Vote set on rezoning plan

The Seminole County Middle School Rezoning Task Force will vote on its plan for recommendation to the superintendent tonight at 7 p.m. at Tuscawilla Middle School, 1801 Tuscawilla Road, Oviedo. The task force will likely choose one plan with two alternates.

Board members will get their first look at both middle and high school task force recommendations in a work session scheduled for Feb. 1 at 7:30 p.m. at Lake Howell High School.

No decision will be made on Feb. 1. The session is for a presentation to board members to prepare them for the upcoming hearing. Students, parents and members of the community are invited to share their thoughts on the issue.

The school board is also considering impact fees as a funding source for school construction. Members have set a work session for Jan. 20 to receive the results from an impact fee study. The meeting is open to the public, and will be held 9 a.m. at the board's offices, 1211 Mellonville Ave.

Six found 35 days after quake

MOSCOW — Rescue workers Thursday found six victims of the Armenian earthquake still alive after being trapped under rubble for 35 days, the Tass news agency said.

The six men were found Wednesday in the ruins of an apartment building, Tass said.

"Six people were pulled alive from wreckage in Leninakan on the 35th day after the devastating earthquake," Tass said in a dispatch from the Armenian capital of Yerevan. "They have spent more than a month in the basement of the nine-story building."

The Dec. 7 earthquake killed some 25,000 people.

Reagan gives farewell speech

WASHINGTON — Ronald Reagan, who led a conservative revolt against the political establishment, drew the longest presidency in a generation to a close Wednesday with the declaration, "We meant to change a nation and instead we changed a world."

In a nearly 21-minute farewell address, Reagan insisted his "revolution" had achieved much — igniting an economic expansion and rebuilding the nation's prestige abroad — and urged Americans to ensure his legacy by backing his successor, George Bush.

Housing program axed

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County will not continue a rental rehabilitation program for the Goldsboro area of Sanford, following the city's decision last year to quit the program because of the high cost to administer it.

To date, the city had committed to $8,500 in projects but decided not to pursue the program last month because administration costs were running higher than the federal government allows.

That decision, combined with the county's decision this week, will end the rental rehabilitation program after the city's planned projects are complete.

The city still has not fully spent the $103,000 the county passed through to it from the U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) rental rehabilitation program in 1987.

So far, only $3,827 has been spent and HUD has reduced the total amount by $51,500 because of slow performance by the city.

The remaining money was obligated in August for projects to rehabilitate 15 units in five separate projects.

City officials had said the 10 percent administrative allowance from the funds is too low to operate the program and decided to discontinue it.

"We don't want it," said Sanford City Manager Frank Faison. "We can't operate the program on that kind of money."

Last month, a city housing official resigned after HUD criticized the administration of the local programs.

The city is pursuing other housing program grants directly with the federal government, bypassing the county.

County planner Tony Vanderworp said in three years, the county will decide whether to take up the program again and operate itself.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Robert Duncan, right, charges Harry Edgar Grover, 33, of Orlando, left, with leaving the scene of an accident with property damage and driving under the influence. Sanford policeman Ken Kaiser looks on along with bystanders at the scene at State Roads 415 and 46, east of Sanford at about 4:15 p.m. Wednesday. Duncan reported Grover allegedly fled the scene of a crash, but was captured by police a short time later.

Bogus cops running phone arrest scam

By SUSAN LOEHN

SANFORD — A woman who followed an extortionist's telephone orders and left $200 in a Sanford telephone booth early Wednesday is the victim of a scam.

The woman thought she had been taking with a policeman, who told her he had arrested her husband and wanted the money to keep from jailing him.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies report that in recent weeks several women have reported receiving this type of call and one woman left $1,000 in a phone booth at Zayre's about three weeks ago, according to reports. Sheriff's deputies suspect she is the victim of the same conman.

In the Wednesday incident, Joan Rose, 41, of Longwood, reported she received a call at her house at about 8:20 a.m. The caller identified himself as a policeman and said he

Tests show Longwood barrels were hazardous

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE

LONGWOOD — Laboratory tests performed by ENCO Laboratories in Orlando verified that the contents of eight barrels buried in Longwood were hazardous.

They contained ignitable, corrosive and high metal contents such as lead and chrome released from paints that were in them, according to Richard Tedder, hazardous waste manager for the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation (DER).

DER officials said they will not know about the contents of six other drums until further test results are made. One of the drums was empty and another was non-hazardous.

"We're still in an investigation stage at this point," Tedder said.

The city was presented with the test results yesterday.

O.H. Materials Company, Clermont, unearthed

the barrels on Dec. 21, a task which took two days.

Cost to the city for the drum removal, including the laboratory tests and labor was slightly under $31,000 according to Acting City Administrator Donald Terry.

Chemical Conservation Corporation, who subcontracted O.H. Materials to do the work, presented an itemized bill to the city yesterday when commissioners questioned why the charges had skyrocketed 10 times higher than originally estimated.

Costs included such things as $11,175.30 for lab analysis testing, $952 for materials used in the cleanup, a total of $7,410 for labor for the two days, $1,470 for protective clothing and equipment which included acid suits, 100-pound bottles of breathing air and breathing equipment and $2,060 for heavy equipment used.

DER cited the city on Nov. 9 for violating a regulation which requires making hazardous

Auditor says DOT budget woes due to mismanagement

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — A draft report by the state Auditor General's office says the Department of Transportation's $700 million budget crunch and resulting delay for road projects are the product of management "weaknesses."

Transportation Secretary Kaye Henderson repeatedly has said the budget problems are the result of improved techniques that have reduced by half the time it takes to plan and build road projects.

But the draft report released Tuesday suggests the DOT planned roads it could not pay for with money appropriated by the Legislature.

The report also says the agency made major changes to work schedules without determining whether the money was there to pay for them.

"These control weaknesses appear to be contributing factors to the department's current funding difficulties," the audit says.

Companion kills deer hunter by mistake

HOLT — A Holt man was accidentally shot and killed during a hunting trip when a companion mistook him for a deer, Okaloosa County authorities said Wednesday.

The dead man has been identified as Jimmy Doolittle Brown, 45. His hunting companion was not identified, but authorities said it is unlikely any charges will be filed.

Brown was partly obscured by bushes when he was hit by a blast from a shotgun around 5 p.m. in the Blackwater Forest area between Baker and Munson, authorities said.

State officials want jet skis controled

TALLAHASSEE — Florida lawmakers concerned about growing numbers of jet skis operating in crowded waters will consider restricting operation of the vehicles, Senate Natural Resources Committee chairman Sen. Tom McPherson said Wednesday.

Department of Natural Resources director Tom Gardner told McPherson and the committee that he is increasingly concerned about jet skis "like little yellow jackets buzzing around out in the water."

Gardner asked lawmakers to require jet skiers to wear life jackets and to ensure that skis shut off automatically when a skier falls. He also wants the skis limited to daytime operation.

McPherson said he already is preparing legislation that would include all of Gardner's recommendations. His bill also would make reckless operation of a jet ski a crime punishable by up to a $500 fine and 60 days in jail and would prohibit renting jet skis to anyone under 15 years old.

The sled-like vehicles are powered by gasoline engines. Riders sit or stand on the vehicles, which are powered and steered with an impeller system.

Link discovered in 'random' killing

MILTON — A man accused of the shooting death last week of another man outside a convenience store east of Gulf Breeze may have known his victim, authorities said Wednesday.

Albert T. Aguilera, 33, of Pensacola, is being held without bond in the Santa Rosa County Jail on an open count of murder in the Jan. 3 shooting death of Matthew Miller, 25, of Gulf Breeze.

The suspect fired a shot at point-blank range in Miller's face as he was sitting in his car at the gas pump of a Tom Thumb convenience store. Aguilera was arrested a half-hour later at a roadblock in nearby Pensacola.

Authorities initially said the shooting appeared to be random. But Capt. Terry Hardy of the Santa Rosa County Sheriff's Department said an informant claimed he saw the suspect and victim together twice in the past six weeks at an apartment complex where Miller lived. Hardy also said another witness claimed to have seen a car similar to the one the suspect was driving at the time of his arrest at the same apartment complex twice in the two weeks before the shooting.

Relatives win share of Boy Scout will PANAMA CITY — A settlement has been reached in the case of relatives who contested the will of a woman who died in 1987 and left $600,000 to the Bay County Humane Society.

Doug Brown, a Panama City attorney who represented the family, said the case was to be heard in Bay County Circuit Court this week. But the Humane Society and plaintiffs agreed to a settlement where $217,000 will go to the woman's survivors.

The survivors live in Houston, Texas, and Los Angeles and San Jose, Calif.

Florence Alice Fletcher of Panama City Beach died in August 1987 and left her estate to the Humane Society. Brown said the will was drawn up in April, only a few months before her death.

Six relatives filed suit, claiming Humane Society officials exercised undue influence over the woman. Court records show Humane Society officials listed themselves as next of kin on admission documents to the nursing home.

Powder that dropped dog is not cocaine

KEY WEST A mysterious white powder that put a 110-pound Rottweiler belly up on the beach is not cocaine, but lab technicians have not determined what it is, a sheriff's spokeswoman said Wednesday.

The dog passed out after she attacked a trash bag containing 50 pounds of powder. Monroe County sheriff's deputies suspected the substance was cocaine, but that has been ruled out along with flour and plaster of Paris, said sheriff's deputy Becky Herrin.

"It is not cocaine and it is not any drug that we've been able to determine. For instance, it's not heroin," she said. "Whatever it was, the dog did pass out."

Rebecca Stern, who has been babysitting the year-old Sacha for her son, said she still thinks the powder is cocaine.

"What else could it be?" said the former Miami Beach elementary school principal. "If it would not have been some kind of substance like that the dog would not have been felled."

Navy plane bombs backyard

United Press International

MIDDLEBURG — A Navy plane on a practice bombing mission dropped a dummy shell Wednesday afternoon in the backyard of a sparsely populated north Florida community.

William Larsen heard a whistling sound followed by a thud, looked out his window and saw white smoke coming from the 8-pound, 2 1/2-foot, blue practice bomb, said Lt. Tim Martin of the Clay County Sheriff's Office.

"He was working in the kitchen with the windows opened and he heard a whistling sound and looked out and saw the bomb dropping," said Larsen's wife Gayle.

Bert Byers, spokesman for Naval Air Station-Cecil Field, said the practice bomb fell from an FA-18 Hornet flying in a practice range near the Ocala National Forest.

Byers said although not frequent, practice bombs fall off Navy planes from time to time.

"Sometimes a bomb will fall off a plane," he said. "Fortunately we've always been able to retrieve them from isolated areas like this."

Mrs. Larsen said she was on the phone with her husband when the bomb dropped shortly before 2 p.m. EST. "He said he couldn't talk, that there was a bomb in the backyard."

The shell dug into the ground about 110 feet away from Larsen's house. "It was less than 40 feet from the trampoline where the children always play," she said, adding it left a hole in the family's badminton court.

Although Mrs. Larsen said she still respects the Navy, she said "This type of thing shouldn't have happened."

Abortion for child investigated

United Press International

FORT LAUDERDALE — A doctor and state lawmaker remains under investigation for failing to report he performed an abortion on a 10-year-old who may have been sexually abused by her father, a spokesman said Wednesday.

State Rep. Benjamin Graber, D-Cecil Springs, performed the abortion on the girl about two years ago. The gynecologist went to the police last month after learning the girl's father had been accused of abusing her and three other daughters, now aged 3 to 12.

Dave Casey, a spokesman for the Broward County State Attorney's Office, confirmed

Wednesday that his office is investigating Graber.

"We filed multiple counts of sexual battery on the father back in December and at that time the whole question of the assault of one of the victims two years ago and the failure of Dr. Graber to report it was brought to our attention and is under investigation," he said.

The Coalition for Ending Child Abuse presented the Broward County State Attorney's Office with a petition Tuesday that contained 750 signatures of people who felt Graber should be charged.

Because the doctor did not report the girl's condition to the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, the abuse went undetected for two years, said the Rev. Patrick Mahoney, a spokesman for the group.

"He clearly broke Florida law," Mahoney said. "All Dr. Graber had to do was make a call — he could have done it anonymously — and HRS would have investigated."

Casey said the petition would have no effect on the department's investigation and Graber said the group was using him to get publicity.

Graber, 40, who was elected to the state House of Representatives in November, denies any wrongdoing on his part. He said the girl appeared more mature than her age.

"It was not an obvious case of child abuse," he said. "She came in with her mother. It was legal. It was out front. There were no signs of abuse."

The girl's father was arrested on Dec. 3 after he took her to the hospital for treatment of an injury that doctors suspected was caused by sexual abuse. Police and HRS officials were notified and determined the other girls also had been abused.

The 29-year-old Pompano Beach man is charged with four counts of sexual battery on a child under 12 and one count of sexual battery. No charges were filed involving the 3-year-old because she was not able to provide investigators with information.

Officials said the children have been placed in HRS custody

Olympian admits drunken killing of teens

United Press International

TAMPA — Former Olympic diver Bruce Kimball, in a move his father said was made to avoid "a horrible" trial for his family and relatives of the dead, pleaded guilty to two counts of drunken-driving manslaughter Wednesday and faces up to 22 years in prison.

"Bruce made his decision for the right reasons and I'm proud of him," said Kimball's father, Dick, diving coach at the University of Michigan for the past 29 years.

"He did not want to put the families of the kids or our family through a horrible court trial."

However, Kimball's change of his original not guilty plea also followed an possible defense setback in jury selection Tuesday.

With defense attorneys out of challenges, William Sherman, a 41-year-old postal worker, was seated as the final juror after disclosing that his daughter is president of Brandon High School's chapter of SADD — Students Against Drunk Driving.

Opening arguments were delivered Wednesday and the first witness had testified when attorneys asked for a conference with the judge. Thirty minutes later the guilty pleas were entered.

Charged with seven counts from an Aug. 1 accident that left two youths dead and four others injured, the 25-year-old Kimball also entered a guilty plea on three counts of driving under the influence resulting in serious bodily injury.

Two counts of manslaughter by culpable negligence were dropped by prosecutor John Skye, who was just about to enter 43 "most unpleasant" photographs of the accident scene into evidence when Kimball's lawyers approached the bench.

After a 30-minute closed-door conference, a shaken Kimball emerged with watery eyes. While Kimball's parents sat expressionless, defense attorneys entered the guilty pleas. Hillsborough Circuit Judge Harry Lee Coe then ordered the silver medalist in platform diving at the 1984 Olympics jailed pending a pre-sentence investigation.

Coe scheduled sentencing for 9 a.m. EST Jan. 30. State sentencing guidelines call for Kimball to receive seven to 22 years on the charges.

"It's very difficult to talk about something like this," Dick Kimball said on the courthouse steps. "I know it would have been difficult for Bruce to get through this trial. It's something Bruce is trying to face and I'm really sorry."

While Dick Kimball fought back tears, his wife, Gail, cried softly but did not speak. Bruce Kimball was taken away through a back door and did not face reporters and television cameras.

"It was Bruce's decision and I admire him for it," said Lee Fugate, one of two attorneys representing Kimball.

Earlier, as Kimball stood before Coe flanked by Fugate and attorney Frank Quesada — and with the six-person jury out of the room — the judge asked him if he understood he was giving up his right to a trial and to an appeal.

"Yes sir," Kimball said in a barely audible voice.

"Are you under the influence of alcohol and drugs at this time?" Coe asked.

"No sir," Kimball said.

After Kimball's guilty pleas, Skye recited a summary of the charges and said the state would have shown a blood-alcohol test of the defendant taken the night of the accident registered 0.20, twice the level state law presumes a person intoxicated.

"The state had a substantial amount of evidence and the plea was not a full surprise," said Skye, who had just called his first of 30 anticipated witnesses, the first sheriff's deputy to arrive at the accident scene. "Mr. Kimball, through his attorneys, told the judge he thought it would be in the best interest of his family and the families of his victims to plead guilty."

"The photographs were most unpleasant, but were an important part of the state's presentation because they illustrated how fast the vehicle was going. The state wanted the conviction on DUI-manslaughter rather than the culpable negligence charge ... we felt it was simply the more appropriate charge based on the evidence."

Investigators had said Kimball was driving his 1984 Mazda RX-7 at 70-90 mph when he slammed into a crowd of youths who were gathered on an unlit, dead-end street in the suburb of Brandon, 12 miles east of Tampa. The accident occurred at 11 p.m. and Kimball has admitted he had been drinking earlier in the day.

"I was extremely surprised and pleased by the guilty plea," said Tom Satterly, president of the Hillsborough County chapter of MADD — Mothers Against Drunk Driving. "I can tell you first hand that looking at graphic pictures like that is a shock. Our organization will send a letter to the judge asking for the maximum sentence, just like we would do with any case of this kind."

Two weeks after the accident, members of MADD and relatives of the two fatalities, 16-year-old Richard Gossic and 19-year-old Robbie Bedell, protested Kimball's decision to compete in the Olympic Diving Trials at Indianapolis. Kimball failed to make the U.S. team for the Summer Games in Seoul, South Korea.

Gardner, lawmakers back saltwater fishing license

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Department of Natural Resources director Tom Gardner and Senate leaders said Wednesday they expected the Legislature to pass a $10 fee for saltwater fishing licenses during the coming session.

Gardner also threw his support behind a Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission proposal to increase the cost of a fresh water fishing license to $10. A freshwater license now costs $9, including a $1 service fee that goes to the license retailer.

The $16 million a year saltwater licenses would raise, Gardner said, would be used to improve saltwater fishing.

Inmate found dead in cell

SANFORD — A 43-year-old Oviedo man was found dead in his cell at the Seminole County jail early today. He had been jailed Tuesday after allegedly beating a woman with a pool cue in Oviedo.

Jail Administrator Duane Rutledge said Frank Finney, 661 Newton St., Oviedo, died from apparent natural causes, possibly a heart attack. An autopsy is scheduled to determine the cause of death. Rutledge said jail officials did not know Finney was terminally ill.

Finney was arrested by Oviedo police on a charge of aggravated battery after an attack on Mabeleine S. Zuczek, 48, at Park's Grocery, Avenue B. Police said Zuczek was beaten on the head after reportedly making a hostile remark to Finney.

Steak at stake during alleged shoplifting

SANFORD — An off duty Seminole County sheriff's deputy working security at Winn-Dixie, Sanford, reported fighting a man who ran from the store with a stolen $10 steak.

The deputy caught Harold Hawthorne, 33, of 2559 Ridgewood Trill, Sanford, on 10th Street, after a chase from the store on U.S. Highway 17-92. The deputy said Hawthorne fought him before being subdued and also punched him in the face while being booked into jail. Hawthorne was arrested on charges of aggravated battery on a policeman, resisting with violence and retail theft at 2:57 p.m. Wednesday. Bond is $5,000.

Wife reports battering, husband jailed

SANFORD — Tracy Kalvin Johnson, 27, of Orlando, was charged with battery-spouse abuse after Valerie Johnson, of 1502 W. 25th St., Sanford, reported he hit her in the face with his fist.

The arrest was made at 1:44 a.m. today at Johnson's house. Bond is $500.

2 Lake Mary candidates withdraw applications

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — City commissioners will have two less city manager applicants to interview Thursday evening.

Two have withdrawn their names from the list of candidates. They are Leonard A. Matarese of Palm Springs, Fla. and Col. James R. Bell, commander at Tyndall Air Force Base in Panama City. This means only three candidates are left in the running for the position including Steven R. Aynes, 35, of Geneva, Ohio; Dennis W. Kelly, 41, of DeLand; and Teddy C. Ryan Jr., 44, of Ocoee.

Acting City Manager Charles

Lauderdale said Wednesday that Bell called last Saturday morning and declined because he is taking another position. Matarese informed Lauderdale Tuesday morning that he has changed his mind and will stay where he is. Matarese is currently an adjunct faculty/doctoral student at Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton.

Lauderdale said he has informed the commissioners of these withdrawals.

The interviews will be held starting at 7 p.m. tomorrow evening at the city commission chambers, 158 N. Country Club Road.

The public is invited to attend the interviews.

2 named to Civil Service Board

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The resignation of two 18-year-veteran from the Seminole County Sheriff's Department Civil Service Board has brought the appointment of two new members and the naming of a new chairman.

Wednesday the five-member board elected sheriff's Sgt. Steven Walthers as its new chairman. Both Sanford City Attorney Bill Colbert, who has been chairman of the board since its inception, and Sheriff's Chief Deputy Duane Harrell, who has always been Sheriff John Polk's appointee to the board, have resigned for personal reasons.

Polk replaced Harrell with Jail Administrator Duane Rutledge. Rutledge has been named secretary of the board. Sandra Manson, an Altamonte Springs lawyer, has been named to fill the board slot vacated by Colbert. Colbert's slot is one that is open to a civilian and is filled by nomination and election by the other members of the board.

Board members elected to two-year terms by their coworkers are investigator Ralph Salerno and Walthers. Both joined the board in 1988, along with Dr. Benjamin Newman. Newman and Walthers fill new slots on the board created in 1988 by Polk to increase the board from a 3-member panel to a 5-member panel. Newman and Rutledge are Polk's representatives.

Vision loss from radiation said preventable

United Press International

GAINESVILLE — Vision loss from radiation, a potential side effect of cancer treatment, can be prevented and reversed by exposing the patient to high-pressure oxygen in a decompression chamber, ophthalmologists at the University of Florida Eye Center said Wednesday.

The blinding disorder, known as "radiation-induced optic neuropathy," is a recognized risk of radiation therapy to the brain and involves aiming external beams of radiation at tumors inside the head.

Penetrating radiation, designed to shrink tumors, in rare instances damages blood vessels supplying the optic nerve, blocking eye-to-brain transmission of visual impulses necessary for sight.

Physicians with the Eye Center at the University of Florida Health Science Center are preventing vision loss and restoring sight in some patients by placing them inside a hyperbaric chamber, a pressurized, submarine-like tank that superoxygenates the patient with high-pressure oxygen.

Hyperbaric therapy has been used for years to treat scuba divers suffering from decompression sickness or the "bends," and is a proven treatment for a number of medical problems including gas gangrene, carbon monoxide poisoning, inflammation of the bone marrow, anemia and skin graft rejection.

UF ophthalmologist Dr. John Guy pioneered using the chamber to help cancer patients avoid the double jeopardy of blindness that sometimes accompanies the last-resort treatment for their deadly disease.

"There previously was no treatment for cancer patients who lost their vision as a result of radiation therapy," Guy said. "Although radiation therapy might cure their tumors, there was no hope to prevent blindness if they developed optic neuropathy after the treatment."

Vision can start to fade while a patient is still receiving radiation therapy, or the blinding disorder may not develop until several months or even years after treatment has ceased. Radiation-induced blindness occurs infrequently, Guy said.

"We treat about one patient a year at the University of Florida," he said, adding that sudden vision loss can be emotionally devastating to people already distraught over cancer.

"Hyperbaric therapy has been shown to reverse vision loss within two weeks of sight loss, as well as permanently stop the progression of the blinding disorder," Guy said.

Guy first prescribed hyperbaric medicine for one of his patients in 1983.

"I was just looking for a way to bypass the blood vessels and get oxygen directly to the patient's optic nerve."

He has since treated five patients, two experienced total restoration of vision after hyperbaric therapy and a third patient's progressive vision loss was halted before total blindness occurred.

Saturating the patient's body with oxygen under increased atmospheric pressure allows the blood to deliver the extra oxygen directly to the affected area.

Prison inmate may testify before Senate committee

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — The inmate who began a 17-year-old class action suit challenging Florida prison conditions might get a chance to testify before the Senate corrections committee, the panel's chairman said Wednesday.

Sen. Larry Plummer, D-South Miami, said he plans to meet with inmate Michael Costello soon and might invite him to the Capitol to discuss Costello's recent harsh criticism of the legal team representing Florida's 35,000 inmates.

"We'll bring him here in chains or whatever protective procedures we need," Plummer said.

Plummer said he wants his committee to investigate the possibility lawyers William Sheppard of Jacksonville and Sharon Jacobs of Miami are filing frivolous complaints with the federal judge overseeing a consent decree in the case.

Costello leveled the charge in a Dec. 5 letter to Sheppard, saying, "You lost sight of the political-economic realities of this case years ago."

Costello said in the letter that he hopes his testimony could "provide the impetus to curb your absurd tendencies" regarding motions filed in the case.

He said frivolous motions "serve no utilitarian purpose and in fact operate to the detriment of the class action plaintiffs."

Plummer said the lawyers might be trying to keep the case alive so they can continue collecting court-ordered fees.

"They may very well be doing exactly that," Plummer said.

"That possibility has been raised. We would hope that would not be the case," said Rep. Doug Jamerson, D-St. Petersburg, chairman of the House Corrections committee.

The state already has spent $2.6 million on fees for lawyers representing the inmates and the lawyers recently requested an additional $261,000 to cover 10 months work, according to the state attorney general's office.

The state is contesting the latest fee request.

The lawsuit has resulted in the early release of thousands of inmates to relieve overcrowding

County buys video system for meetings

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — For the first time, audiences in the Seminole County Commission chambers will be able to see and hear what's going on.

County commissioners unanimously approved spending $61,216 for a two-screen projection system in the new county commission chambers, with two speakers and recessed monitors for commissioners at their rostrum. The amount exceeds the original estimated cost of $53,499, but includes additional perks, said deputy county manager Montye Beamer.

The original system included two projection screens — one that could be seen from a majority of the seats and one that could be seen by both the audience and the commissioners.

Materials being presented to commissioners would be viewed by an overhead camera and projected onto the screens. A drawback of the system was several seats could not clearly view either projection screen.

There is no such system now and materials presented to commissioners on easels are turned so the audience can view them, but less than half of the people in the 96 seats can clearly see the items.

Under the new system, proposed by General Projection Systems, Orlando, two screens will face the audience and will be clearly viewed by about 90 percent of the people in the 240 seats, Beamer said. The remaining 25 or so people in the back of the room will still be able to see the materials projected onto the screen, but not as clearly.

For commissioners, three monitors will be mounted into the rostrum before them so they can see the same image as the audience at the same time. Another monitor will be placed between the county manager's and county attorney's seats and across the room for the recording clerks.

The new system will also include connections in the back of the room for radio and television monitoring, fewer speakers, a better quality video tape recorder and a slide-to-video projector. Beamer notes the VCR is not to record meetings or the audience, but to play taped materials presented to commissioners.

Construction of the new auditorium, which began in December, is expected to be completed in May. The total cost for the auditorium, two additional parking lots and the audio-visual system is currently $706,864.

The high cost of illiteracy

There is a dirty little secret in America today: about one in eight employees can read at no more than a third-grade level and one in five reads only to an eighth-grade level. So says the Business Council of Effective Literacy, which is trying to do something about the problem.

The reason the problem isn't widely recognized is that employees who cannot read or write go to extreme lengths to prevent their employer from finding out, such as showing up to fill out a job application with their arm in a phony sling. But such substandard abilities inevitably inflict a toll on employer, employee and society.

For employers the price can be low productivity, poor product quality, and workplace accidents. Such workers are sentenced to entry-level, low-paying jobs and may be subject to safety risks because they can't read warning signs. Society is the loser because of the incalculable loss of human potential.

The problem is bound to worsen in light of two factors: jobs are becoming more technical and the work force is becoming less literate. For instance, automobiles have become much more complicated, which means that typical mechanics need at least 10th-grade reading and writing skills to deal with work orders, technical manuals and supply catalogs.

On the other side of the equation is the influx of immigrants, many of whom do not speak English.

Employers need to assess and deal with this changing makeup of their labor pool, not to mention those workers already on their payroll who may be functionally illiterate.

One might ask why so many people have slipped through our multibillion-dollar education system without being able to read or write. Some are dropouts and others are "pushouts." The latter fail to absorb basic literacy skills but are nudged through the system nevertheless.

His kind of rind

Pork is no stranger to the nation's capital, where Congress likes to dole the stuff out by the barrelful. But with the election of George Bush to the presidency, the lowly pork rind is attaining new heights. Bush, it is claimed, likes to munch on port rinds, and his transition team has been shipped a crate of them.

Does the president-elect's fondness for fried pigskin mean baskets of pork rinds will replace jars of jelly beans (Ronald Reagan's favorite snack) in White House conference rooms? Will some bright entrepreneur corner the market for designer pork rinds, a la the upscale Jelly Bellies that Reagan particularly craved? Is Bush likely to designate one brand his kind of rind?

The possibilities seem limitless. One thing is certain, though: If anyone should accuse the patrician Bush of living high on the hog, he can point to his taste for pork rinds as evidence to the contrary. It's a new era in Washington. Let the pigging out begin.

The long reach of the Japanese

WASHINGTON — "Government relations" offices long have been maintained here by corporations that are anxious to stay on the right side of the politicians and bureaucrats who control the federal government.

Now, however, a new category of companies with a very different heritage also has Washington representation. Included in that classification are Honda and Hitachi, Matsushita and Mitsubishi, Nissan and NEC, Sony and Subaru.

Because those Japanese firms now have substantial investments in this country, they have become increasingly active not only in the political realm but in the economic and social spheres — and their influence is likely to grow.

Japan is hardly the largest foreign holder of this nation's assets. The United Kingdom ranks first with $75 billion worth of investments, followed by the Netherlands with $47 billion, Japan with $33 billion, Canada with $22 billion, West Germany with $20 billion, Switzerland with $14 billion and France with $10 billion.

"But no country has increased its U.S. investments faster than Japan," notes the Congressional Economic Leadership Institute, a non-profit, non-government organization based in Arlington, Va.

"Japanese Investments in the United States climbed 811 percent between 1980 and 1987," the institute says in its recent report on "American Assets."

Moreover, it projects that, if the trend continues, Japan will surpass "both the United Kingdom and the Netherlands to become the No. 1 cumulative investor by 1990."

At plants in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana, Japanese automakers are expected to produce 1.3 million cars and trucks this year, with that total projected to rise to 2.2 million by 1992. (In some cases the Japanese are partners in joint ventures with domestic firms, but most of their endeavors are in dependent.)

Japanese investors are among the leading holders of the bills, bonds, and notes issued by the Treasury Department.

Japanese investors are among the leading holders of the bills, bonds and notes issued by the Treasury Department to finance the federal government's accumulated debt of more than $3 trillion. In the financial services field, the Japanese have been aggressive purchasers of banks, insurance companies and securities firms.

But in no field has the relatively recent surge of Japanese participation in U.S. economy been more apparent — and more controversial — than in real estate.

Most of the Japanese purchases have been confined to about a dozen cities — Los Angeles, New York, Honolulu, San Francisco, Phoenix, Chicago, Dallas, Seattle, San Diego, Atlanta, Boston and Washington.

According to one estimate, the Japanese last year poured $16 billion into purchasing U.S. real estate. This brought their cumulative total investment up to more than $42.3 billion and gave them ownership of slightly more than 1.5 percent of all the nation's property.

Thus, Japanese investment constitutes an indirect repatriation of a substantial portion of the money lost through this country's international trade deficit.

It takes new initiatives to lead a moribund government

WASHINGTON — It was a wonderfully warm scene: Speaker Jim Wright, the fiercely partisan Democratic leader of the House, joining Vice President George Bush to preside over the ceremonial joint session of Congress for the "ascertainment" of the presidential electoral votes. When the ritual showed that Bush indeed had won last November's bitter contest for the White House, Wright shook the victor's hand and smiled a smile worthy of a Republican precinct captain.

That's the current style in Washington, as members of Congress and the incoming Bush administration match each other's promises of cooperation and quick action on the nation's agenda.

But don't be fooled. The stark political reality is this: When the voters choose to reinforce the checks and balances built into the Constitution by dividing control of the legislative and executive branches between the parties, the danger of policy stalemate is ever-present. It is only when creative politicians find ways to bypass the barriers the voters have placed in the way of action, that anything is likely to get done.

A case in point is provided by a Texan far less famous than Bush or Wright, Rep. Richard K. Arney (R), Arney, a native of North Dakota and professional economist who moved to Texas to teach college, came to Congress in the 1984 election, after what was literally a "comic-book" campaign. A staunch free-market conservative, he beat the favored Democratic incumbent by flooding the district with comic books linking his opponent to liberal Tip O'Neill, then Speaker of the House.

In his first term, Arney joined other back-bench Republican "bomb-throwers" in futile efforts to sandbag legislation. But he was not content with the obstructionist role and when he gained a place on the House Budget Committee in 1987, he sought to identify areas where legislative action could produce sensible, long-term economies. His eye fell on a most unlikely target: military bases which had outlived their usefulness.

In Washington lore, those bases were "untouchables," a prop to the local economy even if they added nothing to the nation's defense. Yet Arney, a junior member of the minority party who was not even on the Armed Services Committee, was able to pass his legislation in less than two years. Just before New Year's, the list of the first bases targeted for shutdown was announced.

The way he did it shows how damnably difficult it is to achieve change in divided government and how inventive one must be to succeed. In 1987, when he first tried, Arney came close but was beaten by the combined opposition of the House Democratic leadership and then-Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger. But he came back and won in 1988.

The key, he said in an interview last week, was understanding the source of the opposition in Congress. It was not, as most outsiders thought, the members' fear that voters would retaliate at the polls if any facilities in their districts or states were shut down. Relatively few had such trepidations. The real hand-up was the belief — whether justified or not — in the Democratic Congress that the Republican administration would make the base-closing decisions on political, not military, grounds.

"If I could convince them the process would be fair," Arney said, "members were willing to go along — even if it hurt their constituents."

Making the process fair involved an intricate three-cushion shot: Congress would discard the "environmental impact" requirement, which guaranteed that any base-closing would be tied up in courts for years. The Pentagon, under new Secretary Frank Carlucci, a far more pragmatic man than Weinberger, would surrender its right to designate the bases for closing, and turn that power over to a bipartisan commission, named in consultation with the senior members of the House and Senate Armed Services committees. And both Congress and the executive branch would agree that the commission's "hit list" could not be tampered with; it could only be accepted or rejected as a whole.

The final step, achieved in a key floor vote, was to say that the list would be deemed approved UNLESS Congress blocked it within 45 days, rather than saying it would be approved only with the affirmative concurrence of Congress.

That made inertia — always a powerful force in a divided government — work for change rather than against it.

The key was understanding the force of the opposition in Congress.

Reagan urged to free the monkeys

WASHINGTON — Before President Reagan leaves office next week, he may have to engage in some monkey business.

More than 50 celebrities and two members of Congress have joined the animal rights movement and are pushing the president to free nine monkeys from a government-funded lab in Louisiana.

The monkeys have spent most of their lives in the spotlight, and much of their lives in pain and confusion. A medical research lab in Maryland used them in surgical experiments until the scientist doing the work was charged with animal cruelty. He was later cleared. Four of the monkeys are now living at the San Diego Zoo. The ones most seriously handicapped by the experiments are wards of the National Institutes of Health. One has since died and nine are biding their time at the Delta Regional Primate Research Center in Covington, La. They were trucked there from Maryland under a cloak of secrecy, presumably to keep overzealous animal lovers from lying down in front of the truck.

Animal rights groups wasted no time in using the monkeys as a broad condemnation of animal medical research. The crusade has been led by People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, which isn't satisfied with the monkeys' accommodations in Louisiana. To hear the NIH tell it, the Delta Center is a cozy nursing home for primates. The animal activists see it more like monkey hell.

The animal advocates insist that although the monkeys were maimed by the experiments, they can live the good life in a rehabilitation facility. The NIH thinks some of the abused monkeys would be better off dead.

A spokesman for the Health and Human Services Department told us that only three of the monkeys are healthy enough to be moved to another facility. Two are willing to take the monkeys, Moorpark College in California and Primarily Primates in Texas.

The changing of the guard at the White House gives the animal advocates one more chance to trumpet the cause of the monkeys. They won a restraining order last week in federal court in New Orleans to stop the NIH from euthanizing any of the monkeys.

The monkeys' cheering section also sent Reagan a letter asking him to personally order freedom for the captives before he leaves office. Paul McCartney, Ryan O'Neal, Angie Dickinson, Patrick Swayze and Olympic swimmer Matt Biondi are among the celebrities who signed the letter. Doris Day reportedly went as far as to phone the president, but Reagan would not take the call.

Reps. Robert C. Smith, R-N.H., and Robert K. Dornan, D-Calif., are lined up on the monkeys' side, too.

So far, Reagan has not adopted the monkeys' cause. The animal advocates say all he needs to do is pick up a phone and liberate the primates. Their crusade has netted about 300 telephone calls to Health and Human Services, but some of the callers sided with the federal government.

Stocks open higher

United Press International

NEW YORK — Prices opened higher Thursday in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues, extending gains won in the previous session that allowed the Dow Jones industrial average to close above 2,200 for the first time since the market's October 1987 crash.

The blue-chip indicator, which rose 13.22 Wednesday to 2208.43, was up 2.50 to 2208.93 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 475-321 among the 1,339 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape. Early turnover amounted to about 10.510,000 shares.

Stock prices closed higher in moderate trading Wednesday, spurred mostly by a bout of futures-related buy programs that kicked in late in the session.

Stock-index futures reached sharp premiums to the cash indexes, which led to arbitrage that involved traders making profits by selling the futures and buying the underlying stocks.

Earlier in the session, however, the market displayed weak signs of resuming a rally that began in mid-November.

Dollar mostly lower

United Press International

The dollar was mostly lower Thursday in moderate trading on major foreign currency markets. Gold edged higher.

In earlier trading in Tokyo, the dollar closed at 126.10 Japanese yen, down 0.85 from 126.95 yen Wednesday.

In Europe, the dollar began the day in Frankfurt at 1.825 West German marks, down from 1.839 marks on Wednesday.

The dollar opened in Zurich at 1.5515 Swiss francs, down from 1.554 francs. In Paris, the dollar opened at 6.216 French francs, down from 6.232 francs the day before.

The dollar started the day in Brussels at 38.36 Belgian francs, unchanged from Wednesday, and opened in Italy at 1,339.50 Italian lire, up from 1,338.60 lire Wednesday.

In London, the British pound began the day at $1.788 compared with $1.7835 on Wednesday.

In early New York trading, the dollar was mixed against key foreign currencies in thin trading.

On the bullion markets, gold opened 50 cents an ounce higher in Zurich at $404.50 and gained $1 in London to $405.

The London morning gold fixing was $404.85 an ounce, up 85 cents from Wednesday's close.

Whale meat smugglers caught

United Press International

TOKYO — Police arrested three importers suspected of smuggling 135 tons of frozen whale meat worth an estimated $690,000 into Japan, where demand for whale meat continues despite a worldwide ban on commercial whaling, officials said Thursday.

The International Whaling Commission banned commercial whaling worldwide in March 1988, and Japan agreed to honor the ban.

However, illegal whaling has continued and Japanese smugglers may be importing whale meat sold by the pirate whalers, said a spokesman for a conservationist organization. The three men attempted to bring 135 tons of whale meat into the country Dec. 4 by listing the meat as mackerel on ship manifests, police officials said in Kagoshima, on the southern island of Kyushu.

Police suspect the whales were caught by pirate whalers from Taiwan and sent through Singapore, which has no history of pirate whaling.

The meat was valued at $690,000, police said.

The smugglers face a possible sentence of up to 3 years in jail and fines of up to $20,000 each.

Watkins tapped as Energy Secretary

United Press International

WASHINGTON — President-elect George Bush has selected an energy secretary, transition sources said Wednesday night, and CBS News reported that Bush had tapped a nuclear submariner, retired Adm. James Watkins, to fill the last opening in his Cabinet.

The network, citing sources, said Bush had made the decision Wednesday afternoon. Transition sources said earlier that Bush's announcement of his selection could come as early as Thursday.

On Thursday, Bush is scheduled to hold his first meeting with his designated Cabinet. The selection of Watkins would be Bush's 14th Cabinet choice, and leaves only the newly created Cabinet-level position of drug czar for him to fill.

Bush transition spokesmen had no immediate comment on the report. Given the high marks Watkins received in the Navy and as chairman of the AIDS Commission, one acquaintance described him as "a take-charge, George Bush-kind-of-guy."

Bush apparently had some trouble deciding who to put in the energy post, torn between choosing someone with background in oil and gas or nuclear energy.

At a news conference last month, he said he was leaning toward the latter because of the monumental task the Energy Department faces.

The department, which President Reagan vowed to abolish, must deal with the nation's decrepit nuclear weapons plants, which it administers for the Pentagon.

The weapons plants, dating from the 1950s, are not only in disrepair but plagued by environmental problems. Some key facilities are shut down, and repair and cleanup costs have been estimated by congressional leaders to exceed $100 billion.

The department also faces troubles in finding a permanent and safe place for the mountains of radioactive waste piling up across the nation in temporary storage.

Others considered for the job were former Energy Secretary James Schlesinger and former Rep. W. Henson Moore, R-La.

Watkins, described by friends as an able, conscientious officer and a stickler for detail, was chairman of President Reagan's controversial presidential commission on AIDS.

Watkins, 61, of Washington, is a former chief of naval operations and commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet.

Reagan appointed Watkins on March 19, 1982, and the admiral was the first flag officer who had commanded a nuclear submarine to be picked for that post.

Watkins was commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, with headquarters in Honolulu, when he was nominated by Reagan. His broad experience in undersea craft, as well as conventional ships, came from his association with Adm. Hyman Rickover, father of the nuclear submarine. Watkins had been a student in Rickover's nuclear school and the experience he gained there led to his appointment as manager of naval reactors for the old Atomic Energy Commission.

Among the command positions held by Watkins were the cruiser and destroyer force of the Seventh Fleet, commander of the Sixth Fleet, and vice chief of Naval operations.

He was also commander of the nuclear submarine Snook in the 1960s when it entered the harbor at Yokosuka, Japan. Thousands of Japanese demonstrated against the presence of an atomic-powered ship near the shore of the only nation that was hit by atomic bombs.

Watkins was first named as a member of the controversial AIDS panel. But the panel almost immediately became ensnared in political problems and the other members turned to Watkins to lead them from staffing turmoil and infighting to a more cooperative atmosphere that produced firm recommendations.

Watkins, in testimony to a congressional panel, said he would quit if he received any political pressure as chairman of the AIDS group.

The panel's final report, released in the summer of 1988, called for passage of a federal law prohibiting discrimination against people infected by the acquired immune deficiency syndrome virus.

"The president should issue an executive order banning discrimination on the basis of handicap, with HIV infection included as a handicapping condition," the panel told President Reagan.

The White House, however, demurred from issuing a presidential executive order or seeking federal anti-discrimination legislation.

Reporter who covered Hindenburg disaster dies

United Press International

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. — Herbert Morrison, the radio reporter famous for his impassioned description of the 1937 Hindenburg disaster at Lakehurst, N.J., died Tuesday in a nursing home. He was 83.

Officials at Sundale Nursing Home in Morgantown confirmed Morrison's death. No cause was given, and Morrison's family was unavailable for comment.

The newsmen became famous for his impassioned narration of the crash and explosion of the Hindenburg dirigible May 6, 1937, that killed 36 people and virtually ended international airship travel.

had just arrested her husband on a narcotics charge.

The man told Rose that her husband would be spending three to five years in jail for the offense and he asked her if she had money to keep him from going to jail. She didn't have cash and the conman told her to go to a grocery store and cash a check for $200.

She did and continued to follow his instructions. She went to a telephone booth outside Zayre's on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford and waited for a second call from the man. When he called, he told her to go to another phone booth outside MPO Meats on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford.

There she received a third call and was told to leave the cash in her purse in the phone booth and to go to a third phone booth at a tire store, where her husband would be released in exchange for the cash.

Rose left the cash in the phone booth. When she couldn't locate the third telephone booth she returned to the booth at MPO Meats and found her purse and the cash were missing. She waited in that phone booth 20 more minutes before calling the sheriff's department to inquire about the incident.

Sheriff's deputies, Capt. Roy Hughey said, told Rose there is no way that the extortionist could have been a policeman making a legitimate call. Hughey cautioned that police do not operate in the manner the woman described when notifying relatives of a suspect's arrest.

Rose's husband had not been arrested. Deputies said she con-

Mathamatician Stone dies at 85

United Press International

AMHERST, Mass. — Marshall Stone, the mathematician who helped develop the "new math," has died of a stroke, the University of Massachusetts announced Wednesday. He was 85.

Stone, a member of the National Academy of Sciences for 50 years and recipient of the National Medal of Science, the nation's highest scientific honor, died Monday in Madras, India, the university said.

His chief accomplishment is that he proved five mathematical theorems, including the Stone-Weierstrass Theorem of functional analysis, the Stone-Cech Compactification in topology and a representation theorem for Boolean algebra, the logic that governs computers.

His friend, Thurlow Cook, associate chairman of the mathematics department at the University of Massachusetts, said it would be a major achievement to prove just one theorem in a lifetime. Stone's five made him "the most distinguished American mathematician," he said.

Stone, a professor emeritus at Massachusetts at the time of his death, was one of the mathematicians who developed the "new math."

DEATHS

MATTHEW McCLEAVE

Matthew McCleave, 75, 506 W. Tulane Drive, Altamonte Springs, died Tuesday at Florida Hospital, Altamonte Springs. Born March 3, 1913 in Brooklyn, N.Y., he moved to Altamonte Springs from Uniondale, N.Y., in 1971. He was a supervisor for a defense plant and a Lutheran. He was a Mason, the founder of the Weatherfield Civic Association, treasurer for the Seminole League Homeowners Association, a liaison for former state Sen. Lori Wilson, a member of the AARP and an honorary lifetime member of the sheriff's association.

Survivors include wife, Astrid; sister, Sarah Kassay, Holiday, Fla.

All Faith Memorial Park, Casselberry, in charge of arrangements.

MARY LUCY SPENCER

Mary Lucy Spencer, 70, 45 Minnehaha Circle, Maitland, died Tuesday at her residence. Born Nov. 10, 1918 in Jacksonville, Miss., she moved to Maitland from Morocco, Africa in 1960. She was a retired mathematics instructor at Seminole Community College and a member of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Maitland. She was a member and past president of the Orange County Council of Teachers of Mathematics, past chairman of Mathematics at Maitland Junior High School, member of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, the Seminole Council of Teachers of Mathematics, the American Association of University Women, the Minnehaha Shores Association, former member of the Orange County Education Association, and a member of the Governor's Committee to set standards for Mathematical Instruction.

Survivors include husband, I. Stanley; son, Robert S. Milan, Italy; daughter, Mrs. Robert Orton, Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.; brother, James Boydston, Memphis, Tenn.; sister, Mrs. Steven Lewis, Clinton, Miss.; two grandchildren.

Cox-Parker Carey Hand Guardian Chapel, Winter Park, in charge of arrangements.

CARL SOLON TESTON

Carl Solon Teston, 74, 2201 W. 25th St., Sanford, died Tuesday at Lakeview Nursing Center, Sanford. Born April 13, 1914 in Woodbine, Ga., he moved to Sanford from Jacksonville in 1932. He was a retired superintendent for the Sanford Parks Department and city cemeteries. He was a member and deacon of the Sanford Alliance Church.

Survivors include sisters, Inez, Jacksonville, Carrie Miller, Rainier, Ore.; several nieces and nephews.

Brisson Guardian Funeral Home, Sanford, in charge of arrangements.

HUBERT G. WICHMAN

Hubert G. Wichman, 87, 436 Haelenda Village, Winter Springs, died Wednesday at South Seminole Community Hospital, Longwood. Born Sept. 30, 1901 in Tigerton, Wis., he moved to Winter Springs from Milwaukee in 1979. He was a civil engineer for the city of Milwaukee and a member of Ascension Lutheran Church. He was a life member of the Society of Civil Engineers, the National Society of Professional Engineers, and the Association of Municipal Engineers of Milwaukee.

Survivors include wife, Esther I.; son, Al. Lake Mary; two grandchildren.

Baldwin-Fairchild Funeral Home, Altamonte Springs, in charge of arrangements.

CARL WILLIAMS

Carl Williams, 60, 806 Pecan Ave., Sanford, died Tuesday at his residence. Born Nov. 10, 1929 in Midville, Ga., he moved to Sanford from Savannah, Ga., in 1968. He was a retired heavy-equipment operator and a Baptist. He was a World War II Army veteran.

Survivors include wife, Annie; mother, Rosa Lee Wright, Savannah; brothers, James Walden, Savannah, Oliver, Midville; sisters, Rosa Marion, Midville; Mozell Smith, Georgia; W. Benton, both of Savannah.

Sunrise Funeral Home, Sanford, in charge of arrangements.

FUNERALS

TESTON, CARL SOLON
Funeral services for Carl Solon Teston, 74, who died Tuesday will be 7 p.m. Friday at Brisson Guardian Funeral Home with Rev. Peter Carlisle Jr. officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery. Viewing will be Thursday from 6:00 p.m. at Brisson Guardian Funeral Home.

Second fault found at nuclear plant

BOSTON — Researchers have found a second seismic fault under the Savannah River nuclear weapons facility in South Carolina, but they believe it is unlikely to cause an earthquake. The Boston Globe reported Thursday.

A 44-page Energy Department draft report on the researchers' findings concludes the fault is not "capable," which is a term used by the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission to describe the probability of an earthquake, the Globe said.

The discovery, however, follows a series of other problems for the plant, which has been closed since last spring because of other safety and management concerns.

The three reactors at the site are the only ones in the nation that make tritium, a perishable gas vital to thermonuclear weapons. U.S. military officials have been pressuring the Energy Department to resume production at the facility as soon as possible.

The newly reported fault runs the 20-mile width of the plant site, almost dissecting it, and comes within a half-mile of the reactor that officials hope to restart first, according to the report obtained by the Globe.

The fault is the second found below the facility in the last couple of decades, said Gary Pitchford, a spokesman for the Savannah River plant. Pitchford said the two faults run within a mile of each other at places, often intersect and sometimes follow the same path.

Pradeep Talwal, a physics professor at the University of South Carolina, who is a geological consultant for the plant's operator, called the new discovery "trivial." He told the Globe, "This is a Mickey Mouse fault."

Talks break off; fire hits school

WESTPORT, Mass. — Talks aimed at ending a week-long strike by more than 150 public school teachers broke off late Wednesday night and a fire of unknown origin broke out a short time later in the city's high school, officials said.

The fire caused an estimated $250,000 in damage to the high school and prompted school officials to call an emergency meeting for Thursday, although the officials said the blaze did not appear linked to the bitter walkout.

The fire broke out around 11:30 p.m. inside the high school, shortly after a five-hour negotiation session between the 159-member Westport Federation of Teachers and the Westport School Committee ended in Boston.

The contract talks have involved differences over proposed salaries and several other economic and non-economic issues.

School Committee Chairwoman Veronica Beaulieu said she did not believe either the high school fire or an incident earlier this week in which someone drove a car into an elementary school building were related to the strike.

But Beaulieu said she called the emergency School Committee meeting for Thursday morning to discuss ways to protect school buildings, which have been left unprotected by custodians who have refused to cross the teachers' picket lines.

Disney to stage Country Music Awards

BURBANK, Calif. — The Walt Disney Co. has gone country, signing a five-year agreement with Dick Clark Productions Inc. to stage the Academy of Country Music Awards television special, the companies announced Wednesday.

Under terms of the agreement, Disney will provide venues and production facilities for the annual awards special, and Dick Clark Productions will continue to produce the event as they have for the past decade, the two companies said in a joint statement.

The 24th Annual Academy of Country Music Awards special is scheduled to be telecast on NBC April 10 from Walt Disney Studios.

Additional performances will be taped at various Disneyland locations.

Evidence of galaxies found in 'void'

BOSTON — Astronomers have discovered evidence of galaxies in a region of the universe previously believed to be vacant of all matter, it was reported Thursday.

Greg Bothun, an astronomer at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, said he and his colleagues detected infrared energy believed to signify the presence of galaxies in the constellation Bootes, which is located about 500 trillion light years from Earth.

"We found evidence that the void is probably not as big as previously thought," said Bothun in a telephone interview before he was to present his findings at a meeting of the American Astronomical Society in Boston.

"There are more galaxies there than we might have expected based on prior data," Bothun said.

The astronomers discovered the galaxies using data obtained by the Infrared Astronomical Satellite (IRAS), which was launched in 1983 by NASA.

Group proposes health insurance system

BOSTON — Private health insurance should be replaced with a government-run program, a radical plan to provide health coverage to millions of Americans who cannot afford it, a doctors' group said Wednesday.

Physicians for a National Health Program estimated the plan would save $50 billion a year in insurance costs, enough to provide coverage for 57 million people who have no health insurance or not enough.

"This is quite a radical change," said Dr. David Himmelstein, an assistant professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School who co-authored the proposal outlined in The New England Journal of Medicine.

"The reason we think such a fundamental change is necessary is the private insurance industry has no interest in insuring someone who can't pay," Himmelstein said.

Judy Finney, spokeswoman for the Health Insurance Association of America, said the group had not read the proposal, but believes "the American public does not want a monolithic health system."

RKO General wins defamation battle

BOSTON — A defamation suit filed against RKO General by a medical laboratory that allegedly misinterpreted pap smear tests for thousands of women was dismissed Wednesday by the state's highest court.

The Supreme Judicial Court unanimously rejected an appeal by Elm Medical Laboratory, Inc., of Boston, which had filed suit against RKO General, Inc., the former owners of WNAC-TV in Boston.

Laboratory officials objected to five reports aired in 1980 based on a "health alert" by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services saying a high percentage of the tests performed by the lab were incorrectly screened.

The court said the televised reports, although not entirely accurate, were accurate enough to be covered by Massachusetts' "fair report privilege," a legal principle that protects news media when reporting official actions.

The federal alert said a joint state-federal investigation indicated 22 of 1,219 slides — 1.8 percent — screened by the lab had false-negative results. It said between 150,000 and 200,000 slides had been processed by the lab during a four-year period.

Laboratory officials claimed WNAC reports saying "thousands of women" may have been placed at risk of an abnormal, pre-cancerous or cancerous condition because of false negative results were inaccurate and defamatory.

Reagan bids farewell

President gives speech laden with emotion and reflection

Ronald Reagan

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Ronald Reagan, who led a conservative revolt against the political establishment, drew the longest presidency in a generation to a close Wednesday with the declaration, "We meant to change a nation and instead we changed a world."

In a nearly 21-minute farewell address, Reagan insisted his "revolution" had achieved much — igniting an economic expansion and rebuilding the nation's prestige abroad — and urged Americans to ensure his legacy by backing his successor, George Bush.

"Action is still needed," Reagan said. "If we're to finish the job, Reagan's Regiments will have to become the Bush Brigades. Soon he'll be the chief and he'll need you every bit as much as I did."

The speech, his 34th from the Oval Office, was laden with emotion and reflection and traced the personal and political evolution that carried the one-time New Dealer and Hollywood actor from the wilderness of the Republican right to the White House.

Reagan was seated at his desk and his bandaged left hand, which was operated on last Saturday to correct a nagging but minor problem that was curving his ring finger, was visible.

Summing up his tenure as chief executive, Reagan referred to the "shining city on the hill" he has frequently used as an analogy for the nation. Closing his remarks, he said, "We made the city stronger. We made the city freer. And we left her in good hands."

"All in all, not bad. Not bad at all. God bless you. And God bless the United States of America."

In the manner of earlier departing presidents, Reagan even included a "warning," telling Americans that a failure to teach patriotic history could erode the nation's revived spirit.

He challenged parents, teachers, Hollywood and the other purveyors of "popular culture" to make sure America's children remember the Pilgrims and the warriors of World War II and the sacrifices they made for freedom.

With the end of his term just nine days away, Reagan summoned up his famed communicative skills a final time to bring his administration to a close on a note of achievement and take his place in history.

Not since January 1961, when Dwight Eisenhower turned over the Oval Office to John Kennedy, has a president served two full terms.

So Reagan, who will relinquish the presidency to Bush on Jan. 20 and turn 78 on Feb. 6, spoke of triumph and glossed over the failures of an eight-year tenure that has seen him weather personal attack and political scandal.

Acknowledging that "parting is such sweet sorrow," Reagan called the last eight years "the honor of my life" and said, "Nancy and I are grateful for the opportunity you gave us to serve."

It was, not surprisingly, a selective review. His final report on the state of the union touted dramatic gains at home and abroad during a period marked by a resurgence of peace, prosperity and national pride.

His was a declaration of victory rooted in what Reagan called the "two great triumphs" of the longest peacetime economic growth in history and a recovery of U.S. morale that has America "respected again in the world and looked to for leadership."

In his valedictory address, Reagan skirted areas of conflict and controversy.

Complaint challenges pro-Israel lobbying group

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The American Israel Public Affairs Committee, a powerful lobbying group, was accused Thursday of violating election law by making and coordinating contributions to pro-Israel candidates and orchestrating campaigns against others.

A complaint sent to the Federal Election Commission charges that the pro-Israel organization has acted as an undeclared political action committee, illegally organizing millions of dollars in political funds.

In a prepared statement, AIPAC disputed the allegations.

The complaint asks the FEC to investigate charges made by the complainants, who include George Ball, a former undersecretary of state, and James Akins, a former U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia.

The complaint lists 54 groups that it says made contributions to political candidates designated by AIPAC to be pro-Israel.

According to the complaint, election activities such as financial support for certain candidates are not illegal in themselves, but the secret coordination and control of the activities by AIPAC is a violation of the 1976 fair elections law.

"Accordingly, the press and the public have been deprived of the right to know of the continuous campaign of collusion and the impact of that campaign on the selection of candidates to the U.S. Congress and the presidency," the complaint reads.

The statement issued by AIPAC said, "The complaint is based almost exclusively upon press clippings and supposed quotations. AIPAC members proudly participate in the American political process and do so within the law. We are confident the FEC will expeditiously concur."

AIPAC is regarded as one of the most potent and energetic lobbying forces on Capitol Hill.

Sikhs kill 13 in Punjab

AMRITSAR, India — Sikh militants killed 13 people in northern Punjab, including four Hindu brothers hanged in retaliation for the executions last week of two Sikhs convicted of the 1984 assassination of prime minister Indra Gandhi, police said Thursday.

Police reported an upsurge in statewide attacks by separatist radicals, whose campaign to create an independent Sikh nation left more than 2,300 people dead last year.

Police said 15 gunmen at midnight stormed four houses in Bhujianwalli village, 25 miles northeast of the Sikh holy city of Amritsar, and abducted four Hindu brothers of the high Brahmin caste. The brothers were identified as Ram Lal, Tarsem Lal, Dharam Lal and Yashpal Lal.

The Lal brothers, one of them a village headman, were tied up and marched to the outskirts of the remote settlement where they were hanged from a banyan tree with nylon ropes, police said.

Police said villagers in the morning cut down the bodies. The assailants left a note saying the four had been slain in revenge for the hangings Friday of Satwant Singh and Kehar Singh, two Sikhs condemned for the 1984 assassination of Indra Gandhi. She was killed in revenge for ordering a June 1984 army assault against Sikh radicals holed up in Amritsar's Golden Temple.

IBM Korea target of hunger strike

SEOUL, South Korea — Some 60 striking union leaders at IBM Korea, joined by 200 members of a national labor federation, staged a sit-in Thursday at the corporation's headquarters demanding that the computer giant recognize their right to organize.

The protesters chanted "Why do Americans rule here on Korean land?" during the 1 1/2-hour sit-in and then marched around the building in southern Seoul.

A spokesman for IBM Korea's 180 union members said the sit-in began Dec. 20, and 14 executive board members entered the ninth day of a hunger strike. IBM employs 1,200 people in Korea.

Meanwhile, dozens of union members of Motorola Korea, in eastern Seoul, continued their protest Thursday, demanding the company recognize their union. They have been protesting since Dec. 19, a union spokesman said.

Recently, labor disputes have erupted mostly at domestic businesses, including Korea's large conglomerates. But U.S. firms are increasingly becoming targets of unionization drives.

South Korea's labor union campaign grew out of the pro-democracy movement that forced the government in June 1987 to allow liberalization of the political and economic system.

Mexicans brace for oil worker strike

United Press International

MEXICO CITY — Mexicans formed long lines at gasoline stations across the nation Wednesday fearing further retaliatory measures by oil union workers who have shut down two refineries and threatened to close more unless their arrested union leaders are freed.

Joaquin Hernandez Galicia, unofficial leader of the powerful union of workers of the state-run oil company Petroleos Mexicanos, known as PEMEX, was arrested Tuesday along with 35 other union leaders on charges of illegal possession of firearms and conspiring to undermine national security.

Police raided the home of Hernandez, better known as "La Quina," in the oil city of Ciudad Madero 200 miles northeast of Mexico City. That sparked a gun battle between police and the union leader's bodyguards that left one police agent dead.

Following the arrest of Hernandez for the alleged conspiracy that officials have not described, thousands of supporters protested in Madero and in the capital even as oil workers threatened to cut off the nation's gasoline supply.

Oil workers stopped work in at least two of PEMEX's nine main refineries Tuesday night and threatened to cut off oil and gasoline supplies completely if their leaders were not freed.

In Mexico City, most gas stations closed early amid panic buying. Long lines, many of more than 50 cars, formed at the few open stations after local newspapers ran large headlines reading "La Quina's Arrested."

The government took immediate precautionary measures against violence and deployed troops at key oil installations nationwide and at headquarters of the oil workers union.

In Mexico City, some 20,000 Hernandez supporters marched Tuesday in front of the National Palace to protest the arrests and vowed to remain in the downtown Zocalo plaza until their leaders were freed.

"There will be no gasoline tomorrow unless 'La Quina' is freed," the protesters shouted.

In a statement released Wednesday, PEMEX said two of the most important oil refineries in the country were "paralyzed" and were guarded by soldiers.

The Azcapotzalco refinery outside Mexico City was "totally paralyzed" and was surrounded by some 200 soldiers. The refinery produces some 28,000 gallons of gasoline daily, but did not distribute any to gasoline stations Tuesday, the statement said.

PLO takes step toward full U.N. recognition

United Press International

UNITED NATIONS — The U.N. Security Council Wednesday gave the Palestine Liberation Organization, which has U.N. observer status, the right to address the body as a full-fledged U.N. member.

U.N. observers said the decision set the precedent for a greater PLO role in Security Council debates and possible U.N. General Assembly recognition of the PLO as a full state.

As a U.N. observer, the PLO was not entitled to participate in Security Council debates unless it was invited by a council member. But this week it directly asked council President Razali Ismail for permission to participate in the debate on the U.S. downing of two Libyan jets.

The Security Council approved the request 11 to 1, thus treating the PLO mission, now called the Mission of Palestine by the U.N. General Assembly, like any full-fledged U.N. member that directly communicates with the Council.

The United States cast the only dissenting vote on the PLO request. Britain, Canada and France abstained. The negative U.S. vote did not constitute a veto in this case because the request dealt with rules of procedures in the council.

PLO delegate Nasser Al-Kidwa, sitting behind the name-plate "Palestine," thanked the council for allowing his participation. "We feel proud sitting here for the first time behind the sign Palestine," Al-Kidwa said.

In a brief address to the council, Al-Kidwa condemned the downing of the Libyan jet but urged the United States and Tripoli to enter into mediation to reduce tension in the Middle East.

U.S. Deputy Ambassador Herbert Okun urged the council not to break its rules.

"In our view, it would be unwarranted and unwise for the council to break with its own practice and rules," Okun said. "My delegation firmly believes such a decision diminishes this council's ability to play a role" in the Middle East peace process.

U.S., France, Britain veto U.N. resolution

United Press International

UNITED NATIONS — A triple veto by the United States, Britain and France blocked passage of a U.N. Security Council resolution that deplored the U.S. downing of two Libyan MIG-23 jets over the Mediterranean Sea.

The 15-nation council Wednesday voted 9-4, with two abstentions, for the resolution presented by non-aligned nations. But the vetoes prevented passage of the measure, which was toned down from a full condemnation of the Jan. 4 incident.

Nine votes are required to pass a resolution but a negative vote, or a veto, by any of the five permanent members of the Security Council — the United States, the Soviet Union, China, France and Britain — can block its passage.

Canada cast a negative vote along with the United States, Britain and France. Brazil and Finland abstained.

Voting for the measure were China, the Soviet Union, Algeria, Nepal, Senegal, Yugoslavia, Colombia, Malaysia and Ethiopia.

The veto votes from the United States and Britain were not a surprise. But diplomats had believed earlier efforts to tone down the document would prevent France from casting a veto.

The last time the United States, Britain and France joined together to veto a Security Council resolution was in April 1986 when the body was asked to condemn the U.S. bombings of the Libyan cities of Tripoli and Benghazi.

Non-aligned nations had sought a strong condemnation of the United States but opposition from some Security Council members forced several modifications to soften the resolution's language.

Soviet bloc and non-aligned nations backed Libya.

Israeli fighter jets again strike Lebanese targets

United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Israeli fighter jets pounded Palestinian guerrilla targets Thursday with rocket fire, the second such attack in southern Lebanon in 24 hours, police sources said.

The Israeli jets, swooping at low altitude, attacked the village of Bkusta, northeast of the port city of Sidon and 24 miles south of Beirut.

The planes fired at least four rockets at a base belonging to the Fatah-Revolutionary Council, a radical Palestinian faction led by notorious Palestinian leader Abu Nidal, police said.

The area targeted Thursday contains several training fields for the FRC. A 14-year-old boy was wounded by shattered glass in the attack, police said.

Witnesses said smoke billowed in the sky over the stricken area as ambulances raced to the scene.

Israeli jets struck the same region late Wednesday, and police said three people were wounded in that offensive.

In Israel, an army spokesman said the Israeli air force "attacked a terrorist target belonging to Abu Nidal, northeast of Sidon. All planes returned safely to base."

He said the site targeted "served as a planning and staging base for terror attacks."

Israel hit the same target by air three times last year. In one of the raids, 12 guerrillas, including eight women, were killed during a graduation ceremony.

Last year, 150 people were killed in more than 25 Israeli air strikes, authorities said.

All new 737's inspected after crash landings

United Press International

LONDON — The failure of both engines on a new Boeing 737-400 that crash-landed may have been linked, forcing the plane to crash-land, the Transport Ministry said Wednesday.

Meanwhile, U.S. and British aviation officials prepared inspection orders for the American-built jetliners, one of which was forced down Sunday, killing 44 people aboard.

Investigators previously said evidence suggested a malfunction in just one of the airliner's engines, prompting speculation that the pilot shut down a properly functioning engine while in flight.

Court considers execution of retarded convicted murderers

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The mentally retarded lack "the moral culpability to deserve a sentence of death," a lawyer for a Texas prisoner with the IQ of a 7-year-old told the Supreme Court Wednesday.

But a lawyer for the state of Texas, Charles Palmer, urged the court to uphold the death sentence of Johnny Paul Penry, saying, "It is clear he is fully aware of the consequences of his action."

The arguments came in a case being closely watched by death penalty activists around the country. At issue is whether the Eighth Amendment protection from "cruel and unusual punishment" bars imposition of the death penalty against the mentally retarded.

A ruling is expected by early July.

The court has already dealt with the issue of executing the mentally insane, ruling 5-4 in 1986 that states must determine that a convict is mentally competent before killing him.

Penry, a 32-year-old man with the mind of a 7-year-old and the emotional maturity of a 10-year-old, contends that he should not be held fully responsible for his crime.

Insanity and retardation are considered vastly different mental defects.

Soviet's offer insights on Cuban missile crisis

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Soviets have disclosed for the first time that there were 40,000 Russian troops in Cuba during the 1962 missile crisis, not the 10,000 Washington believed, and Nikita Khrushchev ordered his ships to smash the U.S. naval blockade, authors of a new book on the crisis said Wednesday.

These and other revelations from Soviet participants and observers of the Cuban missile crisis are contained in a book, "On The Brink," written by researchers James Blight and David Welch of Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government.

The Soviets providing information for the book were Fyodor Burlatsky, speech writer for Khrushchev and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev; Sergo Mikoyan, formerly personal secretary to his father, Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, a close associate of Khrushchev; and Georgi Shakhnazarov, a personal aide to Gorbachev and an associate of several Soviet officials.

Poll: Attitudes between blacks, whites still differ

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Opposition to court-ordered school busing has eased, the nation remains committed to affirmative action programs but key differences in attitude between whites and blacks remain, a poll released Wednesday said.

The study, "The Unfinished Agenda on Race: America," by pollster Louis Harris for the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, also found the nation supports programs aimed at helping the underclass out of poverty.

Released nine days before President-elect George Bush takes office and outlines his proposals for "a kinder, gentler nation," the Legal Defense Fund said, "There is an unprecedented opportunity" for the new administration.

"The survey offers compelling evidence that the public is ready to get on with the business of attending to many of the race-relations issues that have not been addressed during the last eight years," said LDF Director-Counsel Julius Chambers.

In one of the more contentious areas of race relations in the past three decades, the study found that opposition to court-ordered busing to desegregate schools has fallen off dramatically.

Among Americans overall, opposition has declined from a consistent 78 percent to 54 percent.

"When the practice of sending white students to top-quality schools in the inner city and black students to equally good schools outside their neighborhood was tested among those not in favor of busing, for the first time, a 51 percent majority of whites and a 79 percent majority of blacks would favor busing," the LDF said.

The survey was conducted between June 3 and Sept. 12 of 3,323 white, black, Hispanic and Asian Americans by telephone and home visits. The margin of error was approximately 2 percent.

The poll also found that more than 90 percent of those surveyed of both races support special school programs aimed at motivating young people in the underclass to stay in school and the creation of federal youth corps camps to teach poor young people reading skills and productive behavior.

About two-thirds of both races support the construction of low- and middle-income housing for whites and blacks in urban areas where the underclass do not now live. Majorities of both races support efforts to locate workplaces in areas where the underclass does live, the development of jobs programs targeting the underclass and the expansion of drug and alcohol rehabilitating facilities in inner cities.

The two-part survey, which included a representative sampling of blacks and whites and a cross-section of the persistently poor blacks, also showed significant areas of disagreement between the races on perceptions of opportunities for blacks in employment, education and housing and how well blacks had done during the eight years of the Reagan administration.

A 50 percent majority of whites saw with help to blacks but an overwhelming 78 percent of blacks thought the administration "tended to keep blacks down."

Pacers top Boston at Garden

The Indiana Pacers, given a new outlook by a new coach, ended an old mark of futility at Boston Garden.

The Pacers beat the Celtics at Boston Garden 127-108 Wednesday night to make Dick Versace 3-0 since taking over as coach. The Pacers won their first road game of the season and ended a string of 23 straight losses on the parquet floor.

The Pacers, 1-15 on the road, won at Boston Garden for the first time since April 2, 1978. They are also sporting a four-game winning streak.

Chuck Person scored 29 points to lead a balanced attack that saw seven Indiana players in double figures. Rookie Rick Smith had a career-high 21 points. Wayman Tisdale came off the bench to add 18 and Vern Fleming contributed 16 for the Pacers.

Couples takes one-stroke lead

BERMUDA DUNES, Calif. — Fred Couples, using clubs he received for Christmas, fired a 7-under-par 65 Wednesday to grab a one-stroke advantage over Jim Gallagher Jr. through one round of the $1 million Bob Hope Classic.

Couples, in search of his fourth PGA victory and first since 1987, collected nine birdies at Indian Wells — one of four desert courses employed in the 90-hole event — to emerge as the leader on a brisk, blustery afternoon.

Gallagher moved into contention with birdies on four of his final five holes during a back-side 31. Brad Bryant and Peter Jacobsen each had 67s and were another shot off the pace.

Among those in a group at 68 were David Ogren, Jay Don Blake, Tommy Armour, Wayne Levi, Kenny Knox, Bob Lohr, Tom Kite, Gary Koch and 1985 Hope champion Lanny Wadkins.

Couples, 29, rolled in four birdie putts at least 20 feet. He also did well on the four par-5s, three times reaching the green in two shots en route to three birdies.

Lindqvist upsets No. 3 Sukova

SYDNEY, Australia — No. 13 seed Catarina Lindqvist of Sweden Thursday shocked third-seeded Helena Sukova with a 6-3, 6-0 victory requiring but 69 minutes in the third round of the $350,000 New South Wales Open.

Hitting brilliant winners all over the court and attacking Sukova's service relentlessly, Lindqvist ended the favorite's unbeaten run on the Australian summer circuit heading into the Australian Open.

Sukova had led Czechoslovakia to its Federation Cup victory, was a star performer in the inaugural Hopman Cup in Perth, and last week won the Australian Women's Hardcourt Championships in Brisbane.

Lindqvist reduced Sukova's normally reliable serve to a 37 percent success rate, compared with the winner's 76 percent.

Flames fight past Jets, 8-3

Overcoming distractions all around him which translated into over four hours in penalty minutes, Joe Nieuwendyk put together the game of a lifetime.

Nieuwendyk scored four of his club record five goals in the second period Wednesday night to pace the Calgary Flames to an 8-3 penalty-filled victory over the visiting Winnipeg Jets.

In all there were 252 minutes assessed in penalties during the game.

Nieuwendyk scored three of his goals within a 1:51 span late in the middle period — during which 1:32 of the penalty minutes were assessed — to give the Flames a 7-3 lead after two periods. The four goals by Nieuwendyk tied a NHL record for the most goals in a period.

Lanny (McDonald) sent me a message between the second and third period about six being the record held by Darryl Sittler," said Nieuwendyk, who almost got his sixth goal early in the final period.

Night of the 'Noles

Boys hoops: SHS drills Lions, 77-52

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald sports editor

SANFORD — One thing about the Seminole High boys basketball team in its recent hot streak is, just when you think you have one player contained, another one steps in and goes on a tear.

Wednesday night, in a key Seminole Athletic Conference game vs. Oviedo, Bernard Eady and Brandon Cash had 11-point outbursts in different quarters and Robert Moore was a steady force throughout as the 'Noles blazed to a 77-52 victory over the Lions before 251 fans at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

Seminole, 9-7 overall, improved to 4-0 in the SAC with its third consecutive impressive victory. The 'Noles now gear up for Friday's confrontation at arch rival Lake Mary for first place in the conference.

"The biggest thing for us is getting everyone to play up to their potential and I saw that at times tonight," Seminole coach Greg Robinson said. "If we can do that Friday, I think we'll give Lake Mary a ballgame."

Oviedo dropped to 6-7 overall and 0-3 in the SAC. The Lions look for their first conference win Friday when they host Lake Brantley.

Moore had another big game for the 'Noles Wednesday as he poured in a game-high 24 points and grabbed eight rebounds. Eady pumped in 19 points, dished out six assists and made five steals while Cash had one of his best games with 15 points and nine rebounds.

Robbie Crager was the only Oviedo player to have a consistent game all-around as he finished with 19 points and six rebounds. Brad Bolton added 10 points including a pair of three-point goals.

Girls hoops: Lady Tribe rips Smyrna

From staff reports

NEW SMYRNA — Seminole's defense limited New Smyrna Beach to just 14 second-half points Wednesday night as the Lady Tribe rolled to its sixth consecutive victory, 59-37, in girls basketball action at New Smyrna Beach High.

The Lady 'Noles, 10-2 overall, look to remain unbeaten in the Seminole Athletic Conference tonight when they host Lake Mary's Lady Rams.

"I think we may have taken New Smyrna a little lightly at first because we started off slow," Seminole coach John McNameara said. "But the girls came out in the second half and played extremely well."

Seminole took a 15-9 lead after one quarter and led by 11, 33-22 at the half. The Lady Tribe then went on a 14-6 third-quarter run for a commanding 47-28 lead.

Junior center Sheri Reddicks led SHS with 16 points and 10 rebounds while senior guard Adrian Hillsman had another excellent all-around effort with 15 points, 10 assists and eight steals.

Senior point guard Aretha Riggins contributed nine points, seven assists and six steals with Liz Long adding eight points, 10 rebounds and five blocked shots. Chineta Gilchrist also played well with six points and eight rebounds with Koscia Kennon chipping in with five points, eight rebounds, four assists and four steals.

SEMINOLE (59) — Riggins 9, Hillsman 15, Kennon 8, Long 8, Reddicks 16, Gilchrist 6. Totals 27 4 16 59.
NEW SMYRNA (37) — Ford 1, Robinson 7, Mullen 8, Murphy 8, Russell 4, Hall 10. Totals 18 5 14 37.
Halftime — Seminole 33, New Smyrna 22.
Fouls — Seminole 12, New Smyrna 20. Fouled out — None. Three pointers — Riggins.

Wrestling: Seminole wrecks DeLand, 52-30

By CHUCK BURGESS

Seminole High's grappling matmen have come to be called the wrecking crew not because they're helping to refurbish the environment around the school but because every opponent that they go up against is like a building just waiting to be knocked down to the earth.

The next victim for the Nole wrecking crew The DeLand skyscraper. Seminole outmuscled and outlasted the Bulldogs Wednesday night en route to a 52-30 pounding in prep wrestling action at DeLand.

Seminole improved its impressive totals to 6-2 and awaits one of the biggest confrontations of the year Friday night as they host the ever-powerful Lake Mary Rams at 7:30.

"It was a good overall performance," head wrestling crew head coach Glen Maiolini said of his 'Noles. "The kids have been hanging in there. Our younger kids have been helping us get through these matches and have been

Seminole High's girls soccer team traveled to Oviedo Wednesday night with the revenge factor on their minds as they shutout the Lady Lions 2-0 in girls prep soccer action in front of 51 fans.

The Lady Seminoles, who lost to the Lady

Lions earlier in the season by a 1-0 score, improved to 8-0 on the season and play host to the Class 4A third-ranked Lake Mary Lady Rams Friday at 7 p.m. Oviedo dropped to 5-11 on the season and travel to Lake Brantley to battle the Class 4A second-ranked Lady Patriots.

Raiders down St. John's River, 65-61

From staff reports

PALATKA — The Raiders of Seminole Community College overcame a deficit of as many as 13 points late in the first half to squeak out a 65-61 victory over St. John's River Community College in a Mid Florida Conference contest before 171 fans at Palatka Wednesday night.

The win improved the Raiders' season record to 15-5 and even more importantly, 3-0 in Mid Florida Conference play. The Raiders are now tied with Daytona Beach Community College, a 72-56 victor over previously unbeaten Lake City Wednesday night for the Mid Florida Conference lead. Seminole now stays on the road to play perennially tough Lake City in a 7:00 p.m. contest Saturday night. St. John's falls to 5-10 on the season and 0-3 in Mid Florida Conference play and travels to Jacksonville Saturday night to take on Florida Community College.

Seminole was led by sophomore forward Vincent Emerson who scored 17 points and blocked three shots. Also in double figures was sophomore Terrell Barnes with 13 points, sophomore guard William Wimpy Woods with 12 and freshman Richard Brown with 10. Sophomore Terry Acox chipped in with eight points, eight rebounds, four blocked Robert Thomas led in assists with four, while Woods Barnes and J.J. Swadlow added three each. Swadlow also had two steals.

Freshman forward Eddie Johnson, a former West Orange High School star, led St. John's with a game-high 21 points and 9 of 12 shooting from the floor. Marvin Smith and Pat Mittel chipped in with 12 points each. The Raiders held the

Lyman, Brantley battle to 1-1 tie

By TONY DeBORMIER

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Going into Wednesday night's match with the Lyman Greyhounds, Lake Brantley girls soccer coach Wolfgang Halbig found it necessary to tell his squad, the No. 2 team in the state, not to worry.

"When you win a tournament like the Pizza Hut and you're ranked No. 2 in the state, you have to realize that it's motivation for the other teams," explained Halbig. "People are going to come after you."

"The girls are always worried about winning every game. I told them to forget about that and just go out and do your best. I've seen worry kill more good athletic teams. Just go out, play your game and you'll see the results."

On Wednesday night, the Lady Patriots didn't play their best game by any stretch but got away relatively unscathed, walking away with a 1-1 tie against the Lady Greyhounds.

Now 14-2-2, Lake Brantley prepares for its game with Oviedo at home on Friday. Lyman, with 8-6-3 record after Wednesday's tie, will host Lake Howell on Friday.

Despite getting off to a slow start on Wednesday, the Lady Patriots opened the scoring with a goal by Jennifer McMaster at 14:30. Karen Kopp created the opportunity, playing a long ball up the right wing to McMaster. After settling the ball, McMaster beat Lyman keeper Becky Carr to the far post.

That was one of only three shots the Lady Patriots managed in the first half while the Lady Greyhounds took somewhere between eight (what the Lake Brantley scorebook had) and 12 shots on goal (in the Lyman book). Almost all of the shots were in the 20 to 30-yard range.

"We had the opportunities," said Lyman coach Laura Roundtree. "Nobody was fronting us. And we were in our range. The shots weren't falling short or anything. I'm proud of the fact they took them."

"It was a hard fought match. Lake Brantley played well."

Not according to Halbig.

"Defensively, we were really bad," Halbig said. "Things I never saw before, I saw tonight. It's the poorest game I've seen us play."

The Lady Patriots did pick up the pace a little bit in the second half. Kopp, who's playing with a thigh injury that limits her effectiveness, created a couple of opportunities. But it was the Lady Greyhounds that scored next.

After having one corner kick knocked over the endline by Lake Brantley, Lyman's Tracy Sher took another. This one was touched on by Kerry Musante to her sister Kristina, who banged it into the goal at 57:30.

Things got a little intense down the stretch as McMaster received a yellow card at 59:01, then Halbig received a verbal warning from the referee in the game's final minutes.

Lyman had the best opportunity to snap the tie when Tammy Fulsang fired a shot to the near post, only to have Lady Patriot goalie Kimi Kurz push it wide.

Despite the lackluster effort, Halbig said there may be some good that comes out of it.

"I feel good about it," he said. "It'll put things back in perspective. Right now, the rankings mean nothing. I'd rather lose all the games and be ready to play in districts."

"We may be the No. 2 team in the state, but all the teams around here are equal. Lake Mary, Lyman, Lake Howell, us . . . any of us are capable of beating the others on any given day."

Lady Hawks pound lumps on DeLand

From staff reports

DELAND — Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks came up with their second consecutive offensive explosion Wednesday night as they pummeled DeLand's Lady Bulldogs, 6-0, in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Spec Martin Stadium.

Lake Howell, which drilled Deltona 7-0 on Tuesday, improved to 13-5 overall and 5-2 in the conference. The Lady Hawks have a big matchup Friday as they play at Lyman. DeLand now stands at 4-7-2 overall and 1-6 in the SAC.

"I was very pleased with our work on offense tonight," Lake Howell coach Gerhardt Tauscher said. "The girls worked the ball around very well."

The Lady Hawks, who outshot DeLand 25-5, opened the scoring eight minutes into the match when Tori Campbell scored off an assist from Dawn Towle.

Campbell's second goal, off Dana Boyesen's assist, made it 2-0 and the Lady Hawks made it 3-0 before the half ended when Jessica Cardarelli scored with Boyesen picking up her second assist.

Boyesen then went from the assist column to the scoring column as she put in two goals in the second half, the first off Campbell's assist and the second off Cardarelli's assist. Christine Frankenburger accounted for the sixth goal with Cardarelli getting the assist.

DeLand's goalkeeper came up with 15 saves to keep the game from getting totally out of hand while Lake Howell's Heather Brann made three saves in recording the shutout.

In Tuesday's rout of Deltona, Campbell and Boyesen each had two goals while Towle, Nicole Compton and Frankenburger added one goal each.

DeLand blitzes Howell

From staff reports

DeLand jumped out quick and never trailed as it rallied to down Lake Howell, 70-53, in a Seminole Athletic Conference game Wednesday night in DeLand.

The Bulldogs improved to 6-9 and 1-2 in the conference. Lake Howell dropped to 7-11 and 1-2 and will return action Friday night at home against Lyman.

Denny Hinson led all scorers with 23 points to lead DeLand as Willie Bruten netted 21 with Randy Bryan netting 15. Josh Kohn led Lake Howell with 17 points with Thomas Demps chipping in 14 and Steve Johnson 13.

"They jumped out on us and we could never get back in the game," Lake Howell coach Steve Kohn said. "We could never recover from the lead they got early. They went up 13-2 and we spent the rest of the night trying to get back in the game. We managed to cut the lead to four but ran out of gas in the second half."

Oviedo frosh stand at 8-0-1

With the soccer season in full swing, the Oviedo Lions' junior varsity squad boasts the fact that they are the only undefeated soccer team both varsity or junior varsity to be undefeated with their 8-0-1 record.

The Lions have only allowed two goals against them in the nine games and goalkeeper Bill Bartow has recorded seven shutouts. Leading scorers for Joe Christiana's tough junior varsity squad include Mike Smith (4) and Russell Cannistraci (3) while the Lions' main assist man is Scott Massey (5).

The Lions try to remain undefeated tonight in a cross-county confrontation with Lake Brantley at Oviedo High at 5:45 p.m.

'Hounds hang on, top Lake Brantley, 64-61

By MARK BLYTHE

LONGWOOD — Lyman High School built a comfortable lead, then held off a late surge by Lake Brantley to take a narrow 64-61 victory Wednesday night in a Seminole Athletic Conference battle before 251 fans at Lyman High School.

The Greyhounds improved to 6-7 and 2-2 in the SAC and will return to action Friday at Lake Howell. The Patriots dropped to 5-8 and 1-2 in the conference and will travel to Oviedo Friday night.

"Fortunately we were able to hang on," Lyman coach Tom Lawrence said. "We couldn't hit a free throw in the final minutes of the game. We missed 14 one and one opportunities and you can't afford to do that."

Lyman opened the game with four points before Brantley hit consecutive field goals to even things up with 3-43 to play in the opening period. The teams continued to trade buckets the remainder of the quarter before Lyman managed to consecutive hoops to take an 11-9 lead at the end of the opening quarter.

Octavius Holliday opened the second quarter with a layup off a nice feed from J.J. Miller to up the lead to 13-9 before Brantley's Trey White trimmed the lead to 13-11 with an inside basket.

After trading free throws White sank a three point field goal to even things up at 16 apiece. Rich Holtgrebe then sank a pair of free throws to give the Greyhounds an 18-16 advantage with 3:13 to play in the first half.

Brantley came back to score the next six points with Matt Tunney, who finished the night with a game-high 25 points, opened the run with a jumper then followed up with a pair of free throws before Kevin Hinshaw ended the streak with a jumper from the wing to give the Patriots a 22-18 lead with 50 seconds to play. Lyman's Todd Patterson sank a three point field goal at the buzzer to close the gap to 22-21 at the intermission.

Lyman came out in a full court press defense in the second half and picked up the games tempo. The change proved to work in the 'Hounds advantage as they managed to mount a lead.

After going back and forth for the opening minutes Brantley held a 30-28 lead with 4:00 minutes to play in the period. Lyman's press then began to take its toll as Miller came up with two steals and two layups to give Lyman the lead, 32-28, with 3:20 remaining in the quarter.

Whittington then hit a jumper from the base line followed by two Miller free throws that upped the lead to 36-30 with 2:56 to play in the quarter. The teams traded buckets the rest of the period with the Greyhounds leading 40-36.

Whittington opened the final period with two three point field goals to give Lyman a 46-36 lead with 6:56 to play. Patterson then sank two free throws to up the lead to 48-36 before Tunney sank a three pointer to cut the lead to 48-39 with 6:26 remaining.

The game then became a battle of free throws as only four field goals were scored in the final 4:32 of play. Brantley began to shuffle players in and out with Hinshaw and Tony Cunningham switching on nearly ever possession.

The change in the lineups helped the Patriots as they managed to work themselves back into the game. Lyman could not hit a free throw late, missing the eight front end of one and one attempts in the final three minutes of play.

The final missed free throw attempt gave Brantley the ball with seven seconds left. Brantley was out of timeouts and quickly found Tunney who dribbled the length of the floor and put a three point attempt in hopes of a tie, the shot, though, was just off the mark preserving the win for Lyman.

"It's a win, that's the one positive point," Lawrence said. "We played well in the second half until the final three minutes, we just couldn't hit a free throw."

Georgetown overpowers Pitt, 76-57

United Press International

Freshman center Alonzo Mourning gives Georgetown an imposing figure inside. If junior college transfer John Turner develops the way the Hoyas expect, Georgetown could have a devastating front line in the second half of the season.

Turner has struggled in his first season since transferring from Allegheny (Md.) Community College, but the power forward came through with an 19-point, 11-rebound effort Wednesday night to spark No. 7 Georgetown to a 76-57 Big East victory over Pittsburgh.

His performance came one day after a meeting with Hoyas Coach John Thompson.

"John and I had a little conversation — and I think he heard what I said," Thompson said. "I just have been waiting for him to get going. I think he's been very tight, not being able to react. We need a power forward and John is a power forward. I thought he had always been working hard, defensively and rebounding, and today he made his shot."

Turner, a 6-foot-7, 235-pounder, bettered his previous season high of 17 points against Mercer on Dec. 29.

"(Thompson) just told me to rebound hard and help Alonzo out. And that's what I did. He said it would pay off in the long run," Turner said. "I think (the meeting) worked."

Charles Smith contributed 19 points to become the 24th player in Georgetown history to reach the 1,000-point plateau.

The Hoyas led by as many as 15 points in the first half. Their pressure defense forced 14 turnovers in the half. Georgetown led the game with a 12-2 run midway through the second half that opened a 61-38 lead.

Georgetown improved to 11-1 and 1-1 in the Big East and Pittsburgh dropped to 7-6, 1-2. The Hoyas have won two straight since losing to Seton Hall on Jan. 3. Pittsburgh has lost all seven of its games against the Hoyas at the Capital Centre and has a 3-12 record against Georgetown in Big East play.

The Panthers, beaten 95-83 by Boston College Saturday, have lost two consecutive games for the first time during Coach Paul Evans' three seasons with the team.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 1 Duke crushed William & Mary 100-38. No. 8 North Carolina defeated Maryland 88-72. No. 9 Louisville trounced South Carolina 75-52. No. 11 Nevada-Las Vegas downed Fresno State 83-77. No. 13 Seton Hall downed Iowa 74-58. No. 14 Florida State topped Jacksonville 85-70 and co-No. 18 Tennessee edged Louisiana State 100-96.

At Durham, N.C., freshman center Christian Laettner scored 13 points to lead six Duke players in double figures and propel the Blue Devils, 12-0, to their rout of William & Mary. Danny Ferry added 12 points for Duke.

At Chapel Hill, N.C., Kevin Madden scored 25 points and North Carolina, 14-2, pulled away early in the second half with the help of a seven-point play on one possession. A technical foul was assessed on Maryland Coach Bob Wade after a personal foul had been called on a Terrapin. Scott Williams made two free throws on the personal foul. Jeff Lebo hit the two technical foul shots, then Lebo added a 3-point goal for a 53-35 lead.

At Fresno, Calif., Stacey Augmon scored 18 points and Greg Anthony 16 to help Nevada-Las Vegas improve to 11-2 overall and 6-0 in the Big West Conference. Fresno State, which got 29 points from Jervis Cole, fell to 7-5, 2-1.

At New Rochelle, N.Y., John Morton scored 18 points to pace Seton Hall, which improved to 14-1 and rebounded from Saturday's blowout loss at Syracuse. Sean Green led Iowa with 15 points.

At Jacksonville, Fla., George McCloud scored a career-high 35 points and made six of eight shots from 3-point range to power Florida State. Irving Thomas added 13 for the Seminoles, 11-1.

At Knoxville, Tenn., Dyrone Nix scored 20 points and reserve Ian Lockhart contributed 19 to pace Tennessee over LSU in a Southeastern Conference game. The Volunteers are 11-1 and 4-0 in the SEC. LSU dropped to 9-5 and 2-2. LSU freshman Chris Jackson scored 22 of his 24 points in the second half.

McCLOUD'S 35 LEAD FSU

JACKSONVILLE — George McCloud scored a career-high 35 points and made 6 of 8 shots from 3-point range to power 14th-ranked Florida State to an 85-70 victory Wednesday night over Jacksonville.

Irving Thomas added 13 for the Seminoles, 11-1. Jacksonville, 6-6, was led by Curtis Taylor's 15 points and Dee Brown's 14.

Jacksonville built a 10-6 lead on Brown's jumper with 14:45 left in the first half. McCloud's 3-pointer with 13 minutes to go put Florida State ahead 12-10 and the Seminoles never lost the lead. FSU led 37-23 at halftime.

The Dolphins cut the lead to 42-33 on a layup by Taylor with 16:14 left in the game. FSU hit 7 of 11 3-pointers but was outrebounced 43-35.

Rams-SHS rivalry resumes

From staff reports

In seasons past, the Lake Mary and Seminole girls basketball teams have had some tumultuous battles. Last season, however, it was Seminole that won in a pair of routs over the rebuilding Lady Rams.

Tonight at 7:45 at Seminole High, Lake Mary looks to prove that it has come a long way since a year ago while SHS hopes to keep its recent dominance over the Lady Rams alive.

Not only is it a big game as far as the rivalry goes, but SHS looks to stay on top in the Seminole Athletic Conference. Seminole, 10-2 overall, is 4-0 in the SAC and leads Lake Brantley by one and a half games.

"Being at home may be the one advantage we have," Seminole coach John McNamara said. "It's just like the boys when these teams get together. There's a lot of pride at stake. I expect a very tough game from any Lake Mary team. They always get up for us. We do a good job against Seminole teams."

Lake Mary, which has won its last two outings, is 4-6 overall and 2-2 in the SAC. The Lady Rams have claimed consecutive wins over Oviedo and Eustis, avenging an earlier loss to the Eustis club.

Seminole has the most dominant player in the county in junior center Sheri Reddicks who leads the county in both scoring average (18.2 points per game) and rebounding (12.5). Senior guards Adrian Hillman (13.6 points, 7.6 assists) and Aretha Riggins (8.2 points, 5.4 assists) give the Lady Noles a potent backcourt combination. Liz Long adds a good touch from the outside while Chineta Gilchrist is another strong inside player.

Kocla Kennon, a sophomore at SHS, is one of the up and coming players in the county while additional bench strength comes from Emily Anderson, Cindy Lyon and Yolanda Baker.

Seminole's Sheri Reddicks yanks down a rebound in Tuesday's game vs. Oviedo. Reddicks added 17 boards to her county-leading total on Tuesday and she hopes to dominate the inside again tonight as the Lady Noles host Lake Mary's Lady Rams. Seminole is 10-2 overall and 4-0 in the conference while Lake Mary comes in riding a two-game winning streak.

Lake Mary is led by the senior trio of Anita Mitchell, Tara Jackson and Amy Kuvach. While those three have been pretty consistent, it is the play of Lisa Johnson and Heather Gleason that has sparked the Rams in their recent winning streak. Lori Winnall has also been an important player off the bench for Lake Mary.

In other girls basketball action tonight, Lake Brantley hopes to stay close in the SAC as it hosts Oviedo while Lake Howell en-

Brantley bombs Lyman

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

LONGWOOD — Tracy Brandenburg played a strong all-around ball game and paced Lake Brantley to a 48-29 hammering of Lyman Wednesday night before 101 fans at Lyman High School.

Lake Brantley improved to 7-3 overall and 3-1 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. Lyman fell to 2-11 and 0-5.

"I was happy with the way we came in and played," Brantley coach Cindy Frank said. "We're coming off a bad game against DeLand and it's hard to get up for a game like this one so I didn't know what to expect. We started slowly but finally started playing well in the second and third period."

Brandenburg finished the night with a game-high 16 points, six steals, five assists and four rebounds while turning the ball over just once. Jennifer Tufford added 13 points for the Lady Patriots as Gretchen Mull chipped in eight. Jennifer Kruger led the Lady Greyhounds with 10 points as both Shima Clark and Sage Morris-Webster added five each.

Brantley jumped out quick and never let up as it held a 25-13 halftime advantage. The Lady Patriots then ran its reserves in and out of the game in the second half protecting its lead.

Brantley built its biggest lead of the night, 40-18, with 7:10 to play in the fourth quarter. Lyman, though, hit the next three shots to pull to within 40-24 with 4:58 to play.

"I was real pleased with the play of Tracy Brandenburg," Frank said. "She's beginning to come around and play the way she's capable. She had a real good floor game and if she can keep that up we should be alright."

The opening eight minutes Wednesday was the Eady show as the junior point guard scored 11 points, including a trio of three-point bombs and dealt out three assists as SHS built a 24-14 lead.

Moore and Von Eric Small each had four points as the Noles increased their lead to 14, 34-20, midway through the second period but Crager had a strong quarter with eight points to keep Oviedo in the game as the Lions trailed by 11, 38-25, at the half.

Cash, who did not score in the first half, then came alive for Seminole in the third period as he scored 11 points and Moore added eight more. Cash's three-point play with 4:17 left in the quarter gave Seminole a 48-32 lead, and the Noles went on to take a 21-point lead, 61-40, at the end of the quarter.

"Brandon (Cash) had his best game of the season tonight," Robinson said. "It's important for us to have him playing well consistently and hopefully tonight will get him off and running."

Moore hit four quick points early in the fourth period to keep Seminole in command and Oviedo could get no closer than 20 points the rest of the way.

"This was a big conference game for us tonight, so we tried not to think about Lake Mary and to just take it one game at a time," Moore said. "I was able to post up well tonight and hold off my man behind me. I would doing an excellent job." Dan Misuraca got things going for the Seminoles with a win by forfeit, but Wea Erb returned the favor at 112 with a win by forfeit.

Ryan Valerino was the foreman in charge on this night as he disposed of George Cook with a pin in 26 seconds. Thomas Brendle followed with a pin. Larry Nathan added another pin, and Andy Blake got another win by forfeit.

James Baas had to work for his 11-2 victory, but Kevin Nathan and Troy Rollins each added pins to their season totals. At 189, the most feared member of the wrecking crew got his usual win by forfeit as it seems no one around wants to tangle with the likes of Julius Bennett.

the board early with a hard shot 40 yards out that soared to the right of the goal and past the outstretched hands of Michelle Freeman. The shot took place only 9:16 into the game and with most of the play being on the Oviedo portion of the field.

"We went out and earned that victory, they (Oviedo) didn't just give it away," Lady Seminole head coach Suzy Reno said. "We played a lot better tonight than we did in the first game against them. They started pressing us the last 10 minutes, but our defense didn't break."

After neither team could put any more points on the board in the first half, Seminole's Julia Roberts took a feed from Lindamood 30 yards out and drilled a goal into the Oviedo net for a 2-0 lead. The score occurred only 14:20 into the second half and would remain at 2-0 to secure goalkeeper Bobbie Osborne's fifth shutout of the season.

"Shannon Sundvall, Jennifer Bengé, Melissa Shuckman, Sherry Burgess, and Jennifer Lindamood all played well on the offensive line," Reno said. "They kept the ball moving and had some fine shots on goal while the defensive line did an excellent job in shutting them down. It was a beautiful offense. We went back and forth for awhile, but we never gave them a chance to get back into the game."

Doing the job on the defensive end was Amy Williams, Heather Brown, Marie Vienna and Roberts. Sundvall could have made the score more in the favor of the Lady Tribe, but just missed on shots from 25, 30, and 35 yards out.

Single parents, double chores

Principles help ease the burden

By BRIAN HEDBERG
Herald People editor

SANFORD — Your child has toys scattered all over his floor and you're screaming at him to pick up the floor.

To you, it's urgent that he pick up his toys because you only have 30 minutes for vacuuming the house, and then you have to get dinner on the table, after which your child needs his bath and has to get to bed. So you yell at him and a fight ensues, heightening tension in your already tense home.

Sally Schaber agrees that single parenting is a formidable task. But she thinks there sometimes are better ways to handle rearing a child by oneself.

"Is it really that important to get the vacuuming done?" asks Schaber, director of the Seminole County Parent Resource Center. "Johnny will be grown up and gone one day and you'll have your whole life to do the vacuuming."

Single parents typically take on the responsibilities and expectations of the absent parent without lowering their standards of performance, making for themselves a heavy millstone to wear.

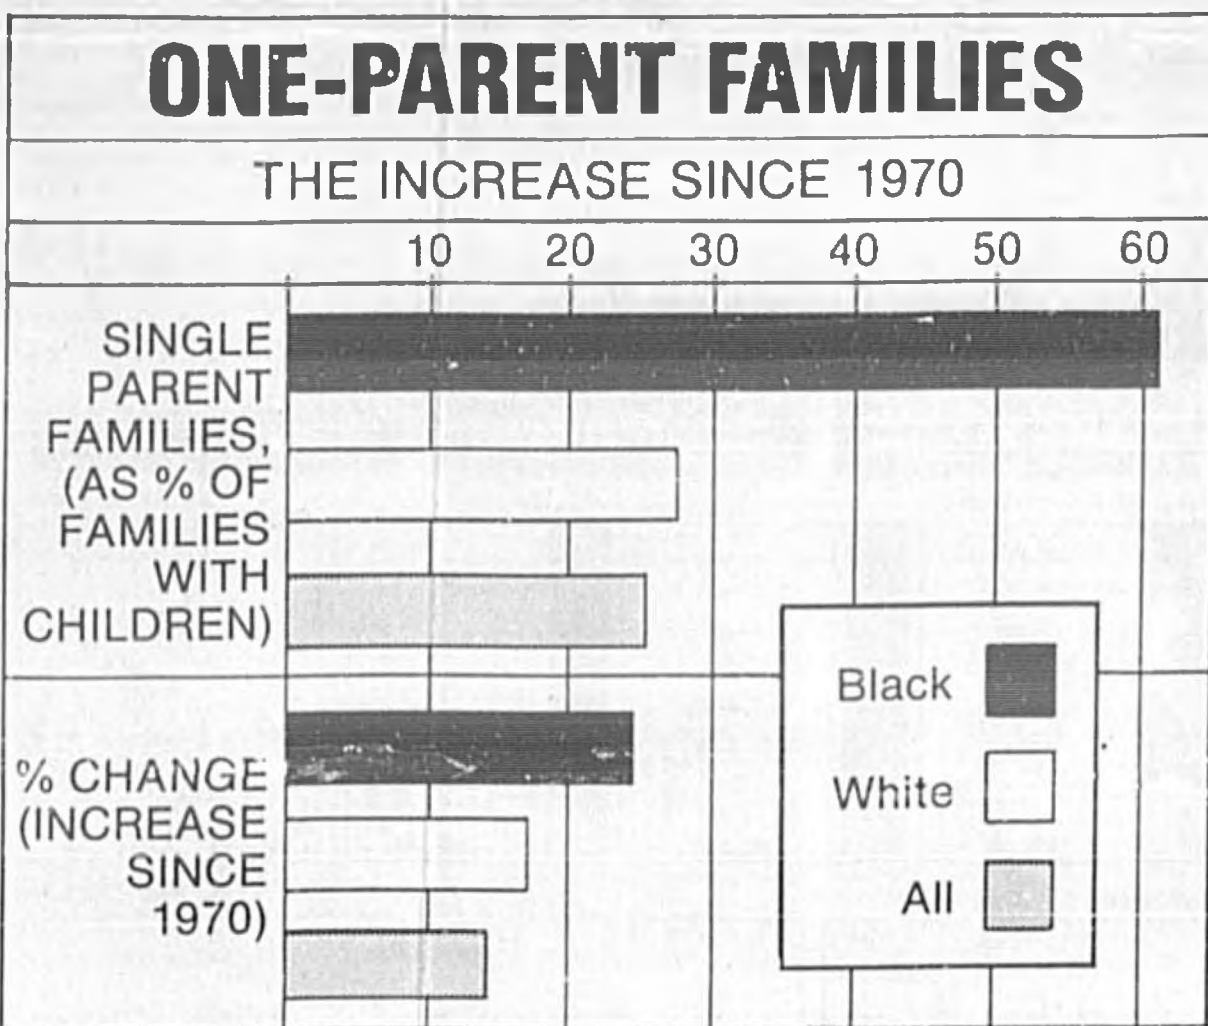

"Single parents are real hard on themselves," Schaber said. "They feel they have to do everything they were when they were married. You're not going to be able to do all that, and if you do, it may be too high of a price."

"I think it's OK if you're a single working mom and you don't have a clean house. You don't have to pretend that you have it made or be a maid."

Rather than doing the vacuuming if it kills you, that half hour might be better utilized playing or talking with your child, Schaber said. If the child realizes he's more important than the vacuuming, he may have the motivation to do better in school and other areas of life, she said.

"Maybe it's not as important that the lawn gets mowed today than that you spend some time with your kid," Schaber said. "Maybe you don't have to wear that special pair of jeans and you should take your child to the park. Sometimes, we find ourselves doing things that aren't that high of a priority."

The already rugged road of single parenting may seem all uphill for working moms with

More than 26 percent of all families with children in the United States now are headed by single parents. The percentage has doubled from 13 percent of all American families in 1970.

children three years old or younger, she said. These crucial years for a child's intellectual, emotional and physical growth can be trying for a single parent.

"The emotional stress of having a baby, the physiological changes of pregnancy, going back to work, trying to bond with the baby—those are real tough times," Schaber said.

Some single mothers avoid leaving their children in daycare hands by working out of their homes, she said, and may make extreme financial sacrifices to stay at home with their kids.

In seeking out good daycare facilities, Schaber recommends the following: finding out the child-teacher ratio, asking if the facility is licensed by the state of Florida Health and Rehabilitative Services, and calling Coordinated Child Care of Central Florida (323-5127) for recommended daycare centers.

A recent preoccupation over the issue of latchkey kids—children who let themselves in after school every day because their parents work—focused particularly on the lack of supervision over what that child did or watched on television.

The guilt factor may grate on the parent of a latchkey kid for two reasons, Schaber said: Cost of after-school childcare is too high or the waiting list too long, and older children who take care of younger siblings may not know how to handle emergency situations.

An alternative to latchkey childhood exists, however, Schaber said area after-school programs at public schools and the Seminole County YMCA are heavily subsidized and reasonably priced.

Affirmation is just as important as quality time with a child in instilling healthy self-esteem in him. "Let your child know that you love him no matter what," Schaber said. "Make them feel good about themselves; you'll feel better about yourself as a parent later on."

Children commonly misperceive that they themselves are responsible for divorces. The single parent should make sure the child has no feelings of fault, Schaber said.

A single parent should embrace their responsibilities without neglecting themselves. Following are tips for single parents in caring for themselves:

• Work through your emotions: Don't ignore or try to hide feelings. Accept them, try to understand them, talk about them with someone you trust or a professional counselor.

• Learn to handle stress: Set aside time to regularly do enjoyable activities. Share problems with a friend.

• Practice good health habits: Eat a balanced diet, get enough rest and exercise regularly. If you aren't already exercising, have a physical exam and start slowly.

• Keep in touch with family and friends: Spend time with those you're closest to. Ask for occasional help in sharing the responsibilities of decision making and child care.

• Don't neglect your social life: Reassure children that you love them, but you need to be with adults, too.

Mother lures child into car seat

DEAR POLLY: My 2-year-old was getting quite stubborn about sitting in her car seat. Since I refused to drive anywhere without having her in the seat, we went through a lot of battles to get her strapped in.

Finally, I bought a doll's infant seat to fit her baby doll and strapped it in with the seat belt next to my daughter's car seat. Now she sees that the doll is strapped in properly before climbing happily into her own seat. It doesn't work every time, but the number of wrestling matches has certainly decreased!

BETTY

DEAR BETTY: Here's another innovative solution to a childcare problem! Your helpful Pointer earns you the Pointer of the Week award, a copy of my book "Polly's Pointers: 1,001 Helpful Hints for Making Everything Last Longer." Others may order it for $6.50. Make your check payable to POLLY'S POINTERS and send to POLLY'S POINTERS, P.O. Box 93863, Cleveland, OH 44101-5863.

POLLY

DEAR POLLY: I use the flat boxes that pop cans are shipped to the store in to take my returnables back with. The boxes hold 24 cans, easy for the cashiers to count, and it's a lot faster than taking cans out of a bag one by one. Several people behind me in line have liked my idea.

LORETTA

POLLY'S NOTE: Ask the store personnel for a couple of these empty boxes to take home if you want to use this method.

DEAR POLLY: Put liquid bleach into a plastic bottle with a trigger nozzle. It's not only easier to handle than the large bleach bottle, but you don't waste as much bleach.

HOMEMAKING

Soak greasy or sticky pans in dishwasher detergent and they'll be easy to clean. But be sure to use rubber gloves when you wash them because the detergent is very harsh.

LU

DEAR POLLY: When my daughter was learning to sit up but wasn't quite stable enough to sit alone in a grocery cart, a thought came to me. I purchased an inexpensive adjustable elastic-type fashion belt that fastened by hooking together, and I used it as a seat belt. I used a light blanket as padding and fastened the belt around her chest and it worked like a charm.

I carry it in my purse so it's available wherever I need it. It's also handy for those restaurant highchairs without belts. This isn't a bad idea for those toddlers who don't want to stay seated—just fasten the buckle behind them so they can't reach it.

LORETTA

DEAR POLLY: I just solved the problem of birds landing on my mailbox! I taped a child's pinwheel on a stick to the back end of the mailbox. It works!

Now all my neighbors are buying pinwheels.

ANN

DEAR POLLY: I would like to make clothes for my daughter's fashion dolls, but they are so tiny and difficult to work on! Do you have any suggestions for making these tiny clothes?

BANDRA

DEAR SANDRA: You can buy patterns for clothes for these dolls, but it's true that it can be difficult to work on such tiny seams and hems. Try to simplify the sewing details as much as possible. For example, you may not turn a perfect hem on a skirt, but instead simply machine-bind the raw edge. The look may not be so finished, but you'll turn out the clothes more quickly with less fuss and bother.

My most revolutionary pointer for making these clothes is actually the really old-fashioned method! Try sewing the clothes by hand! This sounds tedious and tiresome to anyone who's used to running up real-people-sized clothes on a sewing machine, but the doll clothes are so tiny that they don't take long to hand-stitch in many cases. It's easier than wrestling with tiny details on a big machine.

This is something you can do in the evening while watching TV, or you can carry it with you to meetings, the kids' dance lessons, etc.

POLLY

DEAR POLLY: I got a bad spot on my white purse and didn't have time to buy another purse. I needed one fast. So guess what? I used white typing correction fluid on the spot and soon it was hardly noticeable. Hope you don't think I'm cheap. I'm just innovative when I have to be.

FRAN

DEAR POLLY: When meat is marinated in a vinegar and oil mixture, should you let it sit in the refrigerator or at room temperature?

TERRY

DEAR TERRY: Letting meat sit out for several hours at room temperature is inviting bacterial contamination. It is far safer to marinate in the refrigerator. However, you may wish to lengthen the time of marination since the meat does not seem to absorb the flavors of the marinade as quickly when it's cold as it does at room temperature.

If marination time is very short, say 30 minutes or less, you may let beef or lamb sit at room temperature, provided it is well covered. However, I would never marinate poultry or fish at room temperature since they are much more perishable.

POLLY

RECIPE OF THE WEEK: Want to flavor your food without excessive salt? Here's a tasty herb mixture that will season without sodium. Mix 3 teaspoons basil, 2 teaspoons summer savory, 2 teaspoons celery seed, 2 teaspoons ground cumin, 2 teaspoons sage, 1 teaspoon thyme and 2 teaspoons marjoram. Crush to a powder with a mortar and pestle or in a spice or coffee grinder. Use in cooking or at the table in a shaker.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

The West hand might well be used to show beginners the proper opening lead against a six-spade contract — obviously the king of hearts. But the Bois bridge tip by Matt Granovetter, "Picture the original shape," leads to a conclusion different from the norm, based upon listening to the opponents' bidding. Even when you hold a terrible hand, you should pay careful attention to the bidding to try to construct the shape of the opponents' hands. The rewards for your hard work can come as early as the opening lead.

today's deal, since a later lead of another high heart can be ruffed. But a defender on opening lead who not only has his hearing but can also draw a logical conclusion regarding the shape in the opposing hands should show a profit. What the bidding should absolutely convey is that North and South have an eight- or nine-card fit in diamonds between their two hands, even though they have landed in six spades. So West should lead a diamond. Even if the opening lead is not ruffed, West will quickly come on lead with the spade ace to lead a second diamond. That will be trumped by East and the slam will be set.

The automatic "wooden" lead of the king of hearts scores up the slam for the declarer in

Sunlight may activate man's latent disease

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has an outdoor job. Recently he was told he has porphyria cutanea tarda. Will this necessitate a change in career? He still has headaches, numbness and skin lesions.

DEAR READER: Porphyria cutanea tarda is an inherited or acquired disease, caused by a decrease in a liver enzyme called uroporphyrinogen decarboxylase. This metabolic disorder is associated with red skin blisters that break and crust, producing disfiguring cosmetic changes. Liver disease may be present because of excess amounts of iron in the liver cells.

The disease often remains inactive for years, only to be activated by divergent factors, such as alcohol consumption, excess iron intake, female hormone treatment, use of oral contraceptives and exposure to sunlight.

Treatment consists of phlebotomy, the removal of excess iron by periodically bleeding the patient. This prevents iron overload in the liver and reduces the incidence and severity of the skin lesions. Avoidance of sunlight may help at first, but phlebotomy is more likely to produce long-term remissions, sometimes lasting for years.

I do not believe that your husband needs to change occupations, providing he is cautious about sun exposure and is receiving the appropriate therapy. He will get better with treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What foods should one avoid to help one's gallbladder?

DEAR READER: I am not aware of any foods that "help" the gallbladder.

The gallbladder is a reservoir for bile, a dark liquid secreted by the liver to aid in the digestion of lats. Bile builds up in the gallbladder until we eat fat-containing food. The gallbladder then contracts, squirting bile into the intestine.

MEDICINE

PETER GOTT, M.D.

Under certain circumstances, stones form within the bile of the gallbladder. These stones can be quite large and numerous. They cause pain during gallbladder contractions. Sometimes, they become wedged in the tube leading from the gall bladder to the intestine. In this situation, a person will experience severe colicky pain, fever, nausea and jaundice because of the back-up of bile. Surgery is usually necessary to relieve the obstruction.

Patients with gallstones find that they are more comfortable when they avoid food that stimulates the gallbladder to contract; in a word, fats. Greasy food — such as butter, margarine, oils and rich sauces — should be eliminated from the diets of patients with gallstones.

This prohibition may not be totally successful. Surgery may eventually be necessary to remove the gallbladder, a non-essential organ, and its stones. Several medical centers are now experimenting with drugs to dissolve gallstones and with lithotripsy, a technique using sound waves to pulverize the stones.

Who's cooking?

The Sanford Herald welcomes suggestions for cooks of the week.

Do you know someone whose food is always the highlight of company picnics, church potlucks, receptions or covered-dish luncheons?

Novice cooks and ethnic cooks, as well as experience cooks and master chefs, add a different dimension to dining. Who is your choice? Maybe it's your mother, father, brother, sister, son, daughter, spouse, or friend.

Submit your nomination for Cook of the Week to the Herald People editor at 322-2611, ext. 34.

The Cook of the Week feature is published in this section each Wednesday.

Parents Without Partners, with chapters in Orlando and Winter Park, offers platonic social activities with other single parents.

The Parent Resource Center is dedicated to strengthening families through education, support and outreach. As a not-for-profit, independent, United Way agency, the center offers free programs for all types of parents as well as pre-schoolers, toddlers and handicapped children.

"All parents need help sometimes. And we're here to try to help them," Schaber said.

About 30 percent of those who contact the center are single parents, she said.

The Seminole County Parent Resource Center is open Mondays through Fridays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Building 99 at Seminole Community College, Sanford. Phone number is 321-4682.

Fragrance inserts make migraine sufferer cry 'foul'

DEAR ABBY: Today when I received my TV Guide, a sample of a fragrance for men had been inserted, bound in to the other pages. The instructions were to tear a portion of the ad to "release" the fragrance. However, this was unnecessary because the moment the mail came through the slot and plopped to the floor I began to cough and wheeze. In less time than it takes to say, "Lord, spare me!" I had a full-blown migraine headache!

I have also received soap and fabric softener through the mail. When I had a rural mailbox, I had to disinfect it regularly to combat the fumes of these offenders—which to me are extremely dangerous.

Abby, there are millions of folks with severe allergies, asthma, migraine headaches and probably other health conditions that are aggravated by such odors, and we spend a good deal of time trying to avoid them. Many of us cannot attend concerts, church, nightclubs or ride in elevators. We also spend big bucks for allergy shots I get two every week.

It's bad enough that we must live life constantly fighting the silent but deadly enemy—but it is really necessary to invade the privacy of our homes and attack us where it hurts the most?

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Abby, please say something about the problem of these "scented samples" that invade the U.S. mail! Sign me...

CHOKING

DEAR CHOKING: Those "free sample" ad campaigns must cost the fragrance folks an arm and a leg, which is nothing to sniff at. If the army of allergies were to join forces and do a little lobbying, they would create a stink that no one could ignore.

DEAR ABBY: Congratulations on a good answer to a new wife who wanted her husband to drop his ex-in-laws.

My ex-in-law are very dear to me. When I was first divorced, broke and jobless, with two kids and a worthless ex-husband who refused to pay child support, my ex-husband's older sister helped me go back to school. She gave me a place to live, helped with expenses and even paid the kids' orthodontist bills. She is not rich. She simply cared, and I will never be able to repay her for all she did, and still does.

Another of his sisters pays for my kids' piano lessons. She lives in another state, but she calls frequently to check on their progress and see how we're doing. We see her whenever we can, and I value her friendship.

My ex-mother-in-law always invites me for Christmas to stay overnight whenever we are vacationing in her state. She is welcome in my home anytime.

None of these relationships has anything to do with my ex-husband, from whom I parted with some bitterness eight years ago.

If I should remarry, I would expect to see my ex-in-laws—all of them (his mother, five brothers and sisters and all of their children)—in the front row at the wedding ceremony. These people were, are and always will be my family.

Communication possible with Alzheimers victims

United Press International

MIAMI — Victims of Alzheimers disease suffer from the inability to communicate, making it difficult for families trying to care for them, but one research project has come up with a few communication techniques that may ease the burden for everyone.

The University of Miami School of Nursing has produced a 25-minute videotape, "Communication with the Cognitively Impaired Older Adult," designed to help nurses and families communicate with elderly people whose thought processes are impaired by Alzheimers disease.

The tape demonstrates techniques that proved effective during a two-year research project at a North Miami nursing home.

"We know many people don't know how to communicate with these people. The aim of the tape is to try to convince people that there is something they can do," said Dr. Ruth Tappen, dean of the School of Nursing.

"These people have, specifically, problems with cognition, the thinking process. They are not mentally ill or emotionally disturbed," Tappen said.

It is estimated that 5 percent to 15 percent of those over 65 suffer some degree of cognitive impairment, and that 50 percent of nursing home patients are cognitively impaired.

In the tape, nurses and aides demonstrate techniques they used during a "revitalization" project aimed at finding out whether Alzheimers victims could be taught to become more independent.

They worked with 20 Alzheimers patients aged 60 to 103 in groups of six to eight, helping them perform tasks such as walking and grooming and feeding themselves.

It should be noted that communicating with these patients requires an extreme amount of patience. "It is draining. You are working all the time," Tappen said.

Some techniques recommended are:

—Speak slowly and allow ample time for a reply. Rapid stimuli are confusing to the cognitively impaired. Because they have trouble processing thoughts, it takes them a long time to formulate answers.

—Be repetitive. You may have to repeat yourself five or six times before they grasp the meaning of your words. Phrase your message several different ways, using simple synonyms. Use the same words they have used — it indicates they may have retained some recognition of that word.

—Ask simple yes-or-no questions. A therapist on the tape gets no reply when she asks a woman to "Tell me something about yourself." But the woman is able to answer questions such as "Are you married?" and "Do you have children?"

—Avoid pronouns such as he, she and it. Repeating the name of the person or thing may help them remember what you were talking about.

—Do things one step at a time. Instead of telling a patient to "Eat your breakfast," nurses and aides got better results when they broke down their instructions into separate steps such as "Pick up your glass," and "Drink your juice."

—Be concrete. Talk about things you can see, feel, point to or show pictures of. Attempts to discuss philosophical, hypothetical or abstract topics will probably compound their confusion.

—Be supportive and keep criticism to a minimum. Alzheimers victims may become frustrated, embarrassed or frightened by their failure to communicate. Show respect and understand that they may be very much aware of what's going on around them.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
January 13, 1989

In the year ahead, you may make a very unusual friend who will turn out to be one of the cleverest people you have ever known. Under your friend's tutelage, you'll begin to look at life from an entirely new perspective.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There is a possibility that there may be some minor disturbances in your household today. It will be up to you to make sure the combatants don't make mountains out of molehills. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) As long as you have industrious co-workers with lots of vitality, you'll match their efforts today. However, if left on your own you might not be too productive.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In order to gain peer approval today, you might go along with something that your logic tells you does not serve your best interests. Be cooperative, but don't be a turkey.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your judgment might be a trifle cloudy early in the day and your evaluations could leave something to be desired. To be on the safe side, hold off making major decisions until the afternoon.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Guard against inclinations today to talk to the wrong people about your confidential affairs. If you feel a need for discussion, restrict them to people you know you can trust.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be honest about your motives today pertaining to your behavior toward a friend. Be sure you're not being indifferent because you're a bit envious of something this person has done.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In matters that affect your career today, guard against tendencies to vacillate. If your associates feel you are too uncertain, they are not apt to back your play.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In order to get something done more rapidly today you might try to use the same shortcut that previously failed to work. If you do, the result is likely to be similar to your past experience.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Someone with whom you have been dealing ethically may not have been as honest with you. Today you might discover this person's deceitfulness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is a possibility you might not be in accord with your peer group today. However, instead of making waves, it's the best that you discent in silence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Pursuit of your personal interests could occupy you so totally today that you may overlook helping others in their quests. Even though these slights will be unintentional, you won't be readily forgiven.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you get involved in commercial matters today, your efforts might be ineffective. Your mind may be on other things and you'll lack focus and proper motivation.

The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) invites you to attend a public meeting on February 7, 1989 from 8:00-9:30 P.M. at Apopka High School, 333 West Martin Street, Apopka, Florida. The hearing will include the right-of-way reservation for the Orange County alignment of the Northwest Bypass - Part B including the U.S. 441 interchange at the viable station concepts and social, economic and environmental effects of the proposed Northwest Bypass - Part B from the U.S. 441 interchange west of Apopka in Orange County, northward to S.R. 44 in Lake County, and southward to I-4 in Seminole County. The project involves encroachments on wetlands and floodplains which require special considerations under Executive Order 11996 and 11998, respectively.

The hearing will consist of a presentation by the Department and its consultant on the project and the associated impacts at 7:00 P.M.; a short break for informal questions; and a public testimony period. Prior to and after the hearing, Department and consultant representatives will be available to answer questions. Maps, drawings and other pertinent information will be available for review at the public hearing location from 6:00 P.M. to 9:00 P.M. Mr. Mary Brabham, Project Engineer for the FDOT consultant, may be contacted for information concerning the project or the hearing at Greiner, Inc. (407) 423-0333.

Persons who wish to submit written statements and other exhibits in lieu of, or in addition to oral statements, may do so at the hearing or they can mail them to Mr. Henry Fuller, Project Manager, Florida Department of Transportation, 719 South Woodland Boulevard, Deland, Florida 32726, no later than February 21, 1989. All written comments received by February 31, 1989 will become part of the public hearing record.

CITY OF SANFORD ANNEXATION OUTREACH PROGRAM

PLANNING AREA MAP

The City of Sanford has proclaimed an "Annexation Outreach" Program between November 1, 1988 and January 31, 1989. The purpose of this program is to encourage annexation of property within the Sanford Urban Services Area as shown on the above map in order to facilitate urban service planning, improve governmental service efficiency in areas such as public safety and utility service, to provide adequate urban services within the Sanford Urban Area, and to secure municipal boundaries and reduce encroachment. Participation in this program, by requesting annexation, is purely voluntary on the part of a property owner.
