All For Nothing

Burglars obtained nothing for their efforts in breaking into the Clyde Grill at 206 Sanford Avenue Wednesday night, police reported today.

Henry N. Tamm Jr., director of financing for Sanford, will be a panelist for the 22nd annual short course for municipal clerks and finance officers in Gainesville March 22 to 25. His subject will be "Tax Assessing, Collecting, Licensing." Also attending from here will be Mrs. Hosa M. Rotundo, assistant finance director.

A longtime Sanford resident, Hugh Tillis, visited the Herald office the other day to reminisce on the past. He was in the meat market business for years and also operated the Market Restaurant, famed for its calves liver and onions. Tillis whispered, however, his calves liver was bought to for five cents a pound.

Many local telephone subscribers are getting careless in reading the directory, and either reaching the wrong party or being told by the operator the number desired had been disconnected. Many Sanford numbers are now prefaced 323 along with the old 322.

Airport Plan Is Advanced

Recommendations and comments from interested persons about the establishment of a Seminole County airport 33 miles north of Longwood are requested by the Federal Aviation Agency, Atlanta.

The announcement was received this morning by John Krider, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Proponent for the airport—to be known as the Seminole County General Aviation Facility—is the airport development committee of the Chamber.

The airport layout would include one soil-cement runway, 5,000 by 200 feet.

It is estimated 20 single engine and five multi-engine aircraft would be based initially at the airport, later to be increased to 65-85 single engine and 15-20 multi-engine aircraft within five years.

It also is estimated monthly landings would total 900 initially, increasing to 4,000 within five years.

Purpose of the port would be public use of general aviation facilities for business and private aircraft and servicing operations.

Legal Action Taken Against ACL and SAL

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The Florida East Coast Railway filed suit in Federal Court Wednesday to block the merger of the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line railroads.

The FEC said the merger, scheduled to take place April 10, would reduce competition and monopolize transportation services available to the public in Florida, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Virginia.

The FEC asked that a three-judge Federal Court be called as soon as possible to hear its complaint.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Union and management leaders added new verbal fireworks Wednesday night to the violence-marked, 14-month strike against the Florida East Coast Railroad (FEC).

The two men commented during a taped television show with the National Education Television Network (NET) for the program, "At Issue."

The strike was called Jan. 23, 1963, when the railroad refused to follow a nationwide railroad agreement. A presidential emergency board asked the nation's major railroads and unions to accept a 10-cent hourly increase for union workers.

In defending the FEC's action, Hall said last night "if you're going to stay in business you've got to make a profit."

Friendship Is Disturbing

Orange County friends of Army reservists bound for training camp created a bit of a disturbance here Wednesday afternoon, police reported today.

Police were called to the ACL depot here when the "friends" created a ruckus there.

The friends had accompanied the reservists this far. They were taken to police station and caused $26 damage to the plumbing and mattresses in their cell before they were released to their parents.

18 Planes Ready To Make Bomb Strikes

Tight finishes in simulated nuclear strike exercise delayed release of results at noon today while 18 planes were set to launch for the fourth day of Bombing Derby "strikes" at 4:30 this afternoon.

Today's event, the fifth in the Navy's Tenth Annual Bombing Derby, at the Sanford Naval Air Station will involve high-altitude radar-scored bomb runs on four cities in the Southeastern United States.

Meanwhile two squadrons clinched a place in the awards line Saturday as Heavy Attack Squadron Three clung to a narrow lead in the Heavy Attack Wing One Tenth Annual Bombing Derby, continuing through Saturday at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Heavy Attack Squadron Three was leading the competitions after three events with 1116 points, 12 more than Detachment Eight of Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven.

VAH-3, VAH-9, VAH-11 and VAH-1 followed in that order. VAH-3's all RA-5C Vigilante entry was paced by a flight crew composed of Lt. Cdr. Don Sullivan and Lt. (jg) O. P. Burch, whose 2753 points are tops in the derby.

VAH-3, winner of Monday's weapons loading event, did not figure in either of the trophies clinched in Tuesday's competition. These went to Detachment Eight and VAH-5.

Detachment Eight won Tuesday's close air support competitions involving four low altitude bombing runs on a training target at the Pinecastle Impact Range near Astor, Fla.

At the same time Heavy Attack Squadron Five, scheduled for Pacific Fleet deployment with the twin-jet RA-5C Vigilante this summer, won the first Reconnaissance Championships to be held in conjunction with the annual bombing exercises.

VAH-5 won the title in special reconnaissance missions flown over North Florida Monday and Tuesday in connection with the "nuclear" loft bombing and close air support competitions.

Detachment Eight's victory was paced by an A-3B Skywarrior piloted by Lt. Cdr. Bill Quirk with Lt. Al Blunden, the Wing's 1962 bombing champion, manning the bombardier's seat. Their third crewman was Second Class Aviation Electronics Technician Richard Markland.

By pacing the 18-plane field, the "Det Eight" crew earned a slot in Friday's "Night vs. Mite" loft bombing run-off, representing all Skywarrior entrants.

The A-5A Vigilante counterpart in the three-plane contest will be manned by Lt. Cdr. Pat O'Gara, pilot, and bombardier-navigator Lt. (jg) Paul Hanev, top VAH-1 flight crew.

The Skywarrior and Vigilante crews will match their bombing eyes against an A-4C Skyhawk piloted by Lt. Dick Porter of Attack Squadron Twelve based at Cecil Field Naval Air Station, near Jacksonville.

The A-4C is the world's smallest carrier-based aircraft; the Skywarrior and Vigilante are the largest.

Pilot Charged In Plane Fire

MIAMI (UPI)—State Attorney Herbert Gerstein charged a pilot yesterday with setting fire to one of the world's largest airplanes here last July 13 to collect up to $182,000 worth of insurance.

Gerstein said the pilot, Henry A. Warton, 34, was in Germany but that he would seek extradition.

The plane was a D2-ton, four-engine propeller aircraft named the Constitution which was one of two built for the Navy during World War II.

The huge plane, capable of carrying 200 passengers and two complete crews, was badly damaged by the fire but was not destroyed.

De Gaulle Hears Proposal For 'Latin Axis'

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Talk of a "Latin axis" linking France and Latin America today highlighted the conclusions of President Charles de Gaulle's four-day visit to Mexico.

Final events of De Gaulle's tour included visits to the shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe, Roman Catholic patron saint of the New World, and to the ruins of the ancient city of San Juan Teotihuacan, north of here.

The last foreign chief of state to visit the Guadalupe shrine was the late President Kennedy, who stopped there on the closing day of his final visit to Mexico.

During his stay here, De Gaulle and Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos repeatedly stressed Mexico's "cultural and humanitarian heritage" from France.

Talk of a "Latin axis" was initiated by acting speaker of Congress Romulo Sanchez Mieres in speech Tuesday. Newspapers here amplified the idea in editorials saying France and Mexico are linked by cultural ties based on mutual "Latin" origins.

Smathers Takes Poke At Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., said today southern Negroes wanted better homes, jobs and schools rather than a "tyrannical" civil rights bill.

Smathers, who was born in Atlantic City, N.J., but moved to Miami when he was 6 years old, said in a prepared Senate speech that the answer to the racial problem was "understanding and education and tolerance."

Both sides expressed doubt the two-thirds vote necessary to invoke cloture could be mustered.

Lake Monroe Jottings

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson

Another day, another week and almost another season. Come Saturday it will be spring. How about that? Okay by me. . . . Happy birthdays this week are for Louise Rushlow, Pam Gowan, my betterhalf, H. L. Johnson, my small granddaughter Barbile who is all of two, and our daughter-in-law who won't tell me her age. . . . Sorry to hear that Lorena Tindel has been on the sick list, also Olga Hunter. Glad they are feeling better now. Lorena's brother Dorris Norwood and family were down last weekend from Gainesville visiting their mother Mrs. S. E. Worwood and other relatives. . . . Also very sorry to hear that Mrs. Esther Spivey is confined to the local hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery. . . . Bobby Barbour and roommate Joe Oakes of Oklawaha City, Fla., who are students at Conners College in Warner, Okla., are here for the Easter holidays visiting with Bobby's parents, Sherwood and Helen Barbour, and also his brothers Eddie and Bernie. . . . Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Rose (John) Leneer in the sudden passing of her brother Earl Humphrey in Knoxville, Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. Leneer have gone to Knoxville to attend the services. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cowling spent last weekend in Jacksonville with relatives and friends. . . . Mrs. Paul Dennis and daughters Scarlet and Yvonne and Mrs. Lucille Spivey and daughter Grace Ann spent last Friday in Orlando, visiting. . . . A group of 30 boys and girls from Central (S. C.) College will be at the Wesleyan Methodist Church on Friday, March 27, for a concert. This will start at 7:30 p. m. and is open to the public. So make a note to attend. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Dewey LeGer and family of Lakeland were recent visitors at the home of Dewey's mother Mrs. Gertrude LeGer. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Herman Spivey and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Yeagers motored to Largo last Saturday where they spent the day with Rev. Leon Dean and family. Rev. Dean is the former pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Paola. . . . The High School Band enjoyed a real good day at Daytona last weekend where they participated in the District Band meet. Although they came home with an excellent in concert, there were plenty of other superiors made. Norman Leach made one, (by the way, Norman, who is Monkey Toes?), Mike Corbin, David Wieboldt, Joel Fehd, Susan Perkins and both A and B Corp majorettes. Also a trumpet quartet and flute trio, superior insight reading which is just wonderful and also Roy Green in directing the band. So it wasn't all in vain after all. Although they all made an agreement with me before leaving to come home with a superior in concert or walk home, I gave in and let them ride home. . . . This weekend the Glee Clubs go to Ocala for their district contest. I will take high school Friday afternoon and Lynn Giles will take Junior High on Saturday. . . . This Sunday is Palm Sunday. Be sure and go to the church of your choice. And be sure to go the following Sunday as that is Easter. Special services will be held in every church in the county. . . . I guess every little boy and girl have their new outfits ready for Easter. Still with Sanford would have that Easter parade like other cities do. . . . Our sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. John Rhiner in the passing of their infant on Monday morning. . . . Don't forget POLLO PILL day. . . . Our thought this week is a repeat of Ghandi's Recipe For Happiness. Here is it: Have not possessions and want none. No trivial ambitions to win admiration, wealth or power. Do what you do because you think it right, seeking nothing nor even the personal gratification of the achievement of your purpose. In simplicity, directions and strength, such a man could never be defeated.

SHS Band Gets Top Rating

Seminole High School band members placed among the best in Daytona Beach competition over the weekend, winning several excellent and superior ratings.

Shriver Dubbed 'Poverty Czar'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republicans are picturing Sargent Shriver as a budding "poverty czar" and inviting Washington's bureaucrats to raise a howl about it.

GOP members of a House education and labor committee tried to make Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Secretary Anthony J. Celebrezze their champion Wednesday, but he declined the honor.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz who also was reported to have been in the thick of bureaucratic infighting that attended birth of the $962 million anti-poverty program, was likely to get the same treatment today.

In two days of hearings, the subcommittee has heard only praise for the program. It is designed to offer new skills and environments to poor youths and finance local anti-poverty projects.

It would set up a new domestic Peace Corps and provide loans and grants to small business and farm operators.

Actually, the Republicans themselves have had little criticism for the sweeping program offered by Johnson.

Sanford Resident Tells Of Pilgrimage To Holy Land, Egypt

Lifelong Wish Is Realized

EDITOR'S NOTE— Miss Helen J. McMullan of Sanford recently completed a pilgrimage to the Holy Land and Egypt. Here, in part, are her impressions of the journey.

By Helen McMullan
A year ago I never thought that one of my lifelong wishes would come true—but here I am—about to tell you all about my wonderful Christmas trip and some of my impressions of it.

Three of my roommates and I made this trip . . . to get to Munich to catch our plane . . . by train. We found it so crowded we had to stand up, not on the inside corridor, but by the train entrance and exit. There we stood and sat for four hours.

We were well entertained by Greek fellows on their way home for Christmas. We had a very unsympathetic conductor . . . but on a German train you can expect anything.

Our first stop after Munich was Athens. The city was very beautiful as we landed that night. After dinner at the hotel we decided to explore the city. We met some Greek fellows who were nice enough to show us the city.

We walked through many streets to the Acropolis. I have never been so impressed by a city's beauty. It was like a huge city. The next day we viewed Athens by daylight. We got a good look at the Acropolis from a distance—since it is high up on a hill—and before we went there. From the Acropolis we could see the prison where Socrates was placed after being condemned and the famous Mars Hill, where Paul preached his sermon of only two converts before going on to Corinth.

I found the Greek people happy, warm and friendly—and by far the most handsome. The next country—Egypt—was very different. Here we visited ruins and I do mean ruins. We went to Memphis, the first capital of Egypt. Memphis was built as a protective city to the rest of Egypt.

I had my famous camel ride to the Great Cheops Pyramid and Sphynx. I had forgotten to pack a pair of slacks or a full dress. You can imagine what a struggle it was to straddle a camel's back in my tight skirt.

My camel driver, however, gave me a handkerchief to put over my "shining" knees. We saw an Egyptian man climb up and down the tallest pyramid in seven minutes.

We also saw the Cairo Museum, the Mosque of Mohammed, the Citadel and the bazars. It was most heart-breaking to see the filth and poverty of so many. Yet in their own way they seem to be satisfied.

Some children go to school but not nearly enough education is carried on. We saw every type of clothing from westernized suits to the flowing robe type and what we call pajamas.

In Luxor we visited Thebes and the Valley of Kings. The most interesting was the tomb of King Tut whose tomb was the one which was never robbed.

Wandering around with Dona we stopped to have our fortune told. I was told I would marry and live in Europe the rest of my life. What he doesn't know is that I love my own country of America much too much to live anywhere else.

Next came our cruise up and down the Nile. It was our ship's maiden voyage and we encountered difficulties thus prolonging our voyage.

We got a good look at many Nubian villages being vacated because of a new dam at Aswan.

Next came Jordan and our headquarters were in Jerusalem. We went to many places said to have been occupied by Christ. N's hard to visualize what it might have looked like in Christ's time due to the many changes in 2,000 years.

The Tomb in which Christ was placed is not definite. Most Roman Catholics accept the Church of the Holy Sepulchre and Protestants accept the Gordon Tomb. Just to be in the city in which He gave His life for our sins is enough to make me more thankful than I was already.

The Mount of Olives and Garden of Gethsemane are very beautiful, even now. We rode to Bethlehem, the Dead Sea, the Jordan River and saw remains of the Jericho Wall.

In Jerusalem we met two Arabic fellows, one of whom had finished studies at the University of Texas, the other the district attorney of Jerusalem. They took us shopping and we had the opportunity to find their views and feelings about world affairs.

We found contrast as we crossed into the Israeli sector through the Mandelbaum Gate. We visited Mount Zion where the Last Supper was held and then went to the Hebrew University.

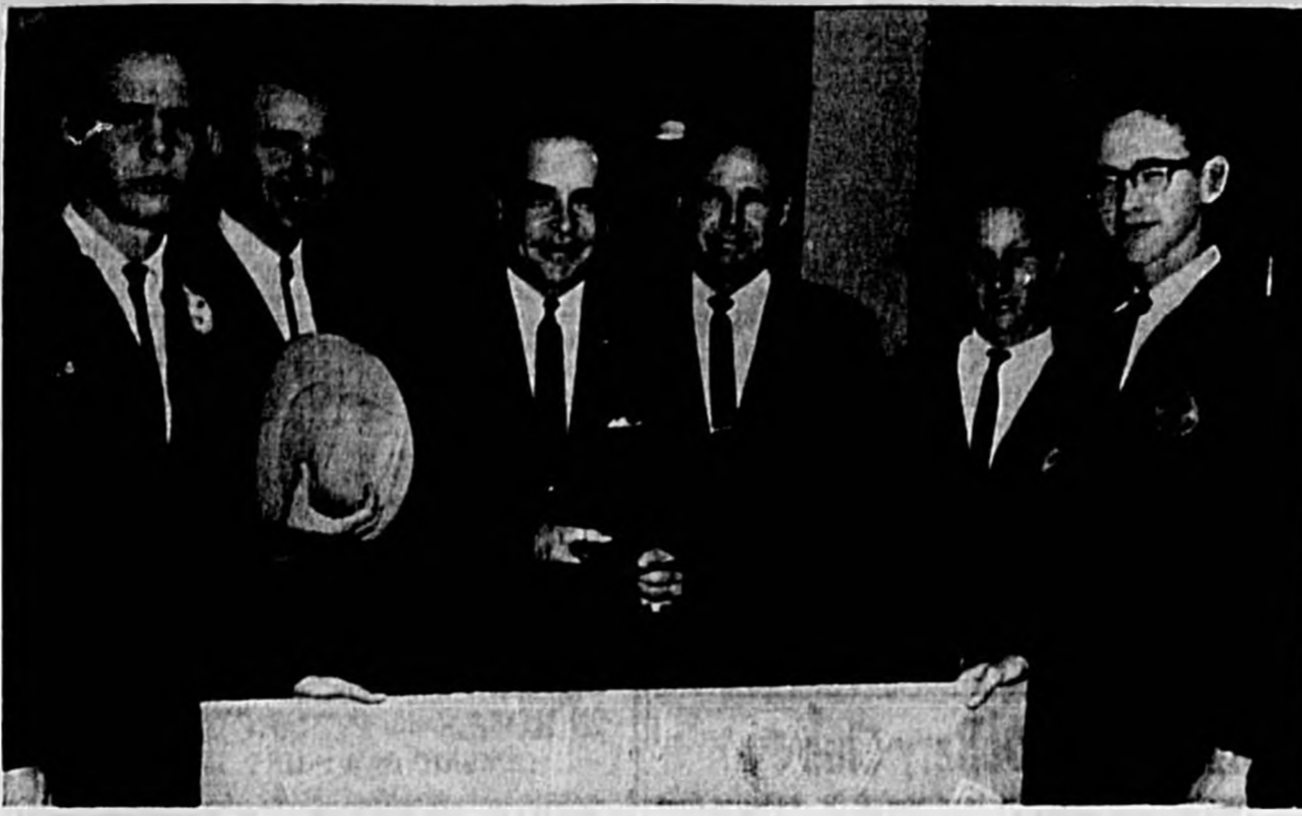

We rode to Beersheva, the desert city, visited the marketplace and saw the Bedouins, the nomadic people who live in Israel.

The most wonderful part of the tour was our trip to Gallilee. It was thrilling to see the land inhabited by many Biblical characters.

Israel is a fast growing nation and citrus is a very large industry.

We made one final stop in Istanbul, the city of 500 mosques, where we saw the Blue Mosque. Then we were homeward bound.

The experiences and memories of this trip will remain in my mind for many years to come. I only wish each of you could have been along with me.

A PORTION OF THE STANDING room only crowd is pictured as they attended presentation of the Creative Cooking School at the Sanford Civic Center. Directing the school was Miss Maratana Logan. The event was sponsored by Swift & Co., Publix Markets, Florida Power & Light Co., and The Sanford Herald. (Herald Photo)

THESE LITTLE 'RAILHIRDS' are from Christ Episcopal Kindergarten in Longwood as they visited Seminole Raceway in Casselberry last week to watch the harness horses and quarter horses work out on the track. Accompanying the children were Mrs. Olin Elgin, Mrs. William Dyer, Mrs. David Tilson, Mrs. Joe Williamson, Mrs. Leonard Casselberry and their teachers, Mrs. Pauline Stevens and Mrs. Robert Hammond.

8th District PTA Guests At VAH-3 Open House

Members of the Eighth District PTA were guests of VAH-3. Flight crews were on hand dressed in flight and survival gear to point out the features of the aircraft and to answer the many questions posed by the group.

The Eighth District is composed of Flagler, Volusia, Brevard, Seminole, Orange, and Ocala Counties. Among the delegates to the Conference was Mrs. Nathan S. Rubin of Pensacola, President.

The flying classroom operated by VAH-3. Flight crews were on hand dressed in flight and survival gear to point out the features of the aircraft and to answer the many questions posed by the group.

Highlight of the visit was an address by Capt. James O. Mayo, Commander, Heavy Attack Wing One. Capt. Mayo presented a most informative talk on the facilities, functions, and future of Heavy Attack Wing One. His presentation was augmented by color slides depicting the operating areas, the assigned aircraft, and the organization of Hatwing One. He concluded his talk with a pictorial tour of the various historic and scenic places visited by Sanford Navymen while on deployed duty with the Sixth Fleet.

The delegates then viewed "Jet Carrier," a film presentation depicting the operations of an Attack Carrier, the USS Forrestal. A tour of the Naval Air Maintenance Training Group facilities followed. Here they were able to see the system mock-ups and working models of the many intricate components of the A5 Vigilante. The delegates then saw a static display of the RASC Vigilante and the TA3B Skywarrior.

Col. Patton stated, "This new opening time is more in keeping with hours already established by many city, county, state and federal offices in Orlando. We hope we can better serve the public by this change."

Tentative plans are being made by the association to sponsor another party at the Forest City Shopping Center.

FLORIDA STATE BANK MEMBER F.S.B.C.

Politically Speaking..

Bralley Odham, erstwhile Sanford resident, surprised the politicians when he emerged from political mothballs and qualified against the veteran campaigner, Sen. Spessard Holland. UPI reports Odham has at least two followers: Arthur H. Harris, Sanford, contributed $500 to Odham's campaign treasury, while Marie S. Cross, Osteen, donated $150.

Robert King High, Miami's bilingual mayor, is the first of the nine gubernatorial candidates to win the support of a major state newspaper, the Miami News.

Gubernatorial candidate Scott Kelly has pledged to keep "stifling government regulations away from the citrus industry" and has asked the industry to help "fight against government handouts, restrictive quotas and the battle against synthetic drinks."

Another gubernatorial candidate, Fred (Bud) Dickinson, in his appearance here last week, took issue with "... those who would divide us on questions such as reapportionment and race relations rather than give us leadership on the questions that can be settled." He said the "state is crying for the image of leadership."

Fred Karl, another candidate for governor, has lashed out at action of the Florida Milk Commission, saying "the commission is forcing farmers to sell milk at lower prices with no guarantee of lower prices to the consumers." He said the commission action means additional profit to the large milk companies.

Incidentally, it was especially noted last week when Karl's campaign crew was here for an organizational meeting that nearly all in the audience were educators.

Another candidate for governor, Sen. John E. Mathews has said "it is execrable that, after 14 months, President Johnson was required to call in the FBI when the Florida East Coast railroad strike resulted in 'almost anarchy'." Mathews said that Gov. Farris Bryant should move in with all resources at his command to stop the sabotage on the FEC. "It is a Florida problem," he added, "and the Governor should go where the problem is."

A personal note from Sen.

ator Mathews to this week's desk says that "reports throughout the state are most encouraging and I am confident that through continued hard work we will build an organization of winning strength that will assure success in May... I look forward to seeing you again soon."

Sen. Scott Kelly has opened Seminole County headquarters at the Valdez Hotel in his campaign for governor.

Mrs. Paul Gleason, Mrs. Jack Glenn and Mrs. James Birkenmeyer were elected to serve on the nominating committee along with Mrs. Merle Kent and Mrs. Mary Mobley who were appointed by the executive board.

Homemakers Corner

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson

For those who could not attend the creative cooking school last Tuesday evening, we will give you the recipes used. Every one sounds good and we are sure you will be eager to try them. First is the ORANGE BASKETS with Curry Horse-radish.

1 cup dairy soured cream
1/4 to 1 tsp. curry powder
1 tsp. prepared horse-radish
Orange cups, scooped out
1/4 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
Paprika

Combine dairy soured cream, curry powder, horse-radish, sugar and salt. Place in scooped out orange cups. Sprinkle lightly with paprika. Serve this with a Brisket Beef Roast.

Now let's try the SWEET-SOUR POT ROAST.

3 1/2 lb. Beef Pot Roast cut 2 inches thick
2 tbsps. shortening
1 medium onion, chopped
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. salt
1/4 cup water
1 tsp. brown sugar
2 tbsps. vinegar
3 tbsps. catsup
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup cold water
1 tsp. cornstarch

Melt shortening in a heavy kettle. Add meat and brown well on each side. Add onion, bay leaf, salt and 1/2 cup water. Cover and simmer 1 hour. Mix together and add brown sugar, vinegar, catsup and raisins. Cover and continue simmering about 1 hour, or until meat is fork-tender. Remove pot roast to a hot platter. To make gravy, skim off excess fat from broth remaining in kettle, leaving about 2 tbsps. fat. Gradually combine 1/2 cup cold water with cornstarch. Mix until smooth. Add to broth and stir until gravy is clear and thickened. Serve gravy over roast. Serves 6 to 8. To garnish slice a lemon thin and then slit down each slice part way. Twist slightly and place around roast.

For the MANHATTAN OVEN ROAST, select a boneless chuck roast. For a 2 or 3 lb. roast cut 2 1/2 to 3 inches thick allow 1 1/2 to 2 hours for medium done; 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 lb. roast, 2 1/2 hours.

For the garnish — Whipped Cream Colelaw in Apple Baskets.

2 cups shredded cabbage
2 tbsps. wine vinegar
2 tbsps. salad oil
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. celery seed
4 red-skinned apples
lemon juice
1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped

Combine cabbage, vinegar, salad oil, salt and celery seed. Allow to stand in refrigerator about 1 hour. Core apples. Cut off tops and scoop out enough apple to form basket. Brush baskets with lemon juice. Chop edible portion of scooped out apple and add to cabbage slaw. Just before serving fold whipped cream into slaw. Pile into apple baskets.

For the oven broiled SIRLOIN STEAK have steak 1 1/2 inch thick. For those who want it rare broil for 15 minutes; medium, for 20 minutes, and well done, 25 to 35 minutes. Sesame Seed Seasoner.

Blend together 1/2 stick (1/4 cup) butter or margarine, 1/2 tsp. garlic powder, and 2 tbsps. sesame seeds. Spread on hot broiled steak just before serving. Miss Meyer garnished this with prepared pears dipped in red food coloring.

The PANBROILED STEAKS prepared next were cut 1/4 to 3/8 inch thick and panbroiled in a heavy skillet lightly rubbed with fat 10 to 15 minutes. The garnish was the Confetti Omelet.

2 tbsps. butter
6 eggs
1/4 cup milk
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. chopped parsley
1 tomato peeled and chopped

Add butter to skillet and place over medium heat until bubbling. Combine eggs, milk and salt. Stir until well mixed. Pour into skillet and cook over medium heat until egg is slightly set and some liquid remains on the surface. Tilt the pan, lift edges of egg opposite handle with spatula. This allows uncooked eggs to run under edge of cooked mixture. Cover with lid for about 1/2 minute to allow surface to become creamy. Combine parsley and tomato. Spread filling over the half of the omelet opposite the skillet handle. Tilt pan. Fold omelet in half with spatula and roll onto a hot platter. Serve with pan-broiled steaks.

When they come in from school.

COCOA PEANUT BUTTER MOUNDS

1/4 stick butter or margarine
1/2 cup peanut butter
3 cups sugar
2 tps. vanilla
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup milk
3 cups quick cooking oats

Mix sugar and cocoa in a saucepan. Add butter and milk. Bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly, and boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in rolled oats, then peanut butter and vanilla. Mix well. Drop by spoonfuls onto wax paper. Let cool thoroughly before serving or storing.

Florida Cracker Mrs. Edwin Klein says her family loves her BUTTERMILK RAISIN PIE. So let's try it.

1/4 cup cornstarch
1 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
3 cups buttermilk
1/4 cup moist raisins
2 tbsps. lemon juice
2 eggs, separated
1 tsp. butter
Baked 8-inch pie shell
1/4 cup sugar

Mix cornstarch, 1 cup sugar and salt in top of double boiler, add buttermilk, raisins and lemon juice and cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils and thickens. Beat egg yolks until thick, stir in a little of the hot mixture, then pour back into top of double boiler. Place over boiling water and cook 2 minutes longer, continuing to stir. Remove from heat and stir in butter until melted. Cool slightly, then pour into baked pie shell. Beat egg whites until stiff, then gradually beat in the 1/2 cup sugar until meringue is very thick and smooth. Swirl meringue over pie filling being sure it touches crust all around. Place in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, 12 to 15 minutes or until meringue is nicely toasted. Remove to cake rack to cool thoroughly before cutting. Serves 5 or 6.

Musicales Enjoyed By DeBary Club

By Mrs. Adam Muller
The DeBary Woman's Club Music Department recently sponsored a Musicales at the home of Mrs. Price Goodson on Sumner Drive. The selection of operas was narrated by Mrs. Goodson, who related the beauty of many of the light operas.

The operas included "The Piedamus" by Johann Strauss Jr. in 1870. These melodies have enjoyed popularity all these years.

Other selections featured were "Babes in Toyland" in 1903, "The Merry Widow" and "Mlle. Modiste" in 1905, "The Red Mill" in 1906, and "Naughty Marietta" in 1910. Operas presented from the 1920's were "Blossom Time," "Student Prince," "Vagabond King," "Desert Song," "Show Boat" and "New Moon." Selections from the 1930 era included "Roberta" and "Porgy and Bess." More recent operas featured were "The King and I" and "My Fair Lady." These charming and romantic selections brought charm and sophistication to the American Light Opera stage.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the musicale, with Mrs. Charles Ulrich, president, presiding over the tea table, which was overlaid with a lace cloth centered with pink camellias.

Mrs. Henry Lasher was co-chairman of this delightful musical program, but due to recent illness, was unable to attend.

FOOD FACTS FROM USDA

In 1955 the U. S. Department of Agriculture ran a food consumption survey among 6,000 urban and rural households in all parts of the country. So many facts were gathered that new information is still popping up.

Here are some of the latest items of interest—

A two - person household spends 24 percent of its food dollars on meals away from home.

Small households spend more per person on meat, poultry, fish, eggs, fruits and vegetables than do large ones.

Only 34 percent of households with six or more persons get enough of all eight basic nutrients recommended by the National Research Council.

In contrast, 35 to 60 percent of households with two to four members have balanced diets.

Wekiwa Fire Chief Stresses Values Of Protection Plan

The values of resident fire protection offered for small annual subscription fees were stressed at Monday night's meeting of the Wekiwa Volunteer Fire Department by Chief Blaine Lydick.

Coverage is available from this department for $5 a year per home in the Forest City and Lake Brantley areas. However, where the small fee is not paid, the department must charge $100 to fight a fire.

Lydick pointed out that although many insurance policies provide for this $100 charge, it is not really advantageous to the fire department for it does not help toward maintenance of the equipment.

Stressing that the $5 dues give protection at less than two cents per day, he urged that payments be made immediately. Residents of the area may make arrangements by contacting department officers who are Thomas S. Gildart, president; Norman C. Nottingham, vice president; Walter Whitaker, secretary-treasurer or board members L. J. Stubbs, N. E. Portinga and Billy Joe Young.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 49 and have been going with a 31-year-old man for the past two years. He has been wonderful to me. He takes me to nice places and buys me lovely things. He asked to marry me, so I look him over to meet my son and daughter-in-law one evening. Well, it seems my daughter-in-law became interested in him (she is 28) and I was told that she called him up and invited him over when her husband wasn't home. My son travels three days a week, so she has a clear field. I noticed when my wife is out of town, his wife is never home and I can't find my friend, either. He takes me out only when "she can't go." They have three little children, Abby, and now I feel guilty for taking him over there. Although she ran after him, if my son finds out he will half-kill my friend. I need this man because we had plans of marriage. What should I do? HAS TROUBLES DEAR HAS: Drop your friend, and tell him why. He'll undoubtedly pass the word on to your daughter-in-law and it might scare some sense into them. A woman with a two-timing friend doesn't know what trouble is until she has a two-timing husband. DEAR ABBY: This is being written by FOUR women who are all in agreement on a neighborhood problem. There is a young, widowed woman in our neighborhood who is very well proportioned. She strings a clothesline across her front porch. It is very embarrassing to see her flimsy nightgowns and all the underthings that women wear flapping in the breeze. What do you suppose she is advertising? FOUR DISGUSTED NEIGHBORS DEAR DISGUSTED: The fact is "advertising" she has no clothes dryer. Neither has she a man to set up a clothesline in her back yard. DEAR ABBY: I can understand how one of those store-bought "ACCEPT MY SYMPATHY" cards would be acknowledged with an equally impersonal printed one stating, "The family of wishes to thank you."

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Bridge writers would lead wonderful lives if every hand could illustrate a single subject. North's raise to two spades is entirely correct in modern bidding. You should prefer such three trump major suit raises to no-trump. South's jump to four was just a slight overbid, but the contract was certainly a good one and South should have made it. East won the opening heart lead and continued the suit. South was sure that West's deuce of hearts had been a singleton so South proceeded to ruff with the king. West had an excellent

"Not through the Iron Duke." West was one of those players who prefer to think, not talk. So West thought things over and discarded a club. From that point on there was nothing to the play of the hand. West had to collect three trump tricks and South was down one. East congratulated West on his play. South complained about bad luck. North complained about his partner. North pointed out that if South had simply ruffed the second heart with a low trump West could think things over until the cows came home but he would never have been able to make more than two trump tricks.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

"I don't know all the rules," a rich, self-made man said recently to his soon-to-be-married grandson, "but here's one on the practical side that's imperative. Open a savings account with your first pay check and put a little aside every pay day." The young man protested that he and his bride were barely going to have enough to live on—so he couldn't see how they would be able to even think of saving anything. But the grandfather's advice was sound. Saving isn't easy for many young couples. Almost any husband and wife just starting out could justify the claim that they need every cent coming in for actual living expenses. The trouble is—after 10 years of marriage they could still justify that claim. A couple's living standard has a way of keeping up with the increase in the size of a husband's pay check. If the young couple mentioned, will take Grandpa's advice, they'll be starting the financial side of their marriage right. There's one way they can manage to do it—if they are willing. And that is to take what they plan to save—however small the amount may be—out of the weekly or monthly pay check before they ever start spending it. That way they'll never miss what they never had to spend.

Gunman Added To FBI List

WASHINGTON (UPI)—William Beverly Hughes, a shotgun-toting prison escapee with a police record that began in the Army and stretched through five states, has been placed on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted fugitives. Hughes has been sought since June 3, 1961, when he fled in a state-owned truck from a branch of Alabama's Kilby prison at Montgomery. He was serving a 20-year sentence for armed robbery. "Since he was armed with a sawed-off shotgun during commission of a robbery, he should be considered extremely dangerous," the FBI said. The 34-year-old, 6-foot-2 has tattoos of a heart pierced by a knife on his right arm and a mermaid on his left forearm. Hughes' criminal record began in August 1948 when he was in the Army. He received a one-year sentence for carrying a concealed weapon, desertion and larceny. He was dishonorably discharged in 1949.

Foley Gives Tod Herring Ring Lesson

HOUSTON (UPI)—Veteran heavyweight Zora Foley of Chandler, Ariz., refuses to play the role of the over-the-hill fighter making the youngsters look good. Foley, 31, gave a boxing lesson to brass Houston fighter Ted Herring, 25, Tuesday night before scoring a technical knockout in 1:34 of the seventh round of the scheduled 10-round fight. Foley is one of the last of the classic fighters who likes to stand straight up, pick off his opponents punches and then score with a counter. Foley weighed in at 200 against the Houston fighter, who came in at 206. The crowd paid $19,474 to see their favorite, Herring, suffer his third loss in 24 bouts. Foley is now 67-7-3.

The Seminole Memorial Hospital has won a blue ribbon from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. The accreditation followed a long survey of conditions at the hospital. Sanford is one of 4,200 of the 6,000 hospitals in the United States to get such honors.

The surveyors, all physicians, rate the hospital after checking the institution on the essentials of good patient care. Dr. Kenneth B. Babcock, commission director, said the accreditation "is a tribute not only to the organizations which support it but to the hospitals which make it possible by their willingness to have their patient care judged by objective criteria."

Telephone rates in Florida, both residential and business, are among the lowest of any of the 50 states, according to the State Public Utilities Commission. Four-party line phones in this state are lower than any other state where party-line phones are still available. And still phone users rejected the metropolitan telephone system.

It had to happen in Texas—Tyler, Texas, that is. A pan of gasoline caught fire and started a blaze in a warehouse. Firemen had to stretch their water hose across a railroad track to fight it. A passing freight train cut the hose in two.

The Agricultural Experiment Station east of Sanford is due for some major publicity in national publications soon. Seems the magazines are interested in the petroleum mulch system being used at the station.

A parade of pictures, both verbal and visual, will give an extensive report on the mulch system. The mulch, among other things, limits the temperature change in the soil, prevents erosive action of the wind and gives the plants a generous boost in the growth process compared with up to now routine methods of agriculture.

Virtually only the walls remain on two of Sanford's landmarks — the Woodruff Building and the Palms Hotel. Each is falling to progress, the Woodruff Building to be replaced by a parking lot; the Palms being torn down since it has served its purpose in the community.

Members of the Sanford Pilot Club have had a busy week stuffing and mailing Easter Seals. This is a voluntary gesture on the part of these ladies, and in less than a week's time they were responsible for getting 9,000 envelopes in the mail.

If Sanford was truly afloat, as Navy lingo has it, it would tilt heavily Saturday to the south. Thousands are expected to visit the Naval Air Station for a first hand view of activities and equipment there during an open house. At its conclusion, Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce officials are "springing" with a luncheon. Free to all and an estimated 5,000 are expected to take part.

ONLY 11 Days to Register For the Primaries

Reporter Gets Jet's Eye View Of Area

BY FRED VAN FELT

"Professionalism is our business—be professional." This slogan appears throughout buildings surrounding "the line" inside the compound at Sanford Naval Air Station. It is a constant reminder to flight crews, ground crews and others whose business it is to keep the jet bombers flying.

In keeping with the 10th annual Bombing Derby, now under way, Capt. James O. Mayo, commanding officer of Heavy Attack Wing One, invited the writer to go aloft in a Skywarrior jet bomber to observe a flight crew in action bombing a target.

It was really something!

But we would like to say here, in advance, to all the civilian residents who complain about the jet noise, especially spilling television audio reception—be thankful those boys are "up there."

When we arrived at the "paraloft" building inside the compound, airmen outfitted us in a brilliant orange flying suit, which had zippered pockets everywhere, on the legs, arms, chest. Then came a "Mae West"—a life jacket, replete with flashlight, dye marking powder, shark repellent, signal flares. We were told which "handles" to pull to inflate the jacket "but don't do it until you are in the water!" Then we were shown where to "puff" to inflate the jacket if the other gadget failed.

Next came a nose cone for breathing oxygen. This was tested. It also carried a microphone. Following this was a well-padded over-sized football helmet, brilliantly marked and bearing "Navy" across the forehead. Earphones were built in. So were sunglasses.

Lts. David Dow and Lowell Frazier, Wing and base information officers, respectively, escorted the writer and Charlie Greco, Orlando TV cameraman, to the flight line and introduced us to the flight crew who were to man our Skywarrior jet bomber.

We already were well acquainted with the Pilot, Lt. Sterne Bolte, who introduced us to the co-pilot, Lt. Bob Kuhlke; the bombardier-navigator, Lt. Bill Hardman, and Aviation Machinist Mate Tim E. Phillips, plane captain.

We walked out to the sleek twin-engine jet, arriving just as did the fuel truck. Picture yourself pulling into a service station and ordering, "Put in about 21,000 gallons." That's what Bolte told the truck crew.

The hatch dropped from the bottom of the plane and we climbed aboard. Hardman indicated a seat, adjusted the parachute straps—we were sitting on the 'chute. Then he hooked on the intercom line from our helmet, attached the oxygen hose. This was followed by the seat belts and shoulder straps, which firmly anchored us.

Bolte "wound up" the twin jet engines and we taxied to the starting line. And we were off with a roar. Up, up, up!

"Fred, can you hear me?" Came over the intercom. We replied to Bolte we could. He explained we were to fly some 70-80 miles to Lake George and "blast" a sunken LST (war-time Navy ship used as a target). We were to make two low-level runs, each time dropping a 58-pound dummy bomb. This was to be followed by a "loft" shot but without a bomb—using radar to track the "shot."

Meantime, the radio was crackling with (to us) unintelligible messages from the control tower to our plane and others in the air.

In hardly any time at all, Bolte informed us we were approaching the target, that he would fly over first to let Greco and us have a first hand view. The LST extended a few feet above the water and there were markers all around, to permit the flight crews to see how close their bombs landed, and also for observance by ground crews stationed there to score.

We made two passes and dropped the two dummy bombs from about 300 feet. Bullseye both times — the bombs landed within 100 feet. Then we squared away for the "loft."

A week or so before we had heard Captain Mayo explain this type of bombing to Sanford Kiwanians.

Some times it is imperative to have the bomb burst in the air over the target. When the bomb is released it travels a distance in the same direction the plane has been travelling until gravity takes over and it arcs into a fall. When the bomb is released it's time for the plane to get the hell-and-gone out of there in a hurry before it bursts.

Therefore, as the bomb is released the pilot pulls up sharply and climbs. This we did — and the centrifugal force jammed our fanny into the seat, our arms were leaden and we had a queasy feeling as the plane climbed at a 45-degree angle and fast. Then into a left roll—and it felt like our head was going to twist off and go the opposite direction. After we leveled off it was some 30-45 seconds before the dizziness left and we returned to normal.

Between these runs, this conversation was heard over the radio:

"Sterne, where are you? This is Charlie Thomas." "Charlie, we're over the south end of the lake, getting ready for a 'loft' run." "I'm out practicing for Saturday's air show—I'll watch for you." "OK—we've got a TV cameraman aboard, come along side and let him 'shoot' you so you can become famous." "OK, but don't drop any bombs on me." "I'm all out of 'em."

With that, Lt. Cdr. Charlie Thomas, in a Vigilante, pulled along side and did a series of maneuvers, rolls, etc., for Greco. (These aerial shots were on TV Thursday evening.)

After our bombing run, Bolte told us that he wanted to make a run on Jacksonville for us but "the air is saturated" (meaning that other bombers were there participating in the Bombing Derby).

"So," said Sterne, "we'll fly over Daytona Beach and let you look at the bathing beauties." And a strange voice spoke up over the intercom and quipped: "We could go to Pierre and look for that nudist colony!"

We were over the Atlantic just that quick. Flight smoothed as we went out over the water and Bolte explained the turbulence caused by hot air from the land had disappeared. We dropped low.

During our 1½ hours in the air we had attained a top altitude of 8,000 feet and a top speed of 480 knots.

We headed for home. Marvelled at the beautiful homes and lakes below us, the waterways. Watched the shadow of our plane follow us.

Approached over I-4, then Deltona, DeBary, around to the west of Sanford, picked out our own home and municipal stadium. Made a swing over the base as we heard Bolte mutter a nearby plane: "Swing on in there, fellah, and get out of our way." And back down on the ground.

This was our first jet flight. In our younger days, we flew light sports planes. We flew with Amelia Earhart in an autogyro; with Wiley Post in the "Winnie Mae;" in a dirigible, and, of course, plenty of flying with the Army Air Corps during World War II. But it was our first flight with the Navy and our first in a jet.

Only one complaint: We never did find that nudist colony at Ft. Pierce!

THIS NOT AN astronaut — but Sanford Herald reporter Fred Van Felt, about to take off "into the wild blue yonder" in a Skywarrior jet bomber to observe from the air a Navy flight crew in action in the 10th annual Bombing Derby of Heavy Attack Wing One. (Herald Photo)

Air Show, Open House To Top Off Derby

Navy air power and precision flying will fill the sky over the Sanford Naval Air Station Saturday as the Navy holds a massive open house and air show climaxing its 10th Annual Bombing Derby.

NAS Sanford gates will swing open to the public at 8 a. m., giving thousands from all over the nation a look at the latest in Navy aircraft and weapons.

This will be the public's first view, both in the air and on the ground, of the amazing RA-6G Vigilante reconnaissance - attack aircraft, which will be flown from attack carriers all over the world by Sanford-based units.

Also viewing the air show will be some of naval aviation's highest-ranking flag officers including Vice Adm. John S. Thach, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Air.

At 9:10 a. m. twin-jet Vigilantes and A-3B Skywarriors will begin launching for the air show. Approximately 30 minutes later a breathtaking 24 plane "diamond of diamonds" will kick off one of the most complete demonstrations of precision flying and bombing ever assembled for a Central Florida audience.

Vigilantes, Skywarriors and an A-4C Skyhawk will team up for in-flight refueling demonstrations. Others will exhibit the major bombing methods used by the Navy's carrier-based attack forces.

Following the Navy airmen on the show will be famed North American Aviation test pilot, Bob Hoover, and his demonstration of split precision aerobatics in a World War Mustang fighter.

The Mustang demonstration will be followed by a colorful military review where winners of the Bombing Derby's six days of competitions will be presented trophies by military and civilian leaders.

After awards are presented, the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and Jaycees will provide lunch for the entire Bombing Derby crowd at its annual Navy Appreciation Day picnic held in the Lake Golden Recreation Area.

B. R. Carroll, owner-manager of Carroll's Furniture at 118 W. First Street, today announced the signing of a lease which will allow him to double his First Street frontage.

The energetic downtown expansion program is expected to be completed sometime in May.

Carroll has acquired a lease for the two establishments to the east of his present location. With it he will reach to the parking lot now occupied by the Woodruff Building at First Street and Park Avenue. The total area will be about 10,000 square feet.

Considerable renovation is planned for the present furniture store and the new addition. The sturdy wall now separating the two areas will be retained but two large archways will connect them.

New flooring, a renovated canopy, an electric sign, painting and interior decorating are all in the project, Carroll said.

Total cost of the expansion project is estimated at between $4,000 and $5,000. The contractor is LeRoy Robb and work is expected to begin this coming week.

Carroll's inventory will be increased considerably when the additional space is available. The proprietor added that he will continue to supply all lines of merchandise within the means of persons of all income brackets.

He added, however, he will give additional stress to early American furniture.

In the business for 12 years in the same location, Carroll has for the past five years operated the firm himself.

Commenting on the doom predicted by some persons for Downtown Sanford, Carroll said he hoped his and other efforts would dispel the rumors.

"There'll always be a downtown," he declared, adding, "if people would take a positive approach, we would soon see the area start growing as I know it can."

Delachment 8 Named Winner In Bomb Derby
Delachment 8 of Heavy Attack Squadron 11, formed scarcely 18 months ago to fill added Atlantic Fleet commitments, was announced as overall winner for the 10th Annual Bombing Derby competition at noon today.

A Detachment 8 flight crew also won top honors among A-3B Skywarrior flight crews by winning two of the five events in which it competed.

The victorious flight crew consisted of Lt. Cdr. Bill Quirk, pilot; his bombardier-navigator, Lt. Al Blunden, and third crewman, Richard Markland, AT2.

Lieutenant Blunden was Heavy Wing One's Fiscal 1962 bombing champion.

The winners earned their title by winning Wednesday's competitions involving both high and low level simulated nuclear strikes, and Thursday's event, which consisted of high-altitude radar-scored bombing runs over three Southeastern cities.

Their effort contributed heavily to Detachment 8's victory in the overall inter-squadron competitions.

With Commander Quirk's crew leading the way, the Detachment 8 fliers won Thursday's competitions, following an earlier victory in Tuesday's close air support exercise.

Following "Det Eight" in final squadron results was Heavy Attack Squadron 9, VAH-5 finished behind VAH-9, followed by VAH-11, VAH-3 and VAH-1, in that order.

The winner of the top A-3 Vigilante flight crew competitions was not available today pending final arbitration on several close finishes.

Odham Replies To Editorial Attack

Brailley Odham last night asked Orlando newspaper publisher Martin Andersen who urged him to run against Holland. Odham said he did not enter the race because his first wife said she would divorce him if he sought public office again. Twice unsuccessfully in efforts to win the governor's office, Odham subsequently divorced his first wife and married again.

"I gave up a marriage," Odham said, "for the right to seek this office." In his first public appearance of the current race, Odham called Holland a part-time Democrat and made it clear that he was a Kennedy-Johnson Democrat. He accused Holland of hiding out during the last two presidential elections and not publicly supporting the party's candidates.

Odham read an inter-office communication Andersen directed to two of his employees in which they were instructed to not quarrel with Odham. The directive, dated two years ago, contained praise for Odham's courage and his stature in the community.

He told his audience that

SOUL IN STONE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
 The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his neighbor's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What do you see here? Figures of statuary? A symbol of religion? A monument to the Master? Look with your heart and you'll see something else. You'll see the soul of the sculptor. A man mightily inspired — who wanted with his talents to worship Christ — who took stone and chisel and hammer... and all the strength of his body... and all the faith of his heart. He said to the world with his Art-Words that which he could never have spoken with his lips nor written with his pen. For twenty centuries Jesus, the Saviour, has inspired our best. In the annals of mankind a million thrilling breakthroughs in human achievement have been dedicated to His service. So never pass the humblest creation of sacred art — not even the crayed Bible-picture of a child — without remembering that you too have a soul. And talents to give your God!

Victorious Entry

In the day of our Lord's life on earth there were many victories and a customary way for them to be proclaimed was by a victorious entry into a city. The city contained people who could observe and who were ready for pomp and pageantry.

Rome made great use of entries of victorious generals. When a famous military leader had some particular victory to celebrate he would march at the focal part of a magnificent procession. This happened only to those who were most outstanding but when it did the leader was recognized and proclaimed as great, indeed. The Roman senate felt that it was necessary to attach such significance to the honor that they decreed that only a general who had previously held some of the highest posts of the land and who had won a complete victory over a group of people be honored in this manner.

It is not difficult for us to imagine the scene of the procession of the victorious leader. In the procession the general would ride in a beautiful and large chariot which was pulled by several fine horses. He would hold a scepter in his hand and a crown of laurel would be upon his head.

The modern concept of a military band was had in the form of a group of musicians marching before the procession. The members of the Senate of Rome as well as the captives went before the conquering general as they proceeded toward the capitol. Behind the general his army marched displaying their pride. Finally the procession would reach the capitol which represented the seat of power. There a fine specimen of a bull was sacrificed to Jupiter and a crown of laurel was put in the lap of the idol.

The entries of the heroes of Rome are forgotten except by a few historians, but another hero made an entry that is remembered by millions of people today who not only remember what he did in history but who still call him King after nearly 2000 years. Jesus had instituted "The Lord's Supper" at Bethany the night before His great entry. Great things were happening in this week of our Lord's life. The greatest part of His work on earth was to come as He poured out His blood upon Calvary's cross and arose from the tomb in which His

Oviedo Baptists To Have Revival

By Bernice Kelsey
Revival services at First Baptist Church of Oviedo will begin Sunday and continue through Easter morning, Rev. J. T. Bryant, minister, announced today.

Leader of the revival will be the well-known "businessman's preacher" and radio commentator, Thomas Stephen Haggai of High Point, N. C., who during the past year has appeared before more than 400 business and religious groups from New York to Texas. He was speaker last year in Orlando for the Central Florida Scout Council banquet.

He is equally familiar to many as commentator for the syndicated radio program, "Values for Living," which was broadcast more than 10,000 times on stations throughout the Southeast last year.

Here to lead singing of the choir and congregation will be Dr. William H. Souther of New Orleans, La., noted musician who has traveled in many countries under the sponsorship of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

Weekday services of the revival have been announced for 7:30 p.m. Invitation to the public to attend has been extended by Rev. Bryant.

First Baptist Schedules Revival

Rev. James L. Monroe, pastor of the Riverside Baptist Church in Miami, will be the evangelist leading revival services at First Baptist Church, Sanford, the week of March 22-29. The regular program of activities will be followed on Sunday, March 22 and evening services March 23-27 will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nursery facilities are available for nursery age children for all services.

Rev. Monroe is a native of Alabama. He attended Howard College in Birmingham for three years and graduated from Livingston State Teachers College. He also is a graduate of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky. He has served churches in Alabama, Kentucky, and Florida. Before going to his present pastorate he was pastor at Warrington Baptist Church in Pensacola.

Music for this revival will be under the direction of R. Willard Warfield, Education-Youth Director of First Baptist Church. Regular choirs of the church will sing during the Sunday morning services. A volunteer Revival Choir under the direction of Warfield will sing at other services. Solos and special ensemble groups also will sing.

Prairie Lake Baptist Church Has Successful Youth Week

By Jane Casselberry
A successful Youth Week will be concluded this Sunday with the morning worship service at Prairie Lake Baptist Church in Fern Park.

At Wednesday night's service a film was presented by Homer Sewell III showing the Southern Baptist Assembly grounds at Ridgecrest in the Smoky Mountains and Glorieta in New Mexico. Homer was fortunate enough to attend a session at Ridgecrest last summer and encouraged more young people to take advantage of the inspiration and training received at these summer camps.

In connection with Youth Week, the young people of the Prairie Lake Church will meet at the church Saturday at 7 p.m. to go to the First Baptist Church in Orlando for a Youth Rally to be sponsored by churches in the Wekiwa Baptist Association.

Youth Pastor at Prairie Lake, Ron Huggins, will give the devotional at the Rally. Main speaker will be Jim Kaat, pitcher for the Minnesota Twins now training in Orlando.

A time of inspiration and fellowship is planned for those attending.

On Sunday morning the young people will take charge of the Sunday School teaching all classes from Juniors through adults.

Ron Huggins will give the sermon at the morning worship and the Youth Choir will present a special arrangement which he has made of "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." Terry Harmon will provide the special trumpet effects.

The young people will be honored at a reception at the church following the evening worship service.

Dick, Jane and Spot have had it. At long last, educators are realizing that the dull doings of these characters are not indispensable in teaching children how to read.

In Cleveland, Ohio, at any rate, instead of Innities like this—

"Look, Dick," said Jane.

"Look."

"See Spot."

"See Spot run."

—first grade youngsters are reading something like this:

"We will die here," cried many of the sailors.

"Hear the call of the wind? Hear the cry of the waves? Let us go from this place! Let us make Magellan go back to Spain!"

about Magellan and his voyage around the world and is the work of the Educational Research Council of Greater Cleveland.

Other readers in the hero series deal with Marco Polo, Captain Cook, Robert Peary, Lief Ericson. Another series will tell the stories of the great scientists.

Geography, history, moral values, even economics and arithmetic, should not be divorced from learning to read, reasons the ERC. Says George Baird, its executive director:

"We read to remember. So we should emphasize right from the start in school the purpose of reading is to learn."

Justice Reaches Back

What may possibly be the last mass war crimes trials is taking place in Frankfurt, Germany. Time, which heals even such terrible scars on the soul of humanity as Buchenwald, Belsen, Auschwitz and others, is taking its toll of surviving Nazis and surviving victims alike.

The 22 men on trial in Frankfurt are former staff members of the infamous Auschwitz concentration camp set up in occupied Poland, where two to four million Jews, Poles and war prisoners were exterminated.

Most of the accused are between 40 and 60. One aged beast, Richard Baer, last commandant of Auschwitz, died of a heart attack last year.

In the French zone, 2,017 were sentenced, 104 to death.

(The number of war criminals convicted by Soviet courts is estimated at 10,000 or more.)

Between May 1945 and December 1962, the West Germans initiated investigations against more than 30,000 persons. Of these, 12,846 were arraigned. Convictions totaled 5,426, acquittals 4,027. (The Federal German Republic, established in 1955, has no death penalty.)

Ninety per cent of all war crimes convictions were made by 1954. But despite the scattering of witnesses and evidence and disappearance or death of suspects, diligent effort by the Bonn government has enabled 530 persons accused of major crimes to be brought to trial since 1958.

Full justice can never be done to the victims of the Nazis, even if every last person who had a part in this crime of genocide were brought to trial. But it gives much hope for the future that since 1945 the vast majority of such trials have been initiated by the Germans themselves, even after the rest of the world lost interest.

Under occupation law, German courts were limited to cases involving crimes committed by Germans against other Germans. Nor were they permitted to reopen cases previously investigated by the Allies.

Nevertheless, on the basis of this law, 1,814 persons were convicted by German courts in the U.S.-occupied zone; 450 of these were sentenced to death. In the British zone, 1,085 were sentenced, 240 to death.

Thought For Today

And he, casting away his garment, rose, and came to Jesus. And Jesus answered and said unto him, What wilt thou that I should do unto thee? The blind man said unto him, Lord, that I might receive my sight. And Jesus said unto him, Go thy way; thy faith hath made thee whole. And immediately he received his sight, and followed Jesus in the way. Mark 10: 50-52

Phil Newsom Says . . .

Soviet-bloc Summit

Another Soviet-bloc summit conference seems to be in the making, this time in Budapest.

Ostensible excuse for the meeting would be the April 4 anniversary of the German defeat in Hungary at which Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is to be a distinguished guest.

Other reports, however, from both Moscow and Eastern Europe say that the real subject is to be Red China.

It may be recalled that it was in June, 1960, in Bucharest, a neighboring East European capital, that the name-calling between the Soviet Union and Red China erupted during a similar summit meeting and the outside world first began to learn of the widening rift between the two.

The occasion was a Romanian Communist party congress at which Khrushchev reiterated his policy of peaceful co-existence, declared that Communists "cannot repeat today mechanically what Lenin said many decades ago" and said that "in our day only madmen and maniacs launch calls for a new world war."

Since in the intervening years the quarrel, and the reasons for it have been well publicized, another meeting now to go over the same subject must arouse speculation.

And since the personal enmity between Khrushchev and Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung is so deep as to make reconciliation seem impossible, the speculation inevitably leads to the possibility that some other drastic step is under consideration.

The most drastic step would seem to be a formal break between the two, thus making official a quarrel which already has divided the Communist world into two camps.

Lending weight to speculation that an important move is in the making have been reports that for the last two weeks Khrushchev has been consulting Communist-bloc leaders on the future of Sino-Soviet relations, and that the Communist parties of Western Europe, Italy, France and elsewhere, also have been holding important discussions in anticipation of a showdown.

Reasons to doubt a complete break between the two remain as valid now as in 1960, if only for the fact that despite differences over method, the joint goal of a victory for worldwide communism remains the same.

A break dividing Communist parties throughout the world could even endanger Khrushchev himself.

An opposing theory is that the Red Chinese now favor a break and are attempting to push Khrushchev into making it. This would stem from a belief that they no longer require Soviet aid, and, with the added prestige of French recognition, already are on the verge of breaking out of isolation.

"I've Got Him Eating Right Out of My Hand!"

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Daniel has often encountered such embarrassing situations as the one mentioned today. But he finds the propaganda is apparently based on jealousy of his colleagues, for thus far nobody has ever cited even a single false statement I've made in either medicine or psychology in over 25 years of counseling.

CASE 5-417: Daniel, aged 27, is a dental surgeon who was working for the Indiana State Board of Health last fall.

A new Dental Hygienist from Ohio had recently joined the staff at Indianapolis. She was answering the telephone the first day when a call came in for Dr. Daniel Crane.

Since he wasn't available, she took the message, and as she wrote it down, she remarked aloud:

"Dr. Daniel Crane! Isn't that a tragedy?"

"To think he has that name and probably will be associated with that awful Dr. Crane who writes for the newspapers."

"Why, that Dr. Crane in the newspapers is a sex fanatic and thus it will be a terrible handicap to be confused with him."

"I feel sorry for this Dr. Daniel Crane."

At that moment another Dental Hygienist in the office smiled and said:

"Well, as a matter of fact, Dr. Daniel Crane is the son of the Dr. George Crane who writes for the newspapers."

Then the Ohio girl gasped and blushed.

"Oh, am I glad you told me," she spluttered. "Why, I might have said that to Dr. Daniel Crane himself. Wouldn't that have been awful?"

Now Dr. Daniel Crane has encountered such remarks many times before, but he doesn't mind hearing his paper criticized as long as logical arguments are used.

But Daniel, as well as the other Crane children, realize the terrific jealousy that develops whenever anybody writes a newspaper column or conducts a radio or TV show or even becomes an outstanding clergyman like Dr. Peale or Bishop Sheen.

For example, I have heard eminent clergymen of the Catholic faith belittle Bishop Sheen and call him a "sensationalizer."

And they have damned Dr. Peale by faint praise and by vicious innuendos until Dr. Peale almost quit the pulpit.

If you hear anybody making derogatory claims against any of us who happen to be in the limelight, just ask for particulars.

"What specifically has Dr. Crane said that was false?" you may inquire.

Then watch them squirm. I've written this column for over 25 years, six times per week, and I have never yet found anybody who could cite a false statement I have uttered, either in psychology or medicine!

And why should I, for I have had a superb scientific training, with a Ph. D. in psychology, which I taught for years at George Washington University and Northwestern.

My textbook has had over 1,000 college classroom adoptions and still is the most widely used text in its field.

And I am a bona fide M.D. with 5 years as a Research Scientist with the National Research Council of America and the Carnegie Institute of Washington, D. C.

It may sound egotistical to be forced to mention such scientific pedigree, but I don't like my children subjected to malicious ad hominem attacks about me.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It hasn't been made public, but U. S. officials are quietly investigating ways to restrict the use by U. S. citizens of numbered, coded or secret bank accounts in Switzerland, Panama and Mexico.

It is normally illegal for a bank to disclose the amount of money in such an account, the name of the depositor, or even that the account exists. In Panama, a bank official who discloses such information may be sentenced to six months in jail.

One U. S. official guesses the deposits by Americans in Swiss secret-numbered accounts "may approach a billion American dollars."

His best guess is that perhaps $200 million or more of that American money is "illegal" money. That is, it's money either obtained through numbers, dope, bribery, prostitution, gambling or other illegal activities, or legally acquired money deposited in a secret-numbered account to escape U. S. taxes.

The Mexican situation is unclear. Officials in two U. S. government agencies insist that Mexico has a numbered-account law and that the system operates in Mexico. Mexican embassy officials in Washington claim ignorance of such a law or practice.

At least one bank in Tangiers did operate such secret-numbered accounts, but it is understood here that someone absconded with the money. Officials are not certain about the situation in the Bahamas.

Panama, a recent starter, is a long way behind Switzerland, but Panamanian banks are moving into the market with promises of better deals for depositors. Officials guess that U. S. citizens already have "millions of American dollars" in coded accounts in Panama. U. S. government experts say they understand some major U. S. banks are involved in Panama business.

Panama is of special interest because its secret-coded account system apparently is growing steadily.

Panamanian banks apparently will make arrangements for you to hide your money and use it at the same time under very favorable conditions.

You can borrow back your own money and additional funds at not too high a fee, either in your name or in the name of a dummy Panama corporation (which you own).

You may then lend those funds to yourself in the United States to buy an office building or to gain control of a company. You may deduct from your U. S. income tax any interest payments that you, in the United States, make to yourself (the Panama company).

You, in Panama, use the interest you collect from yourself in the United States to pay the interest the bank is charging you.

You then collect interest on your numbered account in the Panamanian bank. You escape paying U. S. income taxes on the secret deposits and on the interest they draw. In actual practice your money need never leave the United States.

The Swiss make similar arrangements, but their terms are less favorable.

A letter to a Swiss or Panamanian bank is all that's needed to open a secret-numbered account. You give your real name and the name you will use for account purposes. The bank assigns you a number.

If you like, the bank will send a secret messenger to the United States to pick up your deposits. But the handling est way is for you to send your money through a co-operating bank in the United States. When you desire to withdraw funds, a co-operating bank will issue a draft in whatever name you wish.

Unhappy United States officials say they're having a difficult time in their attempts to draft realistic regulations that would discourage banks operating in the United States from co-operating in the transfer of money to or from these foreign secret accounts.

About Sports Thinking Out Loud

BY JULIAN STENSTROM
Another Winner At Lyman?

Lyman High's baseball team appears as though it's on its way toward another winning season. Head Coach Jim Payne's youngsters have rolled to victories in their two games thus far this season. He seems to have a well balanced ball club with a couple of stingy moundmen . . . and there's no question but that good pitching in high school baseball can mean but one thing — winning ball games.

Lyman has not had a losing season in the past 10 years or so. True, Lyman has had some fine diamond talent but there's much to be said for the man who guides them. Jim Payne is no Johnny-come-lately to baseball. He was a formidable twirler himself back in the days before legs and arms began to get tired in less time than it took to treat them. Jim hurled for Sanford in the old Florida State League and ranks among the few local moundmen to ever hang up no-hit victories. He posted his one evening against the Gainesville G-Men — if our memory hasn't gone bad.

We won't predict that Lyman will take the Orange Belt title this spring . . . but it's a sure bet Payne and his Greyhounds will be right up there among the top clubs.

Jernigan A Busy Man

Jim Jernigan is a busy man these days trying to get all of the clubs set for the summer baseball and softball program. Jim — Sanford's director of recreation — has more irons in the fire than the law ought to allow. But as long as he gets it all done there's nothing you can do but saturate him with bouquets.

Jim has just finished directing the Sanford Biddy Basketball League through another tremendously successful season — and for the third time in a row the local all stars copped the state junior boys basketball title.

Now it's that time again — time for baseball and softball. Jernigan will have a junior boys league, a major league for the older youngsters, a men's softball loop and another circuit for the girls.

Tryouts have been held this week for youngsters wanting berths on the junior boys and major league teams. Clinics have been held for league officials, coaches and umpires. So, it looks like another well organized and successful summer program. What more can anybody ask?

In Barks' 440 Mark The Best?

Seminole High track coach, Dick Williams, says that the 50.8 seconds it took Barry Barks to do the 440 in last Wednesday's track meet is the best time posted so far as he knows in Florida high school track circles this spring.

In a four-way meet with Oak Ridge and Edgewater of Orlando plus Winter Park Wednesday, Barks finished the 440 event two-tenths of a second faster than the previous Seminole High record holder, Ray Lundquist, whose time was 51 seconds flat.

We will be watching Barks in future meets to see if he can improve his own mark. If he can, there's a possibility he might wind up the thin clad season with the state's 440 title.

We'll also be watching big David Noell who broke his own record for tossing the discus last Wednesday. Noell's mark of 130 feet, 11 inches was another school record. Wednesday Noell did not take the record from anyone else. He already held it!

'Screen Door' Open On At Mayfair Club

At least part of the Navy's Tenth Annual Bombing Derby was to be waged on the golf course this afternoon as top visiting military officers and local civic leaders teed off at the Mayfair Country Club in the Annual "Screen Door Open" Navy - Civilian golf tournament.

The first foursome opened the 18-hole tourney at 12:15, following a luncheon in honor of military visitors at the Golf Club.

Although handicaps of some of the entrants did not qualify them for PGA tours, few tournaments can boast of such a distinguished line up.

Competing were Vice Adm. John S. Thach, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Air; Vice Admirals Paul H. Ramsey and Paul D. Stroop, Commanders of Naval Air Forces in the Atlantic and Pacific, respectively, and Vice Adm. Robert J. Stroh, Deputy director of the Joint Strategic Target Planning Staff at Offutt AFB, Neb.

Other military participants included Vice Adm. Louis J. Kirm, Commander of the Key West Force; Rear Adm. Earl A. Eastwood of the Bureau of Naval Weapons and Rear Adm. Edward C. Outlaw, Commander of the Naval Aviation Safety Center in Norfolk, Va.

Among the array of civic leaders were U. S. Rep. A. S. (Syd) Herlong, State Sen. Mack N. Cleveland, Andrew Curraway, Warren A. Patrick, J. Danforth Wright and Robert Beasler.

The tournament was conducted on the Calloway handicap system where participants deduct a specified number of their worst holes from their final score, depending upon their handicap.

Prizes, donated by Sanford citizens, included a side of beef for the winner, plus a basket of Florida citrus.

The tournament is being held to honor Champagne for his many years of service to golf as a pro.

Trophies and prizes will be awarded to winners in the several divisions.

ORLANDO SEMINOLE FRONTON
MIDWAY BETWEEN SANFORD & ORLANDO

in the South and the batters ruling the roost in the South-west.

The two Cactus League contests yielded a total of 54 runs, 77 hits and 11 errors as the Giants clubbed the Los Angeles Angels, 15-12, and the Cleveland Indians clobbered the Boston Red Sox, 17-10.

San Francisco's victory made it six in a row and 10 out of 11 for the spring season, equalling their win total for the entire 1963 exhibition campaign.

Both teams banged out 19 hits as the wind played havoc with every ball hit into the air. Willie McCovey was the batting star for the Giants with three singles, upping his average to .529 and his consecutive hit string to 10. Willie Mays appeared as a pinch hitter and doubled. He is hitting an even .300.

Cleveland jumped on Gene Conley for eight runs in the first inning as Boston absorbed its 10th defeat in 12 games. The Indians belted 23 hits while the Red Sox had 16, including homers by Dick Stuart, Carl Yastrzemski and Lu Clinton.

In the Grapefruit circuit, the Houston Colts nipped the Chicago White Sox, 1-0, in 12 innings; the New York Yankees shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0; the New York Mets zipped the Detroit Tigers, 5-0; Philadelphia beat Washington, 3-1; St. Louis nosed out Cincinnati, 3-2; the Dodgers edged Milwaukee, 4-0; and Baltimore belted Minnesota, 6-2.

Houston shortstop Eddie Kasko doubled off Bruce Howard of the White Sox to score rookie Mike White with the game's only run. Gordon Jones, a veteran on the Oklahoma City roster, earned the victory.

Bill Stafford, Roland Sheldon, Steve Hamilton and Tom Metcalf of the Yankees stopped the Pirates but couldn't stop Bob Bailey, who went four for four. Bailey, playing left field, was hit safely 11 times in 14 at bats this spring.

Carl Willey, Craig Anderson and Ron Locke pitched three-hit ball and first baseman Bill Haas homered in the Mets' second spring win.

Art Mahaffey, who won only seven games last year when bothered by a sore shoulder, went five shutouts innings for Philadelphia and hard-hitting Richie Allen and glove man Bobby Wine had homers against the Nats.

St. Louis' Ray Washburn, who missed most of last season with a muscle tear in his shoulder after a brilliant start, went three strong innings, allowing three hits. Bob Gibson gave up only one hit in five frames and was the winner. Batterymate Tim Lincecum's third hit tied the score in the sixth and Bob Purkey's wild pitch sent in the winning run.

Larry Sherry and Pete Richert held the Braves to four hits over the first eight innings as the Dodgers picked up their third straight exhibition victory.

Willie Kirkland, John Powell and Dick Brown smacked home runs off Minnesota's Lee Strange as the Orioles broke out of their recent offensive slump. In the three games prior to Thursday's the Orioles had been held to nine hits.

PERSISTENT—Don Wert of the Detroit Tigers slides safe at second with a stolen base just barely ahead of the throw to Tony Taylor of the Phillies in a game at Clearwater. Wert had started to steal on four successive pitches but each time a foul tip sent him back to first. It worked on the fifth pitch. (NEA Telephoto)

Oviedo Playing At Montverde

Either Rex Brooks or Danny Gammage, both right-handers, were to go to the hill this afternoon when the Oviedo Lions meet the host Montverde club in a high school baseball game this afternoon.

Oviedo entered the contest with a one and one record — a loss to Lyman of Longwood in the opener last Friday and a victory over Central Catholic High Wednesday in Melbourne.

Baseball Coach Billy Mikler announced this morning that the Lions had added another contest to its diamond schedule. The Oviedo nine will host the Metro Conference's Edgewater Eagles Jayvees of Orlando Wednesday afternoon in Oviedo.

Mims To Take On Rodriguez

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two of the world's toughest fighters square off in Madison Square Garden tonight when ex-welterweight champion Luis Rodriguez meets veteran middleweight Holley Mims in a nationally televised 10-rounder.

Neither has even been stopped nor floored.

That's a remarkable record of ruggedness for 35-year-old Mims of Washington, D. C., who has engaged in 89 professional bouts during his 17 years of campaigning. Cuban Rodriguez of Miami Beach is only 26 but has hampered his way through 37 fights, during which he won and lost the world welterweight (147-pound) crown.

Dr. Barks also stressed the fact that anyone who is interested in attending and who wants to help the athletic program at Seminole high school is welcome to join the group. He pointed out that "the covered dish is an essential admittance credential."

Martin, Elorri Take Victory

Martin and Elorri stormed their way to victory in the feature eighth doubles event in the Thursday night jail action at the Orlando Seminole Fronton.

Running four straight points their first time around, they were stopped on a long capon by the post three pair of Ermu and Muguerra. The post five duo came back to salt the game away their second time up.

Arcilio and Zarra won the four-way playoff for second place with Ermu and Muguerra coming in third. Luis swept through the third game opener of the daily double and Jacin captured the finale to post a 1-2 combination worth $81.00.

In other play, Jeff Williams of Seminole defeated Jim Balmer 2 and 1 while Mike Coles of Lyman was beating Larry Sherwood 1-up. Seminole again won the best ball, 4 and 3.

Seminole now has posted their sixth win in seven matches. The team's only loss to date was a match it dropped to Leesburg two weeks ago. Seminole won the OHC title last season. This year they are competing in the Metro and have posted three wins against no losses in the

Lyman '9' Host To Leesburg

Lyman High's undefeated Greyhounds were to host the visiting Leesburg Yellow Jackets at 5 this afternoon at Longwood Park in an Orange Belt Conference encounter.

Lyman, with victories over Oviedo's Lions and Wildwood's Wildcats in its first two games, will probably send Donnie Smith to the mound. Smith tossed a three-hitter Tuesday afternoon at the Wildcats when Lyman posted its first OHC win of the season.

Saturday afternoon Coach Jim Payne will take his Greyhounds to Oreece for a non-league affair with the Cardinals. Saturday's contest will begin at 2 p. m.

Ronnie Harrell of Seminole defeated Joe Asher of Lyman 1-up. Both were alternates and their scores did not have any bearing on the outcome of the match.

Seminole's linkmen return to action Monday afternoon when they meet both Colonial High and Oak Ridge of Orlando at the Rio Pinar Country Club. The event was originally scheduled between Colonial and Seminole at the Mayfair Country Club. Tuesday, Seminole returns home to meet Winter Park High at the Mayfair. They will host Oak Ridge on Thursday.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who is being severely punished for something I did that I don't think was so terrible. I got permission to go to a party at a girl friend's house. My boy friend picked me up at 7:30 and I told my mother I would be home at 11:30. When I got in the car, this other couple suggested driving downtown first. We noticed that a movie was all wanted to see was playing, so we went to the movie instead. We had a snack afterwards and I got home at exactly 11:30 like I said I would. Well, my mother was standing in the doorway waiting for me. She looked at me like I had killed somebody. It seemed she wanted to tell me something, so she telephoned the girl's house where the party was, and I wasn't there. She said she'd been pacing the floor for three hours. I got home when I said I would, and I didn't do anything wrong. Mother grounded me for a month. Was this fair? Just the look on her face when I got home was punishment enough for me.

DEAR PUNISHED: A month of staying home is bound to make a more lasting impression than the "look" on your mother's face. You should have called home when you decided to change your plans. DEAR ABBY: My husband is a great one for attacking the female intelligence. Whenever he sees a driver do something stupid, he will say, "Must be a woman driver." He claims that the reason there are fewer women than men in the professions is because a woman's learning capacity is inferior to a man's. He knocks women every chance he gets. I am tired of listening to him blame every misfortune from the Chicago fire to the San Francisco earthquake on women. I'd like to give him a real snappy answer that would shut him up once and for all. Any ideas? MERE WOMAN DEAR HERE: Ask him how come he didn't remain a bachelor. Like his father! DEAR ABBY: For several years our brother has asked us (his sisters) to select gifts for him to give his wife on special occasions. He tells us what to buy and we do the best we can for the price he wants to pay. For her birthday this year we selected a lovely tapestry purse. A month later she decided it was "homely" and asked us to exchange it for another one, or to keep it ourselves. She has never thanked us for the time and effort of shopping for these gifts. She only raps everything we select. We shop in the best stores and buy only what we would want for ourselves. What should we do the next time our brother asks us to pick out a gift for his wife? TIME WASTED DEAR TIME: Decline the assignment, and tell him why. Get it off your chest. For a personal unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

West opened the six diamonds against South's four spade contract. East won with the nine and took the second trick with the king. Then East led the jack. South ruffed and started after trumps. East showed out on the second trump lead and South was doomed to lose his contract. Actually, he went down two tricks because West was unkind enough to ruff the third round of clubs. South's whole exhibition had been very poor. To start with he had had a rush of honors to his head and insisted on playing spades instead of just raising his partner to three no-trump. Then he had

If he had only discarded a small heart on that lead the bad trump break would not have hurt him. West would have ruffed and could have led anything he wanted, but South would have made his 10 tricks. Have you spotted any other mistakes on this hand? There was one. East should have led the ace of diamonds instead of the jack at trick three. This would have set up dummy's queen for a discard. But that discard would not have done South any good, provided West made sure that he ruffed with his long trump at exactly the right time.

In The Spring Our Fancies Turn Home-Ward

You look at the calendar and it's the first day of spring. Maybe your thoughts turn to a new home. Should it occur, it costs nothing to look and what you see could be a turning point in your life. The homes offered by various builders and their realtor agents are outstanding.

For example, a home with a sunken living room, a separate dining room and a family room that leads to the patio. It also has a double carport and features three bedrooms and two baths.

This home is located at Grove Manor, Melonville and Washington. Also at that location is a four bedroom, two bath home with many, many features, including a family room with covered patio, dining room and living room.

by Kingswood Builders Inc. which announces there are only two lots remaining in Grove Manor.

If past response continues, they will not last long on the market.

Each of the two remaining homes are situated amid citrus trees.

Kingswood also reports three houses are complete in Greenbriar. Two of them are three bedrooms, two baths; and the third is a contemporary home also with three bedrooms and two baths.

Two four bedroom, two bath homes are under construction at Highland Court and Park Avenue.

Lots are also available in Greenbriar for the purchaser to build his home, either through Kingswood or another builder.

Response to the showing of the $35,000-class residence in the Mayfair area last Sunday was termed gratifying by a spokesman for Rosa L. Payton real estate company.

The public is still invited to see the four bedroom, two and a half bath home. The home features a spacious kitchen, lifetime terrace floors, a den with fireplace, ceramic baths, air conditioning and central heat, louvered doors throughout, an entrance foyer, enclosed two-car garage with a work area.

The special showing last week drew a generous response, Payton real estate sides said.

Three homes are available for occupancy in Ravenna Park and are offered by Shoemaker Construction Company through Stenstrom Realty.

The homes have central heat and air conditioning ducts, fully-equipped General Electric kitchens and central water and sewerage systems.

Stenstrom Realty also reports three other homes under construction and that they have reached the stage where the purchaser can choose his paint color, tile, and bath fixtures.

Lots are also available for custom-built homes.

VA, FHA and conventional financing are available.

Two homes are also available through Stenstrom Realty in the Idyllwilde area of Loch Arbor. One is a two story, four bedroom home with two and a half baths. The other is a single story, three bedroom, two bath structure.

The residences have sidewalks, central heat and air conditioning and also feature hand-made, custom built cabinets.

Students Present Latin Club Banquet And Program

The theme of the annual Latin Club banquet held at the Seminole High School student lounge, Tuesday night, was Aeneas and Dido. The scene represented the banquet given for Aeneas by Dido, queen of Carthage, on Aeneas' arrival in Carthage. The story is found in Vergil's "Aeneid."

The epic describing the wanderings of Aeneas, the Trojan hero who was to found the Roman race. Aeneas was portrayed by Steve Sewell, Dido by Helen Mann. The banquet also had as main characters Venus, goddess of love and mother of the Roman people, portrayed by Audrey Decker and Ascanius, Aeneas' son, who was portrayed by David Lanier. Also honored at the banquet were members of the Latin IV class, who are studying the "Aeneid." These members were given places of honor at head tables.

The elaborate decorations carried out the theme of Dido's palace, with massive pillars, scarlet draperies, and a table laden with Aeneas' gifts to Dido.

All students were dressed in colorful authentic costumes, each representing a character in the Trojan War. First year students were slaves to the second and fourth year students. Mrs. Boyd Coleman, Latin teacher, and other teachers were also in costume. Roman customs were carried out throughout the evening, including the invocation and other parts of the program presented in the Latin language.

Jerry Cullum composed and delivered an oration concerning the events and wanderings of the Aeneas. During the two hour program other interesting events were a "Gladiatorial Combat" among the slaves; an outstanding "Slave Dance"; a pantomime skit, composed by Pat Chapman, using as the theme events concerning Appolo falling in love with the Goddess Daphne and several musical selections.

The entire event was planned by the students. Jerry Cullum and Jeffrey Barlow were co-chairmen of the planning committee assisted by Nikki Morgan, chairman of the menu committee; Helen Mann, chairman of the place card committee; Audrey Decker, chairman of the invitation committee. Serving on the decorating committee with Jerry Cullum and Jeffrey Barlow were Margaret Toews, Mary Thomas and Dotie Jardine.

matization of "Captain Newman, M. D.," which runs Sunday through Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre. Superb portrayals by an excellent cast nicely balance intense drama and robust humor to meld the story into a cohesive, entertaining whole.

Gregory Peck turns the title role into a performance of bruising impact, challenging for distinction anything he has ever done, including his Oscar-lauded contribution. His electrifying portrayal of a dedicated healer of the sick is brilliantly counterpointed by the work of his co-stars—Tony Curtis, Angie Dickinson, Bobby Darin and Eddie Albert. Each contributes importantly and significantly to this masterpiece of film making.

The screen fairly crackles with excitement in following Peck through a farcical-tragic world of men and women helplessly caught in the comedy-nightmare of wartime, and its aftermath.

Tony Curtis, whose acting stature is well known, delivers the role of Peck's orderly, Corporal Jackson Labowitz, a comedy portrayal of infinite variety. Exciting Angie Dickinson, in her role of Captain Newman's nurse, Lt. Françoise Corum, makes it abundantly clear why, at a time when most studios were sharply paring contract lists, she was signed to a long-term pact, earmarked for some of Uni-versal's most ambitious new properties.

It will come as no surprise to perceptive observers of the work of Bobby Darin that he, like Peck, already is being hailed as a candidate for many awards for his portrayal of Corporal Jim Tompkins.

Eddie Albert, playing the role of Colonel Norval Algate Bliss, adds new lustre to a distinguished acting career. He portrays an officer carrying the burden of a long succession of men he has sent into combat—never to return. Beset with guilt, he fights a near-uncontrollable desire to join his fallen warriors.

A little paste wax on the screw top of a nail polish bottle will make the cap easy to remove.

TO OSCAR AWARD winner Gregory Peck as "Captain Newman, M.D." Angie Dickinson, his nurse in the film, represents the private world he hopes to put together—marriage, children, a home with a garden—when war is at an end. This feature will run at the Ritz Theatre Sunday through Wednesday.

"Hopping" is getting to be an appropriate expression, with the Easter Bunny lurking behind almost any given bit of shrubbery, ready to make an appearance just a week from day after tomorrow.

Hop on out to Cook's Corner, where Joe Brooks, owner, has just announced that Bessie Patterson is now in charge of the newly remodeled dining room. Try their specialty, the large Sirloin, and if it's anything less than delicious, call Bessie.

It's just a short hop to the new Paddock Bar, across from the Longwood Plaza on 17-92. Stop and get to know Harold and Debbie Cumbly. You'll enjoy the visit.

"Children Of Damned" Here

"Children of the Damned," starring Barbara Ferris, will have its first Sanford showing Sunday through Tuesday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre.

Co-featured will be "X - the Man with the X-ray Eyes," in color and starring Ray Milland.

The Wednesday-Thursday fare will be two color movies, "The Naked Jungle," starring Charleston Heston and Eleanor Parker, and "My Geisha," with Shirley Maclaine and Yves Montand.

Three color features are on tap for Friday and Saturday, March 27-28: East of Killmanjaro," "Palm Springs Weekend," with Troy Donahue and Connie Stevens, and "Gidget Goes to Rome," starring Cindy Carol.

One of the most successful pictures made by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was a thriller titled "Village of the Damned," which won critical accolades as an outstanding horror drama. Now, MGM has come up with a new shocker on a similar theme of fear of the unknown, called "Children of the Damned."

The suspenseful story delves into the strange circumstances that surround six small children, one from Africa, India, China, Russia, England and the United States, who are discovered during a UNESCO project. The children are normal in every respect except one—mentally, they are geniuses. Their intellects are supernormal and although they come from the four corners of the earth, they are uncannily united by a telepathic bond.

But the very talents which distinguish these children are the cause of grave concern to the nations of the world. Where have these children come from? Why do their mothers have no knowledge of their fathers? What is their purpose on earth? What if they were to use their abnormal facilities to conquer or contain the rest of the world?

A CHILD has been killed by a gunman and now his comrades and Barbara Ferris, the adult in their charge, wait apprehensively to see what will happen next. It is one of the chilling scenes from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new science-fiction thriller, "Children of the Damned," showing at Movieland Drive-In Theatre Sunday through Tuesday.

We all know about the immature wife who runs home to her mother whenever she has a misunderstanding with her husband. But here's a wife who is married to a man who runs home to papa every time he gets annoyed with his wife. She writes: "My father-in-law spoils all his children and every time my husband gets mad at me he packs his belongings and goes home to his dad. When he gets over his 'mad,' he comes back to me, saying he has decided to give me another chance. "I can't stand much more of this. Isn't there some way I can make my husband see how childish he is acting?" Well, maybe there is. But not by talk. If he is going to act like a spoiled child, why don't you try handling him the way you would a six-year-old who pouts: "I hate you and I'm going to run away from home!" That is, why not try ignoring his childish behavior? Go on about your business calmly next time he runs home to papa. Make plans that will keep you away from home as much as possible—in the hope that when he does return to "forgive" you—he'll find an empty house. Maybe then he'll realize that his wife isn't sitting around worrying about him and waiting for him to get over his anger, but has obviously decided that she has had enough of his childishness and is going on about her own affairs. Keep your temper if he tries to pick up the argument where it was dropped when he ran home to papa. Let him do the talking. What he is trying to do is punish you—and the quickest way to bring him to his senses is to pretend indifference. He'll soon decide that his actions have been pretty silly for a grown man.

CAPT. JAMES O. MAYO, commanding officer of Heavy Attack Wing One, poses with the array of trophies presented Saturday at the conclusion of the 10th annual Bombing Derby at Sanford Naval Air Station.

THE PUBLIC was given a first hand view of the cockpits of jet bombers at the "Navy Day Appreciation" Open House Saturday at SNAS. Crew members answered questions. (Herald Photos)

Downtown Sanford is doomed? Not for one furniture store owner who is beginning an expansion project which will double his frontage on West First Street. He's B. R. Carroll, whose store bears his name. It's a healthy sign; and possibly the continuation of a trend away from the sorrowful sounds of others.

Our applause to members of the Seminole High School Band and associated members for the fine appearance recently in the Florida Bandmaster's Association contest in Daytona Beach. We look for more honors when some of the members compete in Tallahassee in May.

Shrine Club members and their wives will attend a dinner-meeting at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at their club building, according to President Roy G. Williams.

We've mentioned other beauty spots in the city and urged residents to visit them. Here's another: Drive to the intersection of 22nd Street and Park Avenue and turn your glance to the southwest corner. It's worth it. Many cars have been seen slowing down as they approach the spot.

Ever hear of a "Bugged Bunny"? There's one at Florida State University. The latest thing in electronics at FSU is a rabbit which has a small transistorized radio station implanted in her abdomen four weeks ago.

The purpose is to get a report on the rabbit's body temperature during ovulation, according to graduate student Lawrence Espey of San Benito, Texas. The radio sends out beeps which can be picked up on an ordinary table model radio near enough to it.

The "Bugged Bunny" apparently is unmindful of the experiment. The beeps are recorded on a device similar to a polygraph or lie detector. In following the animal's temperature changes during ovulation, Espey's findings show the rabbit's temperature rises one degree about eight hours before ovulation takes place.

From "The Sunny Sands Scoop" we learn the American Nudist Association will hold its southern convention on its resort grounds near Daytona Beach August 5 through 9. The "Scoop" says the association will need "many volunteers" to help with the various functions "so that everything runs smoothly." The release sums up with "At Sunny Sands the accent is on comfort."

It also provided the public with its first close-up view of the twin-jet RA-5C Vigilante, the new tactical reconnaissance plane which will be flown from aircraft carriers all over the world by Sanford-based squadrons.

Also on display was an F-4B Phantom II, the Navy's newest all-weather fighter, and an A-6A Intruder, a new addition in the attack field.

Thach, deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Air, and Charles B. Martell, Commander of the U. S. Second Fleet; also Vice Admirals Paul H. Hansey and Paul D. Strop, Commanders of Naval Air Forces in the Atlantic and Pacific respectively.

Water Systems Clinic To Be Held Tuesday

Florida is blessed with an abundance of underground water in practically every area of the state. However some home water supplies have problems, the most common of which is hardness in water. Other problems include iron, iron bacteria, sulfur or sulfides, salt or chlorides, and disease producing bacteria.

A clinic designed to answer these and other problems about water systems will be conducted by the Seminole County Extension Service, County Agricultural Agent Cecil A. Tucker II and Home Demonstration Agent Myrtle Wilson.

The clinic will be held at the Home Demonstration Center, 401 East 25th Street in Sanford, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Persons desiring to have a well water sample tested for minerals content (at no charge) should bring at least one-half pint of water. It is best to get the sample at the pump before it goes through the pressure tank. If that is impossible, open the faucet for five to 10 minutes until the pressure tank has been emptied and the sample is fresh from the well. "Do not bring samples that have gone through a softener or other treatment process," Tucker said.

Also on hand to assist in the program will be county Health Dept. officials, an extension specialist from University of Florida, local power representatives and a representative from the National Water Purification Foundation in Atlanta.

Some of the topics on the program are: Importance of Running Water, Testing Water for Drinking Purposes, Types of Pumps, Water Problems in the Home, Good Wiring Saves Pump Motors, Causes of Minerals in Water, Removing Minerals and Treatment.

Water Program Before Council

City of Sanford's $800,000 water supply expansion program will be discussed at tonight's City Commission meeting.

Tentative scheduling is consideration of an ordinance authorizing issuance of revenue certificates to finance the expansion.
