PT. 18 FIXED FOR VOTING ON CITY CHARTER

Commissioners Pass Resolution Calling Election On 10 Proposed Reforms

Member Board Change Included Officials To Picked In Dec. Shift Is Voted

Using ten changes in City Charter, including which would increase the session from three to members, the City Commission this afternoon set for 18 as the date. Special election will be held to pass upon the amendments.

Resolution calling for the amendments provided that if any of the amendments are adopted they shall become effective immediately upon the passage of the resolution, provides that such resolution be ratified by the next of the state legislature.

Proposed changes are as follows: Section 8, providing for the election of five members, beginning the first Tuesday of the first Monday in December; the date of election for commissioners and providing one shall be elected for one for two years and for three. Commissioners thereafter will be elected for three-year terms.

Section 13, providing that three members shall constitute a majority of the Commission. Section 20, providing that the mayor cannot suspend himself except by a unanimous vote of the commission.

Section 57, providing for the appointment by the board of three bond commissioners. Section 66, providing for the increase in the assessments shall be made by the board.

Section 76, providing for the increase in the assessments made by the board. Section 124, providing for the holding of a public election on the first Tuesday of the first Monday in November and setting the regular election in December.

Section 48, providing that the commission shall set the interest rate to be paid on city deposits and also that all city deposits secured by collateral shall be between 75 and 100 percent of the deposits.

Section 125, providing that electors shall be over 21 and shall have paid all taxes 10 days before the day of an election.

Section 11, providing that a commissioner shall be a state or county officer.

Section 11, providing that a commissioner shall be a state or county officer.

Dr. Straton Joins Board In Refusing To Use His Church For Debate With Al Smith

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(INS)—Dr. John R. Straton in a new statement on his proposed debate with Governor Al Smith over the statement by the pastor that Governor Smith was "the deadliest foe of moral progress and political wisdom in America today" has made in a "secular vein" and that under no circumstances could he permit his own church to be used for a purely political discussion.

Charlotte Cops Conduct Inquiry In Murder Mill On Gotham Trip

One Dead, Several Seriously Ill From Poison Said To Have Been Sold By Crystal Gazer, Who Is Put In Jail

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 13.—(INS)—Police today pressed their investigation into the alleged murder-mill here which, they said has resulted in the death of one person and the serious illness of several others. Additional arrests are expected momentarily.

S. W. Daniels, alias "Professor" Brandorin, crystal gazer and "fortune teller," was in the city charged with dispensing poison to persons desiring to ruin them. Five of the alleged "clients" also held in connection with the alleged operations of the "professor."

Doctor Decides To Operate On Twins Today Or Tuesday

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(INS)—Ready if need be to battle their lives for love, Mary and Margaret Gibb, 17 Holyoke, Mass. Siamese twins, were to be cut apart today or tomorrow at Park West Hospital.

Decision to operate to sever the twins, joined at the base of the spine, was announced by Dr. Francis P. Weston following a conference with several other distinguished surgeons.

FARM LEADERS IN CONFERENCE WITH AL SMITH

Governor May Make Change In Today's Meeting; George N. Peck Leads Agriculturalists

Session Expected To Last All Afternoon Group Includes Earl C. Smith And Frank Murphy, Two Delegates To Republican Meet

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—In an effort to win the support of the farmers of the middle west, Governor Al Smith was co-opted by 19 farmers' leaders, including George N. Peck, of Madison, Ill., chairman of the corn belt committee of farm organizations.

Upon their arrival in Albany the farm leaders were taken to the mansion by Governor Smith. It was expected the conference would continue during a recess part of the afternoon.

Two of the farm experts, Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, and Frank W. Murphy, of Wharton, Minn., were delegates to the public national convention, both opposed the farm plank which was incorporated in the Republican national platform.

Local Civic Clubs To Join Chamber At Wednesday's Meet

KILLS SELF WITH POISON

MEMPHIS, TENN., Aug. 12.—(INS)—Using the same kind of mixture that his wife used in ending her life three years ago, J. K. Bethel, 50, railroad freight clerk, took his own life by swallowing poison in a river front park here today. Bethel was found by policeman and rushed to a hospital where he died in a few minutes. Separation from his second wife and unemployment was believed to have led to the suicide.

Woman Linked With Los Angeles Murder

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 12.—(INS)—A startling telegram charging that a young Los Angeles woman was paid $5,000 to leave the city and go to France because of her alleged connection with the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Melus, wealthy society woman, was received here today from Chicago by Captain James J. Sullivan.

West Coast Slated To Bear Brunt Of Storm; Two Others Reported

Two Dead, Seven Missing, And 200 Rescued In Storm Which Hits In Eastern States

Torrential Rains Accompany Winds Jersey Crop Damage Put At Half Million; N. Y. Suffers Little

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—(INS)—Two persons are known to be dead today, seven are reported missing and more than 200 were rescued from small pleasure craft during the terrific storm which lashed the Delaware and south New Jersey coasts over the week-end. Shipping was paralyzed.

The dead are believed to have been members of the crew of the American tugboat Emma, who were in a life boat which was wrecked on the coast of Delaware.

While the waters of Delaware Bay and the Jersey shore were dotted with pleasure craft Saturday night, the storm struck suddenly and with intense fury. The boats were unable to reach shore in the wind which reached 70 miles an hour at times, and those rescued were saved only at the cost of great effort.

Arkansas Primary Slated To Attract Vote Of 200,000

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 12.—(INS)—Estimates indicate that a vote of about 200,000 will be cast in the Democratic primary to be held in Arkansas tomorrow when state, district and county nominations will be decided, the race for governor's candidacy all others in contest.

Four negroes were convicted of violations of City ordinances over the week-end in Municipal Court this morning by Judge Wesley E. Whitte. One case was dismissed and another continued until Wednesday.

WITHDRAWAL OF FUNDS HANDICAPS MARKET TRADING

High Borrowing Rates Also Blamed For Moderate Sales In Wall Street; U. S. Steel Common Sells At High Price

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The rally in stock prices was again handicapped today by the withdrawal of funds from the call market and the high borrowing rates for both time and call money.

Professionals who attempted to keep the ball rolling upward at the start of the new week found little outside interest in the market, and, on the other hand, moderate rallies in the motor, steel and specialty stocks invited liberal offerings of stock.

That the perplexity increases in money market problems is quite evident from comments of the brokerage houses in the financial district. No satisfactory explanation has yet been given of the moderate August 8 per cent call loan rate. This is the first of the year when banks are seeking borrowers rather than borrowers seeking funds.

The steel common sold at a new high for the movement of the day in the first session, and Wall Street was unable to determine if this was a genuine buying movement for the "indicators" or a mere reaction to the market.

Bottle Containing Amundsen's Note Is Believed Hoax

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 12.—(INS)—A bottle was washed ashore today at Rotterdam, containing a note which purportedly was that of Capt. Roald Amundsen, but it is believed to be a hoax. The message in the bottle followed: "Lithuan one point seven point 20 degrees 23 minutes east, Roald Amundsen."

SUSPECT IS NOT BOOTH

HAMPTON, S. C., Aug. 11.—(INS)—A man serving a term in the county jail here for vagrancy is not E. L. Sams, a former governor of Mississippi, Chief Justice of Mississippi and United States Senator from Mississippi, said today. Thomas, said the prisoner gave his name as Raymond Williamson. He was arrested for beating a ride on a train.

Disturbance Crosses Florida 60 Miles Below Ft. Myers, Moving Northwest

Yucatan Channel Scene Of Another Lower East Coast Is Preparing For Blow; Heavy Rain In Miami

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(INS)—Another storm of considerable intensity but small diameter, is moving across Florida, the Weather Bureau declared today.

Northeast storm warnings were ordered north of Boca Grande and Punta Gorda to Tampa. The disturbance is centered about 60 miles north of Fort Myers and is moving north-northwest. Hurricane warnings were ordered down to Key West.

The tropical disturbance that was central south of the title of Cancun is apparently moving west or west-northwest with decreasing intensity. A third tropical disturbance of slight to moderate intensity passed over the windward islands near St. Louis.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 12.—(INS)—A strong low night is now passing over into the Yucatan Channel and shipping in that vicinity has been advised of winds of 70 mile velocity. Unless there is a reverse, there is little chance of the disturbance hitting the Florida coast.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The commander of the Russian icebreaker Krassin, who arrived at Stavanger, Norway, on Saturday, announced he believed that Capt. Roald Amundsen is still alive and search for him, said an Oslo dispatch in the London Daily Mail today. The commander was quoted as saying: "I feel sure that Capt. Amundsen is still alive. I will continue the search for him into October if necessary."

HEENEY CHARGES GENE FOULED HIM IN TITLE BATTLE

London Daily Express Writer Quotes Mandell's Pilot In Effort To Substantiate Contention Of Rule Violation

By Davis J. Walsh
 NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Charging that he was "fouled miserably" by Gene Tunney when he sustained the famous injury to his eye in the eighth round, Tom Heeneey boldly attacks the sportsmanship of the victorious and now retired champion in an interview appearing in the London Daily Express, a copy of which reached the writer today. The story is headed, "Was Heeneey Fouled?" and then goes on to give a more or less affirmative answer to its own question.

The interviewer, himself a ring-side observer, hints rather strongly that he believes a foul was committed and quotes to kind effect several authorities, including Eddie Kane, manager of the lightweight champion, Sammy Mandell. Kane, he said, "expressed indignation at the treatment" Heeneey had been accorded.

The challenger, when approached, at first declined to put himself on record, according to the Express' account, but later is quoted as having said:

"Can't you tell the Daily Express readers what you have heard from others about it? I refuse to make excuses but I would like to state to you, personally, that I was fouled miserably. What of it? I'm still young and I hope I'm a good sportsman."

"My eye was cut by some kind of a punch that was not natural. The upper eyelashes went down behind my lower lid and every time I blinked my bad eye caused tears to flow from both eyes."

"My nose started bleeding after my eye was out of action. I was almost hopelessly handicapped but I thought I could have gone on beyond the eleventh round because I had recovered so quickly."

Insofar as the writer's observations were concerned, Heeneey may be right about this last contention. But every indication is that he is all wrong if he really thinks Gene Tunney had the slightest intention of damaging his eye except by a legitimate punch. Of course, if neither swung the punch nor felt its effect; so, technically, I suppose I can't pretend to be authority on its intent.

Optically, however, I gained my own impressions, which, briefly were these:

Tunney, using a shift, led with a right, as he so often did during the fight. It wasn't much of a punch, being neither swing nor straight right. It was more of a poke than anything else. Heeneey immediately broke ground to clutch his damaged eye and never was the same thereafter. It happens to be opinion that, except for the incident, the fight would have gone the limit of 15 rounds but that is unimportant now and probably never was anything else. So much for optical evidence.

Tactically, there wasn't the slightest reason for Tunney to try for an unfair advantage. He had had every advantage, as it was. From the fourth to the eighth, he outscored the challenger by two to one even those in Heeneey's corner must have realized that their man didn't have a chance. Is it, then, to be supposed that a man, knowing that victory was certain, would go deliberately out to foul a defeat-

Spitball Pitchers Keep Three Teams In Thick Of Big League Flag Fights

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(INS)—Three veteran spitball pitchers—baseball's vanishing Americans—are keeping their teams in the thick of the fight as the rival contenders battle down the stretch of the road to pennantville. They are Burleigh Grimes of the Pirates, with 20 victories; the venerable John Pincus Quinn, who has won 15 games for the Athletics; and Clarence Mitchell, who saved the Cardinals from utter rout during the past week by beating the Giants and the Pirates.

Mitchell won a 2 to 1 duel from Fred Russell of the Pirates yesterday in 12 innings and Quinn held the Senators to four hits, whitewashed them 8 to 0. Both victories proved to be as timely as a corker at a banquet, since the Giants and Yankees also won. The Cards remained four games in front of the Giants and the Athletics stayed within 4-1-2 games of the Yanks.

After holding the Cards to five hits in 11 innings, Fussell was beaten by Hafey's double and Wilson's single. St. Louis snapped Pittsburgh's winning streak of eight games, and faced the Cubs today with renewed confidence.

The Yanks got only six hits to Boston's 11, but George Pipras bore down like a rookie dentist in the pinches and hung up his 19th victory of the season 5 to 2 with the aid of George's homer.

Fred Lindstrom of the Giants, a leading candidate for the most valuable player prize in the National League this season, drove in five runs with a homer and a single as the McGrawmen outdistanced the Phillies 8 to 4.

Dazzy Vance registered his fifth straight win, his ninth triumph in his last 10 starts and his fifteenth victory of the season. He yielded only five hits and fanned seven batters, raising his season's total strikeouts to 139. The score was 5 to 1 over Boston.

Detroit jumped ahead of Washington to sixth place by beating Cleveland, 8 to 3. A five run rally by the Indians in the ninth just fell short.

Clancy's double with the bases loaded featured as the White Sox trimmed the Browns, 5 to 3, and established a clear title to fourth place.

American Oarsmen Score 2 Victories In Olympic Races

SLOTEN, Holland Aug. 10.—(INS)—California University, representing the United States as ably as ever a crew could do, won the Olympic eight-oared championship today, beating England in the finals by a half-length after a great struggle.

Paul Costello and Charles McIlvain, rowing in the colors of the Penn A. C., Philadelphia, won the double sculls championship today, defeating Canada in the finals. The victory followed closely on the heels of two American defeats. Ken Myers, Philadelphia, losing the single sculls title to Bob Pearce, Australian, and the Penn Berke Club, Philadelphia.

The four-oared event without coxswain after a stirring race. England won the championship in this race by a bare half length.

The American Pair was easily the master of the situation, winning by more than four lengths in 6:41 2-5. Canada's time was 6:51. It was Costello's third Olympic triumph in this event, the notable Philadelphia having teamed with Jack Kelly to win the race at Antwerp in 1920 and at Paris in 1924.

French Town, Beloved By Napoleon, Is Transformed Into An American Village

PARIS, Aug. 10.—(INS)—The old town of Fontainebleau, much beloved by Napoleon, is once more transformed into a little American village with the arrival of several hundred students at the American Conservatory of Music which is within the very walls of the old chateau. The Louis XV wing and the Pavilion du Titre have been set aside for study, classrooms and sleeping-quarters. Seventy-three women students can be accommodated in the dormitory, the others have pensions in the village which would look very much like any college town in America if the buildings were a bit more modern in appearance.

At the cocktail hour the streets are gay with bright sweaters and blazers and one hears little but American chatter. Several of the prominent cafes have installed large soda fountains, American style, and have been doing a rushing business these hot days.

Even the swans in the lovely little lakes which surround the palace are of American nationality, at least, the students claim them, inasmuch as they provided the new ones when the old swans died.

Many Americans who knew the celebrated amusement hall, "Magic City," will be sad to learn that it exists no more. What was formerly a great enclosure with all that stood for fun, scenic railways, large dancing floors and booths of all kinds, is now nothing but a great yawning pit in which French workmen are preparing the foundations of fine new buildings.

Magic City came into existence twenty years ago and was a reproduction on a smaller scale of London's White City. At one time it was fixed up for a boxing ring for a series of exhibitions given by Jack Johnson who was then preparing for an engagement with Max Bombardier Wells in London.

The International Foyer for Students in the Boulevard St. Michel, which is presided over by a lively American woman from the south, has a young Turkish student among the pensionnaires. She reads

Upshaw Is Ineligible To Run In Primary

ATLANTA, Aug. 11.—(INS)—Because of his outspoken statement that he will support Herbert Hoover for president, former congressman William D. Upshaw is ineligible to run as a candidate in the Democratic primary in Georgia next month.

G. E. Maddox, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, requiring all candidates for the Democratic primary to support Hoover for president, said Upshaw's statement rendered him ineligible.

"No," she has been heard to say, "the floor is too dirty. There should be carpets where one does not walk with the shoes on."

For the sum of twenty-eight cents, Serge Gambier, a young Frenchman living near Amiens, has killed two sisters, aged seventy and sixty-four years, respectively.

Gambier ordered a glass of beer in the little grocery-cafe the two old ladies kept, drank it and then handed a ten-franc bill for payment. When the elder sister turned around to get the change, Gambier pulled out a small hatchet from under his coat, struck her with it and then slashed her throat with a razor.

The younger sister heard her screams, rushed to her aid and suffered the same fate. Both of the women died and Gambier escaped.

Now that the French gendarmes have learned the essentials of the English language, Professor Confida, their well-known instructor, has begun to teach them Spanish. As in the case of English, they will learn one thousand of the most essential words in the speech of Cervantes which will enable them to direct the many Spanish tourists invading the French capital during the summer months.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Aug. 10.—(INS)—Clarence Smith, 16 year old Kentuckian, was shot and probably fatally wounded and five other KKKentuckians, two of them minors, were arrested by five Federal dry agents who raided the farm of Mrs. Frances Lowman, 53, near Hardinsburg, Ind. 26 miles northwest from here, today.

Expert Tells How Poisonous Snakes Are Aid To Science

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—(INS)—How poisonous snakes are cultivated to aid man in his battle against his own kind was told by Dr. Paul C. Standley, curator of the herbarium in the department of botany at the Field Museum here in a recent lecture on poisonous reptiles.

Dr. Standley, former attaché of the United States National Museum at Washington recently returned to this country from Honduras where he has been engaged in research concerning the culture of serums to prevent the death of men bitten by deadly reptiles.

While in Central America the scientist made his headquarters near a snake farm maintained by the Antivenin Institute of America.

Dr. Standley collected about 15,000 botanical specimens in the snake-infested Lacanja Valley. He escaped unhurt by any of the deadly reptiles. He also had to take chances of encountering jaguars, which are common in Central America.

Charleston Losing Appeal In France

PARIS, Aug. 10.—(INS)—The little street dances held all over the capital on Bastille Day in spite of a temperature of 96 in the shade, seem to point to a great falling off in popularity of eccentric steps such as the Black Bottom and Charleston. The forms of dancing this year were on the whole very simple, with a marked return to the polka in the popular districts and tango holding second honors.

The brass wind instrument, once so conspicuous, has given way to the accordion and violin or cello. The orchestra of eight or ten players is now reduced to three or four.

Husband, 110, With Wife, 107, Found In Small Serbian Town

BELGRADE, Aug. 10.—(INS)—What is probably the oldest couple in the world have just been discovered in a small Serbian village, Verbitza, near Aranjoivat. The husband, Dimitrije Filipovitch, 110 years old, has been married since the age of eight to Jivana, age 107. They live happily in a little house, apparently extremely pleased after long, happy years together.

Both are teetotalers at the present time, although during a few years they drank light wine.

Dimitrije tells interesting facts of past events. His wife is less talkative and has great horror of camera men. On the occasion of their recent anniversary day, it was almost impossible to make her consent to a little photograph.

"You have come around just ninety years too late," she argued, "you would have taken a pretty woman then."

German Rail Line Offers Air Service For Use Of Patrons

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—(INS)—The already existing arrangement between the German Railroad Company and the Luft Hansa as to cooperation in the transport of freight is to be extended to cover passenger and baggage traffic.

Air passengers who make stopovers on their flight and desire to travel further by rail will be permitted to exchange the unused part of their ticket free of charge at the next station for a first-class ticket on the railroad to their destination.

The Luft Hansa has now introduced commutation tickets for travellers who do much flying. For 450 marks a ticket good for 500 marks worth of air travel can be had. The tickets are transferable and can be made out for firms or used by different members of the holder's family.

In June 2,752 airplanes started from or landed at the Tempelhof Field airport. They carried a total of 5,208 passengers and more than 110 tons of freight, baggage and mail matter. During the month 108,884 persons, or more than 3,600 a day, visited the airport.

Colorado Florists Using Air Service

DENVER, Aug. 10.—(INS)—Colorado florists are taking advantage of the fast air mail transportation and are supplying mid-west florist shops with sweet peas. Information furnished by the American Airport Association shows that California orchids have found enlarged markets since they can be delivered over the airway network.

Sentimentally inclined swains are regular patrons of the airway in rushing flowers and presents to distant sweethearts who chafe at regular mail delivery.

Scott Will Assist In Tariff Inquiry

W. M. Scott, general manager of the Sanford office of the American Fruit Growers, was one of the six men appointed at Daytona Beach Thursday to study the transcript of the recent Washington hearing on a protective tariff for tomatoes and report at a meeting to be held in Orlando August 17.

Among those attending Thursday's meeting of a sub-committee of the tariff committee of the State Chamber of Commerce at Daytona was J. E. Ritchie, another American Fruit Growers official. The present tariff on tomatoes is one-half cent a pound. In July, the United States tariff commission was asked to raise the tariff 50 per cent.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

FINE RETRIBUTION—He that by unmy and unjust gain increaseth his substance, he shall gather it for him that will pity the poor.—Prov. xxviii.8.

THE BLIND BOY

O say what is that thing called Light,
Which I must never enjoy;
What are the blessing of the sight,
O tell your poor blind boy!

You talk of wondrous things you see,
You say the sun shines bright;
I feel warm, but how can he,
Or make it day or night?

My day or night myself I make Whenever I sleep or play;
And could I ever keep awake
With no 'twere always day

With heavy sighs I often hear
You mourn of my hapless woe;
But sure with patience I can bear,
A loss I ne'er can know.

Then let not what I cannot have My cheer of mind destroy;
Whilst thus I sing, I am a king,
Although a poor blind boy.
—Colley Cibber (1671-1757)—

Mr. Verbert 'lover's address was also well received in jolly old Hengland.

With three storms headed this way, it appears the weather men has a grudge against Florida.

Our office boy says a dog's tale is all right in its place, which doesn't happen to be under a chair tocker.

A full attendance of local Florida men should turn out Wednesday to give Coach Bachman a rousing welcome.

We may not have everything we want nowadays, but as we understand it, most every family still has its rag-bag.

One thing you can say for Mr. Hoover, those who heard him over the radio declare he has a better delivery than Mr. Coolidge.

"Rent Limited To One Dollar a Year In Old Town," says a headline, but that, Arbutnot, is not in the United States but in Germany.

And now comes the Lyre in the Miami Riviera and announces that a gasoline motor positively will not run without gasoline. Yeah, we've found that out.

The Waycross Journal-Herald says a 'roll of thunder doesn't pack more walls than the roll of a pair of stockings.' Say that again, we didn't get it the first time.

Ted Coy, the famous football star of another year, was discovered and it was put on the front page. He remarks and it goes on an inside page. But news is news.

The Daytona Beach Times remarks that "we never arrive unless we're willing to start." Which is another way of saying your ship never comes in unless you send it out.

Vacationists have sent us cards telling how delightful are the mountains of North Carolina and picturing the wonders of New York, but so far they have spared us from a description of Canadian beer.

The paragraphs kidded the girls so much about their rolled stockings some of them are now going around with their birthday stockings only.—St. Augustine Tribune. Sounds like somebody's been peeping.

A contributor to the Sarasota Times claims that the election of W. J. Hovey over Doyle Carlton is not only possible but probable, the way the cards are running, and offers to give from twelve to twenty reasons backing up his opinion. It is necessary to advance only one reason why Mr. Hovey won't be elected: He won't get enough votes.—Ocala Star.

A Cue From England

Scotland Yard, England's famed crime deterrent, recently celebrated its one hundredth birthday and on that occasion fittingly disclosed an exhaustive analysis of its remarkable success. So well has the London police force, of which Scotland Yard is a part, done its work that England today proudly boasts itself as the least criminal nation in the world.

How successful has been the British fight on lawlessness is best evidenced by a comparison between the two largest cities of the world, London and New York. The total of all crimes in New York with a population of six million, during one fiscal year, was 335,083. The total for London for the same period was 15,662, out of a population of 7,746,000. In other words London's percentage of criminality was practically four per cent of New York's.

Why there should be such a wide variance between the behavior of two nations whose customs and ideals are not so far apart, is the question which first suggests itself upon viewing the above figures. It would appear that there is something wrong with our methods of crime prevention. And in order to find out what is wrong it might be wise to notice wherein our system, clearly proven unsatisfactory, differs from one which is notably successful.

Perhaps one of the chief differences between the methods of the two nations in dealing with crime is the fact that in England the police carry only a small stick as their means of protection while in America the "copper" is loaded down with all manner of armament. This difference may not appear important, at first glance, but the London authorities declare it is a prime factor in their efforts to thwart violence. They believe violence breeds violence.

A second and probably the most significant contrast is the promptness with which justice is meted out in England as compared with the almost endless legal delays which usually attend the trial of a criminal in this country. It is not an uncommon occurrence for a London murderer to be convicted and executed a few days after the commission of his crime.

In view of our flagrant failure to check widespread lawlessness it would seem advisable to cast about in an effort to find successful methods to imitate, and as a good example we suggest the British system.

Mr. Tunney Objects

For the past few days Gene Tunney has been playing an interesting game of hide and seek with the newspaper reporters and photographers. With his fifty million dollar fiancée and her mother he sought seclusion on a little island off the Maine coast. When the newspapermen discovered his retreat they immediately set out in pursuit. They tried to gain access to the island but found it guarded by husky sentinels. It was plain that Mr. Tunney and his bride-to-be didn't care to be molested.

Reporters, however, are always enterprising. They will not be frustrated in getting their story, and in this particular instance, like the Northwest Mounted, they were not to be prevented from "getting their man." An International News Service correspondent ran the gauntlet of a line of menacing guards and made his way to the camp where the retired heavyweight champion was staying as the guest of his fiancée. Despite the fact that Mr. Tunney "was not in," the persistent newsman finally succeeded in drawing Gene from a rear room for an interview. In his statement, the man who twice defeated Jack Dempsey, exhibited an amazing antipathy for the publicity, which had helped him in his rise to fame and fortune and to which he had previously been loath to object.

"I am a private citizen," he began, "and I intend to remain so. I will not discuss my affairs. My picture will never be taken again. If it is ever taken again from this day on, it will be without my knowledge." Then the millionaire boxer and former marine made a most surprising utterance. "I am out of the public eye and I don't see why the newspapers should follow me now."

But Mr. Tunney is mistaken. He is not out of the public eye. As a matter of fact he is in the forefront more than ever before as evidenced by his elevation from the sports page to an almost exclusive front page position in every newspaper of the land. The newspapers, of course, are not responsible for that fact. They merely emphasize stories according to the public interest. That interest has been aroused by Gene himself. He was unique in the field of boxing because of the numerous precedents which he established. In retiring undefeated, he caused the spotlight to be focused more strongly upon himself than ever before and his engagement to the wealthy Miss Lauder, member of New York's exclusive society, only served to whet the public's curiosity to a fever pitch.

As we see it, Tunney's criticism of the newspapers is unfair and undeserved. He has chosen to do the things that make news and the newspapers have no alternative but to chronicle his actions for their interested readers. If, as he charges, this be "snooping," then we see nothing for him to do but to make the most of it.

A MOTORIST'S PRAYER

PALM BEACH TIMES

Commandments and prayers in imitation of biblical passages but intended for more specialized use, rather are a drug on the market. Sometimes someone does a little better than the average in arriving at an expressing conclusions along this line. Here is one that is of such character. It is for motorists and is taken from The Churchman:

"Teach us," it says, "to drive through life without skidding into other people's business. Preserve our brake linings that we may stop before we go too far. Help us to hear the knocks in our motors and close our ears to the clashing of other people's gears. Keep alcohol in our radiators and out of our stomachs. Absolve us from the mania of trying to pass the other automobile on a narrow road. Open our eyes to the traffic signs, and keep our feet on the brakes. And now if you go back and read it over again it may look more like a pretty good sort of prayer for almost any of us. It fits better if you drive a car but you can apply it in other directions as well.

GOOD ROADS FOREVER

ASHEVILLE CITIZEN

North Carolina, in the judgment of Commissioner Frank Page, whose judgment in this matter is worth more than that of any other man living, can have good roads forever without issuing another dollar's worth of bonds from now on.

It can not only preserve and maintain and pay for the highways it now has but it can add hundreds of miles to these highways every year while it pays off the bonds it has already issued; and these bonds will all be retired and the State completely clear of highway debt by 1932 or in the lifetime of many who are now middle-aged.

There's an "if" of course. Mr. Page tells us what it is. North Carolina can do all these things way system. In support of his contention that the gasoline tax if left alone will do all the fine things he pictures, Mr. Page points out that this year the Highway Commission's total outlay on the present road system, including interest, sinking fund, maintenance and all other expenses, will be less than $11,000,000. "With an estimated revenue from the gasoline tax," he says, "of well over 717,000,000—which is very conservative in the light of the gasoline consumption and increases of the past five years—the State will have left $6,415,000 of the tax revenue for new road construction and, in addition, will receive $1,700,000 from the Federal Government." Thus the gasoline money should be sufficient from now on, in Mr. Page's view, to make the highway system self-maintaining and self-increasing. It will not only pay off the bonds, carry the interest on them and add many miles of new highway annually, it will also keep the present highways in condition and resurface the hard-surfaced roads as they wear out.

Thus North Carolina, if it follows the program which Mr. Page outlines so clearly, can have good roads forever without any actual direct cost to the people except as they use the highways. Surely nothing could be simpler or fairer or more appealing. It is the crowning justification of the States' great achievement under Frank Page's leadership.

A GREAT JUSTICE

MIAMI NEWS

On Dec. 4, 1902, Theodore Roosevelt plucked Oliver Wendell Holmes, 11, off the supreme bench of Massachusetts and placed him on the supreme bench of the United States. Holmes was then 61 years old. His appointment could have been objected to on account of his age. Now, 26 years later, Justice Holmes has announced his intention to retire and all American mourns.

With one exception, Justice Holmes towers head and shoulders above every other member of the court, and to say this is no great disparagement of the other members. His written opinions as a member of a court are destined to stand as a mine of information and inspiration to the liberal student of law and life. As a great judge, who escaped the deadening literalism of the law and influence the future even more than he has influenced his own times.

Finally, we have to face an extraordinary fact. In the opinion of the court, he made Justice Holmes which is an admired figure which is the view has almost never stated the opinion of the court. He usually Brandeis and Stone with them, have an over-riden minority. The opinions which have made his name to conjure with opinions. The prophet is not a prophet save in his own mind.

We shouldn't wonder if the final verdict of history made the appointment of Oliver Wendell Holmes to the supreme bench the most useful act of Theodore Roosevelt's career. Certainly the appointment of Brandeis will stand as one of the notable acts of President Wilson.

It is worth noting that the presence of these two most brilliant of modern jurists on the supreme bench is due to the two outstanding presidents of their time. A pathetic commentary on the time as displayed in the one case was prejudice and reactionism which all but prevented the confirmation in the senate of Brandeis appointment.

HOW DO YOU BUY?

When you enter a store to buy anything, how do you ask for it? Do you call for the articles by name, or do you generalize—a can of tomato soup; a bag of flour; an aluminum kettle; so many square yards of linoleum; a meat grinder?

It is much better and far more satisfactory to specify the articles you want by name, for merchandise that is good enough to be sold by name is almost always better in quality, and usually no higher in price, than goods of uncertain lineage and less certain quality.

The advertising columns of this newspaper carry advertised names that are familiar to millions of people. Soap, flour, sugar, cereals, kitchen ware, rugs, linoleum, automobiles, etc. They represent those articles that stand for the best in their respective classes of merchandise—quality all through.

Advertising keeps these names before you constantly. Advertising is a constant reminder that the articles you want are the same articles that you see advertised day after day—that justify their being by the service they render. And advertising brings you news—of inventions, discoveries, improvements that keep you up to date.

Tell the sales-clerk what you want by its advertised name. You'll get it—and your money will purchase full value. It pays to read advertising and remember advertised names.

Bridge Party Given At Beach By Mrs. Long

Mrs. Howard Long, who is spending the summer at the Spalding apartments at Daytona Beach, entertained the members of the Officers Bridge Club and a few other guests at a delightful spend-the-day party last Thursday. The rooms of the attractive apartment was decorated with quantities of bright summer flowers and ferns. At 1 o'clock a delicious three course sea-food luncheon was served, after which the guests played bridge.

When scores were totaled it was found that Mrs. Osborn Herndon held high score, for which she was awarded a blue crystal vase. The prize for high score among the guests went to Mrs. Edgar Dout and Mrs. John Smith received a commendation for holding low score. Those enjoying this lovely affair were: Mrs. Osborn Herndon, Mrs. Edgar Dout, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. George Hart, Mrs. Harry Kent, Mrs. A. Vaughn, Mrs. Endor Curlett, and her mother, Mrs. Eichner.

TROUBLE IS FEARED

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—(INS)—Trouble is feared at Vilna tomorrow when Marshal Pilsudski, Polish minister of war, reviews the Polish legionnaires—the troops who fought against Soviet Russia. It is believed that Marshal Pilsudski will refer to the Polish-Lithuanian quarrel in his speech. The fact that the Polish legionnaires conventions will be held in Vilna has intensified the dispute as Vilna is the home of contention between the two states.

WARM WEATHER FROCK
This delightful informal frock features the short kimono sleeves that are so comfortable on warm days. It is very simply made with inserted pleated sections, finished by bands giving the effect of pockets. It may be made of any of the light Summer fabrics. In voile or handkerchief linen, it is particularly cooling, while the use of a contrasting color for the collar and cuffs would be a decorative touch. For sports wear it would be appropriate in flannel.

The newspapermen then motored to the nearby town of Pannaquid, where they hired a boat and proceeded to Johns Island there they learned that Tunney had been taken to another island in the "play," the Landers' speed boat. This island, owned by Fred Irving, is connected with the mainland by a bridge.
Realizing that they had been outwitted, the newspapermen hastened to South Bristol and stood in the railroad station in an automobile. They made the 14 mile trip in 17 minutes, a speed of nearly 60 miles an hour, but when they got there Tunney was gone.

Reporters Given Slip By Tunney On Gotham Trip

The reporters offered the boatmen tempting sums for a slip, but all in vain. One of the boatmen, Ernest Atley, said Mrs. Landers had paid him "forty times as much" as he could get from the scribbles, interviews with other boatmen, revealed that the entire boat market of South Bristol had been cornered.

JOHN GILBERT, MADE AND TOM O'BRIEN IN THE BIG PARADE

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in announcing John Gilbert in the "The Big Parade," which will be presented at the Milane Theatre, suggests Gilbert as likely candidate for the suffrages of the fans as "greatest screen lover of all time."
They point with pride to his Prince Danillo "The Merry Widow," his James Apperson ("The Big Parade"), his Rudolph ("La Boheme") and to his spectacular work in "Barkley the Magnificent," "Flesh and the Devil" and "The Silkworm."
However, John Gilbert in his recent studio work has exhibited a larger virtuosity in the gentle art of inspiring romance than any other kind of the time. The Gilbert hair, eyes, profile, smile and figure are equally fascinating in all his protean changes.
A New John Gilbert

companies. Then he went into business. Then he took up motion picture acting. He was a scenario writer for Maurice Tourneur, and later was director. Then Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer took him up and made a star of him.
There is a little question that John Gilbert not only is the screen's newest and greatest lover but also that he is one of the wholesomenest, finest and most appealing in a contagiously wholesome way to his audiences.
Renée Adoree is featured opposite Gilbert in this big King Vidor production of the Laurence Stallings' story.

PLANE WRECK FOUND
ST. JOHNS N. F., Aug. 13.—(INS)—Wreckage of a large plane found in the sea early today led belief in maritime circles here that the final chapter in some ill-fated trans-Atlantic flight had been disclosed. The damage mangled and one wing was sighted by the S. S. Respost in latitude 51.36 north longitude 44.41 west. The rudder at the tail of the wrecked plane protruded 57 feet from the water.

West Coast Slated To Bear Brunt Of Tropical Hurricane

Miami had no sunshine today, as high winds and a driving rain swept the city.
The "Big Parade" at 11:30 was like a meteor with continuous rainfall throughout the day. In addition there were driving winds of moderate force, reaching 25 mile velocity.
Danger of another hurricane here was just the weather bureau reported, declaring that the tropical disturbance was sweeping up the West Coast.
NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(INS)—Latest reports to the offices of Merritt, Chapman and Scott, marine engineers, here today stated the Munson liner Munamar is still hard aground on a reef off Grant Abaco, officials of the company said in denying reports the passenger steamer had been floated by one of their tugs.
The seagoing tug Warbler, owned by Merritt, Chapman and Scott, put out from Key West to aid the Munamar but turned back when reports were received that the liner was afloat. When these reports proved erroneous the Warbler turned about again and is now steaming for the scene of the foundering under command of Capt. H. S. Dexter.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 13.—(INS)—The tropical disturbance was reported raging today between Punta Gorda and Tampa, but weather bureau officials believed it will swing into the Gulf of Mexico and again strike the Florida coast between Mobile, Ala., and Apalachicola, Fla., tonight or tomorrow.
Hurricane warnings have been taken down at Key West but northwest storm warnings have been ordered up at Boca Grande and Punta Gorda in Tampa, which indicates that the storm is of very small diameter. Its intensity is placed at from 24 miles on the outer edges to 75 miles in the center.
Two tropical storms are reported, one moving west from the Isles of Pines and the other moving westerly from the windward islands.

LONDON'S SOCIAL SEA FILLED WITH
 'GATE-CRASHERS'
 Hostesses Of Mayfair Up In Arms Over Many Invasions Of Fashionable Parties By Herds Of Uninvited Guests

LONDON, Aug. 10. (INS)— Never before in London's social history have fashionable hostesses been confronted with a more serious problem than that of the gate-crasher, which now is assuming truly serious proportions.

In the past, there have been many occasions when "bright young people," socially eligible, perhaps, but not expressly invited, have invaded the mansions of Mayfair when dances or receptions were in progress.

But now their number is legion, and London's hostesses are up in arms against the evil.

The matter was brought to a sensational climax recently at a ball given by Lady Ellesmere, one of London's most prominent hostesses. She found a number of gatecrashers in the reception room, and in full view of her invited guests, ordered them to leave the house.

Are Not Strangers
 Had the offenders been strangers or undesirable, the affair would have ended there, but some of the crashers were well known themselves, and the effect of Lady Ellesmere's action was far reaching.

She made a statement to the press, and named two of the uninvited guests as Miss Nancy Beaton and Miss Betty Lowndes. Miss Beaton is the sister of Cecil Beaton, a familiar figure in London society, who has gained considerable fame by virtue of his "aesthetic camera portraiture," and Miss Lowndes is the daughter of Belle Lowndes, the well-known novelist.
 The families of both young ladies challenged the action of Lady Ellesmere, saying that although the girls had not been personally invited, they attended the ball in the company of a gentleman who had

A number of similar cases followed, and in some quarters the action of the hostesses has been viewed as somewhat justifiable.

In one instance, a fashionable hostess issued 600 invitations and prepared for that number. In addition to the invited guests, no less than 400 gate-crashers turned up, with the result that the ice and champagne ran out long before the evening was over.

Take Drastic Steps
 A number of steps have been taken to end the evil. They are as follows:
 1. The presentation of visiting cards as well as invitations at the door. (This has been made necessary by the action of the gatecrashers in actually having forged invitations printed.)
 2. The careful checking of names at the door.
 3. The insistence of an acknowledgment of an invitation after which a special identification card is issued.
 4. The presence of detectives familiar with the notables who have been invited, and also the gate crashers who attempt to come without the proper invitations.
 5. The presence at the door of the hostess herself at the head of a reception committee.
 6. The employment of burly "bouncers" to throw into the hearts of all uninvited aspirants.
 7. The compilation of a "blacklist" of gate-crashers, which will be exchanged among hostesses.

The presence of anyone's name on this list will be tantamount to social ostracism.

The militant attitude of the entertainers has resulted in many picantes incidents. At a recent fashionable ball, the austere hostess approached a young girl, demanding that she show her invitation card.
 The girl replied that she had none, but that she had been invited ordinary by the son of the house.

The hostess immediately demanded that she leave. The girl, shocked and mortified, ran home to her mother. The next day, the hostess received the following letter signed with the name of one of England's most important and formidable leaders of society—nothing less than a Duchess.

 "Dear Madam," it read. "I am very glad you sent my daughter away from your ball last night. It is a credit to you that you realized that the affair was, in no manner fitted for her."

What Women Eat
 THE secret of serving women has been studied as a fine art at the New York Women's Exchange dining room, which caters to one of the largest and most fashionable clienteles of any dining room managed exclusively by women.

Real home-cooked food is the solution to the problem, according to Mrs. Edith Sammis, manager of the dining room.

"Contrary to the general belief, women guests pass up chocolate saffrais and nutted trappes for a good old-fashioned dish of stewed fruit," Mrs. Sammis says. Rhubarb is especially popular. Also surprising is the fact that the "best-sellers" on the Women's Exchange menu, and in fact the only ones which appear as a daily feature are two foods ordinarily ascribed to a man's palate—corn beef hash and codfish cakes.

Canned corn is useful at the Exchange in one form or another, because it has been proved that such a dinner as fried mush, corn fritters, grilled bacon, and applesauce appeals to the feminine as well as to the masculine clientele at the Exchange.

Pineapple a Salad Favorite Hawaiian pineapple is used frequently for salads, fruit cups, etc.
 Mrs. Sammis claims that women especially demand variety in meals.
 Meals at the Exchange are varied not only each day in the week, but each week, thus getting away from the monotony of a Monday menu, Tuesday menu, etc.

"For women who wish to reduce we have certain foods which are almost a meal in themselves. For example, our Mary Garden Salad It is made of pears (fresh in season), cream cheese, raspber-jam, pistachio nuts, lettuce or mayonnaise."

PROTOCOL MAKES DOUMERGUE TAKE EXTRA JOURNEY

Ruling That He Can't Visit Spanish King And Then Call At Nearby Town On Same Trip Causes Long Rail Trip

PARIS, August 11. (INS)—Monsieur Gaston Doumergue, President of France, would have been able to kill two birds with one stone if the Protocol had not interfered. As it was President Doumergue was obliged to make a railway trip of 1,600 miles for no other reason than to conform to the ceremonial order of things. He had a rendezvous with King Alfonso of Spain to open a tunnel through the Pyrenees. The Presidential train was made ready, President Doumergue went aboard and after a night of travelling he arrived at the Canfranc tunnel and met King Alfonso.

entire was taking advantage of the ceremonial visit to fulfill an engagement inferior to the meeting with his Royal Highness. President Doumergue, therefore, returned directly to Paris from Canfranc, turned around, and went right back to Carcassonne. That used up more mileage than the President has covered in some time but he made both trips without losing his famous smile and without protesting against the Protocol which curtails a Frenchman's liberty more than he would permit if he were not the President.

In Paris, tourists alleged slayers were asked for but Pedro Escudero is disappointed. He said he wanted to be guillotined. Two men were quarrelling over a woman in the Boulevard Montmartre. A pistol shot rang out. Escudero was arrested and in his pocket found a pistol with a blackened barrel. The trial seemed to bore Escudero. When the prosecution had finished its case he stood up before the judge. "Give me the death sentence. I don't care a whoop," he said.

The jury went out and returned with a verdict, "Guilty with extenuating circumstances."

"There weren't any extenuating circumstances," said Escudero. "Tell them to chop off my head."

The judge thought it over for a moment and then imposed the sentence: "Eight years at hard labor."

Edward J. Casey Reported Picked To Coach Harvard Football After This Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 10. (INS)—Edward J. Casey is to be appointed head coach of the Harvard University football 11 at the conclusion of the approaching season, according to well authenticated reports from athletics circles at Cambridge. These reports, however, will lack official confirmation from William J. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard and from others in charge of sports there until after Arnold Horween, the present football coach, has completed the 1928 season.

That Horween was not expected to survive as head coach beyond the end of the present year has been the belief of those conversant with the Harvard football situation for some time and there is apparently universal satisfaction that the mantle once worn by the great Percy D. Haughton is to fall upon the shoulders of Casey, regarded by many as one of the most brilliant backs of the entire Haughton regime at Cambridge.

Horween, who succeeded Bob Fisher who had only a fair measure of success in 1922 but his work with the Crimson last season was a huge disappointment, for despite the fact that there was a good array of veteran material at hand, Harvard dropped its most important games with Pennsylvania and Yale last fall by discouraging scores and established the unique record of winning only on alternate Saturdays.

Apparently whatever disposition there might have been to wait until after the end of the 1928 season to determine whether or not Horween should continue in charge of the 11 has been set aside because it is said on good authority that virtually all arrangements have been completed whereby Casey is to step into the head coach's shoes as soon as the whistle blows ending the Yale-Harvard game in the Yale Bowl this fall.

Casey has established himself as a successful coach by virtue of his excellent handling of the freshmen 11 at Cambridge and it has been felt that it was only a question of time when he should step out into the commanding position if Harvard did not decide to keep him and assign him to a position more in keeping with his talents and ability. Evidently, Harvard had no desire to see Casey withdraw, hence his reported naming as Horween's successor.

Before the war when Harvard was riding roughshod over all opponents with Haughton ruling the football world without a challenge, Casey flashed into the picture as perhaps the last string of football celebrities developed and exhibited at the height of their glory by Haughton. Casey followed in the footsteps of Charley Brickley, Tacke Hartwick, and Ned Mahan but his career was cut short by the war.

One of his most spectacular feats, which however yielded nothing, came in the Yale game of 1916 when he broke away for a run of sixty-five yards or more to score. He badly needed touchdown. The tally seemingly won the game for the Crimson but Dave Fultz, the old Brown University football and baseball player, who was referee, called the play back for minor infraction of the rules while the crowd howled in derision and Yale triumphed for the first time in seven years. Cupid Beck was captain of that Yale 11 and it was the first Eli team coached by Tad Jones.

Quick Thinker Casey was a backfield star par excellence. He was noted for his quick thinking and his agility on the gridiron. His straight arm was like a steel ram rod and with full development it was expected he would excel even Ned Mahan as a runner through a broken field.

As a coach, Casey has shown himself to be a close student of the game as well as a great tactician. Having played under Haughton when the latter had developed his strategy to its greatest heights it is believed that Casey will serve to revive in Harvard football the true Haughton conception of how the game should be played. Fisher, Horween's immediate predecessor, played when Haughton had just taken over the Crimson situation, while Horween did not appear until after the war. By placing Casey in charge, therefore, it is believed Harvard will return to the system which brought about those notable 36 to 0 and 41 to 0 victories over the Blue in 1914 and 1915, respectively.

AMERICANS SWARM BERLIN BERLIN, Aug. 10. (INS)—Americans again led. All the other foreign visitors to Berlin during June, increasing their May record by more than 52 per cent. The total figure was 4,724. Similar reports of great increases in the number of American tourists come from all other points in Germany.

HAMBURG, Aug. 10. (INS)—Bicycles have grown scarce as horses in the United States, but a group of some 30 American students are now making a bicycle tour which will cover a considerable part of Western Germany. From Freiburg in Baden they will go on via Basle to Switzerland and thence through France to Boulogne, where they sail on August 18 for America.

FAMOUS GRANGES UNIVERSITY GRID CAREERS CLOSED

Brother Of Mighty "Red" Is Not To Return To Illinois Football Team This Season; Played At End Post In '27

CHAMPAIGN-URBANA, Ill., Aug. 11. (INS)—The golden reign family in football circles at the University of Illinois is over. Garland Grange, the last of the famous gridiron stars, who upheld the family tradition last year by filling to some extent, at least, the shoes of his famed brother, "Red," is not expected to return to college this fall.

Garland played at end and one of the chief problems this season for Coach Bob Zuppke is going to be the development of wing men. Another end, Bill Short, will be unable to play this season on account of illness.

Look To Peters The passing of the Grange family and the death of ends, however, will bring into Illinois' battle for glory another beloved by all who follow the orange and blue. He is Frasty Peters, whose drop kick was not a candidate for the football squad last year, but he has sent word he intends to compete for a berth this fall.

Peters, who formerly played behind the line, will be given a trial at end and it is said that Zuppke has a decided notion he can turn out a top-notch wing man in the Montana lad.

Out of 28 men who were awarded varsity letters in 1927, eleven have been lost to the 1928 team. These include Bob Reitsch, center; Mittlerwall, and Nelson guards; Marriener, Schultz, Perkins and Grabbie, tackles; French, quarterback; Stewart, half back and D'Ambrosia, fullback.

Captain Nowack, Burdick and Gordon tackles; Richman center; Crane, McClure and Wetz, guards; Demmling, Wolfast, and Jolley, ends; Stuessy, quarter; Timm, Mills and Walter, halfbacks and Humbert, fullback, are those available from last year's letter men.

Freshmen Candidates Among freshmen candidates and new players, Roush, a light but speedy guard is outstanding. He played on the freshman squad in 1927 but was ineligible for varsity last season.

Huddleston, a guard candidate, weighing 243 pounds; Langhorst, formerly of Wheaton college, and Bkanich, guards; Liebert, tackle and Schumacher and Ehlert, centers, are considered likely material.

Jewis, May, Clason, Hummer, Mulh and Potter will strive for end berths.

New quarterback material includes Chatten, a freshman pilot drills that are most appropriate for serving at the afternoon bridge or tea table. They are economical in that many of them require only the syrup from canned fruits. The

Summer Drinks That Sparkle

THE busiest place on the summer porch, at the summer party, or even down by the tennis courts, is nine times out of ten, the punch bowl. Hot weather continues to generate royal thirsts and the consequent need for royal thirst quenchers, and fruit drinks are generally accepted as among the most regal of them all.

Fruit punches are soothing and cooling, and sparkling! Some of them really effervesce, others give all the sensations of sparkling as they make their way down parched summer throats.

Fruit Juices Are Cosmopolitan Fruit juices are the most cosmopolitan liquids known. They are equally at home in ginger ale, tea, coffee, cream and water, and they blend with such widely contrasting flavorings as cinnamon, mint, ginger or vanilla. Every fruit juice combines enticingly with every other fruit juice. In fact, the more fruits that you add to a fruit punch, the better it tastes. Of course, you must include the necessary sweetening, have the drink strong enough, and choose your other ingredients with discretion.

At the more informal types of summer entertainment a fruit punch is all that is really required in the way of refreshment. Following are recipes for delicious fruit drinks that are most appropriate for serving at the afternoon bridge or tea table. They are economical in that many of them require only the syrup from canned fruits. The for later use in salads or fruit cups. Coffee Punch: Mix one cup of strong coffee with one cup of orange juice and the juice of two No. 2 cans of grapefruit. Add one cup of maple syrup, stir well and chill. Just before serving, add one quart of ginger ale and, if desired, two cups of heavy cream.

Colonial Punch: Simmer for several minutes three tablespoons sugar in two cups of water. Add the juice from two No. 2 cans of red pitted cherries, the juice from two No. 2½ cans of sliced pineapple and four tablespoons of lemon juice. Chill thoroughly and serve. Dice a few of the cherries and one-half slice of the pineapple and add to the punch.

Fruit Punch: Dice finely two cups of drained canned fruits for salad. Steep for five minutes three tablespoons of tea in one quart of boiling water. Strain, add three tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice, six cloves and the syrup drained from the fruits for salad. Chill thoroughly, add the diced fruit and serve garnished with a sprig of mint.

Sour Cherry Cordial: Simmer together one cup of sugar and one cup of water. When a thin syrup forms, add two cups of tea, one cup of orange juice and one-half cup of lime juice. Run through a food chopper or press through a sieve one No. 2 can of red pitted cherries. Add both the cherry pulp and the juice to the other ingredients. Just before serving, add one quart of ginger ale. Garnish each glass with a thin wedge-shaped slice of orange.

VARIOUS PLANS TO STEAL TIME AND MONEY FROM THE UNWARY

Bankers Association Official Tells How Young People Are Fleeced in "Hokum Pokum" Movie Schemes—The Investor Loses Savings by Listening to Messrs. Slick and Smooth.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

THE fabulous salaries paid stars of the first magnitude, and the publicity of the "movies" naturally create longing in the breasts of thousands of our young Americans to get into motion pictures. Because so many are ready to leave home, and risk everything on a fling at motion pictures, unscrupulous persons have devised ways of fleecing these ambitious young people out of their savings. "Hokum-pokum" schemes of various kinds are used with great success. Fake courses in the art of acting before the camera, fake courses on how to make-up, fake registration gags and screen tests, are among the schemes used to separate these thousands of young people from their cash.

The pilgrimage to the motion picture centers by thousands of novices usually ends disastrously for the pilgrims. Naturally a few are successful, but only a very, very few, the ninety and nine meeting with disappointment.

The truth is, the number of persons who seek to "break into" the movies exceed the number of available positions by one hundred to one, while in the realm of popular stars it is thousands to one.

Don't be misled by the promises of promoters of hokum-pokum schemes that there is room for all, because this last year over 100,000 young people knocked at the door for admission and were turned away because there was no room on the inside for them. Consult your banker or address the National Better Business Bureau, New York City for information or advice regarding any enterprise that seeks to gain possession of your money. They will give digested counsel before it is too late.

Also let every investor approached by either Mr. Slick or Mr. Smooth with a proposition yielding big dividends remember that such assurances always spell financial danger ahead. To every investor who is inexperienced in making investments, in other words perhaps just a little green and perhaps a little too easy, any offer coming from this source should be like a red flag warning to come to a complete stop.

Such investments as Mr. Slick or Mr. Smooth offer are too good to be true and therefore they are not true. Slick, Smooth and Company are not intracule workers although from their sales talk you would infer that they could make you rich as if by magic. No, they are non-intracule workers—just slick and smooth.

The Estate Gag Twenty-four "estates" representing 5½ billions of dollars have been used as bait to interest a lot of stars and finally bleed them of their savings. The scheme is built around a supposed search for the heirs to certain phantom estates. At all points these heirs must be found. Every person who can be by any hook or crook, figure it out that he is in anyway related to the deceased are urged by some shyster lawyer or genealogist to send in their names and their life history.

Soon they receive glad tidings telling them that their family tree can be traced back to the deceased. In fact they are a direct descendant and on their way to a fortune. The shyster rallies everybody who responds to the search is found to be a descendant of the "estate." Here is where the real money is to be made. Before Evidently, Harvard had no desire to see Casey withdraw, hence his reported naming as Horween's successor.

Before the war when Harvard was riding roughshod over all opponents with Haughton ruling the football world without a challenge, Casey flashed into the picture as perhaps the last string of football celebrities developed and exhibited at the height of their glory by Haughton. Casey followed in the

ATTENTION ADVERTISERS

The attention of classified advertisers is called to the sixth paragraph in the rate box which reads:
No ad under three lines accepted.
This simply means that our minimum charge for a classified ad is three lines, counting five words to the line.
Should advertisers desire to run a one or two line ad, the minimum charge of three lines will apply.
This has been a Classified rate rule of The Herald for years but as there seems to be some confusion in the minds of advertisers about it we direct their attention to the rate schedule in the upper left hand corner.

LONDON'S SOCIAL SEA FILLED WITH 'GATE-CRASHERS'

Hostesses Of Mayfair Up In Arms Over Many Invasions Of Fashionable Parties By Herds Of Uninvited Guests

LONDON, Aug. 10. (INS)—Never before in London's social history have fashionable hostesses been confronted with a more serious problem than that of the gate-crasher, which now is assuming truly serious proportions. In the past, there have been many occasions when "bright young people," socially eligible, perhaps, but not expressly invited, have invaded the mansions of Mayfair when dances or receptions were in progress. But now their number is legion, and London's hostesses are up in arms against the evil.

The matter was brought to a sensational climax recently at a ball given by Lady Ellesmere, one of London's most prominent hostesses. She found a number of gate-crashers in the reception room, and in full view of her invited guests, ordered them to leave the house.

Had the offenders been strangers or undesirable, the affair would have ended there, but some of the crashers were well-known themselves, and the effect of Lady Ellesmere's action was far-reaching.

She made a statement to the press, and named two of the uninvited guests as Miss Nancy Beaton and Miss Betty Lowndes. Miss Beaton is the sister of Cecil Beaton, a familiar figure in London society, who has gained considerable fame by virtue of his "aesthetic camera portraits," and Miss Lowndes is the daughter of Belloc Lowndes, the well-known novelist. The families of both young ladies challenged the action of Lady Ellesmere, saying that although the girls had not been personally invited, they attended the ball in the company of a gentleman who had

A number of similar cases followed, and in some quarters the action of the hostesses has been found justifiable.

In one instance, a fashionable hostess issued 600 invitations and prepared for that number. In addition to the invited guests, no less than 400 gate-crashers turned up, with the result that the tea and champagne ran out long before the evening was over.

Take Drastic Steps
A number of steps have been taken to end the evil. They are as follows:

1. The presentation of visiting cards as well as invitations at the door. (This has been made necessary by the action of the gate-crashers in actually having forged invitations printed.)

2. The careful checking of names at the door.

3. The insistence of an acknowledgment of an invitation, after which a special identification card is issued.

4. The presence of detectives familiar with the notables who have been invited, and also the gate-crashers who attempt to come without the proper invitation.

5. The presence at the door of the hostess herself at the head of a reception committee.

6. The employment of burly "bouncers" to throw fear into the hearts of all uninvited aspirants.

7. The compilation of a "black list" of gate-crashers, which will be exchanged among hostesses. The presence of anyone's name on this list will be tantamount to social ostracism.

The militant attitude of the entertainers has resulted in many picturesque incidents. At a recent fashionable ball, the austere hostess approached a young girl, demanding that she show her invitation card. The girl replied that she had none, but that she had been invited orally by the son of the house.

The hostess immediately demanded that she leave. The girl, shocked and mortified, ran home to her mother. The next day, the hostess received the following letter signed with the name of one of England's most important and formidable leaders of society—nothing less than a Duchess. "Dear Madam," it read. "I am very glad you sent my daughter away from your ball last night. It is a credit to you that you realized that the affair was in no manner fitted for her."

What Women Eat

THE secret of serving women has been studied as a fine art at the New York Women's Exchange dining room, which caters to one of the largest and most fashionable clienteles of any dining room managed exclusively by women.

Real home-cooked food is the solution to the problem, according to Mrs. Edith Sammis, manager of the dining room.

Contrary to the general belief, women guests pass up chocolate saffrais and nutted frappes for a good old-fashioned dish of stewed fruit. Mrs. Sammis says. Rhubarb is especially popular. Also surprising is the fact that the "best-sellers" on the Women's Exchange menu, and in fact the only ones which appear as a daily feature are two foods ordinarily ascribed to a man's palate—corn beef hash and wedfish cakes.

Canned corn is useful as the Exchange says.
