Kate Strafes Keys; Sailboat Missing

KEY WEST (UPI) - Hurricane Kate roared over Cuba's northern coast with 110-mph winds today, lashing Miami Beach and the Florida Keys with blinding squalls and sinking boats on a march through "Hurricane Alley" toward the Gulf of Mexico.

A Coast Guard plane searched the Bahamas for a missing, 50-foot sailboat with two people aboard, and a Coast Guard cutter rescued two people whose windsailer sank in heavy seas off Marco Island on Florida's west coast.

Gov. Bob Graham declared an emergency in the Keys and the 150-mile-long "Overseas Highway" to the mainland was jammed with traffic as the surprising, late-season hurricane steamrolled west over Cuba at 20 mph.

But the National Hurricane Center said the Keys will be spared its first direct hit by a hurricane in 20 years if Kate keeps its present course and goes south of the island chain into the Gulf of Mexico.

At 8 a.m. EST, hurricane warnings were dropped for south Florida except the middle and lower Keys. Kate was centered slightly inland over northcentral Cuba and about 150 miles south of Key West.

"The threat for a hurricane for southeast Florida is essentially over." chief hurricane forecaster Neil Frank

At 9 a.m. EST Hurricane Kate was centered near latitude 22.8 north. longitude 80.8 west, or on the north coast of Cuba about 140 miles southeast of Key

Frank said "it's too early to tell" where Kate would go after sweeping into the Gulf tonight. The last hurricane to reach the U.S. mainland in November was 50 vears ago.

"We can expect its power to be diminished but we won't be able to tell for sure until it emerges from the Cuban coast," Frank sald.

The Coast Guard said the missing sailboat radioed a distress call Monday See KATE, page 8A

2nd Judge Withdraws From Yankee Lake Suit

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer

With less than a month remaining before Sanford's Yankee Lake condemnation proceeding is scheduled to be heard in court, the second circuit court Judge assigned the case has disqualified himself.

Civil court Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. said today he will not sit on the Sanford proceeding because he represented the property's owner, Sanford entrepenuer Jeno Paulucci, while in private practice as an attorney.

Davis, however, had the case for a week before disqualifying himself.

He took it after Judge C. Vernon Mize excused himself on Nov. 8, the day the suit was filed by Sanford City Attorney William Colbert. Davis told The Evening Herald the delay resulted from his having "no ideas Paulucci was involved until I read it in your paper."

The suit filed by Colbert does not name Paulucei, it was brought against his agent, Nicholas Pope of Orlando, and the Mize said he recused himself on Nov. 8 because he had served as Sanford City Attorney for eight years. In his recusal, Mize eites "the identities of the parties involved" as having led to a selfdetermination "that a question might arise" whether the case "could be heard in a completely disinterested manner."

Davis says the same in the recusal he filed, although he added "public information" also prompted his decision.

The Sanford City commission directed Colbert to file the condemnation proceeding as a means of obtaining the Yankee Lake property for the city's wastewater to be reassigned, Judge Kenneth M. management program. Three days prior Leffler "is up next for it."

According to Colbert, the proceeding is attempting "a quick take" of the property, although in light of the two recusals, this may be impossible. Originally scheduled to be heard on Dec. 13, the case "might have to be delayed," the Honorable Clarence Johnson, Seminole-Brevard chief judge who assigns cases, said today.

Although Colbert could not be reached for comment, City Manager Frank Faison said today because of the two recusals. "We may not go to court until after Christmas.'

According to Johnson, although Davis and Mize are the only two civil judges in the Seminole circuit court, "It's our policy to go through all the judges in a circuit before assigning a suit in another county."

He also said although the case has yet

Longwood Hikes Development Fees

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

Pleas by B.D. "Bo" Simpson, Longwood realtor, that proposed development application fees are too high in comparison with others in Central Florida went unheeded Monday night. Longwood commissioners Monday night gave unanimous approval to an ordinance raising the fees.

Simpson had prepared a 20-page comparison study and presented copies to each of the commissioners.

An earlier proposal which called for fee increases higher than those proposed by staff and the engineering consultant firm. was scrapped and the commission came up with the compromise version passed Monday night.

Forest Greene, zoning chairman for the Seminole County Board of Realtors, asked the commission to do more research and study before taking action.

Alan Fickett, vice president of Dyer, Riddle, Precourt and Mills engineering firm which prepared the data and recommendations on the fee schedule, said they used other cities' fees as

Trade Freedom A Must For Mexico

The Mexican peso recently fell to a record low of 517 to the dollar. That worrisome news is a graphic indicator of the economic crisis threatening Mexico, a crisis with profound implications for the world.

The primary reason for the malaise afflicting the world's 13th-largest economy is the Mexican government's meddlesome hand in the marketplace. A massive and corrupt bureaucracy, staffed by the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI), controls major commercial operations, including banking and oil. Obviously, such government control stifles initiative and creativity in the

The genesis of Mexico's current predicament can be traced to the beginning of this decade, when the price of oil — Mexico's chief export - began a long decline. This unanticipated loss of revenue triggered two extremely negative consequences during 1982-83: President Jose Lopez Portillo announced that Mexico could no longer pay its foreign debts and he nationalized the nation's Mexico's virtual default on its debt payment precipitated a sudden awareness of the world's debt crisis. The government's seizure of the banks enhanced the PRI's control of the private sector. The unfortunate consequence of these actions was that wealthy Mexicans sent more than $28 billion in assets out of the country during the next three years.

After Mr. Portillo's exit, incoming President Miguel de la Madrid began a campaign of "moral renovation" against the corrupt. moribund bureaucracy. In addition, an austere economic program mandated by the International Monetary Fund allowed Mexico to restructure its burdensome $96 billion

This belt tightening temporarily revived the economy: Mexico's budget deficit was reduced, inflation was halved, and a trade surplus of $13 billion was accumulated.

Then every problem was compounded. Suddenly, an economy on the razor's eage but moving toward stability was disrupted by two unforsee disasters. Last summer, worldwide oil prices plummeted even further. cutting deeply into Mexico's export earnings. The latest calamity came in September when Mexico City was struck by two ravaging earthquakes. Seven thousand lives were lost. hundreds of thousands were left without homes and jobs, and property damage was estimated at $5 billion.

The Mexican economy is not unlike earthquake-racked Mexico City. Along with the weakened peso, inflation is now at 60 percent; per capita income is down 35 to 40 percent for poor persons; and $5 billion in capital has left the country this year, causing the government to place new restrictions on Mexican bank accounts.

And we have the ominous news that Mexico is now unable to service even the annual interest on its foreign debt.

However daunting this crisis, there is room for some hope. President de la Madrid can restore the faith of Mexicans in the nation's economic system by shrinking the corrupt, PRI-controlled bureaucracy and ending the government's stranglehold on the private sector.

Vigorous free enterprise, not arbitrary interference and taxation, will create new economic activity and new jobs, and will stabilize the peso. Such therapy would encourage wealthy Mexicans to invest in long-term production ventures.

President de la Marid should also do what his predecessors have imprudently neglected to do — move Mexico into the freer-trader's club, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). If Mexico is ever to pay off its debts, it must increase non-oil exports, particularly with the price of oil continuing to fall. An open and competitive Mexican economy would ease trade barriers and encourage foreign investment. There is no reason, given Mexico's energetic work force and its rich resources, why the country ean't become a Latin American Korea or Japan.

Mexico's best hope is to free up its moribund marketplace — before it's too late.

Spy Shooters Are Popular With Pig's Feet

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Admittedly, all I know about spying in what I have read in the books of John Le Carre and other espionage novelists, but I have done quite a bit of eating and walking.

So, figuring I was qualified by experience on the latter two counts, I had lunch at Au Pied du Cochon, the restaurant in beautiful, downtown Georgetown where the turnback defector Vitaly Yurchenko had his "last meal" at Uncle Sam's

I also walked to the Soviet Embassy's residential compound where Yurchenko, a former KGB official who ostensibly had defected ostensibly went back into the cold. If President Reagan was "baffled" by the case.

you can imagine how bewildered I was. And am. Tim Jackson, the restaurant manager, certainly didn't help any by speculating that Yurchenko was involved in a "deal," a "set-up" and a "trade-off" arranged by the Central Intelligence Agency.

Why else would he be dining with a CIA agent in this section of Georgetown on a Saturday night?" Jackson asked.

Knowing how that neighborhood swings on Saturday nights. I had no answer.

Nor was the incident in any way clarified by the report that Yurchenko himself picked the eating place in order to be near the Soviet

In the first place, it is more than a "few blocks" from the restaurant on Wisconsin Avenue to the walled-in area on Tuniaw Road where Soviet diplomats live.

It was more than 30 blocks by my count and, as Jackson pointed out, it was "uphill all the way." (The District of Columbia is not exactly Mount Everest or anything like that, but there is a rise in elevation in Georgetown.) It took me a good 30 minutes to walk the distance at a brisk pace in broad daylight. A mailman I stopped en route to check directions told me I still had at least a mile to go.

Although Jackson told me neither he nor any of the lunchtime walters or waltresses were on duty the night Yurchenko dined there, the affair

To get the translations out of the way, "au pled de cochon" is a French expression meaning "the foot of the pig." The price of pig's foot is $4.50 and is available all night as are other items on the menu.

However, Jackson said it was unlikely that Yurchenko ordered that delicacy the fateful evening in question.

EDWARD J. WALSH

Marxist Harangue At School

SEWANEE, Tenn. - The University of the South, founded in this mountain hamlet of southeastern Tennessee in 1858, has a distinguished heritage of rigorous scholarship and open intellectual inquiry. Unfortunately, the spirit of healthy open-mindedness has reached the level of empty-headedness on the controversial subject of U.S. policy for the Marxist regime in Nicaragua.

The plight of that small Central American nation now wallowing in communist poverty has long been of interest in Tennessee. A native Tennessean, William Walker, actually had himself made president of Nicaragua in 1856. Earlier, Commodore Cornellus Vanderbilt, who founded a great university in Nashville, operated a transit service through Nicaragua for Americans traveling to California during the Gold Rush years.

In the apparent belief that these tidbits of history implicate Tennessee in the sad history of Nicaragua, the student government recently hosted Eduardo Baez, Permanent Director of Adult Education in Nicaragua, at a student forum.

Ordinarily, one would expect that a public official with responsibility in such a specialized area as education, when asked to speak at a university, would focus on his field. As an official of a Marxist dictatorship, however, Baez is no ordinary bureaucrat. He is a political propagandist for that dictatorship. Propaganda is what the students asked for, and that is what they got.

"Education is a political activity," he said. "We had a need to change values and principles."

But education was only incidentally on Baez' agenda. He reverted abruptly to his set-piece speech, a harangue against the United States and the Reagan Administration. "The United States is fighting a war against us." he cried. He ticked off what was intended as a chronology of U.S. aggression, which began in 1981 when anti-communist Nicaraguan freedom fighters started operations against the Sandinista regime.

In describing Nicaragua as a poor, weak, but enlightened little place cruelly put upon by a bullying United States, Bacz left out a few things. He did not mention that Sandinista leaders Daniel and Humberto Ortega and Tomas Borge have commuted to Cuba, the Soviet Union, and even to Libya, for years before they seized power in 1979. He said nothing about the Sandinistas' forcible appropriate of the Miskito Indian population of eastern Nicaragua in 1980.

Star Wars A Winner

To the question, Will Star Wars "Strategic Defense Initiative." a short answer, It is: Yes.

I appeal to two expert authorities for this answer. One is Professor Robert Jastrow of Dartmouth. formerly of NASA's Goddard Space Institute. He has just published a short, lucid and definitive primer on the matter called "How to Make Nuclear Weapons Obsolete." You can read the book in a couple of hours and learn all you need to know about the rapidly evolving new technology.

My other expert is Mikhail Gorbachev. If Gorbachev thought Star Wars would not work, he would be delighted to have the United States waste billions on the project. Instead, he is going to the Summit to try to block Star Wars. His scientific advisers have told him that Star Wars will work.

That information is very bad news for the Soviets, because it is their ICBMs that make them a global power. Remove that threat, and, with their big army, they are only a regional power.

The U.S. does not need its ICBMs to be a superpower. It has vast economic reach, a dynamic society widely admired, a technology that moves by quantum leaps. If ICBMs because obsolete, the U.S. would be the big gainer, the Soviets the big losers.

That is why Gorbachev is going to the Summit. That is why the Soviets have launched a massive propaganda campaign, enlisting the usual suspects in the media and in the academy, against Star Wars.

Interestingly enough, I have found that a generational gap exists on the issue. It was Senator Edward Kennedy. I believe, who first came up with the term "Star Wars" when the president first proposed his work, that is, can we shoot down. Kennedy, knee-jerking along, meant incoming ballistic missiles, there is to denigrate the whole idea. But I find that for people under 30, who have grown up with computers, not to mention video games, there is nothing outlandish about a spacebased computer-run defense against

Much of the exotic technology that will go into defense against missiles some years from now was developed by young scientists, often working independently. This is something that could never have happened in the centralized and bureaucratized Soviet system, and in itself is a significant tribute to the dynamics of capitalism. In the future lie such things as the X-ray laser, the electromagnetic railgun. the Exotmer laser, the electron beam. One X-ray laser the size of a packing crate has the capability of shooting down all 3,000 Soviet ICBMs.

But short of these exotic developments, we now have on-the-shelf technology that can do the job Miniaturization is the key. microchip computers that can perform thousands of separate calculations per second. The on-theshelf weapon is the so-called Smart Bullet - actually a small heatseeking rocket steered by its own computer. Directed by space-based satellites, the Smart Bullet can hit a Soviet missile as it slowly rises from the launching pad. The Smart Bullet can even hit a warhead 200 miles above the earth as it makes its

For 30 years, we have lived under the threat of those Soviet ICBMs. and we have tended to absolutize them, consider them invulnerable. But there is no weapon for which there has not been found an answer, even as the tank was the answer to the machine gun.

Chemical Problems Continue

SAN CARLOS, Calif. (NEA) - The memory of last summer's chemically tainted watermelons has faded with arrival of autumn, but the contamination of food remains a threat here in California and elsewhere in the nation.

The watermelon scare occurred when dozens of people became III after eating fruit produced in the San Joaquin Valley that had been poisoned with aldicarb, an insecticide whose use is prohibited on food crops. About 1 million watermelons were hastily recalled from homes, farms and supermarkets throughout the West.

The nationwide scope of the problem was outlined six years ago by the Office of Technology Assessment, an agency of Congress, which warned that chemical contamination of the food supply was a disaster waiting to happen.

Another congressional agency. the General Accounting Office, noted four years ago that "the public may not always be protected from pesticide misuse" because of inadequate enforcement of federal and state laws.

Of the 1.5 billion pounds of pesticides used nationally last year, 608 million pounds were sold in California — and more than half of that statewide total (310 million pounds) was used for agriculture.

Although the long-term impact of those massive chemical applications remains a subject of debate, there are enough examples of short-term pesticide abuse in California to cause concern among public health officials.

In Monterey County, for instance, law enforcement officials have filed civil suits seeking $88,000 in penalties from two growers who allegedly used aldicarb illegally last summer on 23 broccoli fields and three cauliflower fields.

In Imperial County, three lettuce farmers have filed civil suits alleging that they lost crops valued at more than $1.5 million when 14 onion farmers used a herbicide not approved for their crops on nearby

In Kern County, state agricultural officials quarantined a portion of a grape ranch earlier this year because residues of orthene, a pesticide not approved for use on table grapes, were discovered in the vineyards.

The GAO report cited lax enforcement of state and federal laws as a chronic problem — and there is evidence that some growers knowingly use illegal compounds because there is little likelihood of their actions being detected.

Even those who are caught usually face only a slap on the wrist.

Anti-Spy Operation Cancelled By FBI

By Jack Anderson And Joseph Spears

WASHINGTON - The FBI has shut down without explanation a counterintelligence operation intended to entice Vietnamese spies in this country to defect. The FBI has refused to comment on the operation, code-named "Chu Hoi II."

The counterspy operation had been going on for about two years when it was abruptly halted earlier this year. Sources told our associates Donald Goldberg and Corky Johnson that Chu Hoi II had been "fairly successful" in luring Hanot's agents in out of the cold.

FBI agents spread word through Vietnamese communities in the United States that spies could turn themselves in and be protected from Hanoi's revenge. Cards were passed out and ads taken in Vietnameselanguage publications telling how to contact the FBL

Our sources believe that about four out of every 10 Vietnamese refugees now entering this country are secretly working for the communist government, either as informants on anti-communist refugee groups or as shippers of medical supplies and hard currency illegally to Hanol.

The Vietnamese government's machinations in this country have occasionally led to bloodshed. In fact, on the very day last May when we wrote about "Operation VICTOR," a Customs Service investigation that detailed the widespread extortion of money from Vietnamese refugees here, gunmen shot down a Vietnamese couple in San Francisco who were believed to be working with Hanoi in currency transactions.

The husband survived the attack! but the wife died, leaving an estate valued at about $250,000 to the Vietnamese government. The couple had been working with a Sino-Vietnamese businessman in San Diego who was funneling dollars to Vietnam in exchange for gold. Hanoi sent an agent to San Diego, where he picked up the U.S. currency, apparently without checking it carefully.

When the Hanoi agent arrived in Hong Kong en route home, it was discovered that the currency was counterfeit. A hit man was promptly dispatched to San Diego, where he decapitated the San Diego businessman and his wife in ritualistic fash to n

According to our sources, an associate of the dead gold smuggler blamed his death on the couple in San Francisco; they were subsequently gunned down.

In addition to hired guns from Hanoi, militant anti-communist refugee groups have turned Vietnamese communities in major U.S. cities into a virtual free-fire zone, according to law enforcement sources.

One group, ambitiously calling itself the Vietnamese Organization to Exterminate Communists and Restore the Nation, has been linked to a series of shootings. The group claimed responsibility for the killing last summer of a Vietnamese couple in San Francisco who had been friends of an American physics professor suspected of supplying computer equipment to Hanoi illegally. The professor himself, who was an advocate of normalizing relations with Hanol, was killed by a Victnamese refugee who claimed the shooting was accidental.

The FBI has agreed to meet with representatives of the Vietnamese refugee community to hear their concerns over the activities of the "extermination committee," according to our sources.

McGee Wins N.L. MVP, Raines 12th

NEW YORK (UPI) - Same uniform. Same style. The tradition has come full eyele.

in 1931, St. Louis' Frankie Frisch won the inaugural National League Most Valuable Player Award. Fifty-four vears later, the Cardinals' Willie McGee rekindled memorles of "The Fordham Flash" with his quick bat and blazing speed. Yesterday, the Baseball Writers' Association of America voted McGee the 1985 NL MVP, the 14th time a Cardinal has carned the coveted award.

"It's an award that shows I put everything together," McGee said via a conference call telephone hookup to St. Louis' Busch Stadium from his home in Richmond. Calif. "I'm very pleased. I felt I had a good season, I felt I did my job, I'm satisfied ... for this McGee, whose speed became the trademark of the NL champion Cardinals, led the league in batting with a .353 average, in hits with 216, and in triples with 18. He finished third in stolen bases with 56, and in runs scored with 114. In addition, he hit 10 homers, drove in 82 runs, and played scintillating defense.

"I'd rather be known as an all-round player who can help a team win in several different ways, not just a one-dimensional player like a home run hitter," McGee said.

Frisch, a member of St. Louis' "Gas House Gang," would have approved.

Baseball

Three times the second baseman led the NL in stolen bases, and his career high home run total was 11 in 1925. In his MVP season. Frisch led the league in stolen bases, although his total of 28 is paltry by today's standards, and hit .311 with 82 RBI and four home runs.

McGee, a 27-year-old center fielder, received 14 first place votes and 280 points from the 24 members of the The Baseball Writers' Association of America — two from each NL city. He easily outdistanced outfielder Dave Parker of the Cincinnati Reds. the league's RBI leader with 125 RBI. Parker received six first-place votes and 220 points.

Ballots were submitted before post-season competition.

Outfielder Pedro Guerreo of the Los Angeles Dodgers was third with six first-place votes and 208 points, and pitcher Dwight Gooden of the New York Mets, winner of the NL Cy Young Award, was fourth with one first-place vote and 162 points.

Sanford's Tim Raines was 12th in the voting with 15 votes. Raines batted a career-high .320. The Montreal outfielder was named the Expos' MVP last week.

"Hopefully, I can keep working hard and improve in some areas and have some even better years." McGee said. "To be honest with you, I don't know how well I can do. I knew I was on the verge of having my best season ever. but I have a lot of youth and can do better. I'm most proud of the Cardinals as a team and an organization. At spring tvaining, we were counted out of everything - a team that didn't have chance.'

Rounding out the top 10 vote-getters were second baseman Tommy Herr of St. Louis (119 points), catcher Gary Carter of New York (116), outflelder Dale Murphy of Atlanta. (63), first baseman Keith Hernandez of New York, and pitcher John Tudor of St. Louis (61) and first baseman Jack Clark of St. Louis (20).

Rotary Selects Lakeland

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Lakeland High School, a perennial power among the prep ranks, has a accepted an invitation to play Winter Park in the 11th Annual Rotary Bowl football game Wednesday, Nov. 27 at Lyman High School, Larry Cowart. Rotary Bowl committee chairman, announced this morning.

The pairing renews a longstanding rivalry between the two Central Florida powerhouses who didn't schedule this year when a fourth classification was added a major realignment occurred.

"We're really happy to get Lakeland," Cowart sald, "Now, we have two teams which were state semifinalists last year in the state playoffs. It should be a tremendous game."

Cowart said the Rotary Bowl, which has been hurt by declining attendance the past few years, should draw one of its better crowds. "Lakeland hasn't the biggest quarterback club in Central Florida," he said. "And Winter Park always has a good following."

Cowart said the committee considered several Seminole County teams but complications with the state playoffs and losing records hindered their selection.

Lake Mary, 7-2, is the only county team with a winning record and if the Rams beat Lyman Friday night they will go to the state playoffs. Winter Park, 7-2, closes the season with Colonial Friday while Lakeland, 6-3, finishes up with Lakeland Kathleen. Both are heavily favored, according to Cowart.

"A lot of people feel this game. could be than the opening round of the state playoffs," Cowart said. "There's a great rivalry between the two schools, from the principals on down."

SCC Battles Lake-Sumter

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Lake-Sumter Community College doesn't conjure up pleasant memories for coach Bill Payne and his leftover Seminole Community College Raiders. It was just 364 days ago that the Raiders were sailing along with an unbeaten record. Lake-Sumter came into the friendly confines of SCC's gym looking much like a lamb heading for slaughter.

There was good reason for the expected barbecue. SCC, of course, was unbeaten and coming off its third consecutive Raider Tournament championship. SCC, too, had never lost to the pesky Leesburg team.

Forty minutes later, SCC had done the impossible, it had lost to Lake-Sumter. Coincidentally. it took an impossible shot to beat the Raiders. A loose ball in the final seconds was slapped off a Sumter players' arm. Somehow it strayed into the basket from the free throw line.

The victory, however, didn't last too long. A couple months ago, SCC assistant coach Dean Smith received a letter from the Lake-Sumter coach. It said one of the players — Gerald Bedford - was ineligible and the Vikings would have to forfeit the game. The win left SCC with a 22-11 mark last year.

Ironcially, Bedford is the player who arm the magical bouncing ball deflected from before it went into the basket.

Dunkel: Rams By 3 Over Lyman

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Although Lake Mary's Rams have wonthree more games than Lyman's Greyhounds, what has transpired thus far this season will be meaningless when the two teams go at it Friday night at Lake Mary

The Dunkel Index, a prep football rating system based on won-lost margin and strengths of teams played, has established the Rams as a three-point favorite Monday. The Dunkel Index has correctly forecast 30 of its last 36 games concerning Seminole and Orange county teams.

Lake Mary, 7-2 overall, and Lyman, 4-5. will battle for the 5A-4 District title and a berth in the state playoffs. Both teams are 2-1 in the district.

"The season comes down to one game," Lake Mary senior Ray Hartsfield said. "And we want it. We want Lyman and we want them bad.'

Elsewhere this Friday, Seminole High looks for its fourth straight win as it travels to DeLand. Lake Howell and Oviedo clash at Oviedo and Lake Brantley goes for its second straight at Orlando Boone.

Overall records are of little significance in the Lake Mary-Lyman contest. Although Lyman has a losing record, it has played well in the big district games. Lake Mary suffered a letdown when it lost to Spruce Creek, but the Rams rebounded for a big win over Daytona Beach Mainland to remain in contention.

Lake Mary is going for its second straight district title. Last year, the Rams compiled a 9-1 regular season record but lost in the first round of the playoffs to Winter Park.

Since taking over the Lake Mary program. coach Harry Nelson has compiled a record of 22-8 including a 6-4 mark in 1983, 9-2 in '84 and 7-2 this year. Nelson believes the Rams can go far in the playoffs this season.

"I think we can knock off some teams in the playoffs." Nelson said. "But the only thing on our minds now is Lyman."

A victory for Lyman would enable the Greyhounds to completely erase the memory of last year's 0-10 record. Lyman's last district championship came in 1982 when the Hounds compiled a 6-4 record but lost in the first round of the playoffs to Vero-

The winner of Friday night's game, which should draw a huge crowd at Lake Mary High, will go up against the 5A-3 District champion. As of last week. District 3 was a major mess with three teams in contention. They included Jacksonville Terry Parker. Jacksonville Beach Fletcher and Lake City Columbia.

Seminole High is looking to end its season with a 5-5 record after getting off to a 1-5 start. But the Tribe is taking on a tough DeLand team that has rebounded from an 0-4 start with five straight wins. Friday night will also be homecoming at DeLand.

Mosure said Dwayne Willis and Jeff Blake were named as Co-Optimist Club Offensive Players of the Week while Theron Liggons picked up the Optimist Club Defensive Player of the Week award.

Willis had the best day of his career as he rumbled for 186 yards on just nine carries. "If I'd had known Dwayne was that close to 200 yards. I'd have given him the ball a couple more times." Mosure said. "That's the most yards rushing since I've been here. He had a helluva night."

So did Blake. The sophomore quarterback rushed for one touchdown, completed 8 of 17 passes for 102 yards, kicked two field goals and three extra points. Liggons intercepted a pass and returned it 62 yards and chipped in six tackles.

Lake Howell and Oviedo are both looking to rebound from tough losses this past Friday. The Silver Hawks had a chance of ending the season with a 6-4 record spoiled when they were upset by Lake Brantley.

Lake Brantley will carry the momentum from Friday's win into its season finale at Boone. The Patriots snapped an eight-game losing streak with the win over Lake Howell. Monday afternoon, coach Fred Almon was still reciting the praises for his Patriots.

"Steve Stark just had one great game," Almon said about his senior defensive back. "He saved our butts several times."

Lake Mary Baby Cubs 'Grow Up'

By Chuck Burgess Special to the Merald

Being a freshman at a championship meet may seem like a baby cub taking on a full-grown grizzly.

But this past weekend at the Class 4A District 5 Swimming Championships in Longwood. Lake Mary's two baby cubs took on the overwhelming task of swimming against the best in the state — and they won.

The Rams' Kelly Wise and Karl Kuchma combined to pace their teams to the highest finish ever for a Lake Mary team in a championship meet.

Wise, who led the Ram girls to a sixth place overall finish with 63 points, did the seemingly impossible when she became the first Lady Ram to win an event by capturing the 500 freestyle title in 5:15.31.

Wise dove into the water with one thing in mind and that was winning. "I've been working hard all season long." Wise said. "I've had the physical part, but this weekend I started to finally get my head on straight."

That wasn't the only thing Wise got on straight. Wise went straight to the finish line to post a close victory over Winter Park rival Kristen Rose. "She's (Rose) been beating me all year long." Wise said. "But hopefully this is a good sign before state."

The race, which was close from start to finish, was in the hands of Wise from the beginning. She started off with a .50 lead at the 100 and the lead dropped to .14 at the 200.

The 300-yard point in the race was deadlocked as each girl split a 3:08.23 as they flipped.

"The 300 (yard point) was when I decided to go for it," Wise sald. "It was a good race. I'm Just lucky to have won it."

Wise, who also qualified for the state meet in the 200 l.M. by placing third with a time of 2:19.3, hopes to maintain her hard training and qualify for the Junior National Championships later this year.

"I can't even sleep at night because I'm so nervous," Wise said. "This is the biggest meet of my life. I just want to make Juniors (Nationals) now and get it over with."

Wise's plans for the championship meet this weekend may seem like that of a veteran, but this young Lake Mary lamb knows just what she wants and how to get it.

"I think I can get in the top three at state," Wise said. "I've been working hard the past two weeks and I've been concentrating on the mental aspect of my races."

Head coach Walt Morgan credits Wise as being a strong individual out of the water as well as in the water. "She's (Wise) a true athlete." Morgan said. "She's a very humble athlete and has an inner pride. But on the outside she shows a lot of humility. I don't think; she'll ever get cocky because she's too much of a team person."

Another of the Ram youngsters who decided to break onto the swimming scene with an impressive victory is Karl Kuchma.

Kuchma, who also is a freshman and placed ninth in the 200 individual medley at 2:08.96, became the second male Ram to capture an individual district title by stroking to a win in the 100 breast with a final time of 1:04.0.

Kuchma, who partially shaved for the 100 breast was relieved after his convincing win. "I had

Bennett: Young Is No Savior But He'll Start Against Lions

TAMPA (UPI) - Celebrated quarterback Steve Young, who hasn't played a down since joining Tampa Bay from the USFL Sept. 10, will start this week's game against Detroit, Coach Leeman Bennett announced Monday. The Buccaneers, coming off a 62-28 loss against the New York Jets which Bennett termed "totally embarrassing," will take a 1-10 record into Tampa Stadium Sunday against the 6-5 Llons. Young will replace veteran Steve DeBerg and operate behind a patchwork offensive line missing Sean Farrell, out with ankle and knee injuries.

"I made a decision this morning to start Steve Young this week," Bennett said, "I want to play him in enough games to get a good look at him and he's exactly where I thought he'd be at this point of the season. He's progressed well under the circumstances, considering the disadvantage of missing training camp, and I think he's a good talent."

Young signed two days after the season opener in Chicago and disgruntled Tampa Bay fans have been shouting for his appearance at home games for more than a month. The former Brigham Young star played two seasons with the USFL's Los Angeles Express after signing a contract worth an estimated $40 million. Bennett said the mobile southpaw will go the distance against the Lions, barring injury.

"I feel Steve DeBerg has played well this year, but the number of interceptions (18) concerns me because he's never been an interception thrower before," Bennett said. "We're gonna let Steve Young be a football player. We'll simplify our game plan a little just to be doubly critain he can handle what we're doing, but he has a good grasp of the offense. He's got quick feet, good accuracy and touch on the ball and he's smart. I told him he's not coming in as a savior ... we're a 1-10 team."

Bennett said he didn't feel Jets' coach Joe Walton ran up the score as New York set a club record for points, Yardage (581) and first downs (35).

"I think they could have tried to get more," he said, "We just played a horrible football game and I really don't have an answer as to why. We ended up really embarrassing ourselves. We just went up there and it was totally embarrassing. They beat us every way they could beat us. Nothing worked, and I didn't think we could run it or throw it. Even though we scored 28 broke the good news Monday. "He didn't say anything right away, but he did stop lifting." Bennett said. "DeBerg's willing to help Young and the team any way he can. I could have waited for the last two games of the year to play Steve, but this way I get to see him in a lot of different situations."

Dolphins Lose Pair

MIAMI (UPI) - For the second time this year, the Miami Dolphins beat the Indianapolis Colts only to find the next day key players had suffered severe injuries. First. Miami beat the Colts 30-13 Sept. 15 in the Orange Bowl. The next day, it was discovered wide receiver Mark Duper had a hairline fracture in his left tibia and linebacker Charles Bowser had a severely sprained ankle. Duper missed seven weeks, while Bowser is lost for the remainder of the scason. Sunday, the Dolphins won 34-20, and again there were serious injuries. Right guard Jeff Toews suffered torn ligaments in his left knee and is out for the

Also, offensive tackle Cleveland Green sprained an ankle in Indianapolis and is expected to miss at least two weeks, which would include the Dec. 2 Monday night game against unbeaten Chicago.

"It just seems to happen at the worst times." Miami coach Don Shula said Monday, "Now here's a guy (Toews) who was finally getting to play and doing a good job."

Down to five healthy offensive linemen, the minimum needed, Miami Monday picked up guard Larry Lee off waivers, who had been cut by Detroit Saturday. Lee is a five-year veteran out of UCLA who had started four games for Detroit this year.

"In the situation we're in. we're fortunate to have somebody available that soon," Shula

The Dolphins are also hoping tackle Jon Giesler can recover from a sore knee to play Sunday at Buffalo. For now, Miami has rookie Jeff Dellenbach and Ronnic Lee at the tackles, Steve Clark and Roy Foster at guard. and Dwight Stephenson at

Also lost from the offensive line is tackle Eric Laakso, a starter who was waived-did not pass physical after failing to recover from knee surgery.

"It just has been a gradual erosion the last couple years." Shula said of the offensive line. "You lose guys like (Bob Kucchenberg) and (Ed) Newman, those are Pro-Bowlers. And Laakso was a steady performer."

Doctors were scheduled to perform an arthrogram on Green's ankle Monday night. Toews was to undergo surgery

Redskins' Tricks Overcome Loss Of Theismann

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Washington Redskins used every trick they could conjure up to beat the New York Giants in a game the team dedicated to fallen quarterback Joe Theismann, whose season - and perhaps career - ended with a second quarter injury.

The Redskins vaulted back into the playoff picture with a 23-21 victory over Giants Monday night using backup quarterback Jay Schroeder's untested arm, two successful onsides kicks and a fake punt.

Washington, 6-5, is tied for second in the NFC East with the Philadelphia Eagles, one game behind the 7-4 Giants and Dallas Cowboys. The loss snapped New York's four-game winning streak.

"I think we're alive for another day - for another week anyway," said Washington coach Joe Gibbs. "All our guys and all our coaches dedicated the game to Joc."

Theismann, who has led the Redskins to two Super Bowl appearances and three straight division titles, suffered a compound fracture of his lower right leg when he was sacked on the second play of the second quarter on the contest.

On a failed flea-flicker play, the 12-year veteran was hit from behind by Lawrence Taylor and hit again by Gary Reasons. Theismann's leg was twisted grotesquely and snapped under the weight of the tacklers.

Schroeder, who had thrown only eight passes over his two-year NFL career, spearheaded an unorthodox Washington attack after the injury. The winning touchdown, a 14-yard scoring strike from Schroeder to tight end Clint Didier with 6:39 left in the game, came after Washington's second successful onsides kick of the game by Steve Cox.

The first one ignited a drive that ended with John Riggins' 1-yard touchdown run 1:37 into the second half.

"The offense just rallied around me." said the 24-year-old Schroeder, who also spent two years in the Toronto Blue Jays' farm system.

"The offensive line was doing a fantastic job holding everybody out. They knew they would have to hold their blocks a little longer because my reads would take a little longer."

Schroeder completed 13-of-20 passes for 221 yards. New York quarterback

Phil Simms (9-18 for 138 yards), had a rough night, having been sacked four times and ntercepted by Vernon Dean with 1:09 remaining.

'Schroeder didn't panic, he threw quite well." Simms said. "In fact, he surprised all of us. I don't think any pressure was on him, it was all on us."

The Redskins' victory, which avenged a 17-3 setback to the Giants last month, also overshadowed a three-touchdown performance by Joe Morris. New York's diminutive running back.

Morris scored on runs of 56, 41 and 8 yards and gained 118 yards on 17 carries. His three rushing TDs gave him a club-record 11 for the season.

Before either of the two onsides kicks. Cox hit safety Raphel Cherry for an 11-yard gain on a fake punt to salvage a drive that resulted in Theismann's 10-yard scoring pass to Don Warren.

"I knew I'd be important on three plays like that." Cox said. "We'd been working on them all week and we said we were gonna use call them if the defenses were right."

"They took three big gambles tonight in their kicking game - any one of them could have lost them the game. But they executed them and they got it done." New York coach Bill Parcells said.

Morris' third TD run, late in the third quarter, provided New York with a 21-14 lead. But Mark Moseley's 28yard field goal and Schroeder's scoring strike completed the Washington comeback.

'Schroeder was great," Gibbs said. "I think Jay's our leader, he's the guy we staked everything on."

Cotton's Deal Distorts Bowls

United Press International

While most bowl officials did some fine-tuning of their matchups, the Cotton Bowl decided it might want to perform an overhaul. The Cotton Bowl's the outcome of Saturday's games has greatly distorted the bowl picture.

NCAA regulations state bowls cannot send invitations until Saturday, but most deals were made over the weekend, at the end of "cheat week." On Monday, officials from the 18 bowls filled most of the remaining gaps in securing tentative deals with

Cotton officials originally wanted Auburn to face the Southwest Conference champlon, but changed their minds late Sunday night and tried to strike a deal to get the second-place team in the Big Ten. Baylor. Texas, and Texas A&M each have one loss in the Southwest Conference.

However, the Flesta Bowl threw Cotton officials a curve by tying up Michigan, the likely second-place finisher in the Big Ten, to face the Big Eight runner-up.

Iowa can win the Big Ten with a victory Saturday over Minnesota and claim the automatic Rose Bowl bid. Michigan would finish second in the league by defeating Ohio State Saturday. The Wolverines, however, would go to Pasadena, Calif. Jan. 1 if they win and lowa loses.

The key to the puzzle is lowa, which opted for the Cotton Bowl if it gets knocked out of the Rose Bowl. That forced the complicated deal between Cotton and Fiesta officials, as well as those from the Citrus Bowl.

If Iowa goes to the Rose Bowl and Ohio State beats Michigan. complex deal between three the Buckeyes will go to the bowls and four teams pending Cotton and Auburn to the Citrus. If the Hawkeyes go to the Rose and Michigan downs Ohio State. Auburn would get the Cotton berth and the Buckeyes would be in the Citrus.

If Michigan goes to the Rose, Auburn will go to the Fiesta. lowa to the Cotton and Ohlo State will play Brigham Young in the Citrus. If Ohio State goes to the Rose, Iowa will to to the Cotton and Auburn the Citrus on Dec. 28.

UCLA will likely represent the Pacific 10 in the Rose Bowl. The Bruins need a victory over cross-town rival Southern Cal on Saturday to elineh a berth.

In other New Year's Day games. No.41 Penn State cleared up a great deal of speculation by announcing it would go to the Orange Bowl. Should the Nittany Lions defeat Pitt Saturday, the Orange Bowl will likely feature the two top teams in the country.

Second-ranked Nebraska is at No. 3 Oklahoma Saturday, If Nebraska wins, it secures the Big-Eight title and the automatic Orange Bowl invitation as the conference champion. If Oklahoma beats the Cornhuskers, then the winner of a Nov. 30 game between the Sooners and Oklahoma State will capture the Big Eight and go to Miami on Jan. 1.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - Baseball commissioner Peter Ueberroth will meet with San Francisco Glants owner Bob Lurie today to discuss the team's future following the collapse of a plan to build a privately funded downtown stadium.

Ueberroth, who was in San Francisco for a speaking engagement Monday night, said he would not take any action on the Giants' uncertain fate until he spoke with Lurie.

"I just got off an airplane and am not aware of the developments (the collapse of the downtown plan)," Ueberroth said, "I will meet with Bob (Tuesday). I want to know the facts."

The commissioner said he thought a two-team market in the Bay Area could still exist and survive.

"I think the Bay Area fans are great for baseball," he said. "If it is done right, baseball can survive in its present state

However, Ueberroth's optimism seemed a bit lost after Lurie's announcement Monday that the stadium plan had been abandoned. The plan was thought to be the only way to keep the National League franchise in San Francisco.

Lurie said in a prepared statement that he and developer Peter Stocker have "regretfully concluded that we are unable to structure a financing method for the construction of a downtown baseball stadium that works for both the developer and the ballelub."

Lurie and Stocker had examined a number of options over the last eight months in their efforts to put together financing for the stadium. Those plans ranged from the sale of lifetime season tickets to a leasing arrangement.

The Giants' owner said he would not comment on what Impact Monday's announcement would have on the team's future. Lurie has pledged that his team will not return to blustery Candlestick Park for another season. He has blamed the Giants' poor performance - 100 losses last season and a dwindling gate on weather conditions at the stadium.

"I am simply not prepared to answer those questions at this time, but I will sit down with Mayor (Dianne) Feinstein this week to discuss this situation with her." he Feinstein could hardly contain her anger about the latest development. The mayor met with Lurie on Friday afternoon and nothing was mentioned about the Stocker plan's troubles.

"I was totally blindsided by this." she said. "But I have no intention of giving up. I'll do everything I have to, even go to court, to keep Bob Lurie and the Giants here."

Feinstein said Lurie told her the Stocker plan would not be approved by the National League because part of its financing was from the advance sale of tickets. However, the mayor said the plan would have gone through if Lurie had thrown his total support behind it.

"If Bob Lurie has put his support behind it." she said. "the plan would have passed."

Feinstein said she would try to arrange # meeting with Ueberroth while he was in town. However, the commissioner said he did not know whether his schedule would allow such a meeting.

In the wake of the latest developments. Feinstein said she had begun to put out her own feelers for a potential buyer for the

The Glants future in the Bay Area has been up in the air for the last year and a half. During that time span. Lurie has put the team up for sale and taken it off the market. He has shaken up his front office and entertained plans that would have the team moving to nearby San Jose or Denver.

In Midst of Divorce, Pregnant Wife Has Shower of Questions

DEAR ABBY: I am going through a divorce that will not be final until February 1986. Meanwhile, I have been living with a person I'll call Ben. I care about Ben, but I see no marriage in sight for us. I am also pregnant with Ben's baby, which I am very happy about because I have wanted a baby for the last four years. I am 29 and this is my first child.

Here's the situation: Ben's mother wants to give me a baby shower. She comes from a big family - about 50 women on one side only, just the aunts and cousins. I hardly know any of them. This will be her first grandchild and she is very excited, but, Abby, I am still married and will not be divorced when the baby gets here. Even after that, Ben and I don't have any plans to get married. I just can't see accepting gifts from these people with things so up in the air.

Also, since I will still be married when my baby is born. whose last name should I give the baby - my present husband's? Or Ben's? If I don't use Ben's last name, will he still have to pay child support? He is the baby's father for sure and wants to pay.

My husband says I can use his last name as long as I want to because after all this is over, we might even get back together

EXPECTING AND THRILLED

DEAR THRILLED: Handle one crisis at a time. Don't allow Ben's mother to give you a baby shower under these circumstances. See a lawyer about which name your baby should have, as well as who is legally obligated to pay child support. Please consider counseling before you make any decisions. If there's a chance that you will get back together with your husband, and since there's nothing definite with Ben, why go through with the

SANTIAGO, JR.

(UPI) — The winner of Guatemala's coming presidential run-off will have to make tough decisions to blunt a growing economic crisis - decisions that almost certainly will cost him the popularity that elects him.

Vinicio Cerezo, who describes himself as a "moderate leftist" and heads the Christian Democrat Party, will meet the center-rightist newspaper publisher Jorge Carpio, leading the Union of the Democratic Center, in the Dec. 8 election.

Cerezo finished first with 39 percent of the vote among eight candidates in the Nov. 3 first round while Carpio came in second with 21 percent.

The primary, declared fraud-free by all participants, was held under a constitution drafted by an elected Assembly to end 31 years of military. dominated rule.

While the military government has succeeded in halting a leftist guerrilla movthe economy has been disastrous. Its reputation for human rights abuses has also shut off most foreign aid and loans, another reason the army is ready to make way for civilian rule. Economic analysts say no matter who wins the run off, he will face an economic emergency when he takes office Jan. 14.

Guatemala has always been the most developed of the Central American states, as well as the largest in population at 8.3 million. Its fertile Pacific slopes and Caribbean lowlands produced bountiful cash exports crops of cotton. sugar, banana and cattle that kept the national currency, the quetzal, at a one-to-one parity with the dollar for 50 years and allowed the government to operate with

To compensate, civiltans appointed by the army to run the economy borrowed heavily, mostly shortterm debts from Western banks, and began printing more money.

The crisis came to a head in the late summer when a government-approved price increase in food and bus fares triggered rioting and strikesN which forced the government to pull back.

"A number of time bombs were planted in the economy a while ago, and they're going off one by one," said an economic analyst, who asked that he not be identified. "The government ran down its hard currency reserves, undertook loans from banks at high interest. balloon rates, while the export earnings plunged."

The quetzal fell to 3.7 to the dollar, the government imposed confusing exchange controls that punished some exporters and slapped on price controls that produced shortages in consumer goods.

The most serious problem facing the new president will be payment on the foreign debt, much of which will come due in 1986. because of the shortterm nature of the Debt servicing as a percentage of gross national product has jumped from Just 4 percent in 1983 to 20 percent in 1984, 37 percent this year and an estimated 50 percent next year.

That foreign debt of $2.4 billion is not high on a per capita basis. but has become a crisis because so much of it will be due next year between $500 million and $1 billion - just when the civilian president takes over.

Inflation, another little-known phenomenon in modern Guatemalan history. has also been rising rapidly, and will hit between 40 and 45 could jump even higher next year.

At the same time, wages increaseed between only 5 and 10 percent, which means most Guatemalans have suffered about a 30 percent drop in real carnings.

An added factor will be the brisk union organizing, and the subsequent pressure for economic improvement, that is expected to take place under a civilian government, especially if Cerezo wins.

Under previous milltary-dominated governments, right-wing death squads and officials combined to crush most labor movements, and just 7 percent of the working population now holds union membership.

The new president will inherit a hastily improvised series of economic laws that many say are part of the problem.

One example is domestic interest rates. By law, banks can pay only 9 percent interest percent this year, and on savings accounts. while they must loan out money at 12 percent.

"But, with the inflation rate so much higher, no one is putting money in banks. so there is none to loan out." the analyst said. The government has also placed 450 items under price control. but the plan failed.

"The controls were put on specific brand names," said one merchant. "So the manufacturere simply stopped producing those names. For a while, there was no toilet paper or things like margarine, but they then reappeared under different brands. at much higher prices."

Neither candidate has disclosed a detailed plan on how he will try to resolve the economic crisis.

"They keep It purposely vague. another analyst said. "They know they're going to have to put in unpopular measures and they prefer not to talk about."

Hope For Budget Bill By Holidays

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Chairman Dan Rostenkowski of the Ways and Means Committee said he hopes the House will pass a tax reform measure by Christmas. but acknowledged his panel still faces "the real tough issues" in the package.

Rostenkowski also said he hoped that, as the committee presses to finish its work this week, the measure will not run into delaying tacties by congressmen who do not want any bill passed.

Rostenkowski, noting a "positive attitude" has replaced a 'pretty gloomy" outlook for tax reform legislation, said he hoped the committee could finish the bill Friday and, after staff work and the Thanksgiving holiday, the House could begin deliberations Dec. 10 or 11.

But he conceded, "That's being very optimistic."

in a session that lasted less than three hours, the committee voted to extend two tax provisions the administration wanted repealed but tightened both.

The committee voted to extend for two years. 1986 and 1987, the provision which gives a tax credit to employers who hire the poor and disabled at an estimated cost of $1 billion.

But the committee cut from 50 to 40 percent the credit on the first $6,000 in the first year and from 25

> After the gamay grapes are harvested in early October. Roye turns over his vats and wine press to Rabbi Jacques Poultorak of Lyons, who camps out in Roye's 30-room 18th century estate during the October winemaking season.

While Poultorak and two of his assistants make the wine, the 33-year-old Rove stands aside, guiding the men through the pressing and fermenting process. "It's not any different from other Beaujolais because you can't change nature," Roye explained. "It's just a question of hygiene."

Roye's wine is ensured by a meticulous cleaning. Poultorak and his assistants scour and wash the vats, tubes, press and filters with water. Only kosher products are used, including beet sugar that boosts the alcoholic content of the wine to the allowable level of 13 percent. Even the bottles, seals, corks and labels are kosher.

"Making a kosher wine would be an overwhelming endeavor for most ocnologues," said Jean-Michel Duval, who heads the official group of experts who class Beaujolais wines before the Nov. 21 release date. "And there is a risk involved." Duval said. "Wine producers add a sulfur product during vintrification to prevent bacteria from growing." Roye said this method is allowed but Poultorak cannot add a blood-based product to degree, apparently - smokeless tobacco are causing a lot of hardship these days. The weed is clearly harmful, despite counterclaims by the tobacco industry.

I was interested to read that smoking also affects the action of medicines. Evidently, tobacco smoke may alter the absorption of drugs, as well as their effectiveness. This alteration may last for several months after a smoker has quit the habit. In some manner, liver enzymes may be stimulated, and these chemicals go about their job of detoxifying medication at the same time they are reacting with the products of tobacco smoke.

Here is a sampling of drugs and the way their effects are modified by cigarettes:

- ACETAMINOPHEN: This is the widely used aspirin substitute found in Tylenol. Nuprin. Panadol, Exedrin, Anacin and (by my count) at least 120 other preparations. Blood levels are lower in smokers, so they usually require more, drug to 37 Hepburn, for reach a therapeutic effect.

- ANTIDEPRESSANTS: The most common brands of tricyclic mood elevators are Tofranil, Aventyl. Norpramin. Pamelor and Sinequan. Smoking lowers blood levels; therefore, more medicine may have to be administered to achieve full benefit.

- BENZODIAZEPINES: Marketed under the names Valium, Librium, Dalmane, Ativan, Restoril, Halcton and Xanax, these drugs are generously prescribed as minor tranquilizers. Smoking causes the medicines to be more quickly excreted.

- CAFFEINE: Because smokers have enhanced caffeine elimination, they may experience less stimulation from coffee and other caffeine-containing compounds.

- DORIDEN: This sleeping pill is classed as a hypnotic. Smoking appears to increase its

> - ORAL CONTRACEPTIVES: Women over age 35 have an increased risk of thrombosis (blood clots in the veins) if they smoke cigarettes and take birth-control pills. This risk is so

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

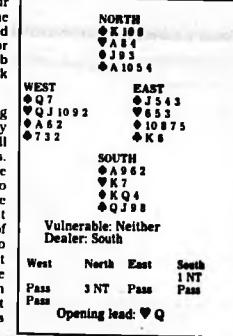

The acronym ARCH will be familiar to long-time faithful readers. Invaluable for good declarer play and also useful for the third-hand defender, it stands for the following:

A - Analyze the opening lead. R - Review the bidding, C -Count your winners (and losers). H - How do I make the contract? (As a defender, how do I defeat the contract?).

If you used this method as declarer in today's deal, you would think as follows: Under A. the heart queen is an honorsequence lead from four or more hearts. Under R. nothing, since the opponents did no bidding. Under C, we have two spade tricks, two heart tricks, two diamonds (after forcing out the not merit consideration.

ace), and either three or four club tricks (depending on the club finesse). Under H. we need to establish tricks in the minor suits, so we either take the club finesse right away or give a trick to the diamond ace.

Declarer should, upon winning QJ 10 9 2 the heart king, immediately play diamonds. Either defender will win the ace and continue hearts. Declarer now holds up until the third round. He can now come to the ace of spades and try the club finesse. If it wins, fine, If it loses. East will either be out of hearts or will have only one to play. Either way the contract makes. Yes, I know on a rare occasion West will have led from a three-card heart holding, but that is so unusual that it does
