Reagan Will Sign Sweeping Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan will sign into law the five-year farm bill sent to him by Congress, a sweeping proposal containing philosophical victories for the administration but at considerable cost, the White House indicated Thursday.

Agriculture Secretary John Block scheduled a news briefing to make public his own recommendation that Reagan sign the bill, which White House spokesman Larry Speakes indicated would take place next week.

Congressional sources said the bill would be signed Monday.

Lawmakers sent Reagan the legislation — passed Wednesday by a 55-38 vote in the Senate and a 325-96 vote in the House — already predicting battles over its terms and warning that the new deficit-cutting law hangs "like a meat cleaver" over agricultural programs.

The legislation's prescription of lowering taxpayer-subsidized crop prices to cure the ills of U.S. agriculture will be re-examined as soon as next year.

Lawmakers said the bill's long-term strategy to raise farm income by restoring exports is not a sufficient short-term antidote to an economic crisis of farm foreclosures, bank failures, heavy farm debt and violence.

They also predicted enactment of the Gramm-Rudman measure requiring sharp federal deficit cuts will force cuts in the bill's subsidies as early as next year.

"Gramm-Rudman hangs like a meat cleaver over the agricultural budget," said Sen. James Exon, D-Neb.

City-County Meeting Solemn

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioner Fred Streetman opened a solemn joint city-county meeting Wednesday by taking issue with comments City Manager Frank Faison made earlier regarding setting the meeting's agenda.

Faison told the Evening Herald Friday that the county not wanting to place the Yankee Lake land purchase controversy on the agenda indicates its "inability to come to the table with meaningful data and insights into the most expensive issue in this end of the county."

Streetman said Faison had "misrepresented the spirit" of the agenda meeting which Streetman termed "affable."

During a Dec. 6 session to compile the joint-meeting roster, Streetman, Faison, Mayor Bettye Smith and Seminole County Administrator Ken Hooper, through mutual consent, decided that the city's condemnation suit might make Yankee Lake and sewage treatment an inappropriate topic of discussion.

Streetman said he had "suggested" the item be deleted. Faison said he agreed only "because it takes two to tango."

"I want the Sanford commissioners to feel free to bring it up," Streetman said. The subject, however, was not raised again during the meeting.

What was addressed involved the possibility of joint-venture in several areas and opened the door to further discussion between both governments' staffs.

Through presentations made by county planners and engineers, the commissioners were briefed on plans involving land use, water services and transportation.

The joint-meeting lasted a little over an hour and was conducted in solemn but cordial tones, with city and county officials' faces reflecting concern.

Although no formal agreements were reached, the meeting produced joint-venture possibilities for the two governments.

County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm and City Commissioner Milton Smith were unable to stay the duration; both cited previous appointments. County Commissioner Barbara Christensen was absent.

Grim-faced Sanford and Seminole County officials faced each other Wednesday in a meeting that offered little opportunity for smiles. Clockwise from top left, Mayor Bettye Smith and Seminole Commission Chairman Bob Sturm; commissioners Milton Smith, city, Bill Kirchhoff, county, and Bob Thomas, city; County Commissioner Sandra Glenn and Administrator Ken Hooper; commissioners Fred Streetman, county, and John Mercer, city; City Commissioner David Farr.

Presentations offered by county engineers and planners took the commissioners along Lake Mary Boulevard, 25th Street, and out into unincorporated northwest Seminole County. Discussion centered on comprehensive land use plans, annexations, roads, sidewalks and drainage.

The county commissioners also said they were not averse to Sanford asking those county residents living amid city property between 28th and 28th Streets to annex into the city.

The county filed suit over a separate area this fall when the city annexed approximately 255 acres of land lying west of Sanford, contending that the move created irregular land masses or enclaves which, some attorneys say, are forbidden by state law. For the land lying between 26th and 28th streets, however, the annexations were viewed as being a cost effective way to avoid both governments from having to provide services within the same area. Sanford commissioners said they would consider approaching the county residents to ask them if they would consider voluntarily joining the city.

Approximately 4-square miles of unincorporated northwest Seminole County, which Sanford included last month on its interim land use map, will be reviewed by the county planning department. During the meeting, City Commissioner David Farr proposed the possibility of an interlocal agreement regarding the map.

County Planning Director Tony Vanderworp said because the county is developing a new comprehensive plan and he had yet to see the city's interim map, before any such agreement would be made he and his staff would want to review the city's effort.

The county is also developing a plan that will extend Lake Mary Boulevard and County Engineer Gerry McCullom used Wednesday's meeting as an opportunity to explain the plan to the Sanford officials. According to McCullom, during the next four years, Lake Mary Boulevard will be expanded by two lanes from U.S. Highway 17-92 to Sanford Avenue; it will be expanded to four lanes from Markham Woods Road to County Road 15; and in five years the boulevard will be expanded to four lanes from County Road 15 to 17-92. Also, said McCullom, Sanford Avenue, from Lake Mary to Airport Boulevards, will be expanded to four lanes. The comprehensive project will cost approximately $22 million, he said.

Sanford also proposed the possibility of creating land use codes that comply with those utilized by the county. "We like your standards," Mayor Smith told the county officials.

Local-Zoo Backers Plan Push For Vote

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

Supporters of keeping the Central Florida Zoo where it is or replacing it with a similar facility plan to stand up and be counted Jan. 7.

They are scheduled to appear before Seminole County Commissioners that day seeking the panel's endorsement of a property tax referendum to finance a zoo at the site off Lake Monroe, said Sanford resident A.B. "Tommy" Peterson.

The local-zoo backers will also put their plan before state legislators at a legislative work session slated for Jan. 14 at Sanford City Hall, he said.

The group is actively seeking the referendum to maintain a local zoo, despite a decision by directors of the Central Florida Zoo to attempt to move the facility to Turkey Lake Park in Orlando.

While those who favor keeping the zoo where it is are proposing a 15 cents-per $1,000 property valuation tax in Seminole County to support a zoo, the zoo board hopes to finance a "state of the art" zoo with property taxes from Orange, Seminole and Osceola Counties.

The zoo board has voted to move the facility to Turkey Lake Park and the zoological society is also gaining the ear of state and local officials to enable the referendum to go on the next general election ballot in November 1988. The zoological society is proposing a tri-county 25 cents tax per $1,000 valuation to support a $30-million zoo.

Hoping commissioners will back the local zoo effort, Peterson said, "I can't see why the commission would object to citizens making their own determination."

Peterson said he has talked with several hundred people who are anxious to see a local zoo maintained. He has requested that a minimum of 20 people "sympathetic to our cause" be present for the meeting with county commissioners.

Of the zoological society, Peterson said, "their solution certainly wouldn't help keep the zoo in Seminole County."

New Spending Bill Pact Looks Acceptable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House and Senate negotiators, whose original version of a $370 billion catchall spending bill was rudely rebuffed by the House, have fashioned a new measure President Reagan will sign, a White House spokesman said Thursday.

The House was expected to take up the bill shortly after 11 a.m. EST today, with the Senate expected to act a short time later. Final passage was expected and would clear the way for Congress to adjourn for the year.

The money bill for the departments of Defense, Interior, Agriculture, Treasury and Transportation and other government offices, including the White House, is the last major item on Congress' 1985 agenda.

At the White House Thursday, spokesman Larry Speakes said Reagan would sign the omnibus spending bill for fiscal 1986.

"We do favor it and favor quick action, hopefully today," he told reporters.

Speakes, although noting the continuing resolution trims defense spending, said it also showed a "slight decrease in some of the objectionable" domestic spending programs.

A daylong deadlock on defense spending was broken Wednesday night. Negotiators had approved a spending bill Monday, shortly before several government agencies ran out of money, but the House unexpectedly defeated it and Congress extended funding necessary to keep thousands of federal workers on the job.

In the new compromise, Senate bargainers reluctantly agreed to a $1.3 billion reduction sought by the House for defense spending and succeeded in getting House negotiators to even more grudgingly approve $126 million for chemical weapons production facilities in 1986.

The House, which opposed money for chemical weapons, insisted their manufacture be delayed until at least fiscal year 1987, which could give opponents another year to block production.

In the end, the Senate agreed to reduce 1986 Pentagon spending levels in the bill from $298.7 billion to $297.4 billion, and to take the cut out of the agency's 1986 budget authority.

The administration made an unsuccessful last-ditch effort to take the cut from the $6.3 billion the Pentagon has left over in 1985 funds, but House members balked.

The Senate also agreed to House demands that the Pentagon's leftover $6.3 billion be specifically earmarked for pay raises, retirement and training programs. The House wanted to prevent the money from being used as a cushion against an estimated $5 billion in 1986 defense cuts that may be required by the newly enacted balanced budget law.

The House also convinced the Senate to go along with some Pentagon procurement reform, giving the government more power to regulate which defense contractors' costs can be reimbursed by taxpayers.

House negotiators let stand a controversial provision allowing senators to earn an additional $7,500 a year in outside speaking fees. Limits on House honoraria would remain at 30 percent of members' salaries.

Wolfinger Argues Against Sims' Clemency

Death by electrocution is the appropriate punishment for Terry Melvin Sims, Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Norm Wolfinger told the state Board of Executive Clemency in Tallahassee Wednesday. The board is comprised of the governor and cabinet.

Sims, from North Carolina, was convicted in 1979 for the Dec. 29, 1977 shooting death of Seminole County reserve deputy George Pfeil, a father of four. The shooting occurred when the officer, in uniform, stumbled on the robbery at a Longwood pharmacy. Seminole County sheriff John Polk was present to support the case against clemency for Sims, now 43.

"We argued he doesn't deserve mercy based on the facts of the case," said Wolfinger from Tallahassee. Sims' lawyers argued he wasn't at the crime scene and the sentence should be commuted to life with no chance of parole for 25 years.

Wolfinger said the robbery involved a three other men, two of whom are dead and the third, Clarence Eugene

DJ Resigns After Rudolph Slap

A few weeks ago Michael Lowe, 32, a disc jockey for Star 101 in Orlando refused to play a Christmas song requested by a young caller. He also inadvertently heaped deprecations on Santa's leading reindeer, Rudolph, not realizing the mike was on.

This week out in Davenport, Iowa, a disc jockey went to the other extreme and played the same Santa record 39 times. Again, however, the recording was not flattering to St. Nick.

The immediate result in both instances was the same: Immediate suspension. Defaming Santa is a "no no" on radio.

Locally, Lowe decided to hang it up after approximately 10 years with WSTF-FM.

Barbara Vardin, general manager of the station, said that Lowe submitted his resignation "and it was accepted."

Efforts to reach Lowe to determine his plans were unsuccessful.

An anonymous source in Whoville, however, commented that since the Whos forgave the Grinch, so too would Santa forgive Lowe.

Perhaps this Christmas Eve, Lowe will spin his records in the back of the sleigh as Rudolph leads the way.

World's First Female Artificial Heart Recipient Out Of Surgery

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — A 40-year-old Minnesota woman became the world's first female to receive a Jarvik-7 artificial heart implant early today, hospital officials said.

The woman was in critical but stable condition at 4:15 a.m. EST at Abbott Northwestern Hospital, said Dr. Lyle Joyce, head of the team that successfully implanted the device.

Joyce declined to specify the time the operation was completed. The woman's condition is being monitored, he said.

Surgeons from the Minnesota Heart Institute decided on the heart implant about mid-day Wednesday when it was determined the unidentified woman probably would not live through the night without immediate intervention, said Allen Yearick, a hospital administrator.

The woman, whose name was not revealed at her family's request, was admitted to the hospital late Tuesday.

Nukewaste Disposal Bill Close

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate appears close to breaking an impasse over legislation involving the disposal of low-level nuclear waste and officials say everything is "in line" for a vote today on the controversial measure.

Aides to two key players in the debate — Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and Sen. Daniel Evans, R-Wash. — had hoped the bill would come up on the floor Wednesday night but the Senate recessed about 8 p.m. EST without debating it.

If approved by the Senate, the bill would have to go back to the House, which has already passed a different version of the measure. A source admitted that the House "may have to swallow hard" to accept some of the changes made in the Senate version of the bill.

Congress is under pressure to pass the bill before it recesses for Christmas to handle the disposal of low-level waste — which includes contaminated mopheads, rags, clothes and other materials from power plants and hospitals.

Success In Cholesterol Research

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Scientists using genetic engineering techniques say they can now manufacture a protein — which removes heart-threatening cholesterol from the blood — in sufficient quantities to study how it works.

Dr. Robert W. Mahley, director of the Gladstone Laboratories at the University of California, San Francisco, said Wednesday the discovery may make it possible for scientists to synthesize molecules of the protein, apo-E, that will work more efficiently than the natural form.

He said apo-E is a key protein involved in removing cholesterol from the blood. Heart attacks can be caused by buildups of cholesterol that choke off the flow of blood.

Oklahoma Prison Riot Ends

McALESTER, Okla. (UPI) — Convicts who stabbed three guards and held seven others hostage during an 18-hour uprising at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary will be prosecuted with the "full force of the law," Gov. George Nigh says.

The 80 inmates involved in the uprising at the maximum-security facility ended the standoff Wednesday in exchange for a meeting on living conditions with prison officials and news reporters.

Officials has promised no retribution against the inmates for the uprising but refused to agree not to prosecute those responsible for the attacks on the guards.

U.S. Navy Aids Philippine Rescue Efforts In Ferryboat Sinking

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — A ferry with up to 200 passengers sank in the South China Sea, and U.S. officials said today more than 70 people may have drowned in treacherous waters.

Some 18 hours after the MV Asuncion sank, about 70 survivors were plucked from the water by U.S. helicopters, which helped mount the rescue attempt. Three others were rescued by a Philippine ship and four were saved by a South Korean merchant vessel, the Jong Kong.

As many as 30 survivors remained in the water awaiting rescue and more than 70 bodies had been sighted floating in the area, U.S. Subic Bay Naval Base spokesman Chief Jack Leigh said.

The 141-ton inter-island ship sank Wednesday 200 miles south of Manila while passing through the Mindoro Strait en route to Manila from the Palawan island port of Taytay, 290 miles to the southwest.

At daybreak, two Navy Sea Stallion helicopters and two U.S. Air Force HH3 search and rescue helicopters had flown to the area from Subic and Clark Air Base, joining a P-3 Orion anti-submarine aircraft which had patrolled during the night.

Moslems And Christians Talk

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Moslem militia leaders went to Syria for briefings today on negotiations between their representatives and Lebanon's main Christian militia aimed at ending 10 years of civil war, officials said.

Police sources Wednesday said at least five civilians were kidnapped as they crossed between Christian east Beirut and the mostly Moslem western sector by Moslem militiamen who released at least one hostage about 24 hours later.

In a related development, relatives of people kidnapped during the civil war that began in 1975 marched on the government palace of Prime Minister Rashid Karami, demanding action be taken to free the hostages as part of the peace talks.

Ally Agrees To SDI Talks

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — West Germany, carefully balancing industry concerns and political sensitivities, has agreed to negotiate with the United States on terms for joining President Reagan's "Star Wars" defense program.

In a 45-minute Cabinet session Wednesday, the government ruled out a formal agreement to participate in research on the U.S. program, known officially as the Strategic Defense Initiative.

Jubilant Governor Announces Re-Election Bid

Jurors Deadlock; Mistrial Ruled

By Royal Brightbill
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Gov. Edwin Edwards wasted no time reasserting his leadership following the mistrial ruling that ended his federal racketeering and fraud trial, announcing a bid for an unprecedented fourth term in 1987.

Six days of deliberation ended Wednesday when jurors said they were hopelessly deadlocked at 10-2 for acquittal of Edwards on most counts and at 11-1 for acquittal on the other charges in his 50-count indictment.

U.S. District Judge Marcel Livaudais Jr. granted a defense request to declare a mistrial, ending the 3-month-old trial. A juror who voted for acquittal said the prosecution had failed to make its case.

"The proof, the black and white, wasn't there," said Geneva Converse, 51.

"How sweet it is," said

Edwards, a millionaire lawyer and high stakes gambler who defeated incumbent Republican Gov. Dave Treen two years ago to return for a third term with the highest popular vote in Louisiana history.

"I have just won the 10th and most important election of my life and by the greatest majority ever," he told a news conference. "I am going to be governor for the rest of my term and I will be a candidate for governor in 1987."

U.S. Attorney John Volz had said he would try Edwards if there were a mistrial. But after the ruling he said no decision had been made, and that he would not comment on the possibility at the request of defense attorneys.

The jurors also voted 11-1 for the acquittals of the governor's brother, Marion Edwards, and Shreveport businessman Gus Mijals. They voted 9-3 to acquit hospital consultants Ronald Falgout and James Wylie.

Monday, the jury acquitted Marion Edwards of 41 fraud counts but left standing the main racketeering charge and eight other fraud counts. Three other defendants were acquitted by the judge last week.

The defendants were accused of using the governor's influence to get state hospital and nursing home permits, then selling them for $10 million in profit.

"We spent more than 13 weeks trying to show this jury and the citizens of this state what was going on and apparently it has fallen on deaf ears," said Volz. "The question is, are the citizens of this state ready to change this kind of activity. Apparently they're not. I'm very disappointed."

The governor called the remark a "disgraceful" insult to Louisiana citizens.

"I was innocent when John Volz handed down the indictment. I was innocent on the day the trial began. On the day it terminated I was innocent, and I will be innocent the rest of my life. I don't care how many times I am tried," he said.

Edwards criticized prosecutors for spending 18 months and millions of dollars on the case.

Mickey Chooses Paris For Euro Disneyland

By Steve Holland
PARIS (UPI) — Walt Disney Productions chose France over Spain Wednesday as the site for Euro Disneyland, an immense amusement park that will bring Mickey Mouse and millions of tourists to Paris.

The park will be built in Marne-La-Vallee, a newly developed city in the suburbs east of Paris about 20 miles from the center of the French capital.

A tentative agreement for the project was signed by Walt Disney Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Michael D. Eisner and Prime Minister Laurent Fabius. A Disney spokesman, Erwin Okun, said detailed negotiations would begin with the goal of reaching a final agreement within three months.

He would not give a dollar estimate of the project and would not say what details still needed to be negotiated. He said a project estimate of $1.8 billion given by French officials "sounds a little high."

"We are hopeful that our current negotiations will result in a definitive agreement to bring Mickey Mouse and the Magic Kingdom of Walt Disney to France and the European Community," Eisner said.

French officials said the park will create 6,000 jobs over five years of construction until its expected completion in 1991. Okun said when it opens, it will employ 10,000 people, primarily French and Europeans, with a "minimal American management staff."

Up to 10 million tourists a year are expected to visit Euro Disneyland, French officials said.

Disney had been considering four sites on Spain's eastern Mediterranean coast — in Alicante, Valencia, Castellon and Tarragona — for a year-round outdoor park that would take advantage of the area's beaches and mild weather.

Okun said the Paris site was chosen from over 200 sites in France and Spain because of "the weather, the demographics and tourist patterns."

"It was a difficult decision, with great opportunities in both cities," he said.

A French official involved in the negotiations said Disney considered Paris a more central region in Europe and able to attract more customers.

"Only the Paris region can, in Europe, answer Walt Disney's desire to have the park available to 30 million people in a 600-kilometer (340-mile) radius of Paris," he said.

The negotiations leading to the agreement lasted 11 months. France consented to a Walt Disney demand that highways be built from Charles De Gaulle and Orly airports to the park site, French officials said.

In addition, the government agreed to extend rail service to the area.

The park itself will encompass 247 acres but with hotels, parking lots, camp grounds, restaurants, golf courses and other features, the entire complex will take up 3,952 acres, officials said.

Euro Disneyland will be on the order of Disney theme parks in Orlando, Florida, Anaheim, California and Tokyo, officials said.

Bond Proposal Approved

The Seminole County Industrial Development Authority approved a resolution this morning which will enable a multi-state homebuilding company to finance the relocation of its local offices.

SCIDA gave final approval to assist Del American Holdings Inc. in obtaining $1.2 million worth of industrial revenue bonds at its meeting in Altamonte Springs.

The decision by the development authority gives the company the right to seek tax exempt bonds to fund the construction of offices for its corporate headquarters, according to SCIDA Chairman Mike Hattaway.

The company is planning to relocate its headquarters from Casselberry to a site located on the east side of Douglas Avenue, 500 feet north of State Road 434. The bonds will help the company finance construction of a 17,000 square foot building, Hattaway said.

Del American first came before SCIDA last spring, after which the development authority held public hearings on the request, Hattaway said. The financing plan has also been approved by the county commission.

Cocaine On Chrysler Brings Charge

Placing cocaine on a car hood while perhaps haggling over price caught a Sanford officer's eye and snagged a man on a charge of possession of cocaine.

The officer reported that he saw what he thought was an on-going drug deal and saw one man put a foil packet on the hood of a 1973 Chrysler. The incident occurred Tuesday 8:22 p.m.

Arrested and charged with possession of cocaine was Archie Otis Rudolph, 24, of 417 E. 6th St. He was being held Wednesday in lieu of $2,000 bond.

POT FLOPS

A man reaching for identification after a traffic stop was placed under arrest after a baggie of marijuana fell out of his pocket.

According to a Seminole County sheriff's deputy report, he stopped a car at State Roads 600 and 419 in reference to a temporary tag on the vehicle. The incident occurred Tuesday at 11:24 p.m.

While the driver was reaching for some identification in a pocket, a baggie containing what appeared to be marijuana plopped onto the ground.

Arrested and charged with possession of under 20 grams of marijuana was Michael Cary Davis, 27, of 1048 N. SR 600 in Longwood. He was released from the Seminole County jail on $500 bond.

WARRANT ARREST

A Seminole County woman being served an arrest warrant from Osceola County was found hiding in her bedroom closet.

FIRE CALLS

A fire in a dumpster at the Sanford municipal building on 6th Street and a trash fire were extinguished Tuesday by Sanford firemen. No damage was reported in either incident.

A grease fire, ignited from a pan on a hot burner, damaged the stove, cabinets and floor in a West 4th Street kitchen Monday, before being put out by the home's owner. The Sanford fire department investigated and utilized blowers to clear smoke from the home.

TRAFFIC, DRUG ARRESTS

Two Sanford men were arrested on drug charges after the passenger got out of the car during a traffic stop and packets of drugs fell on the ground.

According to an arrest report, the car was stopped on 25th Street in Sanford near Lake Mary because it had a tail light out. The incident occurred Sunday at 6 p.m.

When the passenger got out of the 1974 green Pontiac, several brown packets fell on the ground and he tried to kick them under the car, the report said. The officer then "grabbed" him and found after searching the car 30 packets apparently containing marijuana.

A search of the car produced a pistol between driver's seat next to a console.

Charged with possession of marijuana over 20 grams with intent to distribute and held without bond Monday was Thomas Wade, 22, of 131 Academy Ave. He was a passenger in the car.

Also arrested was the driver of the car, Theodore Jones, 20, of 120 Drew Ave.. He was charged with possession of a concealed firearm, possession of marijuana over 20 grams with intent to distribute and possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony. He was being held without bond Monday in the Seminole County jail.

Major Oil Spill On Mississippi

CAIRO, Ill. (UPI) — A Coast Guard team set up a command post Wednesday and began planning a two-week cleanup of a major oil spill in the Mississippi River caused when an oil barge struck a railroad bridge.

The Coast Guard said 180,600 gallons of crude oil spilled into the river at 2:45 a.m. Tuesday from a 25-foot gash on the starboard side of one of nine tow barges that struck the bridge 43.7 miles north of Cairo.

Lt. Cmdr. Jan Turveen of the Coast Guard's Paducah, Ky., station said the spill did not affect navigation and appeared not to be a threat to any water supplies. There has been no sign of fish kills, he said.

The oil slick was some 40 miles long Tuesday, but Turveen said Wednesday most of it had moved downriver and was concentrated in a 17-mile stretch beginning 30 miles north of Cairo.

"There is virtually nothing today above Mile 30 and only a sheen of oil below Mile 13," Turveen said.

"It has collected at several points, most of them on the Illinois side, in that stretch." He estimated the cleanup job will take about two weeks.

"An effort Tuesday night to place a containment boom about 13 miles north of Cairo at the point where the Cache River flows into the Mississippi River didn't do anything because of the swiftness of the current," said Turveen.

He said the first cleanup operation will center about 13 miles north of Cairo where the Cache River enters the Mississippi. The job will be slowed by recent flooding, which has made roads leading to the oil collection points muddy and all but impassable, he said.

Lt. Cmdr. Charles Hill Wednesday morning made an aerial survey of the spill area for the second time at the Thebes bridge 43.7 miles north of Cairo and about 10 miles south of Cape Girardeau, Mo. The bridge, just south of a bend in the river, has been the scene of several towboat accidents.

Waite Goes To Geneva

GENEVA (UPI) — Church of England envoy Terry Waite flew to Geneva from London Wednesday apparently in connection with his bid to secure the release of four Americans held hostage in Lebanon.

Waite, who refused to meet with reporters, has made other trips to Geneva, reportedly to see officials of the International Committee of the Red Cross and Kuwaiti diplomats.

Waite, an aid to Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie, is attempting to negotiate the release of four Americans held hostage by Moslem terrorists in Lebanon. The four asked Waite in a letter to intercede on their behalf.

The terrorists, members of the shadowy Islamic Jihad, have demand the release of 17 of their comrades jailed in Kuwait for a series of bomb attacks against American and French targets.

A spokesman for Waite has said the envoy would return to Beirut Friday to resume negotiations for the release of the Americans.

The four Americans, who have been held for more than 18 months, are Terry Anderson of the Associated Press, Catholic missionary Rev. Martin Jenco and David Jacobsen and Thomas Sutherland, American University of Beirut officials.

There has been no word about the fate of two other kidnapped Americans — William Buckley, a political officer at the U.S. Embassy in Beirut, and AUB librarian Peter Kilburn, who were kidnapped more than a year ago.

Islamic Jihad said on Oct. 4 that Buckley had been executed, but his body was never found. Kilburn is believed to be dead or in the hands of another Moslem group.

Take No Chances In Security Area

Responding to the recent rash of espionage cases, President Reagan has signed a directive that will require lie-detector tests for all government employees and defense contractors involved with high-level security clearances. The prudent measure, which will take several months to implement, would affect more than 10,000 persons.

Polygraph tests have been used by the CIA and the National Security Agency for nearly three decades. They have been used by the Pentagon since 1981 to pinpoint security leaks. Seven months ago, Congress expanded the Pentagon's authority to administer polygraphs to military personnel, civil servants, and employees of defense contractors who have access to information classified as secret or higher. To date, these exams have identified nine individuals who subsequently admitted they had either delivered U.S. secrets to foreign powers or been asked to do so.

The president's directive will doubtless provoke a lawsuit from civil libertarians, charging that polygraph tests constitute an invasion of privacy and, moreover, are unreliable. Such contentions, however, overlook several salient facts.

The lie-detector tests are not the final determinant as to whether an individual is denied a security clearance. The polygraph merely identifies potential security risks who are then subjected to closer scrutiny by federal investigators. More to the point, the test questions are confined to matters directly relating to counter-intelligence and classified information — not to the individual's private life.

No security system is fool-proof. But there can be little question that polygraph testing can strengthen the government's hand in screening out security risks and it should be used. The United States cannot afford to invest hundreds of billions of dollars in national defense only to see much of it compromised by traitors who sell the nation's secrets to the highest bidder.

President Reagan's preventive directive recognizes as much. It should be implemented at the earliest possible date.

Not Disappointed

President Reagan warned Congress that he would veto a bill imposing trade barriers against textile and shoe imports. We said we would be greatly surprised and deeply disappointed if he did not follow through on the threat.

The President did not disappoint us. He vetoed the protectionist bill and sent a strong letter to the congress explaining his action in no uncertain terms.

Despite the protectionist sentiment in Congress, there appear to be insufficient votes to override the presidential veto of the measure, which would reduce textile and apparel imports from 12 countries, some by as much as 30 percent, reduce shoe imports about 25 percent and direct the president to negotiate voluntary restraints on copper imports. Both House and Senate votes on the measure fell short of the two-thirds majority necessary to override the president's veto.

The nation's $150 billion 1985 trade deficit is a serious problem that must be confronted, but setting up American trade barriers is not the way to do it. That will only encourage our trading partners to raise their barriers even higher.

The president must now redouble his efforts to persuade other nations to end their unfair trading practices. We trust he will employ other, less harmful, methods of retaliation.

Gramm-Rudman Bill Is Better Than Nothing

It is difficult to believe that the nation's founders would have been enthusiastic for the recently enacted Gramm-Rudman bill. The measure's objective — a mandated balanced budget in five years — is a worthy goal. But its rather mindless design leaves one with the feeling that the new measure contains more political shadowboxing than thoughtful solutions. I have never been enthusiastic about loosely drafted meat-ax budget slashes of this kind.

There is a much better way to balance the federal budget: it would include the following: 1) a carefully negotiated end to the senseless and self-defeating arms race, and 2) a reformed tax code that would require an end to many of the unjustified tax concessions that cost the treasury tens of billions of dollars in lost revenue.

Unfortunately, there seems to be little support in Congress, and certainly none in the Reagan administration, for such a selective deficit reduction plan. And so we have Gramm-

Rudman. On balance, this measure, for all of its faults, may achieve enough worthwhile byproducts to make its passage a plus.

Its most significant positive benefit may be that it will force the president and his congressional backers to face publicly for the record (two prospects they would like to avoid: 1) annual cuts rather than annual increases in military spending, and 2) an increase in taxes. The annual deficit reduction mandated by Gramm-Rudman leaves the president and Congress no realistic alternatives except higher tax revenues and less arms spending.

Columnists Rowland Evans and Robert Novak, who, like Ronald Reagan, have never seen an arms control proposal they liked or a new weapon they didn't like, have written: "Gramm-Rudman abandons the president's first-term priority of rearmament for second-term budget balancing." If that analysis is correct, it will be the best news yet in behalf of American security and common sense.

At least since World War II, the most powerful engine driving federal expenditures has been the "military-industrial complex" so clearly identified by the late President Dwight Eisenhower. As the most experienced president we have had in military matters, Eisenhower was the only chief executive in the last 40 years who stood his ground against unnecessary military expenditures.

It is true that Mr. Reagan has been responsible for a little tightening up of some of the domestic programs, such as student aid, child nutrition, conservation and environmental concerns, but the domestic cuts have been dwarfed by the arms spending increases, the tax losses, and the huge interest cost on the skyrocketing national debt.

The poorly drafted Gramm-Rudman measure may be the most practical method within political reach of forcing the president and Congress to curb the arms spending insanity and the loophole-ridden tax code that benefits those who are already the most favored among us.

Defense Oversight Expensive

The names of Ralph E. Hawes, David L. McPherson, James Hansen and James M. Beggs are not yet household words across America. But in Washington their indictments for conspiring to defraud the government on behalf of General Dynamics Corporation are being reported as if Jesse James and Billy the Kid had been reincarnated and brought to justice.

Hawes, McPherson, Hansen, and Beggs, not to be confused with the Barker gang, are accused of improperly charging the Defense Department some $7.5 million in cost overruns on production of a prototype of the Sergeant York DIVAD antiaircraft gun. Development of the weapon was discontinued in August. Mr. Beggs, now head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has taken a leave of absence to defend himself. All four have denied guilt.

The case is popularly pointed to as yet another sign of a continuing raid on the taxpayers by corrupt defense contractors. The Defense Department, which has been sweating under Congressional attacks of mismanagement of procurement, has climbed aboard the bandwagon. In his 1985 report to Congress, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger claims that 657 convictions and $14 million in fines have resulted from DOD and Justice Department actions against suppliers, and that all kinds of anti-fraud safeguards have been installed.

All this would be fine if it led to lower weapons costs and better weapons. Instead, the vast army of DOD inquisitors, including the 50,000 employees of the Defense Logistics Agency, and those of the Defense Contract Audit Agency, the Office of Technology Assessment and the more than 30 Congressional oversight committees have vastly increased the costs of America's defense by vastly increasing the red tape of defense procurement. In a relentless pursuit of procurement graft, from February 8 through September 30, 1983, Congress held 407 review hearings, that required testimony by 1,200 Defense officials for more than 5,000 hours. The result? Stories of a $436 hammer, a $7,000 coffeemaker, a $659 ashtray — after the fact.

Each of these, and similar cases, resulted from a scrupulous adherence to a rigid chain of guidelines and procedures that have grown like branches on the procurement process over the years with occasionally bizarre results. The coffeemaker for the Air Force's C-5 transport was designed to continue making coffee after a direct hit on the aircraft that would kill the crew.

JACK ANDERSON

Presser Praised Goon Squad Attacks

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear
WASHINGTON — Teamsters President Jackie Presser applauded the type of violence that has become all too common in some labor unions. This is the conclusion of the President's Commission on Organized Crime, which will publish its findings in a forthcoming report on labor racketeering.

The report will cite Presser's praise for Teamsters officials who tried to break up a convention of union reformers two years ago. "We should be doing more of that," Presser is quoted as saying two weeks after the raid on the reformers' convention.

The incident occurred on Oct. 15, 1983, at the Hilton Hotel in Romulus, Mich., near Detroit, where the reform group was holding its annual convention.

According to files of the National Labor Relations Board and the

WILLIAM RUSHER

Bar Action Is Petty

The disbarment proceedings currently being conducted against New York attorney Roy M. Cohn are the sickest example in recent memory of the sheer pettiness and vindictiveness of many liberals. Soundly and repeatedly trounced at the polls, they have retreated into their few remaining bastions and pulled up the drawbridges. Nationwide, their principal fortresses are the media and the academic faculties. In the case of New York, they also control the bar. It is this latter they are manipulating to wreak vengeance on Roy Cohn.

Let's admit at once that Cohn's personality is no threat to that of, say, the late Bing Crosby. In the words of his longtime friend, humorist Joey Adams, "One thing you've got to admit: Success hasn't changed Roy. He's still the same arrogant person he always was." To this native arrogance add a shrewd mind and an aggressive personality, and you've got a combination that might well have outraged Francis of Assisi.

As the son of a powerful Tammany judge, however, and therefore allied from birth to almost every major figure in New York's Democratic establishment, Cohn could easily have risen to the top of that powerful world simply by adopting the proper (i.e. liberal) political views. Unfortunately, he insisted on being an unabashed conservative. He was firmly anti-communist, and as an assistant U.S. attorney in the heyday of the postwar battle against concealed domestic communists, he relished helping to prosecute the Rosenbergs for atomic espionage.

Far worse, he crossed party lines to serve as chief counsel to the Permanent Investigations Subcommittee of Senator Joseph McCarthy's Government Operations Committee, and has remained an outspoken defender of the late Wisconsin senator's memory ever since. The fact that Cohn was Jewish, at a time when most of his co-religionists were devout liberals, simply compounded his offense in their eyes by combining it with something very like apostasy.

Returning to the private practice of law after McCarthy's death in 1957, Cohn became a high-visibility fixture in New York's legal and political circles, acquiring a great many wealthy clients. His lavish East Side townhouse was the scene of glittering parties for a broad cross section of the city's Republican, Democratic and Conservative party leaders. He was a close personal friend of the late Cardinal Spellman.

His yacht — characteristically named the Defiance — was the scene of more parties; when it sank, he bought another and promptly named it Defiance II. His Rolls Royce (with New York license plate RMC) was all over the avenues. His private plane raced back and forth to Washington. The liberals watched, and ground their teeth. U.S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau repeatedly vowed to Attorney General Kennedy that Cohn would be put behind bars for various alleged legal misdeeds. Three times he was indicted; three times, acting as his own lawyer, he persuaded juries to acquit him.

Now, at 58, he has acknowledged having liver cancer, and it is said that the black camel waits for Roy Cohn at the city gate at sundown. Maybe, and maybe not — he has beaten longer odds repeatedly. But what a strange time for New York's liberal legal establishment to seize on two ancient controversies — 18 and 14 years old respectively — and use these to try to disbar him!

ROBERT WALTERS

Centrist Positions Are Best

CAMDEN, N.J. (NEA) — This city's residents, the majority of whom are poor and members of minority groups, traditionally have displayed little enthusiasm for Republican politicians.

But when Gov. Thomas H. Kean recently ran for re-election, he carried Camden by 549 votes — an astounding feat for a Republican in a city that is more than half black, almost 20 percent Hispanic and less than 30 percent Anglo.

In fashioning a 70-30 statewide triumph over Democratic challenger Peter Shapiro, Kean also carried the heavily black and Hispanic wards in other New Jersey cities — Newark, Elizabeth, Paterson, Trenton and Jersey City.

Although Republican candidates in New Jersey and elsewhere in the nation generally receive fewer than 10 percent of all black votes cast, an ABC News poll conducted outside balloting locations on Election Day showed that Kean was the choice of 60 percent of the state's black voters.

The exit poll also showed that Kean received more than 60 percent of all Hispanic votes, almost 70 percent of the ballots cast by people living in households with a union member and more than 75 percent of all political independents' votes.

That phenomenal performance has euphoric Republicans conjuring up visions of a new political era in which they establish semi-permanent hegemony over the electoral process by capturing the loyalty of voters who consistently supported Democratic candidates in the past.

But there was a second gubernatorial election in 1985 — and in that contest the "politics of inclusion" promoted by Kean benefited the Democrats rather than the Republicans.

In Virginia, a state with a longstanding reputation for political and social conservatism, a multi-racial, mixed-gender Democratic ticket headed by Democratic gubernatorial candidate Gerald L. Baliles swept to victory.

The Democrats' candidate for lieutenant governor, L. Douglas Wilder, is black, while the party's nominee for attorney general, Mary Sue Terry, is a woman.

What significance do those seemingly conflicting 1985 results have for the states where politicians now are preparing for the 1986 elections?

Perhaps most important, they reaffirm the political truism that, in this country, the center of the political spectrum is the most productive place for politicians to station themselves because that's where most of the voters are.

happened (in Romulus). I was pleased to see that there are Teamsters that want to stop all that (dissident) crap."

Presser said Evans "was screaming and fighting and shoving and pushing and swinging like the rest of them," and added, according to the report: "We should be doing more of that... I'm not going to let up on these people."

According to Logothetis, the labor board did not view Presser's remarks two weeks after the incident as authorization for the raid "but rather as ratification for it." He pointed out that none of the Teamsters defendants had to admit to any violations, and said one reason for the settlement was "the lack of a history of this type of activity" directed against the reform group. Presser's remarks were not an issue in the settlement negotiations, Logothetis said.

crime commission, about 200 members of a rival group were brought to Romulus by bus from cities in Michigan, and from Ohio as far away as Youngstown. They "coercively interfered" with the convention by mass picketing and "forcibly entering" the meeting area.

Among the invaders were 20 Teamsters officials, including two trustees and five business representatives of Teamsters Local 20, five business reps from Local 337, two from Local 299 and the presidents of Locals 52, 164 and 247.

The commission report, according to our sources, will quote Presser as singling out a Teamsters official, Bill Evans, for his participation in the Romulus raid.

"Bill, I want to tell you, you're a helluva guy to take it on yourself," Presser said, according to the report. "I would have been there, but I'm not you." Noting that Evans had earlier suffered two heart attacks, Presser continued: "I wouldn't have let him go there in a hundred years. I really got upset because I saw Bill there. His value is too great...."

The NLRB filed a complaint against a joint council headed by Presser and six Teamsters locals for the convention raid. But the case was settled without a hearing.

The settlement, termed "highly favorable" by a Teamsters attorney, Sorrell Logothetis, required the posting on union bulletin boards of a notice pledging that reformers' meetings would not be interfered with again. An attorney for the reformers told our associate Tony Capaccio there has been no repetition of the 1983 raid.

In his remarks, as quoted in the upcoming commission report, Presser said: "I must have gotten a hundred calls. I know exactly what

Tax Reform Package Passage Difficulty Predicted

By Joseph Mianoway

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican leader Robert Dole today predicted Senate passage of tax reform legislation, approved by the House after surviving incredible odds, will not be easy and some of President Reagan's pledges of change are "lofty goals."

The House, responding to Reagan's vision of a new tax code for America, Tuesday night passed a historic bill to cut rates and make business shoulder more of the burden — a sweeping measure drafted by the Democratic-led Ways and Means Committee.

Reagan won votes with suggestions, made in a letter, that he would veto the bill unless the Senate ratified major changes demanded by rebellious Republicans.

Asked Wednesday about the bill's prospects in the Senate, Dole said, "Oh, yeah — we'll pass something."

But Dole, never enthusiastic about the administration bill, said Reagan's proposed changes are "lofty goals" and added, "It's not going to be easy."

House approval of the tax reform measure, which Reagan called his top domestic priority, came surprisingly on a voice vote when no one asked for a roll call.

The president praised the House action as a "historical step" and noted, "We now look to the Senate to move quickly and to make all necessary changes."

At a White House ceremony today celebrating passage of the balanced budget measure, Reagan gloated over the tax bill win.

"There's good news for the American people in the paper this morning. Tax reform is alive and well and kicking," Reagan said.

Spokesman Larry Speakes predicted "prospects for passage" in the Senate "are excellent."

Reagan will work with Dole and Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the Finance Committee, to change the bill "to better suit the president," Speakes said.

But Packwood, although agreeing the bill will pass in the Senate, probably sometime this summer, said on the NBC "Today" program: "Unfortunately, this is one area where the president has been unable to whip up enthusiasm."

Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., also a member of the Senate Finance Committee, called the House bill "a disaster."

"It is the legislative equivalent of reckless driving," Danforth said.

House Democratic leaders, happy to have at least temporarily finished with the thorny issue, also pointed to the bill's arrival in the Senate next year.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., claimed Democrats "reacted tax reform from the jaws of big business Republicans. We have delivered on our historic commitment to tax fairness."

"Only the Republican Senate can stop tax reform now. Write Packwood," he said.

In another part of the Capitol, Ways and Means Committee Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, of Illinois, and other Democratic members of the panel uncorked a bottle of champagne and toasted passage of the measure.

"This is to an accomplishment of the House of Representatives and to a bumpy ride in the Senate," said Rostenkowski, adding, "you'll be busy all next year over there."

Last week, the Democratic bill was considered virtually dead, the victim of a Republican-led revolt that had blocked its consideration.

But the president, personally lobbying for the legislation in a trip to Capitol Hill Monday, turned around enough GOP votes to prompt a new stab at the measure, which would lower tax rates and curb or eliminate numerous tax breaks. It also would remove about 6 million poor Americans from the tax rolls, while shifting about $140 billion of the tax burden from individuals to businesses over five years.

Republicans generally opposed the nearly 1,400-page bill because they said it was unfair to business and could spark an economic disaster. They pushed their own substitute tax plan, but that proposal was defeated in the House.

Reagan dislikes key parts of the Democratic plan, but argued unless the bill got through the House this year, the issue would be doomed for years to come.

Commission Provoked But Passes Plan

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

A site plan submitted by the Courtesy Pontiac auto dealership to be constructed on a 15.2 acre site on Highway 17-92 at Florida Avenue was approved by the Longwood City Commission Monday but only after debate due to the tardiness of the plan's arrival.

Approval was made contingent on the developer's complying with a number of recommendations by city staff.

City Planner Chris Nagle said that the final plans for the project were only received on Dec. 10 so no new comments by the staff and engineering consultants were made.

The late arrival provoked City Commissioner Perry Faulkner, who told Dick Fess, who was representing Courtesy Pontiac, "I'm really upset Mr. Fess, an official in another municipality knows rules and regulations should be followed. I'm also upset with the engineer who should be more prompt."

Nagle recommended the plans be tabled since all staff comments were not available. But Fess convinced the commission his client was in danger of losing his franchise if the construction was not begun by Jan. 15.

Acting City Administrator Greg Manning has proposed to the commission that "after the first of the year we change the way we do city inspections by setting up a team concept."

Manning told the commissioners Monday night he wants them to consider putting the inspectors from the fire department, code enforcement board, and the building department in a "Department of Inspection" and put them in the same room so that they can work together more closely. Action on a site plan for the Palmetto Building warehouse submitted by the developer, Sutherland Construction, was continued until Jan. 8 at the request of Nagle, who said the plans are incomplete. The 100 by 225-foot site is located at Palmetto Avenue and Myrtle Street.

The commission voted to accept final improvements at Longwood Green Planned Unit Development as the final step for the project which has been in the works for around five years. Longwood Green has posted a $20,000 two-year maintenance bond covering the streets, curbs, storm drains and water and sewer lines being accepted by the city.

$1.2 Billion In New Taxes Needed For Social Services

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — One of Gov. Bob Graham's point men on children's issues has proposed more than $1.2 billion in new taxes to cover social services he said are needed to protect Florida's future — its children.

To help persuade lawmakers to go along, former House member Dick Batchelor, vice chairman of Graham's Constituency for Children, said he will lead a crusade of disabled and neglected children to the state capital next spring.

Batchelor said at a news conference that children who suffer from crippling illnesses, abuse, neglect and want need at least $200 million in new social services.

He said at present they receive $777 million per year — 1 percent of the state's $14 billion budget.

"If children are truly a priority in this state we need to have the funding to reflect it," Batchelor said.

"Florida's children are waiting," he said. "Some of these children won't be on the waiting list next year. They'll be dead."

Batchelor conceded that even with his young allies he will be lucky to get one-quarter of what a group of 500 welfare workers and children's activists have determined is needed.

But Batchelor, who represented Orlando in the House from 1974 to 1982, said the alternative is untold increased costs for prisons and other services, plus lost productivity for years to come.

He noted that 90 percent of Florida's prison inmates suffered abuse or neglect as children. "It's cost avoidance," Batchelor said. "It's prudent to take care of the needs of our children."

To foot the bill, Batchelor suggested tax increases on stocks and bonds and on wine, beer and liquor; increased fees for state services like agricultural inspections; a 1 percent sales tax hike that would raise more than $1 billion; and a new tax on video games.

He also backed an increase in the number of state tax auditors and other measures to tighten collection of existing taxes, and called for the repeal of sales tax exemptions on such items as pool chlorines and race horses.

"The Legislature will just have to make a choice between race horse owners and pool owners and children," Batchelor said.

Regarding the proposed $10 million liquor tax increases, he said: "If they (the industry) are willing to fund every problem in the state caused by alcohol instead of paying alcohol taxes, we can work out a trade with them."

The constituency gathered the 500 social workers and children's advocates in Tampa earlier this month to plot strategy. Their recommendations include:

—Full state funding for day care for homes with incomes under $12,000 per year to eliminate the 21,000-child waiting list for state assistance, and extension of day care programs to children in foster homes.

—Extension of Aid to Families with Dependent Children to two-parent families, improved enforcement of child support orders and an emergency assistance program for families facing financial crises.

Columbia Launch Postponed Due To Mechanical Difficulties

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The launch of the rebuilt shuttle Columbia with a congressman on board was postponed today until after Christmas because of mechanical problems detected just 14 seconds before launch time, NASA officials said.

The countdown for the 10th and last shuttle flight of the year was stopped at 7:54 a.m. EST, just 4 seconds before the start sequence was to begin for the ship's three liquid-fueled main engines. Fuel had not started to flow to the engines and there was no danger to the crew.

NASA spokesman Hugh Harris said shuttle engineers determined the computer-commanded countdown halt was prompted by problems with a hydraulic power unit on the shuttle's right-side solid rocket booster.

The delay was a bitter disappointment to the seven-member crew and to NASA, which is gearing up for a 14-flight schedule in 1986.

About 8:20 a.m., the astronauts left the shuttle, smiling and looking relaxed despite the disappointment.

Police Porn Probe Pondered

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The State Attorney's Office will look into charges made by several former officers that deputies in the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office have stolen or borrowed pornographic films from a police property room.

Assistant State Attorney John Delaney is looking into allegations that police officers took the films from the police property room for use as private entertainment.

But despite an internal investigation by JSO in late in 1984 and early this year that confirmed rampant abuse of the films by police officers, officials high in the department said they were unaware of such abuses.

There have been allegations by several ex-officers that police officers circulated the confiscated, porno movies among themselves, watched the movies while on duty in the property room and took films and video recorders home for private use.

Cabinet Considers Clemency

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham has accused Theodore Bundy of trying to "endlessly manipulate" the legal system to delay his execution, but Bundy's former lawyer says the multiple murder case might still be years before the courts.

Bundy, a former law student and boy scout friends once described as an "all American boy," has been death row since his conviction in the 1978 murders of two Florida State University sorority sisters and a Live Oak, Fla., schoolgirl.

Prosecutors urged death for Bundy during a clemency hearing before Graham and the Cabinet on Wednesday, with one comparing him to the plagues that ravaged Europe in the middle ages.

But no one spoke on Bundy's behalf. A judge allowed him to fire lawyer Robert Harper last week.

Frederick Endorses Johnston

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Orlando Mayor Bill Frederick has endorsed Harry Johnston's campaign for governor, citing the Senate President as "an invaluable leader" in coping with Florida's rapid growth.

Frederick, a two-term mayor and Democrat, decided to back Johnston after a Wednesday noon meeting in Orlando, according to a statement the Johnston campaign released in Tallahassee.

The other candidates for next year's Democratic nomination include former House member Steve Pajcic of Jacksonville and Sen. Frank Mann, D-Fort Myers. Sen. Barry Kutun, D-Miami Beach, an announced candidate for insurance commissioner, is considering switching to the governor's race.

Robinson, is serving a life sentence. The men reportedly had a death pact promising to kill whomever talked to police about the incident and their wife. Sims was arrested following a nationwide manhunt.

Wolfinger said the heist was well planned, police scanners were used, and that it was not the rash act of a kid on the street but an intentional act of a 35-year-old adult. Local law officials said Sims was a key member of the gang dubbed the Dixie Mafia.

Also discussed was the installation of sidewalks along the northside of 25th Street, from 17-92 to Georgia Avenue. County engineers said the effort should be completed by the end of March.

A first response agreement between Seminole and Sanford fire departments will possibly be arranged once the county commission has reviewed a proposal for a new trunk line communications system.

"The door was opened to further cooperative efforts between county and city staff," said Mayor Smith in commenting on the accomplishments of the session.

...Farm Bill

The White House also indicated Reagan would sign a companion measure Congress also sent him Wednesday that would restructure and more tightly regulate the Farm Credit System, a victim of the farm crisis as the holder of one-third of farm debt. The bill "looks good to us," said Speakes.

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., who rammed the five-year farm bill through Congress, said, "I believe it will provide protection for the American farmer."

The bill contains administration policy victories at costs more than double the total Reagan originally wanted.

The most historic portion of the bill would pay farmers to take up to 40 million acres of highly erodible land out of production for 10 to 15 years, with a 1995 deadline for making federal farm benefits contingent on using conservation practices on erodible land.

For the first three years of the bill, commodity provisions would cost almost $52 billion, compared to Reagan's latest ceiling of $50 billion.

The measure would add new flexibility to crop price floors. Along with a strong dollar, those floors have priced U.S. farm products out of world markets at a time when record world crops increased competition.

Although the farm bill would increase the share of income farmers get from the government by compensating them for reducing price floors, critics complained budget constraints forced lawmakers to freeze and then reduce total guaranteed income to farmers.

A nearly year-long battle over how long to freeze guaranteed income was finally settled in a House-Senate compromise with a two-year freeze for wheat and corn and a one-year freeze for rice and cotton, followed by small incremental cuts.

One of the most controversial provisions would address surpluses by assessing all dairy farmers for 18 months to pay some of them to leave the business.

The administration got part of its wishes with approval of lower milk price supports beginning in 1987.

County. It doesn't matter if we do it or they (the zoological society) do it. We prefer they do it but they seem intent on what they're doing," he said.

In order for the local legislation to be presented in the House of Representatives it must be unanimously endorsed by the legislative delegation, including Representatives Art Grindle, Bobby Brantley, Carl Selph and Tom Drage, Peterson said.

Copies of the proposed local referendum will be sent to the state legislators, and Peterson is also urging zoo supporters to personally contact the legislative delegation.

Meanwhile, the zoological society's own plans for a referendum are apparently causing some confusion among Central Florida residents and leaving zoo officials with a lot of questions to answer.

According to Zoological Society spokesman Susan Hamburg, the zoo board's decision to move the facility has many area citizens asking "has the zoo moved yet?"

Over half the calls the zoo receives each day are from people wanting to know whether or not the zoo has moved to the Turkey Lake site, she said.

The facility is maintaining its hours and location and will "continue to make improvements at the site and keep the zoo at peak condition." She stressed that the move is "years away from reality" and will not affect the zoo's operations.

She said the zoo project is in its "very early stages" and that $25-$30 million in financing must first be raised. Hamburg anticipated that the new facility will take a minimum of two to three years to construct and could open within four to five years.

The zoo at I-4 and U.S. 17-92 is open every day of the year except Christmas, she said.

Tribe, Rams Seek 'Classic' Turnabout

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Classic is not a word you could use to describe the early season performances of Seminole High's Seminoles and Lake Mary High's Rams. Both have showed promise but have also had their share of problems in the early going.

Tonight, the Tribe and Rams will try to put that word in their vocabulary when they open play in the 16-team Central Florida Classic. Tonight's games will be split in two locations with one bracket playing at Seminole Community College and another at Lake Mary High.

The Classic, which is the mastermind of Oviedo coach Dale Phillips, is an outgrowth of the former Oviedo Outlook Tournament, which annually brought eight teams together in a pre-Christmas tournament. Phillips said he is excited about the larger field, believed to be the first 16-team basketball tournament to be held in Seminole County.

Seminole opens tonight at 7:30 at Lake Mary High against Bartow while Lake Mary takes on Dunedin at 9 also at Lake Mary. Other games at Lake Mary tonight include Lake Brantley against Lake Wales at 4:30 and Merritt Island against one of the pre-tournament favorites, Hempstead, N.Y., at 6.

Games at Seminole Community College include Wymore Tech vs. Cocoa High at 4:30, Lyman against Clearwater Countryside at 6, Lake Howell against Auburndale at 7:30 and host Oviedo against Orlando Luther at 9.

Seminole coach Bill Klein said his team is looking to turn around its tournament fortunes. The Tribe dropped a pair of close games in the Rotary Tipoff

Basketball

Tournament two weeks ago at Winter Park.

"We had a rough tournament at Winter Park," Klein said. "We'd like to get started on the right foot in this tournament. Our tournament record is not enviable this year and we'd like to turn that around."

Klein said he hasn't been able to scout Bartow and doesn't know much about it other than they have some good athletes coming off the 2A state championship football team.

Seminole High, which goes in with a record of 4-3 and a win streak of two, is coming off a stunning 60-58 victory over Daytona Beach Seabreeze on Tuesday. Klein said it was nice to win a close one after losing three that went down to the wire.

"The good things happened at the right time against Seabreeze," Klein said. "I think we handled the press better than we have in the past and that's one positive thing we did."

"But we didn't play man to man offense very well. We worked on that today (Wednesday). The guys are showing some improvement but nothing drastic."

Seminole will start Andre Whitney and Jerry Parker in the backcourt with Rod Henderson, Rod Fossett and Craig Walker up front. Bench strength is provided by Mike Wright and Robert Hill at guard, Joe Holden and Steve Hathaway at forward and Brent Baird at center.

After five games, Parker led the team in scoring at 14.3 points per game while Henderson was hitting at a 12.8 clip, Whitney 12.0 and Walker 9.2.

Henderson also led in rebounding (7.4) and Whitney in assists (4.8).

Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson said intensity is the main problem with the Rams who have gotten off to a less than impressive 1-3 start. All three Lake Mary setbacks have also been close games.

"The guys aren't playing with intensity and that's been the difference between winning and losing with us right now," Richardson said. "When we are intense, we're effective. But we haven't had everybody clicking at the same time. I'm happy with some of the things that we're doing. It's just the intensity level is so sporadic."

The Rams will go with Ray Hartfield, Matt Newby, Mark Napoli, Chris Jackson and Oscar Merthie in the starting lineup. Starting guard Eric Czerniec

Graduations Don't Dilute Cage Talent

With the 1988 graduating class, Seminole County girls basketball said goodbye to such four-year standouts as Seminole's Mona Benton, Lake Mary's Kim Averill and Lake Brantley's Michelle Brown.

With the departure of those players, a lot of basketball followers felt Seminole County might be a little thin on talent this season. Nothing could be further from the truth though.

With such senior talent as Seminole's Catherine "Kitty" Anderson, Lake Brantley's Sherry "Lee" Asplen and Lyman's Kim Forsyth, along with a number of outstanding young players, Seminole County has gotten off to an outstanding start.

The combined records of the six county teams is 30-18, a 62 percent winning percentage. Throw out Oviedo's 1-7 record, the Lady Lions are rebuilding, and you have a 29-11 mark for the five Class 4A teams for a 72 percent winning percentage.

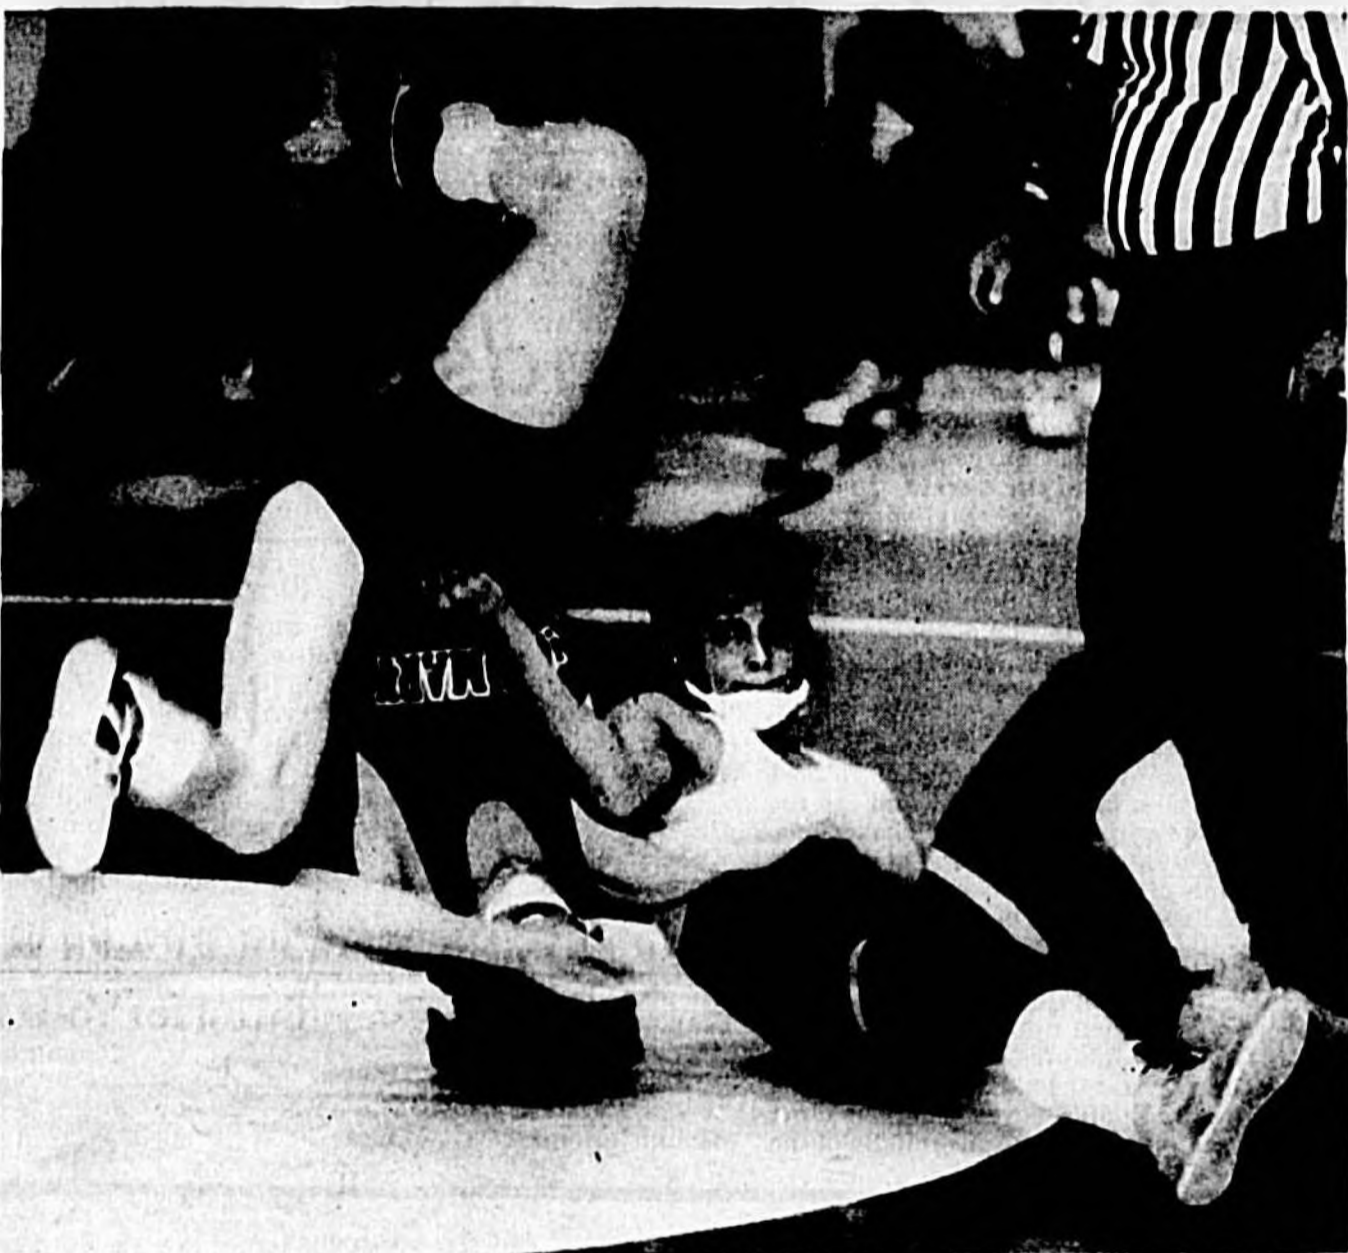

After one month of play, Lake Mary's Lady Rams lead the way with a 7-2 record. Lake Brantley stands at 6-2 while Seminole and Lake Howell are 6-3 and Lyman 4-1. Lake Howell can go to 7-3 tonight with a win over Orlando Colonial.

Lake Mary's mixture of youth and experience along with coach Bill Moore's guiding touch has enabled the Rams to get off to a fine start. Lake Mary has three players averaging 10 points or better including junior forward Cynthia Patterson (14.9, which ranks fourth in the county), junior guard Tonya Lawson (13.1, sixth in the county) and sophomore center Teri Whyte (10.8). Whyte is also second in the county in rebounding with 10.8 per game.

Add to that the senior leadership of Karen DeShetler and the ballhandling skills of Anquetta Whack and you've got an outstanding starting five. DeShetler has contributed in every aspect for the Lady Rams with 7.8 points per game, 3.1 assists and 2.2 steals. Whack, a senior point guard, is fourth in the county in assists at 4.3 per game.

Lake Mary's Craig Johnson, left, is considered a heady wrestler but this move Wednesday night was taking it a little too far. Johnson, however, righted himself and decisively Bishop Moore's Raul Salazar. The Rams stuck it to the Hornets, 35-21.

LaValle's Heart Beats Lake Mary By Bishop Moore

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Heroes come in all shapes and sizes. That's especially true in the world of prep wrestling. Ability, of course, plays a major role but sometimes a whole lot of heart makes just as much difference.

Lake Mary's Tony LaValle knows — he had a hero's heart Wednesday night.

With Lake Mary clutching a fading 28-15 lead over Bishop Moore, LaValle, an alleged 188-pounder, stepped onto the mat against Hornet Steve Cook. It was immediately evident that LaValle must have weighed in with barbells in his tights. Cook was easily 20 pounds heavier.

Despite the 11-point advantage, it was "Crunch Time" for the Rams. Bishop Moore would send its upper strength to the mat for the final three matches. Any combination of two Bishop Moore pins and a decision would erase the Lake Mary lead and send the Hornets home with a comeback win.

"The pressure wasn't on me," LaValle maintained. "It was my job NOT to get pinned."

He did his job all right. He did it too well for Bishop Moore.

Wrestling

Scrambling back from a 5-1 first-period deficit, the aggressive LaValle used a reversal in the final 17 seconds of the second period and a near fall with one second left to take an 8-7 lead into the final two minutes. He then added two more points and came away with a 10-7 victory.

"I don't even know what I used for the reversal. I think it was a Peterson," LaValle said after the match. "I wasn't watching the score or the clock but I realized (in the second period) I could win, so I went for it."

And got it. LaValle's decision gave the Rams an insurmountable 29-15 edge. Two matches later, it was all over. Lake Mary sent the stingless Hornets back to Orlando with a convincing 35-21 licking before 275 fans at Lake Mary High School.

"What heart that kid has," Lake Mary coach Doug Peters raved about the 158-pound LaValle. "He's not a great technique wrestler but he's im-

Scarborough Reverses Intimidation For 13-4 Win

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

The West Orange wrestling Warriors won nine out of 14 matches to pound the Seminole Seminoles in prep grappling action Wednesday night and claim a 49-28 win in front of 50 fans at the Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium in Sanford.

The slammin' Seminoles only won five matches all night, two of them coming on forfeits. The 'Noles fell behind in the early going as they didn't win a match until the sixth confrontation of the evening when sophomore Cecil Scarborough defeated Mike Parkhurst by a score of 13-4.

Because of Scarborough's youth and inexperience, he said he sometimes feels a little intimidated. However, against Parkhurst, Scarborough was the intimidating one.

"In a way it (being intimidated) bothers me," Scarborough said. "But, I just have to put those kinds of feelings in the back of my mind and go out there and wrestle my hardest."

Against Parkhurst Scarborough was at his best as he led the entire match. Using a dominating style and a cat-like speed, Scarborough controlled the entire match until the buzzer sounded for his decisive win.

"I felt pretty good tonight," Scarborough said. "Troy Turner has been helping me a lot lately. He's showing me a lot of new moves and it's working. By next year, I hope to be one of the top contenders in the state."

Two Seminoles who are already the top contenders in the state are the brothers Troy and Tracy Turner. Both Turners extended their winning streaks and carry an unbeaten record going into the Lyman Christmas Tournament in Longwood this Friday and Saturday.

Tracy, a top state wrestler last year as only a freshman, got things rolling in the 147-pound weight class with a pick-'em-up, throw-'em-down pin with only 32 seconds gone over Ron Smith.

The quick pin of Smith by Turner sparked a small comeback of the Tribe. In the next match, Seminole's Keith Redwine was victorious in the 157 weight class with a forfeit and the older half of the Turner tandem, Troy, wiped up the mat with the Warrior's Tony Simpson.

Turner pinned Simpson only 2:53 in the match. The pin came after Turner was leading 13-2 over Simpson.

"You can't say enough about the Turners," Seminole wrestling coach Glenn Maiolini said. "They'll shine even brighter later on in the year."

Maiolini said the biggest obstacle facing the Seminoles is lack of wrestling time for his inexperienced grapplers. With some more seasoning, he said, he expects some of his youngsters to burst into the spotlight.

"You don't hear much about guys like Larry Nathan, Troy Rollins, Shane Jarrell, Jack Mann, Keith Butler," Maiolini said. "They're the ones who won't be there this year, but next year they'll catch up a little to the Turners. If we keep improving and get the experience, we'll be a tough dual meet team in the next couple of years."

The only other varsity win was contributed by Derik Butler in the heavyweight division, who won by forfeit.

In the junior varsity meet between the Seminoles and the Warriors, the Seminoles came out on top with a 42-24 victory.

The entire match was filled with forfeits, 12 out of the 13 matches were forfeited by one team or the other. The Seminoles came out on top with Trent Schake, David Willis, Steve Hickson, Kevin Straub, Mark Willis and Wen Springfield all winners by forfeits.

In the only contested match of the evening, it was Seminole's Kevin Nathan defeating the Warriors' Matt Cold, 13-7.

...RESULTS in SCOREBOARD

Bass Strike Lure That Provides Meal With Visual Appeal

Successful bass fishermen consistently catch more fish because they present the correct lure more effectively than less successful fishermen. Correct lure selection, cast placement, proper lure depth, and speed control are all essential in order to trick bass into striking.

Above all, a lure should appeal to a fish visually. It should resemble prey items in the fish's habitat. Larger lures are more effective for big bass because they prefer to feed on larger baits.

Big bass are efficient feeders, and it is much more energy efficient for a lunker bass to consume one large meal than to waste a lot of time and energy chasing down many small meals.

The larger a bass becomes, the more that she (male bass seldom exceed eight pounds) tries to make the most out of each meal by consuming the largest bait available and by wasting as little energy as possible in the process.

Small bass are much easier to catch because they are much more active and feed on much smaller baits. They are also more impulsive and are willing to expend a lot of energy chasing food items. Small bass are also less selective in what they eat, and they are not as discriminating as larger bass.

Jim Shupe

Once the correct lure has been selected, it must be worked properly in order to draw a strike. To help increase strikes, a lure should appear to be vulnerable. The action imparted to the lure should suggest to the bass that the prey (lure) is crippled and will make an easy meal.

A slowly twitched surface lure or a crank bait that is bumped off the bottom simulates prey that is disoriented or wounded. Unless bass are actively feeding, they pay little attention to lures that move rapidly by them.

Cast placement is critical in fishing success. A good looking lure will catch no fish if it is not presented where fish are located. Many bass fishermen are in the habit of positioning their boat away from cover and casting to it. When fishing in such a manner, the lure is in the "strike zone" for only a small distance. For maximum effectiveness, a lure should be cast parallel to cover. A lure cast in this fashion is in the strike zone for most of the cast.

The two most important factors controlling lure depth are the time of the day and the water temperature. Early in the morning, bass are usually in shallow water feeding. As the sun gets higher and higher, the bass retreat into deeper water or into heavy cover. In the heat of the summer and during the coldest portions of the winter, bass can be expected to be found in deeper water.

Lure speed is also critical in drawing strikes from bass. The productive lure speed may be from barely twitching the lure to reeling it in as fast as possible. Variables that effect lure speed include water clarity, light intensity, wind and current, and most importantly, the activity level of the bass.

Noisy rattling lures work better in dark water because bass rely heavily upon their lateral lines to pick up vibrations. It is also effective to have the lure bump into the bottom and stir up bits of sand. Lures should be worked slowly in order to give bass a chance to locate them.

In clear water, realistic lures should be used. Lures should be worked fast in order to give the bass less time to inspect them.

The next time you are bass fishing, practice making your lure appear to be crippled and vulnerable. Concentrate on cast placement, lure depth, and speed control. It is important to get out of the habit of casting and cranking.

Rohr Is Cross Country MVP; Hale Is Named Most Improved

Senior captain Ken Rohr, who took ninth place at the 4A State Meet, was named Most Valuable Runner for the Lake Mary High boys cross country team at the awards banquet Saturday at Quincy's in Longwood.

Rohr recorded 5 of the top 10 times turned in by the Rams this season. Along with an eighth place finish in state, he was the inaugural Seminole Athletic Conference individual champion.

The Most Improved runner for the Rams was senior Jeff Hale while senior Marc Eskin picked up the Coaches Award and Brad Smith was presented the First Year Award.

In junior varsity, Peter Schoemann was Most Valuable and Chad Driscoll Most Improved.

For the Lady Rams, sophomore Heather Helkikila was Most Valuable and freshman Debi Smith was Most Improved. The Coaches Award went to senior Nikl Hays and junior Lisa Shelby was given the Most Dedicated award. Most Promising Sophomore went to Tabatha Gano and Most Promising Freshman went to Donna Rohr.

Patriots: 4 Starters Are All-Pro

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New England Patriots, battling for a playoff spot, placed four starters and seven players on the AFC Pro Bowl team announced Thursday, including starting linebackers Steve Nelson and Andre Tippett.

The Pro Bowl, matching AFC stars against NFC stars, will be played Feb. 2 at Honolulu. The teams were selected by voting among the coaches and members of the NFL Players' Association.

The Chicago Bears, whose 14-1 record is the NFL's best, placed eight players and five starters on the NFC team announced Wednesday.

New England's offensive starters are guard John Hannah, selected for the ninth time, and tackle Brian Holloway, who will start for the third straight year. New England also had three first-time Pro Bowl selections named as reserves — cornerback Raymond Clayborn, running back Craig James and kick returner Irving Fryar.

Maris Laid To Rest In Fargo

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — Roger Maris had planned to buy a burial plot in Fargo in the summer of 1985 when he visited North Dakota for his celebrity golf tournament.

Maris told local sportscaster Bill Weaver his plans as they drove through Holy Cross Cemetery in 1984.

"He said, 'This is where I want to be buried. I want to be buried in Fargo. This city has done so much for me,'" said Weaver, who covered Maris' prep days at Shanley High School and his semipro years with the Fargo-Moorhead Twins.

But Maris did not attend the golf tournament this past summer because he had to undergo chemotherapy treatments for cancer.

Maris will be buried today in a city that was humbled by the honor.

Deltona Nips Ram Frosh, 44-42

Deltona scored the winning basket in the last 10 seconds Wednesday night for a 44-42 victory over Lake Mary in freshman basketball action at Deltona.

The game was close all the way as Lake Mary held a 22-20 halftime advantage but Deltona came back for a 36-34 lead after three quarters.

Lake Mary coach Jim Hughes said the Rams had the ball with 20 seconds left and the game tied at 42-42 but they took the last shot too soon. Deltona got the rebound, called timeout, then came out and hit the last shot.

Tarrance Carr's 18 points were high for the Rams who lost for the first time after three wins. Carlos Hartsfield added 14 points and Chris Alker led the way underneath with six rebounds.

Faust: Pressure At Akron, Too

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Former Notre Dame football coach Gerry Faust, who has agreed to a five-year contract with the University of Akron, said Wednesday the step down from big-time college football to a Division I-AA school will not relieve any pressure on him.

"There was as much pressure on (former coach) Jim Dennis at Akron University as there was on me at Notre Dame," Faust said. "The coach puts pressure on himself."

Faust left the high school football dynasty he built at Cincinnati's Moeller High (174-17-1 in 18 years) in 1980 to go to Notre Dame, where he compiled a disappointing 30-26-1 record before resigning last month.

Ocasek Finds Mark On Jotwani Break, Lyman Prevails, 2-1

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

For 66 minutes Wednesday night, Lake Mary's Vinay Jotwani marked to perfection Lyman's prolific scorer Brian Ocasek. Ocasek hadn't gotten off a shot the entire game with Jotwani applying the defensive shackles.

However, the effects of the flu took their toll on Jotwani as he ran out of gas and had to come out of the game. Ocasek didn't waste any time after Jotwani took his break as he scored two goals in a two-minute span to lift Lyman's Greyhounds to a 2-1 victory over the Rams in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Lake Mary High.

The Lake Mary loss puts Lake Brantley in sole possession of first place in the SAC. The Patriots are 2-0-2 in the conference for six points while Lyman and Lake Howell both have five points with 2-0-1 records. Lake Rams are 2-1 with four points. The Rams meet Brantley Friday night while Lyman goes to Lake Howell in a night that will decide the conference title.

Lake Mary now stands at 5-2 overall while the Greyhounds improved to 5-0-1.

"Vinay (Jotwani) did a great job on marking Ocasek," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "But he had the flu and just couldn't go any more. It may have been asking too much of him just to go as far as he did."

After a scoreless first half, Lake Mary took a 1-0 lead 11 minutes into the second stanza. The Rams had a corner kick and, after the cross bounced around loose in the goal area, Tony Florentino got the loose ball and fired it into the goal for the first score of the game.

The Rams held the Greyhounds scoreless until 11 minutes left to play when, with Jotwani out, Ocasek got into the open and put a shot past Lake Mary's goalkeeper to tie it at 1-1.

A defensive lapse enabled Lyman to score two minutes later for a 2-1 lead that it held the rest of the way. Again it was Ocasek that scored for the 'Hounds.

"There was a miscommunication between our fullback and goalkeeper," McCorkle said. "There was a loose ball and either one of the two could have gotten it. But both of them stood and watched as Ocasek ran up and kicked it in the goal."

"Ocasek is an outstanding goal scorer," added McCorkle. "It's hard to keep someone like him down."

Lake Mary had a chance to tie

Lyman's Matt Hughes advances the ball toward the Lake Mary goal. Hughes and Greyhounds pulled out 2-1 win.

the score in the late going when Jerry Meyers had a shot at a wide open Lyman goal but couldn't put the ball in.

"Jerry (Meyers) had the ball right in front of the goal," McCorkle said. "The keeper fell down but he (Meyers) took three touches. I don't know why, and couldn't put it in the goal."

Lyman took 11 shots on goal Wednesday compared to Lake Mary's 10. The Greyhounds' keeper had seven saves and Lake Mary's six.

McCorkle's team, which has been depleted by the flu, lost three key players to injury

Wednesday. Along with Jotwani's condition because of the flu, the Rams will be without leading goal scorer Lee Alexander (twisted ankle) and top-notch defender Louis Rosen (calf muscle) for Friday's key game against Lake Brantley.

"Those injuries are really going to hurt us for the Brantley game Friday," McCorkle said.

In junior varsity action Wednesday, Manuel Roldan scored the game's only goal in the second half as Lake Mary defeated Lyman, 1-0. The Lake Mary JV ran its record to 5-1-1 with the win.

Lady Greyhounds Shear Rams, 3-0

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

Coach Tom Barnes' Fighting Lady Greyhounds used two goals by Dawn Boyesen and a third by Bonni Steeves to roll to a 3-0 shutout victory over the Lake Mary Lady Rams in girls' prep soccer action Wednesday night at Lake Mary High.

With the win, the Lady 'Hounds stretch their season mark to 6-0 and remain undefeated in their last 30 outings. The Lady Greyhounds have compiled a 53-1 record over the past two years and are the defending 4A girls' soccer state champions. Their only loss was in the 1984 state finals at the hands of Coconut Creek.

Against the women of wool, the Lady Greyhounds scored all three of their goals in the first half and then totally shut out the Lady Ram offense for the shutout.

Steeves connected on an unassisted goal in the first nine minutes of play to give the Lady 'Hounds a 1-0 lead with 31 minutes left in the first half. Steeves' shot was a net ripping line drive right up the middle of the goal and Laura Hellegaard couldn't handle the hot shot.

The game was kept at 1-0 until Dawn Boyesen got untracked and put one in the corner of the net with 9:00 left to play in the first half. The shot was a bullet to the left corner of the Lady Ram goal where Hellegaard couldn't reach the strike.

"We did a good job of keeping it close in the early going," Ram head coach Bill Eissele said of the game. "They're just a powerful team with a lot of good solid talent."

Boyesen showed her talent only a minute later with her second goal of the evening when she booted the ball through for a 3-0 lead. The lead wouldn't be relinquished by the Lady Greyhounds.

"They just have so many weapons coming at you," Eissele said of the powerful Lady 'Hound offense. "They're as good if not better now than they were last year as state champions."

The pack attack of the Lady Greyhounds was finished scoring for the night after the last goal by Boyesen. The lack of second half scoring wasn't the poor shooting of girls like Boyesen and Steeves. It was the surplus of saves and defensive maneuvers of the Lady Rams.

"Vickie Warner did an excellent job at stopperback," Eissele said. "Marian Stonerock and Charlene Buckles also had good nights defensively. I was just happy to hold them scoreless the second half."

The defending state champion Lady Greyhounds have proven their dominance over not just county teams, but teams from around the state. It would almost take a miracle to knock them from the unbeaten ranks, according to Eissele.

"For someone to upset them would seem like an impossibility," Eissele said. "Lyman would have to have a very flat night and the other team would have to play the best game of their lives."

proved every match. He's just a gutsy kid."

Peters and Bishop Moore coach Randy Jessece had anticipated a close match. It wasn't. Lake Mary lost the opener but came back with pins by Wayne Clayton (107) and Matt Broberg (128) and decisions by Craig Johnson (114), Rob Richards (134), Bill Richards (147) and Scott Ross (157) to take a commanding 26-12 lead.

Lavalle's decision and a pin by Paul Owen (188) added the finishes touches.

"(Mark) Ogier got caught by Broberg," Jessece said. "And I couldn't believe that kid (Rob Richards) at 134 was that tough."

The victory was the fifth in a row for the Rams against no losses. Bishop Moore lost for the first time in four outings. The Hornets had outscored the opposition, 285-6, prior to Wednesday night's humbling. It also gave the Rams a 3-0 record against Bishop Moore over the past three years between Central Florida's two wrestling powers. Bishop Moore is 2A this year while the Rams are 4A.

After Lenny Cisneros decided freshman Jeff Johnson, the Rams took the next two matches. Clayton, a sophomore, took down Doug O'Keefe and showed him the ceiling in just 54 seconds.

Ram Craig Johnson needed a reversal with 23 seconds to go to nip sophomore Raul Salazar in a wild match where the lead changed hands six times. Salazar almost escaped with five seconds left but Johnson held on for dear life to manage the one-point victory.

At 121, Robert Crocker subdued Enrique Carbia, 4-0, but Broberg made quick work of Mark Ogier at 128. The Ram captain scored a takedown 21 seconds into the match and then stuck Ogier at 2:17.

The Richards brothers, transferees from New Jersey, sandwiched a decision and a pin around Steve Ogier's pin of Tom Olson for a 22-12 lead. Sophomore Rob used dropped behind Mario Riverson, 2-0, but came back with a reversal, a point for stalling and another reversal for a 5-2 win. Junior Bill turned Pat Mahoney every which way but loose, running away with a 16-4 win.

"I felt the momentum changing several times but I think we got it back for good when Bill won," Peters said.

Ross, a clutch performer on the football field, was next. The tough 157-pounder completely dominated Steve Spitski for an 8-0 win. Although Brett Moran dropped a tough 3-2 decision to Brian Greeno at 169, Peters wasn't disturbed.

His hero's heart was next. ...RESULTS in SCOREBOARD sluggish start but has rebounded with four straight victories.

Three of those wins came with freshman point guard Aretha Riggins out with a knee injury. Riggins, in six games, leads the county in both assists (7.3 average) and steals (4.6).

Anderson has been the team leader and most consistent player for the Lady Tribe. The senior leaper is second in the county in scoring (16.6), third in rebounding (10.7) and third in steals (4.2). Senior guard Terrika Alexander also averages in double figures with 10.6 points per game.

Coach Charles Steele said Seminole will work hard on a lot of things over the Christmas break. "We really need this practice time because we have a lot of work to do," Steele said. "We're nowhere near where I thought we'd be at this point, offensively or defensively. We have looked good at times and you can tell the girls are ready to break loose. But they still are pretty inconsistent in a lot of areas..."

Lyman's 4-1 start has been keyed by the dominant inside play of Forsyth who has already signed a scholarship to attend guard Tracy Brandenburg (2.8 assists), sophomore guard North Carolina State University. Forsyth is the county's leading scorer with a 21.4 average and also leads in rebounding with an 11.8 average.

Guard LaTonya Johnson has complimented Forsyth well with a 12.0 scoring average, nine rebounds and three assists per game.

The senior leadership of Asplen and Kim Wain has been instrumental in Lake Brantley's 6-2 start. The Lady Patriots lost four starters to graduation so Asplen and Wain were counted on to pick up most of the slack.

And they haven't let the Lady Patriots down. Asplen ranks third in the county in scoring at 16.6 points per game and is also one of the top free throw shooters with 74 percent accuracy (29 for 39). Asplen also ranks among the top performers in rebounds, assists and steals.

Wain, who sat out half of last season, has performed well in the early going this year with a 10.4 scoring average and 8.8 rebounding average.

"With the kind of young kids we have, I look at our 6-2 start in two ways," Brantley coach Cindy Frank said. "We're ahead of what I thought we'd be record wise, but we are definitely far from where we can be team wise. Being 6-2 has built up our confidence though..."

Some of the young players who the Lady Patriots are counting on include freshman point guard Tracy Brandenburg (2.8 assists), sophomore guard Ashley Thomas (8.8 points) and sophomore center Laurie Rivers

(6.8 points, 5.8 rebounds).

Lake Howell's 6-3 start can't be attributed to just a few dominant players because the Lady Hawks are getting key contributions from everyone coach Dennis Codrey puts on the floor.

"I'm using 10 or 11 people who play 10 to 18 minutes a ballgame and all of them are contributing," Codrey said. "I'm sure surprised by where we are now. I didn't expect to be this far ahead at this point. All the kids have responded well..."

Leading the Lady Hawks in the scoring department is 5-2 junior guard Erin Hankins who ranks sixth in the county with a 13.3 average, seniors Kellee Johnson (8.8 points) and Jolee Johnson (7.8) along with sophomore Tammy Lewis (7.9) have also contributed in a big way.

Jolee Johnson also leads the team in rebounding with 8.9 per game while Lewis leads in assists (4.4) and steals (3.2). Freshman Sarina Winston and sophomores Carey Manuel and Kelly Grider have provided additional strength inside along with senior Jo Coop. Mary Schnitker has performed well at the guard position.

Oviedo has struggled, due to a loss of several starters to graduation. Stephanie Nelson has been the Lady Lions' most consistent scoring threat while Suzanne Hughes, a promising freshman, should be a stellar player for several years to come.

Barkley's 31 Propel Sixers

United Press International Bill Fitch thought of the heavens, but even the firmament offers little solace when his Rockets must travel to Philadelphia to play the 76ers.

"Hell, we would have lost tonight playing on the moon," Fitch said Wednesday night after the 76ers beat the Rockets for the 19th straight time in Philadelphia, 126-108. "Plain and simple, Philly did what it wanted to do tonight."

Houston has not beaten the 76ers in the City of Brotherly Love since Jan. 2, 1974.

Charles Barkley led the 76ers attack, scoring a career-high 31 points while adding 19 rebounds and 5 assists.

While Rockets fans may have trouble remembering the last time their team has beaten the 76ers on the road, Barkley wanted to rewrite his recent history with Houston.

"I know in the past Ralph (Sampson) has intimidated me," said Barkley. "Tonight I said if I got anywhere in the vicinity of the basket I'd try to dunk it."

Elsewhere, Boston beat Dallas 137-117. New Jersey defeated Utah 113-98, the Los Angeles Lakers edged the Milwaukee Bucks 107-105, and the Los Angeles Clippers outlasted Golden State 103-99.

Put more thought into your bass fishing and you will be rewarded with more fish for your effort.

JIM'S TIP — When fishing a crankball, concentrate on making the plug appear vulnerable. Fishermen who learn to slow the lure down, or make it swim erratically do better than fishermen who simply cast and crank. The "stop and go" retrieve is also particularly effective. Don't be afraid to bump the crankball off the bottom or against cover. This tactic often triggers violent strikes.

FISHING FORECAST — Dell Abernethy at Osteen Bridge Fish Camp reports that striper, sunshine bass, and largemouth bass are schooling in the cut just north of the fish camp. J.D. Jones caught a mixed string of 15 fish last week. When the winds are not blowing, speckled perch are active in Lake Mosquito.

Ron Rollins from Highland Park reports that bass are biting in the St. Johns River and in Lake Woodruff. Butch McKee caught a 10-pound, 1-ounce bass in the river on the wild shiner. Several large bass have also been caught in Lake Woodruff on wild shiners. Speckled perch are only rated as "fair".

Snook action at Sebastian Inlet is beginning to slow down due to lower water temperatures. Large flounder are beginning to make their annual appearance now, and fish to 14 pounds have been caught so far on finger mullet.

Captain Jack reports that offshore action at Port Canaveral is at a standstill due to high winds. Bluefish are active in the port, with fish to 12 1/2 pounds being caught on topwater plugs. Trout and redfish will be seeking out the warmth of deeper water in the Banana and Indian rivers. The warm water discharges from the power plants on the Indian River are "hot spots" during extremely cold weather, as trout and other fish huddle in the warm water.

Sheepshead, drum, bluefish, and redfish provide consistent action at the New Smyrna jettes. Giant sheepshead should be making their annual spawning run soon, and the tip of the north jettes is one of the best spots to catch sheepshead at the 8-10 pound range. Trout and redfish should be starting to congregate in the deep holes in the Oak Hill area.

Wagner's Second-Half Sports Drops Hoosiers

Basketball
United Press International
"It was a heck of a basketball game. It's a shame someone had to lose," Louisville coach Denny Crum said Wednesday night. Easy for him to say — he won, on the strength of an offensive outburst by guard Milt Wagner, who scored No. 17 Louisville's last 10 points in a 65-63 triumph over No. 16 Indiana.
"They really had a great last 10-minute effort out of Wagner," Indiana coach Bobby Knight said. "He made the difference in the ball game, scoring and hitting free throws down the stretch."
Wagner scored 18 of his 22 points in the second half to lift Louisville to a 6-2 record. Steve Alford led Indiana, 5-2, with 27 points.
The Hoosiers led 34-32 at halftime and took their last lead at 47-46 with 9:40 remaining.

Woman's Club Chorus Makes Timely Debut

Over a hundred members of the Sanford Woman's Club enjoyed a very special program at the December luncheon meeting at the clubhouse. The newly organized Sanford Woman's Club Chorus, consisting of 17 members, made their debut with a timely presentation of Christmas songs. Soloist Tina Joseph sang the unfamiliar but beautiful "Straw Carol."

The closing number was the lovely "Sanford on the Lake" an original composition by Robert Carney, who was the director of the former Sanford Male Chorus. The song was lost for a time but the words and music were recently recalled by attorney Ed Shinholser, a former member of the Male Chorus, and by Mayor Bettye Smith, pianist for the Male Chorus and currently director of the Sanford Woman's Club Chorus. The chorus members expressed the hope that this song will become officially Sanford's.

Mrs. Judy Lutz, president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs and guest speaker, was introduced by president Ann Brisson. A dedicated, enthusiastic club member herself, Mrs. Lutz urged club women to be proud of the Federation's accomplishments during the 90 years since it was organized in 1895.

Three projects being emphasized by the federation this year, she said, are: the HOBY (Hugh O'Brien Youth Leadership) scholarships, energy conservation, and the Special Olympics. Sponsorship of the Hacienda Girl's Ranch is the only FFWC continuing project.

Lutz told her audience that working together in unity, through diversified activities that can help one grow, can enrich our lives. The purpose of the Federation of Women's Clubs is not to serve itself, but to serve the community. The federation is rich in the accomplishments of its members, she concluded.

The regular business meeting was conducted by president Ann Brisson, who welcomed special guest District VII Director Mrs. Madalyne Lawton and other guests.

Emy Bill, home life chairman, asked for volunteer bell ringers for the club's Salvation Army Day, Dec. 13. Volunteers were requested to let her know. She also showed members the certificate of appreciation the Woman's Club had received from the Chamber of Commerce for sponsoring the Golden Age bridge tournament.

Peggy Deere announced that $250 had been contributed for Christmas gifts for the Hacienda Girls' Ranch.

Sallie Harrison Chapter Observes 67th Year

Sallie Harrison Chapter NSDAR members met at Howell Place for the December meeting in celebration of the chapter's 67th birthday. Honored guests were past regents of Sallie Harrison Chapter. The present Regent, Mrs. Paul Kelly, welcomed all to this special occasion. Hostesses Mrs. Zoe Stanley, Mrs. Marion Cushing and Mrs. J.L. Brumley served birthday cake during the social hour before the meeting.

Each past regent was given a corsage and a certificate of recognition by Regent Kelly. Those honored were: Mrs. A.W. Lee, Mrs. W.S. Brumley Sr. (2 terms) Mrs. T.K. Wiley (2 terms) Mrs. William Leahy, Mrs. R.E. True (2 terms) and Mrs. L.C. Wildner. Recognized as past regents of other chapters were Mrs. John Hassel, Mrs. H. Wright and Mrs. Clark Davis.

The regular meeting opened with the observation of the ritual and prayer by Chaplain Mrs. W.B. Little. President General Mrs. Walter H. King's Christmas message was read by Mrs. W.S. Brumley Sr. and National Defense Chairman, Mrs. Paul Mikler, brought a timely message in her report on "Internal Security." She reported that history in the making at Geneva was attended by several outstanding women, including NSDAR President General Mrs. Walter Hughley King. Several driving tips were given by Mrs. Marion Walton, Transportation Chairman, and Mrs. R.G. Fox, Insignia Chairman, explained the use of the NSDAR Insignia.

Guest Mrs. Catherine Lowe was introduced as a transfer from Little Rock, Arkansas and Mrs. Rowe H. York Jr. was welcomed as a new member.

Delegates were announced for State Conference, March 6-8, 1988 in Miami and Continental Congress in Washington, D.C. April 14-18, 1988. The program honoring our country: her patriots was introduced by American Heritage Chairman, Mrs. William Leahy. Each speaker, dressed in authentic Revolutionary costume, told something of her Revolutionary ancestor.

Mrs. Clark Davis described her ancestor John Rockefeller as a sturdy pioneer who lived to the age of 90 and fathered 13 children, all of whom lived to maturity. Regent Mrs. Paul Kelly whose ancestor, Richard Ransom, was a farmer and storekeeper had 10 children and led a full life.

Mrs. William Leahy, descendant of Revolutionary General Elijah Clark told of his 23 years service in U.S. Defense and that he died the day after George Washington. His native state of Georgia belatedly honored this patriot and two NSDAR Chapters bear his name. Mrs. Paul Mikler told of the service of Nathan McDowell, her Revolutionary ancestor who fought at Stony Point and in Indian forays in Ohio after the war. His home in Connecticut is on the historical registry. Mrs. T.K. Wiley related several stories of her Revolutionary ancestor Jacob Killian, who lived to be 83 old. She noted that she became acquainted with her ancestor through a genealogical search which took several years to complete. The Chairman closed with the thought that these patriots were a cross section of our young country. In researching their lives, we find the real strength of the American people is in the traits depicted here. Yes, we do have a goodly heritage.

Seasonal Celebration

Sanford's Maude Coleman who turned 80 on Dec. 14, gets a birthday hug from niece Ellen Dossey, 75, of Sanford. Mrs. Coleman, who was feted at a family party, said that as a December child if she got a lot of gifts for her birthday Christmas would be a bit disappointing. But if pickings were slim on her birthday she could look forward to a big Christmas — the dilemma of those born in December. Mrs. Coleman recalled as a child being gifted with bisque head dolls and other playthings, while in celebration of her 80th birthday she received flowers, candy, wine and other goodies.

Hospitals And Surgeons Offer Colostomy Advice

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Will you please give me some information on having to wear a bowel bag after surgery?

DEAR READER — A colostomy or ileostomy bag is a plastic device, attached to the skin at the point where bowel surgery took place, to collect fecal contents. Although there are many physical and emotional problems inherent in wearing such a bag, it is sometimes a necessary consequence of intestinal operations. Most surgeons who perform this procedure can give you detailed advice about bowel bags. In addition, many hospitals employ professional endostomal therapists whose job it is to help patients after intestinal surgery.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've had a sore under my breast for a year. It comes and goes. The doctor gave me some salve, but it's still bothering me. What could it be?

DEAR READER — From the information you supply, I cannot be certain why you have a recurring sore under your breast. Perhaps a dermatologist could help you. However, there is a well-known skin condition called intertrigo that is often present in heavy-breasted women. In intertrigo, a moist and inflamed area can develop where breast skin touches abdominal skin. If the moisture is chronic, the skin can become rubbed raw in that spot, and bacteria and yeast can thrive.

This problem can be remedied by using drying agents like cornstarch or talc, or by wearing a breast support that elevates the breasts from the abdomen. Also, breast sores also can be produced by undergarments that rub and irritate the skin. Try to protect your breast in these ways and see if the intermittent soreness disappears.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am worried about spider veins that are under my left breast. There seems to be more of them, and they are getting higher up towards the nipple. I also have them on my thighs and some on my legs. What is causing these veins?

DEAR READER — "Spider veins" are veins or large capillaries that have been stretched and distended. Some people appear to inherit this tendency to have this. In others, the venous dilation may be due to partial obstruction of the blood vessels. Check with your doctor to make sure there isn't a reversible and treatable cause for your problem.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Here is another interesting hand from this year's British Gold Cup. On the opening lead of a small spade, declarer ducked. East won the king and played back the club 10. Declarer won the jack in dummy and played a heart to his jack and West's singleton king. That was curtains. West led a club for East to ruff, and the defenders took the diamond ace to set the game contract.

Declarer had some small justification for his misplay. After all, East might well have held the king and two other hearts, with West holding the diamond ace. Now declarer's play of ace and a heart would allow East to win the king, put partner in with the diamond ace, and finally take the setting trick with a club ruff. Still, this way all the defenders needed for the contract to fall was for West to hold the trump king. "Hands across the sea" and all that, we nevertheless must charge South with error. Worth noting also is that declarer might well have grabbed the spade ace immediately, so that he could then take the heart finesse in relative safety.

Adding salt to declarer's wound was the sacrificial error made at the other table, when non-vulnerable East-West were doubled in four spades and set 700. That was not too glaring a mistake measured against what seemed a certain 620 or 630 for North-South, but minus 100 as described raised the total loss to 800 instead of the expected result of minus 80.

Hindsight Leads To Foresight In Couple's Own Funeral Plan

DEAR ABBY: I am writing out of concern for others who may have to go through what I have. I lost both my parents recently in an automobile accident. The shock was hard enough to deal with, but on top of that, I had to take care of all the funeral arrangements. My parents had never discussed the subject with me, and I had absolutely no idea where to start, what kind of arrangements to make or how I was going to pay for it.

I am newly married and the oldest of their children, so the entire responsibility fell on me. Having to handle all this while under so much emotional stress was traumatic. I still wonder if I made the right decisions.

Some good did come out of this, however. After it was over, my husband and I arranged our own funerals by making a pre-paid contract with a local mortician. Now we have the peace of mind of knowing that everything will be the way we want it, and that terrible chore will not fall on either one of us or our children.

I hope you put this in your column. It might start people to thinking so they won't continue to put off this unpleasant task. After all, death is natural and comes to all of us.

J.T. IN W.A.

DEAR J.T.: You were very wise. I hope you were wise enough to have your "prepaid contract" examined by your attorney. Although death is a fact of life, you have no guarantee that you will not move to another state and die there. If you do, what happens to your contract? Also, what happens to your contract if your mortician goes out of business, or sells it to another mortician?

At the risk of sounding like a broken record, I repeat: Never sign any kind of contract without the approval of a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle a disagreement between me and my mother. If a friend or relative is being married and I'm invited to both the bridal shower and the wedding, should I buy one gift or two?

Mother says I should buy one nice gift to be given at the bridal shower. I say buy two gifts: a small household item for the shower, and another gift - a more important one - as a wedding gift.

Every time there's a wedding this discussion comes up. We are both loyal readers and agree to let you settle it. If Mother is right, I take her to dinner. And vice versa.

F.C.J. IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR F.C.J.: (1) You are right. (2) A wedding gift is a wedding gift, and a shower gift is a shower gift, and they're not one and the same. (3) Your mother owes you a dinner

DEAR ABBY: Do you think grounding a 10-year-old boy for six weeks is a just punishment for getting C's on his report card? I could understand this kind of punishment for D's, but I always thought a C was a passing mark.

The boy's parents think he has the potential to do better because his sisters get A's and B's.

What do you think?

INTERESTED PARTY

DEAR INTERESTED: I don't know whether the boy is working up to his potential or not, but I do know that children should never be compared with their

Citizens Advisory Board To Tackle Growth Issues

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer
A citizens advisory board to address Sanford's burgeoning development will be formed as a cooperative effort between the City of Sanford and representatives of the Mid-Florida Home Builders Association.

Sanford Mayor Betty Smith said the task force was suggested during a meeting she, City Manager Frank Faison and Director of Engineering and Planning Bill Simmons had Monday with home builders association members.

"Methods and suggestions for dealing with growth" will be proposed by the advisory board and forwarded to the commission, the mayor said. Membership will include association representatives and additional builders and building technicians.

The board will receive its charter from the city commission once City Attorney William Colbert has drawn up the proper legislation, Mayor Smith said.

A more aesthetic growth, in the form of new trees, was also discussed by the commission Monday. Replacing pines and palms felled by the city and storms may ultimately lead to Sanford becoming "The City of Oaks," if residents subscribe to the same planting program the commission is considering.

The Parks Department intends to replace at least 61 trees and Commissioner John Mercer suggested that homeowners be offered the same discount rate the city will be able to obtain from a local nursery. In recent years, disease and winter cold have taken 148 of Sanford's trees, according to Parks and Recreation Director James Jernigan.

Because some were located in alleyways, near utility lines or amid cluster of other trees, Jernigan recommended the city begin its replacement effort with 61 Oaks and then consider additional purchases once they've been planted.

Davidson's Tree Farm of Sanford has offered to plant and guarantee for 90 days Laurel Oaks for $55 each and Live Oaks for $66. Or, if the city picks-up and plants the trees itself, Davidson's will provide Laurel Oaks for $32.50 each and Live Oaks for $41. The trees would be 8-foot to 10-foot tall.

For the Parks Department program, Jernigan requested the commission authorize purchase of $4,000 worth of the Oaks. Mercer said he saw no reason why the city shouldn't take orders for additional trees if residents wish to take advantage of the discount rate.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER THE ADOPTION OF AN ORDINANCE BY THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA.
Notice is hereby given that a Public Hearing will be held at the Commission Room in the City Hall in the City of Sanford, Florida, at 7:30 o'clock P.M. on December 23, 1985, to consider the adoption of an ordinance by the City of Sanford, Florida, as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 1791
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA, TO ANNEX WITHIN THE CORPORATE AREA OF THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA, UPON ADOPTION OF SAID ORDINANCE, A PORTION OF THAT PROPERTY LATER BE TWEEN CELERY AVENUE AND THE SEABOARD COASTLINE RAILROAD RIGHT-OF-WAY AND THE EASTERLY CITY LIMIT LINE AND BRISSON AVENUE; SAID PROPERTY IS LOCATED SITUATED IN SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE VOLUNTARY ANNEXATION PROVISIONS OF SECTION 171.044, FLORIDA STATUTES; AND WHEREAS, SAID PROPERTY IS SEVERABLY DIVIDED INTO SEVERAL PARCELS, AND EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, there has been filed with the City Clerk of the City of Sanford, Florida, a petition containing the names of the property owners in the area described herein, requesting annexation to the corporate area of the City of Sanford, Florida, and requesting to be included therein; and WHEREAS, the Property Appraiser of Seminole County, Florida, having certified that there is one owner in the area to be annexed, and that said property owner has signed the Petition for Annexation; and WHEREAS, it has been determined that the property described herein is a reasonably compact and contiguous to the corporate area of the City of Sanford, Florida, and it has further been determined that the annexation of said property will not result in the creation of an enclave; and WHEREAS, the City of Sanford, Florida, is in a position to provide municipal services to the property described herein, and the City of Sanford, Florida, deems it in the best interest of the City to accept said petition and to annex said property.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA, THAT the property described below situated in Seminole County, Florida, be and the same is hereby annexed to and made a part of the City of Sanford, Florida, pursuant to the voluntary annexation provisions of Section 171.044, Florida Statutes.

PARCEL 1: The Easterly 1/4 of the NE 1/4 of Section 31, Township 19 South, Range 31 East, Seminole County, Florida.
PARCEL 2: The Westerly 1/4 of the NW 1/4 of the NW 1/4 of Section 32, Township 19 South, Range 31 East (Less rights of way for railroad and highway).
Seminole County, Florida.
SECTION 3: That upon this Ordinance becoming effective, the property owners and any resident on the property described herein shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges and immunities as are from time to time granted to residents and property owners of the City of Sanford, Florida, and as further provided in Chapter 171, Florida Statutes, and shall further be subject to the responsibilities of residence or ownership as may from time to time be determined by the governing authority of the City of Sanford, Florida, and the provisions of said Chapter 171, Florida Statutes.

SECTION 3: If any section or portion of a section of this ordinance proves to be invalid, unlawful, or unconstitutional, it shall not be held to impair the validity, force or effect of any other section or part of this ordinance.
SECTION 4: That all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith, be and the same are hereby revoked.
SECTION 5: That this ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its passage and adoption.
A copy shall be available at the Office of the City Clerk for all persons desiring to examine the same.

All parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard at said hearing.
By order of the City Commission of the City of Sanford, Florida.
ADVICE TO THE PUBLIC: If a person decides to appeal a decision made with respect to any matter considered at the above meeting or hearing, he may need a verbatim record of the proceedings, including the testimony and evidence, which record is not provided by the City of Sanford. (FS 284.0105).

Each claim must be in writing and must indicate the basis for the claim, the name and address of the creditor or his agent or attorney, and the amount claimed. If the claim is not yet due, the date when it will become due shall be stated. If the claim is contingent or unliquidated, the nature of the claim shall be stated. If the claim is secured, the security shall be described. The claimant shall deliver sufficient copies of the claim to the clerk to enable the clerk to mail one copy to each personal representative.

All persons interested in the estate to whom a copy of this Notice of Administration has been mailed are required, WITHIN THREE MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THIS NOTICE, to file any objections they may have that challenge the validity of the decedent's will, the qualifications of the personal representative, or the venue or jurisdiction of the court.

ALL CLAIMS, DEMANDS, AND OBJECTIONS NOT SO FILED WILL BE FOREVER BARRED
Date of the first publication of this Notice of Administration: December 19, 1985.
