

School Board Balks Over Fee Hike Request

By Diane Petryk
Herald Staff Writer
 Gallagher Bassett of Orlando, the firm managing the Seminole County School Board's insurance coverage, picked the wrong night to ask for an $18,454 increase in its annual fee.

It was the wrong night because School Board Attorney Ned Julian Jr. also presented to the board Gallagher Bassett's letter rebuking to assistant Watson and Co. of Orlando as the architectural firm to make repairs to the Lynnyn High School gymnasium.

Watson designed the gym, but standing water caused its roof to collapse. That was in February.

On a motion by School Board member William J. Knoll, the board last week voted 3-2 to rank Watson and Co. as its first choice to repair the gym. An architect selection committee had recommended Hamilton, Shivers and Brady of Orlando be hired. It ranked Watson and Co. fifth in line.

Knoll said design laws weren't what caused the roof problem and it was his motion that changed the ranking made by the board's architect committee. Knoll said Watson and Co. could probably finish the job faster and cheaper because they designed it. Board member Paul Telton, who voted against the motion, said if the board isn't going to follow it, it's committee's recommendations it should submit the committee and on the investigating list.

Knoll finished at Gallagher and Bassett's stand.

"This board by a 3-2 vote did direct the administration to hire Watson and Co.," he said. "By law this board is charged with the hiring, firing and setting of salaries."

"Quite frankly, if we are going to take direction of Gallagher and Bassett they can come here and bid on this board and I won't have to take three or four hours of grief in phone calls each night from the constituents who elected me."

Julian then pointed out Gallagher Bassett's rejection of Watson and Co. was made on behalf of the school board's secondary insurance firms.

The board provides self-insurance up to $100,000 per occurrence. Thereafter it is covered by Lloyds of London for the next $400,000 and the Aetna Insurance Co. picks up the rest up to the full value of a loss, explained Walter H. Nerewerth, Jr., the school board's risk manager.

"The reinsurer," firms, Lloyds and Aetna, reserve the right to approve the architect and contractor for the Lynnyn repair work, Julian said. It isn't Gallagher and Bassett's doing.

"They're our risk administrators and agents for placement of our excess coverage. Our Lloyds of London package and Aetna insurance were purchased through Gallagher Bassett. But at this point in time they (Gallagher Bassett) are serving as representatives of our excess carriers."

"Now and next week we can talk to Mr. Wolf (Gallagher Bassett's service agent) and perhaps they could negotiate with the other firms, knowing how his bill would amount," Julian said.

"A man cannot serve two masters," he said. "Is Gallagher Bassett working for us or for Lloyds and Aetna? This board is paying them for their services."

"We chose Watson and Co. if Gallagher and Bassett don't like they don't have to work for us in the future."

The fact remains, said Deputy Arnold, assistant superintendent for facilities, the insurance firm's total pure cost rises.

After voting to postpone until May 11 further discussion on the architect selection for the Lynnyn repair, the board heard a request by Gallagher Bassett that their yearly fee be increased from $54,256 to $72,750.

A letter in support of the increase from Gallagher as-vice President G. Joseph Williams pointed out that a $60,820 fee figure was arrived at in 1981 based on a 1979-80 work load of 306 claims. In 1980-81 the claim volume increased to 622, a 100 percent increase. In 1982, bringing their fee to $81,256. The projected number of claims for 1981-82 is 620.

Julian said the board has 30 days to let the firm know his decision. After 30 days the contract will continue at the old rate.

Owari McCarran, assistant superintendent for administrative services, sitting in for Superintendent Bill Hughes who was not here, has been from the National Association of School Boards convention in San Francisco, said Gallagher and Bassett's service has been good in all respects and urged the fee increase be approved. Mrs. Telton made approval but her motion didn't carry. The board is to meet again on May 11.

Knoll then moved the vote to tabled until May 11.

"I need further information from Gallagher and Bassett in order that we will work for Seminole County," Knoll said. "I want to know if they're working for me or if I'm working for them."

State Gives No Help To Retirement Pullout Plan

By Donna Estes
Sanford City Manager W. E. "Pete" Kneives called a "complete flop" on his Tallahassee, Fla., Wednesday supporting a bill permitting Florida cities a mechanism of leaving the Florida State Retirement System as far as new employees are concerned.

He was not only lobbying on behalf of the city of Sanford, but also for the Florida League of Cities when he had his "legs cut out from under" him by a Democratic committee chairman.

The city of Sanford had its own retirement system for a number of years.

"There were some politics played," Kneives said today, noting he and retirement plan expert and former Jacksonville city controller Sawyer David Harvey testified in favor of the bill before the subcommittee.

He said apparently Rep. Thomas Heintz, D-Tallahassee, chairman of the House of Representatives Committee on Personnel and Retirement, passed the word to Rep. Sid Martin, D-Bowlington, the subcommittee chairman not to be the bill's the subcommittee.

"We both got to speak and then the chairman proceeded to our legs out from under and so called for the vote. It was strictly a secret request to kill the bill," Kneives said.

"We hope now to try and overturn the bill in the Senate," he said.

"The state retirement system is using municipal money to fund paid state (employers') service," he said. "The city manager said, 'And they don't want to be the money go because if they do other groups like public utility system providers will also want to leave the state plan.'"

Four Are Injured

A Sanford fireman prepares to pack up his tools and leave the scene of an accident Wednesday night that resulted in three persons being injured. Archie McCormick, 47, of 272 Columbia Road, DeBary, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol following an accident Wednesday night on County Road 42 near Sanford. Four people, including McCormick, were taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford for treatment. Hospital officials said Michael Ross, 20, of 202 Piner Court, Altamonte Springs, was treated for multiple abrasions and released. Jeffrey Burris, 20, of 404 Arvern Drive, Altamonte Springs, is listed in a satisfactory condition. Sanford police have not released details of the accident pending further investigation.

Land Deeds Bog Down School Board

By Diane Petryk
Herald Staff Writer
 Seminole County School Board member Jean Bryant has taken a firm stand against a school staff suggestion that the board not accept land in the south Sanford area's Sanford Estates.

During Wednesday night's board meeting, she also put her foot down on a request for permission to negotiate for the purchase of 80 acres off Rinehart Road across from the Stenberg-Carlson plant. But Mrs. Bryant's motion to reject the proposal did not get a second and did not carry.

Board member Paul Telton then suggested that the staff seek 50-acre parcels, but she motioned down for lack of a second and the issue of trying to find adequate space for a surface school departments was tabled until the May 11 meeting when a full board is expected to be present. Board Chairman Robert Williams was absent on night of the meeting. The distribution center is the Community office at 1101 Pine Ave., Sanford.

He said discussions were seen or some of the blocks of buyers, but he explained that sometimes happens.

"It's a superficial thing," Jones said, adding that it can be corrected. "It is not detrimental to our health, he said."

Jones said he doesn't know the distributor can be avoided. SCA as the way able to use the commodities in the Kestner warehouse and the same thing.

Genn Sends Abole on Gas Tax Issue

 Seminole County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn stands alone.

"The other members of the County Commission are not supporting the so-called 1-1-1 plan for distribution of revenues between the unincorporated areas and the cities if the county decides to levy a 1-1-1 gas tax."

This was made clear to the county delegates at the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County meeting at the courthouse in Sanford Wednesday night by county delegate County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff.

Kirchhoff said the majority of the county commission would like to see no commission in the county to support a road network in the county, including roads through the cities. But the taxpayers don't care whether a road goes through a city or is in the unincorporated area. "In the tax payer's want to know the roads are good through a city or in the unincorporated area."

"The way I look at it if the tax is levied, it should be used to fix up certain type roads," Kirchhoff said, adding Duane W. Moore, Director of Schneider and County Engineer Bill Bunch are already competing for one of those most heavily traveled roads.

A law passed during the special session of the Legislature several months ago gives counties the authority to levy a 1-1-1 gas tax. The additional cents of gas tax per gallon between the county and the cities. The right to levy the tax is being jointly devised and approved by the county and cities. If a permit can be reached among the cities and the county, the law says the money must be shared according to a standards formula used for sharing multi-county of gas tax revenues between cities and counties.

The law permits the counties to levy a 1-1-1 gas tax as a single majority vote of three and two additional cities with an extraordinary third positive vote.

Mrs. Glenn, meanwhile, has called the unincorporated areas tax with the resulting revenues split 50-50 with a 1-1-1 gas tax in the county for roads in the unincorporated areas. 1 cent to be returned to the cities for their use in city streets and a third cent to the county for use on county roads that go through cities. The city of Sanford has been actively supporting Mrs. Glenn's proposal which is the so-called 1-1-1 plan from the tax bill drafted there.

Kirchhoff said this plan would not be supported, noting that city revenues in effect would go hundreds of thousands of dollars to the unincorporated areas, who comprise slightly more than half the population, would get benefit of only one-third of the tax.

"It doesn't matter what the amount is, it should be spread equally over the county's roads," Kirchhoff said.

Kirchhoff said as an example the money could be used for one year could be used to litter-lane or four-lane Mainland Area in Altamonte Springs or for which the money could be used, he said are City of Sanford and the City of Seminole and Old Road in Sanford.

Seminole County Commissioner Eddie Keith added that the county was going to completely take over the proposed new gas tax revenue until 1985.

Earlier this week 5-pound blocks of butter were also distributed until that commodity was depleted, Jones said. The distribution center is the Community office at 1101 Pine Ave., Sanford.

He said discussions were seen or some of the blocks of buyers, but he explained that sometimes happens.

Hawkins To Run Again, Maybe Against Graham

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Despite back injuries and a possible challenge by Gov. Bob Graham, Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Fla., plans to run for reelection in 1966.

Mrs. Hawkins said in a prepared statement distributed by her Tallahassee office Wednesday that she had filed a "statement of candidacy" with the secretary of the senate. Within 10 days, she plans to file a "statement of organization" with the Federal Elections Commission.

Last year, Mrs. Hawkins said during a stop at Pensacola she was aware of speculation that Governor would challenge her. She vowed to defeat him.

Earlier in her term, the former state public service commissioner was severely injured when a school airplane fell on her back at an Orlando television station.

Homes Fight Regulation

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Most church-operated children's homes in Florida are licensed by the state and they welcome it, but about a dozen are fiercely fighting to avoid licensing.

The Senate Health and Rehabilitation Services Committee voted 6-1 Wednesday for a bill (S 301) continuing state regulation of residential children's care, scheduled to expire later this year under the Sunset Act, and broadening it to include all children's homes.

HHS committee members made it clear to the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, however, that there is to be no interference with religious teachings, or other church activities by the children's homes. The proposal goes to the full Senate now.

Senate Committee Approves Tougher School Requirements

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Senate President Curtis Peterson believes his controversial "RAISE" bill to improve the public schools has been vindicated by a presidential commission report.

The plan, establishing state high school graduation and curriculum requirements that are tougher than most that have been set by local school boards, cleared the Senate Education Committee Wednesday.

The bill, nicknamed "RAISE" for "Raise Achievement in Secondary Education," was approved unanimously by the committee, which spent three-and-a-half weeks of the session working on it. It (S 327) now goes to the appropriations committee.

The most visible difference between the two chambers' approaches is that the Senate wants to establish specific, statewide high school curriculum requirements, while the House wants to leave this to the school boards.

The presidential commission report issued earlier this week indicated national education growth as the congressional, Brown Commission touched Florida schools last year.

It called for tougher academic standards, longer school days, more homework for students and higher pay and training standards for teachers.

Andropov Opposes Arms Race in Outer Space

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leader Yuri Andropov said Moscow will try its best to stop the expansion of the arms race into outer space and encourage American scientists to keep the cosmos forever free of weapons.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman responded by saying that the Soviet Union is the leader in developing a killer satellite, despite denials by the Kremlin.

The Soviets passed the world's only operational ASAT (anti-satellite) interceptor, which they called "Aion," Andrei Romberg said.

"That plus the wide scope of their other military activities in space before this other a champion of peace in outer space. Other than a commitment to develop an ASAT capability to match the Soviets, we are not planning any space weapons systems."

U.S. Marines Open Fire

REHOUT, Lebanon (UPI) — U.S. Marines at high alert for the fall of Secretary of State George Shultz fired on a car sporting through a checkpoint today near the shattered U.S. Embassy. Marine officials and Lebanese soldiers said.

The shooting, which Lebanese soldiers said wounded one of the passengers, came hours before Shultz's visit and 10 days after a bomb blew up at the U.S. Embassy, killing 61 people.

It marked the first time a member of the Marine contingent in the multinational peace-keeping force in Beirut had shot at or wounded a Lebanese citizen, officials said.

The soldiers ordered the two men out of the car, and searched it for explosives but found none. The car's driver, his two passengers apparently were drunk, the soldiers said.

Bucks Blow Away Boston's Garden

BOSTON (UPI) — It isn't normal for the Celtics to lose by 21 points at Boston's Garden in the playoffs. But they did. The Milwaukee Bucks routed Boston 116-93 Wednesday in the opening game of the first round of a Conference semifinal playoff series. It was the Celtics' worst home playoff defeat since April 13, 1972 when they lost to the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Olympic Stadium crowd, which swayed the Expos' home attendance over the 20 million mark since they started here in 1969, was swayed for its creation when Ryan tipped his cap to acknowledge the tribute.

'Hard Times' Scheme Sets Wife Wondering

DEAR ABBY: The present economy (and times) has hit the hard times, and my husband has been visiting some rather bizarre ideas on how to make some money. His most recent scheme still has no netting.

He suggested that we take out large amounts of life insurance on some of our relatives. We paid the premiums and expect ourselves to be beneficiaries. My husband had in mind insuring relatives who are either sick or dying. In other words, those who probably won't live, or those who probably won't live—One is my father.

I told my husband I would have no part in such a scheme. I also accused him of being insensitive and immoral. He said I was being silly—that his plan was something like "gambling." He assured me that my father would get some cash leaving me $50,000 or so when he died. Abby, what kind of a man am I married to?

WONDERING IN MISSOURI

DEAR WONDERING: He is in bad name and unbecomingly in addition to several other adjectives that come to mind.

One visit with an insurance salesman would straighten your husband out. An elderly and sick person who is not being cared for is not an equity investment. And please give your husband this message for me: "The subclass day of the week in a man is when he's sure he'll discover a way to make money without working for it."

DEAR ABBY: When I read about the woman who had been visiting her husband and all that was wrong with her was an allergy in colored, scented toilet paper, I had to weep.

I have been married for many years, but the first year of my marriage I was in and out of doctors' offices all the time. The lying and bawling were unbearable. I thought maybe I was going to die. I was told that I had "some kind of infection," but nobody told me what kind. The pain was so bad at times I could hardly walk. Finally, a nurse asked me if I ever used colored toilet paper, and I told her yes. She told me to stop using it and give it up.

In less than one week after I switched to plain white, unscented toilet paper, I was 100 percent well again!

Now, whenever I see colored toilet paper in the house of a friend, I warn her. Many have thanked me and admitted that they also had that kind of trouble too, but never knew what caused it. Thanks, Abby. You did a lot of good with one letter.

CHICAGOAN

DEAR CHICAGOAN: I was amazed at the number of letters I received from readers whose experience was the same as yours. Thanks a lot of you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 51-year-old advertising man who spends half his life on the telephone.

In the last two or three years, I find that when I identify myself to young women on the phone, they immediately begin calling me by my first name. I don't know their names and can't find out without making a specific request. These are the girls who want to be called "Cathy" or "Betty" or "Susan" or "Mary" or "Miss," and who object to undue familiarity from male colleagues on the job.

Call me "Mister," OK? I'll call you "Ms."

MORE VITAMINS LOST THE LONGER YOU COOK

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am concerned about the nutritional value of food like a quart of fresh or frozen vegetables when they reach the boiling point. How many minutes can they be cooked without destroying so many vitamins? What percent is left if cooked 30 to 45 minutes?

Which meat has the most protein or builders for red blood and muscles - beef, chicken or turkey? ... I am a nutritionist and I know the simple truth is that the longer you cook vegetables and fruits the more vitamins will be lost.

These vitamins most susceptible to cooking are vitamin C, thiamin and folate. Just as preparing your vegetables can cause a significant loss of vitamin C, Fortunately, the RDA (Recommended Daily Dietary Allowances) for vitamin C is high enough that reasonable food preparation will not result in vitamin deficiencies.

Just storing food will result in loss of vitamins in time. That also applies to frozen foods.

Water-soluble vitamins are lost during washing and soaking. This is a good reason not to soak foods and not to use a lot of water in preparing fresh vegetables.

You can help improve the vitamin content of your foods by saving and using the fluids from cooking or the drippings from meat.

The protein in the various meats is about the same. Meats are a good source of complete protein and are important for your blood cells and muscles as well as for your whole body's reaction. Pork contains more thiamine than the muscle from other meats, but the trimmings.

Unless a person has a medical condition that increases vitamin requirements, there is no reason to consume his food or pills more than the RDA values.

DEAR READER - Since one of the main functions of vitamins is as a catalyst, it means that they are used over and over again. As you probably know, a catalyst merely facilitates a reaction and is supposed to be the same after the reaction, unless it was before the reaction. Vitamins are catalytic to help your metabolic system break down tissues to release the energy in the tissues. Your reductions are lost in the reaction.
