Lake Mary Will Suspend Any Future 'Wrongdoers' The Lake Mary City Council, stung by recent criticism policy in the city's personnel regulations.

because a city police officer was kept on the payroll when he was suspected of wrongdoing, unanimously adopted a new policy Thursday night to cover similar situations in the future.

At the urging of Councilman Ray Fox, the council adopted a policy directing department heads to suspend with pay any employee whom they have "reasonable cause to believe may be guilty of wrongdoing."

The policy requires the department head thereafter to notify the council of his action before conducting an investigation into the wrongdoing.

Fox said that by suspending employees under these conditions, the city would be doing them a favor in most cases. The council also authorized City Attorney Gary Massey to prepare an ordinance for future adoption to include the new confiscated and being held for court cases by the police. Higginbotham resigned from the department in August, but before his resignation could become effective he was involved in a shooting incident and his leg was severely injured.

After the incident Higginbotham said he had been undergoing treatment at the county's mental-health center for stress and other personal problems. State Attorney Douglas Cheshire's office has been conducting an investigation into the shooting and the gun sales.

For the second time in two weeks, the council turned down a request from the Superior Sanitation Co. for a $1 increase in monthy rates to city residents.

But Mayor Walter Sorenson and the councilmen went further than just turning down the request. They also warned the principals of the garbage and trash collection company to discipline their truck drivers.

The council earlier rejected Ardolina's argument that the increase is necessary because the Seminole County Commission raised dumping fees at the county's sanitary tandfills by 50 percent.

Housing Record-Keeping Termed 'Appalling'

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The lack of record-keeping when more than $1.6 million of federal money was spent in a housing rehabilitation-resale project by the Sanford Housing Authority (SHA) is "unbelievable . . . appalling," Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles told SHA commissioners Thursday night.

In an appearance before the board at Redding Gardens, listed as "orientation" on the agenda, Knowles said he "will be digging myself out from under this mess for the next four or five months."

The city last April withdrew its sponsorship from an SHA-administered. federally funded community development block grant (CDBG) program designed to purchase, renovate and resell houses to low-income families. The city took the action after Knowles found that only eight houses had been purchased and renovated and seven sold. while more than $1 million had been

An audit of the program is now being done by certified public accountants Greene & Dycus.

Since the city withdrew its sponsorship, three of the five members of the SHA have been replaced because of resignations or because terms expired. Knowles told the commissioners the auditors have been trying to reconstruct the records of the federal project so those records can be audited.

"We should not have to be hiring certified public accountants to reconstruct accounts before audit," Knowles said. He said the audit is revealing that "there are more records missing than we would want to admit," and that he was tacks structure, direction and authority. appalled at the lack of record keeping.

people. He said that of the 2,000 applications for public housing on (ile, 700 are from Sanford residents and they should be given priority.

"We have people here in the city who need help and that is where you should give your attention," he said, adding that the city and the SHA should be proud that Sanford has more public-housing units per capita than any place else in Florida.

He reminded the commissioners that they do not represent the tenants, but rather represent the entire Sanford population, and their duty is to provide services for low-income families.

Saying he is "tearing my hair out" over the problems with the defunct CDBG program, Knowles said the blame for the problem doesn't rest entirely with the current or past staff. He said past commissioners wouldn't permit the staff members to do their jobs. He said some commissioners interfered and personally ordered work done.

"Individual members of the authority violated every cardinal rule of business.

Knowles advised the commissioners to take an interest in the internal workings of the authority, "Hold someone responsible, and you keep out of it," he said. "If your staff does not perform, if you don't trust them, get rid of them. It's that simple."

Property Taxes On Mobile H

It is a possibility - though a very tentative one at this point - that hundreds, perhaps thousands, of mobilehome owners in Seminole County will have to start paying property taxes on Currently, many mobile-home owners get no county tax bill, and the County Commission is concerned about how that affects the tax load on the rest of Seminole's taxpayers.

The Commission is scheduled to discuss the issue with the Board of Adjustment at Tuesday's commission meeting at 7 p.m. in the county courthouse in Sanford.

According to County Administrator Roger Neiswender, "Many mobile homes in the county are assessed at less than $25,000," allowing their owners to qualify for a Homestead Exemption, "This means the county is receiving no advalorem taxes from these people," Neiswender said.

Many mobile-home owners, however, do pay property taxes, according to Assistant County Tax Collector Terry Goembel. The key phrases here are "homeowner" and "property owner." Mobile-home owners who also own the lot on which their house sits are subject to taxation, Goembel said.

But a trailer dweller who rents his lot is required only to purchase a vehicle license tag from the state Motor Vehicle Division, he said.

Commissioners Bill Kirchholf and Barbara Christensen have said they would like to see "a more uniform system" of taxation to eliminate the twotier system. However, neither has any specific ideas on just how to achieve that

While on the subject of mobile homes, the commissioners are also expected

Tuesday to discuss the mobile-home permitting process. At present, most of the $6.50 permits that allow owners to anchor their homes on a certain parcel of land are issued for two years.

But Commissioner Robert "Bud" Feather says he thinks the county has been "too restrictive" in asking trailer owners to reapply every two years. But he adds that he has no definite idea how long to extend the permits for.

County Building Official Don Flippen said there were 241 permits issued for mobile homes last year. He projects only slightly more - 249 - to be issued in

Girl Scouts Believe In Getting Involved The Citrus Council of Girl Scouts, a

United Way agency, has 356 registered activities, offers girls the opportunity to adults in Seminole County working with 1,863 girl members in 110 troops.

During the last year Girl Scout troop members have entertained residents of local nursing homes with parties and an animal "petting" program with rabbits. provided babysitting service at PTO-PTA meetings so parents can become involved in their children's schools, and continued their beautification project at Fort Mellon Park, Sanford, with the "Brownle Ring of Azaleas,"

With the help of local merchants and health agencies, troops investigated "The World of Well Being" by learning about good nutrition and what a balanced diet is, did comparison shopping while balancing the troop budget in preparation for troop campion trips, and learned about the careers available in the communities.

This summer, Seminole County volunteers provided two day camps-Saniando Springs, in Altamonte Springs, and Lake Silver, in Sanford. Ninety-eight girls had the opportunity to learn about Girl Scouting in other countries, ecology and the environment, solar cooking, songs and games with an international flavor, and camperaft skills.

A six-week resident camp was held at the council's Mah-Kah-Wee Program Center in Chuluota.

Girl Scouting, through its program acquire a deepening awareness of themselves as persons of worth, to relate to others with increasing skill, maturity, and satisfaction, to develop values to give meaning and direction to their lives. and to contribute to the betterment of society through use of their own talents and in cooperative efforts with others.

In Girl Scouting, the girl develops feelings of being liked and needed, learns to accept herself and see her own potential, to build and maintain her own individuality.

She builds friendships and develops working relationships and a sense of oneness with others.

She becomes aware of and acts in accordance with her own values. She learns to make decisions based on what is important to her and with an understanding of the consequences.

She contributes to society through use of her own talents and in cooperation with others; she develops concern for her community—the people and their needs. Girl Scouting offers a variety of experiences and adventures that help prepare the girls of today for their role in

Snakes They Hide In Plants

"Look before you reach,"

That's the advice of Mrs. W.J. Payne. 428 W. Crystal Drive, Sanford, to those with potted plants around the outside of their house. Mrs. Payne learned the hard

She was about to add fertilizer to a hanging potted plant outside her door. When she reached up and tipped it slightly she noticed something new had been added. The something was a 213foot ground rattlesnake curled up in the pot and staring back at her.

The unwelcome surprise caused Mrs. Payne to scream, bringing her husband to the rescue. They then checked the hanging pot next to the first and lo and behold, there was another ground rattler of equal size. Payne moved them into the yard, where he promptly dispatched the.

"They must have crawled up the post and reached over to get in the pots," Mrs. Payne surmised. "They're looking for a warm place to sleep on these cooler nights."

She said her next-door neighbor also found a rattler in a potted plant.

"We were fortunate not to have been bitten, because the bite of the ground rattler can be fatal," said Mrs. Payne, "I wanted to warn everybody not to stick their hands in their plants without checking first for snakes. Sammy Ortez, 35, of Miami, being held at the Seminole County Jail in lieu of $500,000 bond on cocaine charges, has been charged with second-degree murder in the deaths of two men who died in the crash of a plane hauling a large load of

The Piper Aztec twin engine plane crashed off State Road 415 in south east Volusia County Sept. 28. After a nose dive into a densely wooded area south of Samsula, the plane exploded and burned. Only small pieces of the aircraft were left and two bodies were dismembered, according to the Volusia County Sheriff's Department.

It took investigators several days to identify the victims as John B. Silva, 35, Edgartown, Mass.; and Pablo Garcia, 23, of Miami. At the time of the crash, deputies said the plane was believed to have been hauling a large load of marijuana, although most of the pot burned. About $1,000 in 100-dollar bills were found scattered around the crash site.

Volusia County Sheriff's Lt. Bill Smith said today Ortez is accused of masterminding the ill-fated smuggling operation. The murder charges, Smith explained, stem from the fact two men died in the commission of a felony. According to state law anyone involved in a felony death can be charged with murder. Bond has been set at $15,000 on each of the Volusia County murder charges.

In addition, Ortez has been charged with selling, manufacturing and delivering marijuana in connection with the estimated $600,000 worth of pot on board the plane when it went down. Bond for the charges was set at $200,000.

According to Seminole County arrest reports, Ortez, alias Tony Perez, lists his occupation as a landscaper and claims three years of college education.

Arrested with Ortez on Monday were Jose Mazola, 36, Brooklyn; Jose Benitez, 48, Miami; and Lourdes Campos Benitez, 26, Miami. They are each being held in lieu of $500,000 bond on charges of possession of cocaine with intent to distribute and trafficking in cocaine. The four are scheduled to be arraigned Oct. 23.

They were arrested Monday when they attempted to sell 2.5 pounds of pure cocaine with an estimated street value of $3.5 million to undercover officers.

Seminole County Sheriff's Department spokesman John Spolski said today the county's drug task force expects to make additional arrests shortly in connection with the incident, which he earlier termed the biggest drug bust in the history of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

CARSTAKEN

A 1973 dark green Volkswagen Beatle valued at $1,278 was reported stolen from Jack Prosser Ford, 3786 S. Orlando Dr., Sanford, on Tuesday. The car was removed from the used car lot sometime between 2 p.m. Sunday and 1 p.m. Tuesday, police said.

In an unrelated incident, a 1975 2-door white and blue Cadillac valued at $3,400 was taken from the garage of Maria Echenroth's residence at 1600 North St., Longwood. Police said the thief first had to break into the home, find the car keys in a box in a bedroom drawer before making off with the car,

And after forcing open the east garage door which was nailed shut, the thief re-nailed the door closed before driving out the main garage door, police said.

THEY'LL STEAL ANYTHING

Stainless steel door and aluminum cargo lock bars were among items stolen recently in Sanford.

Police report someone stole a set of stainless steel doors valued at $375 from a Thermo King trailer parked at the K-Mart Plaza lot sometime between 6 p.m. Sunday and 7 p.m.

The doors belonged to D.A. Foster Trenching Co. 745 S. Clay, Winter Park.

In another incident sometime during the past 20 days, at least 20 aluminum cargo lock doors were taken from a trailer parked at the Sanford Farmer's Market.

The lock bars, valued at $880, belonged to Metro Sales, 1921 W. 12th Sanford.

SHE CLEANED HOUSE?

Orra Lee Senior, 33, of 884 Klondike St., Winter Garden, was being held at the Seminole County Jail this morning in lieu of $5,000 bond charged with the Oct. 9 theft of $3,000 worth of items from a residence at Via Bella Drive, Sanford.

The suspect was doing house cleaning work at the residence on the day of the theft, police said.

After Ms. Senior gave permission for a search of her vehicle, police said several items found were identified by the victim as having been among those taken in the theft.

It appears the Stanten Motel in Longwood will be getting a facelift. The Longwood Land Planning Agency has recommended approval for construction to begin on the 12-unit motel on U.S. Highway 17-92 South of Wildmere Avenue.

According to Orlando engineer Mark Holder, who is in charge of the construction project, the single-story motel will be transformed into two separate motels. As proposed, the first building to be built will have two offices and eight units on the first floor. On the second floor there will be 10 units. At the Wednesday night hearing, Holder also told the agency the second building will have 32 total units.

The new motel also is planned to have a new 99-seat restaurant.

No one was present at the hearing to oppose the plans, and the construction date has not been set.

The agency's recommendation will now come before the City Commission at a later date for final approval or denial.

Administration Wants New Restrictions

Reagan, Media Clash Over Information

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Reagan administration and the news media are at odds over the Freedom of Information Act, with the administration maintaining new restrictions are needed and the media saying the act should be left alone.

Massive changes were recommended Thursday by the administration, including provisions for excluding government files on terrorism, organized crime and foreign counter-tee that hostile government intelligence agencies and extremist groups now use the act to try to uncover U.S. informants and learn government strategies.

To prevent this, the agency said, Congress should allow the attorney general to declare the files exempt from mandatory disclosure under the act, while allowing access for historical research and other non-controversial purposes.

Jack Landau, director of the Reporters Committee for Freedorn of the Press, testified the proposed changes would weaken an act that was designed to open the government to the public. Landau said he believes the provision for excluding files on terrorism, organized crime and counter-intelligence operations would have enabled the FBI to avoid the massive disclosure of its Cointelpro operation in the mid-1970s.

The disclosures, forced by media requests under the act, revealed the FBI had spent millions of dollars on "dirty tricks" to thwart what it considered extremist organizations under a counter-intelligence program in the 1960s.

Elvis Called A Problem Patient

prosecution witness aided the defense in the drug trial of Elvis Presley's personal physician by testifying the doctor confided Presley was a "problem patient" who got drugs "from everywhere under the sun."

The witness, a pharmacist, also said Dr. George C. Nichopoulos, who is accused of overprescribing thousands of addictive pills to Presley and 10 others, sought help in trying to replace strong drugs prescribed for the superstar with look-alike harmless placebos.

Prosecutors Jewett Miller and James Wilson originally called Irvin Jack Kirsh. proprietor of a Memphis pharmacy, to try to get 56 prescriptions, 21 of them written for Presley, into evidence.

Miller said he would call Marty Lacker, Presley's close friend and best man in the star's 1967 wedding, and

Orienta Oaks May Be Axed

A yellow ribbon on a tree signifies acceptance, life and love as a popular song implies. But, a red ribbon on at least nine of the 18 laurel oaks lining Orienta Avenue in Altamonte Springs, in front of the Creekwood Apartments, could mean just the opposite.

According to Red Hill of Red Hill's Tree Service, at least nine of the 18 trees are suffering from "just plain old age." At last week's city commission meeting, Commissioner Dolores Vickers asked City Manager Jeff Etchberger to report to the commission before any action is taken concerning the trees. Etchberger is scheduled to make his report at Tuesday's commission meeting.

According Don Newnham, city public works director, the cost to fell one of the large oak trees would be approximately $500. City ordinance requires a permit before a tree can be cut down. If a tree is felled, a younger tree will most likely be planted to replace it, he said.

"I would say that any time you can spend a little money now to save a lot of money over a long period it's a pretty good investment. And that's how I feel about insulation and those other energy-saving features in our house," says Mr. Robert McMahon of Cocoa. He and his wife, Jean, estimate they save $30 to $40 a month because of their initial investment in the Watt-Wise Living package at the time they built their home.

What's a Watt-Wise¹⁹ package? It's a combination of features that meet FPL's energy-saving standards and can be easily included in the construction of a new home. Over a period of years they can save you substantially more than they cost. Naturally, how much you save will depend on your lifestyle and conservation efforts. Watt-Wise homes have cost-saving features like extra ceiling and wall insulation, solar or heat-recovery units for water heating, a higher-efficiency air conditioner or heat pump. Power savers like fluorescent lighting and a microwave oven, and thermally efficient windows and doors, with glass areas planned to minimize heat build-up.

Today, there are many ways to save on electricity without giving up comfort. You'll find them in FPL's Watt-Wise Living Program. Today, it's one of the wisest investments you could make. Stop by your local FPL office and pick up a free brochure.

Defense Costly, But It's Vital

The Reagan administration took office last January with no more urgent responsibility than to modernize and strengthen a strategic nuclear deterrent increasingly threatened by the Soviet Union's expanding missile arsenal.

President Reagan and Defense Secretary Weinberger have now unveiled their initial plans for righting a strategic military balance that has been tipping in Moscow's favor since the mid-

As expected, the administration's program is expensive — $180 billion over the next six years. But the nation's security cannot be purchased on the cheap and the price that must now be paid is one consequence of having ignored the Soviet military buildup for most of the last decade.

While Washington trusted in detente and arms control agreements, Moscow was spending triple the U.S. budget for strategic nuclear weaponry. The result is a "window of vulnerability" commonly defined as the period during which much of the U.S. nuclear deterrent and especially the land-based missile component could conceivably be destroyed in a surprise Soviet attack.

The administration's five-point strategic program is intended to diminish that vulnerability and lay the groundwork at least for eliminating it altogether.

The program includes production of 100 MX intercontinental ballistic missiles and 100 modified B-1 bombers, development of a larger and more accurate submarine-launched missile, a thorough rebuilding of the communications system for controlling strategic forces, deployment of several hundred long-range cruise missiles on existing submarines, and a modest improvement in civil and air defense.

In theory, all of this will eventually double the number of strategic nuclear weapons that would survive a Soviet first strike. But it won't do much to narrow that window of vulnerability during the critical early and mid years of the 1980s.

It remains to be seen whether the cruise missiles to be deployed on submarines beginning in 1964 will have the range and accuracy necessary to threaten Soviet missiles held in reserve during a surprise attack.

The first B-1 isn't scheduled to roll off the production line until 1986.

And the administration hasn't yet decided how to shield the MX from the same vulnerability that afflicts existing Titan and Minuteman ICBMs in their fixed, underground silos. Until that crucial decision is made, the MX is to be deployed in existing silos made available by retiring some of the older Titans and Minuteman IIs.

The administration's plan to harden these silos by adding more reinforcing steel and concrete is a stopgap measure at best.

Barring some unforeseen technological breakthroughs, land-based ICBMs must remain the core of the U.S. nuclear deterrent well into the 1990s and perhaps long after that. The size, accuracy, and speed of ICBMs give them vast advantages over any other weapon as a deterrent to a potential Soviet first strike.

The problem is how to protect the ICBMs from pre-emptive destruction. Reagan policymakers rejected the Carter administration's proposed shell-game system, in which 200 MXs would have been shuttled among 4,600 protective shelters located in Nevada and Utah.

But mobility in some form is essential to a survivable MX. And the best answer still seems to be a simplified, less expensive version of the shell game augmented by an antiballistic missile screen.

This could add perhaps $40 billion to the strategic forces budget during the mid and late 1980s when the Reagan administration or its successor would no doubt still be struggling to limit federal spending and satisfy all the competing demands on the Treasury.

Still, defense must come first and strategic forces sufficient to deter nuclear war or political blackmail represent the cost of survival itself.

Walking through the Seminole Courthouse one might take notice of the paintings on the walls, but upon closer inspection, one will find the name of the artist is signed — Ashby Jones.

And that Ashby Jones, is the very same Ashby Jones that is the county's clerk.

Jones said he began painting and putting up the paintings in the county courthouse nearly 10 years ago when he took his first art lesson.

Now there are as many as 20 paintings hanging in on the walls throughout the building, Jones and. Basically the artist says he paints for self gratification and it's his hobby, but he says he has an "alternative motive" for placing the paintings in the county building.

"I want to continue painting after I retire and this is a way of exposing my art," he said with a laugh.

Jones has worked for the county for nearly 21 years, and for ten of those years he has been painting.

When he retires, Jones says he plans to spend a great deal of time traveling around to the various art shows in the area.

He says he does take commissions for his art work, but he mostly paints nature scenes — rivers, lakes, and trees. "I stay clear from painting people," he laughs. The money he receives pays for frames and paint brushes, Jones said.

This morning Jones said he was busily putting back up some of his paintings on the walls.

Recently Jones took some of his paintings out of the courthouse to show them in Sanford's art show last weekend.

ROBERT WAGMAN Hard Choices For Israel

WASHINGTON (NEA) — As the Israelis contemplate the completion of the Camp David peace process without its principal architect, their foremost question is whether they signed a treaty with Egypt or simply with Anwar Sadat,

The 1979 Camp David agreement is entering its final and most crucial phase. Next April the Israelis are scheduled to turn over to Egypt the portions of the Sinal Peninsula that they have occupied since the 1967 Six Day War. The land to be returned includes air bases and producing oil wells.

In exchange, the Israelis are to get what they have wanted so badly: the complete nomalization of relations with Egypt. But Sada's death will force them to face some hard decisions.

In the hours immediately following the assassination, leaders in both Israel and Egypt said the kinds of things that could be expected under the circumstances.

"In the name of the spirit and soul of our leader and our constitution, we will abide by all treaties and commitments made," said Hosni Mubarak, the Egyptian vice president, when he went on television to announce the death of Sadat.

"As President Sadat would have wished, it (the peace process) will continue despite the efforts of the enemies of peace," echoed Menachem Begin, the Israeli prime minister.

But others in Israel are expressing a lot less optimism and a lot more caustion. As former Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan noted, "The assassination put a very big question mark about the continuation of the peace process."

The Israelis know that the new Egyptian government under mubarak will be under tremendous pressure — both from within Egypt and from other Middle Eastern states — to abandon Israel and rejoin the Arab fold. They know that the peace process had progressed this far almost solely as a result of the will of Sadat. And they doubt that Mubarak's government will be the one-man operation that Sadat's was.

Nevertheless, Mubarak is seen as the key to the new peace equation. The former head of the Egyptian air force is viewed in Israel as a follower of few deep convictions. The Israelis suggest that he will be much more susceptible to political pressure — most of which will be urging him to abandon Camp David.

The Israelis think that it will take time — probably a year or so — to assess the strength and intentions of the new Egyptian government. But time is one thing that they lack with the April 28 return of the Sinai quickly approaching.

What the Israelis fear most is that the Egyptians will continue to say all the right things and to live up to Camp David only until they have the Sinai back. Afterward, the Israelis say, the Egyptians may abrogate the agreement, perhaps using as an excuse the lack of a final resolution of the "Palestinian question" and the West Bank.

This poses a dilemma for the Israelis. They will seem to be backing down if they try to delay the final steps of the Camp David accord. This could lead to the complete unraveling of the peace process.

But if they go ahead before being assured of the long-range intentions and survivability of the Mubarak government, they may end up relinquishing the Sinal and getting little or nothing in return.

Billboard Control Debate

After 16 years of turmoil, everyone agrees that Lady Bird Johnson's Highway Beautification Act — intended to control billboards on federally funded highways — doesn't work. Everyone, that is, except the billboard industry.

So Sen. Robert Stafford, R-Vt., an original backer of Mrs. Johnson's program, introduced a bill just before Congress recessed to scrap the 1965 law.

This was a follow-up on the recommendation of the Transportation Department's National Advisory Committee on Outdoor Advertising and Motorist Information, which had been holding meetings for more than a year to decide what to do about the law. At its final meeting, June 19, the committee recommended 13-11 to repeal the law. The 11 dissenters represented the billboard industry. Stafford, chairman of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, would turn billboard control back to the states, saving only:

A pre-1965 provision giving a 0.5 percent "bonus" of federal interstate highway funds to the 22 states that agreed to curb signs on the interstate.
 State ability to use interstate and primary highway funds for informational signs in rest areas and other places along the roads.

Three Republican members of Stafford's committee joined him in sponsoring his bill, along with the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore.

The chief opponent to the law's repeal is Vern Clark, lobbyist for the Outdoor Advertising Association of America, which represents big biliboard companies.

Even roadside business groups, which used to go along with Clark, are balking, as their testimony made clear in Senate hearings at the end of June in Rapid City, S.D. Reason: The big companies have raised billboard prices beyond the reach of many small roadside firms.

Stafford, whose home state controls signs nicely, notes he "strongly supported" Mrs. Johnson's goal of reducing billboard clutter on the interstate and primary highways in 1965. But changes in the law made "attainment of the original goals impossible," Stafford says. "The act has become a protection for billboards rather than the cause for their removal. Not only does the act protect billboards that have any commercial value, but it also permits new signs to be erected."

That's a result of 1978 amendments, pushed by Clark's group, requiring payment of compensation to owners for removal of any signs adjacent to interstate or primary roads. The law restricts local and state authorities, who normally control this kind of billboard clutter, from exercising their powers because they have to pay outrageous prices.

Says Stafford: "The effect of the 1978 amendments has been to increase the potential cost for removing non-conforming signs to over $1 billion" — and a big chunk of this would come out of federal taxpayers' pockets, though Stafford notes that neither the Carter nor the Reagan administration has requested funding for the billboard-control program for the past three years.

What the 1978 amendments actually did were to create a kind of gridlock the billboard industry wants. They protect its monopoly. The Federal Highway Administration office that tried to enforce the law has been disbanded. Local and state officials don't have the money federal law demands to pay off sign owners.

The only way to go, says Stafford, is deregulation, dumping "complex and costly federal regulations... providing greater freedom for those states that want to achieve highway beautification" — and letting those states with powerful biliboard interests get just what they deserve, more clutter along the roads.

The issue has been debated repeatedly in Congress. If you want to get federal government out of the billboard-control business, the people to write are Sen. Robert Stafford, c-o Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510, and the committee's ranking minority member, Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., using the same address.

Financial Stability Threat

By MARY TOBIN UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prolific growth of the commercial paper market, a sign of liquidity problems in business, poses a significant risk for the whole financial system.

Commercial paper, shortterm unsecured promisory notes issued by the largest and most creditworthy corporations, is issued for periods of a few days to 90 days. It is negotiable and can be called by the lender.

Henry Kaufman, economist at Salomon Brothers, said the nation's current problems of high interest rates and a weakening economy are intensified by the continued decline of liquidity in the credit markets.

decline of liquidity in the credit markets.

"Indeed, a noose is now tightening around the credit markets, painful in some sectors, but not too uncomfortable in others," Kaufman said.

He said business is in a "Catch 22" situation. "Corporate dependence on short-term financing continues to rise at an alarming pace ... at a time when liquidity and capitalization ratios were already historically low."

Much of the short-term borrowing is a signal of weakness, not strength, since it represents borrowing to finance inventories and to meet current expenses.

In the event of a credit crunch, when lendards

In the event of a credit crunch, when lenders are unwilling to lend at any price, commercial paper is the first hit. Panicky lenders call in the paper and companies are unable to meet the call.

In one signal of potential trouble in this sector, Moody's Investors Service lowered the rating on 20 commercial paper issuers in the first nine months of 1981 and raised the ratings on only five.

Ironically, the All Savers certificate, conceived to help thrift institutions and banks recapture money lost to the money market funds, could exacerbate the problem if a crunch occurs.

Money market funds hold 31 percent of outstanding commercial paper and "there already is a strong flight to quality paper" by the fund managers, David M. Jones, economist for Aubrey G. Lanston & Co., said.

There is now a staggering $162 billion of this short-term money outstanding — $5.7 billion was issued in September alone — and the increasing weakness in the economy is causing lenders to reassess their investments.

causing lenders to reassess their investments.

"With the potential pressure from All Savers, hard-pressed companies, some now experiencing a severe liquidity squeeze, are experiencing a severe liquidity squeeze, are going to find it even harder to borrow," Jones said.

If huge amounts were drawn from the money funds — and this doesn't look likely — money funds — and this doesn't look likely — the funds would be forced to call or sell the paper to meet the drain. Money funds also invest heavily in large bank certificates of deposit and in Eurodollar offerings by toprated U.S. banks.

But the corporate sector is where the potential for trouble lies.

"Corporate commercial paper has grown prolifically as a result of high interest charges at banks and because of companies' inability to borrow long in the bond market," Jones said. "This has become an area of significant risk."

Leaders Tried To Keep Deal From Sadat

WASHINGTON — A scandal of extraordinary proportions involves Egypt's highest leaders and a group of former CIA and Pentagon officials in a backroom deal that gave a company with Palestinian connections the exclusive, multimillion-dollar contract to ship U.S. arms to Egypt.

As I reported in a previous column, there is strong reason to suspect that corrupt Egyptian officials profited personally from the scheme, and that some of the arms shipments were diverted to Palestinian forces and other groups opposed to the late President Anwar Sadat.

My associates Dale Van Atta and Indy Badhwar have conducted a major investigation into the affair. They interviewed knowledgeable Egyptian officials, military and intelligence sources and businessmen who were involved. They obtained dozena of secret cables and letters that confirm essential parts of the story.

Baksheesh and nepotism are nothing new in the Middle East, but it is rare indeed when corruption can be traced to the very highest levels of government. Yet the trail of evidence in the Egyptian arms deal points to the two most powerful men in Egypt today—the men who stood at either side of Sadat when he was assassinated, and who now effectively control the country.

The two are Sadat's successor, Hosni Mubarak, and Defense Minister Abu Ghazala. On June 25, 1979, a few months after the secret arms shipping deal was cut, Mubarak was given a detailed report on the affair. The report included the information that the shipping firm, Tersam, was not qualified and was secretly controlled by a Palestinian businessman named Ali Shorafa, operating out of the United Arab Emirates, a hotbed of anti-Sadat Palestinian supporters.

A coded cable from Cairo on July 2, 1979, stated that "vice president in person is following this case closely." But a return cable the next day suggested it was unlikely Mubarak would pursue the scandal diligently, because "the vice president's brother-in-law is involved."

A week later, another cable from Cairo gave assurance: "V.P. taking matters very seriously. Brother-in-law (flown to) Cairo." In the end, however, Mubarak did nothing to rescind the contract or hinder its execution. It is not clear whether the vice president ever told the incorruptible Sadat about the affair.

The brother-in-law is Gen. Mounir Sabet, now stationed in Washington as chief of military procurement. Two years ago, he was an assistant military attache here, and was involved in the Tersam deal up to his ears. At a Washington meeting on June 14, 1979, for example, Sabet confirmed that Tersam had been awarded the shipping contract in secret, and offered one of the firm's competitors half the profits if he'd keep his mouth shut.

Sabet's boss in Washington that year was the military attache, Gen. Abu Ghazala. He too was deeply involved in the Tersam deal. I have a confidential letter signed by Ghazala and addressed to the Pentagon, dated April 2, 1979. It informed the appropriate officials "that the Egyptian Ministry of Defense has appointed TERSAM CO. as its exclusive agent ... for all its military imports from the United States of America."

For months thereafter, however, Ghazala repeatedly denied that Tersam had been given the contract. Far from being reprimanded for his part in the undercover deal, Ghazala was given an extension of his American tour of duty and a new home. He is now defense minister.

On June 14, 1979, at the Army-Navy Country Club near Washington, Ghazala and Sabet led still another Tersam competitor to believe that his firm would get the lucrative shipping contract. Later that evening, an American associate of the two Egyptian military men offered the competitor a subcontract if he would make no fuss about the Tursam deal. The Egyptians were clearly worried that word of the behind-the-scenes arrangement with the Palestinian Shorafa would become known in Egypt.

A third top-level Egyptian involved in Tersam was Gen. Kamal Hassan Ali, now deputy prime minister and foreign minister. At the time, he was defense minister. He was the one who authorised Ghazala's letter to the Pentagon stating that Tersam was the exclusive shipping agent for American arms. And in a secret letter from Ali's office dated April 17, 1979, Tersam's status as "permanent and exclusive agent" was confirmed. The letter stated that the agreement had been made in 1978.

Yet Ali repeatedly lied to other Egyptians about the Tersam deal, and succeeded in blocking investigation of the affair. He also helped keep the facts from reaching Sadat, according to my sources.

The final competitor was given the word at a meeting in Washington's swank Madison Hotel in September 1979. Ali, Ghazala and an American colleague, a former CIA official, tried to buy the businessman off with the offer of a subcontract.

As one source familiar with the Tersam deal concluded: "It all resked of money paid under the table."

Special Owner Is Needed For Special Dalmatian

may want to skip these first few paragraphs, Recently, a small cat was found in a closed up paper bag, almost dead - right here in Geneva!

Thankfully, the cat was rescued by the Humane Society of Seminole County, and is now well on his way to a full recovery.

The volunteers at the Humane Society have a sincere love for the animals they care for. Twice a day the animals are fed, and twice a day their cages are cleaned - scrubbed with brushes, no less! Also, they are exercised outside of the runs once a day.

Many animals are available for a small adoption fee - $35 for dogs and $15 for cats. When you adopt from the Humane Society you receive a certificate which entitles you to take your pet to a participating vet for neutering at no additional charge. This is a service you

Ligustrum: A Hardy Plant

Extension Horticulturist

University of Florida Evergreen ligustrum shrubs and trees thrive throughout the state. They are widely used as landscape shrubs, hedges and specimen trees. Many species and cultivars are available with a diversity of leaf colors, leaf forms, and growth habits.

All selections are tolerant of heavy pruning which makes them suited for clipped hedges. Because of a rapid growth rate, many require pruning to maintain them within bounds. The white flowers are attractive during late spring and early summer. However, the pungent odor may be objectionable.

The most common ligustrums grown in Florida are Japanese or wax privet (Ligustrum japonicum), glossy privet (L. lucidum) and Chinese privet (L. sinense). Japanese privet and glossy privet are easily confused. Japanese privet has thick, evergreen, glossy leaves 3 to 4 inches (7.5 to 10

Glossy privet (L. lucidum) grows rapidly and can become a small tree 30 to 40 feet (9 to 12 m) tall. The dark evergreen leaves are 4 to 6 inches (10 to 15 cm) long, with grafted on Quihou privet to 6 to 8 pairs of veins and narrow, elongated tips. Small Japanese and glossy privet white flowers are born in can be propagated from seed.

compact terminal clusters in They flower in late spring black berries persist much of the year.

Ligustrums are one of the most commonly used landscape plants. Their low cost, availability, rapid growth and wide adaptability to most habitats contribute to their overuse. Ligustrums are ideally suited for formal or informal hedges because of their large mass of foliage and ability to tolerate heavy shearing as well as neglect. Selection of healthy vigorous plants and proper installation are the first steps in minimizing maintenance requirements. Regular pruning is required to promote desired growth and maintain desired size. Ligustrums can be propagated by cuttings, grafting and seed. Selections must be propagated by cuttings or grafting to maintain the desired leaf and growth characteristics. Softwood and spring hardwood cuttings of most ligustrums root easily. About eight weeks are required for rooting. Glossy privet may be difficult to root at times, however, actively growing terminal cuttings root best. Japanese privet and glossy privet are sometimes

Lake Brantley Spruces Up For Rising Creek

Herald Sports Writer

Halfway home. With five games gone in the 1981 prep football season, that's how things stand as Five Star Conference entries begin what Lake Brantley coach Dave Tullis labels, "The Second Season." Tullis makes three distinct points about that time of year when nonconference opponents are few and far between, when teams get down to the meat of the achedule by playing each other in district games. Important district games that determine just who will be around for post season play.

Point one by Tullis. "Nobody is out of Point two. "Conference leads are temporary." Point three. "It only counts if you're leading the conference after the last game of the season." The Lake Brantley skipper's remarks come on the eve of an important district showdown with visiting Spruce Creek tonight. The Patriots enter the contest at 3-2 overall but more importantly 2-0 in district competition, sharing the district front runner's spot with Seminole, also at 2-0 and Spruce Creek at 1-0 in conference play.

The visiting Hawks come in at 2-2 overall on the heels of a 35-6 whipping at the hands of powerful Titusville. Lake Brantley is likewise coming off a sound thrashing, losing 27-6, to rejuvenated Winter Park.

"The conference is really deceiving, so are the records," says Tullis of the 1981 chase. "Right now the teams that worry me most are Seminole and Spruce Creek."

What worries Tullis most about the "Creek" is a varied attack and a host of offensive players that can break a game open at any time.

"Their attack is so varied that you can't really key on one player," points out Tuills. The Hawks operate basically out of the I and pro-set formations, usually trying to spring halfback Kenny Flowers, who, like Apopta's Arnell Lykes, enjoyed a better season rushing as a junior than in his senior campaign. "That's the problem," points out

Tullis. "Flowers is goo Creek is a preity good offensive team overall. But if you key on him, they've got a real quick quarterback, a good fullback and a couple of wide receivers that can hurt you." To complement a diversified offensive attack, the Hawks come armed with what Tullis deems the quickest defense he's seen this year.

"They even look quick on the films," says the Lake Brantley coach.

"I saw them against Titusville and they got behind early, but the defense is like lightning."

Tullis hopes to counter Spruce Creek's prowess with the improved running of Kevin Besaw and the passing of quarterback Fred Baber.

"We have to throw the ball a little more," says Tullis of the Patriots offense attack, "Fred Baber will go again at quarterback for us and we need another game from Besaw like his last

He's really come on in the last couple of games," said Tullis of his hard-nosed running back who leads the Patriots in rushing this season.

Defensively, Lake Brantley hopes to return to the form that it displayed in limiting the opposition to only one touchdown in four games of regulation play prior to last week's loss to Winter

"We sat down and looked at the Winter park game films," acknowledged Tullis. "It was a combination of them playing well and us playing poorly. I don't want to take anything away from Winter Park but we didn't play as well on defense as we're capable of playing."

"Our kids saw the mistakes they made and they know what they're capable of doing."

What the Patriots and Hawks will both be trying to do is get back up for a big district game coming off lopsided losses.

"Good teams can come back after a loss like we had," points out Tullis.

"I've been satisfied with this week's practice. It's been kind of quiet and there hasn't been a whole lot of rah-rah. Our kids are like that. When we know what we have to do to prepare we don't come out to practice and waste any time. We've gotten in some good licks in practice this week and the kids seem to be going about things in a very businesslike manner.

DAVE TULLIS

The Patriots will be without the services of a couple of starters for tonight's Spruce Creek encounter. Defensive back Rick Ryan will miss the contest with a shoulder injury while Defensive end Steve Peacock will be sidelined with a neck injury. Tight end Gary Decker is hopeful coming off a bout with the flu.

"We've got to do two things to beat Spruce Creek," said Tullis.

"First of all we've got to keep them away from being on offense. We have to play ball control and not let them get things established."

PATRIOT PATTER - After viewing the game films from the Winter Park contest, the Patriot coaching staff decided on its player of the week awards.

Offensively, honors went to running back Kevin Besaw who picked up 89 yards against the Wildcats, while defensive back Rick Ryan , earned defensive honors.

Tribe Seeks To Further 'Dogs' Football Despair By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor Sanford football coach Jerry Posey keeps talking about how early it is in the Five Star Conference football race. Deland football coach Don Stowers gives one the impression that it is getting late in the race. Posey talks about the balance in the Five Star and how any of four or five teams could take it. Stowers talks about how the conference is not as good as last year. He feels that there were four or five teams better than the best ones this year. One talks of winning, while the other dwells on losses and missed opportunities. If you haven't already figured out the winner and loser, Posey's Tribe is 3-1 and tied for the conference lead at 2-0. Sowers' Bulldogs are 1-4 and 0-3 in the Five Star.

Tonight at 8 in DeLand, Sanford will try to continue to act the role of winner, while DeLand will try to salvage what's left of a miserable season and displace Seminole from its lofty perch.

"I'm not trying to degrade anybody, but I don't think this league is very strong," assessed Stowers honestly. "There are average teams and there are below average teams this year.

"As you can see we're below average and I think Sanford, Lake Brantley, Mainland and Spruce Creek are average."

Posey, as would be expected, wasn't real pleased with Stowers' assessment. "I don't know how he can say that,"

said the Tribe boss. "It's still pretty early to judge the conference and district caliber." Stowers feels a bubble of gloom has hung over his Bulldogs all year. "We've been kind of depressed lately. We had Mainland beat two weeks ago, but blew it in the last minute." said Stowers. "Our mental condition is not real good." The veteran DeLand mentor hopes the return of his best two players may bolster the Bulldogs' eroding confidence. Tailback John Ramsey, a runner similar to Sanford powerful Lenny Sutton, is coming off a shoulder separation. Another running back, Willie Harris, is returning after missing two and one-half games with the thigh

"We went for about three games with a running back that couldn't run a 10.8 100." pointed out Stowers. "It's pretty though to win in 4A football when you don't have any speed."

While Stowers paints a picture of gloom on his offensive canvas, the defense has been a prettier picture.

"Our defense hasn't been too bad," said Stowers. "Terrance Graham is a good defensive tackle. Kevin Rood and Ferrell Gibson have done pretty good in the defensive backfield."

DeLand's linebackers-Doug McDaniel and Victor Edwards-are pretty solid in the middle too.

But the offense is what has Stowers worried, especially after the Seminole defense, led by Burger King and Sanford Optimist Club Player of the Week Antonio Davis, did pretty much what it wanted with Apopka last week.

Davis, just $-foot-7 and 175 pounds, was pure hell. He made 12 unamisted tackles, helped out on three more and sacked the quarterback too. He gets ample help from Byron Washington and Greg Register on each side.

Posey also received excellent play from defensive backs Butch Carter and Vince Edwards.

While the addition of running backs Harris and Ramsey will help, Stowers doesn't know what to expect. "Ramsey hasn't worked out in pads for two and one-half weeks," Stowers revealed, "I don't know how much we'll use him."

The biggest area of concern of fensively, though, is behind the center. Stowers has gone with David DeMarsh most of the year and he has been lackluster, Tonight, the Bulldog boss may start Robert Flack.

"We're at the point of the season where we have to do something different. We've got to start taking chances," informed Stowers. "I'm not going to tell you what we're going to do. but it's something we've done before."

Stowers unviels his mystery plan at 8

Thanks to the reader that sent the phamphlet on black magic. I think Madame Katherine cured me last week as I hit 70 percent. But you never can tell. I'll keep the section on fortune telling filed away.

It's a little early for the Leesburg mayoral race, and maybe you shouldn't talk to politicians after they get back from Happy Hour, but really Sandra easier to invite her back. Glenn, do you think Leesburg is going to beat Oviedo?

When I compile the panel during the week, sometimes I tell panelists about teams they are unfamiliar with. Sometimes I don't. Anyway, when the name of Leesburg escaped Sandra's lips-I bit my tongue and didn't tell her the Yellow Jackets had lost 22 straight games.

Stripp is 29-21. Glenn is 28-22. Cook is 27-23. This looks like the Five Star Conference. "Oh No Joe" Desantis is 20-30. There's not too much discord this week. Let's have a look.

Sanford (3-1) at DeLand (1-4) This was once an intense rivalry before Think of it this way, Sandra, if you're all of these Seminole County schools popped up. The flame is still there, nevertheless, despite the Bulldogs having a down year. The panel says no dog food for DeLand's Don Stowers, I know somebody in Seminole County that wants his job. Lyman (3-2) at Apopka (2-3)

Are you as tired of hearing about Arnell Lykes as I am about writing about him. I bet you'd like to know the real reason he was suspended. I can't tell you since we're a "family newspaper."

Bill Scott thinks the Greybounds gave one away last week. Five of the panel members think Lyman won't do the same this week. Stripp goes with Apopka. Did you know his middle name was Arnell? Spruce Creek (2-2) at Lake Brantley (3-2) Kenny Flowers is a better back than Dave Tullis' tough defenders have seen all year. Nobody seems to know anything about Terry Manfredi's Hawks. Last year they blew the district.

Most of the panel feels the Patriots will take another step toward the Five Star laurels with a victory. I haven't picked Lake Brantley all year, now is no time to start. The Flowers bloom tonight.

New York!

Nettles, Randolph Power Yanks To Championship

OAKLAND (UPI) - Good guy Bob Lemon, a cool customer in a heated environment, is going to the World Series for the second time in four years as manager of the New York Yankees, while Billy Martin is going duck hunting.

This year, Lemon came back as New York manager following the strike and as fate would have it, he and Martin squared off as rival managers in the Al. Championship Series. The two have a lot of respect for each other but would do anything to win. Lemon wound up on topas his Yankees swept Martin's A's with a

Graig Decks Reg

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) -- The Oakland A's didn't give the New York Yankees much of a fight on the field Thursday night but guests at a private party for the American League champions after the game got more than they bargained for.

Yankee stars Reggle Jackson and Graig Nettles got into a scuffle during a celebration party hosted by team owner George Steinbrenner at a resturant less than a mile from the Oakland Coliseum where New York defeated the A's 4-0 to clinch the penanant.

The party was for members of the Yankee team and their families.

Jackson, who makes his home in Oakland, arrived late to the party and brought several friends with him.

While Jackson stopped to talk to someone, his friends sat at a table occupied by Nettles and his wife, Ginger. Nettles inquired about the identity of the persons and when they told him they were friends of Jackson, Nettles became upset. He then left the table and went to look for Jackson.

Nettles spotted his teammate in a hallway and the two exchanged bitter words. Jackson, seeing a beer bottle in Nettles' hand, slapped it away and Nettles then punched Jackson, landing a blow to his mouth and sending him reeling against a wall.

GRAIG NETTLES ... Yankee Doodle Dandy

4-0 victory Thursday night.

AL Playoff

It proved a case of too much Yankee pitching and not enough A's hitting with Rich Gossage making the difference. Now the Yankees have four days off to rest and watch with everyone else to see who wins the National League pennnant - the Los Angeles Dodgers or the

How excited is Lemon at the turn of events that put him in the World Series? "It feels great," said the Hall of Fame

Montreal Expos.

But in his moment of joy, Lemon didn't forget Martin.

"Maybe they'll start Bobbyball." he said, doing a play on words for what often is described as Oakland's brand of baseball - Billyball.

"Billy has a good ball club," added Lemon. "We have a little more depth in our bullpen and when we're afforded an opportunity to go ahead, it's cut and dried what we're going to do,"

Thursday night, young Dave Righetti and Matt Keough were locked in a scoreless duel when Willie Randolph, the smallest of all the Yankees, drilled a homer to left to put the Yankees on top, 1-0. As things turned out, that was the only run New York needed to win the third and deciding game of the League Championship, but for good measure, the Yankees added three Inore runs in the ninth on a bases-loaded double by Graig Nettles. Gossage wrapped things up in a neat little package, as he has done so many times, to start the celebrating.

In the three games, the A's, who won the AL West on solid pitching and defense, had only 21 hits and scored four runs. They had their chances in all three games but never were able to come through with key hits.

"It's disappointing," said Martin, because we didn't play the way we are capable. The Yankees won it fair and square and we have no alibis.

"In another way it wasn't disappointing because no one expected us to be here. If we had gotten hits in key times, we might have won, but we didn't." Nettles, who had only one hit in 17 atbats in the Al. East series against Milwaukee, wound up with nine RBI in the Championship Series and that won him MVP honors. "I'm a streak hitter and it's hard to remember when I've been this hot," said

As for Randolph, he was as excited as he could be with his homer, only the third be has hit all year. As soon as he hit the ball, Randolph took a few strides and lifted his hands into the air.

"I had to know it was gone or I wouldn't have gone into my act like that," said Randolph. "I was elated at the time. There are not too many times I hit a ball like that and know it is gone. I went into my trot. It was a weak trot, not like Reggie Jackson."

Jackson did not play in the third game because of a pulled calf muscle but Lemon said Reggie should be ready to go in the World Series.

The A's, understandably, were disappointed they didn't win, but there were no tears in their clubhouse.

"I wanted to be one of the best 25 players in the world," said Keough, who hadn't pitched in 10 days until Martin gave him the ball for Game 3 because Rick Langford, his original choice, couldn't make it because of a sore toe. "It would have meant a lot to me to play in the World Series. Now I have to wait until next year."

Martin was asked if he planned to attend the World Series.

"No," he said. "I'm going to Arizona for the Instructional League. And after that I plan to go duck hunting. Every time I have a duck in my sights I'm going to pretend he has Yankee pinstripes."

Martin, as always, takes defeat very hard. This time, so did his A's.

Seminoles Smash Apopka

By GEOFFREY GIORDANO Herald Sports Writer

Picking up their second victory in five tries, coach Bill McDaniel's Fighting Sanford Seminoles rolled to a 36-7 victory over the Apopka Blue-Darters Thursday night, at Seminole High School.

"I'm really proud of our defense. They did a super Job," commented McDaniel. And it did, as it searched for and destroyed the Apopka running backs. However, they allowed seven pass completions by Darter quarterback James Jones, some for long yardage, but none really hurt the Tribe as far as the scoring aspect of the game.

"I'm glad they passed against us tonight. It woke up our secondary," McDaniel replied in answer to the Apopka aerial onslaught.

It all began as the Seminoles kicked off to Apopka and held them to their 37 yard line. After a short punt took a Seminole bounce to the Apopka 49, fullback William Wynn burst up the middle for a quick 21-yard pickup to the 33.

Four plays later, Seminole had its first score of the night as Wynn ran into the end zone from two yards out. Halfback Tim Lawrence carried the ball over the goal line untouched in the attempt for the two-point conversion, the first of five such conversion attempts the Tribe was to make after the rest of its scores.

Apopka's second drive ended in another poor punt which reached up at their own 35 yard line. Running back Teddy Jones, making his first appearance after two games, made a 24yard dash up the sidelines, only to have it called back on a Seminole five-yard JV Football

Seminole had the ball at its 45 for their first drive of the second quarter, but one play was all it took, as Lawrence found a hole and made the most of it, sprinting 55 yards for a TD, adding much to his total performance of 12 carries for 168 incredible yards, and three touchdowns. This time, it was Willie Bass who made the two-pointer, and Seminole jumped out to a 16-0 advantage.

Another unsuccessful Apopka drive gave the Tribe yet another chance to build up its lead, which is exactly what it did. They had the fantastic field position for it after Apopka's punter was taken down for a loss at his own 23. Lawrence had his second six-points four short plays later, aided by a 13-yard pickup by Bass. Lawrence took the ball over with 7:31 left in the half, from seven yards away. His conversion attempt failed by a yard. Seminole built its lead up to 22-0.

Seminole's offense was rolling, and in the second half, quarterback Mike Futrell made an impression, capping his most productive and accurate performance of the season, hitting two out of five passes for 13 yards, not including a 39-yarder and a 21-yarder to tight end Daryl Collins, both of which were nullified by Seminole penalties.

"Tonight he was accurate, and he was cool and had confidence in himself. In the past, when things would go wrong, he would panic, and the team would panic, but tonight, he had confidence," replied a satisfied McDaniel.

The third period began with a flash of speed, as Jones took the opening kickoff for Seminole and brought it back 81 yards for a 28-0 score. Lawrence's plunge for the two increased this to 30-0.

Apopka, now in serious trouble, was desperately trying to find some way they could penetrate the Tribe defensive squad. But, the stingy Indians weren't about to lose the game after their incredible showing, and continued making life miserable for quarterback Jones and running back Billy Johnson, who led the Darter's rushing with a paltry 29 yards in 10 attempts.

Lawrence put the final nail in the Blue-Darter coffin on a 73-yard gallop for a fifth Tribe TD and his third. He again tried the conversion run, and again, he fell a yard short of achieving the extra Apopka finally scored a last-minute touchdown, on a 38-yard pass from Jones to wide receiver Billy Cribbs. Greg Stano kicked the PAT through to end the night's scoring, 36-7. Reserve Seminole quarterback Rob Cohen took over for Futrell and ran out the clock to seal the Blue-Darter's fate.

"We're starting to gel. We changed a few positions on defense and our offensive line was great. We beat them off the ball, contained them well with our blocks. We were a little too anxious, which caused all those penalties," said a iubilant McDaniel.

Knight's Netters Grab 2 More; Improve To 11-1

Coach Donalyn Knight and her Sanford volleyball team put a further stranglehold on the Five Star Conference race Thursday by disposing of Daytona Beach Mainland 15-3, 16-14 and

Spruce Creek 15-12, 15-5. "Tony Hardy was very sharp again with her spiking," Knight said about the twin killings which increased the Tribe's record to 11-1 in conference and 12-2 overall. In the first match against Mainland, 5 Star Volleyball Seminole received 100 percent serving from Hardy, Link and Cathy Hall. Hardy and Laura Grace were the top spikers, while Dee Hogan came through with some clutch service points in the two-point second match win. Senior Cindy Pendarvis, Lisa Nelson and Teri Hardy were cited by Knight for their defensive contributions.

Seminole Youth Sports Association Standings

In the Spruce Creek match, the excellent serving continued. "I think we only had one had serve the whole match," said Knight. Lake Howell is the Tribe's nearest competitor with a 7-3 record prior to Thursday night.

Tuesday, the Seminoles go to Apopka with hopes of avenging their only conference setback of the year-an early season loss to the Lady Darters. Scabreeze will be the other team on the tri-match format. Game time is 4 p.m.

YOUR BIRTHDAY October 17, 1981

Don't discount any new ideas you get this coming year regarding ways which could earn you big sums. You might come up with something both exceptional and profitable. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't be afraid to tackle projects or ventures today which are grand in scope. Large enterprises are luckier for you than the little ones. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mali $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y.

10019. Be sure to specify birth date. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Conditions are a trifle unusual today in that you are likely to be very fortunate with things which others begin, more so than with efforts you initiate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Considerable advantages can be gained today from partnership situations with friends. You'll be lucky for them and they, in turn, will be fortunate for you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Greater opportunities than usual exist today workor-careerwise. Move swiftly the moment you see Lady Luck give you the nod.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your talents in sports or activities which require both mental and physical efforts should be above par today. Seek worthy competition.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're a stretch runner today and you'll come into your own when the finish line nears. Don't be discouraged if others beat you out of the starting blocks.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're capable of handling a schedule today that's both busy and complex. In fact, the more you have to do the better you'll perform. TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

You should be luckier than usual today in matters relating to your career or resources. Look for opportunities in both areas. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have good organizational so put your talents to work in ways designed to advance your self-interests. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be a giver today, the more you give the more you'll get in return, even though your motives won't be self-seeking. Try it and see.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Take advantage of any opportunities you may have today to mix with large groups. You may meet someone who could prove extremely lucky for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) 1t behooves you to pursue your ambitions today. Something fortunate could develop, partially from your own efforts and partially through the good will of associates.

Be Sensible When Jogging For Health

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB — I belong to a jogging group and we are in the midst of a crisis and need your help. One of our regular members had a heart attack and died suddenly while he was out jogging last week. A lot of us are in this group to prevent heart attacks and this hasn't helped our morale one bit. We are wondering if we are actually increasing our chances of 51 Evergreen tree having a heart attack by jogging.

Will treadmill exercise tests tell us who is and who is not going to have a heart attack? Do you have any suggestions about how we can continue our jogging and not drop dead of a heart attack? I'm sure there are a lot of other joggers out there on the trail who would like to hear from you. DEAR READER - 1 wonder if you belonged to a group of individuals who watched TV together and one of you had a heart attack while watching TV if you would then be worried about TV and heart attacks. Heart attacks are so common in our society that you will naturally have some occur while people are exercising, just as some occur person has been able to exwhile watching TV, others while eating and some while riding in a car. The small number of people who have are. Would you please explain heart problems - white toxic? jogging sensibly - suggests that it is not usually the cause of a heart death.

Notice I said sensibly. That means never, never overdoing it. Never jog so fast that you are out of breath and can't talk. Never jog so fast and so far that you are tired or, certainly, not in pain. Do not run against the clock.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-4, A Perspective on Jogging Deaths, which you can share with your club members. As mentioned in this issue, your overall health pattern is important. If you happen to have high blood pressure, high cholesterol or smoke. you should probably just walk until you begin to get your risk factors under control.

stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

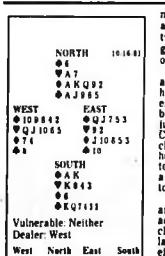

Once your risk factors are definitely improved you can gradually build an exercise program, including jogging if that is your interest. Train gradually. I am convinced that the way you train is just as important as any test you can have, including a treadmill exercise test. Most heart attacks that are actually from jogging and other exercise are related to overdoing it - running against the clock instead of enjoying it.

DEAR DR. LAMB - It seems the word "toxic" is being applied to almost everything in our lives, things we breathe, eat and drink. I have asked many people what toxic really means. Not one plain what toxic means. What it is. What it does to living things or what the symptoms

DEAR READER - Stated simply it means poisonous. When you hear toxic think poison. It used to mean complex chemical poisons produced by biological substances but that distinction is Toxins can be produced by bacteria. That is what toxic shock in the presence of a bacterial infection is. The recent interest in toxic shock from tampons is just one illustration of textus produced by bacteria. Other bacterial infections can produce shock as the body is overwhelmed by the "toxins" (poisons from any source, including pollution or poisons of industrial origin. When someone says a substance is a Others who want this issue toxin to the body they mean it is a poison to your system.

Match Wits With Electronic Aliens

By DIANE JEFFERSON
Herald Feature Writer

Kent Prager of Sanford leans forward, peering intently into a flickering screen in front of him. An eeric green glow is reflected in his face. His right hand is poised over the "Fire" button. The phantom outline of a spaceship is skimming low over craggy terrain.

Suddenly aliens drop from the electronic sky. Prager leans into the screen and presses the button once, twice, three times in rapid succession. The screen erupts into showers of stars as the aliens are destroyed and the planetworld is once again safe for civilization.

One hundred, 200, 300, 500 bonus points rack up on the screen. Prager has beaten the aliens again on this round of William's "Defenders" videogame.

Momentarily exhausted, the intense concentration broken, Prager pushes himself away from the game, sighs heavily and prepares to once again match wits with a cacophonous collection of wires, tubes, and transistors.

"Most of what you see in videogames today is a spin-off from military technology," says Drake Wayson, vice-president of the M.W. Recreation Corp. which owns The Fun Machine areade in Sanford's Seminole Plaza on U.S.

'What operates just one of these videogames would 10-15 years ago have cost over $1 million and filled the floor of an entire building.'

Highway 17-92 and The Fun Machine and The Orlando Ice Skating Palace, off West Colonial Drive in Parkwood Plaza

"Today the game boards are smaller, with interoprocessors," Wayson says. What operates just one of these videogames would 10-15 years ago have cost over $1 million and filled the floor of an entire building."

Videoganies are coin-operated computers making decisions from pre-programmed memory cards. Wayson pried off the back of a game and there it was a picture tube similar to that in your television set—tangle of wires, and two memory cards with micro chips lastened to the right side of the interior of the game's housing

Their electronic circuitry and incroprocessing units give videogames the ability to respond instantly to moves initiated by the player. In this sense, a player is playing against an "intelligent" machine, which can reward his quick responses by providing more difficult targets of a higher point value or punish his slower responses by terminating the game.

Wayson says at least half of his business is repeat customers who find the games a challenge and attempt to improve their scores.

Wayson says it is not unusual for a lawyer or other professional person to drop into an arcade during his lunch hour to play a few rounds of Asteroids, Space

Invaders or another videogame. "They're all fanatics," he says.

Videogames have changed the type of clientele traditionally associated with arcades. Instead of the quintessential smoke-filled pool room, video arcades have become centers where the entire family can go for a little excitement and good, clean fun.

"Mom used to never let her kid go into an arcade," says Wayson. "Now, Mom goes in with her kid and plays the games too."

A videogame is a mini-computer. In this rear view, programming circuits can be seen (lower right).

Acceptance as a family center was the biggest challenge Wayson's The Fun Machine faced when it first opened in Seminole Plaza.

There were three other arcades in the area when The Fun Machine opened, "but none of them was being run properly," Wayson says. There was too much loitering. All three have since gone out of business.

Davis said she is very strict about the "No Loltering" rule at The Score Game Room, and feels parents appreciate enforcement of the policy.

"They know they can leave their kids here for three hours on a Friday night and they are in a good atmosphere," she says.

As for the young people, with the cost of movie tickets going up and the price of a good dinner skyrocketing, many visit arcades with their dates.

Prager and Gordon McElroy, also of Sanford, estimate they spend $10 per week playing videogames. McElroy says $5 of that is usually spent on Friday nights "when all my friends are here."

Home video cassettes by Atari are now obtainable in many area department stores, but neither Prager nor McEtroy said they would be interested in having them. It is the social atmosphere they seek, the fun of sharing the thrill of and the agony of defeat with friends.

Far from being a threat, Wayson welcomes the video home casette games. What could create greater acceptance of videogames, than having a game brought right into a person's own home?, he asks. He also noted that home casettes can't possibly offer the quality of a stand-up arcade game.

Wayson estimates a new videogame costs between $2,000 and $3,000, with the sit-down games used in restaurants topping out around $7,000. Between the two The Fun Machines arcades located in Seminole Plaza and Parkwood Plaza, Wayson estimates the corporation investment to be well over $600,000 in equipment alone, and $1 million total investment.

While videogames seem to be the current rage, Wayson says, Orlando "is very saturated. I don't see any more arcades opening."

They don't have to. The games are everywhere — fast food shops, restaurants, bars, airports, Why the continuing fascination with blips on a glowing green acreen?

"It's a fantasy," Wayson explains. "Some people play and play—it's a way of getting away from reality. They can go off and be a star pilot and do battle with the forces of darkness."

These poems are by Seminole County students hindergarten through 12th grade. They resulted from the Florida Poetry in the Schools program taught by poet Bob Wishelf of Oviodo and Evylyn Mantz of De-Land. Pupils are provided with a general theme, but are not told what they should write.

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — The pity is that a lot of young people today know Mary Martin — if they know her name at all — as the lady who is J.R.'s mother.

But folks over 40 know Mary Martin as one of the brightest musical-comedy stars of all time, a lady who lit up Broadway for many years in shows like "South Pacific" and "The Sound of Music." Sure, she has a son named Larry Hagman, which is no small accomplishment — but she is the gal who first sang "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" and "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair" and "Doe, a Deer" and so many others.

Maybe that's why she has a new job, as co-host (with Jim Hartz) of the long-running PBS series aimed at the elderly, "Over Easy." The PBS people know that, to the "Over Easy" viewer, Mary Martin is as big a star as there ever was.

This is the first time, Miss Martin says, that she has been on the other side of the TV fence. On "Over Easy" she does the interviewing. It wasn't easy to make the transition from question-answerer to question-asker.

"I've always been a good talker," she says, and she is. Just ask her a question and sit back and listen for a half-hour. "As you know, I can rattle on for a good while. But now I have to ask the questions, and I find I have to fight the tendency to answer my own questions."

She says she got some good advice when she began her new assignment, from a young woman reporter who was interviewing her in New York. Miss Martin thought the reporter was good at her job and asked her if she had any secrets.

"She told me," Miss Martin says, "that whenever she is interviewing anyhody and her subject begins to clam up, she just asks them, 'Why?' She says that somehow gets them talking again."

Miss Martin says she is still active in show business, but she doubts she could do any long Broadway runs again, although they keep asking her. She had runs of 2 ½ and 3 ½ years with some of her shows.

"But nowadays," she says, "I don't know that I have that much time left to commit to anything that long. And with a musical on Broadway today, you have to make a long commitment because they cost so much to produce.

"Today's Broadway musical costs in the millions to produce 'South Pacific' was considered expensive — and

She is, of course, pleased and delighted with the success her son is having on "Dallas" as J.R. Ewing. She tells about a coincidence that may have escaped your notice.

"When I was under contract to Paramount Pictures," she says, "I made several films with Bing Crosby. And then, my baby boy was 'shot' on his TV show by Bing's baby girl."

Her job on "Over Easy" came about after she had been a guest on the show, when Hugh Downs was the host. She enjoyed it so they brought her back.

Mary Martin is the new co-host of "Over Easy," PBS' talk show aimed at older people. "I've always been a good talker," she says. "But now I have to ask the questions."

'American Graffiti' Back For More

Ron Howard, Paul Le Mat, Cindy Williams, Candy Clark, Charles Martin Smith, MacKenzie Phillips and Bo Hopkins return as stars of "More American Graffiti," a sequel to the comedy-drama about smalltown high school students during the '60s. The feature, a 1979 Universal Pictures release, will air on NBC Monday.

It's New Year's Eve, two years later. What are the characters doing now?

John Milner (Le Mat) is still preoccupied trying to win the big drag race; Terry Fields (Smith) is in Vietnam and actively trying to get himself injured so that he can be sent home right away; Laurie and Steve Bolander (Miss Williams and Howard), who have 4year-old twins, are in the midst of an angry discussion as they prepare for a New Year's Eve party.

Mike Farrell Narrates CBS' 'Becoming A Man'

When Mike Farrell was a high school student he delivered groceries to the kitchens of Hollywood's show business celebrities. It was during the 1950s; crew cuts were growing into "greasy D.A.'s," cars were getting bigger instead of smaller and teen-agers were beginning to "rock around the clock."

It was years before he was to become an actor. But he was on the way to becoming u man.

Now he's talking to other high-school boys who are on the verge of becoming men in a new informational special for young viewers, "The Body Human: Becoming a Man," to be broadcast Tuesday on CBS. Farrell is the father of a son, almost 11, and a daughter, 8. The low-keyed ex-Marine who stars as B.J. Hunnicutt on "M-A-S-H," everyday world of 16-and 17year-od boys in Sarasota for the special.

In the new half-hour program, which will be immediately preceded that day by a rebroadcast of "The Body Human: The Facts for Boys" with Ken Howard, Farrell acts as informal host was asked to enter into the and participant. He joins in athletic activities with two boys, Chris Smith (17) and Edwin Watts (16), and discusses with them the physical and emotional maturing process, including sexual responsibility, choices and consequences.

"We talk of values, belief, self-respect, guilt, peer pressure; how they deal with ethics, morals and intellect colliding with physical feelings," said Farrell. "It's all very spontaneous and unscripted. These kids know how to communicate, which is very important.

"You've got to let people know what your fears are and where you're coming from and establish a form of communicating, and, from what I can see, these kids are able to talk to their parents as well as to their peers.

"I really believe that a lot of the problems young people face today, including drugs and alcoholism, can be traced to lack of self-esteem that is often the result of a feeling that they are not considered important enough to be listened to by their parents. They've got to be able to talk things out.

"I'm not posing as an expert," Farrell hastily added. But he said he has put these beliefs into practice with his own children.

He realizes, of course, that being a good parent and communicating well with children as young as his are is easier than with older children. But he believes that the relationship must be established early and then and Jewish relief and development agencies are working together to give new life to a hungry world Please help them.

Joplin Album Released

By CINDY ADAMS

NEW YORK - CBS just unleashed an album of previously unreleased Janis Joplin recordings... Reggie Jackson says, for "Save the Children' campaign: "Baseball players' problems are strictly minor league compared to those millions of kids who wake up every day to hunger or disease."

Susan Sarandon is starring with Genz Rowlands, John Cassavetes and the fellow who was Shelley Winters' husband, Vittorio Gassman, in "The Tempest" ... Marsha Mason and director Glenn Jordan shopped at Alexander's for ordinary outfits for the ordinary housewife she'll play in her new movie, "Lois Gibbs And the Love Canal" ... Larry Hagman, Louis Jordan and Lady Di are croquet freaks... Romance writer Barbara Cartland, whose newle is, "Crusader in Pink," signed her letter to me in pink felt pen... Bristol Meyers is sponsoring a new variety show as of January '82 starring Glen Campbell.

Repetition Necessary For Plot

DEAR DICK: I enjoy watching "Hart to Hart," but on every show Jonathan (Robert Wagner) either says, "Something is flahy around here," or else has a feeling that something is wrong. I think that is stupid. Why does he always have that feeling in the beginning of the show? Couldn't once he not have that feeling? PATTY LYNN ROESTER, Bordentown, N.J.

Sure — and then you'd have an hour of him and his wife and his butler sitting around talking about the stock market. The whole point of the show is the mystery, and without him and his "feelings" there would be no mystery. I grant you that it is repetitious, but it is a necessary repetition for plot purposes.

DEAR DICK: Recently I was watching an old episode of "Bonanza" that co-starred a young actress named Mary Fickett. She looks amazingly like Marion Ross of "Happy Days." If they are one and the same, when and why did she change her name? CYNDI GADBERRY, Vancouver, Wash.

They aren't the same. Mary Fickett - daughter of veteran stage and TV director Homer Fickett - has long been an outstanding New York stage and TV actress.

DEAR DICK: Could you tell me what brand of overalls the stars wear on the show "Hee Haw?" I don't mean the "Hee Haw" prints, but the solid blue denims. M.L. FRAIZER, Joplin, Mo.

The manufacturer is Liberty - both the "Hee Haw" prints and the solid blue denims.

DEAR DICK: Several years ago, David Hartman had a show in which a small boy of 8 or 10 years old was featured. David played the part of a schoolieacher. Can you tell me the name of the show and the boy? EMMA GRAY, Westminster, Md.

That was "Lucas Tanner," and Robbie Rist was the young actor who played the boy.

DEAR DICK: Could you please settle a disagreement? A friend of mine says that George Hamilton is Shirley MacLain's brother. I say Warren Beatty is her brother. Who's right? MARK WHITE, Ellettsville, Ind.

You are. One way to remember is that Shirley's real name is Shirley MacLaine Beatty.

DEAR DICK: My husband and I are both interested in clarifying whether or not the Pacific Princess ship has been purchased by the company producing the "Love Boat" television series. We believe that they had actually bought the ship. Have we been informed correctly? HELEN MEISNER, Albuquerque, N.M.

No. Actually, the show has much of a ship built on the stage of the Fox studio here in Hollywood and, of course, they own that. But as for a real ship, no, they don't own one. In fact, they use several different ships when they go out on a real cruise to get background footage.

'Enterprise' To Tell How Business Works

how business works, personally, but I am not "Enterprise" plans to change that.

A series of 13 half-hour "Enterprise" premiered Friday, Oct. 2, on PBS. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

Eric Sevareid is the host of the series, which is produced for PBS by WGBH Boston.

"Enterprise" follows key business people as they make critical decisions for their companies. This week, "Fast Horse in a Bull Market" looks at one of the hottest international markets today: thoroughbred horses.

New 'Ivanhoe'

A new adaptation of the classic Sir Walter Scott adventure romance, "Ivanhoe," starring Anthony Andrews, James Mason and Olivia Hussey, with Norman Rosemont as producer, is now being filmed in England for presentation on CBS.

Andrews plays the title role of the young 12thcentury Saxon knight who returns to England from the Crusades to find himself disinherited and Lady Rowens, the woman he loves, the unwilling fiancee of a descendant of King

Nazi-hunter "I can forgive only crimes

Most people have no idea committed against me authorized to forgive for others," says Simon Wiesenthal, the world's documentaries on business, foremost Nazi hunter, in the PBS documentary "The Hunter and the Hunted," to air Wednesday, PBS. (Local times may vary; check listings.)
