Bombing Seen Damaging U.S. Prestige, Risking Nuclear War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Amid questions over what happens next in the war over terrorism, a Republican senator warned Sunday that President Reagan's decision to attack Libya could be seen as a "gutter act" that will erode U.S. prestige.

Two British leaders indicated a continuing European reluctance to join in tough economic sanctions against Libya and one, former Prime Minister Edward Heath, said Reagan's vow to strike Moammar Khadafy's terrorist apparatus opens a threat of escalation to nuclear war. In two television interview programs, a variety of former U.S. officials generally agreed that last week's bombing of Tripoli and Benghazi is unlikely to end terrorism but most also shared the view of former Sen. John Tower, R-Texas: "The raid was the right idea (to) ameliorate Khadafy's terrorist activity."

With Reagan's ominous threat of more military action if Khadafy does not abandon his support for terrorism hanging over the discussion, former White House national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski called for blockading Libya, including mining its harbors, closing its airfields and "interfering with its telecommunications" to "generate unrest" that could topple Khadafy.

But Ali Treiki, Libya's ambassador to the United Nations, said American talk that Khadafy might be overthrown is "wishful thinking."

Reports of fighting around Tripoli between rebels and forces loyal to Khadafy, he said, are "not true at all."

Treiki appeared on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley," along with Tower, Brzezinski and British Defense Minister George Younger. Heath was on NBC's "Meet the Press," as were Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., and Robert McFarlane, who served as Reagan's top national security aide.

Weicker, one of the few members of Congress openly critical of the bombing raid, said Reagan "violated both the War Powers Act and the Constitution insofar as engaging in a military operation."

"I also don't see where us engaging in the type of act which takes civilians with it gives us any sort of moral ascendancy over the people that we're lashing out at," he said, adding:

"We think we're doing the right thing and once we get into gutter acts, believe me, I think we'll lose our pre-eminence throughout the world."

Palestinian Arrested In Disco Bombing

BERLIN (UPI) — A Palestinian was arrested on suspicion of involvement in the West Berlin nightclub bombing that killed two people, including an American GI, and triggered the U.S. air raid on Libya, police said today.

The stateless Palestinian was picked up over the weekend on an arrest warrant and presented in a police lineup to more than 100 people who had been in the La Belle discotheque before a bomb went off there early on April 5. Manfred Ganschow, head of the West Berlin security police said.

The arrest of the unidentified man was the first in the investigation of the bombing that killed a U.S. soldier and a Turkish woman and injured 230 other people, including 64 Americans.

Police declined to give further information about the suspect.

Until today police had been saying they had no firm clues to the identity of who might have been responsible for the disco bombing that the United States blamed on Libya, citing secret intelligence evidence. Ten days after the bombing, 33 U.S. warplanes bombed the Libyan capital of Tripoli and the eastern port city of Benghazi in the largest American air strike since the Vietnam War. The raids reportedly killed an adopted daughter of Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy and wounded two of his sons.

Libya placed its official death toll from the April 15 air raids at 37, but Western diplomats believe as many as 100 people may have died in the attacks.

Two U.S. airmen also were killed in the Tripoli attack.

Oviedo Man Dies In SR434 Accident

Man Hurt In Plane Crash

An Altamonte Springs man was severely injured Sunday when his plane crashed in northeast Lake County.

In serious condition early today at the Orlando Regional Medical Center was Doug Steen, 31. He was flown to the hospital by helicopter.

Steen's plane crashed around 9:45 a.m. in the subdivision of Royal Trails which is half way between DeLand and Eustis.

A flight plan found in the crumpled plane showed Steen may have been enroute from DeLand to Jacksonville and was off course.

According to witnesses, the plane crashed after hitting some trees.

While Steen's plane was classified as experimental there is not initial indication that the crash was related to the plane's design or home manufacture, according to the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

Released On $10,000 Bond

Sanford Woman Charged In Shooting Death

A 31-year-old Sanford woman has been released on $10,000 bond after being charged Sunday with murder in the early morning shooting death of her common law husband.

Sanford police investigator Karen Reynolds reported police were called at about 12:40 a.m. by Linda Freaney, 103 Seminole Gardens, who allegedly said she had shot and killed Lester Cooper, 48.

When police arrived at Ms. Freaney's home Cooper was found with a gunshot wound to his left cheek. He had been shot with a .22-caliber automatic handgun.

Ms. Freaney reportedly said over and over that she had "killed Lester," Ms. Reynolds reported.

Cooper was pronounced dead at the scene at about 1 a.m. and his body was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, where an autopsy was scheduled today.

Ms. Freaney was taken to the Sanford police station where she was crying and was incoherent. Ms. Reynolds reported. She was charged with murder at 2:59 a.m. Sunday.

Ma. Reynolds said Ms. Freaney and Cooper had had a common law marriage for 10 years and they had been to a Sanford bar together before the killing.

Sanford police said the incident becomes the city's first reported homicide this year.

The shooting may have been the culmination of an altercation the couple had earlier Sunday morning, although the woman's state at the time of her arrest made it difficult to determine exactly what prompted the incident, Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said.

The gun, with one spent shell, was found on a kitchen table in the apartment. Police have not yet determined its owner, Harriett said. The body was found in the bathroom doorway, he said.

The couple had reportedly lived together as common law husband and wife for the last 10 years. Cooper was a mason, and Ms. Freaney was privately employed in the care of the elderly, police said.

Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler set bond at $10,000.

Capone's Vault Mystery To Be Solved Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Lexington Hotel stands crestfallen along South Michigan Avenue, the last of the vagrants shooed out of the once-luxurious rooms where Al Capone called the tune to which Chicago danced.

But in the basement of the abandoned hotel there is a mystery and the people who are trying to raise the money to restore the old building are drumming it up meticulously — with a nice "twist" from the Internal Revenue Service.

They're calling it Al Capone's Vault and no less a porochee than Gerardo Rivera will preside over the opening of it on live television Monday night (at 7 p.m. CST).

No one has any idea what, if anything, may be found when the wall is breached. But the IRS has gone so far as to file an $800,000 claim against Capone's estate just in case anything of value is discovered.

IN BRIEF

Missing U.S. Plane Reported Sent To Soviet Union

By United Press International

An F-111 fighter-bomber — the only U.S. plane lost in last week's air raid on Libya — was recovered from the sea off the coast of Libya and sent to the Soviet Union for technical inspection, the Al-Ithhad newspaper reported.

Libya's official Jana news agency said Libya was recovering the plane and would return it to the U.S. after a joint U.S.-Libyan investigation. The U.S. was recruiting suicide commandos to attack the U.S. and its allies in Europe and the Middle East and through advertisements in Europe and the Middle East.

Al-Ithhad, published in Abu Dhabi in the United Arab Emirates, quoted Libyan sources Sunday as saying the missing U.S. F-111 was found off the Libyan coast and salvaged. The newspaper said it was sent to the Soviet Union.

A Pentagon spokesman said he had no information about the plane's fate and refused to comment on the Al-Ithhad report.

The F-111, a technologically advanced plane, is presumably of interest to Soviet weapons experts. Libya is a Middle East ally of the Soviets and an arms recipient.

Al-Ithhad also reported the bodies of the plane's two crewmen, Capt. Fernando A. Ribas-Dominici, 33, of Puerto Rico, and Capt. Paul F. Lorence, 31, of San Francisco, were recovered and sent to the Libyan capital Tripoli.

The West German newspaper Bild, in a report attributed to Israeli, British and Lebanese intelligence sources, said Libya was recruiting suicide commandos from its prisons and was advertising overseas for mercenaries for its army.

Horowitz Performs in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — A buzz of anticipation spread through the prestigious Conservatory of Music and erupted in applause and shouts of "Bravo" as Vladimir Horowitz shuffled to the piano. And then there was music.

The 82-year-old virtuoso, who left Russia in 1925 vowing never to return, left his audience spellbound Sunday with his first concert in the Soviet Union in 81 years.

Russians received Horowitz's program of mostly Russian music with whistles of "astounding," "a fairy tale," "magnificent," and a mountain of flowers.

Pieces by Rachmaninoff, Scriabin and Chopin were particularly crowd pleasers.

Of the 2,000 people in the audience were Westerners and Soviet officials, but some 300 people crashed the concert with fake tickets, bribes or the help of friends. They jammed the aisles, perched on railings and sat two to a seat.

Between pieces, Horowitz delighted the audience with his antics, pointing and waving at friends, blowing kisses to the crowd, sniffling crumettes and sticking his tongue out at television cameras.

"When it was over, the audience stood, applauding, crying ... Bravo,"

But Horowitz, seemingly unmoved by the eight-minute standing ovation, firmly closed his piano and shook the audience out.

"Stop clapping ... go home," he said in Russian, to the delight of the audience.

Aquino Warns Demonstrators

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corason Aquino has warned demonstrators not to tolerate violent demonstrations calling for the return of ousted leader Ferdinand Marcos.

In a speech to graduating students Sunday at the University of the Philippines, Aquino also threatened to call off peace talks with communist rebels unless their leaders negotiate with the government.

Some 20,000 Marcos "loyalists" massed for four hours at Manila's seaside Luneta Park Sunday in the biggest show of support for the ousted ruler since he was toppled in a 1986 military revolt Feb. 25, which ended his 20 years in power and sent him into exile in Hawaii.

The demonstrators carried signs saying, "We want Marcos back" and "Ronnie bring back Ferdinand, please."

Criticized even by admirers in media for his failure to act against harassment and vandalism by Marcos supporters in their rallies, Aquino said in his speech, "There will be no turning back."

"This government of peace is not unarmed ... I will respect their private grief, but my government will not tolerate its violent outpouring."

Americans Airlifted From Sudan

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — The arrival of a chartered plane carrying 130 people from Khartoum completed the evacuation of non-essential U.S. personnel from Sudan, where officials fear terrorist retaliation for the U.S. air strike on Libya.

The 130 evacuees — most of them American aid workers — were met in Nairobi by U.S. Embassy officials and were driven to a luxury hotel in Nairobi, where they were to stay until they could be flown during the next few days to the United States and other destinations.

The special flight Sunday appeared to complete the U.S. evacuation of non-essential embassy personnel, dependents and others from Khartoum, a U.S. spokesman said he knew of no further plans for flight flights.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Nairobi said the U.S. mission in Khartoum continued to function amid tightened security.

Leftists' Arsenal Discovered

TOKYO (UPI) — Police said today they have uncovered what is believed to be an arsenal of a militant leftist group which has vowed to sabotage the May 4-6 Tokyo economic summit.

Police said they arrested one suspect and seized a large quantity of weapons material, including 88 pounds of powder, which they said was enough to fire 40 homemade rockets of the type the group uses for attacks.

Other items seized included timing devices using integrated circuits (ICs) for high technology products, and weapons-producing tools, they said.

The material was found in an apartment in Kasugai in the suburbs of Nagoya, a major industrial and commercial center about 160 miles west of Tokyo, police said.

Gorbachev: Summit Still Possible

POTSDAM, East Germany (UPI) — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev said a summit meeting with President Reagan still is possible this year if the United States changes its policies.

Asked by a reporter Sunday about the chances for a summit in the wake of the U.S. attack on Libya and recent U.S. nuclear tests, Gorbachev said the Soviet Union was ready for serious negotiations and was prepared to take realistic steps toward peace.

"However, if the United States attempts to poison the atmosphere and increase tension it will cast a shadow on a future meeting," he said during a visit to Potsdam.

Texas Town Torn By Two Twisters

SWEETWATER, Texas (UPI) — National Guardsmen stood watch today over the ruins of homes and businesses blown to tangled havoc by tornadoes that killed one person, injured 92 and left 1,800 homeless in a town badly gloomy from farm and oil losses.

About 600 houses were damaged and more than half of those were destroyed by the two twisters that converged on the town Saturday night, causing damages of about $15 million to $20 million, Mayor Rick Rhodes said Sunday.

In an economically depressed area anyway, with oil and farming, "We had a lot of people unemployed," Rhodes said. "This is the worst disaster ever in our town."

A 7:30 p.m. to 7:00 a.m. curfew was declared for the night today and National Guardsmen ordered in by Gov. Mark White patrolled the streets.

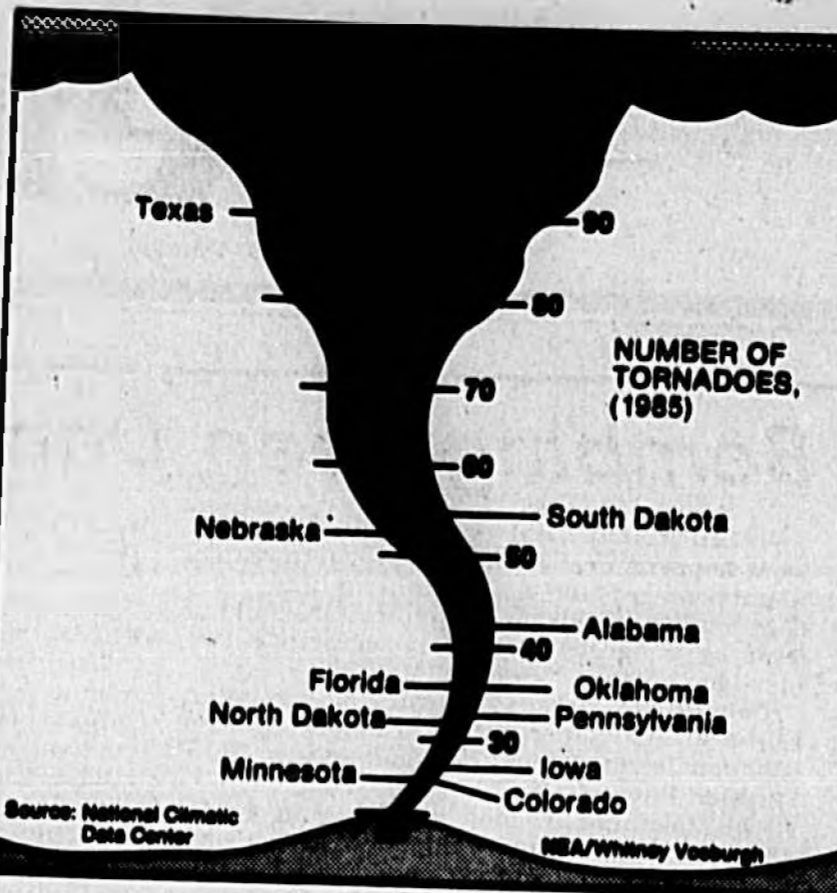

Some looting was reported Saturday morning but no one was arrested and the plunder stopped when the 118 guardsmen arrived Saturday night.

White toured the wreckage Sunday. At Sun Village, a housing project for the elderly where the body of Henry Earl Tatom, 87, was found, White said he was stunned by the destruction.

"I don't see how anybody could have lived through this. It's as bad as I've seen," he said. "We easily could have seen 100 to 150 lives lost."

Some 1,500 people in the town of 12,000 were left homeless.

One of them, John Walker, 24, who rode out the storm with his wife and two young children, found little left to salvage Sunday.

The United States was hit by nearly 700 tornadoes in 1985, and two-thirds occurred in just 11 states, with Texas reporting the most.

Lake Mary Approves $226 Million Project

By Paul Schaefer
Special Staff Writer

The development order for a 157-acre, two million-square-foot office, hotel, and retail development of regional impact (DRI) was approved by the Lake Mary city commission during its regular meeting Thursday night.

A development order states the conditions under which the growth of the project will be managed. The order now goes to the state Department of Community Affairs for review.

The planned $226 million project, known as North Point, will take 10 years to complete. The site is located at the southeast corner of the intersection of Interstate 4 and Lake Mary Boulevard. The project is owned by Kana Development, Orlando.

According to the development order, 235 construction workers will be employed during the construction period. At completion, 10,160 people will be employed at the complex. They will be employed to earn an annual salary of $172,000.00.

Traffic concerns have highlighted discussions on the project, but with the recent widening of Lake Mary Boulevard in the summer of 1988, the way was paved for the traffic improvements.

A second DRI, Timacuan, an 1,100-home development near I-4, will be considered for approval of its development order Friday, after being postponed by the commission last Thursday night.

Timacuan developers and the commissioners are wrestling with a wastewater treatment plant site location. Timacuan has agreed to build a wastewater treatment plant to service the City of Lake Mary, and operate it on an interim/permanent basis. During the five-year interim period the plant is in operation by Timacuan, the city will decide if it wants to operate and use the plant, or leave it up to the developers.

The commission agreed to begin the process for changing the city's comprehensive land use plan, adding the Master Wastewater Plan, which will again be considered May 1.

The location of the Timacuan treatment plant, and the area to be serviced by city sewers were debated Thursday night.

The plan was initially planned for the north area of the development, near County Road 46A. However, the developer of a nearby project, Residential Communities of America, asked that they move the plant away from their Hills of Lake Mary project.

As an alternate site, Timacuan has a proposed location at the east side of their property on Nantou Lane.

City Engineer David Wright said one of the main issues to be addressed with the move is that the plant will be constructed near homes in the area. Jim Ortolio, city superintendent of Public Works, said property owners in the area of the alternate site should be notified that the plant is being considered for that area.

Dr. Hubert Early, the Timacuan developer, saying he has done everything in his power to alternate site should be notified that the plant is being considered for that area.

The plan, when originally presented, would have served only the Timacuan and Primavera developments, with a 600,000 gallon capacity. In the proposed interim agreement with the city, the plan would serve designated areas in the city, with a capacity of 2.5 million gallons.

The commission agreed to agenda the discussion for the location of the plant at their May 1 meeting.

The service area of the treatment facility was also debated. Commissioner Buzze Petros expressed concern that a residential lot currently occupied by one home that was not required to have a sewer hook up, would require services additional home, the new home would require sewer hook-up while the original home could still be serviced by a septic tank.

Petros said, "We've got 10-acre family owned tracts in the Urban Development Area on roads such as Smathers Lane, Anderson Lane, Sun Drive, and Pine Circle, where the property owners want to subdivide into a second lot for a second house. The new house would be required to hook up, while the old one wouldn't, and they would have to pay for running a sewer line a quarter-mile or half mile. If it was a 40-lot subdivision, they should tie in, but not just one house."

City attorney Robert Petree advised that the commissioners should determine the criteria for an exemption to being connected to the sewer system in the area will be, including the subdivision lot size.

Judge Delays Decision On Driving Privileges

An Altamonte Springs woman, whose driver license was suspended upon conviction of leaving the scene of an accident with injuries, will have to wait to find out if she'll get full driving privileges restored.

Linda Katz, 35, was sentenced in April, 1985, to 180 days in jail, 500 hours of community service and five years probation for leaving the scene of an March 8, 1984, accident in which David Burnette, 23, also of Altamonte Springs, died. Miss Katz's driver license was also suspended for 5 years.

Tuesday she asked Circuit Judge Joseph Davis Jr. to restore her full driving privileges. She has been driving on a business-only permit since her conviction. The judge reserved ruling and did not indicate when he would make a decision in the matter.

According to court records, Miss Katz had served the 180 days and worked off the 500 hours, which one prosecutor called the best performance he has seen in fulfilling sentence requirements.

While Miss Katz was charged with leaving the scene of an accident with injuries, she was not cited for the accident nor charged with Burnette's death because Burnette was walking on the edge of the road and Miss Katz was driving into the morning sun. He was struck as he walked along Altamonte Springs from behind in the left hip by a car which left the scene. About 40 minutes after the accident, Burnette was hit by a passerby noticed Burnette's car on the road. He later and medical reports indicate that quicker aid probably would not have saved his life.

Miss Katz, a teacher in Orlando, told her principal when she arrived at work that she may have hit something. Had she stopped, she would not have been charged with anything, the prosecutor said.

Norma Burnette, David Burnette's mother, opposed Miss Katz's request for restoration. She thinks the woman's punishment does not equal the crime.

Judge Davis, however, when he did not want to punish her to the extent "that she would not be a productive member of a society."

COURT SENTENCINGS

A 17-year-old Sanford boy who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in connection with the death of a 24-year-old Sanford man has been sentenced to two years of community control, a form of in-house arrest.

Kerry Anthony Hunter, of 118 Scott Dr., was also ordered by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Laffer to get a high school diploma, perform 200 hours of community service, be employed, and pay for Mark Sander's funeral and unreimbursed medical expenses. Sander died Oct. 28 at Central Florida Regional Hospital from a brain infection received during an Oct. 6 squabble. During that confrontation, Hunter, a Seminole High School student, threw a dirt-laden sprinkler stake at Sanders. It penetrated Sanders' skull and went into his brain several inches.

The nature of the injury and where it occurred was a fatal combination because bacteria on the stake thrived in the low-oxygen brain tissue and could not be removed surgically.

According to court records, Sanders followed two kids who taunted him to a park. The kids then borrowed Hunter's bike and left. Sanders, with other youths around, threw a can of beer from Hunter's hand using a martial arts weapon, nunchucks. As Sanders chased Hunter and the others, Hunter tossed the stake. Sanders striking him in the right forehead.

Hunter fled before police arrived. Sanders, a maintenance worker who moved to Sanford from Port St. Lucie in 1981, was transported to CPRH where he remained until he died.

Spelling Troubles

A retired advertising executive down on the Peninsula below San Francisco, with time on his hands and little love in his heart for the continuing abuse of the English language, finally decided he was fed up and wasn't going to take it anymore. So Stephen Manhard founded SPELL, the Society for the Preservation of English Language and Literature. Now, two years later, he has signed up about 400 members who constitute a sort of linguistic hit squad. Anyone who didn't doze through English Literature 101 and who pays even passing notice to the way the language is used these days will know what a task Manhard & Co. have set for themselves.

Offenders whose bloopers are noted in print or on radio or television receive yellow "goof cards" in the mail, pointing out errors of grammar, syntax, spelling and pronunciation. Those committing the most egregious errors — like the teacher who described herself in print as a "roll midel" — receive a 44 page "Goof Proof Handbook" on English usage that's now in its fourth printing. There's also a quarterly newsletter and the relly contrite are invited to join the club. Reporters, we feel duty-bound to report, are given a $5 discount from the usual $15 membership fee. Journalists are so bad, Manhard says, that "maybe we should let them in for free."

Just down the road from where Manhard lives, is San Jose State University, home of perhaps the world's most unusual literary competition, the annual Bulwer-Lytton Fiction Contest, named for the 18th-century British writer who began one of his many turgid novels with the memorably banal line: "It was a dark and stormy night." Notwithstanding the unrelenting assault on the language that SPELL seeks to blunt, it may not be all that easy to win this year's competition for the worst opening line. After all, it takes real talent to come up with lines as horrible as this recent winner: "She was like the driven snow beneath the galoshes of my lust." Now that's bad!

Security Lapse

A Pentagon report on security lapses at General Dynamic's Convair Division in San Diego catalogs a series of careless errors during the last three years. Small wonder the Defense Department temporarily barred Convair from receiving new contracts involving secret documents earlier this year. That the ban lasted only six weeks is amazing under the circumstances.

Convair received an unsatisfactory security rating after a November inspection by the Defense Investigative Service (DIS), which found Tomahawk cruise missiles were left unguarded, a damaged and insecure fence offered no protection to a cruise missile storage area, and 33 classified documents were missing.

In a letter to DIS, Convair officials tried to shrug off the lapse as no more than "an unfortunate isolated incident." Unfortunate, yes. Isolated, hardly. This was the fourth time in 28 months that DIS had found cruise missiles left unguarded at Convair.

Moreover, the damaged fence around the missile storage area went unrepaired for nearly two months. During this period, unauthorized persons could have easily entered the area and made off with cruise missiles, a top-secret U.S. weapons system.

Most automobile dealerships park their cars in lots that are more secure than the Convair cruise missile storage area. It's hard to imagine how General Dynamics, the nation's second-largest defense contractor, can tolerate such gross lapses in security.

Congressional investigators and the Defense Investigative Service must keep the pressure on General Dynamics to strengthen security at Convair. These recurring breakdowns threaten national security as much as Convair's contracts.

Democrats Should Stand By Convictions

Ever since Ronald Reagan's landslide reelection win over Walter Mondale, there have been recommendations from some Democrats and political commentators that the Democratic Party should move toward a more centrist or conservative point of view. It is said, for example, that the Democratic Party should stop opposing increased military spending and new weapons in order to be perceived as strong on national defense. Democrats, they say, should be more hard-nosed in resisting the claims of the poor or troubled citizens, such as the family farmers.

I disagree with this strategy. We do need a strong conservative political party in the United States. But we don't need two.

Mr. Reagan is articulating and leading the conservative cause very effectively. And, to his credit, he was doing so even when his line was not popular.

He stood bravely with presidential candidate Barry Goldwater in 1964: When Goldwater was snuffed under the sweeping victory of President Lyndon Johnson, there was talk of, if not the impending death of the Republican Party, the need to move it toward the center to resurrect it. But neither Goldwater nor Reagan bought that advice. They continued to stand firmly on their conservative convictions and, lo and behold, they saw their party win four of the next five presidential elections, including Mr. Reagan's two victories.

I do not agree with the positions of Mr. Reagan, but I do admire his character in staying with his convictions.

Democrats must do the same. America desperately needs a strong liberal party that will articulate and promote a sharply different vision for the nation than the reactionary philosophy now emanating from the Reagan White House.

The American people will not respect a Democratic leadership that simply offers a warmed-over Reaganism.

Democrats should say "no" to Mr. Reagan's funding of the contra rebels now attacking Nicaragua from their CIA-organized bases in Honduras. Mr. Reagan calls them "freedom fighters," but they are, for the most part, a collection of mercenaries recruited to sabotage and terrorize the Nicaraguan citizens who support their government. No self-respecting Democrat should vote for this kind of dirty business and cruel meddling in the affairs of an independent neighboring state.

Democrats should say "no" to Mr. Reagan's incredibly costly and dangerous "Star Wars" nonsense. It is shocking to hear the Democratic chairman of the House Armed Services Committee say that in order to prove that Democrats are strong on national defense they not only have to support every weapons boondoggle the Reagan people dream up, they must find at least one weapon even Mr. Reagan opposes and then support it as an example of Democratic leadership. What utter rubbish for a supposedly responsible member of Congress to suggest!

This military and political strategy advice comes at a time when polls are showing that a majority of the American people have finally decided they do not want any increase in military spending. For the Democrats to support Mr. Reagan's reckless and ill-conceived arms spending binge is not only against the national interest: It is against public opinion and against the interests of the Democratic Party.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Utilities Are Still Struggling

Ever since the New Deal era, investor-owned public utilities have faced an uphill struggle. The private and public power sectors have operated on the basis of different standards of accountability.

Investor-owned utilities have operated under very strict terms of accountability in meeting their legal obligations while at the same time increasing their flexibility in the financial area. They have had to protect the rate payers from risks and ensure that the returns from investors accrue to risk-bearing stockholders.

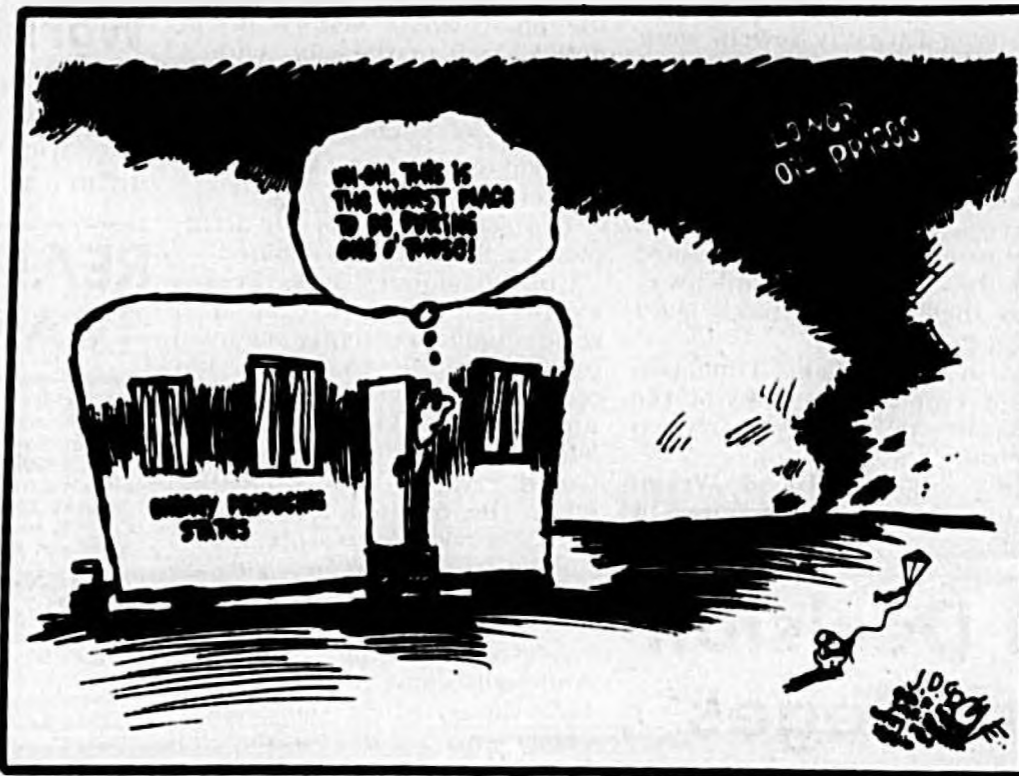

The public power agencies have operated in a very different environment, namely an environment of legislative privilege. They have been allowed to borrow money at subsidized rates.

John J. Gish, a former official of the Grace Commission, has cited the fact that rates charged by the Power Marketing Administrations are in part based on subsidized borrowing from the federal government. He has noted that "while the government was paying double-digit interest rates on its borrowings, it was receiving 3% to 4% interest on its $13 billion in outstanding loans to the PMA's."

Public power agencies also have operated without the same degree of scrutiny. Witness the terrible mess in the Tennessee Valley Authority. Its entire nuclear program is shut down because of faulty management and construction procedures. TVA is having to spend $550,000 a day to buy replacement power. That figure doesn't include the vast sums required to get the agency's nuclear plants back in operation. Meanwhile, politicians continue to treat TVA as a sacred cow. The costly, bureaucratic structure is allowed to continue various socio-economic experiments at public expense.

The bias in favor of "public" power also is reflected in a situation prevailing in the West. Pacific Gas and Electric Co., which is headquartered in California, has the most extensive system of investor-owned hydroelectric plants in the United States. This system, the company charges, "is being threatened by government-owned utilities which are attempting to take over these plants."

It's unfortunate that a taxpaying utility and its shareholders are compelled to fight a legislative battle. Why should a utility that lives on the taxpayers have preference over a utility that pays taxes?

JEFFREY HART

2 Democratic Parties

In the recent 53-17 Senate vote approving aid to the Nicaraguan contras, Sen. Bill Bradley of New Jersey was the only senator from above the Mason-Dixon line to vote in favor of aid, explaining that he thought the people of Nicaragua should "have a chance at democracy."

Now, entirely apart from the merits of the contra issue, Bradley's singular vote, standing alone among northern and western Democrats, is worth reflecting upon — because of its very loneliness.

It springs to mind, looking at that Senate vote, that the Democrats split exactly along the Mason-Dixon line — with, of course, the exception of Bradley. The other 10 votes in favor of aid were from Southern senators. The 36 votes against aid came from the North and West. It has often been said that civil wars never end, and perhaps we see an example of that here. But that is not what I mean when I say that we have "two Democratic parties."

As it happens, I have just finished writing a book about the year 1940 and have sent the manuscript off to the publisher, and have had some opportunity to reflect upon the history flowing out of that pivotal year. History does help to put our present headlines in some perspective.

The two Democratic parties I refer to existed in the ambivalent mind of Franklin Roosevelt, and there is no way of knowing how he would have resolved the contradiction between them if he had survived into the postwar period.

Part of Roosevelt consisted of a tough-minded protector and expander of American powder; part was a dilettante who believed, with some basis in his own experience, that he could run things on personal charm alone; and part was a "progressive" with a growing and sometimes bitter contempt for the forces of "reaction."

In 1940, Roosevelt's vice presidential candidate was the "progressive" Henry Wallace, the former secretary of agriculture. Roosevelt had dumped the Texas "reactionary" John Nancy Garner to put Wallace on the ticket.

But in 1944, under pressure from Democratic moderates and conservatives, and with his own health failing, Roosevelt dumped Wallace in his turn and replaced him with Harry S. Truman, a border-state Missourian with strong Southern political connections.

At Yalta, Roosevelt imagined that he could handle Stalin, but Stalin subsequently took him to the cleaners over the promised free elections in Poland — and then Roosevelt was dead, and Truman president.

During the post-war years, the Truman perspective ruled the Democratic Party. Henry Wallace, out of power, became editor of The New Republic and ran as a Third Party candidate in 1948, ran under communist auspices on a platform of appeasing Russia. Truman swamped Wallace everywhere and even upset the favored Republican candidate Tom Dewey.

These were the great years of the Truman Democratic Party. There had existed a "Wallace wing" in the State Department, for example, which favored post-war accommodation with Russia — it could be called the "Yalta wing" just as accurately. Truman crushed it.

DON GRAFF

Another Way For Nicaragua

Edgar Chamorro believes the contra campaign to destabilize Nicaragua's Sandinista government was doomed from the start.

In launching it, the Reagan administration used the wrong people for the wrong motives. It called in the Argentine military to train contra troops. The idea was to fight fire with fire — if your opponents are communists who use terror and deceit as weapons, you do the same.

But in this case the weapons backfired, says Chamorro, an eyewitness to events. Until a little more than a year ago, he was one of the contra leaders.

Terror tactics have only further alienated most Nicaraguans who, he says, already distrusted the contras because of the many Somocistas among them. But suppose they should succeed in running the Sandinistas out of Managua. What then?

Chamorro foresees only continued fighting, as various contra factions battle each other for power — and eventually yet another dictatorship for Nicaragua when the strongest and most ruthless have gained control.

He does not think we are yet so far down the road that we can't pull back. But to do so will require a radical change in approach — "not out of weakness, out of magnanimity" — by the Reagan administration.

He would leave the political settlement to those on the spot, political leaders in Nicaragua itself, its neighbors and other interested Latin countries.

"Latin Americans believe they are good politicians. They have their own language, their own style, their own way to handle conflict. I would involve the Latin countries. They want to do it; let's do it through them."

Security concerns, which are of legitimate American interest, should be dealt with directly between the United States and Nicaragua.

"You can be ready to talk about conditions like no bases, no anything that might be threatening," says Chamorro. "But to go beyond that and put as a priority internal democratization right away after two wars — the war against Somoza and the war against the contras — is not reasonable. You have to be a bit more tolerant, you have to live with it."

Because, he says, the Sandinistas also have a legitimate claim. They are the ones who defeated Somoza.

Helms Wants Embassy Policy Answers

By Jack Anderson
And
Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The State Department is reeling under a barrage of pointed questions from Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C. It will take a task force to answer all the senator's inquiries.

Including followups, Helms has demanded answers — in writing — to more than 120 complaints, rumors and policy questions. The hapless recipient of the senator's interrogatory, Ronald I. Spiers, under secretary of state for management, must also defend himself personally against a charge that he allowed "an open saloon" to operate at the U.S. Embassy in Islamabad while he was ambassador to Pakistan.

Two things make the situation particularly interesting: Helms is a senior member of the Foreign Relations Committee, and the phrasing of many of the questions suggests that he already has a pretty good idea what the answers will be — or had better be. In fact, some of the questions are almost as impossible to answer without incrimination as the classic: "Have you stopped beating your wife?"

The Helms quiz hasn't been released, but a copy was slipped to us. Here are some of the potentially embarrassing questions the senator wants Spiers to answer:

"During your tenure as ambassador to Pakistan, did the American club serve alcoholic beverages? ... In light of the Islamic fundamentalist objection to the consumption of alcoholic beverages, did you permit the U.S. Embassy to operate an open saloon and allow visiting airline crews, non-official visitors and Pakistani nationals to patronize the club? If so, why?"

— Noting that $24 million has been requested for new furniture,

Helms asked: "Why, in light of the urgent, desperate need for improved security against terrorist threats, did the department consider new furniture a higher priority than projects to add to physical and electronic security?" Helms also wants to know how much money from the emergency supplemental package for embassy security will be spent on new furniture for embassies the department plans to build, and asks: "Please explain what relationship there is between new office furniture for the Department of State and protection against terrorism."

— Helms expressed misgivings at proposed staff increases at certain embassies: "Given the threat of terrorism perceived by the department, please provide justification for increasing rather than decreasing the size of these missions. This justification should include a country-by-country threat assessment and the justification for each new position envisioned in the proposal."

— "Please provide me with a complete list, by total income received, of all Department of State personnel who earned during calendar year 1985 from salary, hardship pay, danger pay and bonus awards more than the salary of a United States senator." Helms noted that this information is readily available on W-2 forms prepared by the department.

— Helms questioned the need for Spiers to have six assistant secretaries, and demanded to know how often they traveled first class. He accused the department of hiring wives of senior officials for the $50,000 post as director of the Family Liaison Office, and asked for a list of all employees' children who had gotten summer jobs in the department.

District Demons? Coaches See No Evil In Favored Roles For Tournament

Switzer's .514 Edges Tibbitts For Bat Crown

By her season standards, Oviedo's Jodie Switzer had an off week when she went 3 for 9 in three games this past week but she had built up a big enough lead that it was enough to hold on for the Seminole County batting title.

Switzer, a sophomore pitcher, ended the season with a .514 batting average to win by 20 points over Lake Howell's Christy Tibbitts (.494). Tibbitts could have made it closer but she too had a rare off week by going 1 for 6 in two games. Switzer went into last week with a .541 average compared to .518 for Tibbitts.

Lyman's Denise Stevens finished third in the county with a .473 average after hitting .489 a year ago. Stevens also tied Lake Brantley's Kim Robinson for the county lead in doubles with seven and drove in 21 runs although Lyman scheduled just 19 games.

Behind Stevens in the top 10 in the county in hitting was Lake Howell's Jaudon Jonas (.476), Oviedo's Caroline Chavis (.451), Seminole's Niece Wheeler (.428), Lake Mary's Suzanne Rummel (.419), Lake Brantley's Tracy Brandenburg (.418), Lake Brantley's Heather Meyer (.414) and Oviedo's Mikki Eby (.387).

Brandenburg, just a freshman, was the county leader in runs batted in with 27 and tied with Lake Howell sophomore Tammy Lewis for the lead in runs scored with 25.

In the power categories, Lake Howell freshman Julie Barton dominated by leading the county in both triples with 10 and home runs with four. Barton and Lyman's Stevens were also the only county players to hit over-the-fence homers this season.

Switzer not only won the batting title but made one of the biggest jumps in the county from last season to this season. The sophomore standout raised her batting average 214 points from .300 a year ago to .514 in 1986.

Also improving significantly at the plate were Lake Howell's Jonas (.247 in 1985 to .463 in '86), Tibbitts (.326 to .494) and Lake Brantley's Meyer (.279 to .414).

Consistent in the word to describe Lyman's Stevens and Oviedo's Chavis and Eby as they were the only hitters to be in the top 10 in the county the past two years.

Some of last year's top hitters also suffered through early-season slumps in 1986 as those who dropped significantly included Lyman's Kristie Kaiser (from .523 a year ago to .338), Lake Brantley's Laura Davis (.393 to .295) and Lake Howell's Erin Hankins (.385 to .261). While those three have not done as well at the plate, they are three of the top defensive performers in the county.

Lake Howell's Brooke Burns may not be among the county leaders in hitting, but she can say that she is the leader or at least is tied for the lead in grade point average.

Burns, a freshman utility player for the Lady Hawks, doesn't have to worry about the "No Pass-No Play" rule that may come into effect as she earned straight A's in the classroom the last grading period for a 4.0 GPA.

Congratulations to all players who have conquered with the bats as well as with the books this season.

There's a blockbuster matchup Wednesday in the Sanford Men's Softball League when Pants USA goes aluminum to aluminum with the Tim Raines Connection. Both teams have loads of powerful hitters.

Jodie Switzer was the top hitter among the county girls' softball players with a .514 batting average.

Being favored in the district tournament has been the subject of many a coach's nightmare in the past. After being told his or her team is in the driver's seat, images may arise of Leon Spinks on the passenger's side, reaching his hand toward the steering wheel. Getting a normal night's sleep is pretty difficult when Rod Serling keeps popping up saying, "Look, up ahead, there's a signpost. You're now entering District 4A-9."

But, while upsets have been aplenty in the past, don't expect to see Lake Brantley's Renny Betris, Lake Howell's Jo Luciano or Seminole's Lance Abney break out in a cold sweat sometime this week. They know what their teams are capable of and that being one of the top four doesn't necessarily mean being cursed. If the teams that have proven themselves during the season play their best in the tournament, they're going to come out on top.

The 4A-9 District Tournament opens Wednesday afternoon with the top four seeds playing home games. In the upper bracket, No. 1 Lake Brantley, 13-2 in 4A games which decided the district seedings, hosts Lyman (1-8) while No. 4 Seminole (6-9) entertains Spruce Creek (2-4). In the lower bracket, No. 2 DeLand (9-3) hosts Daytona Mainland (1-8) and No. 3 Lake Howell takes on Lake Mary (4-12). All games start at 4:30 p.m.

The top surviving seeds after Wednesday's games will host their semifinal games on Thursday with the district finals Friday at Lake Mary High.

Here's a look at this year's district tournament field:

Spruce Creek at Seminole — Seminole High's Lady Seminoles couldn't have come away with a better draw for the tournament. The Lady Tribe has already beaten Spruce Creek twice and it is in the same bracket with Lake Brantley, which it has played tough in losing causes both times this season, the last a 3-2, eight-inning decision this past Thursday.

"I'm pretty confident going in against Spruce Creek," Seminole coach Abney said. "The last time we played them it was at Spruce Creek and their girls were brutally nasty to us. I expect our girls to be vicious and really go after Spruce Creek on Wednesday." The only team in the tournament that Seminole has not either beaten or played tough is Lake Howell and the only way those two could meet again would be in the finals.

Seminole, 8-13 overall, has shown on a number of occasions this season that it is capable of playing against and beating anyone if it plays solid defense and hits consistently.

The Seminole defense is anchored up the middle by shortstop Vikki Oliver and second baseman Bobbie Osborne. Oliver has been sporadic at times this season but has played outstanding defense the past few weeks. Osborne is one of the top young players in the county and has one of the quickest releases of any infielder. Junior Sheri Peterson lends experience at first base while senior Jackie Farr is a three-year starter in the outfield.

"The defense has settled down a lot the past few weeks," Abney said. "If the defense plays well, I know we have the hitters to be competitive."

Offensively, Niece Wheeler carries the top average for the Lady 'Noles at .426 with Peterson, Bobbie Osborne, Buffy Osborne, Marcie Tooke, Farr, Oliver and Jackie Suggs all at .300 or better. Farr and Oliver are the RBI leaders with 12 each while Showanda Walker has driven in 10 runs.

Lyman at Lake Brantley — Lake Brantley assistant coach Debbie Frank said when Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots jump out to the early lead, their confidence level raises so high that they are very hard to beat. Lake Brantley is looking to cap off a tremendous season, in which it has compiled a 24-5 record, with a strong district tournament performance.

And getting the number one seed was also important to Lake Brantley since it would have the home field advantage for the first two rounds of the tourney. And the Lady Patriots have not lost at home this season.

"The first few innings are really important for us," Frank said. "If we can jump out fast, we're usually in good shape. But, sometimes we struggle if we don't get it going by the second or third inning."

The Lady Patriots go into the tournament with 11 players hitting .290 or better. Brantley also has two of the most productive hitters in the county in freshman shortstop Tracy Brandenburg (.414, 27 RBIs) and sophomore outfielder Heather Meyer (.418, 25 RBIs). Michelle Weston (.444) gives the Lady Patriots good punch from the left side of the plate.

Defensively, Brandenburg is one of the best around at shortstop with excellent range and a strong arm. One of the many impressed with Brandenburg is Seminole coach Abney. "She's one of the best I've seen," he said. "She turned a double play against us last (New York Yankee) Willie Ran-

Baseball Undecided

Pairing for the Class 4A-9 District Baseball Tournament were not available at press time today. DeLand Athletic Director Bill Anderson said he has "several serious problems" develop because of the format used to determine the seedings.

Teams are ranked by the 20-game regular season record. Several teams did not play 20 non-tournament games due to rainouts and other reasons.

Anderson said he didn't have any trouble with the top seed, Lake Mary, with its 17-3 record. The Rams game with Winter Park was ruled a double forfeit since it was postponed and never replayed.

The No. 2 and No. 3 seeds are also in order. DeLand and Lyman each have a 13-7 record. They split during the regular season, so a coin will be tossed to determine who is No. 2 and who is No. 3.

Mainland, which hadn't reported its record by 9:50 a.m., reported has an 11-9 record. Lake Howell reported its 10-10 mark. The problem area is Spruce Creek, which has an 8-9 mark but failed to play three games.

"I don't know what we're going to do with Spruce Creek," Anderson said this morning.

Anderson should have another problem with Lake Brantley, too. The Pats didn't play a game with Apopka, which would have been their 30th. Brantley coach Mike Smith said Apopka didn't want to play because it begins its district today and didn't have the pitchers.

Lake Brantley is 7-12 not counting the Apopka outcome. If the game is ruled a forfeit, the Pats get a win. If not, it would be counted as a loss. Brantley would then face No. 1 Lake Mary in the opening round Tuesday.

Seminole, 8-12, joins the mess at the bottom, which could include Spruce Creek, too.

First-round game in the single-elimination tournament will set for 11:30 a.m., 3 p.m., 4:30 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Jordan's 63 Can't Stop Celtics

United Press International
Players who were supposed to be missing from action dominated the NBA playoffs Sunday.

Chief among them was Michael Jordan, who returned to action against management wishes after recovering from a broken left foot suffered three games into the season. He scored a playoff-record 63 points against the Boston Celtics, but his presence alone was not enough to stop Boston, which took a 2-0 lead in their Eastern Conference opening round series with a 135-131 double-overtime victory.

At Milwaukee, Darryl Dawkins, declared by the New Jersey Nets to be out for the season with a bad back, made a surprise appearance Sunday, scoring 10 points. He played 17 minutes — his most since Feb. 4 — but couldn't rally the Nets as they fell to the Milwaukee Bucks 111-97. Milwaukee leads that Eastern Conference series 2-0.

"I am not surprised that Darryl Dawkins played," Milwaukee coach Don Nelson said. "It just goes to show you that (New Jersey coach) Dave Wohl is a dirty, sleazy, carousing guy to pull that on me."

NBA Playoffs

Wohl, a former assistant under Nelson, questioned only his former boss' grasp of the English language when informed of the comments made in jest.

At Dallas, Mark Aguirre, who was questionable for the Mavericks game against the Utah Jazz because of back spasms, scored 27 points and led Dallas to a 113-106 triumph.

At Philadelphia, the 76ers, playing without Moses Malone who fractured a bone around his right eye in the regular season, rallied behind 27 points and 20 rebounds from Charles Barkley to defeat the Washington Bullets. Philadelphia evened its Eastern Conference series at 1-1 with a 102-97 triumph.

Bucks 111, Nets 97
At Milwaukee, Terry Cummings scored 13 of his 28 points in the third quarter, and Milwaukee scored 20 of its 28 fourth-quarter points from the free throw line.

Mavericks 113, Jazz 106

At Dallas, Aguirre scored the most crucial points inside the four-minute mark as Dallas built a 9-point lead. Karl Malone of Utah hit for 31 points.

"If Mark was only 80 percent tonight I wish he would play 80 percent every night," Dallas coach Dick Motta said.

76ers 103, Bullets 97

At Philadelphia, Barkley scored 7 points down the stretch as the 76ers, who blew a 17-point lead in Game 1, overcame a 92-86 Washington advantage. The Bullets received 25 points from Jeff Malone, and 22 from Gus Williams.

Nuggets 106, Blazers 106

At Denver, Kiki Vandeweghe, a former Nuggets star, scored 36 points, including 7 of the Blazers' final 8 points. Portland held off a frantic Denver rally in the last 10 seconds. With two seconds left Denver had a chance to tie as T.R. Dunn fed Mike Evans whose off-balance attempt at the buzzer went in and out.

Dunn scored a season-high 21 points for the Nuggets and Alex English had 24. Clyde Drexler had 22 points for Portland.

Holmes: For The First Time In My Life, Tonight I Cried

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Before the decision was announced Saturday night, Larry Holmes had a feeling it would go to Michael Spinks.

"I said to (promoter) Don King, 'I kicked his butt.' He said 'I don't know.'" Holmes said hours later during a press conference in his hotel suite.

When the decision was announced, it was split in Spinks' favor and he retained his International Boxing Federation heavyweight title. Judges Joe Cortez scored the fight 144-141, and Jerry Roth 144-142 for Spinks. Judge Frank Brunette had it 144-141 for Holmes. UPI favored Spinks, 143-142.

Boxing

"Michael came over to my wife (Diane) and said 'What can I do?' He came over to me and said 'You're always my champ, you're a great champ.' I said 'No problem,'" Holmes said.

While Spinks does consider Holmes a great champion, he thinks he deserved the decision, his second close one over Holmes in six months.

"I let him know it wasn't a fluke," Spinks said. "I knew I had won the fight. This was the biggest fight of my career. Both of them (Holmes' fights) are classics.

"He didn't go for broke like I would have. From the 10th to the 15th round, I outthusted him."

Holmes thinks he won both fights against Spinks, and suspects the decisions went against him for political reasons. He and King worked together closely for nearly all of Holmes' career, yet he said King Friday told him not to knock the judges if he lost.

"That should tell you something right there," Holmes said. "For the first time in my life, tonight I cried."

So Holmes, 48-2, says he will end one of the greatest heavyweight boxing careers in history. His new mission is to fight to establish a federal boxing commission to make sure fighters get a square deal from promoters like King and the sport's ruling bodies. "This is it. I don't need it no more," Holmes said. "There's no come in chasing ghosts. Can Larry Holmes get a fair shake? I got a big mouth."

IN BRIEF

Stockman Gives Unflattering Picture Of Reagan White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — David Stockman, the former budget director, in a television interview and in excerpts from his book, says the complexities of fiscal policy were "simply beyond" President Reagan.

Stockman also charged Sunday in an interview on PBS' "Frontline" program that Donald Regan, as President Reagan's treasury secretary, had a "profoundly destructive influence" on "the nation's economy."

Stockman's book, "The Triumph of Politics: How the Reagan Revolution Failed," has been long awaited in Washington circles for its rumored tell-all nature.

Atheists Gather, Leader Resigns

SOMERSET, N.J. (UPI) — Madelyn Murray O'Hair may have resigned as president of the atheist group she founded nearly 20 years ago, but the woman who calls religion a "fantasy land" is not giving up the fight.

After presiding over the 16th annual American Atheists weekend conference, O'Hair appointed her son, John Murray, as her successor.

O'Hair, 67, said she believes there should be a statue of her "in every park in America" as an acknowledgment of her 24-year struggle to gain recognition for atheists.

The main goal of AA, a Texas-based group that claims one of four Americans as unofficial members, is to ensure the separation of church and state.

Law Suit Explosion Called Myth

NEW YORK (UPI) — Americans have a "nauseating reputation" of filing lawsuits at the drop of a hat but civil suits actually declined in number or merely kept pace with population growth between 1981 and 1984, a report said today.

The report in The National Law Journal said the rising trend in civil lawsuits from 1978 to 1981 "came to a screeching halt" between 1981 and 1984 but the myth of an explosion of litigation persists.

Marines Allegedly Trained KKK

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — U.S. Marines who joined a Ku Klux Klan splinter group trained the Marines from Camp Lejeune and supplied them with military equipment, two former members of the group said in sworn statements.

The former Klansmen said the Marines did not supply any weapons, and state Bureau of Investigation officials said they have not found evidence the paramilitary, white supremacist group obtained weapons from military bases.

Routine Circumcisions No Longer Automatic

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — We are expecting our first child early next year and want to decide whether, if a boy, he should be circumcised. Can you tell us what the risks are in this surgery?

DEAR READER — Medical opinion seems to have shifted away from routine circumcisions. There is no need to circumcise healthy newborn boys, except for parental preference. Circumcised fathers ordinarily want their sons circumcised so that the youngsters will not grow up wondering why they look different from their fathers. Complications of the procedure, although rare, can be disastrous if the circumcision is improperly performed; the sensitive glands at the end of the penis are necessary for adult sexual fulfillment and can very occasionally be injured during surgery.

In the past, when performed in a hospital for nonreligious reasons, circumcision was commonly done by resident doctors or interns. This policy led to problems if the doctor-in-training made a mistake.

DEAR DR. GOTT — As a teenager and during my early 20s, I suffered a mild case of acne. I am very self-conscious about the scars left. A few years ago I heard of some kind of plastic surgery called dermabrasion. What is it, and would you recommend it? If not, is there any hope of correcting my skin?

DEAR READER — Dermabrasion is a method by which a dermatologist can remove superficial layers of skin by sandpapering the area. It is often useful in removing scars caused by acne. If the procedure isn't effective in your case, you may need more involved skin treatment that can be administered by a dermatologist or plastic surgeon. Some newer techniques, such as skin grafting, show great promise for adults who were scarred by adolescent acne.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I will soon be 79. In the past two months, I've had trouble with a wrist injury and a circulatory problem. I get discouraged because, on the whole, I wonder what the future holds for me. Is there some medication that could brighten my outlook?

DEAR READER — Wrist pain should be no more difficult to treat at 79 than at a younger age. Your question does not supply sufficient information for me to advise you what to do. However, I'm sure your doctor would be capable of diagnosing your problem and suggesting treatment. Arthritis, painful injury or circulatory problems of the wrist are usually treatable once the cause of discomfort has been identified.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio, 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Terence Reese and Martin Hoffman have collaborated on a new book, "Play It Again, Sam," which has an interesting approach to both entertaining the reader and improving his bridge. There are 65 deals, each highlighting a reasonable line of play or defense taken by one player. Then the correct play is pointed out by that player's partner. See what you think of declarer's effort today.

South won dummy's ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. Then he played the A-K of hearts and finessed the 10. He threw a club on dummy's heart queen and then cashed the diamond king, throwing a spade. Next came the A-K-Q of spades. When that suit failed to split, declarer played a fourth spade, won by East. West, meanwhile, blanked his club king to keep a top diamond (the nine of diamonds was still in dummy), but declarer was unaware of the club situation. He threw dummy's diamond on that fourth spade and when East returned the club jack, he put up the queen. The result — down one. That seemed a noble effort, but North gently remonstrated, "All you had to do after picking up trumps was duck a spade all around. If spades divide no worse than 4-2, you end up with 12 tricks."

The book is $7.95 plus $1 shipping. You can write to Devyn Press, 151 Thierman Lane, Louisville, KY 40207, or outside Kentucky use 1-800-826-1598 for credit-card orders.

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY APRIL 23, 1968
There will be ample opportunity to improve your material position in the year ahead. But you must rely upon yourself and not on partnership arrangements to make things happen.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Handle special equipment sensitively today. If you're too impatient or careless, you might damage what you're working on as well as your tools. Major changes are ahead for Taurus in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Your feelings might get wounded today because of the thoughtlessness of someone near and dear to you. Call it to this person's attention so it won't be repeated.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Merchandise you purchase today to beautify your surroundings may look better in the store than it will in your place. Make sure all items can be returned.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Today, be careful how you phrase your comments to a sensitive friend. Your pal is in a touchy frame of mind and could misinterpret your remarks.

VERGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You could be a shade too loose with your purse strings today. Be mindful of what you can spend on self-gratifying whims.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Usually you're very competent at managing others without ruffling their feathers, but today you might operate in a manner they'll find irritating.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Things aren't apt to work out as you desire if you try to manipulate others from behind the scenes today. The strings you pull will fray and snap.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Be strong enough to say no if an unreasonable request is made of you by a friend today, especially if a loan is the issue.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Do not allow some egocentric reason become so important to you today that you feel it's necessary to dictate exactly what others should do.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Do not be coy or overly wordy if you are trying to interest others in an idea you're espousing today. Tell your story as simply as possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Little of value will be accomplished today if you attempt to work out a business problem with associates who are trying to enjoy themselves socially.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
