Parliamentary Airing Of Bank Collapse Is Expected To Reveal Guilt In Cabinet

PARIS, Jan. 5.—(A.P.)—Parliamentary circles predicted today that Premier Camille Chautemps and his cabinet might be overthrown when Parliament airs the $400,000,000 scandal of the Bayonne pawnshop.

The government sent out the second of a series of messages to ships at sea and French representatives in North and South America in an effort to arrest Serge "Handsome Alex" Stavisky founder of the collapsed municipal enterprise which received government financing.

Premier Chautemps called Minister of Colonies Daladier to his office at noon for a clear statement of his connection with the Stavisky affair which the minister asserts he is entirely innocent of despite many rumors.

SLIGHT INCREASE IN PENSIONS FOR VETERANS ASKED

Decrease Suggested However, For Hospitalization Outlay

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(A.P.)—An analysis of the half billion dollar veteran administration budget proposed by President Roosevelt yesterday for the 1935 fiscal year disclosed that he recommended a slight increase for compensation and a decrease for hospitalization compared with the figures for 1934.

Although the two classes of compensation, service-connected and non-service-connected, moved up a bit in Roosevelt's 1935 budget, they were below the high figure prevailing before the economy act.

Outstanding in the veterans' item of $553,210,001 was $291,994,184 for pensions, which included, as its major components recommended, appropriations for the service-connected and non-service-connected cases of the World War.

For the service-connected cases, the President recommended $116,462,724; for non-service, $11,903,024. These were comparatively small increases over the $114,018,478 and $8,892,284 estimates for 1934.

In the fiscal year 1932-33 before the economy act the government paid $184,503,044 for service-connected cases and $85,016,145 for non-service-connected.

The veterans' administration item in the presidential budget showed a net reduction of $9,188,099 below the 1934 estimated figure. The $291,944,184 item for (Continued On Page Five)

Mrs. A.C. Chamberlain Is Winner Of 1st Prize In Annual Tree Lighting Contest

First prize in the lighted Christmas tree contest, sponsored by the Garden Club of Sanford during the Christmas season, was awarded yesterday to Mrs. A. C. Chamberlain for having the best lighted tree from the view point of lighting, decorations, and shape.

Winners in the contest were announced by the committee of judges appointed by the Garden Club to award prizes to the persons having the best lighted tree, ensemble, and doorway.

Robert and Thomas Peterson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barthold Peterson, Magnolia Avenue, were given a prize of $25.00 for the best lighted doorway.

They had arranged an outline of green about the doorway itself with a red Christmas candle on each side. A silhouette of the Three Wise Men was placed in the pane of the door.

The prize of $25.00 for the best ensemble went to Mrs. M. S. Wiggins, Magnolia Avenue, who not only had a good lighting arrangement at the front entrance but also had the entrance at the back terrace attractively lighted.

A "bleeding heart" vine, lighted to give the effect of a cross with a star above it, with a dark background as a contrast won a prize of $25.00 for Mrs. Henry Russell, second prize for the ensemble lighting.

Honorable mention was made of the copes plumosa palm lighted at the Sally Ray Farm by Ben Fish.

The palm bore colored lights from the base to the end of every frond.

Others receiving mention were Mrs. John M. Quirk for her lighted arch vines and arch; Mrs. H. J. Lehman for her lighted fern tree; and Mrs. T. E. Vickery for her ensemble of two lighted trees, lighted cross at entrance to porch, and Christmas bell in the arch to the porch.

2 TORNADOES CAUSE DAMAGE AT PENSACOLA

Freak Winds Sweep From Bay To Bring $50,000 Property Loss, Injury To Six

PENSACOLA, Jan. 5.—(A.P.)—Three year old Marion Kenneth Rigby, blown from his father's arms during the tornadoes which struck Pensacola yesterday, died today from the injuries he received.

PENSACOLA, Jan. 5.—(A.P.)—After whipping up lofty waterpouls in the harbor here yesterday, two tornadoes lashed suddenly at the city, leaving six persons injured and property damage unofficially estimated at $100,000.

Three-year-old Marion Kenneth Rigby, most seriously hurt, may not live.

Others seriously injured were Proctor Guernsey, cut by flying glass; the Rev. Thornton Crews, cut by flying glass; three negroes, Betty Baldwin, Elizabeth Morris and James Deater.

Many others were slightly injured.

One of the storms whipped westward along the waterfront, turned northward along the edge of the business section and veered again to the northeast, striking a negro section and leaving a swath of destruction 150 feet wide and three blocks long.

At least 30 houses were demolished in the negro section. Heirs were blown half a mile.

As it follows the shore the tornado damaged the three dry docks to an estimated extent of $100,000. Only damage in the vicinity of the business district was to the Guy E. Yaste Automobile Company. Parts of the building housing the company were blown into a group of automobiles parked in an adjacent lot. A number of automobiles were destroyed and Yaste said the damage would reach $8000.

The other storm skirted the shore and blew the roof off a magazine at the naval air station. Damage there was estimated at $2000.

There was no water damage from the waterpouls.

U. S. Railroads Found To Be In Better Condition Today Than Situation Of Year Ago

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(A.P.)—The railroads were found by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its annual report yesterday to be in a better condition than a year ago.

In a document covering the year ending Dec. 1, the commission found the carriers' business improving, with operating costs reduced and conditions in general on the upgrade.

Only one recommendation for legislation was made. All others will be left until such time as Joseph B. Eastman, Federal commissioner of transportation, completes his study of the railroads. Then the commission said, it will publish its comments.

The lone recommendation was that the 1920 transportation act be tightened to prevent special favors being granted shippers who send freight from one foreign country to another over American railroads.

Every requirement by the Federal government in being met to the letter by the local Civil Work's Administration, according to a report submitted to the Federal government by the local CWA.

The report, covering the period from Nov. 27 to Jan. 1, is at once an account of operations and an explanation of some of the duties of the many officials connected with the administration of labor and finances.

At the outset, the report states that Semnole County's spots of persons who could receive employment under the CWA was 216, which was the actual number of persons employed.

In a survey which he has titled "The Heart of Semnole County in 1933," Karl Lehmann, Chairman of Commerce secretary has gathered data which reveals that at least $112,743.17 was spent in the county in maintaining the welfare of the poor.

This sum includes amounts received and spent through the Federal Emergency Relief Council, the Civil Works Administration, the Board of County Commissioners, the Sanford City Commission, the Masonic and Elk lodges, the D. A. R., the American Legion Auxiliary, the W. O. T. U. of the Salvation Army, and the American Red Cross.

Mr. Lehmann's survey, necessarily not complete, because several groups which he had appealed to for information had not responded, the survey had to be completed before members of the Sanford Woman's Club on Wednesday as his second annual survey.

Total receipts of the Federal Emergency Relief Council, which handles its own and CWA relief work, were $41,042.71 for the year 1933, divided as follows: $4,061.47 for administration; $1,281.20 for agriculture relief, including purchase of seeds, fertilizer, and $13,691.52 for direct relief; and $24,568.52 for work relief.

Direct relief funds were expended as follows: Food, $11,111.11; clothing, $1,111.11; fuel, $1,111.11; medicine, $1,111.11; and other, $1,111.11.

WALL STREET IS REFRESHED OVER BUDGET MESSAGE

Frank Exposition Of State Of Nation Is Pleasing To Brokers

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(A.P.)—Wall Street received a momentary jolt yesterday as it read President Roosevelt's budget message, calling for $6,000,000,000 in new borrowing and $4,000,000,000 in refunding in the next six months.

News of plans for federal financing on such a vast scale—coming close to that magnitude of the Liberty loan flotations of the World War period—touched off a temporary selling flurry in United States government bonds in the Stock Exchange.

As financial quarters digested the budget message, however, it was decided that the President had stated the problem in the simplest, frankest terms, using maximum or outside figures in arriving at estimates. As the day wore on, federal bonds partially recovered in the Stock Exchange.

Banking circles, in fact, found it difficult on the basis of planned expenditures thus far revealed, to understand how the government could spend $1,000,000,000 a month during the next six months. So far as the $4,000,000,000 refunding was concerned, some bond experts felt this estimate was exceptionally generous, since about half of it was accounted for by including the 90-day treasury bills which mature and are replaced at the rate of about $100,000,000 a week.

Some quarters in Wall Street said the budget, with somewhat startling, was refreshing in that there seemed to be no inclination to minimize the magnitude of the prospective deficit of the probable borrowing requirements.

These quarters found this aspect of the budget particularly encouraging, after the succession of under-estimates of recent years.

A number of banks and leading bond dealers canvassed said there was little doubt that $4,000,000,000 of new government borrowing in the next six months could be secured through regular investment channels, and probably would not require any such sales campaigns as those involved by the Liberty loan flotations. It was explained that $1,000,000,000 of refunding would merely replace obligations already outstanding.

Uncle Sam will get his $10,000,000,000 through the use of bank and other credit since most financial transactions are carried on that way.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

RESTORE THE ERRING:
 Restore the erring, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such a one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.—Galatians 6:1.

FOLLOWING JESUS: Be ye hind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake has forgiven you.—Ephesians 4.

A splendid record for St. Petersburg which is being given national publicity is the fact that during 1933 there were only two days in the Sunshine City when the sun did not shine.

Among those working for the NRA in Washington is Foss Hildaway, former chairman of the State Road Department and one time candidate for governor of the State of Florida.

Mayor LaGuardia of New York is following the example of President Roosevelt in asking for dictatorial powers. We wonder how it would work out if all political officers should ask and be given dictatorial powers. Some of them might not be so hot.

Senator Long threatens to hold up the Senate confirmation of the appointment of Henry Morgenthau as secretary of the treasury. Senator Long's opposition to Mr. Morgenthau is not based on the assumption that he knows nothing about money or financial matters, but on the fact that he is determined to find out why Senator Long has not been paying his income tax.

We have ploughed the furrow and planted the good seed; the hard beginning is over. If we would reap the full harvest we must cultivate the soil where this good seed is sprouting and the plant is reaching up to mature growth.—Franklin D. Roosevelt. And if we cultivate the soil as we properly should, then we can get the government to pay us to take it out of production.

Senator Norris of Nebraska objects to Postmaster General Jim Farley, who is also chairman of the Democratic national committee, holding two jobs at the same time. Senator Norris doesn't like to have Farley as head of the Democratic committee because Senator Norris is a Republican (though hardly noticeably so) and Mr. Farley is organizing opposition to him in Nebraska.

Workers should take notice that they can have no jobs under the Civil Works Administration if they quit their employment in order to obtain the higher wages which in many cases the CWA pays, or if they already working for the CWA, decline to accept other employment in ordinary lines of trade. Citizens who know of such instances should report them to the CWA headquarters.

President Roosevelt plans to ask the Congress for power to cut tariffs. He recognizes that congressmen themselves could never agree as to which tariffs ought to be cut. The unreasonably high tariff is always the tariff which protects the other fellow's goods. Congressmen always agree to protect the other fellow if he will protect them. President Roosevelt probably handle the job with his having to trade.

The report that 97 percent of the bank deposits in the United States are now insured should be interesting to those who still think that Mr. Mellon and Mr. Morgan possess practically all the money in the country. Deposits insured up to $2,500 only, and constitutes 97 percent of all deposits. All the rest, that is, all over $2,500, constitute only three percent of the total deposits. Mr. Mellon's wealth and Mr. Morgan's are not insured. Mr. Mellon and Mr. Morgan are not insured. Mr. Mellon and Mr. Morgan are not insured.

The President's Budget Message

President Roosevelt's message to Congress in which he submitted the budget for the fiscal year of 1935 is nothing short of incomprehensible from the enormity of the figures it included. Briefly the President proposes to borrow ten billion dollars during the next six months, four billion for re-funding purposes and six billion for emergency expenditures. This alone is approximately $4,200,000,000 more than all the money there is in the United States. The President further pointed out that federal expenditures for the fiscal years of 1934 and '35 would aggregate $16,529,805,467, causing a deficit of $9,295,000,000 for the two year period, and increasing the public debt to $31,834,000,000.

Justification for such expenditures must of course be credited to the depression. During the World War this country borrowed funds of approximately 25 billion dollars. This sum was raised and spent within the period of about two years. It did not destroy the government's credit and in fact was followed by a long period of prosperity which everyone in the country enjoyed. During this prosperous era when profits were large and wages high, the debt was rapidly reduced until early in the present depression it reached a low of about 16 billion dollars, or ten billions less than the peak.

It is held by some, among whom President Roosevelt apparently is one, that the present emergency is one comparable to the World War. They believe that if the country were justified in borrowing and spending 25 billion dollars in 1917 and '18, and that if such piling up of public debt did not hurt the country then, the government is justified now in borrowing and spending similar sums, and that a similar pyramid of debt will not prove an insurmountable obstacle in recovering a normal degree of prosperity. It is contended by many, in fact, that the very spending of such sums by the government will facilitate recovery, that the government can, in other words, purchase prosperity for the nation.

However this may be, it is almost a self-evident fact that elaborate expenditures by the government are necessary to provide relief at the present time. The temper of the people is such that they will not submit to destitution and want any longer. It matters little to them whether government credit is ultimately destroyed or not. Their chief concern is where the next meal is coming from and if normal channels of trade cannot supply sufficient jobs, and if the government does not, then hungry men, in their present frame of mind, will go out and take what is necessary for themselves and their wives and children. One can scarcely blame them.

The real problem, as far as the final outcome of this spending orgy is concerned, is whether the depression is in reality on its way out or whether such business as we now have is normal and no material and lasting prosperity results. In this connection one has to keep in mind that much of the re-employment which has already taken place is the result of federal financed operations, the PWA, the TVA, the CCC, the CWA, and so forth. And much of the improvement in business must also be at least partly due to these federal expenditures. The question is, since it is proposed to discontinue these appropriations after June 30 of 1935, what will be the status of business, and of employment, when these various governmental activities are finished or cut off?

If the normal forces of business enterprises and initiative have been sufficiently rejuvenated by the summer of 1935 to absorb the labor which must necessarily be freed from the governmental camps, the civil works and the public works projects, and the various other job-furnishing governmental agencies, then no harm will have been done. Unemployed will have been relieved, business and agricultural interests will have been aided, during a very bad time, and the new public debt, high as it will be, should prove no intolerable burden in liquidating. Taxes will be high, much higher than they are now, of course, but the results will justify the expense.

On the other hand if the summer of 1935 finds us much as we are now, with millions of men working for the government, with the debt of the government six billion dollars greater than it was at the end of the World War, unable to borrow more, faced with the necessity of turning CCC men and CWA men out on their own, with no jobs for them available, with taxes higher than ever before... it will be a gloomy picture indeed!

Be Careful!

Many a man worries too much about his health. One man we knew took life so seriously that he devoted the greater part of the day, every day in the year, to what he called, "conditioning." That is, he would run up and down the beach for an hour or two in the morning. Then he would take a swim. Then a rubdown in the bathroom where an expert masseur would "give him the works." Olive oil was used extensively to soften up the skin and keep it from peeling.

And then there were countless rigorous details regarding his diet. There were dozens of things he couldn't eat, for no reason at all, apparently, except that they weren't biological. And then in the afternoon he had to take a two hour nap, which had to begin at a certain particular minute and end equally as according to schedule.

His night life was exemplary, though drab. His dinners were mostly vegetables, and his drinks milk. He took a short walk, regularly, afterward, to help settle his dinner, and then after an hour or two of bridge he went to bed. He was, as a matter of fact, a perfect physical specimen, bronzed as an Indian, well muscled up, and in perfect health. Of course he had no time for work, since his routine of "conditioning" wouldn't permit it. Fortunately he enjoyed an income.

However, all his care and trouble to protect himself against the ravages of disease and debilitation went to naught. One night when he had just turned thirty, his car skidded on a slippery pavement, overturned and broke his neck. He might just as well have had some fun.

The "Little Fellow" And The NRA

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

The newly expressed concern in Washington about the "little fellows" in business rests on fears lest the suspension of the operation of some of the provisions of the anti-trust laws work in the interests of "big business" at the expense of the smaller business men. While the relation of the N. R. A. to the anti-trust laws doubtless needs clarification, the troubles of the "little" men, at least to date, come from the simple fact that as most of them operate on an extremely close margin of profit it has been difficult for them to meet the increased costs resulting from the N. R. A. program. In many instances the restrictions as to hours of work and as to wages have threatened insolvency. This, rather than the tendency of the larger concerns to "dictate" prices, is at the root of the small business man's trouble.

These "little fellows" deserve a good champion. They are among the most important elements in the country. Their continued existence in business is doubly important—for sociological reasons, and because of their potential influence on the economic structure of the country. Over-centralization, whether in business or government, implies not only the concentration of excessive powers in few hands but the creation of a system which taxes the ingenuity of even the best brains in the country. Theoretically the larger and more comprehensive the unit the more efficient its operations. But this overlooks the human element. Few minds are capable enough to master adequately the vast problems inherent in great corporations and banks. Yet, as they prosper, thanks to the administrative capacities of their officials, the human brain makes it difficult to pilot gigantic units.

The "little fellows" in business are the best defense against increasing amalgamations. By strengthening them and encouraging the formation of more medium sized organizations, it would be easier to prevent abuses and to overcome the inherent disadvantages of the large units.

This is as true in government as in business. The enormous size of the country has made it constantly more difficult for rigid centralized power to be effective. One of the most pertinent criticisms of the New Deal is that it has increased the tendency toward centralization in government. Standardized regulations applied inflexibly have produced bad reactions locally, and this, in turn, has hurt small business men. More flexibility in the administration of the N. R. A. would benefit the small business men.

 from the arms of his father and tossed against a tree 200 feet away.
 Mrs. Iva Rushing, residing in the neighborhood most damaged, saw the storm approaching as she leaned out of a window to call her husband to lunch. Both retreated about 50 yards. They declared they did not feel the force of the wind at all, but watched the swirling currents demolish their home.
 One witness said he was standing at a window and saw the approach of the water spouts. He saw the roof of a house fly 50 feet into the air soon after the tornadoes struck land.
 Other witnesses, observing the first storm appear in the bay, telephoned the weather bureau but before the conversation could be completed the second had appeared and passed inland. Workers who went into the heavily damaged district looking for injured said it was miraculous that no one had been killed there. Roofs had been twisted off, walls caved in and the whole area was a mass of wreckage.
 J. A. Crane and two members of his family were in their home when full force of the storm hit it.

Samuel Puleston, the Misses Martha Fox, Mabel Hand, Genie Wicker, Elizabeth McLaughlin, Sadie Williams, Evelyn Gradick, Katie Fox, Florence Frank, Rena Brown, and L. P. McCallister, A. L. Betts, Billie Hill, W. E. Watson, W. J. Thigpen, W. A. Lefler, Roy and Joe Chittenden, and George McLaughlin.
 Capt. K. R. Murrell has returned from a trip to South Carolina and faced wintry weather all the time he was away.

There were few present to witness the swearing in of the city commissioners last Thursday morning in Orlando at the office of County Judge William H. Martin. Judge Martin administered the oath to Mayor Sperry who in turn swore in Commissioners S. A. Johnson and H. Clark Robertson and the policemen.
 The telephone exchange in Orlando has been sold to Hal Dean, a wealthy young business man of Richmond, Ky. Mr. Dean will at once move to Orlando with his family and take active charge of the office.

D. L. Thrasher has returned from a trip to Key West and Cuba where he attended the Teachers' Convention at the Island Club. Mr. Thrasher took a trip over Havana and expected to stay several days but was forced to come home by a storm in as Mayor of Sanford.

Instructions were received on Dec. 20 from Tallahassee calling for the removal of infirm or disabled men from CWA projects and placed on direct relief to "make room for other skilled labor necessary to carry on work projects. Changes were made at once, and several persons were switched from CWA work to direct relief, and other replacements were made through the Federal Re-Employment office.

The report states that from Nov. 27 to Jan. 1, all placements and replacements were made by the CWA and the Civil Works Service Administration. Advisory Committee of Women. After Jan. 1, all placements and replacements are to be made by officials at the Re-Employment office. Transfer of men from one crew to another will continue to be made by the CWA and the CWSA, but after Jan. 1, names of all persons selected for supervisory or administrative duty must be approved at Tallahassee.

On Dec. 26, all work directors, foremen, and members of the personnel which handles work records met for the purpose of discussing rules and regulations and instructions as to the proper way to handle labor, keep time books, and similar requirements.
 At that time all foremen were instructed to report to W. B. Williams, work director for the county, the name of any worker not doing satisfactory work, known to be habitually spending his money for liquor, or indulging in any other action tending to hinder or disrupt the work of crews.

Several men have been dismissed from CWA employment and their names stricken from further CWA relief as a result of their indiscretions, it was reported.
 A highlight of CWA work in the county during the past month, the report states, was the creation of the CWSA and the progress which it has made to date.
 Mrs. Ralph Smith was elected chairman of this group which includes Mrs. W. L. Morgan, Mrs. Henry Wight, Mrs. E. D. Brownlee, Mrs. C. R. Mason, Mrs. Maude Coates, Mrs. Endor Curlett, Mrs. J. C. Bills, Mrs. Rex Packard, and Mrs. Allan Stone and Mrs. Gladys Smith as consultants.
 This group has since approved several projects, including the opening of a new and large woman's center in the old Basket Building on Magnolia Avenue.
 More than 40 white and colored women are now at work at the Center where they are engaged at making clothing, rugs, quilts, and other articles which will be distributed to the indigent as needed.
 Another group of women are now employed at the Sanford Municipal Library assisting in cataloging and repairing books and magazines. Still another group of women are employed as housekeepers in the homes of indigent families, particularly where sickness has rendered the mother incapable of work.
 In addition, a horticultural project has just been set up, and Mrs. A. Ginn's gardens on Sanford Avenue are to be worked by white and colored women who will care for plants and shrubs that are to be set out around public buildings and along roadways.
 Projects that are pending include the employment of women who are capable of gathering data relating to the early history of this city and county; women who may be employed as nurses; and women who can be put to work in a canning plant similar to which was operated in the Mayfair Hotel last year.
 Mrs. B. A. Howard has been approved locally as supervisor of Women's Work projects. Mrs. Carrie Smith is the supervisor of the Women's Center in the Basket Building, opened on Dec. 2, and her assistants are Mrs. T. E. King and Mrs. Arthur Higgin.
 Women work six hours per day, five days per week at a rate of 50 and 40 cents an hour according to their abilities and the type of work they are engaged in.
 The old Federal Emergency Relief council, which is also the CWA as far as this county is concerned, is still handling all strictly social service work such as registering and investigating new cases, caring for the sick, checking up on old cases and completing records on these cases. The handling of transients also comes under the FER. During December, 93 men and three families were given relief through this group.

 The FER is also handling the distribution of all commodities which are sent here by the government for relief of the indigent. On Dec. 21, 9483 pounds of pork was received, all but 300 pounds of which had been distributed by Jan. 1.
 A shipment of about 8000 pounds of pork was received yesterday, and it is being distributed at this time. A large quantity of butter, flour, canned beef, smoked pork, and cheese is said to be en route to the city.
 These commodities are to be delivered, the report states, to all clients on direct relief from the FER, families receiving Mother's Aid pensions, old age assistance or those being given relief by private agencies, but only after approval has been given by the Social Service department.
 A group of colored persons have been appointed to work as an advisory group which meets with the Social Service committee to make suggestions tending toward the settlement of problems relative to the negro race. Members of this committee are: Monte Harris, Dr. G. H. Starke, M. C. Moseley, Ella Hogan, Frank Harris, and J. C. Boston of Oviedo.
 The report concludes with the statement that no members of the CWA council or the FER council, or any committee under these councils, is on the payroll or is receiving any remuneration for mileage or for any service whatsoever. Nor are any city or county employees on any payroll of the CWA, CWSA, or FER.
 The Seminole County CWA and FER is composed of the following persons: Randall Chase, chairman, H. C. DuBoe, as vice-chairman, W. M. Haynes as secretary; Rev. E. D. Brownlee, Rev. M. J. Bram, T. L. Dumas, John Meisch, Maxwell Stewart, Fred T. Williams, W. B. Zachry, John Rogers, Boston Steele, C. B. Searcy, S. F. Long, Roland Dean, Mrs. Ralph

Business Luncheon Is Held At Woman's Club

Annual welfare program and monthly business luncheon of the Woman's Club of Sanford took place on Wednesday afternoon at the club house with Mrs. F. M. Marler, Mrs. J. B. Root, and Mrs. E. D. Brownlee as hostesses and a large number of members in attendance.

Immediately after the arrival of the guests luncheon was served in courses by the hostesses, assisted by four Girl Scouts, the Misses Lillian Adams, Ella Maubel Jones, Cecelia Truluck, and Nancy Rossetter. At this time Mrs. Ralph A. Smith presided over the business session and read the New Year's message from Mrs. Poole, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The invocation was made by Mrs. F. M. Marler after which reports were heard from the various officers and standing committees. Mrs. J. C. Mitchell reported that members of the Girl Scouts sang Christmas carols in various parts of the city on Christmas Eve.

It was voted to send courtesy cards to tourists in the city which would admit them to all meetings of the club this year. The finance committee announced that it will sponsor a series of "vanishing" bridge parties to be given for the benefit of the building fund.

Karl Lehmann, secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, then gave an interesting and detailed report of the welfare work done by all agencies in the city during the past year. A complete report of his talk will be found on another page of today's paper.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all branches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 31.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound" (Lsa. 61).

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The word Christ is not properly a synonym for Jesus, though it is commonly so used. Jesus was a human name, which belonged to him in common with other Hebrew boys and men, but it is identical with the name Joshua, the renowned Hebrew leader. On the other hand, Christ is not a name so much as the divine title of Jesus. Christ expresses God's spiritual, eternal nature. The name is synonymous with Messiah, and alludes to the spirituality which is taught, illustrated, and demonstrated in the life of which Christ Jesus was the embodiment. The proper name of our Master in the Greek was Jesus the Christ; but Christ Jesus better signifies the "Giver" (p. 333).

LOANS ON HOMES IN FLORIDA HAVE BEEN BENEFICIAL

About 3500 Owners Aided As Result Of Re-Financing Plan

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 5.—The accomplishment of President Roosevelt's Home Owners' Loan Corporation during the past few months constitutes one of the most far-reaching and effective influences in the National recovery program.

Substantial contribution to general business conditions and direct relief for approximately 3,500 distressed home owners is the estimate of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

More significant to the problem of price disparities, the continuous downward in prices from 1929 to the early part of 1933 and the rapid upswing since then have brought about a very considerable amount of maladjustment in the mortgage structure.

International commercial relations, although still struggling under the handicap of many restrictions, have begun to improve, and interest business in the leading countries of the world likewise has shown a definite upward tendency.

Seminole High Five Opens Court Season At School Tonight

With the student body exhibiting an unusual amount of enthusiasm, and two rival school formations with anxiety as to whether or not their favorites will get the call as starters, an exciting opening season basketball game is in prospect at Seminole High School tonight.

Coach Leonard McLucas' hoopers are to go into action against Coach Flanagan's St. Augustine Mulletts, considered as the "black horse" team of the Northeast Conference. The game will start at 8:00 o'clock and a large crowd of fans is expected to be present.

It was indicated today that there may be a change in the starting line-up. Coach McLucas announced yesterday as including Miller, Jordan, Knight, Hughes, and Kline. Last night there was some reason to believe

Communist Organ Seen War As Near At Hand

MOSCOW, Jan. 5.—Warning of the swiftly increasing danger of war in Europe and in the Far East was sounded by the Communist International yesterday.

The government-controlled newspaper Pravda (The Truth) announced the warning in the form of a resolution adopted by the 13th plenary of the executive committee of the Communist International. The attitude was in line with the "war-peace" consciousness apparent in Soviet Russia, from its leaders down to the workers and peasants.

The Communist International—the world revolution organization of Communists as distinct from the Russian Communist party and the Soviet League—denounced not only the Japanese and Germans, but linked them with British and American "imperialist systems" in the alleged fomenting of a new war.

Polston; $4,112.10 went for relief outside the County Home, including burial of indigent persons, hospitalizations, etc.

It was pointed out that all expenses incurred by the county during the year for relief purposes are of the type which cannot be paid from Federal Emergency Relief funds.

Sanford Elk Lodge reported having spent $553.95 in providing help for 48 families, school supplies for 20 children, toys, games and nuts for 600 children gathered at the annual Christmas Tree party, and special assistance to the Harry Anne Memorial Home for Orphaned Children.

The D. A. B. reports the expenditure of $21.00 in assisting indigent work, including local cash and contributions to Montrose School and the Federal relief office at Sanford. The security of the home added 18 families during the year, contributing $283.10 in cash relief, food, clothing, and medicine.

The auxiliary reports having done one-third more work than in 1932.

In assisting 61 families, the W. U. T. spent more than $100 in relief work.

The Salvation Army reported that it cared for 952 destitute, five percent of which were women and children. Excess food meals were furnished, and food, clothing and groceries were supplied to 10 resident families, and medicine to 26 families. The approximate value of relief rendered was $1200 for the year.

The Milne Theatre reported that through its stage plan, it was able to raise sufficient funds to provide school lunches to 20 children during the year. In addition, it staged a Christmas party for four party giving the holidays to which children in need more than 500 packages of food, which was turned over to the Welfare Board for Christmas baskets.

During the year, an average of 12 boys and girls from the "Milk-Spinners" have been treated to free school meals, and twice each year a special free theatre party is given for the entire group.

The total cash value of the relief work handled by the local Red Cross Chapter during the year was $114,548. Report of the group is too lengthy to permit publication today. It will be carried as a special story in Saturday's edition of The Herald.
