TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Some have profited by a humiliation of the flesh. It should be practiced only under sound advice. I humbled my soul with fasting.—Ps. 35:13.

The headline in a New York newspaper the other day runs "Acheson Off to See Eden and Schuman." Could he be just off period.

General Eisenhower says he hopes for a foreign policy plank in the Republican platform that will be equally satisfying to both Senator Taft and himself. If it does, it will be the most successful piece of fence-straddling in the history of the country.

A man, obviously distressed, rushed into the bar of his club and ordered and drained two double whiskeys. Asked what troubled him, he said, "My wife's just sloped in my car with my best friend."

"Good Heavens!" said a fellow member, sympathetically. "Not your new car?"—Exchange.

Former Ambassador to Soviet Russia William G. Bullitt, a Taft man, says it would be just as silly to make the president as it would be to give Taft the military command in Europe. Now we don't know about that. Both Eisenhower's military position and the President's are big time administrative posts in which a huge organization must be run efficiently. We know of no such organization which Senator Taft has ever headed.

The British Labor Party protests the bombings on Korean power plants near the Yalu River. It is refreshing to note that Prime Minister Churchill does not share these defeatist views. The attacks, he said, "had the entirely legitimate object of decreasing the enemy war potential." We are afraid that some Socialists in England, and perhaps some in our own country, really do not want the enemy's war potential decreased.

Something similar to our Reconstruction Finance Corporation has apparently been put into effect in China. The story is that $5,000,000 has been lent to businessmen by the Reds to get them back on their feet. At the same time the Reds have been conducting what they call an "anti-corruption" campaign in which they have closed down thousands of businesses and killed their proprietors. Looks as if they work at almost as many vice purposes as our own government does.

The Herald frequently receives complaints about the inadequate maintenance of the local cemetery. Yesterday a descendant of one of the old families came to the office to advise that if something could be done, it is like nothing else in Sanford that would be so good. It costs money, but it would not cost a great deal more to beautify the cemetery, hire watchmen and caretakers and encourage others to help beautifying their own lots. By the way, in which we show that our own fathers may have been right.

The little shop managed to keep busy through the depression and Coffman never lost faith in the business of the state. By 1932 the business had grown to where expansion was necessary. In the meantime Coffman's son, Leroy, had come down from Ohio to join his father.

Loss and depression scars were fading away a new, sound, solid growth was taking place throughout the state. The demand for metal products was steadily increasing. Coffman's "Ye Old Forge" moved to a new spacious location and changed its name to R. G. Coffman Company, Inc.

Youth State

In every state of the union "Boys' States" are set up each year under an American Legion program to teach citizenship to young people. Encampments are held and boys between the ages of 16 and 18 attend as representatives of the young people in their communities. They elect governors, legislators and other officers and spend time studying the working of government from a practical point of view. Several states have set up similar encampments for girls.

The American Legion project is a worthy one. The representatives to the encampments are picked on a basis of school work, citizenship qualities, service and leadership. They get a chance to see how a representative form of government works by actually taking part in such a government.

Inept and indifferent citizens are dangerous in a democracy. A democracy works only when enough people know enough and care enough to make it work. The American Legion program aids in assuring that there will be no lack of good citizens in the future.

The Herald extends its congratulations to this year's representatives to Boys' State from Sanford, Wesley Hamill, sponsored by the Lions Club; Joe Hutchinson, by the Jaycees; Tommy Speer, by the Rotary Club; Terry Cordell, by the Kiwanis Club; and Sammy Jacobson by the Elks.

The Hughes Papers

The letters and papers of the late Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes have been given to the Library of Congress. For the present they may be used only by permission of the Hughes family; in any case the Library is apt to place restrictions on the use of material which may affect living persons.

Hughes had a remarkable career. Governor of New York for two terms, associate justice of the Supreme Court for six years, Republican presidential nominee in 1916, Secretary of State for four years under Harding and Coolidge, and chief justice from 1930 to 1942, Hughes was one of the four or five leading figures of his time. Presumably he would have made an excellent president.

He ran for the nomination 1908, when he doubtless could have beaten William J. Bryan as easily as William H. Taft did, and in 1916, when nominated, he lost by a narrow margin to Woodrow Wilson. Many wished that he had been made his party's choice in 1920 instead of Warren G. Harding. Any Republican would have won that year, and Hughes was the best qualified Republican in sight.

The Hughes papers have already been used by Merlo J. Pusey, whose Pulitzer prize biography of Hughes appeared last year. There must, however, be more gold in them which another prospector might uncover.

Have You A Civilized Mind?

"If we begin with certainties, we shall end in doubts; but if we begin with doubts, and are patient in them, we shall end in certainties." — Francis Bacon

Too many men become certain too many things too early in their lives. Over-eager to have everything "settled in their mind," they lack both the wisdom and the courage to expose their hastily adopted ideas to healthy doubts. They cling with blind passion to their false "certainties" and too often are ready to kill or be killed for them. In these immature absolutists lies the seed of tragedy. The earth is sick with them.

The certainties of a strong man are built on a structure of resolved doubts. By the time he reaches a conclusion, he has traveled the hard road of reason. When then he will be tolerant of another man's beliefs, and willing always to compare them fairly with his own. The man with a civilized mind is neither afraid nor ashamed to change it.

Your uncritical loyalty to weak ideas cannot make them strong. Be ever ready to let your ideas stand up and fight for themselves. Let them survive or die according to their merit. It is only in ideas honestly and bravely tested that you will find security.—By Oscar Hammerstein II.

Too Late To Classify
 By RUSSELL KAY

Back in 1925 when the bottom dropped out of Florida's real estate boom and most of the boys had been galloping around in golf stockings and knickers in a last mad effort to unload and get out from under, a chap named R. G. Coffman was sent to Orlando by the firm he represented, a sheet metal company in Ohio, to see what he could do to salvage several carloads of metal medicine cabinets and built-in ironing boards they had shipped here to dealers who couldn't pay for them.

Coffman liked Florida and he liked Orlando, and in spite of the fact that he was told by many that the state was "all through" and "washed up" he refused to concur and decided to remain and go in business here.

Nobody paid much attention to the little ornamental iron shop that opened on the corner of W. Pine Street and Bee's Alley. It was small and unimposing and those who did notice it probably figured that the fellow opening a new business in the face of what happened ought to have his head examined.

A sign over the door announced it as "Ye Old Forge" and Coffman, with the able assistance of his wife, handled the business. Orders began to trickle in. Then came an order for four huge roadside signs of wrought iron supporting designs out of heavy plate that were to mark the entrance to the City of West Palm Beach.

The little shop managed to keep busy through the depression and Coffman never lost faith in the business of the state. By 1932 the business had grown to where expansion was necessary. In the meantime Coffman's son, Leroy, had come down from Ohio to join his father.

New Polio "Cure" To Be Tested In 1st Human Being

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
 Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Only one man will ever know the big secret of the polio test aimed at preventing infantile paralysis.

This secret is: Which children actually will get the blizzards of gamma-globulin of G. G. They may neutralize the polio virus before it can cause paralysis.

In towns hit by polio epidemics, some 30,000 children will be given the G. G. injections. Another 30,000 will get injections from vials that look exactly like the G. G. vials but these shots will be only innocuous gelatin.

The children, their parents, and doctors in the town will not know which youngsters got the G. G., and which got the gelatin. The only man who will know will be a statistician, keeping a master chart.

This is the only way in which to run, fairly and scientifically, a great human experiment to test a medicine that may bring a breakthrough against polio.

All summer doctors will observe the children and report which ones, if any, develop polio.

If there was significantly less paralytic polio, or none, among children getting the G. G. shots, then G. G. can become a practical means of preventing much paralytic polio.

If there is no difference—G. G. was just another empty hope.

In monkeys, it's found that the polio virus gets into the bloodstream before it enters nerves and causes paralysis. G. G. shots given to monkeys can capture and neutralize the virus while it is in their blood.

But we don't know whether the virus behaves the same way in humans, and whether G. G. can keep the virus out of human nerves. G. G. is a protein, from blood, which carries antibodies against the virus.

The human tests are supported by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Medical teams are waiting to move into polio-struck towns. They will choose places where a polio epidemic is on the rise, but not yet at its peak, a town where presumably many children have just been exposed to the virus, or are likely to get it.

In each town, the shots of G. G. or gelatin will be given to children in the age group most affected there. In one place it may be youngsters 5 to 10 years old, in another those 10 to 15.

All the shots will be given in four to six days time by having children come to special centers.

The towns likely will be of 60,000 to 100,000 population. It's hoped they will represent major geographic developments.

The first experiment was run last summer in Provo, Utah, with 4,000 children getting the G. G., and 4,000 not.

All parents, doctors and health authorities co-operated beautifully, the foundation reports, but 7,000 was too small a number to show whether G. G. works. Few children in other groups got paralytic polio. Paralytic polio, relatively speaking, is fairly uncommon. It's called an epidemic when only 20 persons out of 100,000 get the disease.

The test therefore must be run on 50,000 to 60,000 youngsters in order for G. G. to show any effect.

If it has effect.

Stevenson, who insists he is not running for anything but governor again, had the makings of a draft movement in the 50% delegate votes now listed for him. He got 25 of the 26 votes put together Tuesday by Indiana Democrats.

At Phoenix, Ariz., Tuesday Russell hotly denied a charge by Gael Sullivan, Kefauver's campaign manager, that he had aided a conspiracy to "stop Kefauver."

Sullivan had said backers of Russell, Harriman and Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson had huddled over such a plan.

Interplay of the various economic forces that take charge of such things as I do in bureaucratic rule and law."

He added, however, that he believes controls should be eliminated "very gradually and intelligently."

Eisenhower repeated that, in his speech, he will not go into details about "problems of which I know little." Of the delegate dispute before the GOP convention, he said: "I don't believe this thing is going to be settled in any star chamber fashion."

Taft, in Washington, told a reporter the question of whether he can win nomination on the first ballot at the July 7 convention in Chicago is "a matter of strategy."

He claims a majority already of the 1,208 delegates, the amount needed for nomination. He met this week with delegates from Maryland and Pennsylvania and has a date Friday with the Virginia delegation.

The Associated Press tabulation of pre-convention delegate strength based on votes and conceded alignments, now gives: Taft 478, Eisenhower 305, others 129 and unknown or disputed 204.

Sen. Knowland of California predicted today Gov. Earl Warren would take his time about deciding whether to release his 76 pledged delegates at the GOP convention.

Knowland said the California governor's strategy would be to wait around for a possible Taft-Eisenhower deadlock, then step in as the compromise candidate.

Warren, with 70 California and six Wisconsin votes, said he hopes to pick up a few more for the first ballot, adding: "Don't ask me how many."

Taft stands to profit by any such delay. His backers claim no more than 20 of California's 70. Hence, if Taft were driving for nomination July 21, meanwhile, had a few words Tuesday on the Republican stage. Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts, keynote speaker for the Democrats, told newsmen in Albuquerque, N. M., he believes Eisenhower would be easier to beat than Taft in the general election.

What he called "Eisenhower's obvious ignorance of domestic affairs."

Two of the top-running candidates for Democratic nomination were in the West and the third was in the South—Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia in Mexico; Mutual Security Administrator Averell Harriman in Oregon and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in Louisiana.

The Associated Press tally shows Kefauver ahead with 26 followed by Russell's 14 1/2 and Harriman's 8 1/2. Nomination requires 616, a majority of the total 1,230 delegates.

Harriman, in a speech at Tacoma, Wash., Tuesday night, called for a housecleaning in Congress of "men masquerading as Democrats." Such men, he said, give the Democrats "a phony majority in Congress."

At Phoenix, Ariz., Tuesday Russell hotly denied a charge by Gael Sullivan, Kefauver's campaign manager, that he had aided a conspiracy to "stop Kefauver."

Sullivan had said backers of Russell, Harriman and Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson had huddled over such a plan.

Official burns and continued to his office.

The rioters had stolen a 4-car passenger train after assembling during the night from the countryside. The train roared toward Osaka, Japan's second largest city and the industrial hub of the islands, but halted outside the metropolis.

The mob armed itself with sticks, stones and at least two police pistols before 800 Japanese policemen lunged into them with clubs and tear gas.

Fists flew and skulls were cracked by bamboo poles in wild fighting. Sixteen policemen were stabbed with bamboo spears. Nine were hurt seriously when the mob attacked police cars.

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today narrowly escaped assassination by a member of a Korean secret society as he addressed a crowd of 6,000 on the second anniversary of the Korean War.

The would-be killer drew a German-made pistol and pulled the trigger only five feet from Rhee. The cartridge did not fire.

The man was seized by military police and bystanders and thrown across the speaker's platform into the lap of U. S. Ambassador John Muccio.

Lt. Col. Herbert Harmon, Hempstead, N. Y., and Capt. F. William Trench, Honolulu, helped subdue him.

Harmon hit the armed man twice and Trench then wrested the gun from him.

SANFORD ORLANDO HIGH

Marion Jane Ford, John Oral Keeling Jr. Exchange Vows In Candlelight Ceremony

Marion Jane Ford became the bride of John Oral Keeling Jr. in a beautiful ceremony performed last evening at 8:00 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marion Ford and Mr. Keeling is the son of Mrs. H. J. Goode and John Keeling, all of Sanford. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. A. G. McInnis in a beautiful setting of white gladioli, ferns, palms, and fern. Garlands of white decorated the choir loft and tall white tapered candles illuminated the church.
Prior to the service, Mrs. George Touhy, organist, played a program of nuptial music including "Indian Love Call," "I Love You Truly" and "Always." The traditional wedding marches were used and Stanley Hummel, soloist, sang "Because." Following the exchange of wedding vows, he sang the Lord's Prayer.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white satin, with fitted bodice, standing collar and long pointed sleeves. The bodice came to a point in the front and back and the full, gathered skirt extended into a long train. She wore a white cap of white lace from which fell a fingertip veil of illusion, and she carried a graceful bouquet of white carnations centered with a white purple throated orchid.
Mrs. Richard Bass of Daytona Beach served as matron of honor for the bride and wore an attractive gown of peach colored taffeta. The sleeveless, basque bodice was fashioned with a rounded neckline and tiny ruffles extended the length of each side of the full gathered skirt. She wore a band of peach lace ruffling which fastened at the back with a bow and she carried a bouquet of aqua carnations.
Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Jane Eulanks and Miss Betty Ann Cagle and their gowns were of aqua tulle, made identical to that of the matron of honor's. White bouquets were of peach carnations. The bride's young cousin, Jacquelin Knapp of Jacksonville was the flower girl and she wore a yellow frock with ruffled neckline and full skirt. She carried a small bouquet of aqua carnations.
Performing the duties of best man for the bridegroom was Richard Bass of Daytona Beach, and groomsmen were David Russ, John Kridler Jr., Richard McNab and James Hanna of Deland.
The mother of the bride, Mrs. Ford, wore a gown of grey crepe with an appliqued design of rhinestone and sequin at the waistline. Her accessories were pink and she wore a corsage of pale pink roses. Mrs. Goode was gowned in dusty rose lace with yellow accessories and yellow roses formed her corsage. The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Culver Sims of Atlanta, wore a dress of grey chiffon with a lavender aster corsage and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. C. P. Kruz, a lavender dress with white aster corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Educational Building of the church where decorations were of white gladioli and palms. Mrs. W. H. Brinson met the guests at the door and showed them to the receiving line composed of the bridal party and the mothers of the bride and groom.
The wedding cake was served by Mrs. J. E. Stoneburg of Ft. Pierce and Mrs. H. C. Hettel with Mrs. Joe Corley and Mrs. Clarence Adams presiding at the punch bowls. The bride's book was kept by Mrs. M. Jackson Lodge Jr. and assisting were Miss Shirley Moreland, Miss Hazel Raines, Miss Ethel Williams Webb, Miss Denise Stevens, Miss Joyce Norris and Miss Phyllis Wyatt.
Late in the evening the couple left for a wedding trip and upon their return to Sanford they plan to make their home at 1500 Douglas Avenue. Mrs. Keeling wore for traveling a Navy blue suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.
Out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Knapp, Mrs. N. L. Norris and Joyce Norris of Jacksonville; Mrs. Culver Sims, Mr. and Mrs. E. Sims, Martin Sims and Miss Olivia Bird, Atlanta, Ga.; Miss Betty Sims, Richmond, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ranbottum, Mt. Dora; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stoneburg, Ft. Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Tyre of Memphis, Tenn.

Miss Ruby Matthews Honored At Shower

Miss Ruby Matthews, whose marriage will be an event of June 28, was honored on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock with a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. James Brindle and Mrs. T. A. Stiles at the Stiles home on West Twentieth Street. A green and white color theme was carried out in the decorations with the focal point of interest being centered on a lovely heirloom punch bowl encircled with pink carnations and fern. The living room was beautifully decorated with vases of vast colored summer flowers.
During the evening several bridal games were conducted by Mrs. Dan Batten with prizes being awarded to Mrs. J. A. Howard and Mrs. Jerry White. Providing amusement during the evening was the reading back of Miss Matthews' exclamations as she opened her shower gifts.
Refreshments, consisting of cake, fed in white and unadorned with initials in green frosting, salted nuts and punch, were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Batten and Mrs. Howard. Those invited to be with the honoree, Miss Matthews, were Mrs. Howard, Mrs. H. N. Stokes, Mrs. H. E. Stokes, Mrs. B. D. Fulkett, Mrs. Cynthia Stokes, Mrs. Janice Stokes, Mrs. Beale Puckman, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. C. E. Gormly Jr., Mrs. A. P. Hittell, Mrs. Jerry White, Mrs. Polly Jones, Mrs. C. L. Wynn, Mrs. Charles Ireland, Mrs. Dorothy Terrill, Mrs. A. D. Von Herbold, Mrs. L. G. Russ, Mrs. Joe Douglas, Mrs. Bob Anthony, Mrs. M. E. CAMP EXPERIENCE IS BENEFICIAL TO 4-H CLUB MEMBERS
Summer 4-H camp is a fine, wholesome experience for the hundreds of rural boys and girls who attended such camps. Those selected by their county and home demonstration agents to attend have been working up to the big event, have progressed with their 4-H projects and kept their records in good order, and have looked forward with keen anticipation to the camping period.
And well may they look forward to spending a week of recreation, study, and good fellowship at one of Florida's many fine 4-H camps. McQuarrie in DeSoto National Forest, Cherry Lake in Madison County, Timposhee in Choctawhatchee National Forest, the new and yet unnamed camp in Highlands County, and, for boys and girls, Du Lake in DeSoto National Forest.
Each week, from early June to August, 25 to 100 club members enter each of the camps for five days of beautiful outdoor recreation. They swim and play, have lots of fun, sing, study things in which they are interested, make new friends, pledge allegiance to their flag and country, and have inspirational talks, educational and agricultural lectures.
In camp they learn things that are useful to them in farming and homemaking, they engage in healthy physical activities, and, in addition, they receive very valuable benefits which will help in the development of their character. They learn how to cooperate with others, they receive from the spirit of the camp a keener appreciation of their work and their future responsibilities as men and women and citizens of America.
Physically, mentally, and spiritually the 4-H club members benefit from their short stays at summer camp. In the years to come they will recall with pleasure their experiences, associations and inspirations at camp, and they will recognize them for their full and lasting value.

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—A moving van recently pulled up before Tyne Power's dressing room on the 20th Century Fox lot and hauled away all the actor's personal effects. This signalled the end of one of the longest and most successful contracts in movie history.
Power is not completely severed from the studio. He still has a picture to do there in 1953 and another in 1954. But for the first time in 16 years he is free of studio control.
How does it feel?
"Great," he replied. "I'm beginning to realize what the outside world is like. After all, I was 16 years at Fox and I did only one picture for another studio that was 'Marie Antoinette' which was 14 years ago!"
Power was frank to admit that his severance was initiated by the studio. His regular contract would have expired in December, and the studio wanted to make an adjustment. "I wanted to be free right away so I could take this deal," he remarked.
By "this deal," he was referring to his current picture, "Mississippi Gambler." It is one of those fabulous contracts which U. I. has also offered to such stars as Erol Flynn, Gregory Peck, Irene Dunne, James Stewart and Alan Ladd. The stars get no pay for their films, but take 50 per cent of the profits.
"It's the only kind of a deal that makes sense in these times," Power said. "Even if Fox paid me five times what I was getting, I couldn't keep any more than I do. But under the U. I. deal, the money comes in over a period of time and piles up in other countries. Then I can go to those countries and spend it as I please."
He said the system was also good for the studio, which might not be able to make the picture if it had to pay a top star's salary. The bill would come to 25 per cent of the picture's cost.
Power was reflecting on his long career at Fox, and I asked him to name his best picture during that time.
"As far as I was concerned 'Nightmare Alley,' he answered without hesitation. "But the studio did nothing to sell it, and it wasn't a success."
"As far as the studio was concerned I guess the most successful pictures were 'Alexander's Ragtime Band,' 'Jesse James,' 'Mark of Zorro' and 'Blood and Sand.' I also asked which of his pictures he liked the least.
"There were a lot of them," he replied. "There was a dilly called 'Daytime Wife' and 'Prince of Foxes,' 'Captain from Castile' and 'A Thing Called Love' of Washington Square."
Power's plans are pretty well laid out for him. In November, he goes on a concert tour with 'John Brown's Body.' That's an ambitious offering which will be performed by Power, Raymond Massey, two other performers and a 20-voice male choir.
"The concert field is terrific," Power enthused. "It's not like doing a legitimate play where you throw yourself on the market. We have a 3-month tour throughout the U. S. and virtually every seat will be sold before we start."
The tour, which will be put on by the same people who presented 'Don Juan in Hell,' shapes up as another bonanza for Power. Not that he has to worry about money. "I was lucky," he said. "The studio used to put away part of my salary in a trust fund. Taxes were high then, but not as high as they are now. I have a nice sum in the bank that I have never touched, and it would be impossible to save that much money now."
