I HEARD THE VOICE OF JESUS SAY

I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'Come unto me and rest; lay down, thou weary one, lay down thy head upon my breast'...

I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'Behold, I freely give: the living water; thirsty one, fling down, and drink, and live!'

I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'I am the light of the world: he that walketh in this dark world, and in the shadow of death, let him call unto me, and he shall see the light.'

I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman: he that abideth in me, and I in him, he shall bring forth much fruit to the glory of the Father.'

I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me, and eateth of this bread, shall never hunger, and he that drinketh of this water shall never thirst.'

I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live.'

I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'I am the way: he that cometh to the Father by me, shall not come to the Father without me.'

I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman: he that abideth in me, and I in him, he shall bring forth much fruit to the glory of the Father.'

I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me, and eateth of this bread, shall never hunger, and he that drinketh of this water shall never thirst.'

German Smoke Screens

The real issues underlying governmental policies are not usually those which are brought to the surface and embellished for public consumption. In Germany, Hitler and his regime are outwardly deeply concerned that the Germans living in Czechoslovakia are not being treated fairly according to the rules of Nazidom.

Of course, the chancelleries of other nations know that there are other considerations besides humanitarian concern which are moving Germany towards the absorption of its diminutive neighbor. Perhaps, not the most important of these considerations, but none the less one that has potent persuasive power, is the fact that the Czech frontier sticks like a dagger into the heart of one of Germany's most important industrial centers.

The realization of this fact has at various times during the critical days of European affairs caused Hermann Goering, second in command to Hitler, sleepless nights. Three years ago Czechoslovakia signed a pact with Russia and at the same time France and the Soviet declared their intention to aid each other in a military way when the time came.

Goering took down his maps and began to figure out what such alliances could do to Germany. Just across his border in Saxony is Chemnitz, a great factory center, and all around and about are satellite industries. Some of them are less than 20 minutes flying time from the military air bases in Czechoslovakia. They could be blown off the face of the earth in a few seconds, the way things stood.

Herr Goering moved quickly. He ordered a "black out" of the Chemnitz section and sent an air squadron over on a test flight. The "blacking out" was not effective. The air pilots just couldn't miss the massed groupings of Chemnitz factories and even artificial smoke clouds did not help much. They reported that the distances were so short and the objective so big that an enemy air fleet could easily reach its target by "dead reckoning" flying.

The result was that Goering immediately began to accelerate the building of a formidable air force and began laying the groundwork among the Germans in Czechoslovakia for a disaffection which could be in time turned to a very useful purpose, namely the excuse for the absorption of the entire country because a small minority was allegedly discriminated against.

May Day Reflections

The New York Times points out that Eugene Debs, running for President 18 years ago on the Socialist ticket, received 900,000 votes at a time when the economic picture was rosy compared to the past eight years.

In 1936 the Socialist candidate received only 187,000 votes and the country had witnessed its worst business recession, had ten million persons unemployed, and had heard an unprecedented barrage of talk about predatory wealth, economic royalists and equality of opportunity.

Stressing the point that there is no lack of radicalism in America, the Times points out that radicalism, in this country does not take the Marxist form. "Ideas like technocracy, $200 a month old-age pensions, the sit-down strike, may sweep over the country for a few months like prairie fires, but these are ideas of limited application or with concrete goals. The American mind, for one thing, distrusts all-embracing ideas that come to it wrapped in complicated dialectics and Hegelian jargon."

"But its aversion to Marxism goes deeper than this. The experience of the masses of people in this country is such that they cannot take seriously the belief that the nation is divided into fixed classes, and that economic progress is possible only as a 'class' and through a 'class struggle.' They know how great the economic mobility of the individual may be. They know how amazingly the standard of living of the average American worker has risen even within the last generation. They know how immensely better off the American worker is economically than the workers of any other country, and particularly of other countries ruled by authoritarian ideas."

"Wherever they feel their future progress to lie, they know it is not in Marxism."

attention was forced to reveal her true sex. Because of her splendid service Catalina was urged to remain in action for Spain.

In 1624 Catalina left the army, returning to Castia where Philip I granted her a pension of 800 ducats for valor in service of the king. She also was granted the privilege of wearing military attire the rest of her life.

Once more sailing for America, Catalina de Erauso disappeared when her boat landed at Vera Cruz, Mexico, and never again was she heard from. Sayre today doubts the fate of the little convent girl who preferred to fight for her country.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK BY PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—here is more than casual opinion in this magnificent main street that the President's billion dollar naval building program:

- 1. May never be completed;
2. May at most be only partially completed;
3. May be completely revised as world conditions change.

In the first place it should be stated that the President never has projected the immediate spending of a billion dollars on a new navy. He outlined a sort of "five year plan" to bring the navy up to some kind of an international par, but scarcely more than a pocket full of money can go into this new building within the next 12 months.

Just An Idea... Here is the situation: On Jan. 22, the President asked Congress to authorize an increase of 20 percent in the strength of the navy. Naval experts came out with figures to show that this meant:

Table with 2 columns: Item, Amount. 66 Compt Ships, 2,781,000,000; 22 Auxiliary Ships, 344,000,000; Experimental Ships and Planes, 15,000,000; 550 Airplanes, 100,000,000; Total, 3,280,000,000.

Lately, naval officials announced they would cost $1,000,000,000 more for experimental work and $50,000,000 for a new 12-inch gun.

One of the main reasons for the delay in the building of the new fleet is the fact that the President asked Congress to authorize for the next five years or so that it has been doing for the last five years.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN BY GEORGE TICKER

NEW YORK, May 2.—If you bustle into El Chico about midnight you are very likely to find yourself gazing at a cock fight. And if you are fortunate enough to be sitting with Benito Collado you are in for a very interesting evening.

Collado was once a lieutenant under Pancho Villa and he is, among other things, the owner of the El Chico, which is most assuredly a gringo among Spanish restaurants in Manhattan.

Each year about this time he departs on a relatively talent hunt, combing the concert halls of Spain and the nightclubs of Mexico. This is why his rosters are a melange of Flamenco dancing stars, guitar recitalists, and entertainers of the Spanish entertainment world.

Being an impulsive fellow with a lively imagination Benito Collado made a hasty pilgrimage to Cuba and returned with a double brace of fighting cocks. These were the champions of the Havana pits and their spurs were like aurorean's scapulae.

Occasionally the mechanics of the show are varied and a colorful balloon in the shape of a glibo cock is tossed into the pit. The enraptured battler, not realizing he is coping with air, attacks the light and another hunk out of existence. Suddenly there is a loud explosion, leaving a mighty puffed rooster gaping and wondering if he hasn't made a mistake in leaving the barn yard.

Lookouts Lose To St. Augustine Nine By 10 To 2 Margin

Medler, Pinder, Fisher Pitch For Locals; Saints Make Four Tallies In First

The Lookouts dropped their fifth straight decision last night at the Municipal Athletic Field to the St. Augustine Saints who carried off a 10 to 2 decision in a contest that seemed decided in the first inning.

Herman Medler started on the mound for the locals and was nicked for four hits and four runs in the first inning and gave the Saints a lead that was never overcome by the local crew. Medler hurled two hit balls for the next four innings, but they got to him again in the fifth to score two more. In the sixth they collected another and with one out in the seventh, Joe Pinder came in to replace Medler and he completed the seventh and eighth frames. Pinder was taken out for a relief hitter in the eighth and Bob Fisher, who has recovered from a leg ailment, went in to get the Saints down in the ninth.

Medler hurled 6 and one-third innings and was nicked for eight blows. Pinder in one and two-third innings gave up three and Fisher allowed one in the ninth.

Jack Heisler went the entire route for the visitors and allowed the locals eight hits. He sent three Lookouts down via the cricket route while walking two men. He was aided in the field by excellent work of Retenski, shortstop. Retenski handled eight chances without committing an error.

The Lookouts counted their two runs when in the fourth inning Mihalic's double and Clark's single scored the first run and in the seventh inning, Pinder beat out an infield hit and scored when Addy singled to deep right-center field. The Lookouts had 11 men stranded on the sacks during the contest.

Wrenn, St. Augustine catcher, led the hitting activities during the evening collecting three hits in five appearances at the platter. Pete Mihalic secured two for four. Win Brown two for five, Retenski two for four including a triple to the right field wall, Gonzales two for five and Batam two for five.

A run-off May 24 for the democratic nomination to succeed retiring Chief Justice William H. Ellis was assured. In 1081 precincts the vote was Circuit Judge E. W. Thomas of Fort Pierce 52,162; J. Tom Watson of Tampa 78,171 and T. G. Futch of Tavares 61,763. The trend of the votes indicated Thomas and Watson would go into the second primary.

State Railroad Commissioner Jerry W. Carter of Tallahassee apparently won a first primary renomination. In 1170 precincts he had 168,923 to 51,327 for Walter Kehoe of Miami and 17,400 for Wilbur C. King of Zolfo Springs. Railroad Commissioner Eugene Matthews seemed bracketed in a run-off with Bruce Davis of Tallahassee. In 1183 precincts the vote was Matthews 111,471; Davis 73,945 and W. E. Hancock of Madison, 63,994.

ATTENDANCE IN HIGH SCHOOLS INCREASED 8 TIMES SINCE 1900

SINCE 1900, high school enrollment in this country has increased eight-fold. In the ten year period 1920-30 the school attendance of those 16 and 17 years old increased from 608,063 to 1,524,897. These advances have been accompanied by a corresponding decrease in employment of child labor in manufacturing. Today, less than one-half of one per cent of the industrially employed are under 16 years of age.

As an example of how effective playground facilities are in preventing crime, Director Nath Higgins of the recreation department of Tampa quoted juvenile court figures showing a 40 per cent reduction in delinquency in Ybor City during the first year since Cascazo Park was established as a WPA project.

Army Air Corps Plans Method To Thwart Invaders

Air Fleet Would Wing Far Out Over Sea And Bomb Warships

By DEVON FRANCIS AP Aviation Editor

If an airplane can sink a battleship, defense of America's coast lines would appear to be a simple matter. If it can, a lot of energy is being wasted on that argument again.

While the navy's battle wagons conduct their annual maneuvers in the Pacific a fly plan for stopping an invading fleet in its tracks is being evolved by the Army Air Corps.

Both Make Good Cases Army bombers, as a new "first line of defense," would wing far out to sea to engage the fleet. At best, the invader's warships would be sunk or disabled. At worst, they would be put at a disadvantage.

The Air Corps makes a good case for itself. But so do champions of the warship, insisting that the navy still is the nation's first line of defense.

Little has been added to available knowledge in the battleship vs. aircraft argument by the Ethio-opian, Spanish or Sino-Japanese wars. No modern bombing plane has been tested against a modern warship.

Partisans of the airplane say Italy won the first air war in history without firing a shot—by threatening to sink the British fleet in the Mediterranean if the Suez canal were closed during the Ethiopian excursions. But the facts are not public.

A Deep Secret Still a deep secret among military men were the results of the "bombing" of the battleship Utah by army planes last year, several hundred miles off San Francisco's Golden Gate. They were impressive. Dropped from an average of 12,000 feet, "water bombs" peppered the deck and the water near the vessel.

The army argued that the direct hits with real bombs would have sunk or crippled the Utah, that near hits would have opened her seams.

The answer to the planes' accuracy was a new, secret, bomb sight. It is all theory, of course, and the rebuttal of the navy adds up to an equally logical conclusion that for offense, the airplane is as effective as a gun on an enemy's side.

Battleship Protection Modern battleships, they point out, are armor plated above the water line and that bulges or "blisters" below it absorb the shock of explosions.

Even the value of torpedoes against modern men-of-war is questioned. At Juland the warship Marlborough was torpedoed, but not disabled.

The Spanish insurgent battleship España was sunk by a chance hit down a funnel. The gunboat Panzy, sunk in China, was meagerly equipped for combat.

Among high navy officials, Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, has conceded publicly that an airplane might be able to sink a battle ship. Let's enter a hypothetical war. An enemy is approaching our shores. A warning has been sounded.

The Carrier's Breed Above are the Air Corps' heavy bombing planes, the largest capable of flying 1,500 miles, an hour, several thousand pounds of "bombs" and returning without refueling.

Cooperating with the defense fleet are the navy's slower, heavily armed patrol bombers. On carriers and battleships of each fleet are nests of scouting and observation planes, and on aircraft carriers are several hundred combat observation planes, and on aircraft carriers are several hundred combat observation planes.

With the enemy still a thousand miles out, a dozen Air Corps bombers take off to meet him. But the navy interposes, how

FIRST GULP OF SNEEZING FASTER

George McKenna, 31, of Detroit, Mich., drank a half glass of milk recently and within 11 days had the he hopes will be a cure for hay fever. He had planned to use only 20 cups, but at the end of that period he had the appearance of his tongue indicated that all the "tempers" had not yet left his system.

the army going to find him? Well, runs the answer, the Utah was found in a search of 30,000 square miles of ocean; to find a whole fleet should be easy.

All right, says the navy. The enemy has spotted the army, and a swarm of fighting planes is rising from every ship.

A "curtain" of anti-aircraft shells is being thrown toward the bombers' line of flight.

A New Idea Not so fast, says the army. (1) Enemy observation units are off on missions and the surprise is complete; (2) Only a few enemy combat planes are in the air, and the rest are being launched too slowly to worry about; (3) The carriers, bombing like the broadside of a barn, can be dispatched quickly; (4) Anti-aircraft fire is innocuous at 10,000 to 12,000 feet.

Very well, retorts the navy with leady finality, but the airplanes can't sink the battleships; and as for "harassing" the enemy, submarines and torpedo boats can do a better job.

The Air Corps recently pulled a new idea out of its sleeve. How about laying down a blanket of deadly gas, it asks, and let the elaborate ventilating systems of enemy ships suck in the fumes?

The navy, which can give as well as take, will have an answer to that one soon.

Plans To Ease German-Czech Tension Made

Italy Parades Armed Forces For Hitler; British Seek Mobilization Of Women

Chinese Make New Advances

Half Of Jap Campaign Gains Are Retaken By China's Forces

A parade of Italian might before Reichsfuehrer Hitler, British plans for mobilization of women, British and French plans to ease the tension between Germany and Czechoslovakia and growing Chinese successes against its invaders—these were the menu in the world's diet of war and preparations for war.

The French foreign office disclosed that France and England will ask Czechoslovakia to make concessions to Germany in the treatment of Sudetan Germans, and will ask Germany to moderate its demands.

Italy's military did the goose step in a parade of men and war machines past Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

The British war ministry summoned the heads of various women's patriotic organizations and territorial army officials to a meeting today to study non-combatant roles which women might be called upon to play in wartime.

War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha declared the modern army had a place for them.

War in China rounded out its tenth month, several months longer than the Japanese had expected.

The Chinese claimed the recapture of about half of the territory won by the Japanese in their current three-week campaign to wipe out the stain of their early April defeat at Tai'erhewang on the central front.

Chinese guerrillas and communists were reported approaching Peking in North China, while scattered Chinese successes were reported elsewhere.

In Spain, Generalissimo Franco's Castilian forces fought to ward the main Teruel-Sagunto-Valencia highway.

Proposal For Seminole Gets Hospital Gets Share Of Race 'New Impetus Track Revenue

Committee Named To Probe Feasibility Of Securing Government Assistance

New impetus was given to the movement for construction of a County-owned hospital yesterday by the naming of a Hospital Committee which will meet with Federal officials in Jacksonville next week to discuss the most feasible plan for financing the construction of the proposed institution.

The action of the Commissioners followed a request of a group of doctors and three City Commissioners who appeared in behalf of the proposed institution and asked for the cooperation of the Board in efforts to secure necessary funds for construction of a hospital to replace the present one which has been termed as "unadequate" to serve the needs of the residents of Sanford and Seminole County.

The City Commission appointed Edgar Higgins as a member of the Hospital Committee, while Dr. C. I. Park was appointed to represent the Seminole County Medical Society, and T. E. Simpson, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, was appointed as a representative.

Complaint Is Lodged By Barnett Against Election Officials

County Clerk O. P. Herndon delivered a report on the work of the County Commissioners at their adjourned session in the Court House yesterday.

The board, the clerk reported, had been refunded and cancelled and were ordered stored in the vault by the commissioners.

During the meeting, Chamber of Commerce officials reported before the board and displayed several publications, including the "Big Tree" as a feature and advised the board that the local garden club desired a concession in the vicinity and requested the board to investigate this matter.

Gordon Barnett of Fern Park appeared before the board and advised that certain citizens of Fern Park objected to the location of the polling place and also requested the board to select "unbiased" election officials in the future for the Fern Park precinct.

James Gut appeared before the board and requested that the county commissioners contribute $50 toward the completion of the water survey of Seminole County. His request was granted.

The commissioners adopted a resolution transferring the title of the local Greenhouse property to the State.

Members of the board agreed to pay M. E. Lord $40 for right-of-way for a drainage ditch through his property and also a similar amount to G. W. Johnson for another right-of-way.

Forrest Gatchel was awarded the contract for furnishing necessary supplies to the County Home and Convict Camp during the ensuing month.

On a motion by D. I. Thresher, and seconded by W. H. Ballard, the commissioners unanimously voted to extend to Dr. A. E. Kirk a vote of appreciation for his cooperation with the board in his work with indigent patients as County physician.

Engineer Fred T. Williams appeared before the board and advised them of the status of several WPA projects which are underway or under advisement.

White Pelican Is Latest Addition To Municipal Zoo

A new addition to the Sanford Municipal Zoo is a rare white pelican which was the gift of J. E. Fields of Cocoa and which was secured through the efforts of Ralph Bagwell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and H. H. Coleman.

Mr. Bagwell and Mr. Coleman notified the zoo Wednesday and returned with the rare bird which they then presented to James Moughton, superintendent of parks, as the gift of Mr. Fields.

Several days ago Mr. Coleman noticed a sign in the Cocoa paper which told of a rare white pelican being found by Mr. Field.

A note in the paper was delivered to Mr. A. M. in starting on his trip, but by a number of other dispatches requiring attention.

A way to Mr. Fields in Cocoa brought a favorable reply to Mr. Bagwell and Mr. Coleman, saying that they could have the pelican if they would arrange to have it transported to Sanford.

The result of this correspondence was that Mr. Coleman and Mr. Bagwell drove to Cocoa Wednesday and brought the bird back with them.

Mr. Bagwell said that Mr. Fields noticed the pelican drifting in the water near his home which is on Merritt Island about five miles from Cocoa. He took the bird from the water with no trouble, and noticed that it had a starved appearance. Mr. Bagwell related. Upon investigation he found a stick, several inches long and about as big around as a broom handle, lodged in its throat. He removed the stick and fed the bird.

It is very tame, Mr. Bagwell said, and this fact has led to a great deal of speculation as to where the bird came from and how it came to be floating in the water near Mr. Field's home.

Mr. Bagwell said Mr. Field believes that the bird was a pet belonging to someone on a passing boat and that, somehow or other it became separated from the boat and in its effort to get food, swallowed the stick which lodged in its throat.
