Voluntarily Appears Before Committee and Declares That He Was Not the "Principal" Referred in the Telegrams to McLean as Washington Newspaper Man—Testified on Friday.

BENNETT REFUSES TO TESTIFY FURTHER IN THE MATTER WHEN RECALLED TO STAND DECLARING THAT HE DID NOT DESIRE TO PASS THE "SCANDAL" ON FURTHER

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—Senator Curtis of Kansas, assistant Republican leader in the senate, came voluntarily Saturday before the oil committee to refute the testimony of Ira E. Bennett that he was the person referred to as the "principal" in one of Bennett's telegrams to McLean at Palm Beach.

The telegram dispatched Jan. 29 said Bennett had seen "the principal" and added there would be "no rocking of the boat and no resignations" but that a reaction was expected from unwarranted political attacks.

When recalled to the stand, Bennett said he had conversations with Curtis but would not relate them unless compelled to do so. He did not want to spread "scandal."

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—Testimony directly linking Attorney General Daugherty with the effort to prevent the recalling of Edward B. McLean as the witness stand was given Friday before the oil committee.

Ira E. Bennett, an editorial writer on the Washington Post, testified that the attorney general had told him on the day McLean was summoned to Washington to tell the publisher "not to worry."

Bennett also told the committee that Senator Curtis of Kansas, the assistant Republican leader in the senate, was the man mentioned as the "principal" in one of the telegrams sent to McLean at Palm Beach.

BOAT RACES AT MOUNT DORA TO BE HELD TODAY

Annual Regatta Sponsored by Mount Dora Yacht Club Draws Large Crowd of Enthusiasts Today

The annual regatta sponsored by the Mt. Dora Yacht Club will be held this afternoon and much interest centers in this event which has successfully been held for the past few years. Yachting enthusiasts in this vicinity and all over the state are looking with keen interest the outcome of the numerous races that will take place.

Mt. Dora is packed with visitors according to reports coming from that city. Hundreds of visitors in cars will visit there this afternoon from the many neighboring towns. A few people from this city have planned to attend the affair.

Last year it is conservatively estimated that 6,000 persons witnessed the affair, and each and every one of this group of spectators seemed to be more than well pleased with the presentation.

Today, if the plans of the committee carry through, the event will be a gala one. No expense has been spared in the attempt to make the regatta the best that has ever been given Florida.

The program which will be followed this afternoon and which will open, according to an announcement by the regatta committee, this afternoon at 1:30 includes the following events: Sailing race; water sports, which will include women and men's canoe racing, women and men's war canoe racing, canoe tilting, swimming races, super-skidboard stunts and fishermen's pig bait casting contests (this event is to be participated in mainly by Hollins College mermaids and "mermistresses"); kicker race; handicap race, open to all boats; 15-mile class handicap; 181-mile class handicap; 20-mile class handicap; express cruiser race; 25-mile class handicap and a free-for-all: In this event boats must show speed of 30 miles per hour to qualify. The winning of this race also carries with it the championship of the inland waterways of Florida and in addition the Heim cup will be awarded conditionally to the winner. The final event on the slate is a free-for-all displacement boats. The races, it is announced, are being run under the rules of the American Power Boat Association.

Bennie Hill Named Second Driver For Indianapolis Race

INDIANAPOLIS, Mar. 7.—Bennie Hill, diminutive scion of speed, is the second driver to be announced as a competitor in the international 500-mile race to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next May 30. Hill's entry in a Miller special has been accepted and it is simultaneously announced that Hill will be up on car No. 3, being the third entry in the coming classic.

"Little Bennie," as he is affectionately known wherever present-day speed creations are discussed, drove in last year's 500-mile race, which was won by Tommy Milton, in an H. C. S. special, but he was forced out bright and early with engine trouble.

Hill is one of the outstanding examples of fearlessness in automobile racing. He was not prominently considered as a dangerous competitor until after he suffered a sensational spill in a race—an experience that would have sent many a driver to the grandstand for the remainder of his days.

It was during a short exhibition event at Indianapolis when Hill, at the wheel of one of Luis Chevrolet's Frontenacs, speeded too rapidly around the first dangerous turn on the Hoosier course, hurled the safety retaining wall without touching, rode 75 feet through space in the runaway and landed a prisoner beneath the overturned car, his body cut and slashed and his bones broken. His mechanic, Henry Frank, escaped without a mark, thrown clear of the wreckage as the car landed. For weeks Hill remained immovable in a hospital, maintaining an optimistic and cheerful outlook that has endeared him to all racegoers.

Despite his announced ambition to return to the track as soon as he was discharged from the hospital, his close friends admitted at the time that he never would be able to race again—that his nerve would be shattered. But true to his promise, Hill did go back to the speedway shortly after his release from the hospital and started a sensational winning streak that put him at the top of the heap of better American drivers.

CANDLER CASE

Mrs. Byfield testified that she and her husband were close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Candler and that during the spring of 1922, Mr. Candler suggested a trip to Europe. He planned, according to Mrs. Byfield, to take his two daughters and invited the Byfields to join the party. He later made financial arrangements for the Byfields to make the trip.

Just prior to sailing for Cherbourg, France, on board the Berengaria, Mrs. Byfield testified that Mr. Candler suggested to her husband that it would be best for him to stay at home, to which both she and her husband refused to listen.

Last Night Out.

"On the last night out," she said, "a champagne dinner was given by members of their party." She testified that at 2:30 o'clock in the morning she retired after being escorted to her state room by her husband, who returned to the party.

"Is that you, Walter," Mrs. Byfield stated she asked a man whom she had seen slip into the darkened state room, adding that she knew it could not be her husband as he would have turned on the lights.

The only reply from the man whom she said she recognized as being Candler was that "he placed his hands on my shoulders." "He would not leave the room when I ordered him to," the witness continued.

"Yes, and after he saw Candler, he became enraged, I said:

"Darling, I'm glad you came. But my husband struck me in the face. He struck me a number of blows, perhaps eight or ten, as hard as he could hit me."

Mrs. Byfield stated that Candler fell to the floor when her husband entered the state room and claimed, "Clyde, I'm drunk." She denied that Candler came to her during the beating administered her by Byfield, but admitted "smashed my husband in the nose so hard that blood came. And the two men began to fight."

F. Whitner Reviews New York Fair Expressing Thanks for Co-Operation

By B. F. Whitner, Jr. The educational value of the wonderful collection of Florida products, as displayed in Madison Square Garden for a week, would be hard to over-estimate. The vast majority of people in and around New York City, have no conception of Florida, nor of its products. Many of them thought it was a wild morass, with very few civilized inhabitants, and no good roads, schools, hospitals, churches or conveniences. Before the exposition opened its doors, they believed that most of the citrus fruits came from California, and the celery from Kalamazoo. The exhibits were an eye-opener to most of them. They were astonished at the varied products, and their excellence. Citrus, sugar cane and vegetables attracted the most attention. If any one product received more publicity than any other one product, it was celery as displayed and given away at the Seminole county booth. More than a car load was given away, along with a book of celery recipes. Everywhere in New York, it seemed, could be seen someone going home with a bunch of celery. In the subway, the elevated, in the street cars, and on the streets, people were carrying celery, and everybody asked where it came from. The general manager of the exposition was of the opinion that the celery was distributed was the "greatest single advertisement, of the whole state exposition. Many requests have been coming in already for additional copies of the pamphlet of recipes for celery. The booth of Seminole county was kept unusually attractive by systematic replacement, at short intervals, with fresh vegetables of all sorts and with beautiful ferns and flowers. Everything was changed except the citrus which stood nicely for the period of a week. The booth was fully as attractive at the end of the last day as it was when the exposition opened. Much comment was aroused by the wonderful display of preserves and honey set off to good advantage by a number of strong lights behind them. The booth as a whole was the brightest spot in the garden, lighted as it was by an additional 1200 candle power from behind the arch of fern and flowers. Much favorable comment appeared in the newspapers of the big metropolis about the exposition, and Seminole county's booth came in for its full share. The all-Florida products dinner, given for the representatives of the New York press, also was the subject of much favorable comment, and again Seminole got, and deserved her share of the publicity. On Washington's birthday 15,000 school children were marched through the garden, and their teachers and those in charge of the various exhibits, explained the various exhibits to them. Undoubtedly those kiddies learned a great deal more about Florida, in a practical way that day, than they would in their whole common school education, from their histories and geographies. Ten times that many adults came to see the exposition, and surely there is a better understanding in New York City of the real conditions and real opportunities that Florida offers.

LIMIT FOR TAX REFUND ON 1918 INCOMES SHORT

Those Who Overpaid On Incomes In 1918 Must File Claims By Mar. 15

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 8.—Did you over-pay your income tax in the year 1918? Do you know that the time limit in making claim for a refund expires on the 15th of the present month? Frank Hempstead, well known tax counsellor of Atlanta and Washington, has called attention to this important feature of the federal income tax acts. "If a taxpayer has any reason to believe that he over-paid his income taxes for the year 1918, it is imperative that he immediately file a claim for refund before Mar. 15, 1921, with the collector of his district, so that he automatically opens an avenue of extending the time in which to adjust his claims," said Mr. Hempstead. The first installment of the income tax for last year will also be due Mar. 15, when Uncle Sam, according to tax experts, will probably be richer by half a billion dollars. Regularly thereafter, at quarterly periods, equal sums will be paid on personal incomes and profits. Two billions of dollars—and enough more to build two battleships—were received by the national treasury from these sources in the last fiscal year. Even more may be expected in 1924. A great army of more than 7,000,000 wage earners are walking up to Uncle Sam's windows to pay their assessed share toward the expenses of the government. There is more than one in every six of all gainfully employed persons more than 10 years of age. Five millions of them will be paying taxes on incomes between $1,000 and $5,000, and nearly another million on incomes between $4,000 and $14,000.

Gest and Fairbanks Sign to Show "Thief of Bagdad" Opera

NEW YORK CITY, Mar. 8.—The photo-opera, a distillation of the best available in films as set to full operatic score by a leading American composer, has been brought into existence through the signing of a contract here by Douglas Fairbanks and Morris Gest. The terms of the contract call for Mr. Gest's directing and presenting "The Thief of Bagdad," in which Fairbanks plays the film hero. Both artists expressed themselves as delighted with their new partnership. Heretofore Mr. Gest has refused to give up the theater, while Mr. Fairbanks has reserved his activities for the screen. The contract represents a compromise satisfactory to both, thanks to the intervention of Mortimer Wilson, composer and former guest conductor of the Philharmonic Orchestra. The composer has handled his theme exactly as though it were intended for production at the Metropolitan. The photo-opera took 16 months to complete. Mr. Wilson kept busy all this time writing the music, while the enormously large cast acted before his eyes. The Oriental play, which is to open at the Liberty Theater on St. Patrick's Day, had cost several millions of dollars to produce, Mr. Fairbanks asserted. "I am very happy to be of help in this presentation," Mr. Gest said. "I have given to New York its Russian nights, through the Chauve-Souris, and its Italian Moscow Art Theater and the night through Eleonora Duse. Now I am going to give the city its Arabian nights."

Untermeyer Thinks Hardee Appoints State Should Send Bryan As Delegate Ft. Myers Meeting

PALM BEACH, Mar. 8.—Samuel Untermeyer, noted New York attorney, issued a statement from his home here in which he declared it was "unthinkable that the Democratic party of Florida could be so dominated by corporations, ridden by railroads and their newspapers, as to lose the opportunity to be represented by so outstanding a national figure, whose presence as a delegate would add so greatly to the prestige of the state in the convention." Mr. Untermeyer was referring to the National Democratic Convention in New York in June and to a strong move within Florida to keep Mr. Bryan from becoming a delegate. The statement was made after Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and their daughter, Mrs. Harrgrave, had had luncheon at the Untermeyer home. The statement continues: "The Democratic party in Florida would disgrace itself if it permitted itself to be coaxed or bullied by the interests in Florida into rejecting a man who had been three times its candidate for president and who has contributed and will always as long as he lives a great moral force in the country. "Whether we agree or disagree with his economic views or policies is quite beside the question. The advice of a public man with a following such as his cannot be ignored without the most unfavorable implications as to the force of the affront thus put up-

Mr. Brown will join the motorcade at Brooksville and will officially participate in all of its serial meetings, and particularly in the dedication of the new one and one-half mile long bridge across the Caloosahatchee river at Fort Myers, on the morning of the 12th; and likewise in addressing the First Annual Convention of the Tamiami Trail Association to be held that day on the Lee county fair grounds in East Fort Myers. Under the direction of the Kiwanis Club of Brooksville, a delicious chicken picnic will be served to the motorcaders at about 1:30 p. m., Monday, Mar. 10, with 10 on him and his followers. This is especially true in these troublous times when corruption is rearing its ugly head throughout the land and when courage, character and sincerity are so essential in public leadership."

(House A-61)
— A UNIQUE HOUSE FOR A CITY LOT —

What is more gratifying than a possession of distinction? Something that stands out among its neighbors? Of course you do not want a Frankish house; but one whose lines and character are artistic and unusual, is sure to please. And when the house is so planned that it can be built on a fifty foot lot, with ample space around it to provide a proper setting, it is more than desirable.

The house shown herewith combines the unique, the artistic and the compact.
Of cream colored stucco, on hollow tile construction, it forms with its warm green trimmings, a delightful harmony with the foliage and grass.

The individual and attractive entrance porch strikes a note of character, and is worthy of study. On entry directly into the large living room a fireplace with its cheerful fire bids one a really warm welcome in the chilly days, and a long window box under the row of windows in the front, makes the room cool and dainty in the summer, when geraniums and hanging vines bloom within it.

A generous dining room opens from the living room. A kitchen, fully equipped and a pantry with cupboards that would delight the heart of any housewife, complete the first floor.
One finds on the second floor, three good bed rooms, with plenty of closets; and small paneled windows that admit the wholesome air and sunshine make these rooms healthful and cheery.
A tiled bath with its built-in tub, a large linen closet and a hall, complete the second floor.

Truly, this is a home that anyone would find delightful to live in. A place where one could have all the comforts and conveniences that the word "Home" implies.
Cost about $7,600.
Complete working plans and specifications of this house may be obtained for a nominal sum from the Building Editor. Refer to House A-61.

LOCKING OUT THE WEATHER WITH Genasco
TATITE ASPHALT SHINGLES
For Resurfacing Old Roofs
Genasco Latite Shingles can be laid directly over a roof of old, worn out wooden shingles.
There is no need to rip off the cracked, twisted shingles.
Because of their distinctive design and the Key, Genasco Latite Shingles lock as securely into place on top of old shingles as they do on a new, smooth roof surface. The double surface with their pleasing shadow line, conceal the irregularities of the surface.
The saving to the owner of the building is considerable since the cost of labor is greatly reduced.
Leaving the old roof in place not only protects the home from storms which may occur while the new roof is being applied, but it makes a warmer house in winter and a cooler house in summer.
And last but not least, you save considerable on your fire insurance as the rate on Genasco Latite Shingles is considerably less than on wooden shingles.

Bible Thought for Today: The Fourth Commandment: Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested on the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it.—Exodus 20:8-11.

COMFORT: By Vernon Healey. When the "wax" without" are muddy. And are clogged with mire, I love the glamor ruddy Of an open fire.

Go to Church tomorrow. This is what we call real Florida weather!

Sanford's churches have a message for you. Do not fail to attend service tomorrow.

Visitors arriving on the Clyde Line steamers should be shown about the city. Many prospective residents come every week.

Press reports from many sections of the state indicate a rising sentiment for F. E. Jennings. It's beginning to look like Mr. Jennings will be our next governor.

Great activity is noted in the celery fields throughout the county. With good weather and rising prices growers have every reason to be happy.

West Palm Beach is going after one thousand new members for her Chamber of Commerce. This shows the right spirit. West Palm Beach is destined to become one of Florida's greatest cities.

Every day brings announcement of new million dollar hotels for Florida. No matter how many are built this summer Florida will be unable to take care of the crowds next winter.

Apopka should be proud of her newspaper, The Apopka Chief, published in that thriving little city in Orange county. The Chief has just moved into its new home in the heart of the business section.

Orlando's recent failed and after years of political strife it is possible that there will be quiet for a time. No city ever gets anywhere by wasting all its energy in political scraps.

The President has informed the Philippine independence mission that the time is not ripe for the independence of the Philippines. The world has not yet been made safe for democracy as far as the administration is concerned.

Mr. Haines will not run for governor. We don't blame him as he has a greater opportunity to serve the state. There are plenty of lesser lights who can fill the governor's seat. Let Mr. Haines have his time to help develop Florida.

Hundreds of north-bound tourists who have spent a few months in Florida cities south of Sanford, pass through the city every day. Why not ask them to spend a week in Sanford? At least speak a good word to these people. Many will be returning next fall.

Jacksonville is wisely extending a cordial invitation to tourists returning home to visit that city. Now that the leading railroads have extended their winter schedules the tourist season will be much longer and therefore much more profitable.

Samuel Untermyer deplors the fact that the corporation newspapers of the state are trying to fool the people again this year as they did in 1912 when Florida voted for Underwood and against Woodrow Wilson. Floridians have learned a few things since then. Not much chance for Oscar this time.

A Time to Check Up.

Wednesday marked the beginning of Lent. This period lasts until Easter Sunday, April 20, and is a season of fasting and special prayer for many professing the Christian faith. During this special season of religious observance the renewal of vows to the church and the serious thought on matters pertaining to religious life occupies much of the time of Christian people.

In Sanford special services are being held in some of the churches while many social functions are being dispensed with during the Lenten season. In the Roman Catholic Church the forty day period is very generally given to self-denial and more than usual attention is given to devotional services. In the Episcopal Church Lent is observed with perhaps a little less formality but with more emphasis being placed on its observance. Other denominations pay particular attention to the Lenten period, it being observed more or less strictly in practically all Christian churches.

"That the observance of Lent came about through a desire to devote a particular season to introspection, prayer and physical discipline is well understood, the example recorded in the Gospels being taken as a most suitable explanation of the occasion and time indicated," says The Times-Union. "The very general attention given to Lent is recognized as acceptance of the necessity for at least an annual check upon self-indulgence, the call being for mental reserve and physical restraint. It no doubt serves to bring back to normal, millions who have allowed themselves to become selfish in the pursuit of pleasure and millions more who would have overworked their bodies in the indulgence of their appetites."

Coming as it does in the Spring when in many sections of the country the first signs of outdoor life are appearing and everyone begins making new plans for activity, Lent brings the suggestion of a new period of Christian life when people should stop and consider their religious plans. It suggests a new start in Christian living and the beginning of new and greater efforts for things that count.

The observance of Lent varies widely among different religionists but Christian people as a rule acknowledge the excellence of the plan for a season of stock taking. No matter how good a person may be there are none who do not need time for reflection and correction of their lives.

It is well for us to have a period in each year when we take an inventory of just how we stand. Life today is a rush and a hurry with little time or thought given to the great and important things in life. The making of money, the building of big businesses, the growth of communities, the general scramble to be considered successful, together with the pleasure mad, social life takes most of the time of the people. There doesn't seem to be the time to do lasting labor in the work that counts in the long run. Very little effort is put forth in making the religious life more telling and the church activities more resultful.

If during this Lenten period some time is devoted to religious thought and works of charity and benevolence, the general conditions of Christians and the work of the churches will be greatly improved. Forty days pass quickly. The Lenten season will soon be over. The proper observance of this great religious season will without any doubt result in making for better Christian lives.

A Seminole County Citizen's Gift.

Charles D. Haines, of Altamonte Springs, has offered to the newspaper men of the country, through the Florida State Press Association a gift of $10,000 in cash and property worth $150,000 for the purpose of providing a home for aged newspaper workers and for the creation and endowment of a school of journalism. The property is located at Altamonte Springs and consists of many acres of bearing fruit trees as well as a combination club house and theatre all completely furnished and equipped.

Mr. Haines has been a newspaper owner and publisher and he has always felt a warm affection for the profession and a high regard for newspaper men. In making this proposition to the Florida State Press "Without strings" he is carrying out plans he has contemplated for several years but which he did not care to make public while a candidate for the nomination of governor. Since he has decided that he cannot devote the necessary time to his candidacy or to the proper conduct of the office should he be elected, he makes this announcement.

There could be no finer location for a Florida School of Journalism than at Altamonte Springs. There are such delightful surroundings there as can be found in no other section. And when the Florida State Press Association accepts Mr. Haines' gift at their meeting next month in Cocon, Seminole county will become known as the location of this fine institution through the generosity of one of its big hearted citizens.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE Chautauqua for this city during the latter part of March has undoubtedly been received with much favorable thought by the people of this community desirous of attending high class and worth while entertainments. Those citizens who are back of the movement to bring some of the best talent in entertainment and educational matters to this section are to be commended for their interest in this project. The entertainments are deserving of good support by the people of Sanford and vicinity. The numbers which are printed on the programs that are advertised are above the average and doubtless the promoters of this chautauqua will meet with a ready response by the people here.

T. T. REESE, member of the state democratic executive committee from West Palm Beach is quoted by the Post as saying that the meeting of the state committee at Jacksonville Friday will be a Underwood meeting. "They won't favor Bryan, if they do I'll kick the meeting to pieces." This is but a sample of the intolerance of many of Underwood's supporters in Florida. "Play my way or I don't play" seems to be their motto. It was this very policy on the part of the state committee a few years ago that came near disrupting the party.

THAT PLEAS HOLT, political "fixer" of Jacksonville and manager of the John Martin and Oscar Underwood booms, was in town last week getting things lined up. A lot of politicians hereabouts are betting that his stooped ear-to-the-ground gumshoe work was more efficacious than the flowery addresses made last week before the women voters by Worth Trammell and Frank Jennings, two other aspirants.—Miami Life.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

Cissis Loftus, the gifted English impersonator, has been giving a present visit in America to a story of a five-year-old boy who as a special treat, was sent to spend the week-end at the country-place of a friend of his parents. On the first evening of his visit everything passed off very pleasantly until the hour came for the small guest to retire. Then a disturbing situation arose. It developed that his mother, in packing her

THERE IS plenty of News today, friends, Romans, countrymen, so please lend your ears. LaFollette's friends will put him at the head of a third presidential ticket. He is willing and a little more. That's the latest politics.

WHAT WOULD happen with LaFollette running as an independent Republican against Coolidge as the regular Republican? That situation would find some of our "best minds" with the dollar mark in front of their minds, eagerly looking for a "safe" Democrat, to whom they might transfer their affection from the Republican party.

IT'S TO be a mixed campaign. You hear a great deal about Roosevelt as a Democratic candidate and much about Copeland. If Al Smith should get the nomination it would puzzle the financial "best minds," not that those financial big minds object to Al Smith or have any religious prejudice. On the contrary, they would grapple him to their souls with hoops of steel. Only they are afraid he might not stay grappled. His nomination would be an experiment.

MILLIONS MORE in gold came to this country Wednesday, sent to Mr. Mitchell's National City Bank in New York. The more the merrier. It is suggested that when we get all the gold Europe will demonetize gold and try something else. There is nothing to that. You may dethrone the Caliph of all the Moslems but you can't dethrone old King Gold.

THE MOHAMMEDANS of India by the way, are very much worked up about the Caliph and want a new one in his place. Your jungle savage, banging his head on the ground before a wooden idol, with green teeth, purple eyes and a pink nose, insists on his idol. Take it away and he loses faith. Mohammedans insist on having somebody here to represent Allah and Mohammed. They will make trouble for Kemal Pasha.

MEANWHILE THE kicked-out Caliph has sadly set out for Switzerland, taking only two wives and one son. He couldn't come here because only one wife could pass our virtuous frontier. You couldn't reasonably ask a Caliph to drop down from many wives and eight hundred concubines to one single wife. What if she got a cold or broke her leg?

HOUSEWIVES FOR miles around flock to Newton, N. J., to see Mrs. William Tenion's "little boy" just born and weighing nine pounds. Such a baby is interesting, but, you as yourself, why does conjuncture send a nine-pound baby to a human mother weighing one hundred and thirty pounds, and a nine-ounce baby to a female bear weighing three hundred pounds? There's a good reason of course, but who can understand it?

H. G. WELLS tells school teachers—"Shy and retiring souls," he calls them—to "buck up; to be arrogant and take hold of the world." He says teachers alone can improve life. That's true and that is what they have been doing ever since teaching began.

IF TEACHERS from Socrates, Aristotle and Plato, to the young woman that teaches your little boy in the public school, hadn't "taken hold of the world," civilization wouldn't be where it is now. And, by the way, if the Catholic Church had not established great universities in the Middle Ages, science wouldn't be where it is now.

HUGH A. DARCY, who wrote that sad poem, "The Face on the Bar Room Floor," celebrated his eighty-first birthday Wednesday. Perhaps you know the poem. Anyhow, it's too bad to print here. It will surprise you to learn that Mr. Darcy does not believe in prohibition. He says: "I have been drinking moderately ever since I was twenty years old." That makes sixty-one years, and he says prohibition has made more hard drinkers than there ever were before. He thinks there is what the French call a juste milieu between falling dead on the bar room floor and trying to invite your souls by drinking soda pop.

NOTICE TO American shoemakers! Your German brothers have an idea. They make shoes with uppers of platted leather strips. That makes tighter lacing possible and makes thick ankles look thinner.

THERE IS profit in such shoes although women are foolish to hate thick ankles as they do. The great Bertha whose name appears in Villon's poem about "The Shows of Yesteryear," had very thick ankles and very big feet, but she was the mother of Charlemagne. That's better than having very thin ankles and being the mother of a lounge lizard.

HOW LONG will it take bankers to understand that more automobiles mean not extravagance, but more efficiency, more health, more saving of time, higher production at less cost; longer life? Every dollar that bankers put into automobile production is a dollar invested in greater prosperity and greater happiness. Isn't that a good investment? Bankers wouldn't worry if they found corn fields producing more corn. Why worry because automobile factories are producing more automobiles?

Too Much Of A Good Thing

A SATURDAY EVENING SERMON

BY W. J. CARPENTER, D. D.

The investigations into the conduct of prominent men now going on at Washington have aroused the entire country to a pitch of excitement equalled only by the scandal of the Credit Mobilier of some years ago.

If these and other investigations are not stopped by political expediency, or the expenditure of large sums of money, or by the personal influence of wealthy men, there will be revealed a condition of things which will make our people blush with shame.

Let not the ordinary man think for one moment that all crookedness belongs to the wealthy class; for there are as clean and honest men among those who handle great wealth as there are to be found anywhere. The fact is crookedness and dishonesty are not confined to any one class of men.

These rotten conditions exist too extensively. The average man finds it difficult to believe in the unquestioned integrity of many business men. It seems there is sweeping the country a wave of graft, deceit, dishonesty, and questionable dealing, such as we have not had for years.

There is a woeful lack of deep convictions with reference to Bible truths. Allegiance to God in all of life's relations is not as clearly exhibited as it should be. Men think God is rich like themselves. They have drifted away from the consciousness that "The All-seeing Eye of God" is upon them; that every thought and act is open and known to God.

They have transferred God into a mere idea or principle, or I have almost forgotten he is a Person, and a principle or idea has no power unless lodged in a personality. God is present in his world, knows every thought and purpose. "I am that I am." Sinful men cannot escape him. "Be sure thy sin shall find thee out" is written in thousands of experiences, and blazoned on the nose of almost every newspaper in the country.

During the World War we let down the moral bars so low that we came near losing our grip on the great fundamentals of faith. We shamelessly deserted the Sabbath, and excused ourselves by saying, "We must win the war."

The People's Forum

Editor The Herald: Will you allow me to say in the columns of The Herald that by published appeal to Mayor Lake to protect Sanford's taxi drivers against certain threats, published on a front page notice of The Herald, was, unfortunately, so inconspicuously presented in type and location as to make the appeal inefficient. It failed to attract the common reader. I did feel, and you did likewise, that I was saying the right thing at the right time, that which was worthy of public notice and entitled to command Mayor Lake's active attention. I believe even more so now. If two unknown men under cover of night and with threats, order law-abiding citizens to discontinue any kind of licensed employment, and such lawless characters be allowed to so officiously unnoticed, the taxi drivers ignored, what is Sanford citizenship worth? Respectfully yours, C. H. LEFFLER.

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT, National Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—A "straight shooter," literally, is Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa, who heads the special committee investigating alleged derelictions of Atty. Gen. Harry M. Daugherty in the conduct of the department of justice.

If Brookhart can hit the bull's-eye in the investigation with half the certainty he can knock 'em out on the rifle range, he'll establish a record for senatorial marksmanship. Most congressional inquiries aim high, but somehow miss the target.

As a four-time president of the American Rifle Association, former international rifle champion and director of marksmanship for the whole American army in the late war, Brookhart is recognized by those in "the know" as a man of steady nerves, keen vision, calm judgment and an intuition, sense of when to squeeze the trigger. And those very qualities, it is suggested, may be no small assistance to him in gunning for game, big or little, in the department of justice round-up.

A squat, broad-shouldered, powerfully-built man, physically, with weather-lined, smooth-shaven face, tousled brown hair and slightly squinty but pleasant eyes, Brookhart suggests the deer rather than the thinker. There is a bit of bulldog about his jaw. What he sets his teeth in he holds, tenaciously.

Although a lawyer by profession, Brookhart is a farmer by choice and so describes himself. He feels the soil—likes to dig in it, feel it, smell it. Brookhart is no orator. But there is a blunt sincerity about his speech that carries conviction where fine phrases would fail. His political enemies have attacked him as a "radical." But his radicalism is economic, not social. It is not unlikely that the files of the department of justice, which Brookhart is to investigate, contains reports on his alleged "radical" or "red" sympathies. For the "red" menace has been a past subject for inquiry under the last two attorney generals.

Also, it is possible material might be found in these files dealing with Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, author of the resolution under which the investigation of Daugherty is being made and himself a member of the investigating committee.

Nothing would surprise these two senators less. One of the things they may undertake to show, in fact, may be that the department has busied itself to a hitherto unknown extent, in espionage and investigations dealing with the economic and social beliefs of individuals instead of the detection and prosecution of fraud, graft and crime.

The investigated, in fact, have now turned investigators.

Well, it has come at last. We might have known it would happen. William Jennings Bryan is now being talked of as a Democratic presidential possibility. In political circles right here in Washington, too.

"When all the merits and demerits of the various candidates have been weighed," a Democratic congressman submits, "the list of eligibles in whom the country will have confidence will be mighty small. The outstanding person in such a group, a man who would be generally recognized as honest, sincere, able—against whose integrity and unwavering adherence to principle of question could be raised—would be Bryan. Remember—that the people will demand this year will be honesty personified."

MIS. L. P. HAGAN AND MISS RUBY WILLIAMS ENTERTAIN AT TEA

The spacious home of Mrs. L. P. Hagan on Sanford Heights was the scene of one of the loveliest parties given this season, when Mrs. Hagan and Miss Ruby Williams entertained at tea, Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock.

This attractive home, which is so well arranged for entertaining, was transformed into a veritable garden with its decorations of cut flowers and potted plants. In the long living room, tall ferns baskets filled with plum blossoms and roses were effectively placed. The mantle was banked with anemones, ferns and sweet peas in the various shades of pink. Baskets of radiance roses were everywhere. In the dining room and sun parlors the color motif of gold and green were used, nasturtiums and calendulas in baskets and bowls were placed on cabinets, mantels and tables. The elegantly appointed tea table was laid with a handsome, embroidered cloth, the center being graced with a silver basket filled with golden calendula and ferns. At intervals were silver candlesticks holding lighted unshaded yellow tapers, and companies of mints, salted nuts and candies.

Greeting the guests upon arrival was Mrs. R. J. Starling who was attired in a costume of black lace and tulle over satin. In the receiving line were Mrs. Hagan and Miss Williams. Mrs. Hagan's becoming frock was of grey chiffon over satin and embroidered in pink and blue. Her hat was of Lichen crepe, fashioned the exquisite gown worn by Miss Williams.

The guests were ushered into the dining room by Mrs. Reginald Holly, who wore a fetching frock of orchid and gold georgette. Refreshments of hot cream, in green and gold, individual cakes and in green mints, salted nuts and coffee were served by Miss Fern Ward, Mrs. John McNamara, and Mrs. Braxton Baggott. Presiding at the coffee service was Mrs. Bart Peterson of Jamestown, N. Y.

Mrs. Baggott was satired in orchid and green crepe de chine, white Mrs. McNamara's chic frock was of figured georgette. Miss Ward wore a pretty frock of flame georgette and lace.

Mrs. Peterson was lovely in an elegant costume of black and gold.

Music was furnished throughout the afternoon by Joe Reinstein's orchestra.

This affair was one of the most delightful of the many social events given this season, and the artistic taste of these two charming hostesses was reflected in every detail.

About two hundred guests were in attendance.

times run away with you.

Now, when I was a boy," he continued, "we very often had interesting and instructive conversations that were an aid to our learning. We didn't get together and spend valuable time in useless talking. When I was at school at Davidson, I had groups of boys that stood around on the campus and talked together, talked about something that amounted to something. While now, gentlemen, I can't suppose that one of you would think of breaking up a good 'festo' with mention of anything of wide concern, unless it was some outrageous scandal.

And as the rows of seats that held the slippery students for a doubtful hour, there was heard a faint tittering until finally the room was drawn into unrestrained expression of mirth in which the doctor slowly and discreetly joined by allowing a smile to spread over his face. This was quickly swept aside, however, and he continued, "But, gentlemen," he continued, "when all of that thought is given to the question, I am at a loss to find out how you young chaps learn anything. With your 'jazz,' that you term 'music' and other things, 'that you call literature,' and your frank knowledge that you speak of as development, you completely leave me behind. I cannot appreciate your modern ideas of pleasure. I suppose if I had been brought up with you I might be able to enjoy these things that seem actually nothing to me now. Of course, it is all a matter of taste and environment. It may be advancement, but I will never be able to keep up with the age in this way.

Dr. Farr wants to see all the college publications here placed on a plane above the average; he wants the general range of literary ability increased. He believes that through the publications on the campus and the co-operation of the students this can be done. One of the publications, one that he is vitally interested in, he wants to build into something more than pure humor, but admits this cannot be done until the students become interested and support the publication therein of contributions representing student literary endeavors.

NEGROES HAVE OPPORTUNITIES FOR EDUCATION

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Mar. 5.—One of Florida's most conclusive stories of progress is told in a periodical bank statements submitted to the state comptroller by the banks organized under the banking law of Florida. Resources of the institutions as shown by a combined tabulation of the condition on Dec. 21, 1922, totaled $7,602,146.93. On Dec. 21, 1923, they had jumped to $155,009,085.86, according to figures compiled by J. C. Blalock, chief clerk in the bank department of the comptroller's office. An increase of $147,406,938.93 in 22 years.

From 1902 to 1912 resources of state banks and trust companies jumped to $37,101,431.61, and then began a spurt which carried these figures up to $127,381,663.65 during the 10 years. And for the last two years the gain figures have been as great as during the virtually entire 10-year period 1903-1912.

Growth has been shown in all departments. Cash on hand Dec. 21, 1922, totaled $594,439.16; on Dec. 21, 1923, it amounted to $5,013,719.95; in 1912 it was $1,707,148.78.

Loans and discounts Dec. 31, 1922, amounted to $1,494,014.72; Dec. 31, last year, $95,671,559.93.

The banking authorities had not begun to show savings deposit statistics until the first of January in 1923. Neither are these figures shown for 1912, and comparisons can not be made of these liabilities. Individual deposits, which totaled $25,780,409.22 in 1912 had reached $79,782,208.46 by the first of the present year.

"Then," says Mr. Brinson, "there is the work of the General Education Board which is the corporation that handles the Rockefeller educational donations. This board controls many millions of money and is feeling its way carefully into the educational fields. At present it is furnishing three men to the state of Florida without expense, viz: the state high school inspector, professor of secondary education at the University of Florida, and the state agent for negro education.

"It aided liberally in building the teacher-training building at the A. & M. College. It has furnished $10,000 for the new building just being completed by the Florida Normal and Industrial at St. Augustine and also provides a highly prepared critic teacher for the teacher-training department of this institution. Five hundred dollars are contributed by this board towards a summer school at this institution, and it also gives $500 to the state to pay traveling expenses of a limited number of teachers carefully selected to the summer schools at Lake George and Hampton Institute."

The General Education Board is giving $2,500 for the purchase of furniture and equipment for the four county training schools in the state, at Delray, Palm Beach county; Alachua, in Alachua county; Longwood in Lake county; and Marianna in Jackson county, according to Mr. Brinson. There are schools that have been designated to receive aid from the General Education Board and the Slater Fund on equipment and salaries of teachers upon their meeting certain conditions. There are about 175 of this type of school in the South in active operation, giving at least an all-around elementary education linked with industrial training for boys and girls and also for the training of teachers for the elementary schools.

GATOR BASEBALL LEADER RETURNS TO GAINESVILLE

Had Tryout with Brooklyn Team at Clearwater and Makes Good Impression but Turns Down Contract to Return to School.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, Gainesville, Mar. 3.—Gator baseball coach jumped tremendously here Thursday afternoon when young "Howy" Bracken, captain of the 1924 Florida diamond machine, returned to Fleming Field after a week's absence from the team during which time he tried out with Uncle Robby's Brooklyn Nationals at Clearwater, making a decided and most favorable impression with the Robbies. The Orange and Blue pilot looked all of a "million dollars" around the hot corner, his phenomenal fielding and consistent stickwork explaining to the gallery of fans who viewed the workout the reason of his success down at Clearwater.

Bracken was tendered a contract by Manager Robinson to be "farmed out" one season, but the Gator diamond luminary refused, desiring rather to continue his medical studies at the state university. The choice of compliments were received on all hands by young "Howy" during his sojourn with the Robbies, and Manager Robinson declared him as "sweet" a fielder as any man he had on the club. Bracken is unquestionably the greatest infielder that ever evoried the clay paths of Fleming Field, and it was only lack of experience that kept him from heading straight into the major circuit this spring. He fielded errandily during his trial stay, and his hitting was all that was expected. Brooklyn papers being profuse in their praise of the Florida captain.

His return to Fleming Field will remake the Gator nine, for his absence would have been seriously felt. He was accorded a royal reception by his many friends on the ball field. Manager Robinson wanted "Howy" to stay and the players hated to see him leave, but the "kid" thinks lots about his studies, and turned down an offer that was the stepping stone to the big tent in one year. He did right, and by next season he will be primed to enter the top class without that experience. "Howy" was loud in his praise of the Brooklyn players and Manager Robinson, his week with the "big boys" giving him valuable lessons, lots of improvement, and an insight into the workings of a major league club. Seldom does Florida get such a man up for consideration. Hats off to "Howy" Bracken.

Dempsey Continues To Improve After Recent Operation

NEW YORK CITY, Mar. 3.—The condition of Jack Dempsey is showing improvement, according to information made public at the Poly-clinic hospital where the world's heavyweight champion is convalescing after his operation of last Wednesday. It was said by Jack Kearns, the champion's manager, and by Dr. Robert E. Brennan who performed the operation, that the title holder, while still suffering pain as a consequence of the operation, nevertheless felt so well that he left his bed for about an hour and walked about his room. Kearns vigorously denied the report current in boxing circles that Dempsey was operated upon for a hernia. He declared that Dempsey is feeling so well that he would like to leave the hospital and return to his quarters at the Atlantic Hotel. Dr. Brennan, however, stated that whether Dempsey remains at the hospital or returns to his hotel, he will have to submit to careful treatment until the surgeon is satisfied Dempsey is completely cured. This might take a week or 10 days, depending on the progress made during the period of convalescence. Information given out showed that Dempsey's operation was more serious and more painful than an operation for a fistula or hemorrhoids ordinarily would be, because of the champion's neglect in having the ailment receive prompt attention.

Stetson Will Play 20 Ball Games this Spring

DELAND, Mar. 7.—More than 20 games will be played by the Stetson University baseball team this spring, according to a schedule given out by Manager Tatum. A tentative game has been arranged with Penn State, probably for late in March. The schedule so far completed follows: Mar. 5, Ormond at Stetson; Mar. 26-27, Ocala at Stetson; Mar. 21-22, Mercer, Stetson; Mar. 28, Rutgers at St. Augustine; Apr. 1-2, Havana University at Stetson; Apr. 31-May 1, Trinity, here; four games each with Florida, Rollins and Southern to be divided between home grounds, the dates yet to be fixed.

The team that carried the Volusia county club to victory in all her games was composed of: Edwards, N. Skeels, H. Bucha, O. Z. Stephens; center, H. G. Hamilton; guards, C. G. Swoop, Moore and G. G. Sixma.

State High School Aquatic Meet Will Be Held April 26

By The Associated Press. ROLLINS COLLEGE, Winter Park, Fla., Mar. 9.—Ray Greene, director of the Interscholastic Aquatic Meet, stated Thursday evening that the date of this year's meet had been fixed for Apr. 26. Preliminary announcements are being mailed to every public high school in the state.

Plans are under way for the coming state aquatic meet which will be held next month at Rollins College. The announcements to the high school principals announce that the programs of 10 events each will be held at 9:30 a. m. and 2:50 p. m. Saturday, Apr. 26. Each school is permitted to enter a team of not more than six or less than four boys or girls and may enter a team of each. Each school will be required to send coaches to the meet who will have charge of their respective teams. Probably the most beautiful set of sterling silver cups ever offered in the South will be competed for again this year. There are 24 cups in the set and make an attractive display of trophies. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be presented again this year.

Lovers of sports in and about Winter Park and Orlando are responsible for the presentation of these trophies. Realizing that this section had the credit of having the largest aquatic meet of the South held here each year promptly then to encourage this particular sport through Florida.

Rollins College has the distinction of having the best all-around swimming and diving course in the South. Mr. Greene in his travels through the Southern states has officiated in the largest swimming centers and when the Rollins course was constructed the course was laid out according to the regulations of the Amateur Athletic Union.

It was said that Dempsey had been troubled for some time with the complaint, and that the influence of the ailment on his system generally had affected his training at Saratoga last year for the bout with Lass Firpo. The complaint gradually progressed until an operation was deemed absolutely necessary.

Dr. Brennan reiterated his previous denials of reports that Dempsey was suffering from hernia, and said the operation had been successful and that the champion is steadily improving.

As had been the case on previous visits to the hospital, efforts to obtain any specific information from hospital officials on Dempsey were unsuccessful. All inquiries met with the same response, which was "Dempsey's condition is steadily improving; he enjoyed a restful night." Attempts to visit Dempsey were unsuccessful. Friends of Dempsey Monday were overjoyed at the statements of Dr. Brennan and Manager Kearns denying that the champion was operated on for hernia. The suggestion, rumored on Friday, that Dempsey's ring career would be cut short as a consequence of his illness, was dismissed as ridiculous by Dr. Brennan and by Kearns. Union. SANFORD FANS TO SEE FAST BOUT HERE NEXT WEEK

Billy Dawson, Jacksonville Match-maker, will have Charge of Ring Card to be Presented Next Friday Night.

The "Celery City," on Mar. 14, will be the scene of one of the snappiest, cleanest, most attractive boxing exhibitions ever staged in the state when several prominent leather shavers will mingle in a series of bouts to be staged under the auspices of the local national guard companies.

The well known Billy, who has started so many promising boys toward the front ranks over the Dawson trail, has been secured as promoter and manager of the affair and those who are acquainted with his prowess as a stager of fistie encounters know that he will assemble an aggregation which will furnish Sanford with a real treat of sportdom.

Philadelphia's promising young lightweight, Young Ketchel, who has transferred his allegiance to Jacksonville, is giving promise of following in the footsteps of the peerless Stanley and in the feature mixup of the evening he will meet Otis Hurst, the St. Pete champ, in an effort to transfer the Florida lightweight laurels to his own brow.

These two boys are top-notchers in their division. Ketchel has won 18 straight scraps via the K.O. route and his defeat of such men as Battling Barnett and Bobby Greene, the "Texas Wildcat," were decided in favor of the Jacksonville lad. In addition, he won the hearts of the fans when he administered the anaesthetic to Battling Mike Murphy of Atlanta in the primary round of their session. The initial appearance of boxing bouts in Sanford was brought about largely through the efforts of Col. George W. Knight, who with his staff of officers, as sponsoring the initiation of good, clean matches in the local armory. Billy Dawson was selected by them through the advice of Col. Raymond C. Turck of the Jacksonville doughboys and patrons of the squared circle are assured of an entertainment which will be fully on a par with the excellent exhibitions presented in that city under his direction.

straight-away, its plunger-for-distance dock, its springboards and diving towers, contestants have the opportunity of competing and breaking official records.

This course located on the shores of Lake Virginia makes Rollins the most logical spot in the state for conducting of aquatic meets. According to Mr. Greene, this year's meet promises to be the largest met held yet. These contests started in 1920 with a few teams competing. At that time the state met attracted considerable interest but judging from entries and interest of last year and indications this year the meet will be a great day for the high schools and spectators.

The following events are scheduled:

University Waiters Are Graded on Their Work in Mess Hall

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, Mar. 3.—Student waiters in the University commons are now given grades on their records as such. The object is to bring about better service and efficiency. The grades also are a determining factor in a student retaining his position and of securing a position the following year if he makes application for the place.

Grades are given in Service, Cooperation, Promptness, Personal Neatness and General Attitude toward the work. Students who have been eating at the mess hall for several years say that on a whole the new system has brought about a great improvement over the old system under which the boys were given work according to their standing in the class room and general need for work.

Students are given their board for working in the mess hall and more than 30 boys are enabled to attend college in this way. Previous to this year students were able to obtain positions in the mess hall only when their class average was good and they really needed the work in order to stay in college. Under the old system when applications were made at the beginning of the school year, preference was given to older classmen, but under the new system the students who made a good grade in efficiency the previous year are given the preference.
