Sanford Police Call For Citizens 'Rally Against Crime'

The Sanford Police Department is calling for the entire community "to rally against crime" by "packing" the Sanford Civic Center next month, Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said today.

The June 10 forum will begin at 7 p.m., and serve as "a symbolic showing of support between the citizens of Sanford and their police force," he said.

The affirmative approach to crime prevention is being sponsored by the Sanford Police Department, in conjunction with the Seminole Citizens Neighborhood Watch Association and the Orlando based Crime Commission, Inc., Harriett said.

Among those expected to speak at the forum are law enforcement officers, city officials and 'We want every resident ...to join law enforcement officials...in taking an affirmative approach to crime prevention.'

—Chief Harriett

members of local Neighborhood Watch groups, Harriett said.

Also featured will be video displays, home and business security system demonstrations, a question and answer session and "plenty of crime prevention literature," said Sanford Crime Prevention Officer Mike Rotundo.

The event "will offer something for everyone," according to Rotundo, possibly even a "mini carnival" for children.

Mayor Bettye Smith is "urging everyone to take part" in the rally. "I'm excited about it and I know I'll be there," she said. "It's something no one should miss."

The rally's "overall objectives are to involve all of Sanford in a display of strength and unity and to show residents of all ages the ways they can become more involved in assisting the police department's efforts against crime," Harriett said.

Attendance "isn't mandatory, but is strongly recommended," the chief said. "We want every resident and business owner in Sanford to join law enforcement officials and city representatives in taking an affirmative approach to crime prevention."

According to Harriett, the forum "is a necessary part" of the department's "proactive, rather than reactive approach to crime."

He also said the event "is an innovative approach" to crime prevention and one that may be offered periodically.

"We want the rally to instill a spirit of cooperation in Sanford," the chief said. "And we'll rekindle this spirit with other rallies whenever we feel it's necessary."

New Signs Of Fallout In 17 Cities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government says its monitoring stations have found new signs of radioactive fallout from the Soviet nuclear accident in air and rainwater in 17 cities across the country, including Orlando.

In some cases, concentrations of radioactive substances were higher than they had been in earlier measurements in the same areas, but the government task force assessing the April 28 accident said the doses pose no danger to public health.

The radiation levels found in Orlando's air are so small that Dan Thosa, public service physicist with the Florida Office of Radiation Control, said that they could not be measured by the normal particle filter.

A special charcoal filter has found a trace of iodine-131 that would amount to 0.3 millirems per week exposure to a child. A chest X-ray exposes a patient to 10 millirems to 20 millirems, Thosa explained.

Guidelines established by the Food and Drug Administration in 1982 call for special protective action to be taken if radioactive iodine-131 is detected at levels of 130,000 picocuries per square meter or above. The highest of the radiation figures reported Tuesday is less than 10 percent of that level, the task force said.

A picocurie is one-trillionth of a curie, the unit used to measure radioactivity.

Critics of nuclear power complained during a Capitol Hill news conference that the government has been "irresponsible" in saying the radiation detected in the United States presents no danger.

William Hamilton serves typical Meals on Wheels lunch to, from left, county commissioners Bill Kirshhoff, Sandra Glenn, Fred Streetman and Bob Sturm.

Commissioners Served 'Wheels' Meal

By Sarah Fischer
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners ended their Tuesday morning work session on a tasty note, when they were served a special lunch by two special citizens.

William and Alceha Hamilton, Seminole County's ambassadors for Older American's Month, presented the meals on behalf of the Meals on Wheels program, sponsored by the Federation of Senior Citizen Clubs of Seminole County.

"We're here to let you see some of what you have helped do," Mr. Hamilton said. "Over the years the county commission has stood by us in one way or another and we hope you will continue to support us, to feel (the program) is necessary."

Meals on Wheels supplies meals to older residents, but also adds "a little conversation so they won't feel alone," he said.

Program volunteers serve over 250 meals each day to the homebound elderly in Seminole County, said Valerie Barber-Simpson, manager of the Casselberry Senior Center.

As the county's older citizen ambassadors during the month of May, the Hamiltons have attended a number of events, including the Senior Fair at the Orlando Expo Center, a ceremony to honor World War I veterans at the Orlando Naval Training Center and the Senior Festival at the Sanford Civic Center, she said.

County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm called the Hamiltons, "outstanding examples of true and unselfish humanitarians who have given their best to help others."

Authority Cold On Pool Plan

The Sanford Airport Authority has indicated it will sink city commissioners' efforts to transform the airport's pool into a municipal swim center.

If so, City Commissioner Bob Thomas feels no expense should be spared to build a municipal pool and he will "try to convince" his fellow commissioners to launch the project.

"We can't put a premium on developing something like this for our youth," Thomas said. "They're our most important asset."

According to Authority Chairman Kay Shoemaker, the authority has not formally addressed the city commission's pool proposal, although "the board's general consensus" is that allowing a public swim center at the airport would be dangerous and impact the authority's ability to secure liability insurance.

Shoemaker said the authority's position does not preclude its working with city commissioners "to find a middle class" the proposal, although both he and Authority Attorney Bill Hutchison intimated the session would not be a fruitful one.

City commissioners said last month they will take the pool proposal to the authority once city staff has completed a project analysis, including development of safety and parking measures to keep patrons away from the airport's taxiways and industrial areas.

However, according to Shoemaker, "You could fence in the (pool) area, but what's to keep people from wandering out? I see the situation as being potentially very dangerous."

Hutchison said locating a public swim center at the airport

'...I feel there's something about the municipal pool proposal that's made it a dirty word around here. I honest to God believe it never would have been addressed (by the commission) if I hadn't brought it up.'

—Bob Thomas
City Commissioner

"would be like mixing apples with pears," because the property is run "as an industrial operation, not a recreation area."

Hutchison also said the authority's ability to secure liability coverage and the rates it would have to pay if able to do so "would be severely impacted" if the pool was opened to the public.

The airport pool has not been utilized since January, when the Sanford South and Tennis Club discontinued its lease with the authority.

Shoemaker said when the club used the pool, the authority was able to exercise certain restraints over its patrons, including banning them from airport property if they were found wandering around the airport's taxiways or industrial areas.

Shoemaker said he doesn't see the authority having the same jurisdiction if the pool was opened to the public and that the matter is further complicated by the increased patronage that could be expected.

Drug Counseling Center Ordered To Close

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

A drug counseling center in Longwood, which has been operating for several weeks without the required city and state permits, has been given until 5 p.m. Friday to close down, according Longwood City Administrator Ronald Waller.

Waller told the City Commission Monday night that Friends in Recovery, Inc., located 308 N. East Lake St. in the Pounder's Square development, which applied for a city occupational license on Friday, needs approval of the Longwood Historical Commission before the license can be issued. Waller said he gave the center until Friday so that they would have time to make arrangements for their clients.

City Clerk Don Terry said the co-owners Daniel Glennon, psychiatrist, and Anne Reul, director, turned in an application Tuesday to go before the Longwood Historical Commission Thursday night. Terry said it is his understanding the center has been serving 13-15 patients.

Zoning approval is a prerequisite for both a city occupational license and the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services permit.

Stan Wagy, HRS program supervisor for alcohol and drug abuse and mental health, said Ms. Reul, owner and director of Friends in Recovery, Inc., has been given all the material to fill out and bring back to HRS. After it is received, HRS will make site visits before deciding to approve or disapprove the center.

Waller said the request for an occupational license is being held in abeyance pending a review by the Historical Commission and approval by the City Commission. The permit from HRS will also be required.

There seems to be something of a "Catch 22" in that Wagy said HRS requires city zoning approval and an occupational license before giving a permit.

In his letter to Glennon and Ms. Reul, Waller ordered them not to resume operation until the necessary permits are obtained.

Friends in Recovery has two components, a day patient program and an intensive out-patient program. The day patient program is being conducted from the Founder's Square address.

Tom Roll, counselor for Seminole County School System, said Friends in Recovery is just one of many private for profit counseling facilities that have opened. Representatives of the program asked for and were given a conference with several members of the school board staff several months ago and were told what they needed to operate and to be accredited, he said.

"The school system's official position is we do not endorse any private facilities," Roll said, "but there are certain things we look for and we are happy to advise parents on what is available. The only facility that the School Board contracts with is The Grove, a non-profit facility with government support, which provides evaluation, training, prevention, and in-service programs."

Dr. Glennon and Ms. Reul could not be reached for comment.

Official May Seek Commission Seat

A Lake Mary Planning and Zoning Board member is considering a run for a city commission seat, while the city's mayor is weighing the facts before deciding if he will seek re-election. Both made their comments to the Evening Herald Tuesday.

Planning and Zoning Board member Clay Simmons said he is thinking about the possibility of making a bid for a seat at the commissioner's table, while Mayor Dick Pasa said he will consider his children and profession as a Freedom Bank

Simmons, 41, has been a member of the P&Z board for seven months, and was previously a member of the city's Code Enforcement Board for eight months. Members of both boards are appointed by the city commission.

He is an attorney for the law firm of Stonstrom, McIninch, Julian, Colbert and Whigham, P.A., and is assistant attorney for the School Board of Seminole County.

He is a five-year Lake Mary resident, and he and his wife and three children previously lived in Ft. Lauderdale.

NATION IN BRIEF

New NASA Chief Plans Ahead Amid Claims Of Internal Dissent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new chief of the space agency says NASA must "keep its eye on the future" and that the Challenger disaster must not delay funding and, ultimately, construction of America's permanently manned space station.

Administrator James Fletcher, sworn in Monday to lead NASA out of its deepest crisis, planned a news conference today to announce the opening of competition to determine the final design of the planned space station.

The station design is expected to feature two large American laboratory modules, a third from the European Space Agency and a fourth from Japan in an $8 billion project mandated by President Reagan, who in 1984 called for the station's completion within a decade.

Some of the results of more than three months of NASA introspection following the Challenger accident appeared in testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee Tuesday and in an interview with Lawrence Mulloy, who until last week headed the booster project at Marshall.

NASA was misled by its own tests and failed to recognize the severity of space shuttle booster rocket joint problems when they first appeared, the agency's deputy administrator says.

And the man who directed the booster rocket project at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., said NASA's failure to make sure the joint seals were designed to withstand cold temperatures was a "serious oversight."

Soviet Dissident Meets Reagan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet dissident Anatoly Shcharansky, who thanked President Reagan personally for helping him win his freedom, returns to Capitol Hill for an appearance before a joint congressional committee.

Shcharansky's appearance today before the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe follows his whirlwind of activities Tuesday that took him to a ceremony at the Capitol Rotunda and a meeting with Reagan at the White House.

After his meeting with Reagan, Shcharansky said he was "very much" encouraged, and only hinted at differences between their approaches to dealing with the Soviet Union.

Shcharansky said he thanked Reagan during their 30-minute talk for a "strong, open position" that led to his release from a Soviet prison earlier this year.

President Premature In Praise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The accent was on education. The audience: a group of high school students. But President Reagan could have landed a falling grade in current events for a premature cry of victory in his crusade for tax reform.

Speaking Tuesday to more than 140 visiting graduating seniors from John A. Holmes High School in Edentown, N.C., Reagan praised the Senate for passage of a tax reform bill that only last week cleared the Senate Finance Committee.

Three times, Reagan indicated the bill had passed the Senate.

Afterward, top presidential aides shrugged off the error.

Woman's Touch Assured

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Two parties in two Nebraska primaries picked two women — for the first time in U.S. political history — as gubernatorial candidates to clash in a state's general election.

State Treasurer Kay Orr, a hard-core conservative, won a tight Republican race, and former Lincoln Mayor Helen Boosalis easily won the Democratic nomination, assuring the Cornhusker state will elect its first woman governor.

In Washington, the National Women's Political Caucus said its records showed no state had ever nominated women for governor in both major parties at the same time. Presently there are two women governors, Martha Layne Collins of Kentucky and Madeleine Kunin of Vermont. Both are Democrats.

HBJ Folds Circus Tents, Plans Baseball Theme Park

ORLANDO (UPI) — Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, the publisher, wasted no time in shutting down Circus World after buying the attraction Tuesday in an $18 million stock deal.

The tourist attraction will reopen in eight months as a baseball park with thrill rides. It will be called "Boardwalk and Baseball."

Animal trainers and clowns lost their jobs when Circus World closed, but Jack Snyder, head of HBJ's Sea World Entertainment Division, said most of the park's 300 employees could pick up jobs at other area attractions, specifically Sea World and Cypress Gardens, which are both owned by Harcourt.

He said Harcourt will spend about $6 million on the new park, which will reopen with a baseball theme and will have two softball fields, a baseball field, a baseball school for children and fast rides.

Firemen Contain Swamp Fires

EVERGLADES CITY (UPI) — Firefighters managed to contain one Everglades swamp fire as they let a much larger one burn itself out, leaving more than 37,000 acres of swampland charred, a park official said.

Lightning Sunday ignited both fires, said Pat Tolle, a spokeswoman for the National Park Service. Neither injuries nor damage to structural property were reported, she said Tuesday.

Thunderstorms helped firefighters contain a fire covering at least 10,100 acres of the 560,000-acre Big Cypress National Preserve at about 6:00 p.m. Tuesday, she said.

Confiscated Fruit Reappears

AUSTIN, Texas (UPI) — Texas Department of Agriculture officials are trying to find out how a load of Florida citrus, confiscated last week in the Panhandle because of canker disease, turned up this week in an El Paso warehouse.

Richard Lowerre, assistant commissioner in the department's regulatory division, said Tuesday the citrus confiscated in Hereford and Plainview May 5-6 was seized again Monday at an El Paso warehouse owned by a Utah food store chain.

The fruit, two truckloads of fresh oranges and grapefruits, was seized because of a federal ban on citrus from Florida.

A 34-year-old DeLand man has been charged with sexual battery on a child in connection with alleged sexual involvement with a 9-year-old Lake Mary girl.

The girl and her mother, who is a friend of the suspect, reported on May 10 to Lake Mary police the alleged assaults, which reportedly occurred over a six-month period.

The girl told police she delayed telling her mother about the incidents because the man had allegedly threatened to hit her if she told. The girl also told police that when the man "touched her it hurt a lot," a police report said.

Ray Douglas Marple was arrested at the Lake Mary police station at 4:08 p.m. Monday. He was being held without bond.

DOGHOUSE ARSON
He didn't have a dog and now Gary Melco no longer has a doghouse. Melco said the doghouse was a leftover from the former owners of his home at 108 Coble Court, Wekiva Hunt Club Blvd., Longwood, and the structure burned at about midnight Monday.

Melco was asleep at the time of the blaze and a neighbor called the Seminole County Fire Department. Lt. James Van Wormer, who was on the scene, labeled the blaze suspicious.

Melco said he has no idea how the fire started, but he hasn't been plagued by vandals. The doghouse, which measured 4-feet-square, was destroyed, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

LATE RAPE REPORT
A 25-year-old Altamonte Springs woman waited 24 hours before she reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she was sexually assaulted by five men in woods between Oviedo and Winter Springs on Sunday evening.

The woman told sheriff's investigator Willie Chandler that she wanted to talk to someone else about the alleged attack before reporting it to lawmen.

The woman told Chandler she was walking in Altamonte Springs at about 8 p.m. Sunday when the men forced her into their van and took her to the woods.

She said she was threatened with a gun and raped by four of the five men. The fifth man, she said, fondled her. After the attack the woman was tied to a tree and managed to free herself, Chandler said.

The woman told deputies two of the men had "Outlaw" tattooed on their forearms. Chandler said the woman had no outward signs of physical injury as a result of the alleged abduction and assaults.

NO FREE RIDE
A 32-year-old Orlando woman who took a cab ride from Orlando to Longwood landed in the Seminole County jail after she couldn't pay the $23.70 fare.

The woman, who passed out in the City Cab enroute to Longwood, was awakened by the driver, whom she told to take her to the Monarch Refrigeration, Inc. building on County Road 427 at Bay Meadow Road.

When the cab arrived there at about 11:40 p.m. Monday the woman told driver Tom Wise she didn't have money to pay for the ride. She walked behind the business and hid under a fuel oil tank, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

When Wise found her, the woman reportedly told him her father would pay the fare if Wise would take her further down County Road 427, which he did, the report said.

When woman told Wise her father didn't live there he called the sheriff's office.

Barbara Diane Corn has been charged with theft of a service and released on $100 bond to appear in court May 21.

DRUG BELL BUZZ
Altamonte Springs police reported the arrest of an Altamonte Springs pair on charges of selling cocaine and marijuana after police allegedly saw the pair sell drugs from a car parked behind Brantley Square, State Road 436.

The pair reportedly sold over 20 grams of pot and two grams of cocaine as police watched at about 8 p.m. Monday. Police said $260 was paid for the drugs.

Tohnyia Robin Lenartolich, 18, and Thomas Dean Thornburg, 18, both of 1201 Bunnell Road, have been charged in the case and were being held without bond.

CHECK THEFT, FORGERY
A 22-year-old Tampa man has been charged with grand theft and uttering a forged after allegedly trying to cash a forged check which had been reported stolen in Seminole County.

The attempt to cash the $1,140 check was made at the American Pioneer Bank and bank employees, who had received a report of the check having been stolen, called Seminole County sheriff's deputies.

One of the persons whose name was on the Stinson & Highbaugh Title Agency check, Charles W. Stinson, was notified and he told deputies his signature was forged and he had not issued a check in the suspect's name, a sheriff's report said.

Richard Wayne Semour was arrested at the bank at 1:30 p.m. Monday and was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Semour allegedly told sheriff's investigator Ken Starr that he had cashed a similar check in Orange County and that he had been given the checks by two men. The money was reportedly to have been split between four persons, according to a statement the suspect made to Starr.

POT STOP
A Florida Highway Patrol trooper who stopped a car on Interstate 4 in Seminole County near the Orange County line reported arresting the driver and the passenger in that car.

The car was stopped because it was tailgating another vehicle and erratically changing lanes, an arrest report said. Once stopped, the trooper reported smelling marijuana inside the vehicle. He searched the car and reported finding a small quantity of marijuana.

Ruben Louis Gonzalez, 30, of 661 W. Lake Brantley Road, Maitland, and Iuan Silvano Del Rio, 22, of 1605 #112 Indiana Ave., Winter Park, have been charged with possession of marijuana. They were being held in lieu of $500 bond each.

CAR THEFT ARREST
A 46-year-old man without an address who was found sleeping in a car at an Interstate 4 restarea near Longwood, has been charged with grand theft auto.

The man was arrested by a Seminole County sheriff's deputy who determined through a police computer check that the vehicle the man was in had been reported stolen in Jackson, Miss. The man was also arrested on Polk County warrants for failure to appear in court.

James Marshall Allen was arrested at 2 a.m. Tuesday and was being held in lieu of $4,500 bond.

POTTED POT FIND
A Seminole County sheriff's deputy reported finding two potted marijuana plants near a dumpster behind the Christ Covenant Church in Winter Park at about 9 a.m. Monday. The plants were confiscated.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
About $200 was stolen from a cash box under a counter at the ABC Lounge, 1004 S. U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, between 11 p.m. Sunday and 8:30 a.m. Monday. Manager Robert Ruff, 42, of Altamonte Springs, reported the theft and Seminole County sheriff's deputies said there was no sign of forced entry.

A $650 masonry saw was stolen from a Britt & Associates construction trailer at 600 Britt Court, Longwood, between May 10 and Tuesday, according to a report a construction supervisor filed with sheriff's deputies.

Sheriff's deputies have the name of a suspect who may have stolen $235 cash, and about $250 worth of other items from the home of Dawn A. Carr, 23, of 325 Wymore Road #200, Altamonte Springs. At the time of the theft on Sunday a bicycle belonging to Richard Nelson, 27, of that same address, was vandalized.

Bessie M. Ernst, 49, of 114 Continental Blvd., Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies a burglar took a $100 radar detector from a camper and a lawnmower, a screen gun and other items, with a total value of $549, from her home between April 25 and Friday.

A Lake Mary man discovered the theft of items valued at nearly $400 from a storage shed on his property Saturday, according to a police report.

Stolen between Thursday and Saturday were a two-man bass boat, a fertilizer spreader, a set of oars, and a weed-wacker, the report said. The property owner searched the nearby lakefront, but found nothing, according to the report.

The items were stolen from the shed located at the home of Dennis M. Barborka, 36, 347 Lake Mary Blvd., the report said.

Two male juveniles were discovered climbing near the top of a water tower near the intersection of Country Club Road and Crystal Lake Drive in Lake Mary Sunday night at 9:46 p.m., according to a police report.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A Western storm that whipped up winds of 70 mph in Idaho and Montana blew into the Plains today, while a line of severe thunderstorms that drenched the nation's midsection rumbled into the Middle Atlantic states. The Pacific storm blasted Genesee, Idaho, and Butte, Mont., with gusts clocked at 71 mph Tuesday, but forecasters said the winds would diminish as the storm moved east. "Right now we have our eye on the possibility of severe thunderstorms in the central Plains," said Paul Fike of the National Weather Service. "The winds shouldn't be too much of a problem, but the storms could be intense." The storm prompted high wind warnings along the eastern slopes of the Rockies in northern Montana and gale warnings along the Washington coast. Blowing dust caused problems for travelers in parts of Washington. In the nation's midsection, showers and thunderstorms spread from Oklahoma to Indiana Tuesday. Showers were scattered from northeast Minnesota to western Wisconsin, where three-fourths of an inch of rain fell in 15 minutes near Ettrick. Showers also were scattered from southeast Ohio across much of the Virginias, northern North Carolina and northern Florida.

In west Texas, severe thunderstorms packing heavy winds and large hail spawned three tornadoes in Fischer County. The weather service said the fierce weather blew out several windows, but no major damage was reported. Several other possible twisters were spotted in the north Texas counties of Jones and Haskell, authorities said. Kenneth Martin, a sheriff's dispatcher in Nolan County, Texas, said hail the size of peas and golf balls fell in the northern part of the county. "I'm sure there's going to be a lot of busted windows and roofs out of it," Martin said. Temperatures were warm again Tuesday in the drought-stricken South, where highs registered generally in the 80s. Water shortages are predicted in some areas.

Threats Stifle Fraud Exposure

One of the hottest scientific papers of the year — maybe the hottest — may never be published in a scientific journal or fully debated by the scientific community, much less contribute to public awareness of what may be a major medical scandal.

The study, conducted and written by Walter Stewart and Ned Feder, two scientists at the National Institutes of Health, examined the work of scientists at two leading medical schools, Harvard and Emory, and found that many of them engaged in "questionable practices" and "fairly serious misconduct" in their research and writing of scientific papers. But the study, which was obtained by The New York Times under the Freedom of Information Act, has not been published because each journal to which it was submitted has been intimidated by letters from lawyers threatening libel suits if it is. As a result, it has been circulating privately, like a Russian "samizdat" publication, among university scientists.

The study was prompted by the scandal following disclosure that Dr. John R. Darsee, a researcher working at Emory and later at Harvard, had fabricated much of his data. Stewart and Feder, like many people, wondered whether Darsee's colleagues were careless in their methods. In trying to answer that question, they examined the work of 47 Emory and Harvard scientists who were co-authors of more than 100 scientific papers, abstracts or book chapters.

Stewart and Feder's study concluded that while the 47 weren't aware of Darsee's falsifications and hadn't themselves engaged in fraud, 35 of them had published papers with obvious errors and discrepancies; failed to preserve original data so that others could review it; misdescribed how experiments were actually done, therefore making their conclusions "look better than they actually were"; and published statements that they "knew or should have known" to be false. In some instances, the errors were so glaring — among them a study of a rare heart disease in which a father was supposed to have fathered a child at the age of 8 or 9 — that they should have been questioned by anyone reading them. In another case, data published in one paper was restated in another in such a way as to suggest that it was the result of a new experiment and not merely a restatement of one result already published.

Lawyers representing one of the scientists whose work is examined in the Stewart-Feder study argue that many of the errors challenged in the report are trivial or not errors at all, and some scientists argue that the findings may not be representative of the scientific community as a whole. But neither of those criticisms is ground for suppressing the report with threats of libel. On the contrary, it's all the more reason for the fullest possible exposure and debate.

As things stand now, no one will know for certain how right Stewart and Feder are, or how extensive fudging has become among the medical researchers whose work Stewart and Feder examined, much less anywhere else. With the cloud of libel hanging over such a debate, the whole enterprise is undermined. If there is no confidence in the legal right and ability of skeptics to challenge error and fraud in scientific research, there can be no confidence in the research, either.

Pedal Extremities In The Thinking Position

WASHINGTON (UPI) — We have been shopping so many times for "the man who has everything" we sometimes forget how difficult it is to find a suitable gift for the man who has nothing.

Fortunately, the latter problem has been solved in time for Father's Day this year.

For about $35, you can get dear old dad a "foot couch," which was designed for people who like to put their feet on the desk.

Granted, you probably also will have to buy him a desk to put his feet on. But that is a small matter.

Once old dad has his pedal extremities firmly fixed in a "feet up" position on a desk, you will have the peace of mind that comes from knowing he is in the height of fashion.

It used to be different. There was a time when you could be pretty sure someone who had his feet on the desk was taking a nap in the "eyes closed" position. But that was before political and business leaders started being pictured with Guccis elevated.

Among the political and business personages who have been photographed with feet on the desk lately are television executive Ted Turner and Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., head of the Senate Finance Committee.

"They think with their feet up," says the foot couch inventor, Mark Brenner, and who is to dispute that male heels at least level with the male brain might be an aid to cerebration? Not to mention how comfortable that position is.

No less a literary personage than Henry David Thoreau once wrote that, "Heaven is under our feet as well as over our heads."

Imagine Thoreau at Walden Pond, feet up, perhaps propped against a tree trunk.

Or if your head can't bring in that image, possibly because it is too far above your feet, maybe you can imagine Brenner inventing the foot couch.

"The idea came to me one day when I was reading a business magazine and noticed pictures of three leading executives with their feet on their desk," he reports. "They seemed relaxed and self-confident."

So Brenner came up with a padded foot rest that makes it possible to look relaxed and self-confident without scarring the desk top.

If you want to put muddy feet on the coffee table at home while reading or listening to music, do so at your own risk.

One reason the "suggested retail price" for the foot couch varies is because some models vibrate. They have battery-powered motors that can be activated by "a pressure sensitive switch."

Other deluxe models have leather cushions attached to marble bases. But remember, price is no object. Nothing is too good for the feet of the man who has nothing.

Some business and political leaders have reclining chairs as well as convenient desk tops. No wonder they think so well.

I propose that, despite budgetary strictures, we go the rest of the way and provide all our senators with desk-top couches they can lie down on as well as put their feet on.

Had Brenner been supine at the time, he might have invented a desk-top couch for the head.

Canadian Economic 'Justice'

Political conflict over the workings of the economic system continues in all the countries of the Western world. In the United States and Great Britain, political victories in recent years have gone to believers in a free economic system and a system of incentives for enterprise. Witness the triumphs of President Reagan and Prime Minister Thatcher.

Fiscal conservatives also have enjoyed success in Canada. However, the on-going struggle over tax policy in Canada indicates the continuance of a broader conflict over ideas of economic and social justice. The Canadian debate has relevance for Americans.

In recent weeks, the Canadian federal budget came under attack as "unjust and immoral" from a national organization that has the backing of a coalition of major churches. The organization called Citizens For Public Justice complained that the Canadian government isn't planning to collect enough in taxes from corporations and affluent citizens.

With the support of spokesmen from Canadian churches, the group called for a massive "social development" fund and insisted that the government establish a guaranteed annual income of $19,000 a year for a family of four. The handsome guaranteed income would be financed through a surtax on companies and individuals with incomes of more than $40,000.

No doubt self-reliant Canadians will find it disturbing that the government should be called on to provide a guaranteed income, especially at this astonishingly high level. No sound rationale exists for this subsidized existence.

As for the surtax, one wonders whether the leaders of Citizens for Public Justice even considered the effect of a surtax on a family's incentive for earning more income. These days, of course, many, if not most, families include two wage earners. Why should husband and wife work hard if they are to be compelled to provide a guaranteed wage for others?

Behind the guaranteed annual wage and surtax plan is the notion of so-called "distributive justice," that justice consists of taking from the haves and giving to the have-nots. Basically, that's socialism. And while socialism is a total failure as an economic system, it continues to appeal to many who want to radicalize society in Western countries.

USSR Bragged About Nuclear Safety

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The Soviet government's appallingly cavalier attitude toward the dangers of nuclear power came as no surprise to us. Two years ago this month, when we reported secret details of earlier Soviet nuclear accidents, the Soviet Embassy here responded with a smart-aleck letter ridiculing our revelations.

The wisecracks of the embassy information officer, Eugene Zytov, must have turned to ashes in his mouth since the nuclear disaster at Chernobyl last month. His letter's tone of mingled sarcasm and bragadocio was tragically inappropriate in light of what is now confirmed about the Soviets' shocking failure to build and maintain nuclear reactors with a rudimentary concern for safety.

One grim disclosure we made two years ago, citing secret and top secret CIA reports, was that many hairless sailors were in Soviet veterans' homes, suggesting overex-

CHUCK STONE

Hold Hands For Poor

They may seem like completely unrelated topics, but I have been thinking about the Soviet Union's recent nuclear disaster in connection with President Reagan's passionate belief in volunteerism.

My thoughts have been prompted by "Hands Across America," which takes place on Friday, May 25, when an expected — or rather, hoped-for — 5.4 million Americans will join hands to raise funds for our country's poor.

Yes, I'm mixing concerns. Those who want to feed and house the hungry and homeless do not necessarily want to stop the production of nuclear weapons. Still, I can imagine a day when a straight line of humanity could stretch across two continents, bridging the Bering Strait's 60 miles, to save mankind from a nuclear holocaust.

How else can the need for an alternative to nuclear weapons be dramatized? How else can humanity survive?

The Chernobyl accident reminds us of the possibility for an uncontrollable, population-declimating nuclear catastrophe. Unfortunately, political realities dictate the impossibility of forging a bilateral peoples' coalition urging both nuclear superpowers to pull back from the brink of extinction.

The Russian people are no more enamored of their self-destruction than Americans. But the Russian people suffer an awesome disadvantage. They cannot publicly act out, much less express in words, their fear of radiation fallout from Chernobyl.

Bi-national reciprocity to protest a nuclear holocaust is something that an American columnist can write about, but no Russian commentator would dare mention.

Whatever the future potential for such a people-to-people movement against nuclear weapons, it's not too far-fetched to suggest its realization might depend in part on the success of such participatory ventures as "Hands Across America."

An outgrowth of "USA For Africa," the "Hands Across America" project hopes to raise millions of dollars for America's hungry and homeless.

The logistics of carrying out this humanitarian effort are staggering — 4,100 miles, 5.4 million people (1,320 participants per mile) in a line that will stretch from the surf in Los Angeles to Phoenix, Albuquerque, Amarillo, Dallas, Little Rock, Memphis, St. Louis, Chicago, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Toledo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Philadelphia and, finally, to the Statue of Liberty in New York City.

Several weeks ago, when I first read about "Hands Across America," I shrugged it off as some organizer's eleemosynary hustle. But then, early on, many people reacted with similar lack of interest to last year's two-continent "Live Aid" concert, which raised millions of dollars for famine victims in Africa.

This time, Americans are taking notice.

"This is a once-in-a-lifetime situation. This is a moment in history!" enthused singer Kenny Rogers who — along with Bill Cosby, Pete Rose and Lily Tomlin — is helping to run the event.

The outpouring of corporate support, student fund raising and sports team endorsements has been phenomenal.

When the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phillies play in L.A. on May 25, they will also participate in "Hands Across America."

Breast X-Rays Now Safe

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A newly announced technological advancement that will decrease the dose of radiation used in mammography has doctors hoping more women will opt for the procedure that can detect breast cancer at its earliest stages.

Mammography, which uses X-rays to screen for tumors, has been touted for over a decade by the American Cancer Society as a way to detect breast cancer while it is still treatable.

But the organization estimates only 13 percent of women at risk for breast cancer undergo mammography on a regular basis.

"There is still a great concern in the minds of many women about having an X-ray," said Dr. Arthur I. Holleb of the cancer society. "Yet the doses are so low now it's negligible — if it's a threat at all."

Holleb said when mammography was first introduced in the 1960's, the radiation dose was high enough for physicians and patients to worry that the screening procedure was more dangerous than beneficial.

At the time, a mammography exposed women to 8 rads — a unit of measurement for radiation, said Holleb. Technological advances in X-rays and film has lowered that to .06 rads and in early May the Eastman Kodak Co. company announced another technological breakthrough that will lower the dose of radiation from mammography to .02 rads.

"We have to convince American women that mammography is safe and extremely beneficial," said Holleb. "In some cases, we have to convince their physicians as well."

The cancer society recommends that women aged 40 to 50 have a mammography every two years and women over 50 undergo the procedure annually. The society also recommends women have a preliminary mammography sometime around their 35th birthday and that women with a history of breast cancer in their families start annual screening in their 30s.

But the vast majority of American women forego the X-ray procedure and rely on self examinations to screen for the deadly disease.

The doctors said X-rays can find evidence of breast cancer at its earliest stages, before it has time to spread to lymph glands and other organs of the body. The slogan often quoted by doctors supporting mammography is "We can see it before you can feel it."

School Board To Select Food Service Consultant

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

A food service consulting firm may be selected by the School Board of Seminole County Wednesday afternoon. The firm chosen will study county school lunch rooms and make recommendations for improving the cafeteria service, according to the time frame of the study set last February.

The meeting will be held at the school board offices, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford, at 2 p.m.

The firm selected will enter into contract negotiations with the school board, according to Carey E. Ferrell, county assistant superintendent for business and finance. If the board chooses the top ranked company, and a contract cannot be negotiated, the second ranked company will be contacted, Ferrell said.

An area of specific study will be the county's satellite program, in which schools without food preparation areas are sent meals from other schools for student consumption, schools spokesman Karen Coleman said.

About half of the 41 schools in the county are without food preparation areas, but the school board is acting to have food prepared at all schools within five years, school officials have said.

Following the school board's review of the consultant's report and recommendations, the board will act on the recommendations, and implement the new plan. According to the implementation plan time-line announced in February, the plan is to be implemented in October. Sixteen firms were interviewed and ranked last week by the food service steering committee, which includes Ferrell, other school administrators, a parent, school board member Bill Kroll, and Eldon Chambers, county food service director.

The highest ranked firms are: 1) Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company, Miami and Orlando; 2) MDR and Associates, Clearwater; 3) MGT of America, Tallahassee; 4) McBride Marketing Solutions, Orlando; 5) SAGA Food Service, Altamonte Springs.

The county school food service program had been operating at a financial loss until the current school year. According to Ferrell, the food service program lost $250,000 during the 1984-85 school year, while a profit of $113,000 is projected for the 1985-86 school year.

Kroll advocated using an outside consulting firm for study last February when the school board voted to continue county control of the food service program.

Some food service employees saw Kroll's request for a study as a ploy to switch the food service to an outside management firm, a charge which Kroll has denied, saying all he wanted was an outside opinion of county schools food service program.

"I'm surprised to see the quality of the companies we interviewed," Kroll said. "I was not aware of so many companies that well qualified to do the type of study we need," he added.

Solons Say IRS Spending Money It Doesn't Have

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Taxpayers, strained by the demands of the Internal Revenue Service, might be pleased by some criticism a House subcommittee gave the IRS for spending money it has not collected yet.

At a hearing Monday, a House Ways and Means oversight subcommittee conducted its own audit of the IRS' operations and criticized the tax collection agency for spending money as if a $340 million supplemental appropriation still pending before Congress already had been approved.

Acting IRS Commissioner James Owens acknowledged the agency has been operating on the assumption that the extra fiscal 1986 funds would be approved. But the measure, which has passed the House, has yet to clear the Senate, and President Reagan has threatened to veto the total $1.7 billion bill because it contains several provisions he dislikes.

"The Internal Revenue Service now finds itself in a great crisis, and the American people are going to be hurt by it," said Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Texas, chairman of the subcommittee.

Pickle and other subcommittee members criticized the IRS for failing to request an adequate 1986 funding level in the first place. The agency first proposed a fiscal 1986 budget with lower spending than its 1985 levels, and now is begging for a supplemental appropriation.

If the $340 million is not provided, Owens said, the IRS would run out of money well before Sept. 30.

"Our new insulation supports my puttering and then some. The surprising thing is that FPL paid for part of it."

Not surprising at all. FPL is encouraging everybody to manage their energy efficiently because lowering peak energy demand delays the need for new power plants — an expense everyone must share.

By insulating your ceiling, or adding to your existing insulation, you'll use less air conditioning. And you'll lower your bills as you lower your demand for electricity.

We'll send out an energy specialist to advise you on how much insulation you need. We'll even pay for part of the work.

Chamber To Meet On MTA

The Metropolitan Transportation Authority proposal to go before the voters on June 3 will be discussed by a panel of local business leaders and government officials Monday at the monthly meeting of the Longwood/Winter Springs Area Chamber of Commerce.

The issue of whether or not to use local revenue to improve roads has become one of the hottest local issues in the tri-county Central Florida area, according to a chamber official.

A referendum slated to go before voters in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties, if passed, will enable the MTA to fund road projects through a gas tax of four cents and a $1 per $1,000 assessed value property tax.

The luncheon meeting will be held at 11:45 a.m. at the Quality Inn-North, 2025 W. State Road 434, Longwood. Cost is $5 per person and it is open to the public.

For reservations call the Chamber's executive office at 774-7880.

Backlash To Terror

U.S. Arabs Face Wrath In Midwest

By Tom Tiede
DEARBORN, Mich. (NEA) — Eddie Hammad takes a sip of thick coffee, stares at an untouched breakfast plate, and says that he hates to read the newspapers anymore. Every time something happens to someone in the Middle East, he complains, something also happens to his automobile here in the Middle West.

In 1979, for example, when Iranian students seized 63 Americans at the U.S. embassy in Tehran, somebody cut into and let the air out of Hammad's tires. In 1983, when fanatics blew up 241 U.S. marines and sailors in Lebanon, somebody scratched a series of crossmarks and epithets on Hammad's fenders.

Finally, last month, when the United States sent war planes over Libya to bomb the strongholds of international terrorism, someone tossed a large rock through Hammad's windshield and then deposited excreta on the dashboard, under the floor mats and inside the glove compartment.

No, Hammad says it's not some runaway coincidence. He says he is under convenient attack. He is a Palestinian immigrant (he is likewise using an interview alias and doesn't want his occupation known), and he says he and his 1978 sedan are subjected to public abuse whenever events in the Arab world make headlines.

What's more, they are not alone. There are more than 3 million Arabs living in the United States, and many of them are similarly beleaguered. Arab leaders say people of Middle East parentage have become the most hated minority in the nation, and the threats against them are now public and widespread.

Usually, the threats are merely rhetoric. Arabs have been ragged in street graffiti and on popular lapel buttons. But the FBI says the backlash has turned violent on occasion: as a result, most Arabs in the nation have entered what the authorities call a "zone of danger."

The FBI says someone detonated a pipe bomb last year outside the office of an Arab civil rights group in Boston. And an Arab activist was murdered a few months ago in California. All told, the U.S. Civil Rights Commission reports that it has received 35 major complaints of abuse since the start of 1985.

Many of those complaints have come from the southeast part of Michigan, specifically the Detroit suburb of Dearborn. There are 250,000 Arabs living in the area, 20,000 alone in Dearborn, and Eddie Hammad says he has almost gotten used to being jeered at, and sometimes jolted by, others in the community.

"I took my nephew to a park a few weeks ago. It was the first nice day of the season, and we wanted to eat some sandwiches and play catch with a baseball. We couldn't stay there, though. Some guys came through in a gang and forced us to leave. They said they wanted to get the 'sand niggers' out of Dearborn."

Hammad says he was furious, of course. But he was also convinced the gang meant what it said. He says the members hid behind patriotic motives, for one thing. They claimed they were sick and tired of Arab arrogance and Arab terrorists, and they were striking back for the good of the nation.

Besides that, Hammad says the bullies were also racially motivated. He says they were acting in what they thought to be the interests of Dearborn. Hammad says the town was settled in large part by white people fleeing from the black population of Detroit, and they brought their prejudices with them.

Apparently, the prejudices have become municipal policy. Hammad says black families have virtually been banned from Dearborn. But the Arabs have moved into the vacuum, they have taken over whole neighborhoods on the south and east sides of town, so Hammad says the white majority has redirected its bigotry.

And he adds that he knows this from experience. He has been fighting for Arab rights for many years: "I got into it during the Arab oil embargo of 1973-74. People started shoving us around at that time. I spoke out against the various discriminations, and I can tell you about a lot of terrible things."

Hammad says he knows Arabs

Islamic cupolas mark entrances to shops in Dearborn, Mich. In the late 1940s, Arabs began to migrate to the Detroit area.

whose homes have been invaded by people waving American flags. And he is related to a woman who had her headdress pulled away while she was in a market. He says Arabs have been pushed from the sidewalks again and again, and they don't stroll in some parts of Dearborn at all.

"I myself have gotten calls in the night," he continues. "That's when I used to speak out freely and appear on TV. Then my wife got some of the calls, and after that they went for my children. I still talk about the discriminations. I still want everyone to know, but I don't use my name anymore."

He doesn't use his car anymore, either. He says he stored it soon after the feces was put on the seats: "Can you imagine? Who would do such a thing? The country should blush. I am an American for 20 years, and I am ashamed. It's more than intolerance now; it's just one more form of terrorism."

4 Win School Logo Contest, Design Work To Continue

Four winners have been selected in the School Board of Seminole County logo contest. The contest was held as part of the process of creating a new logo for the county school district. The winning designs will be considered for incorporation in a new logo, to replace the old logo, a school crosswalk crossing sign.

A total of 32 entries were received, and many ideas from the drawings are being considered by the graphic arts staff at the county schools offices.

Grant Winstrom, 9, Forest City Elementary School, won in the 10-years-old and under age group. He also had a second place entry, while Jason Perry placed third.

Truong Nguyen, 13, Lakeview Middle School, won in the 11-14 year-old age group. Rebecca Lents placed second and David Tindall was third.

Steven Hoeft, 18, Lake Mary High School won in the 15-18 year-old group, while Kathleen Hodak placed second and Bruce Bloquent was third.

James Fierro, a Seminole High School teacher won in the 19-years and up division. Joyce Hillerman-Wagner placed second followed by Marjorie Turner.

Design work on a new logo continues according to schools spokesman Craig Orseno, who said the school board will eventually make the final selection.

All those who submitted a logo for consideration will receive a certificate of appreciation for their work.

Students Recognized For Free Enterprise Projects

Lyman High School students meant business during their recent Free Enterprise Fair. Students individually or in small groups developed mock marketable goods or services during the five week program, and got some advice from area business leaders.

David Sims of Sims Office Equipment discussed starting a business and Glenn Martin of Financial Security Corporation of America talked about opportunities in today's market, according to Lyman teacher Kay Buckner.

Winners in the "goods" category included first place team members Kimberly Kaplan, Tina Litter, and Dawn Mantl for their "Fruit Chuz," a bubble gum in the shape and flavor of assorted fruits. The "service" category was won by Stacey Simon, John Bane, and Lori O'Casek, who designed "Kids Party Palace," a children's party planning service.

Second place in the goods group were Deena Kaplan and Amy Hoskins for "Stumpkins" hand-made dolls.

The student projects were judged by Dr. Robert Pennington and Barbara Moore of UCF's Economic Center for Education and Jim Elliott, Social Studies Coordinator for Seminole County.

Seminole Project: Replace QB Blake

Nelson: '86 Rams May Be Best Team; Bloomingdale: Lyman Defense Excels

By Scott Sander
Special to the Herald
Spring football practice passes the midway point for Seminole Athletic Conference team this week. Following the first week of contact drills, coaches are beginning to evaluate their talent and place players at the positions that will best help the team in anticipation of the annual spring jamboree.

A position very much up in the air at Seminole is quarterback. Due to All-SAC performer Jeff Blake's motorcycle-automobile accident on Sunday, May 4, Blake was riding his 1985 Suzuki westbound on State Road 46 when a southbound vehicle at Mellonville Road pulled in front of him. The bike, according to police reports, struck the 1980 Nissan roadside. Blake suffered a compound fracture of his right humerus bone in his leg, a broken right arm, and 40 stitches to his right knee.

Blake is currently resting at Central Florida Regional Hospital. He is scheduled to undergo surgery on his right leg Thursday. Blake said a rod will be placed in his leg and rehabilitation will take at least a year. Despite the bad luck, Blake has remained in good spirits. "I'm doing okay," Blake said from his hospital bed on Monday. "The accident was really scary. I'll never ride a motorcycle again."

Due to the severity of his leg injury, Blake, who will be a senior next fall, will probably miss the entire football season. "It is very tough for me to all but right now," Blake said. "I was really looking forward to playing this year but the doctors say that chances are very slim that I will play this season. There is a chance that I will play my senior year, though."

Seminole coach Dave Mosure said the loss of Blake is devastating. "Losing Jeff really hurt us," Mosure said. "He was just learning the offense and it kind of sets us back. It was a real shock to the team."

Despite the loss of Blake, Mosure said he is pleased with his squad's performance so far. "I'm very happy with our team development. We are really coming along," he said.

Mosure went on to say that either Herb Hillery, Jerry Blankenship, or Dwayne Willis will replace Blake at quarterback. "It's tough to replace a QB," Mosure said. "We run the option and it is not easy to teach."

Mosure said the 'Noles are right where they need to be at this point in practice. "We all sat down and had a team meeting after Jeff's injury," Mosure said. "We had to adjust our goals and we are doing a good job."

Mosure said the strength of his team will be the running backs and the linebackers. "Our linebackers are very quick," Mosure added about Earnie Lewis, Rick Kelly and sophomore Steve Warren. "We also have very talented running backs."

Mosure singled out Willis, freshman Kevin Richardson, sophomore Eric Williams, Curtis Rudolph and freshman Jerod Jones for praise.

"The loss of Jeff really hurts us but we're just going to have to do the best we can without him," he added.

Down the road at Lake Mary, Ram coach Harry Nelson said that he is exuberantly pleased with the effort of his team so far.

"This could be the best team that I've ever had," Nelson declared. Which is quite a statement considering that last year's team made it to the sectional finals only to lose to eventual state runner-up

Seminole defensive coordinator James Paul points on technique. Lewis was a second-team All-SAC selection last year.

Pensacola Woodham, 41-14. Two years ago, the Rams were 9-1 before losing to Winter Park in the playoffs.

The Rams have had some good teams in the past two years, but Nelson said that this year's club could be even better. "We have the talent," Nelson said. "Now all we have to do is use it."

Monday was the first day of practice for Lake Mary quarterback Shane Letterio. Letterio plays shortstop on the Ram baseball team leading them to a second place finish in the state. Nelson said that he was very happy with Letterio's effort on his first day.

"Shane was magnificent," he said. "He plays like he has been out here all along."

Nelson said that practices are going very well. "We are scrimmaging for about 45 minutes a day and the kids are all working hard," Nelson added. "We are right where we need to be at this point in spring practice."

Nelson went on to say that his running backs will be the strength of his team. "We've got four good backs and we'll use them all," Nelson said. "Our secondary and receivers will be young but our offensive and defensive lines are looking good."

Nelson said that he was impressed with four players in particular this spring. Tight Ends Dave Martin and Jim Steward have played extremely well as has middle linebacker Matt Beck. Rob Reddington has been a standout on the offensive line.

The Rams are practicing particularly hard this spring as

Towers Humbles Kareem

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — In squaring the Western Conference championship series, Ralph Sampson and Akeem Olatuwon played like Towers of Power — and made Kareem Abdul-Jabbar look like an aging superstructure.

The 7-foot-4 Sampson scored 24 points, collected 16 rebounds and 5 blocked shots to spark the Houston Rockets to a 112-102 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers. But this was not a one-man show, by any means.

Olatuwon, Sampson's 250-pound partner, added 22 points, 13 rebounds and 6 blocks. Together, they humbled Abdul-Jabbar, just three days after the Lakers center sparked the champions to victory in Game 1.

Abdul-Jabbar, looking 39 years old for a change, did score 21 points, but he hit just 9-of-28 shots and managed only 4 rebounds and 1 block.

The Lakers were out-rebounded 51-38, with their starting frontline pounded 35-17 on the boards.

"I would beat one of their big men, and the other would come over and block my shot," said Abdul-Jabbar, who was rejected four times. "They blocked so many that at one point I thought they dropped someone off the roof."

"It was a rough night." Not for Rockets' off-guard Lewis Lloyd, it wasn't.

Working mainly off the bench, the 6-6 converted forward scored 24 points — including 8 in the final 3:58 — to help Houston stave off a Lakers rally in the final minutes.

The Rockets will host Game 3 of the best-of-seven series Friday night in the Summit, with Game 4 Sunday afternoon, also at Houston.

Los Angeles, which trailed by 14 points with about 14 minutes left, crept within 100-98 on Abdul-Jabbar's layup with 4:32 remaining, but teammate Byron Scott then missed a layup and jumper, and Lloyd connected on a 20-footer. Soon afterwards, Rodney McCray put in a twisting one-hander from the lane.

Magic Johnson of Los Angeles, who had 24 points and 10 assists, canned a free throw, but Lloyd struck for a jumper that rattled around the rim before falling through. That gave Houston a 108-97 advantage with 3:37 left.

He then added a long jumper with two minutes remaining for an insurmountable 108-99 advantage.

CELTICS BLOW OUT BUCKS
BOSTON (UPI) — As the Milwaukee Bucks will attest, strategies that look good before a game can prove embarrassing in retrospect.

Despite Milwaukee's starting a pair of 7-footers, the Boston Celtics limited the Bucks to 12 points in the first quarter Tuesday night and went on to a 128-96 victory in the opener of their Eastern Conference final.

"On paper, we seem to match up well," said Milwaukee's Paul Mokeski. "But it just didn't seem to work out."

In the first quarter, Milwaukee shot just 17 percent as Boston rode a 22-6 surge to a 29-12 advantage. The Bucks, who missed 19 of 23 shots from the floor, tied six other teams for the NBA playoff low of points scored in an opening quarter.

"We just came out flat in the first quarter," said Ricky Pierce, who thought the emotionally draining seven-game triumph over the 76ers might have had an effect. "We were a little bit tired from the Philadelphia series."

Larry Bird scored a game-high 26 points to pace Boston's offense, including 10 points during a 38-10 run that broke the game open.

Milwaukee, playing without injured All-Star Sidney Moncrief, scored the first points of the game on a pair of Craig Hodges free throws and trailed thereafter.

Boston led 7-6 at 7:30 when it started the decisive run, which included 10 points by Kevin McHale. Roberts' center Dan Walton came in to score 8 during the game after 30-20 Portland was whisked to three leads in the first 7:35.

The sport included back-to-back 3-point plays by Jerry Seiner and Walton, whose down-the-line shot from Star Buckle drew a standing ovation from the raucous crowd of 14,000.

Sunniland Sweeps Poppa Jay's, Leads By 2 Games

In Sanford Little National League baseball circles, the April 24 contest between Sunniland and Poppa Jay's was known as the "Sprinkler Game."

In the middle of the sixth inning, the sprinkler system at Fort Mellon Park activated and forced suspension of the game.

Tuesday at Bay Avenue Field, Sunniland and Poppa Jay's, the two best teams in the Little National, got together to finish the previous encounter and play a second game to determine the league's top team.

There was no intervention of water this time, but two Sunniland victories later, Poppa Jay's pennant hopes definitely had been hit damped by the twin setbacks.

Sunniland exploded for four runs in the seventh inning to take a 14-11 extra-inning victory in the suspended game and then used a four-hit pitching performance from Tyrone Chibberton in game two to blow away Poppa Jay's.

Baseball

11-1. The game was stopped after four innings by the slaughter rule.

Sunniland, managed by Skip Mitchell, pulled two games ahead of Poppa Jay's in the Little National League with an 8-1 record. Poppa Jay's fell to 6-3.

Chibberton, along with his mound effort in the second game, supplied a two-run double in the seventh inning of the first game. Quinn Byrd and David Dunn, who socked homers way back on April 24, also had key contributions in the four-run outburst.

In the second game, Sunniland broke loose for four runs in the first inning against losing pitcher Demetry Beamon and never looked back. Don Hunt started the frame with a solo homer and after walks to Kojack Hunt and Byrd, Dunn reached on an error which scored a run.

One out later, Ned June doubled home two more.

In the second, Hunt walked and Byrd singled before Dunn singled them in for a 6-0 lead. In the third, Sunniland added four more as Derick Brinson and Anton Stringer reached on an error and walked, respectively. One out later, Byrd, Hunt and Dunn each singled to score a run.

Maurice Fisher, Mike Thomas and Tony Taylor all singled to account for the Poppa Jay's run in the fourth.

In other action, D.A.V. knocked out seven hits and used seven walks to post a 16-1 victory over Rinker Materials at Fort Mellon Park. Teco Livingston was the winning hurler and Glenn Alexander absorbed the loss.

Livington, Brent Deese, Bernard Sparrow, Calvin Campbell, Matt Harris and Dwayne Roll combined for the D.A.V. hits. Curtis Williams doubled home the losers' only run. The hit also broke up a no-hitter in the fourth frame.

In Pee Wee League play, Kokomo Tools held onto first place with its third consecutive win, a 19-3 drubbing of Rinker Materials. Rich Plan had an even easier time, burying Clem Leonard Shell, 38-5. Both games were played at Chase Park.

Whitson picked up the Kokomo win and also slugged a single, triple and homer while scoring four runs. Hopson, Hudson, Stevens and Hayes also had round trippers for the winners.

Willie Williams slugged a solo later for Rinker. Damon Capola and Michael Rogers each singled and scored a run. Alberto Williams was the losing hurler.

Rich Plan broke loose for 48 hits against Shell loser Mark Watson. Walter Martin, Eddie Kay, winning pitcher Raydon Hunt, George Beasley and Raydon Byrd slapped six hits each for the winners. Bart Dixon chipped in five.

Robert Weaver had three hits for Shell while Cornell Daniels, James Gill and Mike William each stroked two.

Youmans Stops Reds As Raines Streak Hits 17

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Expos, chasing the New York Mets in the National League East, needed a victory Tuesday to counteract the effect of having their eight-game winning streak snapped the previous night. Floyd Youmans and a pack of singles provided the triumph.

"I'm getting better each time out," said Youmans in the wake of his second straight triumph, a 4-2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds. "Now, I'd like to win five in a row. I had good control today and when I get the ball over the plate, they don't touch me."

Included was Tim Raines' single, which stretched his hitting streak to a career- and major league-high 17 games. Raines also stole his 12th base. Raines, who was N.L. Player of the Week for last week, became the third youngest player to steal 400 bases.

Expos manager Buck Rodgers viewed Youmans' control differently, but was equally as pleased with the outcome.

"Youmans was a little wild, but he gave us a good start," Rodgers said. "It's good for his confidence. Now, he feels he's a real member of our pitching staff. Soon he'll be getting wins No. 7, 8 and 9. It was a big win for us today since Cincinnati broke our winning streak last night."

Jeff Reardon, the last of four Montreal pitchers, earned his fifth save by pitching the eighth and ninth. Mario Soto, 2-5, lasted 7 1-3 innings and took the loss.

"The Expos are leading the league in doubles.

Tim Raines

triples and home runs, but all they got today was a bunch of singles." Reds player-manager Pete Rose said.

The most critical of the Expos' singles was Andre Dawson's two-run single in the fifth. Youmans, 2-3, pitched 5 1-3 innings, allowing seven hits while walking three and striking out four.

With Montreal trailing 2-1 in the fifth, Youmans singled and went to third on a single by Mitch Webster. Webster stole second and Dawson delivered both runners with a single to center field.

The Expos added a run in the eighth. Andres Galarraga singled went to second on third baseman Buddy Bell's throwing error and scored on a single by Vance Law.

The Reds moved in front 3-1 in the fourth. Nick Ensey singled and Dave Concepcion walked. Bell drove Ensey home with a single to center as Concepcion took third. Bo Diaz lifted a sacrifice fly to score Concepcion.

Montreal grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second. Galarraga singled, stole second and moved to third on Law's single. Al Newman grounded out to score Galarraga.

USFL, NFL To Present First Arguments Today

Football

NEW YORK (UPI) — After 19 months of preparations and pretrial skirmishing, lawyers for the rival U.S. Football League and National Football League will present opening arguments today in an antitrust case that may change the face of pro football.

A four-woman, two-man jury was chosen Tuesday to consider the $1.3 billion suit in which the USFL has charged the NFL with monopolizing the sport.

Four other women and two men were selected as alternate jurors later in the afternoon to complete the panel.

Lawyers for the USFL, then the NFL, will present opening arguments in the trial "sort of as a framework or reference as to what the case is about," U.S. District Judge Peter Leisure explained to the jurors before dismissing them Tuesday evening.

USFL Commissioner Harry Usher, brought into his job a few months after the USFL owners decided in October 1984 to file the comprehensive legal action against the NFL, said the arrival of the struggling league's day in court was "both exhilarating and anticlimactic."

He and his counterpart, NFL

Commissioner Pea Roselle, can be expected to be among the crowd of football executives, legal buffs and reporters in the courtroom today for the lawyers' presentations of their planned strategies in the trial, estimated to run at least two months.

Usher and Roselle sat through most of the two days of tedious questioning of potential jurors.

Art Modell of the Cleveland Browns and Wellington Mara of the New York Giants, presidents of their respective NFL teams, Tony Cunningham, part owner of the Tampa Bay Bandits, and New Jersey Generals owner Donald Trump have also stopped by the courtroom to observe.

One of the traits the six regular jurors have in common is that none of them described themselves as a football fan. Indeed, the lawyers apparently were not interested in anyone who had too keen an interest in the game.

Two of the women said they never had heard of the 4-year-old USFL, before the jury selection process began Monday.

'Rookies' Often Neglect Return Of Serve

One of the most important aspects of one's game is the return of serve. Even though it is vital it is often neglected (particularly among inexperienced players). Not nearly enough emphasis is put into this most important part of your game.

The return of serve is really a series of supplementary shots. Your basic forehand, backhand and serve will allow you to play the game, but you must learn a series of service returns to really play the game well. A description of the things involved in service returns follows. Work on them and your game will improve.

Though you may not regard your service returns as supplementary shots since they occur in every point in which you are the receiver, the technique for them often differs enough to warrant special phases of your game.

Consistency when returning serves is one measure of your playing ability. Work on your service returns as much as you practice other phases of your game.

A common quality among players who return serves effectively is quickness. They are quick to see the ball, quick to move their rackets, and quick to start in motion. In your practice, strive specifically for improvement in these areas.

Your ability to move quickly depends partly on how well you prepare to move. In the ready position, bend your knees and shift your weight forward to get most of it off your heels. Make yourself feel light, bouncy, and springy. Be ready to spring into action the moment you determine the direction of your opponent's shot.

As your opponent's racket goes up to meet the ball, hop up slightly, just barely leaving the ground and land in the ready posture. This is called the ready-hop.

Larry Castle
TENNIS ANYONE?

As you make your ready-hop, watch the ball as your opponent tosses, and especially as the racket comes into contact with it. Do not look at the total figure of the server and then wait for the ball to come out of that background.

Focus on the ball. Concentrate on it. Try to determine its direction as soon as you can.

Besides seeing the ball quickly and making a quick start, you should move your racket as quickly as possible. Here you may have a problem of grips — grips in the waiting position and grips during the swing. If you can manage a no-change grip, one that you can use for both forehands and backhands, this is well and good; you will not have to worry about having time to adjust your grip during the backswing.

But, if you feel you must hold the racket differently for forehands and backhands, experiment to see which change you make faster (forehand to backhand or backhand to forehand). Use as your waiting grip the one form which you find easier to change.

For maximum quickness on the swing you may find it is best to change your backswing from what you normally use. If you normally make a loop swing, change here to a straight one. And if you normally pause at the end of your backswing, change that too.

"Cannonball" serves don't allow much time for pausing.

Start your backswing with a quick turn of your shoulders. Add a slight amount of arm action (on the backhand add even a little elbow action), but only as much as time allows. Reverse your arm action to start your forward swing. And if time allows, bring your shoulders around in reverse action too.

Otherwise, simply block the ball with a short motion of your arm. Keep your wrist and grip firm.

While in the ready stance, hold your elbows in at your sides, and bend your arms to bring your hands and racket closer to your body. With such a short-radius swing you will need less force to start the racket in motion, and as a result you'll have more force available for speed. This adjustment in posture which shortens your swing may be just what you need to gain that extra quickness which lets you bring the racket around in time to meet the ball squarely.

Maldonado Home Run Trims Cubs

United Press International
The Giants and Dodgers, because of the fierce rivalry dating back to their New York days, have rarely traded with each other. The deal they made last winter illustrates why.

San Francisco obtained Candy Maldonado from Los Angeles at the winter meetings, and at the time it seemed like a minor trade. Not any more.

Maldonado, who played sparingly as an outfielder with the Dodgers, is winning games for the hated Giants.

Maldonado belted his third pinch-hit home run of the season, a two-run shot with two out in the ninth inning, to lift the Giants to a 6-5 victory Tuesday over the Cubs in Wrigley Field.

The 25-year-old native of Puerto Rico hit a 1-0 pitch from Chicago reliever Lee Smith, 2-3, into the left field bleachers, driving in pinch-runner Luis Quiñones from second and giving the Giants the 6-5 lead.

Maldonado, used mainly as a pinch hitter and late-inning defensive replacement with the Dodgers, learned the art of pinch hitting from two of the best: Manny Mota and Jose Morales. Mota, a coach with the Dodgers, holds the record for career pinch hits (150), and Morales, a former Dodger, the record for pinch hits in a season (25).

"The tips they give you help when it is do-or-die," said Maldonado, who was traded to the Giants for catcher Alex Trevino. "It is not an easy job. The main thing I do is relax and try to see the ball."

Maldonado is 7-for-13 in the pinch and needs three more pinch homers to tie the major league record set in a season, set in 1932 by John Frederick of the Brooklyn Dodgers. His clutch performances off the bench may cost him an everyday job.

"He's been wanting to play every day, but I don't think I'll let him," Giants manager Roger Craig said. "It's good to have that type of weapon on the bench."

Padres 4, Pirates 2

At Pittsburgh, Dane Iorg had two hits, including his first home run of the season, and three San Diego pitchers scattered five hits to lead the Padres. Iorg broke a scoreless tie with a three-run homer off loser Mike Bleckel, 3-1, in the second inning. Eric Show, 2-2, was the winner.

Braves 6, Mets 3

At New York, Claudell Washington hit a two-run, seventh-inning homer off reliever Rick Aguilera, then doubled home a runner in the ninth to lift the Braves to victory. Joey Johnson, 4-3, allowed six hits and three earned runs over six innings for the victory. Bruce Sutter pitched the final three innings for his second save.

Dodgers 6, Cardinals 5

At St. Louis, Mike Marshall's two-run homer with one out in the 13th inning lifted the Dodgers over the Cardinals. With one out, Ken Landreaux singled off loser Ken Dayley, 0-2. Marshall followed with his eighth home run of the season to help the Dodgers snap a four-game losing streak. Rick Honeycutt, 2-2, was the winner.

Astros 5, Phillies 3

At Houston, Denny Walling singled home Phil Garner from second base with one out in the 11th inning to lead the Astros. Walling's first game-winning RBI of the year made a winner of Julio Solano, 2-0, who worked the 11th.

IN BRIEF

Fern Park Renegades Capture USSSA's Qualifying Tourney

The Fern Park Renegades won their second consecutive tournament this past weekend as they went 4-0 in winning the USSSA State Qualification Tournament at Conway Park in Orlando.

Although they competed and won the tourney, the Renegades won't compete in the state tournament since they have already qualified for the USSSA Nationals in August. The Renegades' manager is Gary Littrell and his assistants are Mike Averill and George Frey.

In this past weekend's tourney, the 'Gades opened up with an 8-6 victory over the West Orange Gremlins which was highlighted by Julie Barton's three-run homer.

In a 13-3 rout of the West Orange Outlaws, Stacy Brandenburg belted a two-run double and Leslie Barton an RBI double in the big third inning.

The 'Gades then closed out the tourney with a pair of wins over the Conway Lovebugs, 10-8 and 11-7. In the second game, Val Monico came on to pitch impressively in relief after Conway took a big lead early. Kristin Bates came on in the seventh inning and got out of a bases-loaded, no-out jam.

The Renegades, 8-0 in their past two tourneys, return to action this weekend in the West Orange Invitational at the West Orange Girls Club.

In the Dodgers first win over the White Sox 20-2, the Dodgers opened with an 11-run first inning including three home runs. The Dodgers hit well for the remainder of the game and were able to stop all threats by the White Sox as Jesse Richardson allowed only three hits and struck out seven.

The Dodgers then played the Yankees twice and came away with two wins. In the first game, the teams went into extra innings after both broke opened a scoreless game with three runs apiece. The Dodgers then exploded for seven runs in the top of the 10th to win, 10-3. Val Citron led off the inning with a double and was brought home by winning pitcher Shane Stuflet with a single for the game winning RBI.

In the second game against the Yankees, pitching helped to provide them with a 16-1 win. Starter and winner Mitch Shatto only allowed one hit while striking out seven and walking only one. Relief pitcher Aaron Iatarola came in and carried the Dodgers the rest of the way as he did not give up a hit or a walk and struck out three.

Pat DeLuca led the way in the hitting department going three for four and driving in three runs while scoring three. They will take on arch-rival Lake Brantley in the jamboree at Lake Mary on Thursday, May 29.

Further south at Longwood, Lyman Greyhound defensive coordinator Jack Bloomingdale said that the 'Hounds are going to be a very sound team. "We are looking very good right now," Bloomingdale said. "We had a real good turnout this spring (108) and we (the coaching staff) is extremely happy with everyone's effort."

Bloomingdale went on to say that the purpose of spring practice is get youngsters familiar with the system. "Teaching the young kids is important," Bloomingdale said. "We are progressing very nicely and are looking very sound."

Bloomingdale, a former Bishop Moore head coach, went on to add that the Greyhounds will be a veteran club. "We've got a lot of good kids that are returning," he said. "If the coaches decided not to come to practice these kids would still be out here working. They are extremely dedicated young men."

Bloomingdale added that extensive weightroom work is already helping the team. "The guys are working hard in the weightroom and their bench press totals are going up," Bloomingdale said. "Weightlifting is important to football players and our kids realize it."

Bloomingdale went on to say that the coaching staff is giving everyone a chance to play. "We are doing things different this year," Bloomingdale said. "We are assigning two kids to each position. They both play equally in the jamboree. "Come fall the two will battle it out for the starting jobs. We feel that it will help the players. It's kind of like a buddy system."

Leading the offensive attack for Lyman will be tailback Robert Thomas. Thomas gained 960 yards last year and was a second-team All-SAC selection.

Defensively, the 'Hounds will be led by linebackers Mike Whittaker and Scott King. "This is the best defensive group that I've seen in 16 years," Bloomingdale said. "Our defense will be the strength of our team."

Lyman has been pleasantly surprised with the play of 6-7, 245-pound freshman transfer student Pat French. "Pat has dominated the offensive and defensive lines," Bloomingdale added. "We have been practicing for an hour and a half a day and the kids are not letting the heat bother them. We're really happy with the way things are going so far."

CBS Reports Syria's Assad Working To Free Hostages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Syria's President Hafez Assad, seeking to improve his image, is engaged in an intensive effort to free American and French hostages in Lebanon, CBS news reported.

In a report on its evening news broadcast Tuesday, CBS quoted "well-informed" diplomatic sources as saying Assad, who has become increasingly isolated because of reports linking his government with terrorism in Western Europe, was actively trying to improve his image by seeking the release of the hostages.

Four American hostages and five French citizens are being held in Lebanon, most of them reportedly by the pro-Iranian terrorist group Hizbollah, or Party of God, the television report said.

CBS said Assad was concerned about reports from Europe linking Syria with such incidents as the April 5 bombing of a West Berlin disco. The blast killed an American soldier and a Turkish woman and injured about 230 people.

In order to improve his image and because of fears of a military confrontation with Israel, Assad has decided to "lay low on overt terrorism" and try to be more helpful on the issue of hostages, CBS reported.

Artukovic Given Death Penalty

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (UPI) — A court today sentenced Andrija Artukovic to death for his part in the mass murders of civilians and prisoners of war during World War II.

Chief Judge Milko Gajski of the Zagreb District Court pronounced the guilty verdict and the death sentence in a packed courtroom as Artukovic, 86, listened behind a bulletproof glass screen, his face expressionless.

Artukovic, who was extradited from California Feb. 12 after avoiding extradition for more than 30 years, had been described as the highest ranking Nazi war criminal in the United States.

"He is guilty because he was under the protection of and in collaboration with the Nazis," Gajski said in the verdict. Artukovic "ordered the persecution, torture and murders of ... hundreds of thousands of Jews, Serbs, Croats and Gypsies, many of them children and women."

In the 1941-45 period, Artukovic was police and justice minister in the Nazi puppet state of Croatia.

In that capacity, he ordered and masterminded "war crimes against the civilian population and against the prisoners of war and for this he is sentenced to the death penalty," Gajski said.

Quake Toll Estimated At 30,000

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Western intelligence sources, scoffing at the official death toll of 4,800, said at least 30,000 people died when giant earthquakes devastated parts of Mexico City last September.

A government spokesman, however, defended the official figures Tuesday, saying they were tallied by the capital city's district attorney agents.

The Sept. 19-20 temblors — measuring 8.1 and 7.6 on the Richter scale — destroyed more than 1,000 buildings in Mexico City.

"We have to give official figures, even though you or I might think this number is low," said the spokesman, asking not to be identified.

He said very few Mexican families buried their dead without informing authorities.

The intelligence sources told United Press International their higher death estimate of at least 30,000 was based on a series of reports from Western countries and international relief groups that participated in the rescue effort.

It's The Thought That Counts

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The government will send blankets and sleeping bags to New York's homeless in response to an "arrogant" U.S. decision to send milk to Poland because of dairy contamination from the Chernobyl nuclear disaster.

To a chorus of laughs from journalists, government spokesman Jerzy Urban said Tuesday the American powdered milk would be accepted, but grudgingly.

"The shipment of milk to Poland could have been a friendly gesture to Poland," Urban said, "but unfortunately the American powdered milk was more contaminated than the radioactive milk from Polish cows."

In return, Poland will send 5,000 blankets and sleeping bags through a U.S. relief agency "because we have learned from the American press that in New York City there are many thousands of homeless people in the streets."

"This is staggering for Poles because it happens in such a rich country," Urban said.

Drug Trade Corruption Denied

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Foreign Ministry has accused the United States of distorting information about Mexico's efforts to curb the booming cross-border drug trade and Mexico's ambassador prepared to protest the allegations to the Reagan administration.

In Washington Tuesday, Elliott Abrams, assistant secretary of state for Latin America, told a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee that Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid cannot curb the flood of illegal narcotics to the United States because of police corruption in his country.

Abrams said de la Madrid and his attorney general are cooperating with U.S. drug enforcement agencies to stop the multibillion-dollar trade.

Citizenship Measure Approved

LONDON (UPI) — The House of Commons, dealing with the question of how to treat residents of Hong Kong, stopped short early today of granting British citizenship to certain residents of the crown colony when it is handed over to China in 1997.

Currently, Hong Kong citizens are legally classified citizens of British dependent territories.

But when the city loses its dependent territory status in 1997, its ethnic Chinese will become citizens of the People's Republic of China and the rest will be allowed British travel documents but not full British citizenship.

Shoemaker also said, in theory, "What zoning board would ever approve a public swimming pool for an industrial area? It wouldn't, because it would be an inappropriate use of this type of land. I think it's that simple."

Also heard from have been the airport's industrial tenants, Shoemaker said, and their response to pool proposal has not been favorable.

"They're concerned and I can't say I blame them," he said.

Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith said today she will "wait for a definite no" from the authority before considering the possibility of the city's building a pool.

Mayor Smith termed the undertaking "a terribly, terribly expensive" one for the city.

However, according to Thomas, "We can't consider the cost when it comes to our children. Sanford needs a pool."

Thomas said he is considering "the poor children," who "have nowhere to swim because wealthy people have turned public property into private" by monopolizing area lakefronts with development.

Sanford did at one time have two municipal pools, although they were closed in the late sixties soon after being integrated.

Last month, Thomas charged both the black and white communities with failing to respond to the pool proposal and on Tuesday, he said, "Unless someone can convince me differently, I feel there's something about the municipal pool proposal that's made it a dirty word around here. I honest to God believe it never would have been addressed (by the commission) if I hadn't brought it up."

Thomas raised the matter last month, five months after commissioners accepted it as a concept proposal from their youth advisory committee.

Thomas said he "thought staff had been following up" on the proposal until he found out otherwise when he asked about its status at a commission meeting on April 14.

His query prompted the proposal to be addressed at a commission work session on May 5, where it was agreed that staff would complete their project analysis for the swim center and commissioners would then request a meeting with the authority.

"I would like to believe there would be no problems with young people of different races swimming together," Thomas said, "I hope that's not an issue in any of this." —Karen Talley

Sturm noted the many activities and community service projects the couple has been involved in over the years.

Mr. Hamilton was a school administrator/teacher for 41 years. Mrs. Hamilton was a teacher for 44 years. The Hamilton Elementary School in Sanford was named for the couple in 1985 in honor of their many years of leadership and service to education in the county.

The Hamiltons actively participated in organizing the Project OASIS, of which Mr.

Hamilton served as president. Project OASIS developed into the Federation of Senior Citizen Clubs, which sponsors Meals on Wheels, transportation, congregational meal sites, homemakers, employment, legal service, shopping assistance, respite care and casework management.

Mr. Hamilton is a director on the Federation board and serves on the board of directors for the Multipurpose Senior Center. He has been active in the Area Agency on Aging through the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council and served as a Long Term Care Ombudsman for the elderly.

Cook Of The Week Former Home Economics Teacher Shares Favorite Recipes

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

Looking to the future and preserving the happy memories of a fulfilling career as Home Economics teacher at Lyman High School, Zula McLeod, of Lake Mary, our Cook Of The Week, is planning her retirement years as carefully as she has planned her curriculum for almost 30 years. And just as her students will miss her care and guidance, Mrs. McLeod will miss her "children."

"Some of my fondest memories of the early years in Seminole County are of serving as a judge in cooking contests sponsored by the Sanford Herald, the Florida Gas Company, and the Home Demonstration clubs," says Mrs. McLeod. Along with her colleagues, Thelma Mosholder and Barbara Ruprecht, who are now retired, Mrs. McLeod prepared and taste-tested many recipes before selecting a winner. "We really sampled some wonderful food," she says, "and it was most difficult to select the best recipe."

As Home Economics teacher at Lyman for 20 years, Mrs. McLeod has been sharing recipes from a series of cook books called "Favorite Recipes of Home Economics Teachers" which was used as a fund raiser for a number of years by the FHA/HERO youth organizations. It features recipes contributed by Home Ec teachers from all over the United States. "They are wonderful, tried and true recipes," says Mrs. McLeod.

As teacher-director of the Child Care Program at Lyman for the past 16 years, Mrs. McLeod states that the emphasis is on planning and preparing nutritious snack foods by the senior students for the 4 year olds in their care. "Students are required to keep a file of recipes in four categories," says Mrs. McLeod, "milk and milk products, flour and cereal, fruit and vegetables, and no-sugar snacks. This always proved to be a fun and worthwhile project as seniors become aware of better nutrition." Mrs. McLeod came to Seminole County as a Navy wife with her husband, Kent, and their two sons, Dan and Greg, when he was transferred from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba to the Sanford Naval Air Station in 1964. Upon his retirement, Sanford became their permanent home. Kent McLeod has served his country well as an aerial photographer for the Navy on reconnaissance missions. "His photography skills were needed during the Korean conflict," says Mrs. McLeod, "and so the Navy called him back into service." Mr. McLeod's experiences include the discovery of missile bases in Cuba during the much publicized "crisis" of the early 1960's. "The lab that he was in charge of in Cuba received a commendation for their part in discovering the missiles," says Mrs. McLeod. "We were evacuated from Cuba then," she says, "and it was a rather interesting experience. I've always said someday I'm going to sit down and write a book about some of these things. A photographer's rank carried more responsibility than just taking pictures. Those surveillance planes are just fascinating when you realize that they take photographs at twice the speed of sound." Remembering the special way they met as best man and maid of honor at a friend's wedding, Mrs. McLeod says, "We started dating off and on and were married about a year and a half later." The McLeods have recently celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary, and she says, "We were married on my mother and daddy's anniversary, March 9th."

Born and raised in Tallahassee, Mrs. McLeod has two sisters who still live there, and a brother living in New Jersey. "I went to school in Tallahassee, from kindergarten all the way through FSU," says Mrs. McLeod. "Of course, it was FSCW, Florida State College for Women when I started, but it became Florida State University while I was there, and I graduated with men." Mrs. McLeod holds a B. S. Degree in home economics and did graduate work in education.

When their lively daughter, Skye, came along in 1966, Mrs. McLeod says, "She was named Laura Skye, after the tale of Skye in Scotland." Her husband's Scot heritage is an integral part of their lives and an impromptu trip to Scotland in 1984 will never be forgotten. When her son, Dan, who is an oceanic engineer for Perry Offshore, Inc., invited her to go along on a business trip to England and Scotland, Mrs. McLeod says, "It was such a surprise, I said, 'Do I have time to pack, or shall I buy when I get there?'" Recalling just one of the special moments of the trip, Mrs. McLeod tells of dining in the Three Chimneys restaurant in the Scottish Highlands. "It turned out to be the most elegant," says Mrs. McLeod. "During the tourist season, the Scottish Tourist Board chooses a few select restaurants and they serve only the traditional Scottish foods. It was just fabulous. We started with a Cock-A-Leekie soup, then had 'Tatties' which is an unusual potato recipe, apparently mashed first then dipped in a batter of some sort and deep fried - a cone-shaped mound of potatoes, just marvelous. We also had a bottle of Meadow Flower wine from the only winery in Scotland at Inverness." Touring the old Scottish castles and visiting the ancestral home of the McLeod's, Dunvegan Castle, remains a vivid part of Mrs. McLeod's memorable trip and she looks forward to another visit to the beautiful Scottish countryside again one day. "It has a fascinating history," she says, "and the McLeod castle is one of the two that remain in the original family that built it. It was just fascinating to think that I was standing in a 900 year old castle with all its history. You could almost see the ghosts of all those ancestors from years past."

Mrs. McLeod's career as an educator and her life as a Navy wife didn't deter her from enjoying her children as they were growing up. "Often times when lathers are away, mother does everything," says Mrs. McLeod, "but aside from two long tours of duty we had the whole bit of football, baseball, Cub scouts and Brownies with the children." Now, with her impending retirement just around the corner, Mrs. McLeod hopes to be able to do more traveling, and "catching up on some of these projects that have been piling up. I have a quilt that needs quilting," she laughs, "and a few more things." Quite skilled in the art of needlework, Mrs. McLeod's gift to her oldest son, upon receiving her engineering degree, was a 3-piece suit, lovingly tailored. Her three grandchildren, Joel, 9, David, 6 and Kevin, 4 years old, have each received their own

Microwave Magic

Florida-Grown Potatoes Made Quick And Easy

Florida-grown vegetables are the earliest to hit the market and offer a wide variety from which to choose. From salad greens to zucchini and to the surprise of many a variety of potatoes.

The Red Bliss and Florida white potatoes are grown in the Ruskin and Pierson areas. These nutritious, versatile vegetables are in high supply, readily available and priced right (recent purchase price for small Red Bliss is 10 cents a pound).

Potatoes microwave easily because of the water content. Consult your manual for instructions on baking potatoes. I suggest removing a ribbon of peeling from around the potatoes when micro-cooking for other recipes. This preserves the skin from splitting. Store the new potatoes in a bin or bag where there is good circulation of air. Since less water is used in micro-cooking of all vegetables, more of the nutrients and color are retained. These recipes suggest some new ways to use an old spring favorite ... new potatoes.

-This recipe combines two spring favorites: new potatoes and peas.

NEW POTATOES AND PEAS

1 1/2 pounds small new potatoes
1/4 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1 (10 ounce) package frozen peas or 1 cup sheller fresh peas*
2 tablespoons butter

Peel one strip of potato peel from around each potato. Place potatoes and water in 2-quart casserole. Cover. Microwave on 100% power 8-10 minutes or until fork tender. Add peas, butter and salt. Microwave on 100% power 5-8 minutes.

*If using fresh peas, the final cooking time may need to be increased.

This dish is tasty served with grilled pork chops or barbecued chicken.

SOUP CREAM POTATOES

1 1/2 pounds new potatoes (about 8)
1/4 cup water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup sour cream
4 green onions, sliced
1/2 teaspoon dill weed

Scrub and rinse potatoes. Cut potatoes into 1/2 inch slices. Place in 1 1/2-quart casserole. Add water, cover, and microwave on 100% power 10-11 minutes or until tender, stirring once. Drain. Let stand 5 minutes, covered. Add sour cream, onions, and dill weed; mix lightly. Hint: Yogurt can be substituted for sour cream. Makes 6 servings — 155 calories each.

Use fresh mint from your yard if you have it; otherwise, dried will do. The flavor combination is especially good with lamb.

LEMON-MINT NEW POTATOES

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 pounds new potatoes
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 green onion, sliced
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon snipped fresh mint

Microwave butter on 100% power in a 1 1/2-quart casserole, 45-60 seconds.

Scrub and rinse potatoes, pare a 1-inch strip around each. Place in casserole. Stir to coat with butter. Cover with casserole lid.

Peppered Beets Spice Up 'The Usual'

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

It's time for a quick vegetable dish with a sweet-and-sour flavor. The microwave and canned ingredients make this dish easier to prepare.

Peppered beets and mushrooms go with main course meats, fish or poultry and also accompany sandwiches when served cold as a salad. You may want to include the combination, drained, in a sandwich.

PEPPERED BEETS AND MUSHROOMS

1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons minced onions
1 can (16 ounces) whole or sliced beets, drained
1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms, stems and pieces, drained
2 tablespoons honey

1/3 tablespoon wine vinegar

1/3 cup canned chicken broth
1/4 teaspoon cracked black pepper

Microwave Method: Place butter and onions in a 1-quart microwave-safe dish. Cover and microwave on High 1 minute, 30 seconds. Stir and add drained beets, mushrooms and remaining ingredients. Cover and microwave on High for 4 minutes, stirring once. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Conventional Method: Cook on-you'll fix them often.

CHEESY MICRO-FRIES
3 medium potatoes
3 tablespoons butter or margarine

1/4 cup parmesan cheese
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika

Microwave butter on (100%) power in an 8-inch round glass baking dish 1/4-1 minute or until melted. Scrub potatoes. Cut each lengthwise into 8 wedges. Dip wedges into butter to coat and arrange peel-side-down in baking pan. Combine cheese, garlic salt and paprika. Sprinkle evenly over potatoes. Cover with paper towel. Microwave (100%) 10-11 minutes or until potatoes are just about tender. Let stand a few minutes before serving. 3-4 servings.

Food for Thought

by
BH Painter

Under-the-skin flavoring for poultry: 1 tsp. lemon juice and 1/2 tsp. onion-style mustard blended into 2 Tbs. soft butter with salt to taste. Rub any excess over the skin.

Braised apples are a perfect accompaniment—and garnish—for roast pork. Most attractive if you pair unpeeled Delicious and Granny Smith apples for color. Saute a few minutes in butter.

Green, white, and black pepper come from the same fruit of a tropical vine. Green (unripe) pepper is most delicate; black is strongest. Use white pepper, the inner portion of the berry, when you want to avoid black specks in a light-colored sauce.

Use beef bouillon for part of the water when you make rice. Great with blisk-ke-bob.

Here's how to make delicious pineapple-orange ice: make a syrup of 3/4 c. sugar and 2 c. water. When cool, mix with a 20-oz. can crushed pineapple (undrained and buzzed in the blender), 3 c. orange juice, 2 Tbs. lime juice. Freeze in ice cream maker or even ice cube tray.

Indians And Braves Declare War Against Kidney Disease

Tribal warfare continues in America as the Boone High School Braves cheerleaders, Orlando, and Seminole High School Indians cheerleaders, Sanford, square off in battle at Flea World on Highway 17-92 May 24-25 and May 31-June 1.

But the war is against kidney disease, and the weapon is a dunking tank, where the Braves and the Indians will get on the warpath to raise money for the National Kidney Foundation.

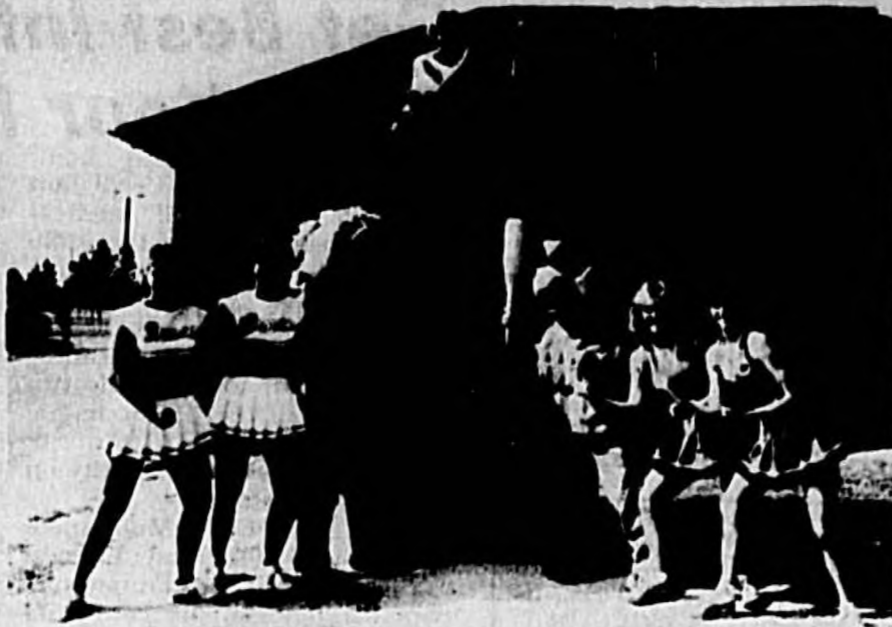

The cheerleading tribes are competing for a trophy for the most funds raised during their dunk tank sessions: Seminole on May 24-25 and Boone on May 31-June 1.

Also at the 3rd Annual Kidney Karnival will be a shooting gallery and a grab-bag, with prizes valued to $75 for only a $5 donation.

Proceeds from the Karnival will support the local patient service programs of the National Kidney Foundation, helping more than 400 patients suffering chronic kidney failure.

Flea World is located just south of Sanford on Hwy. 17-92. There is no admission or parking fee.

Plan Ahead When Vacationing With Kids

By SANDRA L. LATIMER
COLUMBUS, Ohio — The kids are whining. "Are we there yet? How much longer?" The parents are beginning to seethe. And the car just pulled out of the driveway 15 minutes ago.

Relief, in this case, can be spelled P-L-A-N-A-H-E-A-D. That's the advice from experts in family counseling, who believe that planning the car trip with children is as important as planning the vacation itself.

Tempera can flare "when parents are in a close environment with the children for an extended period of time," said Sally Cooper, executive director of the Columbus-based National Assault Prevention Center. "It is extremely important that parents have an understanding of the developmental stages and plan for the trip accordingly."

Cooper believes that parents often overestimate a child's ability to stay occupied. She also cautions that children do not have a long attention span "so it is pointless to think that a child will sit quiet in a car for a long time."

She advises parents to plan time-consuming activities based on what the children like to do and what they can do — and pick games that won't distract the driver.

Regular breaks are a must, she emphasized. "Why not pack a picnic lunch and make it a fun thing?" she suggested. "Pull over at a rest stop and let the kids play Frisbee or ball. Let the kids let off steam."

"Use the rest stop not so much for the bathroom, but for the children to get out and run," she added. "Bring along a jump rope and let the child exert some energy."

Rita Soronen, children's activity coordinator for Parents Anonymous in Columbus, has found that fixing an art bag is a good strategy.

"Pack an art bag so that kids can busy themselves," she offers. "It can have scissors, tape, hole punch, crayons, chalk. It depends on how much is in the bag and how creative the children are."

"They could make paper bag puppets, or even a scrap book of their trip," said Soronen, who says her four-year-old daughter's favorite car activity is cutting pictures out of a catalogue.

Another highlight of a Soronen family trip is story telling.

"One person starts a story based on something he sees out the windows," she explained. "That person has five minutes, then the next person picks up the story. This even includes the adults in the front seat."

Watching the landscape from the car windows can lead to another bag of activities — auto bingo, alphabet games, making lists of license plates and counting cows.

Auto bingo, available in toy stores, is played on a card similar to the regular game, but instead of numbers, the squares have objects that can be found while driving — a truck, a gasoline sign, a barn.

Another idea is to give the children maps to play with, which can help them learn how to read a map and how to judge distance. Beverly Circone, director of Kida 'n' Kamp, a non-profit recreational organization for children with cancer, recalls a different twist.

"One mother who has a little girl with leukemia has to drive several hours to let the child participate in activities," Circone said. "She brings her four other children along and makes a treasure hunt out of the trip. She doesn't tell the children the destination. She gives them a map she has made and lets them figure it out."

No Smell Is A Good Smell For This Man

DEAR ABBY: A reader named "Audrey" wrote: "When you can smoke and keep all the smoke inside yourself and not blow it into the air I must breathe, then you have the right to smoke, but you don't have the right to decide that I must breathe in your smoke."

Now, please quote me: "When you can wear perfume, cologne and after-shave and keep all the aroma inside yourself and not fill the air I must breathe, then you have the right to wear it, but you don't have the right to decide that I must breathe in your perfume, cologne and after-shave."

Let's hear it for signs that read: "Thank You for Not Wearing Perfume, Cologne or After-Shave."

FRANK IN PHOENIX
DEAR FRANK: Now that fragrances have become big business, one enters a crowded elevator without a gas mask at his/her own risk. The problem is not actually perfume, cologne or after-shave — it's the "smell-goods" who drench themselves in it.

Let's be fair, Frank. While too much can be merely annoying, it's life-threatening only to those who are highly allergic. The solution: All fragrances should be labeled: "Warning: Use sparingly. Excessive amounts may render you friendless."

LISTEN, ABBY: I'm sick and tired of reading about the "rights" of non-smokers to shove smokers around and make them feel guilty. My wife has now begun to threaten me, saying she just might go back to work, move out and live by herself where she won't have to breathe my cigarette smoke.

Well, that's OK by me. There are plenty of women who would be glad to have a good provider like me and the smoke wouldn't bother them too much. Or, I'm sure, I wouldn't have any trouble finding a woman who smokes and who won't bellyache about my smoking.

I work hard, and when I get home I enjoy my smokes. What does the wife do but stay home all day, clean the house and look after our two kids? She says my heavy smoking will hurt the kids. Well, they can get out, too. I'm the breadwinner in this family and I have my rights. If she's afraid of getting lung cancer because I smoke a couple of packs a day, she can just hold her breath.

I'll bet I don't see this in your column, but I'm sending it anyway.

Dear Abby

FROM DELAWARE
LISTEN, SAM: You loce.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your response that a "thank-you" scribbled on the back of a check (given as a gift) is better than no thank-you at all: Not in our case. My husband and I have checking accounts in three separate financial institutions, none of which return the original checks with their statements. So a thank-you would never be seen by either one of us.

So, for those who are too lazy to write a thank-you note for a check, a telephone thank-you would be better than none at all.

The common courtesy of a thank-you note is a combination of personal caring for the feelings of others, sincere gratitude and parental teaching. I have a 12-year-old niece who still does not write a thank-you note unless I make a federal case out of it. For her 13th birthday, instead of a gift, I plan to write her a letter explaining that I am tired of having to ask for a thank-you, so I'm not sending her anything. Think she'll get the message? (Her mother is just as bad.)

CHRIS P.
DEAR CHRIS: Most parents have had to remind, nag, threaten or bribe their children to write thank-you notes. Some parents are so embarrassed or impatient, they write the notes themselves and beg the child to "copy it."

I believe that children learn responsibility from having to bear the consequences of their own actions. To rush in and rescue an ungrateful, procrastinating or lazy child teaches him only that if he doesn't do it, Mama will.

Not everyone feels the same about receiving a "thank-you." Some give for the joy of giving and really overlook the absence of a thank-you. However, people with good manners send a written note of thanks — promptly.

Get Best Information From Your Physician

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am confused by all the medical advice I hear daily on the radio and TV. So much of it seems contradictory. I'm quite scared about all the warnings of our food and medicines being harmful. What advice would you give about all the books, magazines, etc., that seem to speak with a great deal of authority on medical subjects?

DEAR READER — Much medical advice offered on TV and radio, and in books and newspapers can, indeed, be confusing and contradictory. As a general rule, your personal physician is your most valid source of information. He or she is the person most familiar with your health and medical problems. Furthermore, most doctors have a referral network, so they can obtain help from specialists, as needed. Of course, even doctors disagree — that is an unavoidable consequence of the inexact science of medicine. Find a physician who makes sense and with whom you feel comfortable. I'd be happy to answer specific questions you have in my column. If I don't know the answers, I can put you in touch with someone (or some organization) who can.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 70, 5 feet 10, 235 pounds and stockily built. About three years ago, I developed a condition in which my foot becomes numb after less than five minutes of walking or standing on hard surfaces. The numbness eventually extends to the buttocks and the right foot. All traces of numbness disappear after sitting for 30 seconds. I'm presently on Lozol and smoke 30 cigarettes a day. I've been to a podiatrist, an M.D. and a chiropractor with no results. Any suggestions?

DEAR READER — Your problem may be caused by a circulatory insufficiency or an irritated nerve. Check it out with a neurologist. As a start, stop smoking, or at least reduce your cigarette consumption to no more than 10 per day. Furthermore, a modest reduction of 20 to 30 pounds may help relieve your symptoms.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My mother, 80, was diagnosed as having cirrhosis of the liver. She has never consumed alcohol, so we assumed it was nutritionally caused. However, I always thought she ate reasonably balanced meals. I'm wondering if it could have been caused by the pills she took for 25 years to control her diabetes. Is there anything that can be done?

DEAR READER — Cirrhosis simply means scarring of the liver. It can result from a variety of agents that cause liver inflammation. In the United States, most cirrhosis is caused by alcohol abuse. This does not seem to be true in your mother's case. Therefore, I recommend that she be seen by gastroenterologist who specializes in liver disease; these doctors are sometimes called hepatologists. Although the cirrhosis is permanent and incurable, your mother will want to have a specific diagnosis established so that further damage can be avoided.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio, 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Why don't we have a quiz today. Sitting East, you hear North open one club. What should you bid? Try one diamond. Although your hand is very strong for a mere overall, no other bid is satisfactory. The bidding continues, ending with North's four hearts. Should you double? The answer is, of course, a loud "No." You have three aces and more, but your partner must be broke. The best you can expect is a one-trick set. There is not enough profit in it. On the opening lead of the diamond deuce, a low card is played from dummy and you win the jack. What should you return? The answer to this one is that if you want to defeat this contract for sure, you must quickly play your ace of hearts and get off lead with a spade. That spade play is not too difficult. Obviously you cannot afford a club or diamond lead. The play that's tougher to see is getting rid of that ace of trumps first. If you fail to do this, and declarer is on his toes, he will run three spade tricks and then throw you on lead with that heart ace. You will then have to lead away from one of your minor suit aces, and South will make his game.

Real Cops Don't Eat Quiche

By Mark Schwed
 UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sonny Grosso, the real-life French Connection cop who hoisted his gun for a camera, has the job of providing the punch to the realism in "Night Heat," the first late-night dramatic series ever produced for a network.

And Grosso has received some good news. CBS has just ordered 22 new episodes of what is perhaps the most unusual cop show on television.

"Night Heat" (11:30 p.m. EST Thursdays) is different in many ways.

It runs 70 minutes, not the usual 60. It has little glamour, no "Miami Vice" fashion and none of those chesty women that seem to abound in other network offerings.

It is an international production, backed by the Canadian network CTV and the Canadian government, as well as by CBS, and shot entirely in Canada.

It uses lots of hand-held cameras loaded with 16 mm film that produces a grainy, newsy look, and it is shot in the heat of the night.

Starkey and Hutch would roll over in their television graves if they knew that "Night Heat" has never had a car chase.

But most unusual of all is the fact that "Night Heat" airs at 11:30 p.m. EST on Thursday nights, not exactly familiar ground for a new dramatic series.

Airing the program at such a late hour was an experiment to test whether a first-run cop show could compete with Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show" on NBC and Ted Koppel's "Nightline" on ABC.

The gamble has paid off. "Night Heat" has received the highest ratings of CBS's five late-night presentations.

"Because of these ratings, 'Night Heat' has set a whole trend by putting a new focus on original late-night programming at CBS," said George Bernsten, vice president of late-night programming at the network.

All that may explain why Grosso has just received the go-ahead to produce another late-night crime show. CBS has ordered 13 episodes of "Crime World," about a man and woman who work as investigative reporters for a crime magazine.

Even with the new order, Grosso is reserved about his successes.

"This is a business where you whisper whoopee, you know what I mean," Grosso said.

"Night Heat" features two detectives, Kevin O'Brien (Scott Hylands) and Frank Ciambone (Jeff Kirkwood), and a reporter, Tom Kirkwood (Allan Royal), who writes a column about the events in each episode. He ends each show with a voiceover comment that wraps all the lessons learned into a neat little package fit for print.

As an example, at the end of a show in which an elderly woman was killed, the reporter asks:

"Wasn't there once a day when white hair was worn like a crown, when we honored our elderly, cherished them as our most precious resource?"

Adding to the appeal is Grosso's emphasis on realism. It comes from his background as a New York City cop. Grosso walked his first beat in Harlem and then moved on to the New York City Narcotics Bureau, where he and his partner Eddie Egan broke the famous French Connection heroin case, one of the biggest narcotics seizures ever.

Grosso then hoisted his gun and launched a second career in film and television. With Larry Jacobson, he formed Grosso-Jacobson Productions, which produces "Night Heat" and "Crime World."

Because Grosso shoots for realism, the shows include tough language.

"I don't want cops talking like 'golly, gee, shucks, did that guy really shoot your husband? If the guy's in a gunfight or the guy's partner gets shot, 'golly, gee' just doesn't work."

That also explains why there are no car chases, no beautiful women falling at the feet of the detectives, no $800 Giorgio Armani suits, and little glamour. Real cops don't eat quiche and they don't drive black Ferraris at 100 mph.

Every once in a while the realism gets Grosso in trouble with the folks at the network standards and practices office.

"In one episode I had a great cop getting shot in the opening scene by some bum," Grosso said in a telephone interview from Toronto, where the program is filmed. "It's a set up. But they (network censors) didn't want him hitting the wall (from the force of the bullet). They didn't want blood. They didn't want the gun facing the screen."

In such instances, there is only one thing to do: negotiate a compromise.

"I had to tone it down quite a bit," he said. "I was allowed to point the gun at the screen but it had to be shifted before it fired."

The differences with censors are directly related to the fact that network standards are geared for programs in the prime time period, not a show that airs at 11:30 p.m. That battle will continue for Grosso.

But with the renewal order of "Night Heat" and the new order for "Crime World," Grosso has won the toughest battle of all: attracting viewers for a cop show with little flash, no flesh and lots of meat.

'Short Circuit' Poised To Shock

By Verana Scott
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Director John Badham has a deft touch on the American pulse, an almost precient feeling for what movie audiences want to see.

In less than a decade he has been the progenitor of three film fads — youth and dance, youth and computer and helicopter as protagonist.

It was Badham's "Saturday Night Fever" in 1978, starring then little-known John Travolta, that gave birth to a dozen copycat movies about kids and discos.

And it was Badham's "WarGames" in 1983 that prompted a score of similar films about high school geniuses who save the world or threaten to destroy it by using home computers to lift secrets from government or high-tech industry computers.

His 1983 "Blue Thunder" in which an attack helicopter gunship was the star, gave a fortune and made a fortune and gave birth to a TV series by the same title (it failed) and the more successful series "Airwolf."

Both "Saturday Night Fever" and "WarGames" were breakthrough hits and critical successes. "Blue Thunder" was not quite as successful.

Now Badham is poised to stampede this summer's box office with his latest movie, "Short Circuit," a fantasy dealing with the adventures of a robot that becomes alive after it is struck by a lightning bolt.

Robot No. 5 is a cute, powerful and smart little guy with a sense of humor and an addiction to John Wayne movies and The Three Stooges. He runs co-stars Ally Sheedy and Steve Guttenberg a merry chase while escaping villainous corporate security forces.

"Short Circuit" is clearly aimed at the youth audience but with enough entertainment values to please the whole family.

It goes almost without saying that No. 5 will be compared with the lovable E.T. in Steven Spielberg's all-time box-office champion "E.T. The Extraterrestrial."

"We won't mind the comparison as long as it's favorable," Badham said during a recent noonday break. "So far audience responses have been better than 'E.T.' received."

"We tried to get away from the possibility of comparison, but there are certain films that lend themselves to it. You know, like a boy and his horse. This happens to be a girl and her robot."

Badham is a young-looking 40-year-old, plain-spoken, matter-of-fact man who was born in England and raised in Alabama. The tall, lanky director now makes his home in Southern California.

Not all of his movies have been box-office successes, but almost all have been well-made and entertaining: "The Bingo Long Traveling All-Stars and Motor Kings," "Whose Life is It Anyway?," "Dracula" and "American Flyers."

"My pictures seem to follow a pattern," Badham said with a grin. "Maybe I should just skip directing every-other-picture."

quilt at birth. Attesting to her skill as a designer and seamstress, Mrs. McLeod's handiwork has become quite evident in her daughter Skye's beautiful prom gowns, several wedding dresses and baby gifts. Sewing is "my therapy," says Mrs. McLeod, and a lot of love goes into every stitch.

Even though her family is a bit scattered, with son Dan and his family living in West Palm Beach, and Greg, an engineering technician for a valve company, living in Boynton Beach, "we do manage to get together every 3 months, at least," says Mrs. McLeod. Skye, who is a student at Harding University in Searcy, Arkansas, is studying Child Development and Plans to be a Child-Life specialist. Explaining Skye's plans, Mrs. McLeod says, "She loves children, and these are people who work in hospitals with sick children doing play therapy, preparing them for surgery and easing their anxieties." Recalling her own special relationship with Skye, Mrs. McLeod goes on to relate, "She was a 4 year old the first year I started the Day Care Program, so she was in my class, she graduated from my class as a Senior, so we went full cycle together. As a 4 year old in the program, she had a great way of separating it: when we were at school, I was 'teacher' and when we were at home, I was 'Mommy.'"

Honorable mention must be given to "Nugget," the family pet, who's unique blend of schnauzer and poodle allows him to be fondly referred to as a "schnoodle." A precocious and friendly canine, Nugget is quite adept at stealing his way into your heart.

Besides her busy schedule as a teacher and homemaker, Mrs. McLeod is actively involved in Delta Kappa Gamma, International, the Seminole Vocational Association, the Seminole County Home Economics Teacher's Association, and Alpha Omega Pi, a sorority organization, "and, of course," says Mrs. McLeod, "the FSU Alumni Association." The McLeods are also members of the South Seminole Church of Christ and Mrs. McLeod thoroughly enjoys sharing recipes for covered dish dinners, church socials, and progressive dinners.

"Sharing recipes for wedding receptions, dinner clubs, picnics and parties has been a fun part of my life since childhood," says Mrs. McLeod. "My mother was blind in her adult years, and my sisters and I learned from Lucy, the family housekeeper, many of the traditional southern recipes that we still serve to our families." Since retiring completely, Mr. McLeod has begun to collect a few recipes of his own, such as Company Cabbage, which is a great stir-fry dish full of nutrition and low in calories and cholesterol. When Mrs. McLeod prepares a covered dish for church and club meetings, they are often covered with cleverly crafted holders or covers made for the occasion.

Perhaps the all-time favorite recipe used in Mrs. McLeod's Child Care class is the Master Mix, a basic biscuit dough, which can be mixed in quantity and made into so many different snack foods with little preparation time necessary.

Of her Breakfast Lasagna, Mrs. McLeod says, "Anytime you want a great breakfast without effort, put this in the refrigerator the night before. It can feed a crowd well on Sunday morning and still get you to church on time."

Listed below are Mrs. McLeod's favorites, offering a little taste of everything:

COCK-A-LEEKIE SOUP

(A Scottish tradition)
1 cock or boiling fowl
2 quarts beef stock made from shin or marrow bones
2 bunches leeks, approx. 2 lbs., washed and chopped
Salt and pepper
Prunes (optional)
Place fowl in a saucepan, cover with stock, and add chopped leeks, salt and pepper. Bring to boil and simmer, covered, for 4 hours. Skim fat from surface. Half an hour before soup is ready, add a handful of prunes and continue simmering. When soup is ready, remove cock or fowl and cut in pieces. Put meat in aureen and pour the soup over. Serves 6 to 8.

COMPANY CABBAGE

(Kent's specialty)
2 Tbls. bacon or ham drippings
1 medium cabbage, shredded
2 green peppers, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped onion
¼ cup water
3 cups chopped cooked ham
Salt and pepper to taste
Heat drippings in large iron skillet. When hot, add part of vegetables, stir fry until transparent. Remove from pan and stir fry remaining vegetables. Combine all vegetables with ham, salt and pepper, and ¼ cup water, if needed. Cook, covered, about 15 minutes or until of desired doneness. Cabbage should be a little crunchy. Serves 6 to 8.

BREAKFAST LASAGNA

Trim crusts from 8 slices of bread. Place bread in bottom of shallow, greased casserole dish. Layer 8 slices of American cheese, 8 slices of Swiss cheese, and 8 slices of ham (but ham should be in bite-size pieces). Mix 8 eggs, 2 cups milk, salt to taste, and dry mustard to taste, in blender. Pour over layered mixture. Top with a good layer of corn flake crumbs. Drizzle melted butter over top. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. (This is better if prepared the night before and refrigerated. Set out of refrigerator about 2 hours before baking as it should be at room temperature before baking.)

MASTER MIX

(Basic dough)
5 lbs. all purpose flour
2 cups (2 envelopes) instant dry milk
¼ cup double-acting baking powder
3 Tbls. salt
2½ cups vegetable shortening
Place dry ingredients into large 4 quart saucepan, or divide mixture equally into two large mixing bowls. Add shortening. With fingertips, work in shortening to resemble corn meal. Store in airtight containers in cool area. Mixture will keep several weeks. Always stir mixture before using. To measure, pile lightly into a measuring cup and level off. Note: recipe can be easily divided to make a smaller quantity.

VARIATIONS: CHEESE BISCUITS

2¼ cups basic dough mixture
¾ cup water
½ cup grated cheese
Combine ingredients with a fork. (Mixture will be sticky) Turn onto a floured board. Knead 10 times. Roll ¼ inch thick. Use a 2 in. cutter to shape. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet for 10-15 minutes at 450 degrees. Makes 8 to 10 cheese biscuits.

DUMPLINGS

2 cups basic dough mixture
¾ cup water
Mix ingredients well with fork. Moisten spoon for each dumpling. Drop onto meat or chicken in bubbling hot stew. Cook, uncovered, 10 minutes. Cover and cook 10 minutes more. Makes 6 to 8 dumplings.

CHOCOLATE SQUARES

1¼ cups basic mixture
¼ cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
4 squares semi-sweet chocolate, melted with 4 Tbls. butter
1 tsp. vanilla

¼ cup chopped nuts

Combine all ingredients, beat well. Turn into well greased 9 inch square baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Cool 10 minutes. Cut into 1½ inch squares. Makes 3 dozen.

CURRIED BEEF

(A festive company treat)
Flour and brown 2 to 3 lbs. round steak, cut into strips.
Saute 1 medium onion, 1 apple, and 2 stalks celery in 3 Tbls. butter.

Stir in 1½ Tbls. curry powder, 2 Tbls. flour, 1 tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. garlic salt. Add water or bouillon to thicken and simmer. Serve on a bed of rice surrounded by at least 5 condiments, such as: coconut, chopped tomato, chopped bacon, sliced bananas, grated carrots, pineapple chunks, chopped onion, chopped bell pepper, raisins, spanish peanuts, or cashews.

ORANGE TEA MUFFINS

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
3 cups plain flour
1 cup baking soda
1 tsp. orange juice
¼ cup orange rind of 1 orange
¼ cup buttermilk
1 tsp. lemon extract
Cream shortening, sugar and eggs together. Add flour and milk alternately, then soda, orange juice and rind, currants and extract. Bake in well greased miniature muffin tins at 375 degrees for approximately 12 minutes.
Make sauce from the juice of 2 large oranges and 2 cups of sugar. Let come to boil, then cool. After muffins are baked and while still hot, dip in sauce and place on waxed paper to cool.

'Non-Chew Cookbook' Recipes

DENVER (UPI) — Following are recipes from Randy Wilson's "Non-Chew Cookbook" for a main course and a dessert:

1 pound twice-ground beef
1 cup minute rice
1 tsp. basil
16-ounce carton cream-style cottage cheese
1 can tomato soup
1 cup sharp American cheese, shredded

Cook zucchini in a small amount of salted water until tender; drain. In a skillet, saute onion and garlic in butter. When onions are golden, add ground beef and stir until brown.

Stir in the rice and basil. Arrange half the zucchini in the bottom of a 2 ½ quart casserole and layer the ground beef mixture and remaining zucchini over top. Mix soups with two-thirds cup water and pour over the top. Sprinkle cheese on top.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or until lightly brown. Makes eight servings.

2 small ripe bananas, broken into 1-inch chunks
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 packets of sugarless sweetener
2 egg whites at room temperature

Process apricots, bananas and lemon juice in blender or food processor until smooth. In the small bowl of an electric mixer, beat egg whites and salt at high speed until soft peaks form when beaters are lifted.

Emperor's Delight

Imperial Torte Recipe Dusted Off For Worldwide Mail-Order Delivery

By JOHN DEMERS
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Emperor Josef of Vienna had an eye for beautiful pastries as well as beautiful women, and he was delighted the latter with the former.

It's doubtful, however, that he found another pastry or food any woman he loved with the passion he reserved for the chocolate-crazy Imperial Torte.

His love was so complete that the torte went into a sort of limbo when he died in 1916, the recipe becoming a secret of the Imperial Hotel and the only ones becoming those in fading Austrian memories.

Recently, the recipe was dusted off by a team of hotel chefs and prepared not only for a gala Statsoper ball but for mail-order delivery around the world.

"It's something different, something that's so in contrast to the thinking that you shouldn't be a glutton and stuff yourself with all these calories," offered Georg W. Engelhardt, chief executive officer of Imperial Hotels.

"It's not light and airy. It goes back to the olden days of Austrian monarchy and waltzing in Vienna."

Engelhardt said the unique chocolate pastry was being prepared in accordance with the original recipe and was intended to compete with the better-known torte named after Vienna's Sacher Hotel.

The entry was created in 1873 for the palatial hotel's opening, following the centuries-old Austrian tradition of each home, hotel and cafe having its own special pastry.

Like a low-lying chocolate pillbox, the torte stood out dramatically as Franz Josef scanned the selections of high-cream-white concoctions for which Vienna was justly renowned.

A chocoholic before it was chic, the emperor zeroed in immediately on the desert and declared it his favorite. In gratitude, the hotel reserved it for him and those select few ladies who accompanied him.

The torte made its long-awaited second debut in February 1986, the true star of the Opera Ball. Within two months, more than 5,000 had been sold.

"We thought the time was right," said Engelhardt. "People who stayed with us thought that it could not be compared with ordinary cake. And the idea that it virtually could not be prepared at home fascinated many of them. It's not the kind of thing you would just whip up and shove in the oven."

That is no small understatement.

The Imperial Torte is five extra-thin layers of cake and almond paste interspersed with chocolate and topped with marzipan. An icing of choice hard chocolate stamped with the Imperial crest rounds off its royal flavor.

Engelhardt said the decision to market the torte worldwide was inspired by a recent resurgence in curiosity about Vienna and its golden age, mostly across Europe but also in the United States.

Viewed from a modern world of hard-nosed alliances, the old Vienna seems a delightfully frivolous world given to the pursuit of pleasure. Periodic threats from both East and West have a way of being forgotten against a backdrop of lilting music, eccentric artists and plenty of sinful pastries.

Marketing was also pushed forward by advances in airmail delivery, with cakes seldom taking more than a week to reach their destination. In addition, the tortes have gone successfully by surface mail to Brazil and, as a special treat, to Shanghai on the coast of China.

The hard chocolate serves as a seal to preserve freshness in each baked-to-order torte. To preserve the hard chocolate, the Imperial Hotel covers each in clear plastic wrap, then in a solid cardboard box and then in an elegant wooden box.

The whole affair is packed in more plastic then sealed in a heavy-duty paper envelope marked Fragile.

Italian Appetizers Spice Up Any Party

Flavorful seasonings — Italian herbs, snips of dill or parsley — combine with Swiss cheese and sausage to transform quiches, breads or crackers into tasty bite-size appetizers.

For the ultimate in easy appetizer preparation, slice sticks of pepperoni or smoked sausage into thin coin-size pieces and arrange on a platter with olives.

ITALIAN SEASONED BREADS TOPPED WITH SAUSAGE

1 pound loaf white bread
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons snipped fresh dill or 2 teaspoons dried dill seed OR
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon oregano
2 tablespoons anise
1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese
Thaw frozen bread dough overnight in refrigerator. Roll out on lightly floured surface to fit a 10x15 baking sheet. Brush with melted butter. Sprinkle with seasonings. Bake in 400° oven for 15-18 minutes or until golden brown. Cut into 2-inch squares, circles, triangles or rectangles. Garnish as desired.

Ingredients for Dill Bread:
2 ounces cream cheese
2 teaspoons stone-ground mustard
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Salami strips
Combine cream cheese, mustard and lemon juice. Blend until smooth in consistency. Place in pastry tube. Decorate dilly bread as desired and top with pieces of salami. (Yield: 24)

SWISS CHEESE MINI QUICHES

Quiche Pie Dough:
1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter
2-3 tablespoons cold water
Combine flour and salt. Using pastry cutter or 2 knives, add butter and mix until consistency of corn meal. Add water. Mix until dough forms ball shape from sides of bowl. Place in metal or glass mixing bowl. Chill in freezer for 15 minutes — no longer.

Quiche filling:
¼ pound Smoked Sausage
1-2 small red potatoes, diced
1 small onion, peeled and quartered
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup half and half
4 eggs
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Swiss cheese
Dash of salt and pepper
Slice smoked sausage in 24 penny-size pieces (Approximately ¼ inch thick) and reserve. Place remaining sausage, potato and onion in food processor or blender. Chop finely. Cook sausage mixture in skillet for 5 minutes and season to taste. Stir in chopped parsley. Drain. Combine eggs and half and half until well blended. Roll dough to 1/16" thickness and cut into 3-inch circles. Re-roll scraps as needed. Fit circles into bottom and slightly up sides of ungreased 2½ inch muffin tins. Divide sausage mixture into tins, using approximately ¼ teaspoon each. Top with 1 teaspoon grated cheese. Pour quiche batter over cheese, filling almost to top of dough. Bake in pre-heated 400° oven for about 25 minutes, or until quiche is set and golden brown on top. Cook reserved sausage 2-3 minutes, garnish each quiche with a piece of sausage just before serving or halfway through baking time. (Yield: 24 (2½-inch) mini quiches or 19-inch quiche)

PEACH TORTONI

1 cup chopped peaches
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup crumbled almond macaroons
¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries, well-drained

Combine peaches and sugar; let stand 10 minutes. Fold peach mixture, macaroons and cherries into whipped topping. Spoon into paper-lined muffin cups. Top with almonds; freeze until firm.
12 servings
Variation: Substitute coconut macaroons for almond macaroons. Add ¼ teaspoon almond extract.

Author Serves Up The Best Source Of Wisdom On Kitchenware

By JOHN DEMERS
UPI Food Editor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Chuck Williams kept haggling with publisher after publisher about whether to do a book about cooking or a book about cookware. He haggled, in fact, until he came up with two books in one.

Today, the founding father and guiding light of the Williams-Sonoma gourmet catalog gives credit where credit is due. Random House, after all, helped him refine his concept.

Yet the origins of his book, and the qualities that make it essential to just about anyone who loves the kitchen, have little in common with corporate thinking on Publishers Row.

"It's really my 25 to 30 years in this business, and I hope the personal side comes across," said Williams. "I've always enjoyed sharing what I know and what I find out with everybody."

Williams needn't worry. In addition to 155 recipes he has developed or perfected in his own kitchen, "The Williams-Sonoma Cookbook and Guide to Kitchenware" serves up what is probably the most accessible wisdom available on a vast amount of paraphernalia.

Whether it's a Middle East couscousiere you're after, or an enameled cast iron pate terrine (with cover, of course), Williams has the scoop. And he is equally good discussing the best materials for plain everyday saucepans or what type of handle is best on what type of pot.

This is, quite simply, the kind of information every cook needs to know and few sources, printed or otherwise, seem to offer.

"We were never really able to say very much in our catalog about options," said Williams. "We tried to make the descriptions here as simple and concise as possible but really give more information and eliminate a lot of equipment in the kitchen that's not very useful."

"We left out all the fad gadgets, like ones to make square eggs."

Williams says he came by his love of good food honestly, drawing it from his hearty German-Welsh stock in Sonoma, Calif. During his first extended tour of Europe in 1952, he dispensed quickly with museums and churches and found the beginnings of his calling in food shops, cookware outlets and tiny restaurants.

Through a series of decisions, made consciously or otherwise, Williams first opened a kitchenware store in Sonoma in 1953, moved to Sutter Street in San Francisco five years later and entered the mail order business in 1973.

Since then, much has happened to Williams-Sonoma, including its acquisition by Howard Lester, the opening of additional stores and the almost inevitable "going public." But nothing much has changed in the outlook of its founder and chairman.

"I think a tool should be well designed and really serve a purpose, either to make something easier to do or faster to do, and do it maybe even better than you could by hand," he said. "There are some that appear from time to time that do this, but not too many."

The recipe for Fresh Fettucine With Tomato and Shrimp is by no means out of the ordinary among those collected in Williams' book, published by Random House at $19.95. But it does seem nicely evocative of his style.

The weaving in of a procedure for peeling and seeding tomatoes seems an affectionate touch from a man who loves nothing better than hand-kneading dough for homemade bread. The simple blending of fresh ingredients also seems to reveal an important element in Williams' thinking.

FRESH FETTUCINE WITH TOMATO AND SHRIMP
3 medium tomatoes (about 1 pound)

5 Tbsp olive oil
1 medium onion, diced
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
¼ pound cooked ham, in ¼-by-1 inch strips
¼ tsp fresh oregano, or ¼ tsp dried
2 Tbsp Madeira
Salt
Freshly ground black pepper
½ pound medium raw shrimp, shelled, cut in half
¼ pound small mushrooms, sliced
¼ lemon
1 pound fresh fettucine
¼ cup black olives, pitted
Parsley, chopped
¼ cup fresh green peas, blanched (optional)
Fill saucepot with 5 quarts of water and heat to boiling. Cut core from tomatoes and make a small cross at the bottom end. Dip in boiling water for 5 seconds to loosen skin. Peel, cut in half crossways and gently squeeze out seeds. Chop tomatoes and set aside.

Heat 2 tablespoons of the olive oil in saute pan. Add onion and garlic and saute gently for 3 minutes, until onion is wilted. Add the ham and cook for 20 seconds. Stir in the tomatoes, oregano and Madeira and season lightly with salt and pepper. Remove from heat.

Heat remaining olive oil in a skillet. Add the shrimp and cook, stirring and tossing, for 1 or 2 minutes until they turn pink. Remove with slotted spoon and add to tomato mixture.

Add mushrooms to olive oil in skillet and squeeze about 1 teaspoon of lemon juice over them to keep them white. Cook for 1 or 2 minutes, stirring and tossing constantly. Transfer to pan containing tomato mixture.

Add 2 tablespoons of salt to the pot of boiling water. Add the fettucine and cook until just tender. Drain and combine with the sauce. Garnish with the black olives and parsley, and the peas is used. Serves 4 to 6.

Lighten the summertime workload with an Easy Pork and Green Apple Skillet.

Summertime

...And The Cooking Can Be Real Easy

Preclus extra hours of summer daylight should be budgeted wisely. Spend them, while they last, on pleasurable activities, not on elaborate meal preparation and time-consuming cleanup.

How to do it and still enjoy interesting and varied main dishes? Rely on skillet meals. Made on top of the stove in one pan, they won't turn the kitchen into a sauna, nor will they require extensive cleanup after dinner. And they can be exciting and appealing, if they call on Granny Smith Apples to supply flavor and texture interest.

These tangy-sweet apples are available all through the summer months. As delicious for cooking as they are for eating out of hand, granny smith apples retain their distinctive flavor, color and shape to complement any number of easy skillet dish ingredients.

Pork and Green Apple Skillet, for example, even lets you get a head start on dinner preparation. Since the pork chops steep in a spicy marinade for at least four hours, you can prepare the soy sauce, sherry, garlic and ginger blend early in the day, before work or fun in the sun. When you arrive home, it's a simple matter to brown the chops, saute rings of onion and apple and simmer all the ingredients in a mixture of the remaining marinade and water. The result is a savory main dish of tender pork and firm, tasty apples that couldn't be better if you had slaved for hours over it.

If quick dinner ideas fit right into your summer evening plans, try Granny's Apple-Sausage Skillet. It's a German-style mix of sauteed sausages, onions and apple wedges, cooked gently in seasoned sauerkraut for a mere 25 minutes. Serve it as the Germans would, with boiled potatoes or noodles, or vary the dish with a generous helping of light, fluffy rice.

PORK AND GREEN APPLE SKILLET

4 pork chops, cut 1-inch thick
½ cup soy sauce
¼ cup dry sherry wine
¼ cup brown sugar
1 clove garlic, crushed
½ tsp. ground ginger
3 Tbls. vegetable oil
3 Granny Smith Apples, cored and sliced into rings ½-inch thick
1 cup thinly sliced onions
½ cup water
Place pork chops in shallow dish. In small bowl, combine soy sauce, wine, brown sugar, garlic and ginger; mix well, pour over chops. Cover. Refrigerate at least 4 hours, turning chops occasionally. Remove chops from marinade, pat dry; reserve marinade. In large skillet, heat oil; brown chops on both sides, remove from skillet, set aside. In same skillet, saute apples and onions 3 or 4 minutes. Return chops to skillet; add ½ cup reserved marinade and water. Cover. Simmer 45 minutes or until chops are tender. Baste occasionally with the pan liquids during cooking. Yield: 4 servings.

GRANNY'S APPLE SAUSAGE SKILLET

1 Tbls. vegetable oil
1 pound sweet Italian link sausage
1 medium onion, chopped
3 Granny Smith Apples, cored, sliced in thick wedges
1 can (1 pound 11 ounces) sauerkraut, drained
2 Tbls. honey
1 tsp. caraway seeds
4 peppercorns
4 whole cloves
In large skillet, heat oil over medium heat; brown sausages, remove and set aside. In same skillet, saute onions and apples until tender. Add sauerkraut, browned sausages, honey and caraway seeds; mix gently. Tie peppercorns and cloves in a piece of cheesecloth; place in sauerkraut mixture. Cover. Simmer 25 minutes. Discard cheesecloth bag. Serve casserole with rice or boiled potatoes, if desired. Yield: 4 servings.

Introducing The Hottest Treat Since Ice Cream

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

We've borrowed the term "apumoni" for a very special no-bake creme pie that promises to be a favorite for summer entertaining. Even ice cream lovers will fall for this non-ice cream apumoni pie.

A rich blend of ricotta cheese, whipping cream and chopped nuts is set off with a tang of candied orange peel and orange liqueur or orange extract. An added time saver is the use of ready crust.

ITALIAN CREME APUMONI PIE

1 butter flavored ready crust
2 8-ounce cartons ricotta cheese
1 pint whipping cream

1 cup powdered sugar, sifted and divided
½ cup coarsely chopped nuts (walnuts, pecans or pistachios)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon orange extract or ¼ cup Grand Marnier liqueur
1 cup candied orange peel, chopped
Whip cream with ½ cup powdered sugar; chill. Cream ricotta cheese, ½ cup powdered sugar and extracts together. Stir in nuts and orange peel. Reserve about 2 tablespoons each for garnish. Fold in whipped cream, reserving ¼ cup for topping. Spoon into pie crust. Spread reserved cream on top; sprinkle with nuts and orange peel. Chill well. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

Potpourri

It's Time For Florida Chowder

MIAMI (UPI) — It's a given in the kitchen that chowder means New England clam unless otherwise identified. But the cooks around south Florida say that fact speaks more to perception than reality.

To chefs at the Esplanade, the downtown Hyatt Regency's flagship restaurant, saying you don't like Florida Seafood Chowder is a heresy akin to not liking stone crabs in season.

Food and beverage manager Manfred Keller supplies this recipe for the delicious chowder. As with all such seafood soups, the best ingredients are those caught in nearby waters. The finished product is so good you'll forget how easy it was to prepare.

FLORIDA SEAFOOD CHOWDER

1 green pepper, chopped
½ bunch of celery, chopped
1 onion, chopped
2 4-ounce cans of tomatoes, diced

¼ small can of tomato paste
1 quart fish stock
1 quart clam juice
1 ounce thyme
1 ounce oregano
2 bay leaves
1 ounce sweet basil
4 red potatoes, diced
¼ pound bay shrimp
¼ pound conch
¼ pound bay scallops
¼ pound monk fish
Cornstarch
3 ounces butter
Lightly saute all the vegetables in butter, then add the tomato paste, fish stock, clam juice, herbs, diced potatoes, scallops, conch, monk fish and enough cornstarch to reach desired thickness. Add the bay shrimp last and simmer until flavors blend. Serves 4.

HUMAN CHICKEN SALAD

4 chicken breasts
¼ cup hot chilis
2 cups soy sauce
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup red wine vinegar
1 Tbsp hoisin sauce
1 Tbsp sesame oil
1 Tbsp garlic, chopped
4 Tbsp ginger, chopped
Fresh cilantro
¼ cup water
¼ pound spinach, sliced into thin strips
3 carrots, sliced thin
2 bunches scallion stalks, sliced thin
¼ cup toasted almond slices

Combine soy sauce, brown sugar, hot chilis, red wine vinegar, hoisin sauce, sesame oil, garlic, ginger, cilantro and water. Marinate the chicken in this mixture. Set aside one-third of the marinade for dressing. Barbecue chicken until done and refrigerate until cold. Separate the meat from the skin (see note below). Chop the meat into strips and toss with all the sliced vegetables. Add the almonds and dressing, then toss.

Note: As an optional garnish, the skin from the barbecued chicken breasts can be sliced very thin and fried until crispy in a small amount of oil, drained and dried on paper towels and added to the salad.

DEEP DISH PIZZA PERASUB

2 Tbsp olive oil
1 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 10-ounce package frozen

spinach, chopped, thawed and drained

1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms (¼ pound)
¼ tsp Tabasco pepper sauce
Enough pastry for 2-crust pie
¼ cup sliced black olives
1 cup cherry tomatoes, cut in half

¼ pound feta cheese, crumbled
¼ pound mozzarella cheese, cut in strips
1 can (2 ounces) anchovy fillets, drained (optional)

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In a large skillet, heat oil, then saute onion and garlic until tender. Remove from heat. Stir in spinach, mushrooms and pepper sauce.

On a lightly floured board, roll all the pastry into a 14-inch circle. Fit pastry into 9-by-2 inch round layer cake pan, with excess pastry hanging over the edge.

Spoon half the spinach mixture evenly into the prepared cake pan. Sprinkle with half the black olives, tomatoes, feta cheese and mozzarella cheese. Lay remaining ingredients into pan. Add anchovies if desired. Bake in the oven 30 to 35 minutes, until crust is golden brown. Serves 4.

KRENDDEL

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup milk, lukewarm
¼ cup sugar
1 cup flour
8 Tbsp unsalted butter
3 whole eggs
¼ tsp salt
¼ tsp ground cardomom
¼ tsp nutmeg
¼ tsp ground anise
3 ½ cups flour
One-third cup sliced almonds, blanched

One-third cup golden raisins
1 egg yolk
1 Tbsp cold water
Pearl (crystal) sugar
Make a sponge by dissolving the yeast in the milk. Add the half-cup of sugar and the flour. Cover and let rise in a warm place for 1 hour. Gradually stir in the butter and eggs, beating well after each addition. Add the salt and spices, then stir in enough flour to make a soft dough. Stir in the almonds and raisins.

Turn the dough out onto a floured bowl and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a greased bowl, turning dough to grease the top. Cover and let rise for 1 ½ hours, until doubled in bulk.

Grease a large baking sheet. Punch down the risen dough. Knead it for one to two minutes on a floured board, then shape it into a long roll about 3 ½ feet long and tapering at the ends.

Bring the tapered ends of the roll up and around to the center, overlapping them to form a large pretzel shape. This is easiest to do after the roll is on the baking sheet so that it doesn't have to be transferred. Cover the krendel and let rise 30 to 40 minutes.

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. Brush the loaf with a glaze made from the egg yolk beaten with the cold water. Sprinkle generously with pearl sugar. Bake for 30 to 35 minutes, until the loaf is nicely browned and sounds hollow when tapped. Source: Stolichnaya Vodka.
