

DOT: I-4 Track Interchange Doubtful

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A state Department of Transportation (DOT) official has expressed doubt that an Interstate 4 interchange at Lake Mary, proposed by developers of a planned quarter-horse racetrack there, would be "of sufficient benefit to the motoring public" and conveyed a "positive attitude" on the chances it will ever be constructed.

Marc Robinson, a principal in Harness Racing Inc., which has applied for a state permit to operate a quarter-horse racing track in Lake Mary, met with representatives of the DOT, the St. Johns River Water Management District and Joel Ivey, chief of project review of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, earlier this week.

Wally Fish, of the DOT office in Deland, outlined for Robinson the processes through which his application would have to pass and the various reviews and approvals that would be necessary.

"I expressed concern over whether the proposed interchange would be of sufficient benefit to the overall motoring public to offset the costs involved," Fish said. "Once through the state process and meeting state requirements, Federal Highway Administration approval would have to be sought to break the limited access right of way lines at the site."

"I hope I was able to convey a pessimistic attitude with regard to what his chances of success are," Fish said.

He said the only way the I-4 interchange could come about would be for Robinson to pay the full costs, which Fish estimated at about $5 million. He also noted that it took Disney World two years to get its project included in the Orlando Urban Transportation study alone. The process for Disney's EPCOT interchange has been going on for six years. The Disney plan still has not been completed, he said.

"Our real concern is that the proposal as presented indicates primary access would be to the race track facility and secondary access to the road system of the area," Fish said. "Normally, the primary beneficiary is the motoring public and secondarily the individual developer."

Ivey said a "development regional impact" study would have to be prepared by Robinson and his associates containing information on environmental, social and economic concerns.

After the study was completed and reviewed by the regional planning council staff, a special committee would consider the information and the staff recommendation and approve, deny or approve with recommendations. After this action, which usually takes 90-120 days, Lake Mary may either accept or reject the project, Ivey said.

Churches To Rise From Rubble...

...Geneva Residents To Help Give Oak Grove New Home

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

Out of the ashes left when arsonists leveled the Oak Grove Baptist Church in Geneva will soon rise a new building to house the small, homeless congregation.

That is the goal of the Geneva Citizens' Association, which is currently organizing a massive fund-raising effort in the community east of Sanford.

The entire community has pulled together in an effort to rebuild the church destroyed on Aug. 24, announced association President Bill Pinch.

Already, organizations and other churches have provided an organ and pews for the new church when it opens. On Oct. 11, the congregation and the Citizens' Association will hold a bazaar to raise some of the estimated $60,000 needed to completely replace the gutted structure.

Meanwhile, arson investigators say they are moving closer to completing a case against the persons who set fire to the church.

"The cooperation is wonderful," said church deacon Evans Bacon, who, along with Pinch, is chairing the fund-raising effort.

The Four-H Club in Geneva is collecting cans, other clubs are donating crafts and plants to be sold to raise the needed money, and "the whole community is supporting the project," Pinch said.

Bacon says donations would allow the congregation to buy the materials needed to lay the foundation for the new building in November.

Most of the labor will be provided by volunteers, he said, explaining members of congregations throughout the county have offered to help with the construction work.

The church was a wooden building constructed in 1926 with donations from another congregation in Geneva.

Bacon says he cannot say for sure why persons unknown burned down the 53-year-old home of a 30-member congregation.

For now, the Oak Grove congregation is meeting in the New Bethel Church, Geneva, alternating its services with the Methodist congregations every other week.

...Jordan Congregation Plans Service At Pastor's Home

The Jordan Missionary Baptist Church congregation will meet tonight at the home of its pastor to hold evening services and may continue meeting there for several months until a new church is built.

Anita Stanton, wife of Pastor Sheridan Stanton said today services for the congregation, whose church was destroyed by flames early Monday morning, will be held at 920 Upala Road in the Stanton home located adjacent to the spot where the new church will be built.

Mrs. Stanton said her home will probably be used until the building is complete in two-to-three months. The old building, at 1811 W. First St., had already been sold to Riggs Realty of Sanford weeks before the fire broke out.

The real estate dealer had a local contractor install an air conditioner in the building prior to the fire. Faulty wiring leading to the air conditioner was listed as the cause of the fire, investigators said.

No Mediation, Khomeini Says

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini turned down mediation to end the 10-day conflict with Iraq, saying sometimes "war is a good thing," and he sent fighter-bombers on Iran's deadliest raid against Baghdad that left hundreds wounded and dying.

Tehran radio reported early today that the Iranian Cabinet met for 12 hours today under Prime Minister Mohammed Ali Hajjaji to discuss "the situation on the war front and the government's foreign policy" toward Iraq, but the report gave no details.

In Baghdad, Iraq said its forces tightened the siege of Dhi Qar north of the Iranian city of Ahwas, saying they will "control the city at any moment" but were giving the enemy the opportunity to surrender before "they were crushed."

Iraq said it knocked out 18 tanks and destroyed 67 tanks in fighting today, but there were no details on where the losses were inflicted.

"We shall fight against them right to the end," Khomeini said late Tuesday, appealing to his countrymen in the combat "against the enemies of God and the embassies of Ahwas, Khurrumshahr and Ahwas in oil-rich Kuwait province to remain steadfast and not leave their towns."

"From one point of view, war is a very good thing, because it reveals the courage hidden in man and stirs man out of his inactivity," Khomeini said in seeking to rouse the residents of the three key towns in the south to stand and fight.

UPI reporter Joseph Reeves, who is with Iraqi forces, said the troops were 10 miles outside of Ahwas, some 65 miles inside Iran. He reported signs of heavy fighting on the road to Ahwas and said advancing Iraqi forces were being attacked by airplanes.

Some 10 miles southwest of Ahwas on the "Shahr al-Kharr" waterway, Iraqi infantry, artillery and tanks tightened their siege of Ahwas.

There were no reports from Khurrumshahr, the Japanese Foreign Ministry Tuesday said had fallen.

Iran's Ahwaz broadcast orders to civilians to "prepare trenches in the streets, make Molotov cocktails" and "ready themselves for hand-to-hand combat" against the enemies of God and the masses.

Commission Approves Lyman-Milwee Walk

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

The Lyman High School-Milwee Middle School area along County Road 427 will finally get its sidewalk.

The Seminole County Commission voted 14-0 early Wednesday to participate in a joint project with the city of Longwood to build a sidewalk south along 427 past Lyman to Milwee.

The county will provide manpower and equipment, Longwood will furnish materials and the school board will install sidewalk along property it owns fronting the schools.

Commissioners Bill Kirchhoff and Richard Williams voted against the proposal.

The same proposal last week stalled due to a stipulation placed by Commissioner Bob French. French made an motion for the commission to go along with the proposal only if the school board would stipulate the area is their top priority for a sidewalk.

The Seminole County School Board has been asking for a sidewalk in that area since at least 1974, said Commissioner Sandra Glenn.

But Kirchhoff said the school board also identified areas around five elementary schools that need sidewalks.

In response to French's request for a priority list, Superintendent William P. Laver brought the commission a letter Tuesday stating that "all of them are of a number one priority."

"You can't say they didn't name it their number one priority," Mrs. Glenn said.

"You can't say that they did," Kirchhoff said.

"The letter didn't say what I wanted it to say," French said. "But it's clear they don't have any intention of ever establishing a priority list for sidewalks. Evidently it's too much trouble for them."

Laver said it's not the school board's place to tell the county how to spend its money.

Kirchhoff said the school board's earlier list mentioned five elementary school areas that were their top priorities. It did not mention the Lyman-Milwee area, he said.

"The county's policy has been first to build sidewalks that connect with elementary schools," Kirchhoff said. He added that the joint nature of the project is unfair to such cities as Orlando that have put in their own sidewalks without county assistance.

Commissioner Glenn said the city of Longwood has been waiting eight years for the sidewalk.

"I don't want to hear about them waiting eight years," French said. "They haven't been waiting on us. They've been sitting on their you-know-whats."

Winter Springs Budget Undecided

The Winter Springs City Council will meet in an emergency session Oct. 8 to work out final details of the city's budget to be presented at a public hearing Oct. 14.

Council members had originally scheduled no meeting next week. But they say they have still not reached a consensus on the budget which must be almost in final form by the Oct. 19 public hearing.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. at city hall, on Edgemon Avenue.

At a special business meeting Tuesday night, the council also voted unanimously to enlarge the Winter Springs land base by 4 percent.

With a 245-acre parcel of land located between the original city and Thawavilla, the huge planned community to its east, the incorporation of the two parcels closed a gap in the city's boundaries and added land city officials say they have been trying to bring into the city limits for some time.

The largest block of the new parcel is already developed into five-acre lots. The smaller 40-acre parcel in the northern section of the newly acquired land is undeveloped and at this point unaccessible until new roads are planned and put through, officials say.

In other business, the city approved creation of a code enforcement board to handle adjudication of violations of city regulations.

The council also voted unanimously to send a letter to U.S. Postal Service as a protest for the service's refusal to recognize Winter Springs as a mailing address. The council also unanimously voted to waive fees for local candidates' campaign signs, a tradition the city had followed for several years. — DAVID M. RAZLER

Applications For Games Roll In

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

One hundred senior citizens from as far away as Wisconsin have registered for various events in the 1980 Post Fun 'n' Fitness Golden Age Games in Sanford.

"We get 15 inquiries every morning, including one group from Washington State which says it is driving here to participate, but they haven't sent in their entries yet," said Virginia Longwell, secretary of the Greater Sanford Chapter of Commerce.

The event for men and women 65 and older which is being held for the sixth year in Sanford, will be sponsored nationally this year for the first time by General Foods' Post-Oreals.

Jim Jerrigan, chairman of the Golden Age Games (formerly known as the Golden Age Olympics), assured committee members at a meeting this morning the event is not going to lose its local identity.

Jerrigan reminded representatives of the various local organizations who sponsor the individual events that with the presence of Post officials and a national focus here "we will be under a microscope and I expect a quality production from every phase."

He said although General Foods is not giving cash to the committee, it is relieving the local group of much of its financial burden.

Jerrigan pointed out that General Foods had paid the entire cost of a "quality" souvenir book but proceeds from the advertisements in the book will go to the committee. In addition, Post will pay for all models to be awarded winners in the various events. Jerrigan said the models will be three-dimensional and of a much higher quality than in the past.

Post also will be conducting a national publicity campaign and has hired Buster Crabbe, 75-year-old former movie "Tarzan" and Olympic swimmer to be the national spokesman. Crabbe will be making several appearances in the state prior to the Games and will be in Sanford for the whole week.

The committee was restrained from using the word "Olympics" in the name by the United States Olympic Committee, but Jerrigan is still hopeful of being able to attach it back in the near future.

"It may be that we can be named an alternate to the U.S. Olympic Committee and if so would be allowed to use it," he said.

Roll's owner may face criminal charges. See story, Page 8A.

Sanford Jewelry Store Suffers $8,000 Robbery

By DAVID M. RAZLER, Herald Staff Writer Burglars who smashed a hole in the wall of a Sanford jewelry shop made off with at least $8,000 worth of goods, Sanford police say.

The burglary, discovered Monday at Gwaltney Jewelers, 204 S. Park Ave., occurred some time Sunday night, they say.

Police say a 16-inch table leg was used to smash out a 14-inch by 16-inch hole in the back wall of the shop.

From there, thieves were able to force open a door and get into the main room of the store, where they looted counters, they say.

A full list of the stolen goods has not been compiled yet, but police estimate at least $8,000 worth of merchandise was taken out the small hole.

EIGHT BURGLARIES IN SANFORD Sanford police are investigating today eight unrelated burglaries in homes which occurred Monday morning and afternoon.

Items stolen ranged from $200 in silver and jewelry to a $15 ash tray. These burglaries were reported: —Robert Dastern, 2108 Palmilla Ave., told police thieves entered his home between 8 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. through an unlocked rear door.

The thieves left with a box of sterling silverware and $18,725 worth of jewelry kept in a bedroom, he told them.

Total value of the theft was $18,125, police say. —Thieves pried open the back door of Seminoles Court Clerk Art Beckwith's home some time between 1 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. and made off with silver-plated items leaving sterling silver behind.

The thieves also stole a liter of vodka from Beckwith's home at 400 W. 20th St., police say. —Two thousand dollars worth of jewelry was taken from a home at 2018 Elizabeth Court by thieves who entered through an unlocked door, police say.

Daniel Lee Conala told police the burglary at his home occurred between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.

—A television, watch, lamp and bottle of change were taken from Yvonne Brown, 223 Yale Drive, by burglars who forced open a sliding glass door, police say.

The burglary occurred between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., they say. —James Jackson, 68, of 1216 W. 13th St., recovered the two 22-caliber rifles he saw a man take from his home at 6:10 p.m.

The thief ran out a back door, chased by Jackson, who lost the thief but found his guns under a neighbor's porch, police say.

Burglars pried the lock off the front door of a home at 419 E. Third Street between 8:20 a.m. and 8:47 p.m. and made off with a stereo and television, police say.

Homeowner Robert Walker valued the loss at $1,205. —Thieves used either a key or a credit card to force open the door of Eric Ervin's apartment at Bamboo Court some time Monday, police say. The complex is located off Airport Boulevard.

A television worth $140 was taken, they report. —An ash tray and cigarettes with a total value of $25 were the only items taken from the home of Ralph Sierpniowski, 207 Maple Ave., between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., police say.

Burglars pulled a screen from a front window and got into his home, they report.

Penthouse's 'Pet-Of-Year' Turns Down Honor, Prizes

United Press International ABIDJON: For the first time in 15 years of celebrating the ultimate in feminine pulchritude, a Penthouse magazine Pet-of-the-Year Tuesday night refused the honor — and with it $200.00 in cash and prizes.

Isabella Ardgo stunned publisher Bob Guccione in the final moment of her coronation at New York's Lincoln Center by refusing the crown, saying, "I cannot give up my personal freedom."

"She's still pet of the year. The $200.00 now will go to charity of her choice." And he adds, "She could have taken the money and run, I think it's a beautiful gesture."

Bronx Students Gain Hall

THIONX TO THE BRONX: Ogden Nash once said it succinctly: "The Bronx, No Bronx." Zaida Mehta and the New York Philharmonic decided to dispel that dismal view of the New York City borough Sunday by inaugurating a gleaming new auditorium on the campus of Lehman College.

Mehta told his audience, "I wish I could get the podium and come out there and sit with you to hear this new hall." He then cut the speechifying short, saying he'd let the music speak for itself. It did, gloriously, as the orchestra under Mehta's baton played a piece by Brahms and two new works by composers on the Lehman music department staff.

Among celebrities in the audience was Jean Meskale, the vice president of the

Abbie Makes Star Rounds

THE GATE CHASHER: The star of the movie attended the screening almost without being noticed, and so did the man the movie is all about. Anonymity was easier Sunday at New York's 18th annual film festival for Melvin Dummar than it was for Jason Robards. The film is "Melvin and Howard" in which Robards plays Howard Hughes in recreating Dummar's claim he picked the eccentric billionaire up in the desert a few years before his death and wound up prominently mentioned in his will. Also on hand for the screening was Vippie founder Abbie Hoffman — awaiting sentencing on an old drug charge. He did not object to being photographed by the cameras with Michael J. Pollard of "Bonnie and Clyde" fame. Said he, "I got in. That's why I'm here."

Sammy's Satisfied At 50

BIG BARBADABEEPOPPEE: Sammy Davis Jr. didn't just say it. He acted it out. —"Barbadababoo! Once a hoodler, always a hoodler," and he went into a lounge-scaping, "old-time routine right there in his New York Berkshire Hotel suite. Born at Harlem Hospital in 1925, Davis was home to peddle his new book, "Hollywood in a Suitcase." When UPI reporter Lee Camery asked him about the future, he grinned, sat down and said, "Baby, when you reach 50, you don't want to run to the top any more. You want to walk — or better yet, get a car." But Davis fans can relax. He says his schedule includes finishing touches on his new movie, "Cannonball," with Bart Reynolds and Dean Martin, a musical, and of course, a lot more "Barbadababoo!" in his Las Vegas showcase.

Photographer Seeks Nature

QUOTE OF THE DAY: Globe-trotting Swiss-photographer Brian Zahler, embarking from New York on his third trip to Antarctica—this time as a tour guide — on reasons for going to such a hostile environment: "I have a compelling urge to go to a place not experienced by regular tourists — a place of untouched pure nature with its penguins and seals and albatross. They're my old friends. They'll remember me. Besides, it's summer down there now. The temperature will be up to 45 below."

Cab Calloway Enshrined

GLIMPSES: The Negro Actors Guild Sunday enshrined Cab Calloway in its Hall of Fame at Broadway's Schubert Theater. In keeping with a law passed in 1982, President Carter has proclaimed Oct. 6 as a National Day of Prayer, to which he's added a request for fasting on behalf of the hostages in Iran. Writer Finds Paradise At Cambodian Guerrillas' Jungle Home

By SYLVANA FOA, ODDAR MEANCHAY, Rebel Held Cambodia (UPI) — A few days in the jungle hideout of the Cambodian guerrillas sounds adventurous — until you find the toilet paper is pink and the meals are catered.

Invitations to visit the Khmer Rouge liberated zones are much coveted. But everyone who is anyone is ultimately asked for "a weekend in the country" by the rebel government, now waging a diplomatic campaign for world sympathy and support for its bloody war against 200,000 Vietnamese troops occupying Cambodia.

The invitation and instructions for a secret 9 p.m. rendezvous are delivered over the telephone by a husky voice with a highly developed sense of cloak-and-dagger theater.

"What will I need to bring?" I ask, mentally ticking off a packing list of flak jacket, ground sheet, Crationas and bath boots.

"An umbrella," whispers the husky voice.

Eight grueling, bone-breaking hours in the back of a pickup truck, through the dead of night and a monsoon storm, bring us to the edge of the Cambodian forest high in the Dograk mountains.

With that we begin a 1-1/2 mile hike through the dawn woods toward the provisional headquarters of rebel President Khieu Samphan.

The camp itself is a Taram movie set with regulation creeper vines and screeching effie blees. Five bamboo-and-batch bungalows are neatly nestled among the banyan trees, each equipped with cots, mattresses and mosquito nets. Immaculate thatch'outhouses sport pink toilet paper.

Where a series of explosions echoes through the hills a few miles away, one of Khieu Samphan's ministers explains, "An animal has touched off some of our mines."

"Our men are attacking," contradicts another. There is no time to settle the question. Lunch is being served in an airy, open pavilion.

Cold beer, Weiner schmitzel, French fries and chef's salad — all catered by a Bangkok hotel and carried in freezer chests through the jungle by army porters.

"We couldn't ask you to eat what we eat," says a minister when the guests utter feeble protests. "Our men eat squirrel, wild chickens, whatever corn they can grow."

Throwing ourselves back into the pickup truck for the long, bumpy journey back home, we shiver in soaking jeans and chuckle. We have tasted a bit of the guerrilla life after all.

Judge Williams: A Worthy Career

There are many professional pursuits which place men and women in the unenviable position of making decisions affecting the lives of others.

On the subject of becoming a judge: "Every lawyer ought to have to be a judge for at least three years to prove to himself how dumb he is."

On the subject of capital punishment: "No jury has ever recommended death in my court. I would not hesitate to pronounce the sentence if the jury recommended it."

Why is the 60-year-old judge retiring after so long and dedicated a career? "I've enjoyed my years on the bench until the last five, now I'm tired."

Why did he choose this career? "I assumed that being a judge would give me a much greater opportunity to further God's kingdom on earth, than just practicing law."

That a major accident is no ordinary matter. When the Air Force refused to confirm that the missile had a nuclear warhead and refused to discuss the search for the war head and its recovery, it was only increasing the fears of the people.

No one doubted the Titan missile that exploded had a thermonuclear warhead. It is common knowledge that such missiles are so armed.

Hearts And Bowers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — How long has it been, sir or madam, since you have dallied with a bower?

Long enough, I'll warrant, that it sort of leaps off the page at you, a painful reminder of the ghastly extent to which romance has gone out of your life.

Bowers used to be among the most romantic spots on Earth. Even today — Be still my heart! — the subject can bring on palpitations.

An otherwise rather prosaic dictionary I consult waxes downright lyrical about them. A "shelter or covered place made with boughs of trees or vines twined together."

See what I mean? Since when have you heard tree limbs spoken of as "boughs"?

It is announcing the opening of a new exhibit called "A Victorian Horticultural Extravaganza," a museum publication ran a picture captioned "meat a shady bower in a Victorian garden."

Note that poetic apostrophe. Bowers always bring out the apostrophes in writers. A well-placed apostrophe is the calligraphic equivalent of heavy breathing together.

... bowers were found both in the garden and in the parlor a century ago.

The Smithsonian offered no details as to what took place beyond the peruse of the chaparrals. The literature of that period suggests, however, that there was a lot of trouble-making going on.

And when a Victorian couple plighted a troth, neither an ivy-covered bower, believe me, it stayed plighted.

I wouldn't want to speculate as to what else they might have done while thus enmeshed. I can, however, tell you that the house plants decorating Victorian parlors were classified as "bushes." So you can let your imagination take it from there.

Anyway, pulse fluttering wildly, I beat it down to the Smithsonian to get a look at the latticework bower it had constructed as part of the exhibit. Candor compels me to report that the museum's version really wasn't all that fabulous, perhaps because no beady-eyed chaparrals were pressing around the simulated parlor.

Even so, I could tell it was a swell place for a tryst. ("Let's tryst again this summer," urged one of the love songs of that period.)

Why, considering how much fun they were, did bowers go out of style? Presumably for the same reason chaparrals did.

Whatever the reason, it is plain that a great deal of romance went out with them. Along with a great many apostrophes.

JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The confidential files of the late Howard Hughes allege that Ronald Reagan's campaign chairman, Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., once secretly killed a civil rights bill at the request of the erratic billionaire.

The Hughes documents state that Laxalt, while he was governor of Nevada, lobbied behind the scenes to kill an open housing bill which Laxalt pretended to be supporting. The documents also claim that Laxalt killed the legislation after Hughes promised him "unlimited financial support."

Laxalt vehemently denied any suggestion that he was ever asked to work against the fair housing bill, much less that he actually did so. "That's pure B.S.," he told my associate Gary Cobb. "I wouldn't have responded to that request."

The documents alluding to Laxalt's alleged role in the defeat of the housing legislation in April 1969 are among thousands reportedly stolen from Hughes' Los Angeles headquarters in 1971 and later obtained by author Michael Dresdin. His book on Hughes, "Citizen Hughes: In His Own Words — How Howard Hughes Tried to Buy America," will be published next year by Holt, Rinehart & Winston.

I reported in a previous column, the Hughes documents also allege that Laxalt helped Hughes build his Nevada gambling empire and turners for the billionaire's promise to give him a job and eventually make him president of the United States. Laxalt's law firm received $7,000 from Hughes after Laxalt left the government.

The Hughes papers clearly show the billionaire was a bigot. In one memo after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King in April 1968, Hughes ordered his chief of staff, Robert Mahou, to resist the "unreasonable" attempt "to adopt a more liberal attitude toward integration, open housing and employment of more Negroes."

The billionaire reclusé acknowledged that his attitude was "not very praiseworthy," but explained, "I feel the Negroes have already made enough progress to last the next 100 years, and there is such a thing as overdoing it."

One year later, Hughes had a newspaper article reporting that Laxalt was supporting a fair housing bill, which was expected to pass only because of the governor's influence.

"Please read all — every word — of this article," Hughes wrote to Mahou. "This worries me... What worries me most is that I am just hovering on the brink of further huge investments in Nevada, and Laxalt's friendship is an important part of this decision."

Laxalt pushed the bill, wrote Hughes, it would be a "peculiar friendship."

He then got down to cases. "Please Call (Laxalt) or ask (Hughes lobbyist Tom) Bell to contact him at once... Tomorrow may be too late... You may send Laxalt through Bell toward integration, open housing and employment of more Negroes."

Falcons Face Undeclared Lions With Defensive Woes

SUWANEE, Ga. (UPI) — The Atlanta Falcons' difficulty in stopping opponents' four-quarter offenses appears magnified with the obstinate Detroit Lions immediately ahead.

The Falcons, 2-2, suffered both of their losses in the closing seconds and allowed a 17-point fourth-quarter lead to get away last Sunday before they edged previously-unbeaten San Francisco, 20-17. This Sunday they host the Lions who had a 48-0 fourth-quarter edge over their four victims.

"We haven't done the job in the closing minutes," Falcons coach Leeman Bennett said Tuesday at his weekly news conference. "People have been able to take the ball and move it on us late in the game. We need to change our coverage and try to stop them."

One of the problems, said Bennett, has been the lack of staying power of some of the Falcons' starting linebackers. Bennett pointed out Buddy Curry and Jodi Williams were both sidelined by cramps in the final minutes of the losses to Minnesota and Miami and Curry was out again in the final minutes at San Francisco.

"In each case it has been a loss of fluids," said Bennett. "We've tried leading them up with fluids both before and during the games, but we've still been plagued by heat cramps. Oddly enough, it seems only our linebackers who have been affected."

Without those two starting linebackers, the Falcons permitted the Vikings to march close enough to kick a field goal with 26 seconds left in a 24-23 loss and blew a 17-3 fourth-quarter lead in their 20-17 loss to Miami.

"We can't blame these late lapses solely on those missing linebackers," said Bennett. "Whatever the reason, we have not done what we needed to do."

Atlanta's linebacking corps lost starter Fulton Kuykendall for six to eight weeks after his shoulder was operated on Tuesday morning. Robert Pennywell will take over his inside slot.

"We didn't start Kuykendall this past Sunday, hoping to give his shoulder a rest and possibly avoid an operation," said Bennett. "But when things weren't going as well as they should early, we put him in and he stayed in for most of the game, much more than we had expected."

Bennett said the Falcons will be at full strength this coming Sunday when they host the Lions, except for Kuykendall.

"We'll need everybody we've got," said Bennett. "When you look at the Lions' statistics (averaging 29.3 points and 421 yards per game), it looks like they should have won six games instead of playing just four."

"They are playing offense very well, keeping their defense in the field, which has allowed an average of 18.2 points off the field. Their big difference from last year has not only been (rookie running back) Billy Sims (the NFL's leading rusher with 329 yards) but (quarterback) Gary Danielson has been a big factor in every game."

"Danielson's a big, smart quarterback," said Bennett. "The Lions missed him more than anyone else last year when they had a rash of injuries."

Miami Puts Damper On Seminole-Nebraska Clash

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was to be a matchup of two undefeated and explosive teams, both ranked in the Top 10, with the winner enhancing its chances for a national championship.

But last week, Miami (Fla.) put a damper on Saturday's Florida State-Nebraska game when the Hurricanes stunned the Seminoles, 16-9, at the Orange Bowl, knocking them out of the Top 10.

Now, the disheartened Seminoles must prepare for their first ever meeting with No. 3 Nebraska.

"I'm sure our kids are going to be depressed but that's part of college football," said Florida State Coach Bobby Bowen.

"But when they see that Nebraska team on film they'll be in shock. This is a great Nebraska football team, one that has a very good chance to win the national championship. We can't afford to play poorly against the Huskers or they'll blow us right out of Lincoln."

Here are the selections:

SOUTHWEST
Texas 49, Rice 3 — Rice still riding on Cloud Nine after victory over LSU and show little resistance against Terry Elston.
Oklahoma 33, Colorado 14 — Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer can't remember the last time he lost two straight.

18, Texas Tech 14; North Texas State 27, SW Louisiana 10.
WEST
Oklahoma 33, Colorado 14 — Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer can't remember the last time he lost two straight.

Southern Cal 34, Arizona State 20 — The last time Southern Cal lost was two years ago — a 20-7 shocker to Arizona State — and Trojans still remember.
Others: Washington State, Stanford 20, San Jose State 10 — Stanford quarterback John Elway proves to his father, San Jose State Coach Jack Elway, that his performance against Oklahoma — and Trojans still remember.

Miss Cosmato, V.R. Richburg Exchange Vows

Catherine Naomi Cosmato and Victor Ronald Richburg were united in holy matrimony on Sept. 20, at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Sanford. The bride's father performed the double ring ceremony in a candlelight setting.

"We didn't start Kaykendall this past Sunday, hoping to give his shoulder a rest and possibly avoid an operation," said Bennett. "But when things weren't going as well as they should early, we put him in and he stayed in for most of the game, much more than we had expected."

MRS. VICTOR RONALD RICHBURG

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jay T. Cosmato of Sanford. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. N.L. Richburg of Lake Mary.

Rev. and Mrs. Terry L. Clark presented musical selections, accompanied at the organ by Robin Hodges. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Doddell Atlanta, personal friends of the bride, decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her brother, Richard Jay Cosmato of Atlanta, the bride chose for her vows a formal gown fashioned of chiffon and delicate lace. The Queen Anne neckline was accented by an elaborate of shiny Venise lace flowing throughout the bodice. The long full sheer sleeves terminated in wide ruffled cuffs. The elegant French pleated skirt was bordered with a pleated, lace-trimmed ruffle which cascaded into a chapel train.

A Venise lace cap, halo-effect, embellished with seed pearls, secured the bride's blusher and lace-trimmed fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a white lace fan ornately arranged with apricot roses, lilies, baby's breath and lily-of-the-valley centered with two white orchids given by a family friend. The arrangement was showered with lace ribbon streamers.

Jonnie Burch of Pensacola, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore an apricot colored Gaegele gown (fashioned with spaghetti straps and a softly pleated skirt topped with a sheer cape. She carried a bouquet of apricot roses with matching streamers. Sprigs of white baby's breath adorned her hair.

Pat Bliss and Janet Thomas were the bridesmaids. Their gowns were identical in design to the honor attendant. They carried bouquets of apricot colored roses accented with greenery, baby's breath and matching streamers.

Ushers were Karl Richburg and Greg Richburg, brothers of the bridegroom, Tom Fugan and Rick Austin. Groomsmen were Chris Ritchey and Robert Robinson. The flower girl was Dorrie Weckley.

The reception was held at the Garden Club of Sanford. The decorations included six large wedding bells with white and apricot bows and streamers. The area depicted a garden scene with a mechanical bird and groom sitting on a love seat. A five-foot bird cage was filled with white and apricot streamers with two large white doves.

The top layer of the four-tiered wedding cake featured a miniature bride and groom under a double heart-shaped arch accented with delicate lace and seed pearls which was taken from the bride's parents' wedding cake of 27 years ago.

The cake table was overlaid with a hand crocheted white lace tablecloth made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Eva Swanson of Hayesville, N.C. The bridegroom's cake also had a surprise birthday cake for the bride with the guests singing the birthday song. The groom's cake table was overlaid with a hand-crocheted white lace coverlet made by his grandmother, Mrs. Siamia Bonarog of Pascagoula, Miss.

For her going away outfit the bride chose a silk apricot colored dress with matching sheer coat. She wore the orchids from her bouquet and a heart-shaped pin of 21 spools, a gift from the bridegroom.

Following a wedding trip to the Bahamas the newlyweds are making their home in Longwood. The bride is a registered nurse at Florida South Hospital in Palm Bay and the groom is a building contractor, VP ESPRIT Inc., Sanford.

15-Year-Old's Culinary Interest Help To Family

By TOM NETSEL
Herald Staff Writer

Eric Marshall is a 15-year-old sophomore at Lake Brantley High School and like many young men his age, he is interested in sports. He enjoys running and jogging but he is not his main hobby.

My hobby is cooking, admitted the 15-year-old. "I've been cooking for three-and-a-half years. I started by watching my mom cook and it looked so interesting and fun I just wanted to get into it."

Eric, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Marshall, recently moved with his family from Woodside Drive to a new home in the Wakefield development off Wekiva Springs Road. While they are still living out of boxes and trying to find where everything is packed, Eric helps with the cooking chores.

Both parents work and his mother attends classes at Seminole Community College two nights a week, so his culinary interest is a real help on school nights when he prepares dinner for his brothers and parents.

Eric said he likes gourmet cooking and experimenting with different foods. He will take a basic recipe, change a few ingredients and give it his own individual flavor. He says chicken teriyaki is his number one specialty.

When the Marshalls entertain, Eric will often help with the cooking and the guests are surprised when they find the preparation of a certain dish. "They think it's my mom's recipe, but it's really really impressed," he said.

After graduating from high school, Eric plans to get a master's degree in interior design but he would like to do something with cooking in a professional sense.

If a young man expresses any interest in cooking or working in the kitchen, his friends might kid him about it, but Eric has not had any jokes or comments from his friends at school. "I've never told anybody about it," he said.

CHICKEN TERIYAKI
4 to 6 chicken breasts or legs
1 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup dry cooking sherry
2 to 4 drops tabasco sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Mix one cup of soy sauce in a large bowl with the cooking sherry. Mix the garlic and add to the liquid along with the finely chopped garlic, stir in and mix well the tabasco sauce and lemon juice.

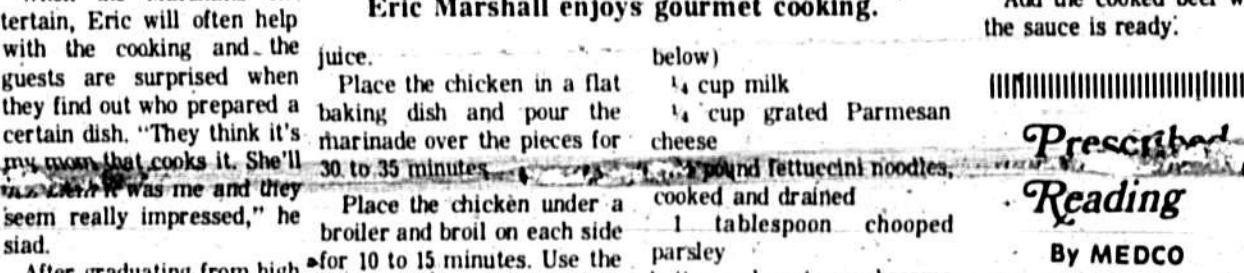

Place the chicken in a flat baking dish and pour the marinade over the pieces for 30 to 35 minutes.

Place the chicken under a broiler and broil on each side for 10 to 15 minutes. Use the sauce as a barbecue sauce and brush the chicken with it three or four times while it is broiling. After the chicken has been broiled pour the remaining sauce over the chicken and bake it for another 30 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

FETTUCINE ALLA PAPALINA
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced, or one 8-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
1 cup chopped onion
1 pound cooked ham, diced
basic white sauce (see below)

1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 1/2 cups fettuccine noodles, cooked and drained
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
butter and saute mushrooms and onion until tender. Add ham and mix well. In a saucepan, make basic white sauce. Stir in 1/4 cup additional milk and Parmesan cheese. Add ham mixture; heat until bubbly, stirring constantly. Serve over hot noodles. Garnish with parsley and additional Parmesan cheese, if desired.

2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon butter or margarine

Eric Marshall enjoys gourmet cooking.

Tired Of Earth Tones?

Pastels, In Own Sweet Way, Are Taking Over In Decor

NEW YORK (NEA) — Don't get pastels wrong. They're soft and light-hearted, but in their own sweet way, they're taking over.

According to Pat Rushin, senior fashion and color coordinator for Eastman Chemical Productions, Inc., "Nothing changes overnight, but in home furnishings we're coming out of a spectrum of earth tones. We're interested, outwardly, rugged feeling into pretty pastels and smoother fabrics."

"We're tired of the old 'spectrum' which started in the '60s, she says, when everything was 'blue-jays, sit on the floor, stark neutrals and rough fabrics' and other people's lifestyles is damned.

And we're tired of being battered and buffed by life. We want to be soothed and comforted and you can't beat pastels for that.

Or, incidentally, for conserving energy, she claims. "It's much easier to light a room that has light-colored walls than one that's deep forest green.

All well and good, you say. But I'm not in the mood to scrape and paint, and what do I do with my burgundy sofa, navy drapes and chocolate brown carpet in the living room?

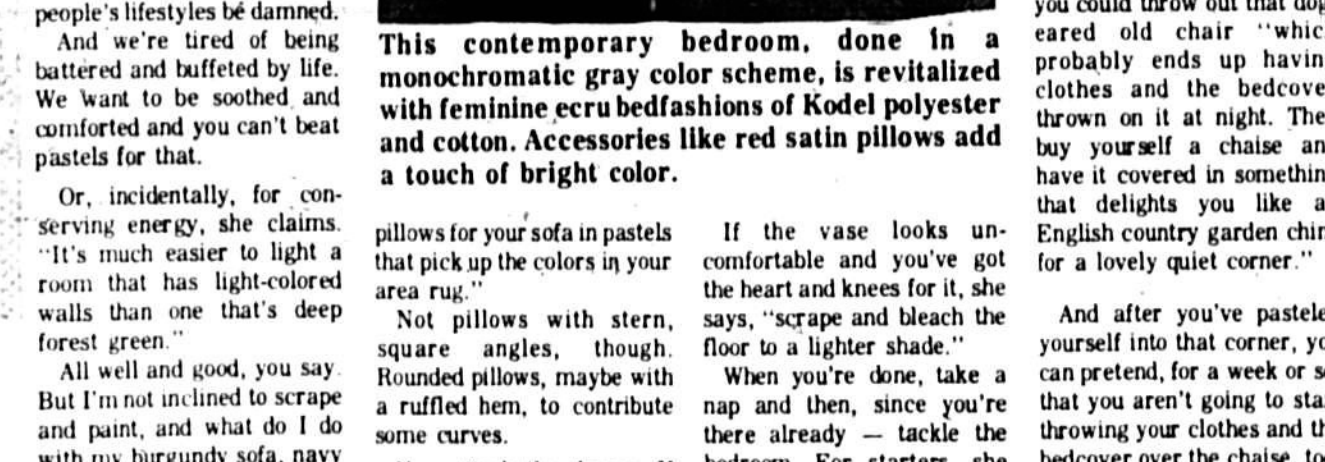

Think small, she replies. "Very few of us have a blank canvas with which to start or enough money to do that."

On top of that chocolate carpet, then, you can put an area rug in the oval or pale aqua family, or another pastel that pleases your eye. Then replace a stark white pleated lampshade with one in pale peach or seafoam green and, she says, "buy some pillows for your sofa in pastels that pick up the colors in your area rug."

If the vase looks uncomfortable and you've got the heart and knes for it, she says, "scraps and bleach the floor to a lighter shade."

When you're done, take a nap and then, since you're there already — tackle the bedroom. For starters, she says, "scraps and bleach the floor to a lighter shade."

When you're done, take a nap and then, since you're there already — tackle the bedroom. For starters, she says, "scraps and bleach the floor to a lighter shade."

This contemporary bedroom, done in a monochromatic gray color scheme, is revitalized with feminine ecru bedfashions of Kodol polyester and cotton. Accessories like red satin pillows add a touch of bright color.

Totes Make Great Gifts For Holidays

By JUDY LOVE
Special to the Herald
Needlework projects don't have to be confined to the typical scarves, hats, mittens and sweaters. How about an easy project that also turns into something useful, colorful and good-looking? A terrific tote answers those "tidable" needs — for yourself or for the person on your gift list who is hard to buy for.

The shoulder bag tote is an ideal item to work before the holidays. The threads running through the yarn give it a special Christmas sparkle. It's ideal for shopping, because it's the perfect size for those smaller packages you'll be purchasing. And, since it slings over your shoulder, your hands are free.

As a gift, what could be better than the tote... with a surprise package tucked inside. Whether it's for a special friend or dear aunt, either will appreciate her favorite fragrance, or a warm wool scarf you've made just for her.

Naturally you can use the tote all year long. It's perfect for the extra that won't fit in a handbag.

The colorful bag has an ecru base and ecru pullovers with blue and green tassels to accent the vertical stripes in ecru, blue, purple and hunter green. The instructions call for a steel crochet hook and Coats & Clark's "speed-crochet." You will also need an embroidery hoop, six inches in diameter.

To order instructions send 50 cents to "Stitchin' Time," P.O. Box 303, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for leaflet SH2 and don't forget to include your name, address and zip code.

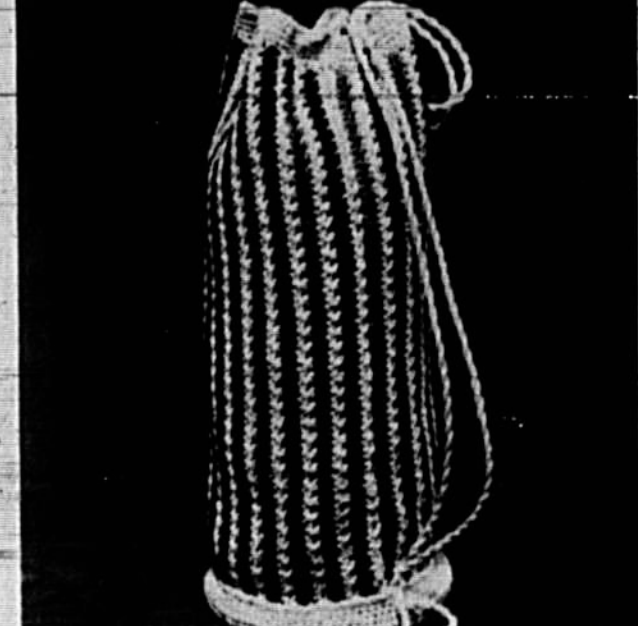

KNIT KNACKS
Dear Judy Love: After I've knitted or crocheted a sweater, it ends up smaller than it should. Unfortunately, the sweaters don't fit correctly, and I look like I grew out of them! What am I doing incorrectly? — H.M.S., North Dakota

Dear H.M.S.: You crocheted and knit with a tight tension, which makes your garments turn out too small. Try using a hook or knitting needles in a size or two larger than called for and you will overcome this problem. Always check your gauge before starting a project. Knit or crochet a three-inch square using the yarn and needle called for. Block it, then count your rows and stitches across.

Don't be too concerned about the size of the needle called for in the instructions. Use whatever size that will give you the number of stitches per inch that the instructions call for.

Dear Judy Love: I have made a broomstick lace afghan and, unfortunately, the sides are crooked. Is there anything I can do to straighten them? — D.S., Maine

Dear D.S.: Because the broomstick lace stitch is so loose, this problem is very common. Here are a couple of suggestions I have.

Crochet this sparkling tote as a gift for that special someone — or use it yourself to carry small packages while shopping.

You'll have to decide how many single crochets to each row so that the piece falls flat and doesn't pucker.

'Y' Offers Classes

A new session of fall classes will be starting the week of Oct. 6, sponsored by the Seminole County YMCA.

An exercise class, "Jazzercise," will be offered on Wednesdays and Fridays from 9:30-10:30 a.m. at the V.P.W. Post #207 Ladies' Auxiliary Hall on SR 427 in Longwood. Instructor Joy Hinkle will be introducing this new way of getting and staying in shape.

Another way to shape up in time for the holidays is Belly Dancing. This Middle Eastern dance form will be taught by Chaitra on Monday evenings from 7-8:00 p.m. at Teague Middle School.

If you have always wanted to explore the inner depths of the sea, now is the time to join the YMCA Scuba Diving class. Master Diving Instructor Jim Hollis will be offering International YMCA Scuba Diving Certification at the Casselberry Pool on Monday and Thursday evenings from 7:30-10 p.m.

Y-Winners Cheerleading squads will also begin forming at various Seminole County schools during the week of Oct. 6.

Rose By Any Other Color Just Could Be Coal-Black

DEAR ABBY: A reader writes to say that a co-worker had planned to carry a bridal bouquet of black roses. She asked, "Is this proper? And don't black roses symbolize death?"

You're putting the onus on me, just because you've never seen black roses doesn't mean there aren't any.

The Tidings, a Catholic publication, recently carried an article titled, "A Priest Who Grew Roses." The priest, the Rev. George Schoener, also was a botanist who gained a national reputation for having developed numerous new strains of roses, of which the beautiful coal-black rose was one.

The Salem, Ore., Journal carried the title of "31 Padre de las Rosas" on Father Schoener in 1936. And all along I thought everything we had planned to do was a rose.

On Sunday we invited some neighbors in for Sunday buffet. The visiting children got into line first, loaded their plates up, ate fast, and came back for seconds before some of the adults even had a first bite. Their parents either didn't see or didn't care what was going on.

After these weekend guests left, I could have kicked myself for not having found some way to control the situation.

Needless to say, this family will never be invited back. How would you have handled it?

MAD AT MYSELF
DEAR MAD: Probably much the same way you did — or didn't — handle it. It's awkward to discipline, scold, guests when their parents are present and look out the window.

Since 20-30 hindsight is always useless, your decision never to invite them back is understandable.

DEAR ABBY: With the changing times (and less emphasis on the more formal aspects of a wedding), my wife and I are often faced with an embarrassing dilemma. We are both pastors who officiate at many weddings. We are seldom invited in advance to the rehearsal dinner or the wedding reception, but when we start to leave, the bride says, "Please stay. We thought you knew you were invited."

We never presume that we are invited unless we have received an invitation beforehand. Abby, we have small children and must make arrangements for having them looked after, just as all the other invited guests who have been officially invited.

Please remind your readers that if the officiating pastor is expected to stay for the rehearsal dinner and reception, an invitation should be sent.

Europe Better Look Out; U.S. Team Out For 'Gold'

It was clearly a gastronomic summit meeting on Sept. 7, in Washington, D.C. Some guests had come all the way from Florida, New York and Philadelphia. All gathered to give a final opinion on the U.S. Culinary Team's competition recipes during a dinner prepared especially for them.

The U.S. Culinary Team's recipes were lavishly decorated for the 120 guests in black, white, tuxedos and festive dresses. Confreres de la Chaine des Rotisseurs members mingled with colleagues from the International Food and Wine Society. Frontmost food critics, journalists and television commentators raised glasses with senators, diplomats and government administrators—all in the name of haute cuisine.

This Sunday dinner was to become the last practice session before the Team heads for the 15th International Culinary Competition in Frankfurt, Germany. All weekend the Team had been in preparation for the dinner gathering in anticipation of Sept. 8. But it's actually been a year since the chefs began preparation—testing, tasting and perfecting the recipes which were ready for scrutiny—the two recipes that would both surprise and please the palates of these discriminating gastronomes by the end of evening.

The Team of chefs had already been presented to many of the guests on Sept. 5, when Lewis held a press conference to better acquaint the local press and gourmets with the "Culinary Olympics" phenomenon.

At that time, Team Captain Klaus Friederich explained that the Team felt that to meet the competition head-on, it had to develop appealing dishes with relatively inexpensive ingredients and a large measure of creativity, combining the best of American know-how and American bounty.

After several brief salutations, Sunday's dinner settled down to menu No. 1: Black Sea Bass St. Augustine with Lemon Sauce; Sautéed Pea Pods with Tomatoes; New Potatoes Baked with Cheese. Most agreed that the dish's colors and textures were a subtle and exciting blend and discussed the unusual preparation of this Atlantic fish. But it was menu No. 2 that caused a true stir in the room. Turkey Breast Oklahoma: Mushroom-Chopped Potatoes; Pearl Onions in Vegetable Nest; Cranberry Relish in Pear Halfs.

The Team had enhanced a common rolled turkey breast with a novel new stuffing that added both moisture and flavor. Composed of Virginia ham, dried dark meat and vegetables, the stuffing not only added to the appearance and taste of the dish, it also helped achieve a yield of six portions per pound of turkey. What's more, the chefs were saving energy by cooking the dish for one rather than three hours. Several society members smiled admiringly at the fact that they had received turkey as a delicacy. And one enthusiastic gourmet reminded his colleagues, "Turkey should be our national bird anyway!"

In Frankfurt the Team will plate 100 portions of each of these menus and serve them to the judges and to patrons of the International restaurant. The judges who represent the 20 participating countries will evaluate the output of seven national kitchens each day on the basis of complete preparation, practical serving and presentation, taste, novelty, an orderly working place and efficient use of time. Chefs from dozens of other nations will face the same grueling test.

As the all-American Monday Evening was poured with the presentation of the "Scottie Amaretto Fizz," the individual gourmets were introduced to the podium to express their reactions.

"I'm proud to be an American," enthused one speaker. "This has been an overall delightful dinner. Our culture can now take its place with the great cuisines of the world!"

Another added, "These American chefs are showing what U.S. bounty can produce. We are truly blessed."

Senator Strom Thurmond (left) and his wife, Nancy, congratulate members of the U.S. Culinary Team after the formal "dress rehearsal" held recently in Washington, D.C.

TURKEY BREAST OKLAHOMA

Ferred Meat:
 1 1/2 pounds white turkey meat
 4 ounces fat back
 1 egg
 Salt and pepper, to taste
 3 ounces dark turkey meat, julienned

Stuffing:
 1/2 cup chopped onions
 2 cloves garlic, minced
 1/4 cup diced carrots
 1/4 cup diced parsley stems
 1 1/2 cup butter
 1/2 pound mushrooms, diced
 3 ounces diced Virginia ham
 2 green onions, sliced
 Sage, to taste
 Thyme, to taste
 Cooked and dried liver and giblets from turkey, approximately 3 ounces
 2 egg yolks
 1/4 cup coarse breadcrumbs
 Salt, to taste
 Pepper, to taste

Grind white meat and fat back in food processor. Blend egg, salt and pepper into ground meat. By hand, fold in dark meat. Saute onions, garlic, carrots, and parsley stems in butter. Add mushrooms, Virginia ham, green onions, sage and thyme and continue to saute. Add cooked dried liver and giblets and heat thoroughly. Remove from heat and add egg yolks and breadcrumbs. Blend and season with salt and pepper. Cool before spreading on turkey.

To make roll, spread meat on plastic wrap in layer approximately 1/2 inch thick. Then spread 1/4 inch layer of stuffing on top of meat. Roll up in jelly roll fashion and detach plastic wrap. Smooth together edges and pat top with water to round. Bake at 375 degrees for 1 to 1 1/2 hours in roasting pan, basting four times with butter and drippings. Slice into individual portions for serving. Yield: 6 servings.

BLACK SEA BASS ST. AUGUSTINE

2 1/2 pounds or 4 pieces black sea bass fillets, boneless and skinless

Salt, to taste
 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
 2 tablespoons finely chopped shallots
 4 tablespoons dried green onions
 4 ounces butter (1 stick)
 1 cup flour for roux and coating
 1/4 cup light cream
 5 ounces Alaskan King crabmeat, cut in small pieces
 1/4 cup dry white wine
 White pepper, to taste
 Hot red pepper sauce, to taste
 1/2 cup fresh breadcrumbs
 4 medium eggs
 1/2 cup clarified butter

Butterfly fish fillets and season with salt and lemon juice. Let marinate in refrigerator for 1 hour. Saute shallots and green onions in butter until tender. Add enough flour to make a creamy roux. Simmer for several minutes and add cream. After mixture comes to a boil, simmer and add crabmeat, wine and seasonings. Remove from heat and stir in breadcrumb and eggs. SALADS Tailored To Taste

There was a time, as it goes in plays and novels, when the lady of the house complimented her cook on an exceptionally fine dinner. Nowadays, the lady of the house is likely to be the one who plays combinations of fruit and vegetables, possibly adding a few, as well. Consequently, daily food planning is a challenge to time.

While many of today's family menus may be quick and easy to prepare, often only last-minute thought (if any) goes to important side dishes that make a meal exciting. Result? Little food harmony or few new eating experiences. All that's needed is a creative touch with color, texture and flavor, which adds dimension to a meal. This is where super salads in-muffin pans take a bow—Muffin Pan Salads that begin with Zell-O gelatin. These salad marvels need not shatter the budget because they use a bevy of fruits and vegetables you may happen to have on hand, and that includes leftovers. Happily, it's the fruit flavor gelatin that pulls all ingredients together into harmonious sparkling side salads.

Where should you start, for example, when Sunday roast chicken is on the menu? There's no limit to the possibilities of mixing and matching the combinations of fruits and vegetables. It's all incredibly easy because you simply place tasty combinations in muffin pans with aluminum foil liners, pour fruit flavor gelatin over them and chill! Try diced apple and pear, or diced cantaloupe teamed with dried honeydew melon. Or, place shredded zucchini and carrot accented with minced onion in the liners and fill the cups with a mixture of lemon flavor gelatin. Whatever your choice, in just about two hours you're on the way to unloading these petite salads on crisp salad greens.

Now that you've discovered this new concept of fruit flavor gelatin salads, show off your ingenuity and create your very own. Bon appetit!

MUFFIN PAN FRUIT SALAD
1 package (3 oz.) orange flavor gelatin
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 cup each fruit combination

Dissolve gelatin, salt and ginger in boiling water. Add lemon juice. Place aluminum foil cupcake liners in muffin pan. Place fruit combination in cups, filling each about 2/3 full. Then fill with gelatin mixture. Chill until firm, about 2 hours. Unmold carefully from foil cups. Serve with crisp salad greens, if desired. Makes about 3 cups or 8 servings.

SUGGESTED FRUIT COMBINATIONS:
1 can (8 1/2 oz.) fruit cocktail, drained, and 1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup each diced fresh peaches and orange sections
1/2 cup each diced apple and pear
1/2 cup each diced cantaloupe and honeydew melon

MUFFIN PAN SALAD
1 package (3 oz.) lemon-flavor gelatin
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon vinegar

Pear Sundae: a refreshing treat

Diet Salad Attractive, Nutritious

Inventive and attractive ways of serving a new dish make foods for those on a semi-diet more attractive. Such an appetizing selection for someone who wants to cut down on calorie intake at certain meals—lunch, for example—is a pear sundae salad.

The pear sundae is refreshing, but chock full of essential nutrients.

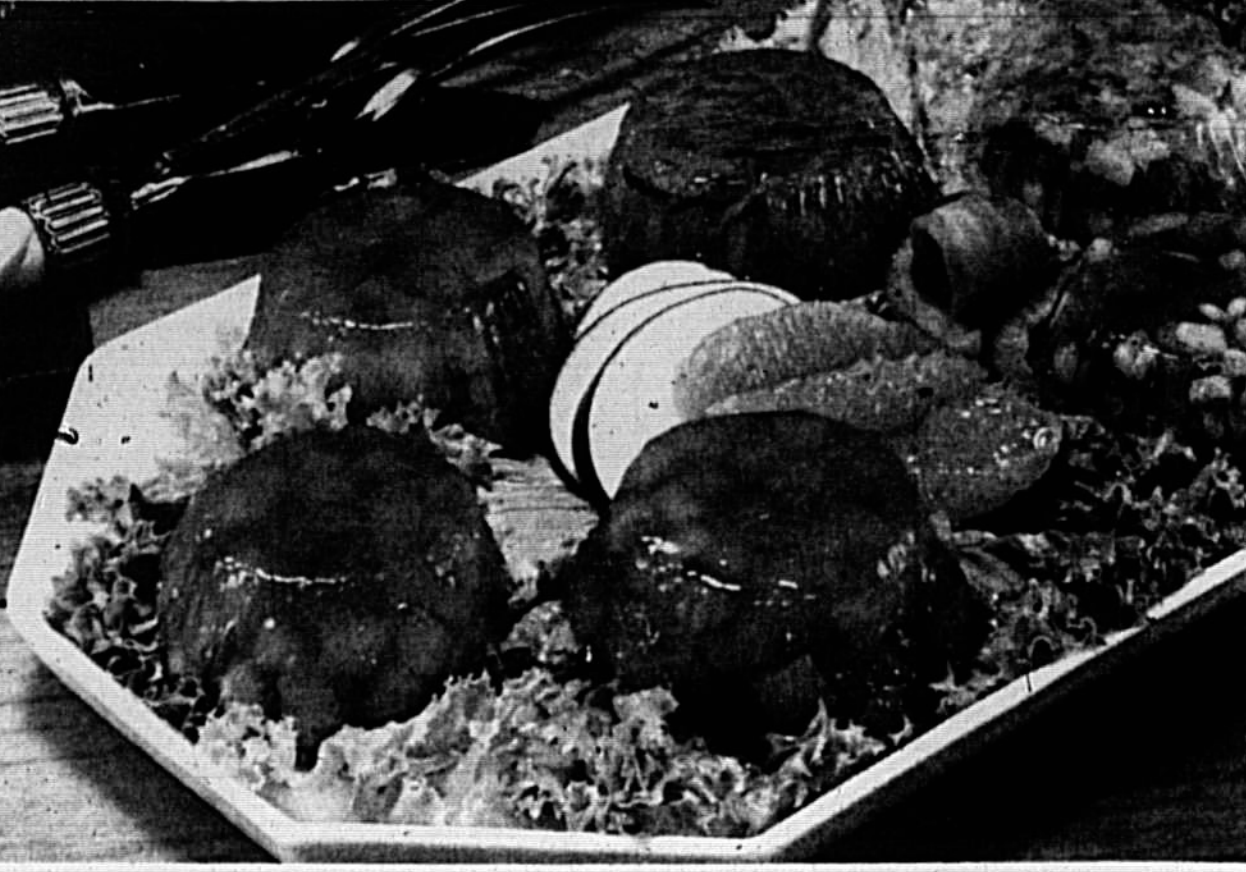

This lovely concoction may also be served as an appetizer for a sit-down or buffet dinner.

PEAR SUNDAE SALAD
1/2 cup plain yogurt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons lime juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lime peel
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground cardamom
1/2 cup whipping cream
1 fresh California Bartlett pear
2 or 3 cups shredded iceberg lettuce
Raspberry sherbet (optional)

Blend yogurt with sugar, lime juice and peel, salt and cardamom. Beat cream to soft peaks and fold into yogurt mixture. Have, core and cut pears into bite-size chunks. Toss with lettuce and pile into large sundae glasses, composed of spoon onto salad plates. Spoon on yogurt dressing and top each serving with a small of raspberry sherbet, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 to 6 servings.

1/2 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1/2 cup (about) fruit or vegetable combination
Dissolve gelatin, salt and celery salt in boiling water. Add vinegar and horseradish. Place aluminum foil cupcake liners in muffin pan. Place salad ingredients in cups, filling each about 2/3 full. Then fill with gelatin mixture. Chill until firm, about 2 hours. Unmold carefully from foil cups. Serve with crisp salad greens, if desired. Makes about 3 cups or 8 servings.

SUGGESTED COMBINATIONS:
2 medium oranges, sectioned and diced and 1 small red onion, sliced into rings
1 1/2 cups cooked mixed vegetables and 1 tablespoon grated onion
1/2 cup each shredded zucchini and carrot and 2 tablespoons minced onion
1 cup cauliflower florets and 1/2 cup diced green pepper

Cheese And Wine Anytime

Cheese and wine have been natural partners for centuries, but they've never been more "in" than now! With today's time schedules, friends often gather informally for an evening of wine and cheese tasting, which may include cheese hors d'oeuvres and snacks to fill out a light repast.

The choice of wines for a tasting is important, but spend just as much time on the selection of cheeses to have a basis for tasting and comparison. The Kraft Kitchens suggest that a good tasting can often be planned around a theme, and should offer a variety of natural cheeses, from firm to soft, and from mild to extra sharp. Fortunately, there's no need for a trip to a specialty shop, because the dairy case of today's supermarket has a wide assortment of domestic and foreign-type cheeses.

Your cheese tray could feature an array of the classic types of cheeses produced in this country—monterey jack, muenster, brick, blue, Swiss, and colby. To show the increasing development of flavor which results from aging, you could offer a sampling of natural cheddar cheeses ranging from mild to extra sharp.

When you select wines to accompany cheese, the basic principle is that the flavors should enhance, not overpower each other. A mild cheese will be accented by a light Chablis or fresh rose, while a flavorful cheese such as sharp cheddar calls for a sampling of natural cheddar cheeses ranging from mild to extra sharp.

For the last-minute duties, your "cheese tray" may be assembled ahead of time, wrapped tightly in moisture-proof wrap to prevent drying, and refrigerated. For eye appeal, cut the cheese in different ways. Cheddar adapts well to slicing; Swiss cheese may be cut in cubes or sticks; and the cylindrical colby midget longhorn may be cut to form an attractive, easily-served spiral. Since cheese should ideally be served at room temperature for maximum flavor, remove the cheese tray from the refrigerator at least an hour before sampling time, and uncover just before serving.

In planning quantities, remember that the greater variety of cheese and wine you serve, the more you'll need to allow each guest an adequate sampling. For the wines, a tasting portion is about one to two ounces, so estimate 12-15 servings per bottle and at least one-half bottle per person, depending on the number of wines. If you were serving four wines to twelve people, you would probably need two bottles of each.

For the cheese, estimate between a quarter and a half pound per person—again, the greater the variety of cheeses you offer, the more you'll need. Feel free to be generous—leftover cheese keeps well and can be used in a number of ways.

Light cheese dishes are the perfect way to cap an evening of cheese and wine tasting. Serve a beautiful layered spread of grated cheddar cheese, cranberry-orange relish, whipped cream and cream cheese, with glasses of a light rose or red wine. A California-style fondue made with natural monterey jack cheese might call for a Tramy Gaudy Beaujolais. Experiment with new flavor combinations, but most of all—have fun!

MONTEREY FONDUE
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Casino brand natural monterey jack cheese
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup white wine
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Vegetables for dipping

Toss cheese with flour. Heat wine in fondue pot or saucepan until bubbles rise to the surface. Do not boil. Add cheese mixture, 1/2 cup at a time. Stir constantly, letting cheese melt completely before adding more. Continue stirring until mixture bubbles lightly. Stir in parsley. Keep fondue bubbling gently while serving. Serve with raw vegetables.
2 cups.

LACY CHEESE DISCS
Midget longhorn style natural colby cheese
Cut these horizontally into 1/2-inch slices. Turn upright, cut vertically into quarters. Place these quarters 2 to 2 1/2 inches apart on Teflon-lined cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees, 10 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet immediately; drain on absorbent paper.

Variation: To make curled cheese appetizers, prepare as directed. Remove from cookie sheet by rolling disc around handle of wooden spoon. Drain on absorbent paper.

LAYERED CRANBERRY CHEDDAR SPREAD
1 8-oz. pkg. Philadelphia Brand cream cheese
2 tablespoons sherry
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen cranberry-orange relish, thawed
2 cups (1 1/2 oz.) shredded sharp natural cheddar cheese
Combine softened cream cheese and sherry; fold in whipped cream. Layer relish, cheddar cheese and cream cheese mixture in 1 1/2 quart clear glass container. Garnish with additional cheddar cheese, if desired. Serve with crackers or fruit wedges.

CHEESE OPORTO
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Kraft sharp natural cheddar cheese
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Kraft natural Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons soft Parkway margarine
2 tablespoons port
Combine all ingredients, mixing until smooth and well blended. Press into 10-space custard cup lined with plastic wrap. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with chopped nuts, if desired. Serve as a spread for crackers, bread or fruit. Approximately 1 1/2 cups.

BARBARA MANDRELL

Country Star Ties Family Into Career

For Barbara Mandrell, music and entertainment have always been a family affair. Her father, Irv, was a singer and guitarist and her mother, Maxine, was a pianist. By the time Barbara was in her teens, she had already learned to play the accordion, steel guitar, saxophone, banjo and bass.

Today, her attitude towards performing stems from her father's philosophy and the old school of thought — "give 'em their money's worth."

"It's my duty and my pleasure to do my best," she says of her country star. "I always want to give everything I know how to give."

Barbara approaches her life as mother, wife and daughter with as much vigor as her career. On those special occasions when the family gets together for all fun and no work, Barbara can be found in the kitchen — "I love to cook," she says of her role in the yard in a softball game.

"I've worked hard to have a reliable sort of reputation," she explains. "I wanted to live down the fallacies that are so often attached to those in show business, with keeping close to my family helps."

Barbara's father remains her personal manager, her mother oversees the family office and her husband keeps the books. Her two children, Matthew, 11, and Jaime, 4, can often be found traveling on the road with Barbara to make up for the lack of time she is able to spend at home.

In 1978, after having been nominated for the award four years in a row, Barbara was named the Country Music Association's Female Vocalist of the Year.

This year, Barbara will co-host the 14th Annual Country Music Association Awards, sponsored by Kraft, on October 13 on the CBS Television Network. She has been nominated for Female Vocalist of the Year once again this year, and for the Country Music Association's Female Vocalist of the Year, the most coveted award in the country music industry.

When she's not on the road, Barbara says, but when she is at home, she likes to cook. Her "favorite number," she says, is often her "Four-Layer Dessert."

"It's a special treat that looks like it would take hours to prepare, but really, it's quite simple and fun. You can even get the whole family, especially the kids, involved in the making," explains Barbara.

When you give your family a special treat — Barbara Mandrell's Four-Layer Dessert is great either after a meal or as a snack.

FOUR-LAYER DESSERT

1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup margarine, melted
1 1/2 cups cream cheese
1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup frozen non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
1 1/2 cups chocolate instant pudding mix
1 1/2 cups milk, vanilla instant pudding mix
1/2 cup butter, nuts and margarine, mix well. Press into bottom of 13" x 7 1/2" inch baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees, 15 minutes. Cool.

Combine melted cream cheese and sugar, mixing until well blended. Fold in whipped topping, spread over crust. Chill. Prepare mix as directed for chocolate pudding on package. Spread over cream cheese mixture. Chill.

Prepare mix as directed for vanilla pudding on package. Spread over chocolate pudding. Chill. Cut into squares. Garnish with additional whipped topping and chopped nuts, if desired.

 2 slices Canadian bacon
 hollandaise sauce

Pour 1 inch or more of water into 1-quart pan. Add salt, vinegar and lemon juice. Heat to boiling.
 Break eggs into saucer. One at a time, slip eggs gently from saucer into boiling water. Reduce heat so water is no longer boiling. Cover pan and let stand for about 3 minutes or until white film forms over yolks.
 Remove eggs from water with skimmer or perforated ladle to drain. Slip onto toasted English muffin halves topped with sliced, broiled Canadian bacon.
 Serve with hollandaise sauce.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 2-egg serving.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE
 2 egg yolks
 1 teaspoon white wine or sherry
 1/4 teaspoon lemon juice
 1/4 cup butter, melted
 Salt

Whip egg yolks with white wine or sherry and lemon juice. (Never use egg whites or you will have a runny, soapy mass.) Whip until hot over double boiler. Cool.
 Whip butter slowly into egg mixture. (If mixture is cool, butter should be cool. It won't separate.)
 Season and cover. Keep warm until serving time by setting next to stove; do not return it to stove.

SPAGHETTI WITH SPECIAL TOMATO SAUCE
 1/2 cup salad oil
 8 medium onions, sliced (about 6 cups)
 4 medium green peppers, sliced (about 3 cups)
 2 1/2 cups olive oil, crushed
 2 cans (28 ounces each) whole tomatoes, undrained
 4 teaspoons sugar
 2 tablespoons salt or lemon juice
 2 lemons oregano, crushed
 2 lemons oregano, crushed
 1 pound spaghetti
 1 1/2 4 quart boiling water

In a Dutch oven or large saucepot, heat oil. Add onions, green pepper and garlic. Sauté over medium heat, stirring constantly, until onion is soft, about 15 minutes. Stir in undrained tomatoes. Break tomatoes up into pieces with spoon. Add sugar, 2 lemons salt and oregano to tomato-onion mixture. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low. Simmer uncovered about 30 to 45 minutes or until sauce is desired consistency. Stir occasionally.
 Meanwhile, bring water to a boil in second pot. Gradually add spaghetti and 1/2 teaspoon salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve tomato-onion sauce over spaghetti.

TURKISH CHICKEN VEGETABLE CASEROLE
 1 medium eggplant
 3 tablespoons salad oil
 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces
 1 large onion, thinly sliced
 1 package (10 ounces) frozen green beans

Package (10 ounces) frozen whole okra, thawed
 2 medium zucchini, cut in quarters lengthwise, then crosswise into 2-inch pieces
 4 medium potatoes, pared and quartered or sliced
 2 green peppers, seeded and cut in quarters
 2 large tomatoes, sliced
 1 tablespoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

Pare eggplant in lengthwise strips so that 1/2-inch strips of skin are left on the eggplant alternating with pared strips. Cut lengthwise in quarters, then crosswise in 2-inch pieces. Soak in salted water for 15 minutes. Drain and press between paper towels to dry.
 Heat oil in large skillet. Add chicken pieces and sliced onion. Brown chicken on all sides.
 Place chicken and onion in bottom of a deep 3- or 4-quart casserole. Add layers of green beans, eggplant, okra, zucchini, potatoes, peppers and tomatoes. Sprinkle with salt and Tabasco. Cover and bake in a 300-degree oven for 1 1/2 hours, until chicken and vegetables are tender. Serve with rice if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

SIAMANG RICE WITH CHICKEN
 2 cups cooked rice
 1/2 cup carrot cut in thin sticks (1 inch)
 2 tablespoons salad oil
 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 1 cup diagonally sliced green onions
 2 cans (5 ounces each) chunk thigh chicken
 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 1 tablespoon sugar

In skillet, brown rice and cook carrot in oil until tender. Add eggs and green onions. Cook until eggs are set, stirring often. Add remaining ingredients. Heat, stir occasionally.

DILLED SHORT RIBS STEW
 4 pounds beef short ribs
 2 1/2 cups water, divided
 2 lemons salt
 1 lemons dried leaf dill
 1/2 pound small, whole, white onions
 2 medium (1 pound) sweetpotatoes, pared, cut in large chunks
 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
 2 tablespoons oregano

Trim any excess fat from short ribs. In large, heavy kettle brown short ribs well on all sides. Drain off any excess fat. Add 2 cups water, salt and dill. Bring water to boiling; cover, reduce heat, simmer 2 hours or until short ribs are just tender. Add onions and sweetpotatoes. Cover, simmer 15 minutes longer. Add peas, simmer 10 minutes. Skim fat from pan juices. Dissolve oregano in remaining 1/2 cup water; add to kettle. Bring to boiling; boil 1 minute.
 Yield: 6 servings.

FRANKFURTER AND LENTIL STEW
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1 cup chopped onion
 1 clove garlic, minced
 6 cups water
 1 pound dried lentils, rinsed
 1 lemons Worcestershire sauce
 1 lemons dried leaf oregano
 1 bay leaf
 6 large carrots, cut into 1/2-inch pieces
 4 large ribs celery, cut into 1/2-inch pieces
 1 lemons salt
 1 pound frankfurters, cut into 1/2-inch diagonal slices
 1 can (1 pound) tomato pieces

Melt butter in large kettle; sauté onion, garlic and bay leaf. Add water, lentils, Worcestershire sauce, oregano and bay leaf. Cover. Bring to boiling; reduce heat, simmer 45 minutes. Add carrots, celery and salt. Cover, simmer 30 minutes longer or until vegetables are tender. Add frankfurters and tomatoes; heat. Remove bay leaf. Turn into serving dish. Garnish with parsley.

Serve kids a giant goblin burger.

It's Time To Think About A Festive Halloween Party

Put the young goblins from the neighborhood into a spooky mood this Halloween with a traditional party — one that includes drinking for apples and whatever latest safe, fun horror games you can drum up.
 Top off the evening with a giant goblin burger decorated to look like a jack-o'-lantern.

Goblin Burger
 1 loaf Italian bread (round, about 8 inches in diameter)
 1 package firm and moist meatloaf mix
 1/2 pounds ground beef
 1 egg
 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 1/4 cup ketchup
 1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
 1 lemons prepared mustard
 2 pitted black olives, cut in half
 3 slices (about 3 ounces) American cheese

Slice bread in half lengthwise and lightly toast under broiler. Set aside. In large bowl, combine sauce packet and bread-crumbs packet (from meatloaf mix), ground beef, egg and Worcestershire sauce. Mix well; shape into one 8-inch patty. Grill burger 5 inches from heat, 5-7 minutes per side for medium. Combine ketchup, relish and mustard; spread evenly over bread. Top with burger. Garnish with black olives for eyes and nose; cheese slice for the eyebrows and mouth.

Have Your Pumpkin; Eat It Too

Pumpkins are fun in the window, also delicious to eat. Cook and keep fresh for soup, muffins or snacks, which store easily in sealed containers.
 The colorful appeal of pumpkins in the fall is hard to resist. One can't help bringing home two or three inexpensive pumpkins to decorate the doorstep or brighten Halloween windows.
 The seeds make delicious snacks when toasted and flavored with oil and salt.
PUMPKIN MUFFINS
 2 cups all-purpose flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1 lemons baking soda
 1 lemons ground cinnamon
 1 lemons ground allspice
 1/2 lemons salt
 1 lemons ground cloves
 1/2 cup dark brown sugar
 2 eggs
 1 cup butter or margarine, melted
 1/2 cup cooked mashed fresh pumpkin or canned pumpkin
 1/2 cup buttermilk

1/2 cup broken walnuts
 1/2 cup raisins
 Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon, allspice, salt and cloves. In large mixing bowl beat together brown sugar, eggs and butter until light and frothy; blend in pumpkin and buttermilk. Add dry ingredients, nuts and raisins; stir just enough to moisten flour mixture. (Do not over-mix.) Spoon mixture into greased 2-inch muffin pans; fill cups three-quarters full. Bake in a 400 degree F. oven 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from pans; cool on wire rack. Store in plastic 12-inch Pyrex Baker with a seal. Yield: 18 muffins.

PEPPY PUMPKIN SEEDS
 1 cup fresh pumpkin seeds with shells, dried
 1/2 lemons vegetable oil
 1 lemons curry powder
 1/2 lemons seasoned salt
 1/2 lemons salt

To dry pumpkin seeds, wash thoroughly. Drain. Spread on cookie sheet or other flat pan. Place in a warm place until thoroughly dry.
 Method 1: In small bowl combine oil, curry powder, seasoned salt and salt; mix well. Toss pumpkin seeds in oil mixture. Spread on cookie sheet. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven 12 minutes, until golden brown. Cool. Store in a sealed plastic container.

 Method 2: In small skillet combine oil, curry powder, seasoned salt and salt. Stir over low heat 1 minute. Add pumpkin seeds, continue stirring over low heat 2 minutes longer. Cool. Store as above. Yield: 1 cup.
PUMPKIN BISQUE
 3 lemons butter or margarine
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1/2 cup chopped celery
 1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley
 2 cups fresh pumpkin puree or 1 pound canned pumpkin
 1 can (1 1/2 ounces) chicken broth
 1/2 cups milk
 1 cup light cream or half and half
 1 lemons salt
 1/2 lemons pepper
 1/2 lemons ground nutmeg

In a 2-quart saucepot melt butter; sauté onion, celery and parsley until crisp-tender. Add pumpkin, chicken broth, milk, cream, salt, pepper and nutmeg; mix well. Stir over low heat about 5 minutes until heated through. Serve immediately or store in a sealed plastic container in refrigerator or freezer.

When you're off on a weekend trip, pack some delicious snacks for your arrival. Take-Along Fruit Bars and Double-Nut Cheese Ball.

Weekend Trip May Call For Tasty Snacks

When the weather turns chilly cool, who can resist a drive through the fall countryside? Whether you're visiting a child who's off at college, attending a football game at your old alma mater, or traveling to a country cottage, a weekend trip can be exciting and invigorating.
 Whenever you travel, it's a good idea to bring along some special snack foods. Enjoy these treats when you arrive at your destination, or present them to your hostess.
 Take-Along Fruit Bars can satisfy your yen for a sweet snack or make a most attractive and tasty gift.
 Or pack Double-Nut Cheese Ball, so named for the crunchy toasted almonds both inside and all around this sweet and savory snack.

TAKE-ALONG FRUIT BARS
 1/2 cup chopped pitted prunes
 1/2 cup chopped dried apricots
 2/3rd cup Cointreau rum liqueur, divided
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
 2 eggs
 1 lemons vanilla
 1 cup unbleached all-purpose flour
 1 lemons baking powder
 1/2 lemons salt
 1 cup quick cooking oats
 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 CocoaBite Frosting

Soak prunes and apricots in 1/3rd cup liqueur for 1 hour. In large bowl of electric mixer cream butter and brown sugar; add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Sift together flour, baking powder and baking soda; stir into creamed mixture. Add oats, nuts, and fruits with liquid. Stir just until mixed. Spread in a greased 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake in a 375 degree F. oven 25 minutes. Remove from oven; let stand 10 minutes. Pierce cake with cake tester or 3-prong fork; pour remaining 1/3rd cup liqueur over cake. Cool; frost with CocoaBite Frosting. Yield: 24 bars (1 x 3 x 1-inch).

COCOA-BITE FROSTING
 4 lemons butter or margarine
 2 cups confectioners' sugar
 1/2 cup Cointreau rum liqueur
 In small bowl of electric mixer cream butter; gradually add sugar and liqueur. Beat until mixture is smooth and creamy. Spread on cooled fruit bars.

DOUBLE-NUT CHEESE BALL
 2 cups (1 1/2 pound) shredded Cheddar cheese
 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, at room temperature
 4 lemons CocoaBite coconut rum liqueur
 1/3rd cup raisins
 1/2 cup finely chopped toasted almonds
 1/2 cup sliced toasted almonds
 In small bowl combine Cheddar cheese, cream cheese, liqueur, raisins, and chopped almonds; mix well. Place on waxed paper; shape into a ball. Chill 2 to 3 hours or until firm. Roll in sliced almonds. Serve with thinly sliced French bread or crackers. Yield: 1 ball about 4-inches in diameter.
