Apollo 17 'Moonbound'

By PAUL REICHER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The men of Apollo 17 streaked toward the moon today, leaving behind the cares of a crummy computer that delayed their journey for nearly three hours. They left on man's last planned 20th century lunar voyage with a liftoff lightshow which turned earth's night to noon.

"Good show, babe! Little late, but good show!" cried a relieved and elated commander Eugene A. Cernan as he and crewmates Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans rocketed away from Cape Kennedy.

"We had to work at it," said Mission Control. "Glad we made it."

"Guess who else is," said a happy Jack Schmitt, a Harvard-trained geologist who became the first American scientist in space.

After the launch, the first ever in darkness, the astronauts orbited earth twice and then were propelled on a path toward the moon, where they hope to find the missing links in man's knowledge of lunar evolution.

The smooth flight was blessed by only two small, nagging, but not serious problems. An alarm system in the cabin of the spacecraft was sounding without reason whenever the astronauts threw certain switches. Cernan also reported for a time that not all the latches which lock the command module and the lunar module together had operated.

Mission Control said the alarm system problem was not serious enough to affect the mission and the uncooperative latch later took hold.

It was a more serious problem earlier, however, that delayed Apollo 17's launch. Officials on the ground said the lost time would be recovered by a speeded up voyage to lunar orbit and Monday's moon landing would occur at the originally scheduled time.

A computer which refused to acknowledge a manual signal from launch control technicians caused the Apollo 17 countdown to stop less than a half minute before the huge Saturn 5 rockets were to ignite.

Battling against time, engineers at Cape Kennedy and at the Marshall Spaceflight Center at Huntsville, Ala., quickly developed and tested a plan to outwit the confused computer. The new system worked and Apollo 17 blasted into space at 12:31 a.m. EST, less than an hour before the ever-changing position of sun, earth and moon would have forced a 24-hour postponement.

Despite the countdown, the launch was smooth and spectacular. While hundreds of thousands of persons watched from Cape Kennedy viewing areas, the 36-story Saturn 5 rocket lifted slowly, majestically from its nest of concrete and steel, climbing into a nearly clear, black Florida sky.

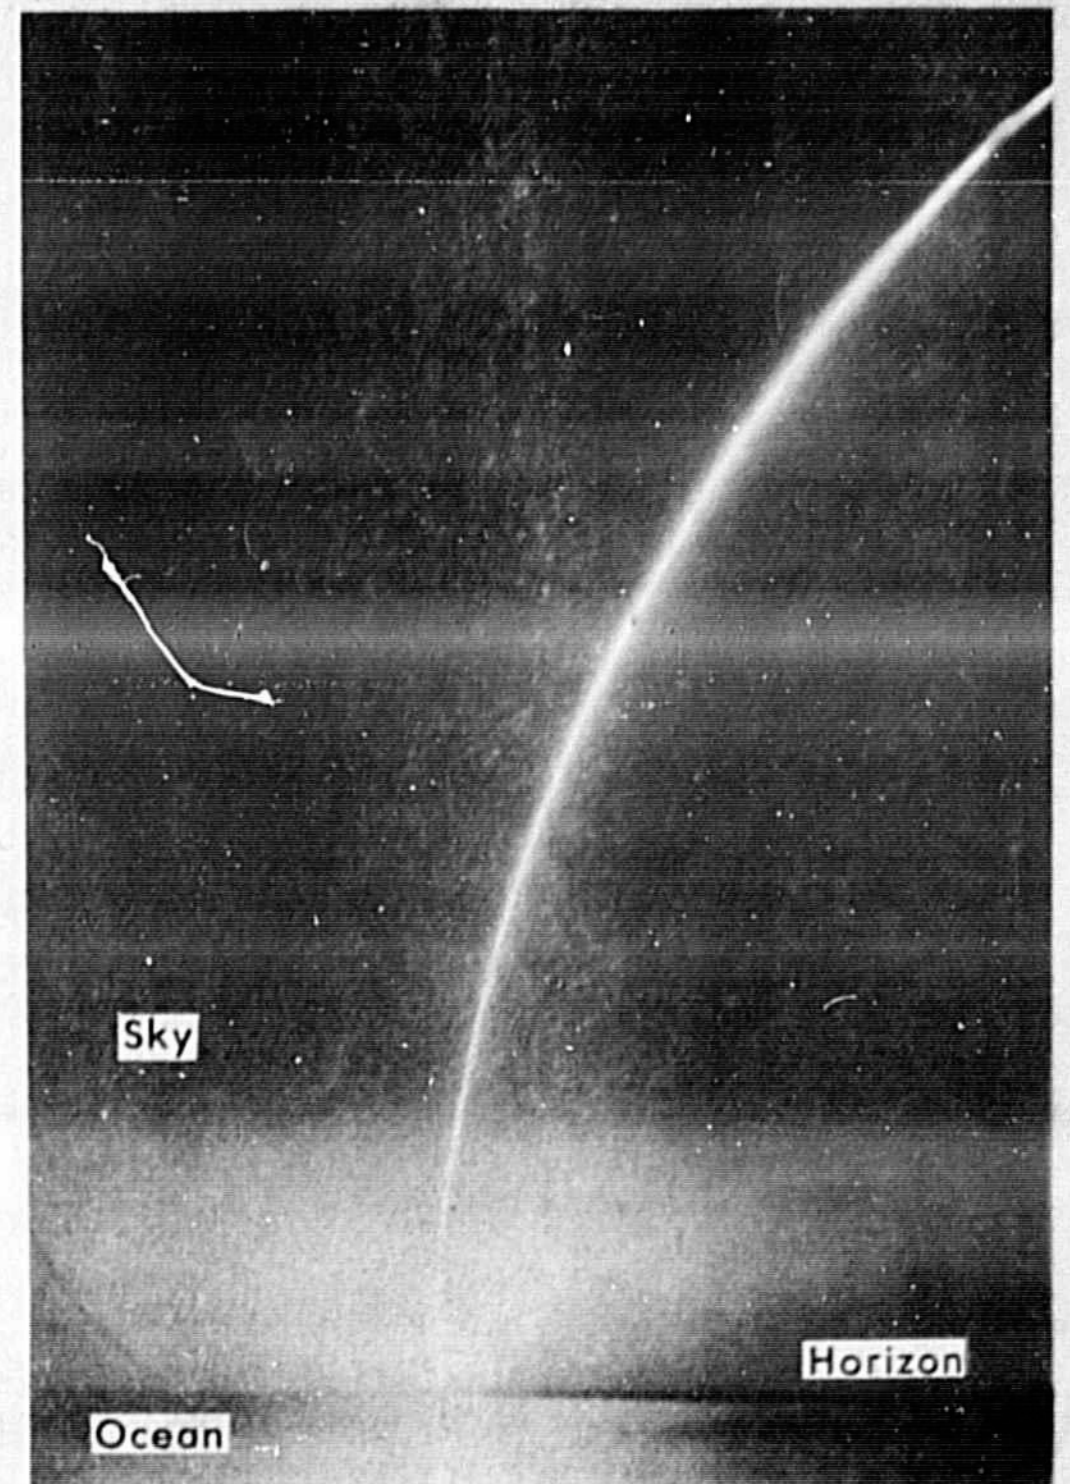

For more than six minutes, the rocket's 2,000-foot tail of flame burned away the darkness and lit the sand flats and Atlantic beaches where the avid crowds watched.

After orbiting earth for nearly three hours, the astronauts resumed the third stage of their Saturday 5 rocket. The powerful thrust sent them hurtling out of earth's gravity grasp and put them firmly on their way to the moon.

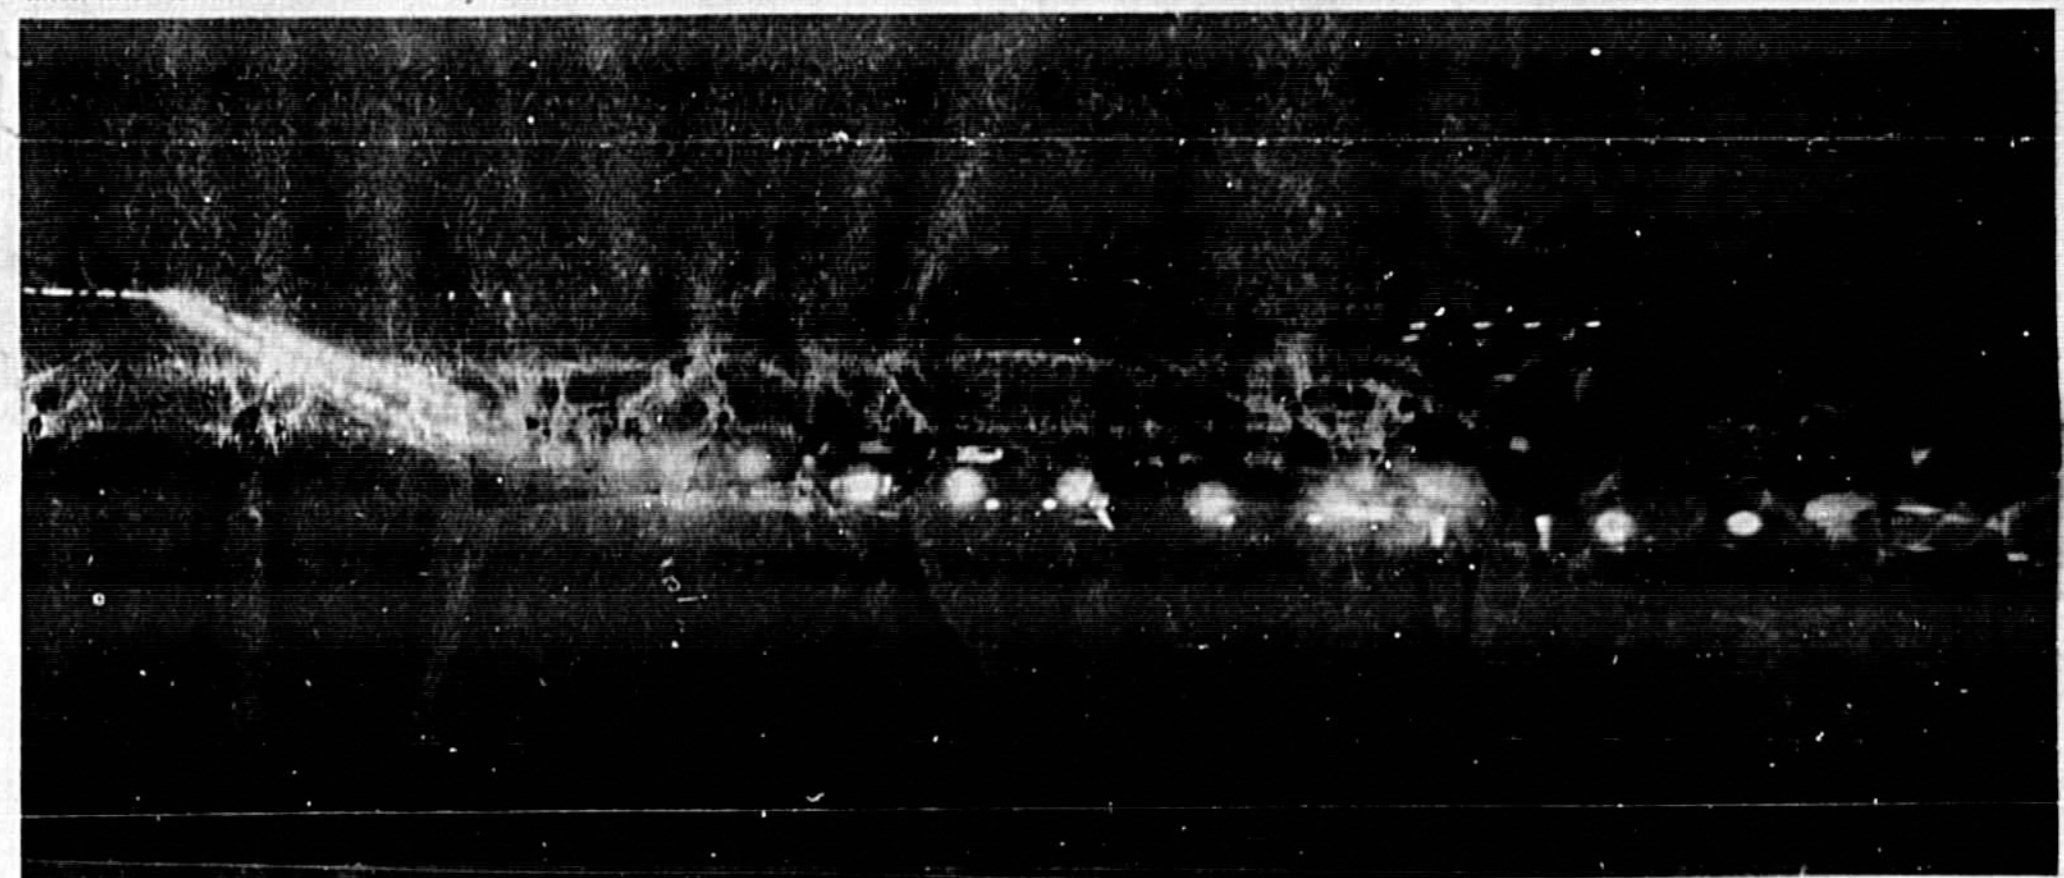

About an hour later, at 5:30 a.m. EST, said Evans happily. "Here we go. It came right out of there."

City Mayors Confer CALNO Problems

By DONNA ESTES

WINTER SPRINGS — Acting Mayor Edith Duerr of Casselberry was accorded guest of honor courtesies by the three mayors of the CALNO Council of Local Governments last night. But the trio of chief executives did not back down on a single point that resulted in a rift and withdrawal of Casselberry from the organization some months ago. (Related photo on page 4A)

Dr. Duerr on behalf of her city questioned the points that concerned the city — amount of dues expected, whether cities outside Seminole would be included and solicited for membership, and the authority of the group as an autonomous unit on projects without prior city government approval.

Winter Springs Mayor Granville Brown insisted Casselberry would be required to pay a $250 entrance fee plus dues of 35 cents per capita (about $3,000) — as agreed by the other three cities against Casselberry's wishes earlier this year.

As far as prior city governmental approval of all actions, Altamonte Springs Mayor Lawrence Swofford maintained that the city governments have a large measure of control in any event because they hold the purse strings. At the same time, prior approval of all actions would cripple the organization and render it useless, Swofford indicated. It was also pointed out that with the various city councils controlling the purse strings, by necessity they would give prior approval to many activities of the group.

Dr. Duerr, pointedly questioned the possibility that CALNO might adopt something binding on the cities without approval of the cities.

Only I couldn't sleep...for fear that I had already wasted all that time and I wasn't going to have someone come up to me and say, "You mean to tell me that you didn't stay up and see history being written?"

Because misery loves company...I got the rest of the family up from their sleep...and we all were wide-eyed and impressed.

Tomorrow I'll devote some space to the reasons "why" this trip is necessary, according to the space experts.

I'm not that certain we're getting all of our dollar's worth...$450 million for this Apollo 17 flight.

However, I'd much rather spend it this way as opposed to continuing to "blow it" on things like Nam, etc.

By the way, there'll be no more special telecasts of the flight by any of the three major networks until Monday when the astronauts land on the moon and begin the first of three explorations.

Getting to like and respect our Governor Aske more and more every day. Take his actions of today, commemorating Pearl Harbor Day.

The Governor has declared Friday, Saturday and Sunday days of prayer "for an immediate end to the Vietnam War and the safe and speedy return of our men held captive."

He has urged all ministers, priests and rabbis to remember in their religious services and prayers those who are in positions of authority and are negotiating this peace" and asked all Floridians to remember the negotiations and prisoners in periods of prayer.

The Sanford City Commission decided Wednesday not to take any chances with the mail, particularly after City Attorney William Hutchison reported that it took nine days for a letter from Winter Park to reach him in Sanford. The city's new charter, passed by the people Tuesday, rather than being mailed to Tallahassee for recording in the Secretary of State's office, will be hand-carried there by Sanford City Manager W. E. Knowles and City Commissioner A. A. McClanahan.

'Can Survive 10 Weeks' Housing Authority 'Broke'

Director Thomas Wilson Says I'm Trying To Get Federal Subsidy Funds Released, But Must Raise Rents To "Break Even."

Sanford Housing Authority executive director Thomas Wilson says the authority can survive another 10 weeks marginal operation before it goes broke.

"We can't wait until then to start planning," he said.

Wilson, meeting deadlines in this pressing effort to get federal subsidy operating funds released, is trying to devise a plan of raising rents on the 480 low rent public housing units $5 a month so operation of the authority can continue on a "break even" basis.

Brooke Amendment (isn't) adhered to some tenants could find their rent doubling under rate schedules previously used by the Authority.

Wilson said the Authority has $41,345 in banks that can be used for operations of the city's four low rent housing projects. The Authority's weekly expenses average $4,300. Thus, he figures only another 10 weeks can go by until $80 families are "put out on the streets."

Congress has approved $154 million in subsidy operation funds for local housing authorities across the nation but the Nixon administration has not yet released the money.

Earlier this week Wilson said

Marcos' Wife Is Slashed

By FRANK N. HAWKINS, JR.
Associated Press Writer

MANILA (AP) — A dark-suited man slashed President Ferdinand E. Marcos' wife, Imelda, today with a foot-long bolo knife as she was congratulating winners of a beautification contest.

A helicopter took Mrs. Marcos to the Makati Medical Center where she was reported "safe... out of danger."

The hospital said the 42-year-old first lady of the Philippines was slashed on her arms and hands and lost a lot of blood.

Guards shot and killed the assailant, who was not immediately identified.

Dr. Constantino Manahan, director of the medical center, said: "The first lady suffered several slashing and penetrating wounds in the left and right arms. None of them are very serious. She is definitely out of danger."

The attack occurred at an amusement park in Pasay City, adjoining Manila, this morning.

Mrs. Marcos was congratulating the winners of the contest, who were lined up to shake hands with her. The attacker, wearing a dark suit, was in the line.

Mrs. Marcos had just shaken several hands when the man suddenly pulled a knife from his belt, charged at her and appeared to shove the knife into her breast.

As onlookers shrieked in horror, Mrs. Marcos fell to the ground, and the man appeared to follow her down.

Guards pulled him away and then killed him.

The award ceremony was being televised live, and the attack was seen by the Manila TV.

A statuesque beauty who takes an active part in her husband's political career, Mrs. Marcos has shared in the controversy generated by her husband's maneuvers to remain in power.

Marcos, a war hero, was elected president in 1965 and re-elected in 1969, but the constitution barred him from a third term. For a time there was speculation that his wife would be a candidate to succeed him, but instead a constitutional convention wrote a new constitution replacing the presidential system of government with a parliamentary system of the British type.

Patrolman Robert Bernosky of the Sanford Police Department discovered a break-in at the Goodyear Service Store, 555 West First Street, Sanford, about 5:25 a.m. this morning.

Entry was gained when someone filled a paint can with sand and threw it through the glass door of the building.

According to Bernosky's report, the thief made off with six television sets and a speaker. Reported missing are two color sets worth $190 each, three black and white sets worth $60 each and one black and white television worth $70.

The missing speaker is worth $20.

The investigation has been turned over to the detective division, according to Det. Lt. William Lykens.

Wilson, meeting deadlines in this pressing effort to get federal subsidy operating funds released, is trying to devise a plan of raising rents on the 480 low rent public housing units $5 a month so operation of the authority can continue on a "break even" basis.

Brooke Amendment (isn't) adhered to some tenants could find their rent doubling under rate schedules previously used by the Authority.

Wilson said the Authority has $41,345 in banks that can be used for operations of the city's four low rent housing projects. The Authority's weekly expenses average $4,300. Thus, he figures only another 10 weeks can go by until $80 families are "put out on

Zoners Consider Lake Mary Estates

By BOB LLOYD
Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission will consider the final plan of Unit One, Lake Mary Estates—143 acre apartment and single family residential development on the north side of Lake Mary Boulevard west of U. S. 17-92 at 8 p. m. regular meeting tonight.

Recreation Facilities Discussion

By BILL SCOTT
The often-heard lament of Sanford youth and adults over the lack of sufficient facilities for use as recreational and after school activities will be discussed at 9 a. m. Tuesday meeting of interested persons at the Seminole Division of Youth Services.

This was disclosed by David Hermann, project coordinator for the proposed Social Adjustment Program (ESAP) now under study in the Seminole County School system.

Hermann said a meeting was being held Tuesday morning at the Division of Youth Services Office, located above the Roomilliant Drug Store in Sanford, with various groups interested in persuading the city to open its Youth Wing and other recreational facilities.

Sanford Election

Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore received all five absentee votes in the canvass of Tuesday's election by the City Commission Wednesday.

Official totals certified by the canvassing board are: Moore 1,182 to Harry Skop's 266. For the group 2 City Commission seat incumbent Gordon Meyer polled 917 to 536 for his challenger Mrs. Stella Woodhouse.

Sanford Housing Authority 'Broke'

has held up the money administratively, according to Wilson, in moves apparently aimed at forcing local housing authorities into bankruptcy so the government can take over the federally-financed projects and sell them to private owners.

Last month the Sanford Authority notified the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) that unless federal subsidy operating funds are received the authority will file bankruptcy by Dec. 31.

The local authority said $36,000 in federal subsidy funds must be received to overcome a projected deficit operation in the fiscal year ending June 30.

Now the needed subsidy figure has grown to $172,000, figured on yearly operating costs of $28,280 and rental income of only $152,610.

Wilson said the authority must also get $35,000 reimbursement for funds already lost under implementation of the Brooke Amendment.

Last week HUD Washington ordered the Sanford Authority to transfer $88,000 to debt service funds. Wilson said after lengthy telephone calls to the government he finally got the federally-financed projects and sell them to private owners.

Operation of the Sanford Authority has been hampered by poor rent collections and rejection by HUD of needed budgeted funds of operation of the projects.

Wednesday Wilson said back rent totals have dropped in two months from $14,000 to $8,300 but at least $5,000 of this is "uncollectable."

Wilson said Dec. 14 he'll ask the authority board to stop using the Brooke Amendment Jan. 1. "It's the only way I see to keep our head above water," he said. "Otherwise I can foresee closing down the projects and forcing 480 families out on the streets by Jan. 1."

Currently the projects bring in $12,300 a month in rentals. Electricity bills alone run over $4,300 a month.

When asked if he expects a special authority board meeting before the regularly scheduled Dec. 14 session Wilson said, "I don't expect it unless something else comes up."

He observed, "It seems the Nixon administration is trying to kill all local housing authorities. And federally-funded code enforcement programs in cities are in trouble too."

"All the programs to help poor people it seems are being squashed."

Other federal programs granting private developers up to $25 million for land acquisition and construction of apartments are available, according to Wilson.

"The builders are safe. They make the profits and lease out the apartments and the federal government subsidizes rents."

St. Louis and Cleveland housing authorities have problems like Sanford's but on a much larger scale.

"By the end of the year they'll have to put 55,000 tenants out in the streets unless the federal operating subsidy funds are released," Wilson said.

Ironically the Sanford Housing Authority has $375,000 in federal modernization funds on hand for the updating of 85-unit William Clark Court. Bids on modernization work will be opened Dec. 19.

Application has been made for another $500,000 to modernize other projects.

"I can't understand it," Wilson said. "We can get modernization funds but before the work is finished we'll be broke."

Federal regulations forbid use of modernization funds for operation of the local housing authority.

"It looks like the federal government is trying to get public housing projects looking good so they can be sold to private owners," Wilson said.

Truman Remains Critical; But Vital Signs Stable

By CHET CURRIER
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, fighting congested lungs and a weakened heart, remained on the critical list today after spending a restful night with his wife and daughter at his bedside.

A spokesman at Research Hospital and Medical Center said at 7:15 a.m. EST that Truman's "vital signs continue to be stable as they have been during the night. His temperature has decreased slightly to 101 degrees. Respiration and cardiac function are stable."

The hospital said Truman's wife and daughter left the hospital about 6:15 a.m., "with no scheduled time of return announced."

Earlier this morning the hospital said that fluid in the former president's lungs had diminished and that attending physicians were "optimistic" about the chances of removing him from the critical list.

At one point Wednesday night, Truman's temperature was reported as 102.2. Dr. Wilson Miller, consulting internist, was quoted in an early morning medical bulletin as saying he is "satisfied with his cardiac situation at present."

Late Wednesday night, the hospital said the 88-year-old Truman had been in "a deep stupor." An early morning bulletin did not mention the word "stupor."

The hospital quoted Dr. Wallace Graham, Truman's personal physician, as saying it was "difficult to differentiate between induced sedation and actual unconsciousness or coma."

Mrs. Clifton Daniel, Truman's only child, arrived at the hospital shortly after midnight and went to the former president's room on the sixth floor. Truman's wife Bess also was at his bedside. Mrs. Daniel later told newsmen she has "great faith" her father will survive.

Irish Seek-Unity By Referendum

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

DUBLIN (AP) — The Irish voted today in a referendum on Prime Minister Jack Lynch's proposal to end the special position of the Roman Catholic Church in the Irish Republic.

Lynch proposed the constitutional change as a step toward reunification with Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland.

The three major political parties favor the change, and the Church has indicated that officially it does not oppose it. But the traditional conservatism of Irish voters — 85 per cent of them Catholic — makes the result of the vote uncertain.

Lynch and his supporters argue that repeal of the constitution's Article 44, source of the Church's favored role in the republic, would remove a major obstacle to winning the support of the Protestants in the North for Irish unity.

The 1.7 million voters also were asked to approve lowering the voting age from 21 to 18 years; again the conservatism of the electorate made the outcome uncertain.

The change would add 140,000 young voters to the rolls, and their voice could be decisive in future elections for the Dail, the lower house of parliament. The Dail for years has been rather evenly balanced between Lynch's Fianna Fail — or Soldiers of Destiny party — and the two opposition groups, Fine Gael and the Labor party.

Fianna Fail has been in power since 1957, but it has often been hampered by the lack of a sizeable majority.

In Northern Ireland Thursday night, a rocket slammed into an armored car in a Catholic district of Belfast, wounding 11 British soldiers. Three other soldiers were wounded by snipers firing from a Catholic church, the army said. And a gang of men beat up the 25-year-old wife of a Protestant reserve policeman outside her home, but the reason for the attack was not known.

Vietnam Talks Drag But Hope Remains

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Vietnam peace talks drag on, but for the first Christmas in the nearly seven years her husband has been a prisoner of war, Louise Mulligan is willing to hope.

"You get frustrated by the talks. There's nothing you can do," said Mrs. Mulligan, wife of Cmdr. James A. Mulligan, a Navy pilot. "But now I honestly feel the war is going to end by Christmas."

Five weeks ago, when presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger announced that peace was near, Louise and some of the other 21 wives from this coastal Navy town whose husbands are prisoners or missing, reacted with skepticism.

After enduring years of frustration, disappointment, dashed hopes and rearing children alone, most dared not hope.

"Once a cease-fire is signed, I feel every effort will be made to get the prisoners home as soon as possible. There is tremendous hope among the wives now," Mrs. Mulligan said. "Some of us had just been holding back."

Now, many of the wives are preparing for their husbands' return by painting their homes. Some are buying nightgowns. Year in and year out they have sent Christmas packages to their men. Most have been returned.

This year, Louise has her husband's present whether he celebrates Christmas at home with his family — or has to again spend it in Hanoi.

"I have one to put under the tree, and one ready to be mailed to him. I'm not taking any chances," she added.

"Something I just realized," she said. "Jim wasn't here for the first trip to the moon and now they are making their last moon exploration shot and he's still not here. He's missed the whole thing."

Mulligan's family of six sons has grown up without him. One has married. Another finishes college this month. And the commander will discover that several of his sons disapprove of the Vietnam war.

So does his wife. Less than a month ago, Louise received a letter from her husband. "It was ornididn't show the boys," she said. "It was a love letter. Jim Never allowed himself to hope before, but this time he said he'd be home for Christmas."

Over the long haul, his job in the second Nixon term is fairly well-defined: new farm legislation, implementation of new rural-development programs, and the nuts-and-bolts of spending an $11-billion annual budget.

But the immediate future is cloudy. What does Nixon mean when he says the Agriculture Department will undergo a major shakeup as the White House announced Wednesday? Butz related to comment about specific plans for overhauling the century-old department. There will be changes, he said, including personnel reductions and switches as well as organizational face-lifts.

Details of those, Butz said, will be announced by the White House in due course.

Butz was chosen to succeed Clifford M. Hardin a year ago, as his work on the campaign trail later proved, to help elect Nixon. A year ago, farmers were grumbling about low prices and Republicans feared repercussions at the polls.

"After 12 months, I'm just getting comfortable in this job," he said.

Democracy Faces A Confidence Crisis

"I have long been convinced," observed Thomas Babington Macaulay in 1857, "that institutions purely democratic must, sooner or later, destroy liberty or civilization, or both."

One hundred fifteen years after this sweeping historical judgment, Macaulay may have been tragically correct about the durability of political democracy. In fact, the English historian described with uncanny accuracy the process of polarization that has taken place in the last century of Western democratic experimentation.

"Either the poor would plunder the rich and civilization would perish," he wrote fully 50 years before the upheavals in Europe in the first half of this century, "or order and prosperity would be saved by strong military governments, and liberty would perish."

In the postwar period (1945-70) the underdeveloped nations' flirtation with freedom and equalitarian political democracy has ended either in civilian or military dictatorships. Their failure can be attributed to the fact that the seeds of freedom and political democracy fell on fallow soil which lacked the fertilizer of patience, experience, and time. However, even those Western nations with a strong tradition of democratic institutions and free elections are experiencing a growing crisis of confidence.

When one surveys, for example, the attitude of voters who have faced or will be facing elections this year in numerous democratic nations, a uniform negative attitude emerges. In the United States, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, West Germany, and The Netherlands, the electorate, in growing numbers, regard their incumbent administrations with indifference or distrust, while equally scornful of the supposed alternatives offered by the political opposition.

In France and Britain, both facing elections in the next 12 months, a similar distrust and disbelief in democratic government is highly visible and vocal. The highly respected Manchester Guardian recently expressed the view that both the Labor and the Conservative governments have failed to solve Britain's problems. A similar attitude is widely held here toward the Republican and Democratic parties.

Clearly democratic government not only is suffering from a global crisis of confidence, but a sizable segment of the electorate seems to regard the word "democracy" as a dirty word.

One can hardly blame voters when the evidence of their eyes tells them that while government takes much it gives little or nothing in return. Voters seem to be saying that continued calls by their respective political leadership for self-sacrifice are reaching the point of self-destruction.

The electorate is also increasingly aware of the incapacity of government to deliver on its promises to solve problems, many times making those problems even worse.

In the final analysis, most democratic governments have gone way beyond their original limited function and have involved themselves in almost every aspect of the average voter's life. So much so, that this intervention is reaching the point of statist regimentation. Apathy on one hand and angry frustration on the other are reflective of voter resentment at this meddling by dictatorial government masquerading as democratic.

First Was 'Patton'; Now 'MacArthur'

BY BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Next from the man who gave you "Patton", a film biography of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. It was perhaps inevitable that Frank McCarthy, himself an Army general, should have been dubbed to produce the biography of MacArthur. McCarthy persevered for more than a decade to film the life of another flamboyant World War II general, George Patton.

Hollywood dearly loves to repeat success, and "Patton" was a real winner. It grossed $37 million against a cost of $12.5 million and won an Oscar for best picture. George C. Scott, as Patton, won the best-actor Oscar.

Richard Zuck, who authorized "Patton" as production head of 20th Century-Fox, recently announced "MacArthur" as a project under his new contract with Universal. The producer: Frank McCarthy.

"I just spent a month at the MacArthur Memorial Library in Norfolk, Va.," said the urbane McCarthy in his new Universal office. "The literature on MacArthur is endless; there have been at least 150 books written about him."

"There is also voluminous material published by the government. MacArthur wrote his own versions of all his battles, and they are part of public record. Fortunately for our purposes, anything published by the Government Printing Office is in the public domain. So we can use all that material for the movie."

McCarthy said it's too early to think about casting of MacArthur. He's quite certain that it won't be George C. Scott.

"In fact," said McCarthy, "Scott was asked who he thought should play MacArthur. He suggested Cary Grant."

The producer admitted that he approached "MacArthur" with some reluctance, since he didn't want to appear imitative of himself. But he was convinced by a friend, Clare Boothe Luce, that the MacArthur story was far more complex and interesting than it appeared.

"She was right," McCarthy said. "I had known MacArthur only by his public acts. The real material is a fascinating figure. The producer said he had not approached the MacArthur family for permission, since he doesn't intend to portray them and no clearances are needed to portray a dead man.

Era Of Computerized Brain Picker

By KENNETH J. RABBen Copley News Service

A computerized brain analyzer may decide who gets what kind of education and how much if its use proves successful in North and Central America.

The device is called the neural efficiency analyzer and was invented by Dr. John Ertl, a psychology professor at the University of Ottawa and director of its Center for Cybernetic Studies. Ertl's analyzer is built by Neometrics of Houston, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Associates International, Strevport, La. Ertl is on the firm's board.

A Montreal psychological testing firm, cooperating with the Canadian government, is using Ertl's analyzer in Honduras to decide which of 5,000 Spanish-speaking people in that unpopulated republic will be trained for various jobs.

Research on the analyzer's effectiveness is under way in Canada, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Albuquerque, a North Carolina veterans' hospital, Georgia, New York, Maine and about 70 miles from the nation's capitol in Hagerstown, Md., where its use with children is being kept secret by the school board and superintendent who have refused to answer inquiries.

Ertl agrees wholeheartedly with criticism of IQ tests, bans on their use and demands for their demise. He hopes his "black box" will replace them because, Ertl claims, it is more accurate and based on medical rather than psychologic criteria for validity. But the analyzer predicts what score a person would get on an IQ test if it was valid, which Ertl says it isn't.

The analyzer, linked to a computer, is connected to the brain by electrodes painlessly placed on the scalp. A person sits quietly as questions are asked. Lights flash. An oscilloscope displays brain waves.

The computer figures the average time between responses to questions, measuring "the efficiency and speed with which information is transmitted from one neuron to another in the brain," Ertl explains in a journal.

Admittedly, Ertl's analyzer does produce objective measurements of physical phenomena, but until considerably more substantive evidence of its validity is forthcoming, this cure looks worse than the disease and individual freedom could die from such "improvement."

The analyzer may be a useful research tool, but it will be a dangerous implement in government hands.

Christmas Lists

French Perfume, Smell Appeal

By BETH MOHR Copley News Service

French perfumes have a way of making an early showing on Christmas lists—the shopping lists made by givers and the hinting lists left around by wishers.

"Made in France" is the double-thrust prestige perfume label. It not only is a reminder that France is the world's most famous perfume center, but has the snob appeal belonging to some of the most expensive fragrances on the market.

No matter where perfumes are made, their appeal is a matter of individual taste. Those made in France include the very expensive and some that fall within reasonable price brackets.

Attractive packaging goes along with everything else to help make French perfumes appealing gifts. Among perfume treasures to go on Christmas lists made by those with healthy budgets and high hopes is "Bai Versailles" by Jean Desprez. It is held in a facon centered with a miniature painting of maidens in a French garden and looks very much like an antique snuff bottle. The scent is warmly appealing. Offered for $85 an ounce, it is also available in the economy two-ounce size at $150.

Nina Ricci's "L'Air du Temps" perfume, traditionally and impressively bottled in Lalique crystal, will be seen in new containers this Christmas.

Called a "Jeweler's Opera Facon," the new bottle is encased in a net of fine golden cord and capped with a dove. A tiny funnel, to use in refilling the facon, comes in the package. It's all put together in a brown suede box.

The same fragrance also comes in eau de toilette spray and, dusting powder, with equally impressive price tags.

Here's One of the Better Good Guys

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — I would like to celebrate today a man named Walter Smith. The nation has not heard of him, but if there were far more like him it would be a better place.

Smith drives a small "shuttle" bus on daily runs between the Washington headquarters of the department of Health, Education and Welfare and the giant national complex of the Social Security Administration on the outskirts of Baltimore.

I've known him for only a dozen days, but that was long enough for me to judge him. On each of those days, we talked continuously for almost an hour.

First off, Smith is superb at his job. He drives with real skill and concentration, even as he is talking vigorously. He takes pride in his work, though threading one's way through the thick maze of Washington-Baltimore open road traffic does not offer many peaks of excitement.

Smith's runs are scheduled. He tries hard never to be late. And he won't depart ahead of time, either, for he reasons that people marked down for a 9:30 shuttle should not find that it left at 9:27. He resists pressure from passengers who urge him to dash off early.

So, in an era when millions are complaining about the boredom and lack of challenge in their work, at desk and factory and elsewhere, Walter Smith is performing his routine but not undemanding tasks with a high sense of responsibility and skill.

He could complain that he has no "real role" in this society. But he doesn't. The fact is that by his attitude and his performance he has given himself a role.

This doesn't mean he has no gripes or is a meek fellow content to stay in a comfortable "slot" and go nowhere. (Actually he'd like to drive a transcontinental bus, but he says the lines wouldn't take him because he's 47. If so, they don't know what they're missing.)

What comes through from Smith, aside from his enormous dependability, is strength—of will, of discipline, of character, of interest in the world and its people.

In our long talks, he struck me most of all as a man who wants to understand, appreciate and help people. He talks at them with great care for their individuality. He measures them fairly.

He is black, but we never got around to discussing the problems of blacks as a group. I had no feeling he was holding back because I am white, since Walter Smith is not shy about expressing himself.

There just seemed to be no barriers between us. From the outset, we talked of a wide range of things—attitudes toward work, how one builds self-confidence, how to develop and sustain zest in life, what it can mean to grow old and die with dignity and grace.

In a world immersed in problems, he is a man of hope, positive outlook and never knew what might come up. One day we talked the whole time about illness, and what makes a good doctor.

Smith as a youth had his share of "troubles." Somehow he got on a ship. He shows a strong religious belief, and spends evenings helping people through his church.

I'm not sure what influences made him a man of both steel and compassion, rounded, responsible, admirable human being. But he is all of that, and I was lucky to ride for even 10 or 12 hours with him.

One Man's Opinion

Education: It's Not as We Think

By DON OAKLEY

If there is one thing that all Americans of whatever political or ideological bent have shared in common, it is the belief that the road to personal success and social equality is through education.

Up to now it has seemed to work. The good life being lived by the children and grandchildren of poor, unskilled immigrants ran surely be cited as proof of the value of education. It is obvious that an employer, given a choice between a high school dropout and a person with a diploma, will hire the latter.

Where it hasn't worked, the answer has been more and "better" education. Educators continually come up with innovations—from the New Math to "classrooms without walls" to programmed instruction to educational vouchers—in pursuit of the goal of equality and competence for all.

We will this year spend a record $90.5 billion on classrooms and instruction for 60.4 million students. Public schools will employ 20,000 more teachers than they did last year.

But belief in the ideal has received some bruising blows of late. One of the most devastating is a report called "Inequality: A Reassessment of the Effects of Family and Schooling in America," usually referred to as the Jencks report.

The report is the result of a four-year review and analysis of data from various studies on the effects of schooling by a team headed by Harvard professor Christopher Jencks. Among its most surprising conclusions:

• Eliminating the differences between elementary schools would reduce the range of test scores among sixth-graders by less than three per cent.

Economic success seems to be as dependent upon such slippery factors as luck, timing and personality as on I.Q., heredity, family background and the cognitive skills measured by standardized tests.

In sum, the way to attack poverty and inequality, say the authors, is not through educational institutions but through economic institutions—by means of what can only be called socialism. The primary basis for judging an educational system should not be how many employable adults it turns out, but whether students and teachers find it a satisfying place to be and whether their lives are enriched.

Judge Says Court Failed Poor

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida Supreme Court Justice Richard Ervin says the court failed poor people when it decided against an overhaul of bail bond procedures.

The court in a decision Wednesday issued revised rules effective Feb. 1 governing procedures in criminal trials. The overall approval was unanimous, although dissents to specific rules were written by two justices.

An advisory committee recommended that most defendants be released without bond on their promise to show in court. But the court kept things substantially as they are, leaving up to a judge whether defendants should be released without posting bond.

"The committee's rule was an excellent attempt at eliminating from our system one more means of discriminating against the poor," Ervin said in a dissenting opinion. "It should have been approved."

He said the court's rule would perpetuate money bail emphasis; I am unwilling to further support Florida's archaic bail bond system."

Another dissent was filed by Chief Justice B. K. Roberts and joined by Justices Hal Deke and David McCain to the court's decision to stand by a rule requiring unanimous jury verdicts for criminal convictions. "The effect of what happened was that it was recalled for further study," he said.

Christian Forecasts 'Good School Year'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — the education goals outlined by Florida Education Commissioner Floyd Christian believes that 1973 is going to be a great year for schools to get what he thinks they have coming.

He told school superintendents and school board members meeting in joint convention at Miami Beach Wednesday that "the climate in Tallahassee is friendly and favorable."

Christian said Gov. Reubin Askew "is in our corner, on our side, working continuously to do what is best for the youth and adults of our state."

He called House Speaker Terrell Sessums, D-Tampa, a "strong proponent" of education and Senate President Malory Horne, D-Tallahassee, a "great friend" of school children.

Obviously expecting substantial support from Askew, Horne and Sessums, Christian outlined a 1973 education program calling for large but unspecified increases in school funding, $500 teacher pay raises, lower pupilteacher ratios and increased state funds for school construction.

U.S. Hits Truck Park; Bombs Above DMZ

DENNIS NEEDL
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52s made one of their most concentrated bombing attacks against North Vietnam Wednesday and today, blasting a big enemy truck park just above the demilitarized zone with more than 600 tons of high explosives.

About 20 Strategic Air Command bombers dropped their bombs on a jungle area around the little town of Ben Quang, where convoys of North Vietnamese supply trucks were concealed beneath the trees, the U.S. Command reported.

Nine more B52s struck within four miles of the truck park, hitting tons of military supplies awaiting transport to South Vietnamese battlefronts.

U.S. sources reported mountain passes feeding the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos have been virtually blocked by earlier air raids and the main Communist supply route has been diverted to the DMZ.

The number of trucks in the Ben Quang Park, about six miles above the DMZ and close to the coast, was not reported but it was described as a "very heavy concentration."

Six other B52 strikes zeroed in on enemy supply caches in the DMZ and nearly 40 were flown against troop concentrations and supplies in Quang Tri province, just below the demarcation line. A total of about 60 strikes were flown in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command reported that its fighter-bombers flew 90 air strikes in the North Vietnamese panhandle Wednesday.

South Vietnamese infantry occupied several enemy rocket sites seven miles from Saigon and found the bodies of 30 North Vietnamese gunners who bombarded Tan Son Nhut Air Base Wednesday.

The Communist troops were killed by helicopter gunships and fighter-bomber strikes.

Sharp fighting erupted in South Vietnam's northernmost province, just below the demilitarized zone, where airborne units are slowly reclaiming territory in Quang Tri Province but at the start of the Communist offensive in April.

In a day-long battle around the little village of Dong Ong Do, six miles southwest of Quang Tri City, the paratroopers captured an underground fortress big enough for an entire regiment.

THREE PEOPLE were injured, including two small children, in an accident that snarled traffic at the intersection of U.S. 17-92 and SR 434 for nearly an hour last night. Investigating officer Edgar Smart Jr. of the Longwood Police Department charged Phyllis McNutt Miller, 24, of Rt. 1 Box 814, Longwood, with failure to yield right-of-way. She was taken to Lake Hospital by Herndon Helicopter, along with her two children, Tina, 4, and Charles, 2. Mrs. Miller was driving a 1965 Pontiac (center). Louis Boline, 23, of Lake Fairy Apartments, Longwood, driving a 1964 Plymouth and Hubert Gibson, 20, of 745 Seminole Boulevard, Casselberry, driving a 1971 Mack truck, were uninjured. Smart was assisted at the scene by Cpl. Earl Connell and Patrolman Robert McDonald. (Gary Taylor Photo)

'Prognosticator Swofford' Pole Changes Are Allowed

By MARION BETHEA

ALTIMONTE SPRINGS — Mayor Lawrence Swofford proved to be an excellent prognosticator of events by predicting that Tuesday's meeting of City Council would terminate at 6 p. m. The meeting actually came to a close at 5:58 p. m.

Council allowed Director of Public Works Donald Bundy to switch from the usual concrete light poles to laminated wooden poles.

The reason for the change is the fact that the concrete poles are no longer available from Florida Power Corporation, so until such time as they may again be produced, all subdivisions requesting lights will have the laminated wooden poles.

Council approved a plat of Unit 4 of the Spring Oaks Subdivision as presented by developer William Goodman.

Montgomery also was fined $500 after Edwards identified him as the regional manager for the firm's operations in Tennessee at the time of his arrest in November 1971.

Defense lawyer John Wagster said the firm is not currently operating in Tennessee.

Area Man Jailed

By GARY TAYLOR

Manuel Ramon Castro, 18, of 107 Redwood Court, Altamonte Springs, was jailed on charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony by Det. Robert Kunkler after he allegedly broke into a convenience store.

A passing motorist heard the alarm going off at the LPI Champ Food Store on Bear Lake Road in Forest City and called the Sheriff's Department, according to Sheriff John Polk. Deputy L. M. Ford responded and when he arrived at the business, saw an individual inside.

The man escaped through a hole in the back of the building before Ford could get around to the back to stop him. He had apparently used a hammer to knock a large hole in the wall to gain entry.

The man's description was given to other officers, and Lt. Harold Smith apprehended the suspect a short time later.

An undetermined amount of cigarettes is missing from the store and has not been recovered.

Deputy Perry Thomas apparently scared off an individual who had broken into Sobik's Sandwich on SR 436 early this morning. Det. Kunkler was called to the scene to investigate, and said apparently nothing was missing, although a cigarette machine was damaged in an apparent attempt to get money out of it.

Christmas presents, valued at $243, were taken from the residence of Fred Evans, Lake Mills Road, Chuluota. Det. Jerry Capshaw is conducting the investigation.

Items listed missing include a Marlin 30-30 rifle, a record player, a wallet with $10 cash in it, a pocketbook, a weather barometer, a camping tool kit, a coat, a nightgown and six records.

A bank deposit of $452.99 was taken from a desk drawer at Williboy's American Station, 700 Highway 17-92.

Exclusion of Ballots Questioned

By DONNA ESTES

LONGWOOD — City Clerk Onnie N. Shomate Wednesday refused to certify the results of Tuesday's city election contending the canvass of results that excluded eight absentee ballots is "illegal."

The ballots, she said, were discarded on order of Council Chairman Eugene Jaques, winner in the election to the office of mayor, because they were not postmarked. She continued that Mayor Kenneth Brown after first instructing that the ballots be destroyed, later Wednesday ordered that the ballots still in their sealed envelopes be retrieved from the trash and placed in her desk drawer.

City Ordinance No. 40 required that the city clerk be a member of the election canvassing board. Mrs. Shomate, however, said since she was not on the board, she did not participate.

City Attorney S. Joseph Davis Jr. was in court today and still not available for comment.

Mayor Brown told The Herald today he called Dorothy Gilson, election official in Secretary of State Richard Stone's office and was assured the city clerk's actions concerning absentee ballots were legal and proper and further that the actions of the city's canvassing board were also legal and proper.

The chief executive continued that the absentee ballots are being kept on file and can be counted by court order. He said procedures were being proper and within the law.

Barron May Find It Hot

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Senate Rules Committee Chairman Tompkins Barron may find it a little hot practicing in the courts in his home circuit after last week's special session.

Barron, a Panama City lawyer, waged a heated but largely unsuccessful battle against a $2.14 million appropriation for state attorneys, public defenders and court reporters.

Sponsors said the extra funds were needed because of added responsibilities for these court officers under the new article five of the state constitution, which restructures Florida's court system.

Barron, one of the chief architects of the new court structure, didn't agree. He told senators the lights in my judicial circuit go out at 2 p.m.

He said that not only did state attorneys, public defenders and court reporters not do their fair share of work, but that circuit judges around the state spent most of the afternoons "out on the golf courses."

Sen. Ken Myers, D-Miami, told Barron that the state attorney from his own circuit—Leo Jones of Panama City—was one of the chief backers of the added funds.

To which Barron responded that Jones had told him, in confidence, that the money really wasn't needed.

And, rubbing salt into the wound, Barron proceeded to tell senators that the whole idea for the increase in state funds was cooked up "by several state attorneys, public defenders and court reporters sitting around in the afternoon drinking coffee while other people were working."

During the special session, legislative leaders on several occasions huddled privately with Gov. Reubin Askew to discuss strategy. One of these sessions attracted a large contingent of newsmen, but a secretary told them they would have to wait outside the closed doors.

As the legislative leaders emerged from Askew's office on one occasion, a television newsman asked Senate President Mallory Burne why the press had been barred from the meeting.

"I didn't know that you had been," replied Burne.

The city, he said, could have social security by entering into an agreement with the state. Miller was commencing to outline the procedure involved.

At that time as the building was almost completed, the city would donate the $1,000 and "that would be the end of it." Now, Mayor Brown contended, "it looks to me like the city will be paying half the cost of the community building and not have anything to say about it."

In another issue involving social security and retirement for employees, Miller pointed out that no such program presently exists in the city.

Mayor Granville Brown queried Miller if the issue were ended, and received the reply that the Community Association intends to come "back and ask for help again."

Mayor Brown injected this was not the intent of the proposal initially. He explained that agreement was to the ef-

Community Building Nearer Realization

By MARION BETHA

WINTER SPRINGS—The new community building for the city is a step closer to reality with approval last night by City Council of donation to the Community Building and use of the building fund $1,000 toward erection of the roof.

Councilman Victor Miller explained to council that a year ago council had agreed to donate $1,000 toward the building being erected on 12 acres.

Councilman Troy Piland injected that the donation was to be in materials since City

Elections Supervisor Explains

By MARION BETHA

Supervisor of Elections Mrs. Camilla Bruce explained to the Herald that the situation in Altamonte Springs in which City Clerk Jane Richards was working on the voter registration lists normally handled by the county office.

Mrs. Bruce said that her office is "not direct" in its duties and pointed out that the reason for Mrs. Richards undertaking the task is that she had volunteered to do so.

Mrs. Richards said the county "did not have the time" due to the unprecedented growth of voters in the municipality which escalated from 1,780 a year ago to the present 2,630. Also, the municipality has increased to two precincts as opposed to one until recently.

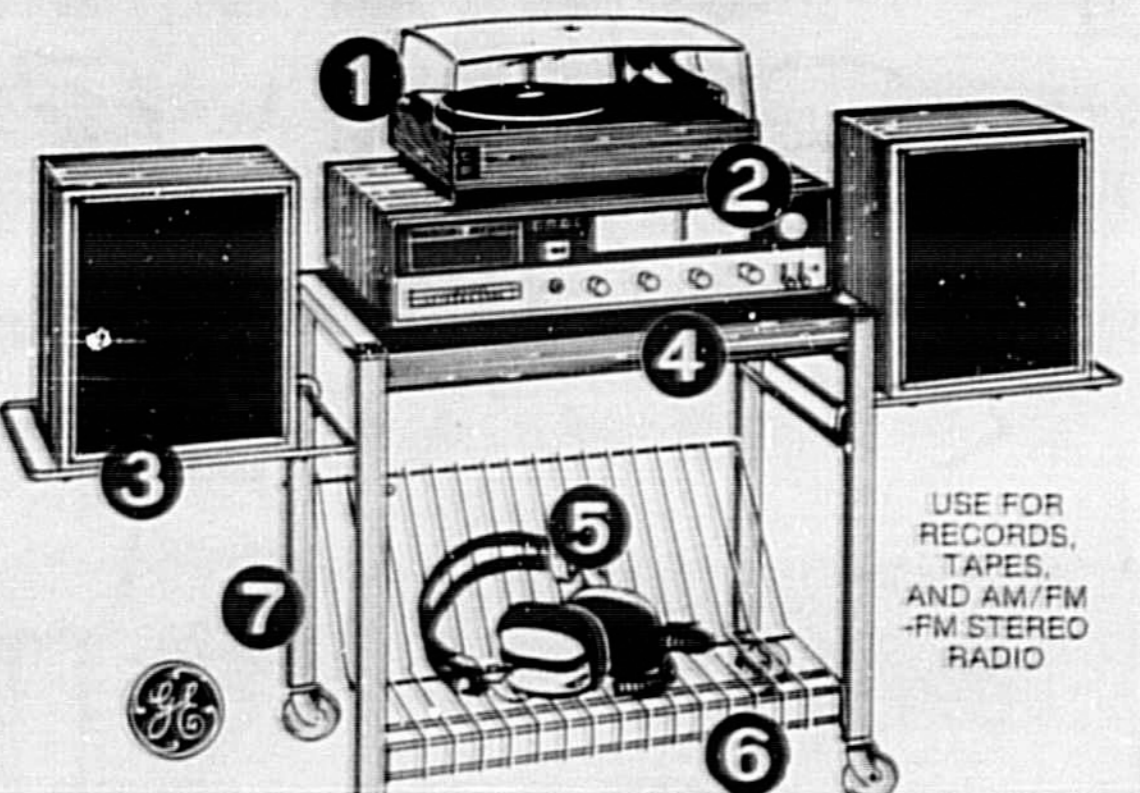

It is this mushrooming growth which, according to Mrs. Bruce, caused the difficulty.

"We did not know" she explained, "until a week ago that the city was divided into two precincts." This, she said, necessitated going through all the books separating voters into the two separate precincts, one north of SH 436, the other south of SH 436.

Due to elections in five areas and since the office "is way behind on all new registrations in all five cities" Mrs. Richards volunteered to assume the task of Altamonte's voter registration lists, Mrs. Bruce said.

Mrs. Bruce emphasized her office is working on the lists diligently and we are "still plugging away."

Annual Checkup Value Disputed

By TIM SHEPARD
Copley News Service

The president-elect of the American Medical Association said the annual checkup is basically a waste of money for those under 40.

"The cost-benefit ratio on this has been shown to be absolutely indefensible," said Dr. Russell B. Roth.

Roth, from Erie, Pa., questions the value of annual medical checkups on the strength of several studies which have been made in recent years.

"I am on the National Advisory Council for Regional Medical Programs and one of the popular things to put in for grant requests in the last few years has been for screening programs or annual physical checkups for a defined population," he said. "So, we financed a good many of these."

Dr. Roth feels it isn't until the 40s that there is much more justification for the annual physical.

"You begin to get a little higher yield of disease discovered that you can do something about," he said. "Between 40 and 60 it makes a little more sense."

Council Agenda Changes

By MARION BETHA

WINTER SPRINGS—There'll be some changes made in this city as a result of action taken by City Council.

The first change encompasses approval of the minutes of meetings each meeting as opposed to the present system of a monthly basis.

Councilman Troy Piland mentioned that the minutes should be approved each meeting when the items are fresh upon the minds of council.

The other change, suggested by City Attorney Thomas Freeman involves establishing an agenda procedure and not "springing things" at the last moment.

Freeman pointed out a desired procedure is to discuss any new item in work session before it is placed on the agenda for a business meeting of council.

This, Freeman said, would effect a more orderly business session, and you "will get down the road a lot quicker."

In a report by Councilman Charles Howell, he stated that all of the school bus stops have been painted and repaired by the city's maintenance man.

All that remains, he explained, is to place two benches together and erect the seats on the "tots' swings."

In a report by Councilman Charles Howell, he stated that all of the school bus stops have been painted and repaired by the city's maintenance man.

The last in the "Pioneers of Modern Painting" film series is scheduled for Rollins College, Valencia Community College and the Loch Haven Art Center on Dec. 12-13.

The first free public showing of the film featuring Edward Munch, will be in the Loch Haven Auditorium on Dec. 12 at 8:30 p.m. On Dec. 13, there will be three presentations.

One will be in the science lecture auditorium of Module III at Valencia at 11 a.m. The other two will be in Rollins' Bush Science Center Auditorium at 4 o'clock and 7:30 p.m.

This sixth and final film is free and open to the public. The 45-movie series was written and narrated by Lord Kenneth Clark.

Munch, regarded as the Norwegian master of expressionism, was one of the early developers of a movement known as expressionism. From 1892, his life was devoted to finding visual symbols for certain general ideas or states of mind.

The National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. has distributed the series through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Despite Court Decision

New Capitol Court Fight Not Over Yet

By JERE MOORE Jr., Associated Press Writer. TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The court fight over the proposed $25 million state Capitol may not be over despite a Florida Supreme Court decision throwing out a suit against the building.

Encouraged in its success without resistance in securing R. A. Gray Park, the Thomas and McClain budget a separate law was required beyond a line in the budget bill for the state to build the Capitol.

The court said this had traditionally been enough, stating the Capitol center "is filled with buildings constructed without benefit of specific statutory authorization."

COOKING CORNER Souffles are served just out of oven

By SUSAN DELIGHT Copley News Service

There are two basic types of souffles, each occupying a different spot on the menu. There are entree types, made with fish, meat, vegetables or cheese, and dessert souffles, made with sweetened pureed fruit, or a liqueur.

One of the secrets of a good souffle is in the beating and folding in of the egg whites. Another is in the serving. A souffle should be served immediately after being taken from the oven.

Be sure to beat the egg whites in a meticulously clean dry bowl. Never use a bowl which has not been thoroughly cleaned of oil or fat.

Tree Custom Originated In Germany

The ancient custom of a home Christmas tree originated not in England as often thought, but in Germany. The home tree was introduced to the English in 1841 by Prince Albert, of German descent.

None of us, regardless of age, can forget or outgrow the Christmas tree and those tree-trimming parties. Christmas evokes feelings of nostalgia for our out fellow beings of this wonderful season is a mere tree.

How was it that commercialism has so exploited the Christmas tree. It seems that its present use completely forgets the true meaning of Christmas. Just recently in a New England city a window display contained a far-out Christmas tree.

Hopefully the famous Abies balsamea, better known as the balsam fir, will again be valued. There's not an artificial tree in the world which is as delightfully fresh, sweetly fragrant and beautifully colored as the dark green, shiny needles for real Christmas tree.

Laws Are Strict Packaging Poses Problems

Packaging of food can present problems to both the manufacturer and the consumer. The amount of fluid varies with the type of product, but the consumer should be aware of the law prohibiting a company from using "too much" liquid in a container. The small no. 4's can contain approximately 6 1/2 ounces. This can be used primarily for canned fish. The 8 ounce can contains approximately 2 servings and is primarily used for tomato sauce or small amounts of vegetables. The no. 303 can is larger and holds 2 cups (16-17 ounces). This size can also contains 3 servings.

Labeling and packaging laws are strict and violations by the manufacturer can result in heavy fines. The consumer has problems determining the number of servings in a particular size of can. This is complicated in the case of foods canned in water or juice — such as fruits and vegetables.

The net weight (or volume) is on the can label. Unit pricing will tell the consumer how much the item costs per ounce, pint, etc. The unit prices does not take into account the volume of liquid in the container. Therefore, the consumer is paying an average price for product and water.

If this price is compared to an equal volume of frozen product, the canned item is more expensive per serving. Federal laws are complicated as is the canning process. Therefore it's up to the consumer to make a judgment as to which type of product is best for his or her needs and to determine the quantity that is needed.

To help with these decisions, I have listed the can size, weight (or volume) and number of servings. This is based on 4 ounce servings and

Living Cost Going Up As Savings Go

By JOHN SINOR Copy News Service

The cost of living took a big 3.6 hop. "Man the lifeboats!" I cried. "We're sinking fast!" Now there is a plan for banks to handle all our bills.

We will never see a crying nickel of the money ourselves. I suppose you could go down to the bank and say: "Do you suppose I could just LOOK at a little bit of my money?" I'll just take a quick peek.

I asked our business expert around here: "What if there isn't enough money in the bank for them to send out the bills?"

He said: "If you operate on deficit spending under this system you'll be in real trouble. Only the government can get away with that."

I went away grumbling. (Maybe I'll start my own government. It's easier to get a loan to start a government than to start a kid through college.)

When I got home, I said: "Is there any of that brandy left?" Life gets pretty wrinkled up sometimes. I have to iron it out somehow.

There was a time when people didn't trust banks very much. This, actually, was due to the fact they did not trust their neighbors.

The neighbors were all the time robbing banks. When the Doolins and the Daltons rode into a Texas town, they stepped into the bank and got the attention of the tellers with an armful of shotguns.

Henry Starr, the last of the horseback bank robbers, tried to reform several times, but he just wasn't up to it. Finally, in the spring of 1915, he and his gang rode into Stroud, Okla., and tried to rob two banks at the same time.

A 17-year-old boy in the town saw the bandits, and brought most of them, including Starr, down with his rifle.

Starr recovered, served his time, then produced and starred in a silent movie about his own life. He failed to make money on the robberies or the movie.

Let's Reminisce Toys For Good Girls, Boys

By HELEN M. PAGEL Copy News Service

Today toys are everywhere. Drugstores, hardware stores, supermarkets—almost any place carries them the year-round. Many of them are supposed to be indestructible, but in reality about the only indestructible thing about them is the outer wrapping which usually takes the ingenuity of an Einstein and the strength of a Paul Bunyan to remove.

Years ago toys were mostly reserved for Christmas, or occasionally for birthdays, and they were far from being indestructible. There were real china dishes, little sideboards and dressers with real glass mirrors and dolls with china or bisque heads.

Both because of the scarcity of money, toys weren't easily replaced. If you broke your doll's head, then you had a doll with a broken head and that was that. Mother might be able to glue it together again after a fashion, but it was never the same.

Therefore, you learned from bitter experience to be careful. Most toys were too fragile to play with outdoors so during the summer it was necessary to find some substitute for them. But that wasn't hard to do. There were plenty of things to play with if you just looked for them.

Crookneck squash wrapped in a blanket could be used for dolls and could stand any amount of rough usage. If you broke one, all you had to do was go into the garden and pick another one. And you could have as many squash children as you cared to pick—which may have been a unique way of acquiring a family, but it had its points.

Tuts of corn silk made excellent horses' tails. Of course, you had to protect the rest of the horse, but goodness me! If you couldn't imagine a horse onto a tail then you needed to take your imagination out to get the rest out of it.

Sticks laid on the ground made the stalls and you could have a whole stable full of steel ranging from the best land points to draft horses, and no grooming or feeding problems.

If you were interested in commercial enterprises you could lay a board across a couple of boxes and make a

Such Is Fame Napoleon Bonaparte, who ordered the construction of Paris' world-famous grand boulevard, commented that by only one statue in the French capital. It stands atop a tall bronze column in the Place Vendome.

Samuel J. Tilden received a majority popular vote in the 1876 presidential election, but wasn't chosen because he lacked one electoral vote, due to a dispute over electoral votes from four states. counter and sell all kinds of "vegetables." These, too, were to be had for picking, but you had to remember never, never, under any circumstances, to try to eat any of them.

Burdock stalks with the leaves pulled off looked just like rhubarb. Plantain, tied in bunches, was marketed as spinach. Green catalpa pods served as string beans and green night shade berries (which really were poisonous) were used for peas. Horseradish grew wild and you could pull it up (at least you could try—the roots ended somewhere in China) and they became white icicle radishes. Yarrow heads were cauliflower, fruits from horse nettle were little yellow tomatoes, red berries from asparagus which had gone to seed were currants and the seeds from mallow were cherries.

If you hunted long enough you could find smooth, white, oval stones which made good durable eggs, and milk could be obtained by breaking the stems of milkweed or leafy spurge and catching the juice in a cup. Dandelion leaves and lamb-quarters made excellent greens (they really were edible when cooked) and "sourgrass," which was also good to eat, made a tasty salad.

Or if you cared to take up farming, you had only to lay a heavy board on a patch of green grass and leave it for a few days. When you removed it the grass had turned yellow, and there was a field of wheat or oats all ready to be harvested. Out came the corn silk horses and in no time at all the grain was cut, thrashed and stacked and your summer's work was done.

Badly Designed Kitchen Can Constitute Hazard

By JOYCE ROARK Copy Editor... The heart is the pump of life. The kitchen is the heart of a home, for from it comes the fuel and energy that keeps a family alive. Dwellings are built without living rooms, family rooms, dining rooms, bedrooms, and bathrooms. But never is the kitchen left out. No home can exist without a kitchen.

Pinellas Educator Is New Health Director

TAMPA — Mrs. Helen Scott Swain, Pinellas County educator, has been appointed assistant director of Health Affairs of the Florida Regional Medical Program. She succeeds Dr. Johnnie Ruth Clarke, Ed. D., who initiated the minority affairs program and now has returned to her regular duties with the St. Petersburg Community College.

Mrs. Swain is a native of Tampa, and has had extensive experience in elementary education in Florida schools and is presently working for her Master's Degree in Early Childhood Education at the University of South Florida. She has served as a Committee member of the Pinellas County Project Education 70's; Coordinator of radio programs for Hillsborough County Black Schools and Master of Ceremonies for a Radio Talent Show. Presently Mrs. Swain is serving as Public Relations Coordinator, Lakewood High School Band Boosters.

Mrs. Swain is a member of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, National Education Association, Quettes Auxiliary to Omega Psi Phi Fraternity and the National Council for Negro Women. Mrs. Swain is married to Robert J. Swain, D. D. S., and the mother of six children. The Florida Regional Medical Program is a non-profit corporation established to provide cooperative, "bold and innovative" solutions to Florida's health care problems.

two inches of wall cabinet. You may not include cabinets over ranges, refrigerators, built-in ovens, and sinks. Corner cabinets with stationary shelves may not be counted. The average-size house should have at least 96 inches of wall-cabinet space. Counter space is also important. The length of counter that extends between appliances or from an appliance to the end of a counter. The area of counter where you do most of your work should be at least 36 inches. The total length of counter space needed in an average house is 72 inches. These minimum storage and work space will produce a kitchen of poor design. The more space, the better the kitchen. However, the larger the total square footage of the sink, the more space needed in the kitchen.

For an average size home (1,000-1,400 square feet) the minimum base cabinet storage should be 96 inches. Wall cabinets must have three or more shelves at least 10 inches deep. Each inch of a full-height storage wall at least 12 inches deep is equal to LILLIAN HELLING—An expert on how to spend money, Mrs. Helling is touring the country with hints on how to buy goods and use credit cards.

WINE DIGGITY Time wine tours for spring, fall

By MARY LESTER Copy News Service... Any wine writer, to be on the subject, should visit the "scene of the action" at least yearly and preferably every six months. I aim my trips to the California wine country for early spring, to ascertain how the previous vintage is progressing, and mid-fall, after the crush, so the wine-makers have a moment's breath to tell me the season's forecast.

Consequently, I have just completed retracing my steps through 28 wineries and initially being informed about seven more. Experience has taught me the value of pacing oneself. Visiting more than two wineries in one day seldom does justice to the wines "tasted" or the places observed. For maximum appreciation of the tours, information and wines, there must be time. I take notes of mental — divided between notes and written. The most recent relate some of my selections for especially favored red wines: Charles Krug 1969 Cabernet Sauvignon. It has a fantastic bouquet — as soon as you smell it, you are won over, even before enjoying the great taste.

Snow Bound Snow arrived in Mississippi and Texas on railroad cars in 1967. When 27 inches of snow fell in Chicago that February, the Chicago River became so clogged with dumped snow that city officials had the snow loaded onto southbound railroad cars, where the sun would dispose of it.

World Almanac Facts Louis M. Martini 1968 Mountain Cabernet Sauvignon is very good although it could use another four years of bottle aging to be at its peak. Unfortunately, Martini's Special Selection of 1968 is on sale only at the winery. Beaulieu's Beaumont Pinot Noir 1970, without a doubt, promises to be a most interesting and marvelous tasting Burgundy after another five years.

By Master Charge Expert Money Management Steps Suggested

Family finances should be a point of communication, not a battleground, says Lillian Helling. She suggests that a couple share the handling of family finances, staying in touch so that both feel involved. If only one person—the husband or the wife—writes the checks, there is no communication and plenty of cause for criticism and misunderstanding. Helping couples with joint budgets and money management, Mrs. Helling is traveling for Master Charge, assessing problems and dispensing financial know-how.

For starters, she suggests these three money management steps: First—Communicate, separating needs and wants. Second—Work out the needs and wants with take-home pay. Plan a budget accordingly, then review it frequently to keep it workable. Third—Collect cash and credit receipts—"absolutely essential," according to Mrs. Helling.

Receipts and lists—details, perhaps—are easy ways to be budget-minded, according to Mrs. Helling, officially a credit card expert and representative. She is an advocate of recording-keeping, noting that planning ahead prevents families from "running out of money before the month." Getting the most for your money is easier with foresight than hindsight, and Mrs. Helling has put together a list of income-stretching ideas to study before you buy. These are her six step-by-step suggestions: 1. Be sure you need the merchandise. She describes a need as available at a lower-than-usual price.

2. Be sure the price reduction in a sale item is real. 3. Be sure the item is the "real thing"; check to see if the glass in the gleaming brass is actually solid brass or just brass plate. 4. Be sure your family finances can handle the purchase. Although cash is an immediate cash outlay and credit is not, remember when the charged purchase will be paid. 5. Be sure the source is reputable. Mrs. Helling suggests that a check with the local Chamber of Commerce or Better Business Bureau will tell, if you are unsure. 6. Be sure you know exactly what you're getting for your money. Does the price include delivery, service and installation? Check guarantees and warranties. Real labels. Know your return privileges. Mrs. Helling offered specific hints for stretching food and clothing dollars. For food: Make up a menu plan for the whole week, then a grocery list based on it. Eat before you go to the grocery store and go alone, unless your children and husband are specifically trained to be smart shoppers. Buy produce in season; meats on special only when you know why they've been marked down and a minimum of convenience foods because the price includes a service. However, warns Mrs. Helling, before you make your own, weigh needs against cost. If you use only a little, it might be cheaper to buy than make. For clothing: Buy according to sale seasons, advises Mrs. Helling, who admits that she's a self-made bargain hunter. But, she warns, watch out for bad items and stick with classic types instead. She offered these suggestions for credit card carriers: Think of the cards as cash.

Don't Miss Ballet, Policeman's Ball

BY DORIS WILLIAMS

An original fantasy, written by the guild artistic directors, Miriam Rye Wright and Valerie Rye Weld, the ballet is filled with suspense plus dazzling costumes as the talented company dancers put their best foot forward amid beautiful settings for superb entertainment.

In an attempt to get rich quick, an evil gremelin changes all the village children visiting a doll shop into dolls in the hopes of finding a suitable doll for the Emperor's daughter.

There are rag dolls, princess dolls, bride dolls, toy soldiers, vanity dolls, Japanese dolls and many others who will positively steal your hearts away.

A village boy has the magic cue to restore the dolls back to children and put the evil gremelin in the Jack-in-the-box forever.

It's fantastic!
Two performances scheduled are Saturday, Dec. 8, at 8 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 10, at 4 p.m. Tickets are available at the door, Sanford Shoe Center, Knight's Shoe Store and School of Dance Arts.

HOLD IT!
Attend the fast-paced ballet Saturday night and head for the Policeman's Ball by 9:30 in time for an action-packed evening... might as well go to both while you have our fancy duds.

Bridal Shower

Miss Teresa Celine Huckabone whose wedding to Frederick G. Markle will be an event of Dec. 9 at St. John Chrysostom Chapel, in Fern park, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower, Nov. 30 at the home of Miss "Bambny" Chesser, on Holly Ave.

Co-hostesses with "Bambny" were Betty Rethwill, Denise Arnett and Karen Gregory. The hostesses presented the honoree with a yellow carnation corsage to complement her blue pants suit and a similar corsage was also given to her mother, Mrs. Nancy Huckabone.

The bride's chosen colors of yellow and blue were used in the decor including, crepe paper streamers hung from the four corners of the party area and two wedding bells suspended in the doorway.

The refreshment table, overlaid with a white lace cloth, was adorned with a bride and groom centerpiece. Guests were served miniature finger sandwiches, cheese crackers, orange cookies, Mexican wedding cookies, mints, nuts, white grape punch and coffee.

Invited guests included, Mrs. Nancy Huckabone, mother of the bride, Mrs. M. E. George, George Touhy, Edwin Shinholser, Howard Wise, Fran Hofman, Louise Malone, Mary Rhoades, Leslie Kaplan, Sherry Behney, Gayle Bishop, Patsy Bowen, Pat McEvers.

Also, Misses, Ve Fernandez, Claudia Turchi, Paula McDaniel, Barbara Clements, Maxine Ekern, Judy Wight, Belinda Robinson, Diane Hazelbaker, Cindy McMan, Nancy Cherpington and the Misses Emily Dougherty, Wanda Dixon, Marge and Beth Smith, Lynette Marcell, Colleen Conrad, Karen Lehman, Faye, Belinda, Aggie and Rachel Huckabone, Sharon Wagner, Edna Powell, Barbara Flynn, Marge Rogers, Kathy Nulty, Sandy Seifried, Maggie Falk and Ruth Bullard.

Mrs. Ruth Pierson Honored For 50 Years OES Service

By FANNETTE EDWARDS

DELTONA — The Deltona Star Club paid special tribute to Mrs. Ruth Pierson at its regular meeting in the Community Center for her 50 years of consecutive membership in the Order of the Eastern Star.

She received a 50-year member of the order and was being given in lieu of membership in her Vega Chapter Number 98 of Potomac, N.Y.

Other members of the club, who are 50-year members of the Eastern Star in their particular state jurisdictions, who were introduced and recognized, were Mrs. Laura Platt Brown of Althea Chapter No. 241 of White Plains, N.Y.; Mrs. Lis G. Saunders of Chapter No. 503, Mitchell, Ind.; Mrs. Marie Hechler of Amityville Chapter No. 700, of Long Island, N.Y.; and Mrs. Marguerite Fischer of Garret Chapter No. 556, Loane, Ill.

They were serenaded by Mrs. Barbara Hardy, a past matron of Wallaston Chapter No. 156 of Massachusetts, R. I.

This was the Christmas Party meeting so all sang Christmas Carols led by Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Julia Harp. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake, cookies, candy and coffee were served by Mrs. Janet Hutchinson and her committee members, Mrs. Irene Demski, Mrs. Mina Wester, Mrs. Marguerite Fisher.

These women also served on the decorations committee but the chairman, Mrs. Hutchinson, made all the favors and little tarleton red and green pot cleaners which were given to all in attendance. Santa Clauses and gaily decorated trees adorned the tables and a large Santa stood at the head of the table.

MRS. RUTH PIERSON, a member of the Deltona Star Club, displays her certificate stating that she is a 50-year member of Vega Chapter No. 98 of the Order of the Eastern Star of New York and the gold "50-year" pin she received in addition from her chapter. They were presented to her at the meeting of the Star Club by another member of her chapter.

Abby Denise Waits, Steven J. Ward To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Waits, 3771 Orlando Drive, Sanford, are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Abby Denise Waits, to Steven James Ward, son of Mrs. Jane Ward, 2005 Adams Ave., and the late Robert Ward.

Born in Daytona Beach, the bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gable, Tavares, and Jeff Waits, Sanford, and the late Mrs. Mable Waits.

At Seminole High School where she was graduated in 1972, Miss Waits was vice president of the Drama Club and a member of Tri-Hi-Y. She is presently a student at Seminole Junior College.

Her fiancé, who was born in Weymouth, Mass., is the grandson of Mrs. Jenny Angeley, Whitman, Mass., and Robert Ward Sr., Brockton, Mass. He is a 1972 graduate of Central Adult High School and plans to attend Boston College, Boston, Mass.

The wedding will be an event of Dec. 30, at 5 p.m., at All Souls Catholic Church, Sanford.

After Dinner Coffee Fetes Miss Rudd, Roy Wright III

Miss Marilyn Rudd and her fiance Roy Wright III were honored Saturday night at an after dinner coffee given by Mr. and Mrs. Dick Aiken at their home in Mayfair.

The party rooms, where approximately 100 guests called, were festive for the occasion with burning candles and floral arrangements of green and white to depict the bride-elect's chosen colors.

The dining table was graced with a white cloth with green net overlay, embellished with sequins and gold braid. The table was centered with a five-tiered silver candelabrum holding burning white candles and epergnes of green and white flowers.

Mrs. Ava Wright Davis and Miss Margaret Wright presided at the silver coffee service and Miss Missy Aiken served punch.

The hosts presented the bride-elect with a white corsage and the groom-elect with a boutonniere. Their gift to the honored couple was a place setting in their chosen silver pattern.

Birth Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rinehart of 2610 Laurel Ave., Sanford, announce the birth of their first child, a 6 lb. 3 1/2 oz. daughter, DeAnna Dawn.

The father is presently stationed with the U.S. Marine Corps in Hawaii.

Mrs. James W. Griffin of Sanford is the maternal grandmother and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rinehart of Clermont are the paternal grandparents.

Mother And Daughter Guest Speakers At Club Luncheon

Pila Hughes hosted the meeting of Lake Mary Woman's Club recently at her home on Longwood Road.

Mrs. Phyllis Crocker was welcomed as a new member.

Beth Gregory, president, announced that the December meeting will be a Christmas coffee to be held at home of Ann Sieczkowski on Larkwood Drive. Members were invited to bring a guest. At this coffee which will feature Christmas music on the organ by Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, Sr., a basket of gifts for a retarded girl will be accepted.

Following the business, a delightful luncheon was enjoyed, after which a very informative program was presented by Mrs. Burch Cornelius, of Sanford, and her daughter, Miss Catherine Cornelius.

Mrs. Cornelius is the State chairman of Epsilon Sigma Omicron for the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs. ESO is an honorary educational sorority available to any member of a federated club. Through ESO, clubwomen are given direction in planned reading and or guidance in conventional schooling by correspondence, extension of courses taken in residence.

The program is officially recognized by state universities, colleges and state libraries, which act as the administrative agencies. Locally, the City of Sanford Library, SJC and FTU Libraries participate in the program.

There are no scholastic requirements for enrollment in ESO. The sorority is non-sexual, non-secret and its sole aim is self-enrichment and personal growth.

Its aim is to stimulate systematic home reading and study with a minimum of supervision; to encourage participation in college courses, both non-credit and credit; by correspondence, extension and in residence; and to encourage the establishment of home libraries and the greater use of public libraries and educational television; and to encourage the formation of reading groups for study.

ESO reading courses average four to six books. There are 23 different categories recommended by the State organization. These include such topics as "America's Heritage: Florida; Anthropology and Archaeology; The Arts; Biography; Crafts; Ecology and the Environment; Classic Fiction; Modern Fiction; High Finance; Healthful Living; The Occult; Poetry; Politics; Religion; Science, Psychology and Sensitivity; and The Seventies; Travel and History; and for today's women, a section entitled "Womanhood."

For the student of world affairs, there is a new section called "World Troublespots."

There are books to suit every interest in these categories and Mrs. Cornelius encouraged the members of the Lake Mary Club to join in the continuing education program. Among those who joined the ESO at Lake Mary were Mrs. Beth Gregory, Mrs. Gilmer Randolph and Mrs. Ann Sieczkowski, who was responsible for the organization of the first ESO Chapter in Seminole County which sponsored by the Sanford Woman's Club.

Mrs. Cornelius was a charter member of this first chapter and was the recipient of several reading awards before she was appointed State Chairman by Mrs. Karl King, FFWC president.

Catherine Cornelius presented a stimulating review of Jean Dixon's "My Life and Prophecies," which is one of the recommended books in the ESO division "The Occult."

Catherine, who is on the SJC faculty, teaching a Spanish class, holds an enviable record of accomplishment in the community wherever she lives. Her ability in speaking Spanish was useful not only in teaching, but as an interpreter for visiting V.I.P.'s.

She has translated for lawyers and the Winter Park Police Department gave her an award for her assistance with Spanish transients who found themselves in difficulty.

Besides her job at SJC and her community service activities, Catherine is also a partner in a photographic studio in the Sanford Plaza.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your letter about the high school girl [signed "Miss Four Eyes"] who was upset because she had to wear glasses.

I am enclosing a clipping I have had around for some time. It might interest you and Miss Four Eyes. It is a reported PTA meeting, written by Mrs. H. G. P., occupation, housewife.

"Last night there were fifty six mothers present at the PTA meeting. Only two were absent. I noticed that fifty-three mothers were wearing glasses. The school enrollment is 118 children, giving each mother two and a fraction kids, and more fractions were visible from where I sat.

"I concluded that if the poem, 'Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses,' is accurate, then seldom is often enough."

UTAH EYE DOCTOR
DEAR DOCTOR: Thanks for a real day-brightener.

DEAR ABBY: While shopping recently in one of the better department stores, I was horrified when I heard the bloodcurdling screams of a hysterical child. I then saw a terrified youngster about 4 years old being held down by her mother while another woman was piercing the child's ears.

I learned that this is a new service the store offers when one purchases a pair of earrings for pierced ears.

Also I understand it is done by a nurse. I think it is very rude and inconsiderate to impose the sight and sound of this barbaric procedure on other shoppers.

I'd like to know what you think of such a promotion to sell earrings.
NORTH HOLLYWOOD

DEAR NORTH: I think that to subject a small child to such an ordeal is cruel. And to subject shoppers to the "sight and sound" of it is poor business.

DEAR ABBY: Some of the methods used to discourage dogs from attacking animals.

In our town we also have leash laws, but very few people pay any attention to them.

Our paper boy told me that he was bitten by a dog which was running loose, and with the blood running down his leg, the owner stuck her head out of the window and yelled, "Don't worry, Sonny, our dog has had its shots!"

CANON CITY, COLO.
DEAR CANON CITY: Shots or no shots, leash laws should be strictly observed. Many a poor hound who thinks he's "protecting his territory" has received one last "shot" his owner didn't count on.

Problem? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 6706, L. A., CALIF. 9000 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1972

ICARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early part of day is excellent for increased energy, charm and the ability to get what you want with ease, but the latter part of day and evening find a considerable amount of resentment present with the urge to break up existing conditions unwisely that have been hard workable.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Daytime is fine for conferring with superiors and making headway in your special field of endeavor, but keep pretty much to yourself in P.M. Make your plans early and they carry through diligently.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have excellent ideas for advancement early and should put the most practical in operation quickly; other areas should await the morning. Take time for research work needed. Rest tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you attend to obligations quietly during the day, you find they are handled quickly and well. Don't separate harmony with mate in P.M. by some careless remark. Show you are stable, dependable.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) During day you are able to reach a better understanding with a fascinating new associate. Do not carry discussions into the evening, when the aspects are not good for advancement. Civic duty also should be handled well.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) You can get your tasks done well and completed early if you really apply yourself during the day; then you have time left for improving health. Do nothing that can ink fellow workers. Don't overdo about anything.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) This can be a fine day for you if you do not work against the evening. Do not do anything that they get your particular skills functioning properly. Solitude is best in P.M. when you can do some interesting or important studying.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Act quickly on whatever will make conditions at home much better in A.M., but make sure you do not start an argument there in P.M. Get the gadgets that will make your home more smooth running. Take the exercise you need in P.M.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Get into the work that will make your life more affluent and pleasant in the future, then enjoy some hobby you like in P.M. Correspondence should be handled early and well. Don't take risks of any kind today or tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Talk over with that expert you know just how to improve your financial position and make sure that you really apply yourself during the day. Improve budget and any property you own. Avoid one who gets on your nerves.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Use Margarine Tubs for Baskets, Banks, Purse

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Valerie wanted to know of ideas for her kindergarten class could make using margarine tubs. They can make Easter baskets by punching a hole in each side of the bottom and using pipe cleaners for handles. Add green grass and green tinsel. The children could also make Christmas candy baskets the same way and find it an ideal project for those who may be visiting homes for the aged during the holidays.—MARGARET

DEAR POLLY—Valerie's kindergarten class could make cute animal banks from margarine tubs. Turn tubs upside down with lid intact. Glue on thread spools for legs. Insert a pipe cleaner in the tub for the neck and tail. Cut the head from construction paper and fit on the pipe cleaner. Children love these banks. A slit would have to be made in the top to slip the money through.—MRS. L. N. K.

DEAR POLLY—My answer would not do for Valerie's kindergarten class but is for older girls. We had fun last summer using colorful margarine tubs to make charming drawing purses for little girls. Punch holes around the top edge of the tub approximately one-fourth inch from the rim using bright colored heavy yarn crochet (or knit on a circular needle) make a sleeve-like top by attaching the first row through the holes in the tub. Work for approximately five to six times in a single color and then hand off to insert a double needle drawing through the yarn work about 1/4 inches from the top edge. Additional decorations of embroidered names, trim or tassels add to the fun. School girls love to make and use these and they are a great gift idea, too.—JAN

DEAR POLLY—How does one get rid of red dye stains that faded from another garment into a permanently pressed white shirt?—KATHERINE

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the manufacturers of "chubby" clothes. Why do they make them only in the 7 to 14 and teen sizes? What about the 8 to 6 range? My chubby daughter is only five. To fit her around the waist I have to buy a size 7 and this means 5-6 inches, if not more of extra length to shorten.—PAULETTE

Trump Break--Safety Play

He cashed his ace of clubs and ace of diamonds, led diamond to dummy's king; played dummy's queen of hearts and discarded his last diamond.

West was on lead and had to either give Z a ruff and discard or lead a club with equally fatal results.

"I worked this time," said West, but only because I held just two diamonds.

"Nonsense," said Z. "If you had another diamond or both other diamonds you would have set up a diamond trick in dummy for me if you led the suit."

Highlights TV Time Previews

8-9 (CBS) — THE WALTONS The easy-going family run into some difficult moments when relatives show up, claiming they have lost their farm and need shelter until they can recover. Hearty and themselves recover, the relatives decide they might claim ownership to part of the Walton farm, and they have a son who can't keep his hold on things that don't belong to him.

8-9 (NBC) — IRONSIDE "Who'll Cry For My Baby?" A prostitute is murdered and her life, insists upon police tracking down his murderer. He's heartbroken when the truth comes out, but the investigation continues, tracking down leads through the sleazy section of town, focusing on a group of misfits.

8-10 (ABC) — OWEN MARSHALL, COUNSELOR AT LAW "Starting Over Again" A sportscaster is framed for murder by the husband of a woman he's been dating, unaware she's married. Her husband is a disc jockey, and he tries for the perfect frame by murdering his wife while simulating a "live" broadcast to account for his alibi. Tab Hunter guests as the disc jockey and James Stacy plays the sportscaster.

8-11 (ABC) — THE MEN "Assignment Vienna: Annalisa" A long-ago friend turns up and enlists Jake Webster (Robert Conrad) in clearing her husband of a murder rap. She says he's been framed in a scheme that would turn over valuable oil leases to the wrong side.

8-11 (CBS) — THE CBS THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIE "The African Queen." (RERUN) A film classic, directed by John Huston, and starring Humphrey Bogart and Katharine Hepburn. The story, based on the C. S. Forester yarn, concerns a run-of-the-mill tramp who shares a dangerous 1,000-mile trip through uncharted African waters with a prim missionary lady. Bogart won an Academy Award for this one in 1951.

8-10 (ABC) — MOD SQUAD "Belinda — The End of Little Miss Bubble Gum" A former child star has two close brushes with death, and comes to the squad with a story they are not accidental. The incidents become suspicious when tied to
