Fine & Forfeiture Fund—Jan. 22, 1918, No. 127, Walter

May 4, 1915, No. 1848, Giles Vincent, $1.00.

Aug. 2, 1915, No. 39, J. W. Eaton, $1.00.

Pt. Myers Postoffice Robbed Fort Myers, Fla., March 10.—Robbers entered the postoffice here early today and looted a safe of between $7,000 and $8,000 in postage stamps, $5,000 in war saving stamps and twenty-eight registered packages, according to a report made to the police tonight.

Postmistress C. T. Summerlin was awaked this morning about 3 o'clock and, dressing, went to the office to see if everything was all right. Everything seemed to be as usual, so she returned to her home. At 6 o'clock this morning when the office was opened, the safe was found open and all the stamps were gone. No cash was taken. The door and windows were locked and it is thought burglars slipped in when mail was taken in from the night train and hid until Clerk Marion Hendry had gone. As doors have spring lock they could have locked them behind them. They left no clue.

Tornado in Ohio Lima, O., March 10.—Five persons are known to be dead, several others are reported killed, scores are injured, scores of homes were completely or partly demolished and hundreds of barns and outbuildings were razed by the tornado which traveled across northwestern Ohio early last evening. Estimates of property damage vary from one to five million dollars.

Miller City, Putnam county was hard hit. Seven persons, two of whom may die, were injured there. One side of a large Catholic church was blown in.

At Findlay many small buildings were wrecked and the roofs of several business houses were blown off. Roofs of two business blocks were lifted at Tiffin and many small buildings were razed. At Bascom, near Tiffin, the car barns of the Tiffin, Fosteria and Eastern traction line were wrecked, several large cars being damaged.

Cloverdale, Cuba, Dupont and Continental also suffered.

Throughout the storm district hundreds of persons received minor injuries caused by flying glass and debris. Twelve persons are reported seriously injured.

Gov. Hanley Here Ex-Gov. Frank J. Hanley, a speaker of national note spoke at the Congregational church Sunday afternoon. His subject could be termed the "American Traitor" for during his discourse he showed to his audience that the liquor traffic of this nation was really a traitor to the nation. He said that to be a traitor one must be guilty of giving aid and comfort to the enemy in time of war and that the liquor traffic, in this great time of need of food insisted on using 110 millions of bushels of foodstuffs to rot in the brewery vats every year, that when the allies were needing the food so bad that to use 110 millions of bushels to rot every year was certainly lending aid and comfort to the enemy. His address was based on patriotic lines. Was interspersed with reviews of actual happenings in the present world-wide conflict, was interesting and instructive.

Red Cross Notes At a call meeting held at the Woman's Club last Friday the matter of electing a secretary to succeed Mrs. W. F. Carter, resigning, Mrs. R. A. Terheug was unanimously elected to fill this office.

Mrs. Speer asks that all knitted squares be brought in this week and that all finished garments be brought in by Wednesday morning as the inspection committee will make inspection of work on hand for shipment on Friday morning.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Chapter will be held on Friday, March 15th next at Woman's Club, 3 o'clock.

SEMINOLE ADVERTISED AT THE FAIR

Won Fourth Prize and Much Public Favor

Seminole county failed to obtain the first prize at the state fair at Jacksonville, but Seminole county was kept in the public eye there and probably received as much if not more advertising than some of the counties that won first and second prizes. Seminole county won fourth prize which is honor enough when considering the opposition and the pull that was brought forward from several sources, and since it was advertising that was wanted by the county the citizens of Seminole can feel amply repaid. Those indefatigable workers, Chairman Frank Miller, J. Tilden Jacobs, D. C. Marlowe and Tom Jones and the Wakefields and many others who had a hand in the making of the exhibit feel rejoiced over the many praises and words and compliments that were passed on the exhibit and it was the consensus of opinion that Seminole county fairly won the second prize and while it was not given the county carried off all the prizes in the estimation of the public.

D. C. Marlowe, the live secretary of the Sanford Board of Trade was on the job every minute and when not on duty at the fair exhibit was down town boosting the county of Seminole.

One of his real stunts pulled off at Jacksonville was the donation of Seminole products to the Seminole Hotel, providing the hotel would serve them on the table and advertise them in the newspapers and on Friday the Jacksonville Metropolis carried a page advertisement with the caption, "The Two Seminole," the Seminole Hotel and Seminole County, and then had Sanford cater, Sanford lettuce, Oviedo potatoes, Geneva marmalades, Longwood grapefruit, etc., in the advertisement.

The menu cards had the following for several days: "We feature today Seminole County Products. Vegetable Soup a la Sanford, Seminole County Spring Onions, Sanford Carrots and Peas, Oviedo Potatoes, Shredded Sanford Lettuce, Mayonaise Dressing, Bisquit of Lobster, Seminole, Sanford Celery, Geneva Marmalade, Roast Turkey, Seminole County Sauce, Longwood Grapefruit Salad, etc."

All of this advertising called the attention of the many guests at the hotel and the visitors to the city that Seminole County had the goods and that it will rebound to this county in many ways is apparent to those who saw the paper and the menu cards.

Mr. Marlowe has for some time been of the opinion that if our products were specialized in this manner in many parts of the north each year that our farmers would have new markets created and that our products backed by good advertising and with the farmers putting up first class stuff with labeled packages and a big advertising campaign inaugurated that we would have no trouble selling the stuff in normal times and that Sanford and Seminole fruits and vegetables would in time be advertised as extensively as the California products and the name of the goods would sell them everywhere.

That the Seminole County exhibit paid for itself many times over in advertising is a fact and that Seminole county has gained a great reputation is also assured.

Winning the prize is a small matter. Winning public favor is a big thing and Seminole County certainly won the public favor.

Notice to Knitters Knitters please send in your finished garments this week. The knitting room will be open Wednesday and Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Everybody is going to the funny, uplifting, humorous, inspiring, earth-tickling, artistic, something to captivate and delight all moods and tastes, and withal helpful to a good cause grand concert to be held at the Congregational church next Tuesday night, March 19.

SEC. BAKER IN FRANCE VIEWS WAR

Confers With Pershing Views Our Army

Secretary of War Baker, the first American cabinet officer to visit Europe in an official capacity since the United States entered the war is now in France for conferences with General Pershing and an inspection of the American troops and the positions they occupy on the front between Soissons and Alsace.

The secretary's mission is purely military and has no diplomatic significance.

On board an American cruiser Secretary Baker and his party eluded German submarines and arrived yesterday at a French seaport whence he departed for Paris. After a few days in the French capital where he probably will meet President Poincare and Premier Clemenceau, the secretary will visit the American troops in the field.

Increased activity, especially in the artillery on the western front has not yet resulted in any determined attack by either of the opposing forces. The Germans are more active on the British and Belgian fronts than elsewhere. Near Klippe, in Flanders, the Belgians have driven the enemy from parts of the trenches he took several days ago. Recent German attacks on the British lines in the Ypres area, were checked through British knowledge of enemy plans gained from deserters and prisoners. The enemy intended to take important positions south of Houtholst forest, but heavy British artillery fire prevented a major effort and the strong British defense threw back the strong German attacks, Germans carried off.

On the American sector northwest of Toul the artillery and the aerial activity has increased. American gunners have shelled effectively various targets in the enemy trenches. The reply was without result. German airplanes have attacked American trenches with machine gun fire, while French gunners brought down an enemy aircraft within the American lines.

Progress is being made by the British army in Mesopotamia and Palestine. Eighty miles west of Baghdad on the Euphrates, river the British have occupied Hit, the Turks retiring without opposition.

Advancing northward in Palestine General Allenby's forces have advanced considerably along the Jordan and on both sides of the Jerusalem-Nabulus road. The Turks desisted strongly on both sides. The advance here was two or three miles on a front of 15 miles.

New Lincoln Hotel F. A. Lincoln, a well known hotel man has leased the Empire Hotel on the West Side and will take charge immediately. He will change and remodel the property and change the name to the Lincoln Hotel. Mr. Lincoln owned and operated a hotel at Asheville for many years and also operated the Manhattan Hotel and the Graystone Hotel and the Lincoln Restaurant at Klamimes and comes to Sanford well recommended by the travelling public.

He and Mrs. Lincoln are in the city to take up the remodeling of the Empire and they will be welcomed by the people of Sanford.

The new Lincoln Hotel will be a valuable addition to the hotel list, being on the American and European plan and under the management of Mr. Lincoln can be assured of a most liberal patronage, as this hotel property is a good one in every respect.

Mr. J. Reizenstein a gentleman who has recently come to Sanford and we hope will make his home here—a fine musician will contribute a violin solo to the varied and delightful program arranged for Tuesday evening next, March 19, at which time we shall hear and enjoy the grand benefit concert for several weeks past heralded in The Herald.

Messrs. Strange and Knight, railroad men of this city have joined Uncle Sam's forces through the local recruiting office and will soon be doing railroad work in France.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM IS ONE FOR THOUGHT IN THE STATE OF FLORIDA

Our Food Product Must Get To Markets

The transportation problem is one of the most important that confronts the people of Florida today and The Herald is proud of the fact that this paper and the Sanford Board of Trade were the first in the state to call attention to the perils of the situation and in calling attention gave a remedy that could have been applied. Last week the banks, the Board of Trade and the farmers sent telegrams to headquarters and for once all people seemed to be united on the idea of cooperation and getting together in order to obtain results. The entire state is aroused and the following from various newspapers shows the trend of thought:

Here is Food—Take It We have listened to the appeals and the commands of departments and proxy patriots, telling us to feed ourselves. We have the stuff now to help feed the nation, just as we had last year at the most critical times in the food situation. But we must have cars to ship this produce in and the cars must move once they are loaded.

In the news columns of the Commercial today we give a detailed statement of the situation that confronts the Florida producer of vegetables and truck crops and the steps that are being taken to impress the powers that be with the importance of moving this crop. Surely something needs to be done immediately, for this stuff will spoil. In fact, a great deal of Florida cabbage that was sent out of Florida a couple of weeks ago did spoil on the cars on sidetracks somewhere between Florida and the northern markets.

Mr. McAdoo issued several statements last week, but one in particular was to the effect that all danger of food shortage due to failure of the railroads to move the produce was past. At that very moment dozens of acres of rotten cabbage were lying on sidetracks, ruined as food and standing as a bill for freight charges against the men who produced them.

Because the Florida Council of Defense had spent much time and money speeding up food production in this state a year ago and has been preaching it ever since, we took the liberty of jumping into the breach and bringing this situation directly home to Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Hoover. In effect we said to Mr. Hoover: "Here is the food you asked us for; please send Mr. McAdoo after it." In effect we said to Mr. McAdoo: "Here is food; take it away." The following day we took up the matter with Prof. P. H. Rolfs at Gainesville, chairman of the Florida state council, and he approved our action in the name of the Council of Defense. About the same time the Leesburg City Council and the Leesburg Board of Trade and other similar organizations throughout the state poured telegrams in to Washington to the Florida senators and representatives, all of whom took up the problem with Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Hoover. Today we are in a fair way to secure the needed transportation.

With these things brought right to their doors, it looks like the departments would begin to take notice of what we are producing for other sections and would remember particularly that Florida is one of the states of the Union. It does not look right for us to have to plead and shout every time we need something.—Leesburg Commercial.

Food Shipment From Florida Transportation difficulties are causing Florida growers and shippers the greatest concern these days. Unless there is a marked improvement in the getting to market centers the products of the farms from this state, Florida farmers fear that they are going to suffer tremendous losses this season. Between four and five million dollars worth of produce in the vicinity of Jacksonville alone is in danger of bringing no return unless the Washington administration increase the efficiency of transportation for perishables. In this connection, at the request of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce,

W. R. Carter, editor of the Metropolis, called upon G. W. Kirtley, assistant to W. G. McAdoo, Director General of the railroads, who admitting that a remedy was necessary gave assurance that improvements would be immediately made.

Shippers from the Sanford district have complained that in spite of the great demand for their products throughout the country, shipments to New York bring sometimes less than freight charges, owing to great delays in arrival. Buyers are refusing to buy f. o. b. because of the uncertainties of transportation, and the result is that Florida farmers are facing a more or less critical condition. Realizing the dangers, the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce within the next day or so will appeal to boards of trade of the various shipping centers of the state to send a joint delegation to Washington with a view of further pressing the situation on the railway administrator. Within a short time the Hastings potato crop, which last year was worth millions of dollars to this section will begin to move. Unless transportation facilities are improved not only will the growers be out considerable sums, but the nation will be out great quantities of foodstuffs which will go to waste in the cars.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

Patriotic Day at Baptist Temple Sunday could be truly termed a patriotic day at the Baptist Temple. The day was set apart by the Baptist State Board of Missions as a time for all churches. Sunday schools and associate societies to make a special offering for the purpose of placing pastors in the military camps of the state—this being a need of the boys in the camp that could not go unheeded. For this purpose the Sunday school, making a special offering gave even $25.00 and a special offering being taken at the morning service in the church totaled $27.67. This is the church and Sunday school part of the offering—the associate societies of the church have not reported their gift as The Herald goes to press.

The services on Sunday were on a patriotic line. Rev. Massey speaking in the morning, on the subject, "In the Sanctuary" showed how the boys in the camps were looking and expecting something from the sanctuary—the church at home and implored the people not to let "That son of a noble sire, that offspring of the tenderest motherhood, that manly man who had gone forth to fight and if need be—die, that Freedom might live" look and expect in vain.

In the evening the subject "The Patriot's Prayer" was used with much force and effect. Truly Rev. Massey was feeling his subject at both the services Sunday. His delivery was never more perfect. His eloquence in these patriotic services was great. He began his sermons and from beginning to end the attention of the entire audience was absolute.

Union Birthday Party Forty ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. S. Jewett on West First street yesterday especially to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. A. L. Entzminger, to whom the party was a surprise. Roses, beautiful and abundant, were the decorations. After the refreshments the hostess requested Mrs. Entzminger, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Munson, Miss Goodale and Mrs. Brower to stand in line while she presented each one with a handsome bunch of roses, for the birthday of each of these ladies comes in March, all celebrating on Mrs. Entzminger's, the 11th. Harry Lauder and John McCormack kindly provided music.

Some Fat Man Mr. J. F. Hickson and Mr. Jim Hoolehan returned last night from a visit where they went to Jacksonville and took in the fair and then on to Waycross, Ga., to visit Mrs. Hoolehan's father. Hickson can now tell you about a sure enough fat man. He says the fat girls in the carnival are nothing to compare with Mr. W. T. Brinson of Waycross, Ga.

BOHSHEVIKI MAY FIGHT GERMANS YET

EVACUATE CAPITOL AND CALL TO ARMS

Late reports from Russia indicate that the Bolshevik government probably will not keep its engagement with the Germans to ratify next Tuesday the peace contract agreed upon at Brest-Litovsk. The evacuation of Petrograd by the Bolshevik government and the populace evacuation of Petrograd by the Bolsheviks has begun and Trotsky, the foreign minister has announced that the leaders of the revolution are prepared to fall back even to the Ural mountains which separate Great Russia from Siberia and proclaim a "holy war" in order to circumvent the plans of the Germans to make the revolution unsuccessful.

It seems evident that the Germans have not yet ceased their operations against the Russians, for Krylenko, the Bolshevik commander in chief has sent a protest to the German commander asking whether all steps had been taken by him for a cessation of hostilities. A like message was dispatched to the Austro-Hungarian commander. The reason for the latter communication, however, is not apparent, for the forces of the dual monarchy are known to be bent on clearing little known to be bent on clearing Little Russia of Bolshevik, in order to carry out the compact to aid the Ukrainians in establishing and administering their newly formed republic.

Whether Japanese troops are to invade Siberia and put down the disorder there and also make secure disorder there and also make secure the great stores of all kinds that are in the harbor of Vladivostok apparently has not yet been decided.

In Japan the political parties are not unanimously in favor of Japan's intervention, the leader of the majority party in the diet, for instance, having declared that he and his followers are opposed to the use of Japan's troops in the eastern part of the Russian empire unless conditions there grow worse and prove a menace to the status of the Far East.

Roumania evidently is on the point of effecting a separate peace with the Teutonic allies by meeting the hard demands which are to be exacted in return for a cessation of the inroads into the little kingdom which is now absolutely isolated from its allies. The preliminary peace treaty has been signed and the armistice extended so that discussion of a formal treaty may begin immediately. Among the chief demands of the enemy is the cession of the Dobruja, rectification of the Hungarian-Roumanian border, economic advantages for the central powers and aid in the transport of troops of the quadruple alliance through Moldavia and Bessarabia to Odessa.

Card of Thanks

I wish to take this method of thanking the many friends for their flowers and other kindnesses during my recent illness.

Mrs. Lena Lee.

Assistant Probation Officer Here Mrs. J. R. Muir, assistant probation officer of Duval county was in the city yesterday and spent part of the afternoon conversing with the probation officer and county and city officials. Mrs. Muir is an authority on the juvenile court matters and much of the good work in Duval county among the girls is being accomplished by Mrs. Muir under the direction of Probation Officer Lanier. Mrs. Muir has made this work her life work and the state should take steps to assist in this reclamation of the juvenile delinquents. The work here under R. J. Holly shows results and every county in the state will soon have a probation officer and all of them should be under a state organization for greater efficiency.

A Question.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

For Member Legislature To the Democratic Voters of Seminole Co.: I hereby announce my candidacy for representative in the next Florida legislature from Seminole county, subject to the democratic primary to be held June 4th of this year, and invite your consideration of my qualifications.

Respectfully, J. J. DICKINSON.

Frank L. Woodruff Announces for Legislature To the Voters of Seminole Co.: I beg to announce that I am a candidate for re-election to the house of representatives from Seminole county. Having served you in that capacity in the session of 1917 I feel I am prepared to give you better service in 1918. I do not know of any reason why you should not give me a second term, which has always been accorded all representatives in the past. I fully appreciate the high honor paid me by electing me in 1916 and I have endeavored at all times to look after the interests of the people of Seminole county and the state of Florida. I hope I have not failed to fulfill your expectations and I trust you will see your way clear to give me a second term. I thank you for the many favors bestowed on me in the past. I promise that I will be faithful to the trust imposed in me.

Yours very truly, FRANK L. WOODRUFF.

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH, "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

¶ Here is one on my friend, Postmaster Elder:

A small boy went to the stamp window at the postoffice here a few days ago and addressing the postmaster said: "Can you give me a two dollar bill for these two silver dollars?" The postmaster replied that he could and did so. The boy stuck the money into an envelope and was in the act of sealing it when the postmaster said to him: "Don't you know you ought to get a money order and not send money that way? It might get lost, or someone might swipe it!" The boy looked up and replied: "Ch, don't worry. I ain't going to mail it here."

¶ One of the small papers published an item lately which was a weird mix up on an account of a wedding and an auction notice. The most interesting part of the item follows:

"William Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Smith, and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm, one mile east, in the presence of seventy-five guests, including two mules and twelve head of cattle.

"The Rev. Mr. Jackson tied the nuptial knot for the parties, averaging 1,250 pounds on the hoof. The beautiful home of the bride was decorated with one sulky, rake, one feed grinder and two sets of work harness, nearly new, and just before the ceremony was pronounced, Mendel & Sons' wedding march was rendered by one milch cow, five years old, one Jersey cow and one sheep, who carrying a bunch of bride's roses in her hand was very beautiful. She wore one light spring wagon, two crates of apples, three racks of hay, one grindstone of mouselin de soie and trimmed with about one hundred bushes of spuds. The bridal couple left yesterday on an extended trip."

"Your sons are but fodder for my guns!" To sons: "Your mothers are but brood sows for my power!" Her man, her boy that was, answers that call. "Here," he says, "is my all and mother's all. Justice, happiness, mother love shall not perish from the earth. My life for it! How handsome and noble he looks in his new uniform! How true and brave he will surely be.

How her heart fills to the bursting as memory piles upon her all the joys, struggles, sacrifices that made him hers, since that day when she turned upon her pillow and glorified the Creator who had sent her a boy who would some day play a man's part!

Today her boy, her man, is tossed by the waves of foreign seas, a corpse, for the beast has sneaked up through the spume and blown a ship to bits. The stricken mother is alone. She goes to the chamber and puts in her bosom the little knit shoes, while her hungry eyes seek his toys, his books, his clothes, anything that was part of him; and all is darkness.

Scores of other American mothers are today as she is and the horror of it must multiply a hundred fold.

Oh, let us who have no sons, who feel no loss that wrings the heart and pictures all the future black, let us, too, offer all we have, that war may be killed and, all through the coming years, mothers may have their sons! What is a day of meanness, or wantlessness, or moneylessness besides the life of suffering, struggle, sacrifice of a single American mother? God help us! let us save, sacrifice and give as the mothers must.—Palatka News.

Good Rations for Pigs

The most critical period in a pig's life is that of the first few weeks following weaning. At this stage of their growth it is necessary to give them additional care and suitable feed.

The following combinations of feeds are suggested by John M. Scott of the University of Florida experiment station for feeding pigs at and after weaning.

Ration 1: Ground corn, 60 per cent; shorts, 20; and tankage, 10 per cent. Ration 2: Ground corn, 50 per cent; shorts, 30; and peanut meal, 20 per cent. These to be fed dry from a self feeder or made into a thick slop.

In addition to the foregoing grain mixtures feed about one quart of skim milk to each pig daily, and supply them with all the green feed they will eat.

Farmers and Fruit Growers

Items of Interest for the Man Behind the Plow

Grow Plenty of Corn
Florida farmers should grow plenty of corn this year. It will be needed for food and feed, for man and animals. Good seed is scarce in the northern producing area, which may result in a reduced crop, making it imperative that Florida grow enough to supply the state's demands.

Much of the success of growing corn in this state rests on the care used in planting. The importance of testing the seed cannot be over-emphasized, says the University of Florida extension division. That part of the work has already been done by the progressive farmers; also the seed bed has been prepared. It is now time to begin the planting throughout central and western Florida.

The depth to plant will depend on the moisture conditions in the field at planting time. On rolling, sandy land which is dry, it is good practice to plant in the bottom of a shallow furrow, making the seed bed six inches below the surface. This assures the seed being placed in a moist soil, and if covered three inches deep it is likely to germinate quickly. As the corn grows the soil can be grown in among the stalks which will make the field level again.

In flat woods or poorly drained lands it may be advisable to plant on a low bed, otherwise too much moisture may retard germination by keeping the soil cold. This may be for a single row or it may be 20 to 30 feet wide and separated by water furrows. Planting on level ground and covering the seed about three inches deep is a good general practice on most farms.

The distance to plant also depends on the moisture conditions and the fertility of the soil. Thin sandy land, lacking in humus will require wide planting. Under such conditions, the rows should be five feet apart and the plants two feet apart in the row. If summer legumes are to be planted between the rows they may be six feet apart.

On land capable of producing twenty-five bushels an acre the rows may be four and a half feet apart and the plants fifteen to twenty inches in the row. If the field is to be planted in checks, there should be one stalk in about every seven feet. When moisture conditions are good and the soil rich in humus much closer planting may be practiced safely.

If the corn is to be fertilized with commercial goods, the most of the amount should be applied ten days before planting. Repeated applications of fertilizer are not usually necessary, as there is very little leaching from the soil during the spring months and the corn plants probably take up the fertilizer as rapidly as it becomes available. Heavy applications of fertilizer immediately before or after planting may injure the germination of the seed.

Feed the Milk Cows

Experimental feeding of dairy cattle has been carried on by the University of Florida experiment station for several years to establish the comparative values of several different feedstuffs. The results of this board for the last two years are reported by John M. Scott in Bulletin 143, which will be sent free to those making the request.

The following comparisons have been made: Sorghum silage and Japanese cane silage; sorghum and sweet potato silage; cottonseed meal, peanut meal and velvet bean meal; and corn silage and sweet potato silage.

By the first test it was determined that Japanese cane silage and sorghum silage have practically the same feeding value for milk production, and that one may be substituted in equal amount for the other. That sorghum silage is a cheaper feed for milk production than sweet potato silage, even when sweet potatoes are figured at 36 cents a bushel, was established by the second test. Under present market prices for sweet potatoes it would not be profitable to feed them as silage.

The following facts were developed by the third test: Velvet bean meal in the dairy ration produces slightly more milk than peanut meal or cotton seed meal; cows fed peanut meal produce milk at slightly less cost than those fed on velvety bean meal or cottonseed meal; cottonseed meal produced less milk and at higher cost than did peanut meal and velvet bean meal. With prices for cotton seed meal and peanut meal equal per ton, cottonseed meal would be the cheaper feed in point of milk production cost. When fed with wheat bran and silage, 100 per cent more velvet bean meal or 25 per cent more peanut meal by weight is required to replace meal in the dairy ration.

By the fourth test it was concluded that corn silage in the dairy ration is much cheaper than sweet-potato silage.

All rations used show little variation in their ability to maintain the dairy cow's weight.

Pasture the Pork
Pasture is one of the cheapest feeds for pork production, but it is not advisable nor profitable to attempt to grow and fatten pigs on pasture alone without any grain, says the University of Florida extension division.

Many farmers find it advisable to feed not less than one and a half to two pounds of grain per hundred pounds live weight of pigs daily in addition to the forage provided. A maximum use of forage crops should be made this summer. A standard of two pounds of grain per hundred pounds live weight daily to growing pigs will allow a maximum consumption of green feed. Restricting the grain ration can be practiced when a field of mature corn is to be hogged down in the fall by the same group of shotes that have been carried through the summer on pasture.

The St. Augustine Record, answering a reader's inquiry about the aura borealis states emphatically that it is against any such proposition, if the people don't want it that's just the way the Herald feels towards the ignifatuus. Darn 'em both!—Punta Gorda Herald.

We don't raise either one of these crops in Sanford but if Felkel and Jordan are "agin" them we will second the motion. There are too many new fangled notions anyhow springing up in Florida until we older folks are being ignored and first thing we know they will discover "ticks" in the watches.

Editor Anderson of the Bartow Courier-Informant spent several days up in Jacksonville the past week seeing the fair and everything, and incidentally harbored a few strangers who neglected to register while there were rooms to rent. He was observant, too, for he wrote home: "The new styles in women's apparel are very evident here. At first glance it would appear that the town was full of fourteen-year-old girls; but the short skirts can't camouflage crows-feet about the eyes."—Plant City Courier.

Say, Anderson was not looking for crow's feet on Jacksonville chickens, was he?

THE TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM

An article in the Florida Metropolis of Jacksonville a few days ago, according to our idea, touched the key note of the transportation trouble of today. Several times before this The Herald has carried articles along the same line and has advanced the same line of reasoning and it is still our contention that the only remedy for the transportation evil now existing is "the reduction of train tonnage." A logical analysis of costs and results between a tonnage train and one of extraordinary tonnage, leads to greater costs per train mile for operation, greater consumption of fuel, added delay to equipment, missed connections at terminals—resulting in congested terminals, more overtime for man power; enough, many times, to pay a new crew out and out last but by no means least, depreciated motive power and double the cost of upkeep.

Many additional costs along the line of claims, dissatisfied shippers, law suits, etc., are not mentioned but to consider all in all, a locomotive overloaded and flirting with the sixteen hour law may cost less for the time being, but in the long run, its cost will overshadow the operating cost of three tonnage trains and its ultimate results will run into the years to come.

It is unjust to offer undue criticism to our carriers and it has always been our province to refrain from words of worry to their interest or method of operation but in this instance, when for the lack of one element in logical operation our section and our state stands to lose millions, it is time to offer at least a sensible suggestion.

YOUR HOBBIES

If the things you want to do, stand for the upbuilding of this city or Seminole county or the state of Florida or the United States, then the Sanford Board of Trade, the Auxiliaries of Oviedo and Geneva are with you soul and body. This is not merely talk but is being demonstrated over and over again. We feel proud in saying that without exception, the Board of Trade has, in every instance offered time and money in promoting the good things staged by various organizations and peoples in this county. They have set aside creeds and politics and in helping have done so on a broad scale of better conditions and progressive strides. In turn, many of these organizations have reciprocated when called upon while others have been too busy. When it is remembered that the Board of Trade is strictly a civic body—a body of members who are loyal to Seminole county and who are giving their time and money to further the interests of their county and respective cities therein, it is passing strange that any citizen or organization should hesitate to affiliate as a member of the Board of Trade and help that organization do the very things, except in a bigger way than they are doing or can do. Broaden your hobbies, brother! if you expect continuous aid from a certain source, then it's up to you to help supply the dynamo from which you expect current. Broaden out, get bigger—you're being sized up by the many who are already doing this.

SAVING

In the period of the war there are two things to save—one is material, the other money. Material not bought by a private citizen for his use is left for use of the government; money saved by a private citizen, when material is not bought, and when that money is turned over to the government, gives to the government power to secure the material that is automatically released by the private citizen's saving.

Saving in war time is simply a diversion of the buying power of money from the individual to the government. As a general proposition saving is a hard matter to define, as the application of the term involves several contradictions. It is a familiar axiom that he who spends money wisely saves, while he who saves money wisely spends.

We cannot afford to argue against spending. The hoarder is a loss to the community and to himself. We cannot afford to argue for spending. Spending for the war. We need to save money when that means saving commodities.

Let us keep the distinction clear. Every dollar that is expended for any purpose is, of course, put into circulation. If it is paid for something needless it permits so much labor or material or goods from being used for the nation's necessities. But if it is paid for something that is essential to the war it applies just so much additional wise and courageous handling of the situation that confronts every man, woman and child of the nation will pay, both directly and indirectly. The curtailment of one's personal expenditures, when that transfers buying power from the individual to the government, benefits the individual, benefits the government, and benefits the people as a whole. For by the curtailment the individual has set for himself a healthier and saner standard of living. He has closed competing with the government in bidding on essentials that are needed for war. He has surrendered something for others.

The concentration of energy for winning the war is the highest motive that can dominate our lives today. With thought before us, we can therefore properly reduce our material wants to a minimum. We can save on our tables. We can make sure that our clothing is no longer serviceable before we can purchase more. We can economize on fuel and lights. Exactly as we save will there be more fuel, cloth and food for the uses of the war.

And when we have reached our expenditures, we can then turn them to the uses of the government. It can be placed on account immediately in any amounts from 25 cents up to one thousand dollars, by investing in War Saving Stamps, which are on sale everywhere.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSES

No doubt there are many owners of automobiles and other motor driven vehicles in this state who do not understand the intent and purposes of the Act of 1917, Chapter 7275 of the Laws of Florida, and in their interest as well as in the interest of those who are not owners of such vehicles, publicity should be given to the law in order that those who are derelict in registering their machines and securing tags may understand and appreciate the responsibility resting upon them and the wrong they are committing against themselves, as well as all others who may be injured by failure on their part.

The Act provides in its title that its purpose is to license and regulate the running of motor driven vehicles on the public highways. The Legislature in enabling this statute was exercising the police power of the state with a view of protecting the lives and property of its citizens. While a license tax is required to be paid by the Act, the proceeds are for the construction of good roads in the different counties of this state, which feature was not the main purpose of the Act.

It has become necessary that the speed of automobiles and other motor driven vehicles be regulated and this is provided for by the law. Means of identification are essentially necessary and for this reason the law provides for a metal tag to be attached on the front and on the rear of each vehicle, thereby furnishing means of identifying the car in the event that the speed limit is exceeded, or of reckless or careless driving, or in cases of accident where injuries have been inflicted to person or property.

In order that those who might not willingly obey the law would be forced to do so, the Legislature fixed a penalty for violations hereof declaring it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not exceeding $100.00 or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. It will be seen that it is within the power of the court to sentence a person violating the law by driving a car without two metal tags attached to it, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $100.00.

At the present time when every loyal citizen is doing "his bit" to support the Government and help carry on the great war, when thousands of the flower of the youth of our country have been called to leave home and bear arms, it would seem that there would not be a single person who would seek to evade his duty to his state in any manner, and those who are permitted to stay at home should do their utmost in every way possible to aid in the protection and preservation of the lives and property of all citizens, and especially of the families of those gallant men who have enlisted.

When a child is run over or knocked down by a machine and the driver of the vehicle has, by reckless driving, killed or crippled for life the son or daughter of one who has gone to the front to give his life to the cause of humanity, and it is discovered that the owner of the car could not be identified because the car was not numbered and he did not have manhood enough to stop and face what he had done, the people will realize what a "slacker" means in failing to comply with the law.

The sheriffs, constables and police officers are charged with the duty of enforcing the laws, and it is especially the duty of sheriffs and constables to see that all laws are observed, and for this reason they should arrest every person driving an automobile or other motor driven vehicle not having metal tags on the front and rear thereof as the law provides. These officials should bear in mind that it is a misdemeanor not to have the 1918 tags on all cars and if the owners of cars are slackers and not doing their duty they should be arrested.

It is hoped that everybody will furnish the sheriffs and constables with information as to every car not having proper tags, as the law is intended to apply to all alike. Tallahassee Record.

Nature's Error.

Suffern writes us that if nature had known what she was about when she made man, she would have given him two noses—one to have a cold in and one for general utility. Then you could get the first one amputated in the case of tonsils or an appendix and live comparatively happily ever after. We will call nature's attention to it.—Exchange.

Edward's Diplomacy.

Edward had been told repeatedly not to say he did not like food which was passed to him at the table. He was invited to a neighbor's to dinner and was offered cherry pie, which he did not care for. He tactfully said, "Well, I'm just crazy for cherry pie, but won't you just save it for supper?"

"PRODUCING NOT PROMOTING" BOARD OF TRADE RESULTS (BY THE SECRETARY)

The interest is ever increasing. At the last monthly meeting of the Board of Trade the attendance checked out as follows:

6 Seminole county merchants, 8 Sanford merchants, 2 lawyers, 1 minister, 4 fertilizer men, 1 teacher, 4 county commissioners, 3 bankers, 1 real estate man, 10 tourists and 85 farmers. We'll be looking for you tonight and at all following meetings.

We wish to thank Mr. Searcy of Longwood for his complimentary letter. It is encouraging to know that he appreciates the efficient work of the Board of Trade and more so because he takes time to write and tell us so. In his letter he also takes time to boost "his" Longwood and that makes us feel even better towards him. Longwood has a good citizen in Mr. Searcy, and Sanford thinks a lot of both the man and the town.

Oh, yes! we are again going to mention the question of advertising your product—specializing as you require individualizing in the selling. It means conservative reliable firms to handle your product and to secure the best results from those firms you must first specialize in your "pack"—there's only a demand these days for the best and when you have standardized and perfected your pack, begin on the consumer by telling the many millions through advertisement of your product, and almost at once $2.00 will be the minimum for the farmer for celery.

Let Ringling call in his advance agents and desist posting the gay signs of the lady "bare-back-rider" and at once his mammoth show will go broke. Let the fertilizer companies stop putting their products before you in the way of advertisement and soon they would lose their identity and go broke. If Sears Roebuck didn't send their catalogue direct to you, they would not be today receiving a minimum of four hundred thousand orders daily. Postum knocked a hole in coffee—that old established beverage, by advertising. Ford, through advertising has made a staple out of what was considered a joke only a few years ago and while we have been asleep Kalamazoo has through advertising produced a million house-wives who say "Kalamazoo" when they order celery and the consumers are glad to pay fifteen cents for two little stalks they packed and advertised. Sanford produces twice as much celery as the whole state of Michigan, but Michigan gets twice as much for her produce as does Sanford. Back your Board of Trade and that organization will, within reasonable time almost double the farmers' income on celery.

The Board of Trade wishes to sincerely thank Mr. B. W. Herndon, Mr. W. H. Byers, Chase & Co. and The Wakefields for the potatoes, celery, lettuce and jellies, used by the Seminole Hotel, Jacksonville last Tuesday. See the bill of fare in this issue of the Herald.

Since last Tuesday seventy-two allers honored the Board of Trade. They were out of the state people and all very much interested in Seminole county.

All the papers all over the state are full of the transportation question now confronting the growers and shippers. It is indeed time people were waking up and it is with pride that we state that the first commercial body to take up and go after this matter was the Sanford Board of Trade and the first paper to give space and thought and expression to this serious trouble

When a strong committee has been decided upon active work will be started to thoroughly familiarize every one with the vital issues involved in the war and the need by the government of strong financial backing. With this early preparation it is believed the maximum of subscriptions will be secured in this county when the selling campaign begins.

The Third Liberty Loan probably will be authorized in April, while the Treasury Department at Washington has given no intimation of the size of the issue, it is expected it will be larger than either of the previous loans.

 Natural gas is probably formed in the earth by a process of natural distillation from the animal and vegetable remains of past geological epochs, and is nearly the same product as is distilled from coal in the retorts of gas factories, only instead of the heat of fire the intense heat of the earth, allied perhaps by chemical decomposition, has caused its formation on a magnificent scale.

Sergeant Seth Woodruff is in the city on a furlough from Camp Johnson. Seth expects to leave for "Somewhere" soon.
Among the prominent visitors to the city is J. L. Betts, a large peach grower and planter of Woodberry, Ga. He is a brother of Chas. Betts of this city.
Eggsplants for sale. J. E. Spurgeon. 58-2tc

Mr. and Mrs. O'Bryan and daughter of Grand Haven were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waleman yesterday. Mr. O'Bryan is a prominent banker of Michigan.
All the participants in the grand concert next Tuesday night will be equipped with just the most delightful kind of encores with which to captivate the audience.

RUB-MY-TISM — Antiseptic Relieves Rheumatism Sprains Neuralgia etc. 39-26tc
George Kirkland, who will bring Kirkland's Circus to this city for the Red Cross Society Circus will arrive here today to arrange for the advertising campaign and other details.
The department was called to Sanford Heights last evening at 7:30 when fire-burning in the nearby grass threatened the home of R. A. Thomas of the postoffice force. However, the danger was averted before the department could reach the scene.

For Wood and heavy hauling see Murrell, or phone 378. 48-tf
Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Dew spent yesterday as the guest of Supt. J. F. McKinnon at the Carnes Hotel. Rev. Dew is a Baptist evangelist and is returning to his home after holding three meetings in Florida. He has conducted services in every state in the union. Mrs. Dew is a former pupil of Mr. McKinnon.
Expensive Hemstitching Machine just installed at the millinery shop of Mrs. H. L. Duhart. Ladies of Sanford are invited to call and see this machine in operation. Fourth and Sanford Ave. 13-tf

The gentlemen have been asked to give some of the male quartets they have previously sung and which the public has so well enjoyed including "Tenting," but they have prepared all new, bright and sparkling selections that will, we feel warranted in saying, please better than ever, and for encores they have some of the latest and most fetching things that tickle the risibles.
For Sale — Pepper plants fine stock. Two 300-foot beds. If sold in one lot during next 30 days. C. M. Stone Cameron Ave. near Celery Ave. 57-2tp
In the coming benefit concert Mrs. Wren McGuin has been requested to again afford the pleasure of hearing her inimitable "My Aunt Eliza." This always "brings down the house" and those who have heard it will be greatly pleased that they are to hear it again, while those who have not heard it will now have opportunity of enjoying this replete with quaint humor presentation.
Notice to Property Owners
Section 50 of Chapter 5596 of the Laws of Florida provides that "If the taxes upon any real estate shall not be paid before the first day of April of any year, the tax collector shall advertise and sell."
Please take notice that state and county taxes, if remaining unpaid, will become delinquent on April 1st.

Moral Aims of the War
Dr. Chas. S. Macfarland of New York, General Secretary of the Federal Council of Churches will speak at the Methodist church in Sanford Friday, Mar. 15, on the Moral Aims of the War. Dr. Macfarland was in Germany when the war broke out, and went on a special mission to the churches of the warring countries of Europe as the representative of the churches of America. He is thoroughly familiar with international problems, having written a number of books dealing with the war and world reconstruction.

The meeting in Sanford Friday is part of a nationwide campaign through the churches concerning the moral aims of the war, under the auspices of a committee of which Hamilton Holt, editor of the Independent is chairman and Ex-President Taft a prominent member.
Dr. C. A. Vincent, a prominent lecturer, now at Winter Park will also speak at the meeting Friday night on "World Reconstruction."
The public is invited.

A Knocker's Prayer
Oh Lord! I attended church this morning and I was called on to pray and I prayed. I prayed fervently and long and I asked for blessings for everybody—particularly, myself. But Oh Lord! I couldn't say in meetings some things I wanted to say, and since Thou sayest "go to thy closet and pray" I am doing as Thou biddest, and I beseech Thee to listen and answer my supplications. Lord, I am against the progress of this town and I am against those that are trying to help the town get ahead. I don't see any use in it and their efforts are interfering with my business. It is for this reason then, Oh Lord, that I am knocking. Thou knowest that for many years I have lived in this town and during all that time I have gone to church regularly except when it was raining too hard or was too hot or too cold, and Oh Lord! I have always contributed liberally when the collection plate was passed, yea, I give twenty-five cents each Sunday that I go and I also offer up beautiful prayers to Thee. I do this to impress the people with my greatness and to help them, just so far, and I think, Oh Lord! that doing such should fulfill every obligation, and I don't think, Oh Lord! that during the week, any persons should get out and try to do anything that is not within the regulations of the church—as I see it—and it is for this reason, Oh Lord that I am wrestling with Thee in an effort to have this progressive business stopped. I am making a good living here, Oh Lord! and though I may sin sometimes in doing it, Thou, Oh Lord! art a forgiving God, and when I pray to Thee, I feel better—for a time—and when I promise to discontinue some of the things I am prone to do, I believe Oh Lord, that Thou wilt let me by.
So now, most gracious God, listen to my prayer and answer it by stopping the progressive upbuilding of this town. Already my fingers scarcely ever touch the pie. I am not asked about the many things that take place hereabout. You know, Good Lord, that I opposed organizing the Home Guard, that I couldn't see any sense in spending so much of the Red Cross and to save me I can't understand why Thou shouldst sanction the Woman's Club and the entertainments they give from time to time. And Oh Lord! this Board of Trade is certainly putting me to the bad, and since I am always in close touch with Thee, I am coming to You straight asking that this organization may be put out of business; and the other ones too. We have too many people here now, and since I am satisfied with things as they are, I don't see any use in others trying to benefit things.
In conclusion, O Lord, if thou wilt answer this, my prayer, I promise to improve in Thy Grace and to show Thee my sincerity; I will begin next Sunday by increasing my contribution to thirty cents a week so as to help pay up my pastor's back salary and pay off the large debt hanging over my church. Amen.

Social Welcome for Miss Drane
Miss Josephine Drane of Lakeland, daughter of Congressman H. J. Drane, who arrived in Washington last week-laden with orange Wapsoms has been welcomed into congressional social circles. Miss Drane has spread the perfume of Florida among the wives and daughters of both houses of congress, and has been the guest of honor at a number of luncheons and dinners.
Mrs. Champ Clark, wife of the speaker of the house of representatives is to entertain Miss Drane the first of the week.
Miss Drane, aside from her social activities is spending much time on some important research work in the library of congress. She will remain in Washington until the middle of April. On account of illness in Congressman Drane's family, both Miss Drane and her mother cannot be away from the Lakeland home at the same time. When Miss Drane returns in April her mother will come to Washington for the rest of the season.—Tampa Times.

Miss Peaches Lefler entertained with a beautiful bridge party yesterday afternoon. It was a farewell party for her sister, Mrs. Braxton Perkins, who leaves Wednesday to make her home in Daytona. "Linda Lefler" was one of the most attractive and popular girls that Sanford has ever known and no young man has ever been more esteemed in the community than Braxton Perkins and it is with the deepest regret that we give them up. A number of Mrs. Perkins' intimate friends were invited in after the game to say good-bye. The house was most attractive, great bowls of "Amerrilla" were everywhere. The color scheme which was red was carried out in score cards and refreshments. Delicious ice cream, strawberries and cake were served. Mrs. George Fox won the prize, an embroidered card table luncheon set. Mrs. Eugene Roumllat cut the consolation, pair of silk hose. The guest of honor was presented with a lovely knitting bag. Those invited were Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. Archie Betts, Mis. Charlotte Hand, Mrs. Geo. Fox, Mrs. Dalger, Mrs. A. B. Wallace, Mrs. Claude Howard, Mrs. Hurt, Mrs. Roumllat, Miss Annie Parramore, Mrs. Jim Dodge, Mrs. Hal Wright, Miss Florence Frank, Mrs. Dens, Mrs. Ed. Lane, Mrs. Marlowe, Miss Annie Whitner, Miss Munson, Mrs. Cecll Butt, Mrs. Britt.

To the regret of their many friends Mr. and Mrs. Braxton Perkins will leave Wednesday to make their home in Daytona. The best wishes of the entire community follow them.
Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Bishop will entertain Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Watson, Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. Hadley of Philadelphia and Mrs. C. E. Bell at dinner this evening.
A. M. Martin of Palatka, representing the Crown Williamette Paper Co. was registered at the Hotel Carnes yesterday.
Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Flanagan announce the marriage of their daughter, Willie Mayo to Mr. Henry Bowen Crockett on Wednesday, the sixth of March, nineteen hundred and eighteen, Washington, D. C. The above announcements were received with much interest in Sanford, as the charming bride and her mother were the guests of Mrs. John Bennett this winter and were the recipients of much attention. The bride has a number of friends throughout the state who will join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Crockett a long and happy life.

Sgt. Seth Woodruff, Quartermaster's Corps is at home on a furlough. He expects to leave for France very soon.
Mrs. and Miss Madary of Philadelphia are spending some time in Sanford, the guests of Mrs. L. G Stringfellow.

The many friends of Mr. F. W. Wilmott will regret to learn of the critical illness of his mother in Orlando.
Miss Mary Irwin, after a most delightful trip to Miami is again the guest of her sister, Mrs. Cecil Gabbett.
Mr. and Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Parramore and Miss Annie Parramore spent Sunday at Daytona Beach.
Mrs. Papworth, Mrs. Lake, Mrs. Neal and Miss Adamson motored to Altamonte Saturday afternoon.

Deane Turner spent Sunday in Tampa, the guest of First Lieut. Metcalf, -17th Inf., U. S. A.
Dr. Green and Mr. Wilkins of Buffalo, N. Y., are spending several weeks at the Hotel Carnes.
J. L. Bardin, the genial representative of the Bradley Fertilizer was in town Saturday.
Miss Hazel McDonald spent the week end in Orlando visiting her parents.
George A. DeCottes left last night for Boston on a business trip.
John Russell is in Chicago, on business and pleasure combined.
Dr. O. J. Miller has returned from a business trip to New York.

Notice is hereby given that the board of county commissioners offer for sale one pair of mules, pair to be designated by the board. For information see commissioner in your district.

THE DOTS SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.

By Clifford Leon Sherman.

Dear Folks:—I am having a heap of fun with the map-reading course, and have learned nearly all of the signs we use, as you can see by the enclosure. It is perfectly fascinating work and the kids ought to enjoy it a lot, which I know they will if they try it. I made a map yesterday that the officer said was not "half bad." So I feel very much encouraged. When I asked him what sort of a sign I should use to show that there was a battle in progress, he told me to make SAMMY.

"THE 'RICH MAN'S WAR' A HATEFUL CALUMNY"

American Business Men Ready to Make Sacrifices Without Stint.

TAXES HERE AND ABROAD.

American Taxation the Most Democratic in the World.

By OTTO H. KAHN.

Nothing is plainer than that business and business men had everything to gain by preserving the conditions which existed during the two and a half years prior to April, 1917, under which many of them made very large profits by furnishing supplies, provisions and financial aid to the allied nations. Taxes were light, and this country was rapidly becoming the great economic reservoir of the world. Nothing is plainer than that any sane business man in this country must have foreseen that, if America entered the war, these profits would be immensely reduced and some of them cut off entirely, because our government would stop in and take charge; that it would cut prices right and left, as, in fact, it has done; that enormous burdens of taxation would have to be imposed, the tion the heavy taxation which is bound to follow the war for years to come and the shrinkage of fortunes through the decline of all American securities in consequence of our entrance into the war?

Not only is the "rich man's war" an absurd myth; the charge is a hateful calumny. Business men, great or small, are no different from other Americans, and we reject the thought that any American, rich or poor, would be capable of the hideous and dastardly plot to bring upon his country the sorrows and sufferings of war in order to enrich himself. Business men are bound to be exceedingly heavy financial losers through America's entrance into the war. Every element of self-interest should have caused them to use their utmost efforts to preserve America's neutrality, from which they drew so much profit during the two and a half years before April, 1917. Every consideration of personal advantage commanded men of affairs to stand with and support the agitation of the "peace-at-any-price" party. They spurned such ignoble reasoning; they rejected that affiliation; they stood for war when it was no longer possible, with safety and honor, to maintain peace, because they are patriotic citizens first and business men afterwards.

Our Income Tax and Taxes Abroad.

(1.) The largest incomes are taxed far more heavily here than anywhere else in the world. The maximum rate of income taxation here is 67 per cent. In England it is 42½ per cent. Ours is therefore 50 per cent. higher than England's, and the rate in England is the highest prevailing anywhere in Europe. And in addition to the federal tax we must bear in mind our state and municipal taxes.

(2.) Moderate and small incomes, on the other hand, are subject to a far smaller rate of taxation here than in England.

In America incomes of married men up to $2,000 are not subject to any federal income tax at all.

In England the income tax is:

4½ per cent.	on $1,000
6 ¾ "	" " " 1,500
7 ½ "	" " " 2,000

(These are the rates if the income is derived from salaries or wages; they are still higher if the income is derived from rents or investments.)

The English scale of taxation on incomes of, say, $3,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $15,000 respectively averages as follows as compared to the American rates for married men:

Income tax rate on	In England.	In America.
$3,000	14 per cent.	2-3 of 1 p. c.
5,000	16 per cent.	1 ¼ p. c.
10,000	20 per cent.	2 ½ p. c.
15,000	25 per cent.	5 p. c.

(If we add the so-called "occupational" tax our total taxation on incomes of $10,000 is 28 per cent. and on incomes of $15,000 34 per cent.)

In other words, our income taxation is more democratic than that of any other country in that the largest incomes are taxed much more heavily and the small and moderate incomes much more lightly than anywhere else and incomes up to $2,000 for married men not taxed at all.

(3.) It is true, on the other hand, that on very large incomes—as distinguished from the largest incomes—our income tax is somewhat lower than the English tax, but the difference by which our tax is lower than the English tax is incomparably more pronounced in the case of small and moderate incomes than of large incomes.

The "Excess Profits" Tax Here and Abroad.

Moreover, if we add to our income tax our so-called "excess profit tax," which is merely an additional income tax on earnings derived from business, we shall find that the total tax to which rich men are subject is in the great majority of cases heavier here than in England or anywhere else.

(4.) It is likewise true that the English war excess profit tax is 80 per cent. (less various offsets and allowances), whilst our so-called excess profit tax ranges from 20 per cent. to 60 per cent.

But it is entirely misleading to base a conclusion as to the relative heaviness of the American and British tax merely on a comparison of the rates, because the English tax is assessed on a wholly different basis from the American tax.

The American excess profit law (so called) taxes all profits derived from business over and above a certain moderate percentage, regardless of whether or not such profits are the result of war conditions. The American tax is a general tax on income derived from business in addition to the regular income tax. The English tax applies only to excess war profits—that is, only to the sum by which profits in the war years exceed the profits in the three years preceding the war, which in England were years of great prosperity. In other words, the English tax is nominally higher than ours, but it applies only to war profits. The normal profits of business—i. e., the profits which business used to make in peace time—are exempted in England. There, only the excess over peace profits is taxed. Our tax, on the contrary, applies to all profits over and above a very moderate rate on the money invested in business.

We Tax Normal Profits, They Tax Only War Profits.

In short, our lawmakers have decreed that normal business profits are taxed here much more heavily than in England, while direct war profits are taxed less heavily.

You will agree with me in questioning both the logic and the justice of that method. It would seem that it would be both fairer and wiser and more in accord with public sentiment if the tax on business in general were decreased and, on the other hand, an increased tax were imposed on specific war profits.

(5.) Our federal inheritance tax is far higher than it is in England or anywhere else. The maximum rate here on direct descendants is 27½ per cent. as against 20 per cent. in England. In addition to that, we have state inheritance taxes which do not exist in England.

(6.) Of her total actual war expenditures (exclusive of loans to her allies and interest on war loans) England has raised less than 15 per cent. by taxation (France and Germany far less), while America is about to raise by taxation approximately 28 per cent. of her total war requirements (exclusive of loans to the allied nations and of the amount to be invested in mercantile ships, which, being a productive investment, cannot properly be classed among war expenditures).

We men of business are ready and willing to be taxed in this emergency to the very limit of our ability and to make contributions to war relief work and other good causes without stint. The fact is that, generally speaking, capital engaged in business is now being taxed in America more heavily than anywhere else in the world. We are not complaining about this; we do not say that it may not become necessary to impose still further taxes; we are not whimpering and squealing and nagging, but—we do want the people to know what are the present facts, and we ask them not to give heed to the demagogue who would make them believe that we are escaping our share of the common burden.

IN THE RAIN

By S. GODFREY.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Ralph Allen left the train at Carlisle Junction. A heavy rain drove and splattered viciously on the platform; he buttoned his mackintosh closely around him and stepped under the projecting roof of the little station. The village was a mile distant and the prospect of floundering through the downpour, afoot was not agreeable. He muttered some adjectives relative to the weather, and was surprised to hear a feminine voice close to him ask:

"I beg your pardon; can you tell me the means of getting to the village at once? Of course, I mean a carriage."

Ralph threw his cigar, freshly lighted, across the track, then wondered why. He was not in the habit of discarding cigars upon being addressed by persons with whom he was not acquainted. He answered:

"Doh! I'm sure, I hope—er, a carriage can be secured. I had decided to wait inside for a time."

He opened the door and bowed as she passed through, observing that her attire was faultless, and tried to imagine what brought her to this deserted country station. Ralph inquired of the ticket agent if he could get a carriage to drive to town at once, and being informed in the negative, seated himself beside his new acquaintance.

"There doesn't seem to be any way out of it," he said, "unless we walk."

"Then I suppose I must wait for the rain," she said.

"We if you do not object," he corrected, "I should be honored to act as porter," glancing at her valise, "and escort."

"Thank you indeed, if you will be so good, though I fear it will be presuming too much upon your kindness."

"The kindness will be entirely in your allowing me to assist," he said. Through the haze of transparency of the veil he could distinguish handsome outlines, and eyes that shone and laughed. There could be no necessity for wearing it indoors. Her voice sounded as the voice of one he had heard often, somewhere. A suggestion of a soft, modulated drawl was pleasing. Who among his feminine acquaintances possessed that peculiarity of accent. Suddenly he turned toward her and scrutinized her intently.

It was in London, three years before, he recalled, that he had met her and after meeting her he had postponed his return to New York. Her party traveled to Paris and over the continent, and singularly, his plans took him to the same places. When they parted he had promised to write. But he omitted to include his street address in his missive, and she had no means of learning the location of his office. A moustache adorned the lip which had been smooth when she knew him in Europe.

"I've run out here on some live stock business, and as I'm not expected, there's no one here to meet me. Otherwise my transportation facilities would be entirely at your service."

"If it comes to that, it is I who should excuse myself for being here," she replied. "I have been invited to the wedding of a college friend, and thinking I could not come sent regrets. Then at the eleventh hour I managed to get away," smiling, "and so—"

"And so we're here." She looked at him questioningly. He wished he had an invitation to that wedding. He only said: "The rain has ceased. Shall we start?"

"Certainly, if you wish."
"I ought to introduce myself. My name is Ralph Allen. My home is in New York." The statement did not sound very smooth, but he had opened a subject.
"I am very glad to have met you, Mr. Allen. I can't thank you enough for bothering to help me tonight."
"I should like you, please, not to speak of that again. Once for all, it is a privilege. But it is so pleasant now. And I was thinking of a girl I knew once. She was very much like you. That's why I speak of her. You—you don't mind?"
"No; I should like to hear," she said slowly, looking away from him. Then he continued:
"She was in England several years ago, and we met." He spoke as though recalling memories to his own mind, and did not look at the woman at his side. "I only knew her a month, and perhaps I shouldn't have taken the liberty. But I couldn't help thinking—so much of her."
"And you?"
"I had to return to New York. It would not have been fair to tell her so soon."
"You think so? Selfish?"
"I wrote to her, and she would have answered, I thought, but I never heard from her."
"Tell me, do you make a practice of leaving your correspondents to guess at your address? She—she may not have known where to write?"
"I don't understand. She knew I lived in New York."
"You might have been thoughtful enough to mention your residence or your office number."
"That was like her, that remark. That's why I told you. Do you think she cared? Do you think she cared now?"
"Why—why don't you ask her?"
The satchel fell to the walk. He sought both her hands and held them in his.
"Do you, Mabel, do you?"
The veil was not over her face now, and she said:
"Yes; oh, yes."

AMERICANS' ONE GREAT IDEA

Happiness Has Principal Charm—The People Are the Most Idealistic and Imaginative.

"The Americans are the most idealistic and imaginative people in the world, and the most prosaic, because like Wordsworth, the most prosaic of poets, they believe in happiness, and happiness to them as to Wordsworth means 'mens sana in corpore sano'; every one efficient in the tasks of modern life, the least heroic of doctrines."

"I met a young American poet, handsome, and besides elated by winning some prize or other for a poem. He said to me in his arrogant way that poetry is a by-product of life. Why, I said, 'It is life itself.' 'I don't agree with you,' was all he condescended to reply. 'This young man expressed the American idea.'

"I think the English dislike of theories, etc., through their long history is because of their poetical minds and their preoccupation with personality and its freedom."

"The taste for scenery has this advantage over the taste for human nature; the heart is not bruised. Yet since scenery is never absurd as are poor mortals, neither is there laughter nor genial pity. We love scenery principally because the feelings it creates are tranquil and easily controlled so that we can enjoy our full measure of self-content; dealing with human nature, the poet cannot be the superior person nor can he be proud."—From the Letters of John Butler Yeats.

WAR CONTRACTS TAKEN OVER

Reminders of Federal League Days Held by Gedeon and Nunamaker, Now With St. Louis.

The St. Louis Browns took over two war-time contracts when they got the bunch of five players from the Yankees. These reminders of Federal League days are held by Joe Gedeon and Les Nunamaker, and are said to call for about $5,000 a year each.

on left with center-fronts even and finish for closing.
Next, close back seam of collar, then face and sew to neck edge.
Now, take the sleeve and sew lap underneath slashed edge as notched, turn over on outside on large "O" perforations and stitch free edges to position. Lap to small "o" perforations and finish for closing. Close sleeve of seam as notched. Face cuff and sew to sleeve as notched with small "o" perforation at top of cuff at seam of sleeve. Sew sleeve in armhole as notched, with small "o" perforation at shoulder seam easing in any fullness between notches. Hold the sleeve toward you when basing it in armhole.

Serviceable and trim in this cinnamon brown serge in semi-tailored effect. The shawl collar is of satin.

A semi-tailored frock of cinnamon brown serge is ideal for morning wear. The design shown here is trimmed simple with a deep collar of satin, also in brown. The waist closes in surplice style, the front being dark-fitted. Flare cuffs finish the long one-piece sleeves, while the two-piece skirt is laid in plait front and back and gathered at the sides. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards, 64-inch material, with 3/4 yard 27-inch satin for the trimming.

In attempting to make the dress, the home sewer is advised to follow the construction guide religiously. Begin with the waist, taking up dart in front. Bring together and stitch along corresponding lines of small "o" perforations. Plait back bringing slot perforations to corresponding small "o" perforations and tack. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched. Adjust 2-inch bolting under-neck at lower edge for a stay. Large "O" perforations indicate center-front of waist. Lap right front

A New Skirt For Spring Fabrics.

In joining the gorse in the beginning, the left side seam must be left free above the lower large "O" perforation in back gore and finish for a placket. Form plait in back gore creating on line of slot perforations, bring folded edge to corresponding line of small "o" perforations and press. Gather skirt at upper edge between "T" perforations.
Next, take up darts in stay, creating on small "o" perforations. Take

A stylish tunic skirt for separate wear in the spring. There are many materials in which it could be stylish with fancy or tailored blouses.

The separate skirt fills a place that nothing else can fill in the wardrobe of the well-dressed woman, and the models planned for development in fashionable spring fabrics are most attractive. An attractive tunic skirt is pictured today. It is a two-piece model, gathered at the top, the back gore laid in plait to form a panel and the front gore having a panel that hangs free. At the sides is gathered a tunic. Medium size requires 5 1/2 yards 36 or 44 inch wide material. If desired, the skirt may be made up in all-over lace or bordered materials most effectively.

up 1/4 inch seam at lower edge of stay and graduate seam into nothing at upper edge. Adjust stay to position underneath skirt with upper edges, center-fronts and center-backs even, bring the plait in back gore (to the right of center-back) to the double "oo" perforation near center-back of stay; attach gathers to position.

Take the front panel and turn hem at side edge on small "o" perforations. Adjust on skirt with center-fronts and upper edges even. Then take the tunic and turn hem at side and lower edges on small "o" perforations. For short tunic, refer to cutting directions; turn lower edge under 2 1/2 inches for hem. Gather upper edge between "T" perforations and adjust on skirt, with upper edge of tunic between the double small "oo" perforations in stay. Line of large "O" perforations indicates front of tunic.

Arrange belt around the waist with upper edge of belt about 1/2 inch above the top of skirt and close at left side.
If desired pockets may be added to the tunic and trimmed with buttons or braid.

Reason and Emotion.
What a mysterious conflict that is between the reasoning power, which keeps pointing out the right road, and an ill-regulated emotional faculty, which seeks to draw one along the wrong road. Indulging the wrong habits always makes the upward path so much steeper and the downward path so much easier. How fortunate that man is whose false steps are arrested by a friendly touch of common sense disguised in a flash of satire!—Sir George Reid.

Strict Regulation.
Freeman was visiting at his grandpa's home, and as he was a mischievous little chap, was constantly being told, "Don't do this," and "Don't do that." Finally, with a look of disgust on his face, he climbed up into a chair and asked, seriously, "What can a fellow do in this house, anyway?"

An Effective Blouse in Satin

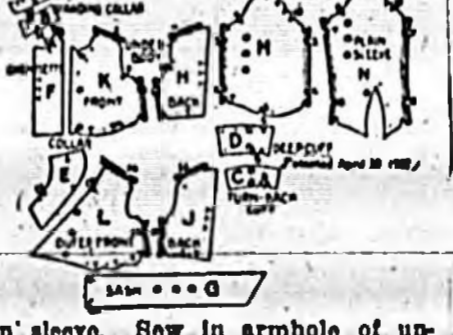

Gray satin and narrow silk sateen braid combine to make this attractive separate blouse. Large collar finishes the open neck and the arrangement of the front is original.

Gray satin is utilized in the development of this charming blouse for separate wear. It is trimmed with braid only, the splendid lining requiring little in the way of ornamentation to brighten their stylish effect. The open neck of the blouse is finished with a large collar perforated for rounded outline in front. Each end are tacked at the sides of the blouse and tied at the back. In medium size the design requires 2 1/2 yards 36-inch satin with 1/2 yard 36-inch lining for the underbody.

There is a chemisette with high neck. If the open neck is not desired. If the underbody is made without chemisette, face front from neck edge to 3 inches beyond small "o" perforations. Face around armhole edges of front and back about 3 inches deep. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched. Turn hem in front at notches; large "O" perforations indicate center-front. Plait lower edge placing "T" on corresponding small "o" perforations and tack. Adjust 2-inch bolting to position underneath underbody at lower edge for a stay.

Next, close the sleeve seam as notched and gather lower edge between "T" perforations. Line deep cuff, lap to small "o" perforations and finish for closing. Face turn-back cuff and sew to lower edge of deep cuff as notched. Sew deep cuff to lower edge of sleeve as notched, with small "o" perforation at top of cuff at seam of sleeve, and opening in cuff at small "o" perforation

In sleeve. Sew in armhole of underbody as notched, with small "o" perforation at shoulder seam easing in any fullness between notches. Hold the sleeve toward you when basing it in armhole.

The outer waist is now taken up. Plait lower edges of front and back placing "T" on corresponding small "o" perforations, turn the plait toward the under-arm seam and tack. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched. Large "O" perforations indicate center-front. Arrange on underbody, center-fronts, center-backs and under-arm seams even; slash lower edges to position. Lap right front on left with center-fronts even and finish for closing.

Face the collar and sew to outer waist as notched, center-backs even. Then, gather the sash ends between "T" perforations and adjust on outer-front at lower edge between the two small "o" perforations, drawing gathers to fit the space between the perforations and finish with a buckle. Tie sash at back as illustrated.
