Hog heaven at Climax

CLIMAX, Ga. - Chillin eaters and pigimpressionists came from miles around for a sitee of hog heaven called the annual Climax Swine Time Festival

The 17th annual event drew about 25,000 visitors Saturday, said Cliff Wells, president of the Chinax Community Club.

"I've had people tell me this was the best one vet." Wells said:

Eddle Pelifeer of St. Augustine, won the coveted hog-imitation prize, stumning the crowdin a "squeal-off" with two-time winner Royce

"My daddy used to raise hogs, and that's how I learned to talk like them," said Pellicer, a seven-time hog-imitation champ. Pellicer's grunts were judged by the crowd.

Other highlights were the greased pig chasing and a corn-shucking contest.

Terry Smith was named chillin champion. sucking down a trayful of the boiled hog intestines in seconds.

A new twist in taxes

Duda's self-taxing proposal relieves county of payment

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Developers of the massive Duda commercial and residential development in southeast Seminole County have proposed a self-taxing scheme to pay for the office park's roads and other needs without skimming taxes from the county

Earlier this year, Sanford approved a plan to allow Seminole Towne Center developer Melvin Simon and Associates to divert between $3 million and $4 million in city taxes generated by the mall to a special agency created to pay for road improvements, many required by state and regional planners to accommodate mall shop-

Mall planners had sought to divert county taxes for the roads, but county commissioners refused, saying such a scheme shouldn't be used to pay for required "infrastructure" require-

Now submitting a plan for a similar goal, but substantially different method, is The Viera Company, owners and developers of the 410-acre "Dovera" project at the northwest intersection of Red Bug Lake Road and expressway, now under construction. The Viera Company is owned by members of the Duda farming and development

When complete in about 12 years. Dovera will have 512 apartments, 247,000 square feet of commercial space, 1.2 million square feet of office-showroom space. I million square feet of offices and 250 hotel rooms.

Viera's Dovera Community Development District proposal is to create an agency with the ability to tax only the 410 acres where the development will be built. The land owner will originally be Viera, but will include future landowners that have purchased portions of the development from them.

The CDD would raise about $10.7 million in taxes from landowners to pay for roads and street lighting, water, sewer and drainage systems, landscaping and security. The taxes will even generate $100,000 to pay for mosquito control.

Under state CDD laws, the Dovera district can levy up to $5 per $1,000 of taxable property in some instances for operating costs in addition to the amount needed to repay bonds for infrastructure construction. The plan must be approved by the county and reviewed annually by commisstoners. Viera has paid $15,000 for the initial review and has offered to pay for the annual reviews

Sanford strict on sign code

City pulls 15-20 signs in average week

By NICK PFEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Code Enforcement officer for the City of Sanford believes citizens need more information about sign ordinances. There is red tape, but sign regula-Hous are explicit.

We spend much of our time picking up signs that don't follow the city codes," said Linda Gentry. We are forced to pull between 15 to 20 signs within the city limits in an average week.

Regarding the problems with the codes. Gentry said, "I believe many sign ordinance violations are simply the result of cittzens not knowing the rules. However, the problem we have with signs is an on-going one and assistance from the public would be appreciated in all calegories. In order to acquaint more business and homeowners with the various requirements. Gentry broke down the most common types of signs and their restrictions:

USF may get transportation funds

TAMPA — A university research center could get up to $1 million a year in transportation funds to help the country's fast-growing cities find mass transit systems that work.

Many cities developed after World War II are too spread out for traditional forms of mass transit; such as commuter railways, said Gary Brosch, director of the Center for Urann Transportation Research at the University of South Florids.

So researchers there are looking at smaller busss, even vans, to run specialised routes, working with employers and neighborhoods.

Money will come from a $151 billion, six-year transportation bill approved Wednesday by Congress.

Electrical supplies may be tight

MIAMI — Electrical supplies in Florida are going to be tight this winter, but the state's utilities expect a smooth season — barring a big freeze and plant trouble.

"I think we're in good shape barring any extensive cold spell or unexpected outages," said Bill Swank, a spokesman for Florida Power & Light, the state's largest utility stretching from Miami almost to Jacksonville.

The annual prediction of power supplies climbed into the spotlight two years ago when a Christmas westend chill in 1969 taxed utilities and produced rolling blackouts.

The resolution also would convey appreciation for the help Japan received in recovering from its subsequent defeat in the war, and express Japan's determination to remain peaceful in keeping with its postwar constitution, which renounces using force to resolve international disputes, the news agency reported.

Atlantis safe, landing perfect

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE. Calif. — Its mission cut short by a broken navigation device, space shuttle Atlantis glided to a perfect landing in the wide-open blojave Desert after its crew of six put a spy satellite in orbit.

"The mission is a resounding success even though it was cut off three days early," said Steve Nagel, acting chief of NASA's astronaut office. "All in all, it was a very good day."

Heralded by its signature twin sonic booms, 'Atlantis touched down on a dry lakebed runway at 2:35 p.m. Sunday in front of about 2:700 spectators. The shuttle orbited Earth 109 times. covering 2.9 million miles in seven days.

The 10-day mission was cut short after one of the shuttle's three navigation devices failed Saturday. The devices tell the shuttle's computers where the spaceship is and how fast it's NASA rules dictate that in the event of such a breakdown, the shuttle land as soon as poss at Edwards to be on the safe side. The desert lakebeds are considered safer than the Cape Canaveral, Fla., runway, which is surrounded by swamp.

Atlantis' two remaining navigation units worked "just fine" during re-entry. Nagel said. The shuttle came back in good condition, with few "dings" on the tiles that sectors it from the heat tiles that protect it from the heat of re-entry, he said.

Atlantis' crew consisted of commander Frederick Gregory, pilot Terence "Tom" Henricks and astronauts Story Musgrave, James Voss, Mario Runco Jr. and Thomas Hennen.

Atlantis blasted off from Flori-da Nov. 24 and released a $300 million satellite the next day. It joins other Pentagon satellites in deterting missile attacks, space launches and nuclear blasts.

Crew members also used high-powered cameras, binoculars and a telescope to spy on U.S. ships, planes and other military targets on Earth to help the Pentgon learn whether astronauts can be of use in wartime. They also performed medical experiments aimed at understanding how zero-gravity affects humans.

Those experiments were cut short when the mission was ended early.

Atlantis had to dodge an old Soviet rocket Thursday, the second time in the 10-year-old shuttle program that a spaceship had to steer out of the way of space junk. The first time was 2½ months ago.
During the flight, Musgrave broke the 576-hour record for time spent in space by a shuttle astronaut.

The next shuttle mission is scheduled for late January. when Discovery and seven astronauts will conduct experiments on an orbiting menagerie that includes slime mold, bacteria, worms, insects and frog eggs and sperm.

AIDS in homeless

Study: 1 in 9 Of Miami's vagrants test HIV positive

MIAMI - An ongoing study could show that as many as 20 percent of Miami's homeless have the AIDS virus, one researcher said.

Currently one of the highest rate infections for any group in Florida is 12 percent. That was how many of the people who visited a Dade County public health clinic last year to be checked for sexually transmitted diseases tested positive for the human immunodeficiency virus. It didn't include people who came in specifically for AIDS "My study is going to show you a much higher rate than 12 percent, I can tell you that," said Mariene LaLota, the state's coordinator for HIV studies. The state and Camillus Health Concern are analyzing blood samples of patients who visit the clinic. More than 600 blood samples have been analyzed already, but LaLota said she hopes to test as many as 2,000 homeless men and women.

Although LaLota said the study might show exposure rates as high as 20 percent, Dr. Pedro Joe Greer, medical director of Camillus, said it was too early to start drawing conclusions.

He plans to start yet another study next month, taking blood samples from about 100 homeless people on the streets of Miami. The purpose of that study is to see whether the homeless people who visit Camillus for treatment are representative of the overall homeless population.

A recently released study was based on a series of interviews with more than 100 black men under Interstate 395. Most said they had taken an HIV test. One in nine acknowledged having tested positive.

About 70 percent said they were sexually active. Half of those men said they had had intercourse in the previous 30 days without a condom, some just once, others repeatedly. 'More than anything else, the study gives quantitative docu-mentation of how big the pro-blem is," said James Shultz, an assistant professor at the University of Miami medical school.

But some experts suspect Shultz's study underestimates the rates of infection because it relies on self-reporting.

"If about 10 percent of the men admit testing HIV positive, my guess is that it is really probably twice that number." said Andrew Cherry, a professor at Barry University who works extensively with the homeless. "We're talking about an epidemic.'

Shultz limited his study to black men because they were the largest group among the homeless, and he wanted as uniform a study group as possi-

But a 1988 study at Camillus Health Concern found no significant difference in rates of HIV infection among blacks. Hispanics and non-Latin whites.

That study was based on blood samples of 126 homeless people who sought treatment at Camillus.

"It's going to get worse."
Greer said. "It's going to spread. What we're going to see is people dying under 1-395.

Tampa Bay, capital hit hard by early flu bug

Accordated Press

TALLAHASSEE - Florida's capital and the Tampa Bay area have probably been hit the hardest-hit areas in the state during the early flu season, a state epidemiologist said.

"Everybody's got it up here," said Shirley Kimbrough, a Tallahassec resident who works for the Florida Chamber of Commerce.

"I took my son to the doctor last week, but you can hardly get in to see a doctor," she said. A physician at Doctor's Walk-In Clinics, a Tampa company that runs six doctors' offices in Tampa and one in

Clearwater, said the clinics have flu or are afraid they're going to get it."

The state has found only a couple of confirmed cases of influenza, according to Rob Mullen, an epidemiologist with the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

But physicians aren't required to test their patients or report cases to HRS, so health officials find the outbreaks from reports of high levels of student absences and increased calls and visits to physicians.

An area encompassing Hillsborough, Pinellas, Polk. Pasco and Manatee counties and most of Florida's west central coast seems to be struggling the most, Mullen said.

Groundbreaking tomorrow for Seminole Expressway

Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The groundbreaking ceremonies for the $200 million Seminoie County

Expressway is set for tommorrow. The secretary of the Florida Department of Transportation, Ben Watts, and numerous local officials and state lawmakers are expected to attend the ceremony, scheduled for 1:30 p.m. at the Aloma Avenue terminus of the existing

When complete in October 1993, the 12-mile. four-lane tollroad will extend from Aloma Avenue near Oviedo to Sanford Plaza in Sanford at U.S. Seminole County residents an alternative to the often congested interstate 4 for trips to Orlando international Airport and other east Orange County destinations.

The groundbreaking was originally scheduled for Oct. 23, but state road officials cancelled the ceremony when efforts to include Gov. Lawton Chiles failed, said Jorge Figueredo, spokesman Chiles failed, said Jorge Figueredo, spokesman for Florida's Turnpike.

The expressway will be built, owned and operated by the state, although it was designed by the Seminole County Expressway Authority, comprised of county and city officials. County officials hoped residents would approve a penny sales tax in 1987 to help pay for the road, but when voters defeated the propobal overwhelmingly, they turned to the state.

ly, they turned to the state.

When after two years state lawmakers failed to appropriate money for the tollroad and others throughout the state, SCEA officials considered selling bonds which would be repaid with tolls to pay for the road. The drawback with that scheme was tolls would only pay for enough bonds to build a two-lane bridge over Lake Jesup and end the road at Lake Mary Boulevard.

Even as expressway officials were making the last arrangements to sell the bonds in 1990, the legislature approved a $1.2 billion tollroad building program to expand Florida's Turnpike.

Pearl Harbor Vets to gather

By MCK PPENPAUP Herald Staff Writer SANFORD - With each passing Veterans Day on Nov. 11, the number of WW-II veterans in parades and gatherings has been dwindling. An effort is underway now, to gather as many as possible from the Sanford and Central Florida area for an observance. Saturday, Dec. 7, will mark the 50th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. On that day in 1941, nearly 200 Japanese aircraft suddenly attacked the U.S. Navy facility in Hawaii. The attack resulted in the deaths of nearly 3,000 U.S. service personnel, the destruction of much of America's fleet, and the start of this nation's entry into the war. Pearl Harbor veterans reunions have been held almost every Dec. 7 through the past years, but this year's observance, the 50th, is seen as a special event. Although the attack was made at approximately 8 a.m. in Hawaii, it was 1 p.m. in this area of the nation. 1 p.m. has been declared as the time for the local gathering of veterans, not just those who were at Pearl Harbor, but all veterans who served in the military during World War II.

The meeting place for this year's event is the Sanford Bible Church, 2460 Sanford Avenue. John Sauls, a Navy veteran who is helping organize this year's event, said, "We'll get together twice that day. The first, exactly at one o'clock, will be a time of self-examination. We'll be thinking about where we were or what we were doing when the attack occurred. We will also have a special prayer for all of our comrades, those we left behind as well as the survivors." Souls added, "We'll come back for a second meeting at 6 p.m., and that will be an opportunity to swap stories, and renew some old friendships."

Sauls said. "I am urging the veterans to wear their uniforms if they still have them, and if they still fit. and to bring along any

Earlier this year, a number of vets gathered to formulate plans for the event. They included members of the Air Force, Coast Guard, Navy. and SPARS.

Sauls commented, "Nationally, we've learned that almost 70 percent of the WW-II vets are gone now. We would like to have as many as possible that are still here, gather together for the two meetings this year."

Persons interested in joining the other men and women who served in the war are urged to contact the church at 321-0292 or Sauls at 322-7174 in Sanford as soon as possible, so complete arrangements can be made.

Other than regular Saturday functions. neither the Fleet Reserve or American Legion Post 53 in Sanford have announced any special 50th anniversary observances for that date.

Stop N. Korea

Nuclear weapons demand a firm collective response from the world community. If effective action is not taken to deter North Korea's Pyongyang's bomb program, the globe's next military crisis could well erupt on the Korean Peninsula.

American intelligence experts believe a string of new nuclear installations is nearly complete at a site near Yongbyon, 60 miles north of the North Korean capital. The complex includes a suspected reprocessing plant designed to produce weapons-grade plutonium.

No one outside North Korea's tightly closed society knows how much longer it will take the communist regime of Kim II Sung to produce a workable bomb. Most intelligence estimates range from two to five years. But Western experts acknowledge they do not have enough hard information on which to base a reliable estimate.

Accordingly, there is mounting concern that the world may be underestimating North Korea's nuclear potential, just as it did in the case of Iraq: Once international inspectors gained access to Iraqi installations after the Persian Gulf War, they discovered that Saddam Husseln's bomb program was far more advanced than was suspected earlier.

North Korea signed the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty in 1985, thereby pledging not to acquire nuclear weapons. But it has steadfastly refused to permit inspectors from the international Atomic Energy agency to visit the Yongbyon complex or other

Even more worrisome, Pyongyang recently rejected South Korean President Roh Tae Woo's proposal to make the Korean Peninsula a nuclear-free zone. Under President Bush's unilateral initiative to eliminate tactical nuclear weapons worldwide, all U.S. nuclear arms are being withdrawn from South Korea.

Pyongyang's nuclear program is especially ominous because the Korean Peninsula is one of the most unstable and heavily armed places on the globe.

North Korea's aging leader, Kim Il Sung, is highly unpredictable and prone to radical and aggressive actions, such as the terrorist bombing of a Korea Air Lines jet in 1987. As living standards in the north fall further behind those of prosperous South Korea and Kim Il Sung approaches the end of his reign. the risks of instability could grow even worse.

Nearly 1.7 million troops are squared off against each other on the Korean Peninsula. They include approximately 40,000 American soldiers, who would become involved almost immediately in the event of a military drisis. As Defense Secretary Dick Cheney told the editorial board of The San Diego Union recently, Korea is one trouble spot "where we could wake up tomorrow morning and find American forces actively engaged in combat.

To deter Pyongyang from becoming a nuclear power, the world community needs to exert the same kind of concerted, unyielding pressure that has been applied against Iraq in ecent months.

Secretary of State James Baker is attempting to marshal diplomatic pressure from China, the Soviet Union and Japan, the bations with the most influence in North Korea. On a recent visit to Seoul, Baker called North Korea's nuclear activities "a matter of urgency" and "not just a Korean issue, but a matter of global concern."

If diplomatic pressure fails to achieve results soon, an economic embargo under United Nations auspices also may be needed to discourage Kim II Sung's nuclear ambitions. The world simply cannot tolerate atomic weapons in the hands of North Korea's fanatical regime.

Here's to a Christmas in the pink

I approach this Christmas season with less buying power than I've had in the last few, due in one part to the recession and in the other part to taking a year off to write a book. I went to the mail last weekend to get an early start on Christmas shopping, more for self-protection than any particular jote de vivre. I suffered an out-of-body experience last year at the mail during the last-minute crusis.

But my trip turned out a lot better than I'd expected, thanks to the memory of a gift that arotality meant more to me than to the woman expected, thanks to the memory of a gift that exhabity meant more to me than to the woman the received it. Shuffing along carrying my eccived it. Shuffing along carrying my wool cost and wishing I could stuff it down a wastebashet; my feet servening for Recuports instead of the pointy-tood from maidens I'd worn to work, I dragged myself weartly into the older wing of the mail and set down on a bench. A sign in the window of one of the stores caught my eye, and I realized I was atting right in front of the shop I'd worked in 20 Christmases ago.

That long-ago Christmas I had quit college because it was hard. I was lazy, and $64 a week sounded like a lot of money. It wasn't until later that I discovered 864 was never a lot of money. even in 1971. So it was the penance of my impetuous youth that year to work smid myriad gift delights, none of which would be purchased for me, nor by me for my hapless loved ones.

To add to my seasonal malaise that year, my employers were the sort of folks who would slit a Cabbage Patch doll's from having to move back in with my parents. As they paraded their credit cards in frost of me, i hated them as a stray dog resents a house poolle with its own bed and rhinestone coller. The day before Christmas I'd

I could feel he was about to bolt, and I empathised. My soul had been trying to heave itself flow my usery man this piace all may, I solved him gently if I could help him, and something in my masser must have hit a responsive chord. He asked me the one question no one had saked me that year, the one I was just achied to answer.

"If your husband or hoyfriend were in here sying you a presided, what would you want?" He didn't have to ask twice. I took him straight the shocking-pink, fake-for bothrobe I'd had my eye on since I'd gone to work at the store. As I remember it now. It was a hideous thing, a giant bath mut run amok. But it was almost like the one my gorgeous sister-in-law wore to water the poolside flowers when I was a teen-ager, and she and my older brother lived in the big house in Southern California. It symbolized everything I wanted to be but was not.

The cowboy must have been as enamored of gaud as I, because when I held up the bathrobe. his eyes lit up and the color returned to his face.

MARTIN SCHRAM

C'mon, Mario-Just be honest

Connie Cutta, Lava Libretti, Glendie LaDuke - and the man who made them what they are today - could learn a mighty lesson from Shoelers Joe.

Connie, Lava and Giendie were carefree boys of summer, decades ago — and together went on to be the governor of New York from 1982-1991. They were pseudonynia Mario Cuomo created so he could make a few bucks playing semi-pro baseball, play in city basketball leagues and still preserve his athletic eligibility at St. John's University.

Shoeless Joe was none of the above - he was the Chicago White Sox star who got into big trouble in the famous fixing of the 1919 World Series. But when a young fan implored. "Say it ain't so, Joe!," that, Joe Jackson knew, he could not do.

Today, when cameras are whirring and reporters are questioning, the man who always stood behind Connic Cutts, Lava Libretti and Glendie LaDuke appears unable to resist a voice that implores him to "Say it ain't so, Cuomo loves to say it ain't so. He loves to tell reporters he never said what they think he said - and he's often right. But the other day, on ABC's "This Week With David Brinkley." Cuomo was dead wrong. And that was especially disappointing. For until that moment near the end of the show. Cuomo was making perhaps the strongest case yet against the domestic leadership failures of President Bush and persuasively outlining how we can right ourselves.

Then ABC's George Will asked Cuomo about "the fact that you were opposed to Desert Storm and, indeed, suggested early on that perhaps the way to deal with Saddam Hussein after the invasion was to give him a few Islands."

Cuomo: "No, I never said that. Well, I know you people get annoyed when I tell you what you're saying is not accurate." After Will cited as his source a Los Angeles Times report of a year ago, Cuomo went on to make the valid point that his position had been much like that of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Gen. Colin Powell, and former JCS members that the U.S. should pursue sanctions first. with war being a last resort.

Then Sam Donaldson interjected: "But you suggested a territorial concession at that Cuomo: "No. no. no." But the correct answer should have been: "Yes, yes, yes." Cuomo went on to explain that a year ago. in Los Angeles, he'd said the U.S. should "try to make some kind of arrangement" with Iraq before going to war - "and I gave loose descriptions of possible scenarios. But I never made a suggestion. ..."

Donaldson interjected: "Which included territorial concessions."

Cuomo: "Sam, all I can tell you is to read the article, or we'll do this all day long."

We can all read the article. It is dated Nov. 21, 1990, and was written by The Los Angeles Times' Ronald Brownstein, an excellent reporter, who has said he taped Cuomo's comments. His article quoted Cuomo as saying the U.S. should "try to negotiate our way out of the confrontation with Iraq and should go to war "only as a last resort." Cuomo con-tinued: "You could negotiate something that gets them out of Kuwait for the most part, leaves them maybe a little bit on the water, leaves them a little bit of the oil, and then puts in a United Nations task force to go over the whole question of chemical weapons ... and this movement toward nuclear capacity.

Cuomo loves to say it ain't so. He loves to tell reporters he never said what they think he said.

On Dec. 17, 1990. Cuomo restated his view at the National Press Club, saying Bush should tell Saddam: "I'll make a deal with you — and don't worry, I'll give you a little oil, a little water, a little

We can't expect our candidates to be perfect. but we can ask them to be honest with us especially when they've said something they wish they'd never said. Cuomo would have appeared plenty presidential if he'd just conceded to Donaldson and Will and all of us that he's learned a valuable lesson in the past year: International policy is too important to be crafted by thinking out loud.

We don't need another clarification, just an admission. Say it was so, Mario. (C) 1991 NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

U.S. technology ended up in Libya

WASHINGTON — An iraqi middle man who has already been identified as the linchpin behind a chemical weapons plant in Libya may also have been involved in supplying Iraq's nuclear weapons develop-ment program. And he was able to openly buy technology in the United States despite the fact that the U.S. government knew he was shopping for dangerous clients.

The Iraqi, Ihaan Barbouti, was identified by the U.S. government as a Libyan agent by January 1969. Earlier this year, press reports also surfaced about Barbouti's role in developing the Iraqi chemical weapons program. New evidence now suggests that chemicals were not his only weapons of choice.

Our associate Dean Boyd has obtained a letter written on Feb. 23, 1990, from an official of the Iraq National Oil Co. to Berbouti. The letter refers to Barbouti's assurances that he would help fraq acquire "the conting technology" required by Hussein Kamel Al-Majid. Kamel is Saddam Hussein's son-in-law and at the time was in charge of lraq's weapons de-velopment program and industrialization including the oil industry. The letter says the oil company needed the technology for "future oil pipelines" and Kamel needed it for "atom projects."

Beginning in 1968, Barbouti showed a keen interest in an oil pipeline coating formula that had been developed by a Dallas businessman. The process used a material that could also be used as a protective lining for parts of a nuclear reactor. Barbouti was so ecstatic over the possible nuclear applications that he went into business with the unsuspecting Dallas man in August 1988.

The Texan severed those ties in 1989 and reported Barbouti to the government after learning that some of the technology was headed for Libya. It is unclear whether Barbouti was successful in getting the technology to Iraq himself, but his cronies had reportedly learned how to develop it before Barbouti and the Texan parted ways.

The letter to Barbouti from the Iraq National Oil Co. suggests methods of financing the deal that were tied to a U.S. bank. The letter says Barbouti could "move funds with Babil Intl." Babil is based in France, and as of January of this year was run by Safa Al-Habobi, the director of Iraq's Al Nasar weapons complex.

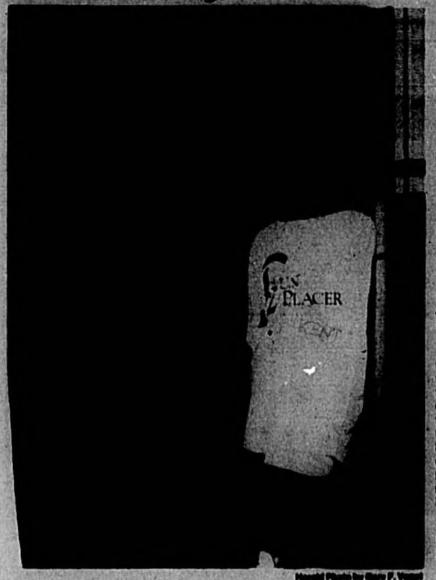

Babil is suspected of being a front for sensitive Iraqi purchases. Habobi himself solicited millions of dollars from the scandal-ridden Atlanta branch of the Italian Banca Nazionale del Lavoro (BNL), according to a 1991 U.S. indictment. BNL officials in Atlanta were charged in that indictment with illegally lending Iraq $4 billion in credits and unsecured loans.

U.S. officials say another principal in Babil was Pierre Drougal. His son, Chris Drougal, is one of the indicted BNL-Atlanta officials.

The shadowy Barbouti is not available for comment. His family claims he died of natural causes in July 1990, and there is a headstone bearing his name in England. But even Barbouti's death is a mystery. Some of his former business associates suspect he is merely ducking the law. Lloyd's of London has refused to pay his life insurance claim until the company can prove that he is indeed

Today, Barbouti's activities are being investigated by several congressional sub-committees, the U.S. Customs Service and some of his old business partners. But for the U.S. government, the truth about Barbouti and how he was able to arm Iraq using American suppliers may prove too embarrassing to admit.

Smith lawyer files again to dismiss the jury pool

IN BRIEF

Christmas holiday ushered in LAKE MARY — A big multi-purpose event is planned for Central Park Monday night. The gathering for the official tree lighting, will usher in the holiday season for Lake Mary.

Lake Mary Parks and Recreation Director John Holland is urging all residents to attend. "We'll have fun and entertainment for everyone." he commented. "There will be a barbershop quartette, additional singing by a Brownie Troop, we'll have refreshments, and I understand Mr. S. Clause, of the North Pole may arrive during the festivities."

Two additional highlights of the evening will be the swearing in ceremonies for A.R. "Doc" Jore, and George Duryea to the Longwood City Commission. Jore was recently elected to his first term, while Duryea was re-elected in a successful campaign.

The night will also see the dedication of the new holiday art exhibit in the main lobby of the Lake Mary City Hall, and a reception.

Central Park is located at the south side of the Lake Mary City Half. Events are scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

Evangelical free church opens doors

Lake Mary Community Church, a ministry dedicated to establishing and equipping believers, has moved to its new location as of Sunday.

The church, which formerly met at the Markham Woods Adventist Church in Longwood, is moving to the Shoppes of Lake Mary, on the corner of Lake Mary Boulevard and Country Club Road.

"Our 5-year-old ministry is pleased to be moving to the Lake Mary address, and we're ready for growth and the challenges that lie ahead of us." according to the Rev. Phil Davis, pastor of the church and author of "The Father I Never Knew." "For relevant Bible-centered teaching, look to Lake Mary Community Church."

The 100 member congregation is affiliated with the Evangelical Free Church of America, a small evangelical denomination whose most noted pastor is Charles Swindoll of Fullerton, Calif.

Worship service starts at 9:30 a.m., Sunday School for all ages is at 11 a.m., and nursery is provided.

For more information, call the church at 323-LORD.

Dunks, pins and kicks

Prep winter sports season hits full stride this week

By DEAN SMITH Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — If you go by the solar calendar, winter doesn't start for another three weeks. But if you go by the Florida High School athletic calendar, winter gets into full swing tomorrow.

Yes its time to put away the pigskin, running shoes and swim suits and get out the roundball, soccer shoes and wrestling mat.

While the girls' soccer and basketball teams have been playing a limited schedule the past week or so, they will get into the regular schedule this week and will be joined by the boys basketball, soccer and wrestling teams, making this one of the busiest athletic seasons on the high school schedule.

December and early January also bring about big tournaments in all of the sports.

This week (Dec. 4-7), the Seminole and Lake Howell boys basketball teams will be playing in the Rotary Tip Off Tournament at Winter Park High School. Lake Howell will also compete in the Dr. Phillips Invitational in Orlando Dec. 14 and the Great Florida Shootout in St. Petersburg Dec. 19-21.

Most of the county boys basketball teams will participate in the Central Florida Classic, which will be played at Oviedo High School and Seminole Community College Dec. 18-21.

The girls basketball teams from Seminole. Lyman and Lake Howell will also be in tournaments.

Seminole's girls will travel to a pair of events, going to the Polk County Holiday Classic at Lake Gibson High School Dec. 26-28 and the Titusville-Astronaut Tournament Jan. 2-3. The Greyhounds will be going to the Ocala-Forest Tournament, Dec. 26-28 while the Silver Hawks will host the Lake Howell High School Christmas Tournament, Dec. 26-28.

In girls soccer, the 16-team Burger King Girls Soccer Classic will take place at Lake Mary and Lyman high schools. Lyman, Lake Mary and Lake Brantley (the last three Class 4A state champions) will represent Seminole county in the tournament.

The Seminole and Lake Howell girls soccer teams will be going to the Central Florida Soccer Challenge Cup in Kissimmee, Jan. 2-4.

The boys soccer teams from Lake Mary, Lyman, Lake Howell. Oviedo and Lake Brantley will compete in the 16-team Pizza Hut Invitational Boys Soccer Tournament, Dec. 26-31, at Orlando's Boone and Bishop Moore high schools.

The wrestling teams also will see tournament action as Seminole will travel to Daytona Beach for the Seabreeze Holiday Tournament, Dec.

13-14, while the rest of the county squads will compete in the Lyman Christmas Invitational Tournament, Dec. 13-14.

As with every new season, there are a multitude of questions surrounding the teams and individual players. In boys basketball, for example, the main questions are whether Oviedo can live up to expectations and how will Seminole fare under a new coach.

Big things are expected of the Oviedo Lions, partly because of returning starters Leon Lowman and Simon Harper Jr., partly because of transfers Bernard and Devon Green, the nephews of ex-Orlando Magic Sidney Green.

Seminole returns All-Seminole Athletic Conference performer J.J. Wiggins at guard and last year's third leading scorer. Shawn Washington, along with top reserves Larry Lawrence, Jonathan Montgomery and Wesley O'Neal. But the Tribe will have to get used to a new system with Bill Klein replacing Greg Robinson at the helm for the Tribe.

In girls' basketball, the focus will be on a pair of juniors, Seminole's Niki Washington and Lake Mary's Karen Morris.

Washington, in her second year of high school basketball after sitting out her freshman year, will be attempting to lead Seminole back to the See Winter, Page 2B

DOUBLE TAKES

One if by land, two if by sea, three if by air . .

While the Lake Mary Rams didn't have a naval attack to unleash against the invading Bethlehem (Penn.)

Catholic Golden Hawks in Rotary Bowl XVIII, they did strike from the air and by land, Matt Diemer (No. 7, left) caught two of the three touchdown passes thrown by Ram quarterback Jason Rasmussen while Anush Collins (No. 33, right) scored the game-winning touchdown on a seven-yard run with 1:27 left to play.

Rams win Goldenrod tourney

From Staff Reports

LONGWOOD — While it may not have ranked high on the aesthetic scale, Lake Mary's 3-1 overtime win over Lyman in the championship game of the Goldenrod Rotary boys' soccer tournament Saturday was still a good one for the victorious Rams.

"It wasn't an exceptionally well-played game," said Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle. "But for this early in the season, it was a nice win. We just kept playing and found a way to win it. It was a nice win for the seniors to start off their final year."

Lake Mary, which advanced to the championship match with a 2-0 win over Boone and a 5-2 victory against Lake Brantley on Friday, came within two minutes of being the runners-up in the tournament.

Lyman, the tournament's defending champion, took a 1-0 lead in the first two minutes of game on a goal by Dan McAvoy. Goalie Robert Colon and the Greyhound defense made that lead stand up until there was 1:53 left in the game, when Lake Mary finally netted the equalizer.

The game-tying play started with a long throw-in by the Rams. A Lyman defender tried to head the ball out, but Lake Mary fullback Brandon Woods came charging in and headed it back in from the top left corner past Colon to the far post.

Mario Travios, a defender who McCorkle occasionally plays on the front line, scored what turned out to be the game-winning goal with 12 seconds left in the first of the two mandatory overtime periods.

Rotarians deserve 'Well Done' for Rotary Bowl XVIII

A month or so ago, we started a spot photo feature here in the Sanford Herald sports section called "Well Done," It's pupose is to recognize those special athletic achievements that might otherwise go unnoticed, like a hole-in-one or a large catch while fishing.

If we had a photo to do it, we'd be recognizing the Rotary Chib of Seminole County South today for their "Well Done" accomplishment of the 18th Rotary Bowl last Thursday.

Failing that, we'll do it here. By any standard, Rotary

By any standard, Rotary Bowl XVIII was an unqualified success. When you factor in the added variable that Bethlehem Catholic High School from Pennsylvania was one of the participants, then the success of the venture takes on a greater magnitude.

Despite the fact that the Becahi Golden Hawks were two-time Pennsylvania state champions in their enrollment classification during the 1980s, bringing in an out-of-state team was nothing short of an all-or-nothing gamble. There would be no middling success, It'd be either be a smash or flop.

The early reviews point toward mash.

Some of the credit must go to the Becahi Golden Hawks and their fans. When they landed at the

SPORTS

TONY DeSORMIER

Central Florida Regional Airport last Tucsday, their charter flight carried 218 people. There are schools in Central Florida that don't travel across county lines with that large an entourage.

That's not counting the other hundred or so Golden Hawk faithful that flew down on their own or made the drive south. When the game kicked off Thanksgiving morning, the visitors' side of Lyman field were three-quarters full.

Also, take Mary High School and its tans should be lauded for their contributions to the event. While the Becahi fans came to Florida specifically for the game, the Rain supporters undoubtedly had other social distractions that come from spending. Thanksgiving at home.

Yet they came.

They were all well rewarded the Rams and Golden Hawks hooking games of the year. Mother Nature co-operated with mild temperatures, plenty of sunshine and a breeze that kept things comfortable.

Universal Studios chipped in, sending over Frankenstein and Woody Woodpecker to entertain the crowd during the few slow moments. Cablevision was there, broadcasting the spectacle live (an again today at 4 p.m. on Channel 16).

As Lake Mary coach Doug Peters pointed out, the whole event had a "colleglate feel" to it. And that's why the Rotary Club of Seminole County South deserves a "Well Done." They took a big-time gamble and turned it into a major event, an impressive athletic accomplishment. There was nothing small-time about it. Everything surrounding the event was well done.

Don't be deceived by the size of the gamble the Rotarians took. The Rotary Bowl is their major fundraiser of the year, an event that generates much of the funds they distribute back into the community through various charities. It is a task they take very seriously. Had this experiment flopped and people stayed away in droves well, you get the idea.

It was a gutsy move. It was twice up in one of the more entertaining—that. And they pulled it off.

games of the year. Mother Nature—Ed Bookbinder, the pre-

Ed Bookbinder, the president of the Seminole County South chapter, and Paul McCormick, the Rotary Bowl chairman, should be proud of the efforts turned in by their legions of members and their families. You couldn't look anywhere on Thursday and not see one of the telltale fuchsia shirts attending to some detail.

Now comes the really hard part — can they do it again?

can they do it again?

Personally, I would love to see the Rotary Bowl become a game that traditionally pits one of Central Florida's best teams against a school from another state. That would place the Rotary Bowl among the year's top athletic events, not just in Seminole County, but Central Florida.

The problem is that such an undertaking becomes a year-round effort. Unlike the first 17 Rotary Bowls that matched two of the best local teams that didn't make the playoffs, this not something that can be put together in a couple of weekends. An out-of-state team has to be found and signed well enough in advance for that school to make the necessary financial arrangements.

They proved it can be done once. Here's hoping they can do it again and again and again.

Dolphine, Higgs run over Busganeers

MIAMI - The Miami Dolphins handed running back Mark Higgs a starting job Sunday, and he showed no intention of Higgs. replacing fumble-plagued Sammie Smith, rushed for 131 yards in 25 carries to lead Miami past Tampa Bay 33-14. The Dolphins (7-8) improved their chances at an AFC wild-card berth and surmounted the .500 mark for the first time this season. Tampa Bay fell to 2-11.

The 5-foot-7 Higgs, who started Miami's first six games when Smith was hurt, regained the job after Smith lost three fumbles near the opposing goal line in the past five games.

Ironically, Higgs lost a fumble on his third carry Sunday, but he bounced back to gain 103 yards in the first half and spark a 24-point second-quarter that gave Miami a 24-7 halftime lead. Higgs' 100-yard effort was the first for the Dolphins since he reached that milestone in each of the season's first two games.

The Dolphins scored on six conscentive possessions and totaled a season-high 468 yards to cruise to their most lopsided win of the year.

Hurricanes take third in San Juan

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico - Samarr Logan led Miami with 17 points, and the Hurricanes sank eight of nine free throws down the stretch to hold off determined Tennessee for a 72-80 victory

Sunday at the San Juan Shootout. Top-seeded Tennessee, which trailed 39-18 with 5:54 remaining in the first half, had railled within four points. The Volunteers (1-3) trailed 62-58 with 1:20 left on a layup by Gannon Goodson. But with 1:07 left, Miami's Jerome Scott was fouled while making a layup. After the play, Tennessee's Alian Houston was called for a technical foul, which coupled with the free throw made Scott's basket a five-point play.

Then free throws by Michael Gardner. Trevor Burton and Jake Morton sealed the victory for Miami (4-1), giving the Hurricanes third place in the tournament.

Florida Southern takes seventh

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico - Scott Head scored 17 points for Florida Southern, which used a 13-0 run in the second half to defeat American College of Puerto Rico 78-65 Sunday in the San Juan Shootou!.

Moccassins (1-2), who led 36-35 at halftime, finished seventh in the tournament.

Trailing 42-41 with 17:20 remaining, Florida Southern took the lead for good on a basket by Jesse Washington. It and began the run that ended when Chris Lee made it 54-42 with 11:32 left.

Forget leads France to Davis Cup victory

LYON, France - Underdog France won the Davis Cup for the first time in 59 years Sunday, as a euphoric, foot-stamping crowd cheered Guy Forget to a pressured-packed, four-set victory over Pete Sampras of the United States.

Hammering aces on many of the crucial points, Forget win 7-6 (6-6), 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 and gave his team an insurmountable 3-1 lead in the best-of-5 showdown. France had not beaten the Americans in Davis Cup play since the 1932 final; the last time it won the coveted silver trophy.

Competitive year ends for local martial artists

From Stall Reports

SANFORD - The competitive season for the students of Menefee's Martial Arts Academy came to end recently with a trio of local fighters earning state and national recognition in major tournaments.

Tonya Pierce placed fourth in the Battle of Atlantis in May, the largest tournament in the United States, and Booker McNeil carned a third place finish in the U.S. Open in June, the second largest tournament in the country, according to Langston Menefee, Grandmaster of Menefee's Martial Arts Academy.

Also Kenny Kaiser, who was the 1990 Beginner's Heavyweight state champion. was in the running for the state championship of the Heavyweight Intermediate Division this year but was forced to miss the state meet and wound up ranked No. 2.

The competitive season will kick off again in February with several students working hard in preperation for moving into full contact Karate. Menefee also reported that his new system, Hito Scishin Jitsu Ryu (Art of Spiritual Self), is starting to see a lot of growth in concept and is getting a very strong foundation. He said a lot of his inspiration in developing the system comes from his two oldest students, 80 year old Herman Prashnik and 58 year old blackbelt Richard Euginio. "Euginio has been involved in martial arts since 1962 and has been a great inspiration to me in developing the new system," said Meneffee. "Herman only has partial use of one arm and has a lot of heart and works extremely hard. He's proof that age does not matter, he made it through the holocost, and his stories of the war helps me in developing the system."

Mario Travios (No. 10) scored the game-winning goals in Lake Mary's 2-0 victory over Boone on Friday and the Rams' 3-1 overtime win against Lyman in Saturday's Goldenrod Rotary tournament finals.

Soccer-

Centinued from 1B

According to McCorkle, it was a goal of highlight film quality.

It started when Justin Walker played a ball from the wing inside to David Yurick, who made a one-time pass to Travios on the right wing. The pass was a little in front of Travios, who made a sliding tackle at the ball at the same time that Lyman

Somehow, Travlos maintained possession of the ball, bounced up and took the ball on goal. After pushing the ball past and hurdling another Lyman defender. Travlos quickly settled the ball and hammered a leftfooted shot home with 12 seconds left in the intial overtime defender Jeff Onderko did.

Lake Mary's third goal, which came at the start of the second overtime period, capitalized on the fact that Lyman was pushed forward in attempt to score the tying goal.

Walker, who was near midfield, took what McCorkle described as a lazy air ball and nodded it ahead toward the Lyman goal. He then dribbled in on and beat Colon, who came out to try and cut down Walker's shooting angle. Lake Mary goalie Pat Reilly turned in a solid performance after allowing the early goal. making five saves on the eight shots Lyman attempted. Colon finished with six saves on Lake Mary's 17 shots on goal.

The Rams also had a 7-3 advantage in corner kicks.

Travlos, who also scored the game-winning goal for Lake Mary in the 2.0 win over Boone on Friday, was named the Rams' Most Valuable Player in the championship game.

Now 3-0, Lake Mary will play again on Wednesday at Deltona. Lyman, which beat Winter Park 4-2 and Bishop Moore 7-0 on Friday, will put its 2-1 record on the line against Lake Brantley at home Thursday night. Both games will start at 7:30 p.m. following junior varsity contests at 5:45 p.m. district championship, a title it relinquished to St. Cloud last year after a two-year reign.

Morris, who is expected to play a vital role in Lake Mary's bid for the 4A-District 9 title, is coming off a knee injury that sidelined her for much of the second half of last season.

The big news in wrestling is the return of Doug Peters to the head of the Lake Mary wrestling program after a one-year hiatus.

Under Peters, Lake Mary was conference, district and regional champions seven years in a row. a streak that ended last season after Peters stepped down to concentrate on his duties as head football coach.

Last year, the Oviedo Lions claimed the SAC team championship while the Lake Brantley Patriots were the district and regional champions. Neither team is expected to surrender those titles without a serious tussle Streaks of another sort are the topic of discussion in girls' soccer circles. The last three years, the Class 4A state champion has come from Seminole County - Lake Mary in 1989, Lake Brantley in 1990 and Lyman in 1991. Who's turn is it this year? All three of the schools - including the Lake Howell Silver Hawks - would have to be considered legitimate possibilities of continuing the county's dominance over the state this year.

In boys' soccer, both the Lake Mary Rams and Seminote Fighting Seminoles will be attempting to repeat as district champions.

Lake Mary, under Coach Larry McCorkle, is off to a 3-0 start after winning the Goldenrold Rotary tournament this past weekend. McCorkle, who won several state championships while coaching at Bishop Moore, led the Rams to the state semifinals in 1989.

Seminolem, which has struggled against the larger schools in the SAC, has dominated its district the last two seasons. going 11-0-2 against district opponents during that time following the event. 5. Submit advance notices at least one week prior to the preferred publication date, and requests for photographer at least one week prior to the event.

Purchase tree right off farm

A great family activity during the holiday season is purchasing a Christmas tree. This year, for lots of fun, why not visit a Christmas tree farm and pick your own tree from those growing right in the ground?

Most people prefer a live Christmas tree. Usually, we go to a place that sells trees that have been grown somewhere up north. But local tree farms sell trees that are grown right here in Seminole County! By purchasing your tree right off the farm, you are guaranteed of getting the freshest tree possible.

A fresh tree has good color and holds its needles well. Our weather usually causes trees to wilt quickly and then drop their needles. How well the tree survives depends on the type of tree the home. and when it was cut.

better and last longer.

First, you can bend the needles. If the tree is fresh,the needles will be supple and bend easily. Feel the bottom of the trunk wher the cut has been made. After a cut is made, the tree produces sap within an hour which can prevent the tree from taking up water. This is why you recut the tree before you put it in

Once you find the tree that you want, it is important to care for it properly so it will last through the holidays. If you buy the tree several days before you are going to set it up, set it outside. Recut the trunk at a diagonal about an inch above the original cut and place it in a container of water in a cool, shady place.

Thoughtful holiday gifts spread cheer

DEAR READERS: Well, It polishing off the Thanksgiving lestovers, and it's time to start shopping for holiday gifts again.

You may consider spending less on gifts this year and doing a little more for the poor and homeless.

However, old habits are hard to break, so if you insist on sending gifts, let me tell you what not to give Aunt Sylvia and Uncle Howard, who don't get around much anymore.

Forget the cologne, dusting powder and after-shave. They probably have several unopened boxes on their closet shelves that is, if they haven't already recycled them.

Grandpa doesn't need another necktie, and Grandma doesn't want any more earrings. With the price of groceries going through the roof, older people who live alone on fixed incomes would appreciate a basket of practical goodles. How about small tins of tuna, chicken and ham? Also, crackers, instant coffee, tea, soup mixes and cookies. People who live in confined quarters do not need more "things." so don't send candy dishes or figurines. And don't send articles of clothing unless you're sure the size is right. Leisure (or "warm-up") suits are comfy and easy to launder. Older folks love them.

Some truly useful gifts: an assortment of postcards, some lined stationery with envelopes and a generous supply of postage stamps. And enclose some felt-tip pens.

Another suggestion: a variety of greeting cards for all occasions. They might want to send someone a nice birthday. anniversary, graduation or meal with you and your family. thank-you card. Don't forget Loneliness is the ultimate povget-well cards, condolence cards erty. and "congratulations on the new baby" cards. Should you be tempted to recycle a lovely but useless gift story about the sister-in-law who still in its original box, make allows her dog to eat off the sure the card to you is not still in the box.

Never give a pet to anyone that person wants a pet and is able to care for it properly. And if you want to make a hit with someone who has a pet, send a little holiday gift for it la tin of dog or cat food and bird seed for "Tweetic Pie") along with a gift for its master.

Don't give wine or liquor to people unless you are sure they imbibe. A thoughtful idea: a gift subscription for a magazine or newspaper you know they will ries, but have a little compassion for those who are, and lead them not into temptation. Also bear in mind that some older folks have difficulty chewing nuts and car-Another good idea for those living alone on a fixed income: a gift certificate for some kind of service such as window washing, carpet cleaning, taxi rides, barber shop, beauty parlor or dinner or lunch at their favorite place. And (don't laugh) a gift certificate entitling them to a trip to the podiatrist Because medication is no small item these days, a gift certificate from the neighborhood pharmacy would be very much appreciated. Trust me.

Holiday time can be depressing for people who are alone, so if you know someone who might be alone and lonely, give him (or her) the best gift of all — an invitiation to have a holiday you tell me about Crohn's dis-

DEAR READER: Crohn's disease is a chronic inflammatory bowel disease of unknown cause that typically (but not invariably) affects the colon and the last portion of the small intestine. The disease affects both sexes equally and usually begins before the age of 40. Symptoms include chronic di-arrhea, abdominal pain, fever, weight loss and a tender abdominal mass (the inflamed bowel). Arthritis, mouth ulcers and acute skin inflammation may accompany the bowel dis-

Crohn's disease is diagnosed by X-ray, colonoscopy or biopsy. Treatment consists of cortisone and - in some cases drugs, such as cyclosporin. which suppress the immune system. Antibiotics are useful only when bowel abscesses complicate Crohn's disease. Surgery is occasionally required if intestinal obstruction occurs.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please discuss cardiomyopathy. Is this a common disorder?

DEARREADER: Cardiomyopathy is a general term that denotes a disorder of the heart muscle. The affliction is associated with many diseases, including coronary artery disease, hypertension, infections, metabolic disorders (such as diabetes and thyroid diseases), malnutrition, autoimmune diseases, tumors of the heart and alcoholism. Any disease that affects the heart muscle either directly or indirectly can lead to cardiomyopathy. Thus, this disorder is common.

Symptoms, such as weakness and breathlessness, appear when the damaged heart muscle can no longer perform normally. It becomes flabby, stretched and weak, with resulting accumulation of fluid in the lungs, liver

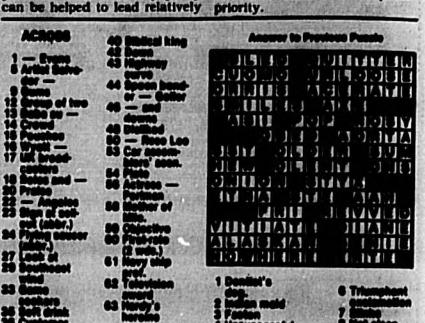

Unless the underlying disease is treated, cardiomyopathy carries a grim prognosis: More than 70 percent of these patients die within five years.

However, with modern drugs (such as Vasotec) to improve the strength of the beating heart and to reduce the cardiac workload, patients with cardiomyopathy normal, albeit restricted, lives. As I mentioned, control of the causative disease is a prime Rabbi Shapiro had just said Rabbi ruffing. goodbye to the last of the The Rabbi could enter the Hanukkah worshipers. He was dummy and take a trump fi-happy. Not only did he like to tell nesse, but he saw that there was the story of the Maccabees, but also he had a bridge game organized for the afternoon.

And that started beautifully for the Rabbi. His t. o-club opening in the first deal was strong. artificial and forcing. He alerted his wife's three-club rebid. explaining that it was a double negative showing a very bad hand. Regardless, the Rabbi wasn't going to stay out of game with one of the best hands he had ever held.

"I did warn you, Sam," said the Rabbi's wife as she tabled her cards. West led the club king, under which East dropped the queen. indicating either a singleton or the Q-J. West continued with nesse, but he saw that there was little advantage in this play. It would benefit only if East had king doubleton. A greater risk was a bad trump break. The Rabbi led the spade queen from his hand.

If East won with the spade king and played his last club, the ruff would be taken in the dummy. Therefore, East ducked. But now the Rabbi entered dummy with a heart to the jack and took a trump finesse. When it won, he cashed the spade ace. The king didn't drop, but he was able to claim his contract. cashing his red-suit winners until East opted to ruff.

"Well played, darling!" exclaimed the Rabbi's wife. "Thank you, Lucyle."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be watchful for commercial opportunities today. They might come about in an unexpected manner, and you'll have to think and respond quickly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You could be quite lucky today in your one-to-one dealings with others, especially with two people with whom you've been previously fortunate.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your probabilities for material accumulation look very encouraging today. Focus your efforts on developments that are materially rewarding.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're very charismatic today. and the impression you'll make on others will be favorable. You'll especially wow those meeting you for the first time.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Time tends to enhance your luck today instead of diminishing it. Be optimistic regarding the outcome of events and proceed in a positive manner.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You might be a bit more restless than usual and desirous of doing something active and fun today. Fortunately, you should find some friends who are of the same mind-set.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your financial prospects look quite strong today, and gains are probable in two areas. One is from your career while the other could come through a relative or family member.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) All you'll have to do today to get others to support your proposals is to show proper initiative. Lead and they will follow.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In-fluences that have an effect upon your material well-being are promising today, not to mention unusual. Others might end up doing more for you than you'll do for yourself. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There might be unexpected revisions in your social plans today, but don't let it upset you. You'll enjoy yourself wherever you go and whatever you do. (C)1991, NEWSPAPER EN-TERPRISE ASSN.
