Ford May Pull Back On Use Of Authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, heading for another weekend swing into primary election states, is described by aides as ready to pull back a bit on the use of presidential authority during the campaign following criticism that he sometimes has used it for political purposes.

Associates said Ford and his strategists have been stung by challenger Ronald Reagan's efforts to picture the President as a South Coast offering presents to voters and Republican factions in key states.

"We may even bend over the other way a bit," one White House official said, adding that Ford intends to "use the power of the presidency—but not abuse it."

Ford is to spend the next two days raising money and soliciting support in California and Wisconsin, with stops today in San Francisco and Los Angeles. He and a resurgent Reagan next face each other in the Wisconsin primary on April 6. They will meet in Reagan's home state of California until June 2.

Access To Be Honored

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I've had a wonderful life," says Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart" of silent films who will be honored next week with a special Oscar. "I'm grateful that I remember all the good things; the rest has been forgotten."

Miss Pickford, Hollywood's first superstar, will formally receive the award at Monday's ceremonies in recognition of her unique contributions to the film industry and the development of film as an artistic medium.

The special Oscar, in fact, was actually presented last week when she appeared before a camera as Pickford, her legendary hitmaker. Walter Mirisch, president of the Motion Picture Academy, presented the award, and a film of that presentation will be shown Monday night.

Heroin Smuggling Charged

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Operating from the safety of U.S. military bases in this country and Thailand, a syndicate led by Army and Air Force sergeants smuggled more than $300 million in pure heroin into this country on Air Force tanker planes, federal officials say.

The heroin was hidden in false bottoms attached to wooden tables and other furniture shipped from U Tapao Air Force Base in Thailand as military baggage. The concealed in black AWOL bags — the small hand luggage carried by returning GIs.

That was the account given Thursday by officials here and in Washington after federal indictments were returned in Raleigh against 14 charges, most of them present or former military men, on charges of conspiring to import heroin.

WORLD IN BRIEF

U.S. Vetoes Resolution Criticizing Israeli Policies

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States vetoed another anti-Israeli resolution in the Security Council Thursday night, saying that it would impede American attempts to get Arab-Israeli negotiations going again.

"We are engaged... at this moment in an effort to regain momentum in the negotiating process that has brought some unusual progress," U.S. Ambassador William W. Scrantom told the other 14 council members, all of whom voted for the resolution concerning Israeli policies and practices in the Arab territories it has occupied since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Scrantom, who on Tuesday called the settlements Israel has been establishing in the occupied territories an "obstacle to peace," voiced objection to only one of the charges in the resolution — that "Israel is persisting in a policy aimed at changing the religious character of the city of Jerusalem."

"We believe, my government and I, that this conclusion is incorrect," Scrantom said.

Planes Sale Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is studying a formal State Department proposal to sell six C-130 cargo planes to Egypt in what would be the first U.S.-Egyptian arms deal in about 20 years.

The proposed sale, which has drawn opposition from supporters of Israel and from the Israeli government, was announced Thursday by the Pentagon and State Department.

Longwood May Change Ordinance

Power Firm Rejects Pre-Payments

LONGWOOD — Florida Power Corp. (FPC) because of a ruling by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), is no longer interested in land developers prepaying installation and acquisition costs for street lights in new subdivisions, said Kenneth Dyer, manager of the Longwood FPC office Thursday.

In a workshop with the city council, Dyer said FPC can no longer accept, in a lump sum, the installation and acquisition costs (fixed charges) for street lights because the IRS is requiring income tax payments on the sums. He added with FPC in the 48 per cent income bracket the tax on the charges is very high.

The FPC is now recommending that cities with ordinances requiring prepayment, such as

Longwood, consider three alternatives, Dyer said.

He said the city can: Pay a straight billing charge monthly to include the cost of energy, maintenance and fixed charges. He estimated monthly costs per street light, under this method, on a 30 foot concrete pole, at $2.85. He said the city could contract with the developer for him to pay the costs for a five-year period; The developer paying a per lot, or per light, prepayment to the city to defray the lighting costs in the future; or To have the street light system installed by the developer, given to the city and maintained by the city with the FPC billing the city for energy. Dyer, in response to a question, said he would determine if FPC is interested in entering into contracts with the city for maintenance of the lights.

Pair Arrested In Purse-Snatching

Two Sanford juvenile boys, ages 13 and 15, were arrested Thursday afternoon on robbery charges after they snatched a 71-year-old woman's purse and knocked her to the pavement at the intersection of Country Club Drive and Country Club Circle, Sanford police said.

Police said the juveniles were apprehended after a foot chase by Sheriff's reserve Lt. Edward Sauls, who was off-duty when he witnessed the purse-snatching incident.

Wilma Kimber, 71, of 102 Anderson Circle, Sanford, was walking home carrying a bag of groceries and her purse. Patrolman Jack Pulewider reported. She was treated for arm cuts and bruises suffered when she was knocked down, police said.

Pulewider said that following the 31-minute incident officers recovered Mrs. Kimber's purse in a field near the Goldsboro Elementary School, adjacent to the residential area where the purse was stolen.

Police said $19, believed to have come from the purse, was recovered from one of the juvenile suspects.

The boys were turned over to state Division of Youth Services officials at the Sanford Juvenile Detention Center after their arrest by police.

Two Men Jailed
Sanford police arrested two men in Downtown Sanford Thursday on drug charges.

Patrolman Mike Tindel and Joe Dillard booked James L. Koopman, 19, of Barrington, Ill., and David C. Acosta, 27, no known address, at county jail following their arrests at First Street and Magnolia Avenue.

Koopman was held in lieu of $5,000 bond on a felony marijuana possession charge and Acosta in lieu of $500 bond on a possession of narcotic paraphernalia charge.

Burglary Preved
Sanford police today were investigating a reported burglary at the residence of Jean Cohen, 529 S.W. 2d, Patrolman R.A. McIntyre reported the residence was entered by a window and ransacked. Listed as missing were three neckties, a 22 caliber pistol, 15 boxes of ammunition, six pocket knives and $6 in pennies and $25 in silver coins, police said.

Lawnmowers Stolen
Sheriff's deputies today were probing the thefts of lawnmowers from two separate residences.

Dan Parker, of 2106 Winnebago Trail, Maitland, reported a $220 lawn mower was taken in the burglary of a garage at his residence.

J.C. Robertson, of Sanford Route Three, told deputies that a 1963 eight-horsepower riding mower was taken from a tool shed at his residence.

Rock Lake School Plans Worry Longwood Residents

LONGWOOD — Although school officials insist construction of the proposed Rock Lake Middle School is at least one, two or three years in the future, if it ever comes to pass, homeowners in partially developed Winsor Manor here are concerned.

A spokesman for the homeowners says they are concerned that their tax money has been used to purchase adjacent property that homes that is practically landlocked, that tax money is being used to pay architect's fees for a school that may never be built, but mostly concerned that ultimately heavy vehicles will tear up their streets if construction does begin.

Frank Alexander, president of the Winsor Manor Homeowners' Association, while enumerating the concerns of the residents today, said it doesn't appear that the wishes and fears of the people are or will be taken into consideration by the elected school officials.

Alexander and the homeowners appealed to the Longwood City Council to set lead limits as soon as possible on the narrow subdivision streets to stop the future use of said streets by heavy construction vehicles.

At a council meeting this week, City Attorney Ned N. Julian Jr. was instructed to prepare the necessary ordinance.

School officials, meanwhile, say there are no plans to construct the school in the next year.

Alexander, in reviewing the background of the Rock Lake School, said he and other homeowners in Winsor Manor discovered about six months ago that the School Board had purchased property to the rear of their development.

"The site is located on property in the unincorporated area," Alexander said, noting that access to the school, however, will be through

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

National Convention Fight Brewing Among Democrats
ORLANDO (AP) — Florida Democrats have opened the door for a potential national convention fight with presidential hopefuls Jimmy Carter and Henry Jackson over the candidates' efforts to handpick their delegates from the Sunshine State.

The state party Rules Committee voted overwhelmingly Thursday night to ignore a decision by Carter and Jackson forces to purge 300 of 738 persons who have qualified to run as their delegates in caucuses across the state Saturday.

Carter rejected 256 of 536 persons who signed up to run for the 34 delegate spots he won in the March 9 Florida primary. Jackson vetoed 95 of 212 persons seeking his 21 delegate positions.

George Wallace, who won 26 delegates, rejected none.

Injunction Petitions Shelved
JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Injunction petitions in the Teamsters Union strike against the Abbeville-Buch brewery in Jacksonville have been shelved indefinitely. A circuit court hearing was called off Thursday at the request of lawyers for both sides.

The company had asked the court to limit pickets to four at a time at the brewery gate. Both sides asked court orders banning acts to create or provoke violence.

Man Guilty In Slaying
BARTOV (AP) — It took a jury 14 hours to find Dennis Smith, 23, of Lakeland, guilty of first-degree murder for the July 25 slaying of John Arnsdorff.

After returning its verdict Thursday, the jury was to reconvene today to decide its recommendation for sentence. The jury may recommend either life or death, but the judge is not bound to follow the recommendation.

Smith faces two other first-degree murder trials here.

Apricot Pits Seized
JACKSONVILLE (AP) — A health food warehouse spokesman says he won't challenge the seizure of 70 pounds of apricot pits by order of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Federal agents announced the seizure Thursday on grounds the pits contain a poisonous or dangerous substance. They said it was one of the first such seizures nationally.

A substance called laetrile can be derived from the pits. Asst. U.S. Atty. Thomas Morris said some persons consider this an anti-cancer drug.

Dickinson Faces Exam
TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Former Controller Fred O. "Bud" Dickinson faces a medical examination today to determine if his health can withstand his scheduled trial on federal tax- evasion charges.

Visiting U.S. District Court Judge William B. Hand refused in a brief hearing Thursday to delay the case, set to begin Monday in Tallahassee.

However, Hand ordered the medical exam, to take place in Tampa, and indicated he would reconsider his previous plan to hold court 12 hours a day in an attempt to complete the trial in a one week.

My home is in Britain."

The Daily Express had reported that friends were urging Snowden to buy a house and apply for permanent residence in Australia to avoid embarrassing the royal family by living in London.

Weapons Disclosure Hailed
WASHINGTON (AP) — Former U.N. ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan says the recent disclosure that Israel possessed nuclear weapons was "good thing" because "no one has any illusions about what could happen."

The disclosure about Israel's nuclear arsenal occurred two weeks ago when the Central Intelligence Agency briefed members of the American scientific community. Moynihan's comments came during a hearing Thursday in which he strongly criticized the United Nations, saying it dominated today by totalitarian states and the Soviet Union.

Book Reports Nixon Drinking, Suicidal

NEW YORK (AP) — A new book reportedly paints a picture of former President Richard M. Nixon drinking too much, weeping and threatening suicide during his last days in the White House.

The former president's suicide talk so disturbed his aides, according to reports on the book, that they removed all medication from his medicine chest.

The book is "The Final Days," by Watergate reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein of The Washington Post. Time Magazine and the New York Daily News say it has been closely guarded prior to its publication next month by Simon and Schuster and serial-

Arrests Followed Nightclub Incident

ORLANDO (AP) — Three federal drug agents arrested a May 18 trial for the three narcotics agents. They were arrested Wednesday night following an altercation between John LaFore and a woman, Mrs. Lunden and L.E. Nazhr-wald. According to police: Mrs. Lunden said Torres, who called himself Bruno, approached her and told her she was a prostitute. She said she was not a prostitute and that she was a nurse. McNamara Pleads In Gambling Case

An Orlando man accused of operating a sports betting operation from an Altamonte Springs apartment has pleaded no contest to a felony bookmaking charge in circuit court here Thursday.

Luther Judson McNamara, 33, entered the plea Thursday before Circuit Judge J.A. Cowart Jr.

As part of the negotiated plea McNamara's name was dropped a second bookmaking charge and a charge of maintaining a gambling house. McNamara and another Orlando man, Jack L. Crenshaw, 39, were indicted in the felony indictments returned in January by a statewide grand jury probing illegal gambling activities in Central Florida.

Crenshaw was arrested in Las Vegas, Nev., and returned to Florida. He faces trials on the bookmaking and maintaining a gambling house charges in April at Sanford.

67 Positions Said To Be On Way Out

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A Senate ways and means subcommittee, saying it was tired of seeing what it called layers of useless bureaucracy, has moved to abolish 67 positions in the state Education Department.

Education Commissioner Ralph Turington and others in the subcommittee strongly protested the Thursday action, saying it would wreck badly needed programs and would cost the state more than $5 million in federal funds.

But Senators who voted 6-0 for the cuts said they were not satisfied with the productivity of the affected agencies. They said the positions just added bureaucrats who were not needed.

Indexing Taxes
A Good Idea

During these years of inflation a practice has become commonplace of virtually assuring the perpetuation of higher prices. The economists call it "indexation," which means that wage agreements, insurance policies and purchase contracts, etc., include escalator clauses concerning the dollar amounts mentioned therein to the economy's price level. If inflation increases X per cent, so then does a workman's wage, for instance, climb X per cent.

The problem with indexation, the more solid economists say, is that it institutionalizes inflation. It makes inflation easier to live with, to be sure, but that relief makes it easier for big spending politicians to escape criticism. And if any lession needs to be learned by the citizens and leaders of this land, it is the root cause of inflation: government printing presses churning out paper currency to pay for politically created debt. Indexation ratchets peoples' ostrich instinct.

"There's no doubt that indexation makes inflation easier to live with," Baltimore economist Ronald A. Krieger told the Wall Street Journal. "In other countries where indexation is widely used, it seems that everybody is like the Red Queen in Alice in Wonderland, chasing inflation harder and harder just to stay where they were."

We don't like to promote the notion that "inflation ought to hurt," but something needs to be done about the hellish situation in which everyone, from wage earners to corporate magnates, find themselves. Until we win the philosophical battle against inflation, however, we should like to suggest a prudent way to remove a particularly burdensome stress from any American concerned about his personal income — which includes just about all of us.

What is not indexed is inflation in income taxes. No, we do not mean you should pay more taxes as inflationary rates increase, but that, barring an out-and-out repeal of the income tax, the Internal Revenue Service should at least try to keep personal income on par with inflation. In other words, inflation has the additionally insidious effect of pushing people into higher tax brackets, a kind of double jeopardy for a huge segment of wage earners. That ought not to be the case.

The idea is not original with us. Economist Milton Friedman has talked much about income tax indexation, as has New York Senator James Buckley. But there, within those select circles, the idea rests. We think that consideration of it, especially this month when Americans are agonizing over their tax forms, ought to be renewed.

Classless Justice

If a Soviet Union did not exist, we would have to invent one. The existence of a rival system seems designed to challenge us to perfect our own.

Recently the leaders of the Soviet Communist Party were disclosed to have written a long defensive letter to several Communist parties in Western Europe, explaining Soviet civil rights policies.

"The Communists have always taken the stand that 'pure democracy, rights, and liberties in general, do not exist,' the letter says. 'They invariably bear the character of class and serve the interests of a particular class.'"

The Kremlin regime therefore imposes a dictatorship in the name of the proletariat.

In the United States we do not put quotation marks around the world liberty. We do not question the value of freedom and self-government. History will record whether the people of the world will eventually choose our system of theirs.

But the Russian's criticism of our system is a challenge that must be squarely faced. We must take care that every individual who stands before the bar of justice receives equal treatment — regardless of education, regardless of social position, regardless of color and origin.

Equal justice under the law is our country's proudest boast. It will not be a living reality if we cease even for an instant to strive to achieve it at every level of our judicial system.

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON — Officially, the unit is called the 89th Military Airlift Wing. But under this prosaic banner operates the world's most exclusive airline, a fleet of 25 aircraft, serving Washington's official elite.

The passengers consist solely of government bigwigs and military muck-mucks, ranging from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to Army Chief of Staff Gen. Frederick C. Weyand.

The passenger list also cuts across ideological lines, with free riders available to conservatives and liberals alike from Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

The planes, valued at $66 million apiece, are no ordinary airliners. They are specially outfitted to pamper busy government executives. They contain such creature comforts as wall-to-wall carpeting, desks for working officials, bars for drinking officials, sofas suitable for taking naps and extra powder rooms.

The flight planes are available 24 hours a day to fly the high and mighty anywhere in the world from a sightseeing junket in Timbuktu to a football game at West Point. This VIP service costs the taxpayers roughly $6 million a year.

The planes even provide military stewards to cater to the needs of the distinguished passengers. The stewards are carried on the military roster as "Air Passenger Specialists" supposedly on duty to ensure "passenger

The Clock

By ED PRICKETT

It's out there.

Or is it? It's called the "Oviedo ghost light" and they come on damp and stormy nights. It appears on a desolate stretch of SR 13 near a bridge that spans the Little Econohatchee River.

Some say ghosts haunt the six-mile stretch of highway north of Chulalota, while others say the mystery light is just glowing blue swamp gas escaped out of the cypress wilderness.

A Chulalota clairvoyant whose son was killed near the bridge at 10:30 p.m. in July of 1963 says reports of "ghost lights" are just a "bunch of phoebes" and that the blue, eerie light is swamp gas.

Perhaps even stranger than the reports of "ghost lights" is the "vision" the clairvoyant claims she experienced which accurately predicted her son's death some five months before a car struck him near the bridge where the "ghost lights" are reported to appear.

Agna Maria Hyman's son, Norbert George Hyman, 17, police reports say, was struck by a car that didn't have its headlights on. But the palmist doesn't see any connection between her son's death and "ghost lights."

In fact, she says "ghost lights" of the type reported on the lonely stretch of roadway are common in Ireland and parts of Germany in forests where trees rot and rain drizzles on that rot — throwing off a glow.

Since Norbert was three, she said, "I knew he would be dead before he reached 18."

In Feb. 1963 — five months before the car struck her son — Mrs. Hyman said she had a "vision." In her "vision" she said she saw her father in a dream and in the dream her father showed her her son dead on the blacktop.

She says she even predicted the type of clothing her son would wear on the day of his death.

Though her son wasn't wearing the same clothes she saw in her "vision," Mrs. Hyman says he was wearing those clothes earlier that same day. But she says he came home and changed before going out that night to shoot firecrackers with some of his friends.

Ben F. Ward, a former Oviedo city councilman, said legendary tales say the "ghost light" was the ghost of a desperado who was tracked down and killed in that area near the turn of the century. And a study by the physics department at Florida Technological University was inconclusive. The study, conducted in 1969, reported there was "insufficient information" on which to base a conclusion.

Mrs. Hyman said she now fears harm could come to children who go out to the bridge in hopes of seeing "ghost lights." That harm would come not from ghosts, but from speeding auto she said.

A registered clairvoyant, Mrs. Hyman is one of a growing number of fortune tellers, palmists, seers and others who claim during "visions" to predict events that later come true.

Jens Stearn, a noted newspaper man recently compiled a book outlining some of the amazing predictions made by clairvoyants that did come true.

Stearn points to many instances in which predictions turned out to be fact, and not fiction. One of the most noted was a prediction by a clairvoyant that President John F. Kennedy would be assassinated while in office. Another was that his brother would experience a similar fate.

Mansfield Suffered With Fools

WASHINGTON — I met Mike Mansfield a decade ago in a hotel room in Helena, Mont. He was the state's senior senator on a visit to home. I blew in on a reporting assignment. A mutual friend offered an introduction and I seized the opportunity for narrow reasons: It was the time of Vietnam, which I then embraced, and I wanted to argue Mansfield's antiwar views.

The door to the senator's room was open, and he was waiting for me in shirt-sleeves on the edge of the bed. I was offered the only chair in the room. He lit a pipe, crossed his arms over his chest and explained that the small, plain, very ugly room was adequate for his stay. He didn't like suites, he said. He had no entourage, which was a lot for him, he retreated behind an expression of solemnity, and listened while I explained my concern for his Vietnam opposition.

I said that I had seen a great deal of the combat as a correspondent and was worried that the increasing lack of support for it in America might eventually pull the soldiers in jeopardy. I was overly blunt, one might even say insufferable. I said I had seen enemy leaflets quoting George McGovern's condemnation of the war, and had talked with men in the ranks who were becoming confused with the similar remarks being made by Mansfield. Naturally, I added that such talk here could only encourage the enemy and prolong events.

"Have you been in Vietnam?" I asked. "Not recently," he said. "Then how can you judge it at all?"

I learned later of course that my exulting his ignorance of Southeast Asia with his lack of experience was not only naive but in error. Mansfield had been a lifelong scholar on Asian affairs, a university instructor in such before becoming a politician. He spoke his knowledge with a man whose far Eastern knowledge was thought valuable that Franklin Roosevelt sent him there on a strategic war mission in the 1940s.

Mansfield said none of this, by the way. For much of our conversation, actually, he said very little of anything. He nodded. He shook his head. He said "yes" or "no" where applicable. I suppose I took his simple reticence as a weakness, as have many over his 34 years in public life (10 as a congressman, 24 as a senator, 15 as the majority leader). His lack of dynamism has been a Washington issue for decades. Colleagues have for years urged him to come alive, to which his response had been: "I am not a ringmaster."

He certainly isn't. Born 72 years ago in Montana, sent to Montana by his father, he was a one-time runaway who joined the Navy at age 14 and a former mine worker who became a college professor, Mansfield is merely Mansfield, which is quite enough. He is perhaps as fine a politician as this nation can hope to produce, kind, generous, honest, but he is an elected official who serves the public rather than himself. He has never had a press secretary, reads every piece of constituent mail, and works 12-14 hour days. A rare officer indeed.

Truth Is In Fine Print

NEW YORK (AP) — Difficult and boring as it is sure to be, Americans have learned they should read the details of, for example, a product guarantee or an insurance policy.

It is there in the fine print that the truth might lie, most commonly in the form of limitations or exceptions to the over-all impression created by the general promise the salesman makes.

Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, seems to feel we should take a lesson from such experiences and apply the same scrutiny to some of the official government statistics we seem to live by.

While pleased with the report that the Consumer Price Index barely rose in February, Burns cautions Americans not to become euphoric. Reading the fine print, he concludes, "I continue to be disturbed by the rate of inflation."

Burns didn't specify those he thought might become euphoric, but his statement followed by a few days only by William F. Simon, Treasury secretary, who suggested a 1 per cent inflation rate might be achievable in this decade.

Burns suggested to the Senate Budget Committee that it break down the February price index and examine the ingredients that made up the tiny, one-tenth of 1 per cent increase in that month.

If you remove food and energy supplies, the prices of which moderated in the year's second

WASHINGTON — The problem with defense spending is not that Soviet Union has overall better weapons today than the United States, doesn't. Or that it is spending more. There is evidence many of the Soviet rubies earmarked for defense are wasted in inefficiencies.

This problem today is that the Soviet Union today has an imaginative, superbly designed military research program headed by first-rate scientists.

Despite wastes in the Soviet system, Russian military scientists are moving ahead at a more rapid pace than their American counterparts. This is surprising, in view of our nation's scientific history and national pride in inventiveness.

These Russian scientific advances could mean that the U.S. may, a decade or two from now, find itself saddled with an expensive collection of second-rate weapons.

To recapitulate, we are talking of numbers or the size of armies but excellence of weapons. Though the Pentagon would argue the point, the problem isn't that we do not spend enough on national defense. Research, by comparison, is cheap. It is rather that we do not spend wisely.

Some Soviet advances are the bread-and-butter developments which make possible major cost reductions. They have moved ahead in casting techniques so far that their cast components are as strong as forgings in the U.S. Our scientific sources say the Russians now lead in welding technology and in titanium fabrication.

Some advanced Soviet work is in imaginative fields where breakthroughs could, cumulatively, alter the balance of power.

The USSR is moving ahead rapidly in plasma physics and in magneto-hydrodynamic power generators. It leads the U.S. in some areas of laser research and there are indications Moscow may be moving toward the development of laser weapons.

The Russians are ahead in high pressure physics, in some areas of high-frequency radio wave propagation, in chemical warfare and in significant areas of artillery technology.

The Soviet rate of progress is exemplified by the work of Russian scientists in anti-aircraft systems. The newest Russian weapons operational in the early 1970s were a decade behind ours. But our counterparts of their newest command-guided missile system is still under development.

And the Soviet Union has made more rapid progress in achieving high-accuracy guidance technology than some of the most hawkish of American scientific observers predicted a year back.

It is not, however, in the Soviets' favor. The U.S. leads in such dollar-saving researches as the use of computers for design and simulation, in integrated-circuit fabrication, in numerically-controlled machine tools, in inertial instrumentation, in the development of composites materials and in satellite-borne sensor technology.

Gasoline prices also turned a bit weak in some areas, but industry authorities now expect prices to pick up, not only because of the summer driving season, but because of the gas atmosphere that limited usage has created.

Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., and Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., the taxpayers' Richard Schickel, R-Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Sen. Ernest S. Gruening, D-Ala., as chairman of a House Banking subcommittee, led a delegation on a round of the European banking capitals. The Air Force flew them around at a cost of $24,428.

Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, led the North Atlantic Assembly delegation on three overseas trips costing a grand total of $78,371. A spokesman explained that military aircraft were used "for security reason."

For shorter hops, Rep. Fred Rooney, D-Pa., used a military plane to fly to West Point football game. Rep. Floyd Spence, R-S.C., put in a couple weeks of active duty last summer in a Navy captain. He flew to San Diego in style aboard a military plane.

If the congressional bigwigs couldn't think of any place to go, the Pentagon often found some way to get there. Rep. Trent Lott, R-Miss., was flown to Gulfport to dedicate a Navy diving facility. House Appropriations Chairman George Mahon, D-Texas, traveled by military jet to attend the launching of the USS Texas.

Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., flew to his home state to dedicate the Mendel River submarine, and Sen. Ed Muskie, D-Me., flew to Brunswick Naval Air Station in his native Maine to attend a key-keeping ceremony.

Love Binds Interfaith Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: About that Protestant mother who was upset because her son married a Catholic girl: I also came from a strict Catholic family. The girl I fell in love with was the daughter of a Methodist minister. When we made plans to marry, my folks and all the relatives made an awful fuss. Added to their objections was the fact my lady love had a Jewish ancestor way back in her family.

Regardless of all their objections, we went ahead and got married. None of my people came to the wedding. They also cut me out of their will. I could not have cared less. My wife and I are both in our 80s and have celebrated our 50th wedding anniversary. We have wonderful sons.

The Founding Faith

By GEORGE W. CORNELL. To America to gain religious freedom from what they considered ecclesiastical tyranny, 'it did not necessarily mean they were interested in such freedom for themselves.'

It was an odd circumstance, an irony of America's development, that it led eventually to an unprecedented innovation in world history—the separation of church from state, the severing of the cords binding religion to civil authority, making faith a matter of free choice and voluntary support.

Too Many Ifs For Rangers To Be Smiling

Perry is ready but after that a lot of "ifs" come into play. If Bill Singer, obtained in the offseason from California in the Texas Rangers came in third place in the American League West and the fiery manager got the axe. The optimism is toned down this season and for good reason. The short spring training camp hurt the Rangers more than most American League teams because Manager Frank Lucchesi is desperate to find pitching help behind his star veteran Gaylord Perry.

Brantley Girls Top SHS Netters

Any Holloway thanked the Lake Brantley girls Thursday as they squashed Seminole, 6-1, in a high school tennis meet.

Holloway dumped Karen Louisiana, 6-5, in the No. 1 singles match, then teamed with Joan Hogood to whip Lowmyra and Sandra McKee, 6-3, in No. 1 doubles. Hogood routed Debbie Reagan, 6-0, in No. 2 singles.

Also posting victories for the Patriots were Leslie Becker, 6-6 over Margaret Newman, and Shella Klein, who thrashed Mary Claine, 8-1.

Seminole's lone meet point came on Sandra Turner's 8-4 decision over Laurie Becker. The Becker sisters joined forces to run away with the No. 2 doubles duty by pasting Newman and Turner, 8-2.

The Patriots girls now stand 14-2 for the current season while Seminole slumped to 6-9.

Oviedo Tankers Breeze Twice

The Oviedo boys and girls swimming teams curled off victories in a high school triangular swimming meet Thursday. The boys downed West Orange, 86-69, while the girls cruised past the Warriors, 80-65.

Smyrna Beach took third spot in both divisions.

Both Lyan squads steamed to victory in five of the meet's 11 events.

Trinity's Nicolle, Brown, Lyman's Pace On All-State

Two Trinity Prep soccer players and one Lyan booter have been named to the first-team high school All-State soccer squad.

Mark Nicolle and Jeff Brown were honored for the Saints, while Bill Pace was named from Lyman.

Saints Boys Take Tank Win

Trinity Prep and Lake Highland split a high school swimming meet Thursday as the Saints boys piled up a 90-51 victory while Lake Highland's girls walked, 100-70.

Trinity Prep boys chalked up decisions in seven of 11 events, while the Highlander girls took six victories.

Homers Decisive In Church Loop

First Presbyterian and Pinecrest Baptist walked away with the softball winners in Sanford Church League play as the Presbyterians parlayed 24 hits into 29-23 victory over Sanford Christian and First Baptist tied in the Pinecrest square, 7-7.

Kevin Crocker and Doug Burleson hit homers for First Presbyterian while Owen McCarron had a double. Lee Marshall homered and Mike Thorne doubled for the losers.

Star for Pinecrest was John Bryant with a homer and single.

Favored Charles Walker Eliminated

Golden Gloves Down to 88

MIAMI (AP)—The 352-man National Golden Gloves tournament field here has been whittled to 88 quarterfinalists with Pan-American Games bronze medal winner Charles Walker the biggest name on the sidelines.

Walker, of Las Vegas, lost a split decision Thursday night to Willie Taylor of Knoxville, Tenn.

Walker caused a five-minute delay in the second round when he knocked Taylor out of the ring. But Las Vegas' Taylor retained his consistent, aggressive two-handed punching to earn the decision in the 156-pound light-middweight division.

Walker had won an unanimous first round decision over Alexander Porra of Puerto Rico earlier Thursday and Taylor had earned a split decision over Henry Harris Jr. of Los Angeles.

The 112-pound flyweight category was also thrown in turmoil as Las Vegas' Lee Randolph, holder of the North American title, lost a unanimous decision to Pennsylvania's Myron Taylor. Taylor later gained a unanimous verdict over Danny Zamora of New Mexico.

Top survivors Thursday included 135-pound light welterweight Sugar Ray Leonard, considered by many to be the nation's top Olympic boxer, who won the decision over Tony Teague of Louisville.

Marvin Newman of Indianapolis. But Newman left boxing coaches and the Orange Bowl crowd awed by his ability to stand the best leather shoes Amateur Athletic Union and defeated Golden Gloves champion Leonard with the fight with no visible effects to the pounding he took to get in blows that left Leonard bleeding from the lip.

Dave Armstrong of Las Vegas, a Pan-Am gold medal winner in the 125-pound featherweight category, advanced with a unanimous decision over Alvin Fowler of St. Louis and TKO of Corky Curry of Minneapolis with 1:15 gone in the third round.

Heavy punching Paul Ramos of Cleveland led the 178-pound light-heavyweight action. Ramos scored a TKO over Las Vegas' Larry Weatherspoon with 1:24 gone in the third round and later claimed a unanimous decision over Ron East of Syracuse, N.Y.

The eight boxers who survived Thursday's competition in five divisions joined Wednesday winners in six other categories in tonight's quarterfinals.

Favorites in the other classes include heavyweight Michael Dukes of Cleveland, Indianapolis lightweight Pryor, middleweight Tony Sullivan of Las Vegas, welterweight Clinton Jackson of Knoxville, Tenn., bantamweight Ben Jones of Knoxville and light-flyweight Louis Curtis of Washington, D.C.

Guaranteed for Saturday's 11 champions are Carl Gorman, University of Chicago Track Club, and hurled the javelin 212 feet 1 1/2 inches.

McTeer, running in a high-school meet last year, matched Tennessee's Ivory Crockett with a record 9 1/2 miles in the 100.

He's now considered the man to beat in that event but his coach says that won't be easily done.

"He's hard as hell to catch," says Willie Whigham, track coach at Baker High in the Florida Peninsula. "Most kids couldn't catch him on the world's best."

Steve Williams, who recently boasted that he could do it, won't get a chance to prove it during the relays. He'll be running in Saturday's open division and McTeer can run only against other prep athletes in today's events.

In a preliminary to the relays, Craig Brigham of the University of Oregon won the two-day decathlon Thursday when he amassed 7,888 points by placing first in javelin, pole vault and discus events. The victory gives him a berth in the Olympic trials at Eugene, Ore., June 19-21.

Behind Brigham with 7,749 points was Ron Evans of Wallcut, Conn., who also won a place in the Olympic tryout.

In third place was Steve Gough of the Northwest Club, Seattle, with 7,555 points, followed by Jeff Bennett, an independent from Edmond, Okla., 7,441.

Brigham, ranked ninth in the world for the 10-event decathlon, he pole-vaulted 15 feet 6 1/2 inches to tie for first in that championship event. The University of Chicago Track Club, and hurled the javelin 212 feet 1 1/2 inches.
