Thomas hopped off at 10:07 this morning but his heavy plane could not get up. Undaunted, he had the plane re-fueled and took off at 11:30 this morning. Thomas carried 535 gallons of gasoline, which he carried in 14 tanks. He had a very efficient attitude to make the most of the fuel. He started to dumping fuel when he quickly decided it was better to come down, and he "I'll take off again this afternoon if I can get the plane re-fueled," he said.

CONGRESS BEGINS WALSH AND REED REFUSE TO TALK ON SMITH'S WIN

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS)—Should a young man's dream of a proud career as an officer of Uncle Sam's navy be forever blasted because he borrowed a pair of pants from a friend? The lords of the navy say it should—and refuse to injure Cardwell, of Washington, D. C. in the Annapolis Naval Academy.

The House Military Affairs Committee takes a different view. And the issue has been placed before Congress to dispose of justice or injustice. The facts are generally agreed upon, according to the report of the Naval Affairs Committee today on a bill to reinstate Cardwell. As explained by Rep. Burdick (R) of Rhode Island they are:

Cardwell, rushing to inspection, found he had no freshly pressed suit. In dismay he rushed to the room of midshipman Beverly and grabbed a pair of trousers. He continued in search of a coat, and went into midshipman Thompson's room where he got into a coat. Both cadets were absent at the time. One of them returned, mislaid his suit, and complained. The clothes were found in Cardwell's room. He made no effort to conceal them or remark on identifying marks. The midshipman whose clothes were taken says they are certain Cardwell only borrowed the clothes. The Navy Department agreed to this.

SMITH SCORES HUGE VICTORY IN CALIFORNIA

New York Executives Believed To Be Most Likely Candidate For Houston Nomination

Leads Reed And Walsh In Voting

Tammany Chief's Lieutenants Predict Win On First Balloting

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS)—Almost the last faint chance that Al Smith "can be stopped" at Houston next month flickered out today in the wake of the California primary, which saw the New York Governor score a smashing victory over his chief rivals for the Democratic nomination.

The governor's friends were jubilantly proclaiming today that "Al is in," and when the ultra-Dry anti-Tammany Republicans were disposed to concede it there is scarcely a Democratic leader in Washington today who will fail to believe that Gov. Smith will fall to attain the necessary two-thirds of the vote for the nomination.

By his victory in California, which was hailed as the big test of Smith's appeal in the West, the governor has now run his total of favorable and committed delegates to approximately 508. This is out of a total of 658 delegates thus far selected, and Smith is running on a percentage basis in excess of the required two-thirds. And of the 18 delegates whom he has not yet definitely committed to Smith, it is known that some will vote for him after paying their respects to favorite sons.

Smith's lieutenants in Washington were quick today to say that he will be elected on the first ballot. Certainly if the governor can carry the party there he has set a record among the 12 delegates still to be selected, their predictions will be borne out. Smith needs roughly about 200 delegates yet, and his friends say there will be no difficulty in obtaining them.

While appreciating the numerical value of California's 26 delegates, it was not merely the acquisition of this much arithmetical strength that most impressed the governor's supporters today. What they dwell most heavily upon was the decisive repudiation of the theory persistently emphasized by the opposition that "Smith has no appeal in the West."

Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Montana, an avowed Dry, and backed by Wm. G. McAdoo in the California contest, finished a poor third to Smith and a poor second to Senator James A. Reed of Missouri. Incomplete returns and private advices reaching Democratic leaders here indicate that Smith will eventually be shown to have polled more than his two rivals combined.

This, the Smith supporters declared today, is the answer to the oft-advanced contention of the opposition that "the Dry Democracy of the West will never accept Smith." The governor even carried Southern California, which is the stronghold of the Dry sentiment of the state.

The future of Senator Walsh's candidacy appeared doubtful today. Thus far, Walsh has not a single committed delegate, save his own eight from Montana, and prior to the announcement of his anti-dry policy it was known that Montana's delegates were favorable to the New York Governor, Walsh was entered in Wisconsin, and lost to Smith and Reed. He has now lost Utah, and heavily, to California.

Reed, on the other hand, is still in the picture. At least he has a total of some 45 delegates, scattered through half a dozen states. Smith's present total of 508 delegates are scattered from Maine to California, and from the Canadian border to the Gulf, which is another point that his friends dwell upon to show the universal nature of his strength.

As compiled here and conceded to be substantially accurate, the Smith slate to date: Arizona, 6; Arkansas, 8 out of 18; California, 26; Idaho, 8; Illinois, 20 out of 58; Iowa, 20; Louisiana, 20; Maine, 12; Massachusetts, 38; Michigan, 30; Minnesota, 24; New Hampshire, 3; New York, 99; North Dakota, 11; Oklahoma, 12 out of 24; Pennsylvania, 68 out of 78; Rhode Island, 18; Washington, 14; Wisconsin, 20 out of 28; Wyoming, 6 the territories, 24.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE LAW OF GOD—Whoso despiseth the word shall be destroyed; but he that feareth the commandment shall be rewarded—Prov. 13:13.

PRAYER—"O Master let me walk with Thee, in lowly paths of service free."

If you haven't registered yet, you still have another chance if you haven't paid your poll tax.

They've changed the "Spirit of Miami" to the spirits of Miami during the Shrine convention.

Some of the state papers are beginning to knock Jim Carson. That shows he is gaining strength.

Politics does make strange bedfellows; there's Peter O. Knight, D. B. McKay, and Doyle Carlton, for instance.

They're having a smallpox epidemic in Mexico. Some upriser down there using shotguns instead of rifles.

And in Spring another thing a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of is that summer vacation.

Fords are coming in for a tremendous amount of publicity since this governor's race started, at least the rear ends are.

Hush little Shriner, Don't you cry; It goes down all right Mixed with Canada Dry.

The "Spirit of St. Louis" has gone into the Smithsonian Institution. Not going to wait this time until some foreign museum gobles it up.

Helen Wills has gone to Europe again to try her luck on the tennis courts. We hope she gets a big silver cup this time instead of appendicitis.

Since Jim Carson got into this race, and seeing that he got away with it without personal injury, a number of people are taking up the cudgels against old Catts.

It is rumored that Key West will probably go as strong for Mrs. Owen this time as it went against her last time. It looks as if she is going to be swept into Congress by a landslide.

Claude G. Howers, editorial writer for the New York Evening World, has been elected to make the keynote speech at the Democratic National Convention. The World is one of Governor Smith's staunchest supporters.

Our observation has been that most of our citizens are getting ready to shake hands with the next sheriff of Seminole county and exclaim, "I'm glad you won. I was for you all the time," no matter who is elected.

Sidney J. Catts, the incomparable swears that the interests of the taxpayer are as dear to his fond heart as the tender apple blossom is to the sturdy bough. Of course, while Catts was governor the state millage did increase from 6 1/2 mills to 11 mills, the highest state millage in forty years. But why bring that up!—Jacksonville Journal.

Judging from what some of his followers say, we gather that Fons Hathaway not only paid for Florida's state highways personally out of his own pocket, and superintended their construction, but also that he is the boy who cut the right of ways with his own ax, who shoveled the roadbeds in place, who hauled the rock, who poured the concrete, and smoothed it out. He's the man who built the roads.

A judge rules that "The drunken driver is as great a menace as the bank robber. Hereafter these drivers, when proven guilty, will go from this court to jail for the maximum term." The question remains, of course, when is a driver drunk. One man admits he's drunk when he lies down on the billiard table, pulls the cue up over him and goes to sleep. Another insists he's not drunk until he can't lie down on the billiard table.

An Envidable Record

Among the candidates in the local political field is one seeking re-election to the Florida legislature. He is a man well known to readers of The Herald and is generally regarded as one who has been exceptionally successful in his personal business affairs and in the management of the public's wherever entrusted to him. We are speaking of course of L. P. Hagan.

In considering the candidacy of a man for public office, it is always wise, whenever possible, to scrutinize as closely as possible his public record. Especially when a man is running for re-election, it is well to study his past conduct in that office. If he has acted wisely and well, it is sheer nonsense to remove him. If he has not conformed to the wishes of his constituency, he will more than likely—and it is right that he should—be replaced.

With this idea wholly in mind, without any axe to grind, and without any prejudices whatsoever, we have considered the candidacy of Mr. Hagan. We find his conduct during the last session of the legislature, where he was one of this county's representatives, such that he might well, without any trace of conceit, point to it with pride.

Seated in a legislature which has been generally characterized as the most extravagant in the history of this state, Mr. Hagan opposed practically every measure which might have resulted in increased taxes. The natural tendency with most legislators is to drift with the crowd, to be a regular, and vote as the gang dictates. It took real courage, and consciousness of right doing, for Mr. Hagan to remain, usually in the minority, firm against increased taxation.

We find in the files of The Herald, and they are open for public inspection, that Mr. Hagan voted against any increase in salaries of state officials, and the appointment of any new commissions. In regard to this matter, Mr. Hagan stated at that time: "I was out of harmony with that spirit of the legislature which continually advanced expenses of the state, while business men generally were trying to get down to a level commensurate with sound policies. I could not conscientiously support the majority of those measures."

We find also that he was opposed to the infamous Conners Highway bill, and Mr. Hagan at that time said: "I opposed that measure because I could not see where the responsibility of any purchase could be placed. I contended that the State Road Department should have been designated to handle the purchase and I also thought it best to have a maximum price stated. I voted against the bill." The bill carried, but the Supreme Court has since ruled it unconstitutional.

And at that time, even a year ago, before Doyle Carlton had brought out any of his famous charges against Fons Hathaway, Mr. Hagan, while anticipating nothing wrong in the State Road Department, supported a joint resolution asking for an audit of the department's affairs because he believed "that the legislature should have, at least every two years, a complete audit and survey of a department as important as the one under question is." Mr. Hagan foresaw the difficulties bound to rise from the handling of so vast an amount of money and exerted his best energies to forestall just such a situation as has arisen.

The Herald can see nothing in the public acts of Mr. Hagan to criticize and finding much that shows a sincere regard for the welfare of the people who elected him to office and which indicates sufficient courage and moral fiber to fight for principles known to be right, we can not urge the citizens of Seminole County too strongly to return this man to the legislature where he can continue the good work so ably started.

Destroyers In War

Most of us have the idea that the monster battleships of the American navy were the sine qua non of our fleets during the recent war, but Frederick Palmer points out in an article in Liberty Magazine that the destroyers were of most vital importance to the Allied cause on the high seas.

"The destroyer had come into an active part while the battleship marked time," explains this writer. "Originally the destroyer was designed to ward off the attacks of torpedo boats. It had taken the torpedo boat's place as a torpedo carrier, increasing in size, sufficient to carry a slender, sharp-nosed, with guns to fight destroyers and make merchant ships yield, and speed to run away from ships with heavier gunfire. It is the race horse of the sea. Rushing at thirty knots an hour toward the telltale German periscope, the target for the rapid fire of its guns, it could force the U-boat to submerge.

"Britain found that she had nothing like enough destroyers," continues Palmer. "Her first call to us was for more. Our first flotilla was a glad sight to the war-weary eyes of British naval men—who knew so much better than the public their need—when it arrived at Queenstown, with its crew eager to get into the game. And what a game it was to be!"

QUESTIONS PEOPLE ARE ASKING

Why did he pay the R. C. Huffman Construction Co. $1,164,938.50 and still for the people believe that it was only $317,307.60, covering that particular part of Tamiami Trail known as project 669-D, being the 12 1/4 miles located between project 669-C and Monroe county line? Why has he left the people thinking that they had only paid $40,036.10 more than the T. T. Sweet Dredging Co. had bid, when he has paid $416,407.09 more than Sweet's bid for this particular work? Why did he pay for 65 74-100ths acres of clearing and grubbing, totaling $19,722, when Mr. Huffman had bid for 49 acres, clearing and grubbing, $14,700—just $5,022 more than the bid? Can't the state road department's engineers measure accurately the acres in a right-of-way? Why did Dr. Hathaway pay $2,000 per mile for clearing and grubbing to the R. C. Huffman Construction Co. for 12.12 miles, known as project "C," the amount of $24,240 without a bid and only paid for the next 12 1/4 miles, $19,722—a difference of $4,518? Why did Dr. Hathaway pay for clearing and grubbing on project 669-E, 60.5 acres at $125 per acre, $6,312.50 when the bid was for 34 acres, or $4,250? Why should the engineers make an error in the acreage of a right-

Dade county muck and Dade county rock?

Why does Dr. Hathaway keep on declaring that the Tamiami Trail has been paid for and that not a penny is owing to anyone for its construction, when estimate No. 13 of project 669-D to R. C. Huffman Construction Co., dated March 25, 1928, shows amount due $103,042.31 and 10 per cent reservation of $115,567.86? This warrant had not been registered in the comptroller's office on April 17, 1928.

The final estimates had not been made on both contracts covering project 669-C and 669-D on that date.

How much more will they owe when the final estimate is made? We know project 669-D totals $1,153,678.50 and project 669-C totals $837,388.03. Will project 669-C amount to $1,000,000 when finally completed?

There are other contracts that have run considerably over their total amount of bid and have been paid. Will Dr. Hathaway take the people into his confidence and tell them about these? Or does he still think that it is none of the public's business, as he has thought on the above mentioned two 12-mile contracts?

P. T. A. Holds Its Last Meeting Of Season

Of much interest was the meeting of the Seminole High School Parent Teachers Association which was held Tuesday afternoon at the Seminole High School auditorium. The meeting, which was the last of the season, was presided over by the chairman Mrs. John W. Sneed. Routine business was carried out during which time splendid reports were given by the various committee chairmen and standing officers. The prize $5 in gold was presented to Janonia McMulley, president of the Sophomore Class, by Mrs. Claude Herron, for the best attendance of mothers.

Mrs. S. D. Highleyman gave a splendid account of the Seminole County meeting of the Parent Teachers Association which was held at Chuluota in March. Mrs. A. G. Wagner of Chuluota was present and gave an interesting talk on the State Convention which was held at Sebring in April, at which time her district won the silver cup for membership.

After all business had been disposed of, Mrs. S. D. Highleyman in behalf of the association presented Mrs. Sneed, retiring president of the Seminole High School Parent Teachers Association, with a large basket of gladoli, as a token of appreciation of her good work.

A social hour followed the business session at which time the hostesses Mrs. James G. Sharon, Mrs. P. Weimberg and Mrs. J. M. Moye served brick ice cream and home made cakes.

Evening Bridge Club Enjoys Friday Party

An exceptionally enjoyable social affair of the past week-end was that of Friday evening when Mrs. Braxton B. Baggett entertained the members of her evening bridge club most delightfully at her home in Fort Mellon.

The rooms where the guests assembled for the games were decorated with numerous baskets and bouquets of cut flowers, accentuating the colors of yellow and lavender. These two dainty colors were repeated in the tables and other bridge accessories.

When the fifth progression had been played, scores were counted and Mrs. James A. Pittman was given a box of candy as top score prize, while Mrs. Pittman, who held the highest score among the men received a cushion of ornaments.

Refreshments of frozen fruit salad, sandwiches, grape-juice and grape-herbert were served by the hostess after the prizes had been awarded.

Enjoying this affair were Mr. and Mrs. James L. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pittman, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wilson.

CONDOLERS REVISAL

A large audience last night heard Dr. C. E. Wyatt's sermon in the second of the First Christian Church revival services being held at the South Side Primary School.

The subject was "What A Certain Man Meant." The Rev. F. M. Marler, pastor of the local church, announced today that the board of the church was gratified with the large attendance at the revival services. Dr. Wyatt is the pastor of the First Christian Church in Daytona Beach. Tonight his subject will be "Make Ye Ready the Way of the Lord."

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mason and family leave Wednesday on the boat for Philadelphia, Pa., where they will spend a month.

Passion Play Film Will Be Exhibited Here Next Monday

A beautifully artistic presentation of the Freiburg Passion Play depicting the Life of Christ, is to be the film at the Princess Theatre Monday. This picture will play a limited engagement and will be shown twice daily.

This presentation is among the early public showings of the picture in America. It has been given release in Europe sufficiently long to develop into an outstanding success. The players are reared and trained for their roles and live the parts.

Not one is a professional actor. They are simple residents of the community of Freiburg, simple country folk engaged in clock-making, wood-carving, toy-making and similar pursuits, and who engage in the periodical presentations of the Passion Play as a de-votional duty.

The Freiburg Passion Play, dating back through misty and forgotten centuries, is the connecting link between the dark ages and the present. As early as the year 1264, Freiburg was selected as the spot in which to produce the Passion Play.

It was not until thirty-five years later that the Oberammergau Passion Play, now an institution of international celebrity, came into existence as a means of expressing thanks for having been spared annihilation in the epidemic that swept over Europe at that time.

"French Dressing" With Clive Brook At Milane Tonight

To be mistaken for a waiter in a hotel to any man in evening clothes, but the admiring audience when one is taken for a headwaiter.

At least that is the opinion of Clive Brook, who plays a delightful role in "French Dressing" which plays at the Milane today.

Lois Wilson mistakes Clive Brook for the headwaiter at a very fashionable Paris restaurant. And contrary to all movie procedure, he not only sets her right very shortly, but reveals his true identity.

"French Dressing", which is a most delightful comedy drawn by H. B. Warner, Lois Wilson and Lillian Tashman.

Mrs. Frank Norris, who has been absent from the city for several weeks, has returned and is now at home at 705 Palmetto Avenue.

WHAT SMART PARIS WEARS

Borrowing a raging London mode, the smart women of Paris are appearing in frocks made of men's wear flannel, which is perfectly correct for daytime use, yet sufficiently chic to be equally at home at the informal after-noon tea. A smart surprise closing is another of the outstanding details of this frock. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 54-inch flannel and 1 1/2 yard 36-inch lining.

The most fastidious taste would accept gracefully the second model in flannel, with plain blouse and plaid skirt. As a detail of importance, the blouse accents a front yoke which may or may not have the ends tied in a knot. Also the yoke may be omitted. Both front and back are in two sections. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards.

THE FLAIR FOR BLACK

This frock of black crepe satin reflects Paris in the clever arrangement of the blouse, which diagonally crosses the front and drapes itself into graceful cascades at the right side. If desired, an applied side-front and back section may be added to balance the blouse. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 29-inch crepe satin.

CARSON BELIEVES CATTS IS LEADING GOVERNOR'S RACE

Candidate From Miami States "Old Man" Is Very Strong In Sections But His Position Getting Weaker Every Day

Tampa, Fla., May 2.—(INS)—J. Catts right now is high in the governor's race but his position is weakening daily, according to James M. Carson, of Miami, candidate for governor who has devoted his entire campaign to fighting Mr. Catts.

Mr. Carson, in Tampa yesterday, after a vigorous week of campaigning, said he is drawing Catts votes by the thousands "by telling it on the old man."

"I made four charges against him in a debate at Miami," Mr. Carson said. "One was that he received money from the gambling interests. He said part of it was his personal loan and didn't pretend to answer and left the platform before I had my rebuttal."

Makes 65 Speeches
"Seven thousand people attended that meet up," said Mr. Carson, "and they're coming out more and more to hear me. They know I got the dope I've only been in the race six weeks and I have made 65 speeches in 13 counties in 30 days."

Concerning Mr. Catts' first place now, Mr. Carson said he was not sure about the runner-up. "I think it lies between me and Carson on a toss-up," he said. "Hathaway and the others are out of it."

Mr. Catts' strong record in his home in West Florida, according to Mr. Carson, has not all his votes are in the country. "You'd be surprised," he said, "to check up his vote right here in Tampa."

One reason for the ex-governor's strength, as Mr. Carson sees it, is that he has been campaigning for 12 years "and can get into the woods where we fellows can't."

He said Mr. Catts "is promising anybody anything and is making a big splash on local opinion, or in other words, horse racing, which, according to Mr. Carson, would be unconstitutional."

"I just got into this race because Doyle and Foss wouldn't do anything about old Sidney," said Mr. Carson, "and he's the man we've got to beat."

"I've got him going, too. At first he was going to ignore me. Then he said I'd get 50 votes. He raised it to 5000 and now it's up to 18,000. If I can get even up to 18,000 I've been going Catts' way."

Says Charges Help
"Just to show how I've got him going, he's dugged out all the platform points of my home town, and he knows I'm too much for him."

Speaking of going at Miami, Mr. Carson said, "Miami will pool at 21,000 and at Peterburg."

Friend Of Harding Says "No Man In Our History Has Been Maligned So Much"

Marion, Ohio, May 2.—(INS)—Declaring that no man in the history of our nation has been so persistently libeled, slandered and defamed and calling for the cessation of the vilification of the late President Warren G. Harding, an editorial by George H. Van Fleet, editor of The Marion Star, has just appeared in this publication.

Van Fleet was probably closer to Harding than any man. For years he was his associate in The Marion Star and when Harding began his political career it was Van Fleet that the management of The Star fell. Since the purchase of the paper by the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., Van Fleet has been editorial writer.

The accredited investigator of the United States Senate Public Lands Committee, sent to Marion on the announced suspicion that some traces of the so-called Continental Trading Co. Liberty Bonds might be found in the estates of Mr. and Mrs. Harding, has come and gone," declares the editor.

Found No Trace
"The investigation which I conducted without being told the slightest trace of the missing securities. The explanation of the matter is that neither Mr. or Mrs. Harding ever had any of the securities so zealously sought by the Senate committee."

"At the time of her death Mrs. Harding had $95,200 in Liberty Bonds and Mr. Harding left $18,250 in some estate but only two estates were of the first issues and they were for $500 each, whereas all the so-called Continental Bonds were of that issue but of $1,000 denomination."

"Mr. Harding came into possession of $97,500 of the $1,000 Liberty Bonds in 1914, by him as trustee of the $120,000 in bonds owned by The Marion Star which by agreement of the parties thereto, was not included in the estate of The Star. Other bonds to the value of $50,000 were bought by him with the down payment made by the purchase of his newspaper by him from time to time as he had the was for racing. The point, then, was—"

"And another thing," he said, "I don't want anything that I can't get. I've told my public that I'm going to get it. I've had a way I've been going Catts' way."

"I've got him going, too. At first he was going to ignore me. Then he said I'd get 50 votes. He raised it to 5000 and now it's up to 18,000. If I can get even up to 18,000 I've been going Catts' way."

Speaking of going at Miami, Mr. Carson said, "Miami will pool at 21,000 and at Peterburg."

"Blacklist" People Will Have Party To Form D.A.P. Group

Among the eligible guests for the party, which is to be given under the auspices of the Nation Magazine, are two United States Senators, Borah and Reed; United States Representative Fiorella, Laguardia, Theodore Roosevelt, Scott Nearing and Norman Thomas. Those who will speak include Clarence Darrow, Art Young, Dorothy Parker and Meadellier Coleman. The dinner will be at the Level Club, 100 West Washington, addressed to "Dear Fellow Compatriots," says the party.

Scientist Of Smithsonian Institute Returns To U. S. After Long Study In Chile

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS)—Buried three years in the nitrate deserts of Chile, in a country so desolate that even Indians could not be lured to remain, H. B. Freeman, Smithsonian Institution astrophysicist, has returned to Washington after scientific research in connection with measurements of the Sun's heat.

The Smithsonian solar observatory near Calama, Chile, is one of the three stations scattered over the globe where the institution is being taken over a long time ago. Freeman, who was accompanied by his wife declared that the desert is so barren to support animal or plant life. During the three years but only one animal—a fox—was seen and that was near Calama.

"Our drinking and washing water was hauled by automobile from Calama, twelve miles away," Freeman said. "This was snow water piped down from the mountains by the railroad company."

Despite the desolate life desert, Freeman said that he and his wife looked for hard ships of their solar study life as "more than in any other life," and considered the money in view of the long and arduous solar measurements.

Freeman after a year in California will be staying in Washington to prosecute investigations in connection with radiation investigation under direction of Dr. C. G. Abbe.

The studies, which have progressed several years, have convinced Dr. Abbe that the radiation of the sun has produced an effect on the weather. It has been observed in periods of maximum radiation lower temperatures have generally over the earth. This is possibly due to the fact that maximum sun spots tends to large magnetic disturbances, storm periods, cloud formations may cut off the sun's radiation from the earth and thus cause temperature decline.

Shriners Select Their Outer Guard For The Next Year

The question of holding four sectional conventions annually rather than one annual meeting was also on the program for discussion. While the official delegates met to transact business, thousands of other Shriners and their families enjoyed themselves in excursions to Miami Beach and nearby pleasure resorts. The annual ball on the beach and ball in the Atlantic Ocean, a night parade down the Avenue of the Gods, with all the usual Shrine activities and a large social program.

FLORIDA plans to hold a year national convention next year.

To Spend $16,000,000 in Four Years Mostly for Newspaper Advertising

Seated, Left to Right: John Clancy, Chicago, Treasurer of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association; Hawley Wilbur, West Allis, Wis., chairman of the board of trustees of the advertising program; and I. P. Lewis, Cincinnati, President of the Association. Standing: Fred Mills, Indianapolis, advertising counsel; Thornton Estes, Birmingham, Ala., and Fred H. Lusk, Reading, Pa., trustees; Adolph Pfund, Chicago, Secretary of the Association; and Charles J. Pettinger, Indianapolis, chairman of the national fund-raising committee.

CHICAGO, May 2.—These eight men have as part of their job for the next four years the spending of from $16,000,000 to $25,000,000 for advertising, the larger part of which will be expended in the newspapers. They are the officers and the trustees of the advertising program of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, which this summer will begin a four-year nationwide advertising and merchandising campaign.

"This campaign, which is planned to support the Buy Your Own Home movement by encouraging the building and owning of homes and the repair and modernization of structures already built, will be the largest in the history of cooperative advertising," said Hawley Wilbur, West Allis, Wis., chairman of the board of trustees. "Two of the largest previous efforts along this line of group advertising have been those of the Laundryowners National Association, which is spending about $1,500,000 a year for four years, and the California Fruit Growers Exchange, whose budget this year calls for $1,500,000. Our program calls for spending from $16,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year for four years."

"We decided to use newspaper advertising for the larger part of this campaign for two reasons: first, because we wished to present our appeal as forcefully and directly as possible to the average, everyday citizen, the man who is thinking of building a house or repairing one he now owns, and second, because we wished to tie the campaign in as closely as possible with the local lumber dealer. For both these purposes we think the newspaper offers the best medium."

Health HINTS

By Dr. E. E. HOWELL, Orlando, Florida, Ambulant Fractology

One of the chief causes of constipation and rectal distress is the food of the system as a result of wrong combinations of food, too much food, and foods that lack bulk sufficiently to cause the bowels to eliminate. This condition, and in the large intestine sets up an inflammation or a catarrhal condition, known as colitis. As the acid passes down in time it causes proctitis, or inflammation of the rectum. This in time causes spasm or contracture of the external sphincter muscle, the puckering string, which gives us control over the anus, and evacuation of the bowels. When this structure exists, and it practically always does in constipation, it is only a question of time until hemorrhoids appear, because this structure interferes with the circulation of the blood causing small tumors known as piles, or hemorrhoids. After this condition exists for some time, there is usually a prolapse of the lining of the rectum and lower bowel, adding another complication to the situation.

Every loyal citizen should attend Mass Meeting Friday night.
