Training School For Migrants

By FRED VAN PELT

Prime purpose of the proposed training center at Sanford Airport will be "to retrain migrant farm workers for other jobs," Associated Press reported today out of Washington, D.C.

AP reported that a Labor Department spokesman said a study is being conducted jointly with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

It grew out of an agreement, AP said further, between Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida to seek ways to move migrant workers from Florida to fill job openings in New York.

The AVCO Corporation and General Electric Company have submitted proposals to the government to establish the proposed training center at Sanford, the Labor Department spokesman was quoted.

Original cost estimate for the proposed center was $8 million but subsequent proposals have called for considerably less expenditure, AP concluded.

Mayor Lee Moore and Don Rathel, director of Sanford Industrial Commission, said the cost of such a school now is estimated at between $2.5 and $3 million.

Rathel was quoted several weeks ago that basic reading and writing courses would be given to trainees before any training in skilled operations to permit them to communicate properly with future prospective employers.

It also has been reported that 2,000 migrants from 20 Central Florida counties would be enrolled in the job training school initially. Presently the Labor Department and HEW review committee is studying the cost ratio per trainee before approving any federal grant.

Legislators Lambasted By City Aide

Fire was again directed at the Orange-Seminole delegation for its treatment of bills concerning the city of Sanford. Commissioner Earl Higginbotham took special aim at the controversial "Raborn Bill" which allows city residents to elect a mayor. Higginbotham asked to see a copy of the bill but city attorney William Hutchison replied that he would not have a final copy of the bill until it comes law.

Higginbotham then lashed out at Rep. E. Pope Bassett, asking if the city might be able to obtain a bill from "His Royal Highness" referring to Bassett, who is secretary of the Orange-Seminole delegation.

Higginbotham went on to state that the bill could throw the city into a complete state of confusion when the next election, slated for December of this year, dawned. Higginbotham had Hutchison read parts of the proposed bill, which the attorney pointed out supersedes the present Sanford charter. Following the reading of the bill, Higginbotham declared that the bill was the "most confusing thing I've ever heard," and continued "from the way it reads all of the commissioners could resign and run for mayor this December. That means that we could have no one running for a commission seat and we could possibly wind up with five mayors," Higginbotham concluded.

Commissioners continued their scanning of other bills passed after Higginbotham's blast.

Youth Groups Plead

Pools To Open?

By TOM ALEXANDER

The Sanford downtown beautification program may have run into another snag last night as proponents of opening the city's two pools for summer use were on hand at the city commission meeting. One of the groups, represented by 12-year-old Paul Grishaber, presented a petition listing 154 names asking the commission to take action that would open both city pools for the remainder of the summer. A Goldsboro group, known as the "Strip Blazers," objected to the proceedings and one of its members proceeded to hand over the Goldsboro pool facility to their organization for a $1 fee per year. Before the person could continue, she was interrupted by another member of the group who stated that the organization was on hand just to witness the commission's pool proposals.

A downtown merchant expressed his concern over the pools not being opened and suggested that the commission reverse its decision of two weeks ago and "give the money" proposed for the Sanford downtown beautification program to funding the pools. Harry Skop, owner and operator of the "Piggy Bank" summed up his remarks by saying, "It's time we give the kids a break, many of them can't afford to go to the beach. We can forget about putting 154 names asking the commission to take action that would open both city pools for the remainder of the summer. A Goldsboro group, known as the "Strip Blazers," objected to the proceedings and one of its members proceeded to hand over the Goldsboro pool facility to their organization for a $1 fee per year. Before the person could continue, she was interrupted by another member of the group who stated that the organization was on hand just to witness the commission's pool proposals. Crapps would not make a motion to this effect as commissioners Dr. Vincent Roberts and Al Wilson were absent from the meeting and concluded by saying that he would want the entire commission on hand before any decision was made on the pool situation.

Integration Suit Filed

"What they want us to do is close Crooms and Midway schools. I don't see how we can do this, particularly in light of the fact that we may not be able to complete the Seminole High additions this year since we cannot sell our bond issue." School Board member Jean Bryant told The Herald today.

Mrs. Bryant included the remark in a comment on the controversy suit with which she and fellow member, Ray Slayton, were served late yesterday afternoon.

Court Finds For City In Trespassing Suit

The City of Sanford has prevailed in a suit filed against them in September of 1967 by the Lefler Company of Sanford, charging trespassing, according to City Attorney William Hutchison.

The suit alleged "The City of Sanford has laid water mains up to the eastern border of our property, has trespassed on our property. . . . We forthwith demand that you immediately evacuate your equipment, agents and crews from our property and cease and desist your trespass."

The property in question runs parallel to Celery Avenue and, at the time, the suit was filed the City of Sanford was in the process of building a water line to the Central Florida Experiment Station.

Hutchison told The Herald that he had received a letter from Circuit Court Judge William Akridge, of Cocoa, stating that the City of Sanford should prevail in the judgment against Lefler. Hutchison stated that he would proceed in drawing up the judgment.

If the City of Sanford had lost the suit, it would have been forced to remove the water lines to the opposite side of the highway.

At the time the suit was filed the Lefler firm had objected that the city was taking private property without compensation. It also charged that the city was refusing to sell water on equal terms to owners west of the experiment station. The Lefler company said it would be "willing to give the city rights-of-way for its mains. In return, it asked that all owners along the route be sold water on the same terms, conditions and rates."

Hutchison said that the city had applied to the State Road Department for the right-of-way before construction started and its request was granted but Lefler did not agree that the State Road Department had the right-of-way and suit followed. It would have cost the city some $4,000 to $10,000 to move the line if the ruling was reversed.

"The defendants discussed the probability that this action would delay and postpone desegregation and consulted with the school board attorney whether a provoked desegregation law suit in the U. S. District Court would enable them to retain federal funds which were imperiled by their actions," the complaint states.

Temporary City Hall Available When, If . . .

City of Sanford has available a suitable building which can be utilized as a temporary municipal administrative building when and if the City Commission ever decides to construct a new city hall.

This thought was brought out at last night's City Commission meeting when Mayor Lee P. Moore broached a question about temporary quarters. City Manager W. E. Knowles explained that a comparatively new three-story, concrete barracks at Sanford Airport could be adapted as a "temporary city hall." It was constructed three or four years ago for Navy enlisted men's quarters.

The subject of a new city hall to house municipal administrative offices has been touched on lightly by the City Commission a number of times in the past.

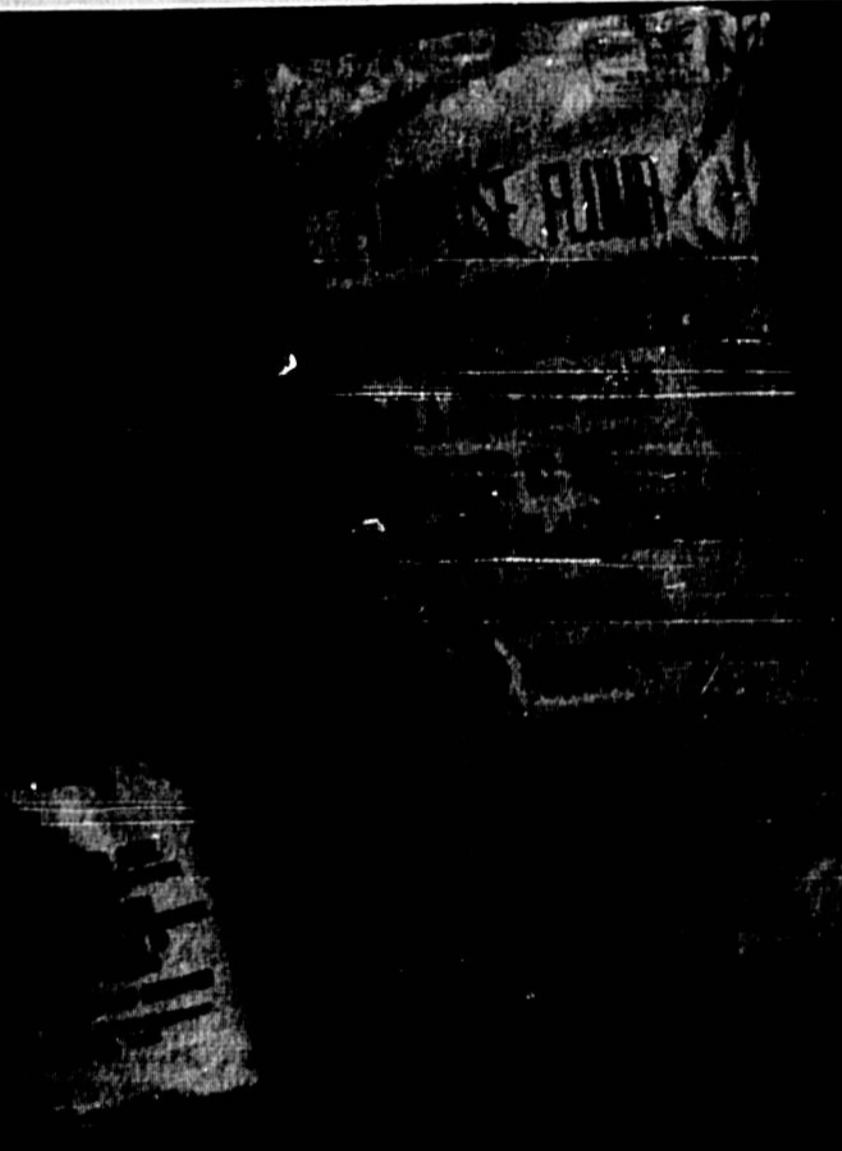

Knowles said that last year, in preparing the budget for the city's operations, he included an item of $20,000 to finance a feasibility study for a new city hall but that it was struck by the Commission members before the final budget draft was approved. He added that he is contemplating including another such item in the budget being prepared now for the 1969-70 fiscal year.

COMPLAINTS came into The Herald office today of quantities of food, such as shown in the above photo, being dumped at the county sanitary landfills by Seminole County school system. On checking the complaint out with Mrs. Charlotte Whitmore, director of foods for the school system, she explained to The Herald the grain products shown in the photo had been condemned by the Sanford county-state Health Department office because germination had begun in the products. Under rules laid down by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Florida Department of Agriculture, the products were disposed of. "No good foods are discarded," she declared. (Staff Photo)

Sappers Use Flame Throwers, Dynamite Reds Hit 3 Bases, Kill 14 GIs

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces attacked three U.S. bases in the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang during the night, killing 14 Americans, wounding 56 and destroying or damaging some artillery guns, the U.S. Command reported today. The Americans said 76 North Vietnamese were killed. In the heaviest attack, North Vietnamese sappers armed with flame throwers and dynamite bomb blasted their way into an American artillery base in hills 30 miles south of Da Nang. Eleven Americans were killed and 32 wounded in hand-to-hand fighting. About 150 troops of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade were camped for the night when the sappers attacked shortly after 2 a.m. The enemy troops broke through the barbed wire perimeter under cover of a 70-round mortar barrage that pinned the Americans down. The fighting was so close, spokesmen said, that the Americans were unable to call in bombers and artillery to help drive the North Vietnamese soldiers back. "They could have gone around it," he said. "They just wanted to kill some people. The more Americans they kill, the greater the political pressure."

U. S. Awaits Reply On President's Bid

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are watching for a Hanoi response, either through diplomatic channels or on the battlefield, to President Nixon's bid for a North Vietnamese pull-back to match the American troop withdrawal from South Vietnam. So far the enemy's answer seems negative—both in propaganda blasts at Nixon's 25,000-man withdrawal announcement and in a flare-up in combat of fumes after a brief lull. But U.S. sources suggested it would take time for Hanoi leaders to make a full evaluation of Sunday's Midway Island meeting between Nixon and South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu, at which the U.S. pull-out was announced. And it would also probably take weeks for U.S. intelligence to confirm an unannounced North Vietnamese troop withdrawal if such were to take place, informants said. North Vietnamese troop strength in the South has been estimated at about 100,000 in recent months. Nixon made his appeal Tuesday in a report to the nation on the Midway summit as he returned to a White House later greeted by bipartisan congressional leaders, cabinet members and diplomats. "We have opened wide the door to peace" with the troop withdrawal announcement and his earlier point peace offer, Nixon said in his brief televised remarks. "And now we invite the leaders of North Vietnam to walk with us through that door by withdrawing their forces, from South Vietnam as we have withdrawn ours, or by negotiating in Paris, or through both avenues," he said. "We believe this is the time for them to act. We have acted and acted in good faith."

THIRTY-ONE years of teaching in Seminole County, at Geneva and Jackson Heights Schools, was brought to a close by Mrs. Ida M. Anderson last night when she retired and was honored in a program at the latter school. She holds a bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Bethune-Cookman College and a master's degree in elementary school administration from Florida A. & M. University.

AF Scrubs Space Lab

By FRED S. HOFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Cancellation of the Air Force's $3 billion manned orbiting laboratory program leaves the nation's man-in-space field open for the civilian space agency's sole development. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration for some time has been pushing its own plan for an "orbiting workshop" where scientists would conduct experiments in astronomy, medicine and other fields. NASA sources acknowledge there has been some conflict because both the Air Force's MOL and the civilian orbiting workshop would be embryonic space stations, and an increasingly economy-minded Congress might balk at a seeming duplication. The Pentagon action Tuesday in scrubbing the military program to save money has resolved the issue of overlap. But whatever else the planned civilian space station can do, it will not be able to spy on the Soviet Union and Red China, as the military MOL, reportedly would have done. The NASA project contemplates three men staying for up to 36 days in an orbital workshop which would have the internal space equivalent to a five-room house. A NASA spokesman said the agency has the funds and approval to work toward a launching in late 1971 or early 1972. Five launches are planned. The workshop would stay in orbit and relief crews would be shuttled to it at intervals. "Like the MOL, the civilian space workshop would have a 'breathing atmosphere' and would be pressurized to permit working in a shirt-sleeve environment," he said. The workshop would be built at $1.2 billion. "Tyrrell's firm was hired in 1963 and for 2 1/2 years made studies of four major contractors on the project. Another congressional committee six weeks ago heard testimony that Tyrrell's company had been broken by slow payments from the Air Force, allegedly because the firm was unable to pay its own contractors. The estimate of the huge Minuteman II cost overrun comes at a time when many congressmen are fuming over an estimated $2 billion boost over original estimates for the C-5A super transport. Another witness before the joint subcommittee on military spending charged that the Pentagon and defense contractors "play games" to underestimate purposes of the cost of proposed weapons systems. Gordon W. Hale, director of procurement control and clearance in the Navy material division, said this "disingenuous" process is used to lure Congress into long-term procurement of weapons whose true costs will be disclosed only in later years. Hale said "we must stop playing games."

Pentagon's Estimates Refuted By Technician

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Air Force management consultant has told Congress that costs for the nation's primary offensive missiles will run about $2 billion over original estimates. C. Merion Tyrrell, vice president of Performance Technology Corp., told a joint House-Senate economic subcommittee Tuesday that in 1962 the Air Force had calculated the cost of 200 Minuteman II missiles at $2,326 million, but that the cost would be about $7 billion in 1967. An Air Force spokesman later disputed Tyrrell's figures, but acknowledged a cost overrun of about $2 billion would be likely. The spokesman said the Pentagon and defense contractors "play games" to underestimate purposes of the cost of proposed weapons systems. Gordon W. Hale, director of procurement control and clearance in the Navy material division, said this "disingenuous" process is used to lure Congress into long-term procurement of weapons whose true costs will be disclosed only in later years. Ivey Shoes Closing Its Doors

By CHARNER LEONE
After almost 32 years of service to Sanford, Ivey's Shoe Store soon will go out of business. John Ivey, owner, will close the doors of Ivey's for the last time. His health will not permit him to continue operation of his shoe store at 200 East First Street. Ivey, who served as city commissioner in the 50s, was looked upon at the time as the "Senior Statesman" in city and local affairs. Ivey and his wife, Keen, are members of First Presbyterian Church. They live at 148 North Elliot Avenue. They are parents of a daughter, Mrs. R. D. Lindsey of Jacksonville, and a son, Jack, who is a sophomore in dental school at the University of Louisville. An ardent golfer, Ivey was once president of the Men's Golf Association. He also has served as president of the Seminole County Club and the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. He served as director and was a member of the finance committee of the Chamber of Commerce for several years. The Lions Club activities has also occupied many years of John Ivey's life. He was a member of the Naval Affairs Committee and of the Navy League. In 1960 Gov. Leroy Collins appointed Ivey as commissioner of the Seminole County Housing Authority. He was reappointed by Gov. Farris Bryant and served in that capacity until recently.

What Happened HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

There was a mighty confused rooster here recently. Hopkinsville Community College student John Wright used his aunt's pet rooster in a sex-hormone experiment in biology class and changed the bird into a hen. The student was worried about how he might explain the situation to his aunt, but the biology instructor assured him the injections of female hormones would wear off. "You think you're confused," Wright told a friend. "How do you think the poor bird felt?"

Volusia Seeks Water New Well Probed

By DONNA ESTES
Concern over the loss of any part of Seminole County's valuable water supply was expressed by the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday when it was reported a company has planned a well in the northern section of the county and to transport the commodity via eight-inch pipe into Volusia County. Commissioner Don Pelham advised the county board that the well would be drilled near St. Johns River Estates and the water taken into Seminole's neighboring county to the north. Commissioner Greg Drummond stated the fear that such a well would have a negative effect on the county's water table. Announcing the MOL cancellation, Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard indicated that unmanned satellites can do the job as well. The NASA project contemplates three men staying for up to 36 days in an orbital workshop which would have the internal space equivalent to a five-room house. A NASA spokesman said the agency has the funds and approval to work toward a launching in late 1971 or early 1972. Five launches are planned. Income Surtax Faces Congressional Test

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposed extension of the income surtax faces its first major congressional test in an atmosphere of deep political division and mounting official fears of inflation. The House Ways and Means Committee is under heavy pressure to act on the extension sometime this week. The surtax, now pegged at 10 per cent, is due to die at month's end unless Congress approves an extension. Although not all Democrats on the committee favor Nixon's plan to extend the surcharge at its present rate for six months and then reduce it to 8 per cent for the rest of the fiscal year, they failed in a two-hour meeting Tuesday to come up with a modified version. In the absence of a united Democratic front there seemed little doubt the President's proposal would get committee approval on a yes-or-no vote. The 30 Republican members solidly back the White House plan, at least four of the 15 Democrats would go along, sources said. Delegates and alternates were elected by the Auxiliary to the state convention of the VFW June 25-29 in Jacksonville. President Stella Thompson will head the delegation consisting of Mrs. Eugene Beiert, Mrs. Antonette Jolly, and alternates, Mrs. Frank Hill and Mrs. Fannie Howard. Auxiliary and Post will hold their fourth annual Fourth of July picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Beiert on Lake Mark. There will be swimming and those attending are asked to bring a covered dish, table service, and chair. Chaplain Myrtle Hill reported at the meeting that four auxiliary members assisted in decorating the graves of veterans with Post members in Deland, Ocala and Enterprise Cemeteries on Memorial Day. Auxiliary Memorial Services were held for seven deceased members and a white flower was placed on the altar for each name called. A letter from Sen. Edward J. Gurney was read answering a letter from the auxiliary concerning the Anti-Ballistic Missile System. He gave his assurance that he is studying the problem carefully and is open to any suggestion.

Conflict Of Interests?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Sen. Ray Lolley says the lardership industry operates out of his Senate desk, primarily as a convenience for his colleagues. Lolley keeps his desk crammed full of ties, shirts and tie-and-handkerchief sets from a general store at Enterprise. "I don't make any money out of it," he says. "I usually give them a discount of 50 cents or a dollar." "Someone is always coming off from home without an extra tie. One member got here last week without a clean shirt," said his aide.

NEW YORK (AP) — Water pistol fights have been banned from the floor of the New York Stock Exchange. Also out are such capers as teasing people with water balloons or disrupting business by sending up gas-filled balloons. Instructions to this effect have been issued to the 1,386 members of the Big Board by Bernard J. Lasker, chairman of the exchange's board of directors, he confirmed Monday. A similar directive went out to the 2,000 men and boys who perform support duties on the floor. Members who violate the taboo will be fined $1,000, and the locker will be suspended from work for two weeks. Lasker declined to elaborate, but brokerage sources said pranks in recent weeks had disrupted trading and even damaged some electronic communications devices. Stock exchange folk have an old tradition of sprinkling talcum powder on prospective big deals. On a recent occasion, the talcum powder flew so freely it put a number of telephone machines out of whack. In another incident, an order clerk was squished with a water pistol from the rear while making a phone call. He whipped around and slugged what he thought was his assailant, who fell down and fractured a shoulder. It turned out the injured man was an innocent bystander.

Mobile Pulpit

SUTTON-IN-ASHFIELD, England (AP) — A local churchman, Arthur Quincey, has built a mobile pulpit and is offering the design to any clergyman who have difficulty in bridging the gap between themselves and small congregations in large churches where pulpits are a long way from the pews. It costs less than $15 and can be made in under 10 hours, Quincey says. The mobile pulpit just hooks onto the pews that are nearest to the congregation.

Individual Taxpayers
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Individual taxpayers who filed declarations of estimated Federal tax returns must pay the second quarter installment of tax due on their 1969 estimate by June 15, 1969. Mr. A. J. Some Observations On The Training School

After nearly two years of maneuvering, the establishment of a Federal-funded training school in Sanford appears to be emerging from the red-tape which characterizes such developments and generally enmeshes Washington.

There are other hurdles to be taken in the funding with the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare as the ones to provide the dollars. Some reports say that these federal dollars may not be available for another year.

This is the controversial migrant-labor committee which was created to try to relieve Rochester, N.Y., of farm labor which has been going north to harvest New York crops and staying there where welfare checks were larger and the educational facilities more desirable.

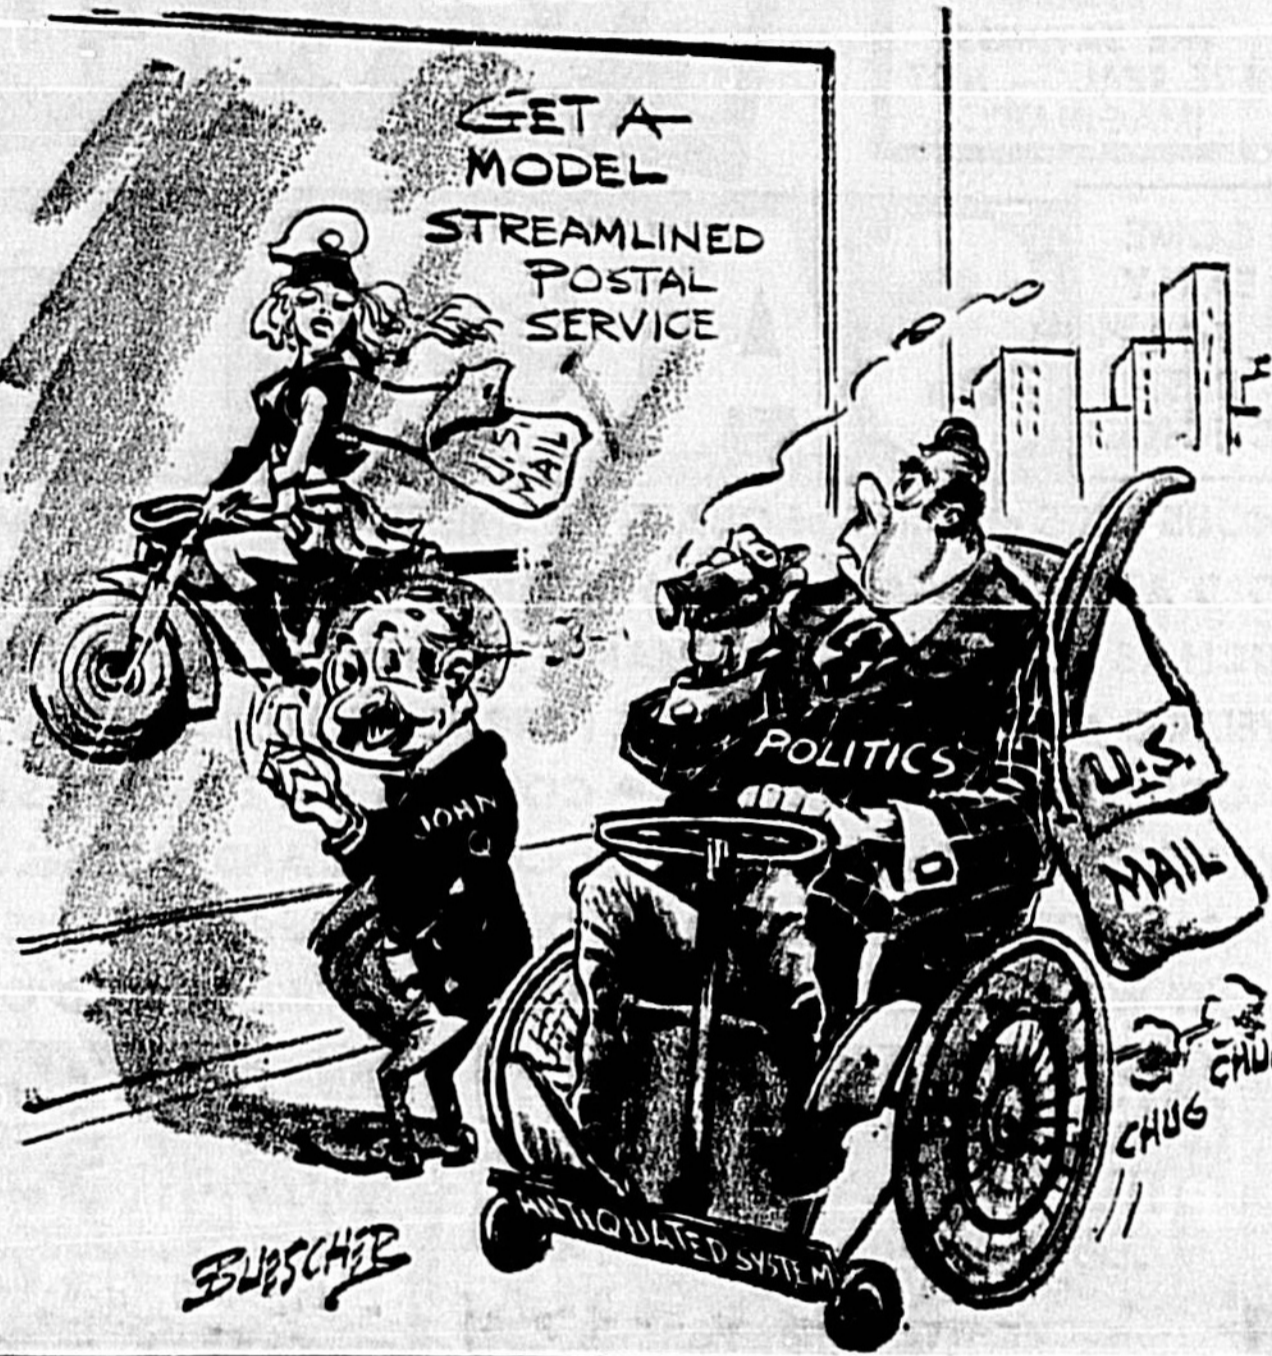

Evening, and that is one proposal would want some industry here first to employ new residents and create new payrolls.

Hail Sanford!

There is something most intriguing in the lively stories we have been printing about the founding of our lovely lakeside city about 1870 by a Connecticut Yankee — Henry Shelton Sanford — who bore the title of General from the Minnesota National Guard.

It is, therefore, a source of strength for the people of Sanford to be aware of the roots of their local history. And in studying them there is easily seen the major role that Lake Monroe and the St. Johns River has played.

ABM System Discussion

The voices of fear who oppose the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile (ABM) system, which the system is "not needed," that it would "provoke" the Soviet Union, that it would "escalate" the arms race with the Soviets, etc. These arguments are punctured by a study recently released by the subcommittee of the Atomic Energy Security Council.

Letters To The Editor

Sports Banquet Disappointing

Editor, Herald: I cannot let the opportunity pass to say a few words regarding the Sanford Sports Banquet held on Thursday, 22 May 1968, and I know that many other people share my sentiments, and of all the comments I have heard about the banquet were complimentary. It was a real shame that Sanford seems to be unable to put on a real first class affair, particularly an All Sports Banquet for athletes, without friction and disharmony and disorganization, whether it be an old antiquated best-up place for Duke Ellington or a poorly organized, apathetic high school All Sports Banquet.

More Plaudits

Editor, Herald: I want to express my appreciation to you, Mr. Van Pelt, Mr. Spolski and Mr. Vincent for the excellent coverage your newspaper has given Sanford Junior High School.

Bewildered

Editor, Herald: Recently the delegates of several counties depleted the idea of raising revenue for the primary purpose of building convention facilities. Bunk, I can think of many more items that needed to be done for the purpose of all.

Plaudits!

Editor, Herald: It isn't often that I take the time to write a letter "to the editor" in fact, I have never addressed you before.

Cooperation

Editor, Herald: Once again at the closing of the present school year of 1968-69, the staff and faculties of

Richard Barnett Will Head SHS

Former Assistant Principal Richard A. Barnett will assume the duties of principal for Sanford Junior High School, effective July 1.

Seminole High School will have a new principal next fall. Richard A. Barnett will become principal July 1 as the present principal, Andrew Bracken, leaves to become administrative aide for the County District of Seminole County.

--- An Analysis Of His Retirement --- Joe Willie Namath, 1965 To 1969

... THE MOST OUTSTANDING NEGATIVE TRAIT IS VANITY OR EXAGGERATED SELF-ESTEEM.

'He Must See Himself As Superior To Others'

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 NEW YORK—(NEA)—The young lady from Flatwoods, Ky., wasn't exactly surprised by the sudden defection—temporary or otherwise—of Joe Willie Namath from professional football.

Bess Leon isn't even quite sure what it is that Joe Willie does. But she is sure about the personality of the ex-football star who is now a member of the New York Jets. And one cannot really appreciate the latest lachrymose surrounding Broadway Joe unless one delves into Joe's psyche.

That's Bess' bias—analyzing people.

"He is changeable and very moody," she says. "No one can predict his actions. He wishes to set himself apart from the mainstream of ordinary humanity in order to avoid encroachments and attacks on his ego."

He must see himself as superior to others. He is critical of others in his desire to increase his own status. It is difficult to relate to him since he considers himself superior to people and inflexible in opinion and judgment. He may even be proud of his negative qualities.

"By setting himself up as a paragon, he isolates himself socially and thus escapes into an area where the disapproval or rejection of his fellows cannot injure him. His problems began when he was very young."

All this lofty jargon about a young man who wears white football shoes and throws a football is not meant to be sardonic. It is an attempt to give a living stem from a very simple analysis. Bess studied a specimen of Joe Namath's handwriting. She's a graphologist.

Don't snicker. Read on further: "He has sensuous appetites and is very selective about his friends. He has very feminine traits in clothes, (but aren't all men's clothes feminine now?) He is very frank and says what he thinks. He can be very sarcastic. This is a defense mechanism—a warning to keep others at arm's length so he can't be hurt any more."

"Keep in mind he is ruled by his emotions so he will be loyal as long as he feels he should be."

Now a quick confession. Bess did NOT know that Joe Namath's approval of her analysis was an experimental probe at defining the enigma that is Joe Namath. Bess has been doing it by a casual interest in many people.

At least, it's a lively guess. It looks at the pattern of behavior. It's unapologetic prior knowledge.

"The most outstanding negative trait is vanity or exaggerated self-esteem," she notes. "It stems from feelings of rejection and injured pride and serves as compensation for the real of facial disapproval of his associates."

"He can be very loyal to people and organizations. But he is also suspicious and jealous of others. He thinks everyone has a motive in dealing with him. As a result, he tends to be clammy but can camouflage it by a casual interest in many people."

MICHAEL MAYS, 10, son of Willie, plays catch with himself during San Francisco Giants' game. He caught ball when it landed in stands.

The Sanford Herald would welcome comments from our readers expressing their thoughts on Namath's decision.

Alston's Dodgers Are Back With New Look

By LEE MUELLER
 NEA Sports Writer
 NEW YORK — Down in Vero Beach, Fla., this spring, a brochure published by the Los Angeles Dodgers carried a succinctly written passage on manager Walter (Smokey) Alton.

"This season marks the first time in Alston's major league managerial career which began in 1954) that he comes off consecutive second division finishes," it said. "The Dodgers were eighth in 1967 and tied for seventh last year."

A few weeks later, Alton reportedly kicked down the motel door of a rookie who broke a curfew—just as he had kicked down the motel door of a pitcher named Sandy Koufax for the same reason five years earlier.

Now it is mid-June and the Dodgers—a team composed of enough punch-fuzz faces to be mistaken for a high school rock 'n' roll band—are battling the Atlanta Braves for first place in the National League's Western Division.

Los Angeles starts four rookies, two guys who weren't around when the 1968 season ended and two senior citizens aged 31 and 29. Altogether, the lineup lasts exactly 19 years experience. Most Boy Scout troops can top this figure.

Still, there they are: The Los Angeles Dodgers, again contending for a pennant. An explanation is in order, naturally, but thus far no adequate ones have appeared.

Alton, 37, puts both hands behind his head for a cushion and leans his chair back against the wall. His explanation is not complicated.

"We had a good spring to start out with," he said, "and because we had so many young fellows, we got in a lot of special instruction. They appreciated it."

Strikes And Spares

BY JOHN A. SPOLSKI

Leave it up to the kids to tell you whether they like something or not.

For the first time, we have a Seminole High School bowling league here at Jet Lanes on Monday afternoons at 7. Actually, that's a misnomer... 'cause we have 'em not just from Seminole but from a couple of other schools as well.

The point we're trying to make is that... if you're included in that crowd (you know... a.k.a. sophomores-thru-seniors), you're more than welcome to join the fun teams started earlier this year.

And then on Saturdays, we have two additional youth leagues, both sponsored by the Sanford Loyal Order of the Moose, Lodge No. 1851.

At 9:30 a.m. it's the Bantam bowlers, while their older buddies and gal-friends take to the approaches at 1 p.m. In both instances, we have openings available in three or four of the teams.

BOWLING POT POURRI...

Would you believe that it was the 'young 'uns' who produced the really, really big scores this week at the lanes?

And both of these were rolled during the Tuesday evening Adult-Junior League when Vicki MacLure tossed her highest game of her career, a few minutes under the astronomical 2-5-0 mark, while Glen (the west coast) Mueller did get out more 2's and was finished at 254.

Bowling in this same league, Jack Humphrey pointed home a triple Goodbye only had three baserunners during the game. American Produce Exchange 14 Sanford Atlantic 14.

Exchange took advantage of several Sanford Atlantic errors to build up the score. For APX, Charles Taylor, Jean Doyle, and Kl: Johnson all had two hits apiece, one of Taylor's was a double. For Sanford Atlantic, Bobbie Elliott had a double. Winning pitcher, David Barkley, loser, Jimmy Williams.

Glenn Mueller... Smiles all over the place on Sunday evenings as the happy-go-lucky Mr. and Mrs. Mueller... Robert Jerge had a 15-5-2, John Doyle 14-5-4, Ray Robinson 18-5-0, Jack Kaiser 19, Jay Darnacke 18-5-0, Cliff Holzer 16, Ron Robinson 21-5-7, Chuck Kanavel 17-5-0, Dennis Dolinger 18.

The amazing part of this league is that it's already jumped up to 16 couples, and that's for the summer league bowling. Can you just imagine how this'll expand in the Fall!

The six team Cobin Boats Friday morning league had six teams rolling a 17 at Harriet Dougherty's care in ten pins less at 162. Emil Griffith paced the opposing Chargers three-three with his 160. Lenore Thiel tried hard with her 147 for the Cuttas Lassies, but to no avail as the Water Bombers of Fran Leach, Hen Perry and Leo Akeris applied the white-wash in taking three games.

Vera Eichenberger had a 155 and 157 in leading the Spolters to a clean sweep over the Tornados.

Since so many of the leagues have resumed again for the short summer season, the stars of the lanes weekly program will take off right where it left off... Saturdays at 7 p.m. This is open to all league bowlers who roll 50 pins or more over their regular average and carries lots of good prizes each week.

Charles Ellberg got back on the beam again, this time in the Monday evening Keglers League, as he finished with a resounding 254 game.

Evelyn Wagner has done an extraordinary job in aligning the Thursday evening Totom Mixed League. They have 16 teams competing during these abbreviated summer months.

Some of those you'll be hearing lots about in the future weeks are Ed Lee 184, Larry Payne 181-5-0, Ray Hatchett 202, Forrest Wagner 221, Price Penick 185, Johnny Jacob 205-5-3, Don Gorman 186-5-14, Dot Johnson 201-5-22, Pete Peterson 188, Lou Kerper 193... and remember, those folks just come out for the fun of it.

Maybe that's why bowling is the world's largest participation sport... 'cause you can have so much fun.

Speaking as we were earlier of the Jacob family, see, do they ever know how to jump on a guy when he's down. You see, we didn't have too many bowlers out the first week of the S & H Green Stamps deal this past Friday evening.

But do you think that stopped them from leading their pockets with all of those stamps? Not on your life.

Actually, I'm just teasing them and using their rewards as an example of how easy it is to go home after any of the two stamps, 7 and 9 p.m., with your pockets bulging with those stamps.

It's something which has been tried for the past three years out in California and for the first time, we here at Jet Lanes are offering it to our local bowlers, too.

Don't get it confused with Moonlight Bowling... which continues to pack 'em in on Saturday nights starting right around seven and continues until closing around midnight.

From the Tuesday morning Seminole Printers League... Donna LeFore 174, Eddie Mylett 182, Alice Matoney 182, Norma Wagner 191-5-10, Elaine Marston 177, June Gassman 162.

Wednesday morning Jet Bowlerettes League could use another bowler or two. They're operating as a double league and this past week had these scores to report... Mel Evans 182, Alice Best 162, Margie Farris 168, Harriet Gail 154, Ann Almond 178.

June Is 'LL Month'

Seminole Little League's Proud Record

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Staff

June is Little League Month, and in recognition of this the Herald would like to commend the Seminole Little League Association for the youth work in the south end of Seminole County.

The Seminole Little League Association has been incorporated since 1963. It is chartered by Little League, Williamsport, Pa., which is the oldest Little League organization. Little League of Williamsport is the only organized sport to be chartered by the U.S. Congress. It received its charter in 1945.

The Seminole LL Association is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of 11 men. They govern and regulate the use of the park facilities at Cooper Field.

There are seven cities in the association. They are Forest City, Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Longwood, North Orlando, Sunland, and Lake Mary.

The age classifications are: Pee Wee League 8 years old, Farm Team 8-12 years old, Minor League 8-12 years old.

C. L. COOPER
Major League 8-12 years old
Minor League 18-15 years old

There are 42 teams in the association, with each town having one team in each age group.

The association's primary purpose is baseball, but they also run a youth center in Casselberry. Money made from games held at Cooper Field goes to the youth center.

All-Star competition will be held at Cooper Field on July 11, 12 and 13. Winners of the all-star competition will advance to the Regional Tournament. Winners in the World Series of Little League will appear in the Friday edition of The Herald.

The association is a non-profit organization. There are no salaried workers. The only people paid are the umpires, who are only paid for their expenses of coming to the games. A concession stand is run by parents at Cooper Field.

Mr. C. L. Cooper reminds area residents that the program depends on public contributions. Anyone wishing to donate to the program may bring their contributions to Cooper Field.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A story on the Sanford Little League will appear in the Friday edition of The Herald.)

Another all-stater was added to the SJC basketball rolls yesterday as Seminole mentor Joe Sterling signed 6'4 1/2" Ken Bryant from Greensboro High School in Greensboro, Florida.

SJC Does It Again

Coach Joe Sterling announced today the signing of Ken Bryant, a 6'4 1/2", 17-year-old graduate of Greensboro High School in Greensboro, Florida.

Bryant led his team to the Florida Class C High School championship this past year with a 24.5 points per game average during the season, and an outstanding 34 points per game average during tournament play.

Bryant was selected to the all state Class B team. He was also chosen to play in the all star game to be held at Gainesville on August 2. He received honorable mention in the selection of High School All-American. Besides being an outstanding athlete he was also the Valedictorian of his class.

Yankees Split Goldsboro Pirates

By CLARENCE BELL
Herald Sports Staff

The Yankees took the field yesterday afternoon against the Goldsboro Pirates hoping for another victory. The Little League contest was off to a slow start, but Major Wheeler, Raymond Perkins and Andy Perkins teamed up with their pitching abilities for the Pirates to stridently eight batters, walk six, and they gave six hits while gaining a 5-4 victory.

Ronald Wells, pitcher for the Yankees, did a sensational job to save his team by striking out four batters, walking only two, and giving up eight hits. Donald Hunt and Ronald Wells both scored one run and William Guy scored twice to pace his team in scoring of hits.

The Pirates began to add enlightenment to the afternoon in the bottom of the second inning when locker Javy got a single, stole second and three bases, and then came home on an error. They also scored another man in the third inning, then scored again in the bottom of the fifth inning.

Those Amazing Mets Shock Giants

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the first time in their celebrated eight-year history, the New York Mets are truly amazing... except to themselves.

Gi's Hodges' grown-up expansion act, sparked by a repeat tripped pitcher and a rejuvenated slugger, socked the San Francisco Giants 9-4 Tuesday night for their 11th consecutive victory... longest winning streak in the majors this season.

Tommy Acee cranked four hits, including a pair of homers, and Don Cardwell hurled eight brilliant innings before being the Mets' sixth game over the once-oldest 500 mark and solidified their hold on second place in the National League East.

'Headon Collision'

HOUSTON (AP)—Outfielder Jesus Alou and shortstop Hector Torres of the Houston Astros were in Methodist Hospital today with head injuries suffered as they collided while chasing a fly ball.

Alou suffered a severe concussion when the two ran together in the third inning of Tuesday night's game between the Astros and the Pittsburgh Pirates. Houston won 7-4.

A hospital spokesman said Alou was lapsing in and out of consciousness when he arrived.

Torres was not believed to be as seriously injured, although attendants said he suffered deep cuts above the nose and on the chin.

Quick first aid administered by Pittsburgh trainer Tony Barstrom may have saved Alou's life.

Alou started in slowly and Torres hurried back. While the ball dropped just behind and to the side of them, their heads banged and they sprawled helplessly on the Astro turf.

The ball went for a three-run homer and gave the Pirates a temporary 4-0 lead.

Barstrom reached Alou first. Noticing that Alou had swallowed his tongue, Barstrom pulled it out, inserted a rubber hose and inflated the hose.

This reopened Alou's throat and restored a normal air flow into his lungs.

"He looked like he was dead," Houston infielder Denis Menke said of Alou. "It was the hardest collision I've ever seen."

Arizona, Illinois Favored

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—If professional baseball scouts have done their homework well, Arizona State and Southern Illinois University should be ranked as co-favorites in the third College World Series opening Friday evening.

The Sun Devils, who take a 23-10 season record into the NCAA tournament, and the Salukis, 36-7, who finished second last year to national champion Southern California, both had six players drafted by the pros last Thursday and Friday in New York City.

Next came New York University with four players drafted by the major league teams, UCLA and the University of Massachusetts with three each, Texas and Mississippi with two apiece and Tulsa with none.

Southern Illinois is ranked No. 1 nationally going into the tourney by the weekly Collegiate Baseball, with Arizona State second. However, Texas was rated No. 1 most of the season and brings a 23-4 mark into the meet. Tulsa has the best record of all, 36-2, to rank as a strong darkhorse.

In the final poll, Texas is third, UCLA fourth, Mississippi fifth, Tulsa sixth, Massachusetts ninth and NYU 16th.

A total of 27 of the partial pants in the College World Series were drafted by the pros out of 1,042 players selected to the regular and secondary phases of the annual free agent draft.

Another Russian-Chinese Incident Told

By ROBERT LIU
 (Special to The Herald)
 CHANGCHUN (AP) — Red Chinese troops, tanks and armored cars charged today that the border into Yumin County, in northwest Sinkiang, Tuesday night. When Chinese frontier guards approached the soldiers, the note said "the Soviet troops, truculently refusing to talk reason, were the first to open fire, killing a Chinese herdsman on the spot."
 "Driven beyond the limits of forbearance," the protest continued, "the Chinese frontier guards were compelled to fight back in self-defense."
 The official New China News Agency said the Chinese Foreign Ministry had handed a note to the Soviet Embassy in Peking charging that "dozens" of Soviet troops, tanks and armored cars had entered Chinese territory in an attempt to provoke still larger armed conflicts. The incident is developing.
 The note warned the Soviet Union to change its "policy of territorial expansion and armed provocation against China." Otherwise, it said, the Soviets will surely meet with severe retribution. The Chinese note said the Soviet government must be held fully responsible for all the grave consequences arising therefrom.
 The protest demanded an immediate halt to Soviet "encroachments" into Chinese territory and return of the kidnapped herdsman. Peking also said it reserved the right to demand compensation.
 It was the second time this month that the Chinese note said the Soviet government was violating the border of the desolate northwest province in which Peking's nuclear base is located.
 The Soviet government had no immediate comment on the charge. Tass, the Soviet news agency, had not reported the incident, and a government spokesman in Moscow said he had no information on it.

SHS Summer School Slated

Summer school at Seminole High School starts Wednesday, June 18, at 8 a.m. Students may register at the high school this week as well as June 16-17 during the hours of 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Students who have not registered previously may register on the first day of class.
 Students interested in taking driver education are reminded that they must obtain a physical examination from a doctor. Two new offerings in the summer curriculum are Spanish and marine science. Esther Williams will teach Spanish, making full use of the language laboratory facilities. In addition to studying Spanish, students will learn about the cultures and customs of the Spanish speaking countries.
 Don Reynolds, who was recently voted "Best Teacher," will be the instructor in marine science. This class anticipates being able to make some field trips to enhance their study of plant and animal life.

Secret Military Chart Aired In Missile Plan

By CARL F. LEUBSDORF
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of the administration's Safeguard program say a secret Pentagon chart shows the anti-missile system would give only a few months' additional insurance against a knockout Soviet attack on U.S. missile bases.
 A key factor, they say, is the relatively small number of anti-ballistic missiles—ABMs—planned for the Safeguard system.
 The chart, shown to senators behind closed doors earlier this year, was the subject of considerable debate in the Senate Monday.
 "We are skirting pretty close to classified information," ABM critic Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., observed at one point.
 Both Symington, who wants the chart made public, and Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., an ABM supporter who wants it kept secret, agreed that the chart shows how many Soviet missiles would be needed to knock out the U.S. Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile bases. The ABM is designed to protect those bases.
 Baker said the chart "supports the decision by President Nixon for deployment of the ABM system."
 But Symington said it shows that the ABM is not worth its huge cost. "If the chart were declassified," he said, "it would show the relatively few additional missiles needed to overcome the Safeguard."
 He inserted into the Congressional Record a letter to the New York Times by Stanford University physicist Dr. Wolf gang Panofsky, who, having seen the chart, concluded: "The number of Soviet SSNs (missiles) grew at the rate forecast by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, and if as a result Minuteman were endangered at some future time, then the danger would be exactly the same a few months later, even if Safeguard worked perfectly." Laird has argued that the danger of a Soviet first strike with SSs about 1975 is a major reason why Safeguard should be deployed to protect the U.S. missiles.

 Baker raised the issue in the Senate by criticizing Symington's June 1 statement that "if that chart were made public, I believe this argument over the ABM would be over."
 Baker said the chart "shows how Safeguard would engage a Soviet threat of increasing size" and how the Spartans and the Sprinkles would be brought into play.
 The Republican senator said that if the Soviet missiles were to threaten the Safeguard system, "it turns out that what we would do is add more Sprinkles and radars as needed."

18 Cadettes Win Awards

Cadettes of Girl Scout Troop 62 held their last Court of Awards for the year at the 50th-Day Adventist Education Building. Many badges were awarded to 18 girls.
 A candlelight bridging ceremony for Junior Girl Scouts advancing into Cadettes was held for girls from Troop 557, Mrs. Stephen Kostival, leader. They included Claudia Vickers, Alice Trammell, Sherry Burleson, Sybe Best, Kim Nader, Leanne Seefried, Charrell Lansing, and Laurie Beebe.
 Cadettes receiving badges and active citizenship challenge pins were Debra Albert, Sharon Gilbert, Shirley Greene, Martha Goethe, Lynn MacLaughlin, Sylvia and Lyne Smith, Cheryl Weidie, Donelda Whitten and Kim Wilson.
 The troop presented Mrs. Kelly Smith, co-leader, with a five year pin and a gift certificate.
 Mrs. Kostival also crossed over into the Cadette program and will assume leadership of Troop 562 since the leader, Mrs. Albert is moving to Macon, Ga. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served by the Cadettes to over 50 parents and friends in attendance.

Air Charter Trips Eyed

By VERN HANGLAND
 (Special to The Herald)
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of tourists face possible cancellation of their trips because they may have unwittingly booked passage on European, according to Civil Aeronautics Board officials.
 "We have rumors that these might be as many as 300 charters leaving out of California this year to Europe which have aspects of illegality about them," according to CAB member John G. Adams.
 "There are rumors that as many as 100,000 persons may be moving on such flights who really ought not to be moving under a true interpretation of charter regulations," he added.
 The large scale of questionable charter flight activity was aired officially for the first time at a CAB meeting last Thursday arranged by the National Air Carriers Association to review its supplemental airline mem-

Galloping Gourmet Cooks Up Delectable TV Concoction

By ALLEN CLAIRE
 NEA Staff Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Shades of Valentino, Lenny Ross, Uncle Miltie, Sinatra, Paul Newman and Dustin Hoffman. The American male faces a new rival for his gal's affection. And this one shows up during the day while most men are not at home.

He is Graham Kerr, a Londoner gone Australian, who is whipping up a money mint of a souffle on television.

Since January when CBS began to syndicate a half-hour segment in 10 cities of a show called Galloping Gourmet, the critical cleavers have been honed.

Julia Child, current high priestess of French cuisine in a TV, reportedly flitted Kerr's performances with, "He doesn't know a thing about cooking." This comment on the former Australian and New Zealand the last 10 years Kerr (he uses the Scottish pronunciation "Care") is an overnight showbiz success.

This means he started his cooking career at six when he stood on a high stool to make a puff pastry. His fortunes have been tastily filled since then. A tour of work and study in English and European hotel kitchens and dining rooms, plus a cooking stint in the British Armed Forces, contributed to other saleable ingredients for the Galloping Gourmet. These are his anecdotes and winceproducing puns.

For example, 65 shows are taped before an audience of 120 in Ottawa, Canada. He worries one crack will be bleeped by CBS censors. "A delectate," he quips. "In Canada is a prolix and European hotel kitchens land. Treena has the black-haired blue-eyed Irish perkiness that His fans eat up such bits.

Stitchin' Time: Dress Form Insures Good Fit For Outfit

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

What is the single most important ingredient of successful sewing?

Perfect fit, answers Eva Ronell, a chic and charming Viennese-American lady who has spent a lifetime helping home sewers achieve good fit in their creations. "A woman's clothes must be made for her alone, for her figure is hers alone."

To help the home sewer with her fitting problems, Eva Ronell suggests the "My Double" dress form, an arrangement of plastic-covered wire which can be shaped to conform exactly to a woman's figure. It comes in two versions: a standard form for dress construction, and a waist-to-ankles form to aid in making slacks, shorts and bathing suits.

"The sewer must put on the wire form and fasten the two halves together," Mrs. Ronell says. "Then she asks a friend to mold the flexible wire mesh to her body. Or," she adds with a Viennese twinkle, "this is a fine job for a husband."

"Then it is unsnapped, taken off and reassembled. The slacks form will hold its shape and may be adjusted to the right height. Supporting rods hold the shape."

To provide a pinning surface, the dress form is given tapes at center front and back, sides and waistline. If more surface is desired, an elasticized cover is available, or it could wear a leotard, girdle or bathing suit. The slacks form can wear a pair of disconcerted lights.

"My Double" has an international history. Invented in Paris then they were a decade ago by Mrs. Ronell's brother-in-law, Manufacturing was begun in Vienna, continued in London and established in America a decade later. Mrs. Ronell was its sole saleswoman. When "My Double" was sold to the Dritz Division of Scoville Manufacturing Co. two years ago, she continued her enthusiastic demonstrations in stores across the country.

Mrs. Ronell has become an authority on feminine contours and slacks-at-45—knowing that women are taller and slimmer than they were a decade ago. "All vestments are made for personal creativity. With high fashion patterns, new fabrics and new sewing aids, even a high school girl can fashion a garment equal to anything ideal posture and figure. She bases her observations on orders for the form.

More and more women are sewing today, but not necessarily the same way. According to Mrs. Ronell, "The challenge is for personal creativity. With high fashion patterns, new fabrics and new sewing aids, even a high school girl can fashion a garment equal to anything ideal posture and figure. She bases her observations on orders for the form.

Fitting authority Eva Ronell demonstrates the "My Double" dress form, which may be adjusted to conform to the figure. Slacks form in background aids in sewing slacks, shorts, bathing suits. Mrs. Ronell advises using form for all preliminary pattern alteration and garment pin-fitting. "But put the garment on yourself for the final fitting," she suggests, "to make the dress come alive."

We The Women:

By Betty Canary

At an outdoor party, where I was smiling bravely and flicking mosquitoes, a woman asked my definition of the word "friend." She thinks I use the term, too often in my conversation and my writing, and I understand what she means.

Perhaps most of us use the word indiscriminately. Just the other day I was with a woman who failed to introduce me to a man who stopped at our table in a classroom. They talked and when he left, she turned to me and said, "I'm sorry, he's an old friend, but I couldn't remember his name." Obviously he was not a friend but was someone who should be relegated to that same limbo of names on Christmas card lists. After all, some of those people cannot be legitimately referred to as "acquaintances."

Then the woman asked me, in a somewhat accusing manner, why I sometimes referred to a man as a friend. I remarked that, in my opinion and in my experience, men and women can be only good friends, but I could see she didn't believe a word of it. I didn't attempt any convincing arguments because, for one thing, I had already been hit in the ankle by a runaway croquet ball and I didn't care to risk further injury.

After all, I didn't really know her and she could turn out to be like the woman I know who is even suspicious of mixed Sunday School classes. That woman can see two neighbors—a man and a woman—talking over shopping carts in the supermarket and she's convinced they are catching the next plane for Spain. I'm afraid if she ever catches her daughter getting kissed good night she will expect all of us to put on hats and go to a wedding.

The members of our family have many friends, including men and women, boys and girls, and even some inanimate objects. I'm sure my youngest son will consider his bedridden Winnie the Pooh to be his most intimate confidante — the one who, when all else fails, is happy to be hugged close and be allowed to ease a pain that nobody else can reach.

I suppose everyone has friends in certain graduated degrees. And we use them, and allow ourselves to be used, for different purposes.

There are those who are mercifully brought around in order to applaud successes or wave goodbye. Some are kept on hand for parties and good times and are never expected to show up with a pot of chili when one gets into the hospital for an appendectomy.

We all have a few friends who will pat our backs and lend their ears and hold a hand or two when the going gets rough. We have even fewer who have helped start family traditions or were willing to stand by during tragedies.

One never knows when a friend will rise in status. For example, there on that patio as I discussed friendship with a woman I didn't know, my hostess, who was only an acquaintance, changed categories. Sunday School classes. That woman can see two neighbors—a man and a woman—talking over shopping carts in the supermarket and she's convinced they are catching the next plane for Spain. I'm afraid if she ever catches her daughter getting

Guide Gives Tax Value On Your Old Clothing

By CARLTON SMITH and RICHARD PUTNAM PRATT

Those clothes that Junior and Susy have outgrown—the trousers that are now too tight because dad has been eating too well — all the unwearables that collect in the back of the closets and keep hanging there because they're "too good to throw away" — well, they are.

They may be worth quite a bit to you, if you can make up your mind to give them away. There is an accepted formula for determining the value of clothing donated to a charitable organization. This, in turn, becomes a contribution that you can list on your income tax return if you itemize your deductions. And every additional dollar included in your deductions cuts down the amount of tax you pay.

The formula you can use to arrive at "fair market value" of donated clothing was worked out by the National Institute of Taxpayers, primarily as a claims guide to help settle cases involving lost or damaged articles. But it can also be used by the householder who has accumulated a pile of unwearables, since income tax authorities have agreed that it can be applied to calculate the value of donated clothing, according to the Institute.

It's not as much trouble to document a contribution of clothing or other articles donated to a charity, by the way, as many taxpayers may imagine. Internal Revenue Service instructions that you've probably seen state firmly that 6 months, is worth 40 per cent of replacement cost if in average condition, 30 per cent if in poor condition.

Less widely publicized is the agreement that a memorandum by the taxpayer is acceptable as a substitute for a receipt, in cases where it's impractical to obtain a signed receipt. If you put clothing in a collection box, for example, make a memorandum for your tax records showing the location of the box, the date of deposit and the value of the donation.

If clothing is older than normal life expectancy but still in useful condition, you can simplify your calculation of value with the formula adopted by the nationally sponsored Textiles for Charity program. For most charitable donations, 15 per cent of replacement cost gives you the present fair value. It's reasonable, because most donated clothing has exceeded its normal life expectancy and has entered its period of "residual value," which continues indefinitely, for as long as it's useful.

For items that aren't so elderly, you need the table of life expectancies that's part of the dry-cleaners' claims guide. You consult this to determine, for example, that the life expectancy of a man's dress shirt is two years, one year for a house dress, five years for a suede jacket.

Then a table gives you the "claims adjustment value" of the item, according to its age and condition. The shirt, if it's 16 months old and in average condition, has a value of 60 per cent of replacement cost. The suede jacket, aged 21 to 24 months, is worth 40 per cent of replacement cost if in average condition, 30 per cent if in poor condition.

Autonomy Is Offered 3 Rebellious Areas

DAMASCUS Syria (AP) — Sudan's new government has offered that amnesty be granted to the rebels in the three rebellious black provinces.

The National Revolutionary Council, which seized power May 25 in a military coup, announced Monday night that "regional autonomy within the framework of a new integral Socialist Sudan" would be granted to the provinces of Bahr el Ghazal, Upper Nile and Equatoria.

There was no immediate reaction from the rebels.

Maj. Gen. Jafar Al Numeiri, head of the council, said in a broadcast that the government would try "to bring about equality between the two parts of the country and establish genuine national Socialist unity between them."

Numeiri said the southerners would be allowed to run their own domestic affairs in cooperation with the Arab north. He added that amnesty would be granted to the rebels.

The black African tribesmen in the southern provinces have been fighting a bloody racial and religious war with the Arab Moslems of the north since Sudan gained independence 13 years ago. The blacks are either pagans or Christians. The Arabs have controlled the government since the British and Egyptians left.

The death toll in the war has been estimated at 300,000 to one million. Half a million southerners are believed to have fled into neighboring countries.

Sudan's population of about 13.5 million is 40 per cent Arab and 20 per cent black African. The remainder are Ethiopians, Asian and European.

The nation, with an area of 267,000 square miles, is the largest on the African continent.

Youngsters 'Sold' Over TV Program

By GENE HANDSAKER Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jimmy is 6 months old, chubby, lively. His big bright blue eyes look normal. But he's blind.

"Gee," said the television pitcher as the camera zeroed in for a close-up on Jimmy. "I hope that somewhere in our audience today we'll find a mommy and daddy for him."

By next morning there were six applicants for Jimmy, one of 110 youngsters TV encephalitis Hunter has placed for the Los Angeles County Department of Adoptions in 19 months. All are hard to place "special needs" children, as the department calls them—physically or emotionally handicapped or of minority race or mixed parentage.

Is it "selling" children? "Yes," says Hunter, 40, a local radio-TV veteran with gray-flecked hair and a pleasing personality. "That's sort of a repugnant phrase, sounds like the old-time auction block. But that's what we're doing. We're selling kids."

The youngsters appear during a 15-minute interruption every Thursday in his daytime program of old movies on station KTTV. During other breaks commercials include those for carpeting, sewing machines and land and the services of a driving school.

Last Thursday, Jimmy and two other potential adoptees sat on the laps of attractive, middle-aged women in the Department of Adoptions.

Nancy, 3 months, is a bright-eyed Negro.

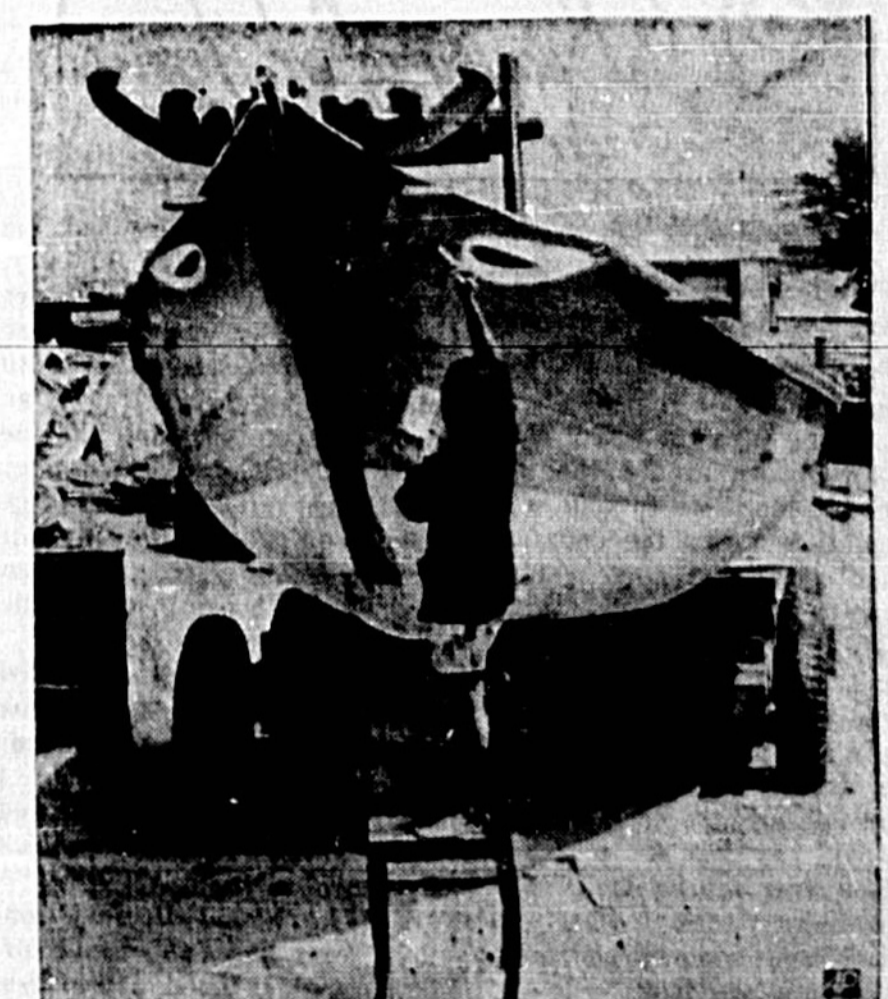

"Negro children are particularly difficult to place," says Walter Heath, director of the Department of Adoptions.

Garth, 2½ months, who layed with a large rattle and did considerable crying, is half Negro, half Caucasian.

Next day both were assigned to already approved families.

A fourth case worker held a photo of Dick, 7, a handsome white boy.

"Dick has no problems at all," Hunter told his audience, "except that he's 7. Everybody usually wants a little baby, a Caucasian female with big blue eyes and curly hair, who looks like Daddy. They may have to get in line and wait a long time."

CHARM SET UP — Youngster paints "eyes" on his father's fishing boat at Bon Gio in Vietnam. The amulet is believed to ward off evil spirits from the craft.

Washington's New Mood

By KELLY SMITH TUNNEY
AP News-features Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Richard M. Nixon moved in and Lyndon B. Johnson moved out, one expected change in Washington—from Pennsylvania Avenue to Embassy Row.

Not every president can be expected to gobble topics just dining, mix scotch with brandy water and kiss Son, Everett M. Dirksen. Anywhere that one expects every president's daughter to date movie actor George Hamilton.

But switches in administrations are usually like switches in dance partners. Over the years, one finds the tempo doesn't change much after all. Garry "Oh of Heaven" moves in, Liz Carpenter moves out, the British get a new ambassador and the Marine Band plays on. But this year it didn't.

This year something happened that has not occurred during any change of administration, for so long as Washington can remember. Sudden by there were not so many parties, not so many dinners, not so much to read about in the local newspapers, and the caterers were operating in the red.

The new people didn't notice it. "The old people can't believe it. It's like everyone is waiting for something, someone," said Betty Boake, columnist for the Washington Star, and a lifelong resident of the city, called it "the silent spring."

Forks At Ready For Crisp Salad

From the Victorian era, stuffed tomatoes.

By ALLEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Fashion, art and the movies draw heavily on past decades for ideas. Why not food?

For example, prior to World War I the arranged salad, especially the tomato salad, was integral to a meal. Lettuce and tomato with mayonnaise was everyday family fare and company got a special stuffed tomato.

The Victorian way to serve this was to scoop out the insides and fill the tomato cavity. Busy young homemakers today seem to prefer the vegetable stuffed tomato, cut down the middle from blossom end. Part way with the center filled.

Stuffings range from chicken and tuna to a vegetable medley and foods with lobster favored in Maine, crab in Maryland and shrimp in Florida.

SEAFOOD STUFFED TOMATOES

Medium-sized ripe tomatoes

1 cup salad greens

2 cups chilled seafood salad

Remove stem end of tomato. Chill. Core, rinse and drain lettuce thoroughly. Chill in plastic bag or wrap until crisp and dry. Just before serving, place tomatoes, stem end down, on board. To make tomato-type, cut 6 or 8 sections about three-fourths down on the tomato. Spread sections and fill with about 2-3 cup seafood salad. To make Victorian stuffed tomato, cut a slice from blossom end. Pare around the inside to remove pulp and seeds. Reserve this pulp for other uses. Notch a hole in the side of the tomato. Sprinkle inside of tomato with salt and turn upside down to drain. Fill with about 2-3 cup seafood filling.

Carried Shrimp Salad: Sift together 1/2 cup real mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon curry powder, salt and pepper to taste. Gently toss mixture with 2 cups diced cooked shrimp, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 cup diced celery and 1/2 cup chopped green pepper and onion. Make 4 cups or 6 (2-3 cup) servings.

Crab Cucumber Salad: Pre-pare 2 1/2 cups crab (6 or 8 ounce cans) by removing cartilage pieces; flake. Stir together 1/2 cup real mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 cup asparagus, 1/2 cup chopped cucumber and 2 tablespoons thinly sliced chives. Make 4 cups or 6 (2-3 cup) servings.

1 head lettuce iceberg
1 head romaine lettuce
1 small clove garlic, crushed
1 egg
4 slices white bread, crust removed
Salt to taste
Pepper to taste
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup crumbled blue cheese (2-ounce) can anchovy fillets, chopped

Add garlic to corn oil; let stand several hours. Place egg in very hot water 20 minutes. Cut bread into cubes. Heat 1/4 cup garlic-flavored oil in skillet. Sauté bread cubes until golden brown. Drain. Tear lettuce into bite-sized pieces and place in bowl. Add salt, pepper and remaining 1/2 cup oil. Toss gently. Break egg into salad. Add lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, cheese and anchovies. Toss. Sprinkle with croutons.

Bankers Trust Sat On Big Financial Bomb

By JOHN CLUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For officers of Bankers Trust Co., the past weekend was less comfortable than it could have been. Throughout the weekend they would explode a financial bomb on Monday.

It was Bankers, the nation's seventh largest commercial bank—close to $7.7 billion in assets—which initiated this week's big, full-point increase in the prime lending rate to 8.5 percent, highest in many years.

Now this may not mean an awful lot immediately to many Americans, but it can cost big corporations millions of dollars. And what happens to big business in this country always affects little people after a while.

At that time, confidential sources related, an increase appeared almost inevitable in officers of the bank. But they delayed making an announcement. Confidential talks continued over the weekend—confidential because for banks to conspire to raise rates is equivalent to price fixing—no nothing happened in the financial markets to change the decision.

With hours after the Bankers Trust announcement most of the major banks across the nation had concurred, thus assuring that the long anticipated increase would hold. Whatever holdouts remained were of small consequence.

For weeks in financial circles it was known that an increase had to come, but banks reportedly were reluctant to initiate action and incur the wrath of Washington officials at a time when major banking matters were under study.

Bankers Trust officials were said to have made the decision reluctantly and with some misgivings, because it was put "The bank is not sympathetic to higher rates and is not at all sure these moves are always understood."

Although the one-point jump was two to four times the customary increase.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Edward Swart, a foreman on the construction site of the highest building in Africa, now has two extra charges to watch over.

Swart discovered a pigeon nest in the completed 48-foot central tower of Johannesburg's new Standard Bank building right inside a slot in which workmen were about to fit another floor section. He had himself self over to move the nest to another slot further down, only to repeat the tricky rescue operation as work proceeded from the top of the tower downwards.

Finally he made the two baby pigeons a home in the tower's storeroom, where he guards them and feeds them with seed. "I keep 25 pigeons at home and I've got what you call a soft spot for them," Swart explained.

Great Caesar...What A Salad!

By ALLEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Some people are bulidings when it comes to proving a point. Such is the case with the Caesar Salad, proclaimed in 1926 and named it after his brother.

In her "Harvest of American Cooking," Mrs. Maryard McBride credits it to Caesar Cardini of Beverly Hills who supposedly created it in Tijuana, Mexico, on a Friday the July weekend. Meanwhile, a Senator Alex Cardini of Cardini's Restaurant in Mexico City says he invented it in 1926 and named it after his brother.

Pimiento Pudding For Brunch

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

Dear Cecily: I'd appreciate having a brunch menu that's different. No scrambled eggs, please. Everyone serves them.

Creative Hostess:

Dear Creative Hostess: Okay, let's ring a change. How about Pimiento Corn Pudding with Ham Patties and Spiced Fruit? With this main course serve a big basket of Honey Pecan Buns—miniature size—and have plenty so there'll be some to munch with these second cups of coffee. Here's the recipe for the Pimiento Corn Pudding. To make the patties, mix ground cooked ham with seasonings, fresh bread crumbs, eggs and a little milk; brown in butter. The spiced fruit can come from the supermarket and the buns from the bakery.—C.B.

PIMIENTO CORN PUDDING

1 cup butter or margarine

1 tablespoon white bread crumbs removed and crumbled fine to make 1 1/2 cups

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/4 pound medium-grated sharp cheddar cheese 1 1/2 cups (loose) packed

1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) cream-style corn

1 can or jar (4 ounces) pimiento, drained and chopped

In a small saucepan heat milk and butter until small bubbles appear at edge.

Meanwhile in a medium mixing bowl beat yolks until thickened and lemon color. Gradually stir in hot milk mixture. Add crumbs, salt, cheese, corn and most of pimiento. Mix well.

With the clean beater, in a small deep mixing bowl beat egg whites until they hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold into corn mixture.

Turn into a 1 1/2-quart round glass casserole (7 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches). Sprinkle remaining pimiento over top.

Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a knife inserted in center comes out clean—one hour.

Remove from oven and let stand 10 minutes—pudding will settle a little. Serve at once.

Makes six servings.

Restoration Is Voted

Jambalaya Cooked In One Pan

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

FAMILY DINNER

The main dish is cooked in one big pan.

Jambalaya Rolls
Cantaloupe Sundaes Beverage

Jambalaya

1/2 pound (1/2 sticks) margarine

1/2 pound mushrooms, sliced

1 cup chopped green pepper

1 cup sliced onion

2 cups chicken broth

1 can (1 pound) tomatoes, undrained

2 medium cloves garlic, minced

1 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon basil, crushed

1/4 teaspoon pepper

1/4 teaspoon thyme, crushed

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1 pound raw shrimp, shelled and deveined

1 cup uncooked rice

1 cup cubed cooked chicken

1 cup cubed cooked ham

Melt margarine in a large heavy saucepan. Add mushrooms, green pepper and onion. Cook gently five minutes. Add chicken broth, tomatoes, garlic, salt, basil, pepper, thyme and Worcestershire sauce. Bring to boil; add shrimp and rice. Cover; cook over low heat 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add chicken and ham. Cook until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Makes six to eight servings.

COMPANY SUPPER

Serve fresh peaches with this unusual topping.

Broiled Lobster with Lemon Butter

Fresh Peaches with Brandy Cream Topping

FRESH PEACHES WITH BRANDY CREAM TOPPING

1 container (8 ounces) commercial sour cream

2 to 3 tablespoons dark brown sugar, packed down

2 to 3 tablespoons cognac

4 to 6 servings sliced pared fresh peaches, sweetened if desired

With a fork or a whisk, beat together the sour cream, brown sugar and cognac until no grains of sugar can be seen. Serve at once or cover and chill for a few hours (or overnight). Top individual portions of peaches with the sour cream mixture or pass separately. Makes four to six servings. Topping will be a pale tan color.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

To the elderly Baldwin came distressing news. Over 27 years, the city was going to change their house number. The explanation, that it was because of a street widening, did not mollify them at all. Finally they took the matter to court.

"It's not just a question of sentiment," they contended. "Such a change would also be a serious inconvenience, an invasion of our property rights. If they must take away our number, let them at least pay us compensation—just as if they were taking away part of our frontage."

But the court decided it could do nothing for the Baldwins. Even if the change was irksome, said the court, it was still within the proper scope of a city's discretion.

Blighting city hall through court action is not easy. Generally speaking, because of the doctrine of separation of powers, courts do not have a right to "second guess" city officials in the way they run the community.

Accordingly the city, if acting within its lawfully granted authority, may deprive you of advantages even more valuable than your house number. For example:

In another case, a house owner insisted that he had a right to park on the street in front of his own driveway. He said this was none of the city's business, since, by blocking the driveway, he would be blocking only himself.

But again, a court said the city had a right to forbid all such parking without making exceptions—in order to give equal treatment to all members of the motoring public. Still, you are entitled to a court's help against the city if the city takes what the law calls "arbitrary" action. Consider this case!

Cream Cheese Spread
By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

LADIES' LUNCH!
Try this especially delicious cream cheese spread—it's different.

Gerda Ripley's Cheese Spread
Sliced Nieces Crusty Rolls
Fresh Cherries Waters

GERDA RIPLEY'S CHEESE SPREAD
1 tablespoon lemon juice—1/4 of a large juicy lemon
2 tablespoons milk
1 cup thin strips onion, loosely packed—1/4 of a small onion
1 flat anchovy—about 1/2 of a 2-ounce can—drained and cut up
1 package—8 ounces—cream cheese, room-temperature soft
Into an electric blender turn the lemon juice, milk, onion and anchovy. Blend until liquidized and smooth. With a spoon, gradually beat blended mixture into cream cheese. Turn into a jar. Cover tightly. Refrigerate six hours or overnight to allow flavors to blend. Makes one and a quarter cups. Serve with party-size rye bread slices, halved. Tightly covered, spread can be stored in refrigerator for about a week.

DINNER FOR FOUR
Here's a simple supper for two friendly couples.

Mexican Stuffed Pancakes
Archie's Salad
Caramel Flan Beverage

MEXICAN STUFFED PANCAKES
1 can—8 ounces—tomato sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 medium onion, peeled and sliced
2/3 pound ground beef
Pancakes, see recipe below
8 slices American cheese
In a small saucepan, bring to a boil the tomato sauce, mustard, Worcestershire sauce and onion. Simmer about five minutes. Fry dry ground beef, breaking up with a fork. Make pancakes. Arrange four cheese slices on each large pancake. Sprinkle beef over cheese. Roll up, jelly-roll style. To serve, cut each pancake in four slices and allow two slices per serving. Top with tomato sauce. Makes four servings.

PANCAKES: Into a medium bowl turn one cup milk, one egg and one tablespoon melted oil. Add one cup pancake mix and beat lightly until batter is fairly smooth. Make two large pancakes. Pour about one cup batter per pancake onto hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once.

Open Tuna Sandwich For Lunch

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

They're great for lunch or for an anytime snack—Open Tuna Sandwiches.

Start with readily available ingredients, they're quick to put together, and they're satisfying. It's nice, too, that you can make a few switches in the ingredients. The recipe calls for scallion (green onion) but chives may be used; or if neither of these are at hand, you can add a dash of onion powder. Instead of the sesame-topped crusty bread, you can use plain French or Italian bread. Just be sure to cut it on the diagonal so you have slices with plenty of surface on which to mound the toppings. And so to the cheese used—we tested this recipe with the Swiss variety, but cheddar will do nicely, too.

There are, of course, many good ways of using tuna in regular closed sandwiches. Here are half-a-dozen reminders of savory fillings:

1. Mix drained flaked tuna with ripe olives—sliced or chopped—and mayonnaise-type salad dressing.
2. Tuna tastes delightful with cucumber and a mixture of mayonnaise and sour cream for the dressing. Flake the drained tuna, chop the cucumber fine, mix with the dressing and add salt and pepper to taste.
3. Mix finely diced celery with drained flaked tuna and mayonnaise in a 1:1:2 ratio. Add dressing. Spread on bread. Add a layer of thinly sliced tomato sprinkled with salt, pepper and basil. Close with tuna and cut each sandwich into two triangles.
4. Drain oil from tuna and flake. Mix with cream cheese, lemon juice and finely ground onion pulp and juice. Make sandwiches using this filling plus lettuce.
5. Drain tuna and flake. Mix with finely chopped walnuts, chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives and mayonnaise.
6. Drain tuna and flake. Mix with diced celery, diced unpeeled red apple and mayonnaise seasoned with curry powder.
