Non-Topic Of Juana Today Worries Official

The Club Juana controversy will not be formally discussed by the Casselberry City Council again until City Attorney Kenneth McIntosh completes an investigation into the city's authority and responsibility to regulate the activities in the topless go-go establishment.

City Council Chairman Sal Orlando announced Monday night the Juana situation would not appear on the formal agenda of meetings again until McIntosh is prepared to make a final report "so the city will not come to a standstill." "Once the report is in, it will go back on the agenda for action," Orlando said, despite a plea from Councilman Charles Sizer that he is "suffering under a cloud" because the names of officials involved have not been revealed. Sizer, whose council post is up for reelection, said he has had "feedback" from some people in the city who feel "I'm involved in this thing. The air should be cleared on whether all city officials are involved." Orlando, two weeks ago, said elective and appointive city officials, according to information provided him by State Attorney Abbott Herring's office, were involved in criminal activity at the nightspot. Herring has said since that time that Casselberry official has been "compromised" and should be removed from office by Gov. Reubin Askew. Councilman Nathan Van Meter Monday / night said charges should either be made by Herring's office or the matter dropped. In other action at Monday night's meeting, Orlando announced a public hearing on the Dear Abby city's proposed new charter has been Dr. Lamb scheduled for Oct. 27, as the governing body Horoscope voted 3-1 to approve the document in ordinance form on its first reading. from a weak mayor-city manager type to a strong council-city manager. The mayor would become a voting member of the city council and its chairman. Van Meter, in voting against the document, said much of the proposed 60-page charter is good, but gives too much power to a city manager who is not answerable to the people. "I'm against the hypocrisy that the charter creates," he said. Orlando, announcing he would not seek re-election to the governing body in December, said, however, he will campaign vigorously among the people for adoption of the charter to be on the ballot then. Sizer and Councilman John Leighty also announced support for the proposed charter. The board appointed Linda Thomas, formerly secretary to the mayor and council, acting city clerk while City Clerk Mary Hawthorne is serving as acting city manager, pending the hiring of a new manager.

Six economists from six European countries have submitted a report to the Common Market on the causes of inflation, the problem that tends to keep finance ministers awake at night in most Western capitals. The report may have added to their insomnia It downplays the importance of high prices for oil and raw materials from the Third World as a factor in inflation. It gives multinational corporations the expected amount of blame for their price-fixing tendencies. But it also comes down hard on governments, labor unions and individual employers, and says that control of inflation will nvolve difficult political decisions within the Western European community.

The report suggests that the Europeans are having trouble with the wedding of socialist and capitalist elements in their "mixed" economies. One problem is that governments are spending profusely on cradle-to-grave security for their people, while unions continue to emphasize financial rewards in their demands on employers. The inflation spiral is being abetted by this desire of people to have their cake and eat it, too. Further, some governments are pursuing inflationary monetary policies to avert unemployment.

While the Common Market report makes heavy reading, we owe it to a leader in one of the most inflation-ridden countries to say much the same thing in terms that anyone can understand. British Prime Minister James Callaghan, trying to rally his Labor Party behind some austere new policies as the British pound was falling to historic lows, had this to say:

"We used to think you could just spend your way out of a recession and increase employment by cutting taxes and boosting government spending. I tell you in all candor that that option no longer exists, and that insofar as it ever did exist, it worked by injecting inflation into the economy. And each time that happened the sverage level of unemployment has risen. Higher inflation, followed by higher unemployment. "We can only become competitive by having the right kind of investment at the right kind of level and by significantly improving the productivity of both labor and capital. Nor will we succeed if we use confetti money to pay ourselves more than we produce.

"The willingness of industry to invest in new plant and machinery requires not only that we overcome inflation but that industry is left with sufficient funds and sufficient confidence to make the new investment ... I mean they must be able to earn a surplus, which is a euphemism for saying they must make a profit. And whether you call it a surplus or a profit it is necessary whether we live in a socialist economy, a mixed economy or a capitalist economy.

That's what Britons need to hear, and the advice would not be lost on others in Western Europe. In fact, we can think of some American politicians who would profit by hearing it, too.

The Long Probe

The Federal Bureau of Investigation started investigating the Socialist Workers Party 38 years ago.

During that time criminal charges were brought against 18 members of the party or its youth affiliate, the Young Socialist Alliance. ## Purge Of Mao's Widow

· May Be Forthcoming

TOKYO (AP) - An editorial in the Chinese Communist party newspaper today indicated that an official announcement of the purge of Mao Tse-tung's widow and other leaders of the party's radical wing may be near. The Peking People's Daily said that a "firm campaign" must be waged to thoroughly expose and criticize those who attempted to snatch power from the party." It was the first such comment by the party organ since unconfirmed but apparently authoritative reports from Peking that Chiang Ching, Mao's widow, and three other radicals on the party Politburo were arrested Sept. 7 for plotting to oust Premier Hua Kuo-feng.

New Peace Plan Proposed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat and Syrian President Hafez Assad have agreed on a new peace plan to end Lebanon's civil war and a cease-fire by midnight Wednesday. One Lebanese Christian faction, the Phalangists, also endorsed the peace plan, but Camille Chamoun's forces demanded more restrictions on the Palestinians, and the leftist Lebanese Moslems demanded withdrawal of all Syrian forces.

Ford, according to the White House, accepts Gen. George S. Brown's explanation and "considers the matter closed." For his part, Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a news conference Monday that his remarks in an interview did not indicate disagreement with the U.S. policy of aiding Israel. In the interview, Brown had said that aiding Israel is a burden on the United States.

His statement on Israel involved him in controversy for the second time in two years. Brown was reprimanded by Ford and apologized in November 1974 for telling a Duke University audience that Jews have too much influence in Congress and 'own, you know, the banks in this country, the newspapers.' Carter, arriving in Miami on a campaign tour Monday night, conceded that he had not read transcripts of Brown's remarks, out he added: "From what I hear in the news media I think that he should be reprimanded. I think President Ford should show some leadership." The other half of the Democratic ticket, vice presidential iominee Walter F. Mondale, was more blunt. Persons like Brown

Tie Vote Keeps Apple Valley Site For Park

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

The winds of protest blew through Seminole County Commission chambers Tuesday night as about 100 Apple Valley residents expressed disapproval of the commission's decision to uphold a previous vote to purchase a $255,000 park site near their South Seminole subdivision.

The winds stirred up emotions homeowners pitted themselves against emocratic commissioners, and Republicans pitted themselves against their Democratic ounterparts. And when the winds had died down, Apple Valley was stuck with a county park residents said they didn't want, and the county commission was deadlocked 2-2 on the conroversial issue.

The deciding vote would have been cast by commissioner Sid Vihlen Jr., but an absent the sent a letter to the meeting informing Panel Eyes Herndon As ommissioners he didn't want to be a 'villain" and locate a park where residents didn't want it so his vote was to build the park Midway, a predominantly black eighborhood east of Sanford. "A Vihlen special," Commission Chair-Mike Hattaway Whilen's letter.

The letter, according to the chairman, said Vihlen was in accordance with a memorandum written by Commissioner John Kimbrough recommending Midway as the choice location for a park because residents wanted it. Kimbrough said Vihlen in his "usual Phantom role" as county commissioner left out a lot of facts. Then Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski pounced on Kimbrough for the memorandum Kimbrough wrote advising commissioners to locate the park in Midway - if a South Seminole site cannot be found. "The memo was tongue in cheek Kwiatkowski chided.

"Didn't you circulate a memo" Kwiatkowski asked, "Are you backing off that now? The memo indicated Midway was your first choice."

"I will not vote to put a park in an area where the public doesn't want it. If it's not going to be accepted, move it," Kimbrough However, he indicated Midway was not lirst choice. First choice was somewhere in the south part of Seminole, Kimbrough said. Either that, or work the problem out with the miffed Apple Valley residents.

Commissioner Dick Williams agreed the park should not be located where residents don't want it, but Kwiatkowski and Hattaway stood fast behind their Oct. 5 decision to buy the land from Overstreet Investment Co. of Orlando.

County Agrees On Attorney's Qualifications

Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday night agreed to hire a lawyer with at least five years' experience as the new county attorney. Salary for the new in-house legal department staffer will be from $24,000 to $27,000. County commissioners agreed to advertise for the position at the urging of Exec. Asst. Roger Neiswender. "We're on the line for some big coins," Neiswender said. His eference was to pending lawsuits against the county which resulted from last year's jail fire that claimed the lives of 11 persons.

Neiswender urged commissioners to "shore up" the ties with County Atty. Tom Freeman, or hire the county's top legal officer. 'We're hanging in the middle," Neiswender indicated. The commission already voted to terminate Freeman's position and that of labor attorneys Alley, Alley & Blue of Tampa and create an in-house staff.

Commissioners at first disagreed on salary. Asst. County Atty. Robert Pierce said the commission should hire the attorney, then let the lawyer decide what's needed. Pierce said the new county attorney should know how much outside expertise will be required to fight the county's battles. "Rely on the attorney you hire," Pierce said.

Though Pierce has indicated he might apply for the new position, he does not meet the five-year qualification. Pierce has been an attorney about two years. Pierce's boss, Freeman, has indicated he is not interested in he position.

Neiswender also suggested hiring an assistant for from $11,500 to $15,000.

Right now, I don't believe two attorneys are warranted." Neiswender said he sees too much work for one attorney, but not enough for two in-house staffers.

American Broadcasting Corporation said that federal laws require both the network and the station to offer equal time to all candidates and that any complaints should be directed to Kelly.

"I'm furious," said Mrs. Marie Clem. "I can't see this being allowed when just a few years ago you could be arrested for saying anything about communism."

She said her voting-age child saw the advertisement, which was broadcast as a commercial break during "The $6-Million Man" Sunday night, and asked questions about what could happen to America under communism.

"I can't see letting children see this kind of thing," Mrs. Clem said. "Kids don't know what they want these days and they might be influenced by this." Neighbor Mary Jean Blouin said talk about the commercial was "all over the high school, so you see it did make an impact." Mrs. Blouin - who recently returned from Italy, where the Communists made a strong showing in legislative elections - said she was "disgusted" by the commercials promoting a Communist government for the United States.

"They don't have a chance now," she said, "but if they keep pounding away ....

Margie Mickley of WFTV's programming department said the station had received a few "kind of bizarre" calls complaining about the ad, which was sold by the network and not by Channel 9. "I think most people understand the equal-time laws," she said. "If they didn't, we would have had calls flooding in. But she speculated that perhaps some viewers were confused by the court rulings. "As long as Carter and Ford are permitted to buy time, we have to offer it to everyone," she said. "We can't change that. ABC can't change it. And that's the way it is living here in the USA."

Handful Of Votes Key, Carter Says

Dear Abby

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Carter is growing increasingly concerned about all those Americans who don't plan to vote, and he's reminding his supporters of past instances when only a few ballots changed the nation's history. In his speeches this week, Carter has leaned heavily on listeners who may be thinking of sitting out the 1976 campaign and has urged his supporters to spare no effort to get potential slackers to the polls. Both Carter and President Ford are off the campaign trail today, Ford in Washington and Carter at home in Plains, Ga. Both candidates plan to attend the annual Al Smith dinner in New York on Thursday. Their final debate is scheduled for Friday in Williamsburg, Va.

on Tuesday, Ford found an opportunity to criticize Carter's proposals to cut the record defense budget, saying such cuts would make the nation weak. Carter has said he wants to cut from $5 billion to $7 billion from the Pentagon budget.

Bob Dole, were on the road. stood in a chilly Harlem street as night closed in and pleaded for his supporters to round up prospective nonvoters and get them to the

There are, he warned, past examples of elections that could have changed history if only a handful of voters who stayed at home had made it into the polling booth.

If John Kennedy had lost to Richard Nixon in 1960, Carter shouted into a cheering mostly black crowd that police estimated at 7,000 strong, "we would never have had the Voting Rights Act. None of you would have the reedom you now have."

Later, at a fund-raising dinner, Carter worried that "in the last eight years a lot of people had decided that it is not worth the effort to try to be involved in politics and vote and try to change this country."

He also recalled the 1968 election when Richard Nixon narrowly defeated Hubert Humphrey. "The election went the wrong way," he said.

Carter has for several days referred to polls that say more than half the eligible voters may not cast ballots. Analysts say many of those who have become discouraged with the election process would be Democratic voters casting ballots to change the faces in Washington if they bothered to vote. And national polls now show Ford and

Carter nearly neck-and-neck with the election only two weeks away. Some analysts say the lower the turnout the better chance Ford has of winning the election. But independent candidate Eugene McCarthy says he thinks voter anathy could help his campaign.
