Rash Of BB Gun Vandalism Frustrates Sanford Police

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police are admittedly frustrated by the recent rash of BB gun shootings that have left windows shattered at at least 10 businesses, homes and vehicles throughout the city.

Although reports of the shootings have been coming in all week, police are now reasonably certain all the incidents occurred late Sunday night and early Monday morning and were committed by juveniles from a moving car, Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said today.

Police have no witnesses to the shootings, which Harriett said were apparently committed "just for the fun of it."

"For some reason, some kids seem to get a thrill out of vandalizing property," he said.

In efforts to apprehend the perpetrators, the department has stepped up patrols at the three main target areas: French Avenue, Park Avenue and the Highland Park community. However, according to Harriett, "Unless someone with information comes forward or we're in the right place at the right time, it's not going to be easy to catch them."

The department did receive an anonymous tip Thursday, although its validity "is questionable," Harriett said. "Still, all information we receive will definitely be looked into."

What makes it "very difficult" to apprehend "BB gun vandals" is their modus operandi, Harriett said. "The gun is silent, it's fired from a moving vehicle and then they're gone. It's frustrating trying to predict when, where, or even if the shootings will occur."

Apparently, however, the department is not unfamiliar with such incidents.

Harriett said "spurt shootings" with BB guns occur once or twice a year in Sanford, result in havoc being wrought on one or two nights and then cease as suddenly as they began.

The last such string of shootings occurred approximately a year ago and there were no arrests made, Harriett said.

Depending on the amount of damage caused at each location, the "thrill" the perpetrators receive when engaging in such rampages will be followed up by either a first or second degree misdemeanor charge of criminal mischief if they are apprehended, the chief said.

Damage $200 and above is a first degree charge, and damage below $200 is a second degree violation. Additionally, if the perpetrators are juveniles below the age of 16, their parents could be charged under the Florida statute related to BB gun ownership and discharge, Harriett said.

The incidents reported to police since Monday are as follows:

- 2114 French Avenue, Central Beauty Barber and Supply, east glass door shot out, damage put at $190. Incident reported Monday by Cheryl Harper, manager.
- 501 South French Avenue, A&N Sports, front plate glass window shot three times, damage estimated at $200. Incident reported Wednesday by Bert Nelson, owner.
- 2100 Park Avenue, shooting into occupied dwelling, three windows on north side of residence, damage estimated at $90. Incident reported Tuesday by Charles Meyers, owner.
- Same address as above, windshield of 1974 Buick shot, damage put at $100. Reported Monday by Meyers.

At Sanford Personality Luncheon

Brothers Quizzes Audience On Love, Marriage, Sex

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Psychologist Dr. Joyce Brothers told a Sanford audience Thursday that although love lasts in only one out of six marriages, "it gives us something wonderful to hope and try for."

Dr. Brothers said women who enjoy food also enjoy sex, and men who make love with the most frequency will continue making love into their 60s, 70s, 80s and beyond.

After her hour-long talk, which was met frequently with laughter at her anecdotes and applause, Dr. Brothers commented in an interview on the recent U.S. bombing of Libya. She said she strongly supports the bombing as one of two ways to lessen terrorism.

The well-known television and radio personality, columnist and author was the second Personality Luncheon speaker hosted by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Seminole Community College and the Central Florida Press Club. About 350 people attended the luncheon at the Sanford Civic Center. On Jan. 17 a similar size audience turned out to hear columnist and investigative reporter Jack Anderson.

Dr. Brothers, who has a Ph.D. from Cornell and rocketed to national prominence in 1955 after winning big on The $64,000 Question television quiz show as an expert on boxing, talked about body language, learning and relationships between men and women.

She quizzed the audience on its knowledge of men and women, marriage and sex.

Audience-entertaining answers she dispensed included studies that show men change their minds more often than women and also lie about their age more often. Wives start more arguments than husbands and catch more colds, she said. But women don't fall apart as often as men in serious crises. They tend to be depressed more often than men. "Women," she said, "have more to worry about."

As an example, she said, women worry about themselves and those they care for. "When a woman walks past a mirror, she does what she has socially been trained to do — find flaws," she said. Whereas, a man looks into a mirror "and sees Mr. America! ... If it's not a full-length mirror," she added.

After her speech she commented on the Libyan bombing.

"It was a very wise thing to do," she said. "I think it was lucky for us that we have a president who wasn't running for president again so he could do what could have been a very unpopular thing politically."

She said establishing a pattern of punishing those responsible for terrorism every time they commit such an act would help deter the problem. She also said refusing to give in to kidnapers would help stop the practice because not giving in would prevent them from succeeding and denies them publicity.

The punishment, however, must be consistent, she said.

"Irregular punishment will make them think that perhaps this time they can get away with it," she said. Dr. Brothers said a policy of punishment for terrorism has been successfully used by Israel.

Sanford Man Guilty Of 2nd Degree Murder

A Sanford man was convicted of second-degree murder Thursday in the death of an Orlando bicyclist he argued with then shot.

James Leroy Henderson Jr., 24, of 2106 Amelia Ave., was also found guilty of use of a firearm in a felon and carrying a concealed weapon in connection with the death of Jimmy Lee Edwards.

Henderson, who owns a Sanford auto business, argued that he shot the man in self-defense, but the jury found him guilty after three hours of deliberation.

Sentencing was set for May 30 and Henderson faces up to 17 years imprisonment.

According to court records, Henderson was riding in Orlando in a built-up four-wheel drive pickup with his wife and friends when they drove past Edwards who was riding a bike with an 11-year-old girl. The incident occurred in April, 1985.

Henderson yelled, "Does your mama know where you are?" prompting Edwards to yell back. The verbal exchanges increased and Henderson jumped from the truck to see what Edwards "problem" was.

Henderson, according to records, was carrying a .25-caliber handgun but said he was only prepared for a fist fight. But Edwards pulled a knife and reportedly began swinging it. Henderson said he then shot Edwards in self-defense because the man kept coming at him and there was no quick way for Henderson to get into the elevated truck.

After Edwards was shot, he ran away but was found about a block from the scene dead from a chest wound. Henderson was arrested a few days later after a call to Crimeline.

Henderson's attorney claimed Edwards was overly aggressive because he was high on cocaine and that Henderson warned him that he had a gun. The prosecution, however, contended Henderson was in a neighborhood he should not have been in and was looking for trouble.

Pentagon Releases Detailed Account Of Strike Against Libya

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twenty-five U.S. warplanes striking five primary targets in Libya Monday destroyed at least 13 aircraft on the ground and heavily damaged the nerve center of Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy's terrorist operations, the Pentagon said Thursday.

"This was a near-flawless professional operation under extremely difficult circumstances," Pentagon spokesman Robert Sims said. "I don't think there's been anything like it in U.S. military annals."

The major flaw was the loss of an Air Force F-11F fighter-bomber with its two crewmen, whose status was changed from missing to killed in action a day after the Navy conducted a fruitless search for them in Mediterranean waters north of Tripoli. They were the only known U.S. casualties of the raid.

In updating information about the first U.S. military retaliation against terrorism and the assessment of the damage caused, the Pentagon said fewer planes dropped bombs on their targets in Tripoli and Benghazi than was first reported, and that Soviet-built aircraft on the ground were destroyed, not damaged as earlier reported.

In all, 13 British-based F-111Fs — refueled four times on their 3,200-mile flight to the targets — and 12 A-6E Intruder attack planes from the aircraft carriers America and Coral Sea cruising about 200 miles north of Libya in the Mediterranean launched the 11-minute strike, the Pentagon said.

Eight of the sleek F-111Fs armed with 2,000-pound laser-guided and 500-pound "dumb" bombs and the 12 stubby A-6s carrying 750- and 500-pound bombs simultaneously attacked their targets in cities situated 400 miles apart at 7 p.m. EST, the Pentagon said.

Five other F-111Fs swept in to strike the Tripoli military airport six minutes later, it said.

The purpose of the raid was to destroy Khadafy's Azziziyah barracks in Tripoli, Sims told reporters. The Pentagon has characterized the barracks as the main center for Libyan terrorist operations. Khadafy used a tent in the barracks compound as a headquarters.

A videotape from a camera peering through the infrared target acquisition radar of an F-111F attacking the barracks at an altitude of less than 500 feet showed the plane coming up on Khadafy's tent.

Four 2,000-pound laser-guided bombs were dropped by the plane on the barracks, Sims said. Another F-111F loosed 12 500-pound bombs on the military side of Tripoli airport, he said.

The bombs dropped on the airport destroyed between three and five Soviet-built IL-76 Candid transport planes and caused "major damage" to the barracks and support facilities, Sims said. He said Khadafy was not a target of the raid.

"The purpose of the attack was to hit the nerve center of terrorist training (the barracks)," Sims said. "We were not attacking individuals but a command structure ... that controlled terrorism worldwide."

The A-6Es attacking Benina destroyed four "and probably more" Soviet-made MiG-23 fighters, two prop-driven F-27 transports, two Mi-8 Hip helicopters, and damaged a third Mi-8, Sims said.

He displayed reconnaissance photographs of both bombed locations with labels affixed that showed the destroyed and damaged aircraft.

In addition, Sims said there was "major damage" to the Benghazi army barracks that were used as an alternate command post for terrorist operations.

Seat Belt Law Step Closer

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Senate Commerce committee Thursday narrowly approved a mandatory seat belt law — one day after its stripped-in sponsor survived a tragic scrape of his own.

The committee passed the seat belt proposal (SB 210) along to the Appropriations committee on a 6-5 vote. Sen. George Stuart, D-Orlando, predicted the measure will survive Appropriations to win easy passage by the full Senate.

Stuart said he was wearing his own seatbelt when he slipped to give way at a traffic light in Tallahassee last week. He said he was wearing his seatbelt when he slipped to give way at a traffic light in Tallahassee last week. tighten Florida's child restraint law. Like a similar House proposal (HB 40), Stuart's bill would fine up to $500 anyone who fails to buckle up. It would require insurance companies to refund the law to sitting passengers and would require all drivers — and not just parents or drivers whose cars are registered in Florida — to wear their seatbelts.

Bolivia, Colombia Crackdowns Bring Cocaine Production Here

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Crackdowns by Colombia and Bolivia on cocaine production in the past 18 months may be causing more of the drug to be brought into Seminole County and Central Florida and there may be an added drug problem coming this way, say law enforcement officials.

Because drug suppliers are finding it more difficult to process the drug at home, more unrefined cocaine is being brought into Florida, spurring development of local processing laboratories and dens where the unrefined cocaine is smoked.

In Sanford, the once-common powdery form of cocaine has been replaced by a cheaper but more potent and addictive hard form of cocaine.

"Crack," or "rock" as it is known on the street — "smoking base" by Drug Enforcement agents — is "probably the most common form of using cocaine in this area," said Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett.

Altamonte Springs Police Chief William Liquori agreed.

"The 'rock' is becoming much more prevalent in Altamonte Springs," he said.

The net result is that while snorting or injecting cocaine is on the decrease, there is more cocaine — in the hard form — on the streets, according to officials.

The change apparently is interwoven with economics, availability of chemicals and police work.

The usual processing method of making cocaine, subject to a lot of variations, is to change the coca leaves into paste, the paste into base and the base into a crystalline form, the powdery stage, if processed further it can become "crack" or "rock" which is hard, or it can be changed back into base, said Police Commander Arthur Nehrbass, of the Miami-Metro Dade Organized Crime Unit.

The powdery form — crystalline — mixes well with water, or blood, the other forms, before and after the powdery state, do not, hence they are smoked, he said.

The South American governments outlawed ether and acetone, necessary in the production of crystalline cocaine, thus forcing smugglers to ship base cocaine to south Florida. Smuggling base cocaine is apparently a safe form to ship it in because dogs can't detect it, either

Appeals Court Narrowly Upholds Goetz Charge Dismissal

NEW YORK (UPI) — A state appeals court Thursday narrowly upheld the dismissal of attempted murder charges against subway gunman Bernhard Goetz, who became a hero to New Yorkers when he wounded four alleged muggers 16 months ago.

Writing for the majority, Justice Bentley Kasal said a subjective standard should have been applied: Did Goetz believe he was about to be mugged? Prosecutors should not have injected an objective standard — whether a reasonable man would feel threatened, he said.

"We approach the disposition of this case with a keen awareness of society's overriding concern that justice be done, but only in adherence with due process of law," Kasal said. "The fundamental fairness ... is designed to protect the individual rights of those accused as well as the interests of society."

Manhattan District Attorney Robert Morgenthau, however, plans to appeal the 3-2 ruling by the Appellate Division of state Supreme Court to the Court of Appeals, New York's highest court.

Goetz could not be reached for comment but his lawyer, Barry Slotnick, said, "I feel very happy, very proud."

Women No Better Off Than in '59

WASHINGTON — Women are no better off economically than they were in 1959, a study by Stanford University economics professor Victor Fuchs revealed Thursday said.

The study said despite gains in anti-discrimination legislation and the labor market, economic growth was frozen, mostly due to their prime responsibility for raising children the study said.

Women's income has doubled over the past 25 years, but their average hourly pay is still half that of a man, according to Fuchs's study. In addition, women have less leisure time, more dependent on their own income because of divorce, and their share of financial responsibility for children rose.

According to the study, based on census data and population surveys, women made up 54 percent of the labor force in 1982, while in 1959, that figure was 34 percent.

Woman's wages rose from $4,139 in 1959 to $9,026 in 1983, because of an increase in hours worked and actual pay. But the ratio of women's earnings compared to men's also doubled.

According to the study, the average man still earns almost 50 percent more than a woman per hour.

Medicare Deductible To Increase

WASHINGTON — Cost increases for the first day of a hospital stay could approach $600 next year for Medicare patients, and some congressmen hope to cut the projected rise.

Medicare projects a 16.2 percent increase in the average daily cost of a hospital stay, which would automatically raise the Medicare hospitalization deductible. The deductible will increase to $572, up $90 from $482. In January, the deductible rose by $92.

The increases have been blamed on shorter hospital stays, which reportedly artificially inflates daily cost.

Rep. Edward Roybal, D-California, chairman of the House Aging Committee, introduced legislation designed to slow the increase in the deductible increase. His bill would stop the deductible payment from increasing faster than Social Security benefits.

O'Neill Predicts Close Aid Vote

WASHINGTON — House Speaker Tip O'Neill said Thursday he feels President Reagan will have trouble winning congressional approval for aid to the Nicaraguan rebels, but Republican leader Robert Michel, R-Illinois, predicted no difficulty.

Both O'Neill and Michel agreed that it will probably be another month before any new vote is taken on Reagan's request to send $100 million to U.S. backed guerrillas fighting Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government. For the legislation to pass, all Republicans and some democrats will have to support the bill.

Michel wants a "free standing bill" limited to giving military and other assistance to the contra. Tactical maneuvering in the House Wednesday stalled consideration of an aid bill.

Memorial Bandshell Proposed

Sanford resident C.J. "Kitt" Carson would like to see the band play on at the city's Veterans Memorial Park and hopes to enlist the aid of local citizens and merchants to accomplish his objective.

Carson's request for construction of a new bandshell at the memorial park on Lake Monroe has already received favorable response from city commissioners. At a future work session, they'll be taking up his proposal for residents and merchants to provide the manpower and materials for the bandshell's construction. They'll also consider enlisting the aid of city engineers to design the structure.

Carson said the notion for the "community project" came to him on Easter morning, while attending sunrise services at the park.

He said the bandshell could serve as a religious, cultural and political gathering spot.

In addition to its utilization for religious services, "We'd certainly want to hold concerts there, perhaps on summer evenings and weekends, and political candidates could present their platforms from there as well," Carson said.

Primarily, though, the structure "would be an asset to the community and a tribute to our veterans," Carson said.

Years back, according to Ned Yancey, the park's original bandshell had to be dismantled after a storm blew a boat from the lake into it.

The city has now been without a Memorial Park bandshell for nearly 26 years and Carson says it's high time the situation was amended.

He also said the project would be virtually cost free if local merchants agreed to donate concrete, wood and paint, and area vocational school students volunteered to build the structure. He also came up with the suggestion that city engineers might be enlisted to draw up specifications for the bandshell's design.

Commissioner Bob Thomas said he stands behind the project 100 percent. "It's a fine idea," Thomas said. "It would represent a part of our history and add to our cultural activities."

Commissioner Milton Smith also termed the proposal "a good idea" and said he supported city staff's assistance in mapping out the project's logistics.

Civic Center Free Concert

The Florida Symphony Youth Orchestra, directed by Joseph Wise, will present a concert at the Sanford Civic Center April 27 at 4 p.m. sponsored by a grant from the Seminole County School Board.

The program will feature Richard Holtzclaw narrating Peter and the Wolf by Prokofiev. Other selections will include E.T. by John Williams and Light Cavalry by Von Suppe.

Free tickets are available from elementary schools including Goldboro, Hamilton, Idylwild, Midway, Pinecrest, and Wilson.

The orchestra members are from Seminole, Orange, and neighboring counties, according to Gloria Orseck. She said all elementary students and their families are encouraged to attend. Further information can be obtained from Ms. Orseck at 322-8823.

Seeks School Symbol

Seminole County schools spokesman Craig Orsino and assistant superintendent Marion Giannini review entries for the School Board of Seminole County logo contest. 32 entries have been judged, and the new logo is expected to be selected by the school board later this month. The old logo is a standard school crosswalk traffic sign.

GNP Grows 3.2 Percent In First Quarter 1986

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The real gross national product grew at a healthy annual rate of 3.2 percent in the first quarter of 1986 as an improving trade balance, low interest rates and low inflation combined to stimulate the economy, the Commerce Department said Thursday.

The preliminary GNP estimate falls squarely in the middle of government and private forecasts of 2.5 percent to 4 percent growth. It reflects the swiftest pace of economic growth since the first quarter of 1985 and a quick rebound from the dismal 0.7 percent gain during the final quarter of last year.

The real GNP grew $28.4 billion to $3.62 trillion last quarter, according to the department's Bureau of Economic Analysis. The estimate is based on incomplete data and will be revised twice, in May and June.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the figures indicate Americans "are enjoying an expanding economy," but he added: "If we wish to allow the American people a chance to keep this economy growing in the foreseeable future, the Congress needs to stop making gestures toward responsible fiscal stewardship and replace them with deeds," an apparent reference to Congress's failure to reach a consensus on the 1987 fiscal budget.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said in a statement that "prospects are good that we can achieve 4 percent real growth over the four quarters of 1986."

"The basis for stronger growth largely centers on the beneficial effects of the declines in interest rates, inflation and the dollar," Baldrige said.

He said $4.1 billion growth in residential investment reflected "a brisk pace of housing starts and home sales." The annual rate of housing starts for the first quarter of 1986 was close to 2 million homes, the highest in eight years.

The upsurge was fueled by falling mortgage interest rates. Low interest rates in tandem with low inflation tend to stimulate other kinds of spending, too.

Personal consumption gained $24.4 billion, led by a $16 billion advance in the consumption of non-durable goods including food, clothing and gasoline.

Purchases of durable goods, including autos, declined by $1.3 billion while services consumption grew by $9.6 billion.

Net exports of goods and services, buoyed by a sharp decline in the value of the dollar, were up $1.8 billion, the first gain in a year.

Exports for the quarter, extended for 12 months, would come to an estimated $389.4 billion against imports of $495.4 billion. The shortfall of $126 billion was $14.8 billion lower than the previous quarter.

Business inventories rose $32.3 billion but were offset by a $29.9 billion decline in government purchases.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Heavy rain drenched the East Coast for the third straight day Thursday, causing flooding and at least one death in New Jersey, and thunderstorms hurled hailstones at South Dakota and Oklahoma. Wyoming ranchers hurried to protect young livestock from cold and up to 4 inches of heavy, wet snow that fell in the central part of the state. Snow also fell in the mountains of West Virginia. The same storm dumped rain on Tennessee, Kentucky, the Virginias, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and southern New York State. "It's been a real slow moving storm. It's been lingering in the region for about three days," said Scott Taney, weather service meteorologist. "It's feeding on moisture from the Atlantic and dumping quite a bit of rain on the area." A different system spread showers and thunderstorms from Texas and Oklahoma to Iowa and South Dakota Thursday afternoon. Hailstones a half inch in diameter were reported at McAlester, Okla. Hail the size of peas was reported at Rapid City, S.D. More than 5 inches of rain drenched Trenton, N.J., since early Wednesday, flooding low-lying areas throughout the state, authorities said. "People are spending their time in the castles, not on the boardwalk," said Jay Krieger, chief of the National Weather Service station at the Atlantic City Airport. In central New Jersey, the Raritan River and its tributary, the Millstone, overflowed their banks Thursday, inundating thousands of acres. But police said the flooding was not near inhabited areas and caused minor street flooding. The weather service posted a flash flood warning for the Passaic River basin in northern

New Jersey. At least one death was blamed on the rain. Raymond Milligan II, 17, of Vernon Township, died when a pickup truck he was driving apparently hydroplaned and struck a utility pole.

Robbers Hit Two Convenience Stores

Clerks at two Seminole County convenience stores reported Wednesday evening robberies to Seminole County sheriff's deputies.

At about 8:30 p.m. two men asked for change at the Circle K, 5009 Howell Branch Road, Winter Park. When the clerk opened the cash register the clerk was told to lie on the floor and the robbers took about $70 from the register and fled on foot toward Aloma Avenue, a sheriff's report said.

In the other incident, at about 10:25 p.m. one of two men who had entered Cumberland Farms on Oxford Road in Fern Park, gathered items to buy and another man went to the restroom. The "shopper" demanded that the clerk lie on the floor and he went to the register and opened it after asking how it opened. He took money from the register and then ordered the clerk to open the safe. More money was taken from the safe and the bandits fled, a sheriff's report said.

BURGLARY ARREST
Sanford police reported charging a 22-year-old man with burglary and dealing in stolen property.

Police allege the suspect took the purse of Vera Mathers from her home on March 18.

Sherman Leon Ware of 116 Anderson Ave., Sanford, was arrested at the Seminole County jail at 12:38 p.m. Wednesday. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

LUGGAGE LIFT
A man who reportedly stole $200 worth of luggage from an Oviedo home has been charged with grand theft.

The luggage was stolen from 240 Daisy Ave. and Seminole County sheriff's deputies arrested a suspect at the Seminole County jail, where he was being held in connection with an unrelated Oviedo police case.

Carlos William Teal of Denise St., Oviedo, was arrested at 9:15 a.m. Bond on the latest charges was set at $1,000 and Teal remained in jail.

POT SMELL
A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who thought he smelled marijuana burning inside a car parked at Riverbend Park in Longwood at about 4 p.m.

Wednesday reported arresting an 18-year-old Longwood man who was in that car.

Marijuana and drug paraphernalia was reportedly found in the possession of James Paul Clemens of 314 Sweetwater Blvd. N. He has been released on $500 bond to appear in court April 30.

CHURCH CHECK
A 29-year-old Leesburg man who presented a $500 check drawn on the account of the Holy Cross Church to be cashed at the Atlantic Bank, 1801 S. French Ave., Sanford, has been charged with uttering a forgery.

Sanford police reported that church officials were called and they reported the check had been stolen.

Michael Edward Meers was arrested at the bank at 4 p.m. Wednesday. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

FAKE POT ARREST
A 22-year-old Altamonte Springs man, who allegedly sold two bags of fake marijuana to City/County Investigation Bureau agents at about 9 p.m. Thursday on Marker Street near Altamonte Springs, has been charged with sale of a counterfeit controlled substance.

The agents reported paying $20 for the bogus pot and then the suspect was arrested.

James Adkins of 202 Morse St., was being held without bond.

SLEEPER CHARGE
A man questioned after a Seminole County sheriff's deputy found him sleeping in a car at Lake Jesup Park off S. Sanford Avenue has been charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana.

The deputy reported the man gave permission for a search of his vehicle and the pot was found.

Kenneth Linton Thistlewood, 19, of 1021 New Jersey Ave. Altamonte Springs, was arrested at about 11 p.m. Wednesday and released on $500 bond to appear in court April 30.

BICYCLING BANDITS
An 18-year-old Eatonville man and a 17-year-old boy have been charged by Seminole County sheriff's deputies with burglary to an occupied dwelling.

ties to his home after he chased two suspects from his garage at about 9:40 p.m. Tuesday.

The deputy was told that the pair had fled on bicycles and the deputy spotted two bicycles that had been left in a wooded area off Seminole Street. He watched the bicycles until two suspects returned to get them at about 10:20 p.m.

The suspect were reportedly identified by Ross and were arrested at about 10:28 p.m. Wednesday. Johnny Ross, the 18-year-old, was being held in lieu of $2,000 bond. The juvenile was turned over to juvenile authorities.

AUTO THEFT ARREST
A man found sleeping inside a stolen car parked at the Westside Recreation Center in Sanford at about 1:20 a.m. Thursday has been charged by Sanford police with auto theft.

Rodney Armstrong, 20, of 1320 Williams Ave. Sanford, was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

MYSTERIOUS VISITS

The latest in three weeks of unexplained incidents at the #2 808 Palmetto Avenue residence of Jim Carpenter, 27, occurred Tuesday, and resulted in the first reported theft during the unusual victimization, a Sanford police report said.

Carpenter said he arrived home from work on Tuesday, at 6 p.m., and discovered his Atlantic Bank automatic teller card had been taken from a cabinet in the residence's dining room.

During the three weeks prior to this incident, Carpenter said during different occasions he has returned home to find the home's back door open, screen windows cut and cigarette butts on the floor and in ashtrays, but nothing taken.

SPEEDER NABBED FOR POT
A Maitland man, stopped by Lake Mary police for speeding Wednesday, was arrested after an officer found suspected marijuana in his car, according to a police report.

The man was stopped after being clocked on radar as driving 49 m.p.h. in a 35 m.p.h. zone near the intersection of Country Club Road and Broadmore Street, the report said. A check of his driving record showed his license had been suspended eight times, according to the report.

A search of the car found what was determined to be marijuana and drug paraphernalia, the report said.

Arrested and charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana, driving under a suspended license, and unlawful speed was Wayne F. Sawyer, 22, 316 Lake Avenue, Maitland.

He was being held in Seminole County jail in lieu of $500 bond Thursday morning.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Two stereos worth $450 each were stolen from two vehicles at the home of Ronald N. Yates, 44, of 1480 Mullet Lake Park Road, Geneva, between April 12 and Wednesday.

A $400 electric range and a $1,000 air compressor were stolen from a building site at 5530 Lake Burkett Lane, Oviedo.

between April 10 and Tuesday, according to a report Rick Servis, 31, of S. Eastern Homes of Winter Park, filed with sheriff's deputies.

Steve C. Revis, 36, project manager of the Sanford Place Subdivision reported to sheriff's deputies that about $1,000 worth of plants were stolen from that area Tuesday or Wednesday.

A wallet containing $140 was stolen from a purse in the bedroom of the 1000 Oak Avenue home of Linda Ross between 11 p.m. Monday and 11 p.m. Tuesday, a Sanford police report said. A point of entry could not be determined due to the home's front and back doors being unlocked when the incident was discovered, the report said.

Court Sentencings

A Longwood man serving 15 years probation on a charge of child molesting has pleaded guilty in a separate incident to attempted lewd act in the presence of a child. It was one of three cases heard recently.

J.D. Syples Jr., 40, could receive up to 9 years when sentenced May 21 by Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor.

Syples was sentenced to 5 years in prison and 15 years probation in 1976 in a molestation case, according to court records which indicate he served 2 years in prison where he received counseling.

In the latest incident, a 15-year-old boy told his grandmother that a man was performing a sexual act in front of a 15-year-old girl. The incident occurred in December. The grandmother took a look but at the time the man was covered so she did not see what the boy reported. Shortly thereafter, the boy said he saw the same thing again. This time the grandmother clearly saw what was happening and confronted the man.

Later two girls identified the same man to investigators as the man who walked up behind them individually and "touched." One of the girls turned around and slapped him. When the other one turned around, he told her not to tell anyone, according to the sheriff's report.

The girls said they told their parents of the incident but said the parents were too drunk to acknowledge what happened.

In other court action:

—David Livingston Sutherland, 48, charged with rape has pleaded guilty to lesser charges of battery and trespass in an occupied structure. He could receive up to a year in the county jail when sentenced May 21 by McGregor. The woman told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that the rapist entered her home through an unlocked door, forced her into her bedroom, and raped her. She reportedly picked the suspect out of a photo lineup. Assistant State Attorney Tom Hastings said he agreed to let the man plea to the lesser charges because the victim could not recall the attack well and there was not physical evidence of an attack. Assistant State Attorney Tom Hastings said he agreed to negotiate because "I wanted him to get something."

—Warren Edward Sayfoot, 27, of 665 Jean Dr., Deltona, arrested in November on charges of possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana and delivery of marijuana, pleaded no contest to possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana. He can receive up to a year in the county jail. According to court records, he was arrested after agents deputies thought he conducted a drug deal at Longwood and Lake Mary roads. After stopping the car, the deputies reported finding two bags of marijuana in Sayfoot's left stocking and one bag in his right stocking. And bag of marijuana was found under the passenger's seat.

Officer Sentenced To Jail

A former county probation officer has been sentenced to 18 months in prison for stealing money from his probationers.

Orestes Avilla Cobb, 33, of 207 Randlewood Dr., was sentenced Wednesday by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler who told Cobb he "violated the public trust."

Cobb, who pleaded guilty to grand theft last month, was charged with stealing money while he worked last year for Seminole County's probation department. The department handles DUI and misdemeanor probationers. In exchange for the plea, another grand theft charge was not prosecuted.

The theft to which Cobb pled, was uncovered during systematic review of Cobb's cases. Cobb resigned from his job in August after being accused of pilfering cash. That case was not brought to the attention of police on the advice of a county judge. When discrepancies were found in October, however, the Sanford police were notified and charges filed.

While the usual sentence in cases similar to Cobb's is probation, Leffler sentenced him to 18 months because the theft occurred while Cobb was a probation officer, Leffler said.

Cobb has paid about $900 in restitution. He was making about $18,500 a year at the time of the thefts, said in court he took the cash because of financial problems.

Time To Beef Up Airport Security

Since airliners obviously continue to be a prime target of terrorists, more extreme measures must be taken to screen passengers and luggage. As a result of the April 2 bomb explosion aboard a TWA jetliner over Greece, the United States is expected to test the effectiveness of the new Foreign Airport Security Act.

This anti-terrorist legislation, passed by Congress last year, requires the government to review security at foreign airports. The Transportation Department is to warn travelers about airports where security is lax, and could revoke or limit the rights of airliners using certain airports to land in the United States.

The latest airliner explosion and the new airport security law was discussed on April 17 during a joint meeting of three subcommittees of the House of Representatives, according to House investigators.

"Rome is always a high security threat airport," said an investigator for the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The TWA jet which landed in Athens after an on-board explosion which killed four passengers, had taken off from Rome.

This is not to say that authorities in Rome are responsible for allowing an explosive device to be slipped aboard TWA Flight 840.

All airports, however, should immediately be put on notice that Washington will be taking a hard look at their security systems.

Mid-air terrorism can be virtually eliminated if security measures are made stringent enough. Passengers may be inconvenienced by longer waits, but any inconvenience is worth restoring safety to the skies.

A woman attempting to take explosives into the Heathrow Airport near London was caught yesterday. The apparent target was an El Al jetliner. Security at the British airport had been increased due to threats against Great Britain arising out of that ally's assistance in the Libyan air raid.

Security at U.S. and many other foreign airports has also been heightened as a result of the bombing of Libya earlier this week. The State Department has recommended that American citizens planning air trips to Europe make certain they are comfortable with the security in those countries prior to departure. Citizens can, and should also check with the State Department regarding travel warnings.

Reaffirm Reforms

We have marked the 75th anniversary of the Triangle Shirtwaist Co. fire, in which 146 garment workers died — most of them young women and girls, and most of them recent Italian and Jewish immigrants.

Ironically, the Triangle Shirtwaist factory in New York City wasn't even among the worst of the sweatshops of that era. But it had only two tight, winding staircases down which 500 workers tried to escape; it had narrow aisles, floors covered with flammable materials and doors that couldn't be opened from inside. And there was nothing illegal about that. Even the Fire Department had ladders that reached only to the sixth floor and were useless when fire broke out on the eighth and spread within minutes to the ninth and 10th. It was an era in which government didn't consider industrial safety — or, for that matter, the welfare of workers — to be among its responsibilities.

The Triangle Shirtwaist fire did much to change that. A generation of reformers was marked by the horror of those deaths and of the grueling life those young immigrants had lived.

What's been achieved since that terrible fire in 1911 is a phenomenal panoply of legal protections — and underlying them all, the widespread acceptance of the public's responsibility to secure for the powerless those conditions of basic decency that they can't secure for themselves. But it is a responsibility that hasn't yet been fully met. The anniversary of the Triangle Shirtwaist fire is a good time to reaffirm it.

Reagan Thinks White House Is Bug House

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I've found the White House is the leakiest place I know," says President Reagan, who has joked that there are "bugs" in the chandeliers in the Cabinet Room.

The president's surprise at the number of so-called secrets that find their way into the press is par for the course. Most of his predecessors had the same complaint.

Reagan said that the recent planned naval exercise in the Gulf of Sidra was so secret that "I didn't even tell my press secretary."

When White House chief of staff Donald Regan had a meeting of the key domestic advisers in Santa Barbara — some of them present and some on the telephone in Washington — he cautioned that not a word should be revealed.

He picked up The New York Times the next day to learn about the session and his own caveat against revealing that such a meeting had been conducted.

Apparently no harm was done. But Regan was most unhappy that the word got out.

Reagan, appearing before a session of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, was taken aback when an editor said:

"I think the American people overwhelmingly regard you as a nice guy. Yet you use language unusually harsh (against critics) in your sixth year in office. Why do you indulge in such attacks?"

Reagan responded: "I always thought I was defending myself. I don't think I've been all that harsh."

Then the president went on to say, "I go along with Thomas Jefferson. I believe in a free press."

The president has made cracks against the press, calling them "SOBs" on a microphone he did not know was open. But reporters who cover the White House know that every president has at times been very unhappy with the press.

The president has been having "live" warm-ups before his news conferences.

Reporters find there is usually an event on his news conference day about which he is questioned. The run-through gives the president a chance to get the feel of the questions that will be coming at him later in the day.

He also studies briefing books the size of telephone books for a few days before the news conference, and he rehearses in the White House theater in the afternoon with his aides playing the part of reporters.

Those sessions are usually very lively with Reagan's wit predominating as he answers questions probably the way he would really like to.

Sometimes the aides think he is only teasing but he does use quips he tried out on them. Most of the time, however, his answers are tempered for the occasion and a live television audience of millions.

Speaking of secrets in the White House, it's no longer a secret that the Reagans' dog, Rex, takes his "walk" in the Rose Garden. His trainer leads him down the circular driveway and he waters the hedges along the Rose Garden.

Public Power Grabbing

Ever since the New Deal era, investor-owned public utilities have faced an uphill struggle. The private and public power sectors have operated on the basis of different standards of accountability.

Investor-owned utilities have operated under very strict terms of accountability in meeting their legal obligations while at the same time increasing their flexibility in the financial area. They have had to protect the rate payers from risks and insure that the returns from investors accrue to risk-bearing stockholders.

The public power agencies have operated in a very different environment, namely an environment of legislative privilege. They have been allowed to borrow money at subsidized rates.

John J. Gish, a former official of the Grace Commission, has cited the fact that rates charged by the Power Marketing Administrations are in part based on subsidized borrowing from the federal government. He has noted that "while the government was paying double-digit interest rates on its borrowings, it was receiving 3 percent to 4 percent interest on its $13 billion in outstanding loans to the PMAs."

Public power agencies also have operated without the same degree of scrutiny. Witness the terrible mess in the Tennessee Valley Authority. Its entire nuclear program is shut down because of faulty management and construction procedures. TVA is having to spend $550,000 a day to buy replacement power.

The bias in favor of "public" power also is reflected in a situation prevailing in the West. Pacific Gas and Electric Co., which is headquartered in California, has the most extensive system of investor-owned hydroelectric plants in the United States. This system, the company charges, "is being threatened by government-owned utilities which are attempting to take over these plants."

This is what's happening: PG&E's hydro plants operate under licenses from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. They produce some of the lowest cost power in the company's system. The licenses for these plants are expiring, however, and must be renewed.

Government-owned utilities are asserting that the Federal Power Act of 1920 gives them a "preference" to take over these plants as they come up for renewal.

Plastic Guns Slip Through German Airport

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — We stirred up a storm when we revealed that an Austrian manufacturer is producing plastic pistols, which can be smuggled undetected through airport security.

We also disclosed that Libyan dictator Moammar Khadafi was dickering to buy 100 to 300 of the Glock 17 pistols on the black market. These handguns represent an obvious threat to airline passengers, because they are far easier than other weapons to slip by airport metal-detection devices.

The Austrian inventor/manufacturer, Gaston Glock, heatedly denied this, insisting that tests by Austrian security experts showed that "both scanners and detectors can identify the Glock 17." As we reported, however, tests by a Pentagon official at Washington National Airport and by Rep. Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., proved how easy it is for a disassembled Glock 17 to get past security inspections.

Now there's an equally alarming report from West Germany:

U.S. Ambassador Richard Burt in Bonn sent a cable March 27 to Secretary of State George Shultz that included an informal translation of an internal report on the Glock 17 by the West German interior ministry.

"It has been brought to my attention from different sides," a high-level official in the ministry began, "that a new Austrian 9mm pistol, the 'Glock 17,' is being offered on the market. This weapon consists predominantly of plastic parts, but is fully functional. I have initiated a thorough investigation. As a first information, I am submitting the following report from the Interior Ministry Stuttgart:

"An apparently new Austrian 9mm pistol, the Glock 17, was subjected to test for detectability in airport X-ray apparatus — Hi-Scan 6040, Hi-Scan 6050, GPA 74 — at Stuttgart Airport. The weapon is of plastic material except for the barrel and the magazine spring. The tests showed that the completely assembled weapon is extremely hard to recognize on the X-ray screen. Disassembled, the weapon was X-rayed together with a camera in a camera bag. In this condition only the barrel could be detected as a thick black line. The plastic parts could not be detected."

"A further test at Munich Airport produced the same findings. Additional tests, the results of which I will submit, are presently underway."

"Without anticipating the final assessment, the experiences until now with regard to detectability of the weapon during airline passenger checks again stress the need of strict compliance with rules regarding the quota for manual re-inspections." This was apparently a reference to spot-checking of luggage contents by security officers.

ROBERT WALTERS

80 Years Of Sports Scandals

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Few contemporary issues have produced as much hand-wringing and as little remedial action as the problem of increased professionalization of college athletics.

A public clamor to "clean up" college sports has been heard throughout this century. Indeed, the National Collegiate Athletic Association was formed in 1906 in response to protests about inadequate rules governing college football and a threat from President Theodore Roosevelt to ban the sport.

The 1920s produced ominous references to "the deepest shadow that darkens American college and school athletics" — payments to football players for makework jobs and other forms of "commercialization."

A nationwide controversy erupted in 1925, when the fledgling National Football League allowed University of Illinois running back Harold E. "Red" Grange to be signed to a professional contract at the end of his junior year.

A 1929 Carnegie Foundation report proclaimed that "college sports have developed from games played by boys for pleasure into systematic professionalized athletic contests." In the late 1940s and early 1950s, dozens of basketball players at colleges in the New York City area were accused of accepting bribes and "fixing" games.

In 1980, it was disclosed that the University of New Mexico had admitted a student athlete on the basis of a counterfeit transcript from a community college. In 1982, a 23-year-old basketball star left Creighton University in Nebraska without a degree, then enrolled in the seventh grade of a Chicago preparatory school so he could learn to read and write.

During the past several years, athletic scandals have rocked universities across the South — in Louisiana, Texas and, most recently, Georgia.

For decades, overzealous alumni and self-proclaimed "boosters" at colleges throughout the country have been recruiting athletes by offering them money, sports cars, sexual favors and other inducements.

The time has come to stop feigning shock at each new scandal and instead to seriously consider fundamental reform of a system that has produced more than its share of scandal.

The Glock maker's protestations of detectability were also refuted recently in Washington, when a Russian-born man of undetermined motivation tried to smuggle a Glock 17 aboard a domestic airliner. He would have succeeded if the Glock 17 had been the only weapon he was trying to take aboard.

As it was, the airport X-ray machine identified a standard, metal handgun inside the man's suitcase. When inspectors opened the bag, they found the metal gun they were expecting — plus a fully loaded Glock 17 and 150 rounds of ammunition that had escaped identification by the X-ray machine.

The man told police he was taking the small arsenal to a friend in Colorado who was planning a trip overseas. Whatever his intentions, the incident demonstrated yet again the danger posed by the Glock 17.

Footnote: Rep. Biaggi is pushing a bill through Congress that would outlaw any pistol that is undetectable by standard scanning equipment.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Winter Book On 1988

On the understanding that anything said on the subject today is necessarily pure speculation, it is not too early to be mulling over the possibilities for the 1988 Republican presidential and vice presidential nominations.

Barring some quite unlikely economic disaster between now and Election Day, the Republican nominees, whoever they are, will be running proudly on Ronald Reagan's record and pledging four more years of the same. Whatever the views of the various leading Republicans were in 1980, they're all Reaganites now.

That's one reason why Vice President George Bush is the current front-runner for the presidential nomination: He has been a key player in the Reagan administration, and a thoroughly loyal one to boot. But there are other Republicans with presidential aspirations who are at least as well identified as Bush with the conservative firestorm that twice swept Mr. Reagan into the White House. They are going to challenge Bush's right to the title of Keeper of the Flame, and it is altogether possible that they may be able to prevent him from wrapping up a majority of the delegates before the convention begins. If so, we may see the first genuine "brokered convention" of either major party in many years.

Who, in that event, aside from Bush, may be the figures in contention for the presidential (and implicitly the vice presidential) nomination? Jack Kemp certainly — his conservative credentials are impeccable, and will guarantee him many friends. Jeane Kirkpatrick, undoubtedly, she, too, inspires enthusiasm in many a conservative breast, and the fact that she's a woman is a major plus these days. Bob Dole is far too able and clever a politician to be excluded from the list — and that may apply to Howard Baker, too, though he has all but disappeared from view since leaving the Senate, and his record there was not all that notably conservative.

Another name that is cropping up more frequently these days is Paul Laxalt, Mr. Reagan's closest friend in the Senate, who is retiring this year and first has a major libel suit to win back home in Nevada, but who may well want to stage a comeback (on a higher level, naturally) in 1988. Another Western senator who is said to be considering the race is Bill Armstrong of Colorado. And Pat Robertson, the TV evangelist, is reported preparing to toss his hat into the ring with the important financial backing of beer baron Joe Coors.

Then there is an impressive group of Republican governors who have all demonstrated their prowess at the voting booth: Thomas Kean of New Jersey, Richard Thornburgh of Pennsylvania, George Deukmejian of California and — possibly — James Thompson of Illinois (though the latter's devotion to conservative principle has been questioned). Add for good measure the ambitious former Governor Pierre du Pont of Delaware and Donald Rumsfeld, the Illinois business executive who held various high posts in the Nixon and Ford administrations.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Police Suspect Arab Boyfriend Hid Bomb In Woman's Luggage

LONDON — A woman totting a bomb in her carry-on luggage was arrested Thursday as she was about to board an El Al jetliner at Heathrow Airport.

Police suspect the woman's Arab boyfriend gave her the luggage to take on the plane. The bomb was armed and would have exploded after the jetliner was in the air, a spokesman for Scotland Yard said. He said the bomb probably would have destroyed the Boeing 747 jumbo jet and the 400 passengers and crew.

The woman, an Irish citizen whose name and age were not released, was traveling to Israel for a vacation. She was taken to the airport by her boyfriend Nezar Hindawi, 35, to board a 9:50 a.m. flight to Tel Aviv. The flight began in New York.

The British news agency, Press Association, said the woman was 32 and pregnant. The bomb was set to go off at 1 p.m. when the plane was half-way to Israel. Although the bomb was packed in her luggage, the spokesman said, "We believe at the present time that she intended to board the aircraft in all innocence, not knowing what was in the hold-all."

The bomb was found 35 minutes before takeoff during a routine security check by El Al security personnel.

The tactic of using unsuspecting European or South American woman to carry bombs on to planes was tried more than 10 years ago by Arab terrorists. A spokesman for El Al said the airline's security policy requires that all passengers be questioned about bags or packages they plan to carry on.

Sudan's U.S. Ambassador Recalled

KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI) Sudan recalled its ambassador to the United States Thursday as a protest for the U.S. bombing of Libya and in a related move trade unions in Sudan urged workers not to service American ships and planes.

The United States, because of concerns about Libyan-directed violence, is planning to evacuate dependents of embassy officials this week. The State Department has warned American travelers to avoid Khartoum.

Thursday, up to 18,000 people staged an anti-American demonstration in that city denouncing the U.S. bombing. The demonstration came two days after an American embassy communications officer was shot in the head and seriously wounded.

The official SUNA news agency said Foreign Minister Ibrahim Taha Ayoub announced Thursday that the ambassador in Washington D.C. was told to return to Khartoum for consultations after a meeting to the Council of Ministers Wednesday.

Ayoub told SUNA that Sudan — once a strong U.S. ally — supported the Libyan call for a meeting of the Arab League to discuss the attack on Libya.

OPEC Ministers In Dischord

GENEVA — OPEC oil ministers broke off talks in their third day Thursday unable to reach an agreement on ways to end what they see as an oil price slump.

The disagreement is a replay of the cartel's unsuccessful meeting last month when the ministers were stymied on whether or how to reimpose controls on oil production.

The uncontrolled oil output has caused a glut in the world's supply of oil and lower prices. Other factors contributing to the glut include reduced consumption and development of new fields in Mexico, Alaska and North Sea.

The division is so sharp between the cartel's 13 members that they could not agree on the expected oil demand this summer.

Queen To Attend Race And Church

VERSAILLES, Ky. (UPI) — The pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church said he has been informed that Queen Elizabeth will attend services at his church next month.

The Rev. J. Carl Belden said he received a letter Wednesday from Windsor Castle informing him of the visit May 25 to this town of 6,500 about 10 miles west of Lexington.

"I consider this is a singular honor that comes once in a lifetime," said Belden. "It is hard to put into words how delighted I am personally and also for the congregation of St. John's."

The queen will be making her second visit to Kentucky as the guests of horseman Will Farish of Lane's End Farm. She is to visit from May 22-26 and will again be visiting broodmares from the royal stable that are being serviced by Kentucky thoroughbred sires.

As during her October 1984 visit, the queen will not be accompanied by Prince Phillip.

Other than members of the queen's party, only communicants in good standing at St. John's will be invited to attend the service, by instruction from the British secret service and Scotland Yard, Belden said.

As part of security procedures, St. John's will provide a person at each entrance with a security representative to vouch for each person entering the church, he said.

Senate Panel Approves Tax Study To Repeal Billion In Exemptions

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The powerful Senate Rules committee has voted to push for a special commission to recommend which of nearly $1 billion in sales tax exemptions should face repeal next year.

The panel would not touch exemptions for food and medical services, religious and charitable organizations and breaks for businesses that might move into Florida or expand their Florida operations.

But the interests that benefit from the rest of the 130 or so exemptions would be forced to justify their tax breaks or lose them on July 1, 1987. Sen. Bob Crawford, D-Winter Haven, said the exemptions eat up two of every five cents that should be collected through the sales tax.

A floor vote on the measure (SB 49) is expected next Tuesday. If the full Senate affirms the vote, the upper chamber will face hard haggling with the House, where the leadership favors the sunset, or automatic repeal, of exemptions on professional services next year and all other exemptions the year after, barring a specific vote to save them.

Minority leader Dick Langley,

R-Clermont, was one of the senators who opposed the bill in committee Wednesday.

"It doesn't make sense or equity to me to tell Joe Lunchbucket when he gets sued that he has to pay a sales tax, or Battered Betty Housewife who goes to a lawyer that she has to pay a sales tax, but Momma Megabucks can go get a breast implant or a derriere lift and she doesn't get taxed," Langley said.

Here is a rundown on other legislative action Wednesday:

—The Senate Judiciary-Civil committee called Wednesday for a southern presidential primary in 1988. Sponsor Mattox Hair, D-Jacksonville, said the mass vote would help the South gang up on smaller northern states like New Hampshire, whose early primaries have given them influence beyond their voter strength in determining the fortunes of presidential contenders.

—The Senate Judiciary-Civil committee also voted 4-3 to kill a bill (SB 48) to make it easier for minor political parties to get on state ballots, but immediately changed its mind after members said they wanted to hear what Democratic and Republican party spokesmen and state elections officials had to say about the proposal.

—A House Natural Resources subcommittee heard testimony on a proposal (HB 825) to relax the state's power to order city sewage systems to stop the discharge of treated waste water if the discharges fail to meet water quality standards. A spokesman for the Florida League of Cities complained cities with breakneck growth rates cannot always afford to meet the standards. Charles Lee of the Florida Audubon society branded the proposal "the moral equivalent of telling people it's all right to go to the bathroom in the swimming pool."

—A House Regulated Industries and Licensing subcommittee adopted a bill (HB 434) that would ban bars and lounges from selling any drink stronger than "two for one." The bill would also eliminate any in-house contests that have free alcohol as the prize. The measure, which is intended to cut alcohol-related road deaths, would have no effect on private parties or special events, including private promotions at restaurants or hotels. The subcommittee temporarily postponed action on a bill to set a statewide last call at 2 a.m.

—The House Finance and Tax committee approved a 10-cent tax on petroleum products but promised the bill would not go before the full House without an Appropriations committee decision on how that tax should be assessed. The tax is part of a bill (HB289) designed to clean up gasoline spills from aged and deteriorating tanks. The tax would create a $50 million superfund to find and clean-up those tanks and spills. The tax would mean an at-the-pump increase of about one-quarter cent per gallon of gas. The Senate Finance and tax committee postponed action on the bill.

—The House Committee on Education K-12 approved a bill that would create up to 30 subject area councils on teacher certification by 1988. The councils would establish course requirements and recommend curriculum and evaluation guidelines for teachers seeking certificate renewal. They would also recommend measures to help teachers keep up to date in rapidly changing subjects such as chemistry and engineering.

The Hi-Ho Hipster Still Going Strong

Steve Allen: Genuine Renaissance Man

By Ken Franckling
UPI Feature Writer

BOSTON (UPI) — When Steve Allen lost his train of thought for a split-second, he told the folks at one of his rare standup comedy gigs: "My mind wanders — but don't worry, it's too weak to get very far."

Don't believe it. This entertainment pioneer's brain is rarely at rest, and tends to run at open throttle.

Steverino, the first host of "The Tonight Show" back in the early 1950s, is a man of so many talents he is often called the Renaissance Man of the entertainment business.

And with good reason. Allen has hosted and/or created more than 100 different TV shows over the past 36 years. He has five TV projects on the air, including the "Life's Most Embarrassing Moments" series of comedy specials for ABC.

This prolific tunesmith and jazz pianist has composed more than 4,000 songs. He writes at least two or three a week. Once, he won a $1,000 bet by writing 50 songs a day for seven straight days.

He has authored 28 books, and has a few more in the works. The latest, "How To Be Funny" is due out in October.

"According to my thesis, everybody has some degree of funniness. In some cases, it is almost invisible. In others, they keep you laughing all day long. We've all met funny people," Allen says.

It is comedy for which Allen is best known. He is a master of the ad lib, the fast and sassy punch line.

As he did this month at Nick's Comedy Stop in Boston, Allen builds his live shows around questions from the audience. "If you knew you only had seven days to live, what would you do?" one man asked.

"Every few minutes, something occurs to me. In everyone's life, things are occurring every conscious minute and even in some unconscious minutes. What's different about my case is that I trap a very high percentage of that stuff, whereas most of us just say 'that's interesting' and go have lunch."

—Steve Allen

"I'd drop dead in a week," Allen said. In an interview, Allen holds back the zinging one-liners that make his comedy routines so funny. His answers come just as fast, but they are complete, and tend toward the philosophical.

"Apparently, I have warped the minds of two or three emerging generations of young people who were exposed to my humor from the ages of say 18 to 25. The older I get the more I'm hearing from them," Allen says.

Allen, 64, had surgery last November for cancer of the colon, and underwent radiation therapy until January. "I'm living a normal life now and I feel better than I did before," he explains. "I lost 30 pounds and I'd like to keep it that way."

For him, "normal" means carrying one or more miniature tape recorders to capture the stream of thoughts that he turns into gag lines, songs, and books. When the material gets typed by his Los Angeles office staff, it runs to 25 or 30 pages a day.

"Every few minutes, something occurs to me. In everyone's life, things are occurring to you every conscious minute and even in some unconscious minutes," Allen said. "What's different about my case is that I trap a very high percentage of that stuff, whereas most of us just say 'that's interesting' and go have lunch."

Allen is as compulsive a reader as he is a writer.

"If I am in a situation where I can't get at a book, today's paper or something, I'll start reading the little thing they fold into a jar of Vicks, the back of Kellogg's All-Bran, whatever I can find. I just have to keep reading."

"I do everything at once. I'm not sure that's a great idea either, but that's part of the general compulsion. I like to read philosophy and history," he explains.

Allen, the son of a pair of vaudeville troupers, resisted the comedy circuit until three years ago, when he tried one club date in Atlanta and loved it. "I do it just for fun," he says. "It's obviously not a source of significant income."

He peered down into the first row of tables, and asked: "Are you in show business, lady?"

The woman said no. "Then get your foot off the stage," Allen told her, following the wisecrack with his familiar "heh-heh-heh" laugh.

Nothing Off-Center
Allen refuses to spice his humor with off-color lines.

"While there has always been a light spicy sprinkling of vulgarity, obscenity, pornography, blasphemy as a part of humor — street humor and performed humor — the exception has now overwhelmed the rule," Allen says. "The comedy of aggression and obscenity and vulgarity has become, I'm sorry to say, the dominant mode in comedy for many practitioners of the art. I deplore that."

"I do not, however, proceed to argue that the people who work very dirty are therefore not funny. Some of them are as funny now as you can get. That just seems to be the mode now. I don't think it's anything healthy for comedy or our society. It is, of course, part of the larger collapse of our society."

"Comedy is healthier in the statistical sense. In the 1960s, I pointed out there were only about 80 professionally funny people taking care of the whole comedy business for the nation. And the average person could not name more than about 23 of them," Allen says. "Now, the number is close to 1,000. They are professionals, earning their living now by making other people laugh, and some of them enjoy enormous success. In that sense, there is much more comedy being performed."

The classic comedy is thriving around the country, but Allen dislikes the fact that it can no longer be found on network prime-time television. The last such show, hosted by Carol Burnett, went off the air in 1979.

"The 1950s was truly a golden age of comedy. It didn't mean that everybody was doing comedy in that period was automatically magnificent, but there was a very high percentage of good stuff on the air. Almost all of the major comedians had their crack. They either had a weekly series or were often guests on other people's comedy or variety shows," Allen said.

Besides the ABC comedy specials, Allen's TV projects include a syndicated series called "The Start of Something Big," a PBS series about public education called "Inside Our Schools," and two shows on the Disney Channel — "Steve Allen's Music Room" and "Steve Allen's Comedy Room."

He and his wife of 32 years, actress Jayne Meadows, both appeared in the recent CBS mini-series version of "Alice in Wonderland" and Allen wrote all of the music — 19 songs — for the show.

In his comedy-cabaret gigs, Allen takes a turn at the piano, reminding the crowd of his musical talents. He tends to sing, and play, his own numbers.

They include "South Rampart Street Parade," the Hit Parade-topping "Picnic" theme from the William Holden-Kim Novak movie, the Grammy winner "Gravy Waltz," "Pretend You Don't See Her, My Heart," and his theme song, the 1963 tune "This Could Be the Start of Something Big," first performed by Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme.

Most Creative
Allen feels the most creative thing he has ever done was produce, write and host "Meeting of Minds," a series of 24 one-hour shows for PBS that were round-table discussions with important figures in history. He conceived of the show in the early 1950s. It got on the air in 1977 and ran for four seasons. The award-winning series is now being released on videotape.

"That was in a sense the only lastingly important thing I've done. The rest has been nice and profitable and popular but people don't remember much. But I think 1,000 years from now those videotapes will still be watched with profit," Allen says.

"People won't know who the tall guy with the glasses is, but they'll know who Aristotle is, who Francis Bacon is, Aquinas, Attila the Hun, Emily Dickinson."

"We debated nothing but significant issues — birth control, euthanasia, faith, war, peace, the hereafter, God, whatever. Each side presented its case. Nobody took a vote at the end of the show."

"Nobody held a hand over Aristotle to see if he got more applause than Emiliano Zapata. The whole point of the show was not to resolve these issues, but to give an illustration of a responsible method of conducting a dialogue."

More than once, Allen has been urged to run for political office.

"I have plans not to," he says. "I think we have enough comedians in Washington right now as it is."

On stage, Steverino reads an index card from someone who inquires: "What would you like to come back as in your next life?"

The answer was swift and sure. "I'd like to come back as fast as I can."

Errors Recharge Brantley's Pulse, Half Of SAC Title

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

If you would have checked the pulse of Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots at the end of five innings Thursday, you would have had a priest waiting in the wings, ready to administer last rites.

But, after eight innings, the Lady Patriots were still breathing. And it was Seminole High's Lady Seminoles that helped recharge the Brantley respirator.

Down 2-0 going into the top of the sixth, Lake Brantley scored a pair of unearned runs, then added another unearned run in the top of the eighth for a 3-2 victory in the Seminole Athletic Conference finale for both teams at Fort Mellon Field in Sanford.

The win enabled Lake Brantley to tie Lake Howell for the SAC championship. The Lady Patriots, 24-5 overall, finished 8-2 in the SAC. Lake Howell defeated Lyman on Thursday. The Lady Patriots are expected to be the number one seed in next week's 4A-9 District Tournament.

"We can't play this way in the district tournament and expect to win it," Brantley coach Renny Betris said. "We're going to have to go out and start our own fire instead of waiting for whoever we play to make mistakes. Seminole deserved to win this game today."

The Lady Seminoles ended the regular season with a 8-13 record overall and 4-6 in the SAC. The Lady Tribe is 7-9 in 4A games and is hoping that record will land them the fourth seed in the district tourney. The top four seeds open the tournament at home.

"Except for a few mistakes in the end, this was our best game by far," Seminole coach Lance Abney said. "The girls held on and stayed right with Brantley. We had a chance to win it, but it didn't go our way in the end."

For four innings Thursday, excellent defense by both teams and a lack of offense led to a scoreless tie. Seminole got on the board first though as it pushed across two runs in the bottom of the fifth, taking advantage of three Brantley errors.

Vikki Oliver blooped a single to left to lead off and both Showanda Walker and pinch-hitter Buffy Osborne reached on errors to load the bases. Oliver was forced at home on Lisa Hartman's grounder for the first out, but Sheri Peterson then drilled a single to right to score Walker and Osborne scored when the Brantley right fielder couldn't find the handle for a 2-0 Seminole lead. Brantley escaped further damage in the inning when Bobbie Osborne grounded back to the mound and Shelly Sanders popped to short.

Lake Brantley came back with two runs in the top of the sixth with a Seminole error, only its second of the game, opening the door for the tying runs.

Michelle Weston lined a single to center to lead off but Dawn Gebhart flew to third for the first out. Tracy Brandenburg then grounded to Walker at third, but her throw for the force at second was wild and sailed between both outfielders. Both Weston and Brandenburg scored on the play when the ball rolled all the way to the right field corner.

Neither team threatened in the seventh inning and the game went into extra frames. In the top of the eighth, Seminole got two quick outs but Gebhart then stroked a single down the left field line. The ball skipped past the Seminole left fielder and Gebhart went all the way around to score for a 3-2 Brantley lead.

The Lady 'Noles then went down in order the bottom of the eighth as the Lady Patriots escaped with the win.

Lady Lions Pick Up 4th Consecutive Win, 11-3

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

Oviedo's Lady Lions picked up their fourth win in a row and handed Lake Mary's Lady Rams their sixth consecutive defeat, 11-3, Thursday in Seminole Athletic Conference play at Red Bug Park.

Oviedo concluded the regular season with a 16-7 record overall and finished third in the SAC at 6-4. The Lady Lions will be seeded either number one or number two in the 3A-6 District Tournament next week.

Lake Mary now stands at 7-15 overall and finished fifth in the conference at 3-7. Lake Mary jumped out to the early lead Thursday with three runs in the top of the first. Suzanne Rummel drove in the first run with a base hit and Brooke Taylor's single drove in two more for a 3-0 lead.

Oviedo got one run back in the bottom of the first when Jessie Bradley singled and eventually scored on Mikki Eby's sacrifice fly. The Lady Lions then took control with six runs in the third.

Eby's single drove in pinch runner Darla Hall and Cathy Bergman to tie the score at 3-3 and, after Jodie Switzer walked, Caroline Chavis hit a long single to right to score two more runs. On the same play, a Lake Mary overthrow enabled two more runs to score as Oviedo took a 7-3 lead.

The Lady Lions added one run in the fourth on Keri Gaines' RBI single then tacked on three more in the fifth on a run-scoring single by Bradley and sacrifice flies by Bergman and Eby.

"We played much better than the last time against Lake Mary (4-3 loss)," Oviedo coach Jackie Miller said.

LADY HAWKS THUMPLYMAN

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks weren't about to let their hopes of a tie for the Seminole Athletic Conference title slip away as they pounded Lyman's Lady Greyhounds, 10-1, in the regular season finale Thursday at Lake Howell High.

Lake Howell and Brantley tied for the SAC title with 8-2 records. Lake Howell finished the regular season with four straight victories and a 16-9 overall record. The Lady Hawks are expected to be seeded third in the upcoming 4A-9 District Tournament.

Lyman, meanwhile, finished a disappointing regular season with a 5-14 record overall and 1-9 in the SAC cellar.

Gathering 4A-9 Seeds

Seeds are on the minds of most prep baseball coaches at this juncture of the season. The regular season ends for most teams today or Saturday and most coaches are trying to track down records to see where they will be positioned in next week's district tournament.

Lake Brantley coach Mike Smith has spent most of the week on the phone, trying to round up records for District Class 4A-9. The district pairings for Tuesday's opening round at DeLand's Conrad Park will be based on the regular season schedule.

After considerable legwork, here's what Smith came up with:

- 1. Lake Mary, 17-2, plays Oviedo today.
- 2. DeLand, 13-6, plays Pierson Taylor today.
- 3. Lyman, 12-7, plays Trinity Prep Saturday.
- 4. Daytona Beach Mainland, 11-9, has completed season.
- 5. Lake Howell, 10-10, has completed season.
- 6. Spruce Creek, 8-9, has three unfinished games which need to be ruled on but tournament committee. All three could result in losses.
- 7. Lake Brantley, 8-11, plays Seminole tonight. Saturday's game was cancelled by Apopka which could result in a win for Brantley, if Apopka has to forfeit. If not, it's a loss for the Pats.
- 8. Seminole, 8-11, plays Lake Brantley tonight.

Oviedo To Face 'Biggest Boy' — 'Noles To Invade Brantley

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

OVIDEO — Oviedo's Class 3A Lions, playing a 4A schedule for the first time in the newly formed Seminole Athletic Conference, have beaten every county baseball team this year except one.

Seminole, Lyman, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley are listed among Oviedo's 15 victories. Coach Howard Mable is fond of saying, "We just want to play with the big boys."

Well, today, the "biggest boy" comes to town. Lake Mary, sporting a 25-2 record, ranked No. 1 in the Class 4A state poll and No. 9 in USA Today's national poll, invades the Lions' Den for a 3:30 p.m. SAC encounter.

Although the game means nothing in the standings since Lake Mary has clinched the SAC with an 8-1 record, Mable said the Lions' pride is on the line and the boast of beating each of their 4A counterparts.

"It would sure be nice to beat them," Mable said Thursday afternoon following the Lions' 2-1 SAC victory over Lyman. "We didn't play very well the last time (13-6 loss)."

Oviedo, which plays its eighth game in 13 days today, improved to 15-9 with Thursday's win and 5-4 in the SAC. The Lions will send ace righthander Craig Duncan against Lake

Baseball

Mary's unbeaten (10-0) veteran Mike Schmitt.

In other action tonight, Seminole concludes its regular season with an 8 o'clock game with Lake Brantley. All children under 12 will be admitted free for the Pats' Senior Night.

With the cancellation of the Apopka-Brantley game, the county batting title will be decided among Brantley's Mark Coffey, Oviedo Mark Merchant and Lake Mary's Shane Letterio today.

Coffey is hitting .476. Merchant, who went 1 for 3 Thursday, is next at .472. Letterio, who has three hits each in his last four games, is third at .462. Letterio erased Rod Metz' team hit record of 41 Wednesday. He has 43.

Oviedo didn't have many hits (five) in Thursday's win but the Lions didn't need many since senior Jimmy Barrett handcuffed the Greyhounds on a single and a double. Barrett (5-0), who lowered his county-leading earned run average to 0.74, struck out nine and walked just one.

The curveballing righthander didn't have any trouble after the first inning as he retired 21 of the final 24 batters. During that stretch, he knocked down seven in succession and retired the final six in order to close out the 'Hounds.

"We just didn't hit the ball," Lyman coach Bob McCullough said. "The bottom line was no hitting."

Lyman's only run came in the first when shortstop John Banc socked a leadoff double and moved to third on an error by the left fielder. Byron Overstreet walked before freshman Chris Radcliff produced the RBI with a sacrifice fly to center field.

Oviedo bounced back with its two runs against hard-luck loser Overstreet in the bottom of the first. Overstreet allowed just five hits, struck out six and walked two.

After Merchant grounded out, Tony Bellflower slapped a hit over the shortstop's head and hustled it into a double. Frank Torres followed with another single to left center to tie the game.

Mike Sink followed with a base hit to center field which moved Torres to third. With Glenn Reichle at the plate, a passed ball by catcher John Burton allowed Torres to score for a 2-1 Oviedo lead.

"Barrett was mixing his pitches pretty well," Mable said.

In one other game Thursday, Bishop Moore tripped Lake Howell, 6-5. Lyman close its season Saturday night at home against Trinity Prep.

Dunn Spins 1-Hitter As Sunniland Demolishes Rinker, 17-0

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

David Dunn, a pitcher for last year's Sanford Little National League all-star team, tossed a one-hitter over three innings Thursday and was backed by an 11-hit attack as Sunniland trounced Rinker Materials, 17-0, in a game shortened by the slaughter rule at Fort Mellon Park.

The only hit off Dunn was a single by Ronnie McNeil in the top of the first. Dunn also struck out four and walked four.

Sunniland gave Dunn all he needed in the bottom of the first with an 11-run outburst. Dunn smacked a two-run double and RBI single in the inning while Tyrone Chibberton ripped an RBI triple and Ned June added a run-scoring double.

Sunniland added five more runs in the second with a two-run double off the bat of KoJack Hunt leading the way.

Quinn Byrd, Anton Stringer and Dunn had two hits each for Sunniland while Don Hunt, KoJack Hunt, Chibberton, June and Derrick Brinson had two each.

First Federal scored four runs in the top of the fifth and held off a late Poppa Jay's rally for a 13-10 victory in Thursday's first Little National League game at Fort Mellon Park.

The Feds, defending league champions, improved to 2-0 with the win while Poppa Jay's now stands at 1-1. First Federal had just five hits in the game but took advantage of 11 walks and a number of passed balls and wild pitches.

A two-run single by James Davis highlighted the four-run fifth for First Federal. Charlie Farmer smacked an RBI double and Mike Dillon added an RBI single in a five-run second inning that put Sunniland ahead to stay.

Poppa Jay's had just four hits in the game including a pair of doubles by Demetry Beamon and a triple by Maurice Fleher. Poppa Jay's came back within 13-10 in the bottom of the sixth but First Federal reliever Andrew Sipes got out of the inning to give the Feds the win.

RAILROADERS REPEAL D.A.V.

A 14-hit offensive attack lifted the Railroaders to a 18-5 rout of D.A.V. (Disabled American Veterans) in Sanford Little National League action Thursday at Westside Field.

It was the season opener for the Railroaders while D.A.V. fell to 0-2.

Leading the 14-hit attack for the 'Roaders was Lorne Jones who smacked two singles and a double and drove in three runs. Richard Washington and Jeremiah Sims each belted a pair of doubles and drove in two runs while Jimmy Galloway added a single and double.

Jones and Galloway also combined on the mound for a four-hitter. Bernard Sparrow had a double for one of D.A.V.'s four hits.

Price Shatters Record In 330 Hurdles

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
 Kelly Price set a school record while winning the 330 intermediate hurdles and added two other first-place finishes as the Oviedo Lady Lions placed fifth in the Orange Belt Conference Track & Field Championships Thursday at Bishop Moore High School in Orlando.

Price, a junior, zipped over the hurdles in 46.1 which shattered her mark set in the state meet last year when she placed fourth in 46.4.

"Kelly hit the last hurdle or she would have been even better," Oviedo coach Ken Kroog said. "She would have been done in the 45's easily." Price also won the long jump in 16-5 1/4 and captured the 110 hurdles in 15.88.

Bishop Moore won the OBC with 89 1/2 points. Osceola (72 1/2), Jones (62), St. Cloud (50 1/2), Oviedo (40) and Leesburg (24) were next in line.

The Lady Lions' other first place effort was recorded in the high jump by freshman Suzanne Hughes, who leaped 5-1. Hughes' jump tied the school record set in 1983 by Karen McConkey.

Hughes also placed second in the 440 with in 64.2. Hughes joined Price, Michelle Landeau and Sonja

Track/Field

Washington to place fourth in the 440 relay in 53.8. Washington also ran sixth in the 880 in 2:45.

Oviedo's boys, meanwhile, received first places finishes from sophomore Karl Wright in the 330 intermediate hurdles and James Walker in the triple jump en route to a fourth place team finish.

Osceola won the meet with 104 points. Jones (83 1/2), Leesburg (80 1/2), Oviedo (54), St. Cloud (49) and Bishop Moore (48) were next in line.

Kroog said the boys were hampered by an injury to Bubba Wright's leg. Wright, headed for Sterling (Kan.) College on a scholarship, pulled up lame and couldn't compete in the sprints.

"I knew we were going in thin so I tried to put Bubba in the sprints and Karl in the jumps," Kroog said. "Bubba tried to warm up but he just couldn't go. We hope he's ready for the district (next Thursday at Bishop Moore)."

Walker zoomed 40-5 1/4 in the triple jump for top honors. James Stewart placed fifth at 37-5. Stewart was also third in the high jump at 5-10.

Junior Robb Hughes was second in the discus with a heave of 132-5.

Sophomore Andy Palmer was fifth at 117-3. Joe Hoppe was third in the pole vault at 11-0.

In addition to winning the 330 hurdles in 40.8, Karl Wright took second in the 120 hurdles at 15.9 and fifth in the long jump at 19-3.

Oviedo's 440 relay team of Stewart, Pete Lingard, Willie Pauldo and Fred Hill finished fourth in 48.9. The mile medley foursome of Hill, Pauldo, Hughes and Bruce Thompson was third in 3:58.1. The mile relay quartet of Hughes, Stewart, Lingard and Karl Wright ran a 3:36 for second place.

The district meet begins with field events at 4:30 p.m. at Bishop Moore. The running finals will start at 6 p.m.

LA Squashes Spurs, 135-88

United Press International
 The Los Angeles Lakers opened defense of their NBA title last night in record fashion. Shooting a league playoff record .663 percent from the field and setting another playoff mark by holding San Antonio to 18 rebounds — none in the second quarter — the Lakers never gave visiting San Antonio a chance in rolling to a 135-88 thrashing of the Spurs.

In other best-of-five playoff openers, Boston blitzed Chicago 123-104, Houston whipped Sacramento 107-87 and Atlanta drubbed Detroit 140-122.

Playoff openers tonight include Washington at Philadelphia, New Jersey at Milwaukee, Portland at Denver, and Utah at Dallas.

Los Angeles shooting display topped the previous mark of .680 set by Milwaukee against Denver on Apr. 23, 1978. As good as they were shooting the ball, the Lakers were equally dominant under the boards, outrebounding San Antonio 47-18.

"We were committed to sending five guys to the paint," Maurice Lucas said. "We tried to block out their big front line and eliminate the second shot."

The Lakers shot 74 percent from the floor in the opening half to grab a 67-45 advantage. They connected on 17 of 20 shots in the second quarter and collected all 7 rebounds in the period to tee the victory well before intermission.

Los Angeles will host Game 2 of the best-of-five series Saturday at 12:30 p.m. PST in the Forum. Game 3 is Wednesday night at San Antonio.

Byron Scott's 24 points led the Laker barrage, followed by James Worthy with 18 points and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar with 16 in his record-tying 15th playoff appearance.

At Boston, Dennis Johnson scored 24 second-half points to lead the Celtics. Michael Jordan scored 30 of his team playoff-record 49 points in the first half to help the Bulls take a 61-59 lead. Johnson, who missed all six field-goal attempts in the first half, hit his first seven after the break, and connected on 11-of-18 shots from the floor in the second half.

Larry Bird led the Celtics with 30 points. Kevin McHale added 27 and Robert Parish chipped in with 23. Johnson finished with 26. Boston, which shot 60 percent from the floor, notched its 32nd consecutive home victory and is 41-1 at home. Orlando Woolridge scored 25 for the Bulls and Charles Oakley had 13. Game 2 of the best-of-five matchup is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at Boston.

Rockets 107, Kings 87
 At Houston, center Akem Oluajun scored 29 points, grabbed 15 rebounds and blocked 4 shots to fuel the Rockets, who never trailed. Oluajun and Lewis Lloyd, who scored 12 of his 14 points in the first half, sparked Houston to a 55-37 halftime lead.

Ralph Sampson helped the Rockets with 16 points and 13 rebounds. Robert Reid scored 14 points. Reggie Theus led Sacramento with 18 points. The second game of the best-of-five series is set for Saturday night in the Summit.

Hawks 140, Pistons 123
 At Atlanta, seven Hawks scored in double figures as Atlanta ran up its highest offensive total of the season. League-leading scorer Dominique Wilkins led the Hawks with 28 points, and 7-footers Kevin Willis and rookie Jon Koncak added 23 and 19, respectively.

Atlanta ran up 41 points in the second quarter to lead 71-61 at the half, and Detroit could get within only 9 thereafter. Center Bill Laimbeer led Detroit with 26 points followed by point guard Isaiah Thomas with 20 and forward Kelly Tripucka with 19.

Spud Webb, at 5-7 the league's smallest player, scored 18 points for the Hawks. The teams meet Saturday in Game 2 of the best-of-five series.

Tonight at Philadelphia, the Washington Bullets will be facing an injury-riddled 76er lineup. Moses Malone, who did not play in the last seven regular-season games, should miss at least the first two playoff games because of a fracture of the orbit bone around his right eye.

Ex-Yankees Propel New Clubs To Wins

United Press International
 Two ex-Yankees spent Thursday doing something their former club failed to do: win.

Phil Niekro, released in spring training, scattered three hits over seven innings for his 301st career victory, helping the Cleveland Indians snap New York's five-game winning streak with a 6-4 decision over the Yankees.

At Boston, Don Baylor, dispatched from New York in a trade for Mike Easler, hit his 11th career grand slam in the eighth inning to snap a 2-2 tie and help the Red Sox snap Kansas City's four-game winning streak with a 6-2 victory over the Royals.

Niekro, the 47-year-old knuckleballer waived March 28 by the Yankees and claimed April 3 by the Indians, evened his record at 1-1 before 5,602 at Cleveland Municipal Stadium. He struck out two and walked three to beat the rookie who replaced him in the New York rotation, Bob Tewksbury, 1-1.

"I wanted to beat the Yankees because I wanted to win," said Niekro. "I didn't want to beat them because I wanted to prove they were wrong in letting me go."

"Maybe I did show them something, though. I can still win games."

Niekro was relieved by Ernie Camacho after Bobby Meacham opened the eighth with a single. Camacho left in the ninth when the Yankees scored four runs on an RBI double by Mike Pagliarulo, a two-run double by Ron Hassey, and an RBI groundout by Rickey Henderson.

"Phil pitched well," New York Manager Lou Piniella said. "I think playing against the team that let you go gives you more incentive, even if you don't admit it."

Baylor came to the plate with two out and the bases loaded. The designated hitter's blast came on a 2-2 pitch from reliever Steve Farr.

"I've always felt in control in that situation," said Baylor, who raised his arms in jubilation after his grand slam that tied him for third place among active players.

"I knew the game was over when I hit it, and I wanted to give the new city and fans a salute."

Roger Clemens, 2-0, scattered five hits in going the distance. He struck out seven. Mark Gubicza, 0-2, took the loss.

Rangers 7, Brewers 5
 At Milwaukee, reliever Ray Searge, 0-1, uncorked the sixth wild pitch of the game to allow Pete O'Brien to score the tie-breaking run in a three-run ninth that lifted the Rangers. Greg Harris, 2-1, picked up the victory in relief.

Orioles 5-4, Blue Jays 5-7
 At Toronto, Cliff Johnson singled home Damaso Garcia from second with two out in the eighth, powering the Blue Jays in the nightcap. Tom Henke, 2-0, got the victory. In the opener, Cal Ripken smashed a two-run homer, and Lee Lacay went 3-for-5 and drove in a run. Mike Flanagan, 1-1, went 6-2-3 innings.

Tigers 10, White Sox 6
 At Chicago, Alan Trammell doubled home the go-ahead run in the eighth, and Larry Herndon followed with a two-run triple for the Tigers. Jack Morris, 2-1, was the winner and Willie Hernandez earned his third save, combining with Morris for 14 strikeouts. The loser was reliever Juan Agosto, 0-1.

Twins 4, Angels 1
 At California, Greg Gagne collected three hits in support of Frank Viola's five-hitter, leading the Twins. Viola, 2-1, allowed his only run in the sixth, when he walked George Hendrick to force home a run. He walked three and struck out eight. Kirk McCaskill, 1-1, took the loss.

Cubs 7, Expos 6
 At Montreal, Shawn Dunston led off the 13th with a solo homer to lift Chicago. Dunston's homer, the third of the game for the Cubs, came off reliever Jeff Reardon, 1-1, and made a winner of reliee Andres Galarraga hit his second homer of the season.

Giants 4, Padres 1
 At San Francisco, Jeff Leonard ripped a three-run double, and Mike Krukow threw a five-hitter, helping the Giants snap a three-game losing streak. It marked the first time in 11 games this year San Diego was not involved in a one-run contest.

Rose Will Remain Disabled

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Reds player-manager Pete Rose is expected to remain on the disabled list even though he is eligible to rejoin the active roster today.

Rose, who was on the 15-day supplemental disabled list because of a stomach disorder, will be examined by the team physician prior to tonight's game against Houston, at which time his status will be determined.

But the 45-year-old Rose indicated he is not yet ready to resume playing.

Dirty Duel: Petty, Ruttman To Square Off At Tampa

Some good news came our way courtesy of Bob Logan in Tampa. The popular Florida State Fairgrounds Speedway is back in full swing on Saturday nights.

Most of the Bay Area's top drivers show up at the super-fast half mile dirt track. Donnie Tanner, Bobby Alexander and Will Cagle are just a few of the top runners in the Late Model field. The ground-shaking Sprint Cars are also on the nightly card and one of the top drivers in that division is 18 year old Sport Allan.

The Tampa track also runs the Modified Champ class as well as the Thunder Cars and Mini-Stocks.

Logan was happy to report that Winston Cup Series race drivers Kyle Petty and Joe Ruttman will duel on dirt in July at the Tampa Fairgrounds. The best of the Late Model drivers from the Tampa Bay area will join them.

Petty appeared at the Florida State Fairground Speedway in January, but did not race. He was the guest speaker for the speedway's 1985 awards banquet, and he said then that he would like to come back and race on dirt.

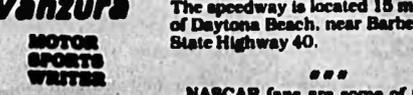

After leaving Tampa, Petty went out and won his first ever Winston Cup race, and knowing how superstitious some race drivers are Ruttman feels that some of that Tampa clay brought Kyle luck and that if he gets some on him, he just might get his first ever Winston Cup victory.

Rain forced the cancellation of the activities at Volusia County Speedway last week. Despite picture clear weather during the day, the evening brought a series of showers to the half mile oval following the heat races.

After three weeks of action, James Powell leads the track championship points race in the late model division.

NASCAR fans are some of the most supportive people in the world. If their favorite driver drives for a beer company they drink that beer. If he is sponsored by a chicken company they eat that chicken. They are true-blue fans.

Many of these drivers have fan clubs and here is information on how to join two of the biggest clubs.

The Richard Petty Fan Club is in its 16th year and to join for 1988 and receive a membership certificate card.

When joining the Bobby Allison Fan Club you will receive one certificate, one ID card, newsletter, key chain, pen, 5 x 7 photograph, sticker, patch and a lapel pin. A single membership is $5 and family membership (max of 4) is $12 per year. Send to Bobby Allison Fan Club, P.O. Box 8000, Hueytown, Ala. 35886.

More fan clubs for the NASCAR drivers will be listed in the future. If you would like to join your favorite driver's club, drop a note to me at the Evening Herald and I will get the information for you.

Penick Chooses Florida State; Knights Sign Taubensee, Davis

Seminole High's Billy Penick, Lake Howell High's Ed Taubensee and Lake Brantley High's Mike Davis decided this week where they will continue their collegiate athletic careers.

Penick, the defending Class 4A State mile champion, has decided on Florida State University, according to Seminole coach Ken Brauman. Penick ran a 4:18 mile while helping Seminole to the state championship last year. His best time this year is 4:22.5.

Brauman said his senior standout should lower that time in the next three weeks when the Seminoles encounter district, region and state competition. Teammate Alvin Jones earlier this week said he would attend Princeton.

Taubensee and Davis, the two best catchers in Seminole County, have both signed with the University of Central Florida, coach Jay Bergman announced Wednesday.

Taubensee, who played in the Seminole Pony Baseball program and on Altamonte's Senior League World Championship team, is batting over .300 with 20-plus runs batted in for coach Birtio Benjamin's Silver Hawks. The 6-3, 180-pounder has an excellent throwing arm and can play third base and the outfield as well as behind the plate.

Davis, who moved to this area two years ago from Tennessee, is an excellent fundamental receiver and leader for coach Mike Smith's Patriots. The 6-2, 175-pounder has 10 home runs 30-plus RBI this season along with a .400-plus batting average.

Road Woes Plague Raiders, 8-3

The road woes continued for the Seminole Community College Raiders Thursday as they were held to just five hits in an 8-3 Mid-Florida Conference loss to Florida Junior College at Jacksonville.

The Raiders have lost three straight road games and will try to salvage something out of the road trip today when they go to Lake City. SCC now stands at 26-16 overall and 13-6 in the conference with five games remaining. FJC ran its record to 35-11 overall and leads the league with a 16-4 mark with four games left to play.

FJC got all it needed in the first inning Thursday, scoring five times off SCC starter and loser Mike Walker. Tim Ballestrero belted a two-run single and Tom Guzzone added an RBI double to highlight the inning. Ballestrero would give FJC some insurance with a two-run homer off Walker in the third.

SCC scored twice in the top of the third when Oviedo's Jeff Greene unloaded a two-run homer with Mike Songini aboard. SCC's only other run came in the eighth when Songini singled and eventually scored on John Moore's base hit.

Baird Selects Tennessee Temple

Brent Baird, who led Pine Hills Christian School to a national championship three years ago, will continue his college basketball career at Tennessee Temple in Chattanooga.

Baird, who played a key role on Seminole Community College's 20-plus win season two years ago, will play big guard and small forward. The 6-5 junior helped Seminole High's basketball team as an assistant coach his past year. Baird's brother, Brad, is a 6-9 junior at Seminole.

Temple is a school of 3,000 which plays in the National Christian College Athletic Association. The school has won several national championships and plays an NAIA schedule.

Brent is the son of Cliff and Donna Baird of Sanford.

Arnold To Enter Rehab Center

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Joe Arnold, head baseball coach at the University of Florida, has been granted a leave of absence so he can voluntarily enter a treatment center for alcohol dependency. It was announced Thursday.

Arnold, who coached at Florida Southern before taking over at Florida in the 1984 season, had a record of 402-131-1 going into this year, the second best among active coaches. The Gators are 20-22 this season with 11 games remaining.

Assistant Dusty Rhodes will manage the team for the rest of the season.

"Joe Arnold is an excellent coach and a good person and we want to do everything possible to support his efforts to overcome this disease and return to coaching," Athletic Director Bill Carr said.

Pony Baseball To Register Colts

Seminole Pony Baseball will hold its Colt Division registration on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights and all day Saturday at the Pony complex on State Road 419 near Winter Springs.

Boys age 15 and 16 are eligible. They cannot be 17 before July 31. The fee is $40, which includes insurance, jersey and cap. The season will begin at the end of April. For further information, call 327-2198.

UCF Inks SCC Forward Johnson

Greg "Slim" Johnson, a two-year starter for Seminole Community College, signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Central Florida it was announced Thursday.

Coach Chip Carter also signed were junior college players Anthony Anderson and Bob Blackwood.

Johnson is a 6-7, 190-pound forward, averaged 9.2 points and 10.3 rebounds per game last season for coach Bill Payne's 26-5 team.

TRC Clubs 7 Taters In Romp

Seven different players hit home runs Wednesday night as the Tim Raines Connection bombarded Central Florida Hospital, 26-12, in Sanford Men's Softball League play at Pinehurst Field.

The Connection ran its record to 6-0 and leads Six Flags Nursery, 5-1, by one game. Six Flags won by forfeit over AJ's Wednesday. In Wednesday's other game, Brown Boveri improved to 3-1 with a 24-4 rout of winless (0-7) Prestige Imports.

For the Connection Wednesday night, extra hitter Benny McGill slugged a pair of homers while Greg Hardy, Billy Griffith, Rodney Turner, Burnett Washington, Al Squartino and

Ernest Shuler also homered. Joe Woehner had three hits and drove in two runs to lead Central Florida Hospital.

Willie Merkerson slammed three hits, including a three-run triple and a solo homer to lead the Brown Boveri rout of Prestige Imports. Russell Holloman was 4 for 4 and drove in three runs while Otis Raines added a two-run homer.

Greg Lazot and Joe Strickland had two hits each for Prestige Imports which had just eight hits in the game.

Briefly

Mayor Guest Speaker At Free Legal Clinic

Sanford Mayor Betty Smith will be the guest speaker at a free Legal Clinic and Seminar being sponsored by the Legal Aid Society of the Seminole County Bar Association. The topic will be Spouse Abuse.

The clinic seminar shall be held April 26 at 10 a.m. at the Salvation Army Building, 700 E. 24th St., Sanford.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Seminole County Legal Aid Society at 834-1660.

Pilot International Convention

"Spotlight on Pilot" is the theme of the 53rd annual Florida District Convention of Pilot International to be held April 25-27 at the Orlando Airport Marriott Hotel in Orlando.

Approximately 500 pilots from 63 clubs in the Florida District are expected to attend the convention under the leadership of the 1985-86 District Governor, Jean DenBlyker, of Ocala.

Also in attendance will be one of the organization's international officers, Pilot International treasurer, Sue Trautwein of Owenboro, Ky. She will address the convention body with an official report of the PI Executive Committee.

Other convention activities will include the installation of 1986-87 district officers. A luncheon honoring the handicapped Professional Woman of the Year, and a keynote address by Lt. Gen. Richard M. Montgomery, USAF (Ret.) representing the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, PA.

Sons Of Italy Social

The Sons of Italy Vince Lombardi Lodge #2441 held its third annual luncheon, fashion show and card party at the Deltona Community Center. The spring fashions were provided by the Jessie and Lisa Shop of DeLand. Models were Gloria Accardi, chairman, Mary Ellen Monteleone, Trudy Bloodworth, Rachel Pietropinto, Marie LaSapio, Alice Russell, Michelle Phielys, Ellen Roberts, Mildred Zuccarelli, Marie Blakney and Rose Prudente. Eleanor Scaffiddi and Mary Romana served a light luncheon prepared and donated by the ladies of the lodge.

Vegetarians Unite

Vegetarians of Greater Orlando unite. The Greater Orlando Vegetarian Society is now forming and seeking members. It is open to all persons practicing vegetarianism (no meat, fish or fowl) as well as those who, while not yet vegetarians, desire to support the group.

The organization's purpose is to bring together people of all ages to share common thoughts and interests through potluck dinners, picnics, outdoor activities, cooking demonstrations, lectures and much much more.

For information, call call 678-2459 evenings.

SCC Activities

The Seminole Community College Fine Arts Theatre will hold auditions for Alone Together by Lawrence Roman on April 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre. This play starred Janis Paige and Kevin McCarthy on Broadway. Alone Together will be directed by Paul M. Wegman.

Mr. Roman, author of Under The Yum Yum Tree, has written a madcap comedy about his parents and the not so empty nest syndrome. Alone Together has roles for a mother and father (age 50-55 in good shape), their three sons (ages 19, 25, 30), and a 19-year-old college coed.

Information and reading scripts are available by contacting Jim Packard at the Seminole Community College Fine Arts Theatre, 323-1450 or 843-7001, extension 398.

Production dates for Alone Together are June 11-15.

Gardening

Reduce Your Work Time With Mulch

If you're seriously thinking of ways to reduce the amount of work in keeping your flower and shrub beds, and your vegetable garden free of weeds, you may want to consider using mulches.

A mulch is any kind of material applied to the soil surface around plants to help control weeds, with the additional benefits of conserving moisture in the soil, and holding down soil temperatures during the summer. Some folks prefer organic types of mulches, such as compost, wood chips, pine bark, pine straw, leaves, dried grass clippings, or anything else you can think of — even newspapers. Then, there are inorganic kinds, such as gravel, pebbles, and plastic film. All of the inorganic kinds will, in time, give you a lot of headaches. On the other hand, the organic mulches are ready available, less work, and can be renewed easily.

Any mulch applied to the soil can only benefit it and the plants, too. Mulches prevent the loss of water from the soil by evaporation. The moisture in the soil moves by capillary action to the surface and simply evaporates in the absence of a mulch. A good mulch will prevent crusting of the soil surface and reduce "surface tension" to allow water to be rapidly absorbed rather than run off. Mulches act as an insulator, keeping the soil temperature more uniform. This keeps the soil cool under the intense heat of summer sun, and warm during the cold spells in the winter.

Organic mulches are much more beneficial because they improve the soil structure and till as they decompose. This decaying process adds some additional nutrients to the soil, also. Inorganic mulches, such as stones and pebbles, simply work their way down into the soil, and do nothing except get in your way when working with or replacing your plants. Plastic mulches tend to break down rapidly under the sun's rays, making them useless.

Organic mulches do add to the beauty of the landscape by providing a uniform color and somewhat interesting texture to an otherwise drab soil surface. Dark colored mulches, such as pine bark, will give your plantings a much more attractive appearance. Such dark mulches tend to widen the pupil of the viewer's eye, allowing more of the reflected light from the foliage and flowers to enter.

The best time to apply mulch to most established plantings is in the spring. When used on new plantings, apply the mulch after the plants are set and thoroughly watered. For best results, apply about two or three inches of mulch over the entire area, but avoid covering the crowns of low-growing plants. It's a good idea, too, to keep the mulch away from the main stems of all plants, including trees, to avoid root or basal rots. But, remember that you must keep the layer deep enough to do the job. This means adding more mulch to older layers to get the maximum benefit.

Usually, you will need to spread some fertilizer, such as 6-6-6, to the area before mulching. Some organic materials, such as straw, wood chips, and sawdust, have a tendency to use up available nitrogen in the soil during the breakdown process, leaving little to benefit the plants.

If you choose to use a plastic or similar inorganic mulch, you'll need to spread your fertilizer first. Simply broadcast and incorporate into the top two inches of soil a complete fertilizer, such as a 6-6-6, at the rate of two pounds per 100 square feet of garden area. Plastic mulches reduce the leaching of nutrients from the area where the roots develop, thus larger amounts of fertilizer are not needed.

When you think about it, you'll soon realize that mulching could be your most valuable garden practice. Mulching will certainly reduce the amount of hand cultivation and weed pulling, watering, and don't forget disease control. All put together, they can't help but increase your chances of growing more healthy and vigorous plants. Happy gardening!

Pastel Presented In Appreciation

Man's $100-An-Hour Relationship May Not Add Up To Marriage

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I don't know how to deal with. I'm a 44-year-old divorced man who does a lot of traveling for a small business I own. One night I saw an ad in the newspaper for a "dating service." I was lonely, so I called the number and the service sent a pretty lady to my room. She said for $100 an hour she would do anything I wanted to do, so we went to bed.

After seeing her off and on for seven months, I have fallen in love with her. When I told her how I felt, she said she loved me, too. Then we talked about marriage. She's 35, divorced, and has a 12-year-old son in boarding school.

She said if we get married she wants to continue working for a while as she has a lot of debts to pay; she also said that her work would not interfere with our marriage as she would work only during the daytime. Meantime, she still charges $100 an hour and says that after we are married, I won't have to pay her. What are your views on this?

HUNG UP IN HOUSTON

DEAR HUNG UP: Regardless of how you feel about each other, if she's charging you for sex, she's a prostitute, and you're one of her customers. And if you marry her and approve her "working" during the daytime, you should have your head examined.

DEAR ABBY: My son (I'll call him Johnny) is being married next month. Three years ago he fathered a son out of wedlock. (I'll call the boy Billy.) It was no love affair — he grew up with this girl. They were just pals. After a big party one night, this thing just happened. Johnny refused to marry her, but she offered.

He pays child support, but he rarely sees Billy or Billy's mother. Not many people know about this, but my husband and I consider Billy our grandson, and we see him and his mother often and do what we can for them.

Now the problem: Billy's mother wants him to attend his father's wedding. Johnny doesn't care one way or the other, but the bride doesn't want the child there. She knows all about him and has even seen him a few times.

Billy's mother is demanding that the boy attend his father's wedding. I don't think this is the place for him. How can I get the mother of our lovely grandson to change her mind?
MONTANA GRANNY

DEAR GRANNY: Tell her that this is the bride's day, and it's her wish that the child not attend the wedding. And if you have any influence with your son, please stress the importance of supporting his bride in her decision.

Search Is On For Outstanding Mom

May 11 is Mother's Day. We, at The Herald, are searching for the "Outstanding Mom" in the community, but we need the help of readers to find this special woman who lives in the area.

The "Outstanding Mom" will be selected from letters of nomination. To make sure your favorite mom is not disqualified, please follow the simple instructions: first, write the mom's full name, address, including city and state, and telephone number at the top of the page. Next, tell us in your own words why this mom is so outstanding. Please type or clearly print your letter. Third, write your name, complete address, and telephone number at the bottom of the letter.

Submit letters to The Evening Herald PEOPLE Editor, P.O. Box 1657 (300 N. French Ave., Sanford 32771), no later than Monday, April 28, the deadline for judging.

Winners will be announced in The Herald on Mother's Day.

Cause Of Leg Cramps Differs Based On Age

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — My 11-year-old son has been complaining about leg cramps for almost a year. The cramps start in his knees and run down his legs to his feet. He gets them playing and sitting, day and night, hot weather and cold. I've taken him to a doctor twice; the doctor said they were growing pains and refused to give me a referral to a specialist. Do I have reason to be concerned about this?

DEAR READER — I doubt that you have as much reason to be concerned about your son's cramps as you do about your doctor's attitude. I think referral to a specialist is a logical next step and I would beg your doctor until he or she recommends one — or seek an orthopedic opinion on your own.

As children reach their period of maximum growth, there is a discrepancy in the speed with which tissues develop. For example, bones grow faster than muscles. Therefore, youngsters may often experience leg cramps during and after exercise because muscles are put under unusual tension by rapidly lengthening bones. Although leg cramps are normal in children, get an orthopedic consultation to make sure that your son's pattern fits the norm.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My wife, 65, has been suffering from mild to severe distress with leg cramps for years. They're worse around 4 a.m. She takes two Fosfree tablets and a 3- or 5-grain quinine tablet before retiring. Do you know of anything else she could do?

DEAR READER — Nocturnal leg cramps in older patients often mean circulatory deficiency. Ask your doctor to send your wife to a vascular specialist to determine if there is anything further that can be done to relieve her discomfort.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've been in the emergency room twice with tachycardia. My heart beats about 200 beats per minute. My doctor says there is nothing organically wrong with my heart and has prescribed Valium and Inderal for my condition. Does sugar consumption play any part in tachycardia? And just what are beta-blockers? DEAR READER — Rapid heartbeat (tachycardia) can occur without warning in healthy adults. It usually subsides spontaneously, but, if it persists, you can sometimes get it to "break" by gagging. This act stimulates the vagus nerve to slow your pulse.

Beta-blockers react in various ways to slow the heart. Primarily, these agents block the nervous impulses that cause the heartbeat to speed up. Valium is a tranquilizer and has no cardiac effects. I am not aware that, in the non-diabetic, sugar plays a role in causing tachycardia.

I think that Inderal (a beta-blocker), in low doses, would be an acceptable way to prevent your tachycardia.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Let's suppose that you are South and have arrived at four hearts. West defends by playing three rounds of spades, and now the problem for you as declarer is to hold your club losers to only one. In the normal course of events you might take two club finesses, making your contract whenever East had one of the club honors. However, West's takeout double suggests that he may have both club honors. Is there anything that you can do if West does have both honors?

I hope this column won't get an X-rating if I tell you that the answer is a partial strip and end play. The idea is to eliminate hearts from the West hand, eliminate diamonds from the North and South hands, and then play the club suit so that West will win an honor and be forced to lead away from the other one. After winning the third spade, declarer plays the queen and king of hearts. He then plays king and ace of diamonds and ruffs a diamond with dummy's heart eight. Only now is the jack of clubs played from dummy. When West wins the queen, what then? He must either lead a club back for a free finesse or play another suit, allowing declarer to ruff in dummy while discarding the low club left in his hand.

I termed this play a partial strip because declarer was not able to eliminate all of the hearts from the defenders' hands. Although there was still a heart outstanding, South was lucky that East held it.

Reagan Was Ready For Increased Terror

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Friday, April 18, 1986—11A

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan was prepared for an increase in terrorism when he ordered U.S. warplanes to bomb Libya, his spokesman said Thursday, and expects the attacks and threats will diminish "in the long run."

White House spokesman Larry Speakes also announced the mass evacuation of most U.S. diplomatic personnel and their dependents from the Sudan, where an embassy communications officer was shot and critically wounded Tuesday.

Amid a flurry of attacks, brutality and psychological warfare — the deaths of three hostages in Lebanon, a firebombing aimed at U.S. Marine guards in Tunisia, and a spate of bomb threats worldwide — Speakes declined to say the new round of terror was tied directly to Monday's surprise attack.

Reagan, in announcing the twin bombing runs against the Libyan capital of Tripoli and Benghazi, a coastal city, called the assault an act of self-defense to pre-empt further terrorism ordered by Libyan leader Moammar Khadafi.

During a brief encounter with reporters Thursday, the president commented on the discovery of the bodies of three Britons in the hills near Beirut. A note with the bodies said the men had been killed because of the U.S. attack on Libya.

"I think it's a tragedy," Reagan said, "but I think terrorism is something we all have to deal with."

Asked whether the United States is more concerned now for the safety of six American hostages in Lebanon, Speakes said, "We're always very concerned."

At his news conference last week, Reagan said he was concerned for the hostages but their fate would not swing the balance in his decision on whether to launch a military strike against Khadafi.

Speakes rejected suggestions that the U.S. bombing raids had made Americans more vulnerable to violence and said:

"We were prepared for an increase in terrorism. In the long run we expect it to diminish."

"Time will tell," said Speakes when asked whether the latest terrorist acts around the world is linked to the American raids on Libya.

Nonetheless, Speakes said, Reagan "believes it was the right thing to do. He has driven home the message" to Khadafi that he must end his export of terror on pay the consequences.

One prominent dissenter who questioned Reagan's action was Jimmy Carter, who said said "mine is one of the lonely voices."

"I don't think it was the right thing to do," the former president told the Atlanat Constitution. "I think in the long run it will be a mistake."

Speakes reported some 500 non-essential U.S. Embassy workers and their dependents will be evacuated from Khartoum, capital of Sudan, starting Friday. The State Department warned Americans Wednesday not to visit the African nation, which has been a prime target of Khadafi's adventurism.

Speakes tied the shooting of 33-year-old William Cokala to a Libyan terrorist, but gave no details. The situation in Khartoum was described as tense, and Americans were advised to stay off the streets unless compelled to venture out for official business.

There also was a report Navy helicopters had evacuated most Americans from the U.S. Coast Guard station on the Mediterranean island of Lampedusa, leaving a skeleton crew. The navigational station was fired on, but not hit, after the bombing raid.

Of the deaths in Lebanon, Speakes said, "We do not know who is responsible, but it has the mark of Abu Nidal," a Palestinian fingered by U.S. officials as responsible for numerous terrorist attacks. Speakes denied a claim one of the dead Britons was a CIA agent.

In Tunisia, the capital of Tunisia, which borders Libya to the west, a pair of Molotov cocktails were thrown at the residence of the U.S. Marines who guard the American embassy. There were no reported injuries.

Robert Lamb, the head of security for the State Department, said in an ABC-TV interview that since the air strike against Libya there have been about a dozen bomb threats a day "that we give some credence to" against U.S. diplomatic outposts — about double the usual number.

Lamb said there are 263 U.S. diplomatic installations worldwide and "there are 60 or 70 that I am very concerned about."

Sudan: Three Generations Of A Forgotten War

By Phillip Williams
Wau, Sudan (UPI) — It is one of Africa's forgotten wars, fought in the bush away from the limelight of international coverage, inaccessible and shrouded in layers of confusing propaganda.

Until recently, Sudan's feuding civil war in the south appeared a stalemate. Now northern government troops have their backs to the wall in three southern provinces and even the government information machine cannot cloak the new threat posed by the swift, recent advances of the rebel separatist Sudanese People's Liberation Army.

"The SPLA has one credit: it has won strategic surprise and this is a big morale-boosting factor," conceded the military governor of Wau, a southwestern provincial capital now in the front line. "It is now up to us to reply. The crisis is coming."

In December the rebels moved west from the provinces of Equatoria and Upper Nile, took Yirol and then advanced, surrounded and starved out the garrison town of Rumbek.

That exposed the whole southwest province of Bahr Al Gazal and the provincial capital of Wau to the rebel advance.

The 20,000 rebels control large areas of Upper Nile and Equatoria, avoiding open battle with the garrisons and fighting a hit-and-run operation in the bush.

The feuding war has more or less paralyzed the region for three generations.

The British, as colonial occupiers, feared a united Sudan. In the 1920s their policies in the south encouraged its isolation, discouraging Islam, promoting Christianity and downgrading everything Arab.

It was a success. Sixty years later, townsfolk in a Wau bar near the main Roman Catholic church call northern troops "Arab occupiers."

Their hearts and minds are with the rebels, though the town is packed with nervous northern government troops, well aware of the resentment which surrounds them.

When a photographer recently wanted a picture of troops preparing for a counter-offensive in Wau, an officer took 30 minutes to line them up, confining privately it took him that long to search out enough men from both north and south to satisfy official sensibilities.

Southerners charge the army is all from the overwhelming Moslem, Arab north. It isn't. But almost all its officers are.

The SPLA often claims the army is demoralized and that there have been desertions. Khartoum ignored warnings that the Rumbek garrison faced starvation and had no ammunition. In early March the men told their commanding officer they would not fight to hold the town — and he reluctantly ordered an evacuation.

Sudan's capital was aghast that a major garrison town could fall to rebels so lightly armed that they have no heavy weapons except mortars and the government alleges, SAM-7 style shoulder fired missiles.

They travel on foot, having few trucks. Each fighting battalion is accompanied by hundreds of bearers to carry equipment and ammunition.

Little is known about where the SPLA, commanded by Col. John Garang, gets weapons and money. The government says neighboring Marxist Ethiopia is the source of supply and further down the line, the Soviet Union.

Government forces appear little better armed, thought they do have mechanized support and artillery. U.S.-built 106mm howitzers are in plentiful evidence at Wau. The town is being supplied and powerfully reinforced by C-130 transport direct from Khartoum.

The regulars, now being supplied by Libya, Jordan and Syria, carry mostly worn Kalashnikov assault rifles or older semi-automatic weapons.

They have little or no armor. The WAU garrison boasts a few battered and ancient, French- and British-built armored cars. The rebel guerrillas mine all roads in areas they overrun.

The new Sudanese civilian government, due to take control April 26, has the opportunity to reopen a dialogue on a possible federal-style solution to rebel demands for autonomy.

But Garang may be content to bide his time. He can fade back into the bush and still dictate the pace and form of a long-term conflict Khartoum has proved unable to stamp out.

U.S. Working To Protect Travelers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the Federal Aviation Administration warned Thursday that terrorists could strike domestic targets but assured airline travelers the United States is taking aggressive action to protect them.

FAA Administrator Donald Engen said the government has directed airlines and airports to take extra security measures against possible terrorist attacks, threatened by Libyan leader Moammar Khadafi after U.S. air forces bombed two key cities in the North African nation.

"This international threat (of terrorism) could clearly become a national threat," Engen said at the National Press Club.

The FAA administrator said the government is spending millions of dollars on weapons detection and other anti-terrorist devices and, "We are on the brink of a major breakthrough in several areas." He did not provide details.

"Terrorism ... is not exclusively an aviation problem, although terrorists have targeted aircraft and airports lately," he said.

"The nature of aviation safety is such that many things need to be left unaided," he said. "However, I can say we are moving ahead aggressively on a number of fronts."

Engen said the government is increasing security at the number of airports personnel, including federal air marshals, who are placed on some key flights. The marshals are "prepared to take action" to protect air travelers, he said.

At the same time, Engen said there will be more emphasis at airports to examine by hand carry-on luggage in addition to subjecting them to X-ray screening.

"I sense the public's willingness to accept (these inconveniences)," he said.

Engen said current airline and airport security was adequate and he advised Americans not to shy away from international travel because of terrorism.

"I don't think we should get terrorists dictate whether we should travel or not," he said.

In a related development, the president of the Air Line Pilots Association Thursday told a hearing on terrorism and tourism held by three House committees that security at foreign airports has improved in recent months but it needs upgrading at some domestic airports.

"We've got to get away from this rent-a-cop type of activity," said ALPA chief Henry Duffy, referring to poorly trained "minimum-wage types" who are sometimes hired to check passengers and provide other security at domestic airports.

IN BRIEF

NRC Criticizes Florida Power's Security Procedures; Levies Fine

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has fined Florida Power Corp. $100,000 for a breach in security at the utility's nuclear generating plant at Crystal River, Fla.

A spokesman said Thursday someone had deliberately cut a metal bar on a ventilation duct which could have provided entry into the plant last year.

The NRC said it was the second time in 1985 a similar breach in security was discovered at the facility, but said it was not in the same area as the first time.

The NRC said the breach of a "vital area barrier" was discovered and reported by Florida Power Corp. Dec. 18, and was confirmed by a special NRC inspection Jan. 2-3.

Dr. J. Nelson Grace, NRC regional administrator in Atlanta, informed Florida Power officials of the fine by letter. He said the vital area barrier breach apparently was "deliberately made by an unknown person or persons, on or before Aug. 20," noting the plant was out of service from March 9 to Aug. 20, and was in operation when the barrier breach was reported to plant security in December.

State Supreme Court Denies Stay

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The state Supreme Court rejected an appeal from a man scheduled to die Tuesday for the barroom murder of a Jacksonville couple.

The justices denied a stay Thursday for David Livingston Funchess, one of two men scheduled to be executed Tuesday at 7 a.m. at the Florida State Prison in Starke.

Funchess, 39, had claimed that death penalty opponents were improperly dismissed from the jury pool at his 1975 trial. The justices said Funchess has no grounds to appeal because he did not object during the jury selection and because he did not raise the issue in previous appeals.

He was convicted of murdering two people while robbing the Avondale Liquor Store, where he had once worked.

The victims, Anna Waldrop and Clayton Keaton Ragan, had been stabbed and their throats were slashed. Another woman, Bertha McLeod, also was stabbed and had her throat slashed during the robbery Dec. 16, 1974. She died several months later of complications from the injuries, but no charges were filed in her death.

Advocates: Disabled Need Help

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida ranks 21st in the country in per capita income, 43rd in per capita taxation but ranks last in the money it spends on social services, advocates for the developmentally disabled said.

The advocates said during a news conference Thursday the state needs to increase funds to help the developmentally disabled use the skills they learned while in public schools. The developmentally disabled include those who are mentally retarded and suffer from cerebral palsy.

"It's a major crisis because we have literally thousands of people sitting at home, many of whom the state has invested thousands of dollars in in public school programs. And now that they have graduated, they're losing the skills they've acquired in public schools," said Kingsley Rosa, executive director of the Association for Retarded Citizens.

Rosa said the state needs to spend $25 million more just to care for more than 4,000 people on waiting lists to be helped.

year that could have been prevented by mandating the use of shoulder harnesses.

"Where are we going to end all this?" he asked.

In other legislative action:

● The House passed a bill (HB 227) extending the life of death warrants indefinitely. Warrants expire after one week. The bill, said sponsor Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, would speed up the often-lengthy appeals process that has "frustrated" a public anxious to see criminals executed.

● The House Select Committee on Citrus and Agriculture Funding passed a bill calling for $7.7 million for canker eradication next year. One third of that money would be raised by taxing growers 1.5 cents for each box of citrus fruit they produce. The other two-thirds would come from Florida's general revenue fund.

The tax formula is based on estimates that Florida will produce 1.8 million boxes of citrus fruit in 1988, said committee chairman C. Fred Jones, D-Auburndale. That would bring in $2.7 million during fiscal 1988-1987.

The bill would authorize the tax for one year only. A per-box tax probably will be levied the next year, but it is impossible to predict how much the tax would be until the next year's crop estimates are in, Jones said.

The bill calls for $6.4 to be spent on identifying and destroying infected or exposed trees and on research. The rest would be used to pay growers who were promised last year that they would be partially reimbursed for destroying their trees, which is also used in coke labs, because acetone's legal uses are legion.

Supporters of the bill say drug processors have moved coke labs into South Florida neighborhoods, threatening the residents. One gallon of ether packs the explosive punch of 10 sticks of dynamite — enough to level an entire city block.

● The House adopted the "Doonesbury bill" prohibiting local governments from requiring certain groups of people to submit to background checks and carry identification cards. The bill (HB 133) was inspired by a U.S. Court in December. That ordinance — which was lampooned in the cartoon strip "Doonesbury" — required most blue-collar workers to register with police, submit to fingerprinting and background checks, and carry identification cards at all times.

She also said another way to lessen terrorism is not to have the media highlight such acts.

"People have a right to know what's going on, and the media should inform but not sensationalize," she said.

She said instead of putting such events on the front page of newspapers they should be relegated to small print on the classified ad page.

"They want to get their message across," she said, and the media provides the means. She said if terrorists or kidnappers did not get widespread exposure for their views they would commit fewer such acts.

She said terrorists should be considered as small children with temper tantrums. If you let them have their way, they will continue, she said.

After the luncheon, Dr. Brothers was scheduled to attend a private meeting with members of the Central Florida Press Club at the Radisson Hotel in Orlando.

As with Jack Anderson, Dr. Brothers' talk was well-received.

Brothers' Fame From Boxing Expertise

Dr. Joyce Brothers, who earned a doctorate in psychology at age 25, comes from an accomplished New York City family.

Born Joyce Diane Bauer, she is one of two daughters of Morris Bauer and Estelle Rapoport and is married to Dr. Milton Brothers, an internist. Her parents were lawyers and her sister, Elaine, is a lawyer who also married a doctor. Dr. Brothers' daughter is a physician as well.

A few weeks after earning her master's degree, she married (July 4th, 1949) Brothers and by 1953 had earned her Ph.D. and was teaching. Her disorientation was on the subject of anxiety avoidance and escape behavior as measured by action potential in muscle.

She left her college-teaching post, however, to raise a daughter, Lisa, a departure which drastically reduced the family income because Brothers was earning only $50 a month salary as a medical resident at the time. To augment the family income "because we were hungry" she tried in 1955 for an appearance on a quiz show called The $64,000 Question.

She was accepted and chose the subject of boxing "just to please her husband," and memorized a 20-volume set of encyclopedias on the topic, often studying 18 hours a day.

She went on the show and over the course of several weeks increased her earnings and became the first woman and the second person to win the $64,000 prize. In subsequent shows, in 1957 against a panel of seven former boxers, she answered every question correctly and increased her earnings to $134,000. She said in a later interview that after the first $64,000, the show's producers tried to knock her out of the contest with impossible questions, but she succeeded because she had virtually memorized everything there was to know about the sport.

After gaining national prominence through the show, she went on to write books, host radio and television shows and write for newspapers and television.

She was recently named in a poll as one of the 10 most influential women in the world, and her writings are published in 26 languages. (Source: Current Biography and Who's Who of American Women.)

because it doesn't contain the elements they have been trained to smell or they simply can't smell it, officials said.

The abundance of base cocaine in south Florida has done two things, Nehrbass said. It created a lot of "base houses" where the material is smoked and increased the number of processing labs in Florida.

The "base houses" are apparently spreading with perhaps a dozen or more in the Orlando area, according to an agent of the Metropolitan Bureau of Investigation. The prevalence of base cocaine also has caused the migration of odorless processing labs to less populated counties.

Processing labs, which reek of ether and turn out the powdery cocaine, have been moving from the Dade County area up the coast to Broward and Palm Beach counties and labs have been found in Duval and Hillsborough counties, Nehrbass said. He said the processing labs are going to move to central Florida because there are more rural areas where the base cocaine can be processed and the odor not detected.

Nehrbass said the hard cocaine that is being smoked is the smuggled base cocaine before it is transformed into its crystalline state. MBI Lt. Charles Edward, of Orlando, said, however, he thinks the hard form is being made from the crystalline stage, especially since a common household product has been discovered to transform the crystalline form back to its hard state.

Nehrbass said the hard forms of cocaine prior to crystallization usually cost less but are more potent than the crystalline form because it is less refined. One agent said a good analogy is to think of base cocaine as crude oil, not yet refined or chemically altered into other products.

Nehrbass said a gram of crystalline cocaine costing $50 to $60 in the Miami area (up to $100 in Orlando) is 20-percent pure, and provides enough drug for five or six highs. The hard form, which is almost pure, costs $10 to $40, the latter price for a piece about the size of a pea, and produces a far greater high, and addiction, he said.

"I think you are going to see a great growth of base houses in central Florida," he said.

The MBI agent said the problem has already arrived.

"We've got a lot of base. We've got a lot of 'crack,'" he said adding that cocaine in that form was almost unheard of a year ago in this area.

Seven aircraft — five F-111Fs and two A-6Es — aborted before they could drop their weapons, the Pentagon said. Three of the F-111Fs aborted because of equipment problems and the remaining planes withheld their bombs for unknown reasons.

Beginning six minutes before the main attack to silence Libyan anti-aircraft missiles, carrier-based F-18 Hornet fighter-bombers and A-7 Corsair attack planes struck against radar in both locations with dozens of High Speed Anti-Radiation and Shrike missiles, the Pentagon said.

There was no assessment of damage to the radars.

"We don't know where Khadafi was," Sims said. "We did know where the nerve center for training was and that's what we attacked. We hit what we aimed at."

Sims said there was no separate assessment of damage to civilian areas although Pentagon sources said some of the bombs missed their military targets and struck civilian sectors. The French embassy in Tripoli was among the civilian areas damaged.

"We didn't attack civilian targets and if there was damage to civilian areas we don't know if it was caused by Libyan (anti-aircraft) activity or inadvertently by American activity," he said.

Crewmen aboard the F-111Fs, seated side by side in their cockpits with little room for movement, spent more than 16 hours in the air — seven hours and 36 minutes to their targets and eight hours and 21 minutes on the return trip, the Pentagon said.

In addition, five EF-111s equipped with electronic gear to jam Libyan air defenses escorted the F-111Fs from their British bases. Twenty-eight KC-10 and KC-135 tanker aircraft took part in the operation.

They Make His Day
...Every Day

Day Lilies

By Susan Loden
Herald Feature Writer

Day Lilies

In the Orient of ancient times the day lily was more than a thing of beauty. The fingers of its massive root system made it an ideal natural retaining wall for rice paddies. And the Chinese took their passion for this plant a bit further.

They snacked on day lily salad — a bitter treat that isn't pleasing to American tastes, according to Longwood day lily fancier Merle Kent. Americans may not be eating day lilies, Kent said, but in ever growing numbers they are becoming enthralled by the beauty of these bloomers, whose individual flowers have fleeting life spans of a single day.

For over three decades Kent, 70, has cultivated day lilies, which first caught the eye of European explorers in the Orient and then eventually traveled to American to sweep across the land. Day lilies thrive throughout America, and Kent, a former math teacher, said his hobby has grown to such major proportions that he alone sees it as a hobby. His catalog lists over 1,100 varieties, and that's just a beginning. He has too many plants to count.

There are two classes of day lily fanciers, Kent said. He ranks himself among the collectors and then there are the hybridizers, who crossbreed the best of the plants to produce seed to grow new plants.

Hybridizing is too risky for Kent's taste. "If you grow 100 seedlings you will discard about 90 to 95 percent of them. They're just not going to be that much better than what you already have. It would just break my heart to grow that many seedlings and have to destroy them just because they're not worth anything.

"I'd rather just buy the good ones that somebody else has proven are good," he said.

And when a collector buys a new day lily seedling, Kent said, he doesn't really know what he has bought until he sees it in bloom in his own garden.

Hybridizers, he said, are like parents. They see beauty in their own creations, but once they name it, register it and introduce it, "you may find the public is just very, very casual about it."

Collectors who are disappointed by their day lily buys may find another collector who loves what they reject, he said. And some rare lilies are so sought after that they bring prices of up to $200 for a single seedling.

Most of the day lilies Kent buys and sells are valued at about $5 to $15 each, he said.

Hybridizers, who began working with day lilies around the turn of the century, developed a rainbow array of colors, except for a true blue. And, Kent said, day lilies have gotten better and better over the years, making growers want to discard old plants and add new to their gardens.

Although in their original form day lilies, which are almost impossible to kill, tended to spread, that characteristic has been bred out of the plants, so individual plants are now cultivated.

In Florida there are two classes. One type has green foliage year-round and blooms in the normal season from March through July, Kent said. But the other variety, dormants, go under ground for awhile. The dormants are popular in colder climates, Kent said, and to him, in a Florida growing environment, they seem to be a bit lazy.

"It doesn't matter how long the growing season is," Kent said of the dormants, "they have to put their heads down and go to sleep and rest for a few months. We think they're just being lazy doing that and say, 'Get up and go to work. Don't be such a lazy bones.'"

Although day lilies are hardy plants, growers, Kent said, can't be lazy. In Florida there's always work to do in a day lily field, but it's a labor of love, he said. And it takes a special effort for a grower to groom his field to be displayed in a national convention of day lily lovers.

In his 11 years of retirement Kent has attended all the national conventions and called last year's tour of Detroit gardens, "truly a horticultural feast."

Those interested in feasting their eyes on day lilies can look forward to two May showings of the plants produced by members of two area day lily associations. The first by the Sunbelt Daylily Chapter is scheduled for the Winter Park Mall the first Saturday in May and the second by the Central Florida Daylily Society at Colonial Mall in Orlando the second Saturday in May, Kent said.

He cautions those who might want to take home a seedling, that day lilies, because of their huge root systems don't thrive in pots. The short life of individual blossoms also pretty much rules them out as candidates for a bouquet. The are a gardener's passion, he said, and he should know.

Limbo For "All Is Forgiven"

By Mark Schwed
UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — As odd

as it may seem, the most critically acclaimed new show of the off-season, "All Is Forgiven," is in limbo.

The show has already garnered rave reviews from critics and attracted decent ratings and a respectable viewership for its sneak preview, its official premiere and its regular Saturday time slot, but still the producers, writers and actors wait for word on whether "All Is Forgiven" will be back this fall on NBC's schedule.

The decision must be made by May 15 when NBC announces its fall season lineup. Some of the stars are a bit uneasy. Two new NBC shows, "Valerie" starring Valerie Harper, and "You Again?" starring Jack Klugman, are doing better in the ratings.

In "All Is Forgiven," (Saturday 9:30-10 p.m. EST), Bea Armstrong stars as Paula Russell, a young woman who is thrust into a new marriage and a new career as producer of a TV daytime drama on the same day. Carol Kane plays an acerbic writer of the popular daytime soap. Both are excellent actresses and the show is witty, well written and believable.

"It is a great show," said Kane, an Academy Award-nominated actress who has appeared on "Cheers," "Taxi," in motion pictures and theater. "I know people love it because I get stopped a lot on the street and that's making me feel very very good."

"As far as what happens and everything, I consider that so much a roll of the dice. I don't understand thoroughly what makes a show be allowed to stay on the air. The numbers game."

The numbers game she speaks of is the Nielsen ratings and so far "All Is Forgiven" trails the two other new NBC comedies, "You Again?" and "Valerie." That's numbers. In quality, it far outclasses the competition. But quality doesn't pay bills.

"I'm on the hook," Kane said during a breakfast interview. "I would say it's the best new show on by far. I've heard nothing but positive comments. I'm talking about comments from the pharmacist and my aunt."

While NBC studies the numbers, Kane sits in her just redecorated New York apartment, unpacking boxes and thinking about the state of limbo.

Pursuit Of The Perfect Answer

By Frank Banello

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "The animal for which the Canary Islands were named," declared "Jeopardy!" host Alex Trebek. For this answer, a TV contestant supplied the correct question: "What is a dog (canine)?"

Trek then offered an explanation: "The birds were named after the islands."

Actually, it was Harry Eisenberg who had put that extra information on the bottom of Trebek's question and answer card.

Eisenberg, 38, who used to be a college history instructor, writes questions and answers for "Jeopardy!"

He isn't embarrassed at all by his mid-life job change. "I'm proud to be associated with 'Jeopardy!' In a way, the show encourages learning. It's not what (former FCC chairman) Newton Minnow had in mind when he called television a vast wasteland."

Each day in his cramped Hollywood office, Eisenberg, assisted by three other writers, has to think up 74 questions and answers for the nationally syndicated game show. During the 39 weeks each year that the show airs, Harry and his colleagues create 14,000 questions and answers.

"That's the equivalent of two entire Trivial Pursuit games a year," says Jules Minton, the show's head writer and a former fifth-grade teacher.

On "Jeopardy!" contestants win money when they provide the right questions to the answers Trebek reads. I, for example, won $12,000 on the show that was scheduled to be telecast on April 28.

I had gone through the normal contestant selection process just like anybody else. What I learned by going on the show myself was fascinating, so I decided to get the inside story from Trebek and the writers.

Eisenberg shares his tiny office with comedy writer Scott Rubin, who is currently working on a gag version of "Jeopardy!" Looking at a picture gallery of U.S. presidents, Rubin marvels, "There are a lot more presidents with beards than I thought."

Rubin is trying to come up with a funny question and answer about hairy chief executives. Immediately addressing the problem, Eisenberg points out that all bearded presidents were Republicans. All Democrats were clean-shaven except Grover Cleveland, who had a walrus mustache.

The host of "Jeopardy!" 45-year-old Trebek, holds a degree in philosophy from the University of Toronto. "We're lucky that Alex is bright," Eisenberg says. "Most hosts just take what they're given. Alex knows what he's reading on the air."

But today, Trebek isn't taking what Harry has given him. Trebek wants Harry to change the word "dynasty" to "family" in a question about the Hapsburgs because Trebek thinks "dynasty" is too obscure a word. Eisenberg reminds Trebek about the popular nighttime soap of the same time.

Conceding defeat, Trebek motions to a reporter and says, "Now he's gonna write, 'Alex caves in to his writers.'"

Eisenberg, a single parent with two small children, taught history at a community college until the teacher he had temporarily replaced returned from sabbatical. He then turned to selling photocopiers, which paid better than his current TV job. Just how much better Eisenberg declines to say, but another "Jeopardy!" employee says writers earn between $500 to $650 a week — not a princely sum by television standards.

During the hiatus — two months a year — one of the other writers resumes his previous job as a substitute teacher and another writes crosswords for a puzzle magazine. Eisenberg works on screenplays.

He got his job by attending a seminar on the TV industry. One of the panelists mentioned that "Jeopardy!" (which had been off the air since 1978) was about to be revived by Merv Griffin Productions.

Eisenberg auditioned for the show by writing a sample gameboard. Later, he learned the sample question that impressed the producers enough to give him the job. "Answer: Prostitutes earned their nickname from this Civil War general, who believed they raised his troops' morale. Question: Who was Gen. Joseph Hooker?"

"Basically, we all got the job on how well we could write, not on how many degrees we had," Eisenberg says.

Although admitting he doesn't want to write gameboards for the rest of his life, Eisenberg says he loves his job. But he hates checking computer printouts to make sure the writers aren't repeating the same categories too often.

It's a thankless — and bizarre — task. "Just last week I caught five questions on Pakistan," says Eisenberg.

Hunks, Honeys ...And Sleuths

By Mark Schwed
UPI TV Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — In 1984, TV Guide asked the most beautiful women on television to vote on the most beautiful men on television. Don Johnson of "Miami Vice" was the supreme winner. The rest of the hunk list were Tom Selleck, Robert Wagner, John Forsythe, Bruce Willis, Pierce Brosnan, Bill Cosby, Robert Urich, William Devane and Jack Scalia.

First to arrive, or rather the first to return, is Stacy Keach as Mike Hammer. Keach, whose character may have inspired "The Equalizer" and "Spenser: For Hire," will show up Friday April 18 in CBS's "Return of Mickey Spillane's Mike Hammer."

Don Johnson of "Miami Vice" was the supreme winner. The rest of the hunk list were Tom Selleck, Robert Wagner, John Forsythe, Bruce Willis, Pierce Brosnan, Bill Cosby, Robert Urich, William Devane and Jack Scalia. A little detective work uncovers the fact that of the 10 hunks, seven play TV detectives, or hunk-sleuths. The proliferation of hunk-sleuths on television is part of a trend in the medium — the return of the TV detective.

If all goes well, meaning if lots of people watch, Hammer will be back again in the fall with another run at a regular series. The producer of Hammer says Hammer will be more like Phillip Marlowe than last year. Speaking of Marlowe, HBO is coming along with a new movie series, "Phillip Marlowe, Private Eye," starring Powers Boothe and set in Los Angeles in the 1930s. The six Marlowe mysteries begin April 27. Finally, there's "Alter Ego," a CBS movie in which Robert Hayes plays both a mystery writer and the detective he creates in his novels.

There are so many sleuths that they are beginning to spoof each other. On Friday April 18, "Riptide" will spoof "Moonlighting," which in itself is a spoof of the madcap Cales of the 1940s.

Is Michael J. Fox Returning Next Season?

Dear Debra — Will "Family Ties" come back on NBC? It's my favorite TV show. Also, will Michael J. Fox appear in any more movies? Please tell me more about this famous Michael J. Fox! — R.H., Thomasville, N.C.

Yes, "Family Ties" has been renewed for next season, thanks to its consistent second-place ranking behind "The Cosby Show" in the Nielsen ratings. In fact, the show is so popular that reruns are running daily each morning in many areas. Now about Michael: Born June 9, 1961, in Edmonton, Canada, the actor says he's not at all like his conservative, business-minded, competitive character, Alex, on the series. He favors the casual, easygoing life of blue jeans and T-shirts. Fox started acting on Canadian television when he was 15, moved to L.A. three years later and landed his first series role in "Palmerstown." His film credits include "Midnight Madness," "The Class of 1984," "Teen Wolf" and last year's box-office bonanza, "Back to the Future." Future projects include "Born in the U.S.A.," as a factory worker who plays in a weekend bar band; "Young Jimmy Cagney," a CBS-TV special that covers the late movie great's early rise; "The Kirk Crocker Story," an NBC-TV movie based on the true story of a young Texan who was radiation-poisoned by his father; and the sequel to "Back to the Future."

Dear Debra — On "High Chapparral," who

Celebrity Corner

played Manolito? I see him occasionally but never catch his name. Also, who was Blue? I've never recognized him since. Thank you. — C.K., Amarillo, Texas.

Henry Darrow played Manolito Montoya and Mark Slade played Billy "Blue" Cannon in the NBC-TV western, which aired from 1967 to 1971. Slade left the show during the last year of the series when his character was dropped.

Dear Debra — I was recently watching a "Donna Reed Show" rerun. I want to know if the daughter of Donna Reed, who was played by Shelley Fabares, is the same girl who was later to record a song called "Johnny Angel" and later to appear in the movie "Brian's Song." — L.S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

You're right on the money. Shelley Fabares, who starred as Mary Stone for the first five years of the "Donna Reed" series (it ran on ABC from 1958 to 1968), did indeed score a major musical hit with her 1962 recording of "Johnny Angel"; it was No. 1 on the charts that year. She introduced the song on the show itself.

Dear Debra — Could you settle an argument between my parents and myself? I say that Dennis Franz, Lt. Buntz on "Hill Street Blues," was previously in the series as a trouble-making officer, and as I recall, was eventually killed. My parents say no way. Please declare a winner. Thank you. — M.H., Bauscalite, Calif.

You're the winner! Franz was resurrected as the rules-bending Lt. Norman Buntz after his earlier character, "Bad Sal" Benedetto, a vicious narcotics cop who was in five segments of "Hill Street" in 1982-83, committed suicide.

Dear Debra — I'm betting a steak dinner on your reply. I say Tom Poston from the "Newhart" show was Mr. Greenjeans on "Captain Kangaroo." My husband disagrees. Please let me know while we can still afford the steak. — L. & D.H., Coos Bay, Oregon.

How does your husband like his steak? Mr. Greenjeans was played by Hugh "Lumpy" Brannum. Brannum, who was born in 1910, was a musician, a photographer, a TV writer and an artist — aside from being Mr. Greenjeans. But he was never Tom Poston on the "Newhart" show.
