SELECT SELECTIONS

(Ed. Note)—Warner's Select Selections is a highly successful gridiron prediction service that boasts of a 100 percent for the last six seasons.

Select Selections is inaugurating a new policy this season, one that will give the reader a clearer picture of the rating of major or football teams in each section of the nation.

Teams will be ranked numerically and sectionally. The sections are South-Southern and South-eastern conferences and other free lance teams; Texas; East; Midwest; West; Big Nine and others in immediate vicinity; Midland; Big Six and Missouri Valley; Far West-Pacific Coast League and free lance there.

For example, Michigan is rated 51, Duke 42, Minnesota 41, Notre Dame 34, etc.

In addition symbols will be used to designate the expected closeness of the contests as follows—ABC—loss up, AB—Close and possible upset, A—Close but team picked should win.

And now lets dive right into the 1931 grid picture, one that promises to be the most daring in history largely due to the even distribution of playing talent on the draft.

SOUTH—B. C. Eagles get an AB rating over potentially powerful Tulane. L. S. U. figures the same over Holy Cross. Duke might run into Deacon trouble while Florida gets a paper thin edge over Miss. State.

MID WEST—Leahy's Notre Dame premiers with weak Arizona. Michigan State, rated behind Michigan, nevertheless, is picked over the Wolverines because of a certain emotional uplift. Vandy will trouble Purdue, maybe seriously. Ohio State and Missouri top up.

EAST—Light opening slate with Ole Miss well favored over Georgetown. El. Fordham is idle.

FAR WEST—The inflated level they will have to have many peculiar bounces for Washington to halt the nationally favored gold plated Gophers. Stanford and Santa Clara, California, likely appear as dark horses in this section.

Surprise outfit of this section, which shows its stuff against St. Mary's.

The selection—Boston College 33 over Tulane 27. Louisiana State 33 over Holy Cross 27. Wake Forest 31 A Duke 27 over Mississippi State 27. A.

North Carolina 28 over South Carolina 23. A. W. Louisiana 27 Alabama 26 over Siler 21. A. Kentucky 26 over V. P. 1 and 2. Auburn 25 over Howard, Friday night.

North Dakota 25 over V. M. 1 and 2. North Carolina State 24 over Davidson over Colorado. Texas Christian 24 over Tuba Middle 1-4-87.

Michigan 23 over North Texas 17. Texas A. M. 21 over Houston. Kansas 21 over Central.

MID WEST—Arkansas State 21 over Arizona. Kansas State 21 over Michigan State 21. A. Purdue 21 over Vanderbilt 21. A. Ohio State 21 over Missouri 21. A. Indiana 21 over Detroit 21. A. A.

Lower Midwest—Ohio 21 over Drake. Oklahoma 21 over Oklahoma A. M. 21. A. Manhattan 21 over St. Bonaventure.

New York 21 over P. M. C. FAR WEST—Sanford Florida 21 over Washington.

Schedule Of World Series Announced

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The world series, baseball extravaganza, this year bringing together the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers, will start Wednesday, Oct. 1, with the first game being played in Yankee Stadium.

The next three games, Oct. 2-4, will be played at Ebbets Field, home of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who today won their first National League pennant in 21 years.

If necessary, the sixth and seventh games will be at Yankee Stadium, Oct. 6 and 8.

In drawing up the schedule, Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis decided on a one-day layoff between the sixth and seventh games to permit a satisfactory sale of tickets.

Brooklyn Goes Nuts As "Dose Burns" Win It

BROOKLYN, Sept. 24.—Larry MacPhail, a strong arm of Brooklyn ever saw one, put his arms on his desk and cried out a stack of World Series tickets when Ducky Medwick called up from Boston yesterday to talking baseball's dirtiest team was bringing home the pennant.

The strain of a sensational season, broken so suddenly by victory, brought tears to many a leather-lunged rooster who felt a much pride of ownership in the Flatbush flock as MacPhail.

In the offices of the Nedger headquarters, a party was started by the ticket-sellers, gathered and policemen who had crowded with the tumultuous crowds in Ebbets Field all through the roaring summer. They grinned while they wept.

Down in the thronged streets of Greenpoint and Brownlee and even to the far reaches of Coney Island way, the thousands who had listened to radio broadcasts in stores and bars looked at one another and let loose the wild yells of a coming storm of joy.

Word spread that the Dodgers would be rolling into town at midnight, and there wasn't any doubt that there would be a big of humanity sweeping over that section when the boys came in.

Telegram of congratulation began to flow into MacPhail's room, and among the first to be in his was Mayor E. H. C. Guahria, who informed MacPhail "I am now really proud of Brooklyn" and wired Leo Durocher, team manager, "congratulations on your temperamental to another."

The Brooklyn Eagle, the only newspaper, only newspaper, blazoned forth the tidings in a black banner headline bigger than the one used for Hitler's invasion of Poland. And what was the line, to tell the world how Brooklyn felt?

"We win!" the Eagle screamed.

Italy Loses 29 Ships In One Month

September Has Been Worst Month Since Warship Defeat By British At Matapan

Bread Rationing Ordered In Rome

Program To Pay For Defense Of Libya Passed By Cabinet

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Reports from here today say Italy lost 29 ships totalling 200,000 tons in trying to send reinforcements to Libya.

During September, her blackest month at sea since the defeat of her warships by the British at Matapan, four big liners have been lost carrying up to 5,000 soldiers each.

Loss of life is believed to be relatively small because the troopships were heavily escorted.

In Rome, Italy's bread has been ordered rationed starting Wednesday and group measures to conserve material to defend Libya and pay for the war through a heavy profits tax have been approved by the cabinet.

Mussolini (Ilay announced the amount of grain is insufficient to feed the army and her allies might be preparing to plunge into the Russian war, which already is consuming so many men that Germany is reported asking for soldiers.

Amid a flurry of round-about reports and obscured diplomatic moves, these facts stood out:

The Exchange Telegraph started an Ankara dispatch saying Germany was trying to raise armies of 100,000 Hungarians, 100,000 Rumanians, 100,000 Belgians, 500,000 Italians and 100,000 Slovaks to relieve war-weary and hard-pressed German troops in Russia.

A political and military alliance between the Free French and Russia was signed here by the Russian ambassador, Ivan Malinko, and Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The organization of a Polish army to fight for Russia, expected to total as many as 200,000 men eventually, was announced here by Dr. Joseph Retinger, political adviser to the Polish government on exile here.

The return home of Capt. Oliver Lytell, British military adviser in charge of Middle Eastern affairs, from his post in Cairo, was revealed by authoritative sources.

His visit, presumably for conferences, closely followed the disclosure that Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, commander of the British Indian Army holding the junction with Russian troops in Iran, had been home for several weeks.

Other diplomatic moves were the arrival of Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal representative for the Vatican, to visit the United States Ambassador in Rome before he returns to the departure of Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, and Lady Halifax, for Washington by airplane after a visit in Ecuador; the announcement that Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador to Spain, was en route here.

The eyes of Sanfordites who pass along First Street this week will be attracted to the new neon sign on the Touchton Drug Store. W. V. Bitting, stated when this sign was erected Friday afternoon, it completed a three-month job, the remainder of the construction included redecorating the front of the store.

In describing the sign, one of the workmen remarked that it is 10 feet long and the block letters in the upper row are two feet high and when lighted glow "Touchton" has a very color surrounding it.

Mr. Bitting said that the management of the Retail Store is "right proud" of its newest work.

Defense Class To Be Held At Seminole High

Courses for the defense classes to be held at the workshop of Seminole High School, and applications for the courses were approved by the local board of the National Defense Training Program at their meeting last night. A. J. Johnson, supervisor of the project, said this morning.

Courses in motor mechanics and metal working were approved by the group composed of E. J. Myers, chairman and agriculture representative; William Tull, employer representative; T. D. Inabinet, employe representative; and Joe Meisch, agriculture representative, who was recently named to the board to replace H. J. Lehman, resigned.

Studies in motor mechanics include both elementary and advanced work and will be taught by James S. Webb. The metal working classes will deal with such vocations as acetylene and electric welding, forge work, general machine repair, such as drilling, shaping and lathe working, with Admiral D. Matthews as instructor.

Due to changes made at the state headquarters of the program the classes will start Oct. 10, instead of Oct. 7, as originally planned. Mr. Johnson said. Applications can still be taken (Continued on Page Three)

Chicago Is Feeling Effects Of Defense Boom, Says Reporter

By FRANK COWLES

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 27.—(Special)—The "Wind-up" center feeling the full effects of the defense boom, and while its several hundred large factories are getting its share of orders, a move is underway to see that the little manufacturers in the south are left out in the cold due to priorities.

A meeting was held here recently to form "pools" of the smaller industries through which they can obtain defense contracts by working on them jointly.

Otherwise, many of these factories would be obliged to close their doors or greatly reduce their output.

Something of the same order will undoubtedly have to be done in other cities over the country. Otherwise there will be more unemployment as a result of the defense program than there was before it.

We headed for Chicago after leaving Toronto and came through Detroit, Mich., on the way. Before leaving the Dominion we visited an R. A. F. training school near Mount Hope, Ont., where boys from England are taught to fly and then sent back overseas. The school was built around a large air field, and barracks and other buildings had been erected on the grounds.

This school was for the Royal Air Force only; there are others in Canada for the Royal Canadian Air Force as well.

Launching Of Ships Hailed By President

Roosevelt Calls Finished 14 Cargo Vessels Telling Blow At Menace To U. S.

By Associated Press

Roosevelt today hailed the launching of 14 cargo ships as a "telling blow at the menace to our nation" and emphasized his intention to protect American merchant ships from the "perilous shell or from bombs, a time-ripened message to the Axis on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts."

Speaking for the Army and Navy and the Maritime Commission before a group of 500 at the launching ceremony, Roosevelt said the country's program in providing merchant ships for the struggle against the Axis.

On the way to the launching ceremony, the president and Mrs. Roosevelt were met by the great crowd of onlookers since the first World War, the total of what had been done toward providing tonnage and what still had to be done.

The ceremony, said Rear Admiral Landis, U. S. N., returned, "is a part of the Maritime Commission's program to build a fleet of 100 merchant ships during the war, and the first phase of the all-out effort which the president has asked every American to make. But neither the shipyard nor the commission are content. We all realize that more and still more merchant ships must be built to carry a cargo so vital to the ultimate defeat of those aggressors who are threatening the liberty of all the people of the world."

Rear Admiral Robinson of the Navy's bureau of ships called the launching of 14 vessels in one day "a gesture which should be remembered by these cities in our mind who would have us believe that neglect of our defenses during the long years since 1919 placed us as far behind in the in the international race that it was useless for us to attempt to catch up."

Major General Gregory, the Army's quartermaster general, described outgoing bases as "a far-flung network of democracy."

"If they fail to be truly effective, a chain of ships must be welded to link them to the mainland," he said.

Navy Planes Sight Survivors Of Ship

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Navy patrol planes reported Friday they had sighted 15 rafts leaving nine shipwrecked men, presumably survivors of the 1941 American freighter Eibel Shaker, which went down Thursday in a hurricane off Aruba, Netherlands West Indies.

The rafts were tossed on seas too rough for the planes to attempt sighting and an effort was being made by a destroyer and coast guard vessels to reach the men.

Initial efforts to guide rescue vessels to the survivors were hindered by poor visibility and the Navy planes returned to their bases here at dark.

The rafts, carrying from one to three men each were sighted over an area of 10 square miles north and west of Aruba.

The Navy prepared to send out searching planes again at dawn tomorrow if the surface craft fail to find the men during the night.

Navy Planes Sight Survivors Of Ship

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Navy patrol planes reported Friday they had sighted 15 rafts leaving nine shipwrecked men, presumably survivors of the 1941 American freighter Eibel Shaker, which went down Thursday in a hurricane off Aruba, Netherlands West Indies.

The rafts were tossed on seas too rough for the planes to attempt sighting and an effort was being made by a destroyer and coast guard vessels to reach the men.

Initial efforts to guide rescue vessels to the survivors were hindered by poor visibility and the Navy planes returned to their bases here at dark.

The rafts, carrying from one to three men each were sighted over an area of 10 square miles north and west of Aruba.

The Navy prepared to send out searching planes again at dawn tomorrow if the surface craft fail to find the men during the night.

SUPPER
(From The New Yorker)
I supped where bloomed the red rose,
And the bird in the tree
Looked on my sweet white bread
And sighed,
Tune to me.

And a wasp prowled in the gold en light,
The honey all about;
And the martin to her sun-baked nest
Swept in and out.

I sat so still in the garden
That creep and leaf and bird Seemed as I dreamed the only things
That had ever stirred.

Sanford's airport project becomes reality with the signing of a bill by the President. Over one hundred thousand dollars in federal money will be spent this year during the next few months to build the airport. It will be the largest in the South. If not, we'll have an airport second to none for the size of this state and some commercial use will soon be made of it, you may be sure.

This week's title shows first aid treatment administered to some victims of the recent pilgrimage. The boys and girls in charge of the project, and their parents, were all very busy helping the wounded in the hospital. The boys and girls were all very busy helping the wounded in the hospital. The boys and girls were all very busy helping the wounded in the hospital.

One of the reasons for the success of the project is the cooperation of the community.
The boys and girls were all in the hospital. The boys and girls were all very busy helping the wounded in the hospital.

Just In Time

With the signing of the bill Thursday by the President of the United States, work will begin immediately on the second phase of Sanford's new airport which will include runways, taxiways, lights, fence, and necessary roads, as well as the planting of grass on part of the field. The total cost of the whole project will run to approximately $400,000, most of which will be spent during the next nine months.

That Sanford appreciates the value of this project goes without saying. It will not only benefit the economic life of the community during its construction but will also be of great help to the city as an airport after the emergency is over. Great credit is due to the local men who conceived the project and whose energy and persistence brought it to its conclusion, and to our representatives in Washington without whose help we could have gotten nowhere.

We are glad that this particular project has come through just at this time for there has been a growing feeling in Sanford that this city and county were being slighted in the matter of federal allotment of public funds. Our people have seen innumerable projects of enormous value started in Orlando and other neighboring cities while nothing of any sizeable proportion has come to Sanford.

It is recalled that most of our representatives in the nation's capital have good cause to feel kindly toward the people of Seminole County. One of them received a higher percentage of votes in this county than in any other county in the state. The others have not fared badly at the hands of Sanford voters even though they may not always have carried the county.

Some of our people had about come to the conclusion that a change in representation in Washington might be of benefit to this community and they argued with some feeling that under no circumstances could we be any worse off. Such pet projects of ours as the hospital, the St. Johns-Indian River Canal, the swimming pool, and several other ones have lain dormant so long that a new senator could be scarcely any less aware of them.

So it seems that the airport project has come just in the nick of time. A little more vigor in pushing home of our other projects may entirely restore our representatives to the public's good will and repair the damage that has been done.

Appropriate

Lord Kelly was a tiresome fellow with an embarrassing habit of demanding of his guests that they either tell a story, sing a song or drink a bumper of wine before quitting his presence.

Encountering this request one day was a certain Scotch advocate who, being an abstemious man and possessed of a rather indifferent singing voice, elected to tell a story.

"One day a thief was passing a church," he related, "and found the door standing invitingly open, and entered to see what he might steal. Presently, with the pulpit cloth under his coat, he attempted to leave, but found the door closed and locked. Only one other means of escape appeared, and that was the bell cord; but, alas, when he attempted to climb it, the bell rang and he was captured. As they were leading the thief away," continued the advocate, "he turned to the bell and addressed it as I will now address your Lordship: 'Had it not been for your long inactivity, my Lordship, I might have made my escape.'" — Wall Street Journal.

WE MET A SEMINOLE Indian the other day. He was passing through town bound for an unknown destination. After chatting a few moments we offered him a Coca-Cola but he held out for a beer. Since it is against the law for an Indian to drink intoxicating beverages, we refuse to say how we solved the problem. The Seminole would not say where he was going but that he wanted to be "as far away as possible from the Everglades for awhile." It seems as though some of the braves are expecting a hurricane this month and they don't want to be around when it comes. Of course, some Seminoles take extra precautions every September regardless of weather bureau advice. Since the last session of the legislature passed a law covering everything else, it is somewhat surprising they didn't forbid hurricanes. — Euatla Lake Region.

EVEN PRIMITIVE peoples sometimes have an unusual insight into human nature. For example, one of the tribes inhabiting the island of Madagascar has a strange funeral custom. When a woman is being buried, the funeral procession, while wending its way to the burying ground, turns around, goes back to the late home of the deceased, and waits there for an hour before proceeding to the cemetery. The natives have the whimsical idea that a woman always forgets something when leaving home. — Your Life Magazine.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Wading through the confusing maze of statements that have come out of the so-called oil shortage in the east, one is bound to stumble over some significant conclusions:

(1) This is a continuation, if not an culmination, of the ancient fight between the oil companies and the railroads.

(2) Railroad rates on petroleum products were four to six times higher than the cost of the oil. Any company that had its own pipeline or tankers was just the man for the job.

(3) The oil companies are not only hoarding their oil, but they are also hoarding their pipelines. They are not allowing the railroads out of the east to haul oil.

(4) The oil companies are not only hoarding their oil, but they are also hoarding their pipelines. They are not allowing the railroads out of the east to haul oil.

HUNTER'S MOON!

SANFORD FORUM

To the people of Sanford:
Since the time "whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary," in both Pagan and Christian customs, when a man dies, there are rites of burning of torches, chants, songs, and flowers. Antiquity elevated mighty men to Chieftainships, Kingships, and other high places. DURING the periods of the life-time, this action taking the form of bestowing on a good man while he lives, the flowers descended. That is, the man who is honored today, perhaps lacking all point to a great many, simply means, that this community is intended to write a commendation of our fellow townsman, Edward Higgins. It is his personal character and devotion to his city; his singleness of purpose in continually carrying on in the face of carping criticism; his superb and poised manner of entirely ignoring those who have accused him of selfishness and personal aggrandizement.

So today, to you Ed, the FLOWERS; and be assured, we the tomorrow that lie ahead, the honor. And fellow citizens, let us all join in an attempt to stand squarely to the World as solidified; let us turn our minds to building up Sanford by recognizing that here, without imperfection, we have the leader worthy of our united support. Who can be better acquainted with our natural resources than a man who has lived his intelligent and upright life here?

If a little factory wants to come let's back it; plenty room for more. Numbers of small industries may be brought here. A man who has lived his intelligent and upright life here?

28-Year-Olds Not Entirely Free Of Draft Act

BY AUGUSTINE Sept. 27.—(Special)—Although exempted by law from actual military training, Selective Service registrants who are more than 28 years old must conform to orders from their local boards to be liable to military service. The law provides that registrants who are more than 28 years of age at the time of their registration, but who were 28 years of age or older on July 1, 1941, these registrants must live up to other conditions imposed upon them by the Act. The Director said that registrants must be filed at the request of the registrant's local board, he declared, and any registrant who fails to comply with such requests may be considered as a delinquent and be liable to fine or imprisonment, or both, under the penalty clause of the Act.

Feds Drop Opener With Eustis By Score 14-6 In Close Contest

Sanford's Celery Feds towed to Eustis last night 14-6 in a close game played there when the Panthers took advantage of breaks and the local boys' attack bogged down in scoping positions.

The Seminole line charged hard and fast and the backs executed their offensive beautifully but the lack of conditioning caused by missed out practices this week, slowed the boys and took the scoping punch out of their play.

It was the opening game for the locals and several of the players were in a game for the first time. Play at the beginning was a little ragged as the men showed nervousness, but by the second quarter the whole team was playing like regulars.

Eustis took advantage of a break when a Sanford player fumbled the ball in the third quarter. A long pass from quarterback Bill Bassett to right end Jack Hippler was good for a touchdown and the same combination worked for an extra point.

Sanford came back in the last quarter to score when left halfback Bill Branan flipped a long pass to Taylor Brown who went across standing up. The conversion was blocked and the score stood 6-7.

The game was won by Eustis when Bassett intercepted a long pass by Sanford, scampered 60 yards behind smoothly forming blocking. Again the Panthers made the conversion count to push the score to 14-6 in their favor.

All opening attack by Sanford looked like a drive for a touchdown when McKay Truluck slipped through the line for 25 yards and Orien Farrell took a shovel pass second end for 15 yards. Within scoring distance of the goal, Branan bucked the line for 10 yards and three yards successfully but several more tries failed and the locals lost the ball.

Three Florida Colleges Have Young, Fast Teams

CORAL GABLES, Sept. 27.—(Special)—University of Miami, which won the state's small college football championship both in 1938 and 1939, only to fall before Rollins last year, is making a strong bid to regain the title this fall.

Rollins, Tampa and Miami are the only small schools with football teams this fall, and as the Hurricanes play Tampa in that city Oct. 10 and Rollins in Miami Oct. 17, they will know their standing early.

Tampa has been beaten decisively by Miami in the last three meetings of the eleven but the 1941 Spartans, with a veteran backfield and an experienced line plus a new coaching staff showed power in defeating Alabama Normal 26-0 last week; that was the largest margin Tampa ever ran up on Troy. Coach Fiske Stewart has lost the best players of other years, but he has speed to burn.

Rollins lost almost all of its 1940 regulars but comes up with a flock of sophomores from the 1940 yearling eleven which trampled Miami's otherwise unbeaten yearlings 25-6. The Tars, by trying Davidson last week, show they have the stuff. After this week's game with Newberry, they close their mountain camp in North Carolina, and return to Winter Park where two successive open dates have three weeks of preparation for the Miami game. The Tars may be the greatest team in the state but they too have plenty of speed.

Two thirds of Miami's poor squad of 1940 are gone so here too it is up to the new men. The sophomores look good and there seem to be a lot of them but this year's state race among small colleges bids fair to be a wide open scramble in which anything can happen.

Improved Gators Meet New Team Of Old Mians

STATE COLLEGE, Sept. 27.—(Special)—Miami State Gators will meet the Bonifay Gators in the Bonifay-Seminole football rivalry this afternoon with an expected crowd of 12,000 for the game starting at 2:30 P. M. Oct. 1.

It will be a match between new and old teams. Mississippi State, with eight 1940 regulars missing, will face a veteran and apparently improved crew.

The Gators, opening their season Saturday, will back heavily on the performances of Sonny Bruce and Blondy Black, tailbacks. Captain Bill Arnold will lead a line composed of lettermen, but he is the only first-stringer from last year and reserves must come from the sophomores.

Both teams are in fine condition.

The Gators arrived in nearby Columbus, Miss., yesterday and worked out on the high school field. They will come here shortly before game time.

Sanford Theater News for the Coming Week

'Life Begins For Andy Hardy' Will Open At Ritz Tomorrow

"Yes, sir, Andy's growing up." Mickey Rooney was surveying the shiny convertible coupe that replaced the jalopy of former Hardy Family pictures. He brushed off the suit that was now in the wardrobe, rather than the sweater and slacks of his Carvel High School days.

"He's got a lot of lessons to learn," the young actor went on. "And he gets his first and best one in the latest film, 'Life Begins For Andy Hardy.'"

Rooney admits to being a new Andy Hardy in this latest of the group, which opens at the Ritz Theater tomorrow for an engagement of two days. He is rather proud of the fact that it was at his suggestion that Andy be permitted to work for one film before starting his adventures in college.

"Oh, it wasn't exactly my idea," he says. "They simply asked me what I thought Andy would do. Would he want to work, or would he want to go right on to college?"

"At first I couldn't answer that. It took some figuring. Then I started to think about the kind of a boy Andy was. You see, he never took anyone's word for anything, always had to try things out for himself, even though he was punished by so doing. It wasn't because he was stubborn or wilful, but simply because he was curious. If he was told not to do a certain thing, he wanted to discover why."

"Well, it wasn't very logical that a boy like that would simply take the word of his family that he should go to college. Maybe college wasn't for him. The best way to find out would be to take a job first. Then, if it didn't work out, he had proved to himself that he needed education and training for one special line of work."

That's the way Mickey Rooney reasoned. And that, all written out in logical order, was his answer to the question. The result was that Andy was sent to New York for a month on his own before making up his mind that he'd follow his father's profession as a lawyer.

LEWIS STONE, Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney, three of the Hardy Family cast, are shown in a scene from "Life Begins For Andy Hardy," their latest screen hit which will open a two day run at the Ritz Theater tomorrow. At last Andy thinks he is a man and has the world by the tail! What a tale this picture tells!
