of '81. Jimmy Williams, will take over, with Ken-Fantetti in middle, Gary Cobb on strong side. Secondary - Decimated by injuries which caused retirement of corner James Hunter and safety Ray Oldham.

Cards' new offensive coordinator, Rob Dowhower, who'll tutor young QB Nell Lomax. They continue to be a darkhorse team.

OFFENSE

Passing - Future and present in hands of Lomax, who's mebile and has good and accurate arm.

Prediction - Last in NFC Central, with record of 5-11.

Honeycutt Shines In N.L. Debut; Haas, Cooper Blaze Crew's Trail

By United Press International

After years of being stalled in the second division. Rick Honeycutt suddenly is helping to drive the bandwagon. "This is a dream come true, playing on a contender." the left-hander said Sunday after starring in his National League debut, hurling the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Honeycutt, acquired two days earlier in a trade that sent right-hander Dave Stewart to Texas, is expected to fortify a rotation that includes Fernando Valenzuela. Jerry Reuss, Alejandro Pena and Burt Hooton.

Honeycull struck out a season-high seven batters before a slight cut on the middle finger of his pitching hand forced him to leave after seven innings.

Mike Marshall hit a two-run homer in the fourth and the Dodgers batted around in the sixth, scoring four runs.
