Sanford Salvation Army Launches Fund-Raising Campaign

The Sanford corps of the Salvation Army has embarked on a $150,000 fund-raising effort to continue through August, it was announced today by Clyde Long, chairman of the local advisory committee.

Two prime areas for which the funds are to be used are paying off an existing mortgage on the Salvation Army building and the remainder is for capital improvements of the Army's Sanford properties sorely in need of repair and renovation, according to Long.

The Salvation Army has a renegotiable mortgage on its building which must be contracted for each five years. According to Capt. Carl E. Phillips, commanding officer of the Sanford Salvation Army Corps, the organization had a mortgage at 9 percent interest, but on renegotiating it recently, "the best we could get was 14.5 percent. That brings our monthly payment to $1,200.99 and only $200 to $300 per month goes to reducing the principal, the rest of it is interest. If we can pay off our mortgage, we can put that money to much better use in terms of service to people."

The Salvation Army's advisory board has been working on the fund-raising project for the past couple of months, according to Capt. Phillips and to date has raised $18,000 in pledges or donations.

In an effort to raise the balance of the monies needed, a "Friends of the Army" banquet has been scheduled for July 28 at the Sanford Civic Center. Tickets will sell for $25 each and in addition to a roast beef dinner, there will be a performance by the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole as well as a "slave auction."

"We'll be contacting individuals and businesses in our fund-raising drive, and anyone who wants to buy tickets for the dinner can do so at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce office, or by contacting us at 322-2612 for tickets or pledges," Capt. Phillips said. He said pledges may also be made with or dinner tickets bought from any Salvation Army board member.

"The Salvation Army's Sanford corps is initiating this county-wide effort to generate funds that will continue the helpful services so well-known as characteristic of this world-wide religious and sociological organization," said Long.

"Many Seminole county residents are committing donations over a three-year period with gifts of hundreds and of thousands of dollars. This long-range helpfulness is the real backbone of the support to others in the community who have suffered reverses," Long said. The local banker said the second emphasis is "a short-range drive involving the sale of tickets, donations, to the victory dinner on July 28."

"The $25 tickets open the door to an elaborate roast beef dinner, but more importantly," added Long, "it will bring together prominent people of the county to demonstrate their support of the Salvation Army's outreach in service. This enthusiastic undergirding is vital to the continuation of the myriad of community services of helpfulness."

"The United Way agency has permission of the local officers of the one-for-all organization," Long said and indicated that the "blessing" of the campaign of UW is "strong encouragement from the Salvation Army staff and supporters."

SWOOSH...BOOM...AAAAH!

Four-year-old Jeremy Johnson (right), son of Marshall and Peggy Johnson of Sanford, is awed by the breathtaking display of fireworks over Lake Monroe Saturday night. The Fourth of July fireworks sponsored by the Sanford VFW Post 10108 thrilled a crowd estimated between 15,000 and 16,000 and climaxed a day of activities in Fort Mellon Park.

The 4th Of July Is Over...

"What a beautiful display," "I've never seen a finale like that"... "This was one of the biggest fireworks displays we've ever had in this city."

These are some of the good comments Bill Burns, judge advocate and past commander of the Sanford Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10108, said he received on Sanford's Fourth of July pyrotechnics.

Sanford Police Lt. Doug Bishop estimates a crowd of between 15,000 and 16,000 people turned out Saturday night along the lakefront to watch the fireworks.

The VFW Post this year was responsible for raising the funds to pay for the $3,000 display. In spite of the problem of getting enough donations from businesses, organizations and individuals in the community to meet the cost, Burns said the post has voted to sponsor the fireworks again next year.

"We took on the sponsorship of the fireworks and have been working on raising the funds since March," Burns said. "We had to pay out $2,100 when the contract was signed April 1 and the post didn't have it and neither did the Chamber of Commerce, so I took it out of my personal account to loan the post."

There was only $294 left from last year's fireworks account. The rest of the $3,000 was paid Saturday night. As of July 2, we had $1,000 in the fireworks account in the bank."

Burns says some money is still out from the percentage owed to the fund by those operating booths and the Fourth of July Fun Fair Saturday. He also hopes local organizations who haven't yet donated will help bail out the post.

"Now we know some of the pitfalls, so we'll know what not to do next year," Burns said.

...But Christmas Is Coming

Summer heat wave notwithstanding, Sanford civic organizations began their Christmas decoration planning today.

Come Christmas time, gone will be the old decorations in the downtown area. The representatives of civic groups decided unanimously that a contract with an Ocala firm for a new and expanded decoration program for the next four years should be authorized.

While seven 7-foot to 8-foot tall decorations have adorned light poles along First Street in the past, a total of 25 lighted decorations will be placed in November this year, not only on First Street but elsewhere in the city as well.

And the Sanford Rotary Club made a donation of $300 toward the annual decoration cost of $2,150. The lights and figures are to be leased from Tonn Decorator Service Inc. of Ocala. The decorations will be installed by the service in November and be taken down in January. Different decorations will be placed each year for the next four years. In the past, the decorations were purchased by the Downtown Business Association which also replaced and refurbished the decorations as necessary. The city of Sanford installed the decorations and maintained their electrical wiring.

Boyd Coleman said the cost of replacing the lighted decorations has been as high as $3,000 a year and costs of repairs and refurbishing two years ago totaled about $3,000.

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said the leasing costs will be less than it cost the city to do the installation and wiring maintenance.

Knowles, as immediate past president of Rotary, presented a $300 check to initiate the fund for the lighting project. He challenged the Kiwanis Club and other civic organizations to meet the Rotary Club's support for the project.

Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber's Christmas Parade committee will also be donating funds for the cause. — DONNA ESTES.

120 Bobbies Injured In Black Riots

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — Black rioters went on a night-long orgy of looting and burning, and Britain's bobbies unleashed volleys of tear gas for the first time in history. At least 120 police were injured.

"It's like daylight out there, there are so many burning buildings," one constable said describing the inferno in the second straight day of rioting in the Toxteth slum district of Liverpool.

At least 150 people were injured, including the 120 policemen who were pelted with gasoline bombs, stones and sticks in battles in a three-quarter-mile-long triangle of about eight or nine streets.

The Toxteth rampage, also the third straight night of violence in Britain's colored areas, raised to 225 the number of police injured in the rioting, which began Friday night in the Asian community in the West End of London and spread Saturday to Liverpool.

The rioters Sunday set fire to a nightclub next to a hospital for the elderly, then allowed the evacuation of 96 patients, some in wheelchairs, after entreaties from clergymen and ambulance drivers.

One witness reported every store was systematically looted "like it was market day."

Toddlers no more than 4 or 5 pushed supermarket trollies laden with goods and witnesses reported a car showroom was broken into and the vehicles were taken away.

Police listed at least 20 looted shops, including electrical appliance stores, a dairy and a garage.

All available police in Liverpool were summoned and reinforcements were sped from surrounding towns, including Manchester, 40 miles to the east.

The police in riot visors advanced in phalanx behind plastic riot shields to fend off stones, bricks and Molotov cocktails and spit up the gangs in block after block.

The police also fired tear gas — the first time the crowd-control weapon has been used in mainland Britain, although it has been employed in Northern Ireland by security forces.

"We are certainly not winning but we're not losing any more," Inspector Bernard Keegan said late Sunday after three hours of battles.

Firemen were driven back by youths and fires burned out of control as rioters roamed about in gangs, some as large as 100 strong, police said.

At one point, the youths pushed a cement mixer at police lines and rammed a metal pole on policemen's heads.

"It seems to be an orchestrated attack on the police," said a police spokesman.

Unless New Methods Found

Social Security Said On Brink Of Disaster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Experts agree the Social Security system will go broke next year unless new methods of financing are found.

The system's trustees were to issue a report today underlining the bleak outlook for the national retirement fund that experts say will be short an estimated $100 billion over the next five years.

Meantime, Sen. William Armstrong, R-Colo., chairman of the Senate subcommittee studying Social Security changes, said a higher retirement age and limited cost-of-living increases are the most likely ways to save the system.

Last month, Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Texas, head of the House Social Security subcommittee, said limiting the inflation adjustment and gradually raising the retirement age from 65 to 68 are the most likely solutions.

"I think Jake Pickle is correct in identifying the two most prominent areas for compromise at the present time as the COLA (cost-of-living adjustment) and the gradual increase in the age of retirement," Armstrong said in an interview with United Press International. "I would describe them as the most prominent for compromise because they are the ones that have been the most widely discussed and we know the most about them at the moment," said Armstrong, whose panel opens hearings Tuesday.

"There is an element of fundamental justice in each of those proposals," he said.

President Reagan — who seems willing to consider almost any approach to preserve the system — proposed immediate, stiff penalties for early retirement as part of a plan to shore up Social Security. Other possibilities, not embraced by the administration, are the use of income tax revenues or an increase in the payroll tax that finances Social Security.

None of those has given much of a chance of passing Congress.

Raising the payroll tax is considered unthinkable when lawmakers are cutting other taxes, and borrowing from general revenue is anathema to conservatives, who say it would make balancing the budget impossible.

Both Armstrong and Pickle agree it is almost certain Congress will approve borrowing from the disability and Medicare trust funds, which have surpluses, to buy more time — perhaps a year — for the retirement fund.

"It seems to me the one thing we're going to do is permit interfund borrowing, but that is simply a stop-gap measure," he said.

Armstrong said he hopes to have a bill before the Senate in September.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Remains Of U.S. Airmen To Be Flown Home

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — A special U.S. Air Force jet flies to Hanoi Tuesday to collect the remains of three unidentified American airmen missing in action since the Vietnam War, Vietnamese officials announced today.

The U.S. jet will leave Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines with a 10-man honor guard from the Hawaii-based U.S. Joint Casualty Resolution Center acting as escort for the remains. The guard will be led by Lt. Col. Joe Harvey.

U.S. officials said they were not at liberty to release any information about the retrieval of the bodies and that all announcements would have to be made by the Vietnamese.

The remains, in tiny wooden caskets, will be turned over to the Americans in a brief ceremony at Hanoi airport and will then be transported to Barber Point, Hawaii for identification.

Sinking Survivors 'Lucky'

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland (UPI) — Nineteen survivors of a sunken research ship were plucked by helicopter from a raft after drifting two days in icy Labrador waters, but the coast guard found eight bodies and searched for five missing crew members of the Arctic Explorer.

Officials delayed until day-break a renewed air search but two Coast Guard ships worked through the night using charts showing the likely drift of the five possible survivors of the sunken ship, a seismological survey vessel. Two Americans were among the survivors.

"Nobody's sure what happened," John Hobert, a 35-year-old engineer from Dallas, Texas, said from his hospital bed in the coastal town of St. Anthony where all 19 men in the lifeboat were sent to recuperate after their rescue Sunday.

"I woke up when the boat took on a substantial list," he said. "By the time I got up, the water was already up to the helicopter deck and the order came from the captain to man the lifeboats." Hobert said, calling his survival "mostly luck."

More Killings In Iran

By United Press International

Iran's Revolutionary Guards arrested and executed more leftist opponents and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat predicted the government of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini will be overthrown because of its "darkness and terrorism."

The crackdown following the bomb assassination of 74 fundamentalist leaders a week ago continued, with the Iranian media announcing that three leftists were killed in a shootout and 19 others captured in a sweep Sunday through Tehran.

Firing squads executed 16 other people, including two men and two women from the group blamed for the blast, raising to nearly 120 the number put before firing squads since President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr was dismissed June 21.

"When darkness and terrorism reign supreme, anything may happen," Sadat said in an interview published Sunday in the weekly newspaper Mayo. He termed the bombing a warning to Khomeini of leftist strength, Khomeini will "taste the same cup" from which he forced the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to drink when the shah was overthrown in 1979 and forced to flee, Sadat said.

Begin Assured Victory

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin, assured of victory in Israel's elections, met today with leaders of two potential coalition partners on whom his ability to form a governing coalition may rest.

Begin, assured of a one-seat election victory over Shimon Peres, vowed Sunday to form the "most stable government" in Israeli history and to place no restrictions on U.S.-supplied weapons.

Brothers Jailed For Heist At Cavalier Motor Inn

Two Casselberry brothers spent at least half a family holiday in Seminole County jails for an alleged robbery of the Cavalier Motor Inn at 3200 S. Orlando Drive in Sanford.

Charged with theft were 21-year-old Jack R. Floranta and 20-year-old Roy Floranta of 3 Lotus Circle. The younger Floranta was an employee of the motel.

According to police reports, Roy Floranta allegedly took a small metal cash box from under the front desk counter at the Cavalier Motor Inn office on the evening of May 30. No particular time was specified.

Jack Floranta reportedly waited outside the motel, parked in a car out back. He is said to have received the box from his brother.

Motel managers said an excess of $300 was stolen. The brothers split the money, police said.

A $5,000 bond was posted Saturday evening for each of the suspects. Court date is set for July 17.

Jack Floranta is an employee of Southeast Bank.

LONGWOOD JEWELRY HEIST

Thieves broke into a Longwood home Wednesday morning and stole an estimated $5,000 worth of jewelry.

Edward Fratkan, 48, of 60 Hunters Trail, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that the break-in occurred between 9 and 10 a.m. when bandits forced open a porch screen door, then removed a screen from a bedroom window.

Taken were various pieces of jewelry valued at $5,000.

CHILD SEXUALLY ASSAULTED

Seminole County Sheriff's Deputies are investigating the possible July 4 sexual assault of a three-year-old Altamonte Springs girl.

According to police reports, the child's 18-year-old mother said the baby was taken for an overnight visit about 6 p.m. Friday.

When the girl was returned about 8:30 p.m. Saturday, the mother said, she complained of severe stomach pains. After noticing excessive bleeding and swelling, she rushed the child to a hospital where the assault was confirmed.

The matter is under investigation.

No charges or arrests have been made.

Arson Suspected In Several

Wildfires Still Plague Volusia

NEW SMYRNA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Even with help from the National Guard, firefighters say, it's going to take some heavy rain to win the battle against a wildfire that has scorched at least 17,000 acres of the Crane Swamp in Volusia County.

Three heavy tractors from the National Guard's Camp Blanding were dispatched to Volusia Sunday to help firefighters clear fire lines around that and another 250-acre fire threatening 5,000 acres of valuable timberland seven miles away.

Both fires were contained within firelines that had been "made black" — scorched by set, containable fires to remove "fuel" — Larry Amison, a spokesman for the state Forestry Division, said late Sunday.

But Crane Swamp fire, ignited by lightning June 1, had burned close to the firelines on both the north and south side of the huge blaze and "anything can happen," he said.

The heavy National Guard tractors were dispatched Sunday to help 69 Division of Forestry firefighters assisted by local volunteer groups battle those blazes — plus three others that have scorched about 6,000 acres of timberland called the "Relay Tract" in north Volusia, Amison said.

Two of the tractors were clearing firelines at an arson fire at the Deltona Subdivision in southwest Volusia County, which has burned over 250 acres of scrub pine and swamp, Amison said.

"That fire is threatening about 5,000 acres of valuable timber to the east of it and it's moving in that direction," he said.

Amison said three other arson fires were reported in the county Saturday, "but all of them were kept to less than 10 acres."

Amison said fire fighters think the arsonist "is someone who does it just for the excitement."

Aim Is To Create Wealth, Not Distribute It, Regan Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary Donald Regan says the administration is trying to create wealth, not distribute it, and its aim is to "squeeze out the fat" that has crept into federal programs since the Great Society.

In an interview in U.S. News & World Report, Regan also said administration forecasts call for single-digit inflation this year, a prime interest rate falling from the present 20 percent to close to 12 percent and mortgage rates decreasing by 1 or 2 percentage points. "This year or later."

Regan defended President Reagan's budget cuts as being less disruptive than most critics charge.

"There will be less federal money available for certain programs," Regan acknowledged. "But, as in a family or in a college or anything else, when the budget is cut, you learn to adapt to it."

"The best way to increase our standard of living is to reduce the cost of government," said Regan. "Remember, the majority of these programs started in the Lyndon Johnson era — the Great Society. They were increased and expanding every year, and in recent years they have become bloated. All we are trying to do is to squeeze out the fat that has crept into them."

Asked how he answered criticism that the Reagan tax and budget cuts were really to help the "needy rich," Regan said, "We are not trying to distribute wealth, we're trying to create wealth. This tax bill is designed to create incentives to work more, to invest more."

Regan said everyone would get a break in the administration's across-the-board tax cut, but those "who pay the most will get the most."

LOCAL PROGRAM STUDIED

Seminole County's 2½-year-old Juvenile Arbitration Program is up for inclusion in the U.S. Justice Department's "Hall of Fame."

Gayle Hair, arbitration program director, has been informed that the National Institute for Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention is studying her program for possible designation as an Exemplary Project.

The Justice Department's Exemplary Projects Program is a "method of identifying outstanding criminal justice programs throughout the country and publicizing them widely," Ms. Hair said. "It's sort of like a Hall of Fame. The goal is to encourage the widespread use of advanced criminal justice practices."

Seminole's juvenile arbitration program, begun in Oct. 1978, is a way of keeping minor first-time offenders out of the court system while dispensing common sense justice — ordering restitution, curfew, mandatory church attendance, extra school work — and helping a child solve the underlying problem that resulted in the delinquency.

INFAMOUS CAR

One of the expensive sports cars swallowed up by the Winter Park sinkhole May 9 is in the news again.

Sometime between June 5 and Thursday, someone stole $2,000 worth of parts from a 1978 Porsche which was parked behind Vehicles Unlimited, 1650 U.S. Highway 17-82, Maitland.

It was one of the same cars that had sustained extensive damage when it fell into the 150-foot deep sinkhole that opened up in downtown Winter Park nearly two months ago.

Taken from the vehicle was a radio, a CB radio, an ash tray, cigarette lighter, and assorted knobs.

Bills Would Allow More Individual Retirement Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A little-publicized provision in the tax cut bills being prepared in the House and Senate would allow 40 million Americans to improve their retirement plans.

The bills would broaden the scope of Individual Retirement Accounts, or IRAs, the tax-deferred retirement plan Congress has limited to people who do not participate in employer-sponsored pension plans.

In 1978, 2.4 million federal income tax returns claimed IRA tax deductions.

More than 40 million Americans are ineligible for IRAs under present law because they belong to pension plans.

Both the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have written into their respective tax bills provisions to extend IRAs to this group. They also would raise the tax deduction limits for those now using IRAs.

The changes appear almost certain to be part of the eventual tax cut sent to President Reagan.

An IRA can be obtained through a bank, savings and loan, insurance company, stock brokerage firm or other financial institution. It allows a person to put money into the account and get a tax deduction for doing so.

The money stays in the account — growing with taxfree interest — until the person is 59½ years old, when he or she can draw on it for retirement. The amount drawn is taxed as current income, but by then the person usually is in a lower tax bracket.

Under current law a person with no regular pension, who earns $10,000 or more, can deduct up to $1,500 a year for funds invested in an IRA. Someone earning less can deduct 15 percent of his income invested in an IRA.

In both the House and Senate versions, this limit would be raised to $2,000 regardless of income.

For people already participating in pension plans the deduction limit would be $1,000 a year in the House version and $1,500 in the Senate version. That difference will have to be settled in House-Senate conference.

"The people who will benefit are people like engineers and higher paid professionals," says Karen Ferguson, director of the Pension Rights Center, a private group working to improve the pension system.

"It will not help the average worker who cannot afford to save for retirement," she said. She believes the plan detracts attention from more fundamental pension reforms that are needed.

"It really tends to be a tax shelter for the well-to-do," said Lawrence Smedley, associate director of the AFL-CIO's Department of Social Security.

Critics contend low-income Americans are less able to put money aside in an account where it should not be touched for many years to avoid penalty.

The savings and loan industry, now the largest handler of IRA accounts, disapproves.

"This is something that's for the average working person," says Margaret L. Donohue, assistant vice president of First Federal Savings of Pittsburgh. While the very poor who are unable to save at all cannot use them, she said, people able to put away even modest savings can benefit from IRAs.

"We have people who put in $40 a month or $10 a week," she said. (To get the present maximum tax deduction of $1,500, a person would have to invest about $30 a week.)

More Than 500 Killed In Traffic Accidents

By United Press International
The Fourth of July holiday traffic toll passed the 500 mark today, despite hopes that confusion over when the holiday started and ended might lessen traffic jams and that bad weather might keep people home.

A United Press International count early today showed at least 501 people died in traffic accidents between 6 p.m. local time Thursday and midnight Sunday. A final count was expected later today.

California reported the most deaths with 48, followed by Texas with 46, North Carolina and Ohio with 26 each, Florida 21, Illinois 19, New York 18 and Michigan and Missouri 16 each.

No fatalities were reported in Alaska, Delaware, Washington, D. C., Hawaii, Maine, Nevada and South Dakota.

The National Safety Council had predicted between 450 and 550 people would die in auto accidents during the 1981 Independence Day holiday.

Last year, 463 people were killed and another 21,300 seriously injured in traffic accidents during the three-day weekend.

2,000 Workers Strike

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — A unique strike by some 2,000 city employees seeking equal pay for women performing comparable work to men curtailed community services today and threatened to close libraries.

The striking librarians, mechanics, janitors and clerical workers walked off their jobs Sunday in a first-of-its-kind strike, spurred by a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

Union leaders said the strike in San Jose, which has a woman mayor and women-dominated city council, could serve as a test case and have far-reaching implications nationwide.

Supervisors said they would keep most city offices open, but services would be cut back.

Brooklyn Bridge Closed

NEW YORK (UPI) — The old nursery rhyme about London Bridge falling down perhaps should also include the Brooklyn Bridge. For the second time in a week, the 98-year-old span had to be closed because of trouble with one of its suspension cables.

Police shut down the span Sunday for two hours because one of the cables involved in the incident a week ago sagged and authorities thought it would snap.

In the earlier incident, a man on the pedestrian walkway of the span was injured when he was struck by the cable that snapped, prompting authorities to close the bridge for vehicular traffic for several hours. The walkway has remained closed.

Actor Ross Martin Dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Ross Martin, who gained fame as Artemus Gordon, master of disguise in "The Wild, Wild West" television series, died last week from a heart attack suffered while playing tennis. He was 61.

A family spokesman said services for the Polish-born actor, who had a law degree, would be held Tuesday at Mount Sinai Memorial Park and Mortuary in Los Angeles.

The actor, star of "Stump the Stars" and the "Mr. Lucky" series, collapsed Friday after playing tennis in 100-degree heat on a tennis ranch at the San Diego County Club estates at Ramona, where he owned a condominium. His wife was present.

Traffic Death Toll

Reaches Predicted 26

By United Press International
Florida's Fourth of July holiday weekend traffic death count reached the predicted 26 by the end of the period at midnight, but a spokesman said it could go higher.

The count at 7 a.m. today matched the prediction last week by the Highway Patrol, but late reports — especially from Dade County — should show it was a bloody Fourth this year, said Patrolman Mike Buckley. The official 78-hour holiday period began at 6 p.m. Thursday.

"It always goes higher," Buckley said. "Dade always saves their reports up and sends them in at the same time, after the period ends."

"They usually have a lot. So far, they haven't reported any."

Other counties, too, would likely be reporting deaths, he predicted grimly.

Osceola County led the casualty list with six victims, all passengers in a rental car that collided with a Greyhound bus on the Florida Turnpike, 30 miles south of Kissimmee, Friday. The dead included four children.

Thieves Lack Horse Sense

MIAMI (UPI) — Horse thieves who stole two Arabian mares valued at more than $60,000 from a south Dade County stable overlooked light-colored horses, some worth nearly six times that amount, according to the stable owner.

"I don't know why they picked the horses that they did," said breeder Marion Sherrill, who discovered the theft at the Double S Arabians stables when he returned from an Arabian horse show shortly before midnight Saturday.

"There were some others even superior, but they only wanted dark-colored horses," he said.

Sherrill, who keeps 50 pure-bred Arabians at the stable, said the stolen mares, named Bint Monise and Fezzadda, are worth "in excess of $60,000." But, he added, "we've got horses valued up to $350,000."

Florida Highway Patrol Poorly Funded

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Highway Patrol may be the state's most visible law enforcement agency, but it is also one of the most poorly funded.

The 1981 Legislature took steps to change that by earmarking money for much-needed new equipment, pay raises for troopers including up to $2,500 bonuses for veterans and 150 additional patrolmen.

Other state police agencies also made out well in the $3 billion budget that took effect Wednesday, but Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles Director Chester Blakemore places special significance to the trooper funds.

"It's a very positive thing for morale, recruitment and retention," Blakemore said.

The patrol has gotten only 30 additional troopers since 1974 and has had to live with a tight budget over the years.

Blakemore had to order troopers to park their cars beside the highway during part of their shift in late 1979 because the price of gas skyrocketed and the agency found itself running out of fuel money.

Additional troopers were freed for road work a few years ago when civilians took over driver's license examinations and motor vehicle safety inspections, but Blakemore doesn't consider that a net increase in personnel because these officers already were doing some patrolling.

The extra patrol funding came under pressure from Gov. Bob Graham — it was one of his top priorities — but was also a result of the duty performed by an FHP task force in Dade County earlier this year.

Violent crime in Dade has increased enormously recently, in part because of the influx of thousands of Cuban and Haitian refugees. Dade officials asked for 100 additional troopers — a 100 percent boost over the permanent Dade FHP troop — and Graham and the Cabinet agreed to their request.

The troopers took over routine traffic duties and accident investigations to free local police for violent crime work.

While happy to get the 150 new troopers, Blakemore says the Legislature should not stop there. He has requested another 150 for the 1982-83 fiscal year and believes another 200 are needed after that.

The patrol currently has 1,400 positions, including 950 "rank one" troopers — the basic patrolman slot. A 40-person class begins this week at the FHP Academy in Tallahassee. Those officers will take to the roads in about 11 weeks.

Dade County will get the bulk of the 150 under a complicated formula Blakemore says will ensure that every area of the state gets its fair share.

The patrol is under a U.S. Department of Justice mandate to hire more blacks and women and the salary increases, plus the increase in trooper jobs, will make compliance easier.

The new patrol academy class consists of 10 women which Blakemore says, "simply is unprecedented."

The patrol currently has 53 blacks, 13 Hispanics, one American Indian and eight women.

Many Injuries Reported Throughout Nation

Two Killed In Weekend Fireworks Accidents

United Press International

At least two people died in holiday weekend fireworks accidents, including a spectator hit in the forehead by a metal tube hurled 200 feet into a crowd at a July 4th display.

Officials across the nation reported an explosion of fireworks-related injuries and doctors in Philadelphia operated Sunday to save the eyesight of a 4-year-old girl injured with nine others in an explosion triggered when a sparkler apparently ignited a bag of fireworks.

Fire officials said their phone lines were clogged with residents reporting a rash of fireworks-sparked blazes, which caused hundreds of thousands of dollars in damages. Three minor injuries to firefighters in California were reported.

An aerial fireworks display at a ballpark in Anderson, Mo., turned to tragedy late Saturday when a metal tube used in setting off fireworks was blown out of the ground by an explosion and flung into a crowd 200 feet away.

A spectator — Delores Bowzer, 58, of Neosho — was hit in the forehead by the tube and pronounced dead at the scene.

In Oak Park, Ill., a homemade firecracker bomb exploded, blowing out the stomach of a teen-ager and killing him. Two others suffered burns and a sprained ankle in the Saturday night explosion.

Officials said Kevin McTigue, 18, died after suffering a "blown-out belly" with injuries to his liver, spleen and intestines.

"They were playing with homemade fireworks," said Sgt. John Beerup. "They probably emptied some punpowder from fireworks into a can."

Surgeons at Wills Eye Hospital in Philadelphia operated for two hours on Jennifer Kapper of Holland, Penn., who suffered tiny punctures to her eyes in an explosion touched off when an ember from a sparkler apparently ignited a bag containing cherry bombs and M-80s.

Police said the Saturday explosion "broke all the glass and damaged the porch" of a home in Fort Washington, a suburb of Philadelphia, and burned six adults and four other children — including Jennifer's sister and father.

"We saw and heard a great deal of screaming," said a neighbor.

The girl was reported in fair condition and doctors said they expected the girl to regain her sight, although particles from the exploded firecrackers also caused cataracts. Four of the others injured remained hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

In St. Paul, Minn., police said a youth was in danger of losing an eye from an explosion when a firecracker being hurled out of his car apparently flew back inside and ignited other fireworks.

In suburban Buffalo, N.Y., a youth was injured in his face and hands when someone hurled a lighted firecracker at him.

Firefighters, using helicopters and planes, Sunday contained a

1,400-acre sagebrush fire near Boise, Idaho. Authorities suspect it was touched off Saturday by either fireworks or holiday picnickers.

Other fireworks-related blazes causing hundreds of thousands in damages were reported in southern California and Los Angeles firefighters received more than 1,000 alarms Saturday — twice the number of a usual weekend. Three firemen suffered minor injuries in Vacaville, Calif.

In Akron, Ohio, two young children face possible charges for accidentally ignited some highly flammable roofing material with firecrackers in a blaze Friday night that caused an estimated $50,000 in damage.

Before August Recess Begins

Reagan Pressuring Congress To Produce Tax Cut Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is putting the pressure on Congress to produce an acceptable tax cut bill before the month-long congressional recess scheduled to begin Aug. 3.

With Congress due to return Wednesday from its extended Fourth of July holiday, both houses will have less than four weeks to pass separate bills and reconcile their differences before sending a tax package to the White House.

The Senate, with its Republican majority, should have little trouble.

The Senate Finance Committee has completed action on the administration's tax proposal, including the president's 25 percent across-the-board tax cut for individuals, spread over 33 months.

Chairman Bob Dole, R-Kan., expects to bring the bill to the Senate floor around July 13 for reasonably prompt approval.

The rub, however, will come in the House.

House Democrats, working on their own tax cut alternative, planned to get down to business this week in the Ways and Means Committee, where they hold a commanding 23-12 edge.

The Democratic alternative — which would cut tax rates by an average 15 percent over 21 months — is assured approval by the panel.

The Democrats target their cuts more toward taxpayers in the $15,000 to $50,000 income range by boosting the standard deduction and increasing the earned income credit for the working poor.

A committee staff member indicated the panel would need about two weeks to complete work on the tax bill. So far, it has approved a package of business tax cuts and savings incentives.

As Congress heads toward action on taxes, it is completing the task of cutting federal spending.

Although a giant conference committee still has to put together a final budget cut bill, the House and Senate measures are similar.

Both reduce spending in fiscal 1982 by about $38 billion. The bills also would cut spending in the 1983 and 1984 fiscal years, although not enough to balance the budget in 1984 as Reagan wanted.

A major difference is the approach the two bodies take to cutting about $1 billion in Medicaid funds.

Adverse Effect On Tourism Noted

Bandit Hijacks Chartered Bus

MIAMI (UPI) — The hijacking by a knife-wielding bandit of a charter bus carrying Spanish tourists to Disney World left one police lieutenant worried about the effect on foreign tourism — increasingly important to the economy of South Florida.

"Imagine the impression we've left on these foreign visitors," said Miami police Capt. Richard Witt after a stowaway on a tourist bus robbed the passengers at knife-point over the weekend.

"We've become so dependent on the foreign tourist trade and this is so devastating to the type of economy we want to build."

"It was a harrowing experience," Witt said. "Being robbed in a strange country is one thing but they were abducted."

Police reported no arrests Sunday in the hijacking, and 10 of the passengers, members of a tour organized in Spain, pressed on to Disney World. They were to have flown to Mexico, next stop on their tour, Sunday.

The bus was hijacked Saturday about 15 minutes after it began a journey to Disney World, 200 miles north in Central Florida.

Police said the bus was heading north on Interstate 95 when a man walked up from the rear, told the driver he was on the wrong bus and asked to be let off.

When Driver Ulysses Bryant pulled off the expressway, however, the man put a butcher knife to his throat and told him to keep driving. Then he ordered the passengers to come forward one by one and give him their money.

Police said the bandit's take was small because few of the passengers were carrying much cash and many hid most of their money in socks and shoes while the bandit was confronting the driver. The largest loss of any passenger was $90.

After the bandit was through robbing the passengers, he ordered Bryant to stop, stepped off the bus and ran away.

The bus company took the 10 people on the tour, plus two other Spaniards on an extended visit to South Florida, on to Disney World.

But David Gomez, 67, and his wife and niece declined the offer. The Colombian-born tailor and the two women returned to their Miami home immediately after talking to police.

"Those were no conditions to travel under," Gomez said.

Unsettling Concerns

We share to some degree the ambivalence of the U.S. Supreme Court in its recent decision that held former President Richard M. Nixon and three of his top ex-aides to be liable for monetary damages for the wire-tapping placed on Morton Halperin, a former national security official.

In the tied 4-4 vote, the Court issued no opinion. We must deduce, therefore, that four justices believe a president of the United States and his deputies should be held financially accountable for their actions, even after leaving office. And four justices, on the other hand, voted as they did because they are against piercing for the first time the veil of immunity which heretofore has shielded the chief executive in carrying out his duties.

The even split on the Supreme Court had the effect of automatically sustaining a lower court ruling that held Mr. Nixon and his former aides liable. The tie vote was made possible by the withdrawal from the case of Associate Justice William H. Rehnquist because he served as a high Justice Department official during the time of the wiretapping.

Former President Nixon, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, former Attorney General John Mitchell, and former Nixon aide H.R. Haldeman are now active defendants against monetary claims that could exceed $1 million.

Even as it officially cracked the door for the first time on a former U.S. president and his aides, the troubled court kept open the question of the president's constitutional immunity. It agreed to hear this fall another damage suit against Mr. Nixon. Two lower courts have rejected efforts by Nixon attorneys to dismiss a $3.5 million suit brought by A. Ernest Fitzgerald, a former Air Force official, who was discharged for exposing enormous cost overruns.

If the court finds in the Fitzgerald case that the President is constitutionally protected from such civil suits, as well it may with Justice Rehnquist participating, the Halperin decision would lose significance, according to constitutional authorities.

The Halperin case arose from wiretaps ordered in the spring of 1969 on some journalists and White House aides in order to trace serious security leaks about the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks, Middle East peace negotiations, and efforts to end the Vietnam War. The tap was kept on for 21 months, nine of which were after Halperin left the White House. He and his family seek damages for what they allege to be politically motivated violation of their constitutional rights.

Indeed, it was the lengthy, open-ended nature of the Halperin wiretap that U.S. District Judge John Lewis Smith Jr. cited in his ruling during December, 1976, against Mr. Nixon and his aides on constitutional grounds, despite what he acknowledged to be "... the 30-year history of similar executive actions (i.e., wiretappings)."

Thirty years of similar executive actions would take us all the way back to Franklin Roosevelt's administration. And, although there would be no precise parallel during those decades, still the Halperin wiretap was ordered during a war to halt damaging revelations of the nation's top secrets.

These novel court rulings that would expose presidents for the first time to liability raise unsettling concerns about crippling the executive branch or subordinating it in civil litigation to the judiciary. And if, as the lower courts seem to have ruled in the Fitzgerald case, a president can be held accountable for mistakes of bureaucrats, it seems to us the government could become paralyzed.

And yet, we cannot argue with former Senator Sam Ervin, a foremost constitutional authority, whose response to the Halperin decision is that no president should ever be excused for violating his oath of office, which is to uphold, not violate, the Constitution of the United States.

The historic reality is, however, that the doctrine of presidential immunity has served this nation well, even when it was stretched by Abraham Lincoln, who suspended the constitutional shield of habeas corpus. The remedy for iniquitous presidents is impeachment, resignation, or defeat. Former presidents are best judged by history, not contemporary jurists and juries.

The Central Florida Young Republican Club will feature at its July meeting the highly controversial rebuttal, "60 Minutes: Our Reply." The rebuttal was produced by the Illinois Power Company to point out inconsistencies in a recent CBS "60 Minutes" program. The program criticized the establishment of a nuclear power plant by Illinois Power Co.

"60 Minutes: Our Reply" will be presented by Gary Roberts, Florida Power Co's public affairs coordinator. The public may attend the meeting at 7:15 p.m. at the Villa Nova restaurant, off U.S. 17-92, Winter Park.

U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs, has introduced two bills to change current policy of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

The key elements of the changes in one of the bills as summarized by McCollum are:

—If a taxpayer prevails in an action brought against him by the IRS, the IRS would be required to reimburse him for his expense. "This would prevent the situation that currently occurs when a taxpayer may be frightened into paying an assessment because he knows even if he wins, his attorney's fees will cost more than he can afford," McCollum said.

—IRS employees will not be subject to any quotas or requirements that provide incentives to collect any certain sum of money from taxpayers whom they audit.

—The IRS, rather than the individual taxpayer, would assume the burden of proof when charges of error or wrongdoing are made. This concept is taken for granted as part of American jurisprudence. "There is no reason why the IRS should be an exception," McCollum said.

The IRS would be required to obtain a court order before they seize property of the taxpayer. "This gives the taxpayers the same protection as suspected criminals," McCollum said.

—All taxpayers would have the right to record meetings between the taxpayers and IRS officials. In addition, the IRS would be required to schedule these interviews at a time and place convenient to the taxpayer.

—Advice given by employees of the IRS would be binding on the IRS. "This would eliminate the present situation in which taxpayers may be forced to pay penalties even after they follow explicit instructions given by IRS employees," he said.

The second bill, McCollum said, will correct some glaring inequities in current regulations.

The changes made by McCollum would allow taxpayers with second jobs to deduct from income taxes for the portion of their homes they use as offices for a second job; remove the blanket presumption of personal use when a taxpayer rents property to family members; would permit a deduction by a property owner who sets aside a certain day for maintenance of rental property even if that person brings his or her spouse along.

"Passage of these bills will go far in correcting some IRS policies and regulations which benefit no one but penalize many," McCollum said.

Decontrol Promise Forgotten?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ronald Reagan promised during his presidential campaign to get government out of the energy business. He insisted repeatedly that the free market would succeed where government regulation had failed in producing more energy, especially from domestic sources.

Reagan acted within days after his inauguration to decontrol the prices of gasoline and crude oil. But he and his aides have stopped short of decontrolling other forms of energy and have even approved a number of measures that are likely to lead to greater federal involvement in energy production.

The president did establish task forces to plan for deregulating other energy sources, presumably beginning with natural gas. But five months have passed, and little has been heard from the administration on natural-gas deregulation.

Why? The administration has apparently encountered an industry that is happy with government regulation and fighting hard to keep it. That industry is involved in several gas-development projects whose success depends on substantial federal contributions and control.

One of those projects is the Alaska natural gas pipeline. The cost of transporting Alaska's abundant natural gas to the lower 48 is so great as to make its marketing commercially impractical.

The cost of constructing the 750-mile pipeline and the required gas-conditioning plant was recently put at $30 billion. If the companies participating in the project are to receive any return on their investment, the gas flowing through this pipeline will have to be sold at a very high price.

Decontrol would make it highly unlikely that utilities would be willing to pay enough for Alaskan gas to make the pipeline economically feasible. The only answer seems to be to roll the price of Alaskan gas into the price of all gas. And that would require the continued regulation of gas prices.

Much the same is true of gas from the huge Great Plains coal gasification project being built in North Dakota. The only way for this gas to be commercially salable is for its higher price to be shared by all gas consumers — as the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has already proposed. That, too, would require continued price regulation.

The following recent actions of the administration also run counter to the theory that a free market would solve our energy problems:

— Granting a $2 billion federal loan guarantee for the construction of the Great Plains gasification plant.

— Lobbying against congressional moves to eliminate public funding of the $3 billion Clinch River breeder reactor in Tennessee.

— Offering up to $20 billion in federal subsidies to corporations involved in the synfuels program and continuing negotiations with several corporations for an immediate $5 billion in subsidies, grants and loan guarantees for the construction of pilot synfuels projects.

The administration's willingness to go along with such corporate aid has upset fiscal conservatives — even those within the administration. In fact, natural gas deregulation is said to be the subject of sharp debate inside the administration.

GSA Spendthrifts Outdo Themselves

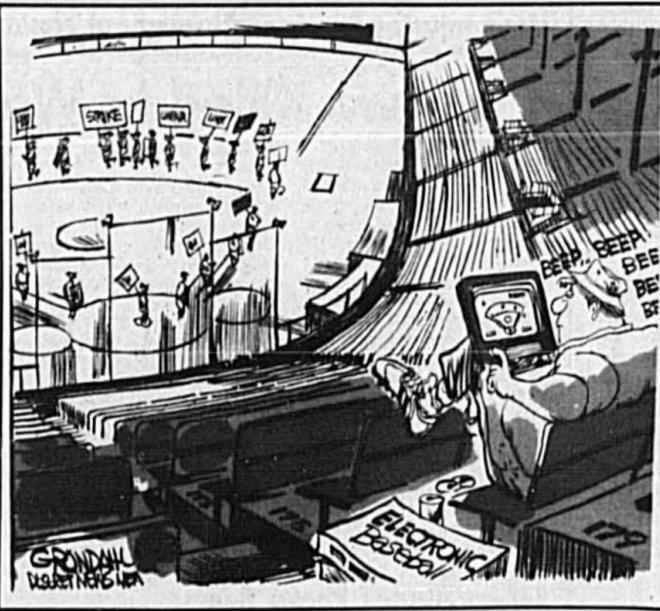

WASHINGTON — At the General Services Administration, waste and incompetence are routine. But when an emergency arises, the GSA spendthrifts really outdo themselves.

Last year, Jimmy Carter pledged that the United States would "provide an open heart and open arms" to thousands of Cuban refugees fleeing Fidel Castro's little Gula Archipelago. To this the GSA bureaucrats added "an open pocketbook."

The first of several internal audits on the refugee program discloses widespread extravagance in GSA's handling of nearly 15,000 Cubans housed temporarily at Fort McCoy, Wis. "The justification for many items and quantities procured for the Cuban refugee emergency was questionable," the auditors reported, with massive understatement.

GSA records show the following questionable purchases:

Baseball Hurt By Walkout

The current baseball walkout is the worst thing to happen to the sport since Shoeless Joe Jackson and the Black Sox scandal of the 1920s.

Baseball is more than just a business. It is a kind of religion, a mythic activity, and its stars are larger-than-life heroes.

Baseball has deep roots in the American psyche.

The players' union today is throwing all that away over some subtleties in the free agent regulations and, comparatively, for nickels and dimes.

I wonder if you have reflected at all on the experience of baseball.

Most of the major league stadiums are in the midst of major cities, surrounded by asphalt and concrete. But as you walk up the ramp or the stairs and emerge into the stands, the first impression you get is of a brilliant greenness, whether of natural grass or the newer artificial turf, for baseball is rural metaphor, a bit of green meadow imported into our urban reality, a part of America's past living on into the present.

Baseball's archaic character has been consciously preserved, even created.

The uniforms, with their garters and long underwear, remind us of the 1890s, and the Baltimore Orioles and the Pittsburgh Pirates have managed to come up with still older-looking outfits.

The players, many of them, wear handlebar mustaches, like something out of an old barber-shop photo. On the field, a lot of them chew tobacco — part of the act; most of them wouldn't chew off the field.

And their names! Baseball players' names come from the rural American world of Tom Sawyer: Catfish Hunter, Vida Blue, Dixie Walker, Pee Wee Reese.

In fact, 60 percent of all major leaguers have come from the rural South. That fact greatly heightened the social symbolism of Branch Rickey's integration of the Brooklyn Dodgers with Jackie Robinson. How would Dixie Walker treat Robinson? Would Enos Slaughter of the Cardinals spike him?

Baseball also moves at a leisurely rural pace, slow and pastoral, unlike the jazz rhythms of the urban basketball game. In the midst of our frenetic urban civilization, it is the only major sport that does not involve a clock. It spreads 20 minutes of significant action over a leisurely three hours. In some games, the outfielders could take siestas if they wanted to. And, of course, there is the ritual seventh inning stretch.

Baseball is also individualistic. The batter faces the pitcher alone. Roger Staubach could not have completed a pass without his team around him, but DiMaggio's famous streak was a uniquely individual accomplishment.

There is also a non-urban sense of space in baseball. In basketball and football, the players are close. They touch, hit, breathe on one another. But the baseball player has his own territory, in the outfield hundreds of feet of it. He is like an earlier American. He has neighbors, but they are "over there."

Baseball is a "cool" sport. It seems to reflect the spirit of the American Enlightenment, the cool rationality of the men who wrote the "balance" into the Constitution and took the passion out of politics with their exquisite constitutional mechanism.

The "diamond" is geometrical, has clean lines. It is exactly 360 feet around the bases to "home" plate.

A Law For Babies?

It is very popular these days to decry all the regulation of our personal lives by the federal government. However, there is a regulation imposed by the Seminole County government that treats grown people like babies and morons.

If you decide to buy your groceries in an all-night market at ten minutes before 7 a.m. and you want to include beer in your order, you are forced to stand there until the clock arrives at 7 a.m. before the beer can leave the store.

The implications of this regulations are: adults must be protected from themselves; beer is somehow a dangerous product; one shouldn't be out running around before 7 a.m.; and the county has to show them who is boss here.

The really stupid part of it is that a person can buy a case of beer at 1:59 a.m. and get drunk as a skunk all night, but you can't include beer in your regular grocery order at 6:59 a.m.

We urge our congressmen and senators to support, if they already haven't, Rep. Jim Collins (R-Texas) legislation, known as the taxpayers' Bill of Rights. The bill calls for printing a list of taxpayers rights on all IRS individual income tax forms. The information would include taxpayers' rights during an audit, ways to appeal an IRS decision, how to file a complaint, and procedures IRS uses to collect revenues.

The bill, which has 67 co-sponsors is designed to alleviate the "disadvantage taxpayers have with the IRS and the tax code", Collins said.

We also urge our senators and congressmen to oppose the alternative tax-cut bill that House Ways and Means Committee Chairman, Dan Rostenkowski says his panel will propose.

The Rostenkowski bill would not provide the certainty needed to increase savings and investments; would not put needed pressure on Congress to hold the line on federal spending; and would not offset the massive tax increases that will come as a result of inflation induced "bracket creep" and already enacted payroll tax hikes.

We strongly urge them to support the new proposal H.R. 3849 which will cut individual income tax rates by 25 percent over the next 33 months. H.R. 3849 also would make changes to increase savings and investment and eliminate the so-called marriage penalty.

We support President Reagan's entire Economic Recovery Program, including its new tax-reduction provisions.

DELAND—Altamonte Springs Legion Post 183 squandered some early scoring opportunities, but broke loose for nine late-inning runs to drop Brandon 10-6 and capture the prestigious DeLand Firecracker Tournament at Conrad Park.

"The smoke rolled in and when it went out, we were ahead," was how assistant coach Tom Robare explained the late-inning explosions.

Smoke or not, right-hander Gary Smith was sailing along with a one-hit shutout into the fourth inning when his game fell apart. After retiring the first two hitters and working the count to 1-2 on Paul Reed, Smith nailed the Brandon second baseman in the shoulder.

Reed took a couple of menacing steps toward the mound, since he was hit in the back by Smith by the same sidearm delivery his first at bat, before the umpire sentenced him to first base. Ironically, Reed Parker hit Reed in the fifth, but in a more "meaty" area.

Smith walked the next man and Todd Long rapped a single for a 1-0 lead. Catcher John Cedarburg chased home two more with a long shot into the left-center field alley. Joe Morales followed with a single for the inning's fourth run before Manager Bob McCullough summoned shortstop Bob Parker to get the final out.

Altamonte bounded back in the bottom of the fourth when Rob Reich tripled to deep left center. It was the first of three big hits for the Valencia C.C.-bound Lyman graduate. Smith brought home the run with a grounder to shortstop.

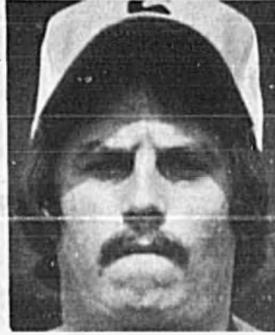

Brandon scored its last plunge in the fifth inning—touching Parker for two tallies on one hit—before the hard-throwing redhead settled down to retire 11 in a row and hold Brandon scoreless over the last four frames.

"I couldn't get my curve over for a strike," said the Seminole Community College infielder. "Later on I got ahead of them with the curve and then jammed them with the fastball."

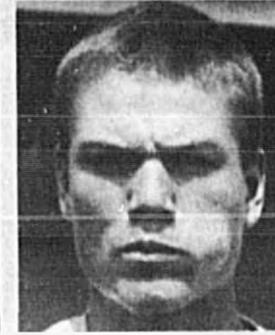

The smoke and the Altamonte fire came in a rush in the seventh inning. R. Reich bloomed a double to left and third baseballer Jerry Winterhalter did the same to right with Reich holding third.

Smith popped out too short to advance and Doug Chodini, who had two hits already, was purposely passed to face Lake Howell's Charlie Miller, who had led his team in hitting the past two years.

Miller, who took a day's respite at Rock Super Bowl XI Saturday, promptly tomahawked a Bob Rose pitch into deep right center, chasing home three runs and landing on third. It made the game 6-4.

"It was a curve ball and I was looking for it," said Charlie. "I knew I had to come through sometime. I'd been in a slump all year."

Jeff Kerr pinchhit for John Reich and popped up, but Parker kept the rally alive by drawing a walk. And when Parker zipped for second Miller raced home on the front end of a double steal for a 6-5 game.

Dave Martinez slapped a line at the pitcher, who batted it down and threw him out to end the threat. It was a continuation of a tough day for the talented left fielder who also whiffed four times.

While the smoke settled into Brandon's eyes in the eighth, Post 183 settled into the lead. Bryan Holzworth started the rally when his ground ball eluded Frank Ferguson at third. Reich followed with his third hit—a single.

Winterhalter dropped a perfect bunt and both runners advanced. Smith then rapped a two hopper at shortstop Joe Morales. Reich "shadowed" the ball just enough while going to third that Morales tipped it off his glove into left field. Both runners scored and Altamonte led for the first time 7-6.

Mike Andriano, who ran for Chodini in the seventh, walked and Miller "rucked" another single to right field for his fourth RBI as Smith scored.

Sensing the kill, McCullough had Kerr squeeze bunt and it worked to perfection as Andriano scored and nobody covered first base. Miller was then thrown out at the plate on Parker's ground ball, but Kerr eventually scored on a wild pitch for the final 10-6 count.

"It was just a matter of their pitching getting tired. We put pressure on a pretty young team," observed McCullough after the game.

Brandon had played sparkling, errorless defense until the smoke and Altamonte thundered in the seventh. "We are seasoned defensively. They didn't handle the pressure and we did."

Some of Altamonte's defensive seasoning paid off in all-tournament selections. Third baseman Winterhalter, who had an outstanding game in Saturday's 5-4 victory, was joined on the team by catcher Holzworth and Parker.

SCC right-hander Rick Marcello, who pitched two victories including Saturday's decision, was tabbed the Firecracker's Most Valuable Player.

Twenty-five games were played in the three-day tournament which DeLand Recreation Director Tom Spurling says is growing in prominence each year.

Marcello Magic

Altamonte reached the finals by virtue of a 5-4 win over Hialeah on Saturday night.

Despite pitching six innings in the tourney opener Wednesday against Jacksonville, Rick Marcello came back to go the distance in stopping Hialeah.

Marcello held the Miamians hitless until he was reached for a pair of singles and a walk which resulted in Hialeah's first run tying the game at 1-1 in the fourth inning.

Altamonte answered with a trio of runs in the fifth putting itself in the driver's seat.

First baseman John Reich started the rally with a base on balls and moved to second on a single by Parker. After a Dave Martinez bunt pushed the two into scoring position, Holzworth, who drove in the first Altamonte run with a third-inning single, dropped a 1-2 pitch into left field scoring Reich and Parker. Holzworth came around to score giving Post 183 a 4-1 lead which it never relinquished.

Three singles and a Mike Andriano throwing error from right field resulted in two Hialeah runs in the bottom half of the fifth.

Winterhalter, however, added an insurance run in the seventh when he executed a perfect suicide squeeze to score Parker from third.

That run proved to be the difference when Hialeah left fielder Henry Caballero drilled an RBI, two-out single to right closing the Altamonte lead to one Marcello, however, fanned third baseman Rolando Pino on a 3-2 knuckleball to strand Caballero on second ending the game.

Parker and Holzworth had two hits apiece for four of Altamonte's six safeties. Parker scored three times while Holzworth drove in three runs.

Hialeah starter Al Barranco, who was knocked out in Altamonte's three-run fifth, picked up the loss.

Poppa Jay's Improves To Third?; Automotive Wins

It's not often you can go from second to third and consider it an improvement, but Poppa Jay's did just that over the weekend.

Poppa Jay's, the second place team in the Sanford Little National League, duped Seminole Petroleum, the second place team in the Sanford Little American League, 15-5, to take overall third place in the Sanford Youth Baseball Association's little major league program.

In other Fourth of July action, the Automotive Division nipped the Business Division 11-9 in the Sanford Pee Wee League all-star game.

Poppa Jay's outscored Seminole Petroleum 10-0 over the final three innings Saturday night to break open a 5-5 game and win easily.

Willie McCloud, pitching the final four innings in relief of starter Stewart

Gordon, was the winning pitcher, improving his record this season to 5-2.

Gordon led Poppa Jay's in hitting with a home run, double and single and drove in four runs. Teammate Ronald Blake added a pair of singles and drove in two runs, while McCloud smashed a solo home run.

Poppa Jay's picked up an unearned run in the top of the first, but Seminole Petroleum charged back with three runs in the bottom of the first. Lewis Wade opened the inning with a single, Mat Hines walked and both advanced on a wild pitch. Both runners scored when Tommy Mitchell was safe on an error and Mitchell later scored on a passed ball before Gordon fanned three batters in a row to end the inning.

Poppa Jay's regained the lead with three runs in the top of the second. Kevin Campbell opened with a single and McCloud walked before Lawrence Ayers drove them both home with a double. Ayers went to third on a passed ball and scored on a ground out.

Seminole Petroleum did not score in the bottom of the second, despite a lead-off double by Scooter Leonard, who was later nailed at the plate while trying to score on a wild pitch.

Gordon led off the third with a single for Poppa Jay's, went to second on an error and scored on a one-out single by Joey Sheehan.

Seminole Petroleum tied the score at 5-5 in the bottom of the third on the strength of a two-out, two-run homer by Patrick Williams.

Poppa Jay's took the lead for keeps with four runs in the top of the fourth. Dexter Debose was safe on an infield hit with one out and Jeff Blake singled up the middle. Ronald Blake scored them both with a single and Gordon blasted a two-run homer.

McCloud opened the fifth inning with his home run. A double by Gordon later in the inning drove in two more runs. Poppa Jay's added three runs without a hit in the top of the sixth.

McCloud fanned nine in four innings, while Gordon struck out five in his two innings on the mound.

The Automotive Division scored seven runs on just one hit in the bottom of the first inning and it proved to be too much for the Business Division to overcome in the Pee Wee League all-star game.

The Automotive Division consisted of players from league champ Clem Leonard Shell, Butch's Chevron Service and Ken Kern's Garage. The Business Division team consisted of players from Seminole Sporting Goods, Adcock

Roofing and Rinker Materials.

The Business Division had scored two runs in the top of the first and added two-run spots in the second and third to cut the deficit to just one run.

The Automotive Division scored two runs in the bottom of the third, but the Business Division scored two runs of its own in the top of the fourth to make the margin again just one run.

The Automotive Division scored single runs in the fourth and fifth frames before the Business Division scored its final run in the top of the sixth. They had the tying runs on base, but the final two batters went down swinging.

Denver Johnson had the only hit for the winners, a first inning single. League batting champ John Bryant of Adcock Roofing had a triple and single for the Business Division, while Eric Small added two singles.

Michael Merthie, who had the league's best pitching record this season while hurling for Clem Leonard Shell, was the winning pitcher, while Anton Reid, who led the league in victories while pitching for Adcock Roofing, was the loser.

WINNERS

Clarence Cain (above) ripped a home run and two singles to back Randy Merthie's two-hitter as the Sanford All-Stars whipped Inverness 5-1 Sunday at Memorial Stadium. Merthie struck out eight and walked just one. Wayne Walker ripped a triple and scored a run, while Leon Ellisy singled home a run to support Merthie's fine effort.

McEnroe Controls Temper, Borg For Wimbledon Title

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Volatile New Yorker John McEnroe, whose explosive tongue took him within an ace of being thrown out of the tournament, let his tennis do the talking and celebrated American Independence Day by liberating the Wimbledon men's singles crown from Bjorn Borg's five-year stranglehold.

The U.S. Open champion did it in style Saturday, outgunning the ice-cool Swede, 4-6, 7-6 (7-1), 7-6 (7-4), 6-4, in a reversal of last year's final, to end Borg's record run of 41 Wimbledon victims and foil his bid to match Willie Renshaw's 95-year record of six consecutive titles.

But while McEnroe's eloquent strokes took him to the title, the 22-year-old southpaw flew home on Sunday facing the prospect of losing nearly a third of his $52,200 Wimbledon winnings on fines, and with the threat of a 21-day suspension from the Men's International Professional Tennis Council hanging over him.

Within one hour of his Wimbledon triumph, McEnroe was told by the championship committee it had made a recommendation calling on the MIPTC to fine the champion a maximum $10,000 for "bringing the game into disrepute" for his angry outbursts during Thursday's semifinal against Australian Rod Frawley.

The Wimbledon code of conduct report said that after previous warnings,

McEnroe had been guilty of "consistent querying of line decisions, bad language and verbal abuse of the referee, umpire and linesmen."

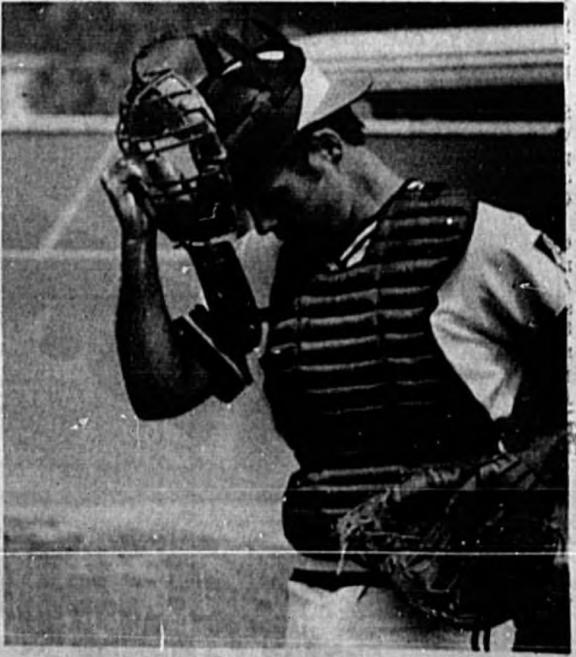

This was in addition to the committee's own fine of $2,250 for previous offenses during the 12-day tournament and an earlier recommendation to the MIPTC to levy a $2,500 fine for "aggravated behavior."

McEnroe, who won $43,200 for his singles victory and a half share of $18,000 for teaming with Peter Fleming in the men's doubles championship, intends to appeal against the recommendations, which will be decided on during the MIPTC's next meeting in New York in September during the U.S. Open Championships.

If the proposed fines are upheld by the Council, McEnroe will have lost a total of $14,750 from his Wimbledon jackpot and will be automatically suspended from major tournaments for three weeks.

Despite his previous temper tantrums, which has earned him the nickname "Mac the Mouth," McEnroe was on his best behavior throughout Saturday's pulsating three hour 26 minute final, where some of the 14,000 capacity Center Court crowd had paid $1,200 to ticket scalpers for $22 seats.

The key to Borg's first Wimbledon defeat since his quarterfinal loss to American Arthur Ashe in 1975 was McEnroe's superior service.

LOSERS

The frustration of losing three games within 24 hours can be seen in Orlando Twins' catcher George Skeens. The O-Twins brought their power show to Sanford Saturday morning, but dropped an 8-2 decision to Knoxville before 350 fans. Friday they lost a double-header to Nashville. Tim Laudner's 24th homer salvaged a split Sunday.

Cale(culating) Yarborough Passes Gant On Final Lap For Firecracker 400 Victory

By CARL VANZURA
Herald Motor Sports Writer
Cale Yarborough put his Valvoline Buick into victory lane Saturday by overtaking Harry Gant on the last lap to win the Firecracker 400 at the Daytona International Speedway.

Yarborough led the early part of the race as he flexed his muscles to put a quarter of a lap on the field. A number of caution flags kept the field bunched up, making a dash to the finish line a common occurrence.
On lap 17, a six-car wreck brought out the caution flag for 12 laps as Ricky Rudd, Benny Parsons, Billy Harvey, Dale Earnhardt, Bill Elliott and Darrell Waltrip crashed while coming out of the fourth turn.

"We were coming through the pack and I had just passed Johnny Rutherford when somebody tapped me in the bumper," said Rudd about the mishap. "I don't know who it was, but it turned me straight into the wall head-on. I'm all right, but it sure tore up the car."
Benny Parsons, shaking his head from side to side, said, "I don't know what I have to do. My luck is just terrible right now. I don't know what happened but I wound up right in the middle of it. There was a place to go when the cars started spinning but there were about three cars that headed for a one-car spot."

Cale started on the pole with a qualifying speed of 192.852 and clearly had the fastest car all day. Harry Gant seemed to be as strong as Cale as he was, it seemed, destined to break a bridesmaid habit which has had him come in second five times this year. Gant has never won a NASCAR Grand National race in his career.

With just 30 laps to go Gant took the lead with Yarborough, Richard Petty, Buddy Baker and Kyle Petty right on his tail. In a 200-mile-per-hour battle around the two-and-one-half mile oval, Gant was able to hold off the pack, but Cale got by on the third turn of the last lap.
"Cale had the superior car all day. I just wish I had been able to be running second on the last lap. I was trying to back off so he would go by, but then he wouldn't go by and I got to thinking that Petty might tag along, too," pointed out Gant.
"Going into the third turn he went under me and I wasn't able to get back around him. Before he got around me I had tried to zig-zag across the race track to keep him from getting around me, but obviously it didn't work."
"I thought he would pass sooner, so I hoped he would pass sooner, so I would have the same shot at him that he was able to do to me," concluded Gant.
Richard Petty finished third but seemed more happy about his son Kyle finishing sixth. "I don't reckon we're gonna be able to give Kyle any more 'go' for his car. He's liable to outrun the old man if he gets any power," he joked.
The points race got closer as Darrell Waltrip moved within 206 points of Bobby Allison and Harry Gant is now only 291 points away. Point leader Allison went out early with a blown engine.

Fiori Claims Western Open

OAK BROOK, Ill. (UPI) — Ed Fiori looks more like the type of Sunday afternoon television viewer who sits and watches the tall and lean touring professional golfers stalk the big prize money each week.
But on a warm, sultry day at the Butler National Course, it was the stocky Fiori that came up a "big" winner at the 78th Western Open.
The 5-foot-7 Fiori, who admits to being 20 pounds heavier than his listed 173 pounds, outlasted some of golf's more familiar names by carding a final round 87 for a Butler tournament record 11-under-par 277.

The victory — his second in four years on the tour — earned the California native $54,000 and a berth in the World Series of Golf.
"I'm really 195, it's the beer that puts it on," said Fiori, who defeated second place Jim Colbert, Greg Powers and Jim Simons by four.

Thighs Aside, Stephenson Wins Classic

POINTES-DES-CASPADES, Que. (UPI) — It was not easy but after it was over, Jan Stephenson said her dramatic one-shot victory in the $200,000 Peter Jackson Classic was the most satisfying of her career.
"It was the greatest feeling I've ever had," said the glamorous Australian, who earned $30,000 for the victory. "To win a major championship with my father caddyng and my mother watching is kind of a dream come true."

Stephenson had to sink a 10-foot birdie putt Sunday on the final hole to capture the tournament, averting a playoff with runners-up Nancy Lopez-Melton and defending champion Pat Bradley.
"I can't believe that last putt went in," said the 29-year-old Stephenson. "I've missed four-fores on under pressure in the past, so this gives me confidence for the future."

Wendy M. Hirt Bride Of Charles D. Cook

Wendy Marlene Hirt and Charles Daniel Cook were married June 13, at 7 p.m., at the First Baptist Church, Sanford. The Rev. Paul E. Murphy Jr. performed the candlelight and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hirt, 819 Catalina Drive, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook, 2408 DeCottles Ave., Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows, a white organza gown fashioned along the slim silhouette with a Queen Anne neckline and full Bishop sleeves. The bodice and sleeves were lavishly embellished with silk Venise lace. The same lace was repeated on the controlled skirt that terminated in a lace-trimmed chapel train.

A lace and seed pearl headpiece held her veil of lace-trimmed illusion which was made by a family friend. The bride carried a silk arrangement of sonia roses, white daisies and baby's breath centered on the Bible carried by her mother at her wedding.

Beth Hirt, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore an apricot colored raw silk gown designed with a scooped neckline, capped sleeves and a flared skirt. She carried a nosegay of silk sonia roses, white daisies and baby's breath with sonia and white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Lori Hirt and Lisa Hirt, sisters of the bride, and Janet Thomas, friend of the bride. Their attire was identical to the honor attendant's.

David Cook served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Rick Austin and John Parker, friends of the bridegroom, and Matt Wilson, cousin of the bridegroom.

Kristi Thacker was the flower girl. Following a reception in the church fellowship hall, the newlyweds departed for a beach wedding trip.

They are making their home in Deltona. The bride is employed in the law office of Robert M. Morris. The bridegroom worked for ACME Conveyor Company.

MRS. CHARLES DANIEL COOK

Natural Parents Vs. Nurturing Parents

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for printing the letter signed MOTHER OF TWO PLUS ONE, suggesting that the adoptive mother keep her child's birth mother informed about the child's progress once a year through a letter. What a marvelous idea!

I am a mother of four plus one, and after I gave up my firstborn on Christmas Day, 1956, it was as though he had died! I have no idea where he is, or even if he is still living.

Of course I would never look for him because I don't want to intrude on his life, but I pray that one day he will find me.

LOVES ALL MY CHILDREN DEAR MOTHER: My mail has been running to I against the annual progress report suggested by...mother of two plus one. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: MOTHER OF TWO PLUS ONE, who had given up her child for adoption 10 years ago, suggested that all adoptive mothers send the birth mother an annual progress report, disclosing the interest, growth and development of the child — including pictures so the child's "real" mother will know what "her" child looks like and how he's developing. My husband and I adopted four children when they were less than 1 week old. The mothers in all cases knew what their rights were when they signed the adoption papers.

UCF Women Invited To Sorority Rush

Women attending the University of Central Florida who are interested are reminded that sorority rush will begin Aug. 27 for one week.

Students can sign up for Rush Week either this summer, during orientation Aug. 17-19, or during the first week of classes beginning Aug. 24.

There are six national sororities at UCF: Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta, Pi Beta Phi, and Zeta Tau Alpha.

Additional information is available by calling Anne Broughton, (306) 273-2206.

Dear Abby

No way will we write an annual progress report to keep their "real" mothers informed. We are their real parents, and they are our children.

Conceiving a child takes only a few minutes. Carrying it for nine months is the easiest part of motherhood, but raising it requires time, patience, money, sacrifices, tears and love. And that responsibility lasts a lifetime.

NO PROGRESS REPORT DEAR NO REPORTS: New lets hear from an adopted child: DEAR ABBY: I agree completely with MOTHER OF TWO PLUS ONE. I'm sure the parents who gave up their child for adoption wonder what happened to that child. I'm also sure that children who have been adopted wonder about their natural parents.

I am 13 and adopted. I love my mother who adopted me, but on Mother's Day I wonder if my natural mother has anyone giving her a card or flowers, or perhaps a present. I also wonder if I have any brothers or sisters, and if I have, where they are and what they look like.

I wonder why my parents gave me up. Someday I would like to meet them. But in the meantime, I would like to know something about them.

I'm sure many children and adults who have been adopted wonder as I do. Sign me...

ADOPTED AND CURIOUS IN N.J.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman who gave up her child for adoption and wants an annual progress report concerning the child's interests, growth and development really got to me.

As parents of several adopted children, were we to write such a letter, could we feel free to ask the birth mother for:

1. Financial assistance when the going gets rough. It's very expensive to raise children these days.

2. Advice, counsel and emotional support when it's needed.

3. Occasional help with the other children when we must maintain a two-week vigil at the hospital with a very sick child who may not make it. I could go on and on, but suffice it to say that we adoptive parents don't expect any of the above.

We adopted these children, and they adopted us. We are a family, and we do not intend to make out any annual progress reports as a constant reminder that we adopted our children. We've had enough scrutiny and filled out enough forms to last us a lifetime.

THE "REAL" PARENTS CONFIDENTIAL TO GAYLE P.: Please send me your address. I want to return Lisa's Mother's Day card you shared with me. It's a treasure I know you want to keep.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA PROBATE DIVISION

File Number 81-235-CP
Division
IN RE: ESTATE OF David M. Wallace Deceased

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION
TO ALL PERSONS HAVING CLAIMS OR DEMANDS AGAINST THE ABOVE ESTATE AND ALL OTHER PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE ESTATE:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that the administration of the estate of David M. Wallace, deceased, File Number 81-235-CP, is pending in the Circuit Court for Seminole County, Florida, Probate Division, at the address of which is Seminole County Courthouse, Sanford, Florida 32771.

THE PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE OF THE ESTATE IS JESSIE WALLACE, whose address is P.O. Box 860, Winter Park, FL 32789. The name and address of the personal representative's attorney are set forth below:

All persons having claims or demands against the estate are required, WITHIN THREE MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THIS NOTICE, to file with the clerk of the above court a written statement of any claim or demand they may have. Each claim must be verified and must indicate the basis for the claim, the name and address of the creditor or his agent or attorney, and the amount claimed. If the claim is not yet due, the date when it will become due shall be stated. If the claim is contingent or unliquidated, the nature of the uncertainty shall be stated. If the claim is secured, the security shall be described. The claimant shall deliver or sufficient copies of the claim to the clerk to enable the clerk to mail a copy to each personal representative.

All persons interested in the estate to whom a copy of this Notice of Administration has been mailed are required, WITHIN THREE MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS NOTICE, to file any objections they may have that challenge the validity of the decedent's will, the qualifications of the personal representative, or the venue or jurisdiction of the court.

All claims, demands, and objections not so filed will be forever barred.

Date of the first publication of the Notice of Administration, July 6, 1981.

Jessie Wallace
As personal representative of the Estate of David M. Wallace Deceased

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Good Iron Source: Old-Time Cookware

DEAR DR. LAMB — Evidently I am low on iron. I would like to build up my iron the natural way, using foods that contain iron rather than taking pills. Could you send me a list of foods that contain iron? Also just why is a person tired when he is low on iron? I know it causes an anemia but is there any other reason? Why do women need more iron than men? Will I always need to watch my iron or will I get over this tendency?

DEAR READER — I'm not sure how you know you are low in iron. If you are suffering from fatigue, that can be caused from many other factors other than anemia. And many people are low in iron but do not have noticeable fatigue. Women in the childbearing years usually need more iron, presumably because they have an increased blood loss. The red blood cells are one of the chief stores of body iron. You can see how good your body is as a recycling machine when you realize that all of your red blood cells are replaced every 120 days. As the old cells break down the iron is recycled to make new red cells.

Iron is essential to forming hemoglobin, the pigment that makes red blood cells red. You need protein to make hemoglobin, too, and some people have low hemoglobin levels because they are protein deficient rather than iron deficient. Iron is also part of cytochrome compounds in your cells used to break down food to carbon dioxide and water and to release energy. So if you are low on energy from an iron deficiency, it may not be just the anemia. It is hard for a woman in the childbearing years to get enough iron from food. I am sending you The Health Letter number 44, Low Iron and Anemia, which includes a list of the amount of iron in common foods and discusses iron balance. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1581, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. One of the good food sources of iron was iron cookware: the iron got in the food during cooking. Today with no-stick lined utensils and other cookware this source of iron in our diet has been lost or greatly decreased. Iron is also essential to your bone marrow's ability to make new blood cells. It even aids in the absorption of vitamin B-12.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am desperate. My doctor has given me everything he can think of for restless legs and so far no relief. I am about to climb the walls. My legs feel like something crawling inside, mostly under my knees. The only thing that helps is to walk. I walk half the night and the next day I'm dead. Please help if you can.

DEAR READER — Restless legs is one of those mystery conditions that is hard to help. We don't know what causes it, but it is as you describe it. There have been some studies that show the condition is made worse with caffeine obtained in drinking caffeinated beverages. So try it and see. Stop all coffee, tea, colas and chocolate. If that doesn't work, your doctor might want to try Benadryl if he hasn't already. If you smoke, stop. The condition is harmless other than causing fatigue and loss of sleep.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE USOL

For Tuesday, July 7, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY

July 7, 1981

Major changes in your basic lifestyle are likely this coming year. Even those you don't inaugurate yourself will turn out to be favorable in the long run.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Worrying too much about things which may never happen will impede your progress today. Instead of asserting yourself, you might withdraw into a shell. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Normally you have a pretty good sense of humor and are able to laugh things off easily. However, today you might take yourself a shade too seriously.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Matters relating to your finances and resources could be more complicated than usual today. Take nothing for granted in areas which could cost you money.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Unfortunately, not everyone you encounter today will be in accord with your ways of doing things. To avoid trouble, strive to understand their views.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't commit yourself to things today where too much control is taken away from you and placed in the hands of others. They may lack your capabilities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Friends will be helpful to you today, but only if they feel you, in turn, are looking out for their interests. You must give in order to get.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Goals can be achieved today, provided you persevere and are prepared to make sacrifices. Lady Luck won't do the job unaided.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Uncharacteristically, today you could be a trifle jealous of pals. Instead of applauding their efforts, you might put them down.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you will persevere today, things will ultimately work out to your benefit. Don't throw in the towel when the going gets a bit rough.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Major decisions should not be hastily made today. You could overlook important aspects which might cause serious future problems.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Keep pace at this time with your responsibilities and duties. If you permit things to pile up, they could cause woes in days ahead.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Others will appreciate you more today if you don't try to impose your views, or tell them what to do or how to do it. Be diplomatic, not dictatorial.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Table with columns for NORTH, WEST, SOUTH, EAST and hand details including cards and vulnerable status.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Oswald: "When I opened two no trump in match point games and my wife was my partner her reply if asked, 'How many points?' was '21-22, but he doesn't always have it.'" Alan: "I guess every duplicate player tends to cheat with his two no trump opening North and South were playing 21 or 22, but South cheated one point and his partner with 12 HCP of his own wasted no time with Stayman and just went right to six no trump."

Oswald: "South called for dummy's jack of diamonds. East played the queen and South took his king. He wasn't very happy with the dummy. In order to come to 12 tricks he needed to collect three spades and four clubs. Instead of moaning and groaning he decided to make the best of what he had and led his 10 of spades at trick two. West followed with the six and South let the 10 ride. There is always a good chance that a player with the king will put it up. There is less chance that a player with the jack will cover."

Alan: "East took his jack and led a diamond. South went up with the ace, cashed the ace of hearts, led a heart to dummy and tried the finesse for the spade king. If lost he would be down several tricks, but he doesn't care. The finesse worked and since spades and clubs both broke 3-2 South scored his slam and a lot of match points."
