More Trouble for Liquor Schooner

(By The Associated Press)
TAMPA, Feb. 17.—The liquor schooner, Charles H. Hyde, which has been docked here for several weeks pending the settlement of a salvage claim and which was released upon payment of the claim yesterday, was immediately taken into custody again by customs officials who are holding it for a fourteen thousand dollar clearance certificate guaranteeing landing of vessel and its cargo of fourteen hundred cases of liquor at some foreign port.

HIG OMAHA FIRE
LOSS $2,500,000
NOT $12,500,000

Due to an error in the transmission or the receipt of the Associated Press dispatch covering the disastrous Armour Stock Yards fire at Omaha on Thursday, the damage was placed at $12,500,000, when in fact it was $2,500,000. The Herald, of course, had no reason to question the accuracy of the figures as received, especially so in view of the earlier dispatches indicating that unless the fire could be got under control the loss would be much greater than that which finally resulted.

EUSTIS PUTS UP GOOD FIGHT WITH SANFORD BUT FEDS WIN

Game Rough in Spots But Exhibition One of Best See This Season

Eustis, with their basket ball team added the Celery Feds quarters Saturday night and put up a real nice game considering the team they were playing against and made the Celery Feds go to the last quarter before it settled that Sanford was the winner. The final count was 41 to 32. The entire Eustis outfit played a game, especially their center, and the end of the first half they were in two field goals of Sanford's, the score standing 18 to 14. At the end of the third quarter Eustis was ahead with the score standing 27, but during the last quarter of the game, after Coach Wilkinson had made the switch in the Feds playing line, the Sanford bunch forged ahead and finally won the game. The forwards, McLucas and Moye were somewhat off in their game, as did the guards, while McLaulin, playing center, was outstanding star of the evening, only in his all around playing but he shot those baskets. The game, although rough in spots, as pretty a game as has been seen any moons, and the large crowd spectators were well satisfied that had received their money's worth. At Friday night, Daytona will play Sanford, and this game will be the last game of the season on the court, and promises to be just what a game as was the Eustis game. All you basket ball fans are urged to take advantage of this last game of the season at home, show the athletic directors and layers that you have appreciated fine record made during the season and turn in a packed house the night. Sanford finishes their schedule at Daytona the following night and we will all await with interest decision as to whether or not Sanford goes to Gainesville.

MAJORS LIKE OUR FLORIDA

Florida is entertaining almost half of the big league players in the country this spring, setting a new high this spring, setting a new high record. Seven clubs, five in the National League and two in the American League and two in the American League, will have some 200 players playing ball in a stretch of territory not much longer than 100 miles north and south and hardly 75 miles east and west. Furthermore, Florida is likely to continue host to the big leaguers for some time to come. The Washington club starts this spring upon a five-year tenure of Tampa. Orlando is to be the permanent training camp for the Cincinnati Reds and the Phillies are to remain at Leesburg. The Cleveland Indians, leaving Texas for the first time since Tris Speaker took charge of the club, will return to Lakeland, if conditions are found satisfactory this year. A new ball park has been built for the Brooklyn Dodgers at Clearwater, and Uncle Robbie expects to take his team there for several years to come. The St. Louis Cardinals, tiring of fighting chill winds in Texas, are to train at Bradentown. In 1914 they got into shape at St. Augustine, while the Browns prepped at St. Petersburg, now the home of the Boston Braves. The Browns go back to Mobile, where they trained last spring with excellent results. Jacksonville, for the first time in a number of years, will be without a major league club this spring. Cold weather is, frequently found in the Florida metropolis. This is true of Daytona, also on the east coast. The success of the Braves and Griffs on the west coast has acted as a coaxer for the other clubs this year. The Phillies are farthest north. St. Petersburg, where the Braves will train is some forty miles or so south of Clearwater. Bradentown is about that far south of Tampa. The Cardinals will be at Bradentown, with the Griffs at Tampa. In the Cocanut League this spring the Griffs will play the Braves, Cardinals, Reds and Phillies. It is also possible that they may hook up with the Brooklyn Dodgers at least once. They are due to be seen at St. Petersburg, Bradentown and Orlando. Texas will have the New York Giants at San Antonio and the Chicago White Sox at Seguin, Alabama, will have the Mackmen at Montgomery and the Browns at Mobile. Hot Springs, Ark., will have the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Boston Red Sox. Louisiana will have the New York Yankees at New Orleans, Georgia will have the Detroit Tigers at Augusta, the home of Ty Cobb, and California will have the Chicago Cubs training at Santa Catalina.—Tampa Tribune.

FOR THE MOVIE FAN

"Forget-Me-Not." At the Princess tonight.

Carreth Hughes and Bessie Love in the leading roles. And they are a pair of good ones, and there will be a darned good comedy follow this picture.

Sherman Lloyd, Mrs. Sherman and little Jane are honored guests for tonight. Osborne expects you to be there, Lloyd, we'll look for you. It's "Forget-Me-Not" and a good one.

And now comes the good news for all the Sanford theatregoers. "Robin Hood" tomorrow night and the prices have been reduced. This show, one of the finest seen in Sanford, will cost you the small sum of $1.00 plus the tax, and you get any seat in the house.

Robin Hood is not a picture, but one of the finest little road shows traveling the state this season, and with the reduction in prices there is bound to be a crowded house. There being no seats reserved you had better be there early.

"One Clear Call," "Her Social Value" and "Ebb Tide" are three good pictures coming to the Princess this week—all of them features in themselves, with plenty of comedies and other attractions with them.

But don't forget—Robin Hood tomorrow night—One dollar gets you any seat in the house and the show is one sure enough good road show. Be there.

Horse Shoe Pitchers Start Annual Meet at St. Pete Today

Five Thousand Spectators Will Fill Grounds to Watch Game

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—The annual winter tourney of the American Horse Shoe Pitchers' Association opened this morning with more than sixty players including the leading players of the nation trying for honors. Five thousand spectators attended filling the grandstands of the field. Lundin of New London, Iowa is the center of interest as present world's champion. All playing today is of a preliminary character.

SKATING, DANCING AND SPECIALTIES.—LAKE MARY SKATING ACADEMY, WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

280-3tc The impression made by May Valentine's "Robin Hood" has come as a surprise, and the business is satisfactory in all cities played this season. Moreover, theatre devotees have welcomed warmly an adequate musical production in a first class theatre at pre-war prices. The continuance of public favor with the offering may be most significant if interpreted as a demand for normalcy in ticket tariffs rather than the absurdly high prices in vogue since the war.

"Robin Hood" will be at the Princess Theatre Tuesday, February 20th.

CELERY SEED

Sanford won another one.

And Eustis made them do some tall hustling to do it. Duval is having a bad year. Hillsborough took them into camp the first of their three game series.

But we are betting on Duval to turn the trick the next two games. Duval has a fine team and a super player in Capt. Reed.

We will know next week whether or not Sanford will go to Gainesville, representing this district. If Sanford don't go it will be because some one went wrong and not because Sanford is not entitled to it.

Should Sanford go the local fans are looking for results and they are counting on McLucas, W. Moye, McLaulin, Smith and Cowan, backed up by a strong bunch of substitutes, to bring home the bacon. And take a tip from Dad, they can do it, too.

Now that basketball is drawing to a close, all eyes are turned toward baseball. It will be too bad if a City, the size of Sanford, does not get into the game and show 'em about the state that we are just as good at the national pastime, as we were in football and basketball. Let's start something.

The Sanford girls lost a game to the Lakeland lassies last week, but the score was close and the game exciting. Reports from Lakeland are that of all the teams played this season, those Sanford girls kept them on their toes all the time.

And golf—that's the game that has them going in Sanford now. There are new ones going to the course every day and they are all taking lessons from the pro, Mr. George, and this summer will see some sure enough matches. Get your lessons before Mr. George leaves; you will need them for this summer.

Strength continues to feature the lumber market, states the American Lumberman, Chicago. Demand, while much reduced from the recent peak, remains active and well above normal, bookings being considerably in excess of production in nearly all of the woods. Prices retain their great firmness. The upward trend is still present, the advances are becoming less frequent and less marked than heretofore, indications pointing to stabilization near the present level. The cold weather and heavy snows and rains that recently prevailed in many sections of the country have not only retarded outdoor work and found reflection in demand, but have also interfered with logging operations and lumber production, in the South and on the west coast as well as in some minor producing territories where loggers are not prepared to operate during wintry weather. A log scarcity is threatened in some sections and might result in restricted production; but everywhere attempts are being made to maintain and increase output.

Retail demand is strong and inquiries for stocks are voluminous, the higher wholesale prices are creating some hesitation among retail lumber dealers. These say that if further advances are made they will have to increase retail prices, but they are loath to do so in view of the effect an increase might have on the spring building operations. While the wholesale prices have advanced considerably during the last several months, advances have been largely absorbed by retailers; they have not advanced their prices correspondingly, but are working on a very close margin.

Railroads continue to be large purchasers of car material, timbers and other construction items, and the industrial trade generally holds up well. Exports are sizable, and it appears that foreign requirements will amount to a heavy volume this year. Mill stocks meanwhile are being steadily depleted because of the excess of orders and shipments over production, and additional mills are withdrawing from the market. Dry stocks are particularly scarce, and the green are being covered with orders at a rate indicating that there will be no material increase in unsold stocks at a time when the green would normally become available for the market.

Hardwoods maintain the strong position. Most large consuming industries are actively on the market and, as dry material is almost entirely cleaned up, the movement of green hardwoods is becoming very important.

FEBRUARY IS THE MONTH FOR COLD WEATHER HERE AND FOR MANY YEARS

Climate of Florida is Not Changing as Old History Shows

The cold snap today brings to mind the oft-repeated sayings in Florida that "if February is behind us there is no danger of freezes." It also brings out the fact that the climate of Florida is not changing all reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

"It has been the popular belief that the climate in Florida has been growing colder every year, but a reference to that most interesting volume, known as 'Williams Florida' it will be seen that the weather is about the same now as it was in and up to 1837, the date of the volume referred to.

"Col. John Lee Williams was a pioneer of Florida before it was ceded to the United States, his writing show him to have been an historian from the earliest Spanish settlements, a botanist, a naturalist, surveyor, topographer, soldier and author.

"Col. Williams, speaking of the weather conditions says: 'From October to June, the weather is unusually serene and temperate. A few hot days generally occur about the month of June and the beginning of July. In February we often experience a week of cold, uncomfortable weather and rough winds from the northeast are frequently felt early in the spring.

"There are, however, exceptions to this routine of soft weather. In the year 1765, Mr. John Bartram, English botanist, spent the winter months in East Florida. On the third of January, being on the St. Johns river, south of Lake George, he states the thermometer was at 26 degrees, wind northwest. The ground was frozen an inch thick on the banks.

"In 1774, there was a snow storm, which extended over most of the territory. The ancient inhabitants still speak of it as an ordinary white rain. It is said to have done little damage.

"During the year of 1822, in February, the cold was so intense in West Florida, that all the fruit trees were killed, to the ground, and several persons in exposed situations, were chilled to death. This season was comparatively mild in East Florida. On the contrary East Florida suffered exceedingly from a violent frost on the 5th of April, 1828.

"In St. Augustine, during the years 1825-6-7-8 the mean temperature was 68.5 degrees. "The coldest day in 1825 was Dec. 30, 42 degrees; the hottest, August 20, 94 degrees.

"In 1826, the coldest day, Jan. 21, 44 degrees; the hottest, July 5, 92 degrees. "In 1827, the coldest day, Feb. 8, 43 degrees; the hottest, July 16, 92 degrees.

"In 1828, the coldest, April 6, 27 degrees; the hottest, 96 degrees.

"The winter of 1830 was so mild that bananas grew in the open garden at St. Augustine, without injury, and were in blossom on the 16th of May. Corn also grew, during the whole winter. We had roasting ears in May and abundance of Irish potatoes which were planted in December.

"During the month of February, 1835, East Florida was visited by a frost, much more severe than any before experienced.

"A severe northwest wind blew ten days in succession, but more violent for about three days; during this period the mercury sank seven degrees below zero. The St. Johns river was frozen several rods from shore, and afforded the astonished inhabitants a spectacle as new as it was distressing. "All kinds of fruit trees were killed to the ground; many of them never started again, even from the roots. The wild groves suffered equally with those cultivated."

The writer, however, goes on to say that in 1837 (the date of his book), "The young groves are rising from eight to ten feet high, and a few blossoms were discovered this spring on a few trees."

"The groves of wild oranges are at this time, 1837, in full bearing, south of Volusia on the St. Johns river, and at Mosquito on the coast of the Atlantic.

"Peaches, plums, figs are again in full bearing, and the mulberry and the mullein in particular, are now rapidly increasing, and will soon add a new production to the commerce of Florida."

In other parts of his book, Col. Williams advises the culture of the above named species of mulberry, in respect to the culture of silk, an industry which he placed very high even at that early date.

Lake County Prohibits Signs on the Roadside, Tears Them All Down

One Company Lost $1,000 Worth of Signs Last Week

Last week a lubricating oil company from the East invaded Lake county with a crew of five men and a truck and simply placarded Lake county like the dew. The signs consisted of yellow and black tin things about 12x36 inches, a card placard, a sign to attach to telephone poles and one on stilts some 6 to 8 feet.

They grouped these signs at every beauty spot in Lake county, possibly a mile or so apart, and a few signs on virgin pine trees at various intervals.

It is possible that as many as three thousand of these signs were placed.

Early on Wednesday morning protests began to roll into the Lake County Chamber of Commerce and Road Engineer Heller's office, and indignant property owners were hot on the trail of the crew. One party of four men scouted the county to locate these defacers of property and if they had come up to them things would have happened. The crew even posted the park at Eustis, but Mayor Kennedy was notified and he had them take down the cards.

In the meantime property owners began to tear down the placards, and indignant citizens traveling over the county also did some valiant work along this line, but by Friday the road crews finished the job, thus destroying every sign this crew erected or nailed along the highways.

It possibly cost the company $1,000 or more for these signs and the county $35 of men's time to remove them.

The manager was told that his work was a crime against nature, that the roads belonged to the people of Lake county and not to an oil concern; that they knew when they came into Lake county that signs on the highways were not permissible—evidence that the roadways were clean and attractive—that at the foot of every fine old pine could be seen scores of wrecks of previous placarding, yet they ruthlessly began to deface the roadways with their unsightly billing.

This is told at this time because two years ago no one would have given a moment's thought to this signposting, simply because thousands of other signs defaced our roadways. But after two years of attractive drives every citizen noticed the affront and arose in their might to protest against this crime against nature. And every good citizen and property owner along the roadway can do a valiant service to Lake county by striking down every sign that is nailed to a tree or post.

The first move to beautify highways is to remove the signs, and five other counties have followed Lake's lead.—From Laconics.

WOULD BAR MEMBERS OF KU KLUX KLAN

(By The Associated Press)

ALEXANDRIA, La., Feb. 17.—Governor Parker declared that no member of the Ku Klux Klan, whose identity as such was known to him, would be appointed to public office. The assertion was made in a letter to L. B. Baynard, junior state representative, in reply to Baynard's open letter to the governor charging him with failure to the appointment of two men in Rapides parish as requested by a majority of the voters.

"ROBIN HOOD" BE HERE TOMORROW

From the theatre goer's point of view, there is only one thing important in an announcement of a presentation of "Robin Hood." That one thing concerns the company and its ability to interpret the beloved light opera. Of "Robin Hood" itself enough is known to mark it the ideal entertainment, plain to the conception of everybody, wonderful in melody, hilarious in comedy, perfect in its general appeal.

May Valentine has given to the stage the best of young American singers; she has gone after her artists; she did not wait for them to come to her. The Baltimore Sun, speaking of the same company that will be seen at the Princess tomorrow, (Tuesday), February 20th.

"Demands for encores made with popular responsiveness, marked "Robin Hood" at the Academy as a well sung, well played, pleasingly staged production. The chorus is remarkably good and the capable cast brought back to the stage a master piece that may be recommended without reservation.

"Almost all of the beautiful airs were demanded again and again and the principals had to respond to curtain calls after the first act. "O Promise Me," "Brown October Ale" and "The Armourer's Song" have not lost their appeal. "Robin Hood" is a treat."

Weekly Citrus Review

ORLANDO, Feb. 19.—The weekly citrus review by E. L. Skelly, as issued from the office of the American Fruit Growers, Inc., says:

Oranges — Approximately seventy per cent of the Florida orange crop has now moved. As a result the remaining oranges are in strong position. However, California's shipments of navel oranges recently have increased largely. For four days ending February 11, California's navel shipments amounted to a total of 953 cars. The orange market has been strong during the past week, and good fruit well packed will continue in excellent demand.

Grapefruit — There has been a considerable strengthening in the inquiry and demand for grapefruit. The good quality fruit has continued in strong demand and there has been a considerable recovery on that of ordinary quality. To date approximately fifty-two per cent of the Florida grapefruit crop has moved. With the considerable amount of fruit still remaining prices may be expected to be governed largely by the volume of Florida shipments. If they remain within the limit of consuming capacity there is every outlook for satisfactory prices.

Tangerines—The quality of much of the tangerines arriving in the markets has prevented a high level of prices, because of dryness reported in many shipments. Firm, juicy tangerines are in very excellent demand in a great many markets.

A little more than sixty per cent of the total citrus crop of Florida has moved, the proportions each of oranges and grapefruit being as given above. With all danger of freeze practically past, Florida growers really are in an excellent position, particularly if the quantity of late bloom fruit on the trees be considered. Much of this late bloom fruit is of as good, if not better quality than the regular bloom fruit. If shipments are properly distributed from this time on, so as to avoid and considerable rush on the markets at one time, there is apparently nothing in the way of a most satisfactory termination of the season. General business is excellent all over the country; the demand for our oranges and grapefruit is very good and the fruit itself is generally giving satisfaction.

Women Know What They Want—and Get It

A woman buys many different food products, dozens of fabrics and articles of apparel, shoes, things for the home, toilet preparations—quite probably in a year she makes a thousand purchases. Personally to judge the quality of each, she would need to be a chemist, an engineer, a metallurgist and a good many other things.

So, given the choice, of course she buys the goods she knows in preference to those she does not know. And she is going to have that choice for a good many years. She is boss.

Manufacturers who want to work for her must realize this:—They must put in their application at once; convince her of their intention and ability to give her merchandise of known value; and then live up to the standard.

For she is a just but ruthless boss. She neither forgets nor forgives. She rewards loyal service with loyalty, but her condemnation of broken faith is final.

Her favor is the sunlight of success; her indifference, the outer darkness.
