

Carolina Student Arrested In Death Of Two By Poisoning

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (UPI)—A Michael Barham, 20, of Burlington, N. C., and William Henry Harrison Johnson Jr., 24, of Statesville, N. C.

Blake said officers "just ran across" Seargent's case during their investigation of the cyanide deaths. He said Seargent gave officers eight one-gram capsules which he had in his rooming house. He said he took the cyanide capsules from a dental lab in New Jersey in 1959 before coming to Chapel Hill.

The chief said Seargent was "very cooperative" and said he had given one capsule to another student whom police also questioned.

Blake said Seargent admitted giving the capsule to the student with a note—apparently intended as a joke—which read: "This may be your best friend on the way out."

Authorities said that 1-10 of a gram of cyanide would be fatal. Seargent was charged with dispensing poisonous drugs, a misdemeanor.

Blake said it appeared "very unlikely" that Barham and Johnson were poisoned accidentally. He also said, "We've found no motive for suicide."

The deadly poison—probably of both students. Cyanide is a fast Potassium cyanide—was found in acting poison which produces "high concentration" in the bodies death almost instantly.

Talent Sparks Taylor Comedy

By PETE LEVQUE
Playwright Samuel Taylor's two act comedy, "The Pleasure of His Company," presented as the first in a series of five seasonal plays at Orlando's stylish Orange Blossom Playhouse, is a really remarkable display of theatrical talent in a delightful, lighthearted performance that almost everyone would enjoy.

The play centers around a young couple, Roger Henderson and Jessica Poole, who are very much in love. The conflict evolves when Jessica's real father (Biddleford Poole) arrives for their wedding and attempts to steal Jessica from Roger by captivating her with worldly charm and a lively disposition.

As the antagonist of the play, Biddleford or "Fogo" as he is called, causes unrest in the fashionable San Francisco family as slight and amusing tremors occur in the household.

Jay Harder of Jacksonville's Guild Theatre appears almost admirably as Biddleford "Fogo" Poole in the part of a flagrantly charming continental plutocrat whose main occupation is pleasure and a unique talent of saturating himself to the gills with whiskey and soda. Mr. Harder seems to accentuate his role with not a little fervor for realism, and as I am sure you will agree after seeing the play, possibly a little too much realism.

In reality a television cameraman, amateur Jim Gammon, a remarkable young leading man in the part of Roger Henderson, displays a natural ability for acting which is often lacking in the most experienced of actors. In the role of Roger, Jim gives you the impression that he is not in a play, that he has not learned a part, and is only saying what he really believes and feels in a very real and moving situation.

Sunny Gray of the Daytona Beach Little Theatre, in the part of Jessica's mother, Katherine Dougherty, is at times overly-dramatic and in possession of a rather shrill voice, but nevertheless appears satisfactorily as an over-protective mother and cautious wife.

David Aldrich, even though not quite as old as he appears in the play in the role of Jessica's grandfather, Mackensie Savage, plays the part of a senile old man accustomed to isolation rather well, which is not really saying a lot for a player with twenty-five years of theatre work. Dave's greatest theatrical asset is that he is an actor and lives as an actor; he eats like an actor, drinks like an actor, and talks like an actor. However, if you see the play, you will gather that he doesn't sing like one.

Performances of "The Pleasure of His Company" begin at 8:40 p. m. this Wednesday through Saturday nights at the Orange Blossom Playhouse at 4321 North Orange Blossom Trail.

New Type Of Windshield Planned For Vigilante

North American Aviation's Columbus Division announced recently it has received Navy approval for the installation of a new type of windshield for its AJJ "Vigilante," at a savings of about $5,000 each.

The new windshield is made from stretched acrylic, a type of plastic which, before being shaped, is pulled in both directions to rearrange its molecular structure for shatter resistance.

It replaces the laminated plate safety glass windshield which has been used in the past. Extensive tests conducted in Columbus Division laboratories have shown that the acrylic windshield, while costing less, meets Navy specifications for the AJJ attack weapon system.

The stretched acrylic windshield provides undistorted vision and shatter protection necessary for pilots of supersonic planes, and at the same time saves weight, an important item in aircraft performance.

Legal Wrangle Shaping Up Over Red Register Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another long round of legal wrangling shaped up today in the government's fight to make the Communist party register as a tool of Russia.

The Supreme Court ushered in the new round Monday when it refused to reconsider its June 5 decision that the party must register. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy promptly announced "we will enforce the law." Communist party leaders said they would defy the ruling.

The attorney general has said he expects a long battle through the courts to obtain compliance with the 1950 Internal Security Act, which the Supreme Court upheld.

Under that law, the Communist party must register with the Justice Department within 30 days after the court's mandate becomes final.

The mandate is expected to become final about 10 days from today.

If the party fails to register, it faces criminal prosecution and fines of $10,000 a day for each day it fails to register.

If the party defies the law, the act orders registration of individual officers—the 18-member national executive committee—with in the 10 succeeding days. If they don't register they would be subject to the same fines and five years in jail.

If neither the party nor its officers register, individual party members would be required to register within 60 days after the order becomes effective.

The practical result would be to bankrupt the party and send its officers to jail if there is no registration.

Justice Department officials said the Communists have been meeting with their attorneys daily to plan legal maneuvers. They are expected to take every individual case through the longest possible legal maze.

The act the court upheld, in addition to registration, also calls for disclosure of finances and labeling of its propaganda as such.

DeBary Civic Club Meets Today

The regular monthly business meeting of the DeBary Civic Assn. Inc., at 8 p. m. today in the Community Center will be followed by presentation of a travel film on Japan by the DeLand Travel Agency.

Next Tuesday, at 8 p. m., Ed Allan and Robert N. McEise will be in charge of a dance at the Community Center sponsored for the building fund. Door prizes and free refreshments will be included in admission donations.

DeBary WSCS Hears Pastor

By MRS. ADAM MULLER
Rev. Damon Scott, pastor of the DeBary Community Methodist Church, spoke to members of the WSCS at their meeting last Tuesday, using as his theme, "The Spirit of God."

During the meeting, those having birthdays contributed to the Birthday Bank and Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Ed. Perry, Mrs. J. Montello and Mrs. J. Apola were received as new members of the Society. Mrs. Sidney Swallow told of the Lake Helen Church meeting which will be held Nov. 3 to assemble care packages of children's clothing and school supplies to be sent abroad.

Further plans were made for the Harvest Moon Supper to be held in the Church Hall Wednesday and members were invited by Miss Beatrice J. Tyson to see the films to be sponsored by the Patriotic Society at the Fire House, Oct. 24. Announcement also was made that the men of the church will sponsor a Chop Suey Dinner on Nov. 16.

Church Sale Nets $456

Mrs. Elizabeth Coolidge, chairman of the recent rummage sale sponsored by the Altar Society of the St. Mary-Magdalen Church of Altamonte Springs, has reported that profits from the sale totaled $456.

She also announced that the Society now is serving doughnuts and coffee following each Mass at the church.

Population Blast

Clouds of cigar smoke are rising from the offices of the law firm of Stenstrom, Davis and McIntosh these days as the wives of two of the firm's members gave birth to new babies within a few days of each other.

The new McIntosh arrival has been named Mark Steven and joins two brothers, Bobbie, six and Danny, two.

The Davises now have three girls, new little Miss Davis, not named yet, and sisters, Donna Jane, 12 and Pamela Jo, five years old.

First Christian Men's Club Plans Lake Mary Meeting

The Men's Club of the First Christian Church will meet for the monthly supper meeting today at the home of Marshall Smith in Lake Mary. The speaker will be LeDr. A. R. Smith of SNAS who will address the Club on Civil Defense.

Cars will leave the church at 6:15 p. m. for those who do not know the way or who need transportation.

ROY W. RUSSELL was named head of the Florida Parole Commission which he joined as its first professional employe in 1941. The 49-year-old former Tampan was appointed a member of the three-man commission in 1960 after he won out in a state-wide competitive examination given 33 applicants for the post left vacant by the retirement of Joseph Y. Cheney of St. Petersburg.

VFW Auxiliary Meets in DeBary

By MRS. ADAM MULLER
Auxiliary members of the DeBary VFW Post 8093, meeting last Wednesday at the Community Center, planned their annual picnic to be held the day before Thanksgiving at the DeBary Plaza.

Proceeds from the event, and from the Electric Broiler contest won by Babe Reilly, will go towards purchasing a TV set for the Veterans Hospital at Lake City.

Reah Davis was elected junior vice president at the meeting for which Mrs. Alice Costa, senior vice president, officiated in the absence of President Billie Schnabel due to illness. The Auxiliary voted to send Mrs. Schnabel a gift in appreciation of her fine work in the organization.

Hostesses, who served refreshments at the close of the meeting, were Minta Morrison, Babs Reilly and Greta Denning.

Continue Talks, U.S. Tells Allies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has told its allies it sees no basis so far for serious negotiations with Russia on the Berlin crisis.

But U. S. officials feel that "exploratory" talks should continue with the Russians in the hope that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will modify his position.

The British, French and West German ambassadors received a report at the State Department Monday on the results of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's discussions with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

As officials here summarized it, Gromyko's position included these points:

—Russia, in signing its separate peace treaty with East Germany, would not make any commitment on the status of West Berlin.

—West Berlin would be a "free city" with token Western and Russian troops stationed there. There would be no such internationalization of East Berlin.

—West Berlin, as Russia has always insisted, could not remain politically a part of West Germany. But East Berlin would remain the capital of East Germany.

You can lose your shirt if you don't know THE BIG DIFFERENCE in car, home or business insurance

Learn How You, Too, Can Protect
Your Possessions and Your Future...
Enjoy the Peace of Mind Only the Right Insurance Gives

The right way to buy insurance is through an independent insurance agent. Each independent agent is a professionally-trained insurance specialist. Each maintains his own office as a local businessman. Each represents not just one, but many of the strongest and most reliable insurance companies in the country.

An Expensive Vacation
While Mr. and Mrs. S. N. were away on a summer vacation, their automobile insurance expired. On the return trip the S. N.'s were involved in an automobile accident which resulted in a substantial lawsuit. They were no longer protected by insurance, for sitting in the mailbox at home was a cancellation notice from their insurance company.

An independent insurance agent maintains continuing supervision to prevent such lapses.

The High Cost of Losing
Mr. J. M. learned about the rising cost of living the hard way. He insured his house in 1946 and then forgot about the insurance. When his house burned to the ground last winter, he was shocked to discover his insurance covered only half its current replacement cost. The value of his house had doubled since 1946, making his insurance protection as out of date as a 1946 newspaper.

An independent agent makes periodic reviews to keep protection in line with current costs.

Second Hand

Mrs. D. R. who carried collision insurance sideswiped a tree on her way home from work. The insurance company told her she could have her car repaired only at a garage of the company's choosing. The garage repaired the car with second-hand parts and a second-class paint job.

An independent agent selects strong, reliable companies that do not have these claims practices.

Home, Sweet Home

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. are a young couple with two growing children and an attractive home in the suburbs. One day last summer a deliveryman slipped on a broken back step and fractured his hip. In the resulting lawsuit, he demanded $50,000 in damages. Mr. F. S., who has no personal liability protection, will have to defend the suit on his own—mortgage his future if he loses.

An independent agent examines the whole insurance picture, recommends coverage where needed.

Overcharge

Mr. T. W.'s annual automobile premium was $115.40. He did not know that through an error of classification he was paying an annual rate which was $24.25 higher than what his insurance should have cost.

An independent insurance agent sees to it that his customers are never paying more than is necessary for insurance.

In all the cases above, an independent insurance agent could have prevented heartache and financial loss. An independent agent's responsibility starts even before the policy is written. It is his job to see that you're thoroughly protected, that you are insured with strong, reliable companies, that your insurance is kept up-to-date, that you are freed of any red tape, and that your claims are paid promptly and fairly.

The Big Difference saves you time, worry and cash

Your independent insurance agent represents several competitive insurance companies of proven financial strength. He is in a position to get the policy best suited to your needs. Your independent agent is alert to the constantly changing conditions in the insurance business. He tells you about new policies that may save you money.

Your independent agent recommends adequate insurance as changes occur in replacement costs or in your own personal situation. Your independent agent is on the spot when you need him—taken care of all the details—sees to it that your claim is paid promptly and fairly.

Your independent agent is on your side. Should a claim arise, you have someone representing you whom you know and can trust. He serves you first.

Look for this Big "I" Seal when you buy insurance. To display it an insurance agent must meet professional standards designed to protect you.

The Seminole County United Fund drive kicked-off last week and will continue through Nov. 7. Among the organizations the United Fund will aid and participate in will be mental health, family counseling services, American Red Cross, Children's Home Society, USO, Girl and Boy Scouts, Salvation Army and the YMCA.

The united way of giving has proven to be the most efficient and economical way of doing the job of a good neighbor.

With the United Fund you give only once . . . for NINE WORTHY CAMPAIGNS AND CAUSES.

We urge you when you are called to volunteer your services and money . . . let's make a concerted effort to contribute cheerfully . . . Your help is a must!

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE #48: Jerry L., aged 11, has been the recipient of his school teacher's wrath.

"Dr. Crane, I am at my wit's end," his long suffering teacher pleaded.

"Jerry is a bright boy but he seems to be more mischievous than all the other 11 pupils in my class."

"He teases the girls till he makes them cry. He picks on the other boys and starts fights. He seems to be restless and unhappy. I've had to send him to the principal's office twice this week, and that's about average for Jerry."

"What else can I do with him? Or is he just destined for naughtiness and later delinquency?"

The French police motto is "cherchez la femme," meaning "seek the woman."

The broad interpretation is "look for the underlying motive."

So I urged Jerry's teacher to use the Compliment Club technique on him regarding his good qualities and try to overlook some of his naughtiness for the next day or two.

Then, when she had Jerry's confidence, schedule a long heart-to-heart talk with him.

She agreed, and began following this prescription at once. The following day she asked him to play and help her clean the blackboards.

Then they had the heart talk. And she learned that Jerry felt unloved and unloved. His parents were divorced. He vaguely recalled the apparent happiness of other members of his class at school.

So, when he was most hungry for affection, he would be most naughty.

That seems paradoxical, but it's the way people often behave. For when he was feeling low and unloved, he would look at his happy classmates and feel envious.

Then he would grow angry at their greater enjoyment of life. So he would try to whittle them down to an inferior level.

If he could make them cry, then his deflated ego began to swell up. For a bully is usually a person with an inferiority complex. When he picks on other folks and makes them cry, this makes him feel superior.

Doctors To Try Drugs On Rayburn

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Doctors hoped to prolong the life of House Speaker Sam Rayburn with the use of experimental drugs but said there is no hope the treatment will cure his cancer.

The use of the drugs, in fact, probably means trading comfort for a few more days of life.

Dr. Ralph Tompsett, director of internal medicine at Baylor University Medical Center, said Rayburn's family made the decision to use the drugs.

Rayburn, 78, received the first injection Sunday. A drug called "5-fluorouracil" was used. It has a tendency to keep the cancer from spreading and growing so fast.

"The treatment has not been discussed with Rayburn, but with his family," Dr. Tompsett said. He said the drug would be given to the congressional leader each day "possibly as long as a week or so."

Physicians for Rayburn's immediate family declined to reveal whether he knew he is dying.

The unproven drug, labeled experimental by the Food and Drug Administration, is dangerous. It attacks other cells in the body as well as the cancer cells, although not quite so fast.

"Sorry, He's Tied Up Right Now—I'll Give Him Your Message"

From Rome Henry McLemore

The President's physician, Dr. Janet Travell, thinks American housewives overwork themselves, and has advised them to take things a bit easier.

One cannot question the fact that Dr. Travell is in the perfect spot to study the average housewife at work.

Her office in the White House affords her many opportunities to watch Mrs. Kennedy over the cook stove, wrestling with a recalcitrant washer, repairing a fallen clothesline, waxing the floor of the Blue Room, and trying to get mops in a refrigerator than it will hold.

As much as I appreciate free medical advice (I am one of those people who corner a doctor at a party and try to pump a free diagnosis from him) I wish that Dr. Travell would have kept her advice to housewives to herself. Or just taken Mrs. Kennedy aside and whispered to her to ease up on her household chores.

My wife read the article quoting Dr. Travell and then reread it, and then reread it aloud just to make sure that I heard and understood and absorbed.

My wife was particularly pleased with Dr. Travell's suggestion that she be very careful when shopping and not overload herself with bags and bundles. Ever since then she has thought twice before buying a pound of butter and a spool of thread on the same trip, and our household is forever shy of essentials.

She took to another suggestion, too: the one about not doing all the washing and ironing in one stretch. The doctor said work should be broken into small bits, and Mary has taken the advice to heart. She now irons a sleeve, takes a coffee break, visits a friend, makes a phone call, and then goes back to the ironing board to do the collar and maybe one cuff.

I am now wearing half-ironed shirts, and I really look good when the ironing was started on the shirttail and never reached the higher areas.

My wife has also hinted, and strongly, that she needs a rocking chair to rest in while she is taking work easy. She also has complained of sore back and arm muscles for the first time in our married life.

To paraphrase, I am all for letting sleeping housewives alone. Tell them nothing. If they want to do a week's shopping at one whack, let them do it. If they care to wash and iron from dawn to dusk, give them a free hand.

Our pioneer women worked like beavers from sunrise to long after sunset, and we all know what wonderful women they were. Of course, they looked a bit old for their years, but a beautiful wife is no more precious than a well-ironed shirt, or a floor glistening under a fresh coat of wax.

Besides, when a man comes home after a day of hard work, it makes him feel better if his mate is beat up, too. Gives them a sure and lively topic of conversation.

Peter Edson's Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Opening debate drags on at the United Nations while the diplomats work feverishly behind the scenes, trying to find some satisfactory formula for selecting a secretary-general to succeed the late Dag Hammarskjold.

Without a secretary-general the UN has no executive authority and is in fact reduced to a debating society.

The United States delegation is anxious to have this stalemate ended. For a new crisis anywhere in the world would find the UN powerless to act decisively.

This seems to be just what the Russians want.

One way out of this dilemma was a plan put forward in the last few days, to follow a 1948 precedent.

At the first UN session in London, the security council was unable to agree on whom to recommend for the position of secretary-general.

The general assembly moved in on this situation and named a temporary secretary-general to serve until the security council could make up its collective mind.

Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain was chosen for the temporary job. He served until the security council finally agreed on Trygve Lie of Norway, who was duly elected.

From the American viewpoint, this precedent looks good: it would permit the general assembly to name its president, Mosgi Slim of Tunisia, as temporary secretary-general and get on with its business.

This idea was put forward by Ireland and several other smaller nations. A number of the African states backed it. Even Indonesia agreed to sponsor it.

The plan was then submitted to India. And as usual, H. V. Krishna Menon turned it down. He may have killed it.

Menon's line was that nothing should be done which would anger the Russians. It was the old Indian rope trick. It left an uncertain status quo dangling helplessly in mid-air.

By taking this compromising position of appeasement, Menon gave all the new, unaligned or neutral nations a chance to duck responsibilities.

For weeks and months these new members of the UN have been advised that if they didn't want the world organization to be wrecked, they would have to stand up and be counted.

They would have to vote in opposition to Russian resumption of nuclear tests. And they would have to vote for a strong UN with a single secretary-general instead of the three-man secretariat of a Communist, a neutral and a Western power, each having a veto.

Many of the neutrals were almost convinced. Krishna Menon's soft line gives them the "out" they are looking for to abstain from voting, and to think they can get away with it.

President Mosgi Slim may himself have put one slight obstacle in the path of becoming secretary-general.

He insists that if he takes the job even temporarily, he will resign the general assembly presidency. His reason: He does not want to set a precedent for having some future assembly president try to boss the secretary-general.

The position of assembly president is not one of high policy making. It is more that of a presiding chairman.

The parliamentarian and the man who keeps the wheels turning in the general assembly is Andrew W. Cordier, an American who until last year was top administrative assistant to both Secretaries-General Lie and Hammarskjold. Cordier resigned to devote full time to the general assembly.

Hammarskjold's three top undersecretaries, still on the job, are: Ralph J. Bunche, of the U. S.; C. V. Narasimhan, of India; and G. P. Arkadev of Russia, who handles security council affairs in a position similar to Cordier's in general assembly.

All were appointed. They can handle administrative matters, but they cannot initiate UN policy.

ACL Meeting Set Wednesday

The Sanford Safety Committee, Tampa Division, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, will hold its regular quarterly meeting in their assembly room at the passenger station Sanford, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

All employees, their families and friends are being invited. A motion picture dealing with safety on the railroads, entitled "Trouble at Troublesome" will be shown, and an interesting program has been arranged.

Miss Jo Ann Hood Marries Walter Ward Hamilton

Miss Jo Ann Hood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hood, and Walter Ward Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Landen A. Hamilton, of Yuma, Ariz., were married Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene in Sanford.

Rev. Paul Bickes officiated at the double ring, candlelight ceremony.

The church was decorated with basket arrangements of gladioli and mums, four palms, and fern entwined around the altar and windows. The church was illuminated by candles on the piano and organ, two candelabra and a cross in the front of the church.

Lucille Morgan, organist, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied Joyce Weismann, soloist, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, with square neckline, long sleeves ending in a point at the wrists and full skirt. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Martha Hood, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a pale pink embroidered organdy dress, over taffeta and carried a bouquet of blue carnations.

Bridesmaids were Betty Sandifer and Pat Hood, another sister of the bride. They wore dresses of blue embroidered organdy and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Mark Horton was best man and serving as ushers were Richard White and Don Wood. All are serving in the Navy and wore blue dress uniforms.

Cindy Baylor, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink organdy dress and carried

Personals

Mrs. Carlton Bliss and their new son arrived home from the hospital, Friday. They announced the name of the new arrival as Donald Gordon, but later decided to name him Donald Carleton. Mrs. Earl Marx, the children's great aunt, who has been staying with the family and looking after the Bliss' other son, David Alan, will remain until this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Higginbotham of Palatka and Earl Marx of Oklawaha spent Sunday with the Carleton Bliss family and got acquainted with the newest member of the family, young Master Donald Carleton, who joined the family on Oct. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Renfro and son, Danny, of Jacksonville, were in North Orlando Thursday and Friday where they were the guests of his sister and brother-in-law and their family, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Grinstead and sons, Duncan and Timmy.

MRS. GEORGE DANIELS, right, president of the Ladies Aid of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, with Mrs. James Ekern, center, and Mrs. Alfred Kirschstein, check some of the items that will be on sale during the annual smorgasbord planned by the ladies for Nov. 4 at the church. Mrs. Ekern, ticket chairman, stated that tickets this year will be limited to 500. They are now available from any member of the group. (Herald Photo)

Birthday Party Honors Youngster

Jerry Fenoff of North Orlando celebrated his second birthday with his brother, Jimmy, and seven other youngsters, all under four years of age.

The party was given by Jerry's mother, Mrs. Raymond Fenoff.

JERRY FENOFF

The children enjoyed a play time outdoors and sang "Happy Birthday" to the honoree as he blew out two little pink boat candles.

The birthday cake, made by his mother, was a little pink lemonade cake with white marshmallow frosting, topped with the candles.

Earlier in the day Jerry opened gifts from his great-aunt, Mrs. Domanick Terebo, and his great-grandmother, Mrs. Emily Van Duesen. They allowed him to save the gifts for the other youngsters to enjoy with him during the party.

Helping him celebrate were Bryan, Barry and Shelah Markland, Bonnie and Brenda Nixon and Scott and Mark Randall. Mothers of the children present were Mrs. Joann Markland, Mrs. Norma Randall, and Mrs. Norma Nixon, all of Bombay Ave.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and kool-aid were served to all the guests.

Local Events

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am in the men's retail clothing business, and would like to know what has happened to the backbone of the American male? He doesn't seem able to think for himself any more.

About ten per cent of the men who come in are unable to choose their own clothing without a final okay from their wives who fancy themselves experts on fabrics and style. The other ninety per cent have nothing to say about fit, color or price. If the husband likes the suit, and his wife doesn't, he ends up buying what she likes. Many of my friends in the men's clothing business have told me they have noticed the same situation. Can you explain it?

DEAR SALESMAN: Only a man who wants to please his wife will take her along when he buys a suit. He, in my opinion, is more of a man than the male who disregards all opinions but his own. More women would do well to take their husbands shopping. There would be fewer "mistakes" hanging unworn in the clothes closets of America.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is a good idea to make a husband jealous once in a while to keep him on his toes?

DEAR WIFE: Forget it. Instead of keeping him on HIS toes, you are apt to find him on YOUR heels.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

Don't waste time wondering what the woman who seems to accomplish twice as much as you with half the effort has that you don't have. The answer is bound to be ORGANIZATION.

Two housewives can keep busy for the same number of hours a day. One will accomplish everything she has to do without feeling rushed or pushed. The other ends the day tired and frustrated, with half the things she meant to do left undone.

Both are hard workers. Both are conscientious homemakers. The difference: One is organized and the other has never thought of home-making as a job that requires planning and executive ability.

The housewife executive doesn't burden herself with chores and responsibilities that can and should be handled by other members of the family. She divides the work, and expects each member of the family to do his share.

Because she starts that system when her children are small, she doesn't waste energy through the years being a servant to her family.

The housewife executive is always looking for better and easier ways of doing things. She makes the most efficient use of every new piece of equipment she gets, instead of merely installing a new labor-saving device and then not changing her routine to make the best use of it.

The housewife executive organizes her errands, marketing, and shopping so that she can accomplish the most with the least amount of time and effort spent, instead of jumping in her car a dozen times a day to run errands. The housewife executive plans her days a week in advance, but keeps her schedule flexible enough to allow her to change it to suit herself and to meet unexpected demands upon her time.

The housewife executive puts first things first. She does the hardest jobs when she has the energy to tackle them instead of dreading them all the while she puts them off.

It is organization and executive ability that enables a woman to run her home, instead of letting her home keep her on the run.

Without this lead - directing double, the chances are that South would never have gone to game. He held a minimum 15-point no-trump and was weak in both major suits. After the double South counted two club tricks and looked for the favorable club opening.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

Playing at three no-trump South allowed East to hold the first trick with the queen of clubs. East played the ten spot, whereupon South won the trick with the jack, entered dummy with a high spade, finessed successfully for the king of diamonds and made his contract with two tricks in each black suit.

The hand was lucky. If the diamond finesse had lost South would have had almost no play at all for his contract, but the bidding is most interesting.

Thus, most books require the man who opens no-trump with a doubleton to have either the ace or king, but modern practice is to ignore this when your hand fits the no-trump range.

North's two-club bid was an automatic Stayman response to check for spades and East's double simple showed club strength and asked for a club lead against whatever became the final contract.

Without this lead - directing double, the chances are that South would never have gone to game. He held a minimum 15-point no-trump and was weak in both major suits. After the double South counted two club tricks and looked for the favorable club opening.

8-9:30 p.m. (CBS). "The Dick Van Dyke Show." Van Dyke is a comic artist, painting with broad strokes. Emphasis is on gag-a-popping, with Van Dyke as Rob, head gag writer for a TV comic. While Rob's on the job, wife Laura decides to transform herself into a blonde, believing it will make her more alluring. But Bob doesn't dig her as a blonde. Mary Tyler Moore plays Laura, with Rose Marie and Morey Amsterdam on Rob's staff as comedy writers.

8:30-9 p.m. (CBS.) Dobie Gillis—"The Ruptured Duck." If you're a Dobie fan, you may rupture yourself laughing at this third-season premiere episode; otherwise, you won't think it quite so funny. Dobie and Maynard having completed their army training stint, shed their khaki uniforms. Adjustment to civilian life and its challenges are the problems they face. The lads, accompanied by Zelda Gilroy, resolve them and decide to sign up again, this time as college freshmen.

9-9:30 p.m. (CBS). "The Red Skelton Show." Here's a red flag to enjoy waving; the one for clownish Skelton and repertory company. Jay North, TV's "Denial the Menace," and Jackie Coogan come in for their share of laughs in Freddie the Freeloader and other sketches. Featured on the show are Eva Brent, Ray Kellogg and Ross Ford.

10-11 p.m. (ABC.) Alcoa Premiere. Drama: "People Need People." Making its debut tonight, this new anthology is lauded with a profoundly moving drama, bearing the mark of authenticity. It's an arresting study of group therapy methods as first applied to mentally disturbed war casualties by Commander Harry Wilmer, Navy psychiatrist. To see it is to live through the experience, as each man wages his own personal battle to return to mental health. Commander Wilmer is played with great understanding by superb actor Arthur Kennedy. Other equally fine performers include Lee Marvin, James Gregory, Keir Dullea and Katherine Squire. Host for the series is Fred Astaire.

Volleyball Deadline Play Is Extended

Jim Jernigan, Director of the Sanford Recreation and Parks Department, announced that the deadline for volleyball registration will be extended until Thursday.

Anyone interested in placing a team in either the church or city league is asked to call Jernigan at the Recreation office at the Civic Center. The phone number is FA 348-1624.

The rules for registering in the league are: 1. Five dollar registration fee. 2. A roster consisting of no more than 18 men. 3. Registration before 5:30 p. m. Thursday.

League play will commence the week of Oct. 15, with the city teams playing Monday and Wednesday, and the church teams playing Tuesday and Thursday.

Good Reason To Be Sour-Faced

CHICAGO (UPI)— Even the lowly pickle isn't safe from emancipated femininity.

In fact, little boy pickles may soon be all but extinct, Evert Landon, president of the National Pickle Packers Association, reported today.

Some may regard this as downright treason. Landon thinks it's great.

"Only female blossoms bear fruit and obviously they are the most important," he said.

Landon told the pickle packers' 60th annual convention that research has resulted in cucumber plants which have 95 per cent female blossoms.

"We don't mind this take-over by the lady cucumber blossoms so long as the ladies keep buying more pickles."

Table tennis classes have been moved from Thursday nights to Tuesday nights. Everyone who is interested in playing ping-pong, under controlled supervision is invited to participate. Anyone who would like to learn to play ping-pong is also invited. Classes will begin at 7:00 and last until 9:30, with free play from 8:00 until 9:00.

Player Pool Slated Today

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Gil Hodges and Norm Sherry are expected to be among the first "bargains" snapped up today when the National League's two newest teams—New York and Houston—select their players from a special pool priced at more than $4 million.

President George Weiss of the New York Mets will choose the players for his club and General Manager Paul Richards of the Houston Colts will pick for his team, each of them to select in alternate order.
