Sanford Airport: Give Us A System To Bar Collisions

By MAX ERKILETIAN
Herald Staff Writer

San Diego and Sanford are a continent apart, but a tragedy that occurred in San Diego last summer may affect Sanford's future.

As a result of an in-air collision between a large airliner and a private airplane over San Diego, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) plans to install new landing systems at 20 airports across the nation.

J. S. (Red) Cleveland, Sanford Airport administrator, hopes one of those airports designated for the new system will be in Sanford.

The new system, called an Instrument Landing System (ILS) sends a signal to the incoming airplane giving it a prescribed landing course that is locked into the aircraft's instrument system.

The pilot can then follow signals from his instrument system to maintain his course and land safely, according to Cleveland.

Cost for installation and maintenance of the $350,000 ILS system would be paid by the FAA, according to Cleveland.

"One of the reasons for that crash in San Diego is because they had people training to fly small craft in a hub airport where the large carriers fly in," said Cleveland.

As a result of that crash, the FAA wants to direct smaller aircraft to "secondary" airports near the larger commercial hubs where airliners land, according to Cleveland.

The recent expansion of service at Orlando's International Airport has greatly increased air traffic there, according to Cleveland. The increase in traffic increases the hazards for small craft, contends Cleveland.

They're Learning, Working, And Building A Future

Bobby Brinson slipped on his welding mask and began his work.

Casey Burgess leaned over his cauliflower plant carefully nurturing it and wiping off some dirt which had accumulated on the floppy leaves.

Both Bobby and Casey are not working at regular jobs but are two of the 137 students who are enrolled in the Crooms Work Study program.

"I'm learning how to read but this is also helping me get the training to hopefully get a job," said 16-year-old Bobby.

The program in its seventh year at Crooms High School is designed for educable mentally handicapped (EMH) students and is a mix of classroom learning as well as various types of vocational training.

"Our goal here is to prepare these students however we can in the area of education but to also give them a chance to get some vocational training and give them the training to eventually hold a job," according to John Dimitry the exuberant coordinator of the work-study program.

"A lot of these students are slow learners and so just don't acclimate properly to the regular classroom environment," Dimitry said, "but while they may not eventually become a plumber or a welder there is nothing to stop them from becoming a plumber's helper or get a similar job."

The students in the program usually have an IQ of between 50 and 60, according to Dimitry.

If it is discovered through testing that the student does fall in that category he or she is given visual and hearing tests to make certain that is not the problem.

If it turns out not to be a hearing or sight problem the case then goes to a staffing committee which decides whether the student should be put into the program.

However, the final decision rests with the parent or guardian as to whether the student should be placed in the Crooms program.

If the student is placed in the program he is required in grades 9-12 to complete the required English, math, social

In the student's senior year he is required to get a full-time job to round out the requirements to graduate, according to Dimitry.

During those first three years the students are in classes which average between nine and 14 students.

"I feel I am giving these students an opportunity they never thought they could have, which is to become a success and have pride in themselves," said Earl Roberts, who has taught EMH students for about four years.

What's Most Hazardous Job?

By MAX ERKILETIAN
Herald Staff Writer

The most hazardous job in the Sanford city work force is not the most glamorous.

Ranked almost twice as dangerous as police work and three times as dangerous as fire fighting, refuse workers are considered to have the highest risk profession of 10 city job classifications, according to city records.

The Bureau of Workmen's Compensation in the Florida Department of Commerce annually ranks jobs according to the amount of risk setting insurance rates. The rankings are based on statewide records of workmen's compensation claims. Garbage collectors are ranked at a rate of $16.43 per $100 on their premiums, twice as high as the next post, according to the current rankings. New rankings are due to be issued by the state later this month, according to Rich Quigley, assistant to the city manager. However, the rankings are not expected to change.

Other city jobs are ranked in order of safety from most to least hazardous as follows: refuse workers, non-classified, street cleaners, police, automobile repair, administrative, water department, park department, fire fighters and clerical. Sanford's insurance ratings are low compared to most communities, according to City Manager Warren E. Knowles.

"We have a favorable rating from the state, because we have a good history of fewer injury claims," said Knowles.

The rankings surprise most people, who think police and fire fighters would top the list, according to Knowles. "Those jobs are publicized more. People see them on television and they think about them being shot or injured," noted Knowles.

However, that image does not take into account the fact that emergency conditions that put police and firefighters into peril do not arise as frequently as hazardous conditions in other jobs.

"The refuse workers for instance are always working around heavy machinery that could injure them," said Knowles.

The city's most recent accident was to a refuse worker, according to Knowles. Several weeks ago a refuse worker was trying to unclog a trash-loading machine when a fellow employee accidentally tripped a lever activating the machine. The result was that a blade on the machine almost cut off the worker's right hand, said Knowles.

"They've always been ranked up at the top, because they do have many hazards," said Knowles.

One of two city workers who have died on the job within the last 25 years was a refuse worker. The other was a firefighter who jumped from a fire truck and fell under the truck's wheel.

The city tries to keep its accident rate down, according to Knowles, by enforcing safety rules calling for employees to wear protective gear such as gloves and hard hats.

"We abide by all the restrictions the federal industrial safety people recommend,"

He pointed out the city is not required to follow all federal safety guidelines placed on private industry, but does anyway to try and keep accidents to a minimum.

A safety engineer also makes a citywide inspection to recommend safety procedures in accordance with the city's insurance program.

"It ends up with a better safety record for us which keeps costs down and it also emphasizes to the employees that we care about their safety," said Knowles.

The Government And Surgery

The medical profession absorbed another kick in the shins from Washington recently, this time on the subject of unnecessary and incompetent surgery.

A congressional subcommittee estimated that physicians performed two million unnecessary operations in 1977 with an attendant loss of 10,000 lives and at a cost of $4 billion.

To no one's surprise, the American Medical Association vigorously disputed these estimates. The AMA argued, probably with some justification, that the estimates were based on extrapolation of limited and statistically unsound regional studies.

However, as even the AMA would admit, there is little doubt that the incidence of questionable surgery is high enough to constitute a genuine public health problem.

Nor should this be a particularly startling revelation.

The practice of medicine has always been an imprecise science colored by the subjective judgment and imperfect knowledge on its practitioners.

As a group, physicians are no more immune to faulty decisions or even ethical lapses than lawyers or businessmen or, come to think of it, members of congressional subcommittees.

So the question isn't whether the practice of medicine, and specifically surgery, can be improved. It can. The question is how best to improve it.

Predictably perhaps, the subcommittee's proposed cure is an additional dose of government regulation.

At least in cases involving elective surgery for Medicare and Medicaid patients, the panel would substitute the government's judgment for that of attending physicians in deciding whether surgery was necessary.

While it's true that this might eliminate some unnecessary surgery, it would establish a perilous precedent.

We doubt if the necessity to clear your gall bladder operation with Washington would do much to enhance health care or the practice of medicine. It would, however, add to the tide of paperwork already swamping physicians and hospitals and helping to drive up the cost of health care in general.

As we have noted, our distaste for a bureaucratic remedy doesn't impinge on our recognition that the medical establishment is in need of substantial reform.

We agree with the subcommittee's finding that health care consumers are poorly served by the failure of physicians and hospitals to provide relevant information on variations among hospitals in the quality of surgical care.

The medical establishment cannot have it both ways. If its resistance to government interference in the health care marketplace is to be credible, it must act to inform consumers so that they can make reasoned choices.

Most physicians are familiar enough with the success rates of local hospitals for a given surgical procedure.

And patients have a right to expect that their physicians will tell them if surviving surgery is twice as likely at one hospital as at another.

As for needless surgery, the American Medical Association's Principles of Medical Ethics specifically encourages physicians to seek second opinions in any surgical cases deemed "difficult or doubtful."

The Professional Standards Review boards established jointly by the AMA and the Department of Health Education and Welfare two years ago and the long-standing peer review boards that function at nearly every hospital could drastically reduce the incidence of needless and incompetent surgery.

Patients deserve no less.

BERRY'S WORLD

"You sure know how to lay on the guilt trip!"

It's An Output Puzzle

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If the curative effects of President Carter's proposed budget cuts were proportional to the political anguish they are causing, the nation's inflation problem would probably evaporate overnight.

Unfortunately, however, the spending cutbacks are likely to have only a modest dampening effect on the cost-of-living spiral — even assuming they are approved by Congress, which is a mighty big "if."

It looks more than big budget deficits to touch off this chronic inflation, and it will take more than spending cuts to halt it. And Washington's political fascination with the budget battle shouldn't be allowed to obscure attention to some of the other factors contributing to the inflation problem.

One is the steady and disturbing decline of productivity in the United States in recent years, a phenomenon almost as baffling as inflation itself.

During the first two decades after World War II, productivity — commonly defined as output per man-hour — increased in the private sector by an average rate of 3.3 percent per year. From 1967-77, it grew just 1.4 percent a year, with most of the fall-off occurring in the second half of the decade. This year, it has hardly grown at all.

According to a simple rule of thumb, a one percent increase in productivity translates into a one percent reduction in inflation. A return to something like the postwar performance, therefore, would obviously go a long way towards curbing our current economic ills.

Unfortunately, most of the factors that contributed to productivity gains in those days — easy money, ample capital, technological breakthroughs, cheap energy, abundant raw materials and a farm-to-city labor migration — are no longer present.

That means new ways must be found to increase output, and a recent study by the nonprofit Worldwatch Institute in Washington offers — cautiously — one approach that has also been endorsed by government-sponsored productivity studies: greater worker participation in the management and ownership of companies.

Author Bruce Stokes notes that while much attention has been paid to the desires of workers to improve their job conditions and enhance the "quality of life" in the workplace, greater participation can also lead to marked gains in productivity.

It is no accident, he suggests, that Japan and West Germany — which have massive worker participation in management — also far outpace the United States in productivity.

Business in this country that have cooperated with labor-management cooperation from the shop floor to the board room have also experienced significant productivity gains, the study shows.

A 1978 National Science Foundation survey, for instance, found four out of five firms with varying forms of worker participation in company decision-making reported productivity gains.

However, the magazine notes, "Wide

SCHOOL VIEWS

Taking Positive Step

By LEONARD KRANSORF
"Absence in schools: Walls and Halls of Trouble."

This is the title of an article in the November issue of School Board Journal and appears at a time when 13 Seminole County schools are faced with the potential problem of asbestos fibers in ceilings built about 12 to 15 years ago.

The school board has voted to install drop ceilings in those schools which would cover the affected ceilings at a cost of about $40,000. This would be done for asbestos and energy reasons in addition to the potential threat of the asbestos presence in the 12 ceilings. It is important to note the word potential because at this time two tests on county ceilings have been inconclusive and this week the school district announced it is seeking to hire a professional testing firm to find whether there is any trace of the asbestos.

In asbestos is found district officials indicate the asbestos would probably be scraped off and then the drop ceilings installed for a cost of $100,000.

Whether exposure to asbestos causes cancer is also a debatable question.

In 1973 the Environmental Protection Agency banned the use of asbestos in most sprayed applications (this is how it was put on school ceilings) and Florida has recommended to school districts to do ceilings to be installed where they are sprayed on asbestos.

However, the magazine notes, "Wide

RONALD REAGAN Voice Of The Bureaucrat

Where have all the bureaucrats gone? They are still there. It only seems as if they have disappeared from the Potomac puzzle palace, with everyone's attention focused on foreign affairs and the holidays for several weeks.

January, alas, is the month the bureaucrats come out of hibernation. They have plenty to keep them busy. First, there is Mr. Carter's halfhearted, exception-filled federal hiring freeze to deal with.

It caught the Metric Board, for example, with only eight people hired, hardly enough to find the restroom, let alone sell us on the wonders of going metric, as it was supposed to do. (By the way, a little known fact hidden by the bureaucrats as best they can is that "going metric" is entirely voluntary; there is no law mandating it.)

There will also be some income tax cuts to administer, though most of these will be gobbled up by Social Security. Since everyone talks about Social Security but no one does anything about it, your taxes on this troubled program will take their largest jump in history, beginning this month.

In my mail the other day was a newsletter I hope all bureaucrats — especially those in Washington — will read. It is called Jim Boren's "Mumblepeep" and is subtitled "The Voice of the Bureaucrat."

Its masthead sports the coat of arms of the International Association of Professional Bureaucrats. This features a plucked chicken wrapped in red tape, clutching a shield emblazoned with the words "status quo." Above the chicken is the motto, "When in doubt, mumble." Among the gems is Boren's "Mumblepeep" — a letter of regret from the postmaster general for having to miss the association's annual "Order of the Bird" award dinner. There is also a column of "Fiscal New Year Bureaucratic" — a sampling.

"I will not spend taxpayer's money needlessly unless absolutely necessary."

"I will limit the new forms that I develop to the number that I can count in one week."

"I will simplify the language of the new regulations that I write in order that the adjusting my production of regulations, questionnaires and other elements of the red tape that binds our nation together."

"Recognizing that increased productivity is essential for a growing economy, I will strive to increase my production of regulations, questionnaires and other elements of the red tape that binds our nation together."

"In times of great national crisis, I will not use sick leave for purposes of shopping, visiting or playing golf."

Editor Bob's tongue seems to be permanently stuck in his mouth. No wonder. With the bureaucrats back in the saddle this month — and with Congress soon to belch out its usual abundance of laws — (many of them useless, and with bureaucratic regulations to follow) — we'll need all the humor we can get.

At Supermarket C, a special on beer at 89 cents for a six-pack. That's the feature loss leader in Supermarket C. The trick is to give all seniors special buying assignments.

On Thursday or Friday, the six seniors would meet to study the specials offered by each store. Then they would assign to the members to each store. It's a friendly sort of program.

You can bet that each person will know something about bargains in non-food products, as well. The group can actually grow into an advisory buying club. But let's stick to foods for now.

So, Mr. and Mrs. M. would pick up the $1.99 cans of coffee at the store where that is featured. Then they would do the rest of their own shopping.

The same procedure would be followed right down the line. The shoppers would buy the special for the others while filling their own needs.

A Lesson From Sanford?

Lake Mary is on the verge of a monumental decision for its future and it would do well to take a few lessons from its neighbor Sanford.

Max Erkiltian

The idea of having a city manager to run the day-to-day business of the city has been on people's minds since the community incorporation. The city council made it clear recently that a city manager for Lake Mary is soon to be in effect. The only real question that remains is what kind of a position will it become?

Under the classic form, a manager-council government operates with the manager carrying out the policies set by the council. The manager's position is not one of a city boss or dictator.

The city manager should only make decisions on the way a city policy is carried out, hopefully with an eye toward improving a city service and keeping costs at a minimum.

The manager is not an elected position. At such, he is not directly responsible to the electorate. He is a public official who serves at the pleasure of elected officials. If he gains more power and is forced to act, it is usually because those elected officials to whom he is responsible, the councilmen fail to exercise their responsibility.

The manager-council form of government, under the right conditions, is one of the best safeguard against giving too much power to a city manager. It is for the council not to become lazy deferring to the manager instead of giving him direction.

In Sanford, the city charter strips the manager of power over police and fire departments; this is a major mistake. One should not confuse responsibility and control of administrative functions with control over the line operation of such vital departments.

Very, if any, city managers possess the expertise to direct the activities of emergency units like the police and fire departments of any city. However, any city manager should possess the talent and know-how to hold the line on expenses and help the administration of any city department run smoothly.

By TOM TIEBE
Special To The Herald
WASHINGTON—As usual, Santa left an assortment of merry-making weapons under the Christmas trees of America this Christmas: cap guns, snap guns, laser beams and death rays. What's more, merchandisers say the toy pistols and rifles are among the most faithfully authentic ever created.

Indeed, in some cases the fun guns cannot be distinguished from the real thing. Over the holidays, airgun manufacturers sold untold thousands of make-believe arms, which salesmen in- make, and the police ruefully agree, look real, feel real, act real — and may in point of fact be real.

The Crosman company, for instance, advertises that a .177 caliber pellet pistol is so much like a .38 caliber revolver that "You won't believe it's an airgun." The company says the six-shot automatics are "the right weight, precisely balanced" and "they perform as beautifully as they look."

Perform? Crosman's airguns fire hollow projectiles through steel barrels at speeds that can penetrate flesh. Police officers say other pellet guns, with pump actions, may attain muzzle velocities equal to that of real (small) handguns. They are hardly they, therefore, they are deadly arms. And here is the rub of the evermore authentic toy weapons appearing on the market. They can fire, they can injure, and they look absolutely genuine — but they continue to be classified as playthings. In most areas, police say, no one of any age can buy the guns, with any questions asked.

Federal regulations regarding the sale and use of guns refer only to arms that shoot by explosion. Hence airguns, which use air or air cartridges for energy, are exempt. Some jurisdictions do restrict the sale of airguns to minors, but that rarely prevents young people from getting them as gifts.

So it is, with kids from eight to 18 now carrying around what Crosman calls "unbelievably authentic" airguns, police report an increase in the use of the weapons for crime. The idea is that the weapons, police say they are used by some juveniles as the ultimately accessible Saturday night special.

In Chicago, recently, police say a young man held up a late night store, and threatened to kill the counter clerk. The robber only had a pellet pistol, which he fired at the clerk, but the clerk told of the fire afterward that he was so terrified by the weapon that he lay on the floor and cried.

There is of course nothing new about the use of airguns in crime. Federal firearms officers say things have even used beebees rifles and antique replicas to victimize people. But the realism of today's models is seductive, officers add, and they may thus be encouraging youngsters to take a chance.

This encouragement is condemned by most police. Glen King, director of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, says manufacturers should be ashamed: "They know the potential of these guns. What they are doing, in fact, is making weapons that evade the existing laws regarding weapons."

Another observer, Howard Criswell of the Treasury Department, says authentic fun guns are "just another case of industry leading kids down the primrose path." Last year, Criswell recalls, a brewer began marketing "baby beer" (1 percent alcohol), "and before that it was candy cigarettes."

Not that there isn't a legitimate use for airguns, authorities add. Manufacturers say the weapons are designed to be beneficial for children, as a means by which a lad who learns to handle an airgun will be picking up habits of safety and responsibility that "will be valuable when he owns real guns."

On the other hand, airgun responsibility is often more hope than fact. Jack Schlein, a Washington area gun dealer, says he doesn't see parents buy the fun guns for children: "The sad thing is the guns will be treated like toys, and many parents will not bother with any kind of supervision." Actually, society is also not bothering to supervise the airguns. Though the proliferation of street weapons has been regulated by law, airguns have not. "We've failed on this point," admits David Steinberg of the National Council on Responsible Firearm Control. "We should be more concerned."

Steinberg says that airgun concern is already in force in other nations. In Japan, for one place, the barrels of toy guns must be painted yellow. This doesn't help much if someone wants to use a pellet pistol in a hold up, but the Japanese say there are times when the color code is helpful.

That help was sadly missing in Washington recently, when a cop interrupting a burglary was confronted by a suspect pointing a pistol. Naturally the cop shot to kill. Later it was learned the dead suspect was 15 years old, and the weapon he carried was a fun gun that looked exactly like a .45.

Afraid To Speak?

The shortage of working cottage parents is so short on most cottages at Gainesville Sunland that it has become impossible to perform many necessary duties. Many cottage parents are having to work sixteen hours without any relief. Then off eight hours ... then back on eight hours or longer.

Life positions are so far terminated. At six o'clock this morning (coming to work) I stopped outside of Dahlia Cottage while it was burning. The question was brought up if there was anyone injured because of the fire. The reply was that everyone was removed and safe in another cottage.

Later I found out that at the time of that question and statement there was a Sunland resident in the bathroom of Dahlia cottage ... when I found his ladder he was sitting on the stool, apparently dead from smoke inhalation. There was only one cottage parent on duty during the night on Dahlia cottage. Something needs to be done about the health of our cottagers. One cottage parent can't properly care for 25 residents even if they are in bed asleep. And the many cottage parents of Sunland can't continue to give of their best in service under the present pressures of layarments.

Cottage parents are afraid to speak up like they should ... why? Because they need their jobs. I need mine, too, that is why I'm not revealing my name. (Name withheld)

This plan depends on the friendliness that exists among the members. They will understand some 50 more cottage parents who are interested. Then the treasurer could be contacted for a cash advance for the purchase. The treasurer would then collect the money from each member who ordered the bargain.

They may even decide to charge dues of anywhere from 25 cents to $1 a week. Someone might spot a great bargain, for instance. He or she could check by phone with members to see if they are interested. Then the treasurer could be contacted for a cash advance for the purchase. The treasurer would then collect the money from each member who ordered the bargain.

Of course I am all for that archery practice area, as we will have need for women proficient in the "Drawing of the Long-bow," since Carter and the M.C.P.L. are determined that we shall not have any other means to defend these United States, and it is for sure that the planners at this school have no fears of a future shortage of fuel for individual — one person-per-car — transportation, as there are being provided 600 parking spaces for students and 150 for the faculty. Then there is the matter of the practice fields. It is not designated for that particular course of erudition, such as sex education, that the students will be practicing on these fields.

It has always been my understanding that the taxpayer provided funds for the education of the young of the nation, not a country club for the students with the matter of education, apparently, just a side issue.

It is no wonder that Howard Jarvis tax revolt is such a going thing. May God help and protect these United States, for it seems that no provision is being provided that the coming citizens can do this. Since final plans will not be presented for six months, maybe the taxpayer can block this senseless waste of their money.

Again, thanks so much!!!

The administration of the Peace Corps, VISTA, and the Older American Volunteer Programs through ACTION, the federal volunteer service agency, was the subject of a recent column by Jack Anderson. More information on ACTION's current work and effectiveness might give people a better sense of these programs under our administration.

Over 300,000 Americans are now volunteering their time and effort in ACTION programs. Older Americans, through our Foster Grandparent Program, Senior Companion Program, and RSVP are helping the frail, the ill, the institutionalized child, and the isolated populations of nursing homes.

The Peace Corps, neglected for eight years during the two previous administrations, is now enjoying what a Senate report has called its "second spring." Over 7,000 Peace Corps volunteers of all ages are now helping the world's poor. In the last two years, four additional countries have asked for Peace Corps help. Congress has rewarded us on the most positive way — by increasing our budget by $15 million.

Over 4,000 VISTA volunteers are working in our nation's rural areas and urban neighborhoods to help people help themselves, so they need not depend so deeply on the federal government.

We are proud of our volunteers who are carrying on America's great tradition of helping one another. And we welcome public review of ACTION's programs, which represent a creative humane and serious effort to meet widespread human needs. Only by examining the accomplishments of these programs and the generous spirit of the volunteers can one attain a full and realistic view of the impact of this small but vital federal agency.

York: No Hike In University Fees

'This is certainly nothing to be proud of'

ORLANDO, (UPI) — Florida's state universities charge graduates higher tuition than 14 southern states, Chancellor E. T. York said Friday, and undergraduate fees rank second.

York tentatively indicated at a meeting of the Board of Regents that no increase in tuition at state universities was anticipated by BOR staff. According to the latest available figures, York said, fees charged in Florida were 60 percent higher than those at the University of North Carolina, and 110 percent more than those paid at the University of Texas.

"And those are considered quality institutions," York said. "This is certainly nothing to be proud of. We should resist very strongly any increase in those fees. Your staff does not anticipate any change in the fee structure."

The board officially endorsed an earlier decision to renew as chairman and vice chairman James Gardner and Jack McGriff, respectively.

The BOR did not get a chance to pick a replacement for departing President Harold Crowder of Florida International University. Earlier in the day, the board's presidential selection committee decided against choosing one of five finalists for the position. Members said they needed more time and further interviews before making a recommendation.

"Hard decisions are not usually made easier by sitting on them a long time," Regent Marshall

Crier said when it was suggested that the recommendation be submitted at the next BOR meeting. "But in this case, I think setting an arbitrary date would be inadvisable."

The board did agree to boost compensation of two university coaches: Costa Kithlis of Florida A&M and Bobby Bowden of Florida State. Kithlis, a baseball coach, was increased from $17,225 to $20,351 yearly.

No state money was involved, but board approval was required anyway for a $100,000 fund set up by Seminole Boosters, a football fan club, for Bowden if he stays at FSU 10 more years. He currently is paid $48,640 annually and had four more years to go on a seven-year contract.

Former Icelander Has Put Roots Down In Florida

Bill and Didda Schrader of 280 Barbados Drive, Winter Springs returned this week after spending the holidays with her family in Reykjavik, Iceland.

"This was a special Christmas trip, I loved it," said Didda, a native Icelander. "I had been 15 years since I had spent Christmas there," she remarked.

The Schraders arrived on Dec. 26, which was Karlas Gudmundsdottir, Didda's mother's 79th birthday and surprised her.

"Iceland has an ultra-modern society with a high standard of living," Bill remarked. "There is no literacy and no unemployment."

Iceland has some interesting customs, such as the daughter taking the father's first name with the suffix "dottir" which means daughter as her last name. A boy takes the father's first name also with a suffix of son on the end.

"In Iceland we are born liberated," Didda explained. "This can cause a few raised eyebrows in foreign countries for married Icelanders when traveling, so now the country is beginning to list the husband's last name on passports."

"Everything closes down and they celebrate Christmas for four days," Schrader said. "The families go to Christmas Mass early in the evening, decorate their trees and eat presents on Christmas Eve," she said.

Christmas day people stay home and then the day after everyone goes visiting to family and friends.

One of the Christmas traditions that Didda shared in while she was there was making water thin cakes which are cooked in oil and decorated. Guests are always served hot chocolate with whipped cream and cookies when making Christmas visits.

MELENDIA EDMISTON Casselberry Correspondent 326-6888

"Bill tried every Icelandic dish," said Didda. "He had the salted lamb and split pea soup and even sheep's head. To prepare the sheep's head for cooking, it is burned, frozen, thawed, soaked and then scraped." "Most foreigners won't touch it, but he loved it. He ate everything but the eye. Even I don't eat the eye," she added.

"I was a super trip, but I found out I never want to go through Kennedy Airport again at Christmas time," exclaimed Didda.

She wasn't prepared for the 28 degree F. weather, although that is warm for this time of year. "After having 8 and a half years in Florida I couldn't take the cold well," she said.

The ladies who live on Cedarwood Drive made it a point to get together once a year for a coffee to meet their new neighbors and see old friends.

This year Claire Wright held the holiday social at her home at 1113 Oakmont Drive. Sarah Holman, Sharin Koehne, and Linda Wetto were the honored new neighbors, who attended along with 12 other ladies.

Rita and Terry Downs and their sons, Doug and Gary of 98 Mark David Road spent Christmas week in Memphis, Tenn., visiting his parents and her brother and sister.

"We had a great time. It was cold there, but no snow, so the kids were disappointed about that," she said.

Master Matthew David Buchanan, infant son of David and Marilyn Sue Buchanan of 10300 University Blvd., made his debut Sunday at his christening at Community United Methodist Church of Casselberry. He was dressed in a suit complete with a blue velvet tie, a gift from his grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Frank George Messick of 481 Hibiscus Road, who along with his aunt Patricia Messick were present for the baptism ceremony presided over by Rev. Arthur Padgett and assisted by Rev. Walter Reid.

Also baptized Sunday was Jennifer Elizabeth Estes, two-month-old daughter of AIC and Mrs. Kevin Estes of Nellie Air Force Base, Nev. Alzman Estes is formerly from Longwood, while Mrs. Estes is from Orlando.

Conducting the baptism at St. James Cathedral in Orlando, was Fr. Bill Zamborzy.

Godparents were Miss Lisa Drake and Charles Drake, maternal aunt and uncle of the infant.

Witnessing the event were the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs.

Daniel Drake, maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Leit and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Drake and great-grand aunt, Mrs. Pearl Wolfe, all of Orlando; and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Donna Estes, of Longwood; paternal uncles and aunt, T-Sgt. and Mrs. Tracy E. Estes of Langley Air Force Base, Va., Donna Lyne Estes and John Estes of Longwood, and cousins, Christina, Kathryn and Elizabeth Estes of Langley Air Force Base, Va. and friend of the family, Mitchell Peavy of Longwood.

A baptism celebration was held Sunday evening at the Drake home on Muriel Avenue, Orlando.

There is one 10-year-old boy, who misses his grandpa very much. "I was very sorry to see him go," said Robbie Perry above.

George Simmons, who has returned to his home in Alexandria, Va. "When he was here we went to 'Little 500' roller skating and shopping at the mall." Grandpa Simmons stayed with Robbie's parents, Sandy and Richard Perry of 138 Benwick Way.

The family went to St. Petersburg on Christmas Eve where they ate dinner with Grandma Juanita Perry and Uncle Perry and Uncle Tom Young. While here Simmons visited his daughter and son-in-law, Diane and Rick Compton, of Orlando and Grandpaon Riky.

Stan and Sue Russell and children are pleased to have her parents "snowbirds" Eleanor and Ivan Rightmyer of Onieola, N. Y. down to spend the winter with them. "We've been watching the weather and see all the snow there and we're so glad they're down here with us.

Last year Ivan, who is in his 70s, fell off the roof while shoveling snow and fortunately fell into a snowbank and wasn't injured," said Stan.

Norman Willner Tops In Tennis And Instructing

By JOAN MADISON Herald Correspondent

"I am enthusiastic about teaching and hope that I am able to impart that to the class," says Norman Willner of Altamonte Springs.

And he does. Willner, who teaches tennis at the Altamonte Springs Recreation Department, is the number one tennis player in the state in doubles and the fifth in singles.

Nationally, he's ranked seventh in doubles and 23rd in singles.

He also holds pretty high ratings locally in the hearts of those students he has taught since September when he began teaching at the recreation department.

Not only is Willner top in his field, but he is gifted in his ability to impart his knowledge to anyone wanting to learn the sport he loves so much. This he does with such an expertise that he is rapidly becoming the "talk of the town."

Although that's not really his style.

"I'm kind of a low profile person," says the tall, slender, tanned pro, who sports a reddish beard sprinkled with grey.

Willner, who was introduced to the game at 13 when "my mother bought me a series of 10 lessons from a pro" played in his first international trophy competition — the Gordon Cup — at Lake Placid, N.Y. in August.

There he won all his matches in what he describes as "an unbelievable experience. It's the most significant when you are representing your country," says the native of Los Angeles, Calif., who began his professional career as an assistant at the Beverly Hills Racquet Club.

This is the third year that Willner and his doubles partner, Roger Pharr of Orlando, have been number one in Florida — Pharr and I got to the semifinals in the national grass tournament in Philadelphia, and that result, along with being number one in Florida — we were undefeated the entire year — that together with the semifinals gave us No. 7 in the country. That was very gratifying," he reveals.

On being rated 23rd in the country in age division 46, Willner, who is also a nationally ranked chess player, says, "23 doesn't sound so high, but it took a long time and a lot of hard work."

Willner's love for teaching is evidenced by his enthusiasm on the 'Communication with the students in class is important. You don't have to be a great player. To be a good teacher you have to have an analytical eye and see what they are doing wrong, and be able to demonstrate that to the student," he informs.

Psychologists would approve of his manner of instruction. He's heavy on positive reinforcement. As he instructs, he keys in on what the student is doing just right, and offers enthusiastic praise. The students know they have succeeded when they hear, "THAT was just right!" or "THAT was perfect!" Likewise, when Willner's working on a particular skill, he persists — patiently — until the skill is mastered, or at least done correctly, before moving on to the next student. His praise is genuine and sincere.

Although Willner advises starting children in tennis "at an average of eight years of age" because he is an expert on tennis, he is not averse to teaching his eager-to-learn six-year-old daughter.

"He'll be starting a new series of classes for children at 5 p.m. on Jan. 8 at the Altamonte Springs Recreation Department. Women will be taught at 6 p.m. and the class instruction for men begins at 7 p.m.

The beginning classes are offered free of charge to residents of Altamonte Springs who are holders of recreation department cards. What a way to start off the new year!

Norman Willner, whose love of teaching is evidenced by his enthusiasm on the courts where he remains long after scheduled lessons are over, shows proper racket position for serving.

Deborah Stroud, D.J. Dorrington Exchange Vows

Deborah K. Stroud and Dennis James Dorrington were married Dec. 30, at St. Ann's Catholic Church, DeBary. Father James F. Edwards performed the non double ring nuptials.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jackie Davidson, 217 Lucerne Drive, DeBary. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence Dorrington, 5117 Viking Drive, Houston, Texas.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert Stroud, the bride chose for her vows a formal white gown fashioned along the empire silhouette. Rembridgedered lace appliques embellished the oval neckline, yoke and cuffs of the full Bishop sleeves. The softly gathered skirt cascaded into a lace-trimmed cathedral train.

A lace cameo cap secured her elbow length, lace-trimmed veil of imported illusion. She carried a cascade of white carnations, and numerous mums interspersed with red baby's breath and showered with ribbons.

Charlotte Neace attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Cecelia Carter, Rita Bonnell and Charlotte Carpenter. They wore cranberry red gowns with sprays of baby's breath in their hair. Each carried a nosegay of red and white carnations.

Donald Dean Dorrington served as best man. Usher-groomsmen were Donald Dorrington, Ray Broughton, Elton Reed and Scott Dorrington. They wore white suits with red ruffled shirts.

Melody Ann Bonnell was the flower girl. Scott Dorrington was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, the bride's mother entertained at a reception at her home where a champagne luncheon was served.

After a wedding trip to Disney World and New Orleans, the newlyweds will make their home in Houston where the bridegroom is employed as a switching equipment technician for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. The bride is a former employee in the composing room of The Evening Herald.

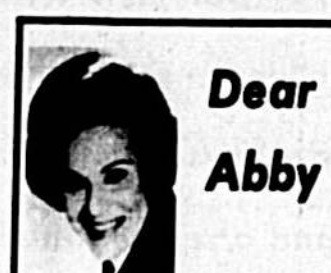

This May Seem Petty, But... Granny Wants 'Thank You'

DEAR ABBY: This may seem petty, but it has irritated me for a long time. My only son lives out of town with his wife and four children who are from 8 to 15 years old.

I have sent the children expensive gifts on their birthdays, Christmas, Easter, as well as from my travels. Would you believe that I have NEVER received a personal thank-you note from any of my grandchildren?

Oh, I get a "thank-you," but it is always written by their mother, who says something like, "Billy is too busy to write, so I am thanking you for your thoughtful gift, etc., etc..."

Every time I get one of these

Dear Abby

mother-written thank-you notes I am resentful and hurt. My grandchildren are capable of writing their own letters and should do so. My daughter-in-law is a lovely person, always doing for others in her volunteer work, but she is failing in her duty to teach her children the importance of good manners in this regard.

Perhaps if she were to see this in your column (which I know she reads in the Chicago Tribune), she would get the hint and mend her ways.

GRANNY: Readers seldom see themselves in my columns—they see only others. What about your son? They're his children, too. Why shouldn't he share the responsibility of helping his children cultivate good habits? Tell your son and his wife how you feel about their children's proxy thank-yous. And it wouldn't hurt to tell the kids, too.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 33, divorced (no kids), attractive, and I'd like to quit working and marry a man who can take good care of me. (Please, no lectures on "where's your pride?" I was married for nine years to a guy who was allergic to work. I took care of him all that time, and now I'd like to be on the other end of that kind of deal.)

I'm dating a 52-year-old man who wants to marry me. He qualifies in every respect. (He has money and doesn't mind spending it.) There are only two things wrong with him. He has a potbelly—which really turns me off. And he smokes cigars. (About 10 a day.)

Would it be a mistake for me to tell him I'll marry him if he gets rid of the potbelly and cigars?

DEAR MIDGE: Yes, if he were to agree to lose the potbelly and give up the cigars, you'd have no guarantee that he wouldn't develop another pot and resume cigar smoking. Take him as he is, or not at all.

DEAR ABBY: We have a friend who has many fine qualities. She has a heart as big as she is. For instance, if we are called out of town, or if some emergency comes up, she's the one who takes our children—and gladly. I can't begin to tell you all the nice things this woman has done, expecting nothing in return. But, Abby, does she lie?

If you compliment her on her dress, she'll say she made it. (She doesn't own a machine and she can't sew a stitch.) Also, she will serve canned, frozen or carried-in food and look you right in the eye and tell you she made it from scratch.

So, Dear Abby, what do you do about a friend who lies?

What Would You Wish To Come True During 1979?

The slate is clean. A new year has begun. It is ours to do what we will with the next 365 days, (give or take a few).

If you had one wish, just one, that was guaranteed to come true in 1979, what would YOU wish for? I asked a few parents and their offspring that same question.

Debbie Weaver, 18, said, "Make every other wish I wished for come true!" Her twin sister, Dianna, said, "that my bank statement and my car would be straightened out just right."

Their mother, Carrie, said, with no hesitation, "A cure for diabetes."

Kimberly Mitchell, 12, said, "See that's hard one. I guess I would like to loose a lot of weight."

Kimberly's mother Alberta said, "To move to Orlando."

Brona Kimball, 14, replied, "...help make other less fortunate people, like the physically handicapped and mentally retarded better."

Ruby, Brenda's Mom, said, "...enough money to make the whole world happy."

Dawn Eastham, 15, answered, "...to start my singing career." Her mother, Betty, stated, "...to be free of debt!"

David Snell, 13, said, "I sorta want about, like, $600 to take of Sheosh, are entertaining Grace and Erwin Froelich from Glenview, Ill. for two weeks. Grace is a professional singer- pianist. She plays in a club in Chicago.

The interesting aspect of her story is that she has only been singing for six years. She said, "I'm 48. At age 42, after raising six children I decided to raise my fantasy. I went into a club and asked the manager if he would like to hire a terrific talent (which I wasn't at the time). He did and the rest is history. I also am going to college. Every course I take I am fascinated with. I love being with younger people. I study just for the joy of it."

This is not the first visit the Froelichs have paid to this part of the country. Grace said, "I want to move here so badly. My husband is looking around for a home for us. I love it here."

It looks like Chicago is going to lose a "terrific talent" and Florida will gain a talented and charming couple.

John Booth, 15, put it simply when he said, "To be 18."

Happy birthday to Robin Smith, who celebrated her sweet sixteen birthday on Jan. 3.

Happy birthday to Mary Downing, who will be 14 on Jan. 18.

Last, but not least, a special Happy Birthday to my daughter Staff Sgt. Susan Rogers USAF, who became 24 on Jan. 8. Many happy returns!

BUSINESS IN BRIEF

Oil Companies Denying $624 Million Overcharges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers sank more deeply into debt in November as they extended their credit by $4.10 billion in an apparent effort to beat higher prices in the future. The debt increase reported Friday by the Federal Reserve Board was the largest since June. The board said the growing level of debt among Americans reflects the "buy now" philosophy of using credit before the price of the product goes up. In November, consumer credit was up $733 million from the revised October level of $3.7 billion.

Solar Energy Seminar

A workshop aimed primarily at teaching Florida's community colleges how and what to teach in solar energy will be conducted Jan. 19-19 at the Florida Solar Energy Center, Cape Canaveral.

Largest Seaboard Budget

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Seaboard Coastline Industries is planning its largest capital budget in history for 1979 — $329 million — Prime F. Osborne, SCL's chief executive officer has announced. The 1979 figure compares with capital expenditures of $254 million in 1977 and an estimated $170 million in 1978, he said. The money will be used for new equipment and improvements to road and property.

Car Dealer Office Moves

Citrus Country Toyota has moved its new and used car sales office to a 4,000-sq. ft. site on U.S. 17-92 near SR 427, according to Bob Behymer, business manager. The firm's maintenance department remains at Citrus' location at Airport Boulevard and U.S. 17-92 in Sanford. Dealership owner is Larry Bishop.

Sanford Firm Gets Contract

The U.S. Army has awarded a $96,000 contract for a quantity of circuit card assemblies to Bammac Inc., 410 E. Mattie St., Sanford.

Europe Business Seminar

Stetson University's 11th annual European Business Seminar is planned later this month as about 40 students will embark on a study-tour of five countries.

Brokers Elect Gardner

Claude J. Gardner, Realtor with The Real Estate Agency, has been elected president of the Realty World Central Florida Brokers Council Inc. comprised of 43 members in the area.

Should I take a second mortgage? ... You have a first mortgage on your property. ... You have a first mortgage on your property. ... You have a first mortgage on your property. ... You have a first mortgage on your property. ... You have a first mortgage on your property.

'Buy-Now' Hikes Debt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers sank more deeply into debt in November as they extended their credit by $4.10 billion in an apparent effort to beat higher prices in the future. The debt increase reported Friday by the Federal Reserve Board was the largest since June. The board said the growing level of debt among Americans reflects the "buy now" philosophy of using credit before the price of the product goes up.

..AND NOW WE RETURN TO THE BARBARA WALTERS SPECIAL!

'BOUT TIME!

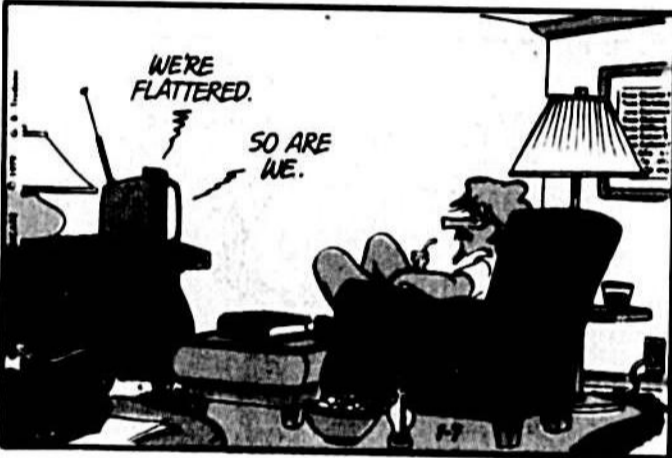

DIANA ROSS.. THIS IS A DIFFICULT QUESTION.. YOU.. YOU SEEM TO HAVE IT ALL.. LOOKS.. TALENT... FAME.. A BEVERLY HILLS HOME..

YOU'RE NO SLOUCH YOURSELF, HONEY.

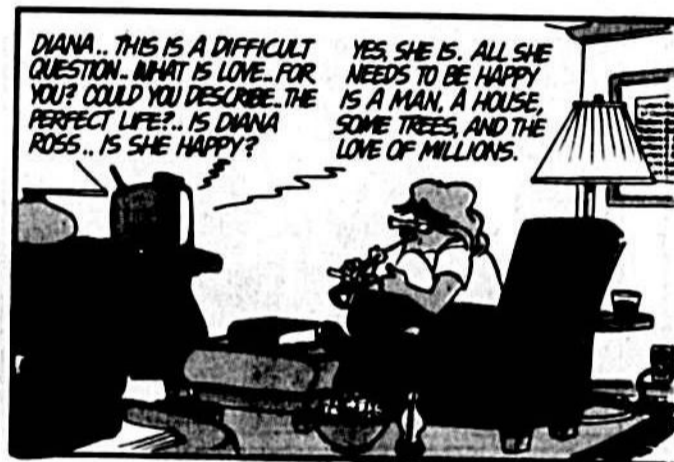

YES, BUT WE'VE BEEN DOING OUR HOMEWORK ON YOU, DIANA. YOU SAID IN "PEOPLE"..

AND I'VE BEEN DOING MY HOMEWORK ON YOU! WHY DO YOU THINK I REDECORATED THE HOUSE FOR THIS INTERVIEW?

WE'RE FLATTERED.

SO ARE WE.

DIANA.. THIS IS A DIFFICULT QUESTION.. WHAT IS LOVE.. FOR YOU? COULD YOU DESCRIBE.. THE PERFECT LIFE?.. IS DIANA ROSS.. IS SHE HAPPY?

YES, SHE IS. ALL SHE NEEDS TO BE HAPPY IS A MAN, A HOUSE, SOME TREES, AND THE LOVE OF MILLIONS.

DIANA.. I WANT TO ASK YOU.. A PERSONAL QUESTION..

WHY NOT, HONEY? AIN'T NOBODY HERE BUT US STARS!

Prince Voltant

Our Story: KING AGUAR GREET'S HIS TRAVEL-WEARY GRANDSON: "TELL ME, ARN, WHAT TROUBLES YOU?" "THAT HORRIBLE KING HROTHGAR HAS COME WITH HIS BRUTAL ARMY TO CLAIM AS HIS BRIDE THE LOVELY DAUGHTER OF EARL CHUTE."

"TO ENFORCE HIS DEMANDS, HE HAS DESTROYED A TOWN ON CHUTE'S FIEF. BUT I HAVE A SCHEME THAT MAY CHANGE HIS MIND."

"HE HAS A DAUGHTER, SIGNED VERY LOVELY, VERY YOUNG. IF YOU ASK HROTHGAR FOR HER HAND IN MARRIAGE....." "WHAT?" ROARS THE KING, "GET MARRIED AT MY AGE?"

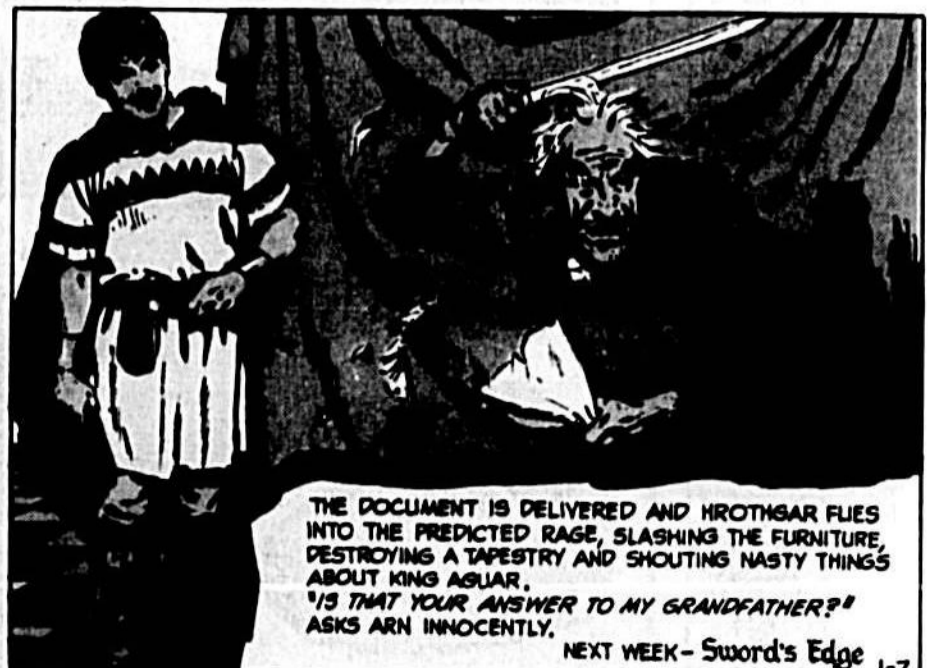

"PLEASE, GRANDFATHER," BEGS ARN, "I KNOW YOU WOULD RATHER GO INTO BATTLE THAN INTO MARRIAGE, BUT HROTHGAR WILL FLY INTO A RAGE WHEN ONE SO... OH!.. MATURE... SHOULD WISH TO ESPOUSE HIS YOUNG DAUGHTER....."

"MATURE? YOU MEAN DECREPIT, DON'T YOU? IT MAY BE THAT I WILL MARRY AGAIN AND BEGET MORE GRANDSONS TO REPLACE THE IMPUDENT ONES I HAVE."

HOWEVER, THE KING WRITES A LETTER TO HROTHGAR ASKING, MAY, DEMANDING HIS DAUGHTER'S HAND IN MARRIAGE. ARN JOYOUSLY RIDES WITH THE MESSAGE.

THE DOCUMENT IS DELIVERED AND HROTHGAR FLIES INTO THE PREDICTED RAGE, SLASHING THE FURNITURE, DESTROYING A TAPESTRY AND SHOUTING NASTY THINGS ABOUT KING AGUAR. "IS THAT YOUR ANSWER TO MY GRANDFATHER?" ASKS ARN INNOCENTLY.

DEAR HELOISE:
Recently I decided that setting the table three times a day was wasted motion, and since I'm a member of the W.W.H.D. (What Would Heloise Do) club, I thought of a great idea! After supper I clean off the table and wipe off the place mats, and for each person I place a dinner plate, luncheon plate and cereal bowl, stacked in that order, on each place mat.
Plus, I place a goblet, a cup and saucer, juice glass, two and pop-in company always say, "Oh, how beautiful!" I have red, white and blue pottery, so it does look festive! (I should have thought of this in the Bicentennial year, eh?)

Well, glory be! You're a lady after my own heart. I've been doing this for years now, and think this is ideal for live-a-loners, especially!

DEAR HELOISE:

DEAR HELOISE:
The following poem was written by my 9-year-old daughter. Maybe you'd like to share it with your readers. It's called "Night Prayer."

The Lord is my shepherd that I shall keep.
He guides us the right way, like we are His sheep.
I hope He will stay with me each day, so He can help me with deeds as I say, "God bless everyone."
Help me to be a good girl for Mommy and Daddy.
Make tomorrow a beautiful day.
Give me pleasant dreams, and guide us all to believe in You each day.
Good night!
Teri Kayati's Mother

DEAR HELOISE:
For several years I didn't have a nightstand next to my side of the bed and I devised a way to keep handy the tissue, throat lozenges, nosedrops, or whatever I had occasional need for while in bed.
Now even though I do have a drawer handy, I still find my little bedside "pockets" more convenient.
I take canvas or other heavy fabric and make a 12" x 5" pocket with stitching dividing it into two sections. The back of the pocket has a 6" flap that tucks between the spring and mattress to hold it within reach.
It's a great convenience!

They may not realize that the aluminum flip tabs from soft drink cans can be used as the blower ring for making the bubbles.
A piece of tape on the flat portion of the tab will prevent cuts.

You're right, honey! And did you know that diluted shampoo will also do the trick?
And as an added bonus, try adding a few drops of food coloring in that soap mixture -- makes 'em seem more store-bought! Kisses...
Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
Many mothers with young children may already know that liquid detergent mixed with water can be used to make soap bubbles.
I found a way to keep my baby brother's pacifier sanitary when not in use.
The plastic nipple covers that go on top of baby's bottles also fit perfectly over most of the rubber pacifiers.

BULLETIN BOARD

● STEP LIVELY! P.T. Barnum, the story goes, hastened dawdling crowds through his museum with a sign bearing these words: "THI SWAY TOT HEE GRESS." Rearrange cap-letter spacing so his words make sense.

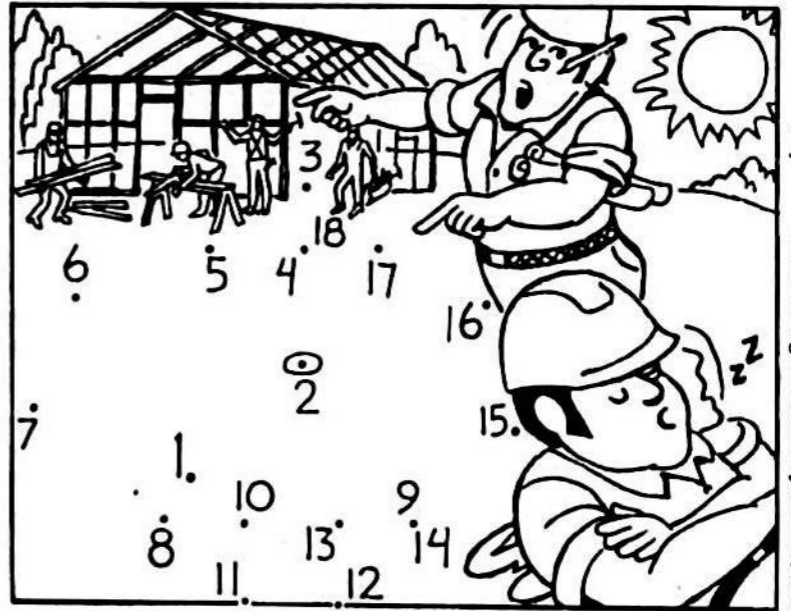

THIS IS SUM SUNFISH!

The above illustration of the remarkable ocean sunfish — so different from the small American fresh-water variety — shows a sea denizen that may often reach a fairly large size. How big?

You can find out for yourself very easily. If you add correctly each and every number in the drawing, you will determine the weight of the hefty creature.

P.S.: Don't overlook the threes. That mistake could cause you trouble!

TIME OUT! Hey there, Mr. Carpenter! You're wanted on the job. Connect dots from 1 to 18 to complete the picture.

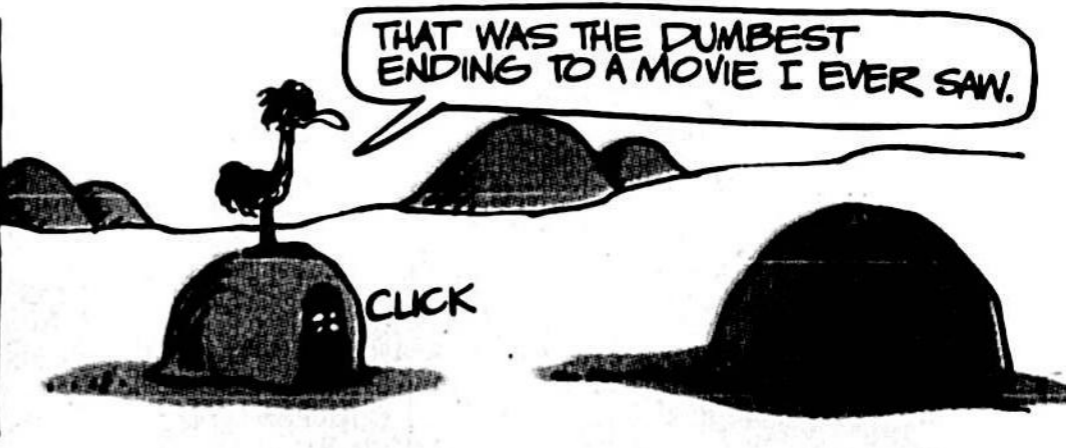

It weighs 145 pounds.

"This way to the egress" — meaning exit, which a lot of folks mistook for a kind of bird.

● Class Shows! The Class of ___ will celebrate its 10th anniversary reunion in six years. Fill blank in 30 seconds, if you can.

● In Group! Insert the same letter in the same place in each of these words to form another word: bank, bush, boat, bare, band, beak.

● Riddle-Me-This! How does a chicken tell time at night? With its roost watch. What has a big horn and writes poetry? A rhyme-ocerus.

Section:1 The Health Care Inflation Crisis

"Hospital bills are the single largest cause of personal bankruptcy in the United States today." — Vice President Walter Mondale

Now! . . . When You're Hospitalized . . . Here's
$40.00 a day ... $1,200.00 every thirty days

FIRST DAY CASH PROTECTION...FOR BOTH COVERED SICKNESS AND ACCIDENT

A Message From Arthur Godfrey
Member, Board of Directors, Union Fidelity Life Insurance Co.

I'm not planning to go bankrupt if I can help it. And neither are you.

But when I heard Vice President Mondale's recent statement about hospital bills, I really had to stop and think. Over 35 million Americans end up in the hospital each year, according to the American Hospital Association. Most of these people have good Group Insurance or Medicare. Yet, as the Vice President said, "Hospital bills are the single largest cause of personal bankruptcy . . . today." How is that possible?

The answer is simple. No plan — not the best Group Plan, not even Medicare — pays all the bills. And what your insurance doesn't pay, you have to pay . . . out of your own pocket.

What can you do about it? The best answer is STAY WELL. The next best thing is having a good additional hospital cash source should you or a member of your family be hospitalized. That's what the Union Fidelity Hospital Cash Plan is! The UFL plan pays you $40.00 a day, $1,200.00 every 30 days from the very first day of covered hospitalization for both sickness and accident! That's cash paid directly to you or anyone you choose, in addition to any benefits you receive from any other plan. You can use the money any way you see necessary.

Now there are several plans on the market today that look like the Union Fidelity Hospital Cash Plan. But read them carefully — compare them point by point. Then decide if they match the Union Fidelity Plan.

Compare the benefits. Do the other plans pay $40.00 a day, $1,200.00 every 30 days from the very first day . . . increase benefits for Cancer and Heart Attack . . . pay for pregnancy and Accidental Dismemberment . . . cover confinement in V.A. hospitals? The UFL Plan does!

Compare First-Day Coverage. The first few days in the hospital are always the most expensive. Do the other policies start paying the first day you are hospitalized or the 4th or 5th day, when the high costs of initial hospital care have already occurred? The Union Fidelity Plan pays all its benefits from the very first day — for both covered sickness and accident! There are no deductibles or waiting periods!

Compare Coverage for folks over 65. Do the other plans pay full benefits for folks over 65 or do benefits automatically reduce at age 65? The UFL Plan pays full benefits for folks over 65 — there are no reductions, ever!

I know a good value when I see it, and I believe in this Union Fidelity Hospital Cash Plan. But the best judge is still you. You will be the one getting the bills. See what our plan delivers and let your good judgment do the rest.

If you respond before February 10, 1979 you will be eligible for our $5,000.00 Accidental Dismemberment Benefits. Act now!

Member of the Board of Directors, with a financial interest in the company

COMPARE THESE BENEFITS WITH ANY OTHER PLAN

- Guaranteed acceptance.
- Pays you full benefits from the very first day for both covered sickness and accident. There are absolutely no deductibles or waiting periods!
- Direct cash payments to you or anyone you choose.
- 50% cash increase for Cancer and Heart Attack.
- Full cash benefits if you're 65 or over — benefits do not reduce!
- Cash paid in addition to any other plan, even Group or Medicare.
- Accidental Dismemberment Benefit . . . up to $5,000.00.
- Pays cash for pregnancy when female is covered during entire period of pregnancy.
- Pays cash for mental illness, work-related injuries and confinement in Veterans Hospitals.

Section:2 Guaranteed Cash Benefits

The Union Fidelity Hospital Cash Plan

$40.00 a day ... $1,200.00 every thirty days

FIRST DAY CASH PROTECTION...FOR BOTH COVERED SICKNESS AND ACCIDENT

$40.00 A DAY, $1,200.00 every 30 days

Cash from the very first day of covered hospitalization for both you and your spouse. Even if you're 65 or over — benefits never reduce!

GUARANTEED ACCEPTANCE

$60.00 A DAY, $1,800.00 every 30 days

Increased Cash from the very first day of covered hospitalization due to Cancer or Heart Attack.

$160.00 A DAY, $4,800.00 every 30 days

Double cash from the very first day when you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for the same covered accident.

$20.00 A DAY, UP TO $560.00

Cash for hospital confinement due to mental illness; work-related injuries covered by Workmen's Compensation; or confinement in a Veterans Hospital.

UP TO $5,000.00

Cash for Accidental Dismemberment, covering loss of limbs or eyesight within 90 days of the date of the accident.

ECONOMY PLANS ALSO AVAILABLE

$40.00 A DAY, $1,200.00 every 30 days

Cash for hospitalization due to pregnancy when female is covered for the entire period of pregnancy. Complications are treated as any other illness.

$20.00 A DAY, $600.00 every 30 days

Cash from the very first day your dependent child is hospitalized for covered accident or sickness (includes pregnancy when covered for full term).

SPECIAL FEATURE! EXTRA $5,000.00 ACCIDENTAL DISMEMBERMENT BENEFIT

If you apply by February 10, 1979, you will receive an extra $5,000.00 Accidental Dismemberment benefit. You collect in addition to the $5,000.00 Accidental Dismemberment benefit included in your policy. For one penny a month, you'll get a total of $10,000.00 cash to cover the loss of limbs or eyesight within 90 days of the date of accident.

Your benefits are tax free. Cash benefits you receive from your Union Fidelity Hospital Cash Plan are not taxable by any level of government. They are not subject to state or federal income tax.

Pledges to Our Policyholders

FROM HARRY T. DOZOR, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

YOUR CASH BENEFITS START THE VERY FIRST DAY

Your Union Fidelity $40.00 a day, $1,200.00 every 30 days hospital plan pays all its cash benefits from the very first day for both accident and sickness. There are absolutely no costly deductibles or waiting periods.

YOUR CASH BENEFITS INCREASE AS YOU STAY IN THE PLAN

If you select the Individual Plan, the total benefits available are $14,000.00. Under the Husband-Wife Plan or Single Parent Plan, the maximum amount is $21,000.00; while under the All-Family Plan, it's $28,000.00.

For every month your policy remains in force, your total benefits increase with the amount of each paid premium. For example: if your premium is $20.52 a month and your policy has been in force for 20 months, your total eligible benefits will increase by $410.40 ($20.52 x 20 months — from $21,000.00 to $21,410.40).

NO INDIVIDUAL RATE INCREASES — EVER!

We guarantee that you won't be singled out for a rate increase . . . regardless of the amount you've collected. Your rate can only be changed if the same action is taken on all policies of this type (Form 1-2930-FL) in your entire state . . . or when you reach age 65. What's more, as long as your premiums are paid on time, we guarantee never to cancel your policy individually for any reason until you receive your maximum benefits, unless the same action is taken on all policies of this form in your state.

"I have been more than satisfied with the services of Union Fidelity. It has been only 10 days since I sent my claim in and already I have received my check. Thank you for your prompt service."

Mary Henry, Marshalltown, IA

GUARANTEED ACCEPTANCE

This cash plan is absolutely guaranteed to you, regardless of your age or your health. You cannot be turned down for any reason.

CASH BENEFITS ARE PAID DIRECT TO YOU OR ANYONE YOU CHOOSE, IN ADDITION TO ANY OTHER INSURANCE

Claim checks are sent directly to you to use as you wish. Cash is paid to you in addition to any other benefits you receive from any other plan, even Medicare.

50% INCREASE FOR CANCER AND HEART ATTACK

FULL BENEFITS OVER 65

THESE ARE THE EXCLUSIONS

Loss due to alcohol or narcotics, unless under the advice of a physician; confinement in nursing homes, convalescent, extended or self-care units of hospitals.

Pre-existing conditions, those conditions you have now or had before, are not covered for two years from your policy's effective date.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

We will rush you your policy which will be in force as of the effective date. If you are satisfied, send us your premium within 21 days. If not, don't pay a penny. You'll have no coverage . . . and no obligation of any kind. Even after you've paid your premium, you can still return your policy within 30 days, and we'll refund any money you have paid. We guarantee it.

YOU'RE GUARANTEED THE BEST POLICYHOLDER SERVICE AVAILABLE

Our specialists are trained to get the information you request, fast and courteously. We'll supply you with a Toll-Free number to our Policyowner Service Department, where you can get an immediate answer to any question.

THESE ARE THE EVALUATIONS

Satisfied Customers

"I am very pleased with the manner in which Union Fidelity has paid my claims. I have had 4 operations in 5 months, and they are prompt with their payments. When you are disabled, that is an important factor. I'm also pleased that they have not cancelled my policy because of my surgery."

Helen Seaman, Ridgecrest, CA

"I've been a Policyholder of the Union Fidelity Life Insurance Company for almost 10 years and I'm without doubt completely satisfied with your promptness in handling my benefits claim. It's getting better all the time. Thank you so much for your promptness."

Jack Masloff, Pittsburgh, PA

"I was glad to receive your benefit check. It couldn't have come at a more appropriate time. I am on medical leave and the income leaves something to be desired. . . Thanks again."

Raymond Thomey, Kansas City, MO

"After seeing your ad in the paper, and after thinking and discussing, we decided to give you a try. After taking the insurance, my husband was hospitalized a number of times. We are impressed with the manner and speed in which you process our claims."

Mr. and Mrs. R. Jones, Roanoke, VA

Remember the UFL Plan pays from the very first day of covered hospitalization. Other plans may promise to save you money . . . but look at them very closely. They pay you nothing for the first 3 or 4 days of hospitalization. That's the most expensive time and you end up paying the entire bill yourself. Are you really saving? We offer first day coverage only . . . quality protection in three cash amounts. Select your plan and mail today.
