Volusia Swamps Searched For Missing Navy Jet

Two Crewmen Lost; Third Man Bails Out

One of the most extensive searches in Central Florida's history, including military and civilian aircraft and ground searches fanned out over a large section today, seeking two of three crewmen aboard a twin-jet Navy attack plane reported missing late Wednesday.

Planes from at least seven Florida installations crisscrossed a swampy area approximately 20 miles north of the Sanford Naval Air Station for the missing plane, believe to have crashed.

The Civil Air Patrol and sheriff's deputies from Volusia and Seminole Counties were aiding in the search.

The missing men, both stationed at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, on temporary duty at NAS, were Lt. G. E. Doolan, 34, and Lt. J. E. Faulkner, 31, Fort Worth, Tex., bombardier-navigator.

Photographer's Mate 2C R. L. Gaudreau was picked up Wednesday night about two and a half miles north of Lake Helen in Volusia County. He was suffering from deep shock but otherwise was unhurt, after bailing out.

Officials at the base dispensary said this morning that Gaudreau was in "good" condition and had torn a ligament in his left leg. Lt. Cdr. H. E. Smith, NAS public relations officer said the pilot had radio contact with the station "up until the very end."

"The plane was making an instrument approach to the runway," Smith said, "when it encountered heavy turbulence. The pilot ordered the crew to bail out and see me, the man we found, followed orders."

"The pilot rode through the turbulence and apparently regained control of his aircraft. He checked with the base by radio. Then he stopped sending. We just don't know what happened."

Smith said the last contact was at 4:30 p. m. "We knew the plane was down because the fuel would have been exhausted."

The men were living at the base at the time of the crash. They were returning from a four and half hour routine flight when the mishap occurred.

Dickerhoof Named To Carter's Staff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Committee on Government Operations today named W. L. Dickerhoof of Sanford as a member of the staff of President Jimmy Carter.

Dickerhoof is an accountant for Shoemaker Construction Co., and resides at 2433 Palmiste Ave., Sanford.

Yallahs, who was elected to the position of vice president of the committee, said he would propose a resolution to bring new members to the committee.

One of the "defects" of the first proposal was that it prevented re-districting of the Senate until 1971, Fred O. Dickstein, West Palm Beach, said in Tampa the state needs a better system of highways to attract more industry.

John McCarty of Ft. Pierce, who will take his campaign to Miami this weekend with a reception planned Saturday, visited in Sanford today.

McCarty will formally open his statewide campaign Tuesday at Ft. Pierce.

Mt. Doran Hurt As 2 Cars Wreck

A Mt. Doran man was injured today in one of two wrecks at the same time and place on SR 44.

Robert Allen Lewis and George Richard Yocum of Mt. Doran were driving their cars around a SR 44 curve four miles west of Sanford when both autos careened off the road, Highway Patrol Trooper Olin Garrett reported.

Lewis' auto skidded off one side of the road and he received "a very bad" cut on his head and was hospitalized. He was reported in fair condition.

Yocum's car, traveling about 100 feet behind Lewis' auto, went off the other side of the road. Yocum was not injured.

The accident occurred as both rounded the curve under Interstate Hwy. 4 overpass, Garrett said. Both Lewis and Yocum were charged with driving too fast for road conditions. Deputy R. A. Norwood assisted Garrett in the investigation.

Fire Burns Hole In Wall Of Home

Fire burned a hole in an inside wall of Mrs. Dorothy M. Bink's home, 377 N. Mangrove Ave., Wednesday.

The blaze broke out in a second-floor apartment rented by Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Johns. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Hunt For Plane Hampered By Heavy Fog, Mud

BY LARRY VERNEHL

"If these men are here we'll find them."

That's what Volusia County Sheriff Rodney Thurbay said, as he led eight of his deputies and a contingent of deputies from Seminole County through a dense swampy area near Orange City last night in hope of finding a clue to a missing A3J jet bomber and two crew members.

The men started the search at approximately 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, a little more than an hour after the plane was reported missing at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

By 11 p. m. when the search was called because of dense fog, not a clue to the whereabouts of the plane had been found.

Helicopters from the Sanford Naval Air Station crisscrossed the area flying as low as 50 feet.

One of the pilots told a Herald reporter who was in the search party, "We couldn't even see the searchers, the fog was so thick."

On the ground, deputies and volunteers turned over scrubby, hacked through dense grass and walked through mud-deep mud in the hope of finding evidence of the fate of the plane.

Deputies changed clothes time and again when they were soaked through.

Volunteers from Orange City and Lake Helen, retired persons and boys ranging in age from 14-18 joined the search with flashlights blinking.

For nearly six hours, the searchers walked two in a row, signaling to each other but not a shred of evidence was found.

"They just couldn't have disappeared," Sheriff Thurbay said as he called off the search for the night.

'Rights' Opponents Charge Tyranny

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders were accused of "tyranny" and legislative "meddling" today by opponents protesting plans to hold the Senate in session on the issue of a comprehensive drainage program to eliminate at flooding in 1,000 acres in south Seminole, parts of Orange County and Winter Park.

The areas involved include Tanglewood and Temple Terrace in Seminole County and the Eastbrook area of Orange County.

Once the Orange County board gives its approval to the joint project, the Seminole board will start work on getting a tax district in that area and setting millage for residents in the area.

"Only those persons who would benefit by the project will be taxed," Board Chairman John Krider emphasized today. Krider said the board has no intention of taxing residents throughout the county.

According to a flooding survey by a Sanford engineering firm, three areas in the south end of the county are "critical."

Carlton Bliss of Brill and Gray, the engineering firm that conducted the survey, said that 47 per cent of the area was in Seminole County and 53 per cent in Orange County.

Although the complete job would cost $372,900, Seminole county's portion of the project would cost $158,825.

The project would include a storm sewer plan which involves

Navy Confirms New Bomber Assigned To NAS

The nation's newest and fastest jet bomber, the Navy's North American Aviation-built Vigilante, will begin operating from the Sanford Naval Air Station this summer.

Official confirmation of the program came Wednesday after The Herald reported on Jan. 25 that the jet bomber would be introduced at NAS.

The Chamber of Commerce hailed the official announcement as a strong indication the Sanford base, frequently the subject of transfer rumors in the past, will continue operations "for a long time."

Announcement that the newest bomber will be introduced into service here means its checkout and crew indoctrination programs will keep the NAS busy beginning during the summer.

Chamber of Commerce Manager John Krider said that announcement of the new program was gratifying to the special Armed Services Committee established here in 1956 to urge the Navy to keep the Sanford base and not transfer it to one of 10 other locations surveyed.

A few Vigilantes have been received for flight tests, according to naval officials, and others are nearing completion. They will be assigned to Heavy Attack Wing One at Ramey Field.

The responsibility for training pilots and bombardier-navigators for the A3J will fall to Heavy Attack Squadron Three.

Squadron Cdr. F. G. Edwards said: "We have already completed most of the necessary ground work for the jets' arrival."

Work already is underway at the NAS to modify existing facilities to conform to the new requirements. Cost of the expansion is expected to reach $65,000, according to navy officials.

Much of the early phase testing of the bombers that would have been done at the Naval Air Center, Patuxent River, Md., now will be done at Ramey Field, officials said.

This will be the first time that the phase of test and evaluation termed "fleet introduction program" will take place at a fleet base and under the supervision of a fleet command.

Nearly 100 employees of the North American Aviation plant in Columbus, O., will join Navy personnel at NAS in the early phase of the operation.

Capt. James D. Ramage, commander of Heavy Attack Wing One, said the "Vigilante introduces a new generation of high speed aircraft. This is first class equipment and we guarantee that it will be operated by the best trained crews in the business."

Castro To Grab Foreign Capital

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro declared today that any foreign private capital coming into Cuba in future will be "delivered to the nation" and invested as it sees fit.

Castro bitterly attacked foreign investors in a two-hour and 20-minute televised speech to 7,000 unionized workers in the Blancas movie theater, one of the shortest major television appearances he has ever made.

"Private foreign capital is motivated neither by generosity nor by charity nor by a desire to aid the people," he said. "Private foreign capital is invested to help its investors."

"The investors... set conditions to increase their gains and to take them away, extracting the juice from the country indefinitely."

Castro's stand was expected to end private foreign investment in Cuba. Although the new communist government has not yet been declared, it appeared unlikely that foreign investment would be allowed.

The premier made no mention in his speech of the fate of existing investments in Cuba. He had announced previously that at least 91 per cent of all "basic industries" will be taken over by the government, but has not said what will happen to the producers of consumer goods.

Food Price Drop Halt Seen In '60

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retail food prices will stop falling this year and remain at about the 1959 level, the Agriculture Department forecasts today.

The department predicted the price of food will remain about steady in 1960. It said the cost of processing and distributing the food probably would continue to inch upward.

Food prices last year fell about 3 1/2 per cent below the 1959 level, the department said. This reflected lower prices paid to farmers. Food marketing charges jumped one per cent.

But increases in other prices more than offset the drop in food costs and the cost of living went up one per cent.

Board Hopes For Drainage Pact Friday

The Seminole County Commission hopes to get approval of Orange County commissioners Friday for a joint drainage pact.

The pact would put into effect a comprehensive drainage program to eliminate at flooding in 1,000 acres in south Seminole, parts of Orange County and Winter Park.

The areas involved include Tanglewood and Temple Terrace in Seminole County and the Eastbrook area of Orange County.

Once the Orange County board gives its approval to the joint project, the Seminole board will start work on getting a tax district in that area and setting millage for residents in the area.

"Only those persons who would benefit by the project will be taxed," Board Chairman John Krider emphasized today. Krider said the board has no intention of taxing residents throughout the county.

Carlton Bliss of Brill and Gray, the engineering firm that conducted the survey, said that 47 per cent of the area was in Seminole County and 53 per cent in Orange County.

Although the complete job would cost $372,900, Seminole county's portion of the project would cost $158,825.

The project would include a storm sewer plan which involves improvements to ditches and canals in the basin, construction of a canal south from SR 436 to Eastbrook to SR 15A and the installation of a 48-inch pipe from the north end of the basin to Tanglewood Creek at the Lake Howell brook area of Orange County.

The project allows for "stage by stage" construction, according to County Engineer Robert Davis.

Winter Park has already informed the Seminole Board that they were in favor of the joint project. Commissioner Vernon Dunn had appeared before the

Tornadoes Hit Two North Florida Cities

By United Press International

Small tornadoes dipped down near Jacksonville and at Lake City early today, destroying at least seven frame houses and damaging others.

The Duval County Sheriff's office said a father and his daughter suffered minor cuts from flying glass when a water struck in a northeast section of Jacksonville. Neither required hospitalization.

Patrolman C. B. Seymour, one of the first officers on the scene, said seven frame homes were demolished by the storm, which hit about 7:10 a. m. However, he said all of the occupants apparently managed to get out in time.

Another water struck about 30 minutes later at a junkyard south of Jacksonville, scattering used automobile parts and leaving twisted metal clings in trees and utility poles.

The Weather Bureau later issued an apparent all-clear bulletin today for northern Florida and extreme southeast Georgia.

Orange Board earlier in the month and "most of them seem to favor the project."

The Orange Board had turned the matter over to their engineers for study. They expect to reach a decision tomorrow.

Ike's Security Guard Tightened

SÃO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — President Eisenhower flew into this "fastest-growing city in the world" today to another red-carpet welcome punctuated with crackling firecrackers. Security arrangements were the tightest of his tour to date.

After an exchange of greetings and formalities at the airport the president rode through the city in the back seat of his open car. He stood up, grinned widely, and waved both hands to the huge crowd which strained at police lines along the way.

They held signs welcoming Eisenhower, showered him with confetti and rolled paper streamers and exploded firecrackers continuously in the streets. Thousands of children waved U.S. and Brazilian flags.

As Eisenhower stepped from his plane and headed down the ramp, a long red carpet was rolled out. The carpet led into an enormous quadrangle sealed off by troops and a large honor guard.

For the first time on the trip, reporters and photographers were excluded from the security area and could get nowhere near the president. The public, too, was held far back.

Educational TV Study Plans Include Seminole

School representatives from eight counties, including Seminole, will meet the latter part of April to discuss the best way to get educational television facilities for Central Florida.

Seminole Director of Instruction Stewart Gatchel said Wednesday the $10,140 Ford Foundation funds recently granted for furthering Central Florida educational television will be used to determine what is most needed in educational TV in grades 1-12, adult and junior college programs.

The Florida Educational Television Commission already has allotted an educational television station for Orlando. Ultra high frequency channel 34 has been reserved for Central Florida with headquarters in Orlando.

One purpose of the study will be to find whether it would be best to build a separate educational TV station for Central Florida in Orlando, or whether trying in with one of the other educational TV channels in the state would be more advisable. Gatchel said Tampa-St. Petersburg educational TV needs its programs as far as Brooksville.

Two or three school representatives from each of the eight central Florida counties will work on the TV study. They will come from Orange, Brevard, Flagler,

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Teamsters Union President James P. Hoffa said federal indictments of six St. Louis teamster officials are nothing more than "harrassment" of the union by the Justice Department. Hoffa, here for the country's meeting of his executive board, said his members contributed to the 1956 campaign of two senators and two representatives were authorized by the members and were therefore legal.

Bill Gets Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Commerce Committee has approved a bill to require the labeling of all hazardous articles packaged and sold for household use. The bill would require accurate labeling of such household items as toxic or flammable cleaning fluids and aerosol sprays. It would provide maximum penalties of up to $5,000 fines for manufacturers who fail to clearly label their packaged products.

Pollution Bill Doomed

WASHINGTON (UPI) House Democrats tried today to overturn President Eisenhower's veto of a politically potent bill to expand federal grants for local water pollution control. But the move appeared doomed. Democratic leaders conceded there were too few votes to override the veto. The author of the measure, Rep. John A. Blatnik (D-Minn.), claimed he was only "a couple of votes" short.

CIA, Defense Chiefs At Odds On Missile Data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats and Republicans remained poles apart today in their appraisal of U.S. missile strength in the wake of new testimony by Central Intelligence Director Allen W. Dulles.
The closed-door testimony also pitted Dulles and the nation's defense chiefs in apparent contradiction about the circulation of intelligence estimates of Soviet rocket power.
Democratic members of Senate space-preparedness committees said Dulles' statements Wednesday did not clarify for them the conflicting testimony between his earlier testimony on Russian missiles and that of Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates and Gen. Nathan F. Twining.
But Republicans said Dulles explained to their satisfaction that the apparent confusion stemmed from the fact that the CIA director approached the problem on a different basis than Gates and Twining. Dulles declared that no information on Russia's missile strength had been withheld from the defense officials.
Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told the committee earlier he had not seen any intelligence information which he assumed was Russia's missile superiority had decreased.
When Dulles gave these intelligence figures to the committee previously, Democrats said they showed the Soviet missile lead had increased.
Sen. Clinton Case (D-N.J.) said Dulles' position never had been anything. He said the figures Twining did not see were "not part" of the intelligence estimates presented by the CIA chief.

Sales Policies-Ethics Clash Causes Drug Firm Medical Director To Quit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former medical director of a major U. S. drug firm told Senate investigators today he quit his job in protest over sales policies which clashed with the ethics of the medical profession.
Dr. Martin Seidell, North Hollywood, Calif., said the New York drug firm of Charles Pfizer & Co., his former employer, had a "perverted marketing attitude."
Seidell voiced the charge as the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee continued its inquiry into alleged high prices and profits in the drug industry.
Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) has complained that some major drug manufacturers were guilty of misrepresenting their products in advertisements.
Seidell told the subcommittee this was one of the big reasons he quit Pfizer.
The subcommittee called Seidell for testimony because of an article which appeared last September in the magazine "Saturday Review."
The article said Pfizer published an ad on "amarax," a drug

Florida NAACP Sees Probe Aid In Court Ruling

TAMPA (UPI) — The Florida NAACP had hopes today the U. S. Supreme Court had helped in the Negro group's battle with a Florida legislative investigating committee.
The committee, which is investigating alleged Communist infiltration of the Negro organization in Florida, has been demanding without success that the NAACP turn over its membership list.
The high court ruled Tuesday that two tax ordinances in Little Rock and North Little Rock, Ark., were unconstitutional. Among other things, they required the NAACP to make public the names of its members.
Florida NAACP President A. Leon Lowry said Wednesday, "We are hoping that the U. S. Supreme Court's decision will re-establish once and for all the rights guaranteed in the Bill of Rights shall prevail."
Two Miami Negro ministers have been cited for contempt after refusing to cooperate with the committee.
Lowry said he knew of no Communist in the Florida NAACP and claimed the investigation was designed to weaken the Negro group and intimidate its members. He said he had asked the committee to provide names of suspected Reds in NAACP ranks so the NAACP could purge them. But he said no names had been provided.

Anti-Race Strife Squads Patrol Chattanooga Area

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — A special troop of 75 policemen covered the main business district of this southeast Tennessee city today to keep crowds from forming, and stop a two-day outbreak of racial violence.
The tension of the attack by Negroes on lunch counter segregation erupted into a wild pushing and shoving battle on the main streets of Chattanooga for the second day in a row, Wednesday.
Firemen routed a crowd of about 2,000 persons by turning fire hoses on them on orders from Mayor P. R. Oigit.
Oigit, Police Commissioner H. P. Dunlap and other city officials announced Wednesday night police would crack down hard on any further violence. Dunlap said the special task force of officers would break up "any large assemblies" in the downtown area.
"We will not tolerate violence," Oigit said. "We are ready for whatever we need to do."
The outbreak here was by far the most serious of several that have taken place in five southern states since the lunch counter protest began at Greensboro, N. C., Feb. 1.
In Virginia, the legislature passed three emergency laws Wednesday and night rushed them to Gov. J. Lindsay Almond for his signature. They were designed to discourage Negroes from demonstrating against segregation at the lunch counter in dine, drug and department stores.
While persons at Rock Hill, S. C., blocked lunch counter seats at the city's variety store to keep 50 Negro students from taking them over in another protest demonstration.

NAACP Attacks Organized Labor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The NAACP today turned its integration artillery on the skilled trades of labor.
The NAACP said it would present a report to Vice President Richard M. Nixon charging discrimination against Negroes in the unions of skilled craftsmen is nationwide and not confined to the South.
In Washington Wednesday, the President's Committee on Government Contracts, headed by Nixon, directed federal agencies to demand an immediate end to discrimination against Negro workers on all government construction jobs.

Berserk Mountaineer Kills Four Before Tank-Led Posse Slays Him

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Don Raymond died. Then he took his high-powered rifle and laid it across a table in his neat red brick bungalow.
"I'm going to use it."
These were the last words Don Raymond ever spoke to his wife of 17 years. Terrified, she fled with their three children to the nearby home of a neighbor.
From there, Mrs. Raymond watched her husband turn killer and then be killed.
Raymond, 41, barricaded in the three-story bungalow, turned a southwestern Pennsylvania mountain road into a death trap Wednesday morning. His sniper's bolts killed four persons and wounded five others.
Ultimately using a rifle and shotgun, Raymond killed:
William Burd, 69, Farmington, Pa., a state highway Department employee, who was gunned down in the cab of his slender truck.
Mrs. Mary Frances Sliser, 81, Chambersburg, and Mrs. Edna Mae, 81, Ohioville, wife of a Republic minister, who were riding together.

Mexico Estimates Population Gain

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexican census takers said they expect to count a total of 25 million Mexicans when they take a population survey this June.
If their estimate proves correct, it will show an increase since the 1950 survey of nine million people. Mexico's annual population increase is about one per cent—one of the highest in the world.
The country's first population survey was taken under the government of Porfirio Diaz in 1895. At that time Mexico had about 15,000,000 citizens.

The cathedral's original baroque organ was destroyed in 1945 during World War II when it was set afire by retreating German troops.

Van Rie Claims Working When Divorcee Slain

BOSTON (UPI) — William Van Rie faced rugged cross-examination today in his dramatic bid to clear himself of the murder of pretty Lynn Kaufman.
Assistant Dist. Atty. John F. McLaughlin, master of the arraignment, being in technical, and his state took copious notes during direct testimony Wednesday by the 31-year-old ship's radio operator.
Van Rie testified he was busy with his radio chores when Miss Kaufman allegedly was slain. He said he gave an incriminating statement to police during a 15-hour ordeal of hunger and exhaustion in Brooklyn.
Van Rie testified five hours in his own defense. The state charges he beat the fast-living Chicago divorcee unconscious Sept. 18 and threw her overboard in Boston harbor.
He admitted intimacies with the petite brunette during a 44-day voyage from Singapore but denied quarreling with her.
He said he was "too friendly" with her.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Phil Buckheit typifies the dynamic type of newspaper publisher who sets the pace in his own area for moral and civic, educational and political progress. Most readers probably don't know that the newspaper also is the main working in helping bring in new industries to a community, as well as airports and new super highways.

CASE 0 — 421: Phil Buckheit, aged about 42, is the publisher of the two newspapers at Spartanburg, S. C.

He is a dynamo of vitality and invests a lot of his energy in worthy civic and moral causes. For example, a few months ago he headed up the YMCA campaign to raise $1,000,000 for a new building, and the Chairman of any big money drive really must be a superman.

Since I had addressed the YMCA banquet in St. Louis a few weeks earlier, he telephoned another Democrat to find out if I'd be a suitable speaker to deliver the address at the kickoff of the campaign.

And that is always smart for many people with a lot of college degrees and scientific rigs, may not be able to keep an audience awake or try it up for action.

WASHINGTON CALLING by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON— Nothing more extraordinary for confusion, uncertainty and a heavy air of mystery has occurred in this administration than the mixup over sharing nuclear weapons with America's NATO allies. It was a fine example of marching up the hill, under a cloak of strictest secrecy, and then retreating in embarrassed disorder.

If President Eisenhower, was aware of this sudden foray into a new area of policy and its objectives, he showed no sign of it. In fact, to the discomfiture of high officials in the Pentagon who had initiated it, whether knowingly or unknowingly, he signalled the retreat.

Insofar as it can be sorted out behind the screen of secrecy, here is what happened:

A top secret paper was submitted to the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy with the sanction of high officials in the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission. It proposed that the United States share the custody of nuclear weapons with the British. This was in relation to the intermediate-range ballistic missile bases and also for an airborne alert.

The contention was that only in this way could the greatest speed and efficiency be achieved in the event of the need for retaliatory strike. Under the law as currently interpreted, a United States agent must keep custody of nuclear weapons at overseas bases.

Committee members were startled at the proposal itself, since its implications were so far reaching. But what was more startling was the view that the president had the authority to do this under his "inherent powers" despite the law.

The whole question of the sharing of nuclear weapons and nuclear information was thoroughly threshed out when the basic atomic energy law was amended in 1946. At the request of the administration, closer cooperation with America's allies was approved. But on the insistence of committee members fearful that the "wuclear club" would be expanded, the provision that weapons must be retained in American custody was kept in the law.

Questioning of administration witnesses following the unveiling of the secret proposal seemed to confirm one of the deepest doubts of committee members. If nuclear weapons could be put in the hands of the British, they could hardly be withheld from other allies.

Having furnished Britain with a squadron of Thor intermediate-range missiles, manned by the Royal Air Force, was in process of installing similar missile squadrons in Turkey and Italy.

The deepest misgivings were, however, with respect to West Germany. Several committee members feel that to give custody of nuclear weapons to Germany has been so interpreted as to violate the spirit, if not the letter, of the law.

Shortly after a hint of what had been proposed to the joint committee appeared, President Eisenhower was asked about sharing atomic weapons with allies. To the chagrin of those who had carefully thought out and worked up the "inherent powers" theory, the president replied:

"As far as giving away bombs, this cannot be done under existing law."

Since then it has been made clear that the administration will not ask for a change in the law, realizing it would precipitate a long controversy. But joint committee members are not sure that this really ends the effort to give weapons to the British.

The law requires that custody of atomic weapons be vested in a civilian, and a representative of the Atomic Energy Commission is designated by the president. But since the president also has the power to turn weapons over to the Defense Department, it has been determined that the captain of an American ship or submarine can be the AEC representative by White House order. He thus has the dual role of commander and presidential guardian under law.

Why, it is being asked, could not a Royal Air Force lieutenant be given the same designation? This would make it possible to keep British fighter bombers in the air as a ready alert as a supplement to the ballistic missile deterrent.

If that should be done under the "inherent powers" of the presidency, it would be with the lightest secrecy restrictions. The joint committee would not be informed and presumably American.

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Treasury got caught up in a bureaucratic bee-hive . . . It has billions of dollars on hand for foreign aid—but not enough copper pennies for the millman in Michigan!

This lack of cents was acknowledged by Bill Brett, director of the Mint, who came up to ask Congress for more money to make money.

Don't blame Brett for the penny shortage. Blame those darn board-overs. They've been stashing away new pennies like a squirrel hiding nuts. It's those pennies with the Lincoln Memorial on the back. A lot of folks think they've found a valuable minting mistake.

It so happens that the phrase on the back of the penny, "United States of America," was sculptured with a small "e." At first glance, the little "e" appears peculiar.

But the chief money maker said it's no mistake. "That was artistic," he said. "But it was broadcast that there was an error in the coin and that the Treasury Department was going to recall it and pay 50 cents or a dollar each to get them back."

And the Mint man said wistfully, "We still have them mailed back to us."

The boarders, he said, is what has thrown off the Mint's calculations and is probably the reason he's received complaints from Michigan that a man who peddles milk there couldn't get enough one-cent pieces to make change for his customers.

Despite the penny shortage, the Treasury won't step up its production measurably next year. After all, they put out more than a billion and a half of the copper last year, and expect to do the same the next two years.

What horrifies the Mint chief is that if the boarders unhoarded their stocks while he stepped up production, "we'd find ourselves knee deep in one-cent pieces."

Another reason for the penny shortage, he said, is the exploding and is a colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve.

Mrs. Audrey Stringfellow, secretary to Congressman Charlie Bennett, has been named administrative assistant to the congressman to fill the vacancy left when Bill Norman joined the staff of Sen. Holland. Mrs. Stringfellow has worked for Bennett since 1934. She was his first secretary when he entered law practice in Jacksonville and is the only member of his present staff who has worked in his office since he came to Washington 12 years ago. Bennett always has assigned the job of administrative assistant to a lawyer because of the importance of his legislative work, but until a permanent legally trained man is hired for the position, Mrs. Stringfellow will serve in this important post.

Florida's Cherry Blossom Ball has been scheduled for the night of March 5 at the Sheraton-Park Hotel. Other than getting together for fun and a good time, the purpose of the gathering will be to assist Florida's 1960 Cherry Blossom Princess.

WASHINGTON SEE-SAW by Win Pendleton

With so much attention focused on our missile program little notice—and less budget money—has been given to the research and development of CBR—chemical, biological and radiological—warfare. Too often, when it is mentioned, it is under attack by those who are trying to stop it. They claim it is "indefinite and inhuman" and a "dreadful weapon" that should not be used.

Last week, Congressman Bob Sikke made a speech for increased consideration for our present CBR program. He pointed out that CBR does not present any greater hazard than any other of our modern weapons. "In World War I," he said, "only two per cent of all gas casualties failed to recover; compare this with the 25 per cent of all those wounded by other weapons who died from their wounds."

In a 25-minute speech in the House, Sikke declared: "It would be my earnest hope that this nation will never again be forced to use any weapon of war; that we shall by some honorable means find the peace we seek; that we never again be forced to resort to war. . . . Of course, that is what we want. America demonstrates this every day and has done so constantly throughout our history.

"Military strength consists of a balanced posture in all weapons systems. . . . A superiority in one or another would be of little avail if an enemy used a third in which we were unprepared defensively or offensively. . . . I say we must not leave ourselves unprepared and unprotected against an enemy's use of CBR warfare. We must perfect our knowledge in this field just as we do in other fields of warfare."

"We should never lessen our efforts for peace. Nor should we expose ourselves to coercion or conquest by accepting military weakness. . . . A defenseless person is in poor position to discuss terms of peace. . . . We must understand the fact that it could spare needless destruction of property and resources."

Sikke is a member of the military appropriations subcommittee

Group Entertains Mothers At Meeting

The YWA girls of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday night at the home of their leader, Mrs. C. L. Park Sr., on 17th St. for their monthly get-together.

Jane Osborne, president, presided and a program on "Missions" with emphasis on focus week, was presented by the group.

At the close of the meeting the group presented Mrs. Park and Mrs. W. A. Kratzer each an engraved silver tray in appreciation of serving as leader and assistant leader for the past two years. Several of the girls will be leaving the group next year for other departments.

Special guests of the evening were the girls' mothers. The refreshment table in the dining room was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. Cake and punch was served to those present with Mrs. Homer Osborne presiding at the punch bowl.

Others attending were Faye Garner, Betty Ann Long, Jean Southward, Peggy Price, Linda Barnett, Rose Kratzer, Betty Ann Slaton, Lynn Crabtree, Linda McLellan, Jackie Berryhill and Mary Stemper.

Choose More Compact Specimens Of Tree Roses For Planting

MYRTIE C. WILSON
Home Demonstration Agent

Tree roses for use in Florida should be chosen from varieties known to produce low, compact growth rather than tall, erect or spreading growth.

This recommendation is made by Dr. S. E. McFadden, assistant horticulturist with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station. He says the taller types are likely to grow too big for easy care.

Tree roses have become popular in Florida for two main reasons. First there is the novelty of having a rose bush with a tree-like trunk. Secondly, and more significant, tree roses are easier to maintain in healthy condition than the usual bush forms of the same variety which form branches at ground level.

Having the foliage well above ground level is an advantage in the matter of maintenance. Spray or dust application is easier, since the fungicide can be directed upward to coat the under side of each leaf.

Disease control is easier, since the elevation reduces the possibility of infection from disease-producing spores that are often contained in debris under the bush.

For Florida, Dr. McFadden recommends low-growing, compact varieties such as those contained in the miniature and polyantha classes. Regular bush forms of most hybrid tea, grandiflora and floribunda varieties reach eye level after one year.

Citrus Best Prescription

Are you getting your vitamins?—This is the time of year when colds plague the land—people stay home from work, youngsters stay home from school, as the common scourge takes its annual toll.

Doctors advise people on how to keep resistance to respiratory illness at a high level; but too often no one takes precautions until a cold is full blown.

One of the safest and sanest things that everyone can do every day, to keep the system toned up for colder, changeable weather influences is to get an adequate amount of vitamin C daily.

Citrus fruits are the best natural source of this vitamin, and they represent the cheapest and most pleasant prescription for good health yet discovered. This year's Florida crop of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines is right at its peak.

While the big juicy oranges are plentiful, it's a good idea to juice a dozen or more and keep the refrigerator for mid-day snacks. They are also ideal for lunch box use.

Needs For Success With House Plants

BY ROSE MYRTIE WILSON
Home Demonstration Agent

Light, humidity, air, temperature and soil moisture are conditions which must be controlled to some degree when growing plants indoors.

S. D. Rose, assistant ornamental horticulturist with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, says if these conditions are difficult to adjust, choose only plants that will thrive under these circumstances.

All green plants require some light to remain in good condition during their growing season. The amount of direct sunlight needed will vary with the plant. Most house plants do best away from direct sunlight. Some shade-loving plants may even be injured if they receive too much sun.

Rose says plants will turn their foliage toward light, so give potted plants a half-turn each week to maintain their shape.

Plants require good air circulation or ventilation for best growth. Some plants such as orchids, pepperomia, and aloccasias will not hold up well in air-conditioned rooms.

How often to water depends on the type and size of the plant, container, season of the year, soil type and temperature. Generally most plants require a thorough soaking once every 7-10 days.

One teaspoon of complete fertilizer may be added to one gallon of water. This solution should be used six times a year, or whenever necessary. Wash this solution off the foliage to prevent leaf burn.

Rose also has a vacation tip for potted plant owners. He says a polyethylene may be the answer. The material comes in sheet form and in small and large freezer bags. It checks the loss of water, but permits a change of air. Water the plants heavily, then enclose in the plastic. Use small stakes to prevent the plastic from touching the leaves.

Stretch Your Dollars

Few families have as many dollars as they think they need. Learn to be a skilled buyer. This will help you decide how to spend the dollars you do have and give you more satisfaction from the money available.

First, know just what is needed. Something bought by whim or on the spur of the moment may not be the best buy. Keep a shopping list and question whether you have forgotten anything that is really needed.

Learn what qualities to look for in the things you plan to buy. Knowing grades and standards of products can help you get good buys that give satisfaction and your money's worth.

Experience in buying is always helpful, but some things are bought only once or twice in a lifetime—and these may be the most expensive items purchased. Ask advice from experts on such products before you shop. Also talk to others who have bought and used these items.

Know how much money is available for the things you want. If you cannot pay cash, know when and how you can pay. Credit buying usually costs more than if you pay cash.

1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Drain oysters. Combine cracker crumbs, salt, pepper and butter. Sprinkle 1/3 in a buttered casserole. Cover with layer of oysters. Repeat layer. Add Worcestershire sauce to milk, and pour over contents. Sprinkle remaining crumbs over top.
Bake in moderate oven 350 deg. F. for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

S.H.S. Glee Club Entertains Pilot Members And Guests

The Sanford Pilot Club was entertained Tuesday night at their dinner meeting by members of the Seminole High School Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Ollie Reese Whittle.

This was the Club's annual "Civic" night, when members invite their husbands, bosses and friends as guests.

Miss Lucy Nowlin was program chairman, Don McCoy, a member of the glee club, was introduced by Miss Nowlin and he acted as master of ceremonies.

The male double quartet started the program with two well known spirituals—The girls' triple trio sang "Enjoy A Girl", "The Last Time I Saw Paris" and "Mr. Wonderful."

Winston Piercy sang "I Love Paris In The Springtime", Cindy May and Suzanne Jones sang a duet entitled, "My Buddy." These two numbers were followed by the trio singing "Chop Sticks" and "Little Willie."

The male double quartet sang "Get Me To The Church In Time" and "Round The World." The climax to this talented and enjoyable program was the mixed ensemble singing "Once In Love With Amy" and "Old Woman." The applause of the audience attested to the excellent manner in which all numbers were presented.

Mrs. Raymond Ball, president of the club, presided and welcomed each guest. Mrs. Verne Messenger gave the Pilot Club's code of ethics.

The speaker's table was centered with an arrangement of red gladioli and all tables were decorated with candles and unique articles pertaining to the occupations of the members.

Guests of club members were Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, Mrs. Troy Ray, Mrs. C. E. Lockette, Henry Dawson, Raymond Ball, Rolland Wesson, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Fouracre, Sidney Fowler, Ralph Fessold, David M. Gatchel, R. J. Bauman, Gill Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Karnes, Jack Lamberton, David McNab, Paul D. Lewis Jr.

Mrs. Taft Hostess To Woodrose Circle

Driftwood Circle of the Sanford Garden Club held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. J. W. Taft on Woodland Drive, with Mrs. C. J. Youngblade as co-hostess.

Horticulture was the topic for the month with Mrs. S. C. Dickerson, guest speaker. A question and answer period proved very informative to all members.

Does Plan Social And Club Dance

Members of the Benevolent Patriotic Order of Does have made plans for a social party to be held at the home of Mrs. B. Wolford, 3008 S. Park Ave. Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The group met at the Elks Club Monday night for their regular business session.

Mrs. B. E. Carothers, president announced that final arrangements have been completed for a dance scheduled for March 5 at the Elks Club.

A letter from the state president of Does, Mrs. Ralph LeFever, was read by the secretary inviting officers, conductor and choir bearers to participate in a ritual presentation of visitors at Venice, Fla. April 22 and 23.

Maintain Good Diet During Cold Weather

Sensible eating during the virus-filled winter months is one of the practical ways to help ward off colds and other ailments. Naturally illness itself calls for a physician's aid, but doctors are among the first to advocate high nutritional standards as a preventive measure.

This means serving plenty of milk, fruits and vegetables, whole grain products, and meats, according to nutritionists.

Be sure the children receive their daily quota of a quart of milk and that adults drink three glasses daily, they say. Part of this, of course, may be in coffee.

When meat or fish is not on the menu, try to include eggs and cheese as a protein substitute.

If your children neglect to close their closet doors, put a screen door spring on each door.

Reds 'Way Ahead' In Olympics

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI)—An eager band of 14 burly young Yanks skated out for make-or-break mayhem against Canada's Olympic ice hockey forces today with both teams gunning for the wounded Russian Bear.

The championship round in ice hockey had settled down to a battle among the big three—Russia, Canada and the U.S.—with Russia, the defending Winter Olympic Games champion, now in an underdog role after being held to a 3-1 tie by Sweden Wednesday night.

So the clash between the boys from both sides of the friendly border featured a day in which Russia's puck chasers were favored to swamp Germany, a team battered Wednesday night by the Yanks, 8-1.

Gold medals will be awarded in the men's 5,000-meter speed skating and the 40-kilometer 4-man cross-country skiing relay. And another round of compulsory figures— the second — will be held in the men's figure skating.

Nobody was going to keep the Russians from making a complete runaway of the winter games, for as it picked up its fourth speed skating gold medal Wednesday, it ran up 18 points and boosted its total standing to a massive 120. Far back in second place, in these unofficial team standings, was Germany with 33½, while the U.S. trailed in third with 44.

But a group of valiant Swedes put a crimp in Russia's hope for another hockey gold medal.

Reacting to a partisan capacity crowd of 8,000, which kept yelling "go-go-Swedes," the yellow-shirted athletes from the frozen north battled the favored Soviet team to the deadlock.

With 17 of the 28 gold medals decided, it was virtually impossible to halt the Russian rout.

The developments Wednesday—including the daily rhubarb—were:

—The weatherman forecast occasional snow flurries for today—after a week of perfect weather—from a stirring storm moving from Canada to Utah.

—A world record equalling victory for Soviet Army Lt. Eugeni Grishin as he nosed out Bill Disney of Alhambra, Calif., in 40.2 seconds to win the 500-meter speed skating race.

—A comeback win for Ernst Hinterseer, an Austrian farmer who hopes to open a gasoline station, in the men's slalom.

—A shaky start for world champion Dave Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., in men's figure skating, where he trailed two Europeans after the first three compulsory figures but was confident of bouncing to the top in the free skating sessions Friday.

—And a near fist-fight at the speed-skating rinkside as U. S. speed skating officials tried to bar former Olympian, Irving Jaffe, because of his writings. One official threatened to "punch him on the nose."

The only points the United States won Wednesday were the five Disney picked up in losing the 500-meter speed skating crown by one-tenth of a second.

The "rhubarb" day to keep had "weather away" was working in clear cold weather and 18,740 fans watched the show.

Part of it turned out to be the attempted ejection of Jaffe, who is here as a special writer for United Press International from the speed-skating oval area.

When Jaffe appeared at the course, officials rushed up to him and ordered the police to throw him out. But Jaffe presented his credentials and, over the protests of Olympic officials, was allowed to stay in the press box — but not to wander near the ice oval.

Ladies Night Double Feature Slate Scheduled At Kennel Club Tonight

A double feature of Grade-A contests will highlight tonight's Ladies Night program at Sanford-Kennel Club. A 10-event slate will start at 8:10.

All women will be admitted without charge. Then Monday night, the men will have the treat. To save February's extra day this year, all women who pay admission will be allowed to bring in a man free.

One of the Grade-A races tonight, the 10th, will bring out giant Rural Commander and seven other standouts for a grueling test over the three-eighths-mile distance. Rural, one of W. F. Swafford's veteran stars, is favored to win the 10th by 2-to-1 morning line odds. The 61-pound mare will be marching from the sixth post position in the hot nightcap.

The other top-grade affair will be the ninth race. Saddle Mark is rated the choice by morning line odds of 5-to-2. This fast-breaking 4-pounder will have the sixth starting spot.

Young Wayne Roberts also is highly regarded in the ninth. The two-year-old flash from Carl Tracy's kennel gets the coveted one-horse and second-best early odds of 4-to-1.

Matinee action will start at 3 p. m. Friday.

Fighter's Title Dream 'Fading'

CHICAGO (UPI)—Gene "Ace" Armstrong, his dreams of a rapid climb toward the world middleweight title interrupted again by Nigeria's Dick Tiger, refused to admit defeat today.

"I thought I won the fight," he said. "He never hurt me. But that's the way the balloon blows."

Armstrong, a 27-year-old fighter who has lost only twice in 26 pro bouts, both time to Tiger, was about the only person in the arena Wednesday night who thought he won.

Tiger, 30, the British middleweight titleholder, was ahead on points on every card. United Press International and Referee Walter Brightmore both had it 49-43 for him. Judge Bill Doty gave him a 47-44 edge and Judge John J. Schreiber scored it 47-45 for Tiger.

Season Hasn't Even Started Yet And 'Bums' Already Mixed In Row

United Press International quipped Manager Walt Alton, who then neatly sidestepped further debate with Charlie the talker.

Here it is barely the opening of the spring training season — a real good fast ball has yet to be thrown — and the Dodgers are embroiled in a war of words. Their antagonist is an old pal—Charley Dressen—who left them as a coach to manage the Milwaukee Braves.

And the "seedie" which got under the Dodgers' skin was a story in a national magazine in which Dressen stated, "the Dodgers can't repeat."

"What's blabber mouth got to say now? asked outfielder Carl Furillo. "He's always popping off. That's typical of him. All I can say is that it'll keep us alive."

Celtics Continue 'Torrid' NBA Pace

By United Press International

Chalk another record for the Boston Celtics, pro basketball's best-balanced team.

Captain Red Auerbach's bombers broke their own National Basketball Assn. record for most victories in a single season when they defeated the Washington Lakers, 121-110, in a neutral court game at College Park, Md., Wednesday night.

It was the Celt's 33rd victory of the campaign and enabled them to clinch a tie for the Eastern Division title for the fourth straight year.

Frank Ramsey led Boston to its easy win at the University of Maryland field house with 25 points. Rudy La Russa, used sparingly in the second half, paced the Lakers with 27, while Elgie Baylor scored 26 in his hometown debut.

Gene Shue topped Bob Cousy's all-time NBA scoring record by a guard when he tallied 37 points as Detroit beat Syracuse, 128-110. Shue's spree sent him over the mark of 1,304 points set by Cousy in 1954-55. He now has 1,390.

Phil Jordan's hook shot with three seconds remaining gave the Cincinnati Royals a 124-123 triumph over St. Louis. He had tied the score at 122-121 30 seconds earlier with a pair of free throws. The Royals' Jack Twyman took game honors with 33 points.

Ormond Beach 2nd Round Play Opens

ORMOND BEACH (UPI)—National champion Barbara McIntire meets Delaware state champion Pat Hahn in the feature match of second round play in the South Atlantic Women's Amateur golf tournament today.

Miss McIntire, medalist Tuesday with 74, defeated Phyllis (Tish) Pruss, Pompano Beach, 3 and 1 in opening round play Wednesday.

Miss Hahn, of Wilmington, Del., engineered a major upset in eliminating Judy Bell, last year's South Atlantic runner-up, 2 and 1.

Defending champion, Mrs. Maurice Glick, Baltimore, Md., was ousted from the tournament Wednesday, losing to Curtis Copper Anne Casey Johnston, Mason City, Iowa, 2 and 1.

Evansville Paces Small College Fives

NEW YORK (UPI)—Evansville, Ind. led runner-up Tennessee State by 45 points today in the next-to-last United Press International small college basketball ratings of the season.

The countrywide board of coaches which rates the small schools for UPI will vote for a national champion after this week's games.

Evansville, which will begin defense of its NCAA college division title next week, posted a 92-78 victory over Notre Dame of the major college ranks Tuesday night. The Purple Aces conclude their regular season at Wheaton, Ill., a stout small college foe, Saturday night.

Tennessee State, voted the nation's top small college team by the board of coaches last season, ended its regular season Monday night with a 2-3 record. The Nashville school backed the board's judgment by winning the NAIA tournament a record third straight time last March and will defend that title.

Evansville received 23 first-place votes and 236 points while Tennessee State drew five first-place votes and 201 points in this week's balloting.

Wittenberg, the Ohio team which leads the nation's small schools in defense, remained third with one first-place vote and 258 points. Mississippi Southern, which has won 14 consecutive games, replaced Hofstra, N. Y., in fourth place. Mississippi Southern drew four votes for first and 240 points. Hofstra was fifth with one first-place vote and 205 points.

Maine was sixth with 136 points, Kentucky Wesleyan seventh with 111. Southwest Texas State eighth with 93. West Virginia Wesleyan ninth with 70 and Grambling, La., 10th with 54.

Kansas City 'Cats' Take Over First Place In Big Eight Race

By United Press International

Kansas State is going all out to assure the hometown fans of a local entry in the NCAA's Midwest regional basketball tournament at Manhattan, Kan., March 11.

The Wildcats, bidding for their third straight Big Eight Conference crown, took over undisputed possession of first place in the league Wednesday night by whipping Kansas, 68-57.

Kansas State stoned for a previous loss to the Jayhawks this season by grabbing an early advantage and staying ahead all the way.

Tournament tension continues to build tonight as West Virginia opens its bid for the Southern Conference berth in the NCAA and Utah and Utah State fight for the Skyline Conference crown.

Coch Fred Schaus has virtually written his sixth ranked Mountaineers into the NCAA Eastern regional.

"It would take an awfully good club to keep us from the title," Schaus said as West Virginia met Virginia Military Institute in an opening round of the Southern Conference tournament.

Utah plays Brigham Young and Utah State plays Montana as they prep for their all-important meeting this Saturday.

St. Bonaventure and Villanova, having secured NIT bids, romped to victory in other big games Wednesday night. The Bonnies paced Tom Sili's 29 points, downed Duquesne, 76-70, while sophomore Hubie White canned 26 points in Villanova's 74-53 decision over Toledo.

In other games, South Carolina nipped Clemson, 66-45; Oklahoma beat Oklahoma State, 59-53; St. Joseph's (Pa.) routed Bucknell, 83-63; Dayton defeated Xavier (Ohio) 81-62; and Syracuse won over Colgate, 83-71.

Giant Grid Coach To Call It Quits

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Lee Howell's successor as head coach of the New York Giants undoubtedly will be a member of his current staff.

The Eastern Division higgins of the National Football League have always picked men from within the organization whenever a coaching vacancy occurred.

That's how Howell got to be bossman of the Giants in 1954, moving up from and coach to succeed Steve Owen.

And now that the popular, ex-Marine from Arkansas is ready to move into the front at the end of the 1960 season, the Giants almost assuredly will follow their long time policy in picking his replacement.

Howell took newsmen by surprise Wednesday when he announced his decision to retire at the end of next season.

"I decided in my own mind I'd better quit while I could," said the 45-year-old Howell, who will take over as director of player personnel for the Giants when his present three-year contract as head coach expires at the end of the 1960 season.

"I'm not sick and I'm not angry at anyone," Howell said. "But I now feel that coaching is something I want to get away from. My eyes are beginning to twitch and I have to wear glasses. When I eat, my stomach burns; I feel butterflies in my stomach."

Signs For Bout

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eduardo Lausse, South American middleweight champion, will make his first U. S. appearance since 1956 in a 10-round bout with Canadian Willie Greaves at Madison Square Garden, March 25.

Civic Leaders To Bowl At Jet Grand Opening

Free bowling for the public and a match among county, city, and civic leaders will be featured at the Jet Lanes grand opening Sunday.

The Seminole Chamber of Commerce's familiar representative Charlie Morrison will start the opening with ceremonies at the door at 1 p. m.

County commission chairman John Krider, Sanford's Mayor Earl Higginbotham, Sheriff J. L. Hobby, Navy personnel, State Representative Mack Cleveland Jr., Pinecrest Baptist Church Pastor Donald Gravesmier and A. K. Shoemaker Jr. are expected to join in a three frame local bowling match.

Free bowling for the public will be featured from 2-4:30 p. m. Nationally known bowler Les Jouglaard, 1950-51 bowler of the year, will meet Seminole County's Bill Allen at 4:45 p. m. Allen is the winner of a recent three game tourney held at Jet Lanes to determine who would bowl against Jouglaard.

Weather May Hurt Golf Tournament

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—This city, advertised as the place where the sunshine spends the winter, felt more like Squaw Valley today as a field of 150 golfers wondered if it could launch the 33rd Texas Open as scheduled.

The temperature, which refused to climb above freezing Wednesday, dipped well into the 20's during the night and there was a threat of sleet and snow hanging over the opening round.

Officials delayed until the final minutes any decision on postponing play for a day, but even if they let the opening trio set the pace, most of the field will be in for a miserable few hours before any appreciable warming trend.

Arnold Palmer of Lionier, Pa., the season's top money winner with some $17,000 pocketed in seven weeks of tournament toll, was in the favorite's role along with veteran campaigner E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis.

Palmer exercised golf and wasn't too perturbed about bad weather when he won a $3,000 pro-amateur event in the wind and rain Tuesday with a three-under-par 69.

All-Stars Add 2

Finch Defense 'Splitting'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Carole Tregoff's attorneys opened a possible alibi hatch for the red-haired former model today by suggesting her lover might have murdered his wife.

In the first overt split in the defense in the trial of Dr. H. Bernard Finch, 43, and Miss Tregoff, 38, her attorneys indicated it was possible for a person to be at the scene of a crime yet innocent of any complicity.

The startling tactic also indicated Carole is going to try to swim even if "Bernie" sinks for the killing of his wife, Mrs. Barbara Finch.

Lawyers for the mistress of the surgeon resumed their closing arguments today and it was expected they would further dissociate their client from the man who says he still wants to marry her. "If she will have me," Finch said in his opening statement.

Prosecutors' attorneys had just completed a blistering windup Wednesday when Miss Tregoff's attorneys made their move.

Carole Finch had confessed his guilt by fleeing the death scene July 18. He said that Carole had "aided and abetted him."

Robert Nash Jr., former partner of Jerry Glaser, started out in a dull fashion with a discussion of the legal aspects of the case. Then he took on the subject of "aiding and abetting" and sprung the biggest surprise of the 15th month trial.

"In all the testimony and evidence," Nash said, "there isn't one single proof that Carole on the night of July 18 caused any injury, struck anyone, used any weapon, pushed anybody, or touched anyone — certainly not Mrs. Finch."

Nash gave Finch another indirect kick when he told the jury that seeing the scene of a crime could be partial admission of guilt. But Miss Tregoff, he said, went voluntarily to authorities even though she was charged with "conspiracy to murder" in hiring convict John Patrick Cody.

'Morse For President' Club Begins Setting Up Business

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The "Morse-for-president club" has set up shop here in a former discount house sent down to a rubber stamp store.

I can hardly imagine a more incongruous location. Not even his worst enemy is likely to discount Sen. Wayne Morse or accuse him of being anybody's rubber stamp.

I had the pleasure of visiting the Morse club on the day of its formal opening. This was a new experience in the fact that I have been making of presidential campaign offices. The other headquarters I have visited already were going concerns.

A brisk wind was whipping across the sidewalk when I arrived at 222 11th Street. This made things difficult for three Morse men who were trying to hang a strip of bunting across the front of the building.

One whole day was spent discussing public relations when the National Congress of American Indians held a five-day convention in Phoenix, Ariz., last year.

One of the bustling-hangers was sporting a lush growth of jet black whiskers. I wondered if this meant that Morse had the support of the local beatniks, but he said he grew the beard to dramatize a campaign to win "statehood" for the District of Columbia.

While these preparations were going on, a Soviet's truck drove up and delivered a big, horse-shaped wreath with a gold ribbon which spelled out the words "good luck senior."

This led to some discussion as to whether a horse was which pointed downward, as was the case with the wreath, wasn't a symbol of bad luck. Opinions on this point was divided.

There also was some jocular speculation that the wreath was sent over by Sen. John F. Kennedy or some other presidential candidate with a card reading "rest in peace."

I learned, however, that the Morse tribute was ordered by Al Foreman, a Portland, Ore., theater owner and long-time Morse supporter who happened to be here on business.

The Oregon senator, as you know, is noted for his favorite ability. One of the senator's most frequent and enduring speakers, he holds the current record for long-distance debate.

Fortunately for those of us who enjoy a good stump performance, the candidate himself showed up for the headquarters opening and treated us to a 30-minute sample of his oratory. For Morse, this wasn't even a good warm-up.

As I was leaving, I noticed there was a church across the street. On its bulletin board was the following announcement:

"Quiet soon here every Wednesday."

Titan Beginning To 'Shape' Up

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The Air Force's Titan missile is beginning to live up to its advance billing but still is a long way from its role as America's mightiest war weapon.

The bullet-shaped intercontinental ballistic missile ran through a "three-in-one" research and development test shot without a hitch Wednesday. Scientists are studying data from telemetry and from a data capsule to get a better picture of the success.

The Titan achieved separation and ignition of its second stage for the second time this month and met its most exacting test—the distance of the longest previous Titan test shot.

'Talent Scouts' Special Gives Evidence Of Shortage Of Comedians

NEW YORK (UPI)—Is there a comedian in the house?

The "Talent Scouts" special on Tuesday night's NBC-TV Starline hour offered evidence that our comedian shortage must be real. There was a male or female "new" actor on the show. But, judged by results, perhaps that's the formula for getting on a free variety show.

It was a successful hour because the new performers ranged from good-to-brilliant and they had a built-in excitement going for them. Their stage work was really, technically excellent, too.

The main attraction, of course, from our being in on these "discoveries," witnessing what may be the beginning of "big" careers, since you can't do a TV special without box-office names — nobody around, which you know — the newcomers were introduced by suitably box-office stars: Joan Crawford, Tommy Sands, Hugh Downs, Richard Rodgers, Marjorie O'Hara, Ethel Merman and Dave Coverly.

Best performances among the old-timers were turned in by O'Hara, Rodgers, Downs and Coverly. As for the new-timers, I especially enjoyed the work of cancer Paul Wallace, singer-dancer Louisa Peters and the crisp legwork of Braxia and Tybee, a dance team. Good jobs were turned in by actress Colleen Dewhurst, singers Lester James and Joanne Sommers and a vocal-instrumental group, the John LaSalle sextet.

To be sure, there were some rough spots. Not all of the stars who served as talent scouts were given gracious exit lines. Miss Crawford's departure with Miss Sommers was especially sorry. He was the Band-Sommers arrangement. But generally, the writing held things together in gracious, interesting style. The low pressure approach of Starline, as best, also helped. Another asset was the aptly named.

Remember when Arthur Godfrey ran the old "Talent Scouts" show with this meter? Well, it couldn't spell the 'fun.

It's like to see more of this high quality talent showcase on TV. Our TV tubes badly need new faces. And who knows — maybe a comedian will make it the next time.

I think Carol Burnett should be the happiest, or luckiest, performer on TV. Week after week, it seems, CBS-TV's Garry Moore show does everything possible to help her display her versatility. And Miss Burnett delivers in amusing style.

Jack Benny was Moore's special guest Tuesday night and again heaped laughs out of his camera over Moore's budget. Whenever I begin thinking Benny's act might be ready for the over-the-top tomb, he delivers some strong material to remind us that his act has an immortality all its own.

The Channel Seven Robert Loggia takes on a dual role in the U. S. Steel Hour's April 6 comedy on CBS-TV, "How To Make A Killing." Loggia will be seen as a French general and the general's long-lost English son. Eva Gabor is the "love interest."

Robert Graff has resigned from NBC-TV to become president of Sestant, Inc., a new TV and motion picture company. Graff is the producer of next Sunday's Archibald MacLeish teleplay, "The Secret of Freedom."

Ed Sullivan's CBS-TV show for March 29 will feature top-flight circus acts, including performers in the Cirque D'Hiver de Paris. Friedrich Durrmuth's short play, "Anchor At Work," is the Goodyear Theater show for Monday, April 11 on NBC-TV, starring Ernie Kovacs. Maria Schell will star in the ABC-TV adaptation of "Nimotchah," part of the "Special Tonight" series, on Wednesday, April 14.

Thugs Kill Man On Dominican Street

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D. R. (UPI)—Motorized "gangsters" shot and killed a man in the streets here Wednesday, wounded two policemen and fled to the Brazilian Embassy, the government announced Wednesday night.

The foreign ministry statement identified neither the "gangsters" nor the man they killed. Police said a check of license numbers showed that one of the cars used by the gunmen is registered in the name of Mario Read Vitini, but it was not certain whether he was involved.

CBS correspondent Bill Leonard, who was in effect ousted from the Dominican Republic Wednesday, said in Puerto Rico that 17 students bearing imprisonment or death sought asylum in the Brazilian Embassy after a gunfight with Dominican guards.

P-TA Introduces Teachers

Here are two more members of the Pincerest Elementary School's faculty, being introduced as part of the P-TA program of urging closer association between parents and teachers in the school.

MRS. MARY WALTERS, Pincerest Elementary School fifth grade teacher, knows a lot about the South. She was born in Florence, Miss., where she enjoyed horseback riding and has lived in five southern states. Mrs. Walters traveled in six other states and in Mexico. She has taught in three states. Mrs. Walters was educated at Mississippi Southern College and at the University of Florida.

MRS. POLLY DANIELS, another Pincerest Elementary School fifth grade teacher, was born in Anderson County, Tenn. Mrs. Daniels received her education at Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn., where she got a bachelor of arts degree in education. Mrs. Daniels lives at 110 Laurel Drive. She has two daughters, eight and 14 years old.

Tampa Women's Tourney Opens

TAMPA (UPI)—A field of 144, including 31 leading professionals, took off today in the first round of the $7,200 Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Defending champion Ruth Jensen, who won last year with a 79-hole 291, said it would take at least a 280 to win this year since the touring pros are shooting better golf than they did last year.

Miss Jensen, from Seattle, Wash., is ranked among several top-notch golfers who rate as favorites in the annual tourney played at the Palma Ceia Golf and Country Club.

Upset Sparks Tennis Tourney

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Edoardo Suleta of Ecuador, upset winner Wednesday of Australian Davis Cupper Ray Emmons, will play Sweden's Jan Eric Lundquist in a top match in the Good Neighbor Tennis Tournament today.

Top-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia, holder of the U.S. Open championship, is scheduled to face Robert Greeno of New York. Fraser has been out of action with a strained back muscle. Officials said he will be qualified in default if unable to play today.

Among the Hopi Indians of Arizona, the girl traditionally takes the initiative in proposing marriage, according to the National Geographic Society. She announces the betrothal by combing the young man's hair in public.

Police Hunt Cabbie Who Left Child To Die Under Parked Car

NEW YORK (UPI)—She lay there under the car like a large rag doll. Her once bright red hair ribbon was streaked with dirt and she was dead.

Robin Joyner, 4, a tot 3 feet, 4 inches tall was New York City's 14th hit-and-run victim in recent weeks.

Statistics say she won't be the last, but her death will be regarded as one of the most callous of those left to die by panicked drivers.

The little Negro girl was playing in front of the crowded Harlem tenement where she lived Wednesday afternoon. A sudden dash into the street, a moving taxi and Robin was struck down, severely injured.

A crowd gathered. The stocky Negro taxi driver stopped, quickly picked up the injured child and told the crowd he was rushing her to a hospital.

Robin never reached the hospital. She was found two hours later dead under a parked car, her body crumpled and broken.

James Hunter was walking along the street two blocks from the accident and two hours afterwards. He thought he saw a rag doll under a car. He reached under the car and pulled out the body of Robin.

Police officials called it "the most vicious hit-and-run case to come to our attention." Deputy Inspector Joseph J. McLaughlin said the girl had been placed under the parked car in a way which would have looked as if the car had killed the child if it had been driven away.

Sanford Facts On Sewage Disposal

During the past ten years, there has been a lot of discussion over the City's sewage disposal question and the effects on Lake Monroe.

During 1961, the State Board of Health conducted a pollution study of the lake and came out with a gloomy report.

However, in 1962, the City's consulting engineers considered the problem and compared this '61 study with a similar study of Jacksonville. The Jacksonville study had been reviewed by two specialists from the United States Public Health Service to the effect that the Jacksonville study indicated that it was not a serious pollution problem at Jacksonville, except that was doubtful for swimming or recreation. Since the Jacksonville report showed a higher degree of pollution, the engineer for the City of Sanford concluded, "The City of Sanford is not justified in spending money on sewage purification unless it plans to use the waters of Lake Monroe for recreational purposes, such as bathing."

In a July 16, 1962 report, the City's engineer, Mr. Robert Angus, stated that: "treatment will certainly be necessary when the population of Sanford increases to 36,000". Mr. Abel Wolman, a leading sanitary engineer, submitted a review of Sanford's sewage problem on June 1, 1963. In this report, Mr. Wolman made several points as follows:

1. Lake Monroe was said to be able to take care of the city's sewage without interfering in any way with the fish life.
2. "The only possible reason for treating Sanford's sewage would be as a part of an effort to make the water safe for bathing."
3. Due to the highly colored water, etc., Mr. Wolman stated that "Lake Monroe is not and probably never will be a very desirable place to swim". He went on to say that it would be exceedingly difficult to maintain a purity desirable for swimming even if a complete sewage treatment plant was constructed and the treated sewage was chlorinated.

On October 26, 1963, Metcalf and Eddy, internationally known engineers, also submitted a review of the conflicting thoughts and reports presented by the State Board of Health and the City's consulting engineers. This firm concluded their findings by saying that the repairs and extension of the sewer system were urgently needed and that the treatment plant should be deferred until the improvements to the system had been made.

The discussions ended in an agreement between the State Board of Health and the City of Sanford April 18, 1964, for the City to construct or have started a treatment plant within three years provided the financing could be arranged on the present collateral. This agreement was extended for another two years on a July 22, 1967 resolution. However, this extension required the City to set $40,000 aside each of the two years for a fund towards the treatment plant construction. This $80,000 has been set aside and held as a cash reserve.

The City retained Leedy, Wheeler, and Allen as fiscal agents to study the financing of the sewage treatment plant. After a careful investigation, Mr. Louis Leedy advised the City against a general obligation bond issue and informed the Commission that, although revenue certificates could legally be issued, there would not be sufficient revenues from the present rates to meet the retirement and interest schedule of the certificates. Since the City Commission would not consider increasing the sewer rates, the possibility of issuing the revenue certificates ended.

The fiscal study of the sewer division disclosed some important facts. It became clear that the present sewer rates are just breaking even with expenses. Any unforeseen trouble, and the sewer division must operate in the red with the water revenue actually making up any sewer deficit. The study also indicated that, if a treatment plant was financed, the interest and principal would be from $21,000 to $28,000 annually in addition to the anticipated cost of $25,000 for operating the plant. This means that $46,000 to $53,000 would be required each year for the treatment plant. When $275,000.00 is borrowed for such construction, the City must also pay interest that would add another $317,134. Therefore, the total cost would become $492,134.00 for financing, plus the $80,000 already set aside as a cash reserve. A city in very similar to a person. When something can be paid for in cash, it saves money by avoiding the interest. In this case, the interest payments amount to nearly 70% additional cost of a treatment plant when financed.

In 1967, the City of Sanford retained the engineering firm of Smith and Gillespie to review some old plans for a sewage treatment plant. The report indicated that Sanford had already outgrown the old plans with present recommendations calling for a plant designed to handle three million gallons of sewage each day. This plant would be designed to accomplish the following:

- a. 20 to 25 percent reduction in biochemical oxygen demand (means of measuring pollution),
- b. 85 to 90 percent reduction in suspended solids,
- c. 85 to 95 percent reduction of all settleable solids.

During December of 1959, Thornton Laboratories undertook a pollution study of Lake Monroe for the City of Sanford. This study was to compare the present conditions of the lake with the conditions found by the State during their 1951 study. During this eight-year period, Sanford had made many changes in its sewer system.

The changes resulted in eliminating the unsightly accumulations along the lake bulkhead; collection and relocation of the disposal point to the west of the City away from the populated areas; and maintaining control over the pollution level even with the doubling of the contributing population. A side result of the study shows that pollution is also coming downstream and into the eastern portion of the lake. This may be due to the cattle lands, packing house, or organic bottom.

The City of Sanford is now faced with a problem. Approximately two years would be required to put a treatment plant into operation. Population growth is such that 1970 will see the City of Sanford with nearly 36,700 people as a conservative estimate. Such a population will require a sewage treatment plant.

The State Board of Health wants the treatment plant to start immediately. The big question is — do the people want the plant and are they willing to pay the additional cost? A cost that will be at least $7.75 additional per month on each bill or some $93.00 more per year. Such an added cost is not easily accepted.

Search Continues For Jet

A 200-man air and land search for the wreckage of a Navy jet bomber and two of its crew was still unsuccessful today. The twin engine A3D Skywarrior, on a training mission at the Sanford Naval Air Station was assumed to have crashed between 4:30 and 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, according to officials at NAS.

Cardau suffered a leg injury and is being treated at the hospital at the Navy base. He told officials he remembered little about the incident except that he was told to bail out. Still missing today are Lt. G. E. Dotson, the pilot and Lt. C. E. Faulkner, bombardier-navigator. Lt. Cdr. H. E. Smith, information officer at NAS said approximately 12 Navy, Coast Guard and Civil Air Patrol planes are combing a four-county area for the wreckage. The planes were called back to their base about 1 p. m. Thursday due to low ceiling and heavy rain, but rejoined the search early this morning.

2 Air Tragedies Kill 86

By United Press International
Two air tragedies within 24 hours left at least 86—and possibly 100—persons dead, 25 injured and two unaccounted for today. A New York-bound Italian airliner, which has just taken on 7,000 gallons of gasoline, "blew into 10 million pieces" on taking off from the Shannon, Ireland, airport early today and rained survivors, bodies and wreckage onto a nearby cemetery.

A 1/C Hal R. Holenz, Norfolk, Va., was hospitalized with minor injuries. President Eisenhower and Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek went to the hospital on their return here from Sao Paulo Thursday night to express their sympathy to the survivors. A ministry spokesman said the U. S. Navy DC8 apparently had strayed from its assigned course. The DC8 was bringing Navy bandmen and other Americans here from Buenos Aires when it collided with the Brazilian airliner, which was on a flight from Rio de Janeiro to Sao Paulo.

Members of the U.S. naval party sent to Argentina as a result of the recent submarine scare there, side of the mountain. All of the 28 persons aboard the Brazilian airliner died. The number of dead aboard the Navy plane was a matter of dispute, the U. S. embassy saying there were 44 persons in the plane and Navy officials in Rio and in Washington saying it carried only 38. In Washington, relatives of the Navy bandmen killed in the crash said several of them had had premonitions of disaster ahead before they left for Latin America.

Be Bighearted

Nearly 250 women will canvass for contributions to the Heart Fund in Seminole County and DeBary Sunday. The volunteer workers will cover all communities in Seminole and DeBary in a house-to-house canvass between 1 p. m. and 3 p. m. The captains of the drive will have their headquarters in Seminole Memorial Hospital, according to Mrs. Michael Caolo of Sanford, Heart Sunday supervisor. Money collected for the Heart Fund is used for research and for purchase of heart treatment equipment for different areas, according to need. The recent allotment by the Florida Heart Association of funds to buy an oculoscope and pacemaker for Seminole Memorial Hospital was an answer to Seminole County's need, Seminole-DeBary Heart Council president Earnest Southward said today, in urging generous response to the Heart Sunday canvass.

Farm Worker Kills Wife, 2 Daughters

FORT MYERS (UPI)—A Puerto Rican farm worker last night killed his wife and two daughters Thursday, put a bullet through his head, then drank a can of beer before staggering to a nearby home. Julio Montes, 41, today was in serious condition at a hospital with a 20-caliber pistol bullet wound in his head. Officers said the bullet went in under his lower right jaw and came out under his left ear. He was expected to recover. Lee County sheriff deputies said Montes killed his wife and children to slay hours of drinking. They said he shot the girls, 10, 9, and 7, and his wife, 41, in the bedroom of their home before slaying his wife Luisa, about 41, in the bedroom. Deputies said Montes then fired a bullet through his head, opened a can of beer and lurched to the home of Mamiliano Corona.

U. S. Launches 2-Ton Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—America today launched a two-ton earth satellite aboard its mightiest space rocket to test a system of detecting Russian missile firings with an infrared ray. The Air Force reported indications were the second stage of the Atlas separated properly. However, partial loss of telemetry signals made impossible immediate confirmation of the second stage ignited and the satellite went into orbit. An 85-foot tall Atlas-Agena thundered into the sky at 12:45 p. m. with more than 2,000 pounds of delicate—and possibly diplomatically controversial—instruments in its nose. The sleek rocket, the nation's mightiest, traveled steeply and apparently normally in search of an orbit around the middle of earth for its payload. The Agena second-stage casing was to remain attached to and travel in orbit with the bulky instrument package. This was the first test of an Air Force plan to put a dozen or more Project Atlas satellites into orbit within the next two to four years to keep tabs on launchings of big Soviet missiles. Mids is short for "military defense alarm system."

Dixie Senators Vow 'Talkathon'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Southern senators vowed today to continue their talkathon against civil rights "for a lot of weeks" despite the threat of 24-hour Senate sessions. Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D-N.C.) told United Press International the Dixie bloc expected to get some unintentional help from civil rights backers in the South's effort to avoid a showdown. "You can't silence a senator," Ervin commented. "They might not debate this (civil rights) issue but they will want to talk on other subjects." Ervin pointed out that some of the longest speeches in a 12-hour and 18-minute session that ended at 10:18 p. m. Thursday were made by supporters of rights legislation who spoke on other matters.

Orange Board Approves Joint Drainage Plan

The Orange County Commission today went on record as favoring a joint drainage improvement program involving Seminole and Orange counties and the city of Winter Park. Cost of the program is expected to be $372,000. Seminole County Commissioner Lawrence Swisher, who presided at a meeting of the two boards and Winter Park officials this morning in Orlando, said the Orange board was in favor of the plan. The next step, according to Swisher, will be a joint study by engineers in the two counties to come up with recommendations on how to put the program into operation. Once the program is mapped out a special tax district will be set up for residents in the Temple Terrace and Tanglewood areas of Seminole County. The main part of the project will be installing of storm sewers to eliminate flooding in the south end of the county.

Lake Monroe Parkway Suggested

Land along Lake Monroe from Sanford to the Lake Monroe Bridge could be a fine parkway with recreation facilities, City Planner Gerald Dake said today. The zoning and planning board Thursday. "I think that would be a very worthwhile plan to go into," Dake said. He referred to the 300-foot wide strip between the railroad tracks and Lake Monroe from Sanford to the bridge. The land could be used for water ski facilities and for a Boy Scout area, Dake suggested. The planner said the amount of pollution in Lake Monroe will become less as the State Board of Health clamps down on emptying of sewage into the lake. Therefore, water skiing in Lake Monroe will increase, Dake forecast. The planner recommended that Sanford acquire the land. The zoning officials also discussed possible problems which may result after the four-lane widening of W. First St. south of W. First St. Board member Art Harris said he thought the group's biggest problem connected with the four-lane widening would be handling of commercial zoning. "I definitely see no need for W. First St. ever going commercial," Dake said. He suggested a commercial strip on W. First St. near Grapeville Ave. for motels, but said that if motels were allowed near town they would bring traffic into the city. Dake's motel suggestions hinge partly on completion of Circus

City Expanding Its Office Space

The city started putting additional office space and a courtroom on the second floor of City Hall this week, Sanford City Manager W. E. Knowles said Thursday. Knowles told the Sanford Zoning and Planning Board the City Hall was built soundly in the 1920s, but was not properly planned. Adding the courtroom and office and storage space upstairs will leave more room for workers and the visiting public on the ground floor, the city manager said. He added that noisy office machines also be put upstairs. Insurance regulations has kept the city from using the second floor of its headquarters, but now the way has been cleared for conversion of the second floor, is being converted Knowles said.

Angry Buenos Aires Demonstrators Greet Ike

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—President Eisenhower made a dramatic arrival in the heart of Buenos Aires by helicopter today, soaring over the heads of angry demonstrators who were demanding the return of ousted Dictator Juan D. Peron. They shook their fists at the chopper as it passed high above them. Five bombs exploded in the city during the night, injuring three persons in what may have been anti-American demonstrations.

Two of the blasts damaged American-owned companies. Security arrangements were the tightest of Eisenhower's Latin American trip. The President arrived by plane at Ezeiza Airport, addended by the loss of 61 persons in Thursday's air collision over Rio de Janeiro between a U. S. Navy plane and a Brazilian airliner. President Arturo Frondisi and other high Argentine dignitaries welcomed Eisenhower warmly at the airport, and the two presidents boarded a U. S. Marine Corps helicopter and flew 27 miles into the city to the U. S. embassy gardens. Members of Eisenhower's party who made the trip into town by auto saw Peron's name whitewashed on the highway hundreds of times and signs saying "People are with Peron" and "Peron come back." A UPI correspondent in a radio-telephone car tracking the helicopter reported that Peronists along the way shouted "Viva Peron" as the craft passed overhead. The extremely severe security measures and the heat kept the crowd down to about 1,000 and these were kept a safe distance away. In accepting a key to the city, Eisenhower said he was "one hundred per cent" for Frondisi. The praise for the Argentine president, who stood silently at Eisenhower's side, came when Eisenhower recalled that Frondisi had said, "Argentina is going to be one of the great leading democracies, not only of the Western world, but all the world." Eisenhower then added with feeling: "I am for him 100 per cent, and I feel that it is a great privilege for me to come back to return his friendly call to Washington."

Lake Monroe Parkway Suggested

Land along Lake Monroe from Sanford to the Lake Monroe Bridge could be a fine parkway with recreation facilities, City Planner Gerald Dake said today. The zoning and planning board Thursday. "I think that would be a very worthwhile plan to go into," Dake said. He referred to the 300-foot wide strip between the railroad tracks and Lake Monroe from Sanford to the bridge. The land could be used for water ski facilities and for a Boy Scout area, Dake suggested. First St. Board member Art Harris said he thought the group's biggest problem connected with the four-lane widening would be handling of commercial zoning. "I definitely see no need for W. First St. near Grapeville Ave. for motels, but said that if motels were allowed near town they would bring traffic into the city. Dake's motel suggestions hinge partly on completion of Circus land. He suggests Grapeville as one part of the Sanford perimeter route to carry Circuland traffic around the city, rather than through it. The perimeter route would run from W. First St. south on Grapeville to 25th St., east to meet U. S. 17-92 near Sunland Estates, and across 17-92 to the old Orlando highway. From there it would go north on Orlando highway to a point near Ginder-ville east to Cameron Ave., north on Cameron to 13th St. and there meet a proposed extension of Seminole Blvd. and run along Lake Monroe. Sanford Building Inspector M. A. Yelvington said that if Circuland goes in, the state would co-operate to extend Grapeville Ave. from 20th St. south to U. S.

17-92. Dake said French Ave. has a traffic count of 20,000 cars per day now and that the perimeter route will be needed to relieve future pressure. Dake's Generalized Land Use Plan recommends commercial zoning out 13th St. and down French Ave. and U.S. 17-92. Commercial organizations are there now and nothing can be done about it, although it's a bad situation, the planner said. He also recommended a commercially zoned area for the north and south of Melonville Ave. near Lake Monroe. Both Dake and Yelvington agreed that prescription shops and doctor's offices tend to locate around hospitals and the nearness of this area to Seminole Memorial would be a likely spot for such buildings. Board member Robert Karns said about five different areas have been zoned for prescription shops near Seminole Memorial but more have been put up so far. Dake also presented a general development plan for Sanford's central business district. He recommended a new library immediately east of the Civic Center and a new fire station immediately south of the center. This would replace the present station on Palmetto Ave. Dake said Fire Chief Mack Cleveland Sr., thought this was a good site. It would give fire trucks fast access east-west along Seminole Blvd. and north-south along Sanford Ave. A yacht club and marina to replace the present bandshell, and tree-filled malls to replace roadway on several small streets were also suggested by the planner. Dake recommended making Fourth St. one way west and Second St. one way east, making Commercial Ave. a through street, and adding off-street parking areas in the city. Dake's groundwork in making a guide plan for Sanford's future development is now finished. His employer, George W. Simons of Jacksonville, will look over Dake's findings, make revisions, and submit all findings in bound reports to the city, Sanford's government then may use the findings as it wishes.

Another storm was reported being up in the northern Rockies, but the weatherman said it probably wouldn't hit the Southeast until Saturday. The mercury dipped to seven below zero at Goodland, Kan., this morning and weathermen expected readings as low as five above in northwestern Oklahoma. Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois dug out from the worst storm of the winter. Up to 10 inches of snow blocked two main Michigan highways. Seven inches in Detroit touched off a rash of traffic-arresting accidents. Seven inches of snow covered Springfield, Decatur, Peoria and Champaign in Illinois. Forty mile an hour winds whipped debris across highways. Dozens of schools closed. Tornadoes dipped from the sky at Jacksonville and Lake City, Thursday. There were no deaths or serious injuries, but the twisters wrecked or damaged 26 homes and buildings.

Progress Since January

PROGRESS SINCE JANUARY was reported at Thursday night's meeting of the Sanford Humane Society. As the chart here shows, the society has enrolled 60 members and received contributions and membership fees of $515. Enthusiasm over the report are Robert Johnson, treasurer; Elaine Miller, center, recording secretary, and Ruth Rankin, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Harriett Cowley, president, reported on the agreement by the county commissioners to lease a piece of land across from the county home on Hwy. 17-92 for an animal shelter, subject to public hearing, tentatively set March 23.
