American Leadership

American world leadership may be traced in substantial measure to the gains which have been achieved in the past century in the fields of medicine, sanitation, and hygiene.

Dr. Dublin's article, making the centennial observance of the modern public health movement, points to the saving of millions of Americans from premature death as an important factor in the development of our current prosperity and leading position in world affairs.

The resulting extension of the working period of life and greater freedom from disabling illness, have made possible increased production and higher living standards. Dr. Dublin points out a gain of more than 25 years in average length of life for males, and of about 28 years for females is presented as a measure of the progress in public health during the century.

Outlook For Europe

The Organization for European Economic Co-operation has prepared its master economic plan for Europe for the balance of the scheduled life of the Marshall Plan.

The conclusion for the people of Europe is that for the next few years they can expect to continue to live on short rations, be frugally clothed and housed, and carry on the seemingly endless effort to lead their countries back from bankruptcy. The economists cannot yet foresee a time when Europeans can relax and enjoy the fruits of a good year.

The outlook for Europe is like that for an individual who sees hard sledding ahead as he considers his probable finances of years to come. No one really knows what will happen. The only thing to do is to work hard, live frugally if need be, and be prepared to take full advantage of the breaks of the game as they occur.

What Is A Home Run Worth?

They say that Babe Ruth, the idol of millions, held 64 major league records. There was one more. He was the biggest money earner in history of baseball.

Starting at $600 a year, he reached a top of $80,000, and in 24 years was paid a total of $925,000. Add another $41,445 as his share in World Series receipts. Add an estimated $1,000,000 from endorsements of this and that, barnstorming tours, movies and radio appearances. That's around $2,000,000. But who says he wasn't worth it? Who envies him a dime of it? Not a soul.

The Bambino's good years were before income taxes took most of the big salaries. In 1930-31, when he was being paid more than the President of the United States, the tax collector nicked his $80,000 for about $12,000, leaving him $68,000. A man could save something then. If he played for the same pay in 1947, the government would have taken over $52,000 and left him 34% of what he made.

In 1930, the Babe could put the $68,000 the government left him in a bank at 4%, earning him $2,720 a year. In 1947, what was left on an $80,000 income would earn in a savings bank 1 1/2%, or only $417 to cover costly hospital services for cancer of the throat. And think, too, of what a buck would buy in 1930, and what it will buy today! In one way or another, this hits all of us. —Winter Park Herald.

Congressman Herlong Reports

Now that we have been properly sworn in and settled down to work as the Representative of the people of the Fifth District in Congress, may we take this opportunity of reporting to the people we represent our impressions of Washington, the opening of Congress, and the President's "State of the Union" message which he delivered in person to the Congress on January 3.

Of course Washington's weather isn't nearly as pleasant as Florida's but in general we are well pleased with our home in Forest Glen, our neighbors and surroundings, the schools, and the shopping centers in Silver Spring. We found the people of our Church in Silver Spring to be very friendly. By shops we like it, but raise the "homelike" very much.

It was a real thrill to be sworn in as a member of Congress on January 3. Not the least of the thrill came from the fact that, at the moment of the administering of the oath, we were sitting with Representative J. Harkin Patterson of the First District of Florida, Dean of the Florida delegation. He is beginning his ninth term in Congress. Our acquaintance with Mr. Patterson dates back many years. Through all of them he has been a beloved friend and we were so glad to have him be the first one to be re-elected as after we officially became a member of Congress. The other members of the Florida delegation in the House and in the Senate, have also been most helpful to us. Team work among the members of the delegation will certainly be an all-time high this session.

Mr. Truman in his address to the Congress... The President asked for four billion dollars more money—and told us where to get it—recording, first, highest corporate taxes.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

This new British-Israeli outbreak is so complicated and so terribly dangerous that your columnist returns to it a second day.

One of the troubles in examining a situation with so many angles is that there is a danger we shall let our vision be limited by local conditions. What we need to do is cut out some of the trees so we can see the forest. Therefore let's get busy with the ax!

The current quarrel of course is the outgrowth of the Arab-Jewish conflict. And the Arab-Jewish imbroglio, like most other important international developments, has been some involved in the cold war between Russia and the anti-Communist countries.

It is one of those dangerous elements which might precipitate another world war, because power politics have become involved. Russia very quietly and slyly has entered the picture. The British charge that Czechoslovakia is violating the Palestine arms embargo by sending supplies to Israel. Since Czechoslovakia moves only as Moscow pulls the strings, we are left with the clear inference that these shipments of war arms are being sent from the Soviet Union.

What is the significance of this? The answer is that Russia appears to be preparing to try to capitalize the defeat which the Jewish forces have inflicted on the forces of the neighboring Arab nations. This whole East Middle East theatre has been within the British zone of influence—a vastly important feature of her imperial defenses. Russia now is maneuvering for control.

Right here it should be said that, so far as I know, nobody has suggested that Israel is playing ball with Russia. The Israeli needs arms and if they have bought from Czechoslovakia it has been because of dire need and it has been a non-political business transaction. It is safe to assume that Israel would fight Russian interference as quickly as the wind that from any other quarter.

Anyway, Russia is aiming at control of the Middle East, and her timing may be good. The full effect of the Arab defeat may not yet have registered. The governments of the Arab states involved know that their armies have been badly beaten. But the general mood of the truth-loving Commonwealth of Nations hasn't yet learned the full truth. Close observers figure that when the public do discover just what has happened, they may turn against their governments.

It may well be that Moscow is counting on this contingency. Might such a situation develop it might give Communism a strong foothold in the Middle East. Certainly that's a possibility which is worrying Britain, and it would be a heavy blow to the anti-Communist West as a whole.

The Middle East forms a great barrier between the Orient and the West. It is a mighty defense for the Suez Canal and the whole Eastern Mediterranean area. It contains great quantities of oil—the essential of our war machine—in which not only Britain but America is vitally interested.

And from the standpoint of military strategy, the Middle East provides air-bases which the Western Allies must hold in the event of another world war.

Those bases would afford protection for the Mediterranean bases from which heavy bombers would be able to reach far—very far!

State Unemployment Tax Due By Jan. 31

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 12 (Special)—Chairman Raymond E. Harney of the Florida Industrial Commission today reminded Florida employers subject to the unemployment tax that any contributions due the state Unemployment Compensation Fund for 1948 must be paid by Jan. 31, 1949, in order to be eligible for full credit against the 3 per cent federal unemployment tax for 1949.

Employers subject to the federal unemployment tax are allowed to take credit on the federal return up to 90 per cent of such tax for contributions paid to the state on time, but lose 10 per cent of such credit if payment to the state is delayed until after Jan. 31.

All employers who have paid their total Florida tax for 1948 by Jan. 31, will be entitled to a 90 per cent credit on their federal return regardless of the rate at which they have contributed their Florida tax. For example, a Florida employer contributing to the state Unemployment Compensation Fund at a rate of 1 per cent would still be allowed 90 per cent credit against his federal tax of 3 per cent.

SOVIET SWAMP DRAINED MOSCOW—(AP)—The subtropical swamps of the Chochkides are being drained. Located along the southeast of Soviet Georgia these swamps were famous in antiquity and entered into Greek mythology and chronicles. They have rich soil but for attempts at drainage the area formerly undertaken failed. Now because of the fact that the swamps flooded whenever strong western winds forced up the waters of the Black Sea coast and drove them into the swamp areas.

Why Not Stop Waste?

Tampa Tribune

Four billion dollars is a lot of money. You couldn't count that many dollars, one by one, in the shortest hours of an average lifetime. Before we entered upon the billion-dollar era in American finance, the mere mention of that sum would have baffled the imagination.

Yet, that is the amount President Truman demands that we, the people of the United States, pay in additional taxes the coming year, to defray the cost of his "program."

We may gain some idea of why federal taxes are so high in the mere fact that it is now estimated that this government will carry on this year, in a year and a half more than the government is collecting in taxes. As an item, we pay more than five billion a year just to meet the interest on our national debt of $56 billion.

Faced with this enormous deficit, it would appear to any thoughtful mind that the framers of our financial policy would seek diligently for every possible means of saving government expenses, which is admittedly far beyond all reason and necessity.

But, President Truman, in his message to our new Congress, omitted any suggestion of reducing the cost of government—although he has before him the voluminous and exhaustive report of the Hoover commission, which with 12 members and 1000 experts has devoted 15 months to surveying and probing every phase and function of the federal government, and which has come forth with practical recommendations for saving many millions of dollars merely by eliminating duplicating branches, bureaus and services and cutting out needless expenditures.

What are some of these duplications and extravagances? Some of the glaring instances are brought out in the Hoover report, quoted by William H. Arthur in the current issue of Look magazine. Let's glance over the amazing revelations:

The government maintains 38 different agencies engaged only in lending money.

The government maintains 16 different agencies engaged only in wildlife preservation.

The government maintains 1816 separate bureaus and agencies, employing 2,000,554 civilian workers, with an annual payroll of more than six billion, occupying 46,905 separate offices. The Hoover commission tells how much of this payroll can be abolished.

Efficiency of the average governmental agency is revealed by the fact that it took one agency several months and cost $5,000 merely to put its employees from 7,000 to 5,000.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs employs 12,269 persons to serve 835,000 Indians—one employee for every 52 Indians.

The Veterans Administration, with a veritable army of employees, requires an average of 73 days to pay death claims, although private insurance companies pay them within 15 days.

Although the expense of operating the Panama Canal has gone up 75 per cent since 1938, toll rates are the same as 10 years ago.

cessing more taxes demanded? Here's another amazing item of the utter disregard of all sensible and practical measures of economy: Despite the demand for saving government costs, during the 11 months of 1948, up to December, an average of 304 new employees were added to the federal payroll each and every day.

Is there a remedy for this unvarnished waste of public money? The Hoover commission shows that there is. Will any of its recommendations be adopted and put into practice?

Mr. Truman doesn't say so. He offers no suggestion of decreasing costs of government—only more expenses, more taxes.

It's time for the great American people to get busy in demanding that their representatives in Congress do something about it.

The estimated annual economic loss, resulting from arthritis diseases in the U. S. is almost twice as great as the total 1947 budget for New York State.

Icebergs frequently are encountered far south of Polar regions. Speeder's rough driving 75 miles an hour in North Carolina automatically forfeit their driver's license for six months.

Sweden Discovers Neutrality Is High

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—Here where everything is costly—and neutrality is no exception—the Swedes seem to be buying largely of that commodity.

Forway may have made up her mind to join a western alliance. Denmark may have done the same thing.

But not the Swedes. There isn't a sign here which might indicate they'll go into any western, or for that matter, eastern military alliance.

It's straight down the road for Sweden as usual. But, all this is costly.

Prices are high and there are lots of things from the west that one used to see around this beautiful, charming city of the north, which just aren't here anymore.

"Dollars," you hear that word in a lot of places and usually accompanied by "Oh, how I wish I had some." But then they shake their heads and say, "Well, there doesn't seem much chance of that."

The Swedes are not exciting themselves with war talk. Many with whom you talk believe that should a third war come, they will probably be able, as in the case of the other two, to keep clear of shooting.

There may not be many Americans in Sweden, but there certainly is a high population of American cars. The people here seem to have a better taste than many places in Europe. This goes for the working class, too, and while the housing situation still appears to be bad, it is getting better.

With her pre-war German market gone, Sweden is still looking about buyers and markets, and apparently finding both, although perhaps not in the quantities she would like.
