army and navy.

Stalin's declarations were made in a letter in Pravda, the party organ, written in response to a question of a young communist league agitator who asked him whether the final victory of socialism could be considered won.

"The aid of the international proletariat appears to be a force without which the final victory of socialism in one country is not to be decided," he declared.

He did not say whether he had in mind collaboration with foreign labor parties, non-communist as well as communist, nor did he mention communism as a source of the overthrow of capitalism in other countries.

"Of course," Stalin said, "it doesn't mean that we must sit with folded arms awaiting help from the outside.

"On the contrary, the aid of the international proletariat should be joined with our work for increasing the defense capacity of our country, of strengthening the Red Army and the Red Navy, the mobilization of the whole country and with our struggle against armed attacks and attempts to restore bourgeois connections."

The first stage of socialism's victory in Russia has been won, Stalin wrote, "by liquidation of the Bourgeoisie." He said the exiled Leon Trotsky and others who advocated international revolution had been shown to be wrong.

He added, however, that the second problem, that of foreign relations and guarantees against military invasion and restoration of capitalism, had not been solved.

Since Russia is surrounded by capitalist countries, some of which are hostile, he wrote, "We say honestly and openly that the victory of socialism in our country is not yet complete."

Effort To Cut Lynch Debate Meets Defeat

Borah, republican, Idaho and others had contended.

The bill provides fines and imprisonment for police officers who fail to make diligent efforts to prevent lynchings. Counties in which lynchings occurred would be liable for damages, the money to go to the victim's relatives.

Lewis said the bill must be considered as being "a proceeding on behalf of the people." The government has power, he said, to legislate for the public welfare.

In a forceful speech Senator Milton, democrat, Indiana, told the senate that the doctrine of dual sovereignty of the states and federal government does not apply to the fourteenth amendment guaranteeing the rights of individuals.

Senator Ellender, democrat, Texas, leader of southerners who have been filibustering against the bill for 27 days, predicted again that today's effort to shut off debate would fail.

Senator Ellender, democrat, Louisiana, read to the senate, as a part of his filibustering against the bill, a record of arrests for violent crimes and robberies in Jacksonville, Fla. and Charleston, S. C.

The planes bombed the mission three times, but no foreigners were hurt.

Beautiful HIALEAH PARK

Paddock Lawn and Walking Ring

Recently a group of men—famous in American business and sports life visited Hialeah Park for the first time. All were extravagant in their praise of its beauty—the character and conduct of its racing—the dignity and refinement of its atmosphere. One of them whose name is known in every American household turned to another and said, "Certainly, Mr. Widener has built here no less than the 'Eighth Wonder of the World'. I have visited racing plants everywhere but I have never seen such a magnificent establishment as this."

Such genuine praise, coming from men who have earned the respect of the nation has been one of the objectives of our efforts for the past five years.

The other has been to produce a worthwhile revenue to the State. Last year Hialeah Park paid to the State Comptroller for distribution to the sixty-seven counties of Florida, $677,912.96. This year's total will be much greater.

In all respects we feel that Hialeah Park has fulfilled the pledges it made when it was granted a racing permit.

London, Paris Query Hitler About Austria

No Indication Shows, However, That They Will Do More Than Propound Questions

Der Fuehrer Gets Word Of Progress

Nazi Leader Receives German-Endorsed Interior Minister

Britain and France today looked to Adolf Hitler for indication of his intentions toward Austria but there was no indication either London or Paris would do more than ask questions about the southward spread of Nazi influence.

Austria's German-endorsed minister of interior, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, arrived at Berlin to report to Hitler on the progress of the Austria-German military, political and economic co-operation.

Vienna principally was intent upon winning from Hitler a promise of economic aid and direct guarantee to Austria, naming of cabinet ministers acceptable to Germany and freeing political prisoners.

British and French ambassadors in Berlin were instructed, to approach the reich government with a request for information concerning the startling developments in Vienna.

The ambassadors were told to reiterate the interest of Great Britain and France in Austria. It was indicated they would remonstrate with the two democracies were opposed to single action by one power on questions of Austria.

Many Inquire About Making Sanford Home

Efforts To Induce Retired Railway Employees To Locate Here Meet Success

Nine retired railway employees from nine different states have made inquiries regarding permanent location in Sanford as a result of the activities of the Railway Employees Retirement Committee, J. L. Ingey, chairman of the committee, stated today in discussing the progress made by the committee since its organization last fall.

The inquiries have come as a result of an advertisement appearing in the current issue of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers' magazine which has over 85,000 subscribers.

As a special inducement to encourage the location of permanent residents in the city, the city commissioners have agreed to work in conjunction with the committee and are offering lots in the Belair subdivision, which have been taken by the city for non-payment of taxes and special assessments, to all railway employees on a pension plan who, according to the terms of a contract recently approved by the commissioners, must build a home on the property at a minimum cost of $2,000 within six months after the contract is tendered.

Engineer Fred T. Williams has been instructed to draw a plat of the subdivision which will be sent to all making the inquiries and from this the pensioners may select a desired location.

Another advertisement is scheduled to appear in the next issue of the magazine.

Father Of Sam Byrd Back From Visit With His Son

W. A. Zachary, step-father of the nationally prominent actor-producer Sam Byrd, returned Tuesday from New York where he spent two days with Sam, and saw him play in John Steinbeck's dramatic production "Of Mice and Men."

Commenting on Sam's latest acting role, Mr. Zachary said "I don't like it." He was referring to the moral tone of the play, not Sam's acting, which he thinks is very good.

When asked what he thought of Sam's time to fame, Mr. Zachary replied that he was proud of him and that he thinks Sam has the biggest theatrical role in New York. He didn't see the play "Of Mice and Men," which first sent Mr. Byrd's name soaring across the country as a sensational new find of the New York stage.

Mr. Zachary said that even though he didn't like the play in which Sam is now appearing, he did like Maxwell Anderson's "The Star Wagon," with Burgess Meredith and Lilian Gish, which he saw at the Empire Theatre, "It's a beautiful play," he said.

Leaving New York, Mr. Zachary said Sam accompanied him to Washington and from there to Hot Springs, where Sam contemplates buying a summer home on Route 200. From there they went to Mount Olive where they visited relatives.

Mr. Zachary and his son parted at Mount Olive, Sam returning to Sanford, which first sent Mr. Byrd's name soaring across the country as a sensational new find of the New York stage.

Capture Of Stations Along 75-Mile Area Of Peiping-Hankow Railroad Reported

Line Is Important For Jap Supplies

Nippon Soldiers Cut Off Retreat Of Chinese Facing Trap

SHANGHAI, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Chinese Red Army units and guerilla bands, the Chinese reported, have captured every station along a 75-mile stretch of the Peiping-Hankow railway behind the Japanese lines in North China.

The Japanese have used the line to feed reinforcements and supplies to their troops.

Japanese forces attempting to push south of the Yellow River were supported by warplanes which bombed China's longest steel bridge to cut off retreat for Chinese troops facing powerful mechanized forces. At the same time the Japanese resumed their long delayed offensive to occupy Shansi province south of Taiyuan, provincial capital.

Advancing rapidly southward along the Peiping-Hankow railway, a Japanese army was said to be threatening to enter several hundred thousand Chinese troops defending the Lunghai railway zone, in the heart of central China.

The Japanese were striving to reach the strategic rail junction of Chingchow, where the Peiping-Hankow line crosses the vital east-west Lunghai railway, and cut off a possible general Chinese withdrawal westward.

Another Japanese army was pushing northward toward the Loughai from the Hwai river area west of Peking and if it gains (Continued on Page Seven)

Columbia's "No Time To Marry" Fun-Filled Film

If you can stop laughing long enough to count them, you find six complete and five funny scenes peering through Columbia's screamingly funny picture, "No Time to Marry," that opens today at the Ritz Theatre. Things go so screwy and haywire at various points in the film that you half expect the goats to blast out a "Hay, naimy, naimy!" and start doing The Big Apple.
Richard Arlen, Mary Astor and Lionel Stander are the main players in this hilarious magazine story by Paul Gallico, and they turn in sparkling performances. So, too, do Virginia Dale, a most winning and beautiful young lady, Margerie Gatson, Theodore Hall, Arlene Loft and others. They're all swell.
Ferry Brown (Arlen), star reporter on The Daily Eagle, and Kay McGowan (Miss Astor), crack sub-editor of the newspaper, are scheduled to get married Christmas Eve. Two hours before the wedding, the city editor finds out that Eleanor Whitney (Miss Dale), Boston heiress, has disappeared. Ferry refuses to go out on the story. Then the managing editor summons him and orders the reporter to obtain two goats immediately, as they're to be a Christmas present.
Ferry promptly gets involved with the heiress and together they go goat-hunting. Ferry's frantic search for the goats, his ewe's heart's getting him out of jail after he kills a goat from the zoo, and countless other honey episodes make "No Time to Marry" a certain cure for the blues.

There was no doubt that Hitler, in forcing the appointment of Nazi sympathizers to the Austrian cabinet, at the same time forced Great Britain and France, occupied with rearming, and obviously unready to go to war now, to decide whether to take a stronger stand in turbulent Europe.
For five years, while nazism and fascism have been climbing to world power, the two democracies have been mild and conciliatory.
Now they are confronted with only two possible policies to pursue regarding the German threat to Austria's independence. They could either make war against Germany to prevent her engulfing the tiny country, or they could by diplomatic means support Austrian Chancellor Schuschnigg in his fight to keep the Nazis from gaining more power.

Talk Of Baseball Fixes Spotlight On Team Outlook

The Deland Reds yesterday announced 10 players the club will engage, or have signed already, for the 1938 season.
In fielder "Nig" Shimer, outfielder Bill Schmidt, and first baseman Bob Jones will be about the only holdovers from last year's team, he said.
Toge said the club now has completed with several rookie pitchers who will be on the bench when the Reds open their season April 10 with a game against Leesburg.
The club's manager, Bootus Chapman, is assisting St. Paul's Manager Babe Conzel at Selma, Ala., in the Santa training camp for youngsters. He plans to bring as many additional players as the Reds need when he leaves Selma for Deland in a few weeks.
Allen "Bucky" Buscher, former four-letter man of the University of Maryland and last year's player-manager of the Newport News club of Virginia who was the semi-pro champion of that area, was appointed manager of the Orlando baseball club for the 1938 season. It was announced by the club owners, F. M. Coffey and Joe Daley, thru Charley Bradley, business manager.
Buscher has had a varied sports career. He starred in football, basketball, baseball, and lacrosse while in school. He was a member of Southern Conference championship in baseball and basketball and is rated as one of the greatest defensive backs the conference has known.
He comes highly recommended by numerous major league owners. He is a first baseman and he has the reputation as essential to getting the best out of young players.
Coffey who is in Washington also mentioned that he was bringing seven five additional prospects who will get try-outs during the Spring training which will start March 16, when pitchers and catchers will arrive. The later arrivals will include the remainder of the club as well as any new prospects, on March 21.
"I expect to show the fans of Orlando a winner this year, and ask only the opportunity to do so," Coffey said.

Symphony Orchestra To Give Third Concert

The third concert of the Symphony Orchestra of Central Florida will be given next Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Winter Park High School Auditorium. Under the conductorship of Alexander Bloch, the orchestra will play three notable compositions, beginning with Arensky's variations for strings on a theme from Tchaikovsky, a characteristically plaintive Russian folk-song.
Next will come the Overture to Mozart's sparkling opera, "The Magic Flute," first performed in Vienna nearly 150 years ago, but in America not until early in the present century (1894) when it introduced it at the Metropolitan.
The feature of the concert, however, will be the C minor, No. 1 symphony of Brahms, which Hans von Bulow called "The Tenth," as the only possible successor to the Immortal Ninth of Beethoven.

Florida's Appeal Was Advertised In Past Centuries

Climate Still Brings Throngs Of Tourists During All Seasons

New York Times

In the midst of the Florida season, historians chuckle over an ancestor of the modern chamber of commerce "lure literature," boasting the flowered land. "A brief description of the Province of Carolina on the coasts of Florida," a London advertising circular of 1669, was recently unearthed in an Annapolis, Md., library.

"Dating from the unconfined days when Florida covered the entire South up to Virginia, the pamphlet reveals that even then Florida publicity was being tried out in such phrases as: 'many sorts of fruit trees,' two crops of Indian corn in one year, and the most temperate climate," says a bulletin from the headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Assurance was offered to 'any maid or single woman' that if they be but civil, end under 20 years of age, some honest man or other will purchase them for their wives."

"Floridians numbered only 34,730 in the first census (1830), after the United States had acquired its southernmost State. But by 1930 the population was up almost 600 per cent. A half-million came to call Florida home during the hectic decade of the Nineteen Twenties, making it one of the fastest growing States in the Union.

"More numerous are the visitors for a week or a season whose legions, according to an unofficial hotel census, during a year outnumber the permanent residents. The vanguard arrives before Christmas, and small invasions from the North take place every month, according to temperature and vacation preference. But a veritable army of occupation is swept down by Northern wintry winds in January. From the Maine coast to the Mississippi, and westward, this annual gold rush in quest of winter sunshine funnels visitors down into the long narrow Florida peninsula, to latitudes farther South than the semi-tropical resort of Bermuda.

"Yachts join the floating population, for which as many as 23,000 boats may register in a year. Air and rail lines hasten the winter colonist to his place in the sun. Highways pour most of the mass migration through Jacksonville, Florida's northern front door, at the rate of one motor car, many with trailers, a minute.

"Oldsters on pensions, who would rather read in the papers about icy pavements back home than slip on them, flock to the State. Young sun-baskers descend on Florida to get 15 degrees farther South than the fashionable European resorts on the Riviera.

Sports fans and wintering base-ball teams go south of the Suwannee to exercise outdoors with sleeves rolled up and collars ajar. The tired business man buys shares of sunshine on the open beach, while Northern newspapers are flown down by air express to keep him in touch with business.

"When the United States acquired this State its price was $2,000,000 less than they paid for Alaska. For swimmers, fishermen, and shorebaskers, Florida offers the longest coastline of any State, no place is more than seventy-five miles from the booming Atlantic surf on the east or the broad blue Gulf of Mexico on the west. The Gulf Stream, sweeping up from the Caribbean and eastward around Florida's tip, lifts east coast winter temperatures a degree or two above those on the west coast.

"The winter trek to Florida is almost as well defined as the Moslem pilgrimage to Mecca. Virtually all routes converge on Jacksonville. Rush vacationists dash on down coast, Miami-wards. More leisurely sunshine fans sift over to the quieter west coast cities. It is easy to compare coasts before making a choice, as railroad tickets down one coast are honored on the short cross-country jaunt to the other without additional cost."

Report Is Read On C. Of C. Activities Over Past Month

Sanford Women's Club in the Community Concert Campaign which was brought to a successful conclusion, and which will give Seminole County a much needed benefit. It is the first time in several years that such a series of concerts has been offered in Seminole County, and the plan has received exceptional enthusiasm.

While our membership campaign has not yet been undertaken, we have received eighty-two advance subscriptions during the month, which is a compliment to our organization.

"At the request of the D. A. R. the Chamber of Commerce is handling all arrangements for the Dedication of Fort Mellon Park and the Tree Planting Ceremonies in honor of Mrs. J. N. Whitner. We are also assisting with other plans for the Annual Founder's Day celebration, which are taking a good deal of work and time, however everything is well underway.

"One of the finest activities of the Chamber of Commerce is the work being carried on by our Railway Employees Retirement Committee of which J. L. Ingley is Chairman. Plans are satisfactory progressing and we look forward to the future for developments of real benefit to all of Seminole County in this connection.

"The Sanford Tourist Club is continuing a very successful season. Weekly meetings are being held, and much has been accomplished in cementing valuable ties which will aid this section in the tourist field. We are still receiving requests for accommodations that are not available and it is regrettable that we are not in position to take care of many of the people who are desirous of stopping in Sanford this year.

"We have received exceptional publicity this month in the promotion of celery through important railroad companies of the east who are featuring this product in their dining cars, with special attention being drawn to the value of celery in the daily menu. We have also distributed many more copies of our folder containing recipes and general information as to the importance of celery as a health food.

"The Chamber of Commerce has been instrumental this month in securing an unusually large amount of free publicity for Seminole County. One of the finest pieces of advertising this section has ever received was through the courtesy of H. L. Glenn who used the BIG TREE as the subject of the frontpiece for the February B. of L. F. & E. Magazine which reaches 87,000 homes in the United States and Canada. An editorial was also carried in the Magazine on this subject, and plans have been completed for the use of a celery field in a future edition. The Atlantic Coast Line News for March & April will honor the City of Sanford on its cover page and will carry a full length story on the attractions of this section.

"Through our endeavor a special party of two hundred from Indiana will be brought to Seminole County on Feb. 22. While it will be difficult to handle a group of that size, they will be shown all major attractions and will be served luncheon in the Mayfair Hotel.

"We have this month written a personal letter to all owners of yachts in Miami waters calling attention to the St. Johns cruise and cordially inviting them to visit the Port of Sanford. One political yacht has already visited Sanford because of this activity and its value alone amply repaid our efforts.

"Several petty rackets have been suppressed through our activity, saving a good deal of embarrassment and money for Seminole County residents.

"Your president appeared with a Seminole County delegation before the January meeting of the Florida State Road Department in connection with needed improvements to highways in this county. Your president and secretary attended seventeen meetings during January in the interest of the Chamber of Commerce. Those in attendance at last night's meeting included: Gordon Barnett, S. O. Shinboler, J. L. Ingley, F. W. Talbot, R. F. Cooper, R. F. King, Mrs. Prudence Brano, J. contact with Japan's northern armies the Japanese will have accomplished their purpose in closing the bottleneck of the Lanchow corridor.

TIN CAN TOURISTS PITCH CAMP IN CONVENTION

There were indications, however, that the Japanese gains were still far from the decisive stage. The Chinese reported they had pressed a counter-offensive in the Wenshang-Taining sector, some 200 miles east of the Peiping-Hankow front, and had blocked the advance of another Japanese army toward the Lanchow.

In their campaign to conquer the rich central China agricultural region, with its all-important railway network, the Japanese sent five separate armies down from the north, along a 500-mile front extending westward from the gulf of Chihli to the Peiping-Hankow railway.

Three other armies, driving northward from the Shanghai-Nanking region, fought their way across the Hwai river in the Pengpu sector and struck north toward the Lanchow line.

Austria Rumbles With Opposition As Nazis Push Drive

Monarchists, Socialists, Jews And Catholics Unite In Opposing Hitlerites

British Confer With Dino Grandi Austrian Industrialists Are Fearful Of Business Depression

Nazified Austria today rumbled with opposition. Great Britain hinted she would not watch idly the Hitlerization of Central Europe as Germany went ahead to extend her domination of Austria.

In Austria there was talk of raising barricades. Diverse groups, all fearful of National Socialist plans, found common ground in anti-Nazism. Monarchists, their hope of empire glimmering, met to formulate an agreement with the Socialists, irreconcilable enemies of Nazism. The Fatherland Front, Austria's only legal political party, cried out for a voice in Austria's destinies and was rebuffed by Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg.

The tough Strunkorps, anti-Naz troops, were announced. Catholics feared the Nazi influence was a blow to them. Jews were alarmed. Finance feared the flight of capital.

Industrialists feared that international business with Germany might be hampered. These fears were fed by authoritative German reports between Germany.

Gordon Barnett Seeks Re-Election To Legislature

Gordon Barnett, Seminole County Representative, today announced his candidacy for re-election in Group No. 2, subject to the Democratic Primary in May. Mr. Barnett, for 16 years a resident of Seminole County, is a fern grower and the founder of Fern Park, the fast growing fern center in the southern end of the County.

In a statement given to the Herald, Mr. Barnett said: "I would like you to announce that I am a candidate for re-election to the Legislature in Group Two. As a result of the experience gained in serving in the last House and the associations made with my fellow-members, many of whom will be back for the next session, I feel that I can render good service to the people of this county if re-elected. And I would like to carry on in my previous efforts to reduce the costs of our State Government. With many other good men in the 1937 House, I fought against needless spending, and our work saved the taxpayers many hundreds of thousands of dollars, and enabled the State to get by for another two years without a Sales Tax."

"I have the official record of the House and it is open to any one interested. I was glad to be able to help meet the Old Age Security Program for Florida, to help obtain financial security for the Public School System, to improve the terms of Workmen's Compensation and to secure enactment of all legislation requested by the County and City Commissioners. Every session, day or night, and we often worked 'til one and two in the morning'—I was at my desk to take care of the interests of the people of Seminole County, trying to do things the way I thought the folks back home would want them done.

Government May Begin Purchases Of Celery Soon

Control Committee To Convene Tonight To Consider Proration

As yet no definite information regarding government purchases of Florida's surplus celery has been received but it is generally believed the purchases through the Surplus Commodities Corporation will not begin until next week. J. C. Lettice, secretary of the Florida Celery Industry Control Committee, stated today adding that he had hoped that purchases would begin yesterday.

Additional information regarding the government purchases and possibly definite information from Washington headquarters will be available for the meeting of the Control Committee in the Meisch Building tonight. Mr. Lettice said, at which time the Control Committee will also decide on proration of available celery for the coming week.

The 75 percent proration declared effective during the current week reduced the carlot shipments from the State to 298 cars as compared with 426 allowed by the 90 percent proration of the previous week and although those close to the industry say that the drastic proration has not had time to effect the terminal markets to any degree, according to the daily celery bulletin printed by the Florida State Market News Service, general market conditions yesterday showed slight improvement.

Celery shipment to date this week are considerably lower than for the same period of the previous week which, it is hoped, will result in a considerable reduction in the car holdings at the terminal markets. As a result of a voluntary agreement on the part of shippers, to limit shipments as much as possible for Wednesday, only 25 cars of the commodity were moved from the State on that day.

Practically all shippers during the current week, Mr. Lettice reported, have withheld from shipment sizes below to dozen per crate partly because of the heavy prorate but chiefly because of a voluntary agreement made by shippers at the last meeting of the Control Committee.

It was indicated that it is a practice will probably continue until better prices are paid for the small sizes.

Farmers Credit Group Reports Banner Year

Association Extends Over Six Hundred Thousand Dollars In Credit To Farmers

Reports submitted by officers and directors of the Sanford Production Credit Association at the annual stockholders meeting in the City Hall Wednesday indicated that the farmers co-operative organization experienced the most successful year in its existence. S. E. Andrews, secretary-treasurer of the Association, said today.

The reports revealed that the organization had made 209 loans during the past year, and that a total amount of $607,311.50 was lent to farmers during the past year, an amount nearly double the figure for 1937.

The local organization, according to the annual report, was organized in December of 1933 and during the first year lent $90,130.00 and the success of the organization is shown in the annual increase of loans. In 1935 the organization lent $197,758.25; in 1936, a total of $381,485.09 and during the past year over $600,000.

At the conclusion of the business session, J. K. Tiddy, secretary of the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia, S. C., addressed the large attendance of stockholders present at the meeting stressing the fact that the association is a permanent, dependable, source of credit for responsible farmers organized on a co-operative basis.

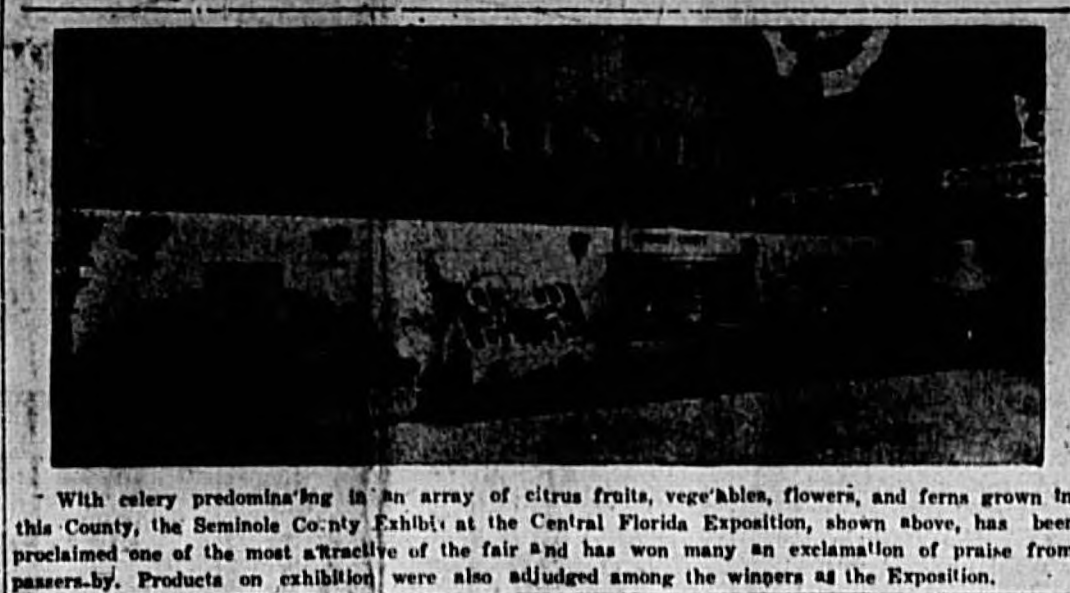

Mr. Tiddy declared that these associations have systematized farm financing; are farmer controlled; and are free from speculation.

Rev. Williams Speaks On Why Jesus Died

Each night the attendance at the Presbyterian Church increases as those who have heard Rev. John R. Williams tell their friends, church officials reported today.

Speaking on "Why Did Jesus Die?" Rev. Williams carried his listeners through the crucifixion and the resurrection, the Garden of Eden and sin of Adam and Eve and then to the time when the death of Jesus again reconciled the Lord to his people after they had sinned.

"Even in this topsy turvy world of today with all our troubles and sorrows and uncertainties," the speaker said, "the Lord is still our refuge and his sacrifice of this only begotten son gives us strength and courage to keep up the fight against sin. It is only without sin that we can seek the Kingdom of Heaven and Jesus is ever with us to strengthen us in our every day life amid the trials and tribulations that seem to beset us on every side."

Tonight Rev. Williams will preach on "Types of Conversion."

Mrs. Elvira Garner

Mrs. Garner, who will be one of the contributors to the Rollins Animated Magazine when it is published Sunday afternoon, as a Founder's Week feature, is the author of "Flicker," one of the fastest-selling books on the best-seller lists.

Effort Will Be Made To Restore Much Valuable Property To City Tax Rolls

Taxes Prior To '34 To Be Compromised

A far-reaching movement to encourage the payment of delinquent taxes and to restore to the tax rolls many thousands of dollars worth of city property on which the taxes have not been paid in many years was launched by the City Commissioners today.

In a statement released for publication this morning Mayor Ed Higgins brought to the attention of local property owners a plan formulated by the City Commission which proposes the cancellation of all taxes prior to 1934 on all vacant property within the city limits in consideration of the payment of 1934 taxes and all taxes levied since then.

On improved property within the city limits the Commission proposes the settlement of all taxes prior to 1934 on the basis of ten cents on the dollar with the cancellation of all interest prior to 1934, and in consideration of the payment of taxes levied since then.
