Spanky, the drug-sniffing dog

Cute little rascal is drug dog

There's a cute, huggable new presence roaming the halls of Lake Mary High School. Spanky isn't a student, though. He's on patrol duty. Spanky sniffs the halls searching for drugs in lockers. And if he passively sits beside you, it may not be because he likes you. He can spot drug residue on students, too. See Page 8A.

'Family Fun in the Park' celebrates Sanford's charm

By VICKI DeBORMIER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Early morning rains had the organizers of the Family Fun in the Park celebration a little worried. But when the clouds parted and the sun began to sparkle off the dampened grass, everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

"I was kind of worried this morning," said Beas Simons of the Sanford Main Street program, which sponsored the event. "It was raining and I thought it might frighten people away."

When the event began at 10 a.m. the crowds were small and parents looked nervously skyward as their children darted from game booth to game booth.

"I thought this was a bad idea," said Jane Kendall, "but Sarah really wanted to come and see Mickey Mouse so we came. But it's turned out really good so I'm glad we came."

The Fun Day, which will take place from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. again today in Fort Mellon Park, had a variety of craft booths with everything from breezy cotton clothing to child-sized furniture upholstered in the latest 'Holstein' fabrics. Wooden postes and painted t-shirts were also abundant.

Mr. Bill's North Carolina Barbecue tantalized the senses with an inexpensive luncheon that pulled diners in by tickling the nostrils and sent them scrambling for more once it hit the taste buds.

"This is great," said David Shiner, licking the remains of the tasty red sauce from his fingers and from the plate. "My wife can go over and shop. My kids can go over and play the games and ride that little pony and I can all here and eat this great barbecue. I love doing stuff with the See Family, Page 8A

Sarah Balcom, 1, and Matthew Wanner, 18 months, took a few moments to cool their heels on the front porch swing recently. The two had spent a morning hard at work chasing one another around the yard and took the break in the relative cool of the porch re-energizing themselves for another round.

Drawing a crowd County eyes convention center sites

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — It may take more than a Field of Dreams philosophy of "if you build it, they will come" when considering construction of a Seminole County Convention Center.

Tuesday, the county commissioners will be briefed by the task force charged with locating potential convention center sites. Eight parcels along the Interstate 4 corridor have been designated as primary sites including: Northpoint, Primera, Heathrow International Business Center, L&L Acres, Hahn/Stenstrom (adjoining parcels, two owners), Seminole Town Center Mall area and Center Pointe on the Park. ## Sinkhole thwarts drilling for water

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary will drill again in search of a site for a new water well, after one attempt ended at a sinkhole.

The city recently entered into a contract with Meredith & Associates for the construction of two new water wells. They were to be dug on the Manderley property. The city had allocated $178,290 for the work.

What has become known as Well

#4 was the first to be test-drilled. At a depth of approximately 200 feet however, a Meredith & Associates spokesman said the drilling exposed what was believed to be sinkhole activity which caused a loss of circulation. As a result, the well was abandoned.

The second try was at the site called Well #3. This time, at approximately 150 feet down, more materials were indicated associated once again with a sinkhole.

The spokesman told the Lake Mary City Commission that the drillings were actually test holes, which are the first to be drilled for testing purposes. He said however, that while the hole filled to approximately 120 feet, the abandonment of the second hole was questioned. As a result, the company's consultants recommended that an effort be made to begin production of full scale well construction at that location.

The loss of the first test well however, is believed to have cost the city about $15,500. Meredith & Associates officials said it is almost impossible to determine what obstacles may present themselves during drilling of holes as far as 500 feet into the earth's surface.

Taking the possibility of problems into consideration however, the city had appropriated a larger amount of money for the entire well project, and sufficient funds are still available to continue seeking a second well site.

City Manager John Litton said discussions are presently underway on seeking the site for another well. He said a separate location on the Manderly subdivision property is being seriously considered.

Getting ready for farmer's market

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sanford Main Street in preparation for a proposed farmer's market in downtown Sanford is submitting an application for right-of-way use to the Sanford City Commission Monday night. The city owns the Magnolia Square area on which the market is to be held.

According to SMS President Chris Cranias, the project is being planned with additional sponsorship by the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. Bob Crawford, commissioner.

Exact hours of operation are still to be determined. An attachment to the application says it will be on Saturdays from 8 a.m. until noon in the summer, and 8 a.m. and 1 p.m., in the fall, winter and spring. According to a sign design submitted for consideration by the commission, the market will be held See Market, Page 8A

Catching your dreams

Joyce Elaine Wolfe tells Goldsboro Elementary School third grader Kayla Thomas about the Native American lore surrounding dream catchers. The students created their own catchers as they studied Indian culture throughout their curriculum. Dream catchers were hung at the entrance to a Native American's home to catch bad dreams before they could come in to bother the inhabitants.

Saratoga heads to the scrapyard
Once the pride of the Navy, proud ship goes quietly

By Associated Press

MAYPORT NAVAL STATION, Fla. - It was once the pride of the Navy, an 80,000-ton aircraft carrier that steamed to virtually every foreign flashpoint over the past 38 years...

But today, the USS Saratoga is a shell destined for the scrapyards, its vital organs ripped out.

The flight deck contains only the rusting remains of the Sara's mast and 30-ton anchor. The four elevators that lifted jets from the cavernous hangar bay to the flight deck are welded shut...

In less than two seconds, the steam-powered catapults pushed his aircraft from zero to 180 mph. His plane was downed by a missile fired by Iraq on the first night of the Persian Gulf War.

The Saratoga, long enough to cover three football fields, was decommissioned in August. Local officials failed in their efforts to raise enough money to turn the carrier into a floating military museum and tourist attraction for North Florida.

New, stripped of its electronics, weapons and even its mast, the rusting ship will be unceremoniously towed this week to a naval graveyard in Philadelphia - an eight-day voyage.

There are no historical markers on board to its 30 captains, few signs of the thousands of sailors whose lives shaped it.

A carrier is a lot like a city because of the young sailors that are aboard. Sailors bring life to that huge ship, Kennedy said. "And now out there to see it empty, there is a deafening silence. It's kind of lonely. It's kind of eerie. It's kind of sad."

There was Lt. Cmdr. Scott Speicher, for instance. A young father and Sunday school teacher, Speicher took off from the Sara's flight deck for a final time in his F-18 Hornet on Jan. 17, 1991.

Just a year later, a Libyan missile battery fired on U.S. jets. Fighters from the Saratoga destroyed the battery and a patrol boat.

Half, Israel.

A commercial ferry returning 80 crew members to the Sara early Dec. 23, 1980, capsized in heavy seas. Delgado helped a disoriented shipmate to the surface and he dived repeatedly to the submerged vessel.

Delgado and 20 other sailors drowned in the worst disaster to befall the ship. Delgado's mother accepted his posthumous Navy medal for heroism.

He was one of hundreds of heroes who served on the Saratoga.

Lt. Cmdr. F.W. Wright III, launched from the same flight deck in 1972 during the Vietnam War, was shot down over North Vietnam. Listed as missing in action for years, his body was returned to his widow in 1990.

During the same deployment, Lt. Jim Lloyd ejected over enemy territory when his A-7 was hit by a missile. He was rescued by helicopters who lifted him from the midst of enemy soldiers and returned him to the Saratoga.

In 1988, seven F-14 Tomcats from the Sara pursued and caught the terrorists who hijacked the cruise ship Achille Lauro and later escaped in an Egyptian jetliner. The Sara's pilots forced the jetliner to land in Italy, where the hijackers were captured.

The four steam-powered catapults launched 120 planes a day from the bow; the four arresting wires hooked the jets as they landed, keeping them from skidding off the deck into the ocean.

On June 21, 1980, the commanding officer of the Sara, Capt. James H. Flatley III made his 1,500th carrier arrested landing. Kennedy, co-pilot of an F-3, made the final arrested landing on the carrier.

Today, only a few hints of that past glory remain.

Feds vow help with immigration

TALLAHASSEE - Gov. Lawton Chiles has received a promise of $6 million in federal assistance to help defray the costs of immigration to Florida.

The promise came Thursday, just more than a week after Chiles sought help from President Clinton, Health and Human Services Secretary Donna Shalala and Attorney General Janet Reno.

Chiles has been vocal in seeking federal money to help the state deal with swelling immigration. Last year, Chiles sued the federal government for $1.5 billion to cover the costs of illegal immigration into Florida. The case was dismissed by a federal judge in December.

Chiles' most recent push for federal money for immigrants comes in response to the federal government's change in policy toward Cuban refugees.

Of the money promised Thursday, $4 million will come from the Health and Human Services Department and $2 million from the Department of Justice.

Man crushed by junked bus

OKECHOBEE - A man was crushed to death when the school bus he was cutting up at salvage yard fell on him.

Thomas Larry Williams, 36, of Okechobee, was using a forklift to remove the springs from a bus chassis Thursday at Smith Salvage Yard when the frame slipped, said detective George Suttles of the Okechobee Sheriff's Department.

The frame pinned Williams against a fuel tank and the fork lift, killing him, Suttles said.

Williams had worked at the salvage yard for six months.

Drive-by shooting leaves 2 dead

MIAMI - Two people died after a shooting that left two others, including a 5-year-old boy, seriously wounded when they were shot in a car in an apartment complex parking lot.

The car, driven by Otis Green, had just pulled up in front of an apartment building late Wednesday when he and the three others were each shot several times, said Metro-Dade detective Marie Duboulay.

The body of Green, 39, was found slumped in the front seat. Green's girlfriend, Alice Mae Gardner, 36, died Thursday at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Duboulay said.

Her young son, Michael Francis, was in critical condition at the hospital with bullet wounds that included one to the head, Duboulay said. He was on life support.

A friend, Brian Gibson, 25, was in serious condition.

Spring recollections of queens and music

On Friday, May 5, 1980, Sanford Junior High presented its annual May Day celebration in the school auditorium.

The stage was decorated with varied colored flowers and the throne was covered with white crepe paper on which were red hibiscus and fern.

Allen Maffet announced the attendants who marched in to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," played by Ellen Lyon. Coming in first were the following attendants: Mona Jobs, Larry Bates, Marianne Strickland, Donnie Clark, Janice Birdson, Bobby Deble, Lennie Rotunda, Terry Smith, Marjorie King, Rose Nannum, Mark Galbreath and Mary Mikolajcik.

Crown bearers were Margo Dunn, Reggie Whitley, Allison Lee and Billy Duxbury, the Lord and Lady were Harry Rinkavage and Rosemary Garner. Paulette Cason and Jimmy Whitley were May Queen and King.

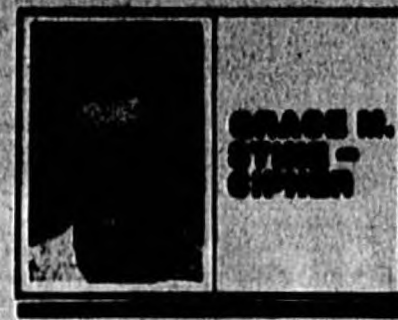

The girl attendants wore pastel colored formals while the boys wore sport suits. The queen wore a white formal.

To honor the court, the different sections presented skits and other forms of entertainment.

That night at the Tourist Center (now the Chamber of Commerce Building) there was a May Day Dance given by the PTA. Coronation ceremonies were conducted by the previous year's king and queen, Banks Register and Gail Bittling.

A program was presented by the Duxbury School of Dance. Deanna Nichols did a tap dance, and Claudette Waits performed an acrobatic dance.

Announcer for the evening was Ronnie Anderson. Mrs. Jack Russell was chairman of the event and Mrs. J.H. Lochelt was chaperone. The dance was attended by approximately 150 students, parents, and family members.

Let me digress and tell you how I came to play a clarinet in the band. Mr. Black came to SHS in 1947 and began to build up its band. Before this time, there had been no junior high band to feed students into the SHS band.

Mr. Black saw a need for this and began recruiting students at both Sanford Grammar and Sanford Junior High.

Ronnie Garner, son of Dr. and Mrs. Wade Garner, began playing a saxophone in the high school band and his sister, Rosemary, a sixth grader at Sanford Grammar School, began taking clarinet lessons. Well, Rosemary and I had been close friends since first grade, so I had to have a clarinet, too. I begged and pleaded with my parents who I'm sure really couldn't afford to buy me one. And they probably thought it was just a passing fancy of mine; anyway I was already taking piano lessons. Imagine my surprise and delight when I received a reconditioned clarinet for Christmas of 1947!

During the Christmas holidays, I went over to Rosemary's a couple of afternoons and she taught me how to finger the clarinet and other things she had learned. I practiced and was able to go on with her at the same pace. Mr. Black would come over to our school one day a week for a lesson.

The next year at junior high, we began with a very small group, but by the end of two years there were 23 of us who were listed in the June 6, 1950

Gay woman sues Navy

TAMPA — A lesbian kicked out of the U.S. Navy Reserve in 1992 claims in a federal lawsuit that her constitutional rights were violated by a policy that banned homosexuals from military service.

Bonita Rose Hrynda was discharged one year before President Clinton's "don't ask, don't tell" policy on gays in the military went into effect.

Hrynda's attorney, Dwight Wells, filed the federal lawsuit Friday after a bid to negotiate a reinstatement for his client failed. Wells said he may have obtained an injunction to prevent Hrynda's discharge had she come to him before she was fired.

Her lawsuit is the latest in a stream of lawsuits challenging the federal government's dismissal of gays.

Wells said the Navy learned of Hrynda's sexual orientation during a psychological exam she was required to undergo to qualify for a security clearance.

Before Clinton took office, military recruits were routinely asked about their sexual preference. Recruits, enlistees or officers who declared their homosexuality was immediately discharged.

Under the new policy, recruits are not asked about their sexual preference and homosexuals may remain in the service as long as they keep their status private.

In March, a federal judge in New York declared the Clinton policy unconstitutional and barred the Pentagon from discharging six men who announced their homosexuality. The Clinton administration is appealing the decision.

Drugs, dogs and students

It's a shame we have reached this point. School officials say it's time to bring in a drug-sniffing dog in order to eradicate drugs from our local schools.

The dog Spanky was only introduced at Lake Mary High School during a demonstration this past Tuesday evening. By the following day, a 16-year old was already found to have a small amount of marijuana in his backpack.

Sparky, and his officer, Deputy Sheriff Brian Marcum, the school resource officer, have spent three months undergoing training at the U.S. Customs School in Virginia. When they made their first appearance, they were ready.

Sparky is a special dog. Rather than the normal drug-sniffing K-9s, he merely sits down when drugs are detected. This is a much better approach in our schools where children will be safer.

Certainly, it goes without saying that Sanford and the surrounding area already have enough problems with drug use and drug sales. Police and deputies are constantly making drug related arrests.

Those arrested however, must be well indoctrinated in how to deal with the law. Very seldom do we hear of them telling officers about their suppliers. As a result, arrests are only made on a one-by-one basis.

According to records available, there appears to be many more arrests made on charges of possession than for sale and delivery.

In Fort Pierce Tuesday, a 20-year old man was arrested, accused of smuggling an estimated 530 pounds of cocaine into the country from the Bahamas. We believe this was excellent detective work.

This however, is only a small portion of the drugs being brought into the state and subsequently into the local area. In addition, we have some people, living right here in our midst, who are growing and selling their own marijuana.

Not just locally, but statewide and nationwide, we believe its time for more concentration to be placed on those who produce these drugs, through growing, manufacturing, or importing them.

Possession arrests are fine. We believe however, that this may be compared to being concerned over a mosquito bite on a person who is dying from cancer. It's not the real problem.

We often regret that the old days of criminal interrogations, where the accused sat under hot lights being continuously grilled by officers, has ended. It may have produced the answers to questions about drug sources.

In the meantime, although we should be ashamed that it's necessary, we commend the Seminole County Sheriff's department, the school system, Deputy Marcum, and Spanky the dog for helping us keep our schools cleaner from drugs.

Redistricting plan

Re: School Board redistricting Plan 'G'
The real issue is the color of money, not race of a student. Why not just handle the real problem, equal funding per student?

There is a big injustice problem in this country and someone should explain why, someone should answer.

It's the real world - Let's give all students an equal chance, equal funding and leave race, which is an excuse, out of this issue.

All schools must be excellent

The final public meeting relative to Seminole County's high school rezoning was held Wednesday night May 17, 1995 at Lake Howell High School. The meeting was well attended and there were many speakers. Some speakers represented groups and others spoke for themselves. The school board chairman read the comments of persons who preferred not to speak themselves.

The final two plans under discussion were "F" and "G." Various task force members described the process, the public input and the relevant data that had led them to recommend the two plans.

Throughout the meeting the neighborhood school concept was championed along with keeping a particular residential development at one school. Some speakers favored the "F" Plan, others the "G" Plan.

Henry Sweet, Westside Community Association president (Goldberg) spoke of the impact of rezoning on the black community. He indicated that both plans were opposed. The business community and real estate interest must accept responsibility for the negative perceptions attributed to Sanford and Seminole High School. This determines community composition and whether or not we are promoting diversity in our communities. Although there is a federal court order relative to desegregation, the real concern should be putting the interest of children first. "All of the kids are ours and we must invest in their future." We need to re-examine our priorities and focus upon school funding and curriculum.

SEMINOLE OPINION

Several mayors spoke for their constituencies. The mayor of Casselberry, Bruce A. Frostovest, wanted a high school in Casselberry. The mayor of Winter Springs, John F. Bush, also spoke. The board members made it clear that the naming of the new school for Winter Springs did not mean the school would be for Winter Springs residents only.

Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Russell Mauch suggested that community schools mean different things to different people, but what should be remembered is that schools serve the community at large. Community was being defined too narrowly. That an expansive sense of community would not limit it to being continuous with residential developments or cities.

Dave Farr, executive director, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, spoke as an individual. He spoke of districtwide enrollment at the elementary, middle and high school levels with parental choice being the determinant. He advised that if he had to choose a plan it would be "G."

Dr. Velma Williams also spoke as an individual, recounting what school integration has meant to the black community over the years and the fact that blacks are called upon to make the greatest sacrifices.

Sanford City Commissioner Robert Thomas spoke about Crooms and the fact that he was working with the principal, Karen Coleman, to have the name Crooms Academy restored. Crooms was formerly the black high school in Sanford and had many illustrious graduates.

At the conclusion of the public session the board acted upon their one item agenda and unanimously adopted Plan "G" which had been recommended by Superintendent Paul Hagerv. After all the discourse it is clear to me that we must all affirm that all of the children in Seminole County are ours and Seminole County is our community. We need to be united in preparing our children to live in the evolving multi-cultural, multi-ethnic society and be able to compete in the world market. All schools in the county must be perceived as "excellent" with equality funding for curriculum and programs.

OK girls, hear's your chance

Well it's a week after Mother's Day, I did my tributes to those women who through great effort and extreme patience somehow managed to stomach bringing us all up to something resembling adulthood, but that was last week ... this week, I wish to address the ones who ain't.

To put it bluntly girls, I am beginning to think you are all a bunch of fickle, self centered money grubbing... Ahh, perhaps I should back track just a mile and explain where all this hostility is coming from, before I get in any unnecessary trouble. (Actually my editor instructed me to, but then she is my boss after all.)

I am a reasonable kind of guy, fairly good looking, financially not doing badly, and possessing of something resembling a personality. I don't grunt or scratch too much around members of the opposite sex, carry on a conversation for at least two or three minutes, AND, I am painfully shy. Oh yes, you might not think it possible that this bon vivant, erudite survivor of well crafted and thought-provoking sentence structure could be afraid of voicing even a simple hello to a good looking woman, but in point of fact, I am. When one takes into consideration my current circumstances, and the fact that I am in the collective and biblical sense of the term, "on the make," such a major shortcoming can be somewhat of a liability on the dating scene. While I've mentioned in past articles the fact that the "scene" has changed a great deal since my last foray there unto, and alluded to a certain lack of success in my attempts to regain access within its ranks, I think that on this occasion I am for the first time addressing the bare truth of the matter by referring to that aforementioned abyss which so cripples my tongue whenever I find myself in the presence of a woman with whom I wish to have a relationship, so to speak.

Now in my attempts to find that special someone, I have badgered nearly all my friends for a referral, have considered putting myself up for bid within one of the pay-for-play professional video services, and even gone so far as to run several personal ads within the local print forums. It is in fact that last venue which has so recently caused my blood to reach boiling point, and due to which I am beginning to view all you vipersous females as being only interested in my bod ... eh hem, I mean my money and what it can be used for in your behalf. Go ahead, try and deny the truth of my words, if you dare ... I mean if I had money dropping off me like honey from a hive, I suspect I would have absolutely no difficulty whatsoever in being in the position of besting you all off with a stick, but well, I don't. And when you turn me down before even meeting me and learning of the true gem you have been fortunate to uncover ... What else could it be?

All right, perhaps I haven't hit all the prospects out there yet, and the fact that I go out little might have an influence on things, so I'll give you all one more chance, and write a new personal ad right here, smack dab in the middle in the middle of my column. But if you don't start ringing the phone over at the paper off the hook after this.

Drop dead gorgeous, yet self effacing 43 yo hunk seeks soul mate.

This unbelievable catch: well educated, financially secure and professional stud muffin seeks a Gutenevere to champion, to share the good times with, and to prove to that some men do have staying power. Long term relationship a possibility with the right 30 to 50 yo intrinsically lady-like insectible Venus, provided she meets my high standards. If you think you are the right wild animal tamer for this tiger, respond in 337 words or more with a recent photo to (Oh, I should be so lucky) this paper, before it's too late (within the next two weeks).

— And if you are the fortunate young lady selected, just for something novel, the first date's on you.

Now I ask you all out there, especially the guys: could I be finer or more open in the description of myself? Have I not offered the right woman a chance to prove she is nearly my equal? Time will tell.

WHO squanders its resources

WASHINGTON — As the international community mobilizes to combat the deadly Ebola virus in Zaire, there is this sad but salient fact about the world's pre-eminent public health organization:

The World Health Organization — which receives one-fourth of its funding from American taxpayers — budgeted $5.6 million in 1994-95 for stationery and office supplies. Another $455,000 is put aside for "hospitality."

Put more starkly, the agency that should be in the vanguard fighting viral outbreaks like Ebola is spending more money on office supplies than it is spending on disease control in all but nine countries.

Just a few years ago, the WHO was being lauded for its efforts to combat smallpox. An unprecedented $100 million, 10-year effort by the United Nations organization successfully eradicated smallpox in 1977. The last remaining sample of the virus was finally destroyed by scientists late last year. But those glory days are now over.

Sources at the U.N. and the WHO tell us a big part of the problem today is its autocratic chief, Hiroshi Nakajima, who is currently in his second term as director general. Critics charge that he is so bent on building a personal empire that the agency is often left unprepared by four-alarm calls like the virus outbreak in Zaire. In the meantime, funds are scarce for other diseases that are already decimating parts of the globe.

In fact, Nakajima has often seemed more concerned about ensuring his incumbency than promoting public health. The United States backed his Algerian deputy for the post in 1992, so Nakajima promptly fired him. An internal audit later uncovered that, within six months of Nakajima's reappointment in January 1993, he gave financial contracts to 23 of 31 members of the WHO's executive board.

Nakajima has also had his share of personal travails. In one incident, a government-run newspaper in Russia reported that Nakajima tried to smuggle six valuable religious icons out of Russia in July 1991. The icons were seized at the Moscow airport, and returned to the Russian Orthodox Church. Nakajima, pleading diplomatic immunity, was allowed to continue on his travels. Several months after the newspaper report, one Russian agency issued a lame statement saying Nakajima had "unintentionally misunderstood" customs regulations when he bought the icons for $150 from an unidentified dealer.

Under the stewardship of Nakajima — who was a Japanese pharmacologist before taking over the WHO — the once-praised institution has come under frequent fire for its wasteful ways. A little-noticed 1993 study by two George Mason University professors, Robert Tollison and Richard Wagner, found that 76 percent of the WHO's $1 billion annual budget is spent on the staff. Many of these bureaucrats pull down salaries well above $100,000, and live in luxury near the agency's Geneva headquarters. In the 1994-95 biannual budget, $50 million was set aside just for meetings.

"The joke about WHO is, every time they get a new program, they put up a new building," one frustrated U.S. State Department official told our associate Jan Molter.

The outbreak of the Ebola virus in Zaire probably could not have been prevented by any agency — no matter how well-run. Yet other chronic diseases can be prevented and cured — if only the WHO would put public health before pencils and paperweights.

There is this sad but salient fact about the world's pre-eminent public health organization.

family." Music, varying from recorded Jimmy Buffet to live performances by local musicians, kept people dancing from spot to spot throughout the day. Starlaque Marshall is three. Her mother, Latonya Shields, brought her "all the way from DeLand" to see Mickey Mouse. Mickey was on hand courtesy of the Walt Disney Company which was one of the sponsors of the event. He will be back again today. "We came out just to see Mickey," Shields said. "She's crazy for him. It's a lot closer than Disney World and it's free." Shannon Messier planned to venture from the park and see a little more of Sanford. The Orlando woman has heard nice things about the Sanford historic district, she said, and wanted to take a look around.

"This was a neat way to get the kids out to do something I wanted to do," she said. "This is a cute little town. I like it." Members of the Sanford Historic Trust hoped that more people were doing the same thing. "We were worried this morning that no one was going to come out here to see what we have to offer," said Jamie Meeks of the Historic Trust, "but the crowd's not bad and we hope they'll go out on the walking tour." The Fun Day in the Park is a fine event for the whole family. It will continue today from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. in Fort Mellon Park.

potential sites are in the county. Lake Mary or Sanford jurisdiction except Center Points which is in Altona Springs.

Ten additional sites in the county made the secondary site list including: Goodings/Curry, various Wilson Avenue parcels, the southwest corner of SR 46 and I-4, Falucci/Rinhart, Southgate and adjacent property, SR 46A tracts, Ball tract, Tusacawilla Ranch, southwest Greenway/Aloma Avenue parcels and northeast Greenway/Aloma Avenue parcels.

The task force assumed 40 acres would be needed to accommodate the building and 2,500 parking spaces, so only parcels containing a minimum of 35-40 acres were targeted.

Without a permanent draw to the center such as a hockey team, consultants predict an increase in the potential funding shortfall of $500,000 to $800,000. The original convention center feasibility study projected approximately a $2.4 million shortfall, even with a minor league hockey team playing a 41-home game schedule drawing an average per game attendance of 5,000, or 305,000 annually. Without a hockey team, the shortfall could increase to $2.9 to $3.3 million.

The committee wants direction from the commissioners on whether to seek request for proposal from owners and representatives of the primary sites.

During 1994, the commissioners contracted with Real Estate Research Consultants, Inc. to determine the feasibility of building a county convention center. The initial study included discussion of a potential minor league hockey franchise using the facility for a 41 home game schedule. However, with the Orlando Magic NHL ice hockey franchise, a minor league team is unlikely, tourism director Jack Wert notes in a tourism development report.

In lieu of a hockey team using the facility, the consultants note "replacement" events would be targeted including amateur sports, exhibition NHL games, indoor soccer, amateur and professional gymnastics, tradeshows and conventions.

The availability and development of convention quality hotel rooms would be a key factor in the location of the center, the report adds.

The commissioners will review the report during a 10:30 a.m. work session in room 1028 of the Seminole County Services Building.

from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. On the actual right-of-way application form however, it says the market is to be held only on Saturdays, from 7 a.m. until 1 p.m.

No specific date has been indicated for the start of the market. This is reportedly to be announced after receiving approval from the city and final-ing arrangements for a number of dealers who will participate.

SMB has indicated that all structures to be used would be temporary, and removed at the conclusion of the day's market events.

An attachment to the application says the items to be offered for sale will include Florida fresh produce, baked goods, food and beverages, specialty plants, and flowers. It says, "no crafts or flea market items will be allowed."

As a portion of the bricked area at the northern end of Magnolia Avenue contains a number of benches, SMB has promised to leave a portion of the square open for customer relaxation and socializing.

The request is scheduled on the agenda for Monday night's regular meeting of the Sanford City Commission, beginning at 7 p.m., in the commission chambers of Sanford City Hall, 500 N. Park Avenue.

The lodge, in one of its many community service projects, seeks to encourage its members to give blood at the regularly scheduled visits by the Bloodmobile to their facility. # Wind delays weather satellite launch

By ROGER HARMACK
Herald Staff Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL AIR STATION — A weather tracking satellite remains grounded today after a thunderstorm forced Air Force officials to scrub Saturday's launch.

The delay was the second in a row for the Atlas rocket carrying a weather satellite as payload.

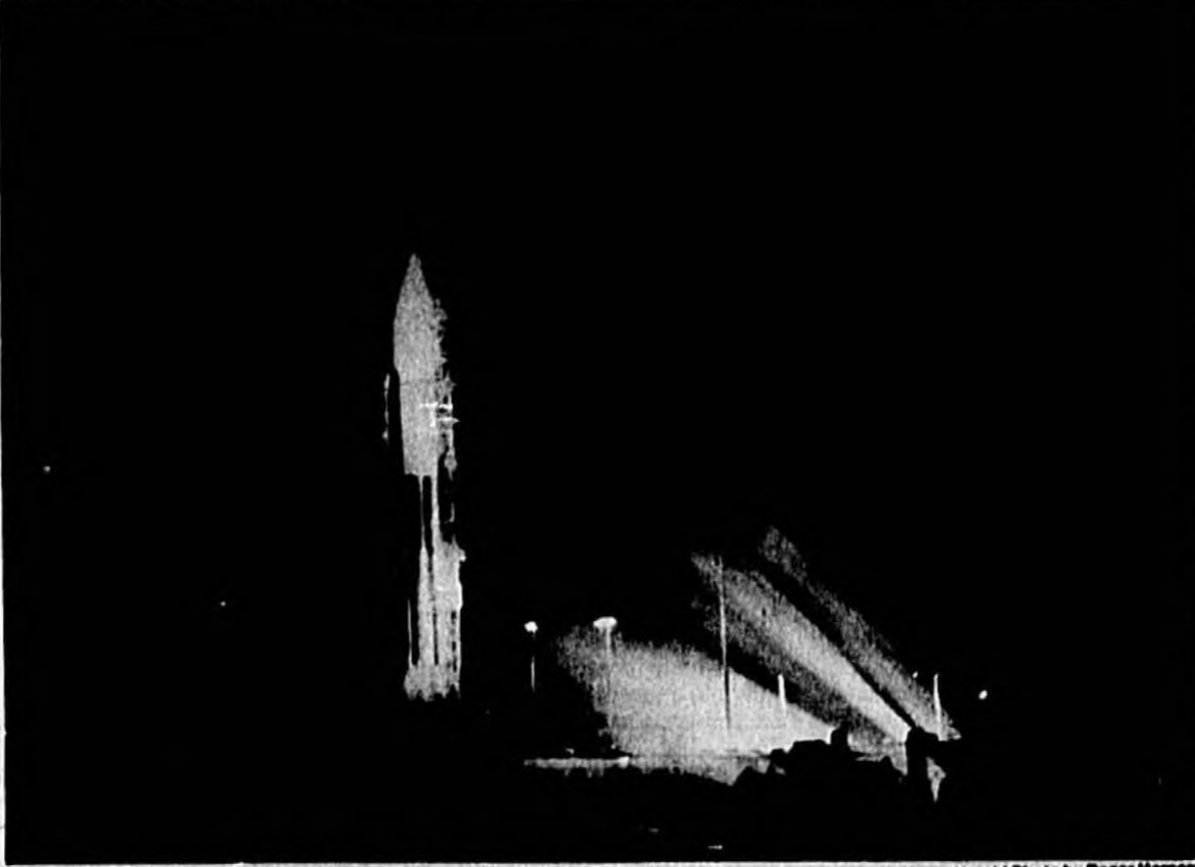

The Atlas rocket carrying GOES-9 (Geostationary Operational Environmental Satellite) was originally scheduled to lift off from the Air Force station at 1:42 a.m. Friday, but was delayed due to a battery failure.

On Saturday, at approximately 1:30 a.m., a thunderstorm moved to within five miles of the launch pad. High winds and nearby lightning ultimately proved too much of an obstacle to attempt a launch.

Winds gusted up to 39 knots, causing the rocket to wobble on the launch pad.

Air Force officials have rescheduled the launch for Tuesday, at 1:41 a.m. The launch window extends to just before 3 a.m. Provided the weather is clear, the launch will be clearly visible from Seminole County.

The extended delay allows Air Force officials to inspect joints

This rocket, carrying the GOES-9 satellite into space, did not take off as scheduled in the wee hours of Saturday morning. The GOES-9 will be stressed by the high winds.

When the weather satellite, GOES-9, is in orbit, it will collect and transmit weather-related images and data to various weather services and bureaus across the United States.

Some of the data the satellite is capable of recording includes wind speeds, tides, temperatures and pressures.

In addition to recording weather information, the GOES network is also capable of relaying distress signals from aircraft and marine vessels to search and rescue networks.

According to Air Force officials, GOES-9 is the second in a network of three weather satellites that will be a key component in hurricane tracking.

edition of the San-Ju-Hi News. These Sanford Junior High Band members were: clarinets — Roger Garner, Jeanne Lane Miller, Rosemary Garner, Patsy Collins, Gordon Toll, Nancy Rountree, Jimmy Brown, and yours truly; saxophones — Ronnie Anderson and Colleen Engbreton; trombones — Larry Bates, Dickie Kendall, Larry Bates, and Rodman Brumley; trumpets — Marvin McKinley, Teddy Miller and Craig Anderson; mellophones — Louise Benton and Geraldine Wilkinson; flute — Gladys Haaty; snare drums — Cecil Koons, Bobby Billhimer, and Mark Galbreath; bass drummer — Jimmy Whitley.

Most of these students became members of the SHS band and about 12 of us were members all four years.

During the 1949-50 school year, once a week Mr. Black would take the six of us eighth graders who had been playing the longest over to play with the high school band. Later in the year he would also take the other eighth graders on another morning. I remember really enjoying it when I was assigned to play with the third clarinets or even the seconds, but occasionally he would place me beside Mary Gray Michael, solo clarinetist, and I would be totally lost! But it was great experience, and the next year we were able to join the SHS Band quite easily.

It states in the school newspaper that our SJHS Band made its first public appearance on April 29, 1950, during a Memorial Day program. The band was directed by Jimmy Whitley, Rosemary Garner, and Louise Benton. No mention of what we played was made, and I certainly can't remember!

I know that my parents soon came to realize that they had made a wise investment when they bought me a clarinet. My experiences as a member of the band were some of the most enjoyable and memorable ones in my young life. You will remember my articles on the SHS Band trip to Mardi Gras, and there were many other interesting and fun times.

I was never an excellent player, but I did pretty well as a second clarinetist and played well enough to become a member of both the Maryville College and Stetson University bands. I recently saw Mr. Richard Fessel, my Stetson band director, at Homecoming and reminisced about the good times we had there. The most memorable was a week's tour during spring break, playing concerts in Georgia, North and South Carolina, and Virginia.

If your child has any musical talent at all, encourage him to develop it! You can rent an instrument while deciding on his interest level and also the high school bands own some instruments. Or encourage her to join the school chorus or church choir. You and your child will never regret it; he will have some marvelous experiences and excellent training. And you will enjoy the experiences, too, as did my parents.

Cindy Lang, one of the many youngsters who auditioned for a place in the Florida Youth Symphony on Saturday, wanted to be sure her instrument was perfectly in tune. The musical tryouts took place at Seminole Community College and attracted some of the finest young musicians in central Florida.

If they take advantage of you...

DEAR ABBY: Summer, the dreaded season when my family loses its privacy, is approaching. We have always been generous with the swimming pool behind our house. However, in years past, neighbors and friends have taken advantage of our generosity.

One of our neighbors has extended a one-time invitation to swim to a permanent welcome. She dumps her five children off at sunrise, seven days a week, spring to fall. Yet our three nieces and nephew, who visit occasionally, have never been invited to play at their home. In fact, they treat our nieces and nephew as unwelcome pests if they even go into their yard.

We often answer the door to find friends with a carload of strangers wanting to use our pool. Not only must we serve as lifeguard for children from 4 to 13 while their parents relax at home in front of the television, we become food servers to uninvited people who use our towels and track water all over the house. The intrusions destroy any chance we have to relax. We have tried setting limits, to no avail.

How do we let these people know that they will not longer be welcome unless invited - without making enemies? FRIENDS IN OUR HOME DEAR FRIENDS: Use the Abby advice: If people take advantage of you once, shame on them! If they take advantage of you twice, shame on you.

To stop the onslaught of unwelcome guests, you must get assertive. When you find uninvited people at your door, say, "Sorry, today is not a good day. I'll call you at a better time." Several years ago, one of my clever readers solved the problem by flying a welcome flag in front of her home when guests were invited to swim. Pass the word to your family, neighbors and friends about the welcome signal and give it a try. Good luck.

P.S. A word of warning: You are liable should someone be injured in or near your pool, so be sure your homeowners insurance is current.

When I told her that my husband enjoys buying intimate apparel for me, and I enjoy modeling it for him, I could tell by her reaction that she didn't believe me.

We have been married for 24 years, and now, at age 47, I've acquired some sagging and wrinkles, but I still have a fairly good figure. I am proud of the fact that my husband buys me sexy lingerie.

Abby, do you think it's wrong for a man to buy intimate apparel for his wife? And is it wrong for her to model it for him in private?

DEAR WAUBGAN: The answer to both questions is a resounding No! The only thing wrong here is a "friend" who would try to plant the seeds of suspicion in your mind.

Deputy dog sniffs out drugs at school

By VICKI DeSOMIER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Before he has even reached his second birthday, Spanky has been hired for one of the most important jobs in the Seminole County schools.

You might say he has a real nose for his work.

A deputy sheriff with the Seminole County sheriff's office, a black labrador, is based at Lake Mary High School where he has begun working with Deputy Brian Marcum, the school's resource officer.

Marcum and Spanky spent 11 weeks in training together at the U.S. Customs Service drug dog training school in Front Royal, Va. before returning to Seminole County last week.

According to Ed McDonough, public information officer for the sheriff's office, said the $7,400 training was paid for with money seized from drug dealers.

Already he has assisted in the arrest of a Lake Mary High School student who was found to have marijuana in his possession.

"He's great," Marcum said of his new partner. "He has a very acute sense of smell. He can even detect residual narcotics. He can smell it even if you had the narcotics an hour ago."

Marcum said that ability may fade, though the ability to smell narcotics that are actually present will not.

Spanky was trained to indicate the presence of narcotics in a passive manner. Rather than barking or scratching at the location, he simply sits down.

"If you meet us and he comes and sits at your feet," Marcum said, "you're in trouble."

Spanky was trained to sniff out narcotics on a reward system in which he is permitted to play sort of tug-of-war game with Marcum when he successfully indicates the location of narcotics.

"This is all a big game for him," Marcum said. "He doesn't know how hard he's working."

Marcum and Spanky are stationed at Lake Mary High, but they will make the rounds of all the district schools. They may be called upon to visit a school if a principal believes there is a need.

"We'll also do demonstrations at schools around the district so the kids can see how he does his job," Marcum said.

School district security chief Wolfgang Halbig is very pleased that Sheriff Don Ealinger and Supt. Paul Hagerty have taken this approach to curtailing the drug problem in the school.

Spanky is the first Custom Service-trained drug sniffing dog in the country to be stationed at a school.

"It is a very good, pro-active approach to the problem," Halbig said. "I think they are very forward thinking in this."

Spanky lives with Marcum and his family but, Marcum said, he can not be a "real family pet" as they can't play with him as they would a pet.

"Because the tug-of-war game is part of his reward for work," he said, "we can't play friebee with him or anything like that. He might start to prefer that to the tug-of-war game."

Right now, Spanky is living "in the lap of luxury" in Marcum's guest bathroom.

The room is large and cool. Spanky, who grew up in Virginia still has thick winter coat. Because of that and because his fur is black, he is suffering a bit from the heat.

"I can really only work him for 10 or 15 minutes outside before he gets really fatigued," Marcum said.

Deputies Marcum and Spanky work well together in the halls of Lake Mary High School where they are beginning their fight against drugs in the county schools.

Once the dog gets used to the heat, Marcum plans to build a kennel for his dog in the back yard of his home.

"He's a beautiful animal and he's very good with the students," Marcum said. "But anyone who brings narcotics to school is doing something pretty stupid with Spanky around."

Stamping out some funds for Habitat

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Even if you can't drive a nail or participate in the actual construction of a house, you can help Habitat for Humanity in Seminole County.

The organization, which constructs simple, sturdy shelter for responsible families with very low income, is looking for volunteers for two money-making projects. Workers are needed in the Habitat Thrift Store and to work with the Habitat Postage Stamp Project.

James A. Estes, stamp project coordinator said people are needed to transport, sort and organize donated stamps. Stamp donations are also sought. There is a ready market for all types of stamps: collector clubs, dealers for U.S.

stamps (used and mint), foreign stamps, postal cards, post cards, hand cancels, pre-cancels, perfins, seals, etc.

Funds raised from donated stamps are used totally for new housing, Estes noted. The stamp project is a volunteer program with no administrative overhead.

"Last year over $2,000 was raised by the stamp project," he added.

Volunteers are also needed Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays to stock, clerk and drive a truck for donation pick-ups. The Thrift Store is located at 2942 S. Orlando Drive, at the corner of U.S. Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard.

IN BRIEF

LOCALLY

YMCA offers soccer, T-ball

LAKE MARY — Sign-ups for the 1995 YMCA Youth Sports soccer and T-ball seasons are now underway at the Seminole Family YMCA, 655 Longwood-Lake Mary Road.

Both leagues are open to boys and girls in grades K to 5. The soccer season will run from June 5 through July 29. The T-ball season is scheduled to go from June 12 through Aug. 5.

Registration is $45 (per league) for members, $65 for non-members.

Parents are encouraged to volunteer as coaches, officials, committee members and other positions of support within the league.

For more information, contact program coordinator Todd Couture, 321-8944.

Key West claims 4A crown

SARASOTA — Paul Waltheron allowed seven hits in seven innings to lead Key West to its first championship since 1984 with a 6-4 victory over Seminole Osceola on Saturday in the Class 4A title game.

Key West, ranked No. 1 in the state and 10th nationally, finishes the year with a 35-2 mark, including 27 consecutive victories. For the Conchs, it is their eighth state title. Seminole Osceola finishes 24-9.

Balk boosts St. Thomas in 6A

SARASOTA — Frank Marcianti scored on a balk with two outs in the eighth inning as Fort Lauderdale St. Thomas defeated Tampa Jesuit 4-3 to win the Class 6A championship on Saturday at Ed Smith Stadium.

The Raiders' Marcianti doubled to right-center field with one out in the eighth inning and moved to third on Tim Burton's fly out. With catcher Dan Griffin facing a 1-2 count, Chris Delgado broke from first on an attempted steal when pitcher Ronnie Merrill flinched before disengaging the pitching rubber for the balk. The umpire waived Marcianti home.

AROUND THE NATION

Timber Country wins Prekness

BALTIMORE — Timber Country overcame Thunder Creek's chances of winning the Triple Crown with a victory in the Prekness on Saturday at Pimlico.

Timber Country, the 2-year-old champion of last year winning for the first time in five starts this year, took the lead in midstretch and held off Oliver's Twist, while Kentucky Derby winner Thunder Gulch had to settle for third in the field of 11 3-year-olds.

It was the sixth straight year the Derby winner failed to win the Prekness. The last to do it was Sunday Silence in 1989.

Elle, Rockets eclipse Suns

PHOENIX — The Houston Rockets added another chapter to their Clutch City history Saturday, winning their eighth straight playoff elimination game in two years.

This one was on the road in a Game 7 to bring them back from a 3-1 deficit — two things that don't happen very often in the NBA.

Mario Elle's 3-pointer from the corner with 7.1 seconds left broke a 110-110 tie and lifted the defending champions to a 115-114 victory over the Phoenix Suns.

Clyde Drexler and Hakeem Olajuwon scored 29 points each to overcome a career-high 45 by Phoenix's Kevin Johnson as the Rockets advanced to the Western Conference finals.

Barkley retires . . . probably

PHOENIX — Charles Barkley announced his retirement after the Phoenix Suns were ousted from the NBA playoffs Saturday, but once again he refused to be unequivocal.

"I'll tell you the same thing I told the team after the game," a dejected Barkley said. "More than likely, I have played my last game. There's no soul-searching. It's not even a big deal. I'm not saying it's 100 percent, but I'm pretty sure about things right now."

Seminoles stay alive in ACC

GREENVILLE, S.C. — Florida State pounded its way into a Atlantic Coast Conference showdown with Clemson Saturday as Mickey Lopes sparked the Seminoles to a 10-1 victory over North Carolina.

Lopes had an RBI single and a grand slam in Florida State's 10-run fifth inning. The Seminoles, 46-14, next face Clemson and must beat the Tigers twice to win the championship.

Clemson, which ousted North Carolina State from the tournament 16-7 earlier Saturday, is undefeated and can clinch the crown with only one win in two tries against Florida State.

Lyman takes Class 6A title

Sophomore Kevin Naas was 3-for-3 as Lyman beat Coral Springs 6-4 in Friday's state semifinal game.

From Staff, Wire Reports

SARASOTA — Mike Paulus went 3-for-3 and drove in the winning run with a sixth-inning single as the Lyman Greyhounds edged the Brandon Eagles, 2-1, for the Class 6A baseball state championship Saturday.

It was the first state baseball title for Lyman (31-3), which finished with a 17-game winning streak.

Brandon (28-4) was runner-up for the second time in six seasons. In 1990, the Eagles lost to the Lake Brantley Patriots, 10-9.

Jason Franks (11-0) picked up the victory, lasting 6 1/2 innings, allowing seven hits, three walks and the one run which was earned. He struck out four. Danny Boggsie recorded the final four outs for his ninth save of the season and second of the tournament.

Brandon starter Matt Ronne (9-2) took the loss, lasting five innings, allowing four hits, two runs, only one of which was earned, and one walk. He struck out three.

The Greyhounds scored first, plating an unearned run in the top of the third. Paulus led off with a double, advanced to third on a sacrifice by Kevin Naas, and scored when Ted Koller's ground ball was misplayed by Brandon shortstop Chone Figgins.

The Eagles tied the score in the fifth when Ryan Meeks singled home Tim Meldrum.

Mike Hensch, who contributed a two-RBI triple and two runs scored in Friday's semifinal win over Coral

After taking second on an interference call against the Brandon first baseman, Hensch scored the go-ahead run on Paulus' single.

Besides Paulus, Hensch and Koller were the only other Greyhounds to get hits Saturday night, each collecting a pair of singles.

While steady pitching and clutch hitting grabbed the spotlight, Lyman won the state championship with its defense, playing errorless ball over 14 innings in state championship competition.

By comparison, Brandon made three errors Saturday night while Coral Gables made one huge error in Friday morning's 6-4 victory.

Lyman took a 2-0 lead in the top of the second inning when Hensch was hit by a pitch and Jason Gronert laid down a sacrifice bunt. The play turned into a run as Coral Gables pitcher Alex Marin overthrew first base, allowing Hensch to score and Gronert to go all the way to third.

Robby Bruce followed with a sacrifice fly to left to score Gronert.

The Greyhounds broke the game open in the sixth inning as Kevin Naas (a sophomore replacing the injured Kiley Calapa at second base) singled, Freddie Young then bunted for a single and both runners advanced on a sacrifice bunt.

After Jason Shipley singled in a run, Hensch tripled to the wall in left-center to plate two more. Gronert then singled to end the scoring.

Senior Tom Dixon (11-2) had a five strike-out, two-hit shutout going into the bottom of the seventh inning. But the Cavaliers (24-10) mounted a challenge with four straight hits and two runs to chase Dixon in the bottom of the seventh.

Boggsie came in and, after giving up an RBI single and a sacrifice bunt that cut the score to 6-4, got a strike out and a ground out to end the game.

Contributing to Friday's win were Naas (3-for-3), Young (2-for-3, run), Hensch (1-for-2, triple, two runs, two RBI), Gronert (1-for-2, run, RBI), Shipley (single, run, RBI), Bruce (RBI) and John Fagan (run).

Greyhounds lead All-SAC diamond selections

Special to the Herald

SARASOTA — Five members of Lyman High School's Class 6A state finalist baseball team (see page B1) were named to the first team of the All-Seminole Athletic Conference announced last week.

Three seniors — starting pitcher Tommy Dixon (the winning pitcher in Lyman's 6-4 semifinal win over Coral Springs on Friday), catcher Ted Koller, and second baseman Kiley Calapa (who suffered a broken leg during the district tournament) — lead Lyman's selections.

Also named to the first team were Greyhound third baseman Jason Shipley and centerfielder Fred Young, both juniors.

Wounding out the first-team pitching staff are Lake Howell's Ricky Padilla and Chris Tibbets of Lake Brantley. Completing the infield are Lake Howell first baseman Ryan Bowen and Oviedo shortstop Neufeld, Brion King of Oviedo and Lake Brantley's Neal Castaldo are the other outfielders while Seminole's Jeff Churnat is the first-team designated hitter.

Substitute stopper Danny Boggsie and shortstop Mike Hensch were Lyman's representatives on the All-SAC second team. Greyhounds earning honorable mention were Rob Bruce, Jason Gronert, Kyle Hayde and Jason Franks.

Lake Brantley, which finished second to Lyman in the conference, placed designated hitter Matt Deant on the All-SAC second team. Honorable mention picks were Manny Rojas, Mitch Hunt, Sean Arago, Moises Navarro, Keith Walsh, J.B. Cartmill, Brian Grassing, Nate Blake, and Charles Little.

Representing third-place Lake Howell on the second team was outfielder Kevin Knorst. Earning honorable mention laurels were Rick

Oviedo had pitcher Brian Buchanan, first baseman Adam Coleman, third baseman Mark Metcalf, and outfielder Richie Wright voted to the second team. White Mike Bergman, Josh Frost, Carlos Martinez, Steve Hodges, and Kenny Birch were honorable mention choices.

Lake Mary catcher Rene Ferris was named to the All-SAC second team. Ferris earning honorable mention nods were Scott Bryan, Brett Wehmeyer, Jay Reynolds, Mike Buky, Chris Kleibl, Carey Hobbs, Nick Soes, Luis Rivera, Carlos Colon, and Robert Vessey.

Voted to the All-SAC second team from Seminole were pitcher Andy Hillman, second baseman Mike Meadows, and outfielder Phillip Eubanks. Honorable mention choices were Chris Youmans, Tim Raines Jr., Alex Acosta, Chris Louwama, and Brian Willcox.

Stokes walks, runs, scores as Indians top Blue Jays

From Staff Reports

SARASOTA — Monterro Stokes scored the winning run as the Kiwanis Club Indians upset the Elks Lodge No. 1241 Blue Jays 10-9 in a Sanford Recreation Babe Ruth Baseball League game at Sanford Memorial Stadium Friday evening.

Trailing 7-1, the Indians (5-9) rallied to tie the game at 9-9 with three runs in the third and five runs in the fourth inning.

After the Blue Jays (7-6) left the go-ahead run stranded on second base in the top of the fifth inning, Stokes led off the home half of the frame with a walk, stole both second and third base, then scored the winning run on a wild pitch.

Doing the damage for the Indians were Troy Brinson (two singles, three runs, RBI), J.J. Bryant (triple, RBI), Joe Perry (double, three RBI), Willie Jones (single, two runs), William Rose (single, run), Daniel Bohannon (single), Dwayne Tillman (two runs, RBI), Stokes (two runs) and Daniel Behuak (RBI).

Providing the offense for the Blue Jays were Trellis Smith (double, two singles, three runs, RBI), Barry Porter (triple, single, run, four RBI),

Good news for Magic: Grant's injured ring finger OK

Associated Press

ORLANDO — The Orlando Magic received some encouraging news before beginning preparation for the NBA's Eastern Conference final.

Forward Horace Grant, instrumental in the team's second-round playoff victory over the Chicago Bulls, was pronounced ready to play after doctors examined the injured ring finger on his left hand.

Grant strained a ligament during the third quarter of Thursday night's series-clincher at Chicago when he dove to the floor for a loose ball and someone stepped on his hand. He returned to the game in the fourth period but watched the final five minutes from the bench after removing himself from the lineup because the finger hurt so much that he couldn't defend or rebound.

Team doctors examined the finger when the Magic returned from Chicago on Friday. The conference final begins Tuesday against either New York or Indiana, who play Game 7 of their semifinal series Sunday.

"Whether it's the Pacers or the Knicks, we're in for a tough, physical series, which is completely different than the one we just played," Orlando coach Brian Hill said. "We're going to have to get into a different mind-set. We played basically a perimeter-style series with Chicago, but there's going to be a lot more banging around in this next one. I'm sure our guys can adjust, but it's going to take some preparation."

The players are looking forward to the challenge.

"It's hard to describe how good we feel now because I'm not sure we believed we could get this far," said Jeff Turner, one of two players remaining from Orlando's inaugural season six years ago.

Troy Brinson (on ground) scored one of his three runs for the Kiwanis Club Indians on this play in a 10-9 come-from-behind win over catcher Mark Kerat and the Elks Lodge No. 1241 Blue Jays Friday at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Boating and alcohol don't mix

Approximately one-third of all boating accident deaths in Florida are alcohol-related. To learn how drinking affects boating, we must first look at how alcohol affects people. Although alcohol has been used since about 8,000 B.C., there are still many myths about the intoxicating liquor.

JIM SHUPE

MYTH: Beer is less intoxicating than other alcoholic beverages. FACT: One 12-ounce can of beer, one 6-ounce glass of wine or one shot of 80-proof liquor all contain about the same amount of alcohol and have the same effect.

MYTH: A cold shower, a walk in the fresh air or drinking black coffee will sober you up. FACT: Once you have consumed alcohol, nothing will sober you up except time. Your body will metabolize about one ounce of alcohol per hour. If you are legally drunk, it will take about seven hours to sober up.

MYTH: It is easy to tell if someone is too drunk to drive. FACT: Many experienced drinkers have learned to compensate for alcohol's outwardly visible effects and can hide their intoxicated condition.

MYTH: You are the best person to judge whether you are fit to operate a boat. FACT: One of the first things you lose when drinking is your judgment.

ALCOHOL affects the following: BALANCE: Most people who die in boating accidents either fall out of the boat or capsize it, and end up in the water. Balance is one of the first things you lose when you consume alcohol. The problem is that you may not notice the reduction in ability, and a small, unstable boat is very unforgiving.

COORDINATION: As the amount of alcohol you drink increases, your ability to coordinate arm and leg movement is reduced. A drunk boater will have great difficulty trying to swim to a lifesaving device, let alone put it on.

VISION: Since vision provides about 90 percent of the information we use in a traffic situation, or while operating a boat, it is important to understand how it is affected by alcohol. When all of the negative effects of alcohol are combined — the improper amount of light entering the eye, poor focus or double vision, loss of depth perception, tunnel vision and the inability to distinguish color — the results can be disastrous.

JUDGMENT/RECK-TAKING: As in cases of fatigue and hypothermia, one of the first things lost through alcohol consumption is judgment. After a drink or two, people tend to loosen up, lose their inhibitions, and are more likely to try to perform daring and bold acts. Since judgment is already impaired, a person may not even be aware of such bold actions.

FISHING FORECAST
Expect for bass action to continually taper off with warming water temperatures. The river will provide the best action because of moving currents and dropping water levels.

Sebastian Inlet has great snook action at night early in the morning. Large live shrimp and finger mullet are the top baits, while one-ounce jugs continue to be the favorite artificial. Also expect redfish, a few flounder and trout, and lots of small jack crevalle and ladyfish.

Captain Jack at Poye Conservator reports that dolphin are the big news offshore. Good numbers of nice fish are being caught from 150 feet of water right on out to 500 feet. Some of these dolphins are huge, ranging from 40 to 60 pounds.

Strawn, Buckley take Hotshot titles

SANFORD — Having finished second in Sanford Club's 1989-90 Darts Tournament, Ken Strawn of Nice & Easy came back and beat Harvey last week for top honors this season. Finishing third was Rich Moreland (Bamboo Cafe). Bobbie Buckley (Touchdown Pub) won her third women's Hotshot title by keeping Bamboo Cafe's Jolynn Moreland from winning her fourth. Third place went to Lealie Chevier (Bamboo Cafe), voted Most Improved by the other members of the Ladies League.

Johnson tops 700 twice at BA-Sanford

SANFORD — Pat Johnson took his game to another level this week at Bow America-Sanford, topping the 700 series score twice. Johnson turned in a week's best 724 in the Men's 700 League and followed that performance with a 707 in the McGuire's Canvas League. Several others also went over 600, including a 675 in the Marcell's Ladies League by Carol Slaughter, best among the women this week.

Also breaking 600 were Ben Van Gelder (665), Mike Fox (666), Ben Allison (677), Eddie Clark (671), Dick Perotti (643), Steve Womack (624), Nancy Johnson (617) and Penny Smith (614). Bob Griffin turned in an outstanding personal achievement, rolling a 267 game in the McGuire's Canvas League, 101 pins over his average. Having another good week was Brian Smith, who dominated the Youth play with a 516 series and 214 game in the Teen Pro Bowlers League.

IN BRIEF

Realtors join

Six Realtor organizations serving over 7,000 real estate professionals in five Central Florida counties, have agreed to combine their resources and form the Mid-Florida Regional Multiple Listing Service (MLS).

The participating associations represent Seminole, Orange, Osceola, Lake, and Polk Counties. The formation will officially take place Wednesday, May 24, during a special ceremony at Orlando's Citrus Club.

The Mid-Florida Regional MLS, to be headquartered in Orlando, will operate a service that will handle over 50,000 annual listings for members to access when working with buyers.

"The formation of this regional corporation gives buyers and expanded inventory of home to choose from, and gives sellers an immediate increase in the exposure of their properties," said Orlando President Jerry Guinn.

The combining of resources has been underway for slightly less than two years.

Frederick joins MBA

LONGWOOD — MBA/Melinda Brody & Associates, located on Wekiva Springs Road in Longwood, has announced Sharon Frederick has now joined the staff.

Frederick has a varied background including working for the president of Lexington Homes. She will coordinate all evaluations in addition to compiling Trend Reports and handling billing.

MBA Inc. specializes in sales evaluations, sales training and market surveys.

Local participation

Several Seminole County area business leaders are scheduled to participate in the Ninth Annual Environmental Permitting Summer School on Marco Island in July. Named on the list of "Outstanding Faculty" for the event were Jim Prior, project manager for PRC Environmental Management in Sanford, Donald F. Newham, P.E., Director of Public Works for the City of Altamonte Springs, and Jim Boyd, P.E., President of Boyd Environmental, Inc., of Oviedo.

The seminar, on July 12 through 14 is produced by the Florida Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Florida Department of Environmental Protection.

For information, contact Colleen Barton, in Tallahassee, at (904) 681-2550.

R/R Supply

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — R&R Supply has leased 7,185 square feet of office warehouse space at 974 Explorer Cove in Altamonte Springs for one year. Gayle Duke of Duke Properties in Maitland negotiated the transaction.

New at Southern

LONGWOOD — Southern Realty Enterprises, Inc., at 2648 SR-434 in Longwood has announced three new sales associates have been added to their team. They were identified as Vincent Palazzolo, Ron Farwig, and Debra DeWees.

New homes

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — M/I Homes of Altamonte Springs plans to open three new communities this quarter according to Division Manager David Byrnes. The new communities are Brantley Estates in Altamonte Springs with 60 homesites; Ekana Green in Oviedo also with 60 homesites, and Waterford Reserve at Waterford Lakes in southeast Orlando with 55 homesites.

Spray-Tech

LONGWOOD — Steve Parsons has joined Spray-Tech, a Sears authorized home improvement contractor located in Longwood. Parsons will serve as Telemarketing Manager.

Buyer award

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Chris Brown, a broker/salesman with RE/MAX Preferred Group, has been awarded the Accredited Buyer Representative designation by the Real Estate Buyer's Agent Council, a national organization addressing all aspects of consumer representation in real estate transactions.

Brown is affiliated with RE/MAX Preferred Group in Altamonte Springs. He was also been the recipient of the Certified Residential Specialist and Graduate Realtor Institute designations.

New council looks to assist Longwood area businesses

By NICK PFRIEFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The Longwood Business Advisory Council is now in operation. It was created earlier this year, and held its first meeting on April 20th.

The Business Advisory Council consists of seven members. Two are nominated by the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, with the remaining five appointed by the City Commission.

Jim Daly, of TSD Systems was named chairman. Altamonte Springs Florist Ken Pedlow was named First Vice-Chairman, and real estate agent Craig Bush was named Second Vice-Chairman.

Other members include James Michael Hattaway, Steve Kulper, Hannah Miller, Ed Thomas, and Shelton Smith.

According to the city resolution which established the Council, each commissioner appointed one member from their district. Requirements were that the person selected must live or be employed in that district.

For the members appointed by the chamber, there were no residency or employment requirements.

Last year, the Longwood Chamber of Commerce gave up its charter and as an organization, became associated directly with the Greater Seminole County Chamber.

Ed Thomas, of the Seminole Family YMCA is serving as spokesman. He observed that the City of Longwood, through the efforts of the Business Advisory Council, hopes to develop a business climate which will attract and keep quality businesses in the city.

In addition, he said the council hopes to implement recommendations which will enhance the quality of life for all existing businesses.

Business fun

Free lecture at UCF Marketing to a graying America

By NICK PFRIEFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

There are many concerns and misconceptions these days about the roll of older workers in today's business environment. Questions asked include, are we marketing effectively to senior citizens, and how can business meet the challenges and opportunities of an increasingly graying America.

These are some of the questions to be addressed in the second lecture of the UCF Distinguished Gerontology Speaker Series.

On Monday, May 22, at 7 p.m., Harry and Ronni Sterns will speak on "Aging America: Challenges and Opportunities in a Changing Business Environment."

The series is sponsored by the University of Central Florida Initiative on Aging and Longevity, and is co-sponsored by the UCF College of Business Administration and the Learning Institute for Elders (LIFE) at UCF.

Harry Sterns is a professor of psychology and director at the Institute for LifeSpan Development and Gerontology, University of Akron. He is also coordinator of the nation's only doctoral program in industrial gerontology, the study of aging and the workplace.

In addition, he has consulted widely with national corporations on aging and business issues.

Ronni Sterns, president of LifeSpan Associates, Inc., is a sociologist who specializes in consumer and marketing issues for older adults. Her consulting work with national corporations has focused on product and service development, customer satisfaction, advertising strategies for the mature market.

Food stamp fraud down in state

By NICK PFRIEFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

For the first three months of this year, 19 Florida grocers who participated in the Food Stamp program were penalized by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

This is in comparison with 22 in the same period of 1994.

In the Southeast, first quarter figures show 77 grocers penalized for violating the food stamp rules, compared to 96 last year.

For all of 1994, the USDA Food and Consumer Service took administrative action against 473 stores.

Some of these grocers were found to be allowing the purchase of non-food items with food stamps. Some even exchanged the stamps for cash. Food stamps can be used legally only to buy food, garden seed and plants used to grow food, said William R. Mehr, officer-in-charge of the USDA Food and Consumer Service Tallahassee field office.

At the present time, Florida has 11,400 retail firms authorized to participate in the food stamp program, which annually accounts for more than $1.4 billion in food assistance to low-income families and related administrative costs.

Of the 19 stores cited so far this year in Florida, three were disqualified for three years, 14 were permanently disqualified for trafficking, and the remaining two were assessed penalties in lieu of disqualification.

Employees of McDonnell Douglas Space & Defense Systems, at the Kennedy Space Center, recently gave a $10,000 grant to WMFE-TV for production and broadcasting of the 1995 Florida Science Olympiad.

Developed in 1983, the Olympiad is an international competition challenging the knowledge of middle and high school students. Competitions are held within schools, regions, statewide, nationally, and internationally.

A $5,000 grant was given to the local educational TV station by McDonnell Douglas Employees' Community Fund, which was matched at the corporate level.

In addition, McDonnell Douglas-KSC employees will make guest appearances on the show and discuss similarities between Olympiad competitions and the real world of space exploration, payload processing and spaceflight.

The show will be seen in the Seminole County area on Tuesday, May 30, beginning at 8 p.m. A re-broadcast has been scheduled for Saturday, June 3, at 4 p.m.

Approximately 1,700 employees work for McDonnell Douglas Space & Defense Systems Kennedy Space Center division.

Trade seminar set for UCF

By NICK PFRIEFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

The University of Central Florida College of Business Administration has announced a statewide Florida International Trade Finance conference.

The event is scheduled for June 22, but advance reservations are requested by June 2.

The following day, on June 23, the subject will be Asian markets. It's called Japan, Exploring the Business Opportunities of 1995. The conference is to explore the second largest export market for U.S. products and uncover the many business opportunities and programs designed to assist small and medium sized U.S. businesses.

A keynote address by the newly appointed Consul General of Japan, Hiromu Nitta will be featured.

An opportunity will be made available at the June 23 conference to join the "U.S. Export Mission 1995," a trade mission to the Kansai Region of Japan, scheduled in October. Participants in the mission will also be joining in the Osaka Global Business Opportunities convention and the Kyoto High-Tech Matchmaker.

Meet Ms. Lakeview 95

Marie Donahoe Slattery, 95, was voted by residents and staff of Lakeview Nursing Center in Sanford as Ms. Lakeview 95. Born in Pennsylvania, Slattery is a retired school teacher. Niece Kit Thompson and Nephew Tim Donahoe were on hand for their aunt's coronation. Queen Slattery said she has "never won anything before" and "is thrilled."

Garden club hosts district meet Clubwomen attend centennial confab

SANFORD
DORIS DIETRICH

The Sanford Garden Club Inc. hosted the District VII Spring meeting on May 10 at the clubhouse when clubs from all over the district arrived for the spring event.

When the meeting was called to order, Lt. Gregory Franks of the Salvation Army gave the invocation while Sanford City Commissioner Kerry Lyons officially greeted the guests followed by the welcome by Betty Akers, club president.

A new circle, Bromeliad Circle, has been incorporated into the club headed by Edward and Nancy Hall. The Halls presented an enlightening program on the exotic bromeliad plant much to the delight of the gardeners.

Routine business was conducted and the District VII Board of Directors was introduced.

Chairmen of the event were Betty Akers and Barbara Bradshaw with Mimosa Circle members hosting the coffee hour

AARP address: Stroke prevention begins with you

Stroke prevention begins with you. This was the message brought to the Lake Mary Chapter of the AARP by Heather Moore of LifeLine Screening, Inc. Stroke is the third leading killer in the United States and the number one cause of adult disability. It is also the number one cause seniors enter nursing homes. LifeLine Screening will be performing a stroke screening test with the use of ultrasound equipment. The day of the screening is Wednesday, May 30 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Frank Evans Center.

There are two tests. One screening test will check your carotid artery. Using ultrasound, a technologist will check for plaque buildup. The other screening will check for peripheral arterial disease, technically called an Ankle Brachial Index

Elaine and Volunteer Charlie Rutherford.

Association taps man, 81, Volunteer of the Year

Charlie Rutherford is 81 years young and has been in the Wekiva area for the last 10 years. Charlie was honored in 1990 as the Volunteer of the Year and the Wekiva Hunt Club Association just had to recognize him again this year for his outstanding effort to improve the community.

According to Charlie, "I'm just making sure the children are safe when they play in the park." Making sure that the children are safe is exactly what Charlie does: he notified the association that part of the split rail fence that the children were playing on needed to be removed before someone was seriously injured. The association also provided Charlie with the materials necessary to keep the fire ants under control in the park: "I just hate to see those children stung by those fire ants; if a small child were to get into a nest, why it could kill them." Charlie also likes the park to be clean: "It only takes a few minutes to pick up a few pieces of trash and if you keep up with it, it's only a few minutes every time."

Keeping the park clean and the children safe are not the

Churches honor moms; Wright hosts evening with author

Stewards Annual Mother's Day Service honored Ruby Lee Simmons-White. The Allen Chapel AME Church saluted and honored this Christian mother who loves her God, her family and her community.

Sister White is the second child born to the late James and Haale Simmons. Mrs. White is the mother of Willie James, Blakley, Ga., Robert Lee, West Palm Beach, Madelyn, Evelyn, Cynthia, William, Larry, and Bridgette, all of Sanford. Mrs. White was nurtured in an environment with strong religious beliefs and teachings.

She acknowledged Christ as her savior in 1928, and became a member of Allen Chapel AME Church under the pastorate of the late Rev. Coffee, attending the "Old Allen Chapel" before it burned, and she continued to serve in the present church as a member of the Sunday School where her grandfather, the late William Thompson, was superintendent. She served as a member of the ACE League, and church choir. Mrs. White has worked hard helping to raise funds for the church by baking her famous delicious cakes and working wherever needed.

She has served in Allen as a member for 68 years, and is still a faithful member of Choir No. 2, Stewardess Board 2. She remains a joyful, Christian mother, strong in her faith in God.

Mrs. White's oldest son Willie penned his mother a lovely letter and tribute from him. White just wanted to tell his mother how very much he appreciated a good Christian-hearted mother. He talked about how many things she taught him; he expressed his heartfelt thanks to her for teaching him to become a God-fearing man, yes, he can do all things through God who strengthens him. Willie thanked his mother for her patience, his love of reading, and most of all, his love of reading the Bible. "Thanks too for the padding and the talks and the quiet times, it has taught me the seriousness of what God can say and what he will do if we but listen, and obey his word."

Love and congratulations were sent from the stewards of Allen Chapel and her children. Friends salute this dynamic Christian, loving mother, Ruby Lee Simmons-White.

Mother crowned

St. John Metropolitan Baptist Church celebrated Mother's Day with the crowning of its Mother of the Church for 1995, Mrs. Mary Gibson, the second oldest member of St. John's was named Mother of the Year. Mrs. Gibson has been a member of St. John's for 68 years. She has served as an ardent member of Choir No. One, a deaconess,

Susan "Katie" Moncrief and Edward V. Norton
Moncrief-Norton

SANFORD — Kirby and Lynda Moncrief, of Sanford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Kathleen "Katie" to Edward Vincent Norton, son of Mickey Norton of Oviedo, and Arline Norton, Amityville, N.Y.

Born in Sanford, the bride-elect is the maternal granddaughter of Mrs. Mini Hester of Altamonte Springs, and the paternal granddaughter of Mrs. Pearl Moncrief of Orlando.

Ms. Moncrief is a 1988 graduate of Seminole High School, Sanford, where she was a member of the cheerleading squad and served as Sammy Seminole, the team mascot. She is a 1992 graduate of Georgia Southern University where she was a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

Ms. Moncrief is presently employed as victim advocate at the State Attorney's Office. Her fiance, born in Huntington, L.I., N.Y., is a 1984 graduate of Oviedo High School, Oviedo. He attended Lake Howell High School, Winter Park, from 1981-1983. He participated in football and was named to the All County team. In basketball, he was awarded Honorable Mention on the All County team. Norton also played baseball and participated in student government.

He is a 1988 graduate of Rollins College, Winter Park, where he was a member of the basketball team and worked in the Sports Information Department of WPRK Radio.

Norton is a teacher at Oviedo High School. He is also a football coach at Oviedo High School and baseball coach at Rollins College.

The wedding will be an event of July 22, 1988, at 6 p.m., at the Daytona Hilton, Daytona Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Holder

Belinda Shuck, William Holder exchange vows

SANFORD — Belinda Gail Shuck and William A. Holder were married May 8, 1988, 2 p.m. at a private club in Sanford. Notary Judy Long performed the double-ring, civil ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Gregory and Sheila Shuck Sr. of Sanford. The groom is the son of Mrs. Elsie Holder of Fern Park and the late Mr. Harry Holder.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a white voile, tea-length dress with an overlay of lace. The teardrop neckline was secured with an antique ivory rose brooch. Her illusion veil was held with a tiara decorated with baby's breath and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white silk roses tied with white ribbon steamers and seed pearls.

Nancy L. Mathias of Osteen served as matron of honor. She wore a pink crepe suit with v-neckline. The jacket was edged in lace scallops. She carried a pink silk orchid bouquet.

Kenny Treat of Fern Park, served the groom as best man. Allen Shuck, the bride's brother, served as usher.

Flower girl was Amber Shuck, sister of the bride. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the club. Music was provided by the groom's mother and a video was made by Sara Treat, wife of the best man.

After a wedding trip to Cocoa Beach, the newlyweds are making their home in Sanford.

The bride is a self-employed domestic worker and the groom is a car technician for Longwood Lincoln-Mercury.

tion of Women's Clubs Centennial Convention held May 5-8 at the Clarion Plaza in Orlando.

It was a weekend of workshops, programs and a century of service by the FFWC.

A highlight of the convention was a lovely centennial tea. Also, three BWC members were recognized among the 100 Florida women who have made a difference in 100 years. They are Laura Fish Galloway, Dr. Herberta Leonardy and Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith. Mrs. Smith, now in her 90s, attended the convention in fine form and participated in a number of activities.

Saturday was filled with workshops in all departments of the FFWC including public affairs, home life, arts, education, international affairs and conservation.

At the District VII Arts and Crafts festival earlier in the year, the BWC had three blue ribbon winners who were eligible to compete at the state level at the convention. These three also won blue ribbons at state. They are: Rose Jacobson for a knitted afghan; Pat Hardin for a decorated denim vest; and Jeanette Padgett for a ribbon vest and matching purses.

Attending from the senior club were: DeLoree Laah, president; Vida Smith, past FFWC District VII director; Pat Foster, past president; Viola Franka, first vice president-elect; Ruth Gaines, treasurer, and Mrs. Smith.

The Juniors received first place in Membership for their Breakfast with the Easter Bunny, Annual Road Rally and Family Picnic. They earned second place in the following areas: Publicity for the Annual Office of the Year Salute; Home Life for its contributions to Hacienda Girls Ranch and Serenity House; and Programs for their creativity in each program at their general meetings.

Also, the Juniors were recognized for their 25-year membership in the FFWC with a plaque and certificate.

Juniors in attendance were: Linda Garritani, president; Beth Abruzzino, corresponding secretary and state budget; Nancy Crawford, former Director of Junior Clubs; Beverly Huffman, assistant to the Director of Junior Clubs; and Tina Lee, past president.

Juniors host brunch

Speaking of the Sanford Junior Woman's Club, this handful of dedicated young women never stop serving. In fact, they were hostesses at a Mother's Day Brunch on Saturday, May 13, when they served their own moms and members of the senior club a delicious brunch.

The Juniors prepared a bountiful spread of delicious foods including a table of tantalizing desserts. The clubhouse was beautifully decorated with sunflowers and green and gold balloons. It was very festive and drew rave reviews from all attending.

Screening. Patients with an abnormal ABI are at a three to five times higher risk for coronary artery disease. Both screening tests are painless and non-invasive. The results of both tests will be available immediately. If a problem is found, you will be referred to your own physician.

The charge for the tests is $25 each, $50 total. Hospital charges for these tests can range from $300 to $500. You must pre-register for the tests. To do so, call Ruth Dresser at 322-9760. The deadline for registration is May 28.

Health wasn't the only thing discussed at Wednesday's meeting. Politics was also on the agenda. Lake Mary Mayor Lowry Rockett, City Commissioner Sheila Sawyer and City Manager John Litton were at the meeting to explain three ballot questions that will be coming up for a vote on August 1.

John Litton explained to AARP members that a needs assessment for the city was done to pinpoint projects that are deemed essential. Sixteen projects were pinpointed. Six were given the highest priority. These six projects will be three ballot questions on August 1. (Law allows like projects to be grouped together for voter consideration.)

John then introduced Mayor Lowry Rockett for a more in-depth explanation of the projects.

Mayor Rockett explained that the city has adopted a Community Improvement Program. The three ballot issues are the first phase of that. One of the items up for consideration is the Public Safety Complex. The current complex was adequate when it was built. However, since that time, the city has entered into an agreement with the county to provide Advanced Life Support. This is a wonderful agreement for the city. It means that citizens are only minutes away from advanced emergency help. For the Public Safety Complex, the addition of the county vehicles has meant overcrowding. There are also some serious defects with the current building, including roof leaks. A Citizens' Building Committee has recommended that a new 10,800 square foot police facility be built at the current site. This new facility would provide, among other things, holding cells, which are not available at the current facility. The current facility would then be renovated to provide expanded space for the fire and rescue squads. This would also provide space for an Emergency Operations Center, something the city currently lacks.

Another item up for consideration is Parks and Recreation. Currently, there is no maintenance facility at the sports complex. This means higher maintenance costs for equipment that must be left outside. The city proposes building a new

Ginns observe 40th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Laura) Ginn of Rivercrest in Sanford celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary a little early. They were married June 8, 1948 in Cleveland, Ohio and moved to Sanford five years ago.

The celebration came early due to their children in California who tried to keep the visit a secret but 10 days before arrival time, had to confess what they were doing due to logistics. All in all, there was a glorious gathering of the clan for a big reunion.

All three of their children, Scott, Robin and Betsy, and two granddaughters were born at Wuesthoff Hospital in Rockledge.

Robert is a former rocket scientist and vice president of Lockheed who enjoys fishing and playing golf. Laura is a homemaker and member of the Suburban Republican Women's Club. They attend Longwood-Markham Presbyterian Church.

June McFadden at Grand Amaranth Court in New Jersey.

June attends fete in New Jersey

June McFadden has returned from New Jersey where she attended the Grand Court Order of the Amaranth of New Jersey. June is a representative from Florida as the Grand Conductress Order of the Amaranth. This was her home Grand Court.

June flew out of Orlando to Atlantic City where she was met by longtime neighborhood friends who took her back to the home at Toms River where she lived with her family for 17 years. A surprise dinner party was in store and was attended, among others, by a friend with whom she worked for 12 years.

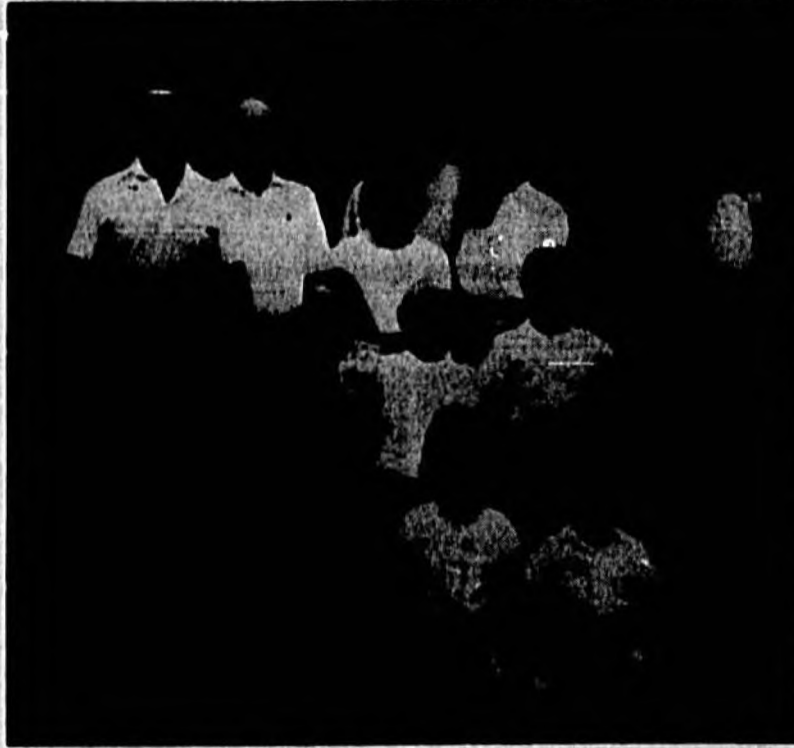

From there, she attended the Grand Court where she saw many longtime friends. She also reunited with her cousins, brothers and their families for family gatherings.

Then, it was back to Atlantic City for dinner, a show and games before catching the plane back to Sanford.

It was a most enjoyable trip for June.

are celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary today (Sunday) with open house at their home, 431 Elliott Ave.

The Cooks were married May 21, 1948, at the First Baptist Church of Sanford by the Rev.

Dr. W.P. Brooks Jr.

Relatives and friends are cordially invited to call and help the Cooks celebrate during the appointed hours, 2 to 4:30 p.m. The guests of honor respectfully request, "No gifts, please."

Festival a success

It took a great deal of planning and the heat was a few degrees too high, but Olds Lake Mary Days was a success. The Sesquicentennial event was kicked off by a 5-K run that began Saturday, May 13 at 8 a.m.

Olds Lake Mary Days officially began at 10 a.m. with an awards ceremony for the 5-K winners. The arts and crafts booths opened and the purveyors of food fired up their grills.

Everything from antique jewelry to folk art Santas could be found among the arts and crafts. The kids' section also proved to be extremely popular, and not just because of the shade. The FOX 35 Kids Club played kids' cartoons and gave away prizes.

The Wild Thing, appearing courtesy of Little Wing Books, was very popular with most of the kids, but a little scary for some. Grace Christian Church had Mother's Day cards to color. Holy Cross Lutheran showed children how to make flowers for their mothers. Games were offered by Covenant Community Center.

After Mayor Rockett spoke, City

Commissioner Sheila Sawyer voiced her support of the projects. She also said that the roads mentioned in the paving and drainage issue are some of the most highly traveled dirt roads in the city. In addition to the flooding problems, these roads are causing higher maintenance costs for city and police vehicles. If Lake Mary wants to keep bringing in industry, she said, Lake Mary must keep making improvements, especially in areas that have been neglected.

Remember, what you feel and believe about these issues doesn't count if you don't get out and vote.

Limo ride for Mom

Mother's Day evening was a treat for the winner of a limousine ride to spend an evening as the guest of the No. One deejay, Mean Jean, at the show at the Celery City Lodge No. 542 evening musicale. Deejay Mean Gene along with Exalted Ruler Bernard Mitchell and the Elks, presented all the attending mothers roses.

The limo was provided by Affordable Limo Service of Sanford and enjoying the special attention for Mother's Day was Daughter Hattie Harden Lee. The Elks theme of always giving helps to make our community a better place in which to live.

Dr. Wright reads poetry

An evening with the author was recently held. Dr. Stephen Caldwell Wright, Ph.D. read selected verses and poems from his book. The evening's event was sponsored by the Central Florida Chapter of the Clark Atlanta University Alumni Association.

The evening with author Wright was one to be remembered by the great gathering of poetry lovers of the writing and works of Dr. Wright, a native of Sanford. He is a graduate of St. Petersburg Junior College, Florida Atlantic University, Atlanta University (M.A.) and Indiana University of Pennsylvania (Ph.D.).

Dr. Wright's work was selected by Robert Wallace and Richard Eberhart as First Superior Poet at the 1969 Florida Poetry Festival. He has had numerous publications to appear in Phylon, the Zora Neale Hurston Forum, and the Colorado Review. He is the author of several books of collected poems, fiction and has Church, Lake Mary Little League and the Lake Mary Mother's Group. The water balloon festival provided by the latter was especially popular.

Food was abundant. There was barbecued chicken, hot dogs, hamburgers, and bake sales galore. One of the most popular food times for the kids were the free donuts that Boy Scout Troop 854 made on site. Free snowcones from Covenant Community Church and Celebration Church were snapped up like hot cakes.

The entertainment was wonderful this year. The audience seemed thin, but that's because most people were watching from the shade of the kids' section.

Some of the rich history of Lake Mary was on display in the Frank Evans Center. The Stardust Girl Scouts also provided a little history at City Hall as girls from various troops dressed in uniforms from Troop Leader Jeanne Bush's collection.

There were Brownie and Junior uniforms from the 60s, 70s and 80s.

There were many other community organizations that were on hand to make Old Lake Mary Days a success. Planning has already begun on next year's event.

only qualities that possess Charlie Rutherford as he is also the guardian of the ducks that live on the Center Club Lake which is just across the street from his house. If the little ones are following their mother across the street, you'll find Charlie stopping traffic in both directions in order to alert the motorists to the wild life on the move.

Charlie and his wife, Elaine, moved from Massachusetts in 1985 when their daughter and son-in-law were transferred to the Seminole County area. They visited the area for the first time in March of 1985. They put their house up for sale the following May and they moved in August and have never had a second thought about whether or not it was the right move. The Rutherford family has two grandchildren in Lake Mary, two grandchildren in Massachusetts, and three grandchildren in Vermont; the latest addition to the family is a six-week-old great-grandchild named Ryan whom Charlie can hardly wait to meet. Besides the grandchildren, the Rutherford family enjoy traveling, especially to Scotland and have traced their ancestors back to the early 1700s.

The Wekiva Hunt Club Association presented Charlie Rutherford with a beautiful plaque on which his name is engraved and the year, 1985, with the words, "Distinguished Volunteer Award."

AARP to meet

The Winter Springs AARP #4040 meetings are held the third Monday of each month at noon at the Winter Springs Senior Center and usually include a potluck dinner and a speaker or a program that is both entertaining as well as educational.

Carol Palmer of the Florida Regional Hospital of the Start Back division who is a registered therapist and certified arthritis hand specialist and a member of the National Arthritis Foundation Board, spoke about arthritis and came equipped with tables full of gadgets and ergonomic exhibits, appliances that help the individual live with disabilities due to arthritis and rheumatism.

The list of apparatuses was extraordinary including special hammers and can openers, pillows for necks and backs, and all kinds of things that might help one to better be able to live independently inside the house and out. There were approximately 65 people at the last meeting and no one left prior to the end of the presentation because the speaker was so informative as well as funny and endeared herself to the audience. Her demonstrations were interesting and she gave out handouts for further information and education.

The next meeting will be held on June 19 at noon and will feature the First Annual Arts and Crafts Fair complete with awards and prizes. Guests and members are asked to bring their arts and crafts to the meeting. There will be a small percentage of gross receipts charged to benefit the Winter Springs Chapter of AARP #4040.

For further information, please call June Sunderland, 695-4554; Betty Bumpie, 695-0285, or Ernest Battee, 695-1182.

She's dreaming of being a 16-year-old

By LYNDSEY HOLLIBAY
Herald Correspondent

To be 16...
Oh, how every kid wants to be 16.

Driving, freedom, no more mom or dad to come on your dates. Now you are free.

No more 10 o'clock curfews because you are free.

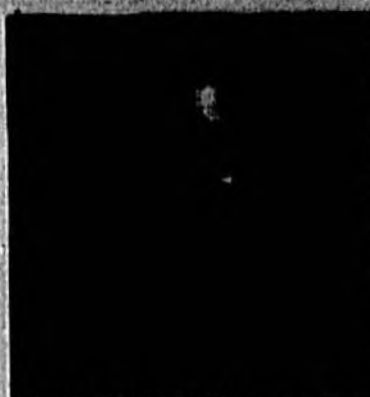

Don't we all wish it was like that? Nowadays, 16 year olds are gaining a bad rap.

I asked by teacher what to write about and she said "What it's like to be 16." She said too many had things are being spread these days.

I wish I could tell you what it's like to be 16, but I can't. Yes, I'm still a 15 year old mumblehead.

Try to think back to when you were 15. Come on. Have some fun.

Don't you remember the envy toward the 16 year olds from you and your peers? How they seemed to have so much freedom? They seemed to be the cool group. And how we were stuck back with our little "restricted" driver licenses?

Oh, but you had these dreams on how when you're 16, this is what you're gonna do.

I guess to be 16 is a big responsibility and as 15 year olds don't realize it.

But, who cares when you're 15. You wait and wait for your special day.

Lyndsey Hollibay is a sophomore of Lyman High School in Longwood.

SANFORD - He's heading to Kentucky.

Recently, 11 members of the Health Occupations Students of America (HOSA) chapter at Lyman High School participated in the HOSA state competition in Tampa.

The contest included a variety of health occupation-related skill tests from medical transcription to the knowledge of medical terminology.

The students did well in the contest and one young man will be going to the Blue Grass state next month to take part in the national competition.

Charles Thibaut won the first place award for the medical spelling category in the state contest.

Advisory Sharron Carey is confident in his chances to win at the national level as well.

Another member of the team, Lori Murray won a fourth place prize for medical terminology and a fifth place honor for extemporaneous writing.

Other members of the Lyman team were Robert Schou, Clayde Apanga, Stephen Wojewicz, Luis Garcia, Heather Caullard, Shannon Strong, Priella Peters and Tamara Chenet.

IN BRIEF

Impotence Anonymous

Florida Hospital Altamonte will offer Impotents Anonymous, a free support group for people affected by impotence, on Monday, June 28, from 7-8 p.m. in the Chalko Conference Center at Florida Hospital, Altamonte, 601 Altamonte Drive in Altamonte Springs.

Urologist Michael Friedman, M.D. will lead the group. Florida Hospital Altamonte sponsors Impotents Anonymous for men who are affected by impotence and want to learn more about its causes and treatment. Wives and friends are welcome to attend this meeting.

For more information about Impotents Anonymous, call Tori Callan at Dr. Michael Friedman's office at 532-7700.

New board members

The Central Florida Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation recently announced the election of six new members to their Board of Directors. The new additions are:

- Bruce Antone, legislative aide, Office of State Senator Buddy Dyer.
- Roger Chapin, government relations representative, Darden Restaurants, Inc.
- Paul Desrochers, M.D., pediatric endocrinologist, Arnold Palmer Hospital for Women and Children.
- Anne O'Brien, vice president, Operations, Columbia Park Medical Center.
- Van Rice, vice president of General Services, Sea World of Florida.
- Louis "Ray" Wood, detective, Orange County Sheriff's Office.

Elected to two-year terms, the new Board members will serve the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation until 1987.

The Juvenile Diabetes Foundation's main objective is to fund research to find the cause, prevention, treatment and cure of diabetes and its complications. The Juvenile Diabetes Foundation gives more money directly to diabetes research than any other private health agency in the world ($18.5 million in fiscal year 1984-85).

For information on diabetes or on the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, contact the JDF-Central Florida Chapter at (407) 531-CURE (2873) or write: 266 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 151; Caseberry, Fl. 32707.

Be a friend to a person with a mental illness. Interested? Contact Kathy Booker at the Mental Health Association of Central Florida, (407) 843-1563. Serving Orange, Osceola, and Seminole counties.

Brochure provides eye allergy remedy

More than 15 million of hayfever sufferers in the United States also suffer from a little known, and under-treated condition: seasonal allergic conjunctivitis—the ocular component of hayfever. The most common symptom of seasonal allergic conjunctivitis is itchy eyes. Unfortunately, most people attribute the intense itch to eye irritation or strain, an infection, contact lenses, or even a lack of sleep. This usually leads to improper treatment.

"Controlling ocular itch is essential, because the natural response to the itch is to rub the eyes," explains Michael Bauman, M.D. assistant professor of ophthalmology at Tufts University School of Medicine, Boston. "When left untreated, people tend to rub their eyes, which only exacerbates the itchiness. Itching stimulates the release of prostaglandins, chemicals that trigger itching in sensitive eyes. This is what physicians refer to as the Itch-Krub Cycle."

A new brochure, "Caring For Your Eye Allergies", offers a comprehensive guide to the symptoms and treatment of seasonal allergic conjunctivitis. It is available as a public service from Allergan. For a free copy, write to Acular/KTI, P.O. Box 1515, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101-1515.

Safe sitter program

Florida Hospital will offer the Safe Sitter program, a medically accurate series that teaches boys and girls ages 11-13 how to handle emergencies when caring for young children, at the following times and locations:

• Monday, June 12, and Friday, June 16, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Florida Hospital Altamonte, 601 E. Altamonte Drive in Altamonte Springs.

• Tuesday, June 20, and Thursday, June 22, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Florida Hospital Altamonte.

• Monday, June 26, and Wednesday, June 28, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Florida Hospital Executive Office Building, 3820 N. Orange Avenue in Orlando.

Safe Sitters learn Pediatric Basic Life Support (including infant/child CPR certification) accident prevention tips, how and when to call for help, and tips on basic child care.

Class size is limited. The Safe Sitter program costs $40 and includes material. To register your son, daughter or babysitter, call Florida Hospital Parent Education at (407) 897-5715.

Finding a way to communicate

Bromberg Foundation hosts developer of PECS method

By VICKI BOBROWSKA
Herald Senior Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Autistic children suffer from an inability to communicate. They are unable to tell others their needs and wants.

Various methods of helping those with autism communicate with others have been tried, meeting with different levels of success.

Dr. Andrew Bondy, director of the Delaware Public Schools autism program, was in Seminole County last week on behalf of the Andrew Bromberg Foundation for Autistic Children. He spoke to the assembled parents and educators about the Picture Exchange Communication System (PECS) which he developed.

Autism is a breakdown in the communicative processes. Usually, it is present at birth, though it is sometimes not diagnosed until a year or a year and a half later when communication fails to develop on schedule.

The cause of autism is not known.

PECS is an initial communication system that allows youngsters with autism to be able to "speak" with others using pictures to initiate conversation.

Other communication methods, such as computer facilitated communication, have involved prompting by others and answering by the autistic individual. Bonnie Bromberg, the director and founder of the Andrew Bromberg Foundation, is the mother of a six-year-old autistic son. It is for her son that the foundation is named.

"In the past, when I wanted to know what he wanted or if he wanted to say something," Bromberg said, "I would have to ask, 'Do you want a glass of water?' and he'd nod yes or no."

With the PECS method, it is Andrew who will gather the appropriate pictures to ask for a glass of water. He is the one who initiates the request.

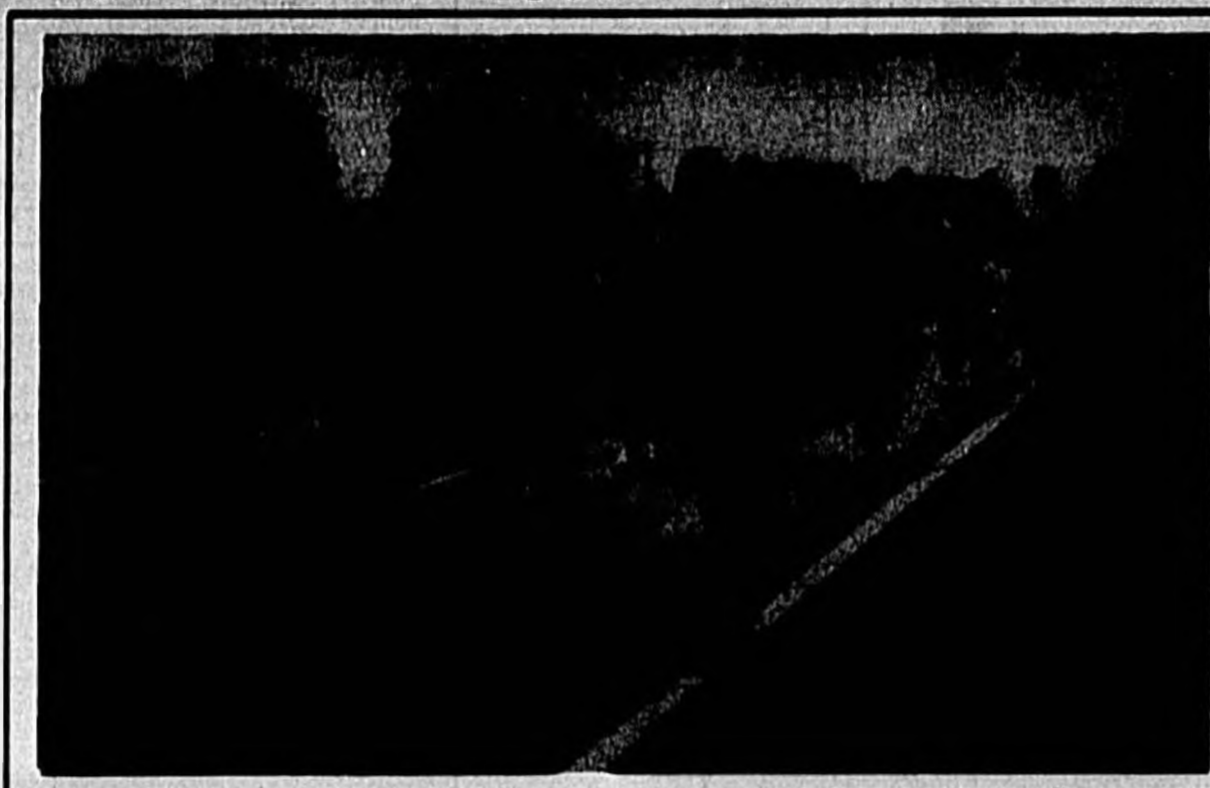

"It is a much different approach," said Bondy. "I have found that it is extremely effective and that the (autistic) children are able to begin communicating very quickly with this method."

Bondy cautions that many people are excited by the rapid results and fail to use it to the fullest advantage for the youngsters who are just learning to communicate.

"They have to stick with this," he said "and they will be able to initiate communication."

The Bromberg Foundation is a non-profit organization which has been founded in Seminole County to bring together top medical experts and educators to help the parents and the educators of autistic children keep up-to-date on the latest advances in communication for those with autism.

Staying fit

Law enforcement officers from the Sanford Police Department and the Seminole County sheriff's office have to stay in shape in order to perform their daily duties. So when the officers were called upon recently to help carry the torch for their Florida Special Olympic games, they were ready to take on the task. They jogged through the city of Sanford and into the county accompanying the flame on its way to the games in Tallahassee.

Making a splash for senior fitness

By VICKI BOBROWSKA
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — There's no time like the present to get into the best shape of your life.

People today are living longer. They would like to live better, more active lives as well.

"It is very important to stay fit," said Eden Rollins, director of the Senior Friends program at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford. "We like to encourage everyone to get fit, regardless of their age."

On Wednesday, May 31, seniors will have the opportunity to see and to try one of the best aerobic exercise programs and to beat the heat at the same time.

Wednesday is the second annual National Senior Health and Fitness Day.

"We wanted to do something fun for our celebration," Rollins said.

So, beginning at 10 a.m. seniors are invited to the pool at the Marina Hotel on Lake Monroe in Sanford for a participatory demonstration of water aerobics.

The exercise program takes place completely in the water. It is aerobically challenging, yet gentle on the joints.

"It is very effective," Rollins said, "but very effective."

She is encouraging everyone to bring their suit and get into the pool to try it out. In addition to the water aerobics, the Senior Friends program will have fliers and other informational brochures about health matters of concern to seniors which they will be distributing.

"We are not doing a lot this year, but we want seniors to be aware of what we have to offer and to begin working at staying fit," Rollins said.

The theme of the National Senior Health and Fitness Day is "Fitness Today for Good Health Tomorrow." Rollins said the Senior Friends program hopes to provide that service every day through aerobics classes both in the water and on the floor.

The water aerobics classes will be offered at the Marina Hotel on Tuesdays beginning June 6 at 10 a.m. The cost of the classes will be $1 each.

The Senior Health and Fitness Day activities are free.

Huge endowment to fund Alzheimer study

LOS ANGELES — A couple who build a fortune out of a mail-order business and savvy investing left $7.8 million to Harvard Medical School to study Alzheimer's disease and other neurodegenerative diseases.

The gift establishes The Edward R. and Anne G. Lefler Center for the Study of Neurodegenerative Disorders, the school announced Tuesday.

It will also fund a professorship in neurobiology, fellowships for graduate and postdoctoral students and innovative and experimental research.

The Leflers founded The Mailing House Inc. of Los Angeles in 1946. Though it had thrived, the bulk of the couple's fortune came from investments.

Anne Lefler died of lung cancer at age 80 in 1991. Ed Lefler, ravaged by Alzheimer's dementia the last 10 years of his life, died last year at age 84.

Four million Americans suffer from Alzheimer's, the National Institute on Aging estimates. Alzheimer's robs people of their memories, and eventually their ability to function.

Comfortable rooms

During a recent Chamber of Commerce Business After Hours event, Jill Luhrs, director of development at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, discussed with City Clerk Jan Dougherty the luxurious accommodations of the new Lake Monroe Suites at the hospital. The suites offer a home-like atmosphere for patients. Surrounding the comfortable suites is the fine medical staff which can offer the best in care.

Give vent to your creative inclinations in the year ahead, whether as an avocation or a vocation. There could be a market for what you have to offer.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) Significant accomplishments will be possible today if you keep a positive attitude. When you believe you can't, however, you could also prove yourself right.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) You might profit today from the efforts of others. Share with those who helped, but don't feel obligated to those who were just along for the ride.

By Bernice Bede Cook YOUR BIRTHDAY

A side line you've been working on with a friend could turn out rather profitably for both of you in the year ahead, provided its foundation is strong and practical.

self and let them handle the simpler ones. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Go ahead and indulge in pleasurable activities today. Schedule your duties so that you won't feel guilty about taking a little time out for fun.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) Significant accomplishments will be possible today if you keep a positive attitude. When you believe you can't, however, you could also prove yourself right.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) You might profit today from the efforts of others. Share with those who helped, but don't feel obligated to those who were just along for the ride.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not hesitate today if you are tempted to exchange a gift. The individual who gave you the present wants you to be pleased and satisfied.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If your pockets aren't lined with asbestos, money might burn a hole through them today. Avoid buying anything from a store that's ripped you off previously.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If a friend needs your help, do what you can today, but don't allow yourself to be abused by a clever manipulator.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might be the victim of a frustrating incident that should have been targeted elsewhere. Dwelling on it will only blow it out of proportion.
