American Woman Tourist Killed In El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — An American woman traveling with her family on a highway blockaded by guerrillas was killed when their bus was hit by gunfire from nearby hills, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said.

Linda Louise Cancel, of Culver City, Calif., was riding in a converted school bus with Alabama license plates near the Honduran border at 7:30 a.m. Thursday when she was fatally shot, U.S. Embassy spokesman Gregory Lagana told a press briefing.

Lagana said authorities did not know whether rebel or government soldiers killed Ms. Cancel. "There's no identification of the gunmen," he said.

The Salvadoran defense ministry charged leftist guerrillas with killing her as the bus ran a roadblock on the Military Route Highway.

"We're pretty sure it was a guerrilla roadblock," Lagana said.

Ms. Cancel was accompanied by her common-law husband, Curtis Henderson Lewenz, who was driving the bus; their 18-month-old daughter, Lila Revett Cancel Lewenz; her 5-year-old son from a previous marriage, Christopher Lee McDonald, and a Salvadoran customs agent escorting the family through the country, Lagana said. Alabama state police said the family had lived in the school bus in Hillview Trailer Park in Enterprise, Ala., 25 miles from the Florida border, as late as 1983.

They were headed for Costa Rica and apparently planned to settle there. No one but Ms. Cancel was injured in the attack.

The first sign of danger for the travelers came about 70 miles east of San Salvador on the Military Route Highway, when traffic began slowing and the car behind them waved for them to stop, Lagana said.

Up ahead on the road were two armed men "in a mix of civilian and military clothing" commonly worn by Salvadoran guerrillas, Lagana said.

"The customs officers said he told the driver to stop but the driver kept going. The gunfire came from the surrounding hillsides and one bullet struck Ms. Cancel in the upper right side," he said. She died almost instantly.

Lagana said Lewenz apparently did not understand the customs officer, who spoke no English. Lewenz does not speak Spanish.

Capt. Carlos Aguilar, a Salvadoran Defense Ministry spokesman, said "a group of terrorists who were dedicated to stopping buses and vehicles to ask for war taxes" tried to block the bus at Las Marias, a hamlet on the Military Route Highway.

"They did not stop and because of that, they were machine-gunned, with the result of one woman dead," Aguilar said.

Residents of Santa Rosa de Lima, 67 miles east of San Salvador, reported heavy combat at three points on the Military Route Highway west of the city Thursday.

The customs policeman, Modesto Perdomo Osorio, was aboard to ensure the family took the household goods they were carrying out of the country, Lagana said.

Lagana reiterated a State Department warning to Americans not to travel in El Salvador "at all costs." Since 1979, at least 11 other Americans have died in El Salvador's political violence, including two land-reform advisers and three nuns.

A Salvadoran Catholic priest who was called to the scene said leftist guerrillas "apparently" shot the woman.

"There was a lot of combat on the road, the Military Route," said the Rev. Jose Luis Calderon, who gave the unidentified woman last rites at the Catholic Church in the eastern border crossing of El Amatillo.

8.3% Library Bond Bid OK'd

The Seminole County Commission has accepted a bid for underwriting a $7 million library bond issue to expand the county's library system.

Of the 11 bids opened at 11 a.m. in the Seminole County Courthouse, Merrill Lynch of New York City received the contract with the low bid of 8.36449 percent, according to the county's Office of Management and Budget.

The highest bidder was Chase Manhattan Bank, of New York City, with a bid of 8.95790 percent.

The commission awarded the bid during a 1 p.m. special meeting Thursday.

The underwriters sealed their bids after checking the latest financial market conditions and making final calculations Thursday morning between 10 and 11 a.m., according to Pam Hastings, principal OMB analyst.

The interest rates for the bond bids submitted includes the current interest rate plus the underwriter's cost of managing the issue, she said.

While a final interest rate figure has been accepted, it is actually a tabulation of several interest rates to be applied during the 15-year life of the bond issue.

She said the actual interest rates of the issue will vary with a lower rate being applied while most of the principal is due and a higher interest rate applied as the issue matures.

The funds raised by the bond issue will be used to expand the library system and create additional branch libraries, Ms. Hastings said.

GOP Fundraiser Set

Tampa Mayor Bob Martinez will be guest speaker at the annual Lincoln Day Dinner, sponsored by the Seminole County Republican Executive Committee, at 8 p.m., Feb. 24 at the Sanford Civic Center.

Martinez, who changed his party from Democrat to Republican some months ago, is being talked about as a possible GOP candidate for governor in 1986.

Prior to the banquet, a cocktail party will be held at the Markham Woods Road home of state Rep. and Mrs. Bobby Branley of Longwood.

Tickets to the event may be purchased by calling the committee office at 831-6441.

Lormann Circle, Longwood, display a Jan. 13 letter from President Ronald Reagan in reply to their letter sent in October in support of keeping the Marines in Beirut, Lebanon. The President thanked them for their support and assured them that the terrorist acts would not cause him to back down there or elsewhere. He said the bombing only made him more determined than ever to work for a stable Lebanese government and peace in the area. Photo taken in 1945 and insignias in background are those of Capt. Clarence E. Schuette, Mrs. Schuette's late husband, who served in World Wars I and II in the Maritime Service as chief engineer. Residents of Longwood for 22 years, both women said they were "thrilled" to get the personal letter from the president. They voted for Reagan and plan to do so again if he decides to run for re-election. Reagan is expected to announce that intention Sunday.

Groundwater Polluted At City Chemicals Site

The groundwater is polluted with "volatile compounds" at the two-acre site in Sanford off Jewett Lane and Airport Boulevard where now defunct City Chemicals Co. Inc. stored waste chemicals, state officials said Thursday afternoon.

Alex Alexander, chief of the state Department of Environmental Regulation office in Orlando, said, however, no drinking water wells near the site are in jeopardy of contamination and the closest residents are served by the Sanford city water system.

DER will be cleaning up the water, but the work may not be done until sometime during the summer because of lack of funds since more than $1 million has already been spent by the state agency to clean up City Chemicals' main storage site on Forsythe Road, Alexander said.

Some $8.2 million was allocated by the state Legislature to clean up chemical contamination problems statewide.

Larry Sims, a DER environmental specialist in groundwater, said four sampling wells were drilled at the Airport Boulevard-Jewett Road site and volatile organic compounds usually found in paint thinners, glues, solvents and cleaning fluids were found in two of the wells on the east side of the property. The two wells on the west side of the property are clear, Sims said.

In addition soil samples for metals from five test areas at the site showed a trace of chromium in three of the five sites sampled, said George Glonis, DER environmental supervisor.

"The trace of chromium was not high enough to be concerned," Glonis said.

Alexander said a DER contractor, O.H. Materials Inc., will be cleaning up the ground water at the Sanford site.

The process of cleanup to be tried is pumping the water out of the ground through the two contaminated wells, aerating it, testing to determine if the contaminating compounds have escaped via the aeration and replacing it in the ground if the process has been successful.

"I'm talking to the contractor about estimated costs for the cleanup and will be applying to Tallahassee for the money to clean up the site," Alexander said. "Overall I don't feel the pollution at the site is an immediate problem to anyone. I am trying to get funding today," he said.

"I don't know whether we'll get the money before or after July," he said.

In mid-November, 1980, Sanford city officials after receiving a complaint from a citizen found 3,264 55-gallon drums of waste chemicals stored at the site. The stores of waste chemicals could not be seen from the roadways because of thick brush around the property's perimeter. Sanford officials found many of the drums were leaking chemicals onto the soil and most of the drums were unlabeled.

The city is investigating the matter found that the Seminole Economic Employment Development Corp. (SEEDCO) through one of its subsidiaries leased the parcel to the firm, but were unaware of City Chemicals' plan to use the site for waste chemical storage.

Sanford Says 'Yes' To State's $40,000 Offer

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford City Commission, faced with the likely withdrawal of limited financial assistance from the state, voted 3-1 at a special meeting this morning to "accept gratefully $40,000" offered by a state agency.

The grant was offered by the state Department of Environmental Regulation to help the city provide emergency water to its 9,000 customers after six of seven city wells at the Mayfair Golf Course were closed because of EDB contamination.

The city got the emergency water supply over the New Year's weekend by connecting two privately owned irrigation wells, owned by members of the Frank and Patricia Stenstrom family, to the city system.

Only Commissioner David Farr voted against accepting the money. Commissioner Milton Smith was absent.

It was last Monday night that the commission, on a motion by Farr, tabled action on accepting the offered grant to give City Attorney Bill Colbert time to research legal action the city might take to recover from the state more of the costs associated with getting the emergency water.

Farr said at the time that the city commission might end up having to reverse itself and take the money.

At Monday night's meeting, City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles reported that the city in connecting the two irrigation wells and renting pumping equipment, plus installing 12,000 feet of pipeline to a city water plant had spent some $285,000. He said all the city's work including the emergency supply, drilling four new wells at Hidden Lake Park and attempting to rehabilitate the contaminated wells at Mayfair has cost more than $600,000.

But at today's meeting, Knowles said Dr. Charles Reed, deputy chief of staff in Gov. Bob Graham's office, was "very upset" at the city's response to the offered financial assistance. It was Reed who urged DER to give the city the $40,000.

Knowles said Reed told him that Sanford is the only municipality in the state receiving any aid at all and that the state fund was "squeezed" to get the $40,000, while some other area is having to do without.

'There are no more funds available now to obtain more.'

"There are no more funds available now to obtain more," Knowles said Reed told him. "Charlie (Reed) twisted arms to get what he could for us."

Knowles urged the commission to accept the money offered and to authorize him to sign the state agreement. He said the city can pursue trying to recover more of its costs at a later time, possibly through special legislation.

Farr was still not convinced that accepting the money is the best course for the city. "I consider the $40,000 the state is paying the city of Sanford a way to get us off their conscience," he said.

Meanwhile, Knowles displayed a small jar filled with water and a tiny minnow, one of six tiny colorless live fish with only partially formed eyes, pumped up by well drillers at city Well 11 at Hidden Lake Park.

He said the minnows were pumped to the surface from 140 feet deep, indicating there may be a large cavity of fresh water at that site.

He also showed limestone and sand dollars pumped from a depth of more than 500 feet where rehabilitation work is being done on the least contaminated well at Mayfair.

The rehabilitation work included forcing a new casing into the well with the intervening space between the old and new casing cemented in to seal out the ethylene dibromide. A new well was pumped within the old one. Tests must be taken of water samples before the city will know whether the rehabilitated well is free of EDB.

Knowles said he believes the city is going in the right direction to solve its water problems and soon may be able to lift its moratorium on new connections to the water system.

Trial To Decide Taught-At-Home Kids' Custody

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

The custody of five children declared truant because they are being taught at home by non-state certified teachers will be decided in a trial set to begin Feb. 9.

Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler set the date Thursday for an adjudicatory hearing — the juvenile court equivalent of a trial — to decide whether the children of Sanford couple Robin and Connie Starnes are being neglected because they are being taught by non-state-certified teachers at home.

The decision to pursue the case with a hearing was decided Thursday after the judge denied a motion to dismiss the case.

While the Starnes' attorney, Joseph P. Dallanegra Jr., of Trenton, Fla., said the school board is trying to take the children away from the parents, Kurt Erlenbach, assistant state attorney, said that is not the purpose of the case.

At issue is whether the private educational system under which the children are being taught is a private school and thus making the children comply with the state's mandatory school attendance law. The Starnes maintain their children are complying with the state statute by attending a private school, the Seminole County Independent Private School System Inc., while the school board questions the private school status and wants the children's education brought within established state standards.

Ned Julian Jr., attorney for the school board, said the board does not want to take the children away from their parents. He said the aim of the case is to make the children comply with the compulsory attendance laws of the state. He said two cases heard before appeal courts in Florida have ruled that home tutoring by non-state-certified teachers does not constitute a private school nor does it fulfill the state compulsory attendance laws. Julian said the U.S. Supreme Court ruled Monday that compulsory attendance laws do not violate religious freedoms. And, since the Starnes are claiming they are having their children educated at home on religious grounds, their argument may not hold. Tutoring at home by state-certified teachers does meet the attendance requirements, he said, but the Starnes are not certified by the state.

Erlenbach said there are four ways a child can comply with mandatory school attendance. That is to attend public school, private school, parochial school or be tutored at home by state-certified teachers. Private schools are not required to use state-certified teachers. The private school network, unlike most private schools which usually employ professionally trained teachers at one location, does not control where its teachers teach and requires only that a person be able to read, write, follow directions and pay $10 to be privately certified, according to the superintendent of the private school system under which the Starnes children are being educated, Donna R. Brinkle, a Seminole County resident living near Geneva.

State-certified teachers must provide evidence of at least a four-year degree in a specific subject plus educational courses, according to state law.

According to Mrs. Brinkle, most of the teachers in her private educational network which encompasses 13 different locations in the county, are parents teaching their children. She said only a few of her teachers teach other people's children.

"The majority of them feel more comfortable teaching 'their own,'" she said.

Since the case is based upon alleged neglect because the Starnes children are not attending a private school and thus not fulfilling the mandatory attendance provisions of the law, then whether the private school network is deemed a private school will influence the custody hearing though the private school network is not named in the case.

Youngsters Terrified In Daycare Center Holdup

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Police today searched for three men who held guns on 40 terrified youngsters — many of them crying for their mothers — as they lay face down on the floor during a $70 robbery at a church daycare center.

Police said most of the children were still on the floor when officers arrived because they were too frightened to get up.

The robbers took about $70 in money and jewelry from six adult workers at the center. No shots were fired and nobody was hurt.

Glenn Replaces Manager

United Press International

Sen. John Glenn reshuffled his campaign staff, naming its third manager in less than six months, in hopes of stopping his slide in the polls and reviving his drive for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The dramatic shakeup in Glenn's staff came when most polls showed the 62-year-old Ohio senator slipping farther behind former Vice President Walter Mondale.

Mondale improved his front-runner status even more Thursday. He emerged from the first test in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination with more support than all of his opponents combined — 67 delegates from among 164 House Democrats.

Pay Raise Scrapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For members of Congress, the election-year $2,443 annual pay raise, which went into effect Jan. 1, threatens to be short-lived.

The Senate voted 66-19 Thursday to kill the salary increase and the House, with almost all its members seeking re-election, was expected to do the same.

The 3.5 percent pay hike raised the salaries of members of Congress from $69,800 to $72,243.

Members of Congress received a pay raise along with most federal government employees. The legislation passed Thursday repealed the increase only for senators and congressmen.

Early last year, the Senate raised the pay of its members from $62,600 to $69,800 and imposed a cap of 30 percent of salary on honoraria.

NATIONAL REPORT: Ice jams and snowmelt renewed flooding in Idaho today, sub-zero cold stung the northern Plains and raging winds battered California, killing three people and knocking out power to half a million. Travelers advisories for dense fog covered the lower Mississippi and Ohio River valleys and northern Alabama. Minor lowland flooding near Moundsville, W.Va. was blamed on ice jams along Middle Grave Creek. Locally heavy snow fell in lower Michigan. Temperatures were below zero across North Dakota and northern Minnesota. A flash flood watch covered the Salmon River in Idaho, where snowmelt collided with ice jams to force the river out of its banks at Salmon for the second time in a week. Townspeople hastily built a pair of 3-foot-high dikes to try to keep waters out of the town, already suffering $3 million in damage.

Reagan Looking More Like A Candidate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan told Republicans in Atlanta to "tune in Sunday night" to find out whether he will run for re-election, but everything Reagan did during his campaign-style swing to the South made him look like a candidate.

At a "free enterprise rally" in Atlanta and a followup pep rally for southern GOP leaders — a trip paid for by his re-election campaign — Reagan tossed aside his calls for bipartisanship and attacked Democratic spending and Democratic promises, especially those made by frontrunner Walter Mondale.

The trip got off to an inauspicious start when only minutes after leaving the White House by helicopter for Andrews Air Force Base for the flight to Atlanta, the chopper made an emergency landing because a red warning light came on in the cockpit.

Reagan transferred to another Marine helicopter and completed the trip. Officials said he was never in any danger.

The Atlanta trip, and today's meetings with House Republican leaders and Republican mayors, set the stage for Reagan's Sunday night prime time television announcement on his re-election plans. He is certain to announce his candidacy formally, aides say.

When asked by someone in the crowd of Republican leaders whether he was running, the president teased: "Tune in Sunday night."

But his two speeches Thursday, and his enthusiastic campaign-style flesh-pressing in the room, left little doubt.

Thursday night, Reagan attended a fund-raising dinner of the richest of Republicans, about 500 who contributed $10,000 to the party. News coverage was not allowed.

At the "Spirit of America" rally sponsored by the U.S. and Atlanta Chambers of Commerce and the Amway Corp., which gave out American flags to most of the 14,000 cheering Reagan supporters, the president said the nation under his leadership has "come too far, struggled too hard and accomplished too much to turn back now."

Although he called on the Southern GOP leaders to "reach out to our Democratic friends as never before," Reagan abandoned much of his prepared text and swung hard at the opposition party, attacking, although not by name, John F. Kennedy and Walter Mondale.

Reagan contrasted Kennedy's call for Americans to ask what they could do for their country with Mondale's "trying to buy support by telling people what the country will do for them and making promises to interest groups."

But right after praising Kennedy's call for selflessness, Reagan added, "And within a matter of weeks, they introduced 29 new spending programs."

As for today's Democratic contenders, Reagan quipped, "Just a while ago there was a debate in New Hampshire. There were so many candidates on the platform there weren't enough promises to go around."

4 Arrested In Construction Scam Crackdown

Four Seminole County construction workers have been arrested in an Orange County crackdown on contractors who make home repairs without being registered with or certified by the state.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies, with Orange County warrants in hand, converged on the homes of the four suspects, who were all charged in unrelated cases, between 5:30 and 6:30 a.m. Thursday.

Bill Lipham, chief of consumer fraud investigations for the Orange County State Attorney's office, said that two Seminole County suspects are still at large.

Eleven warrants were issued following a three-month investigation by the state Department of Professional Regulation (DPR) and the prosecutor's office. The DPR, Lipham said, acts on complaints filed against licensed contractors, but when they receive a complaint for shoddy work done by an unlicensed contractor that is a criminal case which is turned over to the state attorney for action.

The crackdown came, Lipham said, "because these complaints were piling up and we want to show those people that they aren't going to get away with this sort of thing. We also want to make the consumers aware that this is happening and they need to be aware of their responsibility to check a business out before contracting for repairs or construction projects."

All of the contracts for the work in question in these cases were signed in Orange County and Lipham said that consumers' losses, because of poor workmanship or unfinished jobs, ranged from a few hundred dollars up to $20,000.

Roger Lee Irven, 2721 Azalea Drive, Longwood, posted $1,000 bond and was released from the Seminole County jail. Phillip Thomas Costa, 32, of 222

Longwood Hills Road, Longwood, and Clifford Edward Slater, 31, of 3354 Colous Court, Winter Park, were released on $500 bond each.

James Muntz, 45, of 2217 Sunset Road, Winter Park, posted $2,000 bond. The four suspects, who were all released from jail Thursday, were charged with engaging in business without being registered or certified. Muntz faces an additional charge of theft by fraud.

The suspects face possible sentences of one year in prison and a $1,000 fine if convicted, Lipham said. More arrests are expected, he said.

Gas Stations Struck By Pump-But-Don't-Pay Customers

In four separate incidents over the past few days, three area gas stations had customers drive away without paying for gas.

At the Cargo Gas station, 2623 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford, a man driving a blue hatchback pumped $6.03 more than he paid for Wednesday at 8:30 p.m., according to a police report.

The clerk, Deborah Atkinson, said she told the man the automatic shutoff on the pump was not working but that he continued to put gas in his car after he passed the amount for which he paid.

The 7-Eleven store at 100 N. French Ave. had gas taken twice within five hours late Tuesday and early Wednesday.

At 4:30 a.m. Wednesday, a man in a white Datsun pumped $9 worth of gas and then drove away without paying, a police report said. He was last seen heading west on First Street. At 11:37 p.m. Tuesday, a man in a blue Chevy put $10 worth of gas in his car and left without paying. The clerk reported that the car may have had out-of-state license plates.

The Tenneco Gas Station at 1800 French Ave. was also a victim of a no-pay customer Tuesday.

According to the police report, a man in an old white and blue car took $7.39 worth of gas at 7:55 p.m. and left without paying.

JEWELRY CAPER

A 17-year-old Winter Park girl faces a grand theft charge stemming from her alleged role in a robbery that netted $30,000 in jewelry and other items taken from a Casselberry home where the girl was baby-sitting Monday.

Colleen Murry told police that when she returned home at about 3:40 p.m. Monday, the baby-sitter seemed anxious to leave the house, which is located at 310 San Thomas. When her husband, Roger, came home the couple noticed that several items of personal property were missing and reported the loss to Casselberry police.

The girl was contacted by Orange County sheriff's deputies and denied any connection with the theft. But later, she reportedly contacted the Murrys and told them she had allowed a man to enter their home for about 90 minutes Monday morning while she went to a store.

Based on information the girl gave, police have issued a warrant for Michael S. Smith, of Winter Park. The warrant charges Smith with grand theft and investigators said they received a tip that indicated Smith may have gone to New York, a police report said.

The girl was released to the custody of her parents.

SON BATTERED

A Longwood woman who allegedly assaulted her 25-year-old paraplegic son is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Sheriff's deputies who responded to a disturbance call at 153 E. Lake Brantley Road, Longwood, at 9:20 p.m. Tuesday, reported that Daniel R. Smith, 25, of that address, said his mother had hit him on the left hand with a glass ashtray, tried to choke him with a telephone cord and hit him on the head with a liquor bottle. The victim, who was alone when deputies arrived, had cuts on his hand, which was swollen, a sheriff's report said.

Deputies were unable to determine the cause of the attack.

Another deputy, with a description of the suspect, spotted the car in which she had fled, stopped Constance M. Hamby, 41, of 153 E. Lake Brantley Road, on Interstate 4 at State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, at 9:35 p.m. She was charged with assault, and because she is on probation in another jurisdiction, will be held in the county jail for at least five days.

Ms. Hamby is also under investigation because of two items of drug paraphernalia which was allegedly found in her home, the sheriff's report said.

Black Lawyer Reprimanded

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Virgil Hawkins, a 77-year-old black lawyer who once made legal history when he fought to integrate the University of Florida law school, has been reprimanded by the state Supreme Court.

The high court, which three decades earlier had turned back his bid to integrate the UF law school, this time gave him his wish — a public reprimand instead of a suspension from practice.

The Florida Bar's board of governors had recommended he be suspended because of his handling of a 1980 criminal case.

The court also prohibited him from handling other criminal cases for at least two years, which Hawkins also had agreed would be fair.

Hawkins, a Leesburg resident, had conceded he may have made a "mistake" in his first felony criminal case in 1980 but said he was not guilty of intentional "misrepresentation."

A court found Hawkins guilty of six professional infractions in his handling of a shooting case in Lake County, including his failure to tell his client of a plea-bargain offer and his encouraging of a defense witness to misrepresent her identity.

Hawkins was refused admission to UF in 1949 because of his race. The state Supreme Court three years later ruled the rejection legal.

His case led to the opening of a law school at the then-all-black Florida A&M University but Hawkins refused to enroll there.

In 1957, the state's high court again ruled against Hawkins in his bid to enter the all-white Gainesville school, rejecting a U.S. Supreme Court ruling prohibiting segregated schools on the grounds that it was a state issue not a federal issue.

Hawkins earned his law degree from the New England School of Law in Boston in 1964. In 1977, the state Supreme Court overruled the Bar and ordered him admitted to practice in Florida without taking the Bar exam.

SLEEPER ARREST

A Jacksonville man who allegedly fell asleep on a sofa in the front office of Investors Title Service, Suite 101, County Road 427, Longwood, was arrested on a burglary charge after a Longwood police officer who spotted the man called the company's president, who confirmed that the man didn't belong there.

Edward Columbus Roberson, 47, was charged with burglary by the officer, who allegedly found a key to the office in the man's pocket when he was searched. It has not been determined how the man got the key, a police report said.

Roberson, who was arrested at 10:45 p.m. Tuesday, is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

SAMPLE THEFT

Carol L. Conway, 41, of 3189 Autumnwood Trail, Apopka, reported that someone broke into her car, which was parked in her driveway, between 7 p.m. Monday and 6:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The thief took a $2,000 set of cookware, which was a sample used in Ms. Conway's business, a sheriff's report said.

Ronald S. Liein, 28, of 3119 Autumnwood Trail, Apopka, also reported that a thief broke into his car, which was parked in his driveway, between 9 p.m. Monday and 7 a.m. Tuesday. The thief took a radar detector valued at $280 and $25 cash from the car, a sheriff's report said.

WELFARE FRAUD

Two Seminole County women turned themselves in to face charges of obtaining public assistance benefits by fraud.

Kim Venita Roux, 24, of 321 Salins St., Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 4 p.m. Wednesday. She was released from the Seminole County jail Thursday without posting bond.

Kathleen Ann Basden, 34, of 220 Colony Drive, Casselberry, was arrested at noon Wednesday at the Seminole County jail. She was released from jail Wednesday without posting bond and is scheduled to appear in court on April 2.

WRECK INJURES 3

Three Deltona men received minor injuries Thursday in a two-car accident in Deltona.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol, Samuel Lia, 73, of 910 S. Saxon Blvd., was driving a 1978 AMC vehicle when it ran into the back of a 1982 Dodge driven by James Parker, 39, of 1084 Shepard. Parker was waiting to turn left from Saxon Boulevard into Saxon Plaza, an FHP spokesman said.

Lia, Parker, and a passenger in Parker's vehicle, Shawn Parker, 35, also of 1084 Shepard, received minor injuries in the 10:35 a.m. accident.

Lia was cited for careless driving, according to an FHP spokesman.

BMW GONE

A thief, who apparently broke into the office of Auto Emporium, 1650 N. Orlando Ave., Maitland, and took four sets of car keys, drove away in a $12,000 1982 BMW.

Manager Thomas E. Wagenbach said the thief broke through a glass front door of the office between 8 p.m. Monday and 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Honduras Rejects Massacre Charges

United Press International
Honduras rejected as "slandering" charges attributed to an Argentine Nobel Prize winner that its troops massacred 200 Miskito Indians in refugee camps near the Nicaraguan border.
Argentine Adolfo Perez Esquivel, the 1980 Nobel laureate, reportedly made the charge Jan. 6 after visiting Honduran refugee camps near the Nicaraguan border.
The Nicaraguan government cited Perez Esquivel's charge — reportedly based on reports from civic groups and the Honduran military — in a protest to the Honduran government.
In his response, Honduran Foreign Minister Edgardo Paz Barmica said his country was open to an impartial investigation of the allegations, and said his ambassador in Buenos Aires had been instructed to talk to Perez Esquivel to verify whether the Argentine made the statement.

Druze Nix Reinstatement

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The U.S.-backed Lebanese government attempted to head off further civil warfare by offering to reinstate renegade Druze Moslem army officers and their men, but the Druze rejected the bid.
The dismissal of Prime Minister Chefik Wazzan's offer came Thursday as Druze rebels and army units clashed in the Shouf mountains outside Beirut and Druze and Christian militias fought in the Kharoub region further south.
The rejection dealt another blow to the government of President Amin Gemayel and increased the possibility that renewed strife would engulf Lebanon.
Jumblatt called for Gemayel's resignation this week and the leader of the influential Sunni Moslems accused the Christian-dominated government of "dictatorial" rule.

German Arms To Saudis

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl told Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir that Bonn would sell weapons to Saudi Arabia despite strong Israeli opposition, news reports said.
In their third round of talks since the West German leader arrived in Israel Tuesday, Shamir asked Kohl not to supply arms to Saudi Arabia, Israeli spokesman Avi Pazner said.
But West German spokesman Peter Boentsch told reporters Bonn already was committed to the $5.5 billion sale to Riyadh.
The television, quoting unidentified West German officials, reported Kohl told Shamir that Bonn could not renege on the deal. The Saudis have reportedly prepared a shopping list that includes Gepard anti-aircraft tanks, Roland ground-to-air missiles and Marder armored personnel carriers.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Troopers Caught With Fingers In Till

NAPLES (UPI) — All but one of the 10 Florida Highway Patrol troopers in Collier County have been suspended indefinitely for filing false expense accounts.
The men were suspended without pay. The suspensions are the result of an investigation into misuse of "mileage fees and witness fees" by off-duty officers.
Troopers routinely testify in court cases involving traffic accidents. When off-duty, they are allowed to accept $5 for witness fees and can be reimbursed for mileage.
The troopers were suspended for claiming they were off-duty when they were working in order to get witness fees. The troopers are also charged with using FHP cars while collecting mileage payments.

Shuttle Leak Investigated

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The space agency looked for the cause of small fuel leaks in two of three hydraulic system turbines in the space shuttle Challenger during a test firing.
Kennedy Space Center spokesman Richard Young said Thursday small amounts of the highly toxic hydrazine fuel were detected around two turbines earlier in the day, but no leakage was detected around the third.
The turbines, called auxiliary power units, were new units recently removed from the third shuttle. Discovery, after hydrazine leaks started two fires in the shuttle Columbia during the landing process last month in California.
The Challenger is scheduled to be launched Feb. 3 on the nation's 10th space shuttle mission, and project officials said the flight remained on schedule despite the leaks.

Death Sentence Upheld

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court has upheld the death sentence imposed on Bobby Earl Lusk for stabbing another Florida State Prison inmate in the back during a Thanksgiving meal in 1978.
The seven justices were unanimous in upholding the conviction, but Justices Ben Overton and Parker Lee McDonald dissented on the sentencing phase, saying there had been a reasonable basis for the jury's recommendation for life.
Lusk, who was serving three consecutive life sentences, said he stabbed inmate Michael Hall in the back because Hall and two other inmates had robbed him in his cell, cut up his mattress and threatened him that day.
Lusk, who had a first-degree murder conviction among his previous felonies, said he killed Hall in self-defense.

Time Running Out

Lawyers Say Death Appeal Tactics Exhausted

STARKE, Fla. (UPI) — Attorneys for many of the 210 inmates on Florida's death row saw the execution of Anthony Antone as a signal time is running out for their clients, noting most legal maneuvers have been exhausted.
"The ability of lawyers to seek relief at the federal level is all but gone," said Martin Belksy, a University of Florida law professor who is also director of the school's Center on Governmental Responsibility.
Antone, a 66-year-old self-proclaimed metaphysician, became the 12th man executed in the United States since the death penalty ban was lifted in 1976, and the first this year when he was electrocuted Thursday. He was the first to be executed who did not actually kill the victim himself.
Eight of the executions have occurred in the South and three were in Florida. Florida Attorney General Jim Smith said about five more of the state's condemned men will be put to death this year.

Gov. Bob Graham has signed another death warrant for the execution of Beauford White next month.
Lawyers say the latest setback to death penalty opponents came when the U.S. Supreme Court struck down a lower court ruling this week requiring state courts to investigate similar murder cases to determine if the decision to impose the penalty was arbitrary or biased.
In addition, fewer attorneys are willing to accept death cases. A network of about 250 attorneys represent most of the nation's 1,200 death row inmates, said Gail Rowland, assistant director of the Florida Clearinghouse for Criminal Justice.

About 24 of the state's 210 condemned prisoners do not have attorneys, she said.
"Each case takes so much work that it's difficult for any one lawyer to handle more than one or two," she said. Antone closed his eyes tightly as he was strapped into the three-legged oak chair nicknamed "Old Sparky." A hooded executioner sent 2,000 volts of electricity surging through his body and he was pronounced dead at 7:08 a.m.
Although Antone said he had rejected Christianity as "childish" and spurned the services of a minister, he rephrased Christ's last words on the cross when asked if he had anything to say.
"All I can say is, forgive them, father, for their ignorance. They know not what they do. That's it," Antone said in a clear, controlled voice after he was strapped into the chair.

Outside the prison's "Q" wing where the electric chair is located, a small group of anti-death penalty protesters sang "He's Got The Whole World In His Hands" as Antone's execution approached.
Even to his death, the condemned man insisted he was innocent of setting up the 1975 murder of Richard Cloud, a Tampa detective known to colleagues as "Super Cop," who was pursuing a gangland drug baron although he had been fired from the force for beating prisoners.
Antone claimed he was persecuted because he was a Sicilian.
The hit man in the Cloud killing hanged himself after he was convicted and the man accused of ordering the officer's death died of a drug overdose in jail before he was brought to trial.

Juror Threat Throws Trial Into Legal Tangle

MIAMI (UPI) — A circuit judge said he would make a ruling today on an unprecedented legal snarl and swear in a jury to hear the manslaughter case that set off three days of racial riots in a Miami ghetto 13 months ago.
Judge David Gersten's dilemma began Thursday night when a woman court clerk raised her hand to swear in an all-white jury of four men and two women, plus two Latin women alternates, to try policeman Luis Alvarez for the shooting of a black man during the riots.

One of the prime jurors, a Latin man, raised his hand to renew a request to talk to the judge.
With the other potential jurors out of the courtroom, the man told Gersten he had received threatening telephone calls at his business, a fast food restaurant that had been burned down during the 1980 racial riots in Liberty City.
He said the anonymous phone caller "told me if I was on the Alvarez jury, if something happened, I'd be in trouble, I could be shot."

The Cuban-born Alvarez, 24, is on trial for the fatal shooting of Nevell Johnson Jr., a 20-year-old black man, in an Overton video game arcade on Dec. 28, 1982. During three days of bloody violence, another man was killed and 26 people injured.

Phone Legislation Killed In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer groups decried as "an outrage" the Senate vote to kill legislation calling for a two-year moratorium on $2-a-month telephone access charges, but bill opponents called it "a victory for everyone."
The 44-40 vote Thursday against legislation sponsored by Commerce Committee Chairman Robert Packwood, R-Ore., was closer than expected, with many senators switching support at the last minute due to lobbying by phone workers who fear their pensions may be threatened now that American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has been broken up.
But a spokesman for the Consumer Federation of America and the Telecommunications Research & Action Center, representing hundreds of groups that have fought the surcharges, said consumer phone bills still may double or triple in some areas when the fees go into effect.
The death blow to Packwood's bill also means the end of the road for a phone measure passed by the House last fall that would abolish the flat monthly surcharge for a customer's connection to long-distance services.
Packwood blamed the defeat on the Federal Communications Commission's decision Wednesday to postpone until mid-1985 the access charges residences and small businesses with one phone line were to start paying April 3.
"Had the FCC not changed, we would have won," Packwood said, predicting that new phone legislation may be offered between Dec. 1, when the FCC completes a study of the impact of the AT&T breakup, and June 1985, when the access charges are expected to commence.
"I've got an 18-month victory," he said. "Everyone whose phone bill would have gone up in April has been saved."

Mobsters Caught In Heroin Raids

NEW YORK (UPI) — Seven suspected Mafia members were arrested in simultaneous raids in New York and Philadelphia on charges they ran an international drug ring and sold $1 million in heroin to undercover agents.
Three other people, including the No. 2 man in the heroin trade in New York and New Jersey, remain at large.
All 10 suspects were charged after their arrests Thursday with conspiracy to distribute heroin.
Officials said the suspects, two from Philadelphia and eight from New York, were associated with the Bonanno and Gambino crime families in New York.
In addition to the drug charges, the government said in a court document that one suspect implicated the organization with the slaying of a judge in Sicily.
"The evidence is all but conclusive," said Assistant U.S. Attorney William Cunningham, recommending to Magistrate John Caden in the U.S. District Court in Brooklyn that he set high bail because the ring had dealt in "threats and violence."
Caden told the six suspects they could be sentenced to life in prison if convicted and set bail at $2 million for three of the defendants. They were ordered held in the Metropolitan Correctional Center.
They are Paolo LaPorta, 37, of Melville, N.Y.; Giovanni LaPorta, 39, of Shirley, N.Y.; and John Camiola, 34, of Woodbury, N.Y.
Josephine LaPorta, Giovanni's wife, and Antoinette LaPorta, Paolo's wife, were released on a $50,000 personal recognizance bond each.
Fillippo Mauro, 53, of Islip Terrace, N.Y., was held in lieu of a $250,000 cash surety bond.
The seventh suspect arrested was Alberto Ficalora, 42, of Lansdale, Pa., in Montgomery County. He was arrested in Philadelphia. Officials described him as the Philadelphia boss of the ring.
The three other suspects who remain at large were identified as Francesco Panno, 54, of Philadelphia; Francesco Affatigato, 31, of Deer Park, N.Y.; and Gaetano Pedone, 39, of Baldwin, N.Y., who prosecutors believe fled to Italy last Saturday.
The government in a ball memorandum described Pedone as "one step removed from the individual in control of the heroin distribution network in New York and New Jersey."

Soviet Arms Control Fraud

For all its supposed hawkishness, the Reagan administration has been cautious to a fault in evaluating and releasing any evidence that the Soviets are cheating on arms control agreements with the United States.

That made the administration judgments disclosed recently all the more dramatic and credible.

In briefings for House and Senate members, and for reporters, senior administration officials said President Reagan had concluded that the Soviets were engaged in at least seven "violations or probable violations" of major arms control agreements and treaties. The Soviet cheating, whether proven conclusively or supported by compelling circumstantial evidence, undermines the following:

—The 1972 treaty limiting anti-ballistic missile defenses.

—The 1972 convention prohibiting development and use of certain chemical and biological warfare agents.

—The 1974 test ban accord limiting the size of nuclear weapons tests.

—The 1979 SALT II treaty — signed but never ratified — limiting the numbers and types of offensive nuclear weapons.

Much of the evidence of Soviet cheating detailed was not new. Reconnaissance satellites and electronic monitoring have been collecting evidence for years that the Soviets were violating arms control agreements. But the administration had been reluctant to render final judgments or to go public for several reasons.

First, some of the evidence was persuasive but not conclusive. Second, disclosing it publicly could tip the Soviets to highly classified American intelligence capabilities. And, in any event, the Soviets had to be given a chance first under the terms of the agreements to answer compliance questions privately.

The final and most telling reason will come as a revelation to those who imagined the Reagan administration as unalterably hostile to arms control efforts.

Public and congressional support for arms control agreements rests, quite obviously, upon continued assurances from the White House that the Soviets are honoring their pledges. For any administration to charge publicly that the Soviets were cheating, or that compliance could not be guaranteed by the available verification techniques, would risk collapse of the whole arms control "process."

Fritz Mondale and the rest of the Democratic herd running for president paint Mr. Reagan as responsible for the failure to achieve new arms agreements with Moscow. The truth, however, is that the administration tried hard for equitable, verifiable agreements reducing intermediate-range nuclear missiles in Europe and intercontinental-range strategic nuclear weapons.

The latest evidence of Soviet cheating on existing arms control agreements should persuade even Alan Cranston that the blame for the present arms control impasse lies not in Washington, but in Moscow.

President Reagan and his senior advisors must soon decide what to do next now that the dark truth about widespread Soviet cheating on arms control is out of the closet at last.

Choosing an appropriate response will be complicated by the administration's understandable desire to strike a conciliatory, albeit still firm, pose in contrast to the Soviet Union's current truculence.

But whatever the cycle of superpower diplomacy, the implications of Soviet arms control cheating cannot be safely ignored. Evidence mounts by the month that the Kremlin is repudiating, in deed if not yet in word, the 1972 treaty limiting both sides to no more than token defenses against ballistic missiles.

What happens to the credibility of America's nuclear deterrent if, a year or so hence, the Soviets suddenly unveil even a rudimentary nationwide ABM defense; catching the United States wholly unprepared and years away from any equivalent system of protection?

Comparable questions could be asked about most of the other potential threats posed by Soviet cheating.

At the very least, Moscow must be told that the United States will not be bound by arms control agreements the Soviets feel free to violate.

That, we hope, was one of the messages delivered by Secretary of State George Shultz when he met recently in Stockholm with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Take my wallet, my watch, ANYTHING — but PLEASE don't turn that thing on."

If you have a child in school, the National Institute of Education says, you know about Report Card Day, that fateful day of reckoning. Will your pride and joy come bouncing home bursting with happy news, or will it be time once again to review the Sad Parade of Excuses? What can a parent do to help the young one succeed?

The experts say how well a child does in school depends in large part on study habits. There is no substitute for hitting the books, and no short cut to getting an education, yet many students do not believe hours spent studying or the amount of work they do will make the difference between success and failure. It's far easier to blame failure on unfair teachers, distracting classmates, bad luck, or 20 other reasons, rather than admit they just didn't do the work. So, what's a parent to do?

For starters, encourage children to make better use of their time. Many young people claim there aren't enough hours in the day to do all the things they want to do — and study, too. There may be some truth to that, but most often, there is not a shortage of time, but lack of planning.

To encourage better use of time, have your school-agers draw up a weekly schedule. By writing how they spend their days, hour by hour, young people may be surprised at how much time they are wasting. By organizing their time, planning their study hours, and sticking to the schedule, they may find they actually have more time for "fun things."

Encourage your youngsters to be faithful to the schedule and then make sure they have a reasonably quiet, well-lighted and otherwise suitable place to study — far from the blaring television and radio.

You can also help by taking a daily interest in your children's school work. Show that you are interested and concerned, without threats or recriminations. Review homework assignments with them. In areas where they are having trouble, ask them to give a summary of a chapter they have just read, or try to explain how to do a math problem. By asking specific questions you can help them focus their thinking and see where their weaknesses are.

For further tips, you might want to obtain a copy of a booklet prepared by the Institute. How To Help Your Child Achieve In School, which includes a five-step study plan for better school performance, may be obtained by sending $3.75 to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 109M, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. The booklet describes new and innovative techniques that can help both you and your child have a happier Report Card Day.

JEFFREY HART Mondale: Lacks What It Takes

Watching Walter Mondale in action in Hanover, New Hampshire, made one aware of a certain paradox: first, that with his polls and his organization and his solid backing, Mondale is the inevitable nominee; but second, that the fellow just does not have what it takes to be a plausible presidential contender.

When Mondale begins to orate in that flat voice, stringing clichés together in a way that represents a total annihilation of intelligence and even of the vital impulses themselves, I myself feel a physical sense of a sudden decline in my own well-being. I'm sure my pulse slows down and my body temperature falls. I can feel a glaze coming over my eyes.

By the time he has emitted three or four sentences of that Bakelite prose, my desire even to live undergoes a sharp decline, and I steal a sidelong glance at my neighbors in the audience. Some look comatose, others incredulous. Some are drumming on the arms of their chairs with their fingers. Others tap one foot nervously.

Mondale is up there wangling away, talking about compassion and fairness. What he really means is that he wants more of your own money to expand federal programs and pay off his backers in big labor and elsewhere. The feeling of hypocrisy is overwhelming, as repellent as bacon fat cooling and hardening in a skillet.

There is just nothing alive in Mondale's flow of sentences. We hear about "old people" and of course "the young," and about "women" and "minorities." God help us, he even comes up with that old line "America is promises," which was dead enough when Archibald MacLeish wrote it but is a miserable caricature in the mouth of a politician like Mondale, who has built his campaign on the crassest kinds of promises to an assortment of interest groups.

In Mondale, "promises" translates easily into "payoffs." And anyway, if we're going to be literary, Scott Fitzgerald put the MacLeish thought better when he wrote that "America is a willingness of the heart." It is entirely fitting that Mondale, a second-rater, should use the second-rate quotation.

Former Senator Eugene McCarthy put it felicitously when he said that Mondale "has the soul of a vice president," and Mondale himself didn't do so badly back in 1976 when he dropped out of the race with the explanation that he had been campaigning for a year and people still thought "Mondale" was a suburb of Los Angeles. It still is.

Back in 1968, people were saying that Hubert Humphrey was a "drugstore liberal," meaning not only that he had medicines on his shelf for just about everything, but that he was a small-town pharmacist in personal style. Mondale is the old pharmacist's true successor, the pharmacist's pharmacist.

When Senator John Glenn, who has not exactly ignited campaign prairie fires, taxed Mondale with promising everything and not putting a price tag on it all, Mondale showed real class. He charged Glenn with voting for "Reaganomics," i.e., Glenn had voted for the first year of Reagan tax cuts.

FHA Ignores Money-Saving Plan

WASHINGTON — Most Americans probably don't know the difference between pre-stressed concrete and conventional reinforced concrete. But that difference could save taxpayers billions.

Strangely, the cement industry and the Federal Highway Administration seemed determined to use the expensive spread. Experts' advice has been ignored; Ralph Nader has been vilified for advocating the money-saving pavement; and a federal employee who blew the whistle was reprimanded and told to butt out of the controversy. Here's the story:

Pre-stressed concrete has been available for more than a decade. It involves stretching steel reinforcing cables with 30,000 pounds of pressure when concrete highway slabs are poured. The result is a stronger pavement using less concrete and steel.

According to one official's estimate, the government could have saved $1 billion on the last 45,000 miles of the interstate highway system if pre-

WILLIAM RUSHER

No Arms Talks In 1984

NEW YORK (NEA) — In their whole 67 years in power, the men in the Kremlin have never dared risk a free election in the Soviet Union. That may partially explain their fondness for meddling in other countries' elections. It must get pretty lonely up there at the top.

This being a presidential election year in the United States, we have been singled out as the objects of Moscow's interference in 1984. Last year, you will recall, it was West Germany. When the Soviet Union deployed its IRBMs in 1979, NATO warned that unless the Soviets dismantled them NATO, in late 1983, would deploy its own IRBMs to counter them. Moscow simply ignored the request and opened a four-year propaganda campaign to turn opinion in the NATO countries against the threatened counter-deployment. The climax came last March, when West Germany voted resoundingly for Helmut Kohl, who had pledged that the deployment would go forward. In December, sure enough, it did.

With its propaganda campaign a colossal failure and NATO's intermediate-range missiles now facing Russia's own, Moscow broke off its arms control talks with the United States and has refused to set a date for their resumption. This is risky in propaganda terms, because it makes it easy for President Reagan to show the world — as he promptly did in his recent television address — precisely who is holding up negotiations on this crucial subject. But Moscow probably thinks (and certainly hopes) that it has bigger fish to fry: By refusing to negotiate at this time, it fondly imagines that it may pressure American voters into ousting Ronald Reagan and giving the Soviet Union Fritz Mondale or some other Democrat to negotiate with.

Probably no conceivable development in 1984 would please the Kremlin as much as the replacement of Ronald Reagan by just about anybody else. Prior to his election, the Soviet Union had had its way with a whole series of American presidents, Richard Nixon, with his war m e d o v e r Machiavellianism, was absolutely made for them: They bargained toughly with him, signed the SALT I and anti-ABM treaties — then coolly violated both treaties and laughed up their sleeve when Nixon's business friends refused to break off their lucrative contracts with Moscow as the strategy of retaliatory "linkage" required. Jimmy Carter was even better: As he himself admitted to the late Frank Reynolds of ABC News, Carter never even realized the Soviet Union's "ultimate goals" until Russia invaded Afghanistan in December 1979, just 13 months before the end of his pitiful term.

Then came Ronald Reagan. As discussed above, Moscow's best efforts among the pacifists of the West failed to deter NATO from deploying its own IRBMs when the Soviet Union refused to dismantle its SS-20s. Worse yet for the Kremlin, Reagan managed to persuade Congress to go ahead with the B-1 bomber, and to authorize deployment of the MX missiles — steps which, once completed, will just about eliminate the Soviet lead in strategic weaponry. (That lead, of course, was why the Soviet Union was so eager for a nuclear freeze.)

Worst of all, the Soviet Union's habit of encouraging Marxist guerrilla warfare against selected regions of the free world not only ran into unexpected resistance but actually came under effective local counterattack: In Central America, in southern Africa, in Southeast Asia, pro-Soviet forces often find themselves, to their amazement, on the defensive.

Four more years of Ronald Reagan, therefore, is a thought calculated to undermine what little health Yuri Andropov has left. And that is why there are not likely to be any further arms control talks during 1984. The Soviets can afford to wait a year, in the desperate hope that somebody or something will prevent Reagan from being re-elected. They will also be unable to resist letting a waiting world know that they prefer the Democratic candidate — a favor that Mondale, or whoever, would no doubt just as soon do without.

Then, in 1985, with Reagan duly inaugurated for another term, the gentlemen in Moscow can decide whether to bargain for real, verifiable arms reductions — or starve their people still further in a desperate effort to pull ahead of America again.

ROBERT WALTERS John Glenn's Fading

HARRISVILLE, N.H. (NEA) — "I don't see anything going on," says a local Democratic Party leader when asked about the presidential campaign of Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, here in New Hampshire's rural Monadnock region.

In Concord, the state capital, a reporter for a local radio station observes that the senator "doesn't seem to have generated much interest or momentum."

In Manchester, the state's largest city, a Democratic leader in the legislature is amazed by the senator's poor performance: "I've never seen anything like what happened to the Glenn campaign here. It just totally collapsed."

In Hanover, a college town 50 miles north of here, Glenn recently was sitting in a bar with a group of political reporters when a man approached the table and introduced himself as the senator's local campaign chairman.

The unexpected visitor, oblivious to the journalists present, proceeded to present Glenn with a devastating report on a battered campaign undermined by poor organization, lack of coordination and an ineffective candidate.

Those individual observations are supported by a recent ABC News survey conducted of 500 registered New Hampshire Democratic voters. Glenn received the support of a surprisingly small 12 percent of those polled.

That placed Glenn only 1 percentage point ahead of Jesse L. Jackson, while the gap between the senator and former Vice President Walter F. Mondale has widened to 38 percentage points in the state which holds the nation's first primary.

An earlier poll, conducted by the Boston Globe in mid-December, found that New Hampshire Democrats likely to vote in their late February primary preferred Mondale over Glenn by a substantial 46-16 margin.

In Iowa, which holds its precinct caucuses one week before New Hampshire's primary, a mid-January survey commissioned by the Des Moines Register produced a similarly wide 49-20 margin between Mondale and Glenn.

What's happening here? Are we witnessing the inexorable declination of Glenn's once vaunted presidential campaign? Some political observers believe that's exactly what's occurring not only here and in Iowa but elsewhere in the nation.

During the recently highly publicized eight-candidate debate at Dartmouth College in Hanover, Glenn was notably unimpressive throughout most of the three-hour-long event.

With the exception of two verbal assaults on Mondale, which many in the audience believe were effectively rebutted, Glenn almost faded into the woodwork which formed the backdrop for the debate participants.

Glenn's closest advisers already are promoting a political strategy of limited expectations for the next two months. To remain a viable contender after the first round of voting, they claim, he need only emerge from Iowa and New Hampshire as the second of two leading candidates.

the highway agency to suppress the pre-stressed technology. A leading industry publication called Nader "half cocked" and quoted an agency official describing him as "amatourish."

But Nader's suspicion of a cozy relationship between the highway agency and the private contractors is supported by one shocking development. The FHWA awarded a lucrative contract to study the claim that pre-stressed concrete would use less material. The contract went to the Portland Cement Association.

The highway agency's own project manager for the study, Floyd Stanek, recommended no more than 6 inches of concrete in the pre-stressed method. But not surprisingly, the cement association recommended 8-inch-thick pavement — 33 percent more concrete. Not only that, but the cement association's report stated that Stanek had concurred in the 8-inch recommendation.

"I went through the roof," Stanek recalls. He wrote letters and spoke out against the wasteful 8-inch recommendation. His reward was an official reprimand and orders from his boss, Richard A. McComb, to "stop all your work on ... pre-stressed pavement papers."

Fred Lang, an engineer who invented one of the techniques used in pre-stressing, said: "Everybody can make money by not going to pre-stressed pavement. The cement industry can make more money. The steel industry can sell more steel. Everybody wins ... except the taxpayers and the riding public." Lang, incidentally, said that six inches of concrete is perfectly adequate for pre-stressed pavement.

Footnote: William Young, president of the Portland Cement Association, said that while the pre-stressed method has "definite applications, it is not pre-eminent in the field The initial cost of laying it is higher than the conventional method." He said he is "mystified" by Nader's accusations.

23 Men In Competition For BSP's 1984 Mr. Legs

Who's to judge the impact that a man's legs may trigger

Usually, it's a woman's shapely legs that grab all the attention in competitive beauty contests - as well as on the street, in the factory, in the office or in the kitchen.

A man's legs are not considered his most masculine attributes. His bulging biceps are likely to be admired to a much greater degree than his protruding patellas.

But not always.

Last year the Sanford Beta Sigma Phi chapters conducted a Mr. Legs Contest in conjunction with the annual Valentine Charity Ball. The contest generated so much enthusiasm that it is being repeated again this year, according to Susan Byrd.

Count on Sanford-Seminole men to always show their colors in the name of charity including exhibiting their legs publicly in a community-oriented contest.

There are 23 contestants in this year's Mr. Legs Contest. And one will receive the coveted "Mr. Legs" title at the ball, on Feb. 11, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Sanford Civic Center. Tickets, at $15 a couple, and reservations are available through all Beta Sigma members or by calling Norma Loepp, 323-7921.

And a queen will also be crowned from among the chapter Valentine Girls. Music will be provided by Best of Friends and a cash bar will be available.

Cheryl Burch is ball chairman and Margie Beine is ball hostess. Betty Jack, president of Beta Sigma Phi City Council says she is optimistic that the ball will be a sellout with perhaps the largest attendance to date.

There's more. Door prizes include: a $450 diamond necklace donated by R.B.I. Jewelers, Sanford; two dinner cruises aboard the Star of Sanford; a $50 gift certificate from Lois' Place, Sanford; a $50 color analysis from Color Me A Season, donated by Brenda Elswick; a gift certificate from Aggie's Restaurant; and a macramé hanging made by sorority member Cathy McNabb.

Photographs of the contestants' legs (identified by number only) will be on display at the civic center. Ball patrons will be provided with ballots to cast their votes for their favorite pair of legs.

Mr. Legs contestants are still being accepted. Each contestant must have a sponsor who pays a $25 entry fee. These funds are reverted to BSP charitable projects in the community.

In competition for Beta Sigma Phi's 1984 Mr. Legs and their sponsors are: Butch Coombs, Butch's Chevron Station, Sanford; Larry Elswick, Elswick Roofing, Sanford; Mark Carl, Carl's Produce, Sanford; Wayne Crocker, sponsored by self; Randy Davis, Just A Trim Beauty Salon, Lake Mary; Jim Blake, Blake, McIntyre Insurance, Longwood; and Rick Russi, Tony Russi Insurance, Sanford.

Also: Mike Gray, Cleveland and Bridges Attorneys At Law, Sanford; Dr. Hugh Hughston, Winter Park dentist; Dr. John Schaffer, Sanford; Jim Dawson, Seminole County School Board; Bill Bernosky, Sanford Police Department; and Abbott Herring, Sanford attorney.

Also: Chris Anderson, Lutz Landscaping, Sanford; Kit Carson, Seminole Sunrise Kiwanis Club; Patrick Stenstrom, Stenstrom Realty, Sanford; Dr. Kenneth Wing, Sanford; Dr. Narinder Aujla, Sanford; Dr. Russell K. Shaw, Sanford; Jim Dunn, Jim's Automotive, Sanford; Peter Brotsch, R.B.I. Jewelers, Sanford; and Rick Orem, office of Dr. Humberto Dominguez, Deltona.

Freeze-Damaged Palms Subject To Diseases

Most palm trees grown in Central Florida will tolerate the normal freeze but this winter the damage may be more extensive than it appears now. Cold weather slows down the growth of palms, reduces the activity of the roots, and often weakens the plant to the point where a disease can become active and kill the palm. Severe cold damage from frost or freezing temperatures destroys plant tissues and may severely reduce water conduction in the trunk for years. Often the only above-ground portion of a cold damaged palm that is still alive is the protected bud. As warmer weather returns primary or secondary plant pathogens often attack weakened plants through damaged tissue. For this reason, it is important that several steps be taken to insure protection of the healthy bud until active growth returns.

First remove the cold damaged portion of the leaves. Leaves should not be completely removed if they are green even if they are spotted from the cold. The green intact portions of the palm are important to assure adequate photosynthesis during the recovery state.

Immediately after pruning, spray the palms with a fungicide containing copper at the recommended rate on the package. Include a spreader sticker. Repeat the copper days later.

Changing the subject, this article concludes my contribution on home gardening. Since April of 1983 the Seminole County Agricultural Extension Office has been operating without an urban horticulturist and I have tried to fill that void along with my other duties. In the fall, the Board of County Commissioners upgraded the urban horticulturist position to a professional agent position. We feel very fortunate to have a highly qualified person to fill this position effective Jan. 23. Alfred Bessensen will be responsible for the overall urban horticultural Extension program in Seminole County. Within the next few weeks, we shall resume the monthly training programs and seminars and the various other educational programs that have been put on the "back burner" for the past nine months.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the public for the many positive comments on this column and I know you will support the new horticulturist as he develops an urban horticulture program that will help make it possible to have the quality of life in Seminole County that we all strive for.

spray in 10 days after the first treatment. In all cases these sprays must cover the damaged tissue and healthy bud thoroughly.

Warmer weather promotes rapid growth and thus helps palms recover. Fertilizer should be applied in the early spring and repeated every three or four months. If the palms are too tall to apply fungicide sprays, the fertilization becomes even more important.

Occasionally, cold damage is so severe or disease has already progressed to the point where the spear leaf becomes loose and pulls out easily. With these palms, there is still a chance of recovery if the meristem (growth point) is alive. To treat these palms, remove as much dead and decaying material from around the bud as possible so it can dry out. Drench with a copper fungicide in the bud rising the force of the sprayer to clean out the bud as much as possible. Follow up ten

'Happy' Son Is Nursed In Unhealthy Situation

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just returned from visiting my sister in Hawaii. She has two children, Sonny, 6, and Girlie, who is nearly 3. The first day we were there, we were all sitting around talking when Sonny walked over to his mother, unbuttoned her blouse and began to nurse! Sis acted as though it was nothing unusual; in fact, she was very cooperative while that 6-year-old boy stood there nursing!

I almost fell out of the chair! Later I asked Sis privately why she hadn't weaned the boy long ago, and she said she had, but after Girlie was born, Sonny became jealous, so to keep him quiet she started giving him her breast after she finished nursing Girlie, and now she couldn't break him of it.

When I told her I thought it was psychologically unhealthy for the boy, she became defensive and insisted there was nothing wrong with keeping him "happy" this way.

Abby, my sister is an intelligent, educated woman. I would like your opinion.

MAINLAND VISITOR
DEAR VISITOR: I agree with you. It is a very unhealthy situation.

There is a strong possibility that your sister resumed nursing Sonny not only to pacify him and alleviate his jealousy, but also to fill an unconscious need in herself to be needed.

In any case, it is imperative that your sister discuss this with her doctor. And the sooner, the better.

DEAR ABBY: I know I did a foolish and dishonest thing, but it's too late now and I'm in terrible trouble. Two years ago I married a man who was divorced and had three grown children. He's 45 and I'm 36. We agreed that we would have no children.

Dear

I wanted just one child from him so I cheated and went off the pill and became pregnant immediately. When I told him, he hit the ceiling. He has given me a choice - him or the baby. Abby, I want this child, but I love my husband and don't want to lose him.

I thought he would change his mind about having another child once I got pregnant, but he's firm in his decision and now I'm in a terrible position. Please help me.

IMPOSSIBLE DECISION

DEAR IMPOSSIBLE: In order to make a decision you can live with you need professional counseling with a therapist who will hear both you and your husband out. Please don't make any decision until you get this kind of help. And urge your husband to go with you.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, the subject of "religious preferences" for pets came up, and you said, "Pets raised in a Christian home are assumed to be Christian, and pets raised in a Jewish home are assumed to be Jewish."

Abby, not all pets accept the religion of their masters, even though you once knew a Jewish terrier who refused all food that wasn't kosher. That canine puts my Boston terrier, Benny, to shame!

When I was 9 years old, one Friday my mother had thoughtlessly prepared a lunch of pork and beans. I saved the day by suggesting, "Give the pork and beans to Benny - he's not Catholic."

She did, and Benny gobbled it up!

Benton's Back, Tribe Tops Lyman

Codrey Cries Foul After Loss To DeLand; Nelson, Lady Lions Win

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Prep Basketball

Although she was out sick for four days, Sanford Seminoles' Mona Benton wasted no time getting on track when she returned to the hardwood. The junior guard scored 10 points Thursday night and did a good defensive job on Lyman's high-scoring Valerie "Pam" Jackson in the second half to boost the Lady Seminoles to a 53-44 victory over the Lady Greyhounds in Five Star Conference basketball action at Seminole High.

"Benton hasn't practiced all week and missed Monday's game because she was sick," Seminole coach Ron Merthle said. "But, she came in and did a super job tonight."

Seminole improved to 18-5 overall and 11-1 in the conference while Lyman, which had its winning streak snapped at five, fell to 12-5 overall and 8-5 in the conference. Lyman had won six of its last seven games.

Seminole is back in action Monday in another important game as the Lady Tribe meets Lake Howell's Lady Hawks at Lake Howell. Lyman is back in action Tuesday as it hosts Daytona Beach Mainland.

Benton was joined in double figures by senior center Dieldre Hillery and senior guard Maxine Campbell who scored 14 points each to offset the 22-point performance of Jackson (13 in the first half).

Hillery also grabbed a game-high 14 rebounds and Catherine Anderson had another good game underneath with 10 rebounds. Jackson and Denise Stevens led Lyman with eight rebounds apiece.

The Lady Seminoles came out in an unfamiliar manner, as they slowed the ball down on offense instead of the usual relentless running game. "We tried a lot of different things tonight," Merthle said. "We're want to become a well-rounded team in all phases of the game."

While Seminole was working on its deliberate offensive attack, Jackson was sizzling from the outside. The Greyhounds' senior weeks. Carpenter should be an important player off the bench for the Lady Tribe down the stretch.

LYMAN (44) — Bouey 4, Carman 0, Forsyth 8, Goroum 8, Jackson 22, Stevens 4 Totals: 17 10 15 44

SEMINOLE (53) — Anderson 4, Benton 10, Campbell 14, Carpenter 1, Hillery 14, Pringle 1, Smith 4, Stallsforth 5 Totals: 22 9 13 53

Halftime — Lyman 25, Seminole 21. Fouls — Lyman 13, Seminole 14. Fouled out — none. Technicals — none.

In junior varsity action Thursday, Seminole played most of the fourth quarter with only four players and survived a Lyman last-minute comeback attempt as the JV Tribe came away with a 44-42 victory.

Seminole held a 10-point lead, 36-26, after three quarters of play, but Lyman used its one-player advantage and came back to within three points, 44-41, with 1:18 left. Lyman cut the lead to two, 44-42, with 19 seconds left and had a chance to tie with 10 seconds left but couldn't come up with a bucket.

DELAND — "We never stood a chance. It was like Custer's last stand."

That was the reaction of Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey after his Lady Silver Hawks dropped a 76-55 decision to DeLand's Lady Bulldogs Thursday night in Five Star Conference action at DeLand High.

Lake Howell was whistled for 32 fouls Thursday night, compared to just 15 for DeLand. DeLand shot 47 free throws. Lake Howell 16. Three Lake Howell starters fouled out in the third quarter.

"We've only outfouled a team once this season (against Seabreeze) and that's when we got behind and had to foul," said Codrey, who was whistled for two technicals, and left court on two occasions, the second time taking his reserves with him with 1:02 left to play in the game.

Codrey said Friday morning he pulled his bench players as a precautionary measure. "The DeLand players were threatening my girls and it got to the point that we had to get out of there," Codrey said assistant coach Mike Hargis ran the team in his absence.

"I never thought this kind of thing could happen," said Codrey. "They (officials Bobby Wyche of DeLand and Jim Clark of Palatka) did a job on us. We were playing a zone defense the whole first half. They shot 25 free throws in the third quarter and we didn't get into the one-and-one until late in the fourth quarter."

Codrey also thought his two technicals were uncalled for. "One time I went onto the floor because Kathy Barma got knocked out," he said. "I don't even know what the other technical was for."

"But (DeLand coach) Clifford Cox was swearing and tearing and nothing was done to him."

Codrey also said Cox was talking to his players and at one point he said something "to one of our guards" which caused the girl to curse Cox. "Cox was screaming at our players all night."

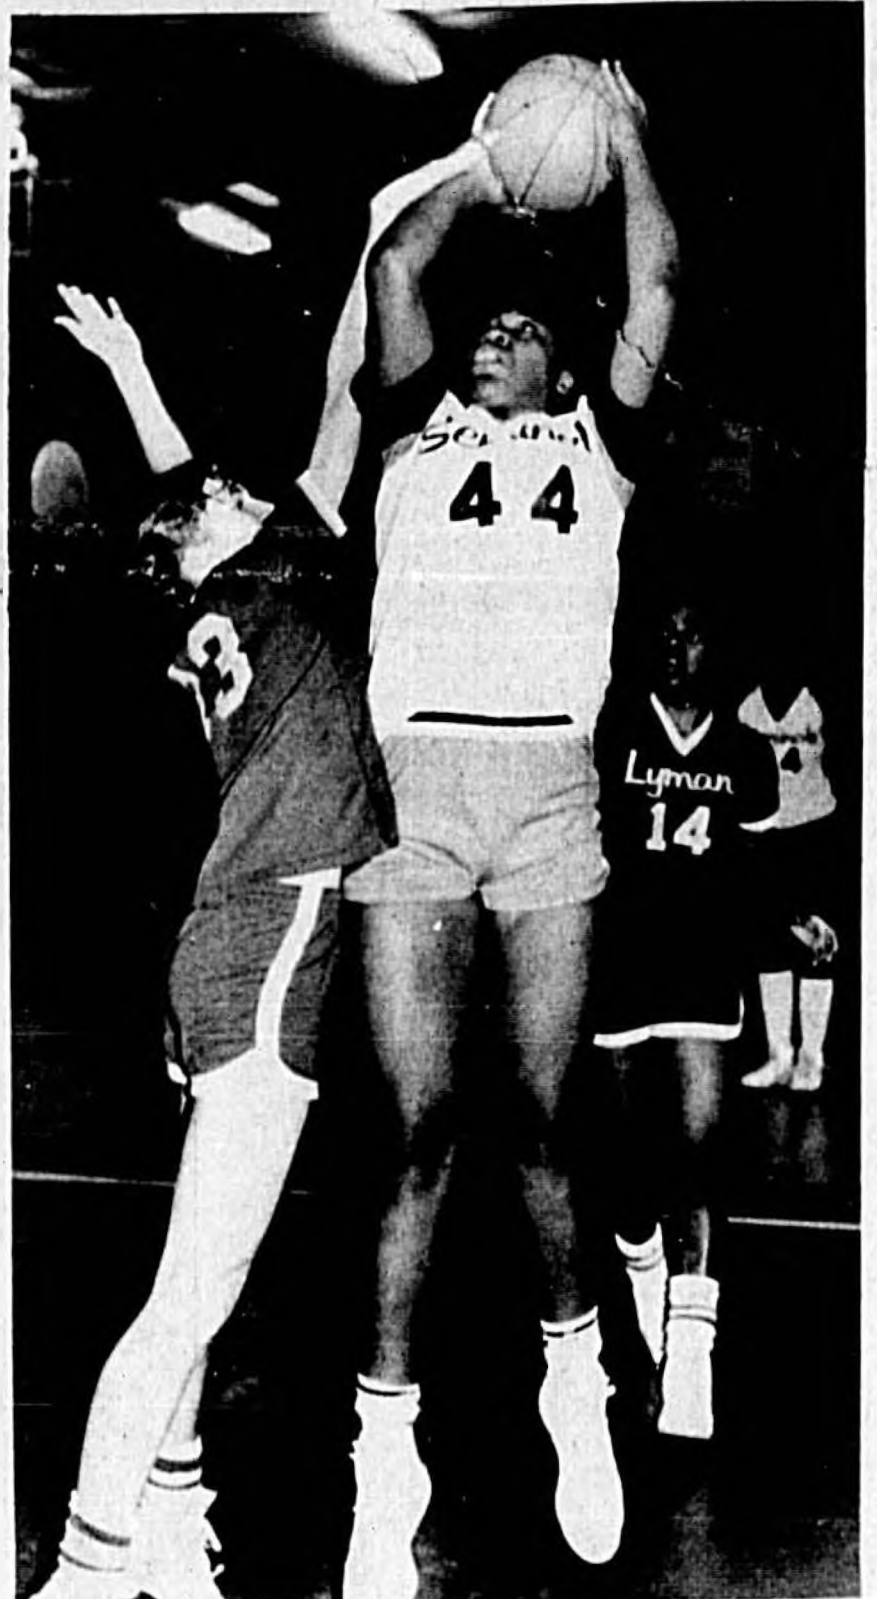

After taking a 10-point lead, 33-23 at halftime, the Lady Bulldogs pulled away in the third quarter, outscoring the Lady Hawks, 27-14, to take a 60-37 lead into the fourth quarter. The foul situation at the end of three quarters was, Lake Howell 29, DeLand 7.

Leading scorer Tammy Johnson, leading rebounder Janene Brown and guard Barma all fouled out in the third quarter.

The loss drops Lake Howell to 16-7 overall and 8-4 in the conference while DeLand improved to 17-3 overall and 10-2 in the conference, one game behind league-leading Seminole. Lake Howell has another tough game Monday as it hosts Seminole.

Bridgette Gordon poured in a game-high 36 points for DeLand Thursday and she spent a lot of time at the charity stripe, hitting 12 of 21 free throws. Nikki Williams and Tonya Roberts added 13 points each for the Lady Bulldogs.

Tammy Johnson led Lake Howell with 12 points before fouling out early in the third quarter. Christy Scott added eight points for the Lyman's Kim Forsyth goes high in the air in an attempt to block a shot by Seminole's Dieldre Hillery in Five Star Conference game Thursday night at Seminole High. Forsyth got her hand on the ball, but Seminole emerged with a victory to move a step closer to the Five Star title. The Tribe, 11-1, lead DeLand, 10-2, by one game with six left to play. Seminole hosts third-place Lake Howell in a key game Monday night.

Noles Seek To Avoid Upset Against 'Hounds

Just a year ago tonight, coach Chris Marlette took a confident group of his Sanford Fighting Seminoles into Lyman High School's gymnasium looking for a Five Star Conference victory.

The Tribe was in line for a conference championship and Lyman was hanging around the middle of the pack. Sanford had the game under control until the closing quarter when Greg Pilot and James Stewart led a spirited Lyman comeback which overcame Seminole for the victory.

"Yes, I remember that one very well," said Lyman coach Tom Lawrence. "But, it's going to be tough to pull another one off like that one."

The Greyhounds are experiencing growing pains and grade-point average strains. They lost Stewart and third guard Lavechee Nelson to academic difficulties earlier this week. Sophomore guard T.J. Scaletta has filled in admirably, but Lyman is stumbling through a 2-13 season.

"Scaletta handles the ball well and hustles like crazy," said Lawrence about the 5-8 guard who joins Reggie Douglas, Greg Pilot, Greg Walker and Ralph Philpot in the starting five. "We've been in about every game, but we don't have the people to pull them out."

Marlette, meanwhile, hopes that trend will continue tonight at Seminole High School. The Tribe, 13-6 and 7-4, was knocked out of Five Star race Tuesday with a loss to Mainland. Seminole goals now take the form of another 20-victory season and a good seed in the district tournament.

Tonight's Action

"We've had two good days of practice," said Marlette. "We can't worry about last year. We're very ready to play Lyman."

Willie Mitchell, averaging 18 points and almost 11 rebounds per outing, lead the Seminole attack. Juniors Kenny Gordon and James Rouse are coming off a good game (16 points each) against Mainland. Jimmy Gilchrist, a 6-4 center, and Bruce Franklin, the county leader in assists, complete the starting unit.

Elsewhere on the county cage scene, Lake Mary assistant coach Fred Tombras looks for his second win in coach Willie Richardson's absence (operation for a disc problem in his back) when the Rams go to Port Orange to play 11-1 Spruce Creek.

Sanford's Bill Wahl scorches a drive off the No. 7 tee in Thursday's first round of the Mayfair Open. Wahl, who just moved to Sanford, fired in 77 Thursday. He and the rest of the field trail leader Allen Pate, who fired a near-course record 63. The two-day tournament will be completed today.

Pate's Sizzling 63 Grabs Open Lead

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Allen Pate is no relation to Jerry Pate, the PGA's famed pond jumper, but it may take more than one of Mayfair's four waterholes to cool off this red-hot golfer.

Pate fired a sizzling nine-under par 63 Thursday to take a two-stroke lead over almost-as-hot Wally Armstrong in the first round of the Mayfair Open at the pretty Sanford country club.

Pate toured the front nine with a 33. Then he picked it up over the back nine, notching eagles on the 12th and 14th holes, both par fives. Pate's total effort included two eagles, seven birdies and two bogies.

When he birdied the 18th hole, he fell just one shot short of Stan Mozell's course-record 62, which he established in 1958.

Armstrong wasn't too shabby either. The veteran pro used three birds and an eagle (the eighth hole) on the front for a

Mayfair Golf

33. Five birdies on the back gave him a 33 for his 65.

Last year's winner, Don Shirey, started spectacularly by aching the 190-yard seventh hole, but then pulled his drive out of bounds on the 14th holes and stumbled in with a 74.

His hole-in-one, nevertheless, was the shot of the day. "I hit it about five yards from the hole, then it just trickled and trickled and trickled," said the 27-year-old pro from Fort Payne, Ala.

Although the golfers tore up the course in Thursday's ideal conditions, Mayfair general manager Rudy Sella doesn't see that happening today. "The tees are way back and the pin placements are tougher," said Sella. "The biggest factor, though, is the wind. It's about 20 miles per hour."

Santa Fe Trips SCC

Santa Fe took advantage of Seminole Community College's poor second-half free throw shooting to build a big lead en route to a 78-59 victory over the Lady Raiders in women's basketball action Thursday night at the SCC Health Center.

SCC fell to 8-15 overall and 1-2 in the conference. The Lady Raiders are back in action Saturday at 5 p.m. as they host Skagit Valley, Wash.

Juana Colett led the way for SCC Thursday with 18 points and she also pulled down 12 rebounds. Val Roessler added 11 points before fouling out and Sue Winterheiner had one of her best games of the season, scoring nine points, pulling down a game-high 21 rebounds and blocking six shots.

Upstart Georgia Tech Chants For Tar Heels

By United Press International
Bring on North Carolina!

Georgia Tech fans have good reason for that battle cry following Thursday's 59-52 victory over Clemson — a win that put the once-lowly Yellow Jackets in second place in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings behind the Tar Heels.

The game shared the spotlight with an equally important contest in Durham, N.C., where Lorenzo Charles scored 27 points and Anthony "Spud" Webb added 19 to lead North Carolina State over Duke 79-76, dropping the Blue Devils to the bottom of the ACC standings.

All the league squads are idle tonight, but on Saturday there will be plenty of action: Georgia Tech at North Carolina, No. 5 Maryland at Notre Dame, 17th-ranked Wake Forest hosting Virginia and Duke at Clemson.

Georgia Tech, now 11-5, pushed its ACC record to 4-1 in a game that was tied 50-50 with 3:38 to play. Twenty-three seconds later, Anthony Byrd pushed Georgia Tech into the lead for good by hitting a set shot from the corner.

Clemson lost a chance to tie when Chris Michael scored the front end of a 1-and-1 free throw attempt. The Yellow Jackets then slowed down play, forcing Clemson to foul. Georgia Tech scored its last seven points from the free-throw line to seal the victory.

"It was an excellent win against a very fine team," Yellow Jacket coach Bobby Cremins said afterward. "We came into this season with a goal of playing .500 basketball in the conference. We've reset our goals now. We'd like to make it to the NCAA playoffs although we realize we've got to improve even more to do that."

Mark Price led Georgia Tech with 15 points. He also got seven steals — a record for a Clemson opponent. John Salley had 14 points for the Yellow Jackets, while center Murray Jarman led Clemson with 16 points.

The Duke-North Carolina State game saw the visiting Wolfpack build a 38-31 halftime lead, expand that margin to 13 points in the second period and then watch that lead shrink to just two points before emerging with the victory.

Forward Mark Alarie led Duke with a career-high 27 points despite having to recover from the flu. Johnny Dawkins, the Blue Devils' usual mainstay, failed to score a point in the first half and finished with a season-low 11 points.

"The stats are really weird," Blue Devil coach Mike Krzyzewski said afterward. "They outbounced us by plenty (40-25), but we forced 27 turnovers. We only shot 12 of 25 from the free-throw line. Like I said, it was just a weird game."

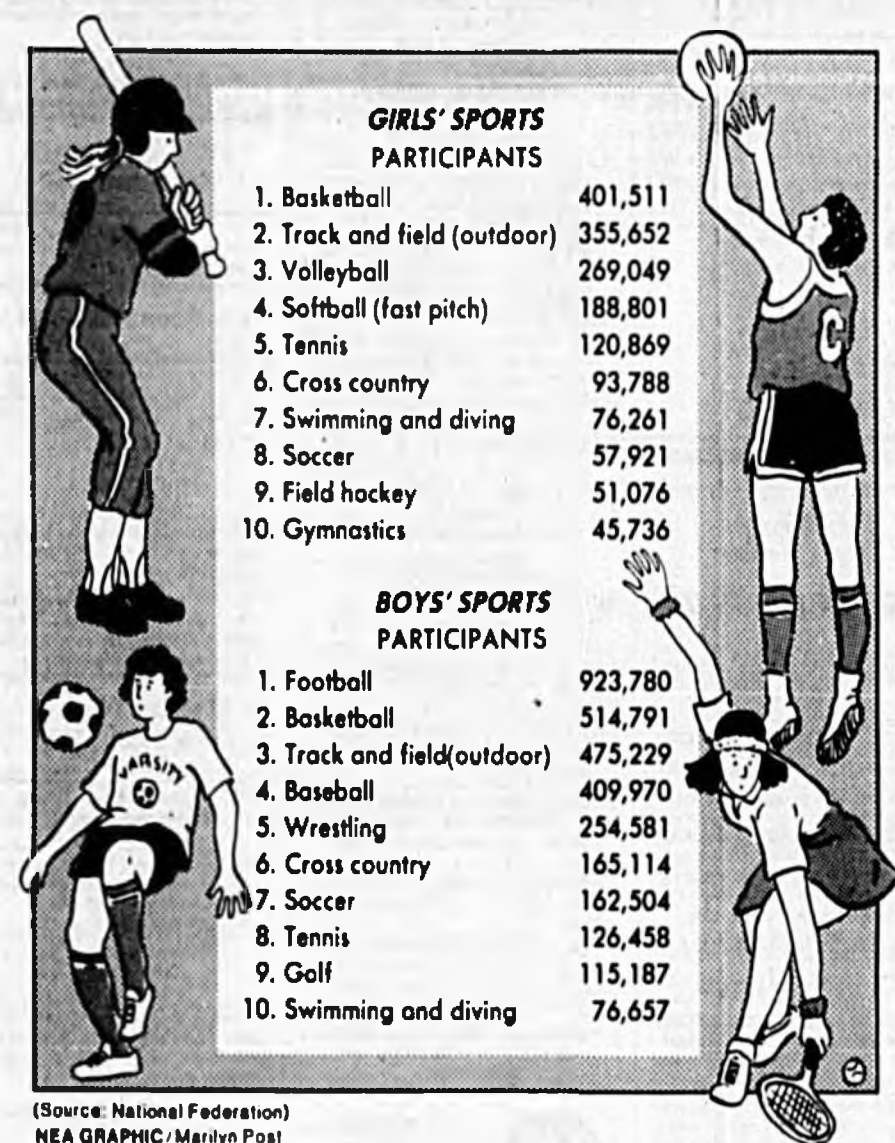

"At key times in the game, we gambled on defense and, when we gambled, they scored," he added. "We made some glaring mistakes offensively, we got their lead down to 3 points and then we take a 20-foot jump shot — that's just not a smart thing to do."

Webb said afterward that he played an up-tempo game on coach Jim Valvano's instructions, shooting whenever he found himself open. For a team, the Wolfpack made over 60 percent of its field goal attempts and 19 of 22 free-throw tries.

"They gave us some trouble at the end, because Dawkins and the other players weren't going to give it up," Webb said. "So we had to be strong."

Jack-O-Lure Could Relieve Greyhound Racing Stigma

The biggest public relation problem greyhound racing has is the use of live rabbits in the training of greyhounds.

Horses can have grown men on top of them pounding them with a whip and that's not cruel. Major grocery companies can have their beef inoculated several days before slaughtering, causing them to suffer great pain for the last few days of their life in the interest of more tender steaks — but that's not cruel.

Let a greyhound do what it was born to do and has done for the past 5,000 years — kill a rabbit — and that is cruel. One small digression. Licensed greyhound tracks have nothing to do with live or dead animals of any kind acting as a lure. By the time the greyhound arrives at the track he is already supposed to be trained.

At the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, we use a lure which is shaped like two rabbits. But we could hang a can of beans on that arm and the greyhounds would still chase it. They chase by sight and sound — not by smell.

Okay — now back to the main thrust of this article.

The greyhound was not brought to the United States as a racing animal. It was brought to this country specifically to rid the Midwest of jack rabbits.

In the late 19th century some obscure Kansas farmer visited England and saw a "hound" that could run faster and cut quicker than any animal he had ever seen. It was just the kind of thing his farm needed to rid it of the menacing vermin that yearly destroyed his crop.

The Jack rabbit is a far cry from the fluffy bunny that as children we associated with Easter. It is a long-eared ugly version of a rat. It is more a rat than a rabbit. It is hated in the Midwest.

Less than two years ago just one part of southern Idaho was overrun by Jack rabbits. They multiply like — well — like rabbits. In just one short month over $2 million worth of crops was destroyed. Just think how many millions of dollars yearly are lost in the Midwest due to this country cousin of the rat.

The greyhound was the favorite hunting dog of Cleopatra. There are pictures drawn of it on the walls of tombs from that era. Down through the years the greyhound has been considered the ultimate hunting hound.

The killing of these rabbits, however, still remains our a p.r. problem. There is a move on to remedy the situation. An old invention is being modernized and refined to help solve this problem.

Discarded years ago as a poor substitute for the "real thing" the Jack-O-Lure is now being given another serious look by the raisers of greyhounds.

Basically, what it is a long-tailed lure attached to a very long line. This line is attached to a motor which reels the lure at a very high rate of speed.

The lure can be made to bounce, twist and turn along the ground similar to the movements of a Jack rabbit. Greyhound farmers are hoping to perfect it so that the one major "stigma" in greyhound racing can be erased.

The rest of the farmers in the Midwest will have to deal with the Jack rabbits on their own.

PICK SIXING — The biggest pick six of the year went down Tuesday night. One ticket split by two patrons paid $54,000. By the time Uncle Sam took out his 20 percent the two lucky patrons each got a check for $20,000.

By the way, any time you win more than $10,000 out here we will pay you by check. Believe me — it's for your own protection. Don't worry, the check is always good.

UCF NIGHT — We have had a slight change in our schedule for the rest of the season at SOKC.

This Tuesday night will be our special University of Central Florida scholarship night. It was originally scheduled for Friday afternoon, Feb. 17.

But SOKC boss Jerry Collins wanted to give the university a better performance. We don't normally run Friday afternoons. So another time when we normally hold a performance was set aside to raise money for football scholarships at the local college.

This means our season will be extended by one day. We were originally scheduled to close April 30. Now we will close May 1.

rest of the league — especially 10-2 Mainland — a favor by upsetting the Creek. Double-figure scorers Fred Miller, Billy Dunn and Darryl Merthie lead the Ram attack.

The three other county cage teams are also on the road. Lake Brantley, 5-13, travels to Daytona Beach to take on powerful, fourth-ranked Mainland. Lake Howell journeys to DeLand and Oviedo. 7-10, travels to Orlando to battle rival Bishop Moore.

The Silver Hawks, 2-14, have the hottest item going with guard Efreim Brooks. The junior shooter drilled Lake Mary for 30 points Tuesday to up his average to 18.2 per game. He is also among the leaders in rebounds, assists, steals and foul shooting.

In wrestling action tonight, Seminole goes to Lake Mary in a big county rivalry. The Rams, though, have not lost a dual meet while Seminole has just one win to show for its efforts.

Lyman travels to Oak Ridge for another dual.

In soccer action, Seminole seeks its second victory at DeLand while Oviedo travels to Trinity Prep.

Winter Park Nips Tomcats; Dixon, Lewis Take Players Of Week Awards

In a battle of unbeaten, Winter Park nipped the South Seminole Tomcats, 30-28, to take over first place in the Inter-County Basketball Association's JV Boys division.

Terry Dixon led Winter Park with 15 including the winning basket with less than a minute to play. Terry Gaines added six. Danny Rubin led South Seminole with 11. Larry Watkins had five. Rob Crager and Willy Daunic four each.

Both teams had won two days before. Winter Park defeated the Milwee (Eastmonte) Greyhounds, 34-20. It was the Dixon-Gaines one-two punch again with 17 and 13 for Winter Park. Jarvis Watkins led Milwee with nine. Steve Jerry added seven. South Seminole bumped the Westmont Warriors 42-21. Brad Bolton and J.J. Miller were high with 10 apiece. Crager added six, Larry Watkins, Rubin and Delmon Simpson four each. Chris Wittingham led Westmonte with 13. Brooke Winn had eight.

In other JV division games, Westmonte nipped the Jackson Heights 76'ers, 35-33 and Milwee ran away from the Tuskawilla Warriors. Wittingham led Westmonte again with 15. Winn had 11 and Tracey McBride had seven. Lorenzo Brooks and Charles Knotts scored 10 each for the 76'ers. Tyrone Hird added nine. Watkins pumped in 26 for Milwee. Anthony Bailey scored 18. Frank Dixon and Mike Whittington added eight each. Chris Carney led Tuskawilla with seven. Orlando Cartagena had four.

Winter Park also stayed on top of the boys Varsity (8th grade) division as they topped the Milwee (Eastmonte) Greyhounds, 46-38. Big 6-3 Terano Walker and tough rebounding Ed Simmons were the big guns for Winter Park with 10 each. Terry "double-duty" Dixon had nine, Charlie Herman eight. Ike Felder led Milwee with 15. Willie Brown had seven.

The South Seminole Bobcats avenged an earlier Christmas Tourney defeat at the Hands of Tuskawilla, by winning 52-42. The Warriors trailed by only two, 14-12 at halftime but South Seminole outscored them 29-12 in the third quarter behind a full court trap, to wrap things up. Willy "another double-duty player" Daunic led the way with 15. Garth Bolton scored 13. Eric Wright and Brian Dill six each for South Seminole. Alan Greene led Tusky with 15. Gary Petersen had 12.

The Westmonte Patriots won a pair, 49-36 over the Jackson Heights Lions and 47-40 over the Jackson Heights Angelo's. Cory Prom led in the first with 16. Clay Thompson had eight. Steve Pantalaamen topped the Lions with 12. Chad Breneman had 10. It was Prom again against Angelo's with 17. Henry Kellom had 10. Able Fox the same. For Angelo's it was John Pettit with a big 26.

The Milwee Greyhounds came back to top Angelo's too, 60-21. Ike Felder and Shawn Martinson led the way with 13 each and Monte Stevens came through with hustle and six points off the bench. Rob King was top for Angelo's with eight and Steve Kandell did a fine job off the boards.

In girls' action the Jackson Heights Blue Bandits beat the Tuskawilla Warriors, 32-20. Betsy Hughes had the hot hand from outside with 14 while sister Suzanne added 10 from underneath. Vonya Hamilton added eight for the Bandits. Korenea Messer led Tuskawilla with eight. Shannon Pearson scored six.

Burger King Middle School ICBA Players of the Week for the second and third weeks of the season were announced. Terry Dixon of Winter Park won the boys honors in week two as did Tamara Lewis of the South Seminole Kittens in the girls play for week two.

Dixon had games of 22 and 17 in leading his mates to a pair of wins. Lewis scored 14 and dominated play with her ballhandling as South Seminole remained undefeated. Other second week nominees were Delmon Simpson and J.J. Miller of the South Seminole Tomcats. Danny Phillipa of the Jackson Heights Bruins, Cory Prom of Westmonte Pats, Craig Radzak of the Eastmonte Greyhounds and Korenea Messer of Tuskawilla girls.

When you lose a girl that's 6-1 and has been a starter for four years to injury, it's a big loss in more ways than one.

Fayette Robinson has hung up her gym shoes for a couple weeks now, but Oviedo girls basketball coach John Thomas finally thinks his team is starting to realize the talented center is gone for good.

"We were so dependent on Fayette. It was tough to play without her," said Thomas. "But I think we're finally starting to come around. We're starting to inch ahead."

The Lady Lions took a big step in that direction Thursday night as they hung a 43-33 setback on Bishop Moore in Orange Belt Conference play at Oviedo High School.

The victory improved the Lions' record to 7-10 and evened their mark in the conference at 3-3.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JANUARY 28, 1984
There are big changes in store for you socially this coming year. Before your next birthday you will be closely involved with an entirely new set of friends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you are planning something social today, do it with friends with whom you can completely relax and let your hair down. Avoid stuffy types. Major changes are in store for Aquarians in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predictions today. Mail #1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet, which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more.

FIBRES (Feb. 20-March 20) Do not deliberately seek challenging situations today, but know within yourself you have what it takes to come out on top if confronted by competition.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't get rattled today if you find yourself involved in a situation where you're a bit unsure of your ground. You'll adjust remarkably well.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In business dealings today, be as frank and forthright as possible. If you play it cagey, persons with whom you're involved will do the same.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Partnership situations should work out well for you today, provided you're prepared to play the supporting role. Let your cohort have top billing.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you hope to be a producer today, you must discipline yourself not to do things in fits and starts. Complete each task before moving onto the next.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't view participating in fun involvements as a frivolous waste of time today. You need relaxing activities to recharge your psyche.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Endings tend to work out the way you envision them today. If you see the results as beneficial, they will be. If you're negative, it's another story.

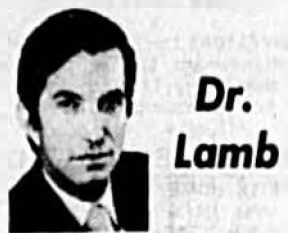

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's important to maintain a cheerful, optimistic outlook today. This will determine your mode of action. Positive thoughts get positive results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Financial matters should not be treated too lightly today because this could lead to regrets. Wipe the grin from your face where money is the issue.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's time to be more assertive in situations which affect your self-interests. Progress can be perked-up if you, not others, set the pace.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be helpful where you can today. Your greatest satisfaction will come from doing for others, rather than from advancing your own cause.

Long, Slow Run Better Than Short, Fast One

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can you settle an argument for me? Is it true that it's better to run less distance, faster, than it is to run a long distance, slower? I run two miles in about 10 minutes. My husband and friends say it's not doing me any good unless I push myself and go faster.

DEAR READER — Perhaps you should ask your husband what it is he thinks you should achieve with your exercise. What one should do for exercise depends entirely upon the goal.

I would have to disagree with him emphatically about the running program not doing you any good. Even walking is very beneficial for most people. If you are running to use calories, and the speed at which you now run enables you to run a longer distance, you will use more calories at your current speed, rather than by going faster for a shorter distance.

As you lose the calories, you will lose body fat. In fact, many overweight people find that running is too strenuous and are able to walk much greater distances than run. Because of this, walking may enable them to eliminate more calories than a short-duration running program. Running at your speed, you use about one and one-half times as many calories per mile than you would from walking.

Your heart and lung capacity will benefit from the present running program. Of course, if you wanted to train for competitive racing, you would need to increase your efforts. The mistake most people make with jogging is trying to run too fast. Exercising for a longer period of time is usually more beneficial than short sprints of intense physical activity.

There are many myths about exercise. I've discussed a number of them in The Health Letter 15-12, Exercise Wise, which I am sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A pipe-smoking friend of mine defends his habit by claiming it's not as harmful as cigarette smoking. Is this true? Also, lately I have been reading much about "second-hand smoking." Is my concern valid?

DEAR READER — It certainly is. Pipe smoking is usually not as harmful as cigarette smoking because most pipe smokers do not inhale their smoke. But if they smoke frequently the polluted air affects their lungs. It depends a lot on how they smoke.

Pipe smoke, as well as cigar smoke, emits more toxic smoke than cigarettes. That means the second-hand smoke is worse. The non-smoker is apt to have even more side-effects from exposure to a cigar-smoking or pipe-smoking companion.

Pipe smoke and cigar smoke in a closed room can quickly cause carbon monoxide levels to exceed those normally permitted for industrial safety.

Many former cigarette smokers switch to pipes or cigars. They often inhale and then they are worse off than they were when smoking cigarettes.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

would take the double out, so he jumped right to four spades, a contract he hoped would make.

West opened the king of clubs, and South played low from dummy. He felt that in all probability, East was void of clubs. He knew that this West was not inclined to make a two-level vulnerable overcall on a five-card suit and he did not want East to get the lead to return a heart.

This failure to play the ace from dummy represented one of the tricks of the trade.

Unfortunately for South, East was at least as familiar with tricks of the trade as was South.

He saw no value in his singleton trump except that it would take the first trick, assuming that West didn't hold seven clubs. So East ruffed his partner's trick and led a heart.

West got his two heart tricks and waited for the sure trump trick to leave declarer high and dry and one down.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby
North would have liked to double the two-club overcall with glue. In other words, he was sure he could defeat that contract but he knew that someone

The Circus Moves Out Of Center Ring

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

"I'm running away to join the circus" is a threat few parents will be hearing these days. The era of big top circuses, in their heyday in the 1920s, seems to be winding down.

Last year, only three canvas big tops with seating capacities of 3,000 or more made their way from town to town.

The circus is coming to Central Florida and if you'd like to run away with it you'll have to sneak in the through the backdoor of the Orange County

Civic Center because the big top isn't there to slip under any more.

Casting aside the $80,000 big top is just one of the changes that the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus, America's largest, has made to keep up with the changing times and economy. But, vows performance director Tim Holst, "We still bring you the greatest show on earth.

"The magic, the wonder and the fascination of a live performance is still there," Holst says. "But we have to work harder for the laughs and applause, because we have to train the audience to appreciate a live performance.

"People are used to watching television and are totally satisfied with that. The circus involves all of your senses and has the added charm of being something you can enjoy along with a variety of other people.

"The circus appeals to 100 percent of the population," Holst says. "There's only a small segment of the population who enjoy ballet or opera, but everybody can come to the circus, see the show, enjoy the color, the sights, the sound and the smells."

And an audience which responds to the excitement of the circus guarantee themselves a good show, according to animal trainer Mickey Antalek. "The animals perform in response to the audience. If the audience is enjoying the show my chimps start monkeying around and flirting with them. Performers aren't very different from the animals in that respect. The greater the reaction from the audience the more the performers will work to try to please and entertain.

"In the circus, the audience becomes a part of the show. And now that we work in arenas instead of the big top the audience is more comfortable, the atmosphere is clean and we don't have to worry about the weather. This has upgraded the image of the circus," Antalek says.

Circus music has also changed to appeal to a more sophisticated audience. The callope march music is still there but it has been toned down and has taken a back seat to Broadway show tunes, Holst says.

Modern costumes are strikingly colorful designs and the talent sporting those costumes are top performers who risk their lives to get a laugh, a gasp of astonishment or a round of applause from an audience that sometimes takes a few minutes to realize that a highwire artist is actually 35 feet above the ground performing his magic, or that a lion tamer risk becoming a meal when he puts his 'pets' through their paces, Holst says.

"It takes them awhile to realize that there are no gimmicks or trick camera angles involved with a circus performance. The performers are well trained, but when you subject yourself to the energy of a live show there is a risk of injury. This makes circus people care a lot for the people and the animals. We're a family which is going to give the public the best possible show and then after the show is over we have our routine lives to go back to."

But a circus worker's life isn't routine by common standards. Holst and his wife Linda and their two daughters Megan, 6, and Andrienne, 2, spend 10 1/2 months a year traveling from city to city with the circus.

To Holst, who started his career as a clown 13 years ago, his life is "like a good marriage with the circus and my family. I fell in love with the circus, because of what it does for people. It brings a lot of happiness. I really love my job and it's very satisfying to reach the public and to see them enjoying what we do."

The circus offers, "the best of all possible worlds for his family," he says, "because of the opportunity for travel and because we get to spend more time together than we would if we had an ordinary life."

Holst came from a middle class family, who didn't understand his fascination with the circus at first, but they are now happy about his chosen career. And he says it will be up to his children to decide for themselves if they want to stay with the circus, or seek a different type of life when they are grown.

They are being prepared for either choice, Holst says. Circus children are educated by tutors who travel with the show.

If you would like to escape with the circus for a few hours, visit the Orange County Civic Center Jan. 31 through Feb. 5. For a schedule of show times and ticket prices, which range from $4.50 to $8.50, depending on the time and the day of the show, contact the Civic Center or Select-A-Seat ticket outlets.

Police Concert Arresting

By Andrew J. Edelstein

The Police, unlike many other megastars, haven't been content to release formula LPs. Rather, each succeeding LP has expanded their musical frontiers, incorporating African and Caribbean rhythms in their material. In February, Showtime will air "The Police: The Synchronicity Concert," taped in November 1983 at the Omni in Atlanta. The concert captures the blond, Anglo-American trio at the height of their talents. The band has come a long way from the "white boys playing reggae" tag that detractors pinned on them six years ago.

The repertoire ranges from the newest songs "Synchronicity" and "King of Pain" to the old favorites such as "Walking on the Moon" and "Message in a Bottle." Members of the trio — Sting, Andy Summers and Stewart Copeland — play a variety of exotic percussion instruments and are augmented by three women backup singers.

Floyd Back In The Ring

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Yoko Ono, son Sean and beau Sam Habito had a bite at Serendipity the other day. They had Texas chili, foot long hotdogs and a surreptitious exit out the side door to duck the crowds.

Former heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson has entered the bureaucratic ring. He was appointed director of New York's Off Track Betting Corp. by Mayor Edward Irving Koch. "I'm on the committee that helps make decisions," Patterson said. "Actually, I don't know much about how it works because I'm no gambler. Even in the old days I never bet on myself. But I'm reading up on this OTB thing and I learn fast." Paterson, who's accustomed to big purses, will be paid on a per diem basis.

Jerry Hall and her sister Clady are quite busy these days. While Jerry's moving in on her longtime lover Mick Jagger, Clady's moving out on her short-term husband Robin Lehman, a film director who is of the ultra social, super financial Lehman Lehmanns.

Ariene Dahl's book, "Lovescopes," makes a marriage of love and astrology. It also makes her a world-class fortune teller. She claims: Lena Horne will dip into politics; Andy Warhol will invent a novel process of color photography; Prince Albert will play patty-cake with a lady older than he and not in favor with their Serenenesses; Jackie O will wed husband number three; and Barbra Streisand will fall in love with a guy not in showbiz.

Palmist Dorothy Greene-Pepper predicts that Martin Sheen will cop an Emmy for his JFK portrayal.

Disabled Guests Guide Book Available For Walt Disney World

Where can a Walt Disney World guest rent a wheelchair? Which attractions in the Magic Kingdom and Epcot Center are wheelchair accessible, and by what means? Where are the wheelchair accessible rest rooms, or telephones?

Answers to these questions, as well as information about accommodations for the sight- and hearing-impaired Walt Disney World guest, are provided in The Disabled Guests Guide Book now available to visitors of the Vacation Kingdom.

The guide book may be obtained at Guest Relations locations in City Hall (Magic Kingdom) and Earth Station (Epcot Center), or by writing to: Guest Letters Department, Walt Disney World, P.O. Box 40, Lake Buena Vista, 32830.

Walt Disney World also has established a special telephone information number for hearing-impaired individuals who use a Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) — a typewriter-like machine coupled to a telephone. Using the machine, the person can direct questions to a Walt Disney World representative by dialing (305) 824-4101.

Phone calls may be placed from Walt Disney World using TDD's located in City Hall and Earth Station. In addition, many telephones at Epcot Center and the Magic Kingdom are equipped with amplified handsets. Locations are detailed in the guide book.

Audio tours for sight-impaired visitors have been prepared on cassettes and are available, with a tape player, at Guest Relations locations at Epcot Center and the Magic Kingdom. The tapes orient the guest to the physical layout of attractions and the show contents. In addition, Braille menus have been developed for all waitress service restaurants.

The Disabled Guests Guide Book provides information about special parade viewing areas for wheelchair guests in the Magic Kingdom, as well as information about areas for wheelchairs at live entertainment shows.

Walt Disney World's handicapped accommodations have attracted attention from the National Association of Rehabilitation Facilities.

Variety And Price Make It Nice

Try Dining In Sanford: You'll Like It

Sanford is fortunate in having a variety of restaurants available, most of which offer substantial fare at moderate, if not downright, reasonable prices.

Anything from "down home country cookin'" to dishes with a touch of the international can be found in this community. Chicken and pizza are popular favorites, according to most restaurant owners interviewed, but so are steaks, seafood and other upscale dinners.

Breakfast seems to be a big deal at a small price here with many restaurants serving up platters of sausage gravy on biscuits or the more customary eggs, bacon and...

Restaurants which have been featured in this space during the past eight months exhibit a menu aimed at pleasing the local clientele. Keep it simple, as the expression goes, although simple does not mean without planning, care, thought and, of course, much hard work.

The results of the restaurant features in this space have been surprising to the dining place owners in many instances, bringing many new faces through their doors to try their tempting feasts.

A restaurant advertising on this page for 13 consecutive weeks is entitled to a feature article at least once during this period of the contract. No extra charge is made for this promotional story, which is usually handled through an interview with the owner or restaurant manager.

Multiply this by the average response to consistent advertising, and it is not difficult to understand the excellent reception to the whole program.

Cost of the program is minimal, based on a $4.45 per column inch rate for the weekly ad only. The feature appears Thursday in the Herald Advertiser and, again, on Friday in the Evening Herald's Leisure Magazine...in time for the weekend.

People everywhere enjoy going out and Sanford residents are no exception and, more than that, they like reading about their favorite restaurant, or one they have not visited in some time, or, perhaps, the "new eatery on the block."
