Sipes Project Is Preferred By Commission

Unanimous Vote Given Hospital Election; Seminole Motor Co. Has Low Truck Bids

The Seminole WPA project for the widening of Sipes Avenue was approved by a unanimous vote of the County Commissioners at their regular meeting in the Court House yesterday.

The project will give work to approximately 100 men and provide for the improvement of the street between Cleary and Geneva Avenues. The project has the approval of the President and first bids already been awarded by the State WPA Administrator R. J. Hill. Local WPA authorities indicated that work on the improvement will begin shortly.

The project was decided more than 100 times by the County Club Road work.

Following the filing of a petition requesting the Board to submit the hospital question to the freeholders again on Nov. 8, the Commissioners unanimously voted in favor of the new referendum.

After bids were opened for two new dump trucks for the county, the contract was awarded to the Seminole Motor Company, their bid being the lowest and best bid.

The firm submitted a bid of $1,241.82 for two GMC trucks without cabs and equipped with a body of 12 1/2 yard capacity and a hydraulic hoist.

Miss Margaret Windus, district director of welfare boards, announced before the Commissioners and discussed the County's welfare projects.

The W. J. Greenway Company was awarded the contract for furnishing supplies for the County Convict Camp and the County Home for the ensuing month.

Tax Collector Joe D. Jenkins was authorized by the Board to purchase a needed filing cabinet and the necessary supplies for his office.

The County Court with payroll for the July Term was approved on a motion by the Board.

The report of several tracts in Sanlando Springs was also given the approval of the Board.

The monthly report of the County Welfare Board was given by Mrs. Esther Ridge. The same was approved and ordered filed.

Local Sportsmen Time Is Extended

Protest Blocking For Paying Taxes Of Wekiva River In Installments

Declaring that they are blocking the Wekiva River, sportsmen in the county who use the stream for fishing, protesting the county's plan to pay taxes on the stream in installments.

The petition asked that the river be opened and kept open for use of boats and fishermen from the bridge on State Road 44 to Palm Springs on the Little Wekiva.

The petition was signed by over 100 prominent persons of the county who use the stream for fishing and who have paid a full amount of taxes on the stream for many years.

The Commissioners, after the complaint had been filed, in a structured county clerk O. P. Herndon to contact the property authorities in order to find out what could be done to alleviate the situation.

The petitioners are as follows: "The Wilson Cypress Company of Palatka in their lumbering operations along the Wekiva and Little Wekiva Rivers are allowing their workmen to fall timber into these streams and not remove the portion of the trees unsuitable for their use, resulting in the streams being partially blocked.

"These streams are used to quite an extent for fishing and boating for pleasure. The falling of this timber into the water is interfering with navigation and ruining the streams for fishing.

"This is navigable water under the jurisdiction of the U. S. War Department and we feel sure that if you will notify the District Engineer, U. S. Engineers Office, Jacksonville, that he will remove the trees from the rivers and put a stop to any more debris being left in the streams.

"The Lower Wekiva River from State Rd. No. 44 to its mouth is kept open by the Government and we would appreciate your honorable body requesting that in the interest of fishing and boating (which has increased rapidly in the last few years and will continue to increase providing a navigable channel is kept open from State Road No. 44 up to Wekiva Springs and on the Little Wekiva from Palm Springs north to its junction with the Wekiva River."

The ordinance provides for an interest rate of 8 percent per annum on the amount remaining unpaid from time to time, and that current taxes must be paid. On failure to comply with these requirements is revoked and the certificates will become immediately subject to sale by the City and the liens subject to foreclosure.

Survivor Tells Of Explosion On Standard Tanker

One Dead, Two Missing When Boat Is Destroyed At Sea

KEY WEST, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A Coast Guard patrol boat which had contacted a rescue ship to day brought aboard S. S. Carr, one of the 31 survivors of a fire and explosion which yesterday destroyed the Standard Oil tanker E. J. Bullock near Dry Tortugas.

The patrol boat also brought from the tanker O. M. Bernuth, which picked up the crew of the blazing tanker after they had taken to lifeboats, the body of Chief Cook L. M. Chavez of New York who died of injuries.

Two members of the crew who were missing were believed to have died in the explosion and fire.

Chavez said today, "No one will ever know what happened." He said a terrific explosion shook the boat and the flames streaked rapidly.

The radio aerial was carried away when the masts fell and the ship was unable to send out an SOS, he said.

The Bernuth was headed for Port Everglades with the other survivors. Carr was treated here for cuts and bruises.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

HUMAN WISDOM CANNOT MAKE A BLADE OF GRASS. O Lord, how manifold are thy works in wisdom that thou make them all: the earth is full of thy riches.—Psalms 104:24.

Some folks' idea of a free press seems to be one you don't have to pay for.

"Do Adopted Children Turn Out Well?" asks the Deland Sun News. Probably not, but for that matter, who does?

Merry-Go-Round says "Baseball figures that popular opinion will support disarmament now as never before." We wonder.

By the way, what ever became of that British plan evolved somewhere near the peak of the recent crisis to settle their war debts?

The Fort Myers News Press points out that New England will probably be mighty glad to know that this is the last month of this year's hurricane season.

A Mrs. Fred Poor, who died the other day in Miami Beach, left an estate of $378,444. When just goes to show that Shakespeare knew there's nothing in a name.

Willie (Pardon Me) Stubbs says he is going to run for governor in 1940. He'll probably run on a platform to turn all the jailbirds out and close up our penal institutions.

We prefer to be feared rather than loved, and we care not if we are hated because we have nothing but contempt for those who hate us.—Benito Mussolini. Not cha cha cha!

Getting out of debt is more a matter of backbone than it is a matter of bankroll.—Key West Citizen. That's probably why so many people have broken their backs trying to do it.

Senator George is said to have spent $48,000 getting himself re-elected to the United States Senate. But how much would he like to know he has much the WPA spent for Lawrence Camp.

Stocks rebound on News of Peace in Europe—headline. We hope that the World Peace won't make as many millionaires as the World War did. Or the first thing you know someone will be launching a movement "to take the profits out of peace."

Americans have often boasted of the opportunities in this country for the humble citizen born in a log cabin to become president, but have yet to produce a house painter who could tell the whole world where to stand in and then make them do it.

It seems that Governor Cone isn't so physically incapacitated that he couldn't deal a death blow to that $10 million dollar bond building program which may not have been the wisest move ever. —Ocala Star. It was a pretty good knockout punch all right for a sick man.

Of course Hitler doesn't want our new territory in Europe, but he can force us to give up our territory at other countries' cost. He can force us to give up our territory at other countries' cost. He can force us to give up our territory at other countries' cost.

A $3 shirt may contain as little as 10 cents worth of cotton and 10 cents worth of wool and a package of cigarettes less than 1-2 cent worth of tobacco.

One More Chance

Seminole County freeholders will be given an opportunity to vote again on the proposed hospital project. The County Commissioners, taking full cognizance of the fact that the project was approved by a four to one vote in the September 27 referendum with nearly a majority of the freeholders voting, and that the heavy rains during the afternoon were an important factor in keeping voters away from the polls, have set November 8, the day of the general election, as the date for another referendum.

The Herald hasn't the slightest doubt that public opinion in Seminole County is overwhelmingly in favor of constructing this hospital. It was thoroughly demonstrated to us on the night of the last referendum when hundreds of persons called this office to learn the results with the almost invariable comment, upon being told that not enough freeholders had voted, "Oh, that's too bad." But the results of the election alone were a sufficient indication under the circumstances of public sentiment.

However, because most of the people want a certain thing, it does not necessarily follow that they will get it, or even that they will take the trouble to register their desires. Each person regards his one little vote of being of such a trifling importance that it could not possibly matter whether he votes or not. When as a matter of fact the election might easily be lost by that very one vote. And then when you go—hundreds of persons thinking that their particular vote doesn't matter much, you have such an important project as the hospital hopelessly defeated.

Now, in order to make absolutely certain that the November 8 referendum does not go the way of the last one, The Herald has this little suggestion to make to the 1078 freeholders who voted for the hospital on September 27. Let everyone of you consider yourself a committee of one, not only to vote again for the hospital on November 8, but to work for it as hard as you can every day from now until election day. Let everyone of you make it your business to see that you bring at least one other person, who did not vote before, to the polls with you, and that he be properly instructed on the merits of the proposed hospital.

With such a committee, a committee of one thousand "committees of one" working on this project for the next thirty days, there is no reason at all why the hospital should not carry. But it is important that it more than carry. It is important that it carry by such an overwhelming vote that no one, whether he be local resident, or PWA official in Washington, can doubt the sincerity and enthusiasm with which Seminole County citizens want a new hospital. For the next thirty days let everyone be a hospital worker as well as a voter.

For only in this way can we be absolutely sure that the referendum will carry at all.

Thirty Dollars Every Thursday

Declaring that one of the promoters of the California Pension Plan "Thirty Dollars Every Thursday" was convicted in 1934 for using the mails to defraud, Walter Davenport reveals in the current issue of Collier's magazine that Willis Allen, chairman of the organization, a professional swindler, now receives an income of $2,400 a day from various contributions to the plan.

Two hundred thousand Californians are reported to have joined the movement, which is sponsoring a constitutional amendment to effect the payment by the state of $30 a week in scrip to all unemployed citizens over fifty, and the membership is increasing at the rate of 2,000 a day. Dues are a cent a day, payable at the rate of 30 cents each month in advance. In addition, Mr. Davenport's bible, "Ham and Eggs for Californians," at 25 cents each, and 50,000 tiny Liberty Bells, insignia of the organization, at the same price.

In an effort to forestall any possibility that the pension amendment, if adopted, might be termed unconstitutional, the promoters have inserted in it a clause stating that "no injunction or writ of mandamus or other legal or equitable process shall ever issue to interfere with the administration of this article to prevent or enjoin any provision of this article going into effect." They then added a clause stating that "if any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this constitution of the state of California is in conflict with any of the provisions of this article, such section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase is to the extent of such conflict hereby repealed."

In case this were not enough, the promoters of the plan included the proposed amendment with the statement that "in the event that any decision or order of any court shall hold invalid or unconstitutional any provision, section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this article, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance, such decision or order shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this article."

Mr. Davenport declares further that thousands of persons who are not themselves eligible for the pension but who have dependents who are, plan to vote for the amendment on the theory that "it may be a racket and maybe it won't work for more than a couple of weeks, but that will be sixty dollars more than I ever got before for one vote." He estimates that if the amendment is adopted 500,000 persons will sign up for $30 every Thursday, which in one year would result in the issuance of $780,000,000 in scrip in the state of California alone.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY WILLIAM THORNTON. Most of his spare time lecturing and speaking on his legislation, which he believes will save the competitive system from encroachment of increasing monopoly.

WASHINGTON.—The cards are down for a knock-down and drag-out fight this winter over chain-store legislation. Whether or not, as Representative Patman believes, the present act bearing his name is "outstanding among all laws of its kind ever passed," the successor law he is expected to present will stir up much opposition.

Details aside, the difference between the present and future Patman acts is this: the earlier laws are aimed at eliminating certain advantages in mass purchasing and distribution which have been enjoyed by chain stores. The principle was "make them compete fairly with the independent dealer." The new law will aim by discriminatory taxation to kill off chain stores entirely. Progressive taxes, increasing with the number of units and the number of states in which they are operated would make chain grocery or shoe-store operation next to impossible.

The campaign to rouse public opinion against any such law has already begun by the A. & P. stores, which got landed up badly with the present act and regards the proposed one as a death sentence. With a candor rare in such cases, the A. & P. has frankly announced it is going out to fight the "death sentence" tax proposal, and that it has hired public relations counsel to disseminate information, prepare paid advertising, organize consumer groups and forum discussions.

Patman, whose heart and soul are wrapped up in his legislation, is himself one of the best propagandists in Congress, spending most of his spare time lecturing and speaking on his legislation, which he believes will save the competitive system from encroachment of increasing monopoly. So definite and candid a promise of a propaganda fight on a proposed measure, even before Congress assemblies, is unique and promises plenty of fireworks.

Europeans Have Completed Cycle Since Versailles

Nations Return To Teetering Balance Of Hectic '14 Days

A tip from the international experts: Don't spend too much time trying to read between the lines of all this diplomatic double-talk coming out of high places in Europe.

The experts identify most of this ambiguous material as mere formulae—the stuff used by a statesman to bluff the other fellow, or to impress his own people. In whatever camp, a statesman must have a "just cause" for his people. The national excitement must emerge from the diplomatic lists unblatantly. The blame for a holocaust must rest on the other nation.

Regardless of what happens from day to day, the fundamental fact to keep in front of you when you read war headlines is this one:

Troubled Europe finally has completed the post-war cycle that began with the treaty of Versailles. That means she has returned to the same old balance of power that teetered back and forth until it dumped the world into war in 1914.

Each speech, each ultimatum, each mysterious piece of double-talk dispensed from the foreign offices of the continent actually defines more sharply the delicate system of weights on each end of the seesaw, only it rarely shows on the surface.

In this corner is the same triple entente of central powers headed by Germany. It is buttressed by Italy and Hungary with a train of lesser European states willing to bet their chips on the German push to the East—the old "Drang nach Osten" dreamed up by the Kaiser.

In the other corner is the Franco-British entente of 1914, supported by Russia and another train of European states so disposed on the map that they must attach themselves to the allies, or Western powers.

Broadly, in 1914, it was a German discipline against the comparatively unready, but wealthier democracies. So it is today. Twenty-four years ago Germany was dreaming of welding eastern Europe and Turkey into a great Teutonic zone of influence. Now Hitler hopes for ascending power and prestige in the Balkans.

Specifically, in 1914, the immediate cause of trouble was the shooting of German-dominated Austria's heir to the throne while visiting in the Balkans. Today's crisis hinges on the asserted persecution of Germans in the near-Balkan state of Czechoslovakia. Pre-war Austria branded the murder of Archduke Ferdinand a Serbian plot and sent an ultimatum. Post-war Hitler brands Czechoslovakia's President Benes as a criminal plotter and demands in an ultimatum the cession of

THE BLIND MAN WHO SAW...
"My soul is full of whirring song,
By blindness is my sight;
The shadows that I feared so long
Are full of life and light."

These inspirational words penned by Alice Cary well express the amazing life and career of James Holman, an English naval officer who turned to writing travel description books after he had lost his eyesight.

Born in the year 1766, Holman became a lieutenant in the Royal Navy. Unfortunately, he lost his sight at 25 while in service off the coast of Africa. At this point Holman was forced to readjust his whole life and career.

Holman began traveling and visited France, Italy, Russia, Siberia, Poland, Austria, Saxony, Prussia, and Hanover. There he saw, through the words of others, beautiful land exotic lands and people of which he could write.

On later voyages made alone, Holman visited nearly every country in the world, and wrote fluently of each. His travel books were long in popular de-

WILLIAM PENN JAILED...
A good Quaker was William Penn, whose religious belief would not permit him to recognize any loyalty by acts of subservience.

Accordingly, Penn was arrested and jailed in 1670—for refusing to doff his hat in the presence of royalty. Under the Conventicle Acts he was tried, conducting his own trial, and was found not guilty on grounds of an illegal indictment.

INSURANCE RACKET

ALBANY, Ga.—(A)—Fourteen men, including the chairman of the Hancock County Democratic Committee and a prominent physician, yesterday were charged operating an insurance racket by basing upon securing life policies on persons suffering from incurable diseases.

The parallel can be drawn, detail for detail, on down the line of changing conditions and new political ideas in the world today also reflect few differences in the line-up of Europe's nations that may prove of great importance.

The post-war ideologies of fascism, nazism and communism have never been subjected to the fire-test of serious warfare. To date minor conquests and unending boasts have marked their relations with other powers. Internally, however, they seem to have developed the ability to get things done fast and efficiently. Have they stamina? That remains to be seen.

Too, one important country whose weight went with Germany in the World War is on the other side of the scales now. Turkey has announced her friendship for the British after a huge loan from London found its way to Ankara. And Poland, the apparent ally of Germany today, was non-existent as a nation in 1914—a battleground between Germany and Russia.

Typical English Girl Might Not Be A Britisher

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(A)—The Women's Air Raids Precaution Organization found itself in a pickle the other day.

The job of the Women's Voluntary Services for A. R. P., as it is officially known, is to recruit women workers for the various services which will function during air raids.

To spur recruiting it flooded the country with a prize-winning poster bearing a girl's head under the admonition "ARP Looks To You."

This was the typical English girl. This was the girl for whom Tommy Atkins would shoulder a machine gun.

The poster had been selected after a nationwide campaign with a tremendous build-up.

Suddenly—as Britain drew closer to war with Germany than at any other time since 1914—there came the awful whisper that perhaps the girls wasn't British. Perhaps she was GERMAN!

Immediately the posters were called in and a frantic search begun for a substitute girl about whose nationality there would be no doubt.

Officials culled through 2,000 photographs before they found what they wanted. They didn't disclose the other girl's name. But they did the new one's.

They outlined her history from A to Z. They were making no mistake this time. They wanted the world to know that Miss Barbara Kershaw came from Yorkshire, England (the home county, incidentally of Anthony Eden and Lord Halifax) and that she is "typically British with hair that is not too dark and not too light, blue eyes, and an open, direct expression."

Miss Kershaw is a 25-year-old mannequin now working in a London fashion house. Some old fuss budgets didn't think that makeup and brightly tinted fingernails went with the typical British girl. But officials replied that her face is basically very British—"whatever she may do to it superficially."

"She is essentially a sensible type of girl," they went on. "Also, she is not too provocative."

Cloud Speaks On The 'Gateway To Heaven'

"Man is born a sinner, and he cannot save himself. There must be a new nature, and that nature must come from above," Stephen L. Cloud, young evangelist, told his listeners at the Full Gospel Tabernacle on the Orlando road last night.

"It will take something more than a change of environment, church membership, water baptism, or good works, to get man into heaven. There must be that inexplicable, mysterious operation of the Holy Spirit on the human heart known as the 'new birth.' It is as the Lord Jesus told Nicodemus, who came by night inquiring the way of eternal life: 'Ye must be born again.'"

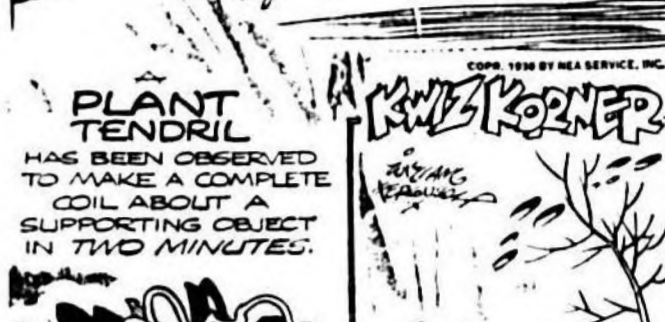

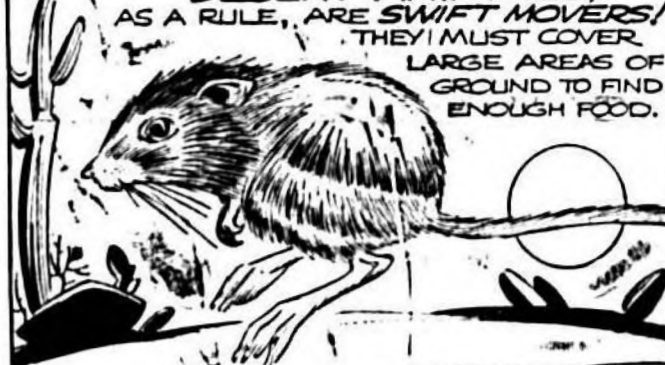

The youthful Cloud spoke on "The Gateway to Heaven." Tonight his subject will be, "The Devil's Barber Shop."

It was announced last night there will be three services at Full Gospel Tabernacle Sunday—at 11:00 A. M., 3:00 P. M. and 7:45 P. M., with revivalist preaching at all three meetings. There will be an old-fashioned basket dinner on the grounds.

Evangelist Cloud spoke today at chapel services in the Green and Enterprise schools.

He doesn't want the job he's seeking.
