Truman Says Not Safe To Get Along Without Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman has expressed the view that to try to get along without another tax boost would not be "safe."

He gave his opinion in a letter made public today by Sen. Mccoy (D-Mich.) and Monroney (D-Okla.). They had written the President on Dec. 30 that they believed a tax increase this year would not be "wise or necessary."

In a reply dated Jan. 26, Mr. Truman said "the fiscal outlook of the government is such that it is not safe to forego some increases in taxes."

"I am sorry that this is the case," the President added, "because I do not like to ask for higher taxes any more than anyone else does. However, we have got a job to do and it has to be done."

In opposing another tax increase, the two senators suggested three alternatives to a tax boost:

1. Closing of tax loopholes.
2. Seeking additional specific economies.
3. "Averaging off our fiscal balance in a five-year package."

On this last point, they said: "The mobilization program, we are informed, calls for huge expenditures for two to three years and, barring a general war, considerably less military expenditures in the following two to three years."

"The level of general taxes is now high. . . . If the current level of tax rates were continued for the entire five-year rearmament period, we believe that the surplus of the last two or three years of the five-year period would balance the budget, or more, over the period."

But Truman replied a tax increase would be needed "even when you 'average off' prospects over a number of years."

Reorganization Of Revenue Bureau Is Step Nearer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman's plan to take the Internal Revenue Bureau out of politics and reorganize it under a merit system was a long step closer to realization today.

It had received the overwhelming approval of the House, unless vetoed by the Senate, will become effective March 15.

House approval of the plan came indirectly late Wednesday. By voice vote the House killed a resolution that would have rejected the plan.

One of its major provisions would abolish the patronage system of appointing revenue collectors and put them under Civil Service.

The plan would abolish the 64 internal revenue collectorships and authorize up to 25 district commissioners who, with deputies in every state, would be Civil Service employees instead of political appointees. All other key bureau employees, except the commissioner or himself, would be under Civil Service.

President Truman sent the proposal to Congress after disclosures of scandals in the Internal Revenue Bureau. He said it was designed to correct organizational defects that contribute to "inefficient management" and thereby afford "the opportunity for improper conduct."

Damage In Swollen Ohio River Flood Hits $23 Million

CINCINNATI (AP) — The swollen Ohio River pushed its waning strength slowly southwestward today, with 10 deaths recorded and heading toward an estimated $23 million dollars of property damage in its latest outbreak.

Col. Paschal N. Strung, chief of the Ohio River Division, U. S. Engineers, made the tentative estimate of damage before going to Washington to join President Truman in an aerial trip over the flooded areas. They flew along the river's course this afternoon.

The river's crest early this afternoon centered between Portsmouth and Cincinnati, approximately 100 miles away.

At Portsmouth, Maysville, Ky., New Richmond, O., and Cincinnati, the river was above flood stage and rising. It still was above flood stage between Marietta, O., and Greenup, Ky., but was falling.

At Portsmouth, the river was as far as Cincinnati reported, conditions were more of a high water type than a flood. The bottoms land in that area was covered and many families left their homes temporarily.

personally in retiring Sen. Kern."

The President replied he would be glad to help retire any Republican senator who runs.

Another question sent in by the Missouri senator was: "The Ledger has long advocated that past Presidents of the United States be made lifetime members of the U. S. Senate. Do you agree with this idea?"

Mr. Truman said he himself had suggested this course and that Sen. Brewster (R-Mo.) introduced a bill to accomplish this in the 83rd (Republican controlled) Congress.

He added the bill did not get anywhere in that 83rd Congress.

There has been speculation that Mr. Truman might run for the Senate against Kern if he decided not to seek another term in the White House.

President Truman also denounced Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) as pathological and as a character assassin.

The President let go at the Wisconsin senator at a news conference in response to questions about McCarthy's Senate speech earlier this week on Philo Nash, a special White House assistant.

McCarthy said Nash, a special assistant concerned with minority problems, had close associations with Communists in the 1940's. Nash denied it.

Snapping back, the President referred to the Wisconsin senator as the pathological Mr. McCarthy.

tialer he recognized the spirit of helpfulness and friendship which prevailed in the United States and recommended that the people of the two countries visit each other more often in order to obtain a better understanding of the various points of view.

Insisting that Britain is still a democracy in spite of many experiments being conducted there into fields of socialism, he pointed out that "democracy is an attempt to accomplish the most good for the most people in the best way and in the shortest possible time."

"The roots of Britain as a democracy go tremendously deep," he said, "back to the Roman empire, and we owe much to our Christian tradition. No mere change in government is going to pull up these roots."

Speaking of the economic situation, he declared that Britain's present financial plight is "but part of the price we must pay for defending our way of life during the last war. We had to sell 100 million pounds in foreign investments in order to get the necessary funds to carry on over 500 million pounds were in the United States alone."

"Four and one half million homes in Britain were destroyed by bombs during the blitz. I was bombed out of my home. And I went down into the city of London to help bury the victims. And at that time we were fighting alone."

"Members of the Home Guard were armed with bamboo sticks with knives on the end of them and we were ready to fight with them, and with our fists on the benches, if necessary to repel the invader. Not one of us thought then that we would be defeated, or had any idea of giving up."

"We hear a great deal over here about what Britain owes to this country, but I would like to hear something about what the rest of the world owes to Britain. When the Royal Air Force was fighting the Battle of Britain in 1940, what price did you put on the life of a British pilot?"

"And just as we were beginning to get back on our feet and could look a dollar square in the face again, Russia starts this thing in Moscow, and we are faced with a gigantic rearmament program again."

"But in spite of this, and in spite of all that we have had to do, we are still producing in Britain in an all-time high. There is full employment, and we are paying the capital and interest on our debt to the United States. It is a terrific economic load, but we are carrying it."

French Avenue

Mr. Shinholser pointed out today that the City and County wish to be assured that the State Road Department, which has its budget meeting on Feb. 25, will again include the French Avenue project in its budget this year.

In order for the Road Department to include this in the budget, he added, the City and County must give positive assurance that they are taking active steps to secure the necessary right-of-way.

He declared that when the City committed itself to secure the right-of-way, the Commission was under the impression that only a nominal amount would be required to secure them.

Later investigation based on plans for the road submitted by the State Road Department showed that the right-of-way would entail much more expense than the City anticipated or which it was able to meet.

Truman, Drake, fifth district Road Department board member, and Sam Turnbull, chief engineer, are expected to visit here prior to the Road Department meeting.

The County Commission yesterday completed its work of making voting precincts conform to the recently adopted community districts.

ModernAndCasual Furniture Leads In Chicago Markets

By ED KITCH
AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—Easy to live with furniture, whether it's traditional or modern, will create the new look in home decorating.

At the furniture market here, design was spelled with a capital "D." Modern styled casual furniture led the field in quantity of new pieces shown.

The blending of woods—such as cherry with walnut—was evident. It was used as "trim" on dining room and bedroom furniture. The trend is away from the red finished woods. New finishes, for example, are cocoa brown, warm copper and ginger tones.

Form rubber, black metal, glass, split bamboo and cane were used effectively. One manufacturer used twisted clear cellophane and wove it like cane to shape seats and back of chairs. Split bamboo is readily simulated in plastic in a variety of colors.

Edward Wormley, noted designer and creator of decorator pieces, exhibited his "surf" board coffee table. It was shown with the "Texan," a sand-colored "million" sofa.

Wormley says he sees a trend toward interest in neutral colors. Colors like blue-green, turquoise and gun-metal are emerging from the spectrum as stand-out hues for home decorating. Orange tones for upholstery fabrics still are among the popular. There will be a steady interest, too, in amber and gold colors.

Fabrics are less shaggy in the newer designs. There is less interest in texture in the higher styled lines, although rough textured fabrics are offered in the popular priced market.

Another Wormley design indicates the movement away from the old-fashioned sideboard to something more utilitarian. His serving cabinet is in natural finished walnut and has a specially surfaced top. Electrical outlets are baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, and ¼ cup of chopped nuts. Cream honey and fat, 1½ beaten eggs, add orange rind. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with orange juice to honey and fat mixture. Add chopped nuts. Bake in lightly greased pan at 325 degrees for 20 minutes. Serve hot and buttered, cold, or any other way. It's good.

Finally, a delicious custard. Ingredients include ½ cup of bread crumbs, rolled and sifted, 1 cup sugar, ¼ cup melted butter, 2 egg yolks, juice and grated rind of 1 lemon, ¼ teaspoon of mace, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups cottage cheese, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ cup milk, ½ cup whipping cream, 2 egg whites, and 1/3 cup chopped nuts.

Combine bread crumbs, ½ cup of sugar, and butter, and use to line buttered baking dish. Beat egg yolks with remaining sugar, add lemon juice and rind, mace, and salt. Mix cottage cheese, flour, milk, then add to preceding mixture, and mix thoroughly and sieve. Add whipped cream and stiffly beaten egg whites, and pour into baking dish. Place dish in pan of hot water and bake at 325 degrees for an hour. Serve cold with whipped cream or crushed strawberries.

Hints to Housewives
By CLEO M. ARNETT

The best test for home-made biscuits is the way the family receives them. When everyone keeps asking for biscuits, the homemaker need not be told she has succeeded. The empty biscuit plate is evidence enough.

Try this recipe for biscuits. You'll need 3 cups of sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon soda, 4 to 6 tablespoons fat, and about 1 cup of sour milk. Sift dry ingredients together and cut in fat. Make a well in mixture, add milk slowly and stir from center until a soft dough is formed. Drop dough by spoonfuls onto lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven—450 degrees Fahrenheit—for 15 minutes.

Here's a flavorful bread your family will like. You'll need 2 tablespoons of shortening, 1 cup honey, 1 egg, 1½ tablespoons grated orange rind, ¼ cup orange juice, 2½ cups flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, and 1½ cups water. Mix dry ingredients into a storage range in depth from 2½ to 5 inches.

A new telephone bench is fitted with a fold-away seat. A natural-finished Hickory car of French Provincial design has become utilitarian with addition of a specially surfaced covered bottom shelf.

Bertha Shaefer went all out to create a desk for home or office. Of walnut, it has a trough set at one end to serve as a catch-all. Richard Kelly created a companion hanging lamp for the desk. It is fitted with a 30-inch fiber glass shade.

A small-scale sectional sofa by Huntington, W. Va., manufacturer accomplishes its purpose. It looks big but fits into a small area.

A modern version of the "captain's" chair by Bertha Shaefer may set a trend in future occasions.

WOMAN BOOKIES
READING, Pa., (AP)—Women bookies are outnumbered men in the business 5 to 4 in Berks County—according to the latest statistics of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Francis R. Smith, collector for Eastern Pennsylvania, disclosed Wednesday that five women and four men have applied for the $50 tax stamp required under the law which became effective Nov. 1, 1951.

The assessed valuation of Manhattan property in New York City in 1950-51 was $8,291,341,400.

Charles James, creator of molded plywood and plastic chairs, combined wire and leather for his newest design. He selected wire because it is considered a "non-critical" material.

HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Who has the most temperament, actors or actresses? The actors, says Maureen O'Hara.

Miss O'Hara is obviously an actress. She is also red-haired and Irish, so one would expect her to toss a tantrum on the movie sets. But no, she remarked, it's the male members of the casts who get temperamental.

What do they do?

"Many things," she replied. "They come in late to the studio in the morning. They fret about their makeup. They have a tizzy because they don't have enough dialog. They spend minutes in front of a mirror so they can get out a lock of hair to dangle correctly on their foreheads. They are late getting into their costumes after lunch."

She added that the men are un-operative about their off-stage dialog. When the actress has a closeup and the actor is not in the camera's range, he will usually go to his dressing room and play cards, she said. The dialog director or script clerk then reads his lines.

"Not me," she declared. "I stay there and read the off-stage lines myself. She indicated it aided the performer to have the lines come from the person who is really in the scene."

"Oh, yes, it is the men who have the temperament and the vanity," she vowed, "not the women." However, she hastily made an exception of her present costar, Errol Flynn, who is "extremely nice." (Probably the first time he has been called that.)

George Sherman, who is directing the pair in "Against All Flags," remarked that temperament is a negligible factor in movie-making nowadays. The veteran director said that star tantrums have virtually disappeared from the Hollywood scene in the last two years.

"The only one who gets away with it any more is Shelley Winters and she's crazy," he said. "I directed her in her first picture after she made her hit in 'A Double Life.' She said to me, 'George, you understand me. You know I'm crazy, and all these other people have to find it out the hard way.'"

Sherman said that the industry could no longer afford time-wasting temperaments. That has been a development of the last two years, when movie magnates concluded that economy was essential, if the business was to survive.

"Supposing we got into a hassle with an actress who didn't like a dress that had been made for her," the director cited. "We might go around and around on the subject for a whole afternoon. Meanwhile, 110 members of the crew would be sitting around without getting any film shot. An afternoon's delay would mean the loss of at least $10,000 or $12,000. Studios can no longer afford such losses when they're caused by an actress' whim."

RENO MARRIAGES
RENO, Nev. (AP)—Reno's marriage judges ran away from the city's ministers in the annual marriage derby last year.

There were 21,254 couples married. Figures compiled by the Reno Evening Gazette from courthouse records show the three regular district judges performed 9,601 ceremonies.

Three justices of the peace and several judges, sitting temporarily as district judges during the year, performed 6,398.

Some 50 ministers shared 5,253 religious ceremonies.

RADIO PRESSURE
LEESBURG, Va. (AP)—Radio station WLBK, which said Liberty Network cancelled its "Florida Speaks" series because "pressure groups" objected, has postponed the fourth and last program in the series.

Station Operators Paul and Wendell Husebo said Undersecretary of the Navy Francis P. Whitehair had been one of the speakers scheduled to appear in the last program Feb. 3 which the Husebos said was postponed pending "further developments."

Liberty carried the first two programs nationally. The third was for a broadcast locally Sunday after the cancellation by Liberty.

ASSOCIATED PRESS Inaugurates New Teletype Circuit

NEW YORK (AP)—The Associated Press Teletypewriter wire today became a transcontinental circuit and for the first time in the rapid expansion of communication.

With the addition of 12 Southern California newspapers, the circuit now spans the nation from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico.

The new system is called, originates in New York and goes to 26 states. There are three national circuits. One is for morning papers and the third is for afternoon papers which carries a complete New York stock list in the far West. All three types of service are first with the Associated Press.

The Associated Press also operates state circuits apart from the national wires.

This delivers actual type into most cities ready to print, from perforated tape which is simply punched in newspapers. It is completely automatic and replaces the former system of delivering copy which had to be edited and then composed after receipt.

PRICE FREEZE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government said today it no longer is interested in keeping its price freeze on such things as dinosaur skeletons, bowling pins, sun dials, and stuffed elephants and donkeys used for educational purposes.

The Office of Price Stabilization said it has come to the conclusion that such commodities are of minor significance to the economy and have but a trifling effect on the cost of living.

The OPS order also exempted "inedible foods." It was expected that this means such things as "wax fruit" and "plastic turkeys."

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—An AFL official said today that 50,000 truck transport workers in 10 Southern states will strike at midnight.
 "Unless something drastic happens, there definitely will be a strike at 12:01 a. m. Friday," declared M. W. Miller, chairman of the Southern Conference of Teamsters.
 Negotiations with Southwest and Southeastern Motor Carrier Associations bogged down Wednesday on wages for long haul truck drivers.
 The International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America said its contract demands were identical for both areas.
 A 10 cent increase over the present hourly minimum of $1.41 and a mileage rate of about 6 cents.
 The Motor Carrier Association's top offer was reported as 12 cents over the hourly minimum. It would fix a mileage rate of 5 1/2 cents for drivers of single axle trucks and 6 1/2 for tandem (heavy) trucks.
 Generally, drivers are paid by mileage. The hourly rate is stand-by pay.
 The union said a strike would halt truck transport in its 10-state area which covers Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida.
Bigger Food Need Is Told To Farmers
GAINESVILLE, Fla.—America is going to need more food than ever before during the next quarter of a century to feed her rapidly increasing population, an Agriculture Department official believes.
 Thomas B. Walker of the Production and Marketing Administration told agricultural workers, fertilizer company representatives and farm magazine writers here Wednesday night the only way the U. S. can produce the additional food is through improved farm practices and increased use of fertilizers.
 Walker said the population of the United States is expected to reach 150 million by 1975, an increase of 50 million over the present population. Very little additional land is available in this country.

Violent rioting such as has occurred in Cairo usually indicates that a government is in danger of losing control. It had already been widely speculated that the hold of Egypt's government was shaky, and that this fact was the real reason for the provoking of trouble with Great Britain over the Suez Canal Zone and the Sudan.
 For a long time there have been fanatical nationalist elements in Egypt who have wanted the expulsion of the British, and these elements have caused the government concern about its ability to remain in power. It has been widely supposed that the Egyptian cabinet began to make hostile gestures toward the British as much in the hope of appeasing these elements as in any hope of making actual gains.
 As so often is the case when someone tries to stir up a little trouble, but not too much, the Egyptian government seems now to be discovering that it is not so easy to keep trouble within limits. To western reporters it appeared that the mobs which wrought havoc in Cairo were genuinely out of hand. But the police made singularly little effort to halt the rioting; it would be hard to guess whether this was because they sympathized personally or were under orders from higher authorities who wanted to let the riot run its course. It did provide an excuse for changing premiers.
 If the government's control of the people is really threatened, then it may soon have to turn aside from its quarrel with the British long enough to make itself secure against domestic insurrection. If the government is still playing a game, encouraging the people to stir themselves up into a frenzy of anti-foreign feeling, it is a dangerous game. Whichever may be the case, a showdown seems to be near.

Aid For Japan
 John Foster Dulles, one of the architects of the Japanese peace treaty, said recently that the United States may have to give additional economic aid to Japan. He said he hoped that such assistance might take the form of loans for the accomplishment of the internal development of Japan, for projects such as hydro-electric power production.
 Dulles predicted that it may become necessary to grant economic aid to Japan to compensate that country for following our policy of restricting trade with Communist countries. China, a natural trade market for Japan, is in Red hands. The Japanese government is faced with the unenviable choice between the economic loss of a boycott of China and the loss of Western favor which would result from trading with the Reds.
 Since the end of World War II, Japan has demonstrated what seems to be a sincere desire to live in peace with the rest of the world. It needs the opportunity for economic recovery and if an important avenue of trade is cut off that recovery will be impeded. Weakened economically by loss of normal trade with China, Japan might be prey to the Communists within its own borders.
 If we expect other nations to stand beside us in trade boycotts against the Communists, we probably will have to develop some plan which will keep our friends from suffering serious economic losses because of their loyalty to our leadership.

Old Men For Counsel
 The 77-year-old Winston Churchill impressed Americans who saw him as showing some signs of age, though his fire remained as ardent as ever. It is a striking fact that the fortunes of Europe depend to a great extent on the decisions of four men who are all over 70. Besides Churchill these are the 76-year-old Konrad Adenauer, the chancellor whose wisdom is helping to bring Germany back into the family of nations, Alcide De Gasperi, now 71, who has been doing a like service for Italy as her premier, and Stalin, the 78-year-old Russian premier.
 Whatever else may be written about the Europe of these days, history will not record that it spurned the counsel of its elder statesmen.

New Phone Rates Are Announced By Telephone Co.
MIAMI, Fla.—The 468,000 Florida subscribers of Southern Bell Telephone Co. will begin paying new rates next month.
 Southern Bell Wednesday announced its new rates, in line with a decision by the Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission granting an increase of about 6 per cent.
 Downtown business and residential rates generally will go up. Some reductions are being made in rural suburbs.
 Sample rate increases for 1-party telephones are:
 Miami, business, $13.25 to $15; residence, $5.50 to $6. (Two-party Miami residential phone, $4.50 to $4.80; 4-party phone from $3.50 to $3.80).
 Jacksonville, business, $11 to $12; residence, $5.50 to $5.65.
 St. Augustine, business from $7.25 to $8.25; residence from $3.75 to $4.10.
 Sanford, business $6.50 to $7.50; residence from $3.25 to $3.65.
 Orlando, business from $10 to $11; residence from $4.50 to $4.90.
 Daytona Beach, business $6 to $6.50; residence from $4 to $4.40.
 Fort Pierce, business from $6.50 to $7.50; residence from $3.50 to $3.85.
SURVIVES CRASH
FALLOON, Nev.—Lt. William A. Poe, Marine fighter pilot, survived a crash that broke his Corsair in two on 11,000-foot Sonora Peak.
 Poe was rescued from his snowy precipice in the High Sierra of Alpine County, Calif., Wednesday after a 26-hour wait. Twelve rescuers laboriously snowplowed 10 miles from the Marines' Field Meadows Winter Training Base to reach him.
 The temperature plunged as low as 50 degrees below zero. Planes dropped winter equipment and food to him.
MINES FOUND
TOKYO, Japan.—The Japanese maritime safety board said today 17 mines were found last month in the Sea of Japan which separates Japan from Korea and Siberia.
 All were ordnance. Their origin was not disclosed.
 Higher yields that will be necessary, he declared.
 "The process is on a four-week cycle," he said. "About 100,000 lbs. of dynamite are used each week. The process is on a four-week cycle." "The process is on a four-week cycle." "The process is on a four-week cycle."

Popularity Contest For White House Hopefuls To Be In New Hampshire
(EDITORIAL NOTE: The writer of this article, AP Special Correspondent Helman Morin, went to New Hampshire where the political fight began recently, he talked with political leaders, backers of both Taft and Eisenhower, and examined the popular strength of the two men.)
BY HELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK—New Hampshire is now the nation's leading political weather-station, as a result of a flurry of maneuvers affecting the primary elections March 11.
 President Truman's name has been entered. He has 10 days to withdraw it.
 Promptly after that became known, the supporters of Sen. Estes Kefauver put him in the race, as they said they would if the President entered.
 And Sen. Robert A. Taft also took the plunge on the Republican side, giving formal consent to entering the so-called "popularity contest," as well as the battle for delegates.
 Thus, New Hampshire can become the scene of straight tests of strength in both the major parties. The asterisk may put the President against the Tennessee senator. Taft opposes Eisenhower. Ex-Gov. Harold Stassen is also in the arena.
 Whatever the President does now will be interpreted as answering the question he, himself, has declined to answer, namely—Will he run again?
 Republicans will be watching the whole state with intense concern for the results of the collision between Taft and Eisenhower. At this point they are the leading GOP candidates for the nomination.
 Mathematically, New Hampshire's 14 convention votes are unlikely to win or lose the nomination.
 But psychologically, they are immensely important. The March primary will be the first in the nation. Hundreds of Republican leaders, at all levels, have refrained from any commitments for any of the four candidates.
 A national survey last week by The Associated Press indicated that most Republican chiefs are still watching the winds. A decisive result in New Hampshire could have decisive effects on the whole GOP picture.
 In New Hampshire, Taft probably has more to gain than he has to lose.
 He pointed out in his statement Wednesday that the political machine of the present state administration is openly opposed to Gen. Eisenhower. Evidently the situation is peculiarly to the liking of Taft.
 "The situation for the backing of Gen. Eisenhower is a case of 'No' on the part of the state administration," he said. "The situation for the backing of Gen. Eisenhower is a case of 'No' on the part of the state administration."

LEGAL BATTLE
WASHINGTON—The Italian government has started its legal battle to bring two former American servicemen to Italy for trial on charges of murdering a U. S. Army major during the war.
 The Italian embassy Wednesday submitted to the State Department a request for extradition of the pair as the first step.
 The accused, former Lt. Aldo Landi, formerly of Pittsburgh, and former Sgt. Carl G. Lodice of Rochester, N. Y., have denied the charges. Attorneys for both men said they would fight the action.
 The Defense Department accused the two of the cloak and dagger killing of Maj. William V. Holtz on Dec. 6, 1944.
 All three men were part of a secret mission team parachuted behind enemy lines in Italy.
STUDENT RIOTS
PANAMA, Panama—Student demonstrations, which turned into wild street brawls with the police, quelled today after 18 persons were injured and 21 arrested.
 The students marched on the Presidential Palace Wednesday to demand that the government extend the school term to make up for time lost during a political strike they and their teachers staged in November and December.

Rapped By House For Indiscretion
WASHINGTON—A House subcommittee said today it is seeking a way to make "indiscreet" West Point alumni conform to the "same code of honor" required of cadets.
 The statement was made in a "watchdog" report sharply condemning a retired general for government contractors to advertise in his unofficial West Point Alumni Directory.
 The subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee pointed out that the activities of Gen. E. M. Danford, retired, with the recent football scandal at West Point.
 He was one of three officers who last year recommended the ouster of 80 cadets for cribbing.
 The statement said Gen. Danford, an secretary-treasurer of the unofficial West Point Alumni Foundation, had circled 10,000 government suppliers in a letter containing "subtle and veiled suggestions" that advertisers could profit from the defense effort.
 The committee said the foundation's officers and directors met occasionally, but that the management was turned over almost entirely to Danford "who in turn passed much of his responsibility over to the publisher."
 A committee member identified the publisher as the American

Adm. McCormick Ike's Counterpart Sets Up Command

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adm. Lynde D. McCormick, newly named supreme commander of Allied forces in the Atlantic, came to Washington today to receive his "initial instructions."

He told reporters that "as soon as possible I will go to each capital of the member nations" of the 10-power North Atlantic Treaty Organization for conferences. He said he then would "get along with the formation of my staff."

McCormick will maintain headquarters at Norfolk, Va.

"I am very proud and deeply honored," he said, "to have received this appointment as supreme Allied commander of the Atlantic."

One of his first calls was set for the Standing Group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), a permanent unit with headquarters in the Pentagon. This group, made up of a representative each from the U. S., Britain and France, includes among its functions the co-ordination of plans for regional defensive organizations such as the North Atlantic Ocean area.

Into a crowded schedule for his one-day visit to the capital the admiral also fitted courtesy calls and brief talks with Defense Secretary Robert Lovett, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Secretary of State Acheson. He also was ready for a White House visit if President Truman summoned him.

The job ahead of McCormick, his deputy, British Vice Admiral Sir William Andrewes, and the international staff of officers is to shape the plans and directing machinery for a high seas force of ships to keep open the routes to Europe over which supplies and reinforcements would flow if Russia struck at Western Europe.

To carry out this mission, SACLANT will have command of all types of warships "allocated" by the 10 member nations of the North Atlantic group. (Actually one member, Iceland, has no ships to contribute.)

This made it evident that setting up the command does not automatically bring in all ships of the Atlantic fleets of Britain, the U. S., France and the smaller countries. The countries will allocate them, as they allocate the army divisions and air forces of Eisenhower's command.

Thus, some but not all of the more than 500 ships, big and small, in the U. S. Atlantic Fleet will be assigned to McCormick.

Princess Elizabeth Begins Empire Tour

LONDON (AP)—Princess Elizabeth flew off with her handsome sailor husband today on a 30,000-mile tour to the other side of the Empire whose itinerary will rule.

The princess and her 30-year-old husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, took off in a specially converted British Overseas Airways Argonaut for a royal visit to four British outposts—Africa, Kenya, Assam, Ceylon and the "Down Under" lands of Australia and New Zealand.

For Elizabeth and Phillip it means five months of travelling. King George and Queen Elizabeth headed the party on hand to wave farewell to the young couple. Standing in the doorway of the plane, the princess smiled at the group, and at school children gathered on the airport. She waved, and then the smile left her face for an instant as her eyes met those of her father.

The King, standing a short distance away, waved his hand and watched the plane taxi to the takeoff position. He appeared to have overcome most of the traces of the operation on his lung.

Today's departure for Elizabeth and Phillip comes just six weeks after they returned from a 75-day triumphant tour across Canada and back, with a short side visit to President Truman in Washington.

On this new trip, they are substituting for the King and Queen. The parents' long planned tour of the Antipodes was cancelled months ago because of the monarch's ill health. The young folks will try to make up for it with a far more extensive tour than was planned for George and Elizabeth.

Rev. Arvid L. Veldmark of the Far Eastern Broadcasting Company, Manila, Philippines, will tell the story of the radio station operated by his company in the Philippines for the spread of Christianity by radio in the Orient at the Christian & Missionary Alliance Church on Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Citrus Prices

Mutual President Lacy G. Thomas, Groveland, said Mutual since its organization 25 years ago had obtained citrus price boosts that "meant millions to the state."

Thomas said "Mutual is not a perfect organization and as it stands now does not have the tools to make it such. We have tried hard to do what's right and we are making no apologies for what we've done."

The meeting, which lasted three hours, was the second in a series to be called in citrus districts throughout the state.

Thomas said action on suggestions from member growers would be taken after meetings in other citrus districts. The first meet was in Winter Haven Monday.

Mutual Public Relations Counsel Merlon L. Corey repeated suggestions he made at the first meeting: Organize the industry to put control in growers' hands through Mutual; stress use of citrus juice dispensers in drug stores and other outlets; eliminate from the market fruit which is pushing down prices for better fruit; ship fruit to auction on a pro rata basis to prevent flooding of the market; "organize and deal effectively with the Northern trade."

He did not elaborate the last point.

Corey said "If 85 or 90 per cent of the growers back up Mutual, I don't give a tinker's darn whether we have a contract or not."

Barney Cohen, Orlando, president of the Florida Independent Growers Association, told the meeting "Something must be rotten in the industry if the government is calling a hearing in the Federal Marketing Agreement."

Egyptian Premier Tells Commandos To Stop Activity

CAIRO (AP)—Reliable informants said today orders have been issued to "Egyptian commandos" in the Suez Canal area to stop their guerrilla activities. It looked like an attempt by the new government of Premier Aly Maher Pasha to restore order.

At the same time, two leading Egyptian newspapers credited the new Premier with a receptive attitude toward Western overtures for a settlement of the bloody British-Egyptian dispute.

Maher Pasha held a long meeting Wednesday night with Gen. Aziz al Misri, appointed by the former Wafdist government laid December to organize and run "liberation battalion" activities.

There seems to be a trend toward cooling off Egyptian passions, heated to fever pitch under the Wafd government. Western diplomats seem agreed that such cooling off is essential if any new talks are to begin.

Since Maher Pasha took over Sunday night, Egyptian newspapers have carried no news of Canal Zone developments. Although previously they had been filled with stories on Suez fighting.

The Egyptian governor of Suez, Zaki el Knoll, reported all quiet in the canal area, with business operating normally. The British, whose roadblocks guard entrances to Suez, are said to have eased restrictions so that traffic flows more freely.

HIROHITO STAYS

TOKYO (AP)—Emperor Hirohito is not going to abdicate when the peace treaty goes into effect, Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, told Parliament today.

A member asked about recurrent rumors that Hirohito would turn the crown over to Crown Prince Akihito.

Yoshida said there was nothing to it. He said the Emperor is "respected and loved."

Showgirl Is Awarded $2,500 For Stolen Fur Coat And Diamond Ring

By EUGENE LEVIN
NEW YORK (AP)—"Boy wants girl... and girl wants diamonds, furs and motor cars... and consequently larceny, embezzlement, burglary and romance walk hand-in-hand down 51st street!"

This was State Supreme Court Justice James B. McNally's capsule survey of Showgirl Rosemary Williamson's 13 months as the woman in the life of Textile Salesman Sidney M. Levy.

McNally Tuesday awarded the beautiful 23-year-old brunette $2,500 in insurance on a stolen fur coat and diamond ring. But along with the award he gave her a stern lecture, telling her she didn't deserve a cent and that she "bet get some of that old-time religion."

Levy, whom Rosemary once called a "creep," was not in court to see his one-time Broadway flake weep copiously at the judge's remarks.

An insurance company had contested a $3,850 claim by the showgirl on the ground that the two stolen items were part of the $3,000 after the 23-year-old Levy lavished on her with money he winded on a fake business deal.

The judge said the insurance company must pay her because the law is designed to protect both the "wrongdoers and the righteous." McNally said her insurance premiums were paid up, and therefore the company was liable.

Then McNally started scolding: "There can be no doubt that Miss Williamson knew the funds were not honestly come by and, nevertheless, she took them and used them for her own aggrandizement."

which... makes her morally as guilty of larceny as if she had taken the money."

"I didn't know," the shapely Corpus Christi, Tex. lass burst out. "I didn't know he had taken the money."

Describing himself as "old enough to be your father," the judge continued:

"Sidney Levy claims he was so infatuated, bewitched and enslaved by the potent charms of this Winter Garden Cleopatra (she played at the Winter Garden Theater in 'Peep Show') that in order to keep her affections he was willing to do her constant bidding; and he was so reduced to abject subjugation that he conspired with her to use tricks, artifice, and device in embezzling $33,000 from the silver persons..."

Levy is on 10-year probation on his promise to repay the embezzled money, most of which he got from his father and two dentists, one of whom had the showgirl for a patient.

Turning to Miss Williamson, the judge asked if Levy had ever asked her to marry him. She replied:

"The matter never came up." She was in tears now.

Asked the judge, "How can you justify taking $25,000 from a man you never intended to marry?"

"I'm sorry, your honor," she cried. "I can't justify it—I just can't."

You are never going to have any pleasure from those articles," the judge advised. "Don't let any one call you a thief, Miss Williamson. Give back those things you accepted."

Taft Supporters Split Wide Open Over Eisenhower

By JACK BEAL
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Enthusiasm for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appear to have cracked wide open the almost solid wall of Oklahoma Republican support for Sen. Robert A. Taft's bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

Startling almost from scratch several weeks ago that he is a Republican and available for the nomination, the general's hastily organized backers have the Taft forces fighting a desperate battle in an area they believed safely within their hands.

This state's Republicans will be split Thursday at a district meeting in Durant, the selection of their state senator to whom they Chicago National Convention. After other district meetings, they will complete the delegation choice at a state convention here Feb. 11, first of its kind in the nation.

Whereas a month ago it had been generally assumed here the delegation would go to Chicago unopposed but at least 12 to 4 he led Taft, competent observers now say they expect the vote to be about equally divided between Taft and Eisenhower.

Otis Sullivan, veteran political expert for the Daily Oklahoman, said he looks for such a result, with the possibility that most of the Oklahoma group would jump quickly to Eisenhower if it appeared the general was "going places" in the convention.

Baile Vinson, Republican national committeeman who is close to the Taft forces headed by Tulsa Oilman W. G. Skelly, said he is remaining entirely neutral in the fight. He said he believes the state's group "will be minuscule but split about evenly between Eisenhower and Taft."

To this reporter, who has traveled thousands of miles and talked to politicians from most of the Western states, the Oklahoma story is significant in that it seems to represent the first actual translation into delegate strength of the reputed Eisenhower popularity among rank and file Republicans. If it is indicative of a trend, it could be bad news for Taft.

Upsetting all the advance dope, the Eisenhower people grabbed control of the Oklahoma County convention here last week. They virtually assured them of two delegates from the Fifth Congressional District, in a meeting to be held later.

They confidently expect to pick up two at the Durant meeting and split other choices so they will come up to the state convention in a position to challenge for the ma-

Defendant Freed Because Of Talk By U. S. Senator

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Federal Judge LOUIS E. Goodman says it's not dignified to threaten a witness thus.

"Why in hell didn't you come through clean? When we get through with you, you will wish you had."

Whereupon, he acquitted David N. Kessel and William (Big Bill) Peckhart of charges of contempt of the U. S. Senate. The two gambling figures had refused to answer questions of the Kefauver Crime Committee and were cited Goodman ruled Tuesday the men were within their constitutional rights in refusing to answer.

"No doubt these men were engaged in gambling," Goodman said. "But—"

"If the constitutional privilege becomes unavailing because of their occupation, it becomes a short step until it is unavailing to some because they are Democrats or Republicans, Catholics or Jews."

The senator to whom he attributed the remarks. Present at the closed hearing were Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Tolson (R-N.H.) and Wiley (R-Wis.).

103 Year Aunt Jane Thinks Of Plowing

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP)—In the spring, 103-year-old "Aunt Jane" Adams' thoughts turn to plowing.

And as spring and her 104th birthday approached, these were her thoughts today. "Following the old plow and the family mule around the hillside just like I used to do in the long ago."

"Aunt Jane" comes from a long-living family. Her 86-year-old brother, "Uncle Eli" Lucas, recently became the father of his 14th child. Her father, Aaron Lucas, died at the age of 103. Her grandfather lived to be 105.

"Here I am close around that, and years yet to live," she said. "I'll outlive any of them. I never felt better in all my life, and there's no reason why I won't go on."

Her birthday is Feb. 17.

Majority of the delegation. GOP members generally are confident they can carry the state this year with either Taft or Eisenhower, particularly if President Truman is the nominee. The last time Oklahoma went Republican in a presidential election was 1928.

Man Pays Nickel Bridge Toll After Swimming River

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Busky James M. Mooney shovels a nickel at Toll Taker Axel Ramsey on the Ohio River Bridge and demands: "Now are you satisfied?"

The payoff completed a week, 20 mile, 20 hour circle for the 33-year-old North Kansas, O., towboatman. He began Monday night when Mooney, admitting he had "had a few," refused to pay his posterman toll because he didn't like the way Ramsey asked for it.

He jumped into the flood swollen river when police called by Ramsey chased him to the middle of the bridge. The river was too rough for the fire rescue squad to get out a boat and it was assumed Mooney had drowned.

Late Tuesday, Mooney explained to Detective Chief Herman Frazier that he came to the surface five blocks downstream and began swimming. The standstill George T. Price on his way to Cincinnati was passing and Mooney grabbed hold.

He dried his clothes in the baggage room, dressed again and was put ashore at Kenova, W. Va., 10 miles below the bridge. Catching a bus back to Huntington he was picked up by police after his creditless clothes aroused suspicion.

Mooney was released without charge after posting Frazier's nickel. "Next time I will sure pay that

Capt. James Commands Operations 'Candy From Heaven' In Korean War

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—It's not coming from your knee, it's coming from heaven.

That is if you are a hungry little Korean kid and you're standing underneath the helicopter that came from James' command post in Panmunjom.

James is dropping a one-man "candy from heaven" project he started last fall to help manpower the Communist's spat-spot, anti-candy campaign.

When the Karsong talks began last summer, the American soldiers and correspondents riding trucks each day used to save up the boxes of candy, ration and toss it out to the grinning little waifs.

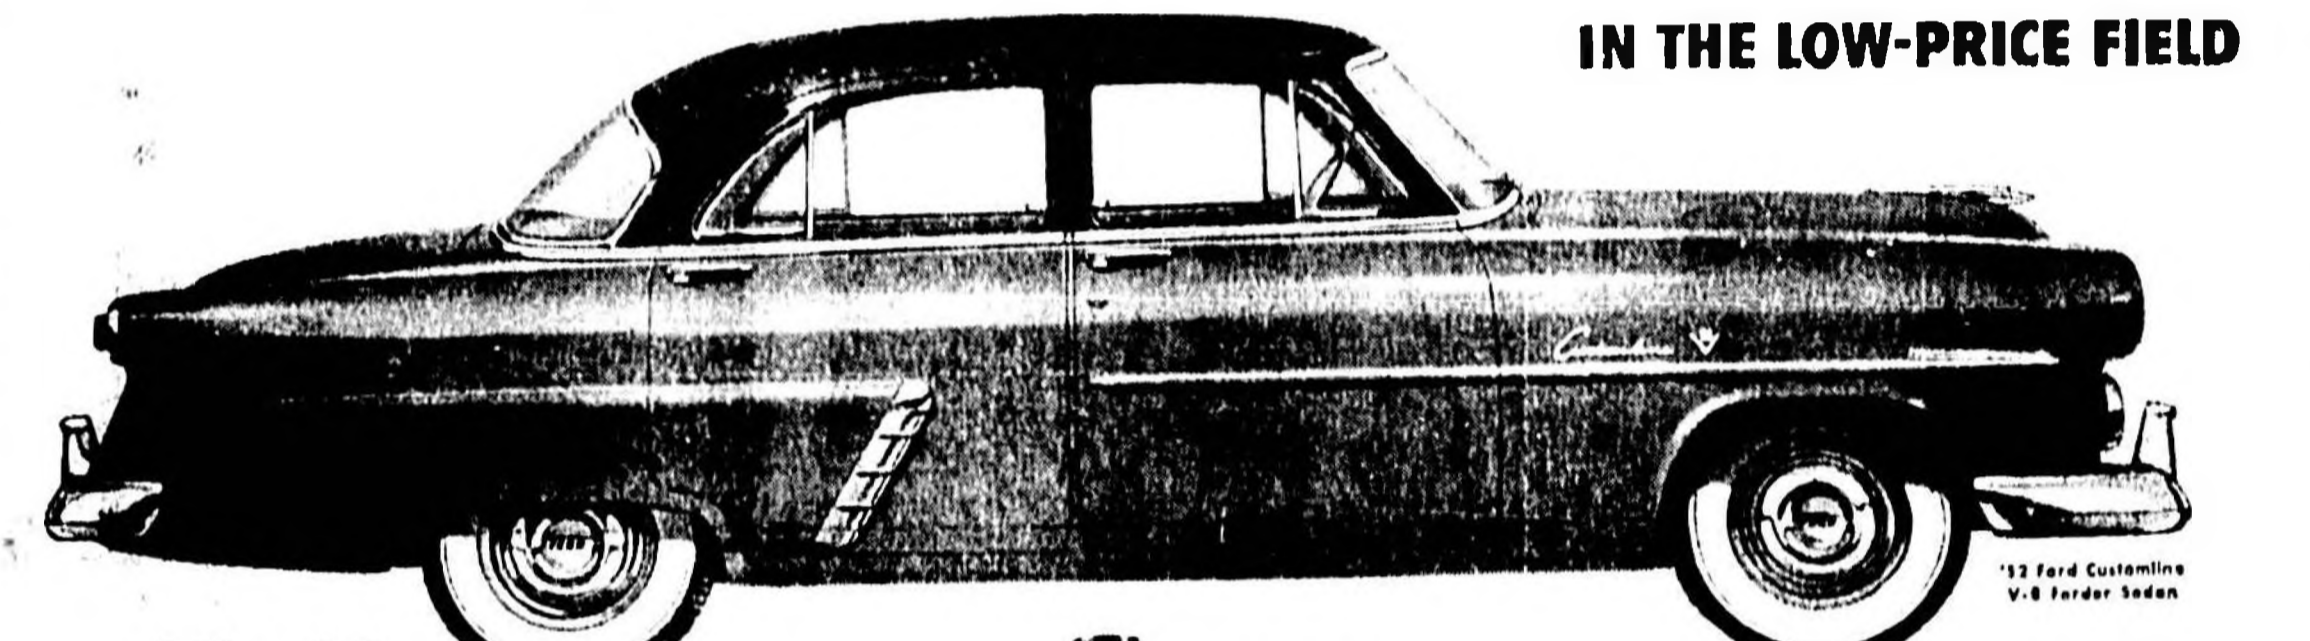

The kids, for reasons of their own, were not so sweet chocolate but it over hot, not boiling water. The reason for not boiling the water below the chocolate is to prevent steam from getting in the tin. "Lighten" the chocolate and makes it more difficult to blend into the other ingredients in the recipe.

James' bombing technique is simple. He simply sets his copter to hover motionless overhead, slides open the plexiglass door, and bombs away.

It wasn't many weeks before the candy airtel broke the Communist blockade, and the kids turned up on the roads again. But by that time James had his own backwoods clientele, who live well away from the roads.

The chocolate airman still takes care of them.

Here Tomorrow! THE GREATEST CAR EVER BUILT

The big 1952 FORD

Out-performs them all!
In the '52 Ford you can enjoy brilliant new performance that surpasses that of any other car in its class! Ford's completely new 101 h.p. high compression, low friction Six, with free turning overhead valves, is the most modern Six in the industry. And Ford's high compression V-8, now 110 h.p., is the most powerful engine in the low price field. Both are available with performance-proved Fordomatic Drive.

Out-rides them all!
The '52 Ford gives you riding comfort such as you have never before experienced in a car in the low price field. With front springs isolated to the weight of each wheel, longer rear springs and diagonally mounted shock absorbers, Ford's Automatic Ride Control for '52 gives you the smoothest, easiest ride of them all—a level ride on straightaways, an even keel on curves.

Exclusive Power Pilot Economy!
Both the new Ford Milodge Maker Six and the Strato-Six V-8 have the exclusive Ford Automatic Power Pilot. This completely integrated carburetor-ignition-combustion system gives you high-compression "go" on "regular" gas—a real money saving feature.

New Coachcraft Bodies!
Ford's new Coachcraft Bodies are longer, stronger, sturdier than their modern beauty. They offer you a built-in light console from which you can read the clock and more. And Ford has more color and upholstery combinations than any car in its price field!

Out-values them all!
Ford's new model, better for features, more in the same low price field makes the big new '52 Ford. With such modern design and engineering features as new Eight Style Control Panel, new Power Pilot Control and Brake Pedals, new Coachcraft Bodies, and new counterbalanced head and check lid, Ford adds up to more dollars and cents value than any car in its price class!

Out-sizes them all!
The '52 Ford has longer wheelbase, wider front to rear and greater length. It's big outside and big inside, with spacious seating for six and the largest luggage locker of them all. It's a big family car that's a pleasure to own.

The car that has made greater strides forward for '52 than any other in its class!

You can pay more but you can't buy a better!

Cost Of Latest British Crisis Is Becoming Evident

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK—American businessmen and taxpayers are getting a first look at what the latest British financial crisis is likely to cost them.

A number of American industries will lose a sizable part of their business in countries the sterling bloc controls. Even more American industries are going to find an increased volume of British and Commonwealth goods competing in world markets with American goods.

American money is being sent in aid of the British—some 300 million dollars in the form of a grant; 22 million dollars to buy British rubber for the U. S. stockpile; 34 million dollars to buy British tin for American consumers. More millions may be spent later for Australian wool and British-controlled aluminum.

And American steel mills are to find one million tons of steel to send to Britain for fabrication into arms and durable civilian goods for the British to sell in the world market.

The first stories of these deals—in holder an important American ally which is admittedly in financial straits—are coming out of London and Washington. More are to follow quickly from the British Commonwealth nations.

South Africa is expected to cut off a large part of its market from American goods soon. Last year it imported 250 million dollars worth of American goods and sold us only 98 million dollars worth.

England itself will import seven million dollars less of American goods this year than last. In 1930 Britain paid 145 million for American tobacco. That is to be trimmed substantially this year.

American manufacturers of clothing, furniture, carpets, shoes and toys are on notice that Britain will import fewer of them this year. It's going to buy fewer foreign meats, fish, fruit and vegetables.

American manufacturers of cars, refrigerators, radio and TV sets, and other metal consumer goods are on notice that Britain this year will export a larger percentage of its output of these items into the world markets in search of gold and dollars.

The deals between London and Washington perhaps worked out during Prime Minister Churchill's visit. President Truman will help some in filling Britain over. Her gold and dollar reserves dropped 1 1/2 billion dollars in the last six months of 1931 to stand now at $2,350,000,000.

But Britain puts most faith in getting out of the mess by buying less from the dollar area, and selling more in world markets. American businessmen will have to revise their foreign trade schedules.

A STAUNCH Republican from Maine was being shown the wonders of the Grand Canyon. "Yes sir," said the guide. "It took about five million years for this awe-inspiring canyon to be carved out of the rocks." "Hmm," added the man from Maine. "A government project, I presume."

Every student of the Consolidated School District who achieves a B average on his monthly report card rates a free ice-cream soda—any flavor—at Mr. Morgenthau's fountain. School Superintendent E. J. Hungerford says, "I'm convinced that this prospective treat gives the kids a desire to study that would not have been there otherwise." Mr. Morgenthau adds sagely, "Every one of those kids is going to grow up to be a regular customer of mine. A chocolate soda now and then cements our relationship."

Piggly Wiggly Has Its 33rd Birthday

In celebration of its thirty-third successful years in business, Lovett's and Piggly Wiggly Food Stores are holding a big sales event beginning today. All of the 70 super markets operated by the Winn & Lovett Grocery Co., located in more than 50 Florida and South Georgia cities are participating.

Newspaper advertising carries many of the unusual values offered in the sale. The "buys" are available in every department and thrifty housewives will welcome the opportunity to take advantage of such values. Due to present prices, however, it is pointed out that all advertised items are necessarily on a "while they last" basis. In view of this it is suggested that buyers make purchases early before stocks are depleted.

The present company was founded 33 years ago and from a small beginning has grown into one of the largest and best operated food chains in the nation. "It is our aim," says A. D. Davis, president, "to make our food stores the finest in the country."

The big sale celebrating 33 years of economical food distribution, rendered by the company, is an event held every year—one featuring many outstanding bargains in nationally known products.

Officials of the company and store employees join in extending the public an invitation to buy well known brands at birthday prices.

Rural Common Sense

By SPUDS JOHNSON

Securing larger yields from the same acreage is one of the best ways to obtain the necessary food and fiber which are so essential to the country and the profits which enable farm operators to keep ahead of the game. With most available land in this country now under cultivation, there are no new grounds to break. Farm lands must be maintained in a good state of productivity or both the country and the individual will be the loser.

Here are a few points of farm management that may help each individual farmer obtain his highest yields and his largest profits. Use the best seed obtainable, whether purchased or produced at home. Improved varieties and hybrids alone often materially increase yields of crops.

Use the right kind of fertilizer for each crop, in the quantities needed to replace plant foods removed by cropping, with perhaps a small safety margin. Soil tests will show whether lime should be applied for the crop you expect to grow.

If growing legume crops for either feed or soil improvement, inoculate seed of those requiring inoculation.

Control injurious insects and plant diseases. Obtain required insecticides and fungicides in advance, so as to have them on hand when needed.

Control weeds and grass which compete with the crops for both moisture and plant food.

Plant on the contour where necessary, grow winter and summer legumes, keep the land covered with a growing crop in winter, and organic matter to the soil whenever possible, and do other things to improve the fertility of the soil.

Put each area on the farm to its best use. There are many different types of soil in Florida, with different adaptations. Some are best adapted to forest trees, some to pasture grasses, others to various crops.

Keep farm machinery and equipment in repair and good operating condition. New equipment will be less plentiful for a while, that already on hand must be kept in operating condition.

Lake Erie borders on New York State for an airline distance of 84 miles.

Lamb Can Hide Inside Of Girdle

NEW YORK UP—Can a Persian lamb coat be hidden inside a woman's girdle?

"It is physically impossible to do such a thing," said Defense Attorney Carson D. Baker Tuesday at the trial of two women accused of shoplifting such a coat by concealing it under the girdle one of them wore.

But Assistant District Attorney James F. McGrath picked up a girdle entered in evidence. He wiggled his 180-pound frame and finally twisted the girdle over his hips. He picked up the coat in question and stuffed it inside.

Then, as he strutted back and forth before the jury, the prosecutor asked: "I leave it to you to decide whether it could or could not be done."

Sixty minutes later the jury found Margaret Walker, 30, and Mrs. Leary Wright, 47, both guilty.

We are not faced with a situation of weapons or food. Our situation is one of weapons and food. From the standpoint of the over-all job to be done, American farms are "defense plants" just as surely as the factories turning out weapons are "defense plants."—Undersecretary of Agriculture C. J. McCormick.

America is indebted to these religious bodies, school organizations, veterans' associations, fraternal groups and service clubs which sponsor Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout Troops and Explorer Posts. More than 50,000 such groups are sponsored by these institutions that are the backbone of American community life.

Growing each year in number since 1910, these "parent institutions" render great service to America by opening their doors to boys and furnishing the leadership essential to keep the nation growing. There are now more than 700,000 volunteer leaders in Scouting, and they are nearly all related to our churches and synagogues, our veterans and fraternal groups, and our clubs and service clubs.

As an evidence of our appreciation, we take the pleasure of publicly thanking these "parent institutions" of Scouting groups, and the thousands of men and women in them who are doing so much for the country through Scouting.
