Gas Leak: Hundreds Evacuated

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Several hundred persons were evacuated at mid-morning today in a two-square-mile area of Southeast Seminole County near Oviedo when clogged sewer lines at the Iron Bridge Sewage Treatment Plant caused methane gas to escape through a manhole cover.

The gas leak was first reported about 9:20 a.m. and was said to have occurred when a malfunctioning pump that was under repair at the sewage treatment plant caused sewage to back up in the sewer lines.

The gas leak was reported at the Dean Road and Aloma Avenue area in Southeast Seminole County.

Seminole County and Orange County authorities, acting on a report of a natural gas leak, evacuated the two-square-mile area from Howell Branch Road at Aloma to Tuskawilla Road, including the Dean Road and Lake George areas up to Twin Lakes.

Several hundred persons were evacuated, according to Lt. Gerald Nadeau of the Orange County Fire Department, but there were no reports of any injuries at press time.

Dan DeBevoise, 25, Orlando, a student pastor at Tuskawilla

Presbyterian Church said "We were in here (the church) when we saw a lot of fire engines go by. When we started to hear 'booms,'" DeBevoise said the booms sounded like thunder and "close." There were about 25 children in the church attending classes, he said.

DeBevoise said about 10:30 a.m. firemen came to the church and told him methane gas was blowing the manhole covers off the sewer system and they would have to evacuate.

The firemen didn't tell them where to go or how, he said.

"Fortunately we had enough cars," DeBevoise said. He said it caused a problem because the class ended during the evacuation period and there was no way to notify the children's parents.

After the gas leak was initially reported, the gas was detected by a hazardous waste team from Seminole County manning a truck with a gas detection instrument.

When Iron Bridge workers finished pump repairs, pressure was eased on the sewer lines and that stopped the leak, which lasted about an hour and a half.

Housing Authority Stalls Action

Tenants Protest Plan For Extra Utility Fee

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Protesting tenants stopped Sanford Housing Authority commissioners Thursday from following through with a plan to charge them for the natural gas they use.

Instead, the commissioners voted to ask federal representatives to come in and explain to the tenants the public housing agency's financial problems.

And tenants took advantage of the meeting to complain about garbage in the streets of Sanford's five public housing projects and of "rats as big as cats" infesting some apartments.

Eliza Pringle, authority commissioner, told the near capacity crowd at the Castle Brewer Court community meeting room, the authority has no choice but to adopt a resolution shifting the charge for natural gas from the authority to the tenants. She said the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has mandated the authority take the action or be found in violation of its annual contribution contract with the federal agency.

She added that the tenants would not have to pay much considering this mild winter. "It would be less for tenants to pay than they would have last year when it was cold," Mrs. Pringle said.

"We need to consider the tenants but when an order comes from HUD we must abide by it, rather than public opinion."

But Barbara Wyche, secretary of both the Castle Brewer Tenants Council and the Joint Tenants Council, said she called HUD offices in Washington and Atlanta and neither knew anything about a federal mandate for tenants to pay their own utility bills.

She said she talked to a Mr. Shannon in the Jacksonville HUD office and was told the federal agency had only "recommended" the housing authority have the tenants pay their own utility bills.

Verlon Shannon, chief of assistants in Housing at the Jacksonville HUD office, was unavailable for comment today.

Meanwhile, Elliott Smith, the authority's executive director, said the authority would give the tenants an allowance, via a deduction from their rent for the amounts of gas and electrical charges they pay. "There are none whose rent would not go down substantially," Smith said. He added, however, "Only those who use excessive amounts of electricity would pay more."

Smith said the authority was given the option by HUD of billing the tenants for their utility costs or of requiring the tenants to deal directly with the utility companies on their own. He said the housing authority does not have the accounting capability to bill each of the tenants directly. There are 480 housing units in the five city projects.

Mrs. Pringle objected to Mrs. Wyche talking, saying Mrs. Wyche was listed on the agenda to speak later in the meeting. Mrs. Wyche said her name was listed after a series of actions on resolutions.

"By then it would be too late to speak against the resolutions, they would already have been adopted," Mrs. Wyche said.

William Long, the tenants representative on the housing authority, made a motion, seconded by Velma Williams, directing Smith to invite a representative from the federal

School Board Thrown Christmas Cards Issue

By Britt Smith
Herald Staff Writer

A superintendent's report absolving a pair of Seminole County school administrators from any wrongdoing in refusing a second-grader permission to distribute Christmas cards containing a picture of Jesus has not ended the controversy and may have served to heat things up again.

On Thursday, School Superintendent

Robert Hughes issued a statement saying he had reviewed a report of the incident involving Pinecrest Elementary School student Olivia Myers and was "satisfied that the school board ... and its employees did not violate any rights guaranteed to the student by the First Amendment."

But Michael Farris, attorney for Concerned Women for America, said Hughes is no "judge of the First Amendment." Farris said the Washington-based group, which he claims numbers 500,000 Christian members, plans to sue on behalf of the girl.

And George Croley, leader of a group of 17 area pastors who oppose the school administration's stand on the Christmas card issue, said his group plans to meet with the school board January 30 "and find out

Lake Mary Eyes Tougher Law To Protect Trees

Lake Mary City Commissioners, disturbed by what was described as "the rape of the land" during construction of a commercial development across the street from city hall, may put some teeth in the city's arbor ordinance.

At its Thursday night meeting, the commission seemed to be of the opinion that the existing law covering the removal of trees was too lenient and something needed to be done to tighten control.

The issue was raised by City Attorney Robert Petree who sent a "teasy" memo to City Manager Kathy Rice expressing his irritation with the recent destruction of several large, stately oak trees during the building of a series of shops across from city hall on North Country Club Road.

The city has an arbor ordinance, Mrs. Rice said, but there is quite a disparity in the provisions dealing with trees on developed land and those on property undergoing development.

"The law is quite stringent when it comes to taking a tree down, say next to your house or business. But the law allows a developer to take down any tree," regardless of age or size. "In the building area or parking lot during construction," she said.

"Now if the commission wants to change it, they can change it."

Petree encouraged commissioners to do just that, saying, "I would think that a tree that's 200 years old and stands 80 feet tall is more important than some parking lot."

"You have a legal right to protect something like that," Petree and Mrs. Rice were instructed to research the issue and make recommendations at an unspecified future commission meeting on possible changes in the law.

During the discussion of trees, Commissioner Burt Perinchief asked whether some provision could be made to make wood cleared from land under development available to the public.

"It seems ludicrous to me that all this stuff is pushed into a big pile and burned when it could be put to better use," Perinchief said.

Petree said he would review the question.

NATION IN BRIEF

U.S., Soviets May Talk About Trade Barriers In The Spring

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If the Reagan administration gives the go-ahead, the United States could hold trade talks with the Soviet Union this spring, a Commerce Department official says.

Lionel L. Olmer, the department's senior foreign trade representative, heads the U.S. delegation which recently discussed resumption of trade talks with the Soviet Union.

Last year, the United States did about $3 billion in export trade with the Soviets, but imported only about $500 million in Russian goods.

Olmer said his preliminary discussions were used to identify areas in which trade barriers might be removed.

He said he was able to pinpoint areas in which trade between the two countries is allowed but not being fully utilized, such as consumer goods, transportation and agriculture.

Olmer said areas with no possibility of trade — such as high-tech computer hardware and software — also were identified so trade negotiators will not waste time arguing about them.

Court Allows Cuban Deportation

ATLANTA (UPI) — The 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has cleared the way for the United States to deport more than 2,700 undesirable Cuban refugees being held in American prisons back to their Caribbean homeland.

The appeals court, for the second time Thursday, sided with government attorneys and blocked orders by U.S. District Judge Marvin Shoob that would have released 34 refugees and stopped the deportation of nearly 1,500 Cubans in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary.

The first persons will be returned to Cuba in late February, according to Deputy Attorney General Carol E. Dinkins.

Dinkins said the government had insisted on the outset that "it is legally correct and wholly in the public interest to exclude from the United States those dangerous aliens who have no right to be here on a permanent basis."

The United States reached an agreement with the Fidel Castro government last Dec. 14 to accept back 2,746 undesirable Cuban refugees being held in U.S. prisons.

Scientists Discover AIDS Structure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists in France and the United States have discovered the complete genetic structure of viruses believed to cause AIDS, a finding expected to help in detection, prevention and development of treatment for the deadly disease.

A team from the National Cancer Institute, Harvard Medical School and two commercial laboratories mapped the genetic structure of HTLV 3. In Paris, another group working separately discovered the blueprint of another variation of the virus.

"This is a major step in understanding how the virus works," Dr. Robert Gallo, director of the cancer institute's tumor cell biology laboratory, said in an interview Thursday.

Hart Discusses Weapons, Human Rights With Gromyko

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sen. Gary Hart met with the Kremlin's top American expert today and delivered a speech on U.S. politics to the prestigious U.S.A. and Canada Institute.

Hart spoke to about 100 affiliates of the institute in a closed session after a brief private meeting with Georgy Arbatov, director of the institute.

After a meeting Thursday with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Hart said the Soviet Union wants to resume arms control talks as soon as possible.

Hart was the first U.S. official to meet with Gromyko since the superpowers agreed in Geneva Jan. 8 to begin three sets of arms talks on strategic, medium-range and space-based weapons. No date has been set for the talks.

Douglas Wilson, Hart's spokesman, said Gromyko did not depart from the Soviet position that all three sets of arms talks could be jeopardized if President Reagan goes ahead with his Strategic Defense Initiative, known widely as the "Star Wars" anti-missile system.

"Human rights definitely came up," Wilson said later. "The senator brought up the topic, both on the broad scale and a couple of specific individuals."

Police Gear Up For Mitterrand

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (UPI) — Native Melanesian separatists vowed to press their demands for independence today on the eve of a visit by French President Francois Mitterrand aimed at quelling two months of unrest on the Pacific islands which has claimed 20 lives.

Mitterrand left Paris aboard a special government aircraft Thursday night and was to arrive in the French-administered territory Saturday in a one-day visit aimed at ending clashes between native Melanesian separatists, or Kanaks, and white French loyalists.

Groups Mark 1973 Abortion Ruling

Advocates Beef Up Security At Clinics While Opponents March

United Press International
Many abortion clinics, operating under a state of siege, are marking the 12th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion by increasing security against bombings or arson.

Though the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms warned clinics to be alert, the National Organization for Women plans to use the occasion to conduct vigils against the bombings and NOW members will move into 25 abortion clinics in 18 states to spend one or more nights.

At a news conference in Washington Thursday, NOW President Judy Goldsmith said she will join a weekend vigil at an abortion clinic to "stand up to terrorists and bullies" who have attacked many clinics recently.

"We serve notice that women are activated, mobilized and absolutely determined not to go back to the days when we had to risk fear, pain injury and even death to terminate a pregnancy," Goldsmith said.

"Neither will we tolerate the continuation of a situation in which women are accosted, followed, intimidated and harassed when they seek to exercise their constitutional right to abortion," she said.

Tuesday is the 12th anniversary of the Supreme Court's landmark Roe vs. Wade decision that on-demand abortion was legal in the first three months of pregnancy.

Bombings of abortion clinics have increased dramatically. In 1984, two dozen clinics were bombed and the first such incident this year occurred New Year's Day in Washington.

The bombings have shut down some clinics but they also have generated fear in those who work in abortion clinics.

"I'm one of those people who looks in the rear view mirror every day," said Wanda Rock, a coordinator at a family planning clinic in Little Rock, Ark. "The 'anti' campaigns are very effective. I am a very scared rabbit."

"I took a night class a while back and people would put anti-abortion information under the windshield wiper of my car almost every night," she said. "They knew who I was and what my car looks like. That's scary. To get a phone call at 2 a.m. and they say, 'You're next, that's scary.'"

Laurie Steinberg, president of an anti-abortion group in Everett, Wash., said she hopes "there are no more threats of violence. I'd call those people (who bomb clinics) misguided zealots. We are reminding our constituency to remain legal and aboveboard. We want absolutely no violence."

Barbara Radford of the National Abortion Federation says vigils such as those planned for the weekend may place people in danger, but Goldsmith says the vigils are being planned in cooperation with local law enforcement officials.

The anniversary also will be observed with marches in many state capitals and Washington by supporters and opponents of abortion.

Castro: 'We Want To Learn From Capitalism'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fidel Castro told a U.S. congressional delegation "we want to learn from capitalism" and wants to discuss peace in Central America with Washington, says a congressman who spent 37 1/2 hours talking with the Cuban leader.

Reps. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., and Jim Leach, R-Iowa, said Thursday that Castro sent strong signals of a desire for improved relations with Washington during their talks. "We give a little and you give a little," Castro said at one point.

Alexander and Leach returned Thursday from a weeklong visit to Cuba that included a three-day stay at Castro's vacation hideaway off the Cuban coast. There, the party went spearfishing in the Caribbean and found Castro to be an excellent shot. They were joined by Rep. Mickey Leland, D-Texas, in Cuba.

"Castro said in no uncertain terms that he is willing to sit down and have a talk with the United States on peaceful and political solutions to the hostilities in Nicaragua and El Salvador," Alexander told a Capitol news conference with Leach.

Leach said it was significant that Castro "indicated Cuba would be willing to abide precisely on any agreements reached in Angola, on any agreements reached in Central American context, even if they implied partial or full troops withdrawal from those regions."

The Reagan administration has not responded to previous Castro overtures. Its main objections to Cuban policy have been Cuban military support for Nicaragua's Marxist-led Sandinista government and "exporting of revolution" to Latin America and Africa.

Alexander, in an interview later, said that during the 37 1/2 hours of talks with Castro he was "very conciliatory" toward Washington.

Alexander said there was a "deliberate improvement" in Castro's attitude toward Washington since he met the 58-year-old Cuban leader in August.

In August, he asked Castro "if he was willing to use his influence with the Sandinistas to mediate a political solution to the war in Nicaragua" and Castro "kept his distance from the Central American question."

This time, he said, Castro

"emphasized his willingness to cooperate" as an "interested party."

"We want to learn from capitalism how to manage better. Capitalism and communism can coexist together in one world and we can learn from one another," Alexander quoted Castro as saying.

Formal diplomatic relations were severed following Castro's rise to power in a Communist revolution 26 years ago, although the countries have lower-level diplomatic ties. They recently reached agreement for the return to Cuba of more than 2,000 refugees from the 1980 Mariel boatlift.

"Castro said: 'The immigration agreement has been a positive step. Other steps could be taken,'" Alexander said.

Two Women Assaulted In Separate Incidents

In unrelated incidents two women reported to sheriff's deputies they were sexually assaulted in Seminole County; one today the other Thursday.

A 19-year-old Winter Park woman told deputies she was hitchhiking on state Road 434 near Interstate 4 at about 12:42 a.m. today when she was picked up by a man who identified himself as Jimmie.

The suspect drove to an unknown location in Seminole County — possibly behind the Handy Way on state Road 434 at Sand Lake Road — where he brandished a pocket knife and forced the woman to perform oral sex, a sheriff's report said.

After the assault the man drove to Rax Restaurant, state Road 434, Longwood, and re-

In the second case a 19-year-old Oviedo woman reported to deputies she was raped in the Casselberry apartment of a man with whom she left the ABC Lounge, U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, at about 1 a.m. Thursday.

The woman said she went to the apartment with two men and at about 1:45 a.m. they both wanted to have sex with her. The woman balked, and one of the men left. The second man threw the woman into a bedroom and forced her to have sex, a sheriff's report said.

DUI ARREST
The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—William Michael Cook, 20, of 1206 Lynnwood Ave., Apopka, was arrested at 6:40 p.m. Thursday, after his car reportedly sped away from the scene of an accident on state Road 434 in Seminole County. He was arrested on Interstate 4 one mile east of state Road 434.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
William T. Christie, 44, of 4749 Fort Christmas, Chuluota, reported to deputies he lost a 12 gauge shotgun worth $160 to a thief on Wednesday.

A set of weights worth $175 were stolen from the carport of Dale Helz, 25, of 2609 Holly Road, Casselberry, Wednesday or Thursday, according to a sheriff's report.

Construction supervisor Lou Scaglia of Tavara reported to deputies that an air handler worth $450 was stolen from an air conditioner at a construction site at lot 76 Albany Court, Longwood, Wednesday or Thursday. The item belongs to Florida Residential Communities, 101 Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs.

Police Say Chicago Gunman No Vigilante

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police are refusing to use the word vigilante to describe a middle-aged man who shot at two youths who apparently tried to rob him at knifepoint on a residential street, wounding one critically.

Witnesses said Thursday the youths followed the man, about 60, as he carried two bags of groceries down a residential street. The youths, one holding a knife, then confronted him "face to face," police Sgt. Barbara Matula said.

The man produced a handgun and fired about four shots, hitting one youth, police said. The other youth fled and the gunman walked away. Both were being sought. Police refused to compare the shooting to the case of Bernhard Hugo Goetz, who shot four youths who he said demanded money from him.

"We are not calling it that (a vigilante shooting). The newspapers are," Sgt. Ronald Rewers said.

Joy Ride Ends In Crash For Plane Thief

KEY WEST (UPI) — An airplane thief took a Southern Express plane out for a joy ride, crashed it into the Atlantic Ocean, then donned a life jacket and swam 200 yards to safety, police said.

Gate workers with Southern Express discovered the plane, missing from Key West International Airport when they arrived at work at 6 a.m. Thursday. Searchers found the wreckage in the ocean about an hour and a half later in 15 feet of water, 200 yards offshore from the city beach.

Coast Guard divers searched the plane for survivors but called off the search at about 10 a.m. because of rough waters.

Two hours later, Steve Martin Diezel, 25, turned himself in to police. He was arrested and charged with grand theft and reckless flying.

Area residents told sheriff's investigators they had heard a plane flying low overhead at about 11 p.m. Wednesday.

Hijacker Mistakes Orlando For Cuba; Releases Hostages

ORLANDO (UPI) — A would-be hijacker, screaming wildly and threatening to blow up a Miami-bound Eastern Airlines jet, was tricked into believing he had forced the plane to Cuba and freed the 123 passengers and nine crew members unharmed in Orlando early today.

More than five hours after leaving Newark, N.J., Eastern's flight 403 arrived at its intended destination. The suspect carried a cigarette lighter and a tightly rolled newspaper, claiming vigorously that he had a bomb, a bottle of gasoline and a stick of dynamite.

He told the crew he would blow up the plane unless they took him to Cuba, said Eastern spokesman Jim McGee. The pilot requested permission to land in Orlando International Airport for refueling, said Jack Gillyooly, the airport's executive director.

When the plane landed at a remote airstrip at 1:14 a.m. EST, "one of the crewmen told him he was in Cuba and was able to talk him into throwing down the article with which he was threatening to blow up the plane," Gillyooly said.

The suspect allowed the passengers to leave and Orlando police officers crept aboard the plane, he said.

Police arrested the suspect, identified as Lazaro Hernandez, 30, of Union City, N.J., on federal hijacking charges. He was booked into the Orange County jail.

Weak Production Hurts Citrus

LAKE LAND (UPI) — The Florida citrus industry is in a critical point in its history, with stepped-up production unable to meet consumer demand, according to Dan Gunter, economic researcher for the Department of Citrus.

Gunter told the Florida Citrus Commission this week consumer demand will increase an estimated 3.8 percent per year during the next decade, but orange production by the 1994-95 season still will be below the record 206.7 million boxes of oranges harvested in the 1979-80 season.

Freezes in recent years and stiff competition from Brazil has cut deeply into citrus production in Florida, Gunter said.

He said the industry must become more efficient at producing, processing and selling so it can compete profitably. Its legislative efforts must continue in order to maintain U.S. citrus tariffs, and marketing activities should be undertaken to emphasize any advantages of Florida orange products.

Board Considers Hypnosis Ban

DELAND (UPI) — School officials are deciding whether to ban the use of a hypnotic relaxation technique that students at DeLand Senior High School said has helped them improve their grades and perform better in sports.

The hypnotherapy technique was introduced at the beginning of the school year by teacher Sue Atkinson, who said no participants have experienced ill effects from the sessions.

But members of the Volusia County school board raised concerns about the technique after learning about it. One of those members, Ohse Davis, participated in a hypnotherapy session Wednesday and said the practice should be banned, even though she saw no danger in the sessions. She said she and other officials are concerned about the board's liability if a participant suffered problems stemming from a session. A ruling is expected next Tuesday.

from Seminole County were or the scene.

Evacuees were told to leave the area shortly after the gas leak was discovered, but the emergency was declared ended at about 11:15 a.m., roads reopened at 11:30 a.m., and those evacuated allowed to return to their homes and businesses. Seminole County Fire Dept. Cmdr. Walter Schaefer, whose crew responded to the scene from the Five Points fire station after the Seminole County Sheriff's Department notified them, said gas odors were detected in three areas, Caroline Estates, Aloma Estates and in rural areas off McCulloch Road. Cmdr. Schaefer said Seminole County had at least three firefighting crews at the scene with four pieces of equipment.

Car Sale Sparks Suit

A Sanford auto dealer is being sued by a Lake Alfred woman who claims a salesman misrepresented the condition of a car she bought from the business.

Jim Chumbley Volkswagen, 4113 U.S. Highway 17-92, was named in a suit filed Tuesday by Carole Elva Skaggs. The case has been assigned to Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. No trial date has been set. Mrs. Skaggs is suing for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

According to the suit's complaint, Mrs. Skaggs bought a 1975 Volkswagen from the dealership on Aug. 27. She states she bought the car with the understanding that it a engine, clutch and brakes were overhauled. She also states she was told the car had less than 100,000 miles on it. According to the suit, after Mrs. Skaggs bought the car its brakes failed, nearly causing an accident. Mrs. Skaggs states that a subsequent inspection of the vehicle showed that the engine, clutch and brakes had not been overhauled and that the car had more than 100,000 miles on it. Mrs. Skaggs, who purchased the car for her daughter, states in the suit that the dealership intentionally committed fraud and she is asking for compensatory and punitive damages.

Altamonte Man Sentenced For Motor Theft

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

An Altamonte Springs man has been sentenced to 3½ years for taking a trolling motor from a retail store.

William Lawrence Brockett, 30, of 220 O'Brien Road, was also ordered by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr., on Wednesday, to pay the Public Defender's Office $350.

Brockett pleaded guilty to the charge in October.

According to court records, Brockett left a Kmart store, at 431 S. U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park, with a $200 trolling motor without paying for it. The incident occurred July 23. When the store manager tried to stop him, Brockett reportedly shoved him.

Records show the state agreed not to prosecute a battery charge against Brockett for the guilty plea to grand theft.

In other court action, a Geneva man who was caught hauling marijuana plants around in the bed of his pickup truck has been sentenced to 2 years probation.

Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi also ordered Jon Corstange, 40, of Box 82, to complete 220 hours of community service and serve 7 days in the Seminole County jail. Corstange has served 33 days in the jail and was given credit for the time.

According to an arrest report, a Seminole County sheriff's deputy saw the mobile crop of five potted pot plants in the back of Corstange's 1984 Dodge on July 3. Corstange said he did not know that the plants, which he had raised from seeds, were marijuana.

The deputy reported the plants ranged in size from 18- to 30-inches tall. He said the plants were in plain view as the truck drove down a dirt road off Old Geneva Road.

In other action, Robert Steven May, 34, of 1013 Moree Loop, Winter Springs, has pleaded guilty to obtaining property with a worthless check.

The scheme involved drafting checks on a closed account at one bank and depositing them in a new account at another bank.

Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor scheduled May's sentencing for March 23. He could receive up to a year in the county jail.

According to an arrest report, May closed his account at Atlantic Bank on Aug. 15 and deposited checks from that account into a new account at Liberty National Bank, Longwood, on Aug. 31.

Tellers from the banks involved reportedly identified May from a photo lineup. Sheriff's fraud investigators interviewed

May and arrested him at the Seminole County jail Nov. 6.

—Gary Lynn Frymyer, 22, of Box 5, 3800 state Road 427, Sanford, Frymyer pleaded guilty Wednesday to grand theft for stealing three American Express money orders and cashing them. He could receive up to a year in jail when sentenced by Davis March 7.

According to sheriff's deputies, Frymyer, a clerk at a 7-11 store, altered and signed three money orders with a combined value of $567.88. The money orders were cashed at Southeast and Sun banks in Sanford on Oct. 3 and 10. He was arrested Oct. 29.

—James Winston Charles, 21, of Altamonte Springs, has pleaded guilty to burglary to a vehicle.

He could receive up to a year in jail when sentenced by Salfi March 21.

Charles was arrested Oct. 16 for the burglary of a canteen truck from which five cases of potato chips, 10 cases of soft drinks and four boxes of candy bars were taken. A second man arrested in the case, Charles Evans Thompson, 26, of 850 Sunshine Lane, Altamonte Springs, awaits disposition of his case.

Disposition of charges against four juveniles arrested with James and Thompson was not available.

10 Get Suspended Licenses In DUI Cases

The following persons have either pleaded or been found guilty of driving under the influence, or having an unlawful blood alcohol level.

As first-time offenders, their driver licenses were suspended for 6 months, they were ordered to pay a $250 fine, pay court costs of $27.50 and complete 50 hours of community service.

When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related charge, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for business-only driving permits.

—Michael Dennis Lawson, 21, of 2019 Anderson Ave., Sanford, arrested Nov. 10, after his car ran a red light on state Road 434, Longwood.

—Jacqueline Worthy, 26, of 746 Margaret Square, Winter Park, arrested Nov. 10 after her car was seen driving erratically on U.S. Highway 17-92, south of Sanford, causing other drivers to take evasive action to avoid hitting her vehicle from behind.

—Carl Johan Edward Strom, 24, of 610 Pearal Road, Winter Springs, arrested Nov. 13 after his car failed to maintain a single lane on 17-92, Casselberry.

—Charles Lynch, 28, of 511 Monterey North Apartments, Altamonte Springs, arrested Oct. 20. He had his driver license suspended 5 years and was ordered to pay a $500 fine for his second DUI. He was also ordered to spend 10 days in the Seminole County jail and was given credit for 10 days served.

—Ronald Allan Copp, 19, of 1106-B, county Road 427, Longwood, arrested Dec. 31, after his car was seen speeding on 17-92 in Seminole County.

—John C. Cotterman, 56, of 910 Gaslight Circle, Winter Park, arrested Jan. 3 after his car ran off 17-92 and hit a pole.

—Scott James Spanker, 21, of 642 Sandpiper Way, Casselberry, arrested Dec. 8 on state Road 436 east of U.S.

Highway 17-92 after a trooper followed his car and noticed the driver walked unsteadily when he got out.

—James Stephen Batch Jr., 29, of Cleveland, Ohio, arrested Jan. 8 after he was seen driving north in the southbound lane of U.S. 17-92, Casselberry.

—James Randall Spray, 23, of 815 ½ Laurel Ave., Sanford, arrested Jan. 7 after his car was involved in an accident on Sanford Avenue, Sanford.

—Pat Rance, 22, of state Road 46-A, Sanford, arrested Dec. 1.

The following people have been judged guilty of DUI and are scheduled to be sentenced after finishing an alcohol education program for first-time offenders:

—John L. Jones, 59, of 1200 Bell Ave., Sanford, arrested Nov. 10 on 13th Street just off of 17-92, Sanford, after his car ran off the road. He is scheduled to be sentenced March 11.

—Kevin Keith Hormell, 26, of Orlando, arrested Nov. 11 after his car ran a red light on SR 434, Altamonte Springs. He is scheduled to be sentenced April 8.

—Arthur Drexel Mosley, 28, of Room 9, Lake Kathryn Motel, 17-92, Casselberry, arrested Dec. 1 after his car was seen weaving on 17-92 in Casselberry. He is scheduled to be sentenced March 11.

—Royce Varnard Moore, 36, of Box 64 Doctor Drive, Oviedo, arrested Nov. 30 after his car hit the shoulder and crossed the centerline of Lake Mary Boulevard, Lake Mary. He is scheduled to be sentenced March 11.

—Levi Ford, 26, of 2513 Holly Drive, Winter Park, arrested Nov. 10. He is scheduled to be sentenced March 11.

—Scott Darling, 23, of 218 Justine Way, Sanford, arrested Nov. 20. He is scheduled to be sentenced March 11.

—Teresa Duncan, 21, of 213 Laurel Ave., Sanford, arrested Nov. 10. She is scheduled to be sentenced March 11.

whether they support religious bigotry.

"We want them to pass a resolution critical of the administration's action," Croley said. "And if they come down on the wrong side of this thing we'll have to see to it that someone else holds their position."

The flap began December 17 when Myers took the Christmas cards, which contained pictures of toys and dolls as well as the postage stamp-size portrait of Jesus, to school and asked to distribute them to her classmates during a party the following day.

agency to an authority board meeting to explain the problem to the tenants.

Meanwhile, tenants aired a variety of complaints about the projects.

Minnie Schuler, one tenant, said, "It's not funny," when the audience laughed as she said the rats in her apartment are so large, they break knick-knacks as they run across end tables.

But, Hannah Pinckney of William Clark Court, summed up the poverty suffered by many in the city's public housing. She said the streets are so filthy, "it kind of makes me ashamed to live there." The tenants are already paying for their electricity, Mrs. Pinckney pointed out, adding her bill runs $84 to $74 per month.

Her teacher, Arlene Cotton, allows the exchange of cards only on Valentine's Day, according to Ken Bovio who investigated the incident on behalf of Hughes. Ms. Cotton consulted Assistant Principal Kathy Procon who also nixed the card giving.

At the same time, Olivia's younger sister, Katrina, distributed some of the cards to her kindergarten class.

When Olivia told her parents about the incident, they were incensed. They called the school to complain and when they could not contact the Ms. Cotton or Ms. Procon they called the school board office, according to Rick Mendez, Olivia's stepfather.

When he was unable to raise anyone there, Mendez called area news media.

"We were really upset about it and felt something had to be done. We didn't want to be afraid to speak up for God," Mendez said.

The problem, Bovio said, is that the school district has no policy on the exchanging of cards, leaving it up to the individual schools. If the schools have no policy, which most don't, he said, the matter falls to the teacher in the affected class to decide.

Ms. Cotton "has a policy against exchanging cards, the younger girl's teacher didn't," Bovio said. "That was the rub. But they both acted within school policy."

Because of the controversy, Bovio said the school board may have to write a policy governing the exchanging of cards.

In his statement, Hughes said, "The student was not absolutely prohibited from freely communicating with her friends by distributing Christmas cards. She was simply told that she could not distribute the cards during classroom activities."

"This was consistent with the teacher's long-standing classroom policy. It is my understanding that, in fact, Olivia did distribute the cards to her friends at school after the conclusion of the day's classroom activities."

"The utilities are so high, pretty soon the Housing Authority, just like in Africa, will be deciding who will eat and who will not," she said.

She also said what the tenants need on the board of commissioners are "people who can understand our complaints."

Others complained of kitchen sinks sinking into the floor and of large holes in the walls of their apartments.

When members of the audience yelled out that authority commissioners, other than Long, cannot understand the tenant problems because they live in fine homes and not in the projects, Ms. Williams objected.

"I don't feel I have to live in the projects to understand the health hazards of garbage in the streets," she said. Ms. Williams said the tenants must follow procedures and file complaints on the approved forms while keeping a copy of those complaints. "If you would keep copies, and show me evidence that the complaints aren't being answered, I could do something about it," she said.

Mrs. Pringle said the authority would deduct the natural gas cost from the tenants' rental fees.

But Constance Daugherty, president of the Castle Brewer Court Tenant's Council, said her rental charge nearly a year ago was $28 a month when she was collecting unemployment compensation of $144 monthly. While the deduction from her rent for electricity was $16 per month, the actual electric bill was much higher.

If she had to pay for natural gas, the costs would be much more, Mrs. Daugherty said.

Now she said her income is $240 a month from aid to dependent children. "It is difficult to feed and cloth and buy the other essentials of life for two children on what is left," Mrs. Daugherty said.

She added there was also a possibility of the tenant's having to pay a $50 deposit to the gas company if they are each responsible for their own gas bills.

Longwood Man Pleads Guilty To Assault Charge

A Longwood man charged with incest has pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of lewd and lascivious assault upon a minor child.

Paul Craig Chambers, 53, of 141 Sunset Drive, is scheduled to be sentenced March 1. Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize could sentence Chambers to a year in the county jail.

For the guilty plea, the state agreed not to prosecute four counts of sexual battery, four counts of incest, and one count of child abuse.

According to court records, the incidents occurred between May 1983 and Feb. 10. An investigation was started by the sheriff's department in February after notification by the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services of the incidents.

Chambers, on bond, is to surrender to authorities Jan. 28 and be held until sentencing.

In other court action, an inmate who set a fire forcing the evacuation of 12 prisoners in the medical center of the Seminole County jail has been involuntarily committed to a hospital.

Steven Luke Pack, 23, of 730 Forest Ave., Apopka, was committed for an indeterminate amount of time to the Florida North Treatment Center, Altamonte Springs. The Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services is to monitor his psychological progress.

Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize also ordered Pack to serve 5 years probation for grand theft of a $150 stereo from Jefferson Wards, Altamonte Springs, on Jan. 6.

Pack was in jail on the theft charge when the fire was set in his cell March 13.

According to sheriff's records, Pack was housed in a single-man cell and set a small amount of paper on fire. The minor blaze, which was brought under control by jail personnel, filled a section of that facility with smoke, exposing some inmates to the threat of smoke inhalation, according to a sheriff's spokesman John Spolaki. No injuries were reported.

Pack was also ordered to pay $560 in court costs and pay the Public Defender's Office $250.

Out Of The Lab

The usual question asked about genetic engineering is whether it is safe to let new life forms out of the laboratory. Whatever the answer to that one, it is apparent that new ethical, legal and economic issues raised by genetic engineering already have crept out of the lab and are posing a challenge to our society.

A recent six-part series in a newspaper reported how genetic engineering is opening doors to extraordinary achievements in medicine and other branches of biology. New forms of treatment may end the threat of diseases and hereditary illnesses now considered virtually incurable. New strains of food crops could make significant headway against hunger in the Third World.

For all these brilliant promises, there is an undercurrent of concern. Possessing new power to influence the course of nature may be a boon to mankind, but it has confronted leaders in law, business and academic fields with questions of a type they may have never faced before.

A university plant pathologist used genetic engineering techniques to produce a new strain of bacteria that could be sprayed on potato leaves to keep the plants from being damaged by frost. His plan to test it has been halted by a lawsuit alleging it would be reckless to take the new organism out of the lab without more analysis of its potential impact on the environment. This kind of legal challenge could become a serious impediment to beneficial scientific progress until geneticists can demonstrate clearly to the courts that they are not embarking on dangerous, science-fiction scenarios.

Indeed, proving the safety of a new organism may turn out to be easier than proving who is right and who is wrong in some of the unprecedented ethical issues flourishing on university campuses.

The potential for creating profitable new medicines and other products from genetic engineering is spawning new relationships between private investors and public institutions. Business firms are pushing aside the government as the major source of grant support at many institutions, creating potential conflicts of interest. Some professors have become stockholders or officers in corporations that eventually stand to profit by their research.

One could argue that private firms which profit from university research ought to be paying for it rather than the taxpayer. But if university researchers working under a private grant have important findings to report, do they belong to the university or the scientific community — or to the firm that paid the bills? Agreements that limit publication of university research are an obvious threat to academic freedom and the free circulation of scientific knowledge.

There is nothing wrong with earning a profit on a research project, provided everyone is playing by the same set of rules. In one bizarre case, a former patient at the UCLA Medical Center is suing on the grounds that his doctors, without his knowledge or permission, used cells taken from his body to create new medicines they can patent that could earn them a fortune.

Genetic engineering appears to be getting ahead of the social and political institutions that are supposed to guard the public interest in scientific development. It would be tragic if unjustified fears or legal entanglements were allowed to slow down research that is moving toward significant victories over disease, hunger and other forms of human suffering.

Genetic scientists and engineers and the entrepreneurs hovering around them should find a lesson in what happened to another industry built on a miracle-working technology, nuclear power. Reactor-builders and public utilities went full bore into construction of nuclear power plants before some of the safety and public policy issues had been fully explored, setting the stage for today's controversies over waste disposal, earthquake resistance, and the weaknesses in management and operator training disclosed in the Three Mile Island accident.

Nuclear power would no doubt be having smoother sailing today if the eagerness to harness the atom had been tempered by more consideration of the public issues inherent in the new technology.

Hopes For Peace And Prosperity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Peace and prosperity have been the goal of every president. But too often something happens that makes these twin objectives impossible to attain.

Now President Reagan, with lots of dedication and a little bit of luck, has a chance at making both a reality. Not forever, of course, because life doesn't work that way. But within this waning century.

His opportunities are golden, starting with the fact that he does not have to seek re-election. He can have the courage to rock more boats with impunity.

For those who think that superpower accords are impossible, or are not worth the paper they are written on, any exercise may seem futile. But for those who view the headlong arms race into space another nail in humanity's coffin, all attempts to talk, to negotiate, to seek understandings are positive steps, particularly when one considers the alternative.

The president appears to be moving toward a more moderate view of the Soviet Union, not dismissing its aggression in Afghanistan and other world troublespots, but making an effort to determine there is a chance for peace.

Clearly both sides agreed to agree — at least on talks — and that is what made the difference. In fact, it is apparent that both sides were intent on not letting the get-together between Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko fall. The stakes were too high for all involved.

And so with not too much to lose politically and a lot to gain in terms of his place in history, the president has opted to try to find common ground with the communist adversary. At the same time, he has not moved very far from his dream of a so-called Star Wars, or Strategic Defense Initiative. In hopes that it would provide the ultimate shield against missiles. But that seems far-fetched, even to scientists involved in the research.

So the pursuit of peace, at least by talking to seek a reduction of massive nuclear arsenals, remains at the top of the agenda.

As for prosperity, the president also has different roads to travel, and his decisions are subject to revision by Congress. He believes that growth will solve the problems of the deficit and keep the economy on track.

He also believes that by loosening the regulatory powers of the government business will have a free rein for expansion, and economic independence.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Trade Purists Off Base

When Phillip Caldwell, Chairman of Ford Motor Co., retires February 1, American business and industry will lose one of its most forceful spokesmen. He will be missed. The country has few business spokesmen as articulate as Mr. Caldwell.

In recent weeks, Mr. Caldwell has continued to make a series of public statements in which he challenges "free trade purists" in government to reexamine their "utopian ideas."

One of Mr. Caldwell's principal concerns is the $130 billion trade deficit, which is more than double that of last year and almost quadruple that of three years ago. The Wall Street Journal recently reported that about $38 billion of that total is with Japan, and about a third of the $38 billion is the result of automobile sales.

Those figures should be kept in mind in considering the recent refusal by the Japanese Prime Minister to agree to a much higher level of U.S. imports into Japan. The Prime Minister's stand underlines the fact that Japan wants to sell, not buy. The Japanese are intent upon retaining their protected home market while telling the United States it must not engage in "protection."

Mr. Caldwell argues that if the ideas of the free trade purists worked, the Japanese yen would have strengthened against the dollar. Because those ideas haven't worked, he says, the U.S. should protect its manufacturing industries through such expedients as extending the so-called voluntary restraints on Japanese automobiles, which are scheduled to expire March 31. Mr. Caldwell says that if the restraints are allowed to lapse, the Japanese could boost exports to the United States by 400,000 cars next year to 2.25 million.

Opponents of the restraints say that they constitute a burden on American consumers. The free trade purists ignore the fact that Americans are producers as well as consumers. They also ignore the key role auto manufacturing plays in the American economy. That industry has been modernizing and becoming more competitive, offering a wider range of advanced vehicles. It must still deal with a huge gap in wage rates between Japanese and American autoworkers. There is no likelihood that the auto companies could compel the U.S. workers to reduce their wages to the Japanese level.

The situation in the auto industry is only one part of the overall trade problem. Mr. Caldwell, however, has done yeoman service in explaining to the U.S. public the importance of basic industry and the folly of placing all hopes on high tech or service industries.

A Close Call For Air Force One

WASHINGTON — This is the story of a disaster, heretofore unreported, that missed President Reagan by six minutes.

Air Force One, with the president aboard, landed at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington on the afternoon of Aug. 1, 1983. The weather was dry and northwest winds were blowing at 10 to 20 knots. The presidential party disembarked and headed for the White House without incident.

Six minutes later, the airfield was engulfed in the sudden fury of a "microburst," with winds gusting up to 120 knots. Microbursts are powerful downward blasts of air usually associated with thunderstorms. They are probably the deadliest weather phenomenon encountered by air travelers.

Microbursts are immediately followed by violent, horizontal gusts of air known as "wind shears." Planes landing or taking off are torn out of control by simultaneous head wind, tail wind and downdraft.

ROBERT WAGMAN

More Ford Deaths

WASHINGTON (NEA) — An auto-safety group charges that the Transportation Department is covering up many deaths caused by a defect in Ford autos — a charge that both DOT and Ford deny. The group claims that the coverup is an attempt to protect a bad settlement that the agency made with Ford in 1980.

During the mid- and late 1970s, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration — the Transportation branch responsible for auto safety — began to hear of deaths and injuries linked to a possible defect in the transmissions of many Fords cars made between 1970 and 1979.

The accidents reportedly occurred when the transmissions slipped unexpectedly from park to reverse, causing the cars to run down people standing behind them. The defect was said to involve between 16 million and 23 million 1970 to '79 model Ford, Mercury and Lincoln cars and light trucks, all of which had one of five types of automatic transmissions. All of the transmissions were redesigned starting with the 1980 model year.

In 1980, NHTSA nearly ordered a recall, which would have been one of the most massive in auto history. Ford protested vigorously. It argued, and still does, that the transmissions aren't defective, but that the problem is one of driver error: Drivers have failed to put the transmission firmly into park.

Ford also told then-Transportation Secretary Neil Goldschmidt that the recall would endanger Ford's financial health at a time when most Detroit auto firms were losing money and were under intense pressure from foreign automakers.

Therefore, Goldschmidt overruled the NHTSA professionals who had strongly recommended the recall. Instead, he worked out an agreement with Ford: The automaker was required to send dashboard labels to all vehicle owners involved, advising them that the transmission might slip from park to reverse when the car was idling.

Under the compromise agreement, NHTSA is required to monitor the effect of the warning-label campaign and determine if it is reducing fatalities linked to the transmission problem. The agency says it has been monitoring the program and that the number of accidents and deaths has declined markedly — but the Center for Auto Safety, founded by Ralph Nader, sharply disagrees.

In a letter to Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole, the group says its statistics show that 78 people — a continued high rate — have died in Ford-transmission accidents since the 1980 agreement. It calls for a re-examination of the agreement and of whether a recall should be ordered.

In its letter to Mrs. Dole, the center charges that NHTSA "has concealed the alarming increase in deaths... by manipulating fatality statistics and by refusing to investigate — and thus count — dozens of reported deaths."

NHTSA denies the auto-safety group's allegations. Says Clarence Dittlow, the auto-safety group's president: "One of our major problems with their monitoring is that they do not investigate reports of deaths. Unless there is unrefutable proof that a death has occurred as a result of a Ford transmission, they do not investigate. Therefore, they don't know, therefore they don't add it to the total. The agency has adopted a hear-no-evil, see-no-evil, speak-no-evil policy."

"But more to the point," he says, "even if you were to accept their count of deaths since 1980 (39), it is still the highest number of fatalities from any defect since 1980."

Some members of Congress are now entering the fray. Last month, in a letter to NHTSA, Rep. Timothy Wirth, D-Col., accused the agency of neglecting the Ford transmission issue and "hoping this problem will go away."

Senility Curable At Times

By Elisabeth Pennisi
UPI Science Writer

"So he's confused. He's 75 years old. What can you expect?"

A generation ago, no one expected more. Older brains just didn't work as well, so experts thought.

Now they know better. Research has taken medicine beyond the notion that dementia — forgetfulness, confusion, lack of coordination — is a normal result of old age.

More likely those problems are symptoms of disease, malnutrition, medication, depression, even sleeping pills, said Dr. Michael L. Freedman, director of geriatrics at New York University Medical Center.

As more is learned about what puts the brain off course, physicians are finding out that minds are sometimes retrievable.

"In the 1970s about 10 percent of all dementias were reversible," said Freedman in a phone interview. "Now in the '80s, we're able to pull out about 10 percent more."

At New York University Medical Center, about one-quarter of the elderly patients brought in because they are confused return home alert. Elsewhere, the results are similar, said Freedman.

Some patients are physically sick but don't know it because of how the body changes as it ages.

In the elderly, infections cease to cause fevers. Heart attacks might not cause chest pains. Pneumonia has no tell-tale cough. Instead, confusion, irritability or dizziness can ensue.

Similarly, some people seem slow, forgetful, or irrational because they are depressed.

"Appropriate treatment may remove such symptoms entirely, returning the individual to a normal state of well being," said Freedman.

Subtle nutritional deficiencies may also cause senility, said David L. Marcus, associate research scientist at New York University Medical Center.

"People who are borderline folic acid (vitamin B) deficient and have been so over a number of years could show signs of psychological and neurological changes before they show any overt medical symptoms," he said.

"The changes are very subtle," said Freedman. "They affect the brain before they show up in the blood."

Consequently, such deficiencies might be missed in routine laboratory testing.

Many factors contribute to vitamin deficiency, despite "good" diet, said Marcus. Bad teeth make it difficult for older people to chew and digest green leafy vegetables, a folic acid source. Overcooking destroys the B vitamins.

likely take years before ... the systems needed to observe microburst and wind shear, and alert pilots in a timely manner ... are implemented at airports.

The staff report noted that FAA officials testifying before the subcommittee in 1981 and 1983 promised the installation of systems then in the research stage, including microburst-detection equipment. "We found," the staff wrote, "that despite major expenditures in the past, the record fails to show significant improvements in weather-related aviation safety."

The FAA spokesman explained that the agency's procurement procedures are governed by safeguards that often cause delay by imposing "time lines" on development contracts.

In other words, the FAA bureaucrats are talking about contractual safeguards when they should be worrying about physical safeguards for the president of the United States and everyone else who flies.

Asplen's FTs Top No. 6 Seminoles

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Beverly Asplen was one proud parent Thursday night. She was so enthused with the way her daughter, Sherry "Ice" Asplen, played that, unknowingly, she ran onto the court to congratulate her with one second left on the clock.

"She was a little excited," Sherry said of her mother. "I said, 'Get off the court, mom, it's not over yet.'"

Actually, it was over. Sherry, who earlier this year hit the game-winning basket against then-ranked No. 1 DeLand, had seen to that nine seconds earlier when she hit two free throws to put Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots up by four, 45-41, over Sanford's Lady Seminoles.

Asplen's clutch play down the stretch ignited the eighth-ranked (4A) Lady Patriots to a 47-41 victory over the sixth-ranked (4A) Lady Seminoles Thursday night before 400 fans at Lake Brantley High.

The Lady Patriots' win, combined with Lake Mary's upset of DeLand, enabled Brantley to stay on top in the Five Star Conference race. The Patriots, who lost twice to Seminole prior to Thursday night, now stand at 16-3 overall and 8-1 in the Five Star while Lake Mary is 7-2 and DeLand and Seminole are 6-2. Seminole now stands at 13-5 overall.

Asplen, Lake Brantley's junior point guard, shared high-scoring honors with teammate Michelle Brown Thursday night with 13 points each. Seven of Asplen's 13 points came in the fourth quarter. "Ice" also handed out six assists on the night and came up with two key steals in the final period. "Sherry (Asplen) really came alive tonight," Lake Brantley coach Renny Betris said. "She played a marvelous floor game."

Senior guard Kim Lubenow

fought off a sore knee to add nine points for the Lady Patriots while 6-1 senior center Kirsten Dellinger tossed in eight points and grabbed nine rebounds. Brown, a senior forward, added five rebounds and three assists.

Lake Brantley also held Seminole senior Mona Benton (20 point per game) to just 11 points.

Seminole had a three-point lead and the ball late in the fourth quarter but the Tribe turned the ball over three times in the last two minutes of the game.

"We turned it over too much out of the spread," Seminole coach Ron Merthle said. "We had our opportunities at the end but didn't convert."

Lake Brantley came out blazing Thursday night as it ran off the first six points, four by Brown and two by Lubenow. The Lady Patriots led by as much as 12, 18-6, late in the first quarter and took a 18-8 lead into the second.

Seminole hit the boards hard in the second quarter as it outrebounded Brantley, 13-3. Anderson had seven of her 13 rebounds in the second quarter.

Temika Alexander fired in a jumper as Seminole took its first lead of the game, 23-21, early in the second half. Brown's layup tied it at 23-23.

Asplen then put on a ballhandling clinic as she dribbled behind her back to beat Smith, kept going all the way upcourt and dished off to Dellinger at the last second for a layup that made it 25-23. Asplen came back to Benton then went baseline for two as Seminole stayed within a bucket, 27-25. But Anderson was then whistled for her fourth foul and Lubenow made one of two free throws to make it 28-25. Lake Brantley hung on to a three-point lead, 36-33, at the end of the third quarter.

Averill's Jumper Tips No. 4 DeLand

DELAND — Liz Stone hit a pair of free throws with 28 seconds left to tie the game and Kim Averill banked in a shot with two seconds left as Lake Mary's Lady Rams continued their assault on teams ranked in the state poll with a 45-43 upset of fourth-ranked (4A) DeLand on the Lady Bulldogs' home court.

Lake Mary, which upended eighth-ranked Lake Brantley on Tuesday, improved to 10-6 overall with the win and 7-2 in the Five Star Conference. The Lady Rams are now in second place in the conference, one game behind Lake Brantley and one-half game ahead of Seminole and DeLand. The Lady Bulldogs now stand at 11-3 overall and 6-2 in the Five Star.

Lake Mary returns to action tonight at 8 (varsity only) in a non-conference game against Fort Lauderdale Westminster Academy. Westminster is ranked second in the 1A State Poll.

DeLand jumped out to a 13-4 lead after the first quarter Thursday and went up by as much as 15 in the second quarter before the Lady Rams got on track and got back in the game.

"We started off slow, we got the ball inside easy but didn't hit the shots," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said. "But we played a super second quarter. It could have easily turned into a rout but the girls came back strong and started capitalizing on DeLand's mistakes."

The Lady Rams fought back within four points, 26-22, at halftime as Aileen Patterson hit a shot with one second left. Lake Mary kept the momentum going in the third quarter as it built a 37-32 lead but senior center Courtney Hall picked up her fourth foul and had to go out.

After a layup by Shawn Lane made it 37-34, DeLand's 6-1 All America center Bridgette Gordon took over in Hall's absence to score the last three points of the third quarter to give the Lady Bulldogs a 38-37 lead.

Lake Mary stayed within two early in the fourth quarter and, with Hall still out, went to its delay game with five minutes left and ran the clock down to 2:30 before being called for a five-second violation.

Gordon came back to hit a jumper that gave DeLand a 43-41 lead with two minutes left and Moore then put Hall back in for the stretch run. "We came back and spread it out and got the ball in to Courtney," Moore said. "But Bridgette (Gordon) stole the ball from her and Courtney fouled her."

But Gordon, who saved a victory over Seabreeze last week by making a half-court shot, missed the one and one and Patterson grabbed the rebound for the Rams and outletted to Stone who was fouled. Stone hit both free throws with 28 seconds left to tie the score at 43-43.

DeLand worked the ball in to Gordon for the go-ahead shot, but she missed it and Patterson hauled down the rebound. Lake Mary then called a time out with 11 seconds left to set up the last shot.

But, when the Rams tried to go inside, Gordon came up with a steal and had an open court for what could have been the winning layup.

Lady Lions Survive Fracas To Punch Out Kowgirls, 40-20

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Oviedo's Lady Lions survived a fracas, in which they lost their point guard, a slow down and 32 percent shooting from the field Thursday night as they came away with a 40-20 victory over Kissimmee's Kowgirls in Orange Belt Conference action at Oviedo High.

The Lady Lions improved to 5-12 overall and 3-2 in the conference. Oviedo travels to Fort Pierce Saturday to take on Westwood High.

The Kowgirls came out and stalled the ball Thursday night and it worked in the first quarter as the visitors from Osceola built a 7-2 lead. But Oviedo came out with a full-court press in the second quarter and outscored Kissimmee, 9-4, to take a 13-11 halftime lead.

Oviedo lost junior point guard Natalie Barth in the second quarter when she, along with two Osceola players, were ejected from the game.

"She (Barth) was on the floor and one of their girls tied her up," Oviedo coach John Thomas said. "When they finally blew the whistle and called a jump ball, Natalie threw the ball behind her and it hit Osceola's girl (Julie McCrimmon). The girl thought Natalie did it on purpose and just started punching her."

"Then another girl came off their bench and hit Natalie from behind," added Thomas. "Natalie never even threw a punch and she didn't throw the ball on purpose but she was still ejected because the ref said when she threw the ball down it was flagrant."

Oviedo kept on pressing in the second half and they ran Kissimmee

Senior center Mary Lokers led the way for the Lions with a game-high 13 points and six rebounds and junior guard Stephanie Nelson tossed in 10 points, ripped down eight boards, handed out two assists and collected two steals. Brenda Redway contributed six points and five steals while Tracy

Jacobs handed out four assists and came up with three steals.

ROBINSON LEADS JV WIN

Lake Brantley's junior varsity came back from a 13-point fourth quarter deficit to send the game into overtime, but the Lady Patriots couldn't score in the extra period as Sanford's JV Lady Seminoles claimed a 44-39 victory Thursday night at Lake Brantley High.

Yolanda Robinson, a 5-10 sophomore, dominated inside for the Lady Tribe Thursday as she poured in a career-high 29 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to lead Seminole's JV to its first victory of the season after six losses.

"It's the best game I've ever played," Robinson said after the win.

Lake Brantley, which now stands at 3-4, was led by Karen Hamlett's 14 points while Susan "Little Ice" Asplen added seven and Carin Lidke and Jenny Peters contributed six each.

Seminole took a four-point lead, 12-8, after one quarter and Robinson took over in the second, scoring all 11 of Seminole's points, as the JV Tribe took a 23-18 halftime lead. Lake Brantley's leading scorer and rebounder, Laurie Rivers, sat out most of the second quarter in foul trouble.

Robinson continued to dominate inside in the third quarter as Seminole took an eight-point lead, 32-24, into the fourth.

Explosive Lady Patriots Overhaul Seminoles, 3-1

Sanford's Lady Seminoles took a 1-0 lead and held Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots scoreless for 36 minutes, but the explosive Lake Patriots came back to claim a 3-1 victory in prep soccer action on a rainy Thursday afternoon at Seminole High.

The loss dropped Seminole to 9-4-2 while Brantley improved to 10-2. Seminole hosts Orlando Luther Saturday morning at 10 while Brantley is back in action Monday at Trinity Prep.

Seminole, which was shutout, 3-0, by the Patriots this past Saturday, jumped out to a 1-0 lead 14 minutes into the game when Sherri Rumler scored on an assist from Beth Nelson.

Seminole defenders Angela Freeman, Cindy Benge and Kim Machnik along with goalkeeper Kim Walsh held the Lady Patriots scoreless until they scored with four minutes left in the half. "There was a big pack in front of the goal and one of Brantley's girls got her foot in there and kicked the ball in," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said.

"We played a beautiful first half," added Reno. "But we let Lake Brantley play their game in the second half."

Lake Brantley came back with two goals in the first 17 minutes of the second half to take a 3-1 lead and Patriot defender Pam Anderson along with goalkeeper Leall Hobek kept the Lady Seminoles from scoring the rest of the way.

The Patriots took 25 shots on goal Thursday compared to nine for Seminole. Walsh played the entire game in goal for the Seminoles and came up with 26 saves. Hobek had eight saves.

Sports Hall Inducts Saturday

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

This weekend offers the busiest sports schedule thus far. There's a little bit of everything, even a double-header at Seminole Community College Saturday night.

It's not the usual double-header associated with sports, however. SCC's basketball Raiders will take on their fiercest rival when Lake City and coach Joe Fields come to town for a 7:30 game. Admission is free.

When the two teams take an intermission after 20 minutes, the Seminole County Sports Hall of Fame takes center stage as it inducts three new members. Mary Rose, who rose to international fame in water ballet (synchronized swimming), ex-SCC tennis coaching great Larry Castle and Leonard L. "Whitey" McClucas, considered one of the best football coaches ever at Seminole High School, will be officially inducted. McClucas passed away in 1956. His daughter, Mrs. Linda Fisher, will accept the plaque.

There's also the usual slate of basketball tonight. Seminole travels to Lake Brantley, Lake Mary goes to DeLand, Lyman journeys to Lake Howell and Oviedo hosts Osceola in boys' action. Coach Bill Moore's Lake Mary Lady Rams, who have made a habit out of picking on the ranked teams lately, take on Fort Lauderdale Westminster at home. Westminster is ranked among the 2A schools. All tip-offs are 8 p.m. with the junior varsity at 6:30 p.m.

Roundup

Moving to wrestling, the Five Star Conference will hold its tournament at Lyman High School. The first round begins at 6:30 p.m., followed immediately by the second round. The semifinals will be Saturday morning at 10 a.m.

In soccer, there is an abbreviated schedule as Lake Mary travels to Lake Howell for boys and girls' games at 8 p.m. and 6 p.m., respectively. The boys' JV game at 4 p.m. matches two unbeaten teams. Lyman's 12-0 Lady Greyhounds travel to Vero Beach tonight.

It's not too early for softball, is it? Not to register anyway. The Seminole Softball Club, which has risen to prominence in a short time, will register for its three divisions — Starlings (7-10), Hawks (11-12) and Eagles (13-15) Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Five Points Complex near Winter Springs.

1st Shot: Better's Says Super Joe Isn't So Special

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Everything was too nice and quiet, so it was bound to happen.

Doug Better's, Miami's big, bearded defensive end, has fired the first shot of Super Bowl XIX.

Joe Montana is the one he aimed at and nicked with his pointed accusation that San Francisco's Golden Boy puts the dollar sign ahead of much more important things in life, like handicapped kids, and that Montana "isn't the person a lot of people think he is."

"I've got a lot of respect for the guy as a player, but as a human being I have to wonder about him," Better's says.

Montana regards Better's criticism of him as something of a cheap shot. One, because nobody ever has given him an opportunity to explain his side of the story, and two, because of the time frame.

"I remember a little bit of what he's talking about," said the 49ers quarterback. "Everybody thinks their event is the only event. Besides, this was something that happened three years ago. Why is he bringing it up now?"

Probably the main reason the otherwise easy-going, mild-mannered Better's is bringing up the matter now is because this period before the game has come to be known, rather laughingly when you think of it, as countdown to the Super Bowl. And every element pertaining to the two teams is put under a microscope.

That's one reason Better's could be bringing it up. Another reason is because Don Shula, his coach, always keeps after the Dolphins to find some "edge," some extra advantage, that can help them win. And who knows, this could be the kind of edge Better's uses to motivate himself a bit more.

Don't laugh. He goes along with that. Better's is one of the Dolphins' "Killer Bs," part of their fine defensive line which also includes Bob Baumhower and Kim Bokamper whose last names begin with the letter B. That, plus the fact they hit hard, is how the entire defense got the label.

On the field, the 6-foot-7, 265-pound Better's is a relentless intimidator with his tremendous size and savage pass rush, but when he takes his uniform off, he's a big teddy bear who loves to help kids. He sets aside a good part of his time to such charitable causes as the Special Olympics and Big Brothers.

A number of professional athletes involve themselves in the Special Olympics which were set up to give handicapped kids a chance to compete against each other. These athletes generally understand they will receive no money for lending their presence.

Milton Richman
UPI Senior Editor/Sports

In 1982, when a regional phase of the Special Olympics was to be held in the state of Montana, someone got the idea it would be nice to have Joe Montana there for the event.

That was understandable, especially since he was just as hot a commodity then as he is now. Only a short time before that, Joe Montana helped the 49ers beat the Dallas Cowboys for the NFC title with his unforgettable last-minute touchdown pass to Dwight Clark and then was named MVP in San Francisco's victory over Cincinnati in Super Bowl XVI.

Inasmuch as Better's lives in Whitefish, Mont., and because he was associated with the Special Olympics, it also was understandable he'd be working with them that year in his home state. He recalls the great effort made by state officials and others to get Joe Montana to appear.

"They got hold of his attorney, and when that didn't work, they got the governor of Montana to offer him a special personal invitation," Better's recounted. "Montana said 'I'll do it for $2,000.' That was something that struck me. It kind of hit home. As football players, I think we're fortunate to have a lot of things done for us and to get freebies, but this was different. This was for kids, handicapped kids, and without being too corny, I remember what kids are like."

Joe Montana is an outstanding quarterback," Better's acknowledged. "He has the intelligence, the quick release and the great presence. He's a gutsy guy, I'm sure he was busy and didn't have time when they asked him to participate. I know the pressures they can put on you and I can understand why he did it. But it's something you don't forget and it just makes me a little more intent about Sunday's game."

"Bob Kuechenberg (a 15-year man with Miami on injured reserve) knows Montana from Notre Dame. He's just into his own thing. It doesn't make me respect the guy too much."

When I asked Montana if he remembered the episode Better's was talking about, he said he did only vaguely. He insisted he never asked for any money to appear.

"I'm pretty sure I was on the vacation at the time and the whole thing went through my attorney," said San Francisco's 28-year-old record-breaker, the man John Madden calls the greatest quarterback in pro football today.

"I can appreciate what he's talking about was for a good cause," Montana went on. "There are a lot of good causes. If I did everything everyone wanted me to do I'd be doing something else every minute. I get a lot of calls from people wanting me to do a lot of things. I'm sure this wasn't the first time something like this happened."

Maybe not. But it was the first time that something like this involving Joe Montana happened to Doug Better's, or at least made a deep enough impression on him so he still remembers it.

He's looking for some kind of edge Sunday and this could be what churns him up a little.

"It could be," he says. "I'll take any edge I can get."

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Wiggins Pumps In 16 Points As McCoy's Cleaners Triumphs

Joseph Wiggins pumped in 16 points and James Jackson netted 14 as McCoy's Cleaners coasted to a 36-9 victory, over TipTop Supermarket in Sanford Recreation Department basketball action at Westside Center.

McCoy's built a 10-0 lead after the first quarter and took a 18-2 cushion at halftime. Bergeron Brown's four points were high for TipTop.

In other action, Alonzo Brundidge and Joe Clements combined for 38 points as First Federal upended Atlantic Bank, 44-25. Brundidge led the way with 20 points while Clements added 18 and Jeff Ingram tossed in four. Brian Grayson connected for 18 points to lead Atlantic Bank.

In Sanford Recreation Department Church League play this past Tuesday, Church of God Prophecy edged Grace United Methodist Church, 38-36, while All Souls Catholic rolled past Church of God, 43-29.

Peete Takes Lead At Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — It would be hard to argue against Calvin Peete as the most consistent player on the PGA Tour the last three years.

In that short span, Peete has won seven tournaments, a Vardon Trophy for the Tour's lowest scoring average and $864,439.

For a guy who didn't take up the sport until he was 23 — an age when most players are starting on the world's toughest golf circuit — Peete, who celebrated his 41st birthday last summer, has made tremendous strides.

He started the new year in the Bob Hope Desert Classic last week and except for a 75 in the third round when he missed a half-dozen makeable putts, played very well. As it was, he shot 12-under-par 348 in the 90-hole event and won $5,825.

Thursday, Peete shot a brilliant 6-under-par 65 for the first-round lead in the Phoenix Open, which is worth $81,000 to the winner.

His round included six birdies and no bogeys and was enough to give him the lead by a shot over Isao Aoki, Morris Hatalasky and Tour rookie Phil Blackmar. He holds a two-stroke edge on Ron Streck, Gary Koch, Nick Faldo, Doug Tewell and Jeff Thomson.

Kerr's 4 Goals Earn Reward

United Press International After Tim Kerr's four goals iced another victory for Philadelphia, the Flyers' center decided to treat himself to a frosty one after the game.

"I think I'll have an extra beer for that," Kerr said Thursday night after his performance tied a club record and propelled the Flyers to a 7-5 triumph over Detroit, extending the Red Wings' winless streak to 10 games.

Kerr posted a natural hat trick — three consecutive goals — when he deposited his third score at 2:11 of the second period. His final goal came later in the period at 15:21, tying Mike Bossy of the New York Islanders for third place in NHL goal scoring with 38.

Elsewhere, it Calgary edged Boston 4-3, Washington downed Pittsburgh 6-2, and Montreal beat Hartford 5-4.

Kings Lose 6th Straight Game

United Press International The Kansas City Kings had a pair of streaks entering Thursday night's encounter with the San Antonio Spurs.

The one they kept alive wasn't the one they had in mind. The Kings had beaten the Spurs four straight times, but had lost their last five games. The losing streak is now six.

"It always feels good to win away from home," said Cotton Fitzsimmons after San Antonio's 141-130 victory, its fourth on the road in 19 games. "We're playing better and we caught the Kings at the right time. The last time they were red hot, and now they've lost six in a row."

The victory, second in a row for the Spurs, could have been especially sweet to Fitzsimmons in that he coached the Kings last season. He neatly put that theory to rest, though.

In other games Thursday night, Chicago defeated Cleveland 98-93, and Detroit beat New York Knicks 105-89.

Oviedo, Elk's Slate Free Throws

Oviedo High School, in association with the Winter Park Elk's Club, is sponsoring a free throw shooting contest at Oviedo High this Saturday starting at 9 a.m.

There will be a boys and girls division for the following age groups: 8-9, 10-11 and 12-13. Eight and nine year-old boys and girls should be at the gym to register by 8:30, 10-11 year olds should register by 9:30 and 12-13 year olds by 10:30. There is no charge for contestants.

Eight and nine year olds will shoot four feet closer to the basket. Trophies will be awarded in all categories after each contestant has shot 25 free throws. Winners will move on to district competition in February.

Marino: No More Doubt About Skills

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — When Dan Marino was coming out of college, his value in the NFL was questionable.

Nearly two years later, the only question left is, how did 26 teams pass him up in the draft?

"Everybody's trying to figure out now why he was drafted so late," said Miami Dolphins Coach Don Shula, who was delighted to find Marino available after five quarterbacks were taken in the 1983 draft. "We had a strong commitment to Marino that others did not. We heard rumors, different kinds of rumors."

"We checked them out and did not hear anything that changed our minds. I called (Pitt Coach) Foge Fazio and he gave me his strongest recommendation. We knew all we needed to know."

Marino's stock had dropped due to a bad season and rumors of drug problems during his senior year at the University of Pittsburgh. It has been written that Marino had to take a urinalysis test before the draft to prove he was clean.

Marino has refused to discuss his personal life since joining the Dolphins, despite widespread interest this week as Miami prepares to meet San Francisco in Sunday's Super Bowl.

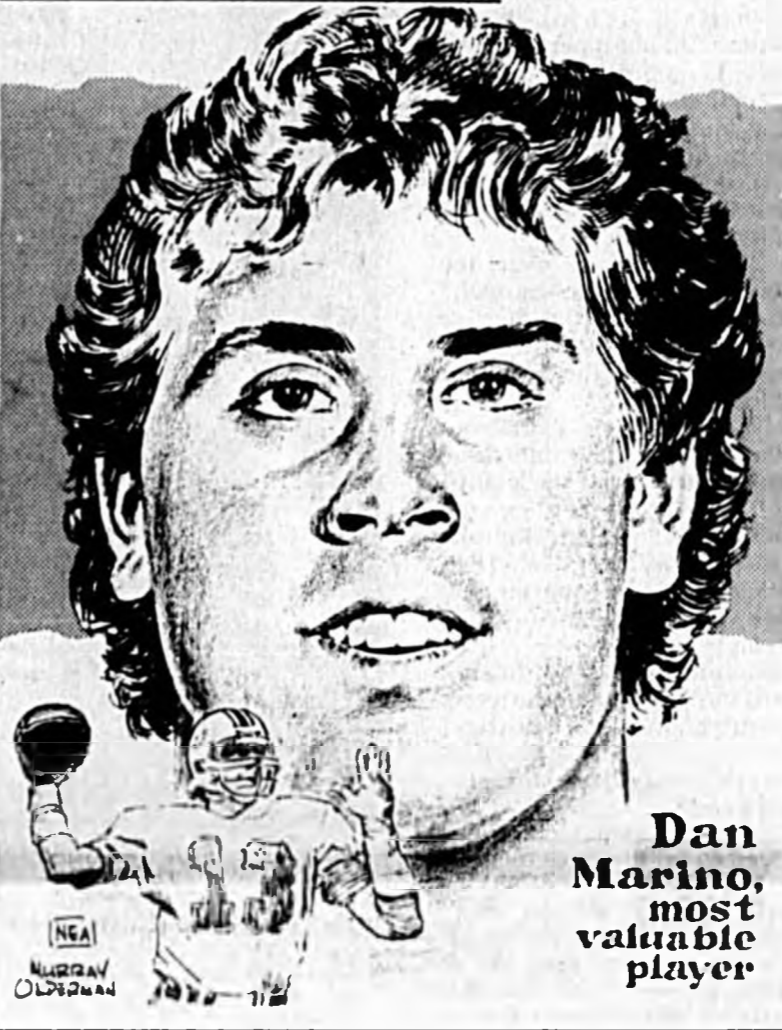

"I never took any tests," he said. "One time somebody wrote that but that's something I can't control. If I worried about everything that was written about me, I wouldn't have a good time."

Marino is having a good time despite the hundreds of thousands of words that have been written about him this week. Heading into the Super Bowl, all Marino had left to prove was how well he could handle the media circus.

"I'm enjoying it," Marino said. "I'm getting used to it. I just want to be myself. Take me for what I am and I'll take you for what you are."

Shula isn't surprised anymore by how well Marino handles any situation.

Jim Thorpe Trophy

Dan Marino, most valuable player

"Nothing seems to overwhelm Dan," Shula said. "Everything he does is natural. When we went to play in Pittsburgh this season I thought it might be difficult for him but he handled it just fine."

"It's hard to think of a negative. It's all natural to him. It all flows. It's just a part of his personality. Every day is better than the day before."

If Marino gets much better, there won't be an NFL statistician able to keep up with him. In just his second pro season he set records for passing yardage (5,084) and touchdowns (48), and led the league in attempts (584), completions (382) and efficiency rating (108.9). He capped the season by setting AFC Championship game records by passing for four touchdowns and 421 yards in a 45-28 victory over Pittsburgh.

Marino gets a lot of help. Shula's coaching, an offensive line that allowed just 13 sacks and acrobatic receivers Mark Clayton and Mark Duper, have eased his transition into the NFL.

"I couldn't have done it without him and he couldn't do it without me," said Clayton, who caught 73 passes for 1,389 yards and an NFL-record 18 touchdowns.

Marino is quick to spread the credit.

"When I was in college, I played on a team that threw the ball a lot. I was able to see a lot of things," he said. "Then in Miami, I had great people around me — great receivers and Coach Shula really helped me adjust to the pro system."

Gripes Resurface About 49ers Turf

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Year after year teams came into the Oakland Coliseum, usually lost and then left grumbling.

"The opponents of the Raiders always complained about the condition of the field," said San Francisco Coach Bill Walsh. "Us included."

The Oakland Raiders have been the Los Angeles Raiders for a few years now, but the gripes about their former residence linger on.

Miami takes on San Francisco Sunday at Stanford Stadium, a field universally acclaimed by those who have played football on it as being one of the best natural surfaces in the country.

But the Super Bowl participants get only one brief chance to work out at the actual site of the game.

Leading up to the Super Bowl the 49ers have worked out at their own training facility in Redwood City.

The Dolphins, meanwhile, were assigned to work out at the Oakland Coliseum and that turns out to be where the grumbles start.

"Almost everything there is perfect," said Miami safety Glenn Blackwood. "It's just 10 minutes from the hotel. The locker room facility is great."

"It just happens that the field is lousy."

Miami coach Don Shula brought up the matter Thursday.

"It's the only negative thing we've had since we got here," said Shula. "But the field is not very good. It's a very soft. The grass comes up in big globs and has slowed down the timing between our quarterback and receivers."

"Our guys have to be careful about slipping or pulling a groin muscle."

"Every time we came out here to play I thought (Raiders managing general partner) Al Davis soaked down the field with a water hose. Now I know he didn't. It's just like that all the time."

Time After Time: Crager Lifts Tomcats

The biggest and most thrilling game of the young season for the Inter-County Basketball Association took place this past weekend in the Boys JV (6-7th grade) division. It was a triple-overtime 45-43 win by the South Seminole Tomcats over the Jackson Heights Wildcats.

Robbie Crager came through time and time again for the Tomcats to tie the score or put SS ahead. He did it for the last time in the third overtime to ice the victory. Chuckie Atkins led the Tomcats with 17 points and lots of steals and assists. Crager added 13 and supplied overtime power on the backboards. Chris Westberry led the Wildcats with 13 points.

In varsity play both the Jackson Heights Lions and the South Seminole Bobcats remained undefeated. The Lions nipped Winter Park in a thriller, 59-54. Clutch foul shooting by Matt Blanton and Danny Phillips. Chad Duncan's 6 points in the fourth quarter and backboard work by Charles Warner, Chris Kewley and Rick Hampton led the Lions to their win. Winter Park got 13 points from Crane and 11 by Erin McGuire before he fouled out early in the game. Quincy Howard also chipped in with 11. The Bobcats won easily, twice.

Basketball

bolstered by the scoring of Willy Daunic, Danny Rubin, Brad Bolton, Larry Watkins, Curtis Robbins and Gordon Kimbrough and the defense contributed by Delmon Simpson and J.J. Miller. They topped the Knights 69-16 and Westmonte 49-25.

In Senior division play, the Oviedo Straycats, led by a host of Lion footballers, won twice. They beat the Winter Park YMCA 81-21 and took Eastmonte (lots of ex-Lyman HS basketball players), 72-44. Big Cat scorers were Pop Bowers 19, Scott Diaz-Green 18 and Eddie Norton 13 in the first game; Demitrious Hill 17, Norton 16 and Doug Ackerman 15 in the second. For Eastmonte, Ex-

Greyhounds Lavechle Nelson had 13, Scott Russell 11 and Lance Wall 10.

In Girls play, the Jackson Heights Scorpions took the South Seminole Kittens, 26-16. Bridget Jennerette led the way with 12. Suzanne Hughes added 8 and they both took control of the backboards. Brigette Szobar led SS with 8, Erika Cain added 4 and lots of ballhandling and defense.

How To Prevent Dieback In Mature Trees

At this time of the year, when most of the leaves have fallen from our trees, we begin to notice all kinds of problems affecting them. One of the most common is dieback.

Dieback is a process of decline which causes trees to give up a portion of their leaves and branches. It usually occurs as a result of some severe stress to the tree's root system. There is a delicate balance between a tree's roots and the number of leaves it can support. However, this process doesn't happen overnight.

Visible dieback of a tree takes time — often quite a long time from the date the root system was injured. The larger the tree, the longer it takes for this stress to show up. With older trees, it could easily be a year or more before dieback is observed. Also, the larger the tree is, the less disturbance it can tolerate to its root system.

A small tree will adapt to almost any growing condition. On the other hand, a mature tree is "set in its ways," and can't respond favorably to changes in its environment. What can be done to prevent dieback in old trees?

Probably, the first thing we need to realize is that trees, like all living things, have a natural life expectancy. Sometimes, no matter how careful you are not to disturb a tree's environment, dieback will occur. Each year, trees grow new bark. This becomes more difficult as the tree gets older. At some point, the tree won't be able to grow enough replacement parts for those it's losing. Once a tree begins this period of decline, there's nothing you can do for it.

It is possible to extend a tree's natural life expectancy and delay this inevitable period of decline. The most important thing you can do is to protect its roots. Give the tree the space it needs. Small trees can adapt to a limited space. A mature tree that is forced to occupy a small space will not adapt.

Protect the tree's bark as much as possible. Bark is the tree's only protection. A wound that goes deep into a tree will expose the interior to all sorts of woodrotting fungi and boring insects. All wounds should be treated promptly to encourage rapid healing.

Be sure you keep your trees pruned away from utility lines. If you don't, the power company will and you may not be happy with the results. Always be cautious concerning the danger of electrical shock — it could be deadly! If in doubt, hire a competent expert to do the pruning for you.

Be very careful when you use weed killers in your landscape. Some herbicides can damage trees if you apply them within 20 feet of the trunk. If you must use a herbicide, be sure it's one that is designed to kill green growth only.

One of the worst practices you can do is to start excessively fertilizing an old tree. You may think it will stimulate the tree and extend its life. In most instances, it will simply cause problems. An old tree doesn't need an overabundant crown. It doesn't have the root system to support this excessive growth, and the tree will become top heavy.

When the leaves of trees have fallen, it's common to see large amounts of ball moss growing, particularly in oak trees that are declining. Many people assume the moss is responsible. Not so!

Ball moss is an epiphyte. And, is in the family as Spanish moss. Each plant is a tuft of leathery, thread-like leaves that grow one to seven inches long. The leaves are covered with silvery-gray or brownish scales. Pale violet flowers grow on short spikes.

Research has shown that ball moss is not parasitic on the host plant. It receives its nutrients and moisture from the atmosphere.

There is a remote possibility that ball moss could indirectly cause thinning of a tree canopy. When rain passes through a tree's leaves, it can wash away nutrients. Normally, these fall to the soil where the tree's roots take them up again. If there is enough ball moss growing, it might intercept the nutrients before they could be recycled. If this happens, the nutrient loss could cause some amount of decline.

Having your tree sprayed to kill the moss isn't necessarily the best way to deal with the problem. Just give the trees enough fertilizer to offset the nutrient interception, allowing the tree canopy to grow thicker and gradually reduce the amount of ball moss without chemical sprays.

So, ball moss is not a parasite on trees and shrubs. It shouldn't cause any problems for otherwise healthy trees! It takes a good generation for a tree to develop a cool, shading canopy. You'll want to retain yours for many years to come.

Happy gardening!

Lions Honor Duncan On 33rd Anniversary

The Sanford Lions Club honored W. Hugh Duncan at the Tuesday luncheon meeting for having completed 33 years as a Lion. During his 33-year membership in the Lions Club, Duncan has had perfect attendance and has held nearly every office, having served as secretary of the club for 30 years.

During 1957-58, Duncan served as club president and he was zone chairman in 1958-59. He was elected Deputy District Governor for the 1960-61 term, followed by serving as District Governor during 1962-63.

Duncan has sponsored 29 new club members and represented the Sanford Lions Club 15 times while attending Lions International Conventions all over the world.

Friendship Ends When Swapping Mates Begins

DEAR ABBY: My best friend of almost 15 years was married for the third time about a year ago.

Two months ago, she asked me if I was interested in "swapping" husbands. I immediately said "No" because: (1) I think it's immoral; (2) I value my marriage; (3) I do not want to have sex with my best friend's husband. (She said it was her husband's idea.)

Since then, my best friend has been cool to me, but she's been coming on to my husband ... flirting, pressing against him, etc. Also, her husband has been coming on to me. He told me he's been dreaming about me, and ever since he heard I refused to go to bed with him, it makes him want me all the more!

I asked my husband what he thought about the swapping idea just to see what he'd say, and he said, "I'll think about it." I was angry because he didn't say no right off the bat like I did.

I still value my friendship with my best friend, and I feel sorry for her because she married that jerk.

How can we stay friends with this couple without agreeing to swap, which I think is what everybody wants, except me?

NO NAMES, SMALL TOWN

DEAR NO NAMES: You can't. And the sooner you say goodbye to your best friend and the jerk she married, the healthier your marriage will be.

DEAR ABBY: This is a suggestion for "Hurt Grandmother," whose grandchildren (living in a distant state) never found the time to write thank-you notes for her lovely gifts and generous checks:

On the next gift-giving occasion, send a generous check — but "forget" to sign it.

I guarantee that within three days you will receive some kind of written message plus the check for your signature.

BARBARA
DEAR BARBARA: Beautiful. But most grandmothers are such pigeons, they would probably sign the check and promptly send it back.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 82 years to a man who has the habit of mumbling. No one can understand him because he won't speak up. And to make matters worse, he has the habit of putting his hand over his mouth when he talks.

Dear Abby

Everytime he says something, I ask him to repeat it. It really is nerve-racking.

I have asked him in a nice way to please keep his hands away from his mouth when he talks and to speak up, but it's like talking to a wall.

Is there a solution? Or is it true that you can't teach an old horse new tricks?

MUMBLER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: When your mumbler says something you aren't able to understand, don't ask him to repeat it, just ignore him. If it's important (to him), he'll repeat it until he gets his message across.

You can teach an old horse new tricks if it's in the best interest of the old horse to learn.

DEAR ABBY: I recently read the following in your column: "Confidential to everybody: "I have learned ""To spell hors d'oeuvres ""Which still grates on ""Some people's n' oeuvres."
WARREN KNOX

Abby, I know the phrase has been Anglicized; nevertheless, diehard purists like me still consider it improper to sound the final consonant in the phrase "hors d'oeuvres," which prompts my:

Confidential to Warren Knox: To announce in print You can spell hors d'oeuvres And then rhyme it wrong Takes a lot of nerve.

Won't Replace Surgeons

Robot Arm May Help Remove Brain Tumors

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A computer-aided robot arm that is accurate to 1-2,000th of an inch may help find and remove brain tumors, but doctors who developed the machine say it will not replace the sensitive hands of the surgeon.

The world's first application of robotics in diagnosing and treating brain tumors was unveiled Thursday when the robot arm pinpointed a 1-millimeter metal pellet inside a watermelon.

Dr. Yik San Kwok of Memorial Medical Center of Long Beach, who developed the computer program that runs the arm, said the device will shorten the hospital time for patients with brain tumors.

The average stay, from five or more days, will shrink to about one day, saving money and recovery time for the patient, he said.

The robotic arm, developed by Unimation, a subsidiary of Westinghouse Corp., is called the Unimate Puma 200, but doctors and researchers who work with it nicknamed it "Ole," after a Danish immigrant who killed part of his fortune to the hospital.

Kwok demonstrated the arm, which has three major moving parts and six joints, by using it to find the pellet inside a watermelon. The demonstration simulated the procedure the arm uses when it is used to aid surgeons in brain biopsies.

"The robotic arm is safer, faster and far less invasive than current surgical procedures, and it has a degree of accuracy that no human could hope to match," Kwok said.

The arm's "hand" holds a probe that guides the surgeon through a hole drilled in the patient's skull and down a narrow tube to biopsy brain material, drain an abscess or inject medicine or a radioactive isotope.

He said the robot is accurate to within 1-2000th of an inch, but added it is "neither a threat nor a substitute for the surgeon's skill. The tactile feeling of the experienced surgeon, needed to introduce a probe into the brain, cannot be matched by any robot. Rather, the robot is the surgeon's helper."

Kwok said if the tumor is large, the arm's probe can tell the surgeon where to place radioactive material in exactly the right spot to treat it.

A much higher dose of radiation can be delivered to the precise site by the robot than by current procedures, he said.

A Catecan is used to locate the tumor and that information is fed to the robot, Kwok said.

Dr. William Wilson, the hospital's director of radiology, said the robot will first be tested in delicate neurosurgery, but other applications could include bone biopsies and treatments for back ailments.

The robotic arm has not yet been used on a human, Kwok said, but a meeting with hospital officials is scheduled for Feb. 20 and at that time it will be determined when the procedure will be first used.

A Time For Reflection

Fishing is a time for reflection in more ways than one. As a fisherman on Lake Monroe leisurely looks for the right spot, morning sunlight splashes around him, glancing off the waves.

Congress May Consider Uniform Poll-Closing Time

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An agreement by the major television networks clears the way for Congress to consider legislating a uniform poll-closing time to avoid the problem of the news media calling elections before West Coast polls close.

Two movers behind the idea, Reps. Al Swift, D-Wash., and William Thomas, R-Calif., the top members of the House Task Force on Elections, said Thursday the three major television networks have agreed to refine their election forecasting to help toward that end.

In addition to earlier decisions not to project a winner before polls close in a state, networks have agreed not to use exit polling data to "characterize" the outcome.

March Fong Eu, California secretary of state who has been among the leading state elections officials urging an end to network election projections, said he was pleased with the networks' decision on exit polls.

"The devil must be wearing a fur coat, since it seems that Hell has frozen over," he said. "The networks have taken a very constructive step forward and I applaud their efforts to work out a solution to the problem of network projections and the impact they have on voter turnout on the West Coast."

Congress, said Swift and Thomas, now is free to work on uniform poll-closing legislation or other solutions to the problem without the threat that "characterizing" the outcome from exit poll data would short-circuit their efforts.

Swift said the chances of solving the problem before the 1988 elections are "a little better than 50-50."

"I believe the networks have taken themselves out of the problem," said Thomas.

Other proposals to be examined at congressional hearings include a national holiday for voting and weekend or Sunday voting.

In 1980, West Coast voters heard network projections of President Jimmy Carter's defeat and Ronald Reagan's election well before polls closed. In the 1984 race, winners in the various states were not projected until polls closed, but some networks used exit polling data to "characterize" the likely outcome before polls closed.

Officials of ABC, CBS and NBC have urged Congress to move toward a uniform poll-closing time as a solution to the issue.

If there is not a uniform poll-closing time or other solution by 1988's election, however, it still would be possible for the news media to say who has won the race before polls close on the West Coast.

That call would be made if a candidate won enough electoral votes in East and Midwest states to win the presidency.

Rep. Tim Wirth, D-Colo., chairman of the telecommunications subcommittee, commended the networks "for recognizing the legitimate rights of America's voters in each state to exercise their franchise without being effectively told their vote won't make a difference."

Lone Ranger Gets His Mask Back

United Press International
Return with us now to those thrilling days of yesteryear when the Lone Ranger roamed the West in a mask — not a funky pair of sunglasses. Clayton Moore, who played the Lone Ranger in 208 television episodes of the saga of masked man, was banned in 1979 from wearing the mask in promotional appearances when a judge ruled the Lone Ranger trappings belonged to the Wrather Corp. A California judge overruled the ban recently and Moore plans to go back to the mask, ditching the sunglasses he used as a substitute. It's enough to make even the stoic Tonto smile. "The mask has been a symbol of fair play, justice and law and order which I lived by all my life," Moore said. "It's come back to me. The mask will never be taken off again." He said he his first masked appearance will be in New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 23. "Old Kemo Sabe plenty happy."

2-4 p.m. each Sunday. Central Florida Zoological Park, Highway 17-92, Lake Monroe, open every day 9-5. Picnic facilities.

The Armand Hammer Daumier collection exhibit, through Jan. 27, Loch Haven Art Center, 2416 N. Mills Ave., Orlando. Hours: Tuesday-Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday noon to 5 p.m. and Sunday, 2-5 p.m. Special tours, lectures, films and workshop will be held in conjunction with the exhibit.

Kilted Pipers Continue Scottish Tradition

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The city of Longwood may be a far cry from the heather and highlands of Scotland, but on Monday nights the plaintive wail of the bagpipes can be heard drifting from the historical district as Rosie O'Grady's Highlanders practice for the upcoming Orlando Highland Games.

The Highlanders represent part of the Scottish mania that is sweeping the country. The trend is causing some to predict that the United States, having espoused golf with a passion, will soon be the world center for the rest of Scottish culture.

"It's phenomenal," said Jack

Bisland, drum major and founder of the Rosie O'Grady drum and bagpipe band. "It's spreading all over the country. The Highland Games here are better than the games in Scotland."

There are also Highland Games held in Jacksonville, Dunedin, Miami and Fort Myers, but Bisland claims "Orlando's is the best in the state."

The games, to be held Jan. 26 at the Central Florida Fairgrounds in Orlando, consist of Scottish games, dancing and bagpipe competition.

To prepare for them, Bisland said the group practices on Monday nights at the Longwood community building across from city hall.

There are about 20 people in his group, ranging in age from 12 to 69.

The first of three pipe and drum bands in Orlando, the Rosie O'Grady Highlanders were originally known as the Orlando Pipes and Drums when Bisland started the group in 1974. But four years later, Rosie O'Grady's bar and restaurant became their sponsor so they changed the name.

"When we first started, nobody could play," Bisland said. "I taught bagpipes and my son, Jack Jr., taught the drums." Jack Jr. is a Longwood police lieutenant and drummer in the band. Pipe major for the Highlanders is Ken Mauchin.

The elder Bisland learned to play the pipes as a 12-year-old Boy Scout in Scotland and has been playing ever since. He came to the United States from there in 1952 and started a band in Buffalo, N.Y., before he moved to this area.

The group has won many honors and last year they won the southeast championship in Gatlinburg, Tenn. They have marched in the Orange Bowl Parade and the St. Augustine Light Parade and played for the inauguration of Gov. Bob Graham, whom Bisland said "loves the bagpipes and is of Scottish descent."

But not all the lads and lassies in the band are of Scottish descent, Bisland said. The group includes men and women of Italian, Irish, English, and American strains.

For Lake Brantley High School English teacher Cher Stempler of Casselberry and her teenage son, Jason, it is also a family affair. Ms. Stempler plays tenor drum with the Highlanders and Jason, who is learning the pipes, will be entering competition playing his chanter at the Highland Games.

"Jason saw the boys piping at Epcot. He became interested in the bagpipes and when he talked to them he found out about the free classes and free tutoring," said Ms. Stempler.

"Jason started taking lessons and I watched their rehearsals for three months. I had carried a drum in high school, so I decided to take up the tenor drum, which involves a lot of flash and flourish. By April, I was invited to start playing with the band and I went with them to Gatlinburg."

"It is very family oriented," she said. "Parents and children are able to belong to the same organization and at the same

'Call to Glory' Producer Hopes For Adult Audience At New Time

By Joan Hanauer
UPI TV Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steve Tisch has high hopes that "Call to Glory" will find a happy home in its new time slot among the grownup shows.

Tisch, an executive producer of the series that has received high critical acclaim the low Nielsen ratings, is optimistic now that ABC has switched the series from Monday nights at 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Tuesday nights.

"That's a fairly radical move," Tisch said of the time change that took place this week. "I feel we'll be appealing to a different audience at 10 p.m. I hope it's an audience that has a lot of passion for this kind of drama."

"I'm not a seasoned television producer in the series, but my gut instinct tells me we've got a better shot at the audience we're looking for."

Tisch knows more about television movies than series. The two other productions was associated with recently were both well-received — "the Burning Bed" the "Silence of the Heart."

What makes Tisch optimistic about the time switch is the kind of shows that have found a home at the late end of prime time. Traditionally these are the more adult shows, often including themes that would not be acceptable during what was once called television's "family hour" from 8-9 p.m.

"This is the time period for shows like 'Hill Street Blues,'" Tisch said. "I think this audience may be more inclined to watch reality-based drama, rather than fantasy-based shows like 'Scarecrow the Mrs. King' the 'Bloopers,' where you don't have to sit back the think about what you're watching — it does your thinking for you."

Series star

Tisch has nothing but praise for ABC execs, who he says have been most supportive, considering the show's poor ratings.

Under other circumstances," he said, "'Call to Glory' at this point would be just a memory. But they have let us make the show we want, the they have not told us that because our ratings are not what they hoped that we had to spice it up or mold it into something we never intended it to be." there will be some changes in the show, however.

"To generalize," he said, "the direction taking the show is to de-emphasize the hardware aspect of it — the military angles. We will cut down on the flying the the reliance on action sequences to sell the show. Instead we will emphasize the really start to develop the personal stories relationship between Craig Nelson the Cindy Pickett."

"We will be dealing with more adult themes the show how the entire family as a unit deals with that period in history."

the show now has reached late 1983, the in February it will devote two episodes to the events that lead up to the culmination with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In other television news, President Reagan has relented the will allow live network coverage of the private swearing-in ceremony to take place on Jan. 20.

the big public hoopla will take place on Monday, Jan. 21, because inauguration day falls on a Sunday, but an oath-taking on Jan. 20 is needed so the country will not be without a president for a day.

This is the sixth time in the nation's history that inauguration day fell on Sunday, the the first time a private ceremony has been televised.

President Reagan will take his second oath of office around 11:50 a.m., which won't conflict with the Super Bowl.

Cape Canaveral Backdrop For CBS Mini-Series

By Betty Luman
HOUSTON (UPI) — The unmatched scenery at the Johnson Space Center and Cape Canaveral provides a realistic setting for the upcoming five-night television mini-series based on James Michener's best-selling novel, "Space."

"We've tried to go to the real place when the script called for it," co-producer Allan Marcil said of the on-location shooting for the 13-hour project to be broadcast in April on CBS.

"Space," with a budget of $30 to $35 million, is the longest and most expensive mini-series to air on CBS.

Marcil said officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration "bent over backwards" to accommodate the film crew at the Johnson and Kennedy space centers.

"This has been a wonderful education," Michael York said in an interview at JSC. "It's not every day you get to work in a place like this. The NASA people have been extraordinary."

He said NASA employees took a "busman's holiday" to be part of scenes shot at mission control in Houston.

York portrays Dieter Kolff, a member of Hitler's rocket team who becomes a key member of the U.S. space program.

Blair Brown, who plays the wife of an astronaut who is also a legal counsel to the Senate Space Committee, said part of the fun of filming "Space" was the location work.

"It's terrible to work in a back lot for five months," she said. Brown, who starred as Jacqueline Kennedy in the miniseries "Kennedy," said the pace had been so fast, she was unable to do much needlepoint, her usual hobby on sets.

The mini-series is the first television work in 18 years for Bruce Dern, who plays a top NASA administrator involved in the space program from its infancy.

"With the exception of Jim Garner, none of us really have a deep history in TV," said Dern, known for his movie roles in "Coming Home" and "Middle Age Crazy." "Dick Berg (executive producer) wanted people not familiar to a TV audience."

"Space" tells the story of a cross-section of fictional characters involved in the U.S. space program from the end of World War II to the exploration of the moon in the early 1970s.

Although the mini-series parallels history, its Gemini and Apollo missions never occurred. It ends with Apollo 18, although the real NASA moon program ended with Apollo 17.

"It's not a documentary by any means," CBS spokesman Bill Bence said. "We're not billing it as being accurate history. It is a fiction."

Garner, who won an Emmy Award for his starring role in "The Rockford Files," plays Norman Grant, a naval hero whose wartime exploits catapult him into the U.S. Senate. John Pope, the husband of where he latches onto the fledgling space program.

Also starring in "Space" are Beau Bridges, playing while Charles Conrad and Alan Bean explored its surface during Apollo 12, served as "dark side" of the moon, and Harry Hamlin as astronaut

Ritter Played A Preacher Before A Swinging Single

DEAR DICK — Could you tell me how long John Ritter was on "Three's Company"? And what other shows or movies, if any, he has been in? K., Amarillo, Texas.

Ask Dick Kleiner

"Three's Company" ran for eight seasons, before its conversion to "Three's a Crowd" this year. Ritter has been very active in other things. Before "Three's Company," he played Rev. Fordwick on "The Waltons" and he's been in several TV movies as well as some feature films, "Hero At Large," "The Other" and "Nickelodeon," among others.

DEAR DICK — I heard on the news quite some time ago that Norman Lear, the man who invented the Lear Jet, had died. His wife was shown in England by the news media and she was asked if she was going to continue to build the Lear Jet and she said she was. Now a friend of mine says he is not dead and that he is the same Lear who produced the TV show "All In the Family" and that his wife is Jean Stapleton. I would very much like to know if this is true and, if not, when did he die? A.L.D., Kansas City, Mo.

You have a case of Lear confusion. Norman Lear, the Hollywood TV producer, had nothing to do with inventing the Lear Jet. That was a different Lear; and that other Lear did, in fact, die, and his wife is continuing the business. Our Hollywood Norman (who is not married to Jean Stapleton, incidentally) is alive, and very active in the TV and movie production business.

DEAR DICK — I am inquiring about an old movie called "The Song Of Bernadette." Can you tell me if they still show that movie and how I can get someone to put the movie on TV again. The last time I saw it was 18 years ago. Who would I write to? C.A., Ash Grove, Mo.

For a movie that old — it was made in 1943, so it's now 42 years old, which is a ripe old age for a movie — your only chance to see it on TV is to get one of your local channels to show it late some night. They have access to old movies.

perhaps even have it in their library. Write or call the program directors of your local channels.

DEAR DICK — Can you settle a bet for us about the dog, Barkley, on "Sesame Street"? My husband says there is a person inside. I say no. I think it is mechanical. P.M., Saginaw, Mich.

One for the husband. There is a person inside the dog suit.

DEAR DICK — In the TV show "Falcon Crest," what was the doctor's name who got killed in the airplane crash? My husband and I have a bet riding on this. My husband says it was Dale Robertson. I say no. What was the actor's name? D.S., Liberal, Mo.

One for the wife. It was Cliff Robertson, not Dale.

DEAR DICK — Would you please give me some biographical information on Philip Michael Thomas, one of the stars of "Miami Vice"? I've never heard of him before and I think he's very good. C.W., Houston.

Thomas has done some work, but not much, and not very big. So the fact that you hadn't heard of him before is understandable. He comes from South Carolina. For a time, he studied theology. But then he returned to acting, and appeared in the San Francisco production of "Hair." The biggest part he had before "Miami Vice" was in the 1976 movie "Sparkle."

DEAR DICK — Whatever happened to Kent McCord of the "Adam 12" series? I see Martin Milner occasionally, but wonder what Mr. McCord is doing these days. L.S., Santa Maria, Calif.

He's still acting some. But evidently you've missed seeing him. He is also very active in the actor's union — the Screen Actors Guild — and that takes up a lot of his time.

Cosby Refuses Award

Bill Cosby's show is the big hit of the television season, but he sent a telegram to the Hollywood Foreign Press Association asking that his name be withdrawn from nomination for a Golden Globe Award. "I'm not interested in competing against my peers," he said. The association's president, Jorge Camara, doesn't care, though. Like it or not, Cosby will compete for the Jan. 26 awards for best actor in a television comedy with Ted Danson of "Cheers," Robert Guillaume of "Benson," Sherman Hemsley of "The Jeffersons" and Bob Newhart. "We nominated the five best," said Camara. "Cosby stays in the running."

level." Another one of the younger pipers is 13-year-old David Rush, whose parents Harry and Marion Rush of Casselberry were both born, raised and married in Scotland. They came to the United States and David was born in New York. "I thought it would be pretty neat to play the bagpipes. Both my parents were Scottish and I wanted to learn how," he explained.

Learning to play the pipes well enough to march with the band takes a long-term commitment and an investment of time and money. According to the oldest member of the Rosie O'Grady Highlanders, Bill Kirkpatrick, it takes about seven years to be a really good piper. The beginner learns the fingering and memorizes the tunes on a chanter, a flutophone-looking instrument which costs about $50. A set of bagpipes costs from $425 to $4,000 depending on how much silver and ivory they are adorned with. The chanters are expensive because they are fashioned from black ebony wood from Africa. "It doesn't crack easily and retains its resonance," said Kirkpatrick. Kirkpatrick, 69, of College Park, came to Canada from his native Scotland in 1948, later moving to the United States in 1952. Playing the bagpipes is his hobby and he is one of the original members of the band.

Rosie O'Grady's supplies the uniforms which Kirkpatrick said can cost $2,000. The traditional kilt contains eight yards of woolen material and is usually made in Scotland. It costs about $300. Also a part of the traditional attire is the feather bonnet made from black ostrich feathers. When worn into battle it was supposed to intimidate the enemy by making the wearer look about seven feet tall, said Kirkpatrick. The Glengarry cap is also worn — a plaid, woolen cap of Scottish origin.

The pipers also wear a gaberdine tunic, a cross belt to hold the sword and waist belt with large silver buckle. The plaid, a sash worn across the chest, was at one time part of the kilt wrapped around the piper like a blanket to protect him from inclement weather. The sporrans, a leather pouch covered with black and white horse hair, is worn on the front of the kilt. A black dirk (dagger) is worn in the stockings which come to just below the knees.

The bagpipe consists of a leather bag fitted with five wooden pipes. The player blows air into the bag through the blowpipe. Another pipe called the chanter has a double reed and eight open holes on which the melody is played. There are three drone pipes also fitted with double reeds. Two of these sound an octave below the lowest note of the chanter and the third sounds two octaves lower. The player holds the bag under one arm and blows air into it. His arm pressure forces the air out again through the four sounding pipes.

Although associated with Scotland, the bagpipe dates back almost 2,000 years when it was played in Ancient Rome, Palestine and Persia. The Emperor Nero, famous for fiddling while Rome burned, is even said to have played the bagpipe. Bagpipes are also played in Ireland, France, India, Italy, Spain, and some Balkan and Scandinavian countries.

Looked on some as only an irritating noise, the stirring sound of the pipes, which once led the Scottish clansmen into battle, can also produce a mournful dirge in tribute to the dead, a lively reel for dancing or a worshipful rendition of Amazing Grace in church.

To learn more about Scottish culture you can attend the eighth annual Orlando Scottish Highland Games, sponsored by the Scottish-American Society of Central Florida from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 26 at the Central Florida Fairgrounds on West Highway 50, Orlando.

The Rosie O'Grady Highlanders will be performing with 14 other pipe and drum bands from throughout the south and east. The band's drum major Jack Bisland Sr. will be the Drum Major of the Day leading all of the bands in the colorful opening and closing ceremonies.

Included in the games are the caber toss — which is like tossing a 180-pound telephone pole down the field — the hammer throw, the sheaf toss, and the clachnart, or stone of strength. And perhaps the strangest thing of all the Haggis, the traditional dish of Scotland. Composed of sheep or a calf liver, heart, lungs, onions, seasonings, suet and oatmeal it is boiled together in a bag made from the stomach of the animal.

More than 100 costumed dancers are expected to compete in the traditional dances such as the Highland Fling, Jigs, reels, and hornpipe. There will be Scottish food and merchandise on sale.

Tickets for the games are available at the gate for $4 for adults and $3 for students or save a dollar and buy them in advance at local ticket outlets. Funds raised at the event go to provide scholarships.

The Scottish-American Society is a non-profit, educational organization whose purpose is to promote, educate and encourage Scottish traditions in Central Florida.

The society meets at 4 p.m. on the second Sunday of the month at the Park Lake Presbyterian Church, Highland Avenue and East Colonial Drive, Orlando.

Short Takes

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Heart and Soul," a new 20th Century Fox comedy, has undergone a title switch to "Mischief" a scant month before its release to theaters across the country.

The retitled "Mischief" stars newcomers Doug McKeon, Catherine Mary Stewart, Kelly Preston and Christopher Nash in a story of teenagers coming of age in a small midwestern town.

"Mischief" was filmed on location in Nelsonville, Ohio, by director Mel Damski.

In other Hollywood news the original stars of "Charlie's Angels" — Farrah Fawcett, Kate Jackson and Jaclyn Smith — held a surprise reunion this week at a baby shower for the expectant Miss Fawcett.

Ryan O'Neal, Miss Fawcett's longtime boyfriend, escorted the former "angel" to the party, also attended by Lorna Luft, Andrea Jaffe and Alana Stewart. The mother-to-be has not announced plans to marry O'Neal.
