French Reds In Drivers' Seat

Georges Pompidou

By HARVEY HUDSON Associated Press Writer PARIS (AP)—Premier Georges Pompidou today led a runoff battle for the French presidency with the Communists in position to decide the outcome.

Pompidou, 57-year-old former French banker and President Charles de Gaulle's premier for six years, was a surprise victor from runner in the first round Sunday, receiving 45.9 per cent of the vote in continental France.

Official results lacking only about 500,000 votes from some overseas areas, gave these totals: Pompidou, 45.9 per cent; De Gaulle, 43.7 per cent.

The other 11 per cent of the vote was divided among four also-ran candidates: Gaston Defferre, Socialist mayor of Marseille, 4.67 per cent; Michel Rocard, secretary-general of the United Socialist party, 3.68 per cent; Louis Duclos, millinaire industrialist, 1.27 per cent; and Alain Krivine, a 27-year-old student extremist, 1.36 per cent.

Public Kindergarten System Is Expanded

Seminole County public schools plan to expand the kindergarten program in September to include units at 24 schools for 1,600 pupils, or approximately 60 per cent of the children eligible.

Only children who will be five years old on or before Jan. 1 may be accepted. This program is not designed for older children. Those who are six years old on or before this date enroll in first grade.

Transportation for kindergarten children will be provided by parents. The kindergarten program is planned to meet the specific needs of the young child and supplements the experiences given the child at home.

Official results lacking only about 500,000 votes from some overseas areas, gave these totals: Pompidou, 45.9 per cent; De Gaulle, 43.7 per cent.

Oil Allowances Facing Attack

By EDMUND LEBRITON Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—The 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance, long considered one of the most entrenched of all special tax provisions, will be under attack this summer.

There is a growing feeling in Congress that the House Ways and Means Committee will include a scale-down of the rate in its package of tax reforms.

Once out of the committee, the fate of such a proposal in the House and especially in the Senate is unpredictable.

Two More Banks Join First Bancorporation

C. Howard McNulty, president of the Florida State Bank of Sanford and director of the First Florida Bancorporation, announced today that the Orlando Bank & Trust Company and a proposed affiliate, the Orlando National Bank, will join First Florida Bancorporation.

The Orlando Bank & Trust Company will have 15 banks with total resources of approximately $30 million.

The Orlando National Bank, West, will receive 1.2 shares of First Florida Bancorporation stock for each of its 70,000 shares outstanding.

Deaths In The Area

ALBERT BURK, 67, of Lake Monroe died Saturday night. Born in Tremont, Ill., he moved to Lake Monroe 23 years ago and was a farmer.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Evelyn M. Burk, Lake Monroe; four daughters, Mrs. Bonnie Tyson and Misses Jean, Nancy and Mary; and 22 nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Sanford. Burial will be in Greenboro.

Nation's Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A twister streaked through southern Ohio early today and a mixed bag of rain, sleet and wind made life miserable for motorists and easterners returning to work today.

Thunderstorms were scattered throughout the East. Four inches were laid up along an arc of chilly Canadian air that stretched from the lower Great Lakes to the Texas Panhandle.

Skies were clear elsewhere in the West and a hint of frost was expected in the North Central states, mainly the Dakotas, western Iowa and northwest Missouri on Tuesday.

Missile System Under New Attack

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—The Safeguard antimissile system has come under broad new criticism from members of both parties as well as for all the control very over whether Safeguard should be deployed.

Sen. Stuart Symington, a Democrat and long-time military supporter, accused the Defense Department Sunday of saying one thing in public and another in closed congressional committee sessions.

One Pentagon spokesman, who declined to be named, indicated that the Safeguard system will end up costing at least $20 billion, three times the administration estimates.

"Meet the Press," Perry on the CBS program "Face the Nation." "As I view it, the truth about the ABM is that it is probably unworkable and potentially very costly. The consequence, as I see it, is another spiral in the arms control."

The book, "AIM—An Evaluation of the Decision to Deploy an Antimissile Missile System," is to be published Tuesday by Harper & Row. It was edited by Prof. Abram Chayes of Harvard University and Jerome Wiesner of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and prepared at Kennedy's suggestion.

Students Point Americas' Threat

By JAMES BOURDIER PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—With his current Latin American tour marred further by postponement of his visit to Venezuela, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Sunday night that the student demonstrations against his mission point an extremist minority's threat to relations between the United States and its southern neighbors.

The stop in Caracas today was to have been the last of Rockefeller's second fact-finding tour for President Nixon, a four already marred by cancellation of a visit to Peru, violence in Ecuador and curtailment of the stop in Bolivia.

Then the Venezuelan Cabinet met Sunday and President Rafael Caldera asked the government to delay his visit indefinitely, saying it was likely to touch off more violence.

At a news conference in Port of Spain, Rockefeller blamed the violence on "elements who are able to get militant groups among the students to respond to their desire to break up the basic friendship and understanding between the United States and these countries."

"This is not the position of the government. It is the position of the people," Rockefeller continued. "It is determined force that is becoming increasingly evident throughout the hemisphere that would like to disrupt, to break down, to destroy the friendship between our countries."

Life Is Only Tears For Three-Year-Old

APOLLO, Pa. (AP) — Life has been a steady stream of tears for 3-year-old Becky Rowley but her tears may soon stop. Doctors plan to implant tiny steel tubes, an idea of her father, George Rowley, around Becky's eyes in the hope they'll form a channel to take the place of her tear ducts.

Since birth, Becky's eyes have continually filled with tears—especially when she was outdoors. Doctors surmised she had blocked tear ducts. So they tried to stop her tears by cleaning the ducts. For a year they had no success.

Finally, a specialist in childhood eye disorders at Pittsburgh's Children's Hospital discovered she had been born with no tear ducts and doctors devised another tactic.

They tried to stimulate the formation of tear tissue channels by inserting various suspensions into Becky's face.

Nylon threads were looped through the girl's nostrils and out the corners of her eyes. The loops were removed each day so that they wouldn't grow in. This plan failed.

Next, doctors inserted one-half inch metal pins to hold a channel open until scar tissue formed. No success.

Then it was discovered that there was no opening in the bone between Becky's eyes and the lacrimal sac. A minute hole on either side of her nose and inserted a polyethylene tube to catch the tears, but doctors thought the hole would close.

Then Becky's father, a metal-lurgical Alghemy Ludlum Steel Corp.'s Brocktonville, Vt., realized that that same stainless steel plates and pins are used in surgical procedures in other parts of the body, tubes made of the same substance might be used in surgical procedures in other parts of the body, tubes made of the same substance might be used in surgical procedures in other parts of the body, tubes made of the same substance might be used in surgical procedures in other parts of the body...

Holiday Death Toll 15

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two more men on a Metropolitan bus in Florida from an Army base in Alabama died from injuries sustained in a Panama City collision as the state's holiday weekend traffic toll reached 15.

But that number fell short of the 21 that the Florida Highway Patrol predicted would die over the long Memorial Day weekend.

Killed in the head-on collision in Panama City was Manuel A. Ramirez, 22, of San Bernardino, Calif. A companion, Spec. 4 David Herbert Gilmore, 21, of Phoenix, Ariz., died several hours after the crash at Tyndall Air Force Base hospital.

Both men were stationed at Fort Rucker, Ala.

Another two-car collision claimed the lives of an elderly East Detroit, Mich., couple on U.S. 90 near Quincy. They were William Schmidt 71, and his 73-year-old wife Wilma.

Donald F. P. at a 24, of Bryceville was killed shortly after the holiday began when a trailer truck hit his car at Baldwin.

Margaret Alice Thornton, 56, of Starke was killed in a Starke traffic accident.

Curtis Williams, 8, of Atlanta Springs, was killed when a car ran into his bicycle near his home.

Medians have their own version of April Fools Day on Dec. 28. The principal sport lies in borrowing objects, such as items borrowed on that day do not need to be returned.

Larry Redmond, 24, of Campbellton died of injuries sustained in a Jackson County crash.

Normie Mathis, 21, of Jacksonville, was run down by a semi-trailer.

Congress Eyes Campus Disorders

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Florida congressman wants to give students who oppose campus disruptions a new legal weapon to combat violence.

Republican Rep. William C. Cramer has drafted a bill that would permit anti-demonstration students to bring those causing a shutdown in campus facilities into federal court where they could be jailed and fined.

The bill is further evidence that Congress is taking a hard line on the growing violence and disorder.

That view was undoubtedly reinforced by hearings starting Tuesday before the House Committee on Internal Security—formerly the Un-American Activities Committee—on the leading militant student organization, Students for a Democratic Society.

Chairman Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., has had committee investigators studying the SDS and its campus activities for several months in preparation for the hearings, which are scheduled to last three days.

In recent testimony before another committee, Gen. John S. Mitchell told the Federal Bureau of Investigation that he obtained evidence indicating SDS is receiving financial help from foreign sources in a nationwide concerted effort to destroy U.S. universities.

Cramer says it is these "campus revolutionaries" that his bill is designed to deal with. It would empower non-demonstrating students to file a complaint with the Justice Department that they are being denied free access to their schools.

The bill would also permit the attorney general to bring such an action himself without waiting for a complaint. In either case, before going into court the attorney general would have to make a finding that such action would be in the public interest and be necessary to secure justice.

The penalty provided in the bill is a fine of not more than $10,000, imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. Stiffer penalties of up to 10 years in jail and a $100,000 fine would be imposed on anyone convicted of using a firearm in a campus disturbance.

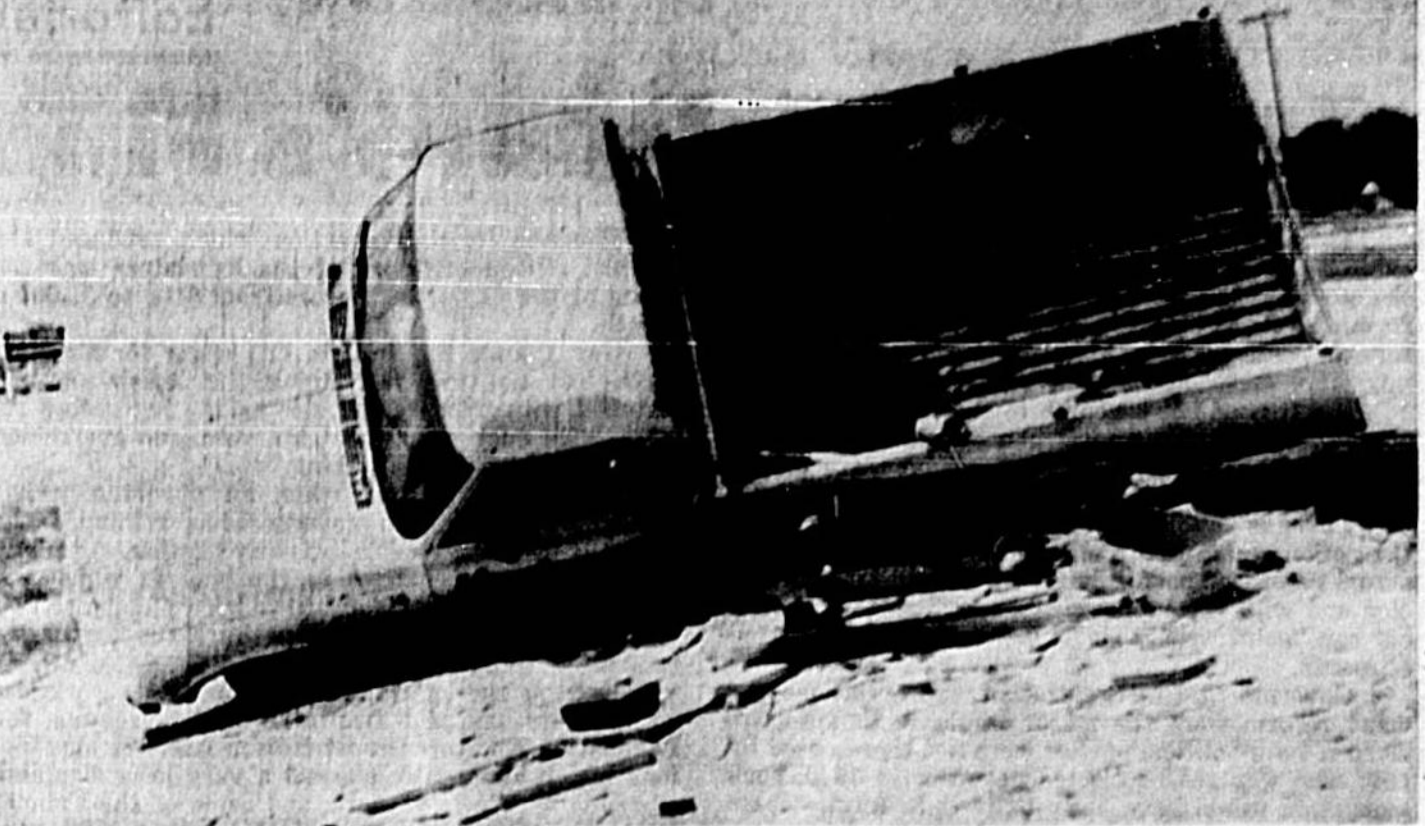

"I believe passage of this measure will bring to the forefront the majority of college students who are presently without legal means to combat the revolutionaries who are trying to destroy this nation's education system," Cramer said.

The Florida congressman, a member of the House Republican leadership, is the author of an earlier bill enacted last year that he and other congressmen have said should also be used to help put down campus disorders.

The anti-rail bill makes it a federal crime to cross a state line with the intention of leading or participating in a riot.

Cramer's bill, which he calls the Student Antiviolence Act, is one of more than 40 proposals introduced in the House calling for a federal crackdown on campus disorders.

Sanford -- The First One Hundred Years...

By VIRGINIA SCRIGGS
1800 to 1818—Florida, which had passed from Spain to Britain in the previous century, was returned to Spanish hands. Indians immigrated from states north of Florida to escape the whites; by 1818 they had destroyed all white settlements in the interior of the peninsula.

1819—Florida acquired by the United States; Moses Levy buys land in area for planned Jewish colony.

1836—Camp Monroe established in December to patrol against Seminoles.

1837—In Feb. 4 battle, Capt. Charles Mallon killed, camp renamed for him; hostilities abate during summer; A. J. Vauquelin settles as soldier in December, later becomes settler.

1838—Clerk of St. Johns County takes Mosquito County records for safekeeping.

1840—Government settles Seminoles in built; Gen. Stephen plant first grove at St. Gertrude Springs (Upsala).

1871—First Sweden arrives; Sanford in built; Gen. Stephen plant first grove at St. Gertrude Springs (Upsala).

1873—First church bell rings in Sanford; Silver Lake Presbyterian Church—first gift of settler George Wylie of Fort Reid.

1873—Church of Holy Cross erected; W. J. Hill arrives from England, begins family hardware and lumber business; 73 more Swedes arrive; Charles Smiley (or Anthony) of Boston buys present country club property from Gen. Sanford.

1874—Judge Tucker and son Howard start first graded school; Dr. S. M. Tucker, another son, arrives and becomes first resident physician.

1875—South Florida Journal, first newspaper in South Florida, founded by Fred L. Robertson; First Methodist Church built on Sanford Avenue; Alexander Martin and Charles G. Evans begin construction of Sanford House.

1879—Sanford House opens Jan. 1.

1879—Sanford incorporated, named for its founder, at the suggestion of Mrs. A. E. Phillips; T. S. Pierson first mayor; from Florida.

1881 to 1885—War Between States begins; troops formerly at Fort Mellon fight on both sides—Gen. George H. Thomas, USA, became known as "The Rock of Chickamauga" and Gen. Poinsett USA successfully led troops in Florida's only battle of Okeechobee (Okeeville).

1886—Influx of settlers and tourists begins; government buildings removed from Meliowville, only one house left, the store of Doyle and Brantley. Dr. Spoor's sons-in-law, Arthur Chad, William Humphrey arrive.

1887—Dr. Andrew C. Caldwell, first doctor in county, purchases local land at West Reed; Mal J. N. Whitner buys Hughesy grove at Fort Reid.

1888—Judge J. W. Tucker arrives; Col. B. V. Whitner buys Munday land (between Meliowville and Crippling Head) and his son, Capt. B. P. Whitner, plant grove at Silver Lake and Lake Jessup.

1881—Another immigration of 73 more Swedes.

Graduates Will 'Do Their Thing'

FAG Night Slated At Seminole Hi

F.A.G. is the word and rare at the Seminole High School. Senior who can't tell you all about it.

Fun After Graduation (F.A.G.) night is a tradition (not the ivy-covered type) of all night parties for seniors and their dates that meets with a surprising amount of approval, not only from the students, but the parents, principals and law-enforcement officers as well.

Immediately following graduation at Seminole High School June 9 there will be a reception for the graduates and their families. At 11 p. m. the Plaza Theatre will hold a special showing of "What So Bad About Feeling Good?" a movie paid for and brought here exclusively for the Senior Class (Seniors from other high schools in the area may purchase tickets for the movie on a space available basis).

And then, the seniors will "do their thing" at the Deltona Springs where the real frolic will begin. Swimming, dancing to the strains of a popular band and food will occupy the revelers until about 4 a. m. They plan a beach party for the next day.

Very much in evidence throughout the festivities will be the excellent supervision of the Sheriff's office. "It's a wonderful thing. These young people are enjoying the happiest days of their lives, and deserve the good time." But he adds an admonition. "I strongly suggest that they have a good time and leave the drinking alone."

Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler concurred. "I think it's a good idea. It should give a chance to blow off steam. It's really a farewell party. Of course there are always one or two that will walk the plank (drink)."

He chuckled. "The last trouble I had was in 1956 when a boy got drunk. But we haven't ever had any other trouble with them."

ONE DISSIDENT? One dissenting opinion serves special note, however. Principal Carlton Henley of Lyman High, which will not sponsor any all-night after graduation party this year, does not approve of the all-nighters.

"It is not necessary for them to stay all night," he contends. "Other reasons: 'The classes are too large to handle (200 graduates); no one has any real authority to discipline the students that night and it's a tremendous responsibility considering the availability of drugs and liquor in the county.'"

Participation has dwindled in past years and there has been little interest from the parents. Consequently, graduation parties for Lyman seniors on their Big Night will be smaller, unofficially sanctioned gatherings. NO PARTIES FOR CROOMS? Lack of parental organization and supervision was the reason cited by Edward L. Haskins, principal of Crooms High. Blackboard c o m m e n t s . . . "You can seldom find parents and teachers who will devote the time and undertake the responsibility necessary to produce this type of high school fare well."

Crooms' graduates too will probably resort to impromptu parties of celebration.

ACE NIGHT FOR OVIEDO Oviedo High, with 50 graduates will have "ACE Night." (After Commencement Exercises)

Principal Clyde Holder contends. "The kids get a real kick out of it. It's like a 'Coming Out.' It's a real fine thing and so far there have been no problems."

At one time the affair was school sponsored, but now the parents have taken over. "We were glad to relinquish the affair to the parents. The school had no authority over the kids after graduation."

He laughed. "We've got Deltona Springs reserved for the Class of '59 tonight! This year A.C.E. Night will be held in Orlando."

PARENTS APPROVE TOO Mrs. Kay Bartholomew, whose daughter, Sandy, will graduate from Seminole High, expressed the practical approach of the parents.

"It's a good idea. They're exhilarated they've passed. They're free and they want to celebrate. It's that short period between high school and work or college—a precious transition time."

"Naturally there will be a temptation to drive too fast and to try new things, like drinking, and F.A.G. Night will keep them busy."

Mrs. Bartholomew is a chaperone for the Deltona Springs fun and will have a breakfast afterwards to wind up the night for her daughter's closest friends.

Another mother, Mrs. Jean McLean, agreed. "I think it's fine. They're well chaperoned. It's been a tradition at Seminole High since I went there." She smiled. "Those kids are really good that night."

Sandy Bartholomew, one of the Senior Class Officers who organized the fun fest for Seminole High, said. "It's organized by the seniors but the parents have taken over. We were glad to relinquish the affair to the parents. The school had no authority over the kids after graduation."

When asked about complaints she said. "There are none at all." "In fact, a lot of the boys who graduated last year are trying to get dates for this year's party."

Sandy reflecting her mother's practicality, says that she and most of her friends plan to get some sleep before they join their class members on the beach the following morning!

11 Candidates Seek N. J. Gubernatorial Post

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Six Democrats and five Republicans vie for governorship nominations in Tuesday's New Jersey primary elections.

Texas, crime, political integrity, racial charges and the problems of the cities have been the major issues of the campaign. Nearly 2.2 million persons are registered to vote. Professional politicians estimate the plethora of candidates will boost the turnout to 25 per cent or 800,000 voters. Normally 20 per cent of those registered vote in a Garden State primary.

New Jersey and Virginia with primary July 15, are the only states that have gubernatorial elections this year. New Jersey's is watched because of the state's frequent role as a swing state in national elections.

Two conservatives are given an edge: former Gov. Robert F. Meyer in the Democratic race and U.S. Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr. in the Republican contest.

The present governor, Democrat Richard J. Hughes, has served two four-year terms, making him ineligible to seek re-election.

Meyer has the advantage of widespread voter recognition after spending 1953 through 1961 in the governor's chair.

He faces a liberal challenge from U.S. Rep. Henry Helstoski, who has the endorsement of the New Democratic Coalition, a statewide group of Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy supporters. Helstoski also claims the backing of officials from labor union locals with a total membership of 65,000.

An old-line machine in Hudson County led by John V. Kenny, who almost singlehandedly gave Meyer the 1953 nomination, was angered by Meyer's performance as governor and is backing state Sen. William F. Kelly.

Sandman narrowly lost the GOP nomination in 1965 to a moderate and has been running for governor since. He now has the support of a 1,000-member statewide Citizens with Sandman organization.

Meyer's nomination was argued by Meyer's performance as governor and is backing state Sen. William F. Kelly.

Here's an idea for do-it-yourself devotees from the current FAMILY CIRCLE Magazine: take an unpainted chest of drawers, treat it to a fabulous finish and you turn it into a mod, mod piece distinctively yours.

The magazine suggests several ways you can accomplish this slight of hand. One is to buy an unpainted six drawer chest, cover it with aluminum tape, and finish off with aluminum drawer pulls. Pronto — a silver showaway — sleek, handsome and practically impervious to any abuse.

For a child's room, you might paint the chest with chalkboard paint which they can actually write on. Make drawer pulls of dime store erasers screwed onto the fronts of the drawers from the inside.

Still another idea is to have a blowup made of a favorite photograph. Cut in sections and attach to the drawer fronts.

Conferees Approve Reorganization

New Powers Slated For Governor

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A giant reorganization plan for state government, which would make Gov. Claude Kirk the most powerful chief executive in modern times, was unanimously approved by a conference committee Sunday night as the 1969 Legislature headed into its final week.

Overwhelming approval of the plan by Democratic leaders of the House-Senate conference committee, House Chairman Richard Pettigrew, D-Miami, said he did not expect a veto from the governor.

The huge bill, which affects almost all operations of state government, was being prepared for the signatures of the conferees, probably late today or Tuesday, as the House and Senate tried to get ready for scheduled adjournment Friday.

A controversial bill which would force most charities and fraternal organizations to justify property tax exemptions on the local level—based on use of the property rather than ownership—was among proposals awaiting House consideration.

The Senate still had a number of bills pending from the 49th Legislature on public education which it started considering Friday.

The bill would determine how much education funding power to give counties under differing versions of House and Senate home rule bills began moving today.

And a joint conference group which already has reached tentative agreements on a constitutional court reform plan was expected to complete final checks on working and bring out the plan Monday night.

The court plan, the $1,002 billion budget when was approved by both houses last Friday and the reorganization plan were considered the most important

Rolling Info Center Proving Big Success

MIAMI (AP)—To outsiders it's only a minibus with an unwieldy arrow on the top, but to residents of Miami's black neighborhoods the mobile information center is "True Blue."

Residents coined the nickname after the rolling information center operated by city government proved its effectiveness in getting results on requests and complaints.

The little blue bus cruises Miami's cluttered city streets from 2 to 10 p.m. five days a week. A large arrow atop the bus is inscribed: "Stop! Let's Talk!"

Bus staffers Mayme Bondu and police Lt. Leroy Smith said more than 450 people have accepted the invitation in "True Blue's" first 11 days on the streets.

"We get the whole gamut of complaints and suggestions," Mrs. Bondu said. "They range from tree trimming to taking a slap at some city officials for almost anything."

"Say, Mister, I want a job," one youth demanded.

Within minutes Smith had rounded up a couple of good

Biafran Information Minister Hegwu Eke had told a news conference the foreigners were being fighting alongside the Biafrans.

City To Get Base Paulucci Opines

Jeno Paulucci, Sanford and Duluth industrialist, feels that Sanford will eventually receive the Sanford Naval Air Station property.

Paulucci today said, "I've checked this thing out and I am satisfied that the city will get the deed to the property after an explanation has been made to the attorney general's office."

Paulucci said he felt the base title would be forthcoming in several weeks provided work on the form of clarifying the Federal Aviation Act's section 15 is done by the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) to the attorney general.

FAA, in an effort to provide a much needed Central Florida airport, had sought to give the 150-acre tract to provide an income to the city from rented industrial buildings so the city could, in turn, operate the airport without having to use tax money from the city's general fund.

Mayor Lee P. Moore has revealed that certain Washington persons have been contacted by the city to assist in the deed's acquisition and cut the real tape that has bound the document ever since March when a right-of-entry was granted the city by the FAA, so the airport facilities could be readily quickly to meet FAA requirements.

Lagging Enrollment May Doom 'Mellonville'

Private School Faces Difficulties

By BILL SCOTT
Mellonville Private School may not open in September.

This was divulged last night during a meeting of the school's board of directors and parents of the 41 students officially enrolled in the 1970 year, grades 1-9 facility recently announced for next term in a leased building at Sanford Airport.

Speaking to a gathering of approximately 75 persons, John V. Mercer, chairman of the school's board of directors, said unless 85 students with partially paid tuition are obtained before June 15, the facility would have to suspend operations.

This would mean at least 25 more registrations and the building of those already signed, Mercer said. This means that additional students must be obtained in the 19 days left before noon and the deadline, he added.

Roger Berry, director, said one reason for the apparent lack of public enthusiasm was the feeling that the coming Seminole County school district would take some time to resolve, and he advised this was not necessarily so, as civil rights procedures are being moved swiftly through the courts with a decision expected in time to apply geographic zones to the county next school year.

Mercer said five teachers had indicated a desire to teach at Mellonville in a telephone interview at noon today for an estimated $5,500 a year from the city.

Don Reynolds, now employed in the county schools, has been named headmaster of the school and will be in charge of the private schools had waiting lists and the tuition costs were higher at $1,000 a year.

Commenting on how the facility could operate with five teachers and a minimum of 85 students, Mercer said combination classrooms would be required and listed the following methods of pupil placement:

Grade one would have a single teacher for an expected class of four students; grades two and three would be combined with approximately 10 students; grades four and five also would be combined with approximately 25 students and a single teacher for an expected class of eight, ninth and tenth grade combined class. Mercer added, "It would be necessary to add to handling other classes, Mercer explained.

The chairman brought out that students would benefit from better teaching methods in the

No. Orlando Readies For Major 'Fireworks'

By TOM ALEXANDER
During the North Orlando Village Council meeting last night Mayor Clifford Jordan announced that there will be all types of "fireworks" going off Thursday night at the Village Hall.

The mayor did not specify exactly what type of "fireworks" but it was learned an announcement is forthcoming concerning a multi-million dollar investment in the city. The council was asked to be on hand with pads and pencils ready this Thursday at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be open to the public.

In other action last night, the council discussed taking action on the request for the North Orlando volunteer fire department under city control. It was pointed out that since the department had disbanded several years ago, it had an ever increasing amount of internal problems and one council member pointed out that the fire equipment was becoming dilapidated and that the volunteer members were not taking in the efficiency of the department.

The next item of business the council discussed was zoning. Jordan gave the council a prime example of some of the zoning problems the city was now having when he pointed out the

Junk Car Act To Be Enforced

By LARRY NEELY
The city ordinance that went into effect three days ago banning junk cars in the city of Oviedo will be enforced.

The Oviedo City Council at last night's meeting instructed Police Chief Ken Wright that all property owners with cars on their property that do not have current tags and are obviously in irreparable condition, must remove the cars at their own expense or face charges that could result in the maximum penalty of a 500 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

Ben F. Ward Jr., Oviedo rector, presented to the council plans for the development of the remaining 40 acres of Meade Manor in the northern section of town by Oviedo Land Company. Of prime concern to the council was the provision for tying in with the city water system.
